FINGER TALK READ BY NURSE CONVICTS MAN

E. M. Ansley Sentenced to Five Years for Attack on Former Wife.

BRECKENRIDGE, July 20.—Convicted by the testimony of Leatrice Stotts, nurse at the emergency hospital who understood the sign alphabet used in an interview between E. M. Ansley and his former wife, Lora Jones, Ansley was sentenced to five years' imprisonment for assault with intent to murder her.

The woman was seriously injured by a blow on the head with a hammer which fractured her skull, at her home on the Ivan road ten days ago. Ansley gave officers information leading to the arrest of a younger man.

Ansley went to see his former wife at the hospital, and as he is quite deaf, the two used the sign language. The nurse understood the conversation, which included a threat to enforce the woman's silence about the attack. The injured woman on the stand with her head bandaged, testified that her former husband was in the room at the time she was attacked.

The four-year-old daughter of the pair, Melva, who was given the husband when they were divorced in Oklahoma was left homeless by the father's sentence.

'BLACK SOX' CENTER ATTACK ON 'SQUEALER'

CHICAGO, July 20.—"Black Sox" defense attorneys, like a pack of angry wolves, sprung at the throat of "Bill" Burns, confessed baseball renegade today.

Pent-up wrath for the former big leaguer, who admits he delivered the 1919 world series to "sure thing" gamblers, caused the seven former White Sox stars, charged with being Burns' co-conspirators, to exert every effort to legally "get" the squealer during cross examination.

"Black Sox" attorneys started the cross examination of Burns when the state's direct examination was completed.

DISCIPLES OF JOHN BARLEYCORN VICTIMS OF SCANDALOUS TRICK

INDIANAPOLIS, July 19.—Comes the pathetic plaint from Louisville that the boys down there have been paying a dime a drink for "real" beer, that the "real thing" when analyzed by the city chemist failed to reveal more than the celebrated one-half of one percent, and that the only thing real about it, after all, was a nice, hoppy flavor.

But Indianapolis goes the Kentucky metropolis one better. One of the Hoosier capital's justly famous ex-saloon keepers, now dispensing near goods without camouflage or anything, recently discovered a keg of the old-time high voltage stuff in the cellar of his establishment.

Because Indiana's super-Volstead dry laws make it rough for anyone caught harboring anything with a kick, it was imperative that the beer be disposed of forthwith.

This man said nothing but put the keg under the spigot and sold the goods over the bar—alcoholic contents and all—at a nickel per.

And he gives his word for it that every man who drank the stuff crabbled about prohibition and complained of lack of authority in the drink.

THIS DERN SPOONING IN GAS-BUGGIES MUST STOP, SAYS CONSTABLE

ALBANY, July 20.—The town constable of Sparrowbrush, Orange county, is all "fired up."

There's been too much "one-hand driving" of automobiles to suit him and he has suggested to Secretary of State John J. Lyons that the law should put a stop to it. Not but that there are one-hand drivers who are proficient, but the constable says the other hand is usually appended close to a contracting arm nestling close to "some young thing's waist."

"People are traveling at night in their cars without lights after 9 and 10 o'clock," he complained to the secretary of state. "Is there any law against spooning and one-hand driving?"

WEATHER

Tonight and Thursday partly cloudy; warmer in the north portion Thursday.

THE BRITISH PREMIERS IN CONFERENCE

Premiers of the British empire, with members of their staff, photographed in the court of No. 10 Downing street, London, where the conference of premiers is now being held. Premier Lloyd George of Great Britain, presides over the council. Front row (left to right): Unidentified. Arthur J. CITY DADS WILL ASK PLUMBERS TO SET LOWER PRICES FOR SEWERS

Connection to Be Made Compulsory in Certain Districts; $1,200 Monthly Lopped From City Pay Roll; Sanitary Bids Also Save Money.

Twelve hundred dollars a month was saved the city yesterday by the city commission dropping four names from the pay roll and cutting the salaries of the remaining employees with the exception of one.

It also considered sealed bids for the sanitary contracts, two of which offered to take the contracts at a saving to the city of $3,000 a year. They offered to do the sanitary work without cost to the city, which has in the past been paying water bills and also for all disinfectant that has been used. During the past two years the latter two items have amounted to about $4,000. Action on the bids was postponed until Thursday when the commission will again meet.

At this meeting, all plumbers in the city will be invited, in an effort to get the price of labor down, in order that folks can afford to connect with the city sewers. In the congested part of the business district and in that area draining into Palo Pinto creek it expects to shortly make sewer connection compulsory but it first wants to arrange to lower the price that plumbers will ask for their labor.

It is believed if plumbers continue to insist that they be paid $12 a day, the commission will go on record as favoring importing someone capable of doing the sewer work, but who will do it at a more reasonable price.

Bids for the sanitary contract were submitted by the Ranger Sanitary company, J. W. Hunt, Dan Hall, D. W. Guest and H. M. Holloway. Hunt and Hall offered to do the work without cost to the city, while the Ranger Sanitary company's bid offered to do the work if the city would pay for the disinfectant, as it is now doing.

New Pay Schedule. To retrench, the commission dropped three policemen, one fireman and the stenographer in the city offices. In every instance except one, salaries were cut from $10 to $50. Under the new scale salaries paid are:

City secretary	$225.00
City judge	75.00
City attorney	75.00
City tax collector	275.00
Chief of police	200.00
Fire chief	200.00
Sanitary inspector	150.00
Sewer inspector	160.00

The salary allowed to remain as at present is that of the tax collector and sanitary inspector, which was reduced some months ago. An additional $25 a month for car upkeep goes with this place. Firemen and policemen's pay was reduced to a minimum basis of $120 a month, with additional pay for ranking positions.

"I'M LOOKING FOR COUSIN—DON'T KNOW HIS NAME," STATEMENTS OF MAN CAUGHT AT REV. DRURY HOME

A vigilante committee hurriedly formed, captured two men in the yard at the Rev. M. F. Drury home in Young addition last night. Mr. Drury and his family are away on a vacation. A hurried survey at the time of the capture made in the dark apparently revealed the house had been stripped of its furnishings of value.

A negro girl working for M. K. Collie told him that someone was going in and out of the house, which is near the home of Mr. Collie. He then went to the home of M. H. Smith where a social function was being held in honor of Miss Anita O'Hara, a visitor. There the committee was formed, armed with such guns as were available and a dozen or more men surrounded the preacher's home.

Couldn't Remember. The two men were found in the yard and when questioned as to what they were doing there, one answered that they were looking for their cousin. Someone asked the name of the relative. After several minutes or deep thought, "his said, one of the men looked at the other and asked the cousin's name. The reply was that the name was Johnson. Whereupon the first speaker took issue and stated that the name was Anderson.

Both men were locked in the city jail pending investigation. The police this morning went to investigate the extent of the loss of furnishings in the Drury home. As far as could be ascertained, only a victrola was missing.

At the time of forming the vigilante committee a part of the committee followed a Ford car over the city that was running without lights. However, it eluded them. The car is thought to have come from the preacher's home.

CALIFORNIA FRUIT PICKERS CHASE JAPS

MODESTO, Cal., July 20.—Aroused by a failure of the Turlock Chamber of Commerce to sanction a boycott against Japanese labor, parties early today loaded all the Japanese in Turlock on trucks and took them to Keys. At the latter station they were loaded onto a northbound train.

TURLOCK, Cal., July 20.—A Japanese exodus was on here today. Following deportation last night of sixty-eight Japanese melon pickers here, between 500 and 700 Japanese obeyed the commands of the white itinerant fruit pickers' union to move on.

VETERANS' BUREAU BILL UP FOR CONSIDERATION

WASHINGTON, July 20.—Consideration of the Sweet-Smoot bill creating a veterans' bureau was begun by the senate today, immediately after it was reported by Senator Smoot of Utah.

SECOND ACCIDENT IN FEW DAYS' TIME OCCURS AT HUBBARD BRIDGE

BRECKENRIDGE, July 20.—The bridge on Hubbard creek which was the scene of the injury of William Simon, special auditor of the Mystic Gasoline company, was the place of another accident when the car in which Edward Waldon and W. B. McArthur, employees of the Snowden-Crasheer company, were riding, crashed through the rail.

Waldon fell under the car and suffered a fractured skull and internal injuries. McArthur was cut and bruised. The men had turned out to avoid hitting another car.

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 20.—The Oklahoma City clearing house in executive session last night pledged to extend credit up to $1,000,000 to the Oklahoma Cotton Growers' association to be used in financing the marketing of this year's crop. The association is a co-operative organization.

IRELAND'S FATE DEPENDS UPON PEACE PARLEY

Real Peace or Real Oppression Newly Adopted Policy of England.

LONDON, July 20.—With the Irish peace negotiations quivering in the balance today, it was learned authoritatively that failure of the conference will be followed by an unparalleled campaign of military repression in Ireland.

If the present efforts towards peace is unsuccessful, every power of the government will be exerted to crush the Sinn Feiners. High officials informed the United Press that plans have been prepared which will virtually turn Ireland into a vast military prison, crushing the country's economic life, and putting a tag on every Irish citizen.

The danger that the plans may become operative was shown in the attitude of the various conferees today. Premier Craig of Ulster, was back in Belfast, with General Smuts on his trail, apparently in an effort to arrange his participation in some way in further negotiations. Sinn Fein delegates hesitated to comment on Craig's departure, after asserting that Ulster would demand recognition in the settlement.

NEFF IS READY TO UNLOAD HIS GRAFT EVIDENCE

AUSTIN, July 20.—In a message to the house today, Governor Neff renewed his charges of extravagance and graft at the state capitol. The governor gave no definite information but said that he renewed every charge made in his speeches. He said he noticed where the speaker said "it is high time" that the person making charges substantiated them and he would gladly do so if called upon. If not he would go before his "constituents" and tell them with "lips not padlocked."

JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER IS ONLY AN OUTSIDER WITH STANDARD OILERS

NEW YORK, July 20.—John D. Rockefeller has disposed of all his vast holdings in the Standard Oil company of New Jersey with the exception of 1,000 shares of common stock valued at $106,875, according to an account published in the New York World today.

The World's list shows that John D. Rockefeller Jr., holds 452,080 shares of common stock and 88,970 shares of preferred stock. The Rockefeller education board is owned by 170,320 shares of common and 56,775 shares of preferred, the Rockefeller Foundation 190,000 common and 55,000 preferred and the Laura Spellman Rockefeller memorial fund 40,000 common shares and nineteen thousand of the preferred.

NEW YORK, July 20.—Oscar Hammerstein's financial difficulties have followed him to the grave. His tombstone will be sold at public auction, the first week in August unless an unpaid balance due on the monument is forthcoming before that date.

WORK, NOT MIRACLES, WILL BRING RESTORATION OF "GOOD TIMES," SAYS U. S. C. OF C. STATISTICIAN

(Chamber of Commerce of the United States Press Service) WASHINGTON, July 20.—Instead of waiting for some mysterious set of forces to restore good times, the people of the United States have settled down to the grim and sober business of working out their own salvation, writes Archer Wall Douglas, chairman of the committee on statistics and standards of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, in his monthly review of business conditions in the August number of The Nation's Business.

While the return to better times is certain to be slow, he says, there can be no doubt as to the final recovery.

"The story of the present business depression," says Mr. Douglas, "is very similar to other depression which have occurred during the past half century. The beginning of the end of speculation and over-expansion came with restriction of credit that put a sudden crimp in the volume of business and started prices downward on their long journey of declines. Then followed the slowing down in industry, the incubus of much unemployment, and all the attendant evils of hard times. After the first shock, there were a flood of forecasts of an early return to former conditions and the passing of those ills which afflicted the country. Invariably the prophecies came to grief.

LEAVE IT TO NEFF!

AUSTIN, July 20.—Debate as to whether James E. Ferguson's picture should be placed in the Rotunda of the capitol consumed practically the entire morning in the senate.

TWO MULES AND HORSE LOST IN EAST SIDE FIRE

Two mules and a horse were burned to death at 4 o'clock this morning in a fire which completely destroyed the barn and contents of Elmer Lyons, in Young addition. The loss is placed at $1,500, with no insurance. The animals were tied in their stalls in the barn and could not escape when the fire, from some undetermined cause, broke out. When the flames were discovered an effort was made to cut them loose, but the heat had become too great for human endurance.

A considerable quantity of grain and several sets of harness also were consumed by the flames. When the alarm was turned into the fire department the fire had progressed too far for it to be of any use other than keeping the blaze from spreading.

TEXAS BRIEFS

COLLEGE STATION.—That the rural population of Texas is larger than that of any other state was brought out in a letter to President Bizzell of Texas A. & M. college from Washington in which he was advised that as a result of the last census Texas was entitled to an increased sum from the federal government under the Smith-Lever law. As a result of the 1920 census, Texas will receive $10,392.54 more for 1921-1923 than under the census figures of 1910.

GOLDTHWAITE.—Autoists of Mills county organized the Mills County Automobile Protective association, to prevent theft and to recover cars. The membership fees comprise standing rewards for the return of cars and arrest and conviction of thieves.

TEXAS CITY.—A total of 1,567,267 barrels of oil passed through the port of Texas City during June, according to a terminal company's announcement. Fifteen ships, one foreign and fourteen coastwise, loaded with oil at Texas City during the month, in addition to thirty-two ships that bunkered here.

AUSTIN.—Fred W. Mally, secretary of the Laredo, Texas, chamber of commerce, was appointed special representative of the Texas Secretaries' association to extend invitations to the Mexico secretaries for their attendance at the mid-winter conference, which will be held in Laredo in December.

JUAREZ, Mexico.—The reorganized Mexican army will take an oath of allegiance and receive new national colors in September, according to an announcement made in Juarez. Seventy-five cavalry regiments and fifty battalions of infantry will take the oath.

BRECKENRIDGE, July 20.—Byron B. Parrish, recently sent to the rock pile for 400 days, has been released on parole after serving about three weeks of his sentence.

Parrish's release was obtained through a petition circulated by his wife and mother.

FORMER BRECK MAN VICTIM OF MASKED BAND

War Veteran Robbed and Left in Dying Condition; K. K. Note Found.

TYLER, Texas, July 20.—Earl H. Peters, 24, an ex-service man, who was found unconscious on a road three miles from Chandler yesterday morning, after he had been abducted from his hotel by masked men, is at the point of death today. He has not recovered consciousness since being found, and doctors at the hospital here, where he was brought for treatment, say he has no chance for recovery.

One man is held in jail here in connection with Peters' abduction. It was said this man was a business associate of Peters. Four other arrests are expected to be made today, according to police authorities.

A note, found by Peters' side, was signed by the K. K. K. The note said the wrong man had been abducted, and $200 taken from his room by "one of the scouts." Peters jumped from a moving automobile, the note said.

Peters came here from Breckenridge, where he formerly was in business. Fire destroyed his store there, according to reports. With another man he had been organizing an insurance club here. He had been in Chandler only a few hours when he was abducted, it was said by authorities there.

This is the first report of any Klan activities in this vicinity, and robbery seemed to have been the only motive, police say.

KU KLUX LEGISLATION AWAITS NEFF'S OPINION

AUSTIN, July 20.—Legislation intended to break up the Ku Klux Klan and other secret organizations in Texas, will be held up until the governor has expressed an opinion on the subject, sponsors of the legislation declared today.

Representative Rountree declared that he would withhold his resolution, which was understood to be ready for presentation, until the governor has spoken.

"If the subject is submitted, then we can pass a bill with teeth in it," Rountree said. "I refer to a bill which Representative Palmer contemplates introducing."

Police and other peace officials, following an investigation, declared today that many of the assaults, whippings and tar and feather affairs of the last few months throughout the southwest are not the work of the bona fide Klan, but the work of small groups of men who work under the guise of the white masks of the organization.

Texas newspapers and newspaper men, the latter accompanying tar and blackness parties, after being told if they would come along with the unknown individuals participating, "they would get a good story," have created some of the affairs to the klansmen.

Masked men and others have participated in thirty-four demonstrations in Texas this year.

TARRED AND FEATHERED TWICE, MAN ARRESTED FOR CARRYING WEAPON

TENAHA, Texas, July 20.—W. J. McKnight was dumped on the streets of Timponson, near here early today, wearing a coat of tar and feathers.

This was the second time within five days that McKnight was the victim of masked men.

McKnight arrived here last night to file charges against three of the four men he alleges whipped him at Timponson Saturday. Witnesses declared he was accompanied by a bodyguard. While on the streets, he pulled his gun and fired at an unknown man, who he said was one of the party who attacked him Saturday. He missed, and was arrested for carrying concealed weapons.

The authorities started with him for the jail at Center, Texas. They were overtaken by masked men in an automobile, and McKnight was taken from them. He was later dumped on the streets of Timponson. Later advices from Timponson stated that McKnight was in the hospital there, suffering from burns.

The city marshal at Timponson declared that McKnight appeared at Nacogdoches with a woman not his wife. Citizens of this town ran him out of town, the city marshal said, and the woman returned to Timponson. McKnight went to Tenaha, where the masked men first picked him up.

The city marshal was asked if it was true McKnight was dumped on the streets wearing only a coat of tar and feathers. "No," he replied, "he had on a pair of socks."

MAN THREATENED WITH OPERATION AND DEATH

BEAUMONT, July 20.—Dr. J. S. Paul, tarred and feathered three months ago, has been threatened with death unless he leaves Beaumont before Saturday, according to a statement he made today. He says R. F.

Scott, wounded war veteran, tarred and feathered Saturday, brought word from the mob that unless he leaves the city an operation would be performed on him and that thirty minutes later the band would cut his head off, placing it beside the body.

"But I am not going to leave unless it is to go to the cemetery," Paul concluded.

Scott and Dr. Paul recently were jointly indicted by the grand jury on a charge of abortion.

ADD HOOPINGARNER'S NAME TO THE LIST

BAY CITY, July 20.—W. M. Hoopingarnier, 35 years old, former cashier of the Bay City Trust & Bank company, recently resigned, was tarred and feathered by a gang of men late Saturday night and ordered to leave town. He was gone today, having left Sunday, it was said.

The abductors seized Hoopingarnier in a movie and after tarring and feathering him, dumped him out on the public square.

Hoopingarnier was separated from his wife.

BOYS PLAY SOLDIER WITH LOADED WEAPON AND ONE IS KILLED

HOUSTON, July 20.—Thirteen-year-old Earl Feagin, who lived north of here, was dead today, the result of "didn't know it was loaded."

Earl and his brother, Sam, 11 years old, were left yesterday to play while their parents went to town. They played soldier with two guns. One gun was loaded. Earl received the full charge in his neck, dying instantly.

BANDITS CAPTURE AMERICAN IN RAID ON TAMPICO OIL CAMP

BROWNSVILLE, July 20.—Bandits captured all workers, mules and provisions when they raided an oil field camp near Tampico, Sunday, according to a report received here.

Among the prisoners was Gustavo Vanhatten, Brownsville, an American citizen. Vanhatten's father wired the information.

Miss Ann E. Raef of Niagara Falls, just elected president of the New York State League of Savings and Loan associations, representing associations with resources of about $125,000,000, is the first woman in the United States to be elevated to such a position.

He Picked Wife From Catalog and All Was Well 'Till Seven (7) Kids Came Home

DENVER, July 20.—Is a man a 53 old enough to know better than to marry a woman he meets through a matrimonial agency advertisement? County Judge George A. Luxford thinks he is, which is why H. C. Blood was out of luck when he asked Tuesday morning for the severing of the knot which had him tied to Margaret Blood.

There was another reason which Judge Luxford stressed—that Blood had not lived long enough in the jurisdiction of the court to get a divorce on the ground of desertion for one year.

The case was dismissed, but Blood may try again, the court said, when he has lived here long enough.

Many Grievances. Blood seemed to have many grievances against his wife.

"You see, judge, it happened this way," he explained on the stand. "I had been married once and it went fine, so I thought I better try it again. I am a shy sort and do not know a lot of ladies, so I looked through the advertisements. I found one which suited and looked her up. She is now Mrs. Blood. Well, we got married in Elkton, Md., June 9, 1920, which you know yourself, judge, is the Gretna Green of the east, and then we went to live in Wilmington, Del.

"We had been there about two weeks when one day in walked a kid who hung up his hat and announced that he had come to live with mother. I was surprised, judge, but that surprise was nothing to what I got later. Next day in blew another with the same story. By the end of the week I discovered with great surprise and disappointment that the defendant had at least seven children who all came home to roost.

Worst to Come. "Well, judge, I was sore because I had planned to live quietly and fairly economically but soon found it was costing me $250 a week to support those birds.

"But the worst is yet to come. Among the brood was a daughter. After she arrived, my wife announced that hereafter Sunday was her day off and she took it, always staying out until midnight. One Sunday night I went to bed early be-

MAN OFFERS SELF AS SLAVE IF PURCHASER WILL STAGE HIS PLAY

DENVER, July 19.—A soul offered in bondage at public market that a wandering brain-child may find a comfortable home!

That is the astounding proposal made here by Gene Rouse, Denver author and former newspaperman.

The bartering of human service on the auction block was revived in this city when Rouse, playwright father of a beggar brain-child, offered himself, body and soul, to any man or woman in America for a period of one year in return for which he asks that "Scoop," his brain-child, be given a home.

"I mean it," declared Rouse to an International News Service reporter. "For one year I'll bind myself, body and soul, to any man or woman who will finance production of my vaudeville skit, 'Scoop.' I offer myself for any legitimate purpose."

Leading dignitaries of the theatrical profession and numerous thespians have declared "Scoop" to be far above the average vaudeville act in merit, according to Rouse, and have stated that if produced it would be a real success.

"I am convinced through their words," Rouse said, "that mine is a worthy brain-child—worthy of a home in some booking agency."

In His Twenties. Rouse said that financial difficulties prevented him from financing production of the skit. "I am compelled to offer myself in slavery that the child shall not go begging," he said. "There is no other way out. And when little 'Scoop' has been successfully started on the road to financial maturity the proceeds are to go fifty-fifty between myself and the guardian of 'Scoop'—who will be my master for one year.

"A brain-child deserves the same right as any human child. Mothers have sold themselves that their children might eat and live. Why not I?" Rouse asks.

"This offer is absolutely bona fide," he declared. "My address is Denver, Colorado. To the highest bidder goes the slave."

So there you are—the use of a living life during a period of one year for the giving of life to a brain-child—and Rouse is still in his twenties.

MEXICO UNEASY OVER LACK OF FIGHTING BULLS

MONTEREY, Mexico.—Throughout Mexico, in every city where bull fighting is still the national sport, is heard the cry, "Otro toro! Otro toro!" Bring out another bull; this one won't fight.

To the Mexican who longs for the excitement of the bull ring the situation which now confronts the historic sport is serious. There is a dearth of fighting bulls in this country, and what is worse, there are no indications that the demand for these terrors of the arena will be filled soon. There are two reasons for this. One is that the importation of Spanish fighting bulls has practically ceased. This is due in part to the prolonged freight blockades at Vera Cruz and Tampico. The second reason for the existing shortage of the animals is that the stocks of these fighting bulls upon the ranches of Durango, where the supply was formerly largely obtained, is exhausted. The long period of revolution had much to do with this, as the animals were ruthlessly killed by wandering bands of freebooters and their flesh eaten.

Fighting bulls are a distinct breed from the ordinary bulls of commerce. They have a peculiar strain of blood that may be traced back through centuries. Upon the ranches where they are raised they are never permitted to see a man on foot. The vaqueros never dismount in the presence of a bull that is being brought up to enter the arena. To do so would be inviting death; in fact, it is seldom that one of the bulls upon the range sees a man, even upon a horse, until he is rounded up for shipment to the scene of the proposed fight.

It is dangerous business to attempt to fight tame bulls in Mexico. From various cities of the country come reports of riots because bulls that would not fight were let into the ring. Recently at Matamoros the spectators gave vent to their disappointment over the non-combatant qualities of the bulls by tearing down part of the bull ring structure. They were appeased by the local authorities fining the manager of the bull ring $10,000.

In the City of Mexico bull fights have recently become such tame affairs that thousands of devotees of the sport will not attend the events. In order to make up somewhat for the lack of fighting qualities in the bulls, the practice of turning the so-called fights into comedies has become quite general. All sorts of funny stunts are played with the bull. Occasionally an animal will be brought into the ring and shows such tameness that he languidly lies down at the supreme contentment, paying not the slightest attention to the wild antics of the banderillos who strive with their red cloaks and sharp barbs to inflame him into anger and action. It is then that the crowd goes wild with disappointment and mob violence against the manager or other persons responsible for the selection of the animal is threatened. It is then that the cry goes up on all sides, "Otro toro! Otro toro!" But there is no other bull to bring forth.

CRUSOE TRIO MAKE HOME ON LONELY ISLE

HONOLULU, July 20.—Life on Palmyra Islands, several hundred miles southwest of Hawaii, is lonely but busy for a trio of Robinson Crusoes from Honolulu who have elected to live there and prepare copra from the coconut groves, according to advices received from them.

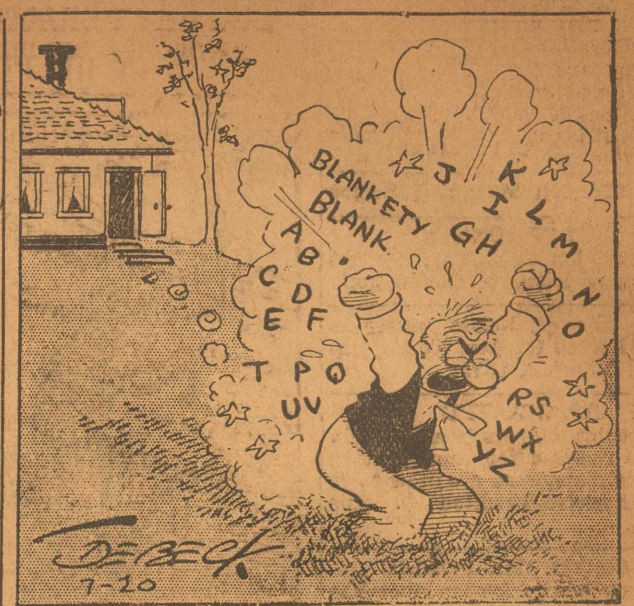

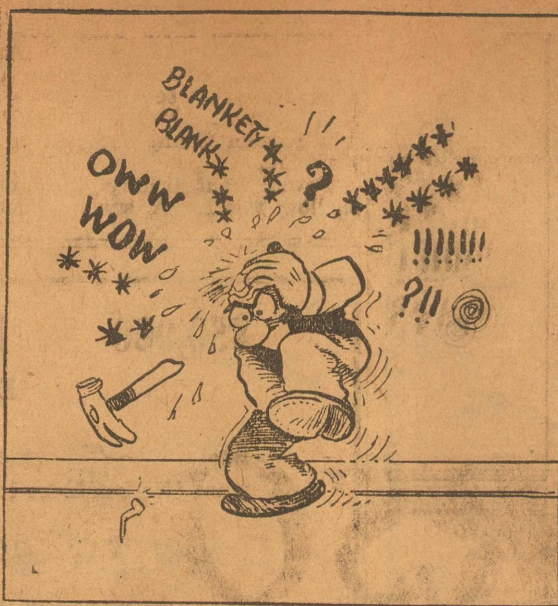

Colonel and Mrs. William Ming and Edwin Benner, who went there last October, have seen but one vessel, an American navy craft, since they stepped ashore on Palmyra's quiet beach. When that ship recently came to Honolulu it brought an accumulation of mail from the three tending of life on the coconut isles.

The daily routine consists mostly of building trays on which to lay the coconuts, they related. These trays are about 100 feet long and three feet wide and day after day the nuts are gathered, weighed and left open in the sun to dry.

The little colony keeps a close watch on the weather, for an hour's shower may spoil a lot of copra. As rain and thunder storms appear to be regular visitors at Palmyra, weather forecasting has become an important factor in the work.

The islands of the groups are so close together that the Mings and Benner frequently waded from one to another, always, however, with a wary eye out for sharks. Fish are plentiful and furnish much of their food, while occasionally a bird dinner varies the monotony. Shoes soon became a problem. They thought they had a plentiful supply, but wet weather and heavy tramping quickly wore down their stock and the three Palmyrans have been "building" their own footwear for some time from the rough material provided by nature.

THERE'S THINGS ABOUT BASEBALL EVEN UNCLE WILBERT DOESN'T KNOW

NEW YORK, July 20.—Your Uncle Wilbert Robinson hopped into New York American headquarters for a chat with his old friend, Col. Til Hutson. There he encountered a flock of interviewers. It wasn't long until someone cornered him with the query: "What's the matter with baseball?"

"You can search me," Robinson responded. "I didn't know there was anything wrong with baseball but there's something wrong with the ball or else pitching has become a lost art."

"Have you noticed how many games run along to the fifth or sixth inning without a score and then suddenly the pitching goes blooey? I can't understand it. If it's the lively ball, how do pitchers get by in the early part of the game?"

"A feature of ball games that has impressed me more than anything else is the inability of pitchers, good pitchers, too, to hold fast leads into the late stages."

"The other day Carl Mays blew an eight-run lead over the White Sox. Ordinarily you would bet a million to one that a team like the Sox could not spot a pitcher like Mays that many runs. Pitchers complain about the ball. Whatever is to blame, we know that when a team starts hammering a pitcher it is a long way to that third out."

"Until this season managers seldom worried when a good pitcher got into trouble as long as he held three or four runs in the bank. Now it is different. The minute a rally starts out go the reserves to warm up."

"Managers hate to show lack of confidence in a good pitcher. For this reason, many of them are permitted to stay in there and take their beatings."

BASEBALL TODAY

Ranger Business Men and the Eastland Independents are scheduled to play at Nitro park this afternoon, play starting at 4 o'clock. This will be the second game of the semi-pro exhibitions Manager Summers of the Business Men has lined up.

CRIPPLED BRONCHOS LOSE TO BEARCATS

SAN ANGELO, July 19.—Ballinger pounded Weber for 9 hits and Hill for 3 this afternoon and defeated San Angelo 6 to 1. The crippled Bronchos used pitcher at short and first and their defense was weak. They could not bunt hits off Green, who received errorless support. It was Weber's first loss this season on home soil.

WEEKS READY TO SELL NITRATE PLANT TO FORD

WASHINGTON, July 20.—"I will not turn away any reasonable offer," Secretary of War Weeks said in commenting on the proposal of Henry Ford to take over the government nitrate plants at Muscle Shoals, Ala. He said: "Any reasonable offer that guarantees that the work now going on will be completed and that will benefit the public and will give the war department a fair return will have my endorsement."

FIVE KILLED WHEN BOMBING PLANE DROPS INTO BIG CROWD

Five persons were killed and more than a score injured when a giant Martin bombing plane, taking off from a flying field at Moundsville, W. Va., plunged into a line of automobiles. When the plane struck the automobiles one of the gasoline tanks exploded, spreading fire over the cars and destroyed sixteen of them.

GERMANY'S CROWN PRINCE FED UP ON DUTCH LIFE AND CRAVES TO VISIT AMERICA

WIERINGEN, July 20.—Germany's Crown Prince is looking for a regular job. In his own words he is quite fed up with the enforced life of monotonous inactivity on the lonely little sub-island which the sturdy Dutch by their strong dikes robbed from the green gray depths of the Zuider Zee.

Not that his days are not occupied from dawn until dark; his correspondence, his memoirs, his horsehoe making at the village forge, his motorcycle, violin and sketchbook, his boxing instructor engage every minute of his time. But the Crown Prince is tired of it all; he craves a regular job.

"I must get out of here and I am going to do so," he said. "I want to turn my energy into some real constructive work along the line of my abilities." After you've made the tedious journey to the secluded island and seen the princely accommodations of the five-room Crown Prince "palace" you need no further explanation that any normal being would wish to escape from the depressing gloom which crushes down from the dull skies of the Zuider Zee.

Financial worries also have their influence in the desire of the ex-Crown Prince to leave Wieringen. An allowance received from his father has made it possible for him to get along until the present time. There have been many reports of money smuggled to Holland for the Hohenzollerns; surely one finds no traces of it at Wieringen, even comforts are lacking.

"I wish to retire quietly to my estates in Silesia which need my attention. But if ultimately political difficulties should make impossible my return to my own land I must get out of here and seek another field of activity. I am thirty-nine years old and must be given an opportunity to put my energy into some constructive work.

"In 1914, shortly before the war, Ambassador Gerard had the kindness to invite me to America to go moose hunting. I would have come had the war not prevented.

"I have heard from a friend in California, with whom I am in correspondence, that the American people are quite tired of war talk and everything which pertained to the war. That's a healthy sign of a country's reconstruction.

"Water Escape" Sunday to Be Climax of Daredevil Miller's Daily Feats

Daredevil Miller yesterday, for the second time, freed himself from a straitjacket while suspended head downward at the fifth story of the Ghoslon hotel. It requires less than two minutes for him to wiggle and jerk himself loose from the enveloping garment.

This afternoon at 4 o'clock, Miller will do the "drag," starting at the T. & P. depot and going out Main street. If he does not succeed in freeing himself before the end of the pavement is reached, the machine will turn and come back downtown. Thursday and Friday afternoons he will repeat the "hang" in front of the Ghoslon. Saturday he will again show his ability to free himself while dragging behind a racing automobile and on Sunday, the last day of the stay here, he will wind up the series of exhibitions with another drag downtown and in the evening a "water escape" at Shamrock park. This latter feat is said to be the most sensational of his exploits. He is shackled, fastened in the jacket, tied in a sack and dumped into the lake. In previous performances he has succeeded in freeing himself in less than a minute under water.

JOHN D. MERE BOY DECLARES LAWYER AT 95

NEW YORK, July 20.—Daniel M. Treadwell, lawyer, author, scientist, broker and man of affairs, on the eve of his ninety-fifth birthday is just a bit amusedly tolerant of the furor made annually over the fact that John D. Rockefeller, in the ripe maturity of his eighty-second year, still is able to play golf and enjoy a drive in his motorcar—or, perhaps, one of his motorcars might be better.

Mr. Treadwell goes to his office at the Home Title Insurance company daily, and conducts his routine affairs as a matter of course; and he doesn't expect anyone to wax excited about it. He is regarded as the oldest active business man in New York city and he is looking forward to being a good deal older business man before he retires to spend his old age in peace and quiet.

Mr. Treadwell admits that John A. Stewart of Morristown, N. J., chairman of the board of directors of the United States Trust company, who will celebrate his ninety-ninth birthday on Aug. 26, is getting along in years and has earned his retirement, but feels that for himself ninety-nine years will be a bit young for retirement. Mr. Stewart goes to his office in Wall street three times a week.

Never Wears Glasses. On the eve of this month Mr. Treadwell will go to Freeport, L. I., for his annual birthday party with his little grandnephew, Charles P. Harvey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Harvey, who is his junior by a little matter of exactly eighty-four years to the day. Mr. Treadwell will be ninety-five and Charles eleven years old, but the slight discrepancy in years doesn't alter the fact that the two are "buddies," and neither would feel that his birthday had been celebrated properly minus the presence of the other.

As a matter of fact, Mr. Treadwell has the appearance of a man in the late fifties. His eye is clear, he never wears glasses, his step is firm and he has a full crop of bushy white hair. His carriage is erect and soldierly and he has all the vigor and vitality of a man slightly more than half his years.

Mr. Treadwell has a spontaneous humor which is very readily tapped. In fact, he managed to find considerable amusement over his claim some two months ago, when he permitted a pair of new rubber heels to trip him up and hurl him head-down two flights of stairs leading to the stoop of a neighbor's home. He was bruised a bit instead of being killed outright, as would have happened in the case of some old fellow of sixty or seventy years; but he refused to call a doctor and has little to remind him of the fall now.

THIS HASSON PERSON HAD MORE NERVE THAN A GOVERNMENT MULE DENVER, July 20.—If a guy calls at your store to collect for a bill which you have been owing him since May have you got a right to soak him on the dome with an ironing board and run him down the street till your grand march is interrupted by a traffic cop.

Jim Hasson, who conducts a store, believes that one has exactly this sort of privilege in the event the bill collector refuses to take out his bill in trade. Jim aid one of his Armenian friends, Hussif Gooftinshin, were in police court Saturday listening to the words of wisdom handed down from the bench by Magistrate Rice, who acted as umpire.

"Come Friday morning and this schmoozer comes into my store to nick me for a bill which I ain't got the money to pay with," explained Jim, whose battered face looked as choppy as one of those Indiana cross-bar huckleberry pies that Dock Bird

PARALYTIC QUILTS BED WHEN HOUSE IS STRUCK BY BOLT OF LIGHTNING

WASHINGTON, July 20.—Given up by his physicians as a hopeless paralytic, Marion Erin jumped from his bed and sounded an alarm when his house was struck by lightning this afternoon.

Erin is a farmer and was stricken a month ago. It had been said that he never would walk again. Under tremendous excitement, due to the lightning bolt he walked with alacrity. There had been no return of the paralysis, but his physicians expressed the belief that his cure could not be permanent.

The storm was the most severe that has visited Washington this year. An unidentified boy was killed instantly when struck while taking shelter under a tree.

A bolt struck a tree near the White House, the shock taking a guard at the Executive avenue entrance off his feet.

On clear days an observer at the top of the Woolworth Building, New York, will have a view of land and water for twenty-five miles in every direction.

"K. K. K. WARNING" TO BLACKS IS TRACED TO MESSENGER BOY RILED BY YOUNG NEGRO'S ACT

"There has been too much dirty work done by your blacks. You had better leave town in twenty-four hours." Last Warning. K. K. K.

This ultimatum, found this morning hanging to the door of a local shine stand, was turned over to the police. It was written with a typewriter. The writer, young in years, made the mistake of forgetting the class of typewriter he was using. As everyone knows, the Western Union machines have a letter peculiarly their own, and the above message was traced straight to the door of one of the messenger boys employed by the company. He wrote out the message and hung it on the door of the shine parlour. However, the writer himself denied any knowledge of the act, but another messenger boy confessed that he saw a companion do the writing.

Negro Youth Sought. The warning was hung on the door last night following a little simmer of excitement brought about by an alleged act of a young negro with a white boy. Several white men and officers were seeking the negro and there was some talk of a possible lynching if he was found. However, no one did the feeling go beyond talk. There was no organized movement.

But fearing that some violence might follow many negroes of the flats hid themselves away. Some went to Eastland and others to Cisco. Those who stayed were very quiet. The negro being sought has not been apprehended. It is thought that he escaped to the woods adjacent to Ranger.

"CHOC" BEER IS SEIZED, ALLEGED OWNER ARRESTED

His pilgrimage into the city, accompanied by forty-eight bottles of "choc" beer interrupted by Patrolman J. E. Ingram, a young man languishes today in the city bastille. Also therein is a hack driver, who contends that he was only hired to transport the contrabrand into the city.

Ingram, with knowledge that the two cases of "choc" was due to be delivered last night, met the party near the city limits and "signed" for the cargo. This morning it is reposing in the office of the chief of police.

CADDO CITIZENS 'CARRIE NATION' ALLEGED BARS

BRECKENRIDGE, July 20.—Answering a riot call sent at 11 o'clock last night, Sheriff Heas with deputy drove to Caddo and found the streets filled with threatening crowds after a clash between citizens and alleged bootleggers.

The citizens had become enraged at the opening of a choc beer joint at a cafe on Main street, entered the place and destroyed the beer. The Baptist minister was among the number. H. M. Steen is said to have made an attempt to stab the minister, but the knife was wrested from him. Steen was arrested and brought to Breckenridge.

The officers quieted the trouble, raided four more alleged bars and arrested four for fighting.

DYNAMO DAWES SHOWS UNHOLY DISREGARD FOR GOVERNMENT RED TAPE

WASHINGTON, July 20.—Wild dreams of bureau chiefs for expansion and heavier spending of public funds have been sadly shattered. These same bureau chiefs are today falling over each other in a stampede for economy. The cuts in public expenditures are to be real. For once in the history of the government the saving habit is being inculcated among those who disburse the treasury funds. And they are getting the habit in a rush. They had to under the bold economy strokes made by the dynamic budget director, Charles G. Dawes.

In every government bureau in the thirty or more executive and independent establishments budget officers are pruning down their estimates for another year. They are also wading into carefully-laid plans for expenditures this fiscal year: to effect large savings. Before Aug. 1, when the budget bureau expects to complete estimates, to be sent later to congress covering government money needs for another fiscal year ending June 30, 1922, a saving of not less than $500,000 in government expenses will be shown. Officials who are more optimistic predict that before General Dawes finishes his job a cut in general government outlays of $1,000,000,000 a year will be possible.

Dawes Direct Actionist. "Hell and Maria" Dawes, putting the government on a practical business basis, is doing things that never were done before, and in a new way. There are no flinches about the Dawes methods. His direct action gets results. He has hurdled over since "red tape" in the brief time since he took the helm that would have seemed physically possible for any other man. But that's Dawes.

Officials soon found that either they were to swing in behind General Dawes, to achieve the aims of the president's program, or that they were to be classified as not altogether indispensable to the working out of a problem that means so much for the prosperity of the people and the nation.

General Dawes didn't wait to ask bureau chiefs about the advisability of an inventory of government stocks of materials, much of it surplus war stocks, as one way to cut down the tax burden.

He shot out an order that the thing had to be done and put a limit on the time in which the job must be accomplished.

Murder of Waste. Dawes saw extravagance rampant in all government departments and government funds wasted on imaginary needs for supplies. He put a crimp on that sort of waste by compelling every responsible official immediately to return to the general supply committee all equipment not now being used efficiently. Instead of letting lots of materials and supplies go eventually to junk from disuse it's the Dawes way to turn it into cash. This will be done as soon as the government inventory is completed.

Congress allotted government departments sums in many cases far beyond their actual needs. Dawes reacted that to permit bureau heads to go ahead and draw from these funds the government would be the usual loser. So he directed that not a dollar must be spent from current appropriations until the O. K. has been given by the budget bureau. It puts every responsible official dealing with the government fiscal matters on trial. General Dawes, as the trial judge, has officials under suspicion of reckless spending until they fully and unequivocally justify their spending programmes.

CANNED GOODS PRICES GOING UP, IS NOTICE

CHICAGO, July 19.—Thrifty housewives are warned by members of the National Canners association, in convention here, to buy up any bargain lots of canned goods they come across for canned goods are to be higher, much higher, when the new pack comes in.

The national canners say the situation is due to a combination of weather, financial depression and reduced acreage. The green pea pack, for example, will run about half of what it was last season, while the new pack of sweet corn will be about one-third of last season's output.

"Tomatoes are even worse off," said State Senator Asa Bennett of Delaware. "The farmers reduced their acreage because of the low 1920 prices, but the real damage was caused by the drought. The tomato pack will run about 20 per cent of normal."

Western canners say the salmon industry is trying to recover from the effects of the world war and a very small pack is expected, but they admit that a large surplus of the 1920 pack is being carried over.
