FROM THE BIBLE. Taste and See: O taste and see that the Lord is good: blessed is the man that trusteth in him.—Psalm 34:8. Prayer: O Thou, All-Loving One, may our hearts part after Thee as the hart panteth after the water-brooks.

IT IS NEEDED. There is a place in West Texas for the oil and gas bureau which was recently formed by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. As a matter of fact this big regional organization seldom wastes time in organizing and putting over movements unless an urgent need actually exists for them.

There has been and still is for that matter entirely too much waste of the resources of the state. Natural gas in the fields of West Texas has been allowed to go to waste by the billions of cubic feet. This waste should have been stopped years ago for once natural gas escapes into the atmosphere, it is gone forever.

FRONT PAGE STUFF.

The magic valley of the lower Rio Grande simply can't stay in the background any more. It hasn't been very long since that section was spread fairly well over the front page through the very unwise remarks of a gentleman up in Minnesota who made some very unkind remarks directed at Texas and at the Rio Grande valley in particular.

Shipments of turkeys out of Texas in 1926 amounted to about 900 car-loads.

Newe Wyne Seller Of Henry VIII Now Open to Public

LONDON—The "Newe Wyne Seller," as it is called in old documents relating to it, has been thrown open to the public. The "Seller" was built for King Henry VIII in 1535, at Hampton Court palace.

Some years later the work of clearing the original cellar was begun and revealed some of the original platforms of brick on which the beer barrels stood, and even the oak "still-ages" which supported them.

As revealed with its pillars, its platforms and its lowered gangways, the "Seller" resembles a miniature railroad depot.

Mr. Ernest Law, an authority on Hampton Court palace, one of the oldest in the London area, and now a show place, says that in Tudor

Evening In Hawaii Will Be Feature Attraction Here

One of the big attractions of this season's Chautauqua program, which opens in Ranger on June 21, is Vierra's Hawaiians, featuring the spectacular musical production, "An Evening in Hawaii." In a setting of colorful, tropical splendor, produced by special lighting and scenic effects and quaint native costumes, the romance of the South Sea evening is most vividly portrayed.

Hawaii is a land where moonlight is the most gorgeous in the world and where every whispering wave breathes of romance and music. You will be enthralled by the native music as it is played and sung by the company of native musicians.

Moreover, they are past masters at the playing of the latest popular airs. They give to the melody of the day a touch of the subtle harmony of the true Hawaii.

George Vierra, the director of the company, first acquainted Americans with Hawaiian music at the San Francisco exhibition, where Vierra's Hawaiians were accorded an enthusiastic reception. He is largely responsible for the subsequent popularity of real Hawaiian music in this country. The company consists of six artists, who play the ukulele, banjo and guitar. Melody is the soul of music and this company dispenses it in a generous measure. As singers their voices are unusually clear and sweet, true and flexible.

Leo Underwood Back as Director Of Ranger's Band

Ranger has a band director. Leo Underwood has come back after spending a few weeks in Wichita Falls, where he went after resigning here to accept the directorship of the Lions band of that city.

Following Mr. Underwood's resignation a storm of protest from citizens and patrons of the school broke over the heads of the powers that be and Ranger demanded a band director, expressing a preference for Leo Underwood.

For the past few days Mr. Underwood has been in Fort Worth playing at the Christian Endeavor conference there. He returned to Ranger last night and announced this morning that he was here to stay.

On Friday night he will hold rehearsal at the High school and wishes a full attendance so that the work of the band may be started off auspiciously.

Junior College And High School Add Instructors

H. S. Von Koeder has been elected dean of the Ranger Junior college, and principal of the Ranger High school, and Prof. J. C. Bachman has been elected to the chair of history in these two schools. The election of these two faculty members was decided upon last night when the school board met.

Following the resignation of Prof. J. B. Preston, who goes to Arlington to be in charge of the history department of the A. & M. Junior college, it was necessary to elect a new dean and principal and there have been several applicants for the position. The chair of history was left unfilled at the close of school.

Both of the new faculty members come highly recommended. Prof. Von Koeder was reared in Scurry county and took both his B. A. and

M. A. degree at Texas state university. He has a family and has taught in various parts of Texas most successfully.

Prof. Bachman was reared in Linden, Cass county, and received his B. A. degree at Baylor university and taught there in the summer school for several terms.

He was later principal of the Teachers Training school at San Marcos for three years, then attended Texas university and received his M. A. degree there.

He also has a family.

The Prince of Wales saw "Abie's Irish Rose," says a dispatch. At last he has made the newspapers without falling off his horse.

If you talked with Donald Brian about throat protection, he'd say to you:

"There's a big difference in cigarettes, I find. I am especially critical because my voice is such an important factor in my profession. I find Lucky Strikes protect it, keeping it ever clear and never harsh."

Donald Brian

You, too, will find that Lucky Strikes are mild and mellow—the finest cigarettes you ever smoked, made of the finest Turkish and domestic tobaccos, properly aged and blended with great skill, and there is an extra process—"It's toasted"—no harshness, not a bit of bite.

When in New York you are cordially invited to see how Lucky Strikes are made at our exhibit, corner Broadway and 45th Street.

There is just one right way to keep the skin clear and smooth

Skilled physicians recognize the appearance of pimples, boils and other skin eruptions as being an indication of an abnormal condition of the system. This is why so many thousands have been enabled to free themselves of these unsightly blemishes and painful annoyances by taking a course of S.S.S.

You owe it to yourself to try S.S.S. It helps Nature build up red corpuscles. It improves the processes by which the blood is nourished.

"I suffered from impure blood—was weak, and I had lost so much weight, I didn't look natural. I had pimples and was also bothered with a breaking-out that itched terribly. I also had boils one after another. I tried different kinds of remedies, but nothing did me any good until a friend advised me to take S.S.S., which I did. This was some time ago. Now I feel well, and I am getting along fine. S.S.S. stopped the itching and it cured me of boils. I advise all weak and run-down people to give S.S.S. a trial. It clears up the skin and makes you strong and fills you with energy." Mrs. J. V. Barker, 1337 Walnut Street, Cincinnati, Ohio.

S.S.S. is made from the fresh roots of medicinal herbs and plants and is prepared in a scientific way in a modern laboratory. It is time-tried and reliable.

S.S.S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

Judge Been Will Conduct Court In Callahan County
Judge Elzo Been of the Eighty-eighth district court will go to Baird this afternoon where he will try a number of criminal cases for Judge Milburn S. Long of the Forty-second judicial district, Judge Long being disqualified in the cases of the state of Texas vs. Joe Drake; state vs. J.
G. Brookshire, and state vs. W. W.
Lincoam (two cases).
Judge Been stated that Judge Long would not come to Eastland to exchange places with him at this time due to the fact that the Eastland county attorney's department was busily engaged in preparing criminal cases for trial in the Ninety-first district court.
CASES DISPOSED OF IN 91ST DISTRICT COURT
The following cases pending on the dockets of the Ninety-first district court at the opening of the June term, have been disposed of as follows by Judge Davenport:
Charles O. Austin, banking commissioner, vs. E. Roper, judgment for plaintiff.
Charles O. Austin, banking commissioner, vs. Joseph M. Weaver, suit on stockholder's assessment. Jury out on the case.
Charles O. Austin, banking commissioner, vs. W. F. St. John and George Phillips. Court has the case under advisement.
Samuel K. Wasaff vs. J. M. Hag-gar. Defendant's plea of privilege granted and case transferred to district court of Dallas county.

Cisco Banking company vs. Edgar F. Hart, judgment for plaintiff.
Cisco Banking company vs. S. H.
Bennett et al, judgment for plaintiff.
BUILDING LOAN DIRECTORS HOLD MEETING WEDNESDAY
The directors of the Ranger Building and Loan Association met in regular weekly session yesterday afternoon. Two loans amounting to approximately $3,000 were approved.
Last week two other loans met the approval of the directors and to date the association has $75,000 out in loans on Ranger property.
It has been the means of many men and women buying homes and improving them and has added much to the beauty of Ranger and promoted home building and home buying.

SIMPLE THING RUINS A WOMAN'S CHARM

Very often, because of a weakened and run down condition, girls hopelessly through that period of life when all their companions are looking forward with eagerness and rapture to the day when they shall realize the greatest ambition of their lives and become happy brides.

Fortunately, nowadays thousands of girls who were weak and run-down are finding St.
Joseph's G. F. P. builds them up.
In Oklahoma City, Miss Jennie Flatt, who lives at 222 W.
Noble St., says, "I feel so much stronger and enjoy life so much more now I am using St.
Joseph's G. F. P., I want all girls to know about this wonderful medicine."

In many instances St. Joseph's Antiseptic Powder used externally in connection with St. Joseph's G. F. P. will be found very soothing.

Women have used
St. Joseph's GFP
for over 50 years!

CHAPTER I
When Nyda appeared in the doorway of the library her ravaged face more than supported her contention that she had been suffering from a violent headache since the evening before. T. Q. was visibly shocked by her appearance.
"I hope you will forgive me for having routed you from your bed, my dear." He went to her and took her hand with awkward tenderness. "You look like a very sick girl. I'm sorry."
"I'm just mad with a headache," Nyda moaned, drooping against his shoulder.
"I won't keep you long, my dear," T. Q. assured her. "Mrs. Meadows, it distresses me beyond words to have to do what I am about to do, but I am sure you will understand and forgive me, when you know the necessity for it."
As briefly as possible he told them the story of the robbery. He did not mention Billy's name until he had gravely put his question to each of the other two women.
"Mrs. Meadows, have you any information of any kind whatever that would have any bearing on this distressing occurrence?" He asked.
"I have not," Mrs. Meadows answered smoothly, without indignation. "I was in my room all evening, writing letters and reading. I have to tell him of those other nocturnal visits of the chauffeur to Nyda's room. And if he believed her, he would have every right to demand an explanation of why she had not told him before."
"At last, in utter desperation, she snatched the phone from the little bedside table and called the Truman automobile factory, asking, in a shaken, unrecognizable voice, for Ralph Truman."
"Oh, Ralph, this is Billy—Billy Wells," she gasped when Ralph Truman's voice came briskly over the wire. "Don't interrupt me for a minute, please. I'm in terrible trouble. You do this for me—will you send for Clay, tell him to meet me somewhere—oh, I don't know where," she moaned.
"There, there, Billy, darling! Get a grip on yourself!" Ralph's voice came comforting. "Of course I'll send for Clay. I'll tell you—suppose you meet him here, at the factory. Everyone is in an awful hurry!" She was already tugging at the door of a sedan as she spoke.
"Sure, Miss Billy. Works on fire?" he joked.
But for once his favorite of the "Cinderella girls" had no gay, impudent come-back. Billy huddled into a corner of the back seat, her eyes closed, tears slipping slowly down her white cheeks. Kelly took one good look at her, whistled softly, then stopped hard upon the accelerator as the car rolled into the street. Ralph was waiting for her outside the door of the main office building. He, too, needed only one look at her drawn, pale face to see that the situation was serious.

"Clay's waiting for you, honey," he told her tenderly, as he took her arm to lead her to the pretty little white stucco building that housed the library. "Count on me to the half of my kingdom—or all of it, if you need it."
He left her at the door of the library, a certain delicacy restraining him from witnessing that meeting. Clay, in overalls, his face streaked with grease, was standing at a table waiting for her, his black eyes frowning and puzzled. That there was no joy in his eyes at the prospect of seeing her again hurt her appallingly. Driven by an impulse which she could not control, she ran straight to him, and flung her arms about his neck.
Slowly at first, as if they moved against his will, his arms went about her, then closed hard, crushed her small body against his breast.
"What's the matter, honey? Tell Clay," he spoke at last. "Something terrible has happened Clay," she cried, her lips moving against his forehead, as if she could not bear to lose contact with him. "I came to you, Clay, to help me. I never even thought of asking anyone else to help me. Please help me, Clay."

 There was nothing said between them about forgiveness. Their last furious parting was not mentioned, apparently not even remembered. He sat down at last, after he had tenderly forced her into a chair drawn close to his.
 She told her story in a jerky, sobbing voice, while his hands gripped hers. He did not interrupt her once. "You don't believe I stole from your father, do you, Clay?" she begged at last.
 "Don't be a damned little idiot!" he scolded her tenderly. "You're pretty sure it was Eddie Banning you saw last night leaving Nyda's room?"
 "I can't be sure, since it was dark, but it was Eddie before. And I've told you how he's been tormenting Nyda for months—ever since we went to live with your father. And I know it was Eddie's voice that I heard quarreling with Nyda that night."
 "I think you're right, of course," Clay told her. "For some unknown reason he's had a hold over Nyda and has used it to make her help him rob the safe."
 "But what can I do, Clay?" She was becoming hysterical again. "I've told you why I can't go to T. Q. and tell him the truth, or as much of it as I know and suspect."

 "You're going home and act as if nothing has happened—if that is possible," he commanded her almost sternly. "Dad has said he would not call in the police. Just keep your head up, and act as innocent as you really are. Don't row with Nyda. The rest is up to me."
 "What are you going to do, Clay?" Billy asked fearfully.
 "I'm going to get on Eddie Banning's trail, and I'm not going to lose any time. I'll keep in touch with you as much as possible. But you're not to worry. Goodby, honey. I'll send Ralph to you. I've got to get into street clothes and be out of here in ten minutes. Goodby, again." And he stopped and kissed her on the lips. (To be continued)

VAUDEVILLE AND PICTURES
 ON THE SCREEN

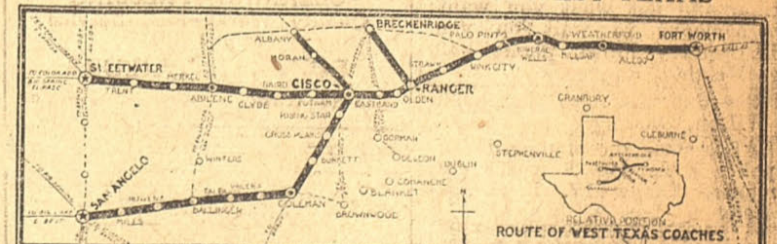

Carl Laemmle
 presents
 A Universal
 Picture

Reginald DENNY
EAST and FURIOUS

On the Stage
DOROTHY GRANGER & CO.

NOTICE—Owing to the act last week being so poor, I made a special trip to Breckenridge to view this act and I can safely say it is the best act to come over this circuit this season.—J. T. HUGHES, manager, Liberty theatre.
