

BETTER SYSTEM FOR TAX OFFICE RECOMMENDED

Auditors Find All Is O. K. With City Monies; Other Bookkeeping Adequate.

The system now in use in the city tax office is both undesirable and inadequate and should be changed at once...

"With one small exception regarding the manner in which petty cash is handled," the auditors' report says...

"We find the system in use in the tax collector's office to be far from desirable and in our considered opinion, totally inadequate...

"It is noted that there has never been a delinquent tax roll compiled and furthermore, it is not possible from existing records, without much tedious labor...

"The records of the police department were found to be entirely adequate and the same have been maintained in a very excellent manner."

OLD STRAW HAT FIGURES IN TARIFF BATTLE IN SENATE

Oil Schedule Characterized as Part of a Scheme to Aid Men Who Are Exploiting Natural Resources of Country to Extinction.

WASHINGTON, July 9.—An old straw hat was the article used by Democrats in opening their attack in the house today on the Fordney protective tariff bill...

There was a moment's hesitation. Then in the midst of a snafu from the minority side, Representative Green of Iowa, Republican, arose from his seat...

Still waving the faded headgear, Mr. Garner declared that in the Payne-Aldrich bill, the duty on that product was 50 per cent, but in the Fordney measure it was $10 a dozen plus an ad valorem duty of 20 per cent...

Attacking the American valuation provision, Mr. Garner charged that if it had been applied to the present Underwood law, rates now being paid would exceed the Payne-Aldrich schedules in every instance.

NEFF ASSAILS WORKINGS OF STATE MACHINE

Mismanagement and Wholesale Graft Charges Are Made by Governor.

CORSICANA, July 9.—Governor Neff said in his address here tonight that there is entirely too much bad management, useless employes, graft and irregularities in too many departments in the state government.

The governor charged that the penitentiary system of the state was poorly managed, citing the fact that the system lacked approximately $1,000,000 of paying its running expenses last year.

"I can call the name of one department and the names of three employes therein," he said, "who recently collected from the state in one month about $20 each for expenses which they had never spent—a sample of pure graft."

DE VALERA ACCEPTS RESPONSIBILITY FOR REPUBLICAN FORCES

Truce Is Believed to Be Fore-runner of Permanent Peace—Factions Agree to Discontinue; Action Likely to Cause Disturbance.

LONDON, July 9.—With something like an immense sigh of relief, the entire country has greeted the news of the cessation of warfare in Ireland and Eamon De Valera's coming conference with the British prime minister at London, which it is fervently hoped will lead to full restoration of peace.

The careful wording of Mr. de Valera's acceptance is interpreted in some quarters here as based on the necessity of the Irish republican leader feeling his way with his own followers.

The terms of the truce which begins at noon Monday were arranged by the British military headquarters in Dublin this afternoon. The provisions of the truce cover fully all the ground for a temporary peace between the active Irish workers and the crown forces.

Mr. de Valera's acceptance of the responsibilities for fulfillment of the truce by the Irish republican army is held to dispel the idea in some quarters that the activist branch of the Sinn Fein is beyond control of the political chiefs. Whether that is so will be tested by the course of events after the truce comes into effect.

SCRIP DOLLAR NO. 2 SEES SIGHTS

REG'LAR FELLER, DRINKS GRAPE JUICE, N'EVERYTHING

Dollar No. 2 of the merchants' scrip had a merry chase up and down and about Ranger Saturday afternoon, before it dropped from sight about 8:30 o'clock at night. It was the first dollar to be circulated here, as No. 1 was sent to the state banking commission as a specimen.

Dollar No. 2 has a fancy for personal adornment and a thirst for soda water, one would judge from a history of its travels during the first three hours of its life here. It also rode in automobiles, enabled a printer to eat and provided the implement whereby a genial C. of C. gent makes himself well known about the states and especially in the lairs of capitalists who might locate some manufacturing plant here. If it has ways that are dark and devious, if it loves a shot of hooch or other subrosa satisfactions, it kept them hidden till after the darkening hours had fallen.

Taylor's Protege.
Dollar No. 2 was purchased by Lytton R. Taylor, for cash, in order to introduce it to Ranger folk. Before its crispness had been marred, he had hied himself to the Popular store, where he swapped it even-Stephen for a tie violent enough to put the preacher to sleep this morning.

Irving Schwartz, knowing this was Saturday night, and printers must be paid, suddenly found his conscience crying for relief. With that dollar in his pocket, he dashed madly through the door, round the corner and into the J. S. Hill stationery store, where he promoted amity between business men by transferring the brand new money.

J. S. Hill hadn't had it more than five minutes before along came J. E. T. Peters, the Chamber of Commerce man. "Gimme a quarter's worth of pen points. I got to sign my name to 1717 letters inviting people to come to Ranger and bring a million with 'em," says Pete as he produced a $5 bill, series U. S. He got his pen points and his change, including Dollar No. 2 and went his way.

Meets Bryan's Beverage.
Just as he was passing Phillips drug store, the perspiration on his brow—for the day was warmish—reminded him that these was comfort for the interior just within. Pete bought. That was Dollar No. 2's first taste of a beverage made popular by W. J. B., the world's best press agent.

With Mr. Phillips, Dollar No. 2 resumed its travels, but not for long. Phillips' horseless carriage ran out of the elixir of life, and when he rolled away from the Victory service station, Dollar No. 2 was left behind.

Here it found itself in company with another victim of thirst, and soon the two were strolling over to Main and Marston, where it was again an accessory to the imbibing habit at the Commercial drug store.

"I saw a shirt the other day," the drug store man said to himself as he stood with Dollar No. 2 in hand, gazing down the street. "I'll just see if it is still there." Evidently there are prettier shirts, at least in other men's eyes, for there it was. And so the Globe was the next possessor of Dollar No. 2.

And again thirst rose, and need for nicotine.

That's how come Raymond Teal's name coming into this travelogue. He has 'em both, at The Fountain Raymond got the dollar, but he didn't keep it. "Just in time," he says to it. "Let's go down to Brown's WASHINGTON, July 9.—The Cubans are a grateful race. We freed them from Spain, and now they are going to free us from Volstead, according to a dispatch from Havana to the department of commerce.

A new drink, neither beer nor whisky, nor any dopey junk, but a drop of which will make you frisky and a spoonful make you drunk, has been discovered by the new Sugar college of Cuba, the dispatch declared.

Scientists of the college, which is government-endowed, declare that the drink contains not a drop of alcohol nor any substance which would bar its importation into the United States under the Volstead act or anti-narcotic laws. It is made from sugar, but the entirely new and wildly intoxicating liquor is dependent upon a secret chemical transformation.

Shoe Hospital. I think he can put you to work."

Brown could, it developed upon inquiry, and with a pair of shoes, the soles of which had been rethickened, Teal departed, leaving the two alone.

It was the first breathing spell Dollar No. 2 had known. "Um, my feet hurt," it said. "I believe I'll call it a day."

Which it did.

35,000 TIN WORKERS TO SUFFER WAGE REDUCTION

COLUMBUS, Ohio, July 9.—Approximately 35,000 sheet and tin plate workers in the district between Pittsburgh and St. Louis will suffer a reduction of 10 per cent in wages under a new wage scale adopted here this evening at a conference between representatives of the Western Sheet and Tin Manufacturers' association and the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Sheet and Tin Workers.

SPEED STUFF AND MUFFLER MUSIC MUST STOP, MOTORISTS ARE TOLD

"From this time on I am after every motorist who exceeds the speed limit and who drives his car with the muffler open." This warning was issued Saturday afternoon by Deputy Sheriff John Barnes, who declared that both the practices were in violation of state laws and he was going to do everything he could do to see that it was stopped.

"Why," he said, "some of these car drivers have no more regard for human life than they have for killing a fly. They will take a corner at a million miles an hour expecting everybody in the street to hear them coming and give them the right of way. It isn't right and it is going to stop."

Mr. Barnes also said that the business of running on city streets with the muffler open was a nuisance. He said that even around the hospital, folks started their cars with them backfiring with a racket like a machine gun was in action and if they were asked to stop it they just laughed and went their way.

"They are not going to laugh from now," he asserted, "if I catch them."

DR. LAUDERDALE BACK.

Dr. T. L. Lauderdale, who has spent six weeks in Boston and New York, returned to the city Friday and has taken up his practice. While in New York he took a post-graduate course in surgery and in Boston he attended the convention of the American Medical association. Later he visited at points in Wisconsin.

HEN LAYS BALLOON-SHAPED EGG AFTER SEEING AIRSHIPS

LONDON, July 9.—A hen that shows a sound, practical interest in aeronautics has been discovered in Yorkshire. She belongs to a Selby tradesman, and this is what he says about her.

Whenever a coastal airship passes overhead the hen lays an egg similar in shape to the envelope of the blimp. It is stated that since the R-33 resumed her practice cruises the hen has been repeatedly observed gazing with a strained expression in the direction of Pulham.

LEGION DECLARES WAR ON IMPOSTERS SEEKING GOVERNMENT BENEFITS

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., July 9.—National headquarters of the American legion has taken steps to prevent misuse of government benefits for ex-service men, according to a statement made today by Lemuel Bolles, national adjutant.

"It has been brought to our attention that a few men have deliberately falsified for compensation, vocational training and medical treatment," said Mr. Bolles. "Considering the large number of wounded veterans who are entitled to every benefit the government can give, the number of imposters is not large. But, few as they are, their action works a hardship on the disabled.

"Cases of deception have been more numerous lately, due to the rush of claims, following the legion's right for government efficiency. However, the legion will find time and means to expose any imposters who come to us for assistance in pressing their claims."

All legion posts have been instructed to furnish government bureaus with information they obtain about men concerning whose disability any doubt exists. The post activities in favor of the genuinely disabled will continue.

MANY PENNIES INCREASE MILK AND ICE FUND

Fifteen hundred and eighty-five pennies were among the contents of the free Milk and Ice fund jars when Joe Harness opened them up yesterday. Evidently folks take kindly to the suggestion of "Matchless Ice," but put your extra change in the milk and ice fund, which the Texas Drug store displays.

The contributions, amounting in all to $39.35, also included 157 nickels, 500 dimes, 15 quarters and 6 silver dollars. This varied assortment shows that perhaps more than 2,000 persons contributed a mite or more to the needs of poor children of Ranger during the summer months. The money will be turned over to the Charity club, to be expended under its direction.

HOW CAN UNDERTAKER PROSPER WITH DEATH RATE LIKE THIS?

Since Jan. 1, there have been less than forty deaths in Ranger and at least twenty-four of that number have been from purely accidental causes and seven have been from old age. In the remaining number several were of infants suffering from diseases peculiar to infants. This probably would care for a great part of the remaining number. Deaths from illness in that length of time has been almost unknown.

Of the violent deaths, five were from burns; two died from coming in contact with live wires; five died from gunshot wounds; two died from railroad accidents; two died from drowning; two were killed around oil well rigs and the remaining number met death in various ways. In the six months covered, it is doubted if one person a month died from causes listed under the natural disease head. This record is considered remarkable in a community of Ranger's size.

HAVE YOU ANY IDEA HOW MANY RANGERITES DRINK BREAKFAST?

Where do you eat your breakfast? Of course, that is nobody's business, but you may be one of the few hundred in Ranger that drink the initial meal at the soda fountains. Sure; drink is right. Some has 'em eggs and some without—meaning that in Ranger 300 or 400 folk every morning drink a malted milk or an egg malted milk and call it breakfast. And if one can believe those who seem to know it is both a healthful and nutritious meal.

But it could not be anything else.

Milk, ice cream and eggs must be healthful.

REPTILES REPLACE LAP DOGS IN LONDON SOCIETY

LONDON, July 9.—Reptilian mascots are the latest fad of fashion. The familiar lap dog will soon have to look to its laurels, for snakes, chameleons and other lizards are being carried by women when they walk or drive.

Pythons, boas and alligators, which are stocked by many of the larger London stores, are, too, ousting the domestic cat from the hearthrug, and there is no doubt that the keeping of harmless reptiles is becoming a fashionable hobby.

RANGER, THE RESOURCEFUL.

Ranger in its tempestuous career has met many crises. Some of them it has solved. Some of them have solved themselves while the Wilsonian method of "watchful waiting" was being pursued.

But Ranger perhaps never faced such a crisis as that caused by the closing of the Guaranty State bank. Apparently that, with the effect it had on the people, spelled chaos.

That being the case, it is not necessarily a cause for wonderment that Ranger rallied and did something absolutely without precedent. There was no hopeless throwing up of hands and saying "Kamarad!"

Therein has Ranger scored a great victory, physically and morally. Physically, because it has unloosed money vitally needed to keep the wheels of trade and industry moving.

Ranger has achieved much in getting its scrip plan started, but only the first objective has been reached. It is probable that a campaign of education will be necessary to explain the plan and enlist the co-operation of everyone.

TWO-SIDED LAWS.

It would be interesting to know if the Kansas industrial court law punishes the calling of lockouts the same as it does strikes.

If it is such a two-sided law, there might perhaps be some justification for it. But it probably takes no cognizance of such an eventuality, otherwise there would never have been any occasion for the trial of Alexander Howat.

Howat, president of the Kansas miners' union, called a strike to enforce a decree of an arbitration board, the decision of which had been ignored by the coal company.

further increase in the "disrespect for law" which so astonishes reformers. There must be some tolerance and give and take in law making, agreements must be just as binding upon one side as upon the other, or there will continue to be strikes and other "law violations."

The average self-respecting workmen regards the right to "strike" as a protest against conditions, as a part of his "individual right of contract," and all the laws lawmakers can pass will not change that belief.

DISAPPOINTING, BUT BEST.

It will be a disappointment to hundreds of fans that Ranger is no longer a member of the West Texas League. Not a member, at least, for the balance of the 1921 season.

However, these be parlous times, and railway fare waxeth exceedingly great. The jumps to Ranger would mean 120 additional miles for fifteen men every few days, and while the T. & P. needs the money, its tariffs would cause emaciation of a well-fatted pocketbook in no time.

These things being so, it is to Ranger's credit that she withdrew gracefully, leaving the league so that it has a chance to prosper and furnish a nucleus for an enlarged circuit next year.

GEORGIA MAN RELATES WEIRD TALE OF REPTILE WITH SUPERSNAKE IDEAS

ATLANTA, Ga., July 9.—Mother birds feign broken wings and legs, a mother cat will fight for her kittens, mother dogs also will fight, other animals have various means of defending their offspring, but Georgia has a snake that is absolutely original.

There are, it is true, no corroborative witnesses to back up this story and it has been mighty hot in Georgia this Summer, but the man who told the story is a city clerk of Atlanta and is believed to be one of those mysterious reliable sources you read about, so here's the yarn:

Walter Taylor, city clerk of Atlanta, got it in second-hand shape from the eye-witness, Joe Epsom, who lives at Salt Springs, so says Walter, Joe tells the story like this:

"A few days ago," said Mr. Epsom, "I was near the well on my place when I saw a large blacksnake coming down a path. That wasn't extraordinary, but a second look convinced me that here, now, was something worth looking into.

"The mother snake was moving faintly. Her mouth was open and she was panting. Every once in a while she would stop and fan herself briskly with her tail, in which she had a large oak leaf. It was evident she had come a long way for something and was about all in. The day was unusually warm.

"The snake made her way wearily to the well and, with great effort, climbed to where a bucket of water was standing on the structure. The baby snakes formed in a ring around a hole about the size of a soup dish in the ground. It was plain she had come for the purpose of watering her family.

"Mother snake wrapped her tail around the bucket and strove to turn it over. She couldn't. Then she grasped the bail and tried again, but it again was too much for her. She stopped and scratched her head with her tail, trying to think of something else to do. Suddenly an idea struck her. She stood on her head and dipped her tail into the bucket, then removed it and allowed the water to drip into the hole where her babies were waiting.

"Her duty to her family completed, the old snake wearily dragged herself once more to the bucket and by an almost supersnake effort sank her head in the water and drank. "Where is the man who can bring in a snake with a greater devotion to its children?"

NEW YORK, July 9.—With the publication of his first book, "The Labor Movement," Frank Tannenbaum has added author to his extraordinary list of accomplishments.

The book, published by G. P. Putnam's sons, is an optimistic review of the growth of the labor movement "its conservative functions and social consequences." Instead of the fiery denunciation of the old social order which might have been expected from one who harangued his mob of unemployed during the early spring of 1914 and later led them in a raid upon St. Alphonsus Roman Catholic church, the book is a temperate discussion.

"It may be argued," he says, in his foreword, "that I have seen only those things in the labor movement I wanted to see. That is not true. I am not unaware of the shortcoming of the labor movement. I know too well its frequent narrow-mindedness, its bickerings, its squabbles, its internal politics, its lack of social foresight, its jurisdictional disputes and the tendencies that have made possible the New York city building scandals."

His general point of view is "that the labor movement represents the most vital contribution that is being made to social change and reconstruction." The movement has resulted, he feels, from the insecurity of employment and the fact that machinery has become the centre of gravity in the present day industrial community.

Regarding the charges of radicalism leveled against unions, he replies: "A labor union is revolutionary in fact. It is the expressed desire to change the world; it is the change already embodied if not completed."

In a brief attack upon newspapers he says: "The labor movement and the workers in general, because of their experiences with the capitalistic press, lose confidence in it and cease to believe it. This is a very striking fact in the current world. The capitalistic press has overdone its service to the present system and it has

EAST ST. LOUIS, July 9.—July 1, 1917, this city danced the red dance of death and destruction. Next Monday, East St. Louis will pay the piper to the tune of $434,000.

The last act in the tragic drama of this city's race riots in the summer of the first year of the war, which cost scores of lives and hundreds of thousands of dollars, will be staged when the holders of valid riot claims will be paid in full. The city government has received $450,000 from the sale of a bond issue recently voted for the settlement of riot judgments. This will be disbursed at 9 a. m. Monday.

WASHINGTON, July 9.—Profesenthusiastic over the appointment of Roy A. Haynes as prohibition commisancestry to find new cause for self-congratulation. And in the commissioner's great-great-grandfather, Peter Platter, they have found it, for about 100 years ago Peter Platter, deciding liquor was not doing farm hands any good, offered them larger wages and no liquor. Thereby, says one enthusiast, he became "the man who banished liquor from the harvest field in the Paint Valley."

"RAIN-WIZ," WHO PROMISES
SHOWERS, WILL BE "KING" OR WILL FLEE FROM MOB

MEDICINE HAT, Alberta, July 9.—
"Rainmaker" Hatfield, California
weather wizard who has undertaken to bring moisture to the drought areas in this district, may become the uncrowned king of Alberta. Or he may become a fugitive fleeing from the wrath of 25,000 farmers. It all depends upon the weather.

If by July 10 his efforts to tap the water-laden clouds are successful the Hatters will pay him anywhere from $4,000 to $8,000 and enshrine his name on the golden books of heroes. If he fails he will get nothing, and he will prove himself a wise man if he disappears quietly between trains.

Just now his popularity is hanging in the balance. He has surprised the scoffers by supplying 2.79 inches of rain since May 1, about 1.79 inches more than Medicine Hat has known in the last sixteen years for the same period. Yet he has not satisfied his friends, for the crops are just beginning to feel the effects of the drought and will be ruined unless a good,
heavy rain falls within two weeks.
He contracted to supply four inches by the end of July. For the first two inches he is to receive nothing, but after that at the rate of $4,000 an inch.

He started work May 7 and said that rain would fall within three days. It did. One-third of an inch fell May 4 and .72 inches May 6. The farmers implored him to lay off until they finished seeding. Then, May 11, he turned his hose loose again, this time with .26 inches, bringing his total for the month up to 1.31. People beginning to figure how fast Hatfield was getting rich at the uniform rate of $2,000 an inch. It looked as if rain-making as a business might be profitable.

Following that, three showers fell in the next week, bringing his total up to 1.62. The crops never looked better. Then something went wrong with the works. The clouds were there, but the rainmaker did not produce. He complained that every time he had the clouds all set for a downpour, one of Southern Alberta's famous "chinook" breezes appeared and blew his rainclouds all to pieces. The farmers began to get anxious. They sent delegations to see him. They sat on surrounding hills with spyglasses to see if Hatfield was really on the job. Came the end of May and nearly two weeks without a drop.

June did not open auspiciously. The outworn just dotted on the dry weather and the crops began to look parched. A shower of .07 fell June 8, but this was just an aggravation.
Eight days more and then the crowning feat, 1.10 inches of rain in one night. Hatfield's total was now 2.79, the crops were revived and he was feted in 10,000 country homes.

But it is more than a week now since rain fell and the crops are again badly in need of moisture. They will shrivel unless the heavens open soon.
If the farmers are to have enough money to pay him they must have at least an inch of rain by July 10. Meteorological records for Medicine Hat indicate that the rainmaker's chances are 31 to 6 that he will win $8,000 by the end of July. In the last thirty-seven years there were only six when the rainfall for the month of July has been less than two inches.

NEW AIRPLANE
WING IS BUILT
LIKE A BIRD'S

Invention May Revolutionize Commercial Flying by Lowering Cost.

By Associated Press
DAYTON, Ohio, July 9.—Years of effort to cut down the comparatively high cost of commercial aviation will be realized, officials of the Dayton-Wright Airplane company believe, with the patenting of a new wing, invented by an employee of the company. Patents now are pending in Washington.
The wing will be controlled by the pilot, and in coming to earth can be so manipulated that it will arch, much as a bird's wing, enabling a practically undeviating glide to earth,
instead of flying at various levels
before alighting, it is stated. Pending its patents the company is discussing nothing further regarding the nature of the invention.

The new wing, according to Colonel V. E. Clark, chief engineer of the company, will make possible a reduction in cost, by increasing the carrying capacity of any plane, upon which it is installed by more than 360 per cent. The same wing area and the same low speed in landing are retained, he said.
This will be accomplished, Col.
Clark said, by increasing the lift coefficient 80 per cent.

It is singular that the invention was practically completed by a co-worker of the Wright brothers—J.
M. Jacobs—an employee of the Dayton-Wright company for twelve years. He spent seven months working on plans for the wing. The invention was concluded under the direction of Col. Clark.

Officials of the Dayton-Wright company expect it to revolutionize commercial flying. In addition to increasing the carrying capacity of a plane, the wing, Col. Clark said, will make it possible to decrease the landing speed by 30 per cent, if the same load is carried as with ordinary wings, and increase the flying speed by 25 per cent, carrying the same load.

Most of the danger of landing will be eliminated, he said, and a flyer will be enabled to land safely in a small field, now one of the most difficult things to accomplish in cross-country flying.

Advantage of the improvements,
Col. Clark pointed out, may be taken as conditions arise and as the pilot sees fit.

Another saving that should be reflected in the freight cost, he added, is that landing fields will not have to be as large, for in keeping the same load as with ordinary wings,
a flyer may get into a field one-tenth as large. Small municipalities, he pointed out, could better afford to establish fields.

Increasing the carrying capacity
of a plane will be accomplished, Col.
Clark said, by adding to the total weight of the plane, hence giving more poundage room for fuel and load.

A plane that ordinarily has a capacity of 1,000 pounds for fuel and load, with the new wings may take on 4,200 pounds.

They are designed to give a slow speed and a high lift in landing, and a purely high speed in flight.

The gliding angle may be changed without changing speed. It is necessary with old type wings to jockey with the throttle to keep at the lowest speed, Col. Clark continued.

In landing in a restricted space,
the wings may be set so as to offer increased resistance, enabling a landing at the closest possible point to a barrier.

When it was found difficult to secure men to properly police the mon-tain town of Neon, Ky., Mrs. W. E.
Wright volunteered to tackle the job.
She is already busily engaged with her duties as policewoman of what is termed the most lawless town in Kentucky.

GOBS OF AFFECTION

CHICAGO, July 9.—William Randolph Brookman, former bluejacket editor of the Great Lakes Bulletin, the daily paper of the naval training station, appears to have left left something behind him or his successor is not a good proof reader. He left the editorial sanctum for Hampton Roads recently.

Says the current issue of the Bulletin: "We have been pleased to note that William Randolph Brookman, former editor-in-chief of the Bulletin, has been appointed to a similar position at his new billet at Hampton Roads.

"With the exception of one or two of the entire staff regretted Brookman's departure from Great Lakes and trust he will not return shortly."

Miss Anna Millar, former manager of the Chicago Symphony orchestra, was brought up on a farm.

SMALL BOY OUTDOPE SPORT DOPESTERS ON PRIZE RING CLASSIC

CHICAGO, July 9.—Fight experts wrote millions of words of guesses on the Dempsey-Carpentier fight during the weeks preceding it, but a six-year-old boy outgessed them all and, so far as is known, was the only one to actually forecast the fight round by round without making a mistake.

"What do you think of the fight, Fitzie?" a newspaper man asked the youngster during a discussion a few hours before the big affair.

"Well, I think Jack is going to wear him out the first two rounds, hit him some more in the third and then knock him out in the fourth."

Repeated suggestions failed to shake Fitzie in his forecast and the round by round account shows that he was exactly right.

BOSTON, July 9.—Futurist art may have a place, but it is not on the front steps. So contended a woman house owner here when she discovered that a tenant had painted the steps of one of her buildings alternately pink and red.

Adjudicator Herbert Ellis upheld her, and the tenant has been notified he may paint the steps any color he pleases, but he must use but one shade.

COME FROM BEHIND IN EIGHTH; SINGLETON PITCHES, POPBOY SMITH UMPIRES.

ABILENE, July 9.—There was just a touch of sadness and regret today when the Ranger Nitros gathered up their batting paraphernalia and other accessories and departed from the local ball lot, after two hours and twelve minutes in which there was a hefty swatting contest, to come back no more this season.

Final the fact that it was their final game, Slod Allen's crew was in there at all stages, and won from the Eagles, celebrating their "fini" in the league, 11 to 9.

The outcome of the game was something of a blow to the Eagles, for they had figured on annexing the matinee, and increasing their standing in the league.

The Nitros got to Johnson, a hurler secured from the defunct Orphans, for four markers in the eighth, and sewed up the affair in that session, the Eagles holding the lead until then.

The victory gave the Nitros three out of seven played, which is pretty good for a crippled team on the road. The score:

BEARCATS TOP BRONCS AFTER MUCH MILLING

BALLINGER, July 9.—Ballinger's Bearcats lived up to their name by scratching throughout today's game, and though out-hit and outfielded, they came through with the punch and the defense at critical times, topping the Broncs by one score. Five errors behind Baldrige several times seemingly gave the game to San Angelo, but he managed to skin out of most of the holes, and Cantrell stopped the visitors in the latter rounds.

Among the Moors, girls are fattened for the marriage market much as the poultry farmer treats his live stock. The staple food for the women is bread, and it is chiefly with this that they are fattened. Long shaped pellets of it are constantly forced down their throats for a period of about three weeks before their marriage.

George Kelly, the Giants' home run slugger, cracked out a brace of circuit drives, and has caught up with Meusel, who added only one to his string. They have cracked out a dozen each.

Max Carey, the fleet-footed Pirate outfielder, has been burning the paths the last week and is showing the way to the base stealers with twenty-three thefts, which is three better than Frish of New York.

Dave Bancroft of the Giants is leading in the number of runs scored, having made sixty-two tallies for his club. Hornsby, with his 122 hits, is leading the league in total bases with 195, which includes twenty-two doubles, twelve triples and nine homers.

Other leading batters: Young, New York, 355; Roush, Cincinnati, 354; McHenry, St. Louis, 353; Grimes, Chicago, 351; Maranville, Pittsburg, 350; Fournier, St. Louis, 347; Mann, St. Louis, 347.

I. M. Boone, of New Orleans, increased his lead among the batters of the Southern association, according to averages released today and which include games of last Tuesday. He is hitting .382 while Traynor, of Birmingham, runner-up a week ago struck a slump and dropped to sixth place. Don Brown, of Little Rock moved up into the second position with an average of .365 and McMahan of Memphis who has been hitting at a merry clip the past few weeks, went into third place with .360.

LONGEVITY DEPENDENT ON BLOOD PRESSURE, IS OHIO SURGEON'S EDICT

CINCINNATI, Ohio, July 9.—"Long life is largely governed by good heredity," declared Dr. William Muhlberg, in an address here. "It was formerly stated that a man is as old as his blood vessels. The newer theory states that a man is as old as his blood-pressure. "If there is one single element whereby one can judge any person's expectancy in life it is the height of his blood-pressure," Dr. Muhlberg said. "The lower this pressure, other things being equal, the better the prospects of anyone living to a ripe old age. "While high pressure runs in certain families, it is nevertheless a fact that many persons acquire it through faulty modes of living. Overeating, alcohol, too much tobacco, excesses of all kinds, business worries, undue mental or physical strain and germ infections will produce it in persons who inherit a natural tendency to good arteries. High blood-pressure is the forerunner of kidney and heart disease and apoplexy. "Today the young man has better prospects than he formerly had of living to be forty, because typhoid fever and tuberculosis, that formerly caused so many deaths, are slowly being conquered. In fact, typhoid fever probably will be a very rare disease ten years from now. But past the age of forty a man's likelihood of living to a ripe old age are no better than they were fifty or one hundred years ago—and this is true, despite the notable advances in medicine and surgery. "High blood-pressure, leading up to heart, artery and kidney diseases and apoplexy, is the principal cause of deaths in persons past middle life, and bad faulty methods of living have more to do with this than bad heredity."

MADRID POLICE KAYO MUSHING IN THEATRES MADRID, July 9.—There's no rest for the movies in Madrid. The new prefect of police here, who recently issued an order that the sexes should be separated in the audiences at movie theatres, has now amended the order as follows: Two-fifths of the space available for the audience will be reserved for women and children; one-half of the remaining three-fifths will be reserved for men and children; the other half of the three-fifths will be for both sexes. Red lights must be kept on at all times in this latest section. The order goes on: Anyone over ten years of age who is found in a part of the house where he does not belong will be liable to a fine of not less than ten dollars. There is considerable consternation among the courting couples in the city. The newspapers humorously declare that cinema proprietors will be obliged to take a course of higher mathematics in order to make sure what is the half of three-fifths. Although the new regulations have been the subject of many humorous paragraphs, it is generally agreed that drastic restraint was needed, since the behavior of a section of the public at cinemas has been a cause of scandal.

CRINOLINE TAKES THE COUNT AND SLIM SILHOUETTE GOWNS GAIN PARIS FASHION'S FAVOR

PARIS, July 9.—The "melted down," the "slim silhouette," and the "straight line," after a furious onslaught on Poiret's crinolines, remain the absolute victors in the field of fashion. Fashionable women this summer and autumn will wear the slenderest possible models, tightly drawn around the figure and offset either with black lace or Indian shawls. Diamonds as dress ornaments remain the mode, while the Marchioness Polygnot, born Crosby inaugurated a new mode by wearing a necklace of pearls around her hat in the evening. Those fiats were issued by the Paris society "forty" following the saddening experience of the Countess de Montbrison and others on arriving at the exclusive Moller circus last evening. The circus was held for the first time since 1914. The countess and other notables arrived attired in wide crinolines only to discover that the crush was such at the entrance that it was impossible for them to enter. The result was that several of the nobility sent their maids home for slim gowns and changed in the dressing rooms before they could enter. The Moller circus was another triumph for the "Diana type," the duchesses and countesses displaying their brawny muscles as they performed equestrian feats in the ring to the accompaniment of the titled ringmaster's whip. While women in short, sleeveless gowns attained dress freedom, the men by contrast appeared wasp-waisted, wearing steel corsets and fancy stripes down the trousers, which, like the sleeves, were tight. The collars worn by the men were the tallest on record. The noteworthy innovation at the president's cup at the St. Cloud races Sunday afternoon was a woman wearing a filmy lace gown slit above the knee, under which was visible at every stride, pink pantaloons, which were bedecked with gay ribbons that floated in the breezes.

WASHINGTON CLASSES SILENT WOMAN WITH SEVEN GREAT WONDERS WASHINGTON, D. C., July 9.—Miss Alice Robertson, representative in congress from Oklahoma, takes a sadly inadequate view of the obligations of public office. She conceives it to be her duty to remain silent in the house, or talk as little as possible, because what is wanted from congress is legislation, she says. Speechmaking, she has discovered, results in nothing but printing expense and every word kept out of the Congressional Record is a saving to the taxpayer. It might be understandable how Miss Alice could hold those views in Oklahoma, where the opinion of the value of congressional oratory probably is no higher than in other parts of the country, but how she has managed to retain them in Washington is beyond comprehension. It really looks as though Miss Alice's fellow members had made a poor job of teaching her the ropes, and indeed of influencing and guiding her at all. And she one of a sex, too, so easily led, so handily impressed by man's superiorities, so ready to defer to his knowledge and experience, so tractable in short—so we have heard. Is it possible that Miss Alice has some design of showing that the talkers of this world are men and not the women, as we have always heard? Is it her purpose to demonstrate that women are more efficient handlers of the public business than men? These are serious and even alarming reflections. Congress will have to give thought to them if Miss Alice persists in her course. It will not do to let this heresy that speechmaking is not the chief congressional function gain ground. The country might take it for truth in time and fill congress up with women.

AVALANCHE OF DIVORCE SUITS CLOG ENGLAND'S JUDICIAL MACHINERY LONDON, July 9.—Since Easter the divorce courts have been working at high pressure to clear off an unprecedented accumulation of arrears, which, added to a steady stream of new cases, threatened at one time to overwhelm the physical capacity of the bench. It needed the assistance of a number of retired judges to make headway against the avalanche of suits, with the result that they have been disposed of at the average rate of two score or more per day. The Lord Chancellor, Lord Birkenhead, himself lent assistance by acting as an ordinary judge in the courts. Reviewing the position, he said: "The war has left a degree of unrest which has spread into almost every sphere of modern life and the influence of which is likely to be felt for an indefinite period in domestic relationships. "Nineteen out of twenty of the cases in arrears," Lord Birkenhead added, "had their causes in the war or consequences of the war. The date when he joined the army was the early chronological landmark of petitioner after petitioner, from which dated the familiar and melancholy story of weakness on the part of the wife." It is Lord Birkenhead's opinion that matrimonial suits may not be the turn at least for a generation, to the pre-war level. The anomaly of the present situation has revived controversies on the inadequacies of English divorce laws. Mrs. Seaton-Tiedeman, secretary of the Divorce Law Reform Union, estimates that the number of wrecked marriages in the United Kingdom is higher in proportion to the population in the United States.

DIVORCED COUPLE DECIDE TO SALVAGE MARITAL SKIFF POPULAR BLUFF, Mo., July 9.—After being separated for twelve years, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Ellis, of Catron, have been remarried. The couple married first in 1895, but after fourteen years of wedlock Ellis obtained a divorce, following domestic troubles. The couple were brought together again by friends, and, after "patching the skiff," they will again paddle their canoe as one.

DEAD SOLDIER'S MOTHER CLAIMS HIS BODY; WIFE TAKES CASE TO COURT PARIS, July 9.—Quite a controversy is raging in France as to the property of bodies of married soldiers killed in the war. The question arose after a dispute between a war widow and the mother of a dead soldier whose body it was decided to bring back to Paris for final interment. The matter, like many others of similar kind, had to be taken to court and the mother finally won her case because the widow had remarried. French courts in future must bear in mind the following two points in further disputes concerning bodies of soldiers killed in the war: 1—Whether the widow has remarried and the affection which bound the couple before death. If it can be proved that the couple were most fondly united the rights of the widow to the body cannot be challenged. 2—In the case of a remarried widow her rights to the body are considered to have been forfeited by her second marriage. Prominent French people asked for their opinions in such disputes agree that there can be but the two solutions given above. Madame Lavisse, director of an Association of War Widows, however, differs. She says: "In my opinion such differences between mother and widow should never exist. The bodies of officers and soldiers killed in the war and buried out in the battlefields should remain where they are. No finer grave could be found for them."

DEMOISELLES HAVE A NEW SCHEME FOR--ZE WOT YOU SAY HI-JACK PARIS, July 6.—Montmartre girls are working a new game on American tourists. When someone asks them to dance in the night restaurants they leave their handbags, their gold cigarette cases and other valuables on the table. While dancing the girl's confederates make away with the property and the girls accuse the tourists with whom they danced of having stolen the property. A loud wordy row follows, the girls spouting French volubly, and then the waiters go outside a d order policemen to take the tourist to the police station to be searched. Usually the tourist does not speak French and he may have a wife awaiting him at the hotel. Fearing trouble and scandal he capitulates, asking the value of the lost property and then hands over the money to pay for it. It is reported that dozens of such affairs have occurred during the last few weeks. In Algiers, married women are permitted to leave their homes but once a week and then only to visit the cemetery.

"BULL FIGHTS POOR," SAYS NELSON HEMMAN. BACK FROM MATAMORAS

Nelson Hemman is back from a two weeks' trip to the Brownsville country, where he inspected the cabbages and onions and went over to Matamoras for the July 4 bullfights. The sport was poor this year, Mr. Hemman said. The matadors were all-stars, but the bulls didn't have enough pep. They absolutely refused to get excited over the proceedings. Mr. Hemman admits he is a dyed-in-the-wool bull fight fan, but says he got that way accidentally. When he saw his first one, like every American, he said "Never again." But living in El Paso, he was forced from time to time to attend the exhibitions in company with some friend, and he gradually learned the fine points of the game. "It's just like any other habit," Mr. Hemman said. "You'll learn to like it if you go up against it long enough."

FAT WOMEN TOLD TO SELECT COLOR LIKE THE ELEPHANT'S

Homely Woman Should Wear Screaming Hat and Her Face Won't Be Noticed; Thin-Limbed Girl Should Wear Long Skirts and Vice Versa.

SIoux FALLS, S. D., July 9.—South Dakota Farm Women's congress digressed from their routine proceedings long enough to discuss modern styles for fat ladies and bony ones. They were given style warnings by several women speakers. Piano-legged and spindly girls were told to wear long skirts. It was stated by one of the speakers that "double-measure" women should wear dark clothes. Loud colors for stout women, severe black hats for plain-faced matrons, and short skirts for girls with too large or too thin limbs were a few of the present-day clothing styles which came in for a share of condemnation at the "same style show" at the congress.

Miss Selma Rongstad, of the home demonstration department of the South Dakota State college, conducted the show. "When nature created the elephant, she dressed him in neutral colors," Miss Rongstad said in telling of the need for close attention to color in selecting correct dresses, "but when nature created the butterfly, she used all the bright colors of the rainbow.

"Bright Colors for the Petite. "The large woman must remember this lesson in selecting the colors she is to wear," Miss Rongstad continued, "the large woman must wear neutral colors. It takes a small, slender woman to wear bright colors. "The large woman may wear a dark dress and get the necessary touch of color in her hat. Older women should not believe that they must wear only plain black hats. It takes a very youthful face to look well in a severe black hat, so the older women should avoid them."

Illustrating her statements with the use of models dressed in the different styles, Miss Rongstad told the women to develop their good points in dressing. "If you have any defect," the speaker said, "don't draw attention to it by having bright colors near it. For instance, don't call attention to a bony neck by wearing a bright-colored string of beads.

"Length of skirts must be determined largely by the individual requirements," Miss Rongstad added. "A girl whose limbs are too large should avoid too short skirts. The girl whose limbs are too small to look right should also wear skirts to cover them up.

"The bow-legged girls ought to remember to wear longer skirts, too," one woman in the audience volunteered. "We used to think that men were the only ones who were bow-legged, but we know now that the girls aren't all free from that defect."

Corsets and Posture Discussed. A discussion of corsets and general posture was taken up by the women.

pictures," one woman said. "They have those figures pose in the most impossible positions and the girls try to copy them. Something ought to be done about that."

JAILED FOR ANOTHER'S CRIME, MAN LOSES MIND

PARIS, Texas, July 9.—Luther Wadford, who spent a year or more in jail on charge of murdering his wife and child, and to which crime Virgil Sampson, negro, who was hanged here in May, on another charge, pleaded guilty, has been placed in jail on a charge of lunacy, the charge being filed by his mother. Wadford's case is a pitiable one, and has excited much sympathy since his release from jail several weeks ago. Serving fourteen months for a crime he never committed and constant brooding has wrecked his mentality, and he is now a mental and physical wreck.
