

BORGER WOMAN CHARGED WITH MURDER

SOUTHERN FARMERS WILL RECOUP THEIR LOSSES OF LAST YEAR

WILL GET BIG MONEY FOR CORP THIS YEAR

Prediction Is That This Crop To Bring More Than Last Year

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—Southern farmers who suffered economic depression last year through low cotton prices may recoup some of their losses this season. Agricultural officials estimated today that the short crop this year will probably bring one-fourth more than the bumper cotton harvest of 1926. The record crop last fall of nearly 18,000,000 bales forced cotton prices to extreme low levels.

Most southern planters had to sell at less than production cost.

Nature now is taking another tact. The boll weevil has attacked the crop, weather conditions for boll fruiting have been unfavorable and spring floods prevented planting of thousands of acres of cotton, thus balancing the over production menace of last year.

September 24 Is West Texas Day At Oil Belt Fair

BRECKENRIDGE, Sept. 9.—September 24 has been designated as "West Texas chamber of commerce day" at the third annual Oil Belt fair to be held in Breckenridge from September 20 to 25 inclusive. Upon that date, officials of the regional organization will be present and take part on a full program being arranged. It is expected that large delegations of West Texas chamber of commerce membership will come to Breckenridge for that occasion. The 1927 exposition is being put on through efforts of officers of the Oil Belt Fair association cooperating with the chamber of commerce and other civic organizations of Breckenridge, and promises to excel either of the two previous affairs both in point of exhibitions and entertainment features. Each of the nine fair departments has been enlarged; these divisions are: livestock, poultry, agriculture, boys and girls agricultural clubs, girls home demonstration clubs, fine arts and women's departments, culinary, textile, and educational.

The naming of a special West Texas chamber of commerce day, in addition to other attractions, promises to stimulate a greater attendance on the date set, and is already attracting much note and attention throughout the section.

Man Killed, Boy Injured When Mine Caves In

MOUNT VERNON, Sept. 9.—Sam Butterfield, 55, was killed and his son, Harvey Butterfield, 20, was seriously injured by a cave in at the Titus county lignite company mine at Winfield, near here today. Butterfield was crushed to death under the falling debris. His son was badly crushed but may recover, physicians said.

Round the World Flyers Arrive At Hongkong

HONGKONG, China, Sept. 9.—The American around-the-world flyers, William S. Brock and Edward F. Schlee, arrived here from Hanoi, French Indo, China at 3:30 p. m. today. Flying eastward from Harbor Grace, New Foundland they reached the Pacific ocean on their fourteenth day of the flight setting a new world record. They had covered approximately 9,550 miles of their 22,067 mile itinerary around the world.

Dole Air Race Winners Return

Another famous "we" has just returned to America—Art Goebel, Lieut. W. V. Davis, U. S. N. and the monoplane "Woolaroo," in which they won the $25,000 California-to-Hawaii race prize. Goebel (left) and Davis, back in San Francisco are shown singing some of the airs they learned in Hawaii.

STATE BRIEFS

By United Press.

DALLAS, Sept. 9.—Aviation progress in Texas is aiding in the building of a state highway system.

All airplanes in the state pay the state three-cent gasoline tax although they never use the highways. When the state gas tax was drawn no provision was made for exempting gasoline used by airplanes.

According to C. N. Braun, division traffic manager for the National Air Transport, the Dallas end of the Chicago to Dallas air mail uses more than 2,000 gallons of gasoline a month and pays about $60 a month state gas tax.

WAXAHACHIE, Sept. 9.—Hanging out the family washing does an athlete more good than playing golf, according to "Motorman" Wright, champion middleweight wrestler of this section.

Wright admitted that he helped hang out the family wash twice a week. "If the average business man would help the washing every week," commented Wright, "he wouldn't have to worry about taking physical exercise to keep in trim."

AMARILLO, Sept. 9.—If the number of sales of wheat drills in the Texas Panhandle can be taken as an estimate, the 1928 acreage in this section will set a record.

One local implement firm alone reports that its sales of wheat drills this season already totals $800. This sets a record, the firm said, for one season.

EL PASO, Sept. 9.—Young school teachers were advised to act like they are 30 years old in order to be held in high esteem by the public at the teachers' institute here.

Addressing the 650 teachers who attended the session, A. H. Hughey, superintendent of El Paso schools, said:

"If you are not 30, make out like you are and act as you would if you were 30. If you are over 30, make out like you are 20. People expect you to be at the peak of your mental strength so they can look up to you and not down at you."

Hughey added that the teaching profession is not a matter of youth but one of esteem and respect.

AUSTIN, Sept. 9.—Stock of the St. Edwards university football took an upward trend this week when definite assurances were received that Al Sarafny and Milo Solomito are returning to school this fall. Sarafny has already lettered twice at center and is the bulwark of the line, while Solomito attracted wide attention last year by his work at quarterback.

AMARILLO, Sept. 9.—Probably the longest pair of Texas longhorn horns in the United States have been placed in the offices of C. R. Garner & Co., here.

The horns, which measure seven feet five inches from tip to tip, were brought here 25 years ago from Fort Worth. They are conservatively estimated to be worth $2,500 inasmuch as the Texas longhorn steer is almost extinct.

Three Negroes Are Hanged for Murder At Baltimore

By United Press.

BALTIMORE, Md., Sept. 9.—Three negroes were hanged for murder at Maryland state penitentiary today in the first triple execution in the history of the city.

Trial of Rebecca Rogers For Arson Set For Sept. 26

By United Press.

AUSTIN, Sept. 9.—Trial of Rebecca Bradley Rogers for arson in Williamson county will not be held until after her trial at Lagrange, in December, for bank robbery, so the arson trial has been set at Georgetown for Sept. 26.

County Attorney Harry Dolan of Williamson county has notified District Attorney Fred Blundell that he will not press the arson charge until the bank robbery case is tried. The charge of robbing the Buda bank was transferred to Lagrange when it was found impossible to secure a jury at San Marcos for the trial.

LUBBOCK—Texas. Technological college here is planning four buildings to total $277,500.

A SPLENDID MOVEMENT

(An Editorial)

One of the most worthy movements that has been put under way in Ranger within many months is that recently started which has for its purpose the aiding of worthy boys and girls in obtaining an education. It is a movement that is worthy not only for the good it will do some boy or some girl, but if carried out it will be of material benefit to the town, which of course should be and is a matter of secondary consideration.

There are literally scores of boys and girls within a radius of twenty-five to fifty miles of Ranger who are very anxious to secure an education. These have finished high school, or at least have completed the course prescribed by the schools of their respective communities.

Having completed this work they are in need of some measure of higher education but many of them are not financially able to go away to college or university. Then those who are able to bear the financial burden of a college education are anxious to stay near home and in so far as possible to work their own way through school. Many boys and girls are very anxious to earn their way through school without calling on their parents for aid.

The Ranger high school and Ranger junior college afford this opportunity for these boys and girls. But the people of Ranger must in a manner come to their aid. These boys and girls are willing and anxious to work. They want something to do in Ranger to enable them to pay all or a part of their expenses while in school here.

Here is not only an opportunity but an obligation which the people of Ranger should recognize. There are many homes in Ranger that need the services of a young girl or a boy during the school months. There are thousands of odd jobs about the home that can be done by these physically strong school boys who really want to work.

If Ranger is to be made a real school town, which is one of its worthy ambitions, the people of the town must first get the school spirit. You can get this spirit in no better way than in assisting some worthy boy or girl to work his or her way through school.

Try it and see. Call Mr. O. G. Lanier at the high school and get what information you desire.

STRANGE DEATH OF TWO AT END INVESTIGATED

Minister and Young Nurse Are Center of Searching Investigation.

By United Press.

ENID, Okla., Sept. 9.—A nurse and the Rev. Chas. Bailey, Episcopalian minister were the central figures here today in an investigation of a mysterious illness which has claimed the life of the minister's wife and daughter, Mary Jane, 18.

The same disorder has caused the illness of two sons and another daughter of the churchman's family. The nurse, Miss Mary Atkinson, 30, was taken into custody last night for vigorous questioning by County Attorney Dan Mitchell and Sheriff C. E. Baker. At a late hour Miss Atkinson had revealed little as to the cause for the strange illness.

SCHOOL BOOK IS CAUSE OF BOY BEING STABBED

Schoolmate and Father Charged With Intent to Kill After Fight.

By United Press.

CLAREMORE, Okla., Sept. 9.—Stabbed in the back in a quarrel over a school book, Joe Bridwell, 16, is in a hospital here today and Tom Newton, 15, senior high school classmate with his father, G. B. Newton is out on bond charged with intent to kill.

Unless young Bridwell shows sufficient recovery Newton and his son will be given preliminary hearing on the charge here Monday the county attorney said. According to a statement of young Bridwell made in the hospital today both young Newton and his father had knives in their hands at the time of the fight. Bridwell had charged young Newton with selling a book alleged to have been the property of Bridwell to a girl classmate.

One Dead and One Seriously Hurt In Truck Accident

By United Press.

Flapper? No!

Why can't this young lady be called a flapper? Well, her name's Alma Dittus and her home's in Newport, Ky., and she had Mrs. Josie Cox, a neighbor, arrested for calling her that. It didn't sound so well to Alma.

Girl Accused Of Burglary Near End Of Trouble

Death apparently is on the way to relieve the suffering of pretty Katherine LaBache, Salt Lake City girl, at the Payne & Brown sanitarium in Eastland where she was taken Thursday by Eastland county officials when it was found that she was seriously ill. Attendants at the sanitarium stated just after noon that unless a change for the better came within a few hours she could not survive.

Katherine was arrested in Cisco by officers of that city when she was alleged to have entered the home of a Mr. Wippen and stole some clothing. Mr. Wippen, it is stated, awoke to find the girl in his home. He attempted to catch and hold her until officers arrived, but the girl put up a fight and kicked and bit him several times. Wippen displayed three ugly wounds on his arm which he said were caused by the girl having bitten him.

Brought to the Eastland county jail at Eastland Katherine was interviewed by District Attorney J. Frank Sparks who found her in a very serious condition. He called a doctor and had her sent to the sanitarium.

Before being sent to the sanitarium Katherine told the district attorney that her home was in Salt Lake City, where she worked as a governess. She said that she had no relatives, but did have friends in Salt Lake City. She stated, however, that whatever happened to her she did not want her friends notified.

She said she had only a dime when she was arrested in Cisco. The young girl, who was most too ill to talk, told District Attorney Sparks a story of a love affair that was a disappointment to her, and which, she said, was the cause of her being where she was and in the condition she is in.

Doheny, according to a message received here by Frank Harrison, Cleveland, from Owen J. Roberts, Philadelphia, in charge of the government suit. Harrison is associated with Roberts in the prosecution of the case. The payment was in accordance with the decision of the United States supreme court handed down May 10. Payment was made in United States district court in Los Angeles, according to Roberts' telegram.

U. S. NOT ENTER SCHNEIDER CUP RACE AT VENICE

Idea Abandoned When Navy Unable to Complete Plane Tests In Time for Race.

By United Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 9.—The United States will not be able to participate in the Schneider cup races at Venice, Italy, Sept. 25.

Acting Secretary of the Navy Robinson announced today the navy had definitely abandoned the plan to send a cruiser to Venice with Lieut. A. J. Williams and his navy racing plane. A navy department announcement said Williams had found it impracticable to make all necessary tests and trials with his plane so he could embark today for Italy. Adjustments required at the last minute could not be effected in time for him to sail.

Coolidge Now Is Generally Being Counted As Out

By RODNEY DUTCHER (NEA Service Writer)

WASHINGTON.—The impression has been growing more and more definite among the political cognoscenti that President Coolidge didn't make his "do not choose" announcement because he was tired of his job and didn't want a third term.

The president's failure to elaborate on his brief statement is as good an indication of his feelings as any.

Those who hastened to state most solemnly that the president was too high-minded to make such an announcement and will have an eye on a third term were almost unanimously men and newspapers who were most anxious to have Coolidge out of the picture.

The president didn't morally bind himself to anything whatever except to a refusal to announce his candidacy or to promote his candidacy from behind the scenes.

It has been said that Mr. Coolidge was tired of his job, but never contentedly. The impression here is that he is very happy in it. The story is more and more, often advanced that Mr. Coolidge, having listened to the assurance of his "yes men" for months, strongly suspected that the people would urge his retention in office.

But the people seem to have been inarticulate or indifferent. Most of the party politicians and certainly all who automatically became presidential possibilities turned somewhat of glee.

There were a few, including some of these same politicians who hastened to suggest that the party must or might "draft" Mr. Coolidge—us if material in the party were so poor that the third term tradition should be broken.

But as the "draft" clamor, if it can be called a clamor, began to subside, it became more and more apparent that the shouters were those who sought a smoke screen until some vehicle which might be converted into a bandwagon. The likelihood that Mr. Coolidge will be drafted becomes daily smaller.

When one talks Republican politics now he talks of Hoover, Dawes and Lowden, and hardly ever of Coolidge. That much is certain, though Mr. Coolidge's sentiments as he made his announcement are still open to question.

If it be true that the president still hopes for renomination the fact definitely explains just why he need not be expected to support another man's candidacy. Incidentally he can't openly support his own aspirations, either, for any overt act would leave him, politically speaking, sunk without a trace.

Reports that Coolidge would endorse Secretary Hoover continue to go unconfirmed. The president split with Hoover when he supported Secretary Kellogg during a cabinet row and his present feelings toward Hoover are not clear. Your correspondent does not predict that the growing impression that Mr. Coolidge won't support anyone will prove correct.

It seems quite likely that Mr. Coolidge will support, if anyone, the man whom Secretary Mellon supports. And it is equally likely that the man whom Secretary Mellon decides to support will be the next Republican candidate.

COLEMAN, Sept. 9.—John Galloway, 26, Waco, slipped and fell under a car of a freight train he attempted to board near here today. One leg was severed. His recovery is doubtful.

HUSBAND OF WOMAN IS FOUND DEAD

Indictment May Also Be Returned Against Man on Same Charge

By United Press.

Carling Plane Believed Lost, Long Overdue

By United Press.

LONDON, Sept. 9.—As dawn and early forenoon arrived and passed today without news of the monoplane Sir John Carling, now overdue 24 hours it was certain that the plane was no longer in the air.

The Carling was presumed to have fallen into the sea. The two young Canadian aviators, Captain Terrence Tully and Lieutenant James D. Medcalf, left Harbor Grace, New Foundland, Wednesday morning on an attempted flight to London.

It was possible of course for the flyers to have landed during the night in Ireland or elsewhere but so far no trace of them has been found.

EFFICIENCY WILL WIN.
The American farmer is slowly working out his own problems through diversified farming, better marketing organizations and a more intelligent adjustment of production to market demand. Conditions cannot be created in our country by legislative fiat where the inefficient can succeed in agriculture or any other branch of industry.

"The truth of the matter," says
James P. Goodrich former governor of Indiana, "is that the most important and fundamental things have been done for agriculture. Through the land banks the smallest farmer can borrow money at rates paid by the largest corporation. He has been freed from the limitations of the anti-trust laws so as to permit the utmost freedom in regulating production and distribution through corpora-tive organizations. The tariff commission has used all its lawful powers to limit the importation of competitive agricultural products and the government will continue in every reasonable way to aid the farmer in working out his problems."

The machine age has arrived in farming as in all industry. The modern tractor with the equipment it can handle is making the farmer independent of many of the labor problems which formerly beset him.

PUBLIC EXTRAVAGANCE.
Eleven billion dollars a year in taxes is now spent by our country.

The man who can get the most money out of the state or federal government for himself or his locality is too often considered the smartest politician.

There is a premium placed on public extravagance in state and municipal affairs, and we are told the people do it themselves, but this is a poor alibi for public officials. Incompetent people get bigger pay for less work in city, county and state jobs than is generally paid for same work in private employ.

The cost of federal government has gone down since the world war, but the cost of state and municipal government has risen from $2,227, 000,000 in 1913, to $7,400,000,000 in 1925. The increase of public extravagance is shown on every hand by demands for everything of the finest and most luxurious quality.

If local taxes are to be reduced, we must inject more business and less politics in management of government affairs.

Rapid City Says
Goodbye to Cal
And His Party

By United Press.
RAPID CITY, S. D., Sept. 9.—The whole town of Rapid City closed down today to tell President Coolidge and his summer vacationing party goodbye in a big way. Every merchant shut up his shop promptly at 10:45 a. m. Schools dismissed classes; streets and kitchens were deserted.

Everyone went up to Mr. Cool-idge's schoolhouse offices to shake his hand and to tell him how much they appreciated his coming out here for the first vacation a president of the United States ever spent west of Ohio. The president's special train will leave here before 10 p. m., mountain time, tonight for Washington. It will stop at Brookings, S. D., tomorrow morning to permit Mr. Coolidge to make his final western speech at the dedication of Lincoln library at the South Dakota Agricultural school.

COMMITTEE AWAITS ARRIVAL OF FRANK KELL

All preparations for entertaining
Frank Kell, president of the Wichita Falls & Southern and the Wichita Falls, Ranger & Fort Worth railroads, were completed today and a committee of one dozen Ranger men were awaiting the arrival of his special train as it came in from Dublin this afternoon.

Those who were not on the reception committee awaited the signal of the fire whistle to gather at the Gholson hotel to greet Mr. Kell and to listen to a message that he has to bring them.

MRS. J. A. SHACKELFORD HAS HOME PARTY.

One of the interesting parties of the week was that given by Mrs. J.
A. Shackelford at her home on Young street, Thursday afternoon. Four tables were arranged in the living, dining and back bed room of the home and several electric fans cooled
the atmosphere to Indian summer temperature.

Mrs. Shackelford was assisted in entertaining and in serving by Mrs.
Walter Jackson and James Shackelford.

Mrs. John D. Gholson made high score and was awarded a set of amber colored salad plates and Mrs. L.
H. Flewellen carried home the low score prize, two dainty handkerchiefs.

A refreshment plate of salad and sweets, was served with tall glasses of lemonade, cooled with green ice squares and dotted with cherries.
Mrs. Shackelford's guests were Mmes. E. E. Crawford, W. R. Bowden, J. W. Price, Sr., Chas. Conley, John D. Gholson, L. R. Pearson, W.
E. Wallace, W. H. Cash, Roy Jameson, Paul Lacy, John Thurman, C. E.
Stewart, L. H. Flewellen, J. H.
Wheatley, Kimbrough of Thurber, R.
B. Campbell and Walter Jackson.

PERSONALS.

Mrs. L. H. Flewellen is spending the week end in Dallas.

graduated this summer from Baylor University has returned to Ranger to take up her work in the Ranger high school this year.

returned to Ranger after a summer's vacation and will take her place in the Ranger high school.
Miss Mattie Roberts will return to Ranger Sunday on the Sunshine after having spent the summer at Columbia University. She will make her home at the O. G. Lanier home again this winter.

Mrs. E. V. Reynolds has returned home after spending the summer in California and New Mexico. Mrs.
Reynolds is busy getting ready her school supply shop for the school opening on Monday.

Mrs. Thelma Jamison Timbes of Breckenridge is in Ranger on a brief visit to her sister, Mrs. W. H. Cash.

Two Little Girls Need Clothes For School Monday

Two little girls aged ten and eight can't enter school Monday unless they have some clothes. This was discovered by the Child Welfare club of Ranger as it worked the week end on its school program, which consists in rounding up clothes for those unfortunate children who are in need.

Shoes, the club found, are badly needed, and all clothing is low, so any one having contributions to make kindly call Mrs. W. H. Burden, 445 and they will be called for.

Oklahoma Boy Is Dead Following
Accidental Shot

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., Sept. 9.
—Rudolph Henderson, 6, who carried a bullet in his abdomen for three hours, without knowing he was shot, while he attended his sister, Cleo, 9, accidentally shot in the arm, died in the general hospital here today.

The same bullet discharged from a rifle accidentally knocked from the wall in their farm home passed through the girl's arm and into Rudolph, sprawled on the floor. Investigation showed the bullet stunned his nerves so that he did not know he had been wounded, doctors said.
His sister for whom he grieved will recover.

Lions Take Lead
In Helping Boys
Girls at School

A committee of Ranger Lions consisting of Lions Holloway, Leslie Hagaman, Ross Hodges, J. C. Harwell and J. H. P. Jones, have been out today working among the business men of Ranger relative to obtaining employment for those boys and girls who have to work all or a part of their way through school.
They report that they met with splendid cooperation everywhere they went, many business men saying
"just send 'em along, we'll find something for them to do."

The need of finding homes for boys and girls has been created this year owing mostly to the junior college, and in order that those who need help or those who need to have employment may be served with the greatest expediency, O. G. Lanier, at the Ranger high school, will act as a clearing house for all parties concerned. He will register the names of those who want to work and also of those who have work to be done, in other words, he will be an employment agent, without charge, to all parties concerned. His office telephone number is 502 and his home phone 10.

J. C. Harwell, one of Ranger's youngest Lions in point of membership, was business manager for Southwestern University for a number of years and has been active in school work in Abilene since that time. He stated that the necessity of creating the spirit of a school town was necessary to make it one and that each year as it became known that Ranger citizens stood ready to lend a helping hand to deserving young boys and girls the town would be thought of more and more as a real school town.

The Child Welfare club has promised its cooperation and will help find homes for any girls who want to come to Ranger and attend school and work for their room and board.

Boys and girls who want to work their way through school will thus be afforded an opportunity to do so and the committee stated that any time any one wanted a lawn mower, a cow milked, a yard cleaned off, or any odd job done, that Mr. Lanier would have a boy ready for the job.

MUCH INTEREST SHOWN IN REVIVAL SERVICES

Attendance at both morning and evening services at the Church of Christ, Ranger, during the past week, have been very satisfactory. In fact so much interest has been manifested in the meeting that services will be carried on over Sunday and possibly

Effort to Silence Press Criticism
Dies In Alabama

An effort to silence press criticism in Alabama failed last week when a libel bill directed at newspapers and sponsored by Representative Frey died with the legislative session which ended Aug. 26.

The bill should it have become a law, would have given any city, county or state official civil recourse against any newspaper publishing criticisms of his public actions.

James Esdale, grand dragon of the Ku Klux Klan, of Alabama, and other Klan officials of the state are said to have attended yesterday's session and witnessed the death of the measure which the Birmingham Age-Herald said "it was generally agreed was sponsored by the organization which Mr. Esdale heads in Alabama." Mr. Esdale is reported to have conferred more than once during the debate in the house with Representative Frey. Both the Age-Herald and the Birmingham News have vigorously attacked the Klan in connection with Alabama's recent siege of floggings.

Ranger was represented today at the Lions luncheon in Breckenridge, given annually to the superintendents, coaches and captains of the oil belt high schools, and athletic teams respectively, by Assistant Bulldog
Coach Wallace Davis, Junior College
Coach Tricky Ward and Bulldog
Captain Victor Short.

On account of Coach Blair Cherry having been called to Corsicana yesterday owing to the illness of a cousin, and Superintendent R. F. Holloway being busy in Ranger today, they were unable to attend.

At this annual meeting the chances of the various teams are doled out.
Each coach this year discusses some other coach's team, which is the reverse of last year, when for some reason coaches either fearing to toot their own team's horn, or for lack of ego, drew some such doleful pictures of the chances of their team winning the West Texas championship that a damper was thrown on the meeting.

This was the remark of Barrister MacDonald who appeared in a London court for an appellant who was said to have used bad language in a restaurant.

Crowd Gathers For Initial Opening
Of Penney Store

A large crowd gathered in front of the J. C. Penney Store this morning prior to the opening of its doors for the first time in Ranger, scanned the offerings in the large plate front windows and were ready for business when the big front doors swung open at 9 o'clock.

There was no fanfare of fife or drum, no scrambling for prizes tossed in the crowd, no excitement whatever, just the silent opening open of the doors of store No. 819 of the J. C. Penney & Company chain of stores that reach from coast to coast.

Customers entered the spacious store, were waited on by courteous salesmen and saleswomen, or those who went to look and not to buy went from one end of the big store to the other, admiring the stock, fixtures and general arrangement of the store and getting acquainted with Ranger's newest enterprise.

Gripings

By GUS

This column was never intended to be a "Lost and Found" or a want-ad column and for a item to be mentioned here, that really belongs in that column it must be of unusual interest or else worthy of editorial comment.

Several years ago Jack Gullahorn lost a very fine driving glove, and was very peeved because the finder did not hunt him up and return it. He ran a want-ad something like this: "Will the party who found my driving glove either return it or else come by and get the mate to it?"

Now come the fire chief, who has received a lion's share of publicity already, and alleges that some either maliciously with intent to steal or else to replace a similar loss of their own, did remove, take, or swipe one of the pretty little awnings from the left door of his Ford coupe.

Now the chief is the guilty party and says that if the guilty party will present himself, together with the missing property that he will take the remaining awning and that they will decide by the flip of a coin who shall become the lawful owner of both awnings. He further guarantees that no charges will be filed and no questions asked and if the guilty party's house should ever catch fire he will gladly stand by and see that the fire does not spread.

Some time back we wrote a little essay on traffic. Some liked it and, of course, some didn't. Now comes a well known oil producer and suggests a little matter that really is annoying.

He says that he don't mind paying a fine of a couple of dollars if he happens to get caught in a business transaction and leaves his car on the main drag a few minutes over the permissible two hours. That's all right, because he has either made enough money that he pays the fine with a smile or else has lost enough that he is so sore that a fine of a couple of dollars merely serves to divert his mind from greater losses.

But what cramps his style is to see the extremes to which some of the drivers in this town go while they are negotiating the main drag.

Some of them go so fast as to make it dangerous and others go so slow that you feel like you've had the seven year itch after you've followed them a block. And they hog the middle of the street and won't let you go by.

Then in the cool of the evening, comes the daily parade of local beauties; sometimes alone in various conveyances ranging from relics of by-gone days to the very latest models; sometimes there'll be a bevy of beauties in one car, surveying the show window and looking for somebody to buy them a drink; sometimes in pairs with another car following close behind that contains from one to six hatless boys in a borrowed car, and thus one may go into great rambles and hysterics describing the many entrants in the parade.

If they just made the drag once and back nobody would kick but they are not content with giving the sidewalk Arabs a single treat, they must repeat the parade around and around until they are filled with a fear that the gasoline tank may be near exhaustion and then they retire to fill up or put the car in the garage, depending upon the financial status.

Then comes Saturday night. This is the south. Everybody comes to town. Those that have cars roam from one end of the drag to the other seeking a parking place and knowing that the same is not to be found unless extreme good fortune be their lot.

What have we got to do or say about it? Nothing whatever.

We sincerely enjoy viewing the parade from the sidewalk and as sincerely hate to be caught in it when we are going places.

Our suggestion would be that something in the nature of an experiment be done toward shifting the parade to some other street so that those who care to participate either as an entrant or as an observer may do so to their heart's content without making traffic so heavy on the main drag as to excite the ire and vehemence of those who really do have a little business to which they are anxious to attend.

FOOTBALL CROWDING BASEBALL FROM TEXAS SPORTS HORIZON

By RICHARD C. WILSON, United Press Staff Correspondent.
DALLAS, Sept. 9.—Football crowds baseball from the sport horizon in Texas tomorrow when teams of the Southwest conference launch fall training.

The Texas league makes its final bow Sunday, although the Wichita Falls Spudders already have the league title cinched, and the knights of the pigskin step into the sport pages. Southern Methodist university is receiving heavy favoritism in the pre-season dope as to the conference winner this year. The Mustangs launch training here tomorrow with a splendid array of veteran men. Texas A. & M., Rice and Texas U also must be considered championship contenders this season, the coaches agree, although they are not starting the season with the experienced aggregation that S. M. U. has on hand.

At the annual meeting of football executives of the Southwest conference here this week there was marked optimism over the increased general interest in Texas football. The Missouri university squad here Oct. 22. The only other Missouri Valley conference team encountered by a Southwest conference school this year will be Oklahoma A. & M. college, which plays Arkansas university.

Two weeks of intensive training will be undergone by schools of the conference before the season opens. The season opens Sept. 24 with S. M. U. meeting Denton Normal at Dallas; Texas playing Oklahoma S. W. Teachers college at Austin; Texas A. & M. vs. Trinity university at College Station; Baylor vs. Southwestern at Waco; T. C. U. vs. Daniel Baker at Fort Worth, and Rice vs. Loyola at New Orleans.

Ruth and Moore Have Big Bet On Latter's Hitting

By BILLY EVANS
A matter of principle, I am told, was all that kept Charley Ruffing of the Boston Red Sox from becoming a member of the New York Yankees early this spring and Owner Bob Quinn of Boston profiting to the extent of $50,000.
Bob Quinn's word in baseball is his bond. When he took over the Boston Club he assured the fans of that city he would make every effort to get together a winner. He has made the effort but the winner is still merely a cherished hope.
In the old days, any time Harry Frazee, Red Sox owner, was short on cash, he peddled one of his stars to the Yankees. This spring, when Manager Miller Huggins was a bit doubtful as to his pitching I, understand an offer of $50,000 was made for Ruffing.
No doubt Bobby Quinn could have used that amount, if the offer was a bona-fide one, but he turned it down. He had promised Boston a winner and Ruffing stood out as one of his few best bets. Selling Ruffing to Quinn would have been doubling-crossing the Boston fans.
Baseball fans the country over are pulling for Bobby Quinn to land a winner at Boston. His sincerity and integrity deserved a better fate than a talented pitcher.

BASEBALL John McGraw Kind Of Horse Trader In National Game

By BILLY EVANS.
When it comes to trading, John McGraw is the "David Harum" of baseball. In adversity, McGraw believes in showing the home folks new faces. His theory is that new players make for increased interest and very often supply the desired spark to a burnt-out club.

McGraw, like great men in all branches of sports or business, makes mistakes. The commendable thing about him is that he has the courage of his convictions. Neither is he unwilling to admit his errors, for any number of times he has traded some player, only to take him back later. McGraw constantly seeks winning results. If it is apparent to him that a certain player on whom he once turned thumbs down has made the grade and will help his club, he immediately sets about to get said player if possible.

I have known of managers who wouldn't try to get a player back whom they once traded, simply because it made it appear as if bad judgment had been used in the first decision as to the player's fitness for the majors.
Not so with John McGraw. He is willing to admit to the world that he originally erred, provided he can get

TODAY'S PUZZLE.

Why is it that the ladies these days don't seem to mind at all if the cigarette smoke discolors their lace curtains.

Case of Mueller.

Now for another break that came in the race. The hero in this instance is Heinie Mueller, obtained by McGraw last season in a deal with the St. Louis Cardinals.

Recently, New York defeated the Chicago Cubs in an all-important double-header which later events may prove was the turning point in the National league race.

In the first game of the double-header, with the Giants three runs behind, Mueller was sent in to start an inning as pinch hitter for the pitcher. He responded with a home run. It revived the spirits of the Giants. Before the inning was over New York had made seven runs. Mueller, in his second time at bat in the inning, drove in the last two tallies with a single.

New York won that game, 8-7, so it is easy to picture what those two pinch hits meant. The second game was won by a final inning rally of four runs, with the Cubs leading 1-0 at the time. Mueller drove in two of the four runs in his only time at bat.

John McGraw was entitled to a smile of some satisfaction at the work of Mueller as pinch hitter in making possible two victories over the league-leading Cubs.

Thames Currents More Dangerous Than is Channel

LONDON.—Currents of the River Thames are more treacherous than the waves and tides of the English channel, according to Miss Mercedes Gleitze, 26-year-old London stenographer and heroine of several plucky, though unsuccessful channel attempts. "When I reach Folkestone I shall, I hope, not only be fit for the task I have set my mind on accomplishing—that is swimming the channel—but I shall also have achieved a swim which, I think, has never been attempted. "Although many channel swimmers have found the crawl effective, I shall rely on the breast stroke, the over-arm sidestroke and the backstroke, using them in turn. "Cold is one of the worst enemies of the long-distance swimmer. One of the reasons for my Westminster-Folkestone swim is to harden myself and make myself less subject to the rigors of the channel—and especially the channel at night."

Rose growing has reached such proportions in East Texas that the rose bush is now considered a farm crop in some sections. Smith county is the leading county in this industry.

Mercedes is the holder of the record of 10 3/4 hours for a 27-mile swim in the Thames and, undeterred by previous disappointments, is more intent than ever on conquering the 21 miles separating England and France. During the first stage of a "training trip" of 100 miles from Westminster (London) to Folkestone, she came near to ending her life without realizing her ambition of swimming the channel. After passing Tower Bridge and entering the famous Pool of London, she was swept out of her course by the tide and dragged under a group of barges. Nothing was seen of her for three minutes and the bunch of friends accompanying her in a motor launch feared the worst. Then they saw her rise, feet first, and lie motionless on the surface. The boat was speeding towards her but she waved her friends away and continued her swim. "The suction was terrific," she said afterwards. "I could not fight against it. The channel was not nearly so treacherous as this." Discussing her training methods, Miss Gleitze said: "Realizing the

Imported Best Conserve the Oil Examinations

By RODNEY DUTCHER, NEA Service Writer, WASHINGTON.—In order to be good it must be imported.

That seems to be the situation, as far as liquors dispensed by sun-dry agencies in the United States are concerned.

But federal prohibition officials, recently calling upon the Canadians to help enforce our prohibition law by halting the smuggler in his tracks, got the surprise of their lives.

For it seems that for every quart of Canadian liquor smuggled into the States, there is a quart of liquor from the United States smuggled into Canada.

People just won't buy things at home any more.

Secretary of the Interior Hubert W. Work, who estimates that over-production of petroleum "approximates a million barrels a day," has a plan that he wants the next congress to hear about.

Dr. Work recently addressed the mineral law section of the American Bar association at Buffalo, N. Y. There he proposed a committee of nine members to draft a bill for conservation.

The committee would be composed of three members of the American Bar association, three petroleum engineers and three representatives of the government. As chairman of the federal oil conservation board, Dr. Work would have final re-checking of the measure.

Production in this field, it appears, has been speeded too well.

It may come to a point where he who would fly over oceans must first prove all the required buttons are there.

Government officials have joined with the National Aeronautic association in recommending that restrictions as to personnel and equipment should be imposed before sanction is given flights designed to establish new records.

Pilot and members of the crew should be examined to insure they are qualified mentally, physically and by training and experience, it was agreed at the conference.

Heirlooms Given Prominent Play At Staff Exhibit

Staff's first community fair held yesterday went over so well that it was voted to make it an annual institution. The exhibits were fine and were well displayed. County demonstration agent and county farm agent of Palo Pinto county did the judging.

Dr. Phil Simmons of the Ranger Medical Clinic and Miss Grace Stewart of the City-County hospital held a free clinic for the boys and girls of the community and gave them cards showing what physical remedies were necessary, which were turned over to their parents for them to take any action they pleased toward correcting these physical disabilities.

Among the interesting old things displayed was a hoop skirt, that is owned by Mrs. J. T. Stewart, herself 73 years old and a bed coverlet 105 years old, handwoven and hand spun in 1821 in Benton County, Tennessee and handed down to J. T. Stewart by his mother.

A picnic dinner consisting of everything that is good to eat was spread at noon and enjoyed by the Staff community and a large number of visitors who were their guests for the day. Awards were made as follows:

RUSSIAN SAYS GREAT POWERS WILL MAKE WAR

By VICTOR W. KNAUTH, United Press Staff Correspondent. MOSCOW.—The Treaty of Versailles has broken down and the great military powers are preparing a new division of the world into spheres of influence, thus causing an increasing war peril, declared Josef Stalin, secretary of the Russian communist party and the most influential person in soviet Russia.

He described a more serious international crisis than that which suddenly pitched the world into the great war of 1914. On account of his importance in soviet affairs, Stalin's predictions caused widespread attention and comment.

"Division of the world and the spheres of influence resulting from the last war are already obsolete," he said. "A great struggle for export markets and for export of money is under way, coupled with a fight for possession of trade routes on sea and land. All this causes a deeper crisis than that which preceded the world war."

"These imperialist nations would have begun fighting each other long ago if it were not for the communist parties—if it were not for the soviet union, the peaceful policy of which shackles the jingoes."

Stalin, attacking the British government for "organizing" the murder of the soviet ambassador to Poland last June, and blaming the British cabinet for the raid on the soviet embassy in Peking and on the soviet offices in the Arcos building at London, declared that "all this shows beyond doubt that the English conservative government has firmly and decisively put its foot on the path toward war against the soviet union."

In connection with his accusations against England, Stalin referred to the summary execution of 20 white guard Russians in Moscow, including two princes, which followed on the heels of the assassination of the soviet ambassador in Warsaw, as "a necessary measure for the defense of the revolution."

"Our internal and our foreign enemies," he wrote, "must know that the proletarian dictatorship still exists and that its hand is firm."

The official government newspaper, Ivestia, in editorial comments on Stalin's article, said that the trade interests between neighboring states and Russia were an obstacle to England's "attacking provocation policy." Border states, the newspaper declared, are torn between trade considerations and pressure supposedly exerted by England to force them into an anti-soviet bloc.

Public opinion, however, is "gradually sobering" and recognizing the consequences to trade which a conflict with Russia would entail, the editorial concluded.

"The two tendencies—toward peace or toward war—are crystallizing around the policies in regard to the soviet union," the editorial said. "Whoever wants peace must strive toward normal trade relations with the soviet country and with the economic structure of the world."

Dog races are a menace, says a western reformer. Maybe he thinks the people shouldn't go to the dog just for a race.

Out Our Way

London Is Again Reminded Of Its Por Foundation

LONDON—Great Britain's capital, chief city of a nation said to be founded on solid rock, is built on sand and this fact has been called to the attention of the public recently by collapse of the Commercial Union Assurance company's building, in Cornhill, opposite the Royal Exchange, and in the heart of London's Wall street district.

There was after the building collapsed a large cavity, and the surrounding buildings including the Royal Exchange were in danger of collapse also.

London is built on a cap of sandy loam or gravel over clay, beneath which is chalk. Solid rock is many hundreds of feet down.

Obviously skyscrapers are out of the question. Even as it is, for buildings 80 to 100 feet high, anything from 20 to 50 feet has to be dug out to reach the clay.

The clay-sand bed, however, has the advantage that it has enabled London to build its system of deep-level subway railways, probably the finest in the world. It is the clay under the gravel that has enabled London to develop these subways as no other city has.

Alarmists, viewing the Cornhill disaster, are recalling the old tradition that a city on sand is vainly built and will not stand. They say that such a loose surface as London's, which holds an amount of water that varies, draining off into every hole that is dug must be a little uncertain. It shrinks and expands and moves. And, therefore, these alarmists are asking what would happen to London if it were visited by a great earthquake.

Theoretically, they say, the city is without foundation at all in solid earth. One little shock, they add, would cause the city to fall like a deck of cards.

Gained 60 Pounds HOBO KIDNEY AND BLADDER REMEDY

E. S. Hardy of Marshall, Texas, writes: "I had a bad case of Bright's Disease and was told that I would never be able to work. I lost flesh till I only weighed 140 pounds; my blood pressure was so high that I had to be careful of my exercise."

I took Hobo Kidney & Bladder Remedy and I think I am entirely cured; the doctors say I am. I am running a locomotive engine every day and weigh 196 pounds. I feel for the suffering of others and it does me good to inform others of the faith I have in Hobo Kidney & Bladder Remedy.

THIRTEEN BILLION AMERICAN DOLLARS ARE LIKE DIPLOMATS

NEW YORK.—Thirteen billion American dollars—all spreading the gospel of good will on every continent, are America's surest good will asset, Lewis E. Pierson, president of the United States chamber of commerce declares in Collier's Weekly for Sept. 10.

"One of the great forces for the rebuilding of Europe since the war has been the American dollar, just as a few decades ago the pound sterling and the franc and the mark were potent constructive allies of the great empire builders in our own country, when they were laying the foundation for our own industrial structure," says Pierson.

"After the war Europe found herself prostrated industrially. Her money was debased and her gold was almost completely gone. The disbanded armies were without work, and their families were without food or shelter or clothes. This was a condition made to order for the radical agitators of every country. When an irresponsible Red trouble-maker gets on a soap-box and starts talking to an audience of despondent people without money, food or work, you cannot answer his argument with other arguments, or with bayonets. There is only one answer to him. And that is to provide work for those idle people."

Nobody really knows the extent of the assistance America has given to her allies and enemies alike since the war ended. I am speaking, of course, not of the sums lent during the war and immediately after to our allies out of the United States treasury, but only of loans made by citizens since 1920.

This money has gone over all the earth. And what country do you suppose has got the largest amount? Our old enemy, Germany. For every soldier we sent over the sea to defeat her we have since sent a thousand dollars to put her on her feet. There's hardly a city in the Kaiser's old kingdom that hasn't borrowed a million or two or more from us.

"When I first went into banking you could pick up a New York paper and find quotations on perhaps six foreign bonds. Today you will find as many as 160 foreign securities traded in on the stock exchange in a single day.

"We've put millions into making matches in Sweden, buying and selling silks and jade in China and Japan, farming in Czechoslovakia, operating tramways in Africa. We have lent money to electrical goods makers in Germany, iron and steel mongers in the Ruhr, cattle raisers in the Argentine and film producers in Portugal. American capital helped rebuild Japan after her earthquake and again helped steady her business last spring after it had been hit by a financial earthquake. Our dollars have helped develop nitrate plants in Chile, oil companies in Venezuela, coffee-growing in Brazil. We have even lent money to the pope. We advanced millions to the hierarchy of Bavaria and millions to the Protestant church of Germany.

"Of course, all these nations we lend to together might defeat America if such a foolish adventure were ever started. But it wouldn't be a cheap fight. We would all be terribly scratched and bruised when it was over. It would cost them three times as much in money and 20 times as much in devastation and destruction, to say nothing of lives, as the debts they had thus cancelled. No one knows that better than the very sensible people who owe those debts.

"But it is foolish to talk of these loans breeding wars. They will breed peace because they will foster the one thing which is the greatest source of peace—intercourse and understanding between our people and the other peoples of the earth."

Diplomats Are Moving Around In Washington

WASHINGTON—The diplomatic business is good too.

While the government embarks on a business program for its embassies and legations abroad and Congress plans what to do with $50,000,000 appropriated for new government buildings here, foreign nations are holding up their ends by enlarging their diplomatic missions in the capitol or moving into new and bigger quarters.

Great Britain long since announced that she would build a grand new million dollar embassy on Massachusetts avenue and sent an architect over here to draw up the plans. Construction will start almost any time now.

In getting out on Massachusetts avenue, the British Lion has defied Washington's principal social boss, Mrs. John B. Henderson. Mrs. Henderson built a number of prospective embassies or acquired sites for them out on Sixteenth street—just above her famous castle—and the British decision to go elsewhere was regarded as rather a blow to her program.

Nevertheless, the Spanish government recently bought the famous Sixteenth street residence which Mrs. Henderson built for the Vice President and will add an extension to it for a chancery. Just in the rear of the new Spanish embassy, on Fifteenth street, lies a huge English gothic palace built by Mrs. Henderson and just purchased by the Egyptian government for its legation.

Others on Mrs. Henderson's embassy row are the French, Mexican, Polish, Italian and Lithuanian.

The Italians, heading the need for expansion, are building an extension to their embassy which will give them larger quarters for their offices.

France, too, is planning a small office building along side its embassy on Sixteenth street at the lower end of the Embassy row.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Vera Cameron, private secretary, agrees to let Jerry Macklyn, advertising manager for Peach Bloom Cosmetics, transform her into a beauty through the use of the company cosmetics. She agreed only after she falls suddenly in love with a man who ignores her.

Jerry proposes to use her photographs in the company's advertising. In transforming her, the beauty specialist uses as a model a picture Jerry finds in his desk. Vera wants to be beautiful so she can spend her vacation at Lake Minnetonka and meet the man she loves, Schuyler Smythe. At the summer hotel, Smythe and other guests mistake her for the ex-princess, Vivian Crandall, who after a divorce in Paris, has disappeared and is in hiding. Vera, sometimes called Vee-Vee, attempts to convince people of her real identity but is unsuccessful.

Schuyler is devotedly attentive to Vera, much to the jealousy of Nan Fosdick, to whom, it is rumored, he is engaged for her money. Vera reads an account of Vivian's disappearance and the hunt that is being instituted for her. She starts to wire Jerry but reconsiders, not wanting to drag him into the tangle. Thurston, the hotel manager, comes to her room and asks her to notify her parents of her whereabouts. She again states her identity but is not believed. She joins Schuyler for golf, determined to make the most of the next few hours, before inevitable exposure of her unintentional imposture.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXIV

As the day wore on, Vee-Vee began to wonder almost hysterically if Thurston, the manager of the Minnetonka, had enlisted the aid of all the hotel guests in keeping her from being alone with Schuyler Smythe. For the two found themselves practically surrounded by the friends they had both made since her arrival at the hotel.

Their golf game became a four-some, without the bewildered couple's knowing exactly how it had happened. There was no opportunity for more than a few words between them as they played down the green, a fact which made Schuyler turn childishly sulky.

They lunched together, but there was necessarily little privacy in the crowded hotel dining room. After lunch Schuyler suggested a drive in his car, but when he tried to start the motor he found that it was unaccountably dead.

"It's a plot," he told Vee-Vee in angry desperation. "I'll wager that interfering ass, Thurston, had one of the chauffeurs put my car out of commission. I suppose he thinks I'm going to try to abduct you, and that will get him in Dutch with the high and mighty Crandalls. I wish he'd mind his own business."

Vee-Vee laughed with pretended gaiety, but in her heart she feared that Schuyler was right. Thurston was not taking any chances on a mesalliance being contract in his hotel. He valued the good will of the "high and mighty Crandalls" too much for that. If he contrived that Vivian Crandall—as he thought Vee-Vee to be—should at last be delivered intact and in good condition to her anxious parents, he would have them exulting in his gratitude, and the Hotel Minnetonka would benefit accordingly. Undoubtedly he had visions of Crandalls summering gratefully at the Minnetonka and bringing in their train the very cream of New York society.

Schuyler hired one of the hotel rowboats and took Vee-Vee out upon the lake, but immediately a dozen other boats followed them, circled about them, their occupants calling out gay quips, taunting Schuyler with laughing challenges for a race.

"Oh, damn!" Schuyler said in deep disgust, as he whirled his boat toward the landing. "I'm going to see you alone if I have to come up to your room. Though I suppose the house detective would follow me there and throw me out of the hotel. Thurston would love that!" he added, with a vicious stab of his oar into the smiling waters of the lake.

"There's still the evening left, a whole evening before anything is likely to happen," Vee-Vee consoled herself, as she and Schuyler walked toward the hotel after their comically chaperoned boat ride.

"Vee-Vee," Schuyler laid a hand on her arm and detained her as she was about to ascend the steps of the wide front porch. "If they should come for you—those damned detectives I mean, or your parents—promise me that you won't go without letting me talk to you alone. It means life, and death to me, Vee-Vee! Promise!"

For the first time she realized how harassed he must be, knowing, as he must, that Vivian Crandall was being sought by private detectives hired by her parents. He must be bitter with despair over the fact that the girl he had loved hopelessly for five years was about to be whisked away from him, just when he had almost succeeded in winning her.

"Don't worry, dear," she said in a low voice, addressing him with an endearment for the first time. "Thurston has promised me not to interfere, not to notify—the Crandalls. Believe me, dear, when I tell you that Mr. and Mrs. Crandall have absolutely no power over me."

She flushed with shame at the sorry way in which she saved herself from a lie even as she evaded the truth. But she saw, to her relief, that Schuyler Smythe was neither surprised nor shocked at her peculiar manner or referring to the people whom he believed to be her parents.

"There's still a whole evening left before anything is likely to happen," Vee-Vee consoled herself as she and Schuyler walked toward the hotel.

She was passing through the lobby on her way to the elevators when a strident, half-masculine, half-feminine voice halted her. She knew the voice well, knew that it was Nan Fosdick's rather terrible mother who was halting her.

"Oh, Lord, what next?" she groaned to herself, but the fact which she turned to Mrs. Fosdick was a smilingly polite one.

"Want to talk to you, young woman," Mrs. Fosdick boomed. "Will you come up to my suite?"

"Won't you come to my room?" Vee-Vee smiled, with a malicious little emphasis on the last word. Mrs. Fosdick let pass no opportunity to impress her wealth upon anyone she came in contact with.

Although they were the only two passengers in the ascending elevator Vee-Vee felt crowded. Mrs. Fosdick was so overwhelmingly big that she seemed to fill the car. She was like a caricature of her daughter. Nan was big, her mother was huge. Nan's aquiline nose became a beak on the older woman's face. Little pig-like black eyes were almost submerged between overhanging black brows and puffy ridges of flesh.

As soon as they entered her room, Vee-Vee went to the phone and gave an order for iced tea, iced coffee, sandwiches and cakes, to be sent up immediately.

"She'll be in a better humor if she ravenous. I've noticed that you take iced coffee, Mrs. Fosdick. Don't you think the coffee is delicious here?"

"Nothing to compare with the New Orleans coffee or the Vienna coffee," Mrs. Fosdick contradicted her flatly, but she eased her bulk into the largest chair and relaxed a trifle.

Vee-Vee kept her reminiscing about her European travels—or rather, about European food—until the waiter had arrived and departed. When Mrs. Fosdick had consumed three sandwiches and half of her tall glass of iced coffee, Vee-Vee permitted her, without further struggle, to open the subject which had brought her there.

"Now, Vivian Crandall—" "My name is Vera Cameron, Mrs. Fosdick," Vee-Vee corrected her softly.

"Well, whatever you want to call yourself—I suppose it's none of my business—but I feel it my duty to tell you the plain truth about that young man you and my daughter Nan have been making such fools of yourselves over."

"Fools?" Vee-Vee repeated gently. "Don't you think, Mrs. Fosdick, that that is rather a strong word to apply to one who is practically a stranger to you?"

"You don't have to rub it in that you and me move in different circles," Mrs. Fosdick boomed, her bosom heaving. "The Fosdicks are as good as the Crandalls any day in the week, I'd have you know."

"I'm sure they are," Vee-Vee smiled. "But we are not discussing the go on. I'm sure you have something to say to me which you consider important. Is it about Nan, Mrs. Fosdick?"

"No, it's not about Nan. It's about that fortune-hunter that calls himself Schuyler Smythe. Schuyler Smythe!"

she repeated scornfully. "I'll hand it to him that he picked out a good name while he was about it," she snorted.

"I know Mr. Smythe's original name," Vee-Vee told her serenely. But beneath her arrogant calm her heart was pounding with sickening rapidity. What did this terrible person know against Schuyler Smythe?

"Then I guess you know too that Mr. Shuler B. Smith," Mrs. Fosdick swept on triumphantly, using the name of which Vee-Vee had caught a glimpse when Schuyler had dropped an envelope, "is just a penniless fortune-hunter that makes a profession of summer vacationing."

"Of course I know nothing of the sort," Vee-Vee retorted. "But I fail to see why you insist upon discussing Mr. Smythe's affairs with me."

"Because you're being taken in by him, just as my poor Nan was," Mrs. Fosdick panted. "I saw through him right away, but nothing could turn Nan against him. I wired a detective agency in New York to get a line on him for me and their report arrived today. Do you want to see it?"

"No," Vee-Vee said, almost in a whisper. "Then you're a bigger fool than I thought you were," Mrs. Fosdick snapped. "But I'm going to do my duty by you anyway. Your mother will thank me," she added righteousness.

"Your fascinating gentleman is just a secretary. His fashionable East Fifty-fourth street address, which he used to impress everyone with, is not his own address, but that of his employer, Mr. Arthur Bainbridge. Bainbridge is in Maine at his camp and he gives this young scamp a two weeks' vacation every summer, allowing him to use one of his cars. Pampers the young upstart, makes him think he's as good as his betters," she snorted. "Just a cheap

FOR CONSTIPATION

Mississippi Man Says He Has Found Black-Draught So Satisfactory, He Has No Need to Change.

Wiggins, Miss.—Mr. A. L. Cone, a well known Wiggins resident, says: "I have used Theford's Black-Draught for constipation. I have never had to take a great deal of medicine, but for fully 30 years I have, by using it, known Black-Draught to be a great medicine, and when I found it so satisfactory, I haven't seen any need to change.

"When I get constipated, I feel all out of sorts and tired and sluggish and I take a few doses of Black-Draught. It regulates my bowels and I get all right. My wife takes more Black-Draught than I do. She is a great believer in it, too, so we keep it in the house. It will cleanse the system and help you, if you use it as we have."

Constipation leads to a great deal of sickness among those who do not understand its dangers, and who neglect to treat it without delay.

Black-Draught, with the natural, prompt action of its purely vegetable ingredients, quickly relieves constipation and helps to drive out the poisons so as to leave the organs in a state of healthy activity.

truth. But she saw, to her relief, that Schuyler Smythe was neither surprised nor shocked at her peculiar manner or referring to the people whom he believed to be her parents.

She was passing through the lobby on her way to the elevators when a strident, half-masculine, half-feminine voice halted her. She knew the voice well, knew that it was Nan Fosdick's rather terrible mother who was halting her.

"Oh, Lord, what next?" she groaned to herself, but the fact which she turned to Mrs. Fosdick was a smilingly polite one.

"Want to talk to you, young woman," Mrs. Fosdick boomed. "Will you come up to my suite?"

"Won't you come to my room?" Vee-Vee smiled, with a malicious little emphasis on the last word. Mrs. Fosdick let pass no opportunity to impress her wealth upon anyone she came in contact with.

Although they were the only two passengers in the ascending elevator Vee-Vee felt crowded. Mrs. Fosdick was so overwhelmingly big that she seemed to fill the car. She was like a caricature of her daughter. Nan was big, her mother was huge. Nan's aquiline nose became a beak on the older woman's face. Little pig-like black eyes were almost submerged between overhanging black brows and puffy ridges of flesh.

As soon as they entered her room, Vee-Vee went to the phone and gave an order for iced tea, iced coffee, sandwiches and cakes, to be sent up immediately.

"She'll be in a better humor if she

WOMEN'S DECLINING YEARS MADE HAPPY

The age-old impression that a woman is "old" in every sense of the word after she has reached middle age is rapidly being thrown aside as more and more women start using St. Joseph's G. F. P. during this period.

This vegetable compound contains such well-known roots and herbs as Blessed Thistle, Blue Cohosh Root, Squaw Vine, Life Root Plant, Helonias Root, Star Grass, Cramp bark, etc., which your family physician will tell you have been used for years in building up and strengthening women.

Among the many thousands of women who are now using and praising St. Joseph's G. F. P. is Mrs. Marguerite Rose, who lives at 905 Kentucky Ave., San Antonio, Texas.

She says, "Although I am 73 years old, I feel strong and healthy, have a good appetite and sleep like I did when I was a girl. I really enjoy life and I believe this is all due to my using St. Joseph's G. F. P., as it is only since I have been using this medicine that I have felt so strong."

Women have used St. Joseph's GFP for over 50 years!

PENNY PRINCESS

little salaried man, saving his money 11 months of the year to make a splurge in a hotel like this. Makes the rounds of the swell hotels, where he knows he'll meet rich men's daughters—like my Nan and like you. Just a cheap four-flusher, a fortune-hunter—

"Mrs. Fosdick, I can't allow you to go on!" Vee-Vee cried vehemently, jumping to her feet. "Have you finished your sandwiches?" she asked with rude significance.

When Mrs. Fosdick had made a stammering furious exit speech, Vee-Vee flung herself down upon the chaise longue and burst into a fit of weeping.

When the storm had spent itself, she sat up, dabbing at her eyes with a wet ball of handkerchief. "I don't care! I don't believe he's a fortune-hunter. I'm glad he's poor, just a secretary like me. After all, he's committed no crime. What if the poor dear does save all year to go to a swank hotel? Didn't I do the same thing? Of course he likes this kind of life, the kind of people he can meet at a place like this! Who wouldn't? But I'll know tonight beyond the shadow of a doubt whether it is me that he loves or—40 million dollars."

Schuyler proposes in the next chapter, still thinking Vee-Vee an heiress and a princess. She decides to tell him.

Newlyweds Who See Washington See Model Home

By RODNEY DUTCHER
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON.— Massive public buildings, the treasury, the army and navy building, legations and embassies, Red Cross headquarters and stately art galleries almost bury a little house in New York ave. which is the Mecca of thousands of brides and grooms on a wedding trip in Washington.

A breath of the arbutus of New England or the moors of Nantucket hovers above the little green and white shingle house, its paneled and trellised doorway, and its welcoming knocker.

The little house is the national girl scouts' headquarters. It was donated to the girl scouts by the National Federation of Women's clubs who built it for demonstration week in their famous Better Homes movement.

The little house is modeled after the boyhood home of John Howard Payne, author of "Home, Sweet Home."

President Harding called it "the most liveable home in America." Brides and grooms at the rate of 50 couples a day have made a beaten track up the walk, and gratefully pay their hosts. Mrs. Gertrude L. Bowman a quarter for the privilege of walking through this dream home of their own.

The quarter goes into the girl scouts' own fund for "glitter jewelry." The little house should be built for about $7,000 in any part of the country, the hostess says.

It has a fully equipped basement, a living room, a dining room, reception hall, breakfast nook and kitchen on the first floor, three bedrooms, a nursery and a bath on the second floor.

Furnishings are entirely in the early American design. Spriggy, chintzy wall paper covers almost every room and restfulness is the homes keynote.

Little Woman No Longer Means the Wife of Big Man

NEW YORK.— "Little Woman" has ceased to function exclusively as a term of endearment applied by big men to their diminutive wives.

Nowadays it is used by dress manufacturers of all sizes as a trade caption to distinguish clothes for women five feet four inches tall or less from those for their more statuesque sisters.

"Sixty-seven per cent of all women in the United States are under 5-2 feet tall," declared H. Bellas Hess, president of the National Bellas Hess company of New York and Kansas City, in an address here. "Yet until a few years ago dress manufacturers made no effort to make clothes to their measurements. If these approximately 28,140,000 women failed to measure up to standard dimensions, why, it was their fault. Wholesale dressmakers punished them by forcing them into coats and dresses adapted to their big sisters."

"The majority of short women are built in proportion to their height. Their shoulders and hips are narrower and their arms are shorter than those of their regular-sized kinswomen. For this reason, ready-made clothes in the past hung on them like lags, with such awkward, untidy and ill-fitting effects that every vestige of style possessed by such garments in the beginning was lost in the wearing. Women who desired to appear stylish were forced to make all kinds of alterations before their store clothes were wearable."

"Today dress manufacturers are offering clothes made especially for this undersized 67 per cent, and retailers are featuring 'little woman' departments. The gowns offered are designed and cut shorter in the sleeves and skirts narrower through the shoulders and hips. They are sealed to fit 'the little woman' without the sagging, drooping, or bunching that used to brand her as a tragic misfit when she faced forth in her 'boughten' finery."

Students of Ohio Wesleyan Oppose Athletic Stadium

By United Press

DELAWARE, Ohio.— Students at Ohio Wesleyan university here do not want an athletic stadium. New laboratory and classroom buildings are the things they wish their university to spend its money upon.

This unique request was made to Ohio Wesleyan trustees and officers in a statement issued by student leaders at the close of the last school year and Ohio college circles are wondering if the enthusiasm of the approaching football season will serve to modify student sentiment. Ohio Wesleyan has won the football championship of the Buckeye Athletic association for three consecutive years. "It is our opinion that a stadium is not necessary at Ohio Wesleyan," the statement issued by student leaders declared. "We wish to go on record as heartily opposed to any such proposal. Let Ohio Wesleyan be distinctive among the universities of the nation, not because she has a new stadium, but because she has not got one."

Higher scholarship standing for eligibility for athletic competition within the Ohio Intercollegiate Athletic conference, to which the university belongs, was urged also by the Ohio Wesleyan students.

A plan whereby each school in this conference would be represented in each sport by two teams instead of one, as at present, was also favored. Coaching of teams from the side-lines during games was opposed.

LONDON.— A swarm of grats took possession of an omnibus on a North London route, causing the passengers to leave as quickly as possible. When the bus reached the terminus it took seven men an hour to kill the grats—and the bus had to be taken out of service for the rest of the day. The men were left with swollen hands.
