Some Suggestions as to How the Powers Might Select Delegates.

By ROBERT C. BENCHLEY. WASHINGTON, July 23. — Now that the invitations are out for President Harding's disarmament conference the only question remaining is that of the identity of the lucky boys who are to have their expenses paid as delegates.

As there seems to be some little feeling about Lloyd Georges' appoint ing himself as the brother represent ing the British chapter, and as in ev ery participating country there is sure to be more or less hard feeling if the appointments are arbitrary it would be only fair to hold an examination among the candidates for delegates much as college glee clubs hold trials to see which members shall be taken on the trip to St. Louis.

A call for contestants might be issued in London late in the summer let us say, setting aside the Queen's club athletic field as the foregather furnish everything else.

The Chief Obstacles. As the chief obstacles placed in the way of diplomats visiting in America are the banquet and other forms of official entertainment, it should be absolutely necessary that delegates have great dietary endurance. A statesman with dyspepsia, no matter what his other qualifications might be, wouldn't last a round in this country. The first tryouts, therefore should consist of eating fourteen spe cial-priced dinners in succession (each menu to include puree mongol, halibut maitre d'hotel, boneless squab chicken bonne femme, salade mauvaise femme, biscuit Tortonio, cigars, and cof-

During each of these banquets the contestant will be required to carry on a running conversation with the chairman of the entertainment committee on his left and the mayor on his right, neither of whom speak the language of the guest of honor.

Following this heat time trials will be held to test the wind of those who aspire to be shown points of interest in America. In this event contestants will be hauled about, in and out of automobiles, from place to place, will be made to lay corner-stones, make three-minute speeches, plant trees, and kiss little school girls

With the point beingo news agency, which said:

"Japan is satisfied with the American attitude. She is willing to settle all matters that may come up at the conference."

Japan will put no obstacles in the way of world disarmament, according to Under Foreign Secretary Hanihara.

The Final Examination. The first event will be in long distance hedging. The candidate will be seated at a table and required to agree to ten different propositions in such a manner that he cannot really their willingness for a conference such a manner that he cannot really be held to any agreement at all. If, on any one of the propositions, he is actually found committing himself, he will be thrown out immediately.

The newspaper reporter test will come next. The contestant will be surrounded by twenty-five or thirty people representing American reporters, locked in a room with no back door, and will be obliged to answer their questions without giving them any information. He will be expected vened.

Sweetwater Wins First Half of Season

BRONCHOS ARE DEFEATED IN PLAY-OFF, 9TO 3

Swatters' Ability and Broncs' Inability With Stick Tells Story.

ABILENE, July 23 .- The Sweetwater Swatters are winners of the first half of the West Texas league season, winning the play-off game from the San Angelo Bronchos here today by a score of 9 to 3. The game was witnessed by a crowd of 2,000 people, large numbers of fans having journeyed from Sweetwater and San Angelo.

The Bronchos took the lead in the second round when McKay doubled, scoring Lewis who had singled, and Cruse who had walked. They made their third and final counter in the third when Lewis connected for a double, bringing in Truesdale, who had walked. After this, Lefty Richburg steadied and Jespite the fact that he was a trifle wild the Broncs could not touch him safely.

Five markers were put across in the fourth by the Swatters on a couple of doubles, three singles and a couple of errors. Weber was jerked in the fifth with one man on and none down and the Swatters swatted his successor on the mound, Herbert Hill, for four runs, four singles and a couple of bobbles doing the work.

EIGHTEEN-YEAR-OLD MISS DROPS 15,200 FEET WITH PARACHUTE

Phoebe Fairgrave, just 18, who quit being a stenographer because she "couldn't stand being cooped up in an office," today holds the world's altitude record for women parachute jumpers, with a leap of 15,200 feet. Miss Fairgrave made the leap before a crowd of 15,000 people. On landing she said, "It took every ounce of my strength I could muster to step out on the wings of the plane. For the first time in my life I was really scared. I jumped, and for the first 200 feet I fell like a bullet. Then my parachute opened up, and I began to swing back and forth. At about 2000 feet I struck a dead air pocket and dropped straight down for 200 feet more. After that everything went along smoothly until I landed, shaken but unhurt, in a wheat field."

EVEN THE CITY YOUNGSTERS HAVE THEIR SWIMMIN' HOLE FELMAN

New York firemen, according to any kid of the city are "regular guys." There are not enough words in the vocabulary of the youngsters to express their regards for the men commanded by Captain J. Sims. Right out in the street the members of engine 18 built a regular swimming hole out of an eight-foot long panking box. To make it all the more comfortable, the firemen roped off one side of the street, so that traffic could be directed one. He is tied for third place with Mcway while the swmmin' hole was in use. This swimmin' hole, by the way, Henry, a teammate, for circuit drive is mounted on wheels and can be navigated about, so that if the sun becomes too strong on one side of the street it is moved to the other side. Hornsby Leads Nationals and Is Tied for Run-Getting Honors.

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, July 23-Rogers Hornsby is starring in a new role in the National league this week, according to averages released today and which include games of last Wednesday. The St. Louis star is sharing honors with Frisch of New York in the run-scoring department, each having registered seventy-four tallies for his club.

The Cardinal guardian of the keystone sack, although dropping two points in his batting, continued to head the players who have participated in fifty-five or more games, his average being .418. Hornsby has cracked out 140 hits for a total of 224 bases. His hits include twenty-five doubles, thirteen triples and eleven

Buick's High Standard of Service

It is the right of the Buick Owner to receive careful, efficient workmanship on his car, and it is the purpose of the Buick organization to see that he gets only such workmanship.

And for this two things are necessary:

- 1. Skill on the part of the workman.
- 2. Mechanical facilities to enable the workman to do good work.

Should the occasion ever arise that his car might need the attention of skilled workmen, the Buick owner will always find it to his advantage to call on the authorized Buick service station; for, in addition to getting genuine Buick parts manufactured to the exact specifications of the originals, he will get the service that has been built up for just such emergencies.

Buick service is for Buick owners. That is why Buick dealers are making such serious efforts to equip their establishments with tools and machines that mean so much in good workmanship, economy and promptness.

SAVES SHIPS 32 DAYS-$40,000

WASHINGTON, July 23 .- The interchange of some of the largest battleships in the American navy between the Atlantic and Pacific fleets through the Panama canal shows that the big waterway is functioning along the lines laid down for it when the United States undertook the task of constructing a seaway between the two Americas.

When the work of building the canal was undertaken no one dreamed what a tremendous amount of material would have to be moved to make it a usable waterway such as it is to-

At that time it was figured that the total excavations for the canal proper would be 101,000,000 cubic yards. But by reason of enlargements and slides the task continued to grow until approximately a quarter of a billion cubic yards of material had to be removed. The rail distance from Union Station, Washington, D. C., to the Pennsylvania Terminal, New York, is approximately 228 miles. Imagine, in stead of the railroad, a canal with vertical banks, forty-five feet deep and 124 feet wide-deep and wide enough to accommodate the biggest ship afloat and connecting the nation's metropolis with the country's capital —and you will have a picture of the amount of material that had to be removed to make the great isthmian waterway a completed project.

Nor does this comparison include either the excavations by the French or those of the Americans for the with Carl Akeley, the explorer and big auxiliary port works, coaling stations,

Saving of 32 Days. The saving effected by ships using the canal has more than justified the hopes of the government in undertaking its construction. In pre-war days the cost of maintaining a freighter in commission was approximately ten cents per net registered ton per day. Thus a 10,000-ton steamship cost for waters of Lake Superior in the vicinmaintenance about $1,000 per day. Its ity of the head of the lakes have average speed was around 250 knots a been sufficiently warm this summer day. With such a ship this extra distance would cost, on the basis of pre-war prices, $33,000. On the basis of present prices it would cost about $50,000. The vessel, by using the canal in pre- north and south shores. war days, paying $1.20 per net regis-ers or charterers $21,000. On the basis of present-day prices the saving amounts to nearly $40,000. If, as is now planned, the coastwise shipping using the canal is exempted from the payment of tolls a 10,000-ton steamer will save $12,000 every time it passes through the canal in tolls and at least $38,000 in distance elimi-tered ton, or $12,000, saved its own-

Barely Pays for Operation. toll rates at Panama is the comparatively low rates at which cargo moves through the canal. A net registered ton in shipping practice is 100 cubic feet of cargo space. Now it happens that most cargo doesn't require so much room and that for some commodities three tons can be put in each net register ton space. For instance, cotton takes much more room than nitrates. A cargo of the latter has moved through the canal for thirtyseven cents a ton, while a cargo of lumber might cost a dollar a ton. The average rate for bulk cargoes ranges around sixty-seven cents a long ton.

The present income from the canal is barely sufficient to pay the mere costs of operation, with no allowance on the investment. As the canal cost $367,000,000, and as the government has to pay at least 5 per cent for money borrowed today, it will be seen that interest charges alone would amount to $18,000,000 a year.

In other words, if Uncle Sam operated his canal on the basis that the railway companies operate their roads he would have to make a rate of about $3 a net registered ton instead of
