

BURGLAR KILLS DENTON COUNTY FARMER

BRIBERY CASE AGAINST FORMER REPRESENTATIVE IS DISMISSED

DALE CASE IS THEN TAKEN UP FOR TRIAL

Former Jeopardy Is Plea of Counsel For H. H. Moore, Cooper

AUSTIN, July 11.—One hour and a half after counsel for H. H. Moore of Cooper, former representative, charged with bribery entered a plea of "former jeopardy" in the Travis county district court Monday morning, Judge J. R. Hamilton, sustained the plea and dismissed the case.

A short while after ten o'clock Monday morning counsel for defendant Moore entered a written motion asking that the case be dismissed because of "former jeopardy" in re-lying to the motion.

District Attorney J. D. Moore, asked the court to sustain the plea. Moore was first placed on trial the latter part of May.

After four minor witnesses had been placed on trial by the state, prosecutor Moore withdrew the state's announcement of "ready" because of the inability of its star witness, Willis Chamberlin, Houston optometrist, to take the stand. Physicians testified that Chamberlin who was suffering a near nervous breakdown would breakdown if he took the stand.

In making the plea on behalf of Moore of "former jeopardy" counsel of the defendant stated that they were unable to find any case on record where the jury was discharged because of the inability of a witness to testify after state had withdrawn its motion of ready and that the defendant could not be placed on trial again.

District Attorney Moore said that it was with regret that he asked the court to sustain plea on behalf of the court.

"Circumstances arose over which we had no control. We could not place Chamberlin on the stand because of physical condition," Moore said.

A short while after Moore case was dismissed Judge Hamilton called the E. A. Dale trial. Dale is also former representative and was indicted jointly. Court recessed until 2 o'clock in Dale case.

The former hearing was continued because of the illness of the girl's husband, Otis Rogers, attorney, who is said to be near death with tuberculosis.

Further delay in trial of Rebecca Bradley Rogers, pretty former university of Texas co-ed, appeared likely when eight of her witness failed to report and it was announced that five had not been legally called to testify.

Judge M. C. Jeffrey excused the special venire of 100 until afternoon. The state announced it was ready to proceed with the hearing.

Irate Citizens Form Posse to Search For Negro, Fear Violence

DENTON, July 11.—Posses of citizens were searching the countryside here today for a large negro who last night shot and killed Carl Burrell, farmer, near here.

A reward was being raised among citizens today for the apprehension of the negro. A lady's watch and a gun were the only things taken by the negro. It is believed he used Burrell's gun to do the shooting.

The mob of irate citizens gathered shortly after midnight and continued the search through this morning.

Will Predatory Interests Rule This Country?

WASHINGTON.—It's cheaper to buy a political conviction than a whole state.

This indubitable fact may not be foremost in the minds of those who would abolish the popular primary, but the defenders of popular government do not hesitate to assert that it is the principal inspiration of the anti-primary movement.

Former Senator Robert L. Owen of Oklahoma, president of the national popular government league, who recently went after Vice President Dawes for his attack on the primary system, insists that the whole thing boils down to a matter of economical corruption and says he can prove it.

"We've seen them buy conventions, legislatures and primaries, Owen told your correspondent the other day. "It only cost about $100,000 to get a senate seat for Lorimer, but it cost Smith and Varet ten times as much."

Owen is among those who favor making it harder to buy high offices rather than easier. He believes, however, that Vice President Dawes is perfectly honest in his views and has only been misled by his friends.

"Reactionary elements are trying to take away power from the people," Owen said. "The best evidence of the way they work and what they are after was the expenditure of hundreds of thousands of dollars in a primary by the president of the manufacturers' association in Pennsylvania.

"In nearly a hundred cases of predatory monopoly whose evil practices were reposed by the Federal Trade Commission to the department of justice, prosecutions were smothered. Are these predatory interests governing the country or not?"

"We are not likely to have a dictatorship in this country, as Dawes and others suggest. The good people still have control of the congress and if the big fellows impose on the people too much the people will kick them out and make them behave for a while."

It was recalled to Owen that the dictatorship bogey had been raised by a new organization which perceived an organized campaign of ridicule against congress, designed to lessen its influence and pave the way for a "man on horseback."

Owen thought it true that some of the abuse poured upon congress might be inspired.

"I've read with great interest," he said, "a book just brought out, called 'Professional Patriots,' showing how special interests finance such organizations for private advantage. I think most of the contempt in which some men profess to hold congress is the language of the superficial ass who would exaggerate his own ego by looking down on the Washington monument. Egotism, as has been said, is the anaesthetic which nature provides to keep a man from dying of shame when he realizes what a fool he is."

JUST DID. The $300,000 bond issue for the building and furnishing of a new courthouse for Eastland county.

It has been said that a miss is as good as a mile. Well, it's all right for those who want to feel that way about it, but this happens to be a case where the miss isn't as good as a mile.

A majority is a majority and no doubt there will be no hitch in getting the bonds issued, and sold and putting the new building under construction.

But the bad part of it is that probably not more than one-third of the voting strength of the county decided the question that the county should have another courthouse.

It is fair and just that one-third of the people of any community, county or state should run the affairs of that community, county or state?

As the situation now stands in this county a bare majority of one-third of the county's tax-paying citizens decided to build the new courthouse.

TOO MANY OF THESE. Not so long ago an Eastland county farmer invited a farmer neighbor of his to attend a farm terracing demonstration...

Instead of accepting the invitation the farmer took a rather obstinate attitude and replied in substance that there wasn't any school boy who could show him anything about farming.

There are too many farmers over the country that have taken this same attitude toward agricultural agents.

Wild Night Life of Shanghai is Wide Open Once More

SHANGHAI The wild, carefree night life of Shanghai has resumed in full. Once darkened streets that echoed the measured tread of military feet are now ablaze with beckoning lights of cabarets.

For six weeks curfew regulations confined restive, fun-loving Shanghaiers to the homes. The first curfew hour was 10 p. m. Later it was extended till midnight.

The sand-bag barricades are still in evidence and behind some of them armed soldiers, sailors or marines maintain a day and night vigil.

Outwardly all is well. Beneath the surface, however, there is dissension and unrest in the ranks of the Chinese.

The lifting of the curfew regulations was hailed with delight by the Chinese of the settlement. They felt that it not only meant a resumption of their interrupted business but also a resumption of night life, which the Chinese love.

Night in Shanghai, no matter what the hour, finds Nanking road, second most important thoroughfare in the settlement, swarming with Chinese. They mill back and forth in the vicinity of the great department stores, apparently without an objective but content so long as they can remain on the streets.

With the advent of early summer foreign girls here have donned the summer attire for which Shanghai is famous and the colors for which some-one must have paged the solar spectrum.

The service men of several nations have blossomed forth in their snappy summer uniforms and present a pleasing sight as they swagger through the streets.

A certain cafe, once the mecca of all service men, is now devoid of Americans, and the Russian dancing girls, who miss the good American dollars there, are sad.

French knives gleamed and American fists flashed. The French were reinforced by the service men of two other countries.

Mrs. Maranville has been entertained by several Mrs. Glover's friends, among her hostesses being Meses. Ollie Higgs, Felix Spurlin, and Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Nelson.

CLOCK LIGHTS UP STREETS AT DUSK

A motor-wound electric astronomical clock, which automatically recognizes the changes in hours of daylight according to the season of the year, controls the new eight-million dollar street-lighting system recently installed in St. Louis, Mo. In the summer when days are long, the clock does not turn on the master circuit which turns on the street lights, until dark. In winter, when days are short, it turns on the lights at the proper time without human control.

'Little Black Box' Gives Up Two of Its Secrets

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., July 11.—Carefully guarded a second document was produced from D. C. Stephenson's "Little black box," today and turned over to prosecutor W. H. Remy, in charge of the official inquiry into alleged Indiana political corruption.

The first paper yielded by the box in which Stephenson kept the private political documents he accumulated during his reign as grand dragon of the Ku Klux Klan was the check reproduced by the Indianapolis Times today purporting to be a payment of $2,500 from Stephenson to Governor Ed Jackson, for primary expenses.

YANKEES HAVE THREE STARS ON HOSPITAL LIST

At Halfway Mark This Team Was Slated to Win American League Flag, Injuries May Interfere.

At the halfway mark in the major league season, July 4, the New York Yankees enjoyed a lead of 11-2 games. On form that makes the club a positive favorite.

However, seven other clubs in the league, with a hope of keeping the race from becoming a mere procession, point to the showing the Yankees made last season as one definite reason why it isn't all over but the shouting.

Last season, New York suffered a near collapse in the final month of play and the just managed to stagger across the line a winner.

Additional hope that the Yankees may be stopped in their mad dash for the pennant lies in the crippled pitching staff which the New York club brings west.

So far this season New York has received much better pitching than was expected from its staff of veterans.

Waite Hoyt, who suffered from a bad arm most of last season, is ailing again. The trouble is in the elbow and is regarded as very serious. In his last three starts Hoyt has been knocked out.

A line drive that struck Herb Pennock just above the heart is causing the slender southpaw considerable trouble. His chest is so sore that it is impossible for him to throw without pain.

The latest victim of the jinx that has been pursuing the Yankee staff for a month was the injury suffered by Urban Shocker. An X-ray showed several broken bones in the foot. He will be out at least six weeks.

With three veteran stars on the hospital list, the Yankees may need the commanding lead now enjoyed to stay in front.

Winning Pitchers Sometimes Gets Too Much Credit

Pitching records do not always give credit where it is due.

Since the origin of baseball, many experts have tried to figure out some system of rating that would tell the true worth of the various pitchers, but as yet no one has succeeded.

What pitcher gets credit for winning the game? Many a sport editor has often wrestled with such a problem, trying to reach a proper decision in a game in which three or four twirlers have performed for the victorious team.

Only recently Pitcher Burke of the Washington club received credit for winning a game in which he pitched only one ball to retire the side, the bases being filled when he ascended the mound.

It was the eighth inning and the score was a tie. In the ninth his team made two runs, he being removed for a pinch hitter. The man who relieved him allowed one run in the last of the ninth and Washington won out.

Crediting the victory to Burke, who pitched only one ball in the eighth inning hardly seems fair, since the other pitcher, who had worked up to that time, didn't even get honorable mention.

Tough on Rookie. The two games on Fourth of July between Chicago and Cincinnati of the National League offered another concrete example of the injustice of the present rules relative to games won and lost.

Guy Bush, as relief pitcher, was credited with the two wins the Cubs scored over the Reds. He richly earned the award in one of the games, while in the other it was pretty much of a gift.

It was in the first game that the injustice of awarding the victory to Bush was very apparent, although there was no alternative under the scoring rules.

For nine innings Southpaw Brillheart of Chicago had held Cincinnati to three hits and one run. In the last of the ninth a pinch hitter was sent in for Brillheart and he could do no more than strike out.

Bush pitched the first half of the tenth session and held the Reds, while Chicago put over the deciding run in its half, ending the game.

Bush was credited with the victory even though he only pitched one inning, while Brillheart's nine innings of great work got no recognition. Hardly fair.

Deserved This Win. In the second game Bush took the rubber after Cincinnati had scored three runs off Osborn in the first two innings. During the rest of the game he held the Reds scoreless, allowing only three hits.

Late batting rallies on the part of the Cubs put over six runs and Chicago won out after a very disappointing start. Bush richly deserved credit for that victory.

Of course it can be pointed out that when Bush took up the burden with the score a tie, he stood to lose the game unless he held the opposition. And if one is liable to lose, he should have an equal right to victory, if his club goes over.

However, for Brillheart, who had pitched magnificently for nine innings, to get no credit whatever, hardly seems fair.

Someone once suggested a method of splitting the wins. This suggestion got nothing more than a laugh, yet it had some logic. Under such a system Brillheart and Bush each would have received credit for a half game.

Helps Yanks

Meet John Grabowski, catcher for the Yankees, who is having quite a large part in the success of the Yanks through his excellent work back of the plate. Grabowski has caught the majority of the games played by the Yanks this year.

Gripings by Gus

Be patient: Remember the garter that waited 1900 years for a place in the sun.

No, that's not original, it was gleaned from the back of a blotter. Still it is a very fitting and consoling remark to use to a home-brewer who is caught high and dry between batches.

The boys from Comyn (pronounced Co-meen) cleaned up on the local M. W. A. team yesterday by a 3-2 margin.

We have been unable to confirm the rumor that their pitcher struck out 20 of the local boys. If it is so he may be another Walter Johnson.

Next time they play he'll probably have to pitch from second base.

Saw Iv Novakovitch uptown this a. m., using a walking cane for a propeller. He said he was run over by an automobile a few days ago.

Alfred Glenn and Gene Nourse went toward Brownwood this morning in search of heavy and arduous labor. They want to get in good condition for football before training starts.

Some of you football fans who are really interested should go out and take a look at Lillard Field. It has been soddied in Bermuda grass and Ray Grutbs has worked out there practically all summer watering the grass and tending the grounds.

Incidentally, if you'll pardon an opinion, the stands ought to be painted. The sun is hard on the lumber and opens up cracks and then the rain and dew gets into the cracks and rotting starts.

Wade Swift says he too would like to receive a few suggestions on how to spend a vacation without spending money. He says he has no relatives in walking distance.

Amen, brother.

Sharkey Seems Favorite To Win Championship

By BILLY EVANS.

In my stops at the various big sport centers of the country, I find considerable difference of opinion relative to the merits of the three leading heavyweights, Gene Tunney, Jack Sharkey and Jack Dempsey. Pistic writers lean to Jack Sharkey; that is, a majority of them believe he has an excellent chance to beat both Dempsey and Champion Tunney.

On the other hand, fighters who should know their stuff feel that Sharkey should win from Dempsey, but don't like his chances against Tunney.

"Fight fans do not appreciate Tunney," remarked a former champion when I asked him how he viewed the heavyweight situation, "he's a real fighter."

I have seen Sharkey in action three times. Judging him on those showings, I would say he has an excellent chance of being the next heavyweight champion.

What Is Hapening At Hankow

By RANDALL GOULD, United Press Staff Correspondent.
HANKOW.—Pekin, rather than Wuhan or Nanking, will be the scene of any possible diplomatic "show-down" between nationalist, China and the foreign powers.

Inquiry by the United Press among representatives of contending nationalist forces along the Yangtze has made this point clear, in spite of previous reports that conquest of north China by the south would mean that in a diplomatic sense the foreign mountain must come to the Chinese Mohammed.

Pekin is today unquestionably the goal both of the Wuhan nationalists and of the "Chiang Kai-shek nationalists" at Nanking. In Shanghai it is reported that both sides in this struggle have declared tacit truce while they strive northward, the Wuhan group going from Hankow through Honan on a direct route to Peking along the Kinhan railway, the Nanking group up along the Tien-tsin-Yukow line through Shantung. Both sides deny that there is any such truce, but nevertheless, the efforts are as outlined.

Not only is Peking avowedly the goal; it is now admittedly the place to which the seat of government will be moved, if or when it is wrested from the grip of the "Muken warlord," Chang Tso-lin. Perhaps Wuhan or Nanking will later be made the permanent capital of China, but now they are plainly nothing more than temporary seats.

Thus the foreign diplomats in Peking need cease from any worry concerning immediate removal, and devote their entire attention to matters less personal and more puzzling.

There is the matter of which Chinese faction will win out. For some weeks past there has been a pronounced tendency among Peking diplomats to support Chang Tso-lin. Especially has this been true since the "split" in nationalist ranks. To which Eugene Chen, foreign minister here, replies with sardonic reference to the habitual "backing of the wrong horse" by foreign diplomats in China during past years.

Again, suppose it be granted that the nationalists will drive Chang Tso-lin back to his home habitat in Manchuria outside the great wall, there may still be considerable confusion of mind as to which nationalists are the genuine guarantors.

Here lies the greatest single reason or the decision to shift up to Peking, apparently. The group which can get to Peking first will have the strongest sort of a card with which to bid for foreign support. Recognition of some sort has always been granted by the foreign powers to the prevailing Chinese regime in Peking, if it had the slightest claim to stability and permanence.

A thoroughly unified nationalist government might conquer Peking and, continuing to sit at Wuhan, Nanking or even down in Canton, it might tell the foreign diplomats to deal with it on its own terms and in its own capital. But neither the Wuhan nor the Nanking groups can afford to try this now. Neither is secure, whatever may bravely be said. Each has as its slogan now, "On to Peking!" Thus Peking is again, as for centuries past, the crucial political center of this great land, once more history is to be written within the massive walls of the Tartar City.

Drys Reverting Old Methods Of Combating Wets

By RODNEY DUTCHER, NEA Service Writer.
WASHINGTON.—The Anti-Saloon league and the Methodist board of temperance, prohibition and public morals are taking us back to the good old days.

In their own pure way, that is. Plowing through the last month's mail, your correspondent discovers with the utmost astonishment, that John Barleycorn, supposedly deceased, apparently is stirring in his grave. The league and the Methodist board, recognizing this fact, have gone back to the bolden days before prohibition and resurrected some of their old standbys in the effort to keep old Jawm from squirming out.

Old Cartoons Dragged Out.
 If you do not remember the old-time temperance posters and cartoons which were used in the general onslaught on rum, depicting with awesome strokes the besotted workingman, the skinny wife and the wizened children brought to their pitiful plight by Demon Rum, then don't feel badly about it. You are about to enjoy the treat for the first time.

Comes for instance, by post, one of Wayne B. Wheeler's bi-weekly messages of gloom for the wets and good cheer for the drys. One half of the surface of the long envelope is devoted to a cartoon entitled "Shall He Enter?" One sees a large doorway. On one side are papa, mama, two kiddies, a doll, a pup, a kitchen table piled with dishes and a motto which says "God Bless Our Home." On the threshold, in the act of shaking hands with papa, is a well-dressed fiend labeled "Compromiser." Apparently he intends to stay a while for he carries a bag, which the league has inscribed "Beer and Light Wines Made Up 92 Per Cent of the Old Saloon Business." Hiding behind "Compromiser" and quite out of sight of a papa and mama and the kiddies, is a ghastly gang whose members are variously labeled "Saloon Keeper," "Dope Fiends," "The Old Soak," "Criminal," "Death," "Poverty," and an unnamed but attractive hussy whose significance is all too obvious.

Poultry men say that the exhibit to be made in that department at the state fair of Texas, Oct. 8 to 23, will be the largest and the best ever held in the southwest. Texas is fast becoming the leading poultry state in the union.

Whippet races, the first in Texas, will be seen at the State fair, Oct. 8 to 23. Whippets are small, grey hounds. There will be several races each day.

Whoopin' It Up Fer Cal and Ma

When a cowboy band from Terry, Mont., came clattering down the trail to the Black Hills game lodge where President Coolidge is vacationing, they brought along a nice cowboy suit with Cal's nickname worked on either side of the chaps. The president donned the picturesque dress of the old wild west and the boys whooped it up for him.

CELEBRITIES OF THE WILD WEST GATHER FOR CALGARY STAMPEDE

By United Press.
CALGARY, Alb.—Celebrities of what remains of the wild west will come here the week of July 11 for Calgary's annual "stampede"—a carnival of sports of the frontier and feats of skill and daring practiced only by cowmen.

Situated in the foothills of the Canadian Rockies, Calgary remains the center of ranch life and cowboy activity which are celebrated in this revival of America's counterpart of the Olympic games of ancient Greece. This American Olympiad has for years attracted a distinguished list of artists, editors, cowboys and cowgirls as well as frontiersmen like Col. John S. Dennis who commanded Dennis' Scouts during the Riel Rebellion.

The Calgary Stampede has as its chief patron the Prince of Wales, whose nearby E-P ranch always exhibits prize stock at the exhibition which is only one feature of the Stampede. This year Pawnee Bill (Maj. Gordon W. Lillie) Will Rogers famous cowboy humorist, and Edward F. Albee, president of the Keith Albee vaudeville circuit, have donated trophies for various event through Guy Weadick, originator and manager of the Stampede.

A great parade through Calgary's streets opens the Stampede. Miles long, the parade enlists hundreds of Indians in full war regalia, old-timers of the prairies with their Red River carts, veterans of the famous northwest mounted police, cowboys with bears, wolverines, wolves and other live wild animals as mascots. Ten bands will punctuate the line of parade, including the Australian National band.

The Daily Stampede program directed by Guy Weadick, will include bronco-busting competitions for the Canadian championship, calf roping, wild cow milking, Roman standing races, chuck-wagon races, riding bucking, Brahms steers with surcingle only and Indian races for squaws and bucks. An added feature this year

Meetings Held In The Interest Of Community Fairs

J. C. Patterson, county agent, and W. C. Hickey, secretary of the Ranger Chamber of Commerce, visited Cheaney Friday and made a date to return there Thursday night for the purpose of holding a community meeting at which Mr. Patterson will try to sell Cheaney the idea of a community fair.

Tonight at Staff, Mr. Patterson and his band, with possibly other Ranger citizens, will talk the matter of a community fair over with the people of that community at the Methodist church.

If Staff and Cheaney are sold on the idea, there will be 10 community fairs held in Eastland county early this fall, and they each would be one of 10 carried out under plans of the A. & M. extension service.

Leo Underwood's band will give a band concert prior to the fair discussion.

On account of tonight being directors of the Chamber of Commerce meeting, very few members of that body will be able to attend, but the commercial organization does take an interest in the problems of the towns and communities in its trade territory and tries to co-operate with them in every way possible, and regrets that the Staff meeting fell on the night of the directors' meeting, which had already been once postponed.

Callahan County Well Does 1,000 Barrels at 4,000

A number of Ranger people are feeling pretty jubilant today over the coming in of Empire No. 1, on the Johnson ranch, Callahan county for a 1,000 to 1,200 barrels, as they own acreage in the sector around the new producer.

The well has been in for several days but yesterday was put on a separator and showed to be making 24,000,000 cubic feet of gas and between 1,000 and 1,200 barrels of oil.

The new producer is 26 miles south of Baird and was visited yesterday by several Ranger men who have nearby leases.

The pay was found in the Ellenberger lime at around 4,000 feet.

METHODIST

The Methodist Sunday school met in departments with practically all superintendents in their places. The attendance is holding up well for the summer as is indicated by the number present Sunday, 248. The collection was $11.34.

A fine congregation was present at the morning service. The choir rendered a special anthem. They hold regular practice each week on Wednesday night. A church conference was held during the first part of the service at which time the church voted to accept the proposition of a loan of $30,000 made by the Southern Mortgage company.
