FLYING RECORDS BROKEN

ELEVEN HOUR CLOUDBURST TAKES BIG TOLL

By United Press.
LOUISVILLE, Ky., June 6.—Virtually isolated from the rest of the world for the last week, the flooded area of Eastern Kentucky welcomed relief expeditions today. Tabulation of estimates of damage in the six stricken counties on the Kentucky and Big Sandy rivers raised the total losses to about $12,000,000. About 125,000 persons are affected by the disasters caused by an eleven hour cloudburst. More than 20,000 miners in the Hazard district alone are out of work. Lines of communication are out of commission and previous estimates of 65 dead are unchanged.

MURDERER OF TWO WOMEN IS SOUGHT FOR

By United Press.
DETROIT, Mich., June 6.—The murder of a 50-year-old widow, Mrs. Minnie May, and her 29-year-old daughter, May Green Oswald, believed to have been killed Wednesday but whose bodies were not found until last night, was sought today. The two women, their throats tightly bound with cords, were found in a second floor apartment in a fashionable part of town. Both had been assaulted, according to police.

Wives of Non-Stop Flyers Weep With Great Joy

By United Press.
NEW YORK, June 6.—Not until it became certain that Clarence Chamberlain and Charles Levine has spanned the North Atlantic in their monoplane did their wives consent to sleep. Mrs. Chamberlain is used to her husband's exploits. Prior to this she has known worry when his plane has been overdue but the restless ocean is another thing and that is why she wept hysterically with relief when the Columbia reached Europe. Grace Levine found the hours of waiting an agony. Her husband's abrupt and unexpected departure left her poorly prepared for the long period of anxiety and when she finally heard the plane had landed in Germany and that the flyers were safe she could not stand alone. Something happened to her knees and they would not keep her erect. The two women plan to leave for Berlin soon.

Police Captain At Muskogee, Okla. Accidentally Shot

By United Press.
MUSKOGEE, June 6.—While attempting to arrest an alleged drunk, Chas. Bowman, night police captain, was accidentally shot and killed by the discharge of his own pistol at 2 a. m. today according to E. W. Thompson, chief of police who accompanied Bowman. The weapon was discharged during a tussle when the man resisted arrest, Thompson said.

PARKER SUCCEEDS BELL AS CHIEF SUPERVISOR

By United Press.
AUSTIN, June 6.—R. D. Parker of Austin, chief engineer of the oil and gas division of the railroad commission, was today appointed chief supervisor of that division. He succeeds H. E. Bell who resigned last week.

MISSING

Don't get excited. We'll get the rest of the story to you in a few days. If you have missed the regular installment of "Daughters of Midas," today, don't get excited. No—this is not the end of the story and we don't know what the end is going to be. But here's our story. Several chapters of the interesting story are missing. They went astray through the mails, or something of that sort. Maybe some reader got anxious to finish the story and decided to rob a mail train or mail plane and get it all at once. But we'll be the other chapters to you in a few days. So just be patient.

The Warship That Brings Lindbergh Home

"Appreciating the honor of the invitation and accepting," Captain Charles A. Lindbergh will arrive in Washington, June 11 aboard the U. S. Scout cruiser Memphis, shown above. He will be the guest of President Coolidge for two days before the president's departure for his vacation in the Black Hills. The inset gives a closeup of the famous Lindbergh smile.

WEST TEXAS GETS HEAVY RAINFALL

Heavy rainfall in West Texas seems pretty certain from reports coming into Ranger today by press dispatches, motorists and railroad dispatchers. The Texas & Pacific office in Ranger reported that it had advices of heavy rains as far as Baird, where this division terminates. Rainfall in Ranger last night amounted to three-quarters of an inch. The clouds looked very ominous for a while and a heavy wind struck fear to the heart of the more timorous. However, no damages in the city or the county have been reported so far. A heavy rain fell in Eastland Saturday night as well as Sunday night. A heavy rain fell at Lake Worth where a party of Ranger and Eastland people were seeing the new Casino, and these people motoring home found that it had rained all the way from Fort Worth to Eastland, with this section of the county evidently getting a lion's portion of the precipitation. The rain came as a godsend to the farmers of Eastland county and will benefit all crops. Corn had shown in some sections effects of the hot winds of last week and will be especially benefited. Watermelons, cantaloupes and garden truck of all kinds was in need of rain and while the rain may halt harvesting to some extent it will be of great benefit to these crops as well as to cotton.

House Gets Late Start But Senate Hops Off On Time

By United Press.
AUSTIN, June 6.—The house wasted 40 minutes this morning waiting for the appearance of a quorum and it was nearly 10 o'clock before business got under way. The senate hopped off on schedule time. In both branches resolutions were first considered. The senate on motion of Senator Pollard, tabled a resolution by Senator Love, which sought to have the appointment of five members of the senate to watch the campaign of candidates in next year's session which investigated state affairs in attending court at Houston in response to summons issued in a libel suit brought against the committee by Frank O'Rourke, former secretary of the state prison commission. The house adopted a resolution by Representatives Pool, Purl, Young and others appropriating $1,000 to defray expenses of nine members of the house committee of the regular session which investigated state affairs in attending court at Houston in response to summons issued in a libel suit brought against the committee by Frank O'Rourke, former secretary of the state prison commission. SUPREME COURT ADJOURNS. WASHINGTON, June 6.—The United States supreme court today adjourned for the summer without deciding the Teapot Dome naval oil lease case. The court will meet again Oct. 8.

Most Criminals Are Young Men

PARENTS ARE TO BLAME, JUDGE TELLS JURY
Grand Jury To Investigate Court House
The Eastland county grand jury was told today by Judge George Davenport to investigate the condition of the Eastland county courthouse and make a report to the court of its findings. "This report must in no wise be political and I trust no one, either for or against the erection of a new courthouse, will attempt to use a report for political purposes. The people have a right to know what the condition of the building is—whether it is safe or unsafe—and this is the reason for the investigation at this time," the court said.

Four Burglaries Reported Sunday Night at Cisco

A series of four burglaries were committed in Cisco Sunday night, according to information reaching officers at Eastland this morning. The places said to have been entered were the Broadway Filling station, the White Way Filling station, Slaters' grocery and Stephens' filling station. At the Broadway Filling station the same is reported to have been hauled away on a truck and had not been located this morning. Very little, if anything, is said to have been taken from the other places.

Notary Commissions Arrive at Eastland

County Clerk R. L. Jones stated this morning that commissions for Eastland county notaries had been received by his department from the secretary of state at Austin and that applicants for notary commissions would be qualified as rapidly as possible. Somebody raised a question as to the legality of the manner in which notaries in Eastland county were being qualified, which was the same as has been used heretofore and which is the same as is being used in other counties, and it was decided that possibly the law was not being followed exactly and the methods of qualifying them was altered, which caused some delay and more or less confusion.

Man Fined For Whipping Wife, Does It Again

Considerably riled because the police of Ranger fined him $15.70 yesterday for whipping his wife, a white man, according to the police department, was released, returned home and did the job all over again, only to be arrested again, and fined $20.70 the second time. A Mexican drunk, and a complaint against a man for not keeping his chickens in his own yard were the chivvying features of the police department yesterday.

Five Thousand At Kiwanis Meeting In Memphis, Tenn.

MEMPHIS, June 6.—Five thousand and Kiwanis were welcomed here today by Mayor Lovett Payne, for their eleventh annual convention. Housing facilities were taxed to capacity by the five thousand visitors. A memorial service for the late Perry S. Patterson, Chicago, past international president was to follow the mayor's welcome.

END OF FLOOD SEEMS TO BE IN SIGHT NOW

By United Press.
NEW ORLEANS, June 6.—The current of the Atchafalaya river pouring through Berwick Bay now may carry off sufficient flood waters from the southern portion of the "sugar bowl" to prevent further rises in general inundation, observers said today. The Atchafalaya traveling at an average speed of one mile an hour is now pressing thousands of cubic feet of water out of bay into gulf. At Morgan City today the gauge stood 9.5 feet and little further rise was expected.

Commencement At Texas U. Closes Monday Night

Final commencement activities at Texas University will be held Monday evening at the stadium with the commencement address and the awarding of degrees. After an academic procession with President W. M. W. Splawn, deans of the university and other members of the faculty and degree candidates taking part in full regalia, Senator Morris Sheppard of Texas will make the commencement address. After the address President Splawn will award degrees. Saturday the first day of the forty-fourth annual commencement was named Alumni Day and as such was the occasion for the reunion of many former students. The alumni oration Saturday morning was delivered by Tom Connally of Marlin, a graduate of the university of Texas law school in the class of 1898. Other features on the alumni day program were a business meeting, an ex-students' luncheon and in the evening a barbecue on the campus for all ex-students and members of the faculty. Those members of the faculty who have been on the campus for twenty-five years or longer were honor guests on this occasion. Friday evening as a fitting conclusion to a week of strenuous final examinations, members of the ex-students' association entertained with a reception followed by a dance in honor of the members of the 1927 senior class. Sunday evening at the close of the second day of commencement, the Rev. H. O. Pritchard of Indianapolis general secretary of the board of education of the Disciples of Christ, preached the baccalaureate sermon. The sermon was delivered at the Texas Memorial Stadium.

Salary of State Highway Engineer Remains $8,000.00

By United Press.
AUSTIN, June 6.—The salary of the state highway engineer was left at $8,000 by the free conference committee on the departmental appropriation bill. That amount had been agreed by both senate and house. R. A. Thompson, the present highway engineer who had been reported to have stated that in event the salary was made less than $10,000 he would resign, refused to discuss the matter today.

BELLANCA MAKES NON STOP FLIGHT OF 4,000 MILES IN ABOUT 44 HOURS; IS SHORT OF GOAL

Record Made By Chamberlain and Levine Surpasses That of Lindbergh In Both Time and Distance; Plane Lands With Broken Propeller and Empty Gas Tank

By United Press.
BERLIN, Germany, June 6.—A broken propeller brought the Bellanca monoplane down near Forst, Prussia. While five airplanes with correspondents were speeding to Cottbus to meet Levine and Pilot Clarence D. Chamberlain, the United Press obtained an exclusive interview with the flyers by telephone. Chamberlain was changing his clothes when the United Press called the airmen at the Ansoerge hotel. He sent word to the phone that he was sorry he could not come to talk in person but that his clothes had to be changed, being rather soiled. Levine talked for 10 minutes. "We are leaving for Berlin this afternoon by a Lufthansa (Germany commercial airline plane)," he said. "Our first act on arriving in Berlin will be to drink two glasses of Pilsener beer and eat some sausages or hot dogs." "When we landed near Forst we saw the broken propeller would make continuation of our flight impossible so we came by automobile to Forst. During the flight over, our only sustenance consisted of a few glasses of water and one sandwich between us. We were not hungry when he arrived and we ate only a light lunch. We are feeling fine and are not tired and are delighted with the results of our trip."

IT'S NOT FAIR, CHARLEY

Lindbergh will come straight to Washington on his return. It doesn't seem just fair to leave New York out of it like that. The same thing holds for Detroit, St. Louis, San Diego, Little Falls, Peoria, South Bend, Fort Worth and the Thousand Islands. Lindbergh will need more than a compass in Washington, though. They say the cross-currents of air there are very devastating. Washington is planning entertainment for the young man. Why not call a special session of congress? There ought to be at least one good picture in the fact that Lindbergh will be Coolidge's guest, but we fear the photographers never will get it. That would be a picture of Lindbergh in the president's pajamas.

CHAMBERLIN MAY RECEIVE D. F. C. HONOR

By United Press.
WASHINGTON, June 6.—With the American capital engrossed in preparing for a gigantic welcome Saturday to Charles Lindbergh the question arose today what to do to honor Clarence Chamberlain for his achievement of breaking Lindbergh's New York-to-Paris non-stop air record. Officials admitted they were at a loss, but it was suggested that he like Lindbergh will receive the distinguished flying cross even though it is reserved solely for military fliers and Chamberlain, unlike Lindbergh, has no connection with army or the reserve forces.

Lindbergh Spends Quiet Sunday On Board Memphis

By United Press.
ABOARD U. S. S. MEMPHIS, EN ROUTE TO WASHINGTON, June 6. Captain Charles A. Lindbergh, returning to the United States after two triumphant weeks in Europe, spent a quiet Sunday. He attended religious services and received reports from ships wireless on the progress of the Columbia. The Memphis was only 10 miles from the Cunard liner Mauretania when the Columbia circled the steamship and continued the flight eastward. The Mauretania's stacks were visible on the horizon 10 miles northward from the Memphis but haze prevented lookouts on the cruiser from sighting the Bellanca plane. Lindbergh was in his cabin at the time. When informed from the message from the Mauretania, he said, "They will sure make it now."

Immediate Second Session May Not Be Called Now

By United Press.
AUSTIN, June 6.—Adjusting all difference, free conference committee has agreed on the educational and departmental appropriation bills and their reports are expected to be adopted during the day by senate and house. All of the major appropriation measures have now been ironed out, the judicial and eleemosynary measures were finally disposed of several days ago. There appears to be no reason why all appropriation bills should not be out of the way by time of final adjournment of special session tomorrow, making unnecessary an immediate second called session.

Neither Flyer Hurt In Landing

By United Press.
BERLIN, June 6.—Clarence D. Chamberlain and Charles A. Levine's attempt to fly from New York to Berlin ended today in swampy ground near Forst, 80 miles southeast of Berlin. The Bellanca monoplane Columbia was forced down there and its propeller was broken after it had established a new non-stop flight record of approximately 4,000 miles. Neither Chamberlain nor Levine was hurt and both were at the hotel Andorge at Coppbus. Coppbus is a large town west of Forst. The actual non-stop flight of the Bellanca ended at 7:40 a. m. (1:40 a. m. eastern standard time) at Helfta, near Eisleben, about 100 miles southwest of Berlin where the Columbia's fuel was exhausted. Obtaining gasoline Chamberlain and Levine continued flying as far as Forst.

Crowd Welcomes Flyers at Hotel

By United Press.
COPPBUS, Germany, June 6.—This Prussian community gave Clarence D. Chamberlain and Charles A. Levine a great welcome today. The people were frantic with enthusiasm and the entire population gathered in front of the hotel, crying "Hoch! hoch!" "Hoch Chamberlain, Levine." While the crowd was cheering in front of the hotel the first airplane arrived from Berlin with an impromptu reception committee.

American Will Undertake World Farming Census

ROME.—An agricultural census, to be extended to all the countries of the world, and directed by an American, Leon M. Estabrook, agricultural commissioner of the United States department of agriculture, has been planned by the International Institute of Agriculture here.

Estabrook has already visited all the countries of Europe, and has obtained the consent and approval of the respective governments to the projected census. Moreover, all the European countries possessing colonies have agreed to allow the census to be extended to them.

A uniform questionnaire has been prepared, and the various countries will be asked to give the various returns sought for by the agricultural institute.

The census will cover a wide field of inquiry. Each country will be asked to furnish particulars, through its agricultural department, of the amount of livestock in the country, to specify the quantity of arable and pasture land, and to indicate the various cultivations.

Statistical data will be sought showing the total area, total population and population per square kilometer. Forest areas, area of each important crop, imports and exports of principal agricultural and livestock products will be asked for.

Other headings of the questionnaire are: land tenure; farm population, dairying, size of farms, rates of wages of agricultural laborers, prices, means and costs on internal distribution of agricultural products, poultry, extent of use of labor-saving appliances and living conditions of workers.

The questionnaire will be preceded by a brief statement setting forth the reasons why a census inventory of agriculture and livestock is of value to each country.

The codification and analysis of the census returns are expected to take at least a year.

NATIONAL FOREIGN TRADE MEETING STARTS AT DETROIT

DETROIT, May 25.—The fourteenth Annual National Foreign Trade Convention, having as its keynote the cementation of Anglo-American trade relations, opened here today with approximately 2,000 executive of American foreign trade concerns representing 42 states in attendance.

James A. Farrell, president of the United States Steel Corporation and chairman of the National Foreign Trade Council since its beginning in Washington in 1914, called the general session to order in the new Masonic Temple auditorium.

A general review of trade conditions since the world war and an optimistic outlook for tomorrow's world trade, marked the address of Julius H. Barnes of New York, former president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

Barnes' speech was the first of a list of some 40 other distinguished authorities who will talk during the three day sessions.

Barnes advocated the Communistic Soviet Government of Russia and praised American idealism which "refused to sell its birthright of international honesty in relations for the curdled mess of pottage of Russian trade."

He declared that Europe had two of the three major requisites for a people to attain their position in the social scale, but lacked the third—stable government.

"They have first," Barnes said, "natural resources. Second, habits of industry, but lack third, stable and sound governments."

"What a kaleidoscopic spectacle Europe has presented since the armistice. The great area of Russia still today holding its people in a state barely above barbarism because of government theories of communistic tyranny. Absorptive attempts to establish communistic despotism in Hungary, Poland, Germany, substantial suspension of democratic government through theories of socialism in government which nearly wrecked Austria, Hungary, Italy, Poland and Germany; successive revolutions for the aggrandizement of individual leaders which undermined productive effort in Greece and the Balkans; established dictatorships today which make for the appearance of present stability but carry the seeds of future possible revolution and industrial chaos in Spain, Italy, Hungary, Poland, Greece, and the astounding incident of a general strike in Britain, the present-day reflection in constantly reducing bank rates."

Barnes then compared Great Britain and its workers with America. He discussed the Mackenzie Mission of Great Britain's report, and agreed in its findings but declared they over looked the major reason underlying the confidence of Americans in establishing new industries and old ones.

"The major reason for this life-giving confidence," Barnes said, "is the National philosophy that prohibits to government the deadly menace of government competition in any field of private industry."

"Some day, perhaps, Europe will realize that government employment doles, government pensions, government rules for regulating the relations between employer and workers, have robbed industry of its initiative and energy which makes for such confident ventures and has as well undermined the individual reliance of the worker himself."

Barnes showed by figures that America for each thousand of its population possesses 34 times as many telephones, uses 11 1/2 times as much electricity, owns 30 times as many automobiles and twice as many homes with 1-20th as many people on public charity as Great Britain.

League Urges United Action Against White Slave Traffic

LONDON.—Converted international action probably could eliminate or at least greatly decrease the international traffic in women and children, the investigators of the League of Nations have concluded after a two-year study of the situation which included the personal questioning of 6,500 persons, 5,000 of whom were directly connected with the traffic.

The report of the investigation revealed that the traffic persisted on a large scale but also that it was somewhat on the wane. The influence of troops and naval movements on the traffic was found by the investigators to be large, as the following excerpts from the report will show:

"One procurer who was met in Paris on his return from Havana, said to an investigator: 'Strike out for Panama. The fleet is expected there during January and February. Things in Panama and Colon will be great.'"

Here is the description, continued in the league's report, of the arrival of a battleship in the canal:

"The result was that the streets were crowded with American sailors and marines who were seen to enter and to leave the resorts. Women from other sections of the city rented temporary rooms to meet the demand. These conditions apparently prevail whenever a battleship passes through the canal."

The organized commercial traffic in women and girls between the states of the United States and the United States and foreign countries, the investigators found, had to a very large extent been broken up by United States laws. But the traffic still flourishes, notably from Europe to Central America and South America, although many European countries and African cities are in the market and buy regularly.

In brief, the remedies to the current situation proposed by the league investigators are as follows:

1. Obtain the signatures of all governments to a League of Nations convention against the traffic in women and children.
2. International exchange of information regarding the movements of traffickers in women and children.
3. Close supervision of all agencies offering foreign employment for women, especially those offering employment to girls in cabarets.
4. Supervision of cabarets.
5. Exclusion and deportation of foreigner prostitutes and procurers

clusively to the Canadian delegates, more than 200 of whom were present. Prior to this and all during the session, executives of the two countries' industries convened at round-table meetings and at dinners, discussing means of gradual lifting of many of the customs barriers between them.

S. B. Grundy, president of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, the Dominion's newly organized national business council, presided at this meeting.

Grundy talked briefly on "cooperation," and was followed by Edward Beck, secretary of the Canadian Pulp and Paper association, Montreal, who spoke on "Canada's Contribution to the American Reading Table," and Brigadier General C. H. Mitchell, president of the Toronto Board of Trade.

General Mitchell spoke on "Canadian Water Power Development."

John F. Tinsley, vice president and general manager of Crompton and Knowles Loom Works, Worcester, Mass., was the only American speaker.

"You long have heard us say that you are our best customer," Tinsley declared, "but we are glad to be known as your best customer."

"A study of the trade between the United States and Canada for the past twenty years cannot fail to emphasize the importance of our commercial relations and the vital part that our commerce is taking in contributing to progress on both sides of the border."

Tinsley showed that trade between Canada and the United States totaled $1,224,000,000 for the 1926 calendar year, the second largest foreign trade of the United States, and the largest foreign trade for Canada (Great Britain was the largest United States trader.)

The figure represented 13 percent of the United States' foreign trade of $9,200,000,000 for the year, he said, but approximately 50 percent of Canada's $2,500,000,000 trade.

"In 1926," Tinsley said, "the United States exported to Canada $748,000,000 worth of goods and imports from Canada totaled $476,000,000. In 1925 their relative positions were $649,000,000 and $454,000,000."

"The balance of trade was in our favor to the amount of an average of $288,000,000 per year, but Canada relatively has been making a greater ratio of progress in increasing her imports than we have."

Tinsley declared that the average export to Canada during the five-year period prior to the war (1910-1914) averaged $315,000,000 as against $117,000,000 average imports during the same period.

"In percentages," he pointed out, "our export values to Canada have increased 120 percent, while our import values from Canada increased 298 percent."

By referring indirectly to the liquor situation, Tinsley aroused a titter from his audience.

"And I may assure our friends," he said, smiling, "that the figures don't tell it all, since we seem to be developing a constantly increasing number of people in the United States who insist on going up to Canada annually and trying to square up our trade balance in person."

"And that group is so broad-minded that it doesn't ask you to keep track of things either."

Among other outstanding addresses to be delivered during the three days of sessions are those by Roy D. Chapman, Chairman of the Hudson Motor Car company Board; James S. Alexander, chairman of the National Bank of Commerce Board; F. Edson White, chairman of Armour & company's board; C. K. Woodbridge, president of the International Advertising Association; and Sigs B. Strawn, chairman of the board of Montgomery, Ward and company.

AIR AMBULANCE EQUIPPED WITH OPERATING ROOM

By United Press.

KHARKOFF—A flying ambulance with a completely equipped operating room for emergency surgical treatments in flight, has been put into commission by the local branch of the soviet Red Cross. The airplane has accommodation for four stretchers in front of the operating room. The machine and motor are entirely of Russian design and construction.

PEKIN.—Because of the large number of illiterate Chinese in Pekin, new plates of red, yellow, blue and white have been put on street car fronts to indicate routes in place of the former plates carrying Chinese characters.

League Urges United Action Against White Slave Traffic

Flew Almost as Far as "Slim"

Two British flyers, Lieutenants L. M. Gillman (left) and C. H. Carr, held the world's non-stop flight distance record for an hour when they plunged into the Persian gulf after a 3400-mile jaunt from England. Their record was broken by Lindbergh's 3600-mile trip, the American flyer reaching Paris just an hour after the British plane was wrecked in the gulf. The two men were rescued.

CHARLES A. LINDBERGH

By MORRIS DEHAVEN TRACY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
(Copyright, 1927, by United Press)
CHAPTER V.

To the people of Little Falls, Minn., the success of Charles A. Lindbergh in flying to Paris is but a development of the days when he would send aloft a toy balloon or a parachute he had made himself and it would float farther than any other boy could make one float.

Then, according to one boyhood friend, when Charles had proved the efficiency of his latest effort in the manufacture of parachutes, he would hoist his bicycle into a tree, make it fast and climb onto it, sitting there perhaps for hours dreaming that he was flying off across the skies—maybe even then dreaming he was flying to France.

"Charles Lindbergh always was experimenting with anything that pertained to flying," one friend of his school days in Little Falls said.

"He experimented with parachutes and toy balloons and would make toy parachutes weighted with stones or iron bars, hurl them high into the air, sometimes from out of a tree top, and watch them sail away. His parachutes would sail sometimes for blocks and were the envy of all his friends. His success so intrigued the fancies of the boys of Little Falls that soon he had them all busy making parachutes and trying to duplicate his successes. But no matter how well the other boys could build them, Lindbergh could do better.

"He used to spend much time by himself, putting and tinkering with machinery and with his bicycle. But when the flying dreams seized him the hardest he used to hoist his bicycle into a tall tree, secure it and play that he was flying."

Congressman Lindbergh, Charles' father, bought his son a bicycle when Charles was about 10 years of age, and he soon became a familiar sight riding at a breakneck pace through the village, cap on backward, and outdistancing all the other boys who tried to follow him.

But a bicycle became too slow for this lad, whose eyes were ever yearning to annihilate space, and when he was 15, he bought his first motorcycle. He rode it at top speed, while citizens held their breath as he whirled by.

Next came an automobile. His first machine was an old Saxon riding car, which he bought from Charles Farrow, still an automobile salesman in Little Falls.

"I recall vividly teaching young Lindbergh to drive," said Farrow. "I took him out one morning and by night he was an expert driver. He took to it like a duck to water and learned it all in one day."

Charles drove the automobile as he had ridden his motorcycle and his bicycle, at a furious pace, yet in all his driving he never had an accident.

In fact, Lindbergh never has had an accident of any kind, and he needs to require the attention of a physician. The only time a doctor has ever attended him was when he had the measles in early childhood.

When Lindbergh was 15 he became irritated by the difficulties he had each day while bringing the cows in from the pasture in crossing a creek about thirty feet wide, which flowed through the Lindbergh farm. He had to pick his way carefully across on the stones—or else get wet. So he set about in typical fashion to overcome the difficulty. He gathered a quantity of fence wire and some timber and in a week he had erected, without help from anyone, a miniature suspension bridge, thirty feet long across the stream. The bridge was anchored to trees and fence posts and instead of being a rudely built affair was done according to approved engineering practice throughout.

At high school Charles was a peculiar student. He finished his course in three years, being graduated in 1918, but at no time did he take any part in any school activities, social or athletic. He was careless of his dress and his favorite costume at home was a pair of well-worn overalls.

"He never paid any attention to the girls in school," Miss Bertha Rothwell, who was a classmate in high school, said, "and the girls never paid any attention to him, because he never 'spruced up.'"

Those who knew him at the University of Wisconsin told much the same story.

"He tore around wildly on a motorcycle while at the university," one classmate there said, "as a protest against the social life of the college."

"I never knew Charlie Lindbergh

Triple Plays In Major Loop Few And Far Between

By BILLIE EVANS
Shortstop Jimmy Cooney of the Chicago Cubs and First Baseman Johnny Neun of the Detroit Tigers recently completed the sixth and seventh unassisted triple plays, respectively, that have been made in the majors.

Cooney's feat came against Pittsburgh on Decoration Day. Neun's the following day against Cleveland.

Since the shortstop and second baseman hold down the ideal spots for executing such plays, there is nothing unusual about the fact that five of the seven made in the majors are credited to such players.

George Burns, while with Boston, is the other first baseman in the majors to retire the side without help of his teammates. Burns, by the way, made his play against his present club, the Indians.

Since I happened to umpire the games in which Burns and Neun made their plays, I will tell more of them later.

Record of Freak Happenings
Neal Ball of Cleveland made the first unassisted triple play in 1909 and eleven years elapsed before another was made, the one of Bill Wambams in the 1920 world series.

The feat was performed twice in 1923—by Burns and Elmer Padgett of the Braves. Shortstop Glenn Wright turned the trick for the fifth time, and now come Cooney and Neun.

Lloyd Waner with a base hit and Barnhart with a pass set the stage for Cooney when Paul Wagner drove a liner through the box, looking like a sure hit, that was grabbed by Cooney.

It so happened that Cooney had one foot on second just about the time the ball struck his mitt. That made two out. He ran up the line to touch Barnhart out as the latter charged from first.

Most triple plays are completed so quickly and unexpectedly that the crowd hardly has a chance to gasp what has actually happened until it is all over.

How Burns Did It.
Getting back to Burns' unusual play, I was umpiring the bases in that game and as I recall it, Rubie Lutzke was on first and Riggs Stephenson, now with the Cubs, on second.

Burns, not sure whether the batter would bunt or hit-and-run, was playing it fairly close and the batter drove a terrific liner directly at Burns on the hit-and-run play.

Lutzke, trying to get back to first, slipped and was tagged out. Then began a chase to beat Stephenson to second. Both slid into the bag, but Burns won the decision.

Neun's play came with Myatt on second and Jamieson on first and Summa's liner on the hit-and-run. Neither player had any chance to evade Neun's efforts for a triple killing.

Few triple plays by a first baseman will ever happen since his position is not nearly so advantageous to pull them.

This is the Distinguished Flying Cross which President Coolidge is to bestow on Captain Charles A. Lindbergh at Washington upon his return home. Recently approved by the Fine Arts commission, it is the first of its kind struck.

to wear a white shirt," said a girl who knew him at the university.

It is interesting to note the change which came over Lindbergh in that regard, for while he was at Curtis Field, New York, making ready to fly to Paris, his immaculate costume was always noticeable, and even after flying from St. Louis he stepped from his plane without a spot of grease on his clothing and with a stiff collar set off by a tie not a fraction of an inch askew.

Friends of Lindbergh's father remember the boy as Congressman Lindbergh's constant companion, and they say that seldom are father and son seen who could be more alike.

They recall that at the age of 10 Charlie started out with his father on a canoe trip which occupied an entire summer. They launched their canoe at the headwaters of the Mississippi River and followed the stream southward to its mouth—just the two of them, paddling along in the frail boat.

"Charlie was just like his father," said Carl Bolander, real estate dealer and close friend of the elder Lindbergh. "Congressman Lindbergh was quiet, reticent and inclined to play a lone hand. He was a man of great determination and of great courage."

To people in Little Falls, it was interesting to note that the night before Lindbergh started for Paris he slept but about three hours.

"Just like his father," they said. "That's an inherited characteristic. When his father had important work in hand he forgot about sleep, working day and night almost without rest for days at a time."

FORCED TO PAY DEBTS BEFORE HIS EXECUTION
By United Press.
PEKIN.—Arrayed in a white satin gown with blue collar, in shoes of yellow satin and hat of black, Po Haiang-so, Mongolian murderer of mother, wife, son, daughter and elder concubine, walked unflinchingly to the hangman's noose in the Model Prison here.

Po's last act was to write two love couplets to his 18-year-old concubine who was a partner in his crimes and who must serve a sentence of life imprisonment. After the execution, the body of Po was claimed by the father of this girl.

The Mongol had endeavored to bring his beloved into his home as his second concubine, but the elder concubine objected. SOVIET RUSSIA LABORS TO REMEDY TEA SHORTAGE
By United Press.
MOSCOW.—Feverish haste in expanding the Russian tea plantations to supply the national need for the beverage is evident in latest orders from the Commissar of National Defense. Tea almost vanished from the Russian markets, due to the confused conditions in China, and the Soviet Government is intent on assuring its own supply as quickly as possible. Special credit facilities, tax rebates and other inducements are being offered the peasant-farmers of the Caucasus, to persuade them to change from corn growing to tea culture. The Russians are the greatest tea-drinkers in the world and for many years the annual tea consumption of the Russians has been far greater than that of their nearest rivals for the distinction, the British.

British "War Dogs" In China

These British "war dogs" of the land and the air photographed as they were delivered at Shanghai, may see service in North China soon. Britain is preparing to send a force of airplanes and other war paraphernalia from Shanghai and Tientsin because of alarm over the Nationalist drive into Marshall Chang Tso-ling's north China realm. In the upper photo are two huge military biplanes; below, a forbidding battery of armored trucks.

BEST EDUCATED CHINESE CLING TO TRADITIONS

By RANDALL GOULD (United Press Staff Correspondent) PEKING.—Ancient China's grip on the minds of even her modern children is sharply demonstrated by tests conducted in a class of forty-eight students in the course of contemporary civilization in the Peking college of commerce and finance. To those who know something of the true China, there is nothing at all surprising in the apparently astonishing adherence to ideas which the rest of the world has discarded or never entertain at all. Even the most "foreignized" of the students who have been educated abroad and have returned tend to display a rapid return to the bosom of Mother China. And students who do not even leave the country can hardly be expected to acquire more than a veneer of foreign thought.

NATIONAL SOJOURNERS TO HOLD CONVENTION

By United Press. CLEVELAND, June 2.—Every branch of Uncle Sam's service in all parts of the world will be represented at the seventh annual convention of the National Sojourners club, in Cleveland, June 19, 20 and 21. Membership in this order is limited to Masons holding officers' commissions, past, present or reserve, in some military or naval force of the United States or its world war allies. This will be the club's first independent convention, the six previous ones having been adjuncts to larger Masonic gatherings. Though only seven years old, the order has grown so rapidly that it now has 74 chapters, located in virtually every state of the union and most of the insular possessions and almost everywhere the United States maintains a military or naval post. Major-General Amos A. Fries, chief of the chemical warfare service, is president of the National Sojourners club. Since many women are wearing the hair behind the ears at evening time, long pendant earrings are coming to the front. PEKING.—Officials of the ministry of agriculture and commerce are preparing to close the department because of lack of funds to pay salaries.

ENGLISH ROAST BEEF THREATENED BY AUTOS LONDON.—Because, they claim, British housewives prefer Sunday joy-riding to the cooking of the traditional family roast, a number of enterprising butchers are trying to have Nottingham cattle market day changed. Especially since the war, it is said that housewives in England object to spending their Sunday mornings in the kitchen, preparing the weekly feast of roast beef, veal or the popular leg of mutton. Indeed it would appear that the quicker cooked chops and steaks with the usual boiled potatoes are fast taking the place of the more austere joints, thus enabling the "lady of the house" to be ready in time for the "joint" husband-and-wife Sunday outing in the family automobile. According to statistics furnished by the London central markets, the heaviest purchases of meat are made on Thursdays or Fridays, a fair proof that the joint is being ousted by the motorcar.

What a Thrill Tsi Was to Norman Batten

Imagine your car catching on fire while racing along at a rate of speed close to 100 miles an hour! That gave Norman Batten his thrill on Decoration Day while he was driving in the annual 500-mile speed classic at Indianapolis. The photograph shows Batten standing in the driver's seat. Note the flames at the rear of the speeding car. Standing up, Batten drove his car off the track.

THE JAMESONS

Don't be a Victim of "Spring Fever"

You Can Easily Avoid the Depressing Effects of the Changing Season. In the Spring, many people find themselves losing appetite, are overcome by a lack of energy, and a run-down feeling takes possession of their whole body. Spring is a great renovating season, when Nature throws off the accumulated impurities and prepares the system for the change it must undergo before merging into the coming Summer. At this time, the energies relax, and an unspeaking languor pervades the entire system, giving that worn-out, good-for-nothing feeling, so commonly called "spring fever." The important thing, therefore, is to put your system in tip-top condition, so as to be able to resist the common ailments so prevalent in Summer. You must build up the tissue and repair the wear that the system has undergone. Now is the time to take S.S.S. It is unequalled for restoring strength, vitality and a keen appetite. You owe it to yourself and family to give S.S.S. a trial. It helps Nature build up red blood corpuscles; it improves the processes by which the body is nourished, and it is time-tried and reliable. S.S.S. is made from the roots of fresh herbs and plants, and is prepared in a scientific way in a modern laboratory. Get your S.S.S. in any good drug store. It is sold in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

Western Cities Dropped From Social Register

By GEORGE D. CRISSEY, United Press Staff Correspondent.
 PORTLAND, Ore., June 6.—The hard upper crust of high society has collapsed and the far west returned to its own.

Once again the democracy of pioneer days prevailed, and the expressive phrases of loggers and cowmen were restored to grace. Each man was labeled either a "damn dude" or a "good stiff," and the charming hostess, Mrs. Sliddermann-Johns, was forced to respond to a commoner's greeting of "Lo Sal, howza gal?"

The reformation, which applies to all the far west with the lone exception of San Francisco, was brought about by decision of the Social Register Publishing company of New York to drop certain cities from its list and no longer to list the socially elect in the far west.

In brief, the summer number of Social Registers for western cities was issued today, accompanied by the sad refrain of that appealing song, "That's all there is, there ain't no more."

The summer issue will be the last Social Register to grace drawing rooms in Portland, Seattle, St. Paul, Minneapolis, Southern California and southern cities.

Lack of interest in the Register is ascribed as the reason.

Portland was calm as the crisis came. The 1,000 persons named in the last book to be issued took the blow with remarkable fortitude. The 300,000 others were not interested.

ORPHAN FARM COLONY.

MOSCOW—Five hundred homeless boys, the waifs of the Russian revolution orphaned by the fighting, have been given land for farming in Northern Caucasus, a rich agricultural territory. The soviet government is colonizing the boys as they grow out of school age.

Under Way in the Big Balloon Race

Under way! The first balloons have taken the air at the National Balloon Race at Akron Oh., while the rest of the big pear-shaped craft wait on the ground in readiness for their turns. A cameraman in an airplane circled over the field and snapped this picture for NEA service and this paper. Note the one balloon high in the air. Nine are waiting on the ground, while the white patches show the spaces vacated by the balloons that have already arisen.

Esther Ralston And Clara Bow At Lamb Theatre

The dark haired, fiery Clara Bow and the golden haired, wistful Esther Ralston are co-starred in "Children of Divorce," which comes to the Lamb theatre on tomorrow. The rest of the cast includes such notable as Gary Cooper, Einar Hanson, Norman Trevor and Edward Martindel. The theme is one whose vital importance has knocked upon every household door. It has entered many a home and in many cases has found the door bolted. Even in those homes where it finds no entrance, it is talked about by those in the house. The theme is that which causes tongues to wag and to gossip. It has wrecked homes. It is the cause of drunkenness—night life. For, from it emanates the dregs of life. It is divorce, and its pranks upon life are the children of divorce! Individuals who have no say in the matter, yet who are most concerned. "Children of Divorce" is a drama that brings to the fore a subject whose truths and realisms cannot even dared to be overlooked.

FISHING PARTY REPORTS GOOD LUCK ON BRAZOS

One cat fish weighing 12 pounds, another weighing 10 pounds and "all we could eat," is the report that Pearl Cox of Ranger is giving of a week end fishing trip on the Brazos. The party consisted of Messrs. Pearl Cox, Arthur Flahie, Vandorn, and their families. They fished on the Brazos not far from Palo Pinto and report a splendid catch, as well as lots of fun and chiggers.

Chautauqua Head Praises Former Ranger Singer

In an interview with Roland R. Witte, manager of the Witts-Horner concert bureau, Mmes. Gifford Clegg and W. D. Conway of Ranger while in Mineral Wells Sunday, were informed that he considered Laura McCoy, prima donna in Firefly, greater than Talley. He said to these friends of Miss McCoy that she was simply marvelous in this opera, which will be the concluding number of the Redpath-Horner chautauqua which begins in Ranger on June 21.

Mr. Witte, like Madame Schumann-Heink, is intensely interested in the future of the young singer and is assisting her all he can toward her goal, grand opera. He predicts for her a great future.

PRISONERS INSTITUTE JAIL REIGN OF TERROR

EDGEVSK, Russia.—Lawlessness within the prison gates of Edgevsk has resulted in the re-arrest of 27 prisoners, who will be tried in a court of law and re-sentenced.

The group consisted of the oldest inhabitants of the penitentiary and they terrorized the newcomers, making their fellow-prisoners practically their servants and slaves. Beatings and tortures inflicted on newly-incarcerated prisoners by the veteran jailbirds were so brutal that the victims were afraid to complain to the prison authorities. The leader of the gang had served 13 prison terms and had his first taste of jail as a boy of 11 years of age.

Citizenship To Aliens Would Be Denied By Legion

A resolution passed by a committee of three of Carl Barnes Post No. 69, of Ranger, which would prohibit aliens who were exempt from service during the World War because of being aliens, becoming naturalized citizens of America, went over unanimously at the quarterly meeting of the Seventeenth district of the American Legion held Sunday in Coleman.

This resolution was published in part in the Ranger Times and Eastland Telegram a few days ago and was drawn up with a view of barring from citizenship in the United States those aliens who were exempted for that reason during the late war.

The Ranger delegation reports a most successful meeting and that their post was quite active.

Coleman Post was a good host and all report a fine time.
