

OFFICE HOURS ARE DECLARED AT SCRIP 'MINT'

Applications Received in Morning, Certificates Issued in Afternoon.

"The Mint" in the Retail Merchants' office has declared office hours. From 10 to 12 in the mornings it will accept applications for scrip. In the afternoon, from 3 to 4:30, it will pay the applications received in the forenoon. No business will be transacted on Saturday. This ruling is effective because the men, with the exception of M. O. Burt, secretary of the association, are donating their time to the scrip plan and must devote some time to their own affairs. However, it is believed with the first rush over, the hours stated will care for the wants of everyone.

Today, while the applicants are coming in a steady flow, the rush does not seem to be so great as yesterday. Yesterday for the first time the scrip actually began to do the thing it was supposed to do. All about town merchants and others were receiving it.

DISARMAMENT MEETING LIKELY TO JUNK LEAGUE OF NATIONS

WASHINGTON, July 13.—President Harding has started a movement which may develop a practical "association of nations" and replace the treaty of Versailles and the League of Nations as the foundation for future international relations, according to the belief here today.

Official replies from Japan and Italy to President Harding's invitation to a disarmament conference were still lacking today.

However, government officials were confident that both these powers would accept.

LEAGUE MAY DEFER ACTION.

PARIS, July 13.—A motion to defer action by the League of Nations regarding disarmament until after the Washington conference will be made by the French delegation as soon as the league disarmament committee convenes here Saturday, it was learned today.

PACIFIC QUESTION UP.

WASHINGTON, July 13.—The "Pacific question" is to be fully aired in the senate before it is taken up in the conference of the powers projected by President Harding.

Within the next two weeks a number of senators intend to make speeches on the Pacific situation, as it involves the relations of the United States with other nations, the disarmament question and the peace of the world generally.

JAPS HOLDING BACK.

TOKIO, July 13.—The Japanese foreign office in an interview today stated the favorable attitude of the Japanese government towards the principle of disarmament, already announced several times by Baron Uchida, remains unchanged.

The government, however, is not ready yet to make a direct statement regarding its position towards the Harding proposal.

LLOYD GEORGE OPPOSED.

LONDON, July 13.—Opposition to Premier Lloyd George as head of the British delegation to the disarmament congress loomed large today. The premier's political enemies were marshalling their forces to forestall him from leading the delegation.

Arthur Balfour was named as Lloyd George's probable opponent.

MEXICO PLANS TO INVESTIGATE FOREIGN CLAIMS

Mixed Commission to Pass Upon Losses Due to Revolutions, is Proposed.

MEXICO CITY, July 13.—All countries where nationals suffered damages from Mexican revolutions have been invited by President Obregon to appoint delegates to meet Mexican representatives and form a permanent commission to pass upon claims.

The invitation took the form of a presidential decree, promulgated last night in accordance with the law passed in 1913 at the instance of President Carranza, to give whatever official stamp is necessary to assure the creation of a permanent mixed commission dealing in indemnities.

WHEAT DIFFERENTIALS HIT CONSUMER HARDEST ACCORDING TO TERRELL

AUSTIN, Texas, July 13.—The consumer would be the heaviest loser in the event the United States grain corporation differentials on wheat continue, George B. Terrell, state commissioner of agriculture, declared today.

Terrell said the differentials will cause a large increase in the price of flour to the consumer, and a slight increase to the producer.

The farmers' profits would also be slightly increased, Terrell said, but such profits would be virtually wiped out when the farmers bought the flour back.

CRUDE OIL WILL MAKE DUSTLESS ROUTE OF T. & P.

To better insure the comfort of its patrons, the Texas & Pacific railroad will sprinkle its track and a part of its right-of-way with crude oil for the entire distance between Fort Worth and Sierra Blanca. The oil is being assembled at various points in tank cars and later sprinkling apparatus will be attached. The right of way for twenty feet on each side of the track will be sprinkled. By this method the dust and sand will be laid and weeds and other vegetation killed.

The oil probably will be furnished by the Texas & Pacific Coal & Oil company.

ROME VATICAN ORGAN LAUDS HARDING ON DISARMAMENT MOVE

ROME, July 13.—Observatore Romano, the Vatican organ, today prints a semi-official note, warmly congratulating President Harding on the initiative he has taken in calling a disarmament conference.

The note says the American president's action is identical with that taken by Pope Benedict in August, 1917, when his holiness wrote to the powers with the object of ending the war. It adds that the pope will experience the liveliest pleasure in seeing his prayers realized under the powerful initiative of the United States.

DELEGATES TO IRISH PEACE MEETING BEGIN INFORMAL NEGOTIATIONS

LONDON, July 13.—The negotiations begin unofficially today. Although the formal conference does not start until tomorrow, plans are made for "conversations" between members of the Sinn Fein delegation and representatives of the British government.

Jan Smuts, premier of South Africa, who is credited more than any other single person with making the peace negotiations possible, was the principal figure in these informal meetings.

NEW GUN MARVEL MAY SHOOT 5 TONS 200 TO 300 MILES

A gun that, in the opinion of Dr. Miller Reese Hutchinson, noted American inventor, "will make war too terrible for nations to engage in," has been invented by John Temple, a British subject now residing in the United States. The invention is now in the form of a small rivetting gun, which was demonstrated in New York before a group of distinguished scientists, inventors and ordnance experts. Its proposed giant counterpart will employ the same principle used in the small rivetting gun; and the monster war weapon, the experts declare, will be able to hurl a five-ton projectile from 200 to 300 miles. The rivetting gun actually fires steel slugs into steel plates. It is smokeless and almost noiseless. With the new rivetting gun it is possible to rivet bolts into a ship's hull without dry-docking the vessel, as the rivetting can be done by a diver under water.

OFFICIAL STATEMENT TELLS WHY ROAD MEETING WAS NOT PUBLIC

EASTLAND, July 13.—In view of the fact that various rumors are going around the county in regard to the meeting held here last Saturday, at which the question of investigating the county road affairs was taken up, the following official statement has been issued in order to inform citizens of Eastland county as to what happened:

"At a meeting called for the purpose of deciding whether or not rumors in circulation were justification of a proposed investigation of Eastland county road matters, and if so to provide ways and means of conducting same, attended by about thirty representative citizens from various sections of the county, it was decided that an investigation should be made and committees were appointed to provide for same, it being the sense of the meeting that the investigation should be a complete and thorough one.

"It was pointed out by some of those present, that if this was done, no right-thinking man could rightfully object to an investigation of his official record, unless it was that he had something he wanted covered up.

"Conference" Only.

"A. H. Johnson, who had been selected chairman at a previous meeting, presided, and stated the object of the meeting, after which Judge R. N. Grisham spoke a few words, explaining that the meeting was not an "open meeting," or convention as some seemed to think, but that it was a "private meeting," as that of one between clients of counsel and clients, as he put it; that he had been employed as counsel by certain men to make an investigation of a legal nature, and that the meeting was in the nature of a conference with them; that if the gentlemen present wanted to hold a public meeting, the private office of a lawyer was not the proper place for same, and that they might adjourn to the court house, city hall or some other public place. Those attending elected to remain in the office of Grisham Brothers, and to transact their business along the lines suggested.

"Talks were made by Messrs. Huey of Cisco, Dr. E. H. Hodges of Ranger, Spear of Carbon, White of Staff, and Wright Wilson of Comanche, who had been tentatively employed as an engineer to check the work done on the roads in Eastland county, the latter telling of some of the things occurring in the recent investigation of road matters in Hill county, in which he was engaged, and of some of the things that would be necessary to make a thorough investigation in Eastland county. It was the sense of the meeting expressed by motion and second that the rumors afloat warranted an investigation, and a committee of seven was appointed to provide ways and means of conducting an investigation along proper lines, and to raise money to defray the expense of such investigation, the man named to be chairman in his particular community and to name a sub-committee of either three or five as suited his idea to help him raise the money, and it was suggested that while this should be left to the man named, he could proceed in the way that best suited him, while some suggested the calling of meetings in the various school houses in the different communities. It was the sense of the meeting that the sum of $5,000 should be raised to defray the expense of the investigation.

Committees Appointed.

"By motion and second, a committee of five was appointed to confer with and employ counsel, auditor and engineer.

"By motion and second the county attorney was requested to confer with the governor and heads of other state departments to see what assistance could be had financially and otherwise from that source.

"The meeting adjourned to meet at the same time and place next Saturday afternoon, at which time committees were expected to make their reports. It being the sense of the meeting that while it was not a secret meeting, that only those who were in sympathy with the move are invited or asked to attend, as it is in no sense an open meeting or convention, but simply a meeting of citizens and taxpayers, who believe that an investigation of road matters is necessary, that as citizens and taxpayers they have a right to know the status of affairs; that an honest investigation can hurt no man; and that it is hoped that no one not in sympathy with these ideas will attend; and the meeting is in the nature of a conference as between counsel and clients, and others will not be admitted.

TOM BELL, Secretary. Approved: A. H. Johnson, President.

MRS. KABER COLLAPSES IN COURT ROOM

CLEVELAND, Ohio, July 13.—Mrs. Catherine Eva Kaber was carried out of the court room today when she collapsed during the testimony given by her brother, Charles Brickel. Brickel was being questioned concerning his mother, Mrs. Mary A. Brickel, also under indictment for the murder of the wealthy Daniel F. Kaber.

Brickel was asked if his mother had set fire to the Kaber home. He replied that his mother did not set fire to the house; that she was sick at the time, and that they could prove it.

Mrs. Kaber, who had been watching her brother intently, fell from her chair to the floor, shrieking hysterically when her brother reached this point in his testimony. She collapsed, and was carried from the court room. When she was revived, Mrs. Kaber cried, "Marian, Marian."

Marian is her daughter, Miss Marian McArdle, 21 years old, also under indictment in the first degree, in connection with the Kaber murder.

BOY 9 PLACED ON TRIAL FOR KILLING FRIEND

DAYTON, Ohio, July 13.—Willie Stevenson, 9 years old, on trial in juvenile court on charge of killing 8-year-old Henry D. Lavine, fought with all his boyish energy for freedom today.

Although Judge Baggot and police officers say Willie admitted to them when first arrested that he had killed his playmate, the youth steadfastly denied in open court that he had made such a confession.

Two other boys who are said to have been with Willie at the time Henry was killed, are being held as witnesses. They are Vincent Hall and George Bayham, both 9 years of age.

Henry and Willie quarrelled. Willie is said to have hit Henry with an iron bar, breaking his neck.

VANDALS LOOT AND DESTROY FRUITS OF FARMER'S LABOR

Truck and Corn Fields Invaded Nightly by Men After "Anything They Can Get."

Vandals who steal and destroy are working untold hardships on farmers and truckers around Ranger. In one instance, which occurred Saturday night, the watermelon field of a Mr. Burt, which constituted almost a season's labor was almost destroyed. Vandals, entered his field, pulled his melons, carted away many and left hundreds split open in the fields. This morning C. G. Davis in the same section found four men and one boy attempting to enter his field. With the aid of a shot gun he captured them but later let them go free.

"I attempted to shoot one of them," he said, "when he ran but my gun failed to fire."

One of the men told him Mr. Davis said that they were out there to steal anything that they could find loose.

Many of the corn fields in his neighborhood had been half stripped by the thieves, Mr. Davis said.

"I have fifteen acres of watermelons on my place," he asserted "and I offered a reward of $10 to any of that bunch this morning or anyone else who could get away with one of them without carrying lead. I don't intend to work all year and have my work destroyed by such as these."

Monday afternoon M. L. Cook captured a man in his cornfield pulling roasting ears. With the aid of a gun he was brought to the police station and later made bond for his appearance before the grand jury. He is a local ice cream peddler.

Many of those who are preying on the farmers, it is said are local truckers, who go into the country at night and fill their wagons with such as they can find.

LEGAL BATTLE PROMISED IN REDWINE CASE

EASTLAND, July 13.—The habeas corpus proceedings of the Jewel Redwine case were called in the 88th district court this afternoon.

Redwine who had been convicted on charge of murder, said to have been committed in the Gorman community was given a term in the penitentiary and paroled by Governor Hobby. Governor Neff recently revoked the parole among a number of others, whereupon Redwine sued out a writ of habeas corpus, claiming the governor had no right to revoke a parole as long as its provisions had not been violated.

Assistant Attorney General L. C. Sutton is here to aid in the case on the part of the state, Attorney General Cureton having ruled in a decision that the Governor has the right to revoke a parole at any time he sees fit. There is a point of law involved in the case which is of statewide importance as it effects a number of other paroles. Redwine, now makes his home at Cisco, where he has been engaged in driving a service car.

BEING CHAMP HAS ITS DARK SIDE, 'LWS J. D.

SALT LAKE CITY, July 12.—Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight champion pugilist, in a statement to newspaper men said he was unwilling to fight Jack Johnson, "or any other negro fighter."

"I will never fight a negro," Dempsey said. "There is nothing to this talk of me meeting Jack Johnson. I am confident the public doesn't want this fight, and while I will give myself to a large extent according to the public wishes I can't see my way clear to fight Johnson or any other negro."

"I will meet anyone else Kearns picks for me. Gibbons, I understand, is a good man, although I have never seen him work. As I have drawn the color line, I am free to say I think Harry Wills is a great fighter, one who will whip the very best of them. As for Willard, I'll fight him any time—and lick him, too."

Mrs. Cobb said she was married when fifteen years old. "None of these fellows who want to marry a fifteen-year-old girl are any good," commented Judge Leslie.

CUPID'S FIRST LIEUTENANT IS NOW DISARMED

Ferryman Who Has Aided Eloping Couples Since '88 Loses His Vessel.

LOUISVILLE, July 13.—With the snubby-nosed old ferry tied up to await its doom, the planks of the rotting wharf drifting wearily out with the current, Nick Durand, aid to eloping couples and for thirty-three years on one after another of the Ohio river craft, is left once more without a vessel.

At the time he shipped on the Shalross in 1888, the river surged with steamboats, bound for Cincinnati with Mississippi molasses or nosing their way downstream to Vicksburg, loaded with butter and candle wicks. That was the time when the ferry boat plied to and fro with white decks and the tops of the wheel houses painted blue, carrying every one from fuzzi-whiskered farmers to nurse girls in pink-dotted sunbonnets—for there was no bridge and the only crossing to be had was by way of the dock-apron and the gang-plank.

Names of vessels scarcely remembered along the river slip from the pilot's tongue as he recently tales gathered from thousands of trips he has made.

The Rainbow, the Gray Eagle, the Druelant—in all that time he boasts although he has beaten his way back and forth through wind and fog and ice-clogged water, no serious accident has occurred.

With a chuckle, he tells of the couples that have made their way down the river front hand in hand and often coming aboard oblivious of passengers and staring deckhands—forgetting to pay their fare as they passed the little counter at the dock.

"Lor, yes, there has been a plenty of them," he smiles, wagging his chin. "You can tell 'em every time. They come down all eyes for each other and none for anybody else. Usually they get off and get it over with as soon as possible, and when they come back they are more loving than ever, then they stand over in a corner unrolling the certificate to look at it. How many? I could not tell—I expect some of them are famous by now, but I could never keep track of any."

During the years that Nick Durand has shipped on Ohio steamers, he has seen the river change from a heavily traveled thoroughfare to a mere alley way where an occasional paddle is seen.

Before the building of the Big Four bridge at Louisville, the ferries came bobbing daintily across at 15-minute intervals, but after its construction the farmers and nurse girls drifted away, and for a time the ferry, stanch of hull, but frosty of rigging, came hobbling by like a ragged old woman, shaggy-browed and with skirts tucked in.

But Durand will not be long without a boat; he has already been engaged as pilot of the Pilgrim, which was retained by the owners, and is now being fitted out for slow, lingering sapphire days up the river.

NEW YORK TO BREAK ALL CHEESE RECORDS

ALBANY, N. Y., July 13.—There have been all sorts of "big cheeses," but New York state intends shortly to have the biggest.

The largest single cheese ever manufactured is now being made at Lowville for exhibition at the State Fair, Sept. 12 to 17, in Syracuse. It will weigh twelve tons. Seven thousand five hundred cows will contribute 150,000 pounds of milk, while four barrels of salt are also required for the manufacture of the big cheese. A bandage for the cheese will cost $100.

State officials, including Governor Nathan L. Miller and Beene A. Pyrke, newly appointed commissioner of farms and markets, and members of the council of farms and markets and state fair commission are at Lowville watching the cheese being "poured."

BEAU BRUMMEL LAWYER VAMPS WOMEN JURORS

NEW YORK, July 13.—Can a handsome young lawyer of the species of the male, vamp a jury of women? Ask Miss Elizabeth Blume, one of the leading members of the Newark, N. J., bar—she knows.

It was a dull, uninteresting case she tried in the District Court of Montclair, involving the paltry sum of $400 over an alleged breach of contract. But there were eight women on the jury, among them some of the sweetest and loveliest girls in Essex county. And opposed to Miss Blume was one of the handsomest attorneys in the State of New Jersey—Samuel Boardman, a Beau Brummel and a Chesterfield if ever there was one.

The result? Why Miss Blume lost. But it was a point of law that she filed her appeal from the verdict yesterday. However, she let it be known that she believes if her case had been heard by a jury of men, she, and not her handsome opponent, would have been the victor.

Miss Blume yesterday said: "I don't want to appear in the light of being a poor loser. Women may prove to be good jurors in homicide and other criminal cases, and even in civil actions where their interest can be held. But they will not follow a case as intently as men will when the great human elements are lacking."

"There was nothing to arouse excitement over particular case. George A. Zabriskie, a New York flour merchant, was suing my client, Pasquale Dell Santil, for $400, alleged to be due as a result of a shipment of flour."

"But Mr. Boardman is a very handsome man, a wonderful dresser, a veritable fashion plate, I might say, and so Chesterfieldian that you just have to hark back to the old days of knighthood and chivalry when you gaze upon him. And what's more, he called for the plaintiff one of the handsomest men—a flour salesman—as a witness."

"The eight women jurors pretended to be interested in the dull evidence, but you can rest assured they were vitally interested in the handsome lawyer and the equally handsome witness for the plaintiff. So the jury decided in favor of the other side."

"I am taking an appeal on a point of law, and I am not charging that the eight women on the jury were vamped, but"

And Miss Blume smiled sweetly, and after a pause, said "Beware the girls on juries. Ask me—I know."

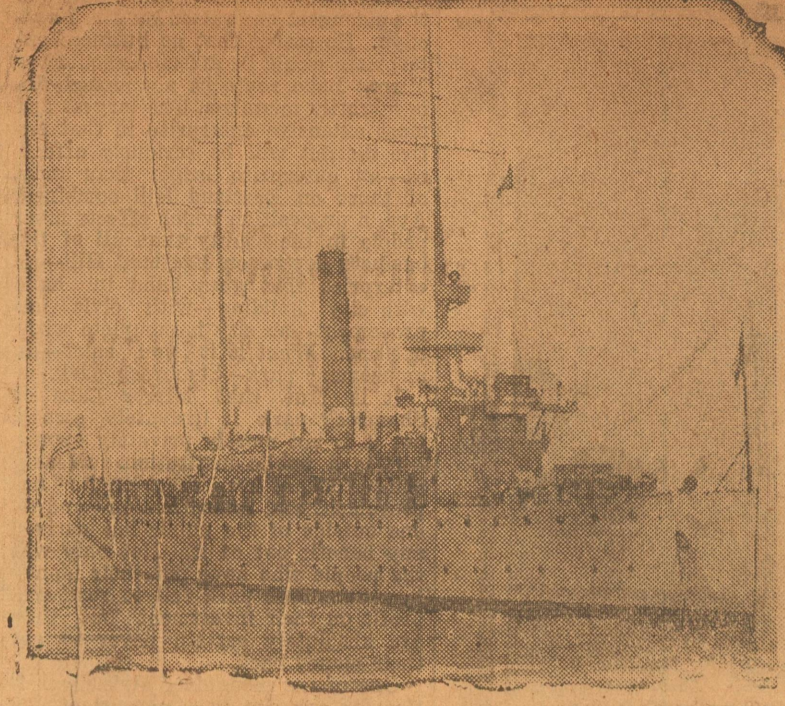

SCIENTIFIC MESSAGE IN BOTTLE VALUELESS TO THIRSTY BEACH COMBER

PORTLAND, Ore., July 13.—A sealed beer bottle, containing a card with nautical markings and instructions asking the finder to mail it to the address thereon, was picked up on the Oregon coast after a six years' journey from Japan and turned over to the Japanese consul here. It was one of many cast adrift by the Japanese imperial fisheries station at Hak-kaido, island of Yeso, to test the coastal currents of that vicinity, according to the consul.

The hieroglyphics on the card indicated the bottle had floated probably north until caught in the cold current coming down from Bering Straits, had then perhaps been carried nearly to the equator, where it was picked up by the northward flowing current that warms the Pacific slope and had been blown by a gale to the Oregon coast.

At the consulate it was said no other such bottles had been reported and customs men at Astoria, on the Oregon coast, likewise declared the find was a rare one.

STORY OF NEW YORK'S SNOW BOUND SUMMER RECORDED IN DIARY

NAPLES, N. Y., July 13.—Perhaps if the citizens of today had been on earth in the year of 1816, especially in the summer of that period, he would not be peeved so easily over a sudden rise in the temperature. It has been revealed in a diary which was handed down from an earlier generation to John P. Coons, who recently died here, that the summer of 1816 was one of "ice and desolation."

In June of this year, reads the diary, ice a half inch thick formed on the streams in Ontario county and snow to a depth of three inches were recorded. The crops were destroyed and people wore heavy winter clothing. In the home grates ye old iron stoves brightly burned the one, two and three feet cut oak and hickory logs to keep the cold out. There was much suffering. So severe was the frost that the efforts of farmers to raise crops were futile. The remaining "left over" from the 1815 corn crops brought $5 a bushel, breadstuffs were prohibitive in price.

The "cold and icy" weather continued, more or less, until September of 1816, says the diary which also makes known that the people "imagined the heat of the sun had become exhausted."

CONFIDENCE IS MORALE.

How's your morale? That was the conventional greeting in some portions of the army. And the general answer in those outfits was that the morale was good.

Morale in the army was based on confidence—confidence in oneself confidence in his fellows. Lack of confidence is a longer and more salve-slugging name for the most despised emotion the human race possesses—fear.

Fear wrecks armies, athletic teams, economic structures. No man nor set of men, laboring under its influence, can produce the best results. It breeds inefficiency and waste.

The thing to do, in time of stress like this, is to look on the good points of the situation. Make some jokes about the dark side, and first thing you know, it will not be nearly so dark after all. Remember this is not the first business depression the world has known—and the world is still here.

In this connection, a letter received by a local business house this week contained some salient truths and some advice which if followed would inevitably tend to help the situation. It reads in part:

There is more money in this country today and it is more generally distributed than ever before.

Yet business is much less than normal simply because of one thing—lack of confidence.

If we would have good business conditions and the nation prosperous we must first restore confidence.

With all of us thinking and working to that end, it can and will be done. Each one—manufacturer, wholesaler, retailer and employee must get in the band wagon and do his part—"pussy-foot" efforts won't count.

That is very good, says the jobless man, but how does it apply to me? How can I help it or how can it help me? His position is correct. The jobless man has no lever with which to help move the world.

But if one would look about, he will see there are many men who are not jobless. There are thousands in this very community whom the depression has barely touched. They still go about their accustomed routine of labor, day by day. They still eat, and wear clothes, and put money in the bank.

But they are moved by the general fear and uncertainty. They have to a certain extent drawn into their shell, and there is not the life and movement and business that would normally be the case with the number of persons now regularly employed here. Confidence would loosen the purse strings up to normal. That would quicken business. That would lessen unemployment. It would not provide any 100 per cent Utopia, perhaps, but it would ease the situation.

Think it over. Business must and will go on, and the majority of the people will be employed at some gainful occupation. The world will not stagnate.

How's your morale? We wonder if the woman Judge in Seattle who promises men a square deal in her Court is married?—St. Paul Pioneer Press.

Republicans are not afraid of competition with the skeleton in their closet; skeletons are on the free list. —Philadelphia Record.

PENROSE OUT OF BOUNDS.

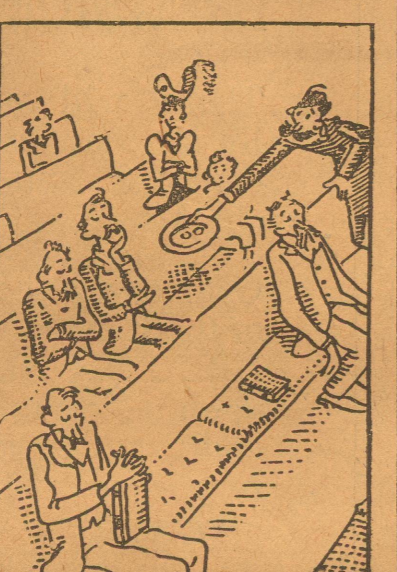

It is relatively a short time since Senator Boles Penrose turned reformer and helped put through Philadelphia's new charter, to the annoyance of many of his old associates of the local Republican organization. The performance was excused because of exceptional conditions in the field of municipal politics.

But what is to be thought of the Pennsylvania senator when he comes out flat for disarmament by the United States without waiting for an international conference, or without regard to the result of the conference if a conference is to be held? This is in direct violation of the Harding policy and the doctrine of the inner circle of Republican senators with whom Senator Penrose has so long trained. It causes the Tribune to turn and rend him for being "more Quaker-like than the Quakers."

And by way of proving how progressive he has become, Mr. Penrose now champions the principle of absolute political equality for women and attacks the rules of the Pennsylvania Republican state committee, rendering them ineligible for the principal offices in the party organization.

Who knows but that, as chairman of the senate finance committee, Penrose, the veteran standpatter, may soon make the blood of his colleagues run cold by reporting out a tariff bill drawn on free-trade lines? Would Washington survive the shock if some day Senator Boles Penrose locked arms with "Hell-Roaring" Hi Johnson and La Follette when they marched down the senate chamber waving the flag of insurrection? Only a little more and he may turn Bolshevist.—New York World.

TAXABLE VALUES OF COUNTY SHOW HEAVY GAIN OVER LAST YEAR

EASTLAND, July 13.—Eastland county's taxable values amount to the round sum of $59,325.00, according to the statement of Tax Assessor H. A. Collins, which is an increase of $4,180,000 over the figures of 1920.

There will be a few additions to this in the way of unrendered property, and small items that have been overlooked. This is considered an excellent showing when conditions are taken into consideration, and when it is known that no property was increased over that of last year, and that much of it was lowered due to the deflation in values.

Four years ago, before the oil boom and the consequent inflation of property values, the assessed rendition amounted to $11,000,000 in round numbers, showing a gain of about six hundred per cent in four years.

WHITESBURG, Ky., July 13.—Owing to dry weather conditions prevailing in Eastern Kentucky, especially along and contiguous to the border of the two states, Kentucky and Virginia, moonshining is reported to be on the decline, as operators cannot obtain necessary water. In most sections of the mountains there has not been enough rain within three weeks to start the small streams back in the mountains.

More than 25,000 are expected to attend the convention.

FOR COOLER SUMMERS.

Despite the seven million majority to which Colonel Harvey has called attention, the Harding administration has done nothing to improve the weather. At the present writing temperatures above normal for this date continue over practically all parts of the country, and particularly so in middle Atlantic and New England states, the Ohio valley and the lower lake region, and in the far western districts. Pressure in the region of the Great Lakes and the upper Mississippi valley has fallen somewhat, but not enough. Indeed, the administration's performance in this respect is absurdly inadequate. More absurd still, such local showers and thunderstorms as have occurred have been principally in solid Democratic districts. The outlook, the Weather Bureau states, is for warm, humid weather. Apparently the bureau is not aware that the weather is already warm and humid.

Meanwhile, congress and the executive pouter with foreign relations, the railway situation, the tariff, taxation, and other matters which have a certain abstract interest, but do not seriously concern a nation which, despite the glowing promises—or rather intimations, for the Republicans did not in so many words promise a cool summer—of political platforms, still sweaters under a wet blanket of heat-dry air.

There can be but one result of this strange neglect of a fundamental American interest. Unless the Republican party acts without delay it will be swept—or rather mopped—out of power at the next election and replaced by a party that will honestly undertake to provide cooler Julys and more comfortable Augusts.—New York Globe.

FACE TO FACE.

Business men of Texas are organizing their forces to send representatives to Austin to enter a solemn protest against fat appropriation bills or the creation of useless jobs or new state ventures at this time. There is a reason for it.

State Treasurer John W. Baker estimated that there will be a deficit in the Texas treasury of $225,471.41 at the close of the present fiscal year, Aug. 31. His estimate was made in a letter to Charles G. Thomas, speaker of the house of representatives.

Mr. Baker pointed out that the appropriations and outstanding warrants at the close of the fiscal year Aug. 31, 1920, amounted to $22,711,726.63, while the balance in the treasury and the receipts from other sources at the beginning of the fiscal year of 1921 was $22,486,255.22. The apparent deficit, Mr. Baker showed, is the difference between the appropriations and expenditures and the revenues.

Mr. Baker said that he was of the opinion that no appropriation would remain unexpended at the close of the year.—Fort Worth Record.

PUBLIC FORUM

Courtesy alone prevented a number of persons from presenting their views at the "public" meeting held yesterday at the Chamber of Commerce Good Roads committee. The Chairman of the meeting stated that the purpose of the meeting was to hear from the proponents of the Eastland Hill route. This naturally prevented opponents to that route from speaking on the subject of discussion —and from correcting misleading statements.

There is no question but that the members of the committee are fair men. There is no doubt but that they are all public spirited and want that action taken which will be of the greatest benefit to the greatest number of citizens—and to Ranger. In fact, their early decision tended to demonstrate that they favored the Mirror Lake route. But in the interest of fair play would it not have been better for both sides to have had an inning? Most assuredly so. And probably it was through a misunderstanding that this was not done. But as this opportunity was not, and is not available, we take this medium of expressing some of the prevailing views on the subject. Outside of the known engineering advantages there are many outstanding reasons why the Mirror Lake route should stand.

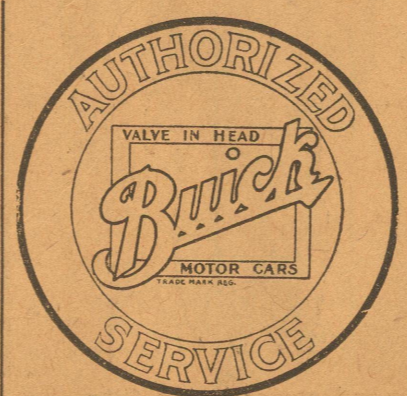

In the first place, let us dissect some of the thunder of our very good friend, Mr. Flewellyn, who led the opposition to the Mirror Lake route. He stated that people along the Eastland Hill route had long anticipated a highway along that road and, actuated by this belief, had spent much money. Possibly that is true, but the writer was a property owner along this route in the "early days"—possibly before Mr. Flewellyn ever saw Ranger—and he heard nothing about such proposed plans. People at that time, didn't have time to seriously consider highways. Small business houses sprang up just as did residences—because business men knew that they could get the business. If they built in anticipation of highways they kept mighty "mum" about it.

And our good friend has stated that no one ever anticipated a highway along Mirror Lake. Ask any of the men who bought lots from the Ranger Heights people—"Ask the man who owns one." And we can state as a positive fact that hundreds and hundreds—yes, thousands and thousands—of dollars were spent on beautifying and improving Mirror Lake, under the belief that the Bankhead highway was to pass along the shores of the lake—and later on under the reasonable assurance that a county highway would pass that way. This brings out another point, and the strongest one raised by Mr. Flewellyn. He stated that no business enterprises would be affected should the Mirror Lake route be abandoned. He is mightily mistaken. The largest and most extensive enterprise in that entire district will be seriously affected—an enterprise larger than most of those on Eastland Hill combined. Aye, a proposition which affects more people in the county than all of the business houses on Eastland Hill—an enterprise that goes hand in hand with city building—with civic improvement—no city is complete without one. What is it you ask?—an amusement park—Shamrock park.

It is true that Mirror Lake or Shamrock park is privately owned, but it is not merely privately owned—it is a public institution. Nearly $20,000.00 has been spent on its improvement and beautification—and no one outside of the public has derived any benefit out of it. Not only will the people who have put their money into Shamrock park fail to receive a profit on their investment but they are absolutely certain never to get their money back.

One of the recognized civic necessities for any city is some sort of an amusement place. And it is especially necessary in Texas where pool rooms are barred and in Ranger where other amusements or pleasures for various reasons cannot be indulged in. Yet, a strange thing is true. It is a fact, known to city builders and civic experts that amusement parks do not as a usual thing pay—unless backed up by the city—nine out of ten of them fail unless they have such assistance.

The owners of this pleasure park have never asked for the city's co-operation. But the city "fathers" have always been such fair and gracious men that they would have done what they could, had they been able to lend anything but moral support. And those interested in the park are not asking for unfair advantage now—they are not asking for undue sup-

LONGVIEW MAN HAD SUFFERED TWENTY YEARS

Characteristic of the statements which have made Tanlac a household word throughout the length and breadth of the land is that of William Breed, Longview, Texas, who said:

"When I began taking Tanlac I weighed only one hundred and thirty pounds. In ten days I gained eleven pounds and am gaining at the rate of five pounds a week and weigh one hundred and fifty-five pounds at the present time. Tanlac beats any medicine I have ever taken to build up a run-down system. I wouldn't take one hundred dollars in cold cash for the good it has done me. It is the best medicine I have ever taken for catarrh of the head, and I have tried several different kinds of catarrh medicine. My catarrh is nearly gone, also my stomach trouble from which I had been suffering for more than twenty years and I give the praise to this great, grand medicine. When I commenced taking Tanlac I couldn't do a day's work and now I don't believe there is a man anywhere that can work any harder and keep at it longer than I can. If a man needs building up Tanlac is certainly the medicine for him."

Tanlac is sold in Ranger by Phillips Bros. and in Eastland by Palace Drug Co.—Adv.

port, all they want is recognition and co-operation befitting such an enterprise. Nine tenths of the people in the county have never seen Mirror Lake—they have not enjoyed the privileges and amusements offered at Shamrock park. Why? because they never happened to go to it. Publicity and convenience to the public furnish the life blood for such an enterprise. And a highway going along the shores of this lake would certainly mean the difference between the success and failure as a privately owned proposition and would seriously affect it as a public and civic benefit.

People along the Eastland Hill road have had every advantage possible under the circumstances, in road improvement. But until right lately the people in the Mirror Lake district have not contended seriously for road improvement and it has not been given to them. Private parties have at least twice constructed bridges at their own expense.

It is not my purpose to go into the engineering phase of this question—to demonstrate the advantage of the Mirror Lake road or the disadvantage of constructing a grade over Eastland hill. That has already been definitely determined by competent engineers. And it is not necessary to remind you that a County highway is a monument of permanence—that such a grade would be an inconvenience for years to come.

But in this connection we should like to remind you that, as such a highway is a civic improvement, we would not allow material things entirely to blind us to the proper sense of the aesthetic. It would not require a vivid imagination to vision the beauty of a highway along the Mirror Lake route. And, as it would go into Main street at its end, the road would be a "straight shoot" into the heart of Ranger. The "gateway" of a city is an index to its character.

It is unfortunate indeed that some public improvements cannot entirely satisfy everybody concerned. And for this reason it is a well known principle of civic improvement—and city planning—that improvements should be so planned and constructed as to beautify and enhance the town as a whole—with a consideration of the future. They should benefit a majority of the people and at the same time conform, whenever possible, with the most feasible engineering plans. A majority of the people in Ranger seem to feel that these requirements are met in the Mirror Lake route—and they would like a chance to be heard if there is any likelihood of change of the original plans.

Why—figure out what it alone means to your tongue and temper when we tell you that Prince Albert can't bite, can't parch! Our exclusive patented process fixes that! Prince Albert is a revelation in a makin's cigarette! My, but how that delightful flavor makes a dent! And, how it does answer that hankering! Prince Albert rolls easy and stays put because it is crimped cut. And, say—oh, go on and get the papers or a pipe! Do it right now!' and 'PRINCE ALBERT the national joy smoke'.

DUBUQUE, Iowa, July 13.—Raffles are outside the law in Iowa, but with a case of "Old Crow" at stake there were many takers for chances here Saturday and the ticket supply was soon exhausted.

Assembled in a countryside barn for the drawing, a throng of eager spectators watched the lucky individual approach the tarpaulin-covered prize for a first look. With a rip the cover came off. A berranid cock of decrepit appearance and unknown age appeared, and with a raucous "cock-a-doodle-doo" conveyed to all that he was master of the situation. He was old, indeed.

HOME FOR DISABLED VETS IN SOUTHWEST WILL BE ONLY TEMPORARY STRUCTURE

Whether or not a hospital for treatment of disabled service men is to be located in the Southwestern Zone comprising Oklahoma, Texas, Kansas, New Mexico and Arizona will not be decided for some time, it was said today.

As previously announced in these dispatches, an amendment to the Langley bill gave the Secretary of the Treasury power to expend the $18,600,000, originally voted for the special hospitalization fund as he saw fit. Taking advantage of this amendment, Secretary Mellon has allotted approximately $6,000,000 for the development and expansion of five existing homes of Civil War veterans and for improvement of abandoned army posts suitable for the treatment of wounded veterans of the World War.

In explaining why he had used the new institutions, Secretary Mellon said:

"In deciding upon the utilization of these institutions, we have taken into consideration of the fact that tuberculosis, and mental and nervous cases require long care for cure and rehabilitation. After looking over the various hospital groupings, such as the Public Health Service hospitals, the Army and Navy hospitals, and others, we have decided that the existing national soldiers' homes afford the best facilities for the treatment of long illnesses. The other institutions will be utilized principally for cases requiring shorter periods of treatment.

"Our second consideration in selecting these soldiers' homes for enlargement and permanent improvement was the probable future need of housing facilities for the veterans of the late war. We have found that within five or ten years after the Civil War the housing of veterans became a problem that had to be solved and we will have the same situation following the more recent war. We have decided that it is the best sort of economy to expand these permanent soldier homes into hospitals to meet the needs of the next decade and we will then have institutions which can as readily be converted into permanent homes for those who will require them after the need for hospitalization has passed.

"We have also found that it is beneficial both to the old soldier and to the young veteran to be thrown together. The younger veterans become interested in those who fought in the earlier wars, thereby getting their thoughts away from themselves and the older soldiers enjoy the companionship of these younger warriors.

"It is now apparent that we will be able to establish eighteen or nineteen hospital projects out of the $18,600,000, provided by Congress for hospitalization of the veterans. Through the policy of enlarging existing institutions, as opposed to new and original construction, we will probably be able to provide 6,800 additional beds, which is at least 1,800 more than was anticipated when the legislation was adopted. We plan to use to the utmost all present facilities, and in the use of the national soldiers' homes we acquire some excellent institutions, and some of the most magnificent grounds in the country, which the sick and convalescing soldiers will find themselves surrounded with natural beauty.

The Secretary's statement that "the other institutions will be utilized principally for cases requiring shorter periods of treatment" is taken to mean that if a hospital is built in the Southwest it will be a temporary structure, rather than a magnificent permanent institution on which that section of the country had set its hopes.

It is also known that such institutions as Camp Logan at Houston is on the cards for retention for several years.

The National Home for Disabled Volunteer Soldiers of the Civil War at Leavenworth, Kansas, one of the institutions to be utilized under the Mellon plan, will be prepared to accommodate 200 Southwestern tuberculosis patients by January 1st.

The largest amount appropriated for the improvement of an existing plant was $1,400,000, for a 500-bed hospital on the grounds of the Soldiers Home at Milwaukee.

REPARATION!

NEW YORK, July 13.—Not since the battle of the century at Boyle's Thirty Acres has Broadway been privileged with gaining close-up views of the French soldier, Georges Carpentier, here. The French idol was very much in evidence last night at the Moulin Rouge Cafe and later at the Cafe de Paris, where he was royally entertained by Bee Palmer, the champion exponent of the shimmy art, and Phil Baker, who holds premier honors with his witticisms and accordion. Later he was given a special treat by Mile. Lulu Mugette, the little French lady who is well known to the Parisians, with her interpretations of the Apache dance.

FOUR-YEAR-OLD BOY REAL 'ORTHOGERPIST'

LEBANON, Mo., July 13.—Such words as Mediterranean, picallilli, deutonomy, formaldehyde, acclamation, constitutional dissipation, authoritatively and other similar words hold no terrors for Fern Waterman, four and one-half-year-old phenomenal speller, who lives in the Ozark hills, near Eldridge.

Whenever the lad comes to town with his parents he soon becomes the center of interest. He frequently gives exhibitions of his spelling prowess. One of the things the youngster likes to do is to stand on the station platform and when a train stops to take water or wait while baggage is being handled, Fern spells for the passengers.

None of the jawbreakers that so frequently "stamp" adults give Fern any trouble. The lad spells all of them with comparative ease.

BESSIE VERY GENTLE HORSE BUT BACKWARD

NEW YORK, July 13.—When Hyman Sherman purchased Bessie, a seal-brown mare, for $100 from the Bushwick Baking company several days ago, he labored under the belief that she could be operated north, south, east and west, nor east by nor, sou'west by sou', etc.

The Bushwick Baking company, which accepted Mr. Sherman's certified check for a century, had assured Mr. Sherman the old brown mare was "good, kind, wind unbroken and broken in." Then they changed the subject.

On Sunday Mr. Hyman Sherman, having had Bessie manicured, massaged, marcel waved, varnished, slicked up, shined and equipped with rubber heels, had her backed into the shafts of a shellbacked buggy and stationed out in front of the place he calls home. He was going to give his wife and three kids a ride and the neighbors a treat.

Mrs. Sherman and the kids piled in to the trap. Hyman took the wheel and tickled Bessie's off ear with the merille tassel of his rawhide self-starter. Bessie opened her mouth. A few bars of Wagner followed. Then she proceeded east, headed in a westerly direction.

"Wo-o-o-o-oe, Bessie," murmured Mr. Hyman Sherman in dulcet tones. "Quit your kiddin' Giddap." Bessie backed some more and kept on backing. The neighbors came out and some of them laughed in a cold, unfeeling manner. Mrs. Sherman and the kids went back into the house and Mr. Sherman, leaving the trap, went up and said something to Bessie that concerned her alone. Mr. Sherman then climbed once more into the buggy.

To Bessie the world was a place to back in. So she backed.

Some men in Mr. Sherman's predicament would have consulted a veterinarian. Mr. Sherman went to a lawyer.

When the case came up before Judge Walter R. Law in the Third district municipal court, Brooklyn, Irving J. Kruz of Kruz & Dvorkin, was on hand to herald Bessie's derelictions to the world.

"I've served twelve years in the cavalry," said Mr. Kruz. "I know horses."

"I was born and reared on a farm," replied Henry Margoshes, counsel for the defense. "I know horses, too."

"Where is Bessie?" asked Judge Law.

"Outside the courthouse," replied Mr. Kruz. "And, Your Honor, if any man, woman or child in this courthouse can get into that carriage and persuade Bessie to move forward an inch we'll take judgment and costs."

"Let's have a look at Bessie," said Judge Law, stepping from the bench.

The court proceeded to the sidewalk. Judge Carroll, besides being a good judge of law is a splendid judge of horses, joined the party comprising witnesses, court attendants, stenographers, cops, reporters, lawyers and bootblacks.

A representative of the Bushwick Baking company climbed into the conveyance, picked up the lines and in honeyed tones of pleading, whispered: "Step up, Boss, old lady. Show Judge Law and His Honor Judge Carroll what you can do."

And Bessie did. She turned her head a trifle to the right, elevated her left forefoot, planted it firmly, lifted her right forefoot, lifted her rear elevation and backed. Not only that, but she kept on backing till she backed out of the picture.

Judge Law laughed heartily as he handed the judicial raspberry to the Bushwick Baking company.

BITTEN BY AIRDALE; FILES SUIT FOR $5,000

WEST FRANKFORT, Ill., July 13.—A leg's a leg for a' that—whether it be the graceful limb of femininity or the strong but unattractive male member.

So thinks Samuel D. Ashby, who, while not claiming the impairment of any beauty, is suing Louis Malandrone and four others for $5,000 for the bite of one female Airedale dog on the leg of the plaintiff, from which the latter became "sick, sore, lame and disordered and remained so for a long space of time."

HARDING REVERTS TO BOYHOOD VERNACULAR

WASHINGTON, July 13.—President Harding can, when occasion demands, forsake diplomatic language for the vernacular of his boyhood days.

TRIES TO DIE, REPENTS; AT SEA ON PLANK FOR TWENTY-FOUR HOURS

Nicholas Zuschlog

Penniless, unemployed and utterly disheartened, Nicholas Zuschlog, 40-year-old New York bricklayer, decided to commit suicide. He jumped from a pier in New York Bay. The water chilled his suicidal ardor and he swam around. A plank about six feet long floated by and Zuschlog drifted seaward down through New York Bay, and finally, after twenty-four hours, drifted into shore at Long Beach, L. I., twenty-five miles from the point he said he jumped into the water. Bathing at Long Beach were startled to see the plank and its passenger drifting shoreward. Venturesome male bathers swam out to meet Zuschlog, who was partly dressed and riding astride the plank. He was assisted ashore and after telling his story was arrested, at his own request on the charge of vagrancy.

BOSTON, July 13.—Because his nightshirt looked like a young tent, Jacob Sladewich was searched, and beneath the robe was found some illegal liquor. Jacob pleaded guilty in East Boston court and was fined $50.

GIRLS AVOID WINDY BUSINESS CORNER AND VALUE DEPRECIATES

CLEVELAND, Ohio, July 13.—Girls, swirls and a breezy building of lingerie at the Williamson show corner on the public square here may cost Cuyahoga county $400,000 on its tax assessments this year. County Auditor Zangerle announced Saturday that the Williamson building owners ask this amount be struck off their assessment because the breeze at their corner causes women to avoid it, thus depreciating the property value. Zangerle said he is willing to let off $100,000.
