

Floats For Eisenhower

A parade is one of the scheduled events that will rock Abilene, Kans., when Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower returns from Europe early next month. Here workers are busy building the floats in a building in Eisenhower's Park. The parade will contain more than 30 floats, each depicting a different phase of the General's life. The last vehicle will show him in the White House. In the background can be seen a float which will represent the NATO phase of Ike's career. (AP Wirephoto).

Connally Plans Fight For A Bigger Aid Bill

Foes Claiming 'Solvency' Is Main Objective

By EDWIN B. HAASKINSON
WASHINGTON, May 24. (AP)—Sen. Connally of Texas, Democratic foreign policy leader in the Senate, said today he would conduct an all-out fight for a foreign aid bill bigger than the House voted.

The House, with a coalition of Republicans and a number of Democrats in control, last night passed a $6,162,000,000 measure to strengthen foreign nations against Communism. This was $1,737,000,000 less than the $7,900,000,000 President Truman asked.

Two Senate committees have approved a billion-dollar reduction in the Truman program, bringing it down to $6,900,000,000 and Connally will fight to prevent further cuts in the Senate debate opening Monday.

Advocates of deeper cuts declared the solvency of the United States is a main consideration in erecting defenses against communism, and that the bill contains plenty of water which can be squeezed out.

The administration was putting on a big campaign to cancel out the House cuts. W. John Kenney, deputy director of the Mutual Security Agency, held a news conference to declare bitterly:

"The House did a wonderful job yesterday—it voted for defense, it voted for economic aid, and it voted for economy and... you just can't do all that."

He said the House cuts would cripple the defense of Europe, preventing the North Atlantic Treaty countries from reaching their goal of 50 divisions in Europe this year.

Connally, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, told newsmen:

"I'm counting on bi-partisan support of our defense program to avoid doing what the House did. We are not playing politics and we are not demagoguing."

The $6,900,000,000 bill which the Senate will have before it Monday was cleared through the Foreign Relations and Armed Services Committees. An attempt in the latter committee to cut it by 400 million more was defeated, 7 to 6.

Eleven Republican senators, led by Sen. Welker of Idaho, will seek to chop a full billion from the Senate bill next week. If they fail in that they propose a cut of a half billion.

French Demands May Delay Peace Contracts

Ministers Recess Closed Sessions

BULLETIN

LONDON, Sunday, May 25. (AP)—A Soviet Union note to the United States today proposed four-power talks on an all-German peace treaty without delay "despite existing differences."

BONN, Germany, Sunday, May 25. (AP)—New demands by France were reported holding up final agreement on a West German peace contract and an Allied Western defense army against Communism.

But reports early today said the Western Big Three foreign ministers were overcoming French objections and France would sign the two pacts on schedule.

The U. S., British, and French foreign ministers recessed their closed sessions early today after 11 hours of negotiations. They announced another meeting later this morning.

Despite reported progress in meeting French objections, it was still not known whether the French Parliament will be satisfied enough to ratify the two pacts, even though France's foreign minister may sign them.

Late tonight an authoritative French spokesman put it this way: France is asking Acheson and the British foreign minister to pledge here a guarantee of security against possible German turncoat aggression. If they get the promise, the French will sign both pacts, but if the British Parliament and U. S. Congress fail to back it up, then the French National Assembly can refuse to ratify.

Late tonight an authoritative French spokesman put it this way: France is asking Acheson and the British foreign minister to pledge here a guarantee of security against possible German turncoat aggression. If they get the promise, the French will sign both pacts, but if the British Parliament and U. S. Congress fail to back it up, then the French National Assembly can refuse to ratify.

Last night Secretary of State Acheson's official press spokesman said that "as far as the Americans are concerned, no Frenchman has ever told us they would not sign (the accords). We still feel it will work out and that a peace settlement will be signed Monday."

Further encouragement was given in a statement by a French cabinet official in Paris that "under present conditions, signature (of the pacts) could come at the appointed time."

A main French demand was for a strong British-American security guarantee against any chance of a rearmored Germany's breaking out of the projected European Army framework and again embarking on conquest. Acheson's spokesman said progress had been made on this hot issue and that a "satisfactory solution is expected."

Earlier an American spokesman had said the British-American guarantee had been agreed to in substance but a question remained.

Europeans Fear Change In U.S. Foreign Policy

By PRESTON GROVER

PARIS, May 24 (AP)—Designers of the proposed new European army expect it not only to defend Europe but to federate it.

Doubters there are in plenty. The United States is behind it, and that is one of its strongest assets.

But Europeans are so uncertain about the continuity of American foreign policy there is almost no chance the treaty will be ratified until after the November elections show the trend of U. S. thinking.

If—and this is a big if—the treaty is put into effect, it will set up:

1. A Council of Six representing each of the six nations. Members of the council will be Cabinet members.

2. A Commissariat of nine members chosen for skill in organizing defense forces and industry among the six nations to feed the defense effort.

3. An assembly of representatives which will have principally advisory powers.

As it stands now, the army will have 41 divisions already active or ready to go in three days after war starts, and about 13½ divisions which could be readied in 30 days. This is variable and not formally written into the treaty.

CONSERVE WATER

Withdrawals during 24-hour period ending at 8 a. m. Saturday, 2,527,000 gallons. Maximum safe withdrawal under conditions prevailing today 2,000,000 gallons.

25,000 Drawing On Meager Water Supplies

Three million gallons sound like a lot of water, and it would be a lot of water under some circumstances.

But it isn't so much when it represents the daily limit that may be safely used by the 25,000 people, and the many business places that receive every drop of it from the Big Spring municipal supply.

The estimated 25,000 consumers represent the populations of Big Spring, the State Hospital, the Veterans Administration Hospital, Webb Air Force Base, and people living outside the city who get their water supply from the city lines.

On the basis of these figures every man, woman and child among the 25,000 has a per capita allotment of 120 gallons of water, but if each of them should some day insist on using that theoretical quota the chances are that the community would become waterless by mid-morning. If everybody should suddenly decide to use their 120-gallon allotment it would mean that almost every business and industry in Big Spring would have to shut down, because these figures of 120 gallons per capita do not take into account the industrial and commercial use of a single drop of water.

Actually the per capita use of water over a 13-day conservation period has been approximately 101 gallons for all purposes daily, with the average daily total being 2,543,000 gallons.

The daily consumption of three large Big Spring laundries, two hospitals and the plant of the United Concrete Pipe Company will average 174,940 gallons which is probably the minimum with which they can operate. And if only six of the Big Spring commercial and industrial users use water to this extent it can readily be seen how much more is essential for industrial and commercial purposes and how little is actually left for the individual from his theoretical 120 gallons.

To be taken into account are the other laundries, the hotels, other hospitals, and all the cafes and restaurants, as well as food processing plants such as the creameries.

While this is purely a matter of speculation it appears to be safe to assume that at least 65 gallons of the per capita 101 gallons being used daily goes into commercial and industrial channels, and if water should be diverted from these uses a good portion of business in Big Spring would wither.

More water than one might suspect is needed for the operation of toilet facilities in the homes and for flushing out the city sewer systems.

Odessa To Celebrate District's Delivery

With pipeline from the well field to Odessa scheduled for completion this week end, Odessans are planning to celebrate delivery of first water from the Colorado River Municipal Water District before this week is out.

Date of the brief commemoration will probably not be announced more than a day in advance of the actual occasion.

There will be remarks by Mayor Fred Gage of Odessa, by Charles Perry, vice president of CRMWD, and Mickey Lavy, representing Chamber of Commerce President J. L. Rhoades.

Saturday morning pipeline crews, working from opposite ends of the line, were nearing each other, said E. V. Spence, CRMWD general manager. The collecting lines were all installed and connected, and wells were ready to go on test. One storage tank had been completed and treated, and the pumping equipment was being assembled.

After the 27-inch supply line which stretches 33 miles from Central Western Martin County to Odessa is installed, the eastern section will have to be tested.

Enix Construction Company which has been making pipe installations on the collecting system and on a short stretch from the pump station west to meet crews laying eastward from Odessa, will move equipment to Big Spring this week. Its workers will start installing line which will connect with the CRMWD line northeast of Big Spring and will proceed southeastward to the city's filtration plant.

The crews of Ben Sira Co. and the McKenzie Construction Company, contractors for the CRMWD main supply line, will continue eastward from the well field toward Big Spring.

Currently the United Concrete Pipe Company at Big Spring is turning out around 3,000 feet of pipe per day. Approximately six miles of line are strung on the ground ahead of the laying crews.

At the lake basin site in South-west Scurry County, Moorman & Son, dam contractors, are keeping equipment busy on building mounds for oil wells in the upper basin area. By agreement with the district, actual closure of the dam may not begin before July 1. However, the channel has been plugged so that if there is run-off water, a sizeable body of it will be trapped in the borrow area below the dam to supply Snyder for the summer.

Spud Shortage Due For Let-Up

WASHINGTON, May 24 (AP)—Farm officials said today the nationwide shortage of potatoes has reached its peak and that housewives should be able to buy normal quantities within three weeks.

While no official forecast of this year's production has been made yet, Agriculture Department experts estimate that between 20 and 25 million bushels of early crop potatoes should move to market in June.

The nation consumes an average of about 23 million bushels a month.

The shortage developed because: 1. Production of late 1951-crop potatoes—those grown in Northern states for the nation's supplies for the following winter and spring—was short.

2. Harvest of this year's early crop—grown in Southern states and California—has been later than usual.

Now that the shortage soon may be over, officials are casting an eye ahead for a possible repeat appearance a year from now. Surveys made before the planting season indicated that there would be less land seeded to potatoes this year than last.

Red Banners Return To Koje Stockades

By WILLIAM JORDEN

KOJE ISLAND, Korea, Sunday May 25 (AP)—Communist flags—Red banners of defiance—re-appeared over 12 of Koje Island's 17 prisoner of war stockades Saturday night.

It was the latest symptom that all was not yet well with the 80,000 well-organized North Korean and Chinese prisoners who are tightly controlled from inside their own barred wire enclosures by Red commissars.

On Saturday the flags over 12 stockades were hauled down, but remained fluttering over five enclosures. By late afternoon they had re-appeared in all but five of the 17 enclosures.

It was believed that the Communist prisoners had acted originally on a message—and then decided it might not be authentic.

The new display of defiance came as Brig. Gen. Hayden Boatner fired his deputy commander and shook up the remaining staff. He was wielding a tough international security force from five nations.

Boatner has given fair warning to die-hard Reds to obey regulations—or face the consequences.

The deputy commander, Col. Maurice J. Fitzgerald, has been replaced and assigned to duty as an advisor to the Korean National Police.

Picked empire troops from Britain's crack Shropshire Light Infantry and Canada's Royal Canadian Regiment were due later today from Pusan to bolster American, Dutch and South Korean units here.

Addition of two companies of the Commonwealth Division—approximately 800 men—obviously was a political as well as a military gesture. The U. N. Command appeared determined to make the Koje security force as international as possible.

Since Boatner took over his job 12 days ago—a job he labeled "one of the toughest in the Army"—he has moved cautiously in dealing directly with prisoners but quickly in other respects.

Two days ago he met the top prisoner spokesman, North Korean Col. Lee Hak Ko, and told him he would continue to meet with him only if Red flags were pulled down inside the prisoner-controlled compounds.

Trends Indicate Pact Acceptance

WASHINGTON, May 24 (AP)—A trend toward acceptance of the proposed settlement of the Western Union strike developed tonight on the basis of late returns from nationwide voting among the 30,000 telegraph workers.

An Associated Press tabulation of available returns from a number of cities showed 2,739 workers favoring acceptance of the union-negotiated settlement and 2,066 against acceptance.

LAKE WACO IS PREPARED

Flood waters of the Bosque River began draining into Lake Waco Saturday after causing considerable property damage, and taking two lives, at Hico and Stephenville.

The water level of the big lake near Waco had been deliberately lowered in advance in hopes it could then absorb the flood crest and thereby prevent further flood damage downstream.

The Bosque was bankful and still rising near Waco where it drains into the lake, which is the city's municipal water supply. Waco city officials said they expected the lake could take the high water without damage.

Swollen by ten-inch rains over the watershed Friday, the Bosque roared into Hico about 11 p. m. Friday night. Mrs. H. V. Hedges of the North Texas city of about 1,200 people said that about 20 blocks were inundated at the flood's height.

Rayburn May Be Candidate For Nomination

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

WASHINGTON, May 24 (AP)—An unprecedented action this week strengthened a belief in Congress that House Speaker Sam Rayburn may become a candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination.

The action was a speech by Rayburn strongly supporting the administration's foreign-aid program. It was unusual in that for the first time in the memory of correspondents, Rayburn spoke from a prepared text distributed in advance to newsmen.

The Texas legislator seldom addresses the House, never from a prepared text.

It was a 20-minute speech, but Rayburn spoke for only about 10 minutes and put the rest of the address in the Congressional Record.

His explanation of the deviation from his past practice was that he felt strongly about the foreign-aid issue and wrote a long speech fully expressing his views so they could become a matter of written record.

While Rayburn repeatedly has emphasized that he is not a candidate for the presidential nomination, he has brushed off inquiries about his availability if he were nominated.

His close political advisers say that if Rayburn is nominated, there is no doubt that he would accept.

Because he will be permanent chairman of the Democratic convention, he cannot become identified with any candidate now in the running. His job at Chicago is to be an umpire over convention proceedings.

But colleagues working in his behalf aren't loafing. They claim to have received assurances of support for Rayburn from 84 of the first 85 Democratic House members polled recently.

Refuge in churches and in the homes of luckier neighbors and friends. Water damage was reported at some business houses, including the Wieser Flour Mill and the Arthur Burden Feed Mill.

Firemen carried marooned people on their backs to safety but one family, including an invalid woman, had to be taken out by boat from their inundated home near the river.

Advance warning of the crest prevented loss of life at Hico.

"In five minutes after it hit it was all over the lower part of town," said W. R. Hampton, water maintenance engineer at Hico. He said it was the worst Hico flood since 1919. An old-timer, Uncle Joe Salmon of near Hico, said it was the worst in his memory. About 12 inches of rain fell near his home seven miles north of Hico.

"We were just lucky we got the warning in time to get out," said

Several hundred people driven from their Hico homes were given

Reviewing The Big Spring Week

With Joe Pickle

For five and a half months Howard County went without a traffic fatality. Then, within the last fortnight, it's total rose to six. Five of these—an entire family—were in three—a wreck, the worst in the county's history, 10 miles west of here last Sunday morning. Drivers were grimly reminded that it only takes a split second to get killed.

The drought and resulting water limitation remained a top news story for the week. For the first time in nearly a decade, the city was thrown entirely on its well resources. So far, co-operation has been wonderful in holding consumption within safe limits.

While individuals went into the water hauling business to sustain shrubs (some even tried to keep lawns green), the Country Club cranked up its own wells to maintain its golf greens. The Munny course protected its putting surfaces with effluent. Earl Read proposed a well on his property across from the cemetery to furnish the burying grounds with water. Meanwhile, what good the .61 of an inch moisture in week end showers had done faded before gale-like west winds.

The wisdom of urgings over the years for large turnouts at general elections will be borne out when Howard County's Democratic Delegation goes to the State Convention in San Antonio this evening. The county, with a third that of Lubbock County, nevertheless has 11 delegates to nine for Lubbock. Because our citizens took time to vote in November 1950, their voice in the state party councils is now ed themselves in the recreation hall. Guards fired tear gas after Clapp's ultimatum to surrender passed unheeded. The men stumbled into the yard and soon recovered from the effects of the gas.

Fire broke out in a new cell block being constructed adjacent to the recreation hall when 10 guards went into the prison yard armed with clubs.

They herded prisoners who were not involved in the riot into their cells, and a few of the rioters joined them.

All guards had been withdrawn from the interior of the prison shortly before the trouble broke out. None was taken hostage, Clapp said.

Clapp reported the riot broke out when guards locked up four of five ringleaders who he said, attempted to take over the duties of a prison Grievance Committee.

Approximately three-fourths of the prison's inmates had barricaded

Factions From Both Parties Plan Fight

By The Associated Press
Eisenhower supporters in Texas rushed Saturday to bolster their claim to a clear majority at Tuesday's State Republican Convention. They got help from Hugh Roy Cullen, Houston oilman and philanthropist, who appealed to Sen. Robert Taft to prevent any "steam roller tactics" of his supporters at the convention.

Both Republicans and Democrats charged and counter-charged to what appeared inevitable double-header state conventions.

Both conventions are coming up Tuesday — the Republicans at Mineral Wells and the Democrats at San Antonio.

The Republicans will name 38 Texas delegates to their national convention in Chicago July 7. The question is whether they'll be for Taft or Gen. Eisenhower for President — or whether they'll be divided and if so, how.

The Democrats will name 52 delegates to their national convention in Chicago July 21. Their question is whether the delegates shall go pledged to support the party nominee — no matter who he is — or go unpledged.

No signs of compromise have appeared, and chances are Texans will carry their disputes on to the national conventions and have rival delegations there.

State executive committees of both parties meet Monday to decide how to settle rival delegations from the counties.

The Republicans have contested delegations from 21 counties; the Democrats, 28.

The Republicans have raised the bigger fuss.

Eisenhower people have printed placards to put on cars in motor caravans and arranged for sound trucks in Mineral Wells to blare their contention that Eisenhower delegations should be seated.

They expect thousands in Mineral Wells Monday and Tuesday and have talked of a mass march of 50,000 persons.

Cullen sent a telegram to Taft. He said "The people of Texas are shocked at the reports that the Taft-dominated State Executive Committee now plans to ride roughshod over the will of the majority at the state convention."

Arrangements already have been made for a rump convention at the Democratic session in San Antonio. Fagan Dickson, leader of the group calling themselves Loyal Democrats, said they had arranged for a meeting place.

Gov. Allan Shivers won a clear-cut majority at county conventions in his bid for unpledged delegates. But the Loyal Democrats charged that the Shivers followers were not true Democrats since they refused to pledge themselves to the party nominee.

County Has Four Polio Cases; Summer Precautions Listed

Four cases of polio have been reported in Big Spring so far this year, none within the past week, according to Miss Jewel Barton, registered nurse on duty at the Big Spring-Howard County Health Unit. And there have not been any fatalities, she adds.

Three of these cases were reported from the North Side of town and one from that area south of the T&P line. The latter case, Miss Barton explains, was a very mild one in a little girl with all the symptoms of polio but without any paralysis. This one has cleared up.

One case was reported from Coahoma where the patient is a one-year-old boy with paralysis in the right arm. This case is under the observation of local physicians, as is the case of a 6-year-old patient on the North Side.

One of the North Side cases developed so closely to New Year's Day that it was difficult to determine whether it was a 1951 or a 1952 case. This patient is a baby, nine months old, that has been returned from the Gonzales Foundation Hospital at Gonzales, but that will be taken back there where skilled hands and sympathetic hearts will teach him to walk in a normal way.

Another of the North Side patients, a three-year-old girl was taken to the polio ward at the Hendricks Memorial Hospital last Wednesday.

A 1951 patient, who lived next door to another of the North Side patients, is now at Gonzales but is expected to return home in September. This patient is four years old.

Miss Barton says now that school has been dismissed for the summer and since hot weather is here and more people will be taking vacations that the responsibility of the parents for the welfare of the children has been increased. In this connection she urges that the usual precautions against infection be followed.

The polio virus, she explains, has been found in the nasal and respiratory passages and intestinal tracts of humans, and has been isolated from the secretions and excretions of these areas, and points out, therefore, that it is quite apparent control measures should be directed toward preventing the spread of the virus from these sources.

Miss Barton says the following suggestions should be taken during the summer and fall months when polio is most likely to occur.

1. When suspicious symptoms (headache, undetermined fever, vomiting, drowsiness, stiffness of neck or back) appear, a physician should be called at once.
2. Sudden chilling and over-exercising should be avoided.
3. Elective surgery involving the nose and throat areas should be postponed.
4. Good personal hygiene, especially of children is very important.
5. Children should avoid crowds and sick persons when polio is prevalent.
6. Individual home sanitation should be perfected to include protected water supply, waste disposal and proper control of rats and insects, especially flies and mosquitoes.
7. Community sanitation should be rigidly controlled the year around.

In connection with the last requirement, Miss Barton says this includes approved water and sewerage systems for rural homes; proper disposal of garbage and other waste products everywhere; eating only at food establishments where the dishes and utensils are properly sterilized and the food properly handled; and the use of only such milk as comes from approved sources.

Miss Barton says the office of Big Spring-Howard County Health Unit is well supplied with booklets and bulletins explaining these phases of sanitation and disease prevention and that these are available to parents without charge.

The Unit's telephone number is 1766, and Miss Barton says the staff there will be glad to assist in any way possible.

More Employees Approving New Western Union Pacts

By The Associated Press
More Western Union employees in Texas stamped solid approval on a proposed new contract Saturday, brightening hopes that the big communications strike will end soon.

About 70 members of local 8, Commercial Telegraphers Union (AFL), okayed the proposal unanimously Friday night, it was reported. San Antonio's okes came the same night by what a union spokesman described as a "big majority" in the Houston local.

In Dallas, the union's biggest local in Texas and the Southwest began voting Saturday afternoon, but decided not to announce the result. The ballot box was to remain open until Sunday afternoon to permit workers in outlying communities to vote.

C. M. Richards, union Southwest vice president, said he believes the unanimous approval trend will continue among the rest of Texas' 2,000 union members. If so, workers will start returning to their jobs Sunday, midnight, he said.

Richards reported that 26 union members at Amarillo gave blanket approval last Tuesday to any agreement recommended by the negotiating committee. That vote stands, Richards said.

The proposed settlement would amount to an overall average wage boost of 24 cents an hour, the union official said. It would also shift workers on a 48-hour week to a 40-hour week with no change in pay for persons hired before Nov. 1, 1941. Workers hired after that date would receive a flat 10-cent an hour increase.

According to a union official. This followed quickly similar approval by locals in Houston and San Antonio. Houston union members also ratified the tentative nationwide company-union settlement unanimously Friday night, it was reported. San Antonio's okes came the same night by what a union spokesman described as a "big majority" in the Houston local.

Ridgway Says Peace Beyond Armed Forces

WASHINGTON, May 24 (U.S.—Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway has concurred with a senatorial view that it is beyond the military command in Korea to end the war on its own even if it has the military power to do so.

He has also agreed that political decisions must be made in Washington and Europe to end the conflict.

His views were stated in terse "yes, sir" to questions asked of him during testimony Wednesday before the Senate Armed Services Committee. The committee made part of its transcript of the secret session public today.

The new North Atlantic Treaty Organization forces commander told senators the testimony showed, that his orders called for him to negotiate a military armistice and not to deal with political issues.

Sen. Saltonstall (R-Mass.) asked him if that meant "the only way we are going to end this war is to make political decisions here in Washington and among the leaders of Europe?"

"Yes, sir," the former U. N. commander in Korea replied. "It is beyond the military leadership within Korea and Japan, where you were the theater commander, to end that war under your own impetus even though you have the military power to do it."

"Yes, sir," Ridgway responded. In comments today, senators showed obvious concern over what Ridgway told them about potential air strength of Communists in Asia. However, they withheld what he actually said.

Miss Kellems In Senate Race

HARTFORD, Conn., May 24 (U.S.—Vivien Kellems entered the race today for the seat in the United States Senate now held by Senator William Benton (D-Conn.).

She announced she would run on the Independent Republican Party ticket. The party was formed two years ago by a group of registered Republicans opposed to some candidates on the regular GOP slate.

Miss Kellems, who runs a cable grip factory in Stonington, has attracted wide attention with her frequent criticism of Democratic administration policies, particularly of the withholding tax provision in the federal income tax. For a while, she refused to withhold taxes from her workers' pay.

Benton is unopposed for the Democratic nomination. Republicans will name their candidate at their state convention next Tuesday.

Ike Backers Win In Washington Tests

By The Associated Press
Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower won the first test in Washington State's Republican convention, yesterday and appeared likely to get a majority of the state's 24 votes for the Republican presidential nomination.

Eisenhower backers claimed they could win 20, and possibly all 24 of the votes.

But backers of Sen. Taft of Ohio still clung to their contention they might come out with a majority.

Delaware Democrats elected six delegates to the Democratic National Convention, with one openly supporting Vice President Alben Barkley for the presidential nomination and the other five delegates uninstructed and unpledged.

Maryland's 24 Republican National Convention votes were pledged to Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin on the first ballot but Taft supporters claimed they would get a majority of them after that.

While Taft supporters at the state convention in Baltimore made no open fight to dispute the "favorite son" role of McKeldin, they claimed they had a majority of the delegates elected. McKeldin said he controlled at least 18 but hasn't said which way he might throw them after the first ballot.

A delegate favoring Taft was chosen by Alabama's 5th District Republicans at Gadsden.

A slate of 17 convention delegates "100 per cent for Taft" was named by the Foster faction of Georgia's divided Republican party.

Followers of Mayor Roy G. Foster of Wadley, Ga., twice turned down by the national party organization, expressed belief they have their best chance of being seated in the national convention.

They will be disputed at Chicago by backers of W. R. Tucker of Dawsonville, whose delegates were seated at the two previous Republican conventions. The Tucker slate will have at least 10 Eisenhower and two Taft delegates.

Another big batch of presidential nominating delegates will be chosen next week and interest centers mainly on contests between Taft and Eisenhower forces.

Republicans will pick 80 delegates to the Chicago convention, notably in Texas, New Mexico and Connecticut. Democrats will select even more—191—but their presidential nomination race is wide open and few contests are looked for.

Taft-Eisenhower struggles marked selection of 51 GOP delegates in three states yesterday. Up until those state conventions, Ohio senator led Eisenhower 394 to 335 in The Associated Press tabulation of delegate strength. The tabulation, based on delegate pledges and instructions, the preferences of those willing to state a first ballot choice and on candidate concessions.

The Republican delegate activity Saturday, in addition to Washington and Maryland, included: Minnesota—the tussle here was not over the selection of three at-large delegates, but rather over selection of a GOP national committeeman. Harold E. Stassen won 21 of Minnesota's delegates in the March 18 primary and the right to the first ballot votes at Chicago of the three at-large delegates selected yesterday. But indications were that all three would be Eisenhower backers, and there was talk of instructing all 24 to vote for the general after they fulfilled their legal obligation to Stassen. Eisenhower won four delegate votes in the primary.

Gov. C. Elmer Anderson, an Eisenhower supporter, led the fight to unseat National Committeeman Roy E. Dunn, who had held the job for 16 years. Dunn is state campaign manager for Taft. The governor came out for George E. Etzell, also an Eisenhower backer.

Eight Pupils Graduate At Garden City School

GARDEN CITY — Eight seniors were graduated from Garden City High School here Thursday evening.

With their diplomas went an admonition by Clyde E. Thomas Sr. of Big Spring to regard the value of an education not only individually, but also to the enrichment of the home, community, state and nation.

Mavis Montgomery played the professional and the Rev. W. A. Pendergrass gave the invocation. Bonetta Cox brought the salutatory address and Darja Ricker the valedictory.

J. F. Jones, superintendent, introduced Thomas and other speakers. Gladys Reynolds sang "I'll See You Again," and Clara Ann Halfmann read the class prophecy and Teresa Ann Lynch the class will.

Presentation of the class for graduation was made by R. T. Newell and Jones, assisted by B. A. Harris, school board president, who awarded diplomas to Shirley McLaughlin, Teresa Ann Lynch, Darja Ricker, Bonetta Cox, Clara Ann Halfmann, Jim Robinson, Troy Cline and J. C. Newell.

Further Step-Up In Flow Of Gasoline Is Promised

DENVER, May 24 (AP)—A further step-up in the flow of the nation's gasoline and oil, interrupted by a strike, was promised today as additional refinery workers accepted wage-raising agreements.

Developments on the 25th day since the strike was called April 30 by a coalition of 22 CIO, AFL and independent unions included:

The walkout of 7,000 workers at the huge Whiting, Ind., refinery of Standard Oil ended with an agreement, based on a 15-cent hourly wage hike recommended 10 days ago by the Wage Stabilization Board. The pre-strike scale in the industry averaged $2-2.10 per hour for day work.

Union employees at the Texas Co.'s Port Arthur, Tex., plant also voted an end of their strike, leaving only five major refineries in Texas still shut down.

CIO workers in 30 locals of Oklahoma and Kansas cast votes on whether to accept a 15-cent increase offered by the Cities Service Oil Co.

A union source at Denver estimated that at least 42,000 men have returned to work after close to 90,000 walked out more than three weeks ago.

The Petroleum Administration for Defense announced that, effective Tuesday, commercial users of gasoline during each of the three weeks beginning Monday may buy up to 19 1/2 per cent of the amounts they bought during March.

PAD yesterday lifted all restrictions on the use of automobile gasoline, kerosene and fuel oil, but said some restrictions on aviation gasoline will remain until mid-June.

A Phillips Petroleum official at Bartlesville, Okla., said no investigation is necessary of the company's tax amortization activities because all the facts are in government records.

The CIO Oil Workers International Union urged President Truman yesterday to look into the amortization certificates given the Phillips Co.

Five air lines at New York's La Guardia Field cancelled 108 flights today because of gasoline shortages. American Airlines dropped 41 departures and 45 arrivals indefinitely. Other cancellations were on a day-to-day basis. So far only Transworld and United Air Lines have not suspended flights at New York.

TRAVELS LONG FOR A DEGREE

DALLAS, May 24 (AP)—A fellow who drove 20,000 miles for a Master's degree will get it tomorrow at East Texas State Teachers College at Commerce, Tex.

Max Weldon Fagg, 36, internal revenue inspector, decided three and a half years ago, to use his G. I. Bill of Rights to get the degree even though he would be limited to Saturday classes.

He tried several colleges but couldn't get the part-time schedule he wanted. Finally he was accepted at Commerce.

Each Saturday he drove back and forth, 140 mile trip.

Then he got promoted which meant traveling. Since January he has driven to Commerce each Saturday from such distant places as Houston, Oklahoma City and Guyton, Okla. He missed only one class. He estimates he drove 20,000 miles on the trips.

DEMANDS

whether it could be put into a form acceptable to the French Parliament without prior approval by the U. S. Congress. At any rate, the U. S. spokesman added, no U. S. guarantee would be announced in Bonn.

Another French question on the status of French troops in Germany has been turned over to a committee of experts. As an ally of West Germany in the proposed European Army, France would want to retain present occupation privileges, such as low-cost housing.

British and American spokesmen here would not comment on unofficial reports that the French were making various other demands as the price for signing the pacts with Germany. These were reported to include increasing U. S. aid for France's armed forces, and strong British-American support for France's position as colonial power in troubled North Africa.

U. S. and British spokesmen said only that these topics had not been discussed during the day.

Acheson, British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden, and French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman huddled in a special night session after a big formal dinner given by the Allied high commissioners.

Chancellor Konrad Adenauer also was a guest at the dinner. A previous announcement had said Adenauer, who is his own foreign minister, would attend the night conference, but it was stated later he would not meet again with the other three until tomorrow morning.

First news to reach here on the French objections came today in reports from Paris that the Cabinet had told Schuman not to sign the two pacts unless French demands were met.

The three Western foreign ministers earlier today spent hours trying to compose their differences. Twice they postponed a scheduled meeting with Adenauer on the peace contract, expected to give West Germany virtual sovereignty in return for her joining the Western defense partnership. Finally, without announcing the outcome of their discussions, the Big Three called in Adenauer. He met with them for two hours.

Aside from making a peace arrangement with West Germany, the big goal of the Allied statesmen is creation of a six-nation defense army of close to a million men, including 400,000 Germans.

The timing of the French moves gave their objections the appearance of a diplomatic squeeze play.

Adenauer's government, which had troubles at home in agreeing to the terms it did, had completed all arrangements to sign the treaty ceremoniously Monday morning.

Illustrating the troubles, the nine states of West Germany today snubbed a federal proposal that they close the schools Monday in celebration.

The Russians and their East German followers were acting and talking as if the contract signing would bring on a new crisis in East-West affairs. German Communists have warned of civil war and death for any chances of German unification.

The Russians slammed shut five more road crossings, leaving only four major routes for the booming highway freight business between isolated West Berlin and West Germany. The British lodged a quick protest. Allied officials said a new plot to snap West Berlin's life-lines may be in full swing.

Allied troops and the German police of West Berlin braced for trouble from a reported "invasion" of Communist roadies at 15 points along the Soviet sector border, but nothing developed. Later they said they were informed the putsch had been called off until Monday, so it could be timed with developments in Bonn.

Without confirmation, the West Berlin newspaper Telegraph reported 21 high Soviet officers in East Germany had been arrested on a charge of having taken part in "counter-revolutionary movements."

as the pair testified at the young socialist's sanity hearing.

The brother, Tom Flegler of Midland, Tex., and the mother, Mrs. Burton Flegler, wife of a wealthy Tulsa, Okla., oil man, took the witness stand for the defense today to testify as to the girl's sanity.

The 21-year-old twice-married heiress is charged with murder in the death of her second husband, Air Force Lt. Richard O. Parsons, who was shot to death Feb. 16. Young Flegler testified today that Mary Jean told him before her marriage to Parsons, "I am losing my mind." He said he told his parents several times that his sister was in a deranged mental condition, but that the warnings always went unheeded.

Mrs. Flegler's breakdown on the witness stand came when she said of a telephone call from her daughter the day the young woman is accused of shooting her husband to death.

Mrs. Flegler said she received this call about 5:15 p. m. in Tulsa, collect from her daughter.

"Her voice didn't sound like her usual self, and I asked if she was doing anything."

"She said she didn't think so. 'I was coming (sic) to El Paso the next day and I asked her to pick me up at the airport.'"

"She asked me 'What is tomorrow?' My heart started to jump. . . . 'She told me Dick and she had had a terrible argument. She said he had told her he wouldn't speak to her any more. . . . 'She said 'Mother, what's the worst thing I could do to Dick?'"

"I laughed a little. Then I said the worst thing she could do to Dick would be to kill him. I don't know why I said that."

"She said 'I guess I did, Mother.' 'I told her 'let's not be funny.' 'She kept on saying 'I guess I did, I guess I did.'"

Earlier, Dr. Joe E. Tyler, Tulsa psychiatrist, testified that Mrs. Parsons "can get out of contact with reality and become a destructive person."

But he said the danger of her "getting out of control" is not so great as it was, and that he would expect any destructive tendencies to be directed more at herself than anyone else.

"These are mainly suicidal tendencies," Tyler said, "rather than homicidal."

Game Rained Out

WASHINGTON, May 24 (AP)—A heavy downpour washed out tonight's game here between Philadelphia and Washington after the teams had played three and a half innings of scoreless ball.

THE WEEK

nearly four to one greater than that of their Lubbock neighbors.

An organization to firm up a USO servicemen's center here was set up last week with key committees named. A miracle won't be accomplished overnight, but at least something definite now is underway. Although important all the time, it's doubly important that you take our Airman to your hearts and homes.

The city, schools and YMCA are co-operating in a pretty broad recreational program for the summer starting June 3. The Y broadened it last week by announcing one for the Latin-American youngsters, thanks to some hefty membership support by certain individuals.

There's some dispute as to whose honor it is—but Blake R. Van Leer will be back here Tuesday evening to deliver the commencement address to Big Spring High seniors. The district thinks it's mighty lucky to get the Georgia Tech president for its speaker on the Golden Anniversary commencement program; and Dr. Van Leer says the prospect of no address has thrilled him as much as the one to address his original alma mater.

DeMolay lads are conducting a scrap metal and rag collecting campaign to finance drill team transportation to the area conclave in El Paso next month. You can help by calling Merlin Peterson (1137) or notifying Leon Moffett (2134-J) if you have either to give.

Frank Grandstaff, prisoner composer of the cantata "Big Spring," was back in the news—and back in trouble last week. He was bound over for a court hearing on burglary charges at Milwaukee. Frank recently had balked plans to film his life's story—because he wanted a larger cut. Now the story may be given the latest real-life twist without this element of concern. What happens now may be public record.

Dedication of the Webb Air Force base last Sunday is accounted a success from all angles. Despite cold, damp weather, there must have been upwards of 20,000 to make an inspection of the post, to hear Gen. Robert Harper, Rep. George Mahon, and to hear the field formally named after a Big Spring straman.

And in case you've wondered if the Courthouse dream has been forgotten, but out the doubts. Judge Elmer set last week as the date for receiving bids on it.

Writer Asks Action On 'Seed Racket'

PARIS, May 24 (AP)—In an "Open Letter" to State Agriculture Commissioner John C. White, the Paris News today declared the "seed racket" still exists and asked his help in ending it.

The letter, signed by Publisher A. G. Pat Mayse and published in the newspaper's monthly farm supplement, "Rambler's Around," said: "When the Paris News supported you in your first race for the important office you now hold we did so in the firm and confident belief that you would correct some of the deplorable and shameful practices, including the selling of sorry seeds to innocent farmers and ranchers. How much, if anything, you have done, or attempted to do along these lines, we do not know. But we do know that there remains much to be done—that our farmers are being cheated and that millions of dollars are being spent for seeds that are not pure."

Mayse asserted "thousands of sacks of seeds do not contain what your 'Texas Tested Seed Labels,' bearing your signature, say is in the sacks."

The publisher asked what protection the state offers to growers against this unscrupulous practice. "What is being done to enforce the law? he asked."

"Up here in our neck of the woods we are fed up on it, and an aroused people are now going to do something about it and they hope that you will be their ally to get something done."

White, 27-year-old former Wichita Falls agricultural teacher, made clean seeds a part of the campaign which won him the office in 1950. In seeking reelection, White is opposed by Walter McKay, 46, Fredrickburg stock farmer and radio station owner, and Billy E. Beard, 34, College Station farmer and rancher.

Shoes Are More Open Than Ever

By DOROTHY ROE Associated Press Fashion Editor

Air-conditioned comfort is the keynote for new spring and summer shoes, which often look as fragile as cobwebs, but prove amazingly practical.

Pumps are tops for tailored and travel wear, with much detail in the form of cutouts and open-work on the vamp, and a number of two-tone combinations. Open sandals continue the choice for dressy afternoon and evening wear, says the National Shoe Institute, while the wedge heel is popular for all-occasion wear.

The wedge heel is tops for play and casual wear—and all summer shoes tend toward lighter construction and greater flexibility.

On the whole, shoes are more open than ever, some consisting of only two or three narrow straps, a thin sole and high heel.

McHaney To Play For North Texas

DALLAS, May 24 (AP)—Phil McHaney, former Southern Methodist football candidate, said today he has decided to enroll at North Texas as State next fall and will play football for the Eagles.

McHaney, a 240-pound tackle, made the all-Dallas team in 1950, but dropped out of SMU after receiving an injury in football training.

GOLDFISH MAN NO PARTY FAN

SEATTLE, May 24 (AP)—A Seattle lawyer who says he started the goldfish eating craze at Harvard in 1939 dusted his hands today of the collegiate pantie raiders and said he didn't want to be classed with them.

He is Irving Clark Jr., who swallowed 24 goldfish while a sophomore at Harvard in 1939. He received his law degree at Yale and now is married with two children.

"These students have destroyed property," Clark said in reference to the pantie raiders, "and that should be stopped. Any ill effects suffered from goldfish eating were purely personal and only temporary."

John Campbell, making a turn in a narrow Indianapolis, Ind., street, backed his light truck into a canal. He scrambled to the top of the truck cab and, unable to swim, remained there until a police rescue boat took him off. "I wasn't scared but I was worried how deep I was going," he told his rescuers. Proposed Pact Not A Normal Peace Treaty

By GEORGE BOULTWOOD

BONN, Germany, May 24 (AP)—The Big Three Western Allies propose to give up in the West German peace contract most of the rights they secured through the unconditional surrender of Hitler's Reich.

The unique agreement is a partial peace treaty with only a part of the former enemy nation.

Unlike a normal peace treaty, the agreement does not provide for a quick departure of the occupying forces.

It does the reverse, permitting reinforced U. S. British and French garrisons to remain as "defense troops."

Because Germany is still divided and some 400,000 German troops will be garrisoned in the Western federal republic, the Allies are retaining three important basic rights:

1. They reserve powers to deal with the question of Germany as a whole, its possible reunification and the writing of the final peace treaty. This provision is to preserve the right of the United States, Britain and France to deal on equal terms with Russia on the German question.
2. They reserve the right to station their troops in Germany and retain powers to insure their security.
3. The Western Allies stay in West Berlin as occupation powers. The Russian-surrounded city, 100 miles behind the Iron Curtain, is a hostage of the cold war. If the Western Powers gave up their rights there, it would be a plain invitation for the Russians to take over.

Presbyterians Plan More Use Of Radio, TV

NEW YORK, May 24 (AP)—Leaders of the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A. adopted today a broadcasting policy calling for the use of radio and TV to win converts and help different religious groups to understand each other better.

The church's 164th annual General Assembly, top governing body of the 2 1/2 million member denomination, also approved setting up a Department of Radio and TV to "serve the general interests of our church in religious radio and television."

More than 2,000 Presbyterian leaders are here for the week-long meeting. Today's session, in addition to the action on broad casting, brought:

1. Adoption of a budget totaling $19,088,000 for church benevolences during 1953. Of this amount, $7,983,276 will be devoted to national missions and $6,428,298 to foreign missions.
2. An announcement that more than half of the denomination's 12-million-dollar building fund already has been pledged by member churches throughout the country.
3. A report that more than 100 additional Presbyterian chaplains will be needed for service with the armed forces the next 12 months to augment the 191 now on duty.

Child Is Killed Near Floydada

LUBBOCK, May 24 (AP)—Teddy Smith, 3, was killed today when a pickup truck overturned near the Dougherty Community 22 miles southeast of Floydada. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Smith of Dougherty.

Article Says Deputy Had Duval Evidence

DALLAS, May 24 (AP)—The Dallas Morning News says in a copy-righted article tonight that days before Sam Smithwick was found hanged in his cell he wrote former Gov. Coke Stevenson that he had evidence concerning the contested 1948 United States Senate Election.

News staff writer Dawson Duncan, writing under an Alice dateline, said the Smithwick letter urged Stevenson to come to Huntsville and "go into this matter in detail."

Smithwick, a former Jim Wells County deputy sheriff, was serving a life sentence for the street killing of W. H. (Bill) Mason, a crusading Alice radio commentator.

The News says Stevenson, delayed on his Kimble County Ranch, did not reach the prison before Smithwick hanged himself.

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson defeated Stevenson in the historic 1948 second primary election by a scant 57 votes in the total of 988,295 cast for Senate nomination.

Stevenson claimed that 202 votes from Jim Wells County's Precinct 13 were added irregularly.

The News says that in his letter to Stevenson, Smithwick wrote, in part:

"I am writing you in regard to the 1948 election in Jim Wells County when you were running against Lindon Johnston as you recall the election box with all the votes disappeared, and that is the main cause of my trouble with Mr. Mason as he was on one side and I was on the other."

"On June 24, 1948, five days before I got in trouble I arrested (names withheld by the News) and from them learned that (name withheld by the News) had stolen the box and gave it to them to dispose of. But I recovered the box from them and am quite sure I can produce it if you are interested. I could never get in touch with you because I didn't have a chance or any one to trust to send to you and was never allowed to make bond after that. I intended to get in touch with you, but after recovering the box and getting it put safely away, on my way to contact you I met up with Mr. Mason and as you know what the result was now. . . ."

Smithwick dictated his letter, speaking in Spanish, to a prison inmate approved by prison officials, who had knowledge of the letter.

The letter contained an inaccurate reference to the election being in 1949. It also misspelled Sen. Johnson's name.

Smithwick hanged himself April 15.

Stevenson made Smithwick's letter available to Duncan of the News. He gave his permission for it to be investigated and published.

Duncan says the authenticity of the letter was above question. Smithwick's son, Sam Smithwick Jr., verified the signature.

Chinese Kids Look Up To Mao Tze-Tung

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)— In Indonesia, most Chinese youngsters between 8 and 20 look up to Mao Tze-tung as the savior of their fatherland. They are taught and believe the Americans are out to prevent the rise of a new China.

Most Chinese secondary schools in Indonesia preach the Communist doctrine. A survey of Jakarta's Chinese schools showed Communist indoctrinators have no trouble selling Peiping's latest propaganda story about disease - spreading American pilots.

An 18-year-old student of the big, modern Hui Chung High School in downtown Jakarta said:

"The Americans have lost the military war in Korea, because we are much stronger in manpower. To satisfy Wall Street and make up for the loss of face, they decided to destroy our manpower by spreading diseases behind the lines."

Would this be the consensus among most of the half million Chinese students throughout this non-Communist Indonesian republic?

There's no disagreement among pro or anti-Red Chinese in Jakarta that the embassy of the People's Republic, while failing to win control of the parents, has successfully conquered the minds of the children.

Seventy per cent of Jakarta's privately run secondary schools are on Peiping's side. There's only one Nationalist school run by the Chinese Chamber of Commerce, and one independent, non-Communist college left.

In all the other schools Mao and other Red leaders beam down on the students from classroom walls and notice boards.

Also the powerful Chinese Student Union of Jakarta, which includes students from non-Communist schools, is Red. After class, students get together in political discussion groups. Recently they staged a show in Jakarta's municipal theater, in which translated Russian combat songs were community-sung and "Westernized" Chinese ridiculed.

Hallmark of the "Westernized" Chinese in the show: a flashy American necktie.

Visiting the Hui Chung Chinese High School at Bandengan Utara in Jakarta, a correspondent learned a little about how the daily indoctrination works. Students are encouraged to write and illustrate the "news of the day" in wall-board publications. Favorite news source is the New China News Agency of Peiping. Water-colored drawings depict the Chinese people victoriously resisting American troops and weapons.

WATER

tem. Twenty gallons of water is used (even if not really required) for the average bath, according to estimates. At least 10 gallons of water is used daily for dish washing in the average family home where three meals are prepared. Hundreds of gallons are used daily to replenish the supply in the cooling systems of automobiles and other motorized equipment. There is some livestock that survives only because water from the city supply is available, and it must not be overlooked that in a large measure the health of the community is protected through the use of the large amount of water required by regulations for cleanliness in the food handling and eating establishments throughout the city. Then there are always a few garments that need washing.

Then there is always the destructive fire potential. It can be hoped, but it must never be considered impossible that Big Spring will not be hit by such a destructive fire as those recently reported from San Angelo, Odessa and elsewhere, and always an allowance must be made for sufficient water power to combat such blazes.

But apparently there is enough water available to keep Big Spring's commerce and industry going, and Big Spring's homes comfortable and modern if the 25,000 people will honestly practice the requested conservation plan, and most of them have been doing that.

Ike Backer Gets Minnesota Post

By ADOLPH E. JOHNSON

MINNEAPOLIS, May 24 (AP)—An Eisenhower supporter was elected Minnesota's Republican national committeeman tonight over a Taft backer who had held the job 16 years.

The State Central Committee elected George Etzell, Clarissa weekly newspaper editor to replace Roy E. Dunn, Pelican Rapids. The vote was 122 to 94.

Ezell has publicly supported Gen. Dwight Eisenhower for the Republican nomination for President. Dunn is state manager for Sen. Robert Taft of Ohio in his quest for the nomination.

The result was a victory for Gov. C. Elmer Anderson, who has been in office less than six months.

Bright white shower curtains are wonderful for summer. The bathroom takes on a delightfully cool look, especially relaxing during in warm weather when you soak in the tub.

The redwoods and the big tree species of Sequoia and the dawn redwoods of China are believed to be the only three survivors of a kind of tree that in past geologic ages grew all over the northern hemisphere.

Cars, cattle, chickens and much farm property was swept downstream as the swollen river flushed itself through Hico.

Communities between Hico and Waco were not believed in great danger. Meridian, downstream from Hico, is back from the river and on fairly high ground.

Aquilla Creek, which empties into the Brazos from the east in Hill County, was a mile wide in some spots but only farmland was inundated. The Tehuacana River, also east of the Brazos and a tributary, also was reported a mile wide.

Many farm to market roads, and some highways, were closed by the high water. The high waters undermined approaches to some bridges.

Drowned at Stephenville were Jack Harrell, 19, whose car was washed into a creek, and Adrian Ballard, 60, a highway construction worker who was swept off a bridge where he was working.

Pioneer Shows New Fleet Ship Here At 1:30

The Pacemaster, soon to become the fleet ship of Pioneer Air Lines, will be open for public inspection for an hour here today at 1:30 p.m.

The new 270-mile per hour, 36-passenger, twin-engine liner is making its first visit to Big Spring, said Billy R. Watson, local manager for Pioneer. Initial service with the faster and larger Pacemasters will begin June 1 and before the month is out, all the Pioneer fleet will consist of this plane. Nine Pacemasters will replace 11 DC-3s now in use.

Those who have reservations for a riding inspection will be passed through the gate the Webb Air Force Base, and others who wish to make inspection of the modern liner may obtain passes for the purpose at the gate.

Since Feb. 19, 1947 when service was inaugurated here by Pioneer Air Lines, the 24-passenger DC-3 craft, with a 160-mile top cruising speed, have been in use.

Now the passenger capacity is not only increased by 50 per cent but the cruising speed is jumped by 110 miles per hour; the available horsepower is doubled from 1200 to 2,400. Propellers are reversible to permit a minimum of taxiing after landing, and if desired, the plane can actually taxi backwards.

The new Pacemaster has 18x24-inch windows, the largest of any airliner in operation. Steps lower from the rear of the plane, which is balanced for landing and loading on tricycle landing gear. The plane is 28 feet high as compared with 17 feet for the DC-3. It has baggage rack at the rear for passengers. Temperature is controlled automatically, and cool air injection at terminal points add to comfort. A white top lowers inside temperatures.

As an example of how service will be expedited with the new plane, the time between Big Spring and Fort Worth is cut from 1:53 to 1:32. The flying time from Houston to Big Spring via San Angelo and Abilene is reduced from 3:51 to 2:58 and via Midland the flying time is cut from 3:28 to 2:40.

Preview Today

Pioneer Air Lines new Pacemaster liner makes its initial appearance here today for public inspection. The faster and larger plane will be here for an hour's preview prior to being pressed into service in June. Pioneer is converting its entire fleet to the 36-passenger ship.

Platoon Reported Wiped Out In Raid

By JIM BECKER

SEOUL, Korea, Sunday, May 25 (AP)—Allied patrols raided Red positions on the Eastern Korean battlefront Saturday, striking in the pre-dawn darkness with hand grenades and machine guns.

The U. S. Eighth Army reported one patrol wiped out a 35-man Communist platoon in a clashing one hour, 35 minutes. The Allied patrol captured 2,500 rounds of Red machine-gun ammunition, 200 hand grenades and small arms.

U. S. Fifth Air Force fighters and bombers followed up their big raids Thursday and Friday on Kiyang with strikes on Communist front-line bunkers. The Air Force reported several areas on the front were left strewn with shattered timbers.

Other fighter-bombers pounded the battered Red rail system Saturday. Pilots reported cutting the tracks in 93 places, hitting 20 box-cars and two bridges.

The Fifth Air Force reported that the week ended Friday was one of the worst of the war in the balance sheet of air losses—12 Allied planes, including five in aerial combat, compared with four Red jets downed.

Three U. S. F-86 Sabre jets and two F-84 Thunderjets were shot down by the Communist pilots. The other seven Allied planes were destroyed by antiaircraft fire.

Air Force figures for the week did not include naval air losses. Rescue flights indicated there were at least two.

Against its plane losses, the Fifth Air Force listed a mass destruction of Communist supply facilities, including 460 buildings destroyed and 163 damaged; 396 rail cars, 871 trucks destroyed or damaged; two ammunition dumps blown up and five bridges destroyed.

Disconnecting Bath From Sewer Is Menace To Health

Persons who disconnect their bath tubs from sewer drainage and then connect a hose in order to drain bath water out on their lawns are seriously endangering the health of all the people in their neighborhood, Lige Fox, city sanitarian, pointed out yesterday.

Fox also said that such an arrangement is a direct violation of the health laws and such persons are liable to prosecution. When the tub is disconnected, he explains, the disconnection permits sewage from the city system to back up in the pipe and flow under the house creating a health menace and a breeding place for flies.

The only ways to get bath water out of the tub for lawn and shrubbery irrigation, he says, are to dip it out or siphon it out through a hose. He says some people have cut holes in the side of their houses large enough for a hose and are using the siphon method. He says others are using a siphon hose through open windows.

The sanitarian says a surprising number of people, many of whom he is sure know much better, are requesting permission to disconnect and drain their bath tubs, and that others are doing it without first requesting permission.

No such permission can be granted, he emphasizes, any more than an officer can give somebody permission to commit murder. He says such violations of the plumbing laws should be reported by neighbors.

Two Injured In C-City Mishap

COLORADO CITY—Two persons were seriously injured in an automobile mishap a mile south of here Saturday afternoon. A Willys station wagon in which they were riding failed to make a curve on a Highway 80 detour at its junction with Highway 101.

The injured, A. C. Jones of Brownfield, 21-year-old Texas Western College student, and Mrs. David Hinds, 21, enroute to Nashville, Tenn., were taken to the Root Memorial Hospital in Colorado City in a Kiker and Son ambulance. They have head injuries.

Uninjured, except for bruises and scratches, were Howard Stafford, 22, of Coleman, and David Hinds, husband of the injured woman.

Stafford, owner of the car, which was driven by Jones, is also a student at TWC.

According to Stafford, he and Jones were between semesters in college and were returning to their homes on a visit. They had picked up the Hinds at the edge of El Paso and had planned to carry them as far as Abilene.

The curve, a Texas Highway Patrolman said, has been the scene of several accidents in the past few months. The mishap was investigated by Dan Nowlin and Bob McGuire.

Chinese Reds Were Tagged As Early As 1945

By JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON, May 24 (AP)—A 1945 Army Intelligence report which tagged the Chinese Reds as bona fide, Moscow-directed Communists was published tonight by the Senate Internal Security Subcommittee.

The report noted that some observers then contended the Chinese Communists were agrarian reformers or democrats and not real Communists. It said the investigation failed to bear this out.

It also concluded "there is reason to believe that Soviet Russia plans to create Russian-dominated areas in Manchuria, Korea and probably North China."

The 150-page document, prepared before Japan's surrender in World War II, gave a detailed account of the history of the Chinese Communists, including their political and military activities.

It also discussed the possibility of a postwar coalition government in China—a subject that later was to become a hot political issue in this country—but set out no definite conclusion.

The document originally was classified as secret but this label was taken off Aug. 23, 1949. The Senate committee, however, said it does not believe it has previously been made available to the public.

The senators issued it in connection with the year-long investigation they have been conducting in a search for any Communist influences on U. S. Far Eastern policies.

ATTENDANCE IS HIGH
115 Foodhandlers
Complete Course

The food handlers school held at the Municipal Auditorium Monday through Friday was a success. Lige Fox, city sanitarian, and C. B. Breedlove, instructor from the Health Education Division of the State Department of Health, declared yesterday.

They said 117 food handlers registered early enough in the course, which was given twice daily, to become eligible for certificates, and that of these 115 successfully completed the course and will receive their certificates.

Fox said some opposition was met from a number of cafes, restaurants and other food handling establishments, where the managers complained they did not have enough personnel employed to permit them to give employees sufficient time off to attend either the morning or afternoon classes. The sanitarian, who was one of the instructors, said he was particularly gratified with the way three places of business handled the matter.

Dey has been executive secretary of the ruling body of American golf for 18 years.

Numerous sports celebrities will attend the Hall of Fame dinner, the second to be staged by the state's sports writers since they established the hall a year ago.

Tris Speaker, baseball great, was the first Texan selected for the honor roll by Lone Star athletes. MUNBAN, Korea, Sunday, May 25 (U.S.)—United Nations armistice delegates are taking it easy in a week-end recess from the exhausting, fruitless sessions at Panmunjom.

Maj. Gen. William K. Harrison, new senior Allied delegate, remained in Munshan, but the other American members flew to Tokyo for relaxation. Staff personnel chose up sides for volleyball, horse-shoes and other games.

The critically-deadlocked talks are in recess until Tuesday. The Allies insist they will not retreat from their final offer to exchange 10,000 Red prisoners for nearly 12,000 held by the Communists. About 99,000 other Communist military and civilian internees refuse to return to Red rule.

Fort Hood To Note Anniversary Date

FORT HOOD, May 24 (U.S.)—Fort Hood, the nation's largest government-owned military reservation, will celebrate Monday the second anniversary of its dedication as a permanent Army post.

It has been a busy two years on the 160,000-acre Central Texas range.

One complete armored division was shipped to Europe for the NATO defense set-up and another division activated, filled up with replacements and trained. The post played host to 150,000 troops in the largest joint Army-Air Force maneuver in history.

The location was selected by the Army in 1941 because of its climate, rolling terrain, occasional wooded areas, and the caliche subsoil which will support the heaviest of combat vehicles during all seasons of the year. A part of both Bell and Coryell Counties, the post served as the tank destroyer center during World War II.

Formerly known as Camp Hood, it was dedicated as Fort Hood in 1950.

After hostilities broke out in Korea in 1950, the post, then the home of the Second Armored Division, became engaged in the most intensive training program Central Texas had witnessed since World War II. Construction of permanent quarters, swimming pools and a new theatre was started.

In early February of this year, "Walker Village," a 508-unit Wherry Housing project to be completed in a few months, was dedicated. The $14,470,000 project is named in honor of General Walton H. Walker of Belton, the Eighth Army Commander who lost his life in a vehicle accident near Seoul, Korea, in 1950.

Golfers Play Ben Saturday

Winners Earn Bronze Medal

Every individual who can lift a golf club will get a chance to beat Ben Hogan and help sweet charity here next Saturday.

On that day, the famed Little Fort Worth pro will tour the Northwood Club in Dallas. Linksmen here and everywhere will get a chance to beat him.

They'll get a handicap, set by the home pro. Both local courses, the Big Spring Country Club and the Muny, will be used for the matches.

Entry fee is $1 plus green fee. The fees will be donated in equal shares to the USO, an agency of the United Defense Fund, and the "National Golf Fund."

Though the unique matches are being sponsored jointly by Life Magazine and the PGA, no part of the proceeds will be retained by either of those groups.

The contestants that top Hogan will be awarded a specially-cast bronze medal inscribed "I Beat Ben Hogan, National Gold Day, May 31, 1952."

It now appears some 300,000 men and women will take a crack at beating the country's leading pro on that day. An estimated 4,970 courses, public and private, will co-operate in staging the National Golf Day.

The test against Hogan, United States Open champion, is intriguing golf pro all across the land. Many feel that amateur and Sunday golfers are much better than they are given credit for and some experts have predicted that at least ten per cent of the players will lick Hogan. "The one golfer in America I have the greatest respect for is the weekend golfer," says Ben. "He is the business or professional man who shoots in the 80's, 90's, or 100's, but is always in there trying, whenever he can spare the time, and never quits in his battle against par."

Shirley Robbins and W. O. Maxwell Jr., the local pros, will soon have entry blanks, National Golf Day stickers to be attached to club score cards the day of the contest, sets of official rules prevailing on National Golf Day, and rules guiding the "Calloway Handicap System" which helps compute and establish a fair handicap on the basis of a single round for golfers who do not have an established club handicap.

Women contestants will be permitted to play from women's tees, and will be allowed five strokes in addition to their bona fide club handicap.

Radio and TV cameras will follow Hogan around the Northwood course and his score will be broadcast to every locker and clubhouse in the land. He tees off at 1 p.m.

Following the announcement of Hogan's score, all cards indicating that they beat the "champion" will be counterchecked by the club pro, Golf Committee, or public course official and sent by him to National Golf Day headquarters so that medal winners can receive their awards at the earliest possible date.

Dusters Stage Rally To Nip Broncs, 8-5

VERNON, (AP)—Breaks played an important role here Friday night when the Vernon Dusters evened the series with the Big Spring Broncs by scoring an 8-5 victory.

Big Spring led 2-0 until the fifth inning when the first breaks for Vernon came along.

In the first inning Buddy Grimes singled across Rickie Gonzales. In the second Al Valdes and Reggi Corrales, the starting and losing Big Spring pitcher, both singled. Valdes scored from second when Vernon Pitcher Jesus Sosa bobbled a slow ground off the bat of Gonzales.

In the fifth, Vernon tied the game then the breaks started coming for the Duster's first lead. Popeye Carreras led off with a gratis trip. Sosa fanned. Lou Ehlinger flied out and Leon English doubled to left center with Carreras scoring from first. John Reimold hit a long fly ball to left and Juan Vistuer dropped it—English scored the tying run. John Follis went to first on interference by Valdes. This was another break because the Duster keystone had fled out to left. Art Neal walked to load the sacks.

Fred Oliveri was safe on an error by Ozale Alvarez, with Reimold scoring. With the bags still choked, Joe Nieldsen walked to force in Follis. Carreras walked his second time during the big inning to force in Neal with the fifth run of the canto.

An infield error, a base on balls and a long single scored the two runs for Big Spring in the ninth inning rally.

Corrales left the mound to don the catcher's tools in the bottom of the fifth. Valdes was given the heave-ho by Umpire Melchin after the Cuban backstopper disputed the interference call. Fernandez pitched to four men, walking three and Tommy Shaffer came in to finish the game.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

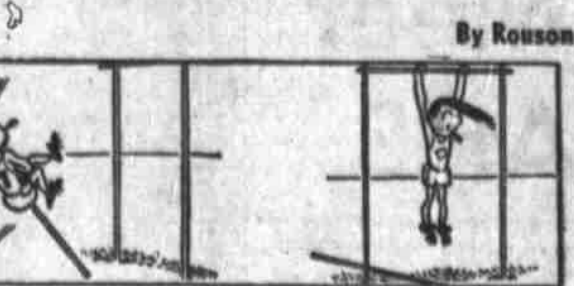

Roy Baird, who has handled the Junior High football team here expertly for a number of seasons, will be promoted to a varsity job in the near future . . . A. D. Ensey is warning Odessa baseball club officials that attendance there will have to pick up or the Oilers will not finish in the black . . . Odessa is similar to Big Spring in that it doesn't warm to baseball until school is out . . . When Orville Eckstine, the Longhorn League arbiter, was in junior college at Webster City, Iowa, the school's basketball team squared off with Eagle Grove JC, whose quintet was coached by Bobby Savage, the ex-Big Spring High School cager . . . Eckstine recalls Savage as the best softball pitcher he's ever seen in action . . . Big Spring has by far the closest right field fence (to home plate) in the Longhorn League but fewer home runs are probably hit out here in that direction than any other park in the wheel because of prevailing winds . . . Sponsors appear plentiful for Little League baseball in 1953, says D. R. Gartman . . . Two of them are already in line . . . St. Louis Brownie stock, which went begging for $6 a share before Bill Veck took over, is now worth twice that . . . Midland has averaged more than 1,000 paid admissions at its home baseball games, with the good days still to come . . . That'll be a draw of 70,000 plus . . . Montreal and Seattle were supposed to be the only AAA ball clubs which made money in 1951 . . . Troy White, who recently won the Big Lake Golf Tournament, used to caddy for Ohio Bristow here.

Junior-Maxwell To Attend Open

In his brief stay with the Chicago Cubs before being returned to Los Angeles, Leon Brinkopf, the Odessa ex, collected four hits in 22 trips to the plate . . . It appears that the Oil Bowl football game will go on at Wichita Falls this season . . . Oklahoma coaches have already been named . . . They are Bom Bomgardner of Sapulpa and Jack Cox of Sulphur . . . The Texans may use junior college mentors to get around the Texas Interscholastic League ruling that no high school man can be employed . . . The game may return $8,000 profit for each side, or $2,000 more than the record, because there'll be no tax on the game this year . . . Felix Gomez, the former Big Spring fly-chaser, is hitting about .285 for Texas City . . . W. O. Maxwell Jr., plans to be on the sidelines at the Northwood course in Dallas next month when the National Open starts . . . The local pro says he's set no date for the City Tournament because the local course can't stand too much traffic until the rains come . . . Sandman Guider, who is now playing second base for the Big Spring Giants, led the American Negro League in hitting last season with a .415 mark while performing for the Kansas City Monarchs . . . Claude Tucker, who plays third base for the Giants, is the same fellow who used to star in football for the Lakeview School team . . . Bobby Dykes, the Texas welter, continues to knock 'em dead . . . He chilled Nick Moran in the fifth round in Miami Beach recently in his quest for another shot at the crown . . . Archie Moore, perhaps the best lightweight in the country, is 36 years of age and getting older every day.

Ponies, Tornadoes Top Elevens

Milton (Speedy) Moffett, the Snyder High School grid mentor, is picking Sweetwater and Lamesa to be the toughest grid outfits in District 1-AAA next fall and not necessarily in that order . . . He's got plenty of company in the rooting sections . . . Vernon may have something to say about who wins the bunting, though . . . Tackle Harold Miller, Center George Morris and Back Leon Hardeman of the Georgia Tech grid team that will meet SMU in Dallas next fall have already been named to the Southeastern Conference 1952 all-star teams . . . by the coaches, that is . . . The Engineers were heavily backed to win the SEC crown by the mentors, in a recent poll . . . Tennessee was rated second and Mississippi third, followed by Alabama . . . Most of the players that performed for the Knott basketball team in the YMCA Basketball League here last winter are now throwing the fastball around for the Brook's Appliance club in the Y Industrial circuit . . . How grotesque are they? A German wrestler coming to this country (name: Kurt Zebe) is billed as being eight feet tall and weighing 700 pounds . . . Actually, he's 7-6 and tips the scales at 428 . . . Dean Higgins, who took the loss when Big Spring defeated Sweetwater last Monday night, won 18 games and finished with the circuit's best ERA for Pauls Valley in Sooner State League play in 1951 . . . He's only 18 . . . Bert Nelhoff, the veteran baseballer, says night baseball is bad for the athletes not because the lights strain the players' eyes but rather due to the fact that it disrupts normal eating and sleeping habits . . . Players usually eat their biggest meals just before they go to bed, which is against all recommendations.

Ralph Lowe Turns Six Million Lease Deal

Ralph Lowe, Midland independent oil operator, announced today a six-million dollar cash deal involving oil property in Andrews and Ector counties.

WEEK'S REVIEW Basin's Deepest Producer Finaled

By JOHN B. BREWER
SAN ANGELO, May 24—One of the 10 deepest oil wells in the nation was completed as an Ellenburger discovery in Andrews County this week to feature West Texas oil news.

Magnolia No. 1 University, the Andrews strike, fished for a daily flow of 555 barrels of 44.7 gravity oil from Ellenburger perforations at 13,840-884 feet. Total depth is 13,913 feet.

The well is 345 feet deeper than Buffalo No. 12-B Balah, Devonian discovery in the shallow Maljamar field of Central-West Les County N.M., and heretofore the deepest producer with Permian Basin. Location of No. 1 University is 600 feet out of the northwest corner of section 17-8 University, 12 miles east of Andrews.

An indicated Southeastern Upton County Strawn discovery, Oscar Bourg Drilling Co. and Clark Development Co. No. 2 University, was flowing at the week end on various size chokes and making 15 barrels of oil an hour, no water. Earlier, it flowed 77 barrels of new oil in 80 minutes through acidized perforations between 8,570-612 feet. Originally, this project was drilled to 11,200 feet by Republic Natural Gas and Seaboard but these operators abandoned the test and Bourg took over and ran casing through the Pennsylvanian. Location is 600 from section 18-15 University, four miles southwest of Rankin.

Casing will be run for completion from the Ellenburger at Superior No. 4-16 Windham, Southwestern Midland County wildcat. The strike flowed 114 barrels of 51.9 gravity oil in 80 minutes on a test from 13,178-245 feet in the Ellenburger. Location is C NW NW 18-40-4e-T&P 18 miles southwest of Midland and a mile northeast of No. 3-C June Tippett, Ellenburger producer in the Sweetie Peck field. The wildcat has also recovered oil from the Devonian.

A North-Central Runnels-County Gardner sand discovery, John A. Messenger No. 1 M. C. Dale, completed for a daily flow of 265 barrels of 46 gravity oil plus 20 per cent water, gas-oil ratio of 1,850-1. Production was from perforations between 4,128-52 feet, the total depth. Location is 2,186 from north, 1,580 feet from west line of J. G. McKean survey S34, five miles southeast of Winters and 1-1/2 miles southwest of production in the Nora (Gardner) field.

A lower Pennsylvanian strike in Crane County was completed, Jake two million dollars for the option to acquire a one-eighth interest in the oil and gas leases on the same spread.

Under the transaction Texas Eastern gets the lease interest on 2,700 acres of the spread and Forest gets the lease interest on 2,800 acres of the spread.

These concerns have agreed to pay Lowe $500 per acre out of 1-16th of any oil and gas that may be produced by their interests in the spread.

With those two concerns having acquired a total of interest of 5,500 acres out of the 23,040-acre spread, the oil payment would aggregate $4,320,000, if and when made.

The deal between Lowe and Texas Eastern and Forest was closed on May 15, the anniversary date of a one-year option Lowe took on the spread on May 15, 1951, from David and Inez Fasken, the owners of the property, which is commonly referred to as the Midland Farms Area or the "C" Ranch.

The option Lowe secured in May, 1951, called for him to make a seismograph survey, and gave him the right to lease certain selected acreage out of the spread by and before May 15, 1951.

The Faskens retained the oil and gas lease on approximately one-quarter of a section in each of the 48 sections of land which were covered by Lowe's option.

Shortly after he took the option in 1951 Lowe sold a one-half interest in the option to Magnolia Petroleum Co. for an unreported cash payment plus other considerations.

A part of that consideration between Lowe and Magnolia was that Magnolia make the seismograph survey and pay expenses of that survey.

The survey was completed several days ago.

After selling Magnolia a one-half interest in the option, which gave that concern the right to acquire the oil and gas lease on a 11,520-acre interest in the 23,040-acre spread, Lowe retained the option to acquire the lease on the other 11,520 acres in the deal.

He has now sold 8,640 acres of that interest to Texas Eastern and Forest.

Lowe retained a one-eighth interest in the option, which is a 2,880-acre part in the 23,040-acre deal.

L. Hamon and Forest Oil Corp. No. 1-A University, C SW NE 12-30-U, completing for a daily pumping potential of 96.6 barrels of oil plus 60 per cent water following acidization. Gravity of the oil was 42.1 degrees with production from perforations between 8,577-305 feet. It is three miles northeast of the Dunex (Grayburg-San Andres) field.

Lion No. 1 J. M. Shannon, central Crockett County wildcat, logged gas-distillate shows after topping the Ellenburger at 6,945 feet on elevation of 2,662 feet, more than 500 feet high to dry holes on the northwest and southwest. Operator is drilling below 7,100 feet in lime and will go to 7,150 feet before drillstem testing again. Location is 1,980 from north, 660 feet from east lines of section 46-UV-C&S, 14 miles northwest of Oona.

Reagan County gained a small pumping Spraberry strike completion when White Eagle No. 2 Ringo fished for a daily potential of 88 barrels of 39 gravity oil plus two per cent water. Location is 666.8 from south, 666.3 feet from east lines of section 8-D-LaSV, 2 1/4 miles east-southeast of the Aldwell Spraberry field.

The Aldwell-Spraberry field was extended a mile to the east on the south side. L. B. Jackson No. 1-A Aldwell fished for a daily flow of 281.21 barrels of 39.2 gravity oil plus three per cent water. Location is 660 from north, 1,980 feet from west lines of section 35-C-LaSV.

Reagan gained a wildcat, Cities Service No. 1-J TXL, 660 feet out of the southeast corner of section 45-36-5e-T&P. Contract depth is to 7,700 feet.

BABES IN WOOD BORN ON SOFA
NEW YORK, May 24 (U)—Three little kittens, their eyes not yet opened, apparently were real babes in the wood.

Jessie Smalls, employee of a Brooklyn furniture store, found the kittens when he opened a crate from Los Angeles. They were nestling on a sofa in the wooden case.

The mother cat, who apparently gave birth to the triplets during the transcontinental trip in a railroad boxcar, was nowhere around.

Pool in Tulsa County the following year. Since 1884, leasing methods have undergone many changes but the agency still sells them by public auction to the highest bidder. Those of dead tribesmen are sold through county court.

The wildcat is not on acreage involved in an oil trade announced in today's issue by Lowe.

Ralph Lowe No. 1 David Fasken will be a southeastern Andrews wildcat projected to the Ellenburger.

Location for this test is 2,180 from the south and 530 from the west lines of section 43-41-1n, G&MMB&A survey. This puts it 36 miles southeast of Andrews. Operations on the 14,000-foot test are to start at once. This is a twin to the Grayburg producer in the Midland Farms field which produces above 5,000. The wildcat is not on acreage involved in an oil trade announced in today's issue by Lowe.

Scurry Explorer Coring After Oil Unloads On Test

American Trading No. 1 Howell, stepout to the Hermleigh-Ellenburger field in Southeast Scurry, prepared to core after unloading oil.

After a four hour drillstem test in the Ellenburger 7,355-7,408, the drillpipe was pulled. After 17 stands were pulled, the pipe started unloading and unloaded the remainder of the way out. Recovery was 5,850 feet of oil and no water. Open flowing bottomhole pressure was 61,825, and the 30-minute shutin pressure was 2,750. Top of the Ellenburger was 7,380 on an elevation of 2,380. Coring was started Saturday.

Martin Test To Fracture Sand Zone

Phillips No. 1-C Scharbauer, 19 miles northwest of Stanton, prepared to fracture through perforations in the Spraberry and test further.

Earlier after being bottomed at 9,000 and setting the 7-in. at 9,000, the test was perforated from 8,900-53. Swabbed naturally for 24 hours it returned 25 barrels of clear water and 25 barrels of muddy water. Location is 1,320 from south and 7,000 from west lines of lease in section 324, LaSalle CSL.

Humble No. 1 Blocker, C NW NW 10-37-1s, T&P, had trouble with the swabbing unit and reported no recovery of oil or other fluid for the past 24 hours. The trouble has been repaired and swabbing now being tested in the upper Dean from 8,700-80.

DeKalb No. 1 Knox, C NW NE 233 Ward CSL, 11 miles north of Tarzan, was at 9,462 feet, conditioning hole to deepen. It had swabbed out fluid with some slight shows of new oil and gas. The zone was lower Spraberry.

Location for this test is 2,180 from the south and 530 from the west lines of section 43-41-1n, G&MMB&A survey. This puts it 36 miles southeast of Andrews. Operations on the 14,000-foot test are to start at once. This is a twin to the Grayburg producer in the Midland Farms field which produces above 5,000. The wildcat is not on acreage involved in an oil trade announced in today's issue by Lowe.

Believes Mental Cases In School

CORSICANA, May 24 (U)—A high percentage of Texas state training school inmates are "mental cases," a member of the Texas Youth Development Council believes.

Atty. Leslie Jackson of Dallas said here that for that reason a diagnostic center for juvenile delinquents is badly needed in Texas. Jackson addressed Navarro County's bar association yesterday. He is a former Baylor University Law School dean.

Three Locations For Glasscock Spraberry Set

Three locations in the Driver Spraberry area were listed and one wildcat was abandoned in Glasscock County at the end of the week.

Jake L. Hamon No. 1 Glenn Brunson, 660 from the north and west lines of section 2-36-4e, T&P, a Tex Harvey pool outpost, plugged and abandoned at 7,782 in sand. Elevation was 2,704. Top of the upper Spraberry was 6,798 and that of the lower Spraberry was 7,467. There were no shows for commercial production in this stepout which is about 13 miles west of Garden City.

Dallas Interests Buy Oil Lease

DALLAS, May 24 (U)—Thirty-two producing oil wells on six leases in Titus County have been sold for $2,500,000 to Dallas interests, the Dallas Times Herald learned today.

American Liberty Oil Company has acquired a two-thirds interest and Joe A. Humphrey the remaining one-third, D. R. Zachary, vice president of American Liberty, said.

The properties are in the Paul Pettit field in Northeast Titus County. It was understood the deal was a cash sale. Titus County is in Northeast Texas.

The two Dallas operators bought the interests of Randy Moore of Omaha, Neb., Morris Coates of Longview and W. C. Stevens of Omaha. One source estimated production of the wells at 1,600 barrels daily of 18 gravity oil. All told, about 120 wells have been drilled in the Pettit field.

American Liberty has a refinery only 15 miles away at Mt. Pleasant. The wells will constitute reserves for possible future use, Zachary said. For the present, production will continue to be sold to Humble Pipe Line Company which has a line near the Pettit field, he explained.

Independent May Battle Stock Plan

By TEX EASLEY
WASHINGTON, May 24 (U)—Gas and oil men have a new fight on their hands in Congress—over a proposal that would require registration with the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC) of all stocks and bonds offered for sale.

A Texas oil man told a House Commerce Subcommittee this week why independent operators — of which he said his company was typical—oppose the idea.

"The very nature of our business," Gordon Simpson of Dallas, testified, "requires that we act speedily. . . and without the disclosure of our business plans."

Simpson, executive vice president of the General American Oil Company, said registration with the SEC would tip off competitors about a company's plans and often ruin a transaction.

The committee is studying operation of the SEC Act to determine if any changes should be made in it. The registration proposal came from investment bankers. The committee has taken no action on it.

Simpson urged the committee to do nothing that would disturb the present system under which a company seeking money is able to negotiate privately with life insurance companies and other investing firms.

The Texas went into details of the operation of his firm, which he described as "a small independent company, as oil companies go."

He said his company employs 345 persons at holdings in seven states—Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Louisiana, Kansas, Illinois and California.

"In the oil business," Simpson said, "those with whom we deal are persons who wish things done simply, promptly and in a manner that will satisfy their particular requirements."

"Changes sometimes are necessary up to the very day on which the loan is made."

"Secrecy is required. Otherwise we run into the risk of having a deal taken away from us by competitors, and it has happened."

He cited his own company's growth since 1949 as evidence that the present system of private and direct placement of capital is best. Here are his own words:

"We estimated that as of June 30, 1949, the net proved crude oil reserves of our company were 31 1/4 million barrels, and that as of Feb. 29, 1952, they were 67,700,000 barrels, an increase of 36 million barrels-plus.

"Our net income has had a like proportionate increase, from, for instance, 1949, $2,800,000, to, in 1950, $3,200,000, and in 1951, $4,400,000. And, this year's income promises to be comparable.

"As shown by a balance sheet of June 30, 1949, our net worth was something over 12 million dollars. Our balance sheet of Feb. 29, 1952, showed the net worth was over 28 million dollars.

"This increase is due wholly to our earnings, except for 3 1/4 million dollars derived from the sale of stock in 1951, which was registered with the SEC. It was distributed publicly.

"Now, the principal reason for the substantial increase in our company's earnings as above set forth has been a million dollars placements of 6 million dollars about Dec. 23, 1950, and 4 1/4 million dollars early this year.

"In addition, the company is currently negotiating for another direct placement of about 15 million dollars.

"If it had been necessary to register with the SEC the loans which made possible such substantial acquisitions, it is very likely that none of these acquisitions could have been made.

"This is because many of our competitors have substantial funds available for such purposes, whereas we and other comparatively small independents do not, and the very nature of our business requires that we act speedily and have available sources of funds from firm commitments which can be made within a matter of days, and without disclosure of our business plans."

He said he agreed with the SEC objective of protecting the general public from worthless securities but that registration is unnecessary when loans are obtained directly from large institutions which are well able to evaluate the risks involved.

IN THE MILLIONS 'Springs' Make Pretty Good Medicine For The Indian

By CLARENCE MANTOOTH
Associate Oil Editor, Tulsa World

TULSA, Okla., May 24 (U)—The "medicine springs" of territorial days are still paying off for five civilized tribesmen of Eastern Oklahoma more than a century after first being reported.

These springs, or oil seepages, were mentioned by an agent of the Chickasaws as early as 1846 in his report to Washington.

As the search for oil moved into Indian Territory these evidences of crude on Indian property brought on an inevitable demand for leases.

Probably the first such arrangement was made in 1884 by the Cherokee Oil Co. to a New York operator who was given the right to produce oil on about 20,000 square miles of Cherokee and Choctaw lands.

The turn of the century, however, found no important discoveries in the territory.

It wasn't until 1901, when the Sue A. Bland Test Well came in near Tulsa, that oil men halted the area's oil potential.

By 1906, the year before Oklahoma statehood, an oil lease division was established by the Union Indian Agency at Muskogee where 803 Creek and 8,986 Cherokee leases were filed for approval. Leasing was further stimulated by discovery of the prolific Glen Pool in Tulsa County the following year. Since 1884, leasing methods have undergone many changes but the agency still sells them by public auction to the highest bidder. Those of dead tribesmen are sold through county court.

The leases are for 10 years, or for as long as oil or gas is produced in paying quantities.

A successful bidder has 30 days from the sale date to procure and file at the Muskogee office a lease and supporting papers.

And while the agency handles the sale and receives the bonus offer, it is the buyer's task to find the Indian landholder. If the Indian is hard to locate, services of an expert are available for a fee.

Occasionally an Indian refuses to sign, holding out for a bigger bonus. In the early days, less scrupulous tribesmen were known to have sold leases on their property to every buyer who applied, much to everyone's confusion.

The tribes, in 1930—their best year—were paid $6,034,287.38 for leases. Royalties and bonuses totaling $86,678,587.95 by that year, the last date of complete compilation, had been realized by tribesmen since 1884.

Current royalties on 874 producing tracts bring in 3 1/2 million annually. More and more Indians now are getting their royalty payments directly from the purchasers instead of through the agency.

Program Is Planned To Honor E.C. Dodd

A program in appreciation of the little more than six years of service of E. C. Dodd as president of Howard County Junior College will be held Monday at 8 p.m. in the HCJC auditorium.

More than a dozen people, representing various segments of the college and community life, will speak briefly.

Dodd, who resigned his post a month ago, is to sever his ties with HCJC after the June 2 commencement. The board fixed the effective date of his resignation at the end of June to provide for vacation time which he had not taken during his tenure. On July 1 he is to assume the presidency of the Southwest Texas Junior College at Uvalde.

A veteran educator, Dodd came here in the spring of 1946 as first president of the college, set up the curriculum and spearheaded efforts which resulted in opening of HCJC for its initial term in September of that same year. He also played a key role in subsequent developments, including the new physical plant at Birdwell Lane and Eleventh Place.

At the program, Bill Thompson, president of the HCJC student council, will preside. Dell McComb will be the master of ceremonies and there will be songs by Chaplain and Mrs. John Little.

Expression of appreciation are to be heard from Mrs. Frances Hendricks, day student; J. H. Greene, chamber of commerce manager; Shine Phillips, for the community; Walker Bailey, coffee club; George M. Hank, faculty; Dr. W. B. Hardy, Boy Scouts; Horace Garrett, vice president of the board; J. L. Christensen, night student; R. W. Thompson, Rotary; Arah Phillips, classroom teachers; W. S. Morrison, board attorney; Dan Conley, song leader. There will be refreshments in the little auditorium following the program. The public is invited to participate.

To Graduate

Cadet Omar Pitman Jr. will be graduated from the Junior College Division of the New Mexico Military Institute at Roswell on June 3. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Omar Pitman of Big Spring.

Report Weather Project To End

It was reported yesterday that at a meeting of the board of directors of the Howard County Farm Bureau held during the week, the matter of continuing the cloud seeding contract with the Water Resources Development Corporation was discussed, and that the directors unofficially agreed the project might as well be dropped.

Cecil Leatherwood, bureau president, said the action was not official and followed an informal discussion of the matter. He said he thought, however, that if the directors took any official action at all in the matter it would follow the lines of the discussion at the last meeting.

Howard County has already paid its first quarterly installment on the project which entitles it to participation through June since the seeding operations were started April 1.

Counties Lose Bid For Cuts In Assessment

AUSTIN, May 24 (AP)—Two Lower Rio Grande Valley counties today lost their first court attempt to win a lower financial assessment for support of the public school program because of the January, 1951 freeze disaster.

Dist. Judge Charles O. Betts refused the plea of Hidalgo and Cameron Counties that the economic index assigned them by the State Board of Education was invalid because it failed to take the freeze damage into consideration. The freeze wiped out Valley citrus. The economic index determines how much each of the state's 254 counties must contribute toward support of the minimum education program under the Giler-Alkin school laws.

Atty. Gen. Price Daniel said Judge Betts' decision upheld Daniel's previous written opinion that the Giler-Alkin Act is constitutional and that the school board's decision in establishing the new economic index was valid.

Dan Moody, attorney for the 26 valley school districts attacking the law, gave notice of appeal.

Youth Drowns

MINEOLA, May 24 (AP)—Paul Carpenter, 12, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Carpenter of Silver Lake, drowned in Saline Creek today after falling from a horse.

Ex-Corrier Dies

WACO, May 24 (AP)—A retired Marlin rural mail carrier died today shortly after his car and a trailer truck collided. He was Quincy Barnes, 74.

TEXAS BRANDS

TL

By JOHN M. HENDRIX

The TL is used on approximately 1,500 good Hereford cattle in Clay and Archer Counties by Dr. A. B. Edwards of Henrietta. The brand was registered in these counties in 1880 by the Wichita Land and Cattle Company, and was sold by that company to Mrs. Lula P. Hunt and by her to Dr. Edwards. It is one of the older brands in the Henrietta section and in 1885 was worn by approximately 12,000 cattle on 126,000 acres of land.

Last Session On C-C Week List Was Biggest

The last was the biggest and best of all, commented J. H. (Jimmie) Greene, manager of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce, in describing the Friday afternoon session of the Chamber's Special Committee Division.

He said attendance was larger at this meeting than at any of the other four which had been held, following a social gathering and the serving of refreshments, between 3:30 and 5:30, each afternoon Monday through Thursday.

Friday afternoon's meeting was under the general chairmanship of Jack Roden. The committees composing this division are those on safety and street traffic; sports; program of work; committee on committees; meetings and attendance; special events; publicity and public relations; legislation; greeters; rodeo; property and taxation, and guests and entertainment.

Monday afternoon the Civic Activities Division met under the chairmanship of R. W. Whipkey. Tuesday afternoon's session was of the Commercial Division with Roy Reeder as general chairman; Wednesday's session was devoted to the activities of the Industrial Division of which R. L. Beale is general chairman, and Thursday's meeting was that of the Organizational Affairs Divisions, under the direction of Chairman Douglas Orme.

The affairs of the Chamber of Commerce, Greene points out, are conducted through more than 45 committees, and each of these committees is assigned to one of the five divisions. All the meetings were open to the public and many who were not members of the Chamber of Commerce attended, which pleased the manager very much.

"The Chamber of Commerce belongs to the community, to all the people of Big Spring and Howard County," Greene explains. "These were their meetings and we wanted them to attend and we are sincerely sorry more of them didn't get there."

The purpose of the meetings he said was to give the committee members an opportunity to become better acquainted with each other and with the duties and obligations of their committees.

Chamber of Commerce President Truman Jones was present at all the meetings. Assisting him were Greene; Loyd Wooten, who is in charge of memberships and projects; Miss Edith Gay, secretary, and Mrs. Constance Regue, receptionist. Several wives of members assisted in serving refreshments at the office each afternoon just before the business meetings which were held in the Settles Hotel ballroom.

"We all got a great deal of good from these meetings," Jones said yesterday. "It gave us a chance to talk things over, and many of those attending had something to say and they said it. From the suggestions we received it looks like we are going to be able to work out answers to some of our problems. And we all enjoyed these meetings, too."

Court Session Is Light Again

Yesterday morning's Corporation Court docket was a light one.

Two persons charged with drunkenness were fined $25 and $21 respectively; a motorist without an operators license was taxed $25, and a juvenile on the same charge was fined $10 and required to write a traffic safety slogan 100 times.

Two vagrants were fined $15 each; a defective brake charge fine was $10, and a motorist who failed to observe a stop sign was fined $5.

Mishap Reported

Police traffic reports list Harold C. Moss, 631 Caylor Drive, operating a 1948 Pontiac, and Elbert Herman Bouillon, 410 Surry, operating a 1950 Buick, as the motorists involved in a mishap at 4th and Gollad at 9 a.m. yesterday.

Contract Is Let By General Motors

AUSTIN, May 24 (AP)—Award of the 18 million dollar contract for construction of a General Motors Plant at Arlington gave Texas a $32,744,513 building total this week.

Thomas S. Byrne, Inc., of Ft. Worth won the General Motors contract.

The Texas Contractor, trade journal, reported residential lettings totalling $5,629,738; non-residential, $23,198,788; and engineering, $3,852,942.

STATE NATIONAL BANK Time Tried—Panic Tested

Texas Pact Leaves Five Major Strikes

By The Associated Press Another major settlement Saturday left only five major Texas oil refineries still idled by strikes.

The latest settlement was at the big Texas Company refinery at Port Arthur, now scheduled to resume production at 11 p.m. Sunday.

The Texaco workers, in the biggest union gathering ever seen in Port Arthur, accepted by voice vote Saturday the familiar package agreement which had restored peace to several other Texas oil plants.

This agreement includes a 15 cent an hour wage boost, effective Sunday, 6 and 12 cent differentials for the night shifts, and a 4.2 per cent wage raise retroactive to last Jan. 1. The latter provision amounts to about nine cents an hour.

The average hourly wage now for the Oil Workers International Union (CIO) members $2.09 and $2.10.

Crown and Shell on the Houston Ship Channel, Magnolia at Beaumont, Pan American at Texas City, and Pure Oil at Nederland.

The strike which began April 29 had closed 35 Texas refineries. Since the Wage Stabilization Board ordered a 15 cent an hour raise, plant-by-plant negotiations have been going on.

About 3,500 workers were involved in the Texaco settlement. It was expected to speed full resumption of production in Jefferson County's big synthetic rubber and chemical plants. The U. S. Rubber and Goodrich synthetic plants at Port Neches, and the Neches Butane Products Co. at Port Neches, are dependent on the refineries for their raw materials.

MR. AND MRS. MICHAEL KOKINAKIS AND FAMILY

Newcomers Bring Rain To BS From Detroit

When it rains in West Texas that's one thing. But when newcomers bring a downpour with them from Detroit, Mich. that's something else.

The kindhearted souls in question are Mr. and Mrs. Michael Kokinakis, Patsy, 8, James and Jean Dimitri, 19 and 23.

Earlier this year, the family made a quick trip to Big Spring. Upon leaving, Mr. Kokinakis told his brother-in-law, James Petroff, that the next time the family came to Texas they would bring rain.

The day the group arrived to make their permanent home here, a deluge fell. It didn't last long, it's true, but it was moisture.

Mr. and Mrs. Kokinakis were born in Greece. She was born in Florida, which means gold in Greek, and his home is Chio's.

"We're so happy to be here," Mrs. Kokinakis commented. "In fact we just love the place."

But blue-eyed Patsy thought otherwise. "I'm homesick," she said. "I miss the television."

Patsy is the pet of the family. Her main objective right now is to own a pony.

"Everytime we saw a horse on the way down, we had to stop and let 'Pat' pet him," Jean laughed. James went to school here one year and has a senior ring from Big Spring High School. But, being cosmopolitan, he also has a ring from a Detroit school where he graduated.

Mrs. Kokinakis is a crochet addict and finds that the patterns in the newspaper can usually be copied with ease. She has made many tablecloths and other things and dotes on giving them as gifts.

Mr. Kokinakis works with his brother-in-law in the Club Cafe. He owned a similar establishment in Detroit.

Mrs. Gibson's Pupils To Present Recitals

Music and voice students of Mrs. S. H. Gibson will present two recitals during the week.

One will be held Wednesday and the other Thursday. Both will begin at 8:15 p.m. at the City Auditorium.

The public is invited.

Ladies Golf Association Has Show Of Casual Clothes

Casual clothes designed by Mrs. Clara Shawver of Mineral Wells were modeled at a style show at the Country Club Friday at the luncheon meeting of the Ladies Golf Association.

In designing the clothes, Mrs. Shawver takes into consideration the personalities and hobbies of her customers and then designs the garments to suit individual tastes.

Models for the show were Mrs. Tommy Jordan, Mrs. Z. M. Boykin, Mrs. Tommy Hutto, Mrs. Earlyn Russell and Mrs. Dick Gundy. Mrs. R. P. Kountz served as commentator.

The luncheon celebrated the end of the golf tournament. Golf winners were Mrs. Frank Dillon, high medalist in the flag tournament; Mrs. Frank Proctor, high in the tournament.

It was announced that a flag tournament would be held today and participants were to tee-off anytime in the afternoon.

On June 14 at 7:30 p.m. there will be a barbecue. Plates will cost $1.50 and dancing will follow.

Mrs. R. R. McEwen won the door prize.

Attending were 31 including two guests, Mrs. Bill Tate of Dallas and Mrs. W. N. Phillips of Arkansas.

When the couple left on their wedding trip, the bride wore a gold and white metallic print dress with a white organdy duster. She wore white accessories and a corsage from the middle of her bouquet. HI-TALK

By Margie McDougale

The good old summer time is here at last and school is out. The last week of school was a busy one. Everyone has been busy cramming for final exams. The seniors took their exams Monday through Wednesday and got out of school Thursday and Friday. The juniors and sophomores took exams all week and didn't get out until Friday.

The senior assembly was held Wednesday morning. During this assembly Jeff Hanna turned over the student body presidency to Steve Koser the vice presidency to Jimmy Porter and Joyce Anderson gave her job as secretary to Bea Vaughn. Student Council representatives were also recognized during the assembly program. Eve McElreath gave a speech "Advice to the Juniors." This was followed by the senior class history by Barbara Smith. The seniors then sang a farewell song to BSHS and then they sang the school song "Dear Old Big Spring High" for the last time. Shirley Riddle closed the ceremony with a solo "May the Good Lord Bless and Keep You." The seniors then gave their place as seniors to the Juniors. Through a close election Shirley Wheat will be next year's band queen. There was a close race between Shirley and Joyce Gound. The votes were tied twice but Shirley won out by three votes.

Saturday morning at 3 a. m. the seniors left for Carlsbad, N. M. At 5 they toured the Caverns. They had lunch at the concession stand in the Caverns. After leaving the Caverns they had an hour and a half to look over Carlsbad. They then boarded the buses and went to the beach. At the beach there were pavilions to dance, carnival grounds and boats to ride. The buses left at 10 New Mexico time to come home. The seniors of 1952 will graduate Tuesday night at 8:30 in the senior high auditorium. This year's commencement exercises climax the fiftieth anniversary celebration of the Big Spring Independent School District. We are fortunate in having as our speaker the President of Georgia Institute of Technology, Dr. Blake R. Van Leer, who is also a graduate of Big Spring High School. Superintendent of Schools W. C. Blankenship will preside. Lane Bond and Wanda Woods will be the student speakers. They will speak on "Education Today and Tomorrow" and "Education Yesterday and Today." Student body president Jeff Hanna will give the forward address. The graduates will be introduced by Assistant Principal Mayron Shields and Dan Conley, a member of the school board, will present the diplomas. The certification of graduates will be made by Principal Roy D. Worley. Evelyn Wilson will sing "I Love Thee," and Mary Frances Norman will sing "You'll Never Walk Alone." The invocation will be brought by the high school Bible instructor, the Rev. Ed Welch, while Rev. Cecil Rhodes will give the benediction. The processional and recessional are to be played by Jackie Simpson. Sunday evening the seniors will attend the baccalaureate service held in the auditorium. The invocation will be given by Dr. P. D. O'Brien and the Rev. Maple Avery will deliver the sermon. Friday morning BSHS students received the senior edition of the Corral. The paper consisted of events happening throughout the year. There were pictures of the Ranch Week dance and the queen and of the Junior-Senior Banquet and Prom. Also featured were the seniors' wills to the Juniors.

If you want to preserve fruits and vegetables use a sieve or a food mill rather than a strainer. A sieve has its wire mesh supported by crosswires and so is strong enough to stand having food forced through it; a strainer is not reinforced in this way and if foods are forced through it, the wire mesh is likely to pull away from the frame.

CAMPUS CHATTER

By Jan Masters

The 1952 Jayhawk annuals arrived on Wednesday.

The annual HCJC prom was held Thursday night in the Hotel Settles ballroom with Murph Thorp and his orchestra furnishing the music for dancing. Refreshments were served during the intermission.

The ballroom was decorated in a South Sea Island theme. Numerous floral arrangements of greenery filled the room. At the north end of the ballroom, there was a large vase with palm trees and scattered flowers.

Some of the kids really having a swell time were: Gayle Price and Russell Green; Pat Lloyd and Ray Adams; Mary Sue White and Doyle Mason; Darlene Speed and Jerry Fowler; Beverly Jones and Jimmy Wilcox; Jimmie Jennings and Judy Lawson; Jackie Jennings and Bobbie Adams; Donald and Betty McAdams; La Nell Engle and Robert Reagan; Bill Thompson and Anita Forrest; Lou Ann Nall and Billy Wayne King; Dallas Williams and Pat Saunders; Casey Jones and Jo Ann Miller; Donnie Barnes and Shirley McGinnis; Cecil Hoggar and Sandra Swartz; Ross Word and Marilyn Jackson; Howard Washburn and Melba Ray; W. Anita Forrest and Bill Thompson who will be married June 14.

An assembly of appreciation for the work of E. C. Dodd, first president of the college, will be held Monday at 8 p.m. in the college auditorium.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Dodd were recent visitors in Dallas.

Recent books purchased for the library are "Windows for the Crown Prince" by Elizabeth Gray Vining and several books of poetry, some by our own Texas poets.

Rutledge from the administration and education departments of the University of Texas; Clyde Dial, instructor in the Midway school; Donald H. Rahn of the Webb Air Base, who is from Ohio; John J. Members of the "Dirty Dozen" visited Mr. Dodd Wednesday.

Baccalaureate services will be held June 1 with Lloyd H. Thompson, First Christian pastor, bringing the message to the graduating class.

Graduation exercises will be held June 2 with Judge Walter Morrison bringing the address. Judge Morrison has been an active worker in the college since it was begun.

The HCJC choir will sing.

The Science Club had a barbecue at the home of James B. Frazier, instructor, Friday night.

The Science Club is attempting an "operation afloat" from HCJC to Sweetwater and back by way of Pioneer Air Lines. It is hoped that the entire Science Club will soon have a round-trip flight by Pioneer to Sweetwater and back. Science Club students thought that all students should have the experience of traveling by air at least once during their college career.

The 1952 summer session will have its first registration on June 3 and the second on July 14.

If you would like to secure more information about this summer course, you are invited to come to the college at any time to obtain information.

JACKET ENSEMBLE

Goodstein Designs Dress Good Anywhere, Anytime

Something to cotton to is this halter dress and jacket by David Goodstein. Mr. Goodstein liked this so much (and we concurred) that we thought you'd be downright pleased with the design, too.

As you know, David Goodstein is known for his clothes that are chic and simple—qualities that make one feel a Goodstein dress is a bargain at twice the price! This ensemble personifies these important qualities, the dress, in itself, being perfect—and the jacket an ideal "separates" contribution to anything else you've got designing.

Strictly for summer, the dress can be worn to the club in the afternoon, for dancing at night. When the jacket is added, you've got a glamorously cool costume for going anywhere, anytime.

Originally designed in a checkered fabric with a contrasting jacket, this smart creation will lend itself beautifully to linen, gingham, shantung, frosted sheers—and it will even go for denim (so good this year of our lives!) If you select what suits you, it will suit Pattern No. 1098.

Pattern No. 1098 requires 4-4 yds. of 39-inch material for size 12 (this, of course, is the yardage for the dress and bolero), and the pattern is available in sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20.

To order Pattern No. 1098, send $1 to Spadesa Syndicate, Inc., Dept. 164, Box 258, Madison Square Station, New York 10, N. Y. For air mail handling, enclose 25 cents. To order Pattern Booklet VI, send 15 cents.

A Bible Thought For Today—

Of no one, of nothing. This is God's world, and he is well able to keep it in his protective love. We belong to him too. "The Lord is the strength of my life, of whom shall I be afraid." — Ps. 27:1.

Sub-Standard Sanitation For Any Is Matter Of Concern For All

One of those things which seems to be nobody's business in particular, but which concerns everyone, is that of the lack of sanitary facilities on the part of some of our residents.

For years it has been an acknowledged fact that the northwest quarter of our city, with conditions of sub-standard housing and sub-standard living conditions, has many, many units not connected with the city's sewer system. Worse than that, some hardly possess any sort of facilities for disposing of effluents.

It is possible today to see in that quarter of the city outdoor privies, crudely fashioned out of scrap lumber and perched on the bare soil surface without any pretense at having so much as a pit to catch the refuse.

This problem has not gone unrecognized and unattended. The City of Big Spring a number of years ago took the lead in inducing residents to connect with the municipal system as is required by ordinance. Although the requirement is specifically stated, the city did not resort to force for at least two reasons. One was that it recognized financial limitations on the part of the people involved. The other was that the city couldn't serve all of them because lines weren't in reasonable proximity.

The latter condition has been corrected to a large extent and could be largely eradicated. But the problem of individuals financing the connection, the pipe to their homes, and then the installation of water closets is quite another matter. There are lots of families that simply don't have the money to connect with the city's sewer system. And if they did, some would have to make a water connection, too, for you can't operate a commode without water.

This is your problem, because, as we have pointed out time and time again, wind and rain off those slopes wash the human wastes right through the heart of the city.

Now what can be done about it? The City government can hardly afford to step in and make connections without charge. It certainly cannot make installations. Years ago several service and civic clubs contributed to what was called a revolving fund. Inhabitants of that area who lacked finances but who wanted to obtain modern sanitary facilities drew on this fund for aid. Then, over a long period of time, they repaid it. There was some loss, to be sure, but it was a good investment in a worthy community project.

Perhaps something in this direction could be done now, with good results. The city might be helpful in securing materials at low cost. All would contribute toward safer and more healthful Big Spring. We've already had a couple of polo cases over there, which would indicate that the time is ripe for action.

Truman Altering Tactics To Meet Ike As The GOP Nominee

WASHINGTON — While Sen. Taft is striving to beat Gen. Eisenhower at the Republican convention in July, President Truman is blocking out his plan for defeating the General in the election in November. This is the real meaning of the otherwise amazing presidential extravaganza of recent weeks.

The President's idea of his own role in his party is that of a pilot who charts the ship's future course before he leaves the bridge. Until fairly recently, the course he was charting was laid out in the belief that Sen. Taft would be the Republican nominee.

With Taft as the Republican standard-bearer, the President rightly anticipated that foreign policy would be the main issue of the campaign. Being firmly convinced that the national survival depends on the continuity of American foreign policy, Truman tackled his problem with the sobriety he reserves for the weightiest issues. The result was a beat-Taft plan based on unifying the Democratic Party, and attracting the maximum number of moderate independents and anti-isolationist Republicans to the Democratic standard.

Both the great factions among the Democrats were to be conciliated by the nomination of Gov. Stevenson of Illinois for the Presidency and Sen. Richard Russell of Georgia for the Vice Presidency. Civil rights and other controversial domestic issues were to be subordinated. Persons of every sort of view on internal policy were to be rallied by the battle cry, "Save freedom in the world."

When Sen. Taft seemed the probable Republican nominee, Gov. Stevenson was inclined to take the Democratic nomination. He changed his mind about it after New Hampshire and Minnesota. President Truman took a bit longer to decide that his plan for beating Taft might well be out of date. But there is no doubt at all that beating Gen. Eisenhower is the problem he is seeking to solve at present.

The beat-Eisenhower plan is almost the exact opposite, both in mood and content, of the beat-Taft plan. With Gen. Eisenhower as the Republican nominee, the President does not expect foreign policy to be a dominant issue. By all the signs, moreover, he feels a strong sense of release because foreign policy will be out of the way, and the coming campaign will thus not be such a solemn, life-and-death business.

At any rate, the beat-Eisenhower plan casts party unity to the winds. The President inclines to think that nothing can prevent the General from making inroads in the South. Hence, anticipated losses in the South are partly to be balanced by the strongest kind of line on civil rights, which is to attract a solid Negro vote to the Democrats in the North.

By the same token, the President suspects moderate, middle-class voters may be hard to detach from Eisenhower. Hence, losses in this sector are to be compensated for by the most powerful appeals to every sort of special interest in lower-income groups. Gen. Eisenhower is meanwhile to be portrayed as the unwitting tool of the sinister barons of big business, right perhaps in his instinct, but the prisoner of those who would oppress the farmer, enchain the laboring man and grind the faces of the down-trodden.

Ex-Nazi Is Now American Soldier

REA (AP)—A former Nazi paratrooper is WITH THE U.S. 45th DIVISION, known a top sergeant of the 245th Tank Battalion, 45th Division, serving in Korea. He is Master Sgt. Lothar A. Pallenin, who was captured by the U.S. 101st Airborne Division during the "Battle of the Bulge" in World War II.

After his capture in December, 1944, Pallenin spent the rest of the war in prisoner camps in Virginia and New York. Then he was returned to Germany where he worked for occupation forces until he entered the U.S. as an immigrant in July, 1949. He resided with an uncle in Belleville, N. J. until inducted into the U. S. Army in October, 1950.

Junior Should Aid Mom Do The Dishes

CHICAGO (AP)—Child psychologists overwhelmingly agree that little Johnny should help with the dishes.

This depressing fact for the younger set comes to light as the result of a nationwide survey by the parent's consultation service of the Book House for Children. Eighty-eight per cent of the 388 psychologists quizzed said little boys should be expected to do simple domestic chores.

The only ray of hope lay in a small number of psychologists who thought more masculine chores should be assigned particularly where there was a little sister around to help with the dishes.

Attorney General May Find A Good Investigation Job In Shipping Deal

WASHINGTON.—Now that Jim McGranery has become attorney general, it might pay him to have his subordinates dust the cobwebs off all the reports sent by other government departments requesting investigation of graft and corruption. He would get some interesting cases from the RFC on Congressman Boykin of Alabama, and the B. and O. Railroad; from the Commerce Department on shipping and sales of tin to China; plus various others.

And if McGranery's subordinates fail to locate all these cases underneath the dust, this columnist will be delighted to help.

As a starter, the new AG. might look at a case which the Commerce Department sent to the Justice Department months ago involving surplus government tankers, this one featuring Adm. Harold G. Bowen, former Chief of Naval Research who assisted in developing the atom bomb.

Shortly after Bowen retired in 1947, he turned up as a stockholder in the United States Petroleum Carriers, Inc. He bought 250 shares at $2 a share, signed applications to buy four surplus tankers from the government, then sold out for $250 a share immediately after the tankers were delivered three months later. In other words, he reaped a fabulous $62,000 profit after investing only $500. His chief contribution was use of his name to wrangle tankers from the government.

A similar quick killing was made by another stockholder in the same company, Robert W. Dudley, who, like Bowen, parlayed a $500 investment into a $62,000 profit in three months.

Here is the amazing sequence that led to the get-rich-quick profits by Bowen and Dudley: 1. Dudley represented a group of wealthy Greek shipowners who were trying to purchase surplus tankers from the Maritime Commission. The application was turned down Sept. 12, 1947, on the ground that the applicants were not American citizens.

2. Two weeks later the United States Petroleum Carriers, Inc., was formed with Dudley and Bowen as stockholders. The only other stockholder was Robert L. Berenson, an intimate of the Greek shipowners, who held 100 shares. The new corporation promptly filed an application for tankers, signed by Admiral Bowen as president.

3. The Maritime Commission approved the sale of four tankers to Bowen's corporation on Dec. 30, 1947. Exactly one week later, both Bowen and Dudley sold out to the Greek shipowner's friend, Berenson. He, in turn, sold a 48 per cent interest to Societa Industrial Maritima Financiera Ariona, a Panamanian corporation owned by the same Greek shippers who had tried to purchase the tankers in the first place, but were turned down. 4. Berenson borrowed the money for this deal from Simpson, Spence and Young, New York fiscal agents, who happen also to represent Berenson's Greek shipowner friends. But that is even more peculiar. Berenson was able to borrow $165,000 without putting up a nickel security.

Thus, just a few weeks after the Greeks had been turned down as purchasers of the tankers, their Panama corporation turned up with the tankers—thanks to the influence of American friends.

This whole shocking case was investigated by maritime security officers and submitted to the Justice Department a year ago. And that's exactly where the case lies today, gathering dust on a Justice Department shelf. However, this column has been able to obtain a copy of the maritime investigators' secret report.

The report identifies the dominant Greek shipowner in the case as Aristoteles S. Onassis, who is Greek by birth, Argentine by naturalization but lives in luxury in the United States. He does most of his business through South American corporations, which give him the maximum tax benefits.

In case new Attorney General McGranery is unable to locate the report among the cobwebby pigeonholes of his department, here are some important quotes from it: "Onassis and his foreign affiliates entered the corporate picture on Jan. 7, 1948—after the (Maritime) Commission had approved the sale of the tankers. However, in late November and early December of 1947, United States Petroleum Carriers informed the Commission that financial and chartering arrangements had been made for the vessels in the application. These arrangements were apparently made by Onassis. Therefore, it appears probable that Onassis had an undivided interest in the corporation at the time the commission approved the sale of the tankers."

"On Jan. 7, 1948, Berenson owned 60 per cent of the stock of USPC and Ariona (Onassis company) owned 40 per cent," the secret report continues. "Within the succeeding six months Berenson reduced his share to 48 per cent by selling ten shares each to C. N. Carber, A. C. Storen and N. Cokkalis at a loss of $1,500 on each block and ninety shares to Ariona on a break-even basis. What induced Berenson to sell this 12 per cent interest in USPC thereby giving up his majority interest just at the time the corporation had become a profitable operation? It was not for the profit; he suffered a loss. It was not for ready cash; other sources of cash were open to him."

Was against the law, of course, for these ships to be sold to non-Americans. That is why the report points out that at least two of the three new stockholders, not counting Berenson himself, had been tied to Onassis in the past. So the report concludes: "At least three of the American principals in USPC appear to be available to Mr. Onassis to perform tasks which require United States citizenship as the primary qualification."

The investigators asked Berenson about his amazing, non-secured loans which enable him to buy out Admiral Bowen and Dudley. Their report declares: "Berenson admitted that he had borrowed these funds on a personal loan from Simpson, Spence & Young, general agents in the United States for the Onassis interest. These personal loans are three-year, non-interest-bearing, non-secured loans. Onassis insists that he is not the guarantor of Berenson's loans, but Onassis does a large chartering business with Simpson, Spence & Young."

"In investigating the possibility that Mr. Berenson's loans might have been secured by foreigners," the report adds, "we examined copies of his tax returns for 1947, 1948, 1949, and 1950. It was noted that a $12,000 dividend received by Mr. Berenson from USPC on March 15, 1949, was not declared as income on his 1949 tax return. When the question was asked as to whether the dividend was in fact his, Mr. Berenson stated that it was his. He stated that it was merely an oversight that he had not declared it on his tax return."

But the final eyebrow lifter was discovered in the stocks, themselves. Though Onassis owned 48 per cent outright and appeared to control the rest of the stock, each share carried the following restricted endorsement: "These shares are hereby sold subject to the condition that they may be resold or transferred only to citizens of the United States."

Thus, though it was specifically forbidden on the stocks themselves to sell or transfer them to a foreigner, Onassis ended up owning them.

Confederate Vets Plan For Reunion

JACKSON, Miss., May 24 (AP)—Three of the 11 surviving Confederate veterans are planning to attend the 62nd annual reunion of the United Confederate Veterans here June 3-6.

W. N. McGee of Jackson, general chairman of reunion plans, said the Confederates planning to attend are Gen. John Stallings, 107-year-old Port Blackmore, Va.; veteran; William J. Bush, Fitzgerald, Ga.; and William D. Townsend, 106, Olla, La.

The 53-piece Robert E. Lee Band of Baytown, Tex., will play during the convention.

Mrs. Doswell Is Sentenced To Term

DALLAS, May 24 (AP)—Mrs. Rebecca Doswell was formally sentenced to life in prison today after a judge overruled a defense motion for a new trial.

The middle-aged defendant was convicted May 2 of murder in the pistol slaying last summer of her hiltman husband, Thomas W. Doswell.

Defense counsel gave notice of appeal to the Court of Criminal Appeals. Mrs. Doswell will remain in county jail here until the appeals court acts.

Criminal District Judge Henry King announced his decision after three days' study.

Defense Attorneys Ted Monroe and Maury Hughes contended Mrs. Doswell received an "unfair and unjust" trial. They took exception to court rulings on testimony and procedure, and arguments of prosecutors.

CONVICTION NOTEWORTHY

DALLAS, May 24 (AP)—A West Texas sheriff apparently took heart from the recent conviction of Tarrant County Sheriff J. M. (Sully) Montgomery for income tax evasion. The sheriff, whom officials decline to identify, rushed into the Internal Revenue Bureau Office here yesterday and filed an amended return.

Montgomery was assessed a seven-year prison term in Federal Court here Wednesday. He has appealed.

Around The Rim—The Herald Staff

If You're The One In 3,000, You Might Get In 'Who's Who'

The opinions contained in this and other articles in this column are solely those of the writers who sign them. They are not to be interpreted as necessarily reflecting the opinions of The Herald.—Editor's Note.

Are you one person in 3,000? Or do you care?

If you're THE one, you may have gotten in your name in "Who's Who," the big red book which has come out as Volume 27. The editors say your chances of getting in this listing is just about the same as it was a quarter-century ago, even though the country's population has more than doubled.

The current issue, with nearly 3,000 pages, contains 44,640 names. They range all the way from Aamodt (Olat Sverre), who must have some Swedish blood) to Zygmund (Antoni), who must have some Polish blood).

And in between, honestly, is Santa Claus. Santa is actually a highly successful Pacific Coast man who for several years doubled as an anonymous philanthropist—he recently bought a $5,000 Bloodmobile for the Red Cross and has helped many young people with their education—but always as "Santa Claus." This anonymity Who's Who preserves.

The sketch of Thomas J. Watson, chairman of the board of the International Business Machines Co., is the longest in the book, with 194 lines of fine print. I couldn't find out about the shortest one.

The oldest listing in Who's Who is Edward A. Uehling, an engineer of West Allis, Wisconsin, and who is 103 years of age this year. He's the only centenarian in the book. The youngest biographee is Margaret O'Brien, who this year reaches the ripe old age of 15.

I guess the Who's Who men had to go to press before the political waters began to boil. In the writup of Dwight Eisenhower, there is a blank space after "political affiliation." By now, Ike has said he is a Republican, although I understand there are some Republicans who wonder about this.

But back to the odds of getting into this book—if you're interested; you have a better chance if you went to college, and especially a good one if it was a small college. The odds are 1-in-20 for the little college fellow, 1-in-100 for the big university man.

A college education apparently is becoming more and more a requisite for attaining the success and prominence necessary for a Who's Who listing. Back in 1927 only 57 per cent of those in the book were college alumni. This is up to more than 70 per cent today.

Harvard sets the pace with the number of alumni in the volume, with Yale a close second. But the younger schools, especially the State universities, are closing the gap. Middle Western colleges have the largest number of people in Who's Who, to look at it on a sectional basis. These have replaced the New England schools. Pacific Coast and Southwestern campuses, however, have made the biggest gain during the past 25 years from two and a half per cent to six per cent in the new edition. This shows you that you can amount to something, while living in Texas, and that it probably helps to be living here.

Some government men are in the book for the first time, like Michael D'Salle, the OPS man, and Frank McKinney, who is chairman of the Democratic National Committee. TV has brought in some new names, including Sid Caesar and Imogene Coca, Mario Lanza, and Jimmy Durante. John Wayne of the movies has made it, and so have Lewis and Martin.

You ladies will be happy to know that Christian Dior, Pierre Balmain and Jacques Fath are now in the book. And Sherman Billingsley, who says he has some other businesses besides the Stork Club, is there.

The only people that I'm on a first-name relationship with whose listings I could find in the volume are George Mahon and Raymond Tollett. If you're in Who's Who, and I haven't given you proper recognition, please call me. I would like to shake your hand. Because it is with regret that I could not find in any of the pages, the name of

Gallup Poll

Public Favors Tax Deduction For The Cost Of Baby-Sitters

By GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., —If members of Congress slice their own taxes by taking bigger deductions for business expenses they may face a delegation of working housewives asking similar rights.

The majority of women, and men too, should have the right to deduct from their earnings the amount they have to pay for baby-sitters.

Six out of every ten women think that working mothers should also be allowed to deduct for household help, and they're supported in this by the weight of male opinion too.

There has been agitation for some time in favor of giving the working mother a better break tax-wise.

To see how the country feels about this principle the Institute asked its nationwide staff of interviewers to put two questions to a cross-section of the male and female population.

The first question was: "Do you think mothers who are working should or should not be allowed, in figuring their Federal income tax, to deduct from their earnings the amount they have to pay baby-sitters?"

Here is the vote:
Should 60%
Should not 26%
No opinion 14%

Both sexes favor this idea, the women

by a somewhat larger vote than the men. Here is how men voted: Should 59 per cent, should not 28 per cent and no opinion 13 per cent.

Women voted as follows: Should 62 per cent, should not 23 per cent and no opinion 15 per cent.

Deduct for Household Help?

The second question in the survey was: "Do you think working mothers should or should not be allowed to deduct from their earnings the amount they have to pay household help?"

The vote in favor of this was not quite as large as on the first question. It was as follows:

Should 55%
Should not 33%
No opinion 12%

And here is the vote by sex:

MEN: Should 56 per cent, should not 34 per cent and no opinion 10 per cent.
WOMEN: Should 53 per cent, should not 33 per cent and no opinion 14 per cent.

Feminists and others who favor the deductions for the working mother argue that household help is just as much a business expense as many deductions that are allowed to businessmen, particularly if the mother is either the sole or the main means of support for her family.

Sunday Talk: On Buffaloes

A boy named Dean Miller writes: "Please inform me on the difference between a buffalo and a bison. Some books say that a buffalo is a bison, and a bison is a buffalo. I read your article every day, and would like to read your answer."

It is hard to give a difference between a buffalo and a bison. Both belong to the ox family. The word "bison" came to us from the French language, and the French got it from Latin. The word "buffalo" goes far back to a Greek word, "boubalos." That word seems to have been turned into "buffalo" in Italy.

There were wild bison in many parts of Europe long ago. They have been reported as running wild there during the present century, chiefly in Lithuania.

Bears which are almost the same as the bison of Europe were found in North America by early explorers and settlers. These were big fellows; sometimes a bull was found to weigh a ton, or even a bit more! Scientists gave the name of "American bison" to the animals on this continent but the public chose the name of "buffaloes" for them.

If you search far enough in books, you may read that a true buffalo is without a hump on its back, while a bison has a hump. No humps are to be seen on African buffaloes. You may see a slight rise on the back of an Indian water buffalo, but hardly a hump.

Early Spanish explorers called American bison, or buffaloes, "hump-backed" cows.

Whatever may be the right way to class these animals, it is clear that the majority of people on this continent call them buffaloes. They used to roam from the province of Ontario and the state of Pennsylvania westward to the Rocky Mountains. The city of Buffalo, N. Y., carries a memory of their presence near Lake Erie. Today we may see these big animals in some zoos, and they roam about in a few parts of western Canada. Some of them wander in Yellowstone Park, also outside the limits of that park.

140 Seniors Get Diplomas Tuesday Eve

One hundred and forty seniors take the first of two final steps over the threshold into the post-school world here today.

Annual senior sermon will be held at 8:30 p.m. at the senior high auditorium with the Rev. Maple Avery, East Fourth Baptist pastor, as speaker.

One of the last activities of the class was a pre-commencement rehearsal Friday afternoon. Early Saturday the seniors loaded on to buses and went to Carlsbad, N. M. for the annual class trip. Return was scheduled for the wee hours of the morning Sunday.

Monday at 8:30 p.m. the junior high school graduation exercises will be held in the senior high auditorium. J. Gordon (Obie) Bristow, former school board member, will address the class.

Tuesday brings the commencement, the climax of a round of activities which this year has commemorated the 50th anniversary of the founding of the Big Spring Independent School District.

For the occasion, Dr. Blake R. Van Leer, president of Georgia Tech and one of the outstanding graduates of Big Spring High School, will be the speaker. Dr. Van Leer is flying here for the occasion, which was set a day later than originally planned in order that the school could secure this distinguished alumnus as the speaker. It has been 41 years since Dr. Van Leer, like the seniors of today, marched across the stage to receive his diploma here.

At the senior sermon today W. C. Blankenship, superintendent, will preside. Beulah Cook will play the processional and Maren Tinkham the recessional. Invocation will be by Dr. P. D. O'Brien, First Baptist pastor, the benediction by the Rev. Cecil Rhodes, West Side Baptist minister. The senior high A Capella choir, under direction of Harry Lee Plumbley, will sing "In Solemn Silence" and the "Twenty Third Psalm."

Monday's program will see Marie Hall playing the processional and Nancy Pitman the recessional. Invocation will be by the Rev. E. K. Cornell. Thurber Tinkham will sing a vocal solo and two talks on "H" will be given for girls and boys

Suit Is Filed Here Against Safeway Store

The Empire Southern Gas Co. has filed a suit in 118th District Court here requesting that Safeway Stores, Inc., be ordered to pay half of any judgments against the gas company in connection with an explosion and fire at the Barrow-Douglass Furniture Store in 1950.

In the petition, which was filed by Attorney Virgil Seaberry of Eastland, Empire Southern alleges that gas lines between the meter and outlets in the building occupied by Safeway were in bad repair, and that leaks in these lines contributed to the cause of the explosion in the Barrow-Douglass location next door.

Judgment totalling over $90,000 were entered here against Empire Southern last April 4. Of that amount the court awarded Fred Hyer, representing the Barrow-Douglass firm, $67,000, while $21,680 went to John C. Turner, owner of the building, and $2,000 to Dick Todd, owner of an automobile damaged in the explosion.

The petition further states that another suit against the gas company is now pending in 32nd District Court in Mitchell County. In that suit, Mrs. S. A. Hathcock seeks $1,500 for damages to a building owned by her, alleging that such damages were caused by the Barrow-Douglass explosion.

Measles At Head Of Disease List

Measles headed the list of communicable diseases reported by Big Spring physicians during the week according to yesterday's release from the Big Spring-Howard County Health Unit, but this disease shows a decrease from the previous week.

Thirty-five cases of measles were reported and 24 cases of "three-day" measles.

Other diseases reported included chicken pox, 12; diarrhea, 5; gonorrhea, 5; influenza, 12; pneumonia, 9; whooping cough, 6; syphilis, 3; virus infection, 6; acute strep throat, 11; meningitis, 1; pneumococcal encephalitis, 1; gastro-neuritis, 6; and acute tonsillitis, 9.

Legion Post To Emphasize Community Welfare Work

A program for more active work for the community welfare has been endorsed by the executive committee of the American Legion.

Emphasis will be placed on civic work, and several specific projects will be presented to the membership at its June meeting.

This was the outcome of a board meeting held at the home of Post Commander H. P. Steck Friday evening.

One specific undertaking may be the formation of a Veterans Sunday School class. This would be held at a downtown location, and veterans and service men who have no direct church affiliation would be urged to attend. The Legion post also will consider the sponsorship of a Boy Scout troop.

Members will be active in the next few weeks in a new-member sign-up, in an effort to bring the post membership up to the 650 set by the State Department. Plans will be developed later for a clubhouse, but for the present, the ex-service men's organization will center on civic betterment work.

OLD WEST MAY BE RETURNING

DILLON, Mont. May 24 (AP)—The Old West, complete with hitching posts downtown, may be on its way back—at least in this central Montana town.

G. E. Baker, judge of the local justice and police courts, ordered Police Chief Dan Mooney either to provide a hitching post for a horse or stop bringing its owner before him on a traffic violation charge.

Baker dismissed a traffic violation ticket issued to Frank Bolinski after the latter explained he tied his horse to a fire hydrant in downtown Dillon because there was no place else to park the animal.

C. M. Veazy, who pleaded guilty in County Court to a charge of driving while intoxicated, was fined $100 and court costs.

Panty Raid At TCU Is Fruitless

FORT WORTH, May 24 (AP)—Male students of Texas Christian University made a panty-pilfering raid on the women's dormitory early today but left with little loot. Coeds kept their room doors locked.

The horde began forming in front of the men's dormitory late last night. By midnight bolders ones ventured under the windows of Foster Hall, the women's dormitory. Some played spot lights on the coeds' windows.

Coeds loling in windows screamed with delight. In a few minutes the male students entered via outside doors and fire escapes and tramped through the halls. They found all room doors locked.

Inventor Tells About It

Eugene Anderson, inventor of the Rotary Harvester (without hat), describes the operation of the machine to George White, rancher and farmer, left and Alf Kioven at the Farmers Gin, while Haley Harrison Haynes, who has just recovered from a siege of measles, and is the son of E. Haley Haynes, gin manager, looks on and comments that he'd rather have a motorcycle than a cotton harvester any old day.

Big Springer's Rotary Cotton Harvester Meets Field Tests

By FRANKLIN REYNOLDS
This isn't the story of a man who made a better mouse trap and then had a path beaten out to his door by the world.
But it is the story of a man who has made a better cotton harvester, and once that job was done, he beat a path to the old home town to give the folks there a chance to see what he had accomplished.

son. He graduated from the Big Spring High School and then went to college. Since 1924 he has been working out improvements for a mechanical cotton harvester that he first built that year. A few days ago he drove into Big Spring with the newest model, and the third machine he has built, trailing along behind his car.

he has his model on display to examine it and to have him explain its operation.
Anderson calls it the "Rotary Harvester" and the trademark of the machine is a rotary wheel of the type which gathers the cotton from the stalk. The building of the present perfected model was started about this time last year in the shop of the Jones-Everett Machine Company at Pampa.

The machine has been completed, given a series of tests, and the matter of protecting it with the necessary patents has progressed far enough to assure Anderson that nobody is going to copy his model.
What he has in mind right now is setting up a shop for the commercial production of these machines which he estimates will sell for around $1,400. A number of interested Big Spring people have been out at the Farmers Gin where "In working out this machine," Anderson explains, "I have tried to simulate the hand picking of cotton by using rotary fingers which strip cotton from the stalk. These fingers work up and back just like the hands of Mexican boll pickers who strip cotton off the stalks in handfuls and put it in a sack."

The machine was given its first test near Pampa under conditions

Social Security Representative Here Tuesdays

A representative of the Odessa office of the Social Security Administration will be in town at the Texas Employment Commission Office every Tuesday from 10 a. m. until 11:30 a. m. to assist local residents in filing their applications for retirement and family insurance payments.

Regular trips are made through the 18-county area of West Texas which is served by the Odessa office, according to Jack Calvert, manager.

The traveling service is planned to give first-hand information to employers, employees, and others on Social Security matters which cannot be satisfactorily handled by mail, Calvert said.

Applications for Social Security account number cards can be secured from the local Postoffice or the Texas Employment Commission Office. The applications, as well as requests for information about the family insurance, should be sent to the Social Security Administration, Odessa, Texas. Replies will be made by mail or arrangements will be made to meet inquirers the next time the representative is in this vicinity.

Stolen Bicycle Is Recovered

A bicycle reported stolen in the 800 block of East 13th Street was recovered Friday afternoon, County Juvenile Officer A. E. Long reported.

The juvenile officer said he also had recovered some wheels and tires stolen from a local wrecking yard. Two boys were being questioned in connection with the theft at the wrecking yard.

CURRENT CRAZE CONSERVATIVE

DENISON, May 24 (AP)—If you think the current college party-raiding craze is scandalous, ask Granddaddy about goings-on more than half a century ago.
The Denison Daily News of May 28, 1880, had this news item:

"A young gentleman, a member of college, was expelled for the crime of drawing young ladies up to his room by means of a basket from his window. Of course, a great deal of gossiping conversation was the consequence."

Only The Trailer Needed
This is the Anderson Rotary Harvester hooked to the tractor and ready to go to work. The inventor has embodied the principle of the "short action" in modern firearms in designing this machine which allows for maximum performance with a minimum of mechanical operation. What might be called the harvester's "short wheel base" allows it to be turned at the end of the row with minimum effort in minimum space, a distinct advantage in a piece of farm machinery.

DANGER OF DIETS CITED IN ARTICLE

For many of this country's 35,000,000 overweight adults, reducing diets have become a dominating influence. But the frightening fact is that many of the most popular diets are extremely dangerous. In an article titled, "Which Diets Are Dangerous," a recent issue of a national magazine lists some of the most prevalent dieting plans and tells why they can cause serious trouble.

Why not try the Barcostrate way to take off extra fat? Barcostrate is the original grapefruit juice recipe for weight reduction. No starvation diet. No calorie counting. No vitamins, for you can't live on vitamins. You must have food to live. Nothing harmful in Barcostrate. Nearly four and a quarter million bottles sold in Texas in five years. Just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Barcostrate. Pour into a glass bottle or jar. Add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take just two tablespoonfuls twice a day. That's all there is to it. If the very first bottle doesn't show you the way to reduce easily, sensibly and safely, return the empty bottle for your money back.

40 Pounds Lost
"My doctor told me I must lose weight, so I started taking Barcostrate. I lost 40 pounds taking eight bottles," writes Mrs. John Truman, Route 1, Box 102, Alta Loma, Texas. "I ate what I wanted and I feel better than I have in several years. I think Barcostrate is wonderful."
Reduces 12 Pounds
Mrs. Maude Kelley, 1520 Avenue E, Galveston, Texas, writes us as follows: "I have lost 12 pounds taking Barcostrate and I think it is a wonderful medicine."

OUR THANKS
Due to the close of the school year of the Howard County Junior College, we, the students who have enjoyed the German class under the direction of our professor, George M. Hank, want to express its deepest appreciation to Mr. R. L. Tollett, President of the Cosden Petroleum Corporation, for offering scholarships to students who enrolled for German for the school year 1951-52.

The German Class Of Howard County Junior College

that were far from ideal. The section used for this first test was cotton which the owner had not intended to harvest because of the heavy growth of weeds, sand burrs and goat heads, and yet at no time was it necessary to stop the machinery and clean it out. The cotton harvested came clean and free of foreign matter.
The second test was made on irrigated cotton near Lubbock where the harvest ran one and one-half bales to the acre. "The machine worked perfectly on this job," Anderson says proudly, "and there were some fine comments from those who witnessed its operation. When I saw it in action there, and the job it did, I knew I had accomplished all that I had been working for since 1924."
The harvester has been tried on various other crops varying in between that near Pampa and the irrigated cotton at Lubbock.
"Now that I have worked out the machine," Anderson says, "my interest is in getting it into production. I don't think it will take any large shop in the beginning and if possible I would like to locate that shop here in Big Spring and make the machines here in my home town."
The young inventor who had the idea and who made the idea work admits he is interested in somebody who has capital and who is also interested in making it work, making Rotary Harvesters. Anderson knows the machine will do the job and he believes that with the restrictions on the use of Brascero labor being so unreasonably severe that cotton production is going to be more and more of a mechanical matter as times goes along.

The Rotary Harvester is built to be adaptable to any soil and all makes of tractors for operation, and can be moved from place behind a car or truck. It is capable of being wheeled around in a very short turn at the end of rows, and leaves more of the cotton stalks in the field for organic matter in the soil.
Anderson's first machine was built at Abilene and the second at Brownfield, and continuously since he first set to work on the project his aim has been constant improvement. He says that a great difference in his machine is that the other fingers rotating in the direction opposite to the fingers that gather in the cotton, pull the cotton off and move it on back toward the trailer. The Rotary Harvester doesn't depend, either on the forward motion of the machine to take the cotton off the stalk.
The Big Spring inventor will be in town several days with the machine which he has hooked to a tractor and has on display at the Farmer's Gin. He is very anxious to have as many farmers as possible come out and look at it and let him explain the principle of its operation.
A number of farmers have inspected it since Anderson brought it to Big Spring and without exception the comments have been favorable.

WHAT WILL IT BE TODAY?

This man is a grocer. He can supply your grocery needs. But, before you enter his store, you think about the things you need.
Not far from you there is a church. That church can supply your spiritual needs, the very real, but intangible requirements of the human soul, which are just as important to a person's well-being as the items on the "grocery list."
Go to Church Sunday! But right now take stock of your life! Think about your needs!
Faith? Courage? Guidance? Comfort? Not many of us have all we need for today . . . and tomorrow . . . and another day.
As we realize our spiritual needs, the Church makes possible for each of us a higher standard of living.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Cosden Achieves Outstanding Safety Record In Oil Industry

Employees of the Cosden Petroleum Corp. are highly elated over a safety record for 1951 which puts their company near the top in the petroleum industry.

The annual summary of injuries in the petroleum industry for last year, which was released recently by the American Petroleum Institute, gives Cosden personal an enviable record in both frequency and severity of injuries.

Among the 37 companies reporting in three major departments, including refining, marketing and production, only seven out-rank Cosden in severity of injuries on the job. The severity rate is based upon the number of days lost because of injuries for each 1,000 hours worked. Cosden's severity rate is .37.

Frequency rate is the number of disabling injuries per 1,000,000 hours worked, and Cosden's score in that category is 11.03, which is better than 17 other reporting companies.

75 Attend Talks On 'Hot Checking', Credit Matters

An extensive discussion of credit matters, particularly methods of protection against hot checkers, and business relationships with military personnel, was held by a group of business people meeting in a credit clinic at the Settles Hotel Friday night.

The clinic was sponsored by the Retail Merchants Association and the Big Spring Credit Women's Club. Approximately 75 attended. Business men representing various lines of businesses sat as a panel to answer various questions and lead in the discussions. District Attorney Elton Gilliland, County Attorney Hartman Hooser and Sheriff Jake Bruton made remarks of informational nature on hot check problems. Major W. G. Whalin, Base Adjutant, and Capt. Grover McRae, provost marshal, spoke on the relationships between local merchants and personnel at the Webb Air Force Base.

Claims Service To Open Office Here

R. C. Stark, manager of the Midland office of the Western Claims Service was in Big Spring yesterday and said his company will open offices in the Petroleum Building here about June 1.

This company, he explained, represents individuals, firms and corporations in the adjustment of all types of insurance claims.

Stark said he will also be manager of the Big Spring office.

including many larger concerns. In fact, only one company with fewer employees than Cosden, is rated in the summary.

The greatest severity rate listed among the 37 companies is 10.27, while the greatest frequency rate is 29.80.

Cosden's severity rate is less than half of the national average, while the frequency rate is about average, which is considered outstanding since it has no doctors and nurses on the premises.

"The men themselves, under supervision of their foremen, have produced this safety record," declared J. C. Morgan, Cosden's safety engineer and fire marshal.

Morgan then outlined some of the procedure followed at Cosden to prevent accidents and injuries.

Foremen and supervisors meet each Friday for a planning session. At this time, all jobs scheduled and assigned for the following week are planned, with emphasis on hazards likely to be encountered and methods for avoiding accidents. The safety engineer then follows up with a memorandum to all craftsmen, notifying them of the work coming up the following week, the hazards and recommendations on how to cope with them.

Shift foremen at Cosden are selected not only for their ability to do their jobs, but also for their attitudes toward safety of personnel and equipment.

Cosden is a member of the National Safety Council, the National Fire Protection Association and the Texas Safety Association.

E. B. McCormick is the chief engineer of the company, while Morgan, as safety engineer, is in charge of safety and fire protection at the refinery. J. T. Johnson, inspector of material, is in charge of inspecting all processing equipment and material, and Jack Y. Smith, personnel manager, is co-ordinator of transportation safety. In addition, Otto Peters Sr., purchasing agent, is a senior grade safety engineer and well known in the field of first aid.

Morgan is a member of the National Safety Council and the National Fire Protection Association, and Smith and Peters are members of the National Safety Council.

Peters has instructed approximately 1,000 people in first aid, and has received every acknowledgement for first aid work from the Red Cross, including a citation from the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

To stimulate interest in safety and to emphasize the importance of first aid, Cosden pays $10 to every employee who successfully completes a Red Cross or Bureau of Mines first aid course. First aid for every injury, no matter how small, is made a part of each employee's job. There are three first aid stations conveniently located and manned by people trained in first aid. If necessary, an injured person is immediately carried to a doctor, accompanied by the personnel manager, the safety engineer or a first aid attendant.

Every employee of the refinery is furnished safety goggles and if he needs prescription lenses these are furnished at company expense, with the worker charged only for examination and prescription.

All Cosden Refinery employees also receive metal safety hats which they wear while on the job. Every blue-print for a job is stamped with the slogan, "No job is so urgent that we cannot take time to do it safely." This slogan, originated by the Bell Telephone Co., has been adopted by many firms over the country.

At present the Cosden Pipeline department is approaching 400,000 man hours without a reportable injury. R. W. (Stormy) Thompson is the department head, and M. M. (Blackie) Hines is the pipeline foreman.

Other departments now setting new records each day on accident experience include the loading rack, where A. B. (Skeet) West is foreman; electricians, with Paul Holden, foreman, and F. R. Nugent, electrical engineer; warehouse men, with James Edwards foreman; watchmen and guards, W. D. Wilbanks, foreman; and the processing department with L. E. Maddux foreman.

When a new employee joins Cosden, he gets a complete physical examination and then sits in on a lecture and question and answer session on safety and company policies. Next he makes a tour of the refinery and receives material on safety, including basic fire prevention and fire fighting. Finally, the new employee is introduced to his foreman and other personnel in the department where he will work.

The foreman gives working instructions, which include safety as well as how to do the job assigned.

Safety in any industry requires co-operation from three principal sources, Smith and Morgan explained. These include management, supervisory forces and the workers themselves.

"Co-operation of the workers is extremely important, and Cosden workers are doing a splendid job," Morgan said. "No matter what provisions are made by management, or what steps are taken by supervisors, a safety program cannot be effective unless it is carried out by the workers."

"This makes the foremen the key men in the safety program, and I think their record for 1951 speaks for itself," Morgan concluded.

Morgan is a member of the National Safety Council and the National Fire Protection Association, and Smith and Peters are members of the National Safety Council.

Peters has instructed approximately 1,000 people in first aid, and has received every acknowledgement for first aid work from the Red Cross, including a citation from the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

To stimulate interest in safety and to emphasize the importance of first aid, Cosden pays $10 to every employee who successfully

Quiet Down, Brother

Van Johnson tries to quiet Paul Douglas in this scene from "When In Rome." They play an unusual pair, with Van as a priest and Paul as a racketeer, who are thrown together on a voyage to Rome and into novel experiences there. The picture is at the Ritz Tuesday and Wednesday.

Obligations Settled

"The Lady Pays Off" is the title of the Sunday-Monday picture at the Ritz, and if comely Linda Darnell does the paying, Stephen McNally should be happy. They are the principals in a comedy romance about a school teacher getting into debt in Reno.

Well, If It Ain't Diz

This is Dan Dailey and Joanne Dru, but they take the roles of Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Herman (Diz) Dean, in a stirring baseball picture that highlights the career of the great Diz. Called "Pride Of St. Louis," the Dean saga is offered today and Monday at the Ritz Theatre.

He's The Winnah!

Jeff Chandler and Evelyn Keyes have a joyous moment after winning the big fight. The scene is from "Iron Man," a story of the boxing ring which plays tonight and Monday night at the Jet Drive-In Theatre.

Dizzy Dean's Great Career Is Told In 'Pride Of St. Louis'

One of the great characters of baseball is Jerome Herman Dean. So great a one is he that Hollywood didn't wait until he disappeared from the scene to do his life story. The result is the picture, "Pride of St. Louis," which shows today and Monday at the Ritz theatre.

and these viewers found much of interest and much of humor in this story of the national pastime as it was affected by Ole Diz. Dan Dailey takes the role of Dean and Joanne Dru is his mate. It's a combination of baseball thrills with that particular bit of comedy that belongs to Dizzy and his antics and his garbled English. Among the highlights are the 1934 All-Star game in Washington, the 1934 World Series between the St. Louis Cardinals and the Detroit Tigers. This was the climax of the year in which the famous "Me and Paul" combination amassed a total of 49 victories for the Cards—30 for Dizzy and 19 for Daffy. Then they went on to win two games each in the World Series.

Linda Darnell Stars In New Romance Film

Romance and humor are blended for entertainment in "The Lady Pays Off," offered today and Monday at the State theatre. Linda Darnell, Stephen McNally, and the new child-star sensation, Gigi Per-reau, are the stars. The story unfolds against the background of Reno and Carmel, Calif.

The picture casts the beautiful Miss Darnell in the role of a young finishing school teacher who re-enters being named by a national magazine as the "Teacher of the Year." Fed up with her routine, she heads for the gambling tables of Reno, and happens to become indebted to the casino operator, McNally.

She has to pay off her debt by becoming tutor to his motherless daughter. This is not always a satisfactory arrangement for the teacher, and particularly when the widower's fiancée (Virginia Field) is on the scene. But the little girl takes a hand in affairs, and eventually all obligations are squared off with everybody being happy.

HIGHLIGHTS ON KBST

Cvetic Will Appear In Person Saturday

A personal appearance here of Matt Cvetic, whose story of counter-espionage against the Communists in this country has been dramatized in magazine, film and on the radio, is scheduled for Saturday, May 30.

He will talk at the city auditorium at 8 p.m. and the program is free of charge. The public is invited to attend.

Cvetic actually was a Communist—for the FBI—for nine years, and so fantastic were his experiences that many persons have difficulty in believing his story is not fiction. It is, however, undeniably true.

The series, "I Was A Communist For The FBI," is currently running on KBST, being presented each Sunday evening.

TROUBLE MAKERS?

A highly controversial subject, "Who are the trouble makers in our democracy?" will be aired on KBST Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock as the featured topic on America's Town Meeting of the Air.

The three speakers will be Victor Riesel, labor editor of the New York Daily Mirror; Arnold Foster, a director of the Anti-Defamation League; and Merle Miller, writer-lecturer.

Marquis Childs, columnist, will be moderator for the program originating in New York over ABC.

JACK BERTCH SHOW

A Memorial Day tribute by Jack Bertch will be heard on his Friday presentation of the Jack Bertch show, heard daily over KBST at 11 a.m. On Memorial Day he will read the "Prayer for Americans," and will sing "America's Prayer" and "Yankee Doodle Dandy."

McCrea, De Carlo In A Story Of Old San Francisco

Joel McCrea and Yvonne De Carlo are the romantic stars of "The San Francisco Story," booked at the Ritz theatre for Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Based on a series of dramatic incidents during an interesting period of American history, the film tells of the Vigilantes, a band of masked riders, formed to create law and order in the turbulent San Francisco of the 1850's.

Sidney Blackmer, Richard Erdman and Onslow Stevens are featured in the cast.

Unusual care was given to the use of color in "Aladdin and His Lamp," a lavish Oriental action, fantasy, loaded with romance, showing Tuesday and Wednesday at the State.

The picture, done in Cinecolor and starring Patricia Medina and John Sands, had two color experts to advise the director. These two passed on every square inch of wardrobe, every background, every item of property, before they were used in the picture. "Aladdin and His Lamp" has a large cast, and prominently featured are a score of young girls, billed as "the world's most gorgeous harem beauties."

Rackateer And Priest Become Traveling Pals

Van Johnson and Paul Douglas, two stars with a string of successful pictures to their credit, team for the first time in "When In Rome." This is the Tuesday-Wednesday feature at the Ritz theatre.

It's a different sort of a comedy-drama, about a young priest and a racketeer who become enmeshed in an unusual adventure after they find themselves cabin mates on a boat taking them to Rome. The picture was filmed on location amidst the historic edifices of the Eternal City, with additional scenes made at the seaport of Genoa. Clarence Brown directed.

Among the settings which background the action are the ancient Colosseum, the Spanish Steps in the heart of old Rome, the Trevi Fountain, St. Peter's Square, and four of the most beautiful churches in the world—St. Peter's, St. John in the Lateran, St. Mary Major and St. Paul-Outside-the-Walls.

Randolph Scott As 'Man In Saddle'

Randolph Scott stars in "Man In The Saddle," the Lyric theatre's feature for today and Monday. The film is in Technicolor.

In "Man in the Saddle," Scott is seen as a small rancher who is forced to fight for his life ten thousand feet above sea level because two women in the valley below love him. Joan Leslie and Ellen Drew play the two women of "Man in the Saddle," while Alexander Knox plays a wealthy rancher married to Miss Leslie. The supporting cast also features Richard Robert, John Russell, Abbie Bedyas and recording artist Tennessee Ernie, who sings "Man in the Saddle."

Riding THE GRUB LINE

With Franklin Reynolds

One hundred and 35 Howard County ranchers and farmers have signed the required agreement to get this county on the approved list for the employment of Braceros.

County Agent Durward Lewter describes this as an excellent showing, and the impressive thing about the list is that every one of the prospective agricultural employers went to the office of the county agent and the Farm Bureau and signed in response to letters sent them. Nobody had to go out and get a single signature.

The directors of the Howard County Farm Bureau, meeting a few nights ago, also went on record as favoring the doing of everything necessary to assure this county of an adequate labor supply from Old Mexico. Lewter said it was necessary for these ranchers and farmers to sign up and get their agreement into Washington early in order to assure approval under the provisions of the labor pact.

Farmers and ranchers in Howard, Midland, Martin, Mitchell, Nolan, Fisher, Scurry, Borden, Dawson and Galves Counties will be interested in knowing that a station of the Border Patrol has been opened in the Police Department at the Big Spring City Hall to serve this area. Braceros who violate their contracts may be reported to this office which can be reached through the Big Spring Police telephone or radio.

The office is in charge of Inspector Roger D. Busher, who will be assisted by Inspectors Walter V. Edwards, Perry J. Schuyk and Marvin L. Butler. These men have been transferred here from Pre-

Five Injured In Collision Near Colorado City

COLORADO CITY — A head-on collision Friday afternoon one mile south of Colorado City on the Highway 80 detour, injured five persons, none seriously.

Those in the Root Memorial Hospital in Colorado City are: R. J. Holly, 32, driver of the eastbound car, being treated for a fracture of the right knee cap and bruises over the body and arms. Holly is from Duncanville.

Accompanying Holly was his father-in-law, S. M. Howard, 75, of Farmer's Branch. He is being treated for deep lacerations of the right shoulder and body bruises.

Driver of the other car was Mrs. N. A. Dowell, 64, of Lamesa, suffering from a fracture of the left knee cap and chest bruises. Mrs. Dowell was westbound at the time of the accident.

She was accompanied by her daughter, Mrs. Doyle Loudomy, 32, of Lamesa, who was given emergency treatment for bruises of the chest and right leg, and released from the hospital.

Also a passenger in this car was Dr. A. L. Hancock, 74, of Big Spring, being treated for a fracture of the upper right arm and shoulder blade and facial abrasions.

Mr. Fox Stripplin who has been in West Texas a long time says he has never seen this country as dry as it is now, not even in 1917-18.

In 1917 Mr. Stripplin had some land leased west of here and near the New Mexico state line and some more land leased over in New Mexico with cattle on both tracts. That year he planted some grain sorghum on the New Mexico and the seed laid there in the ground and didn't sprout until sufficient moisture fell in 1918.

Another difference is that in 1917 there was more grass in this country and even though it was dry it would keep cattle alive. There has never been less grass in West Texas than right now.

Prince Valiant
IN THE DAYS OF KING ARTHUR
by Harold R. Foster

Synopsis: THE MEN OF SCANDIA STEAL A RIVER FROM THULE, DIVERTING IT TO WATER ONE OF THEIR OWN VALLEYS. PRINCE VALIANT AND RUFUS RETURN FROM SCOUTING ACROSS THE BORDER. "GATHER YOUR TOOLS, MEN. THE THIEVES ARE GOING TO KEEP YOUR RIVER—KEEP IT UNTIL THEY ARE SICK OF IT!"

VAL LEADS THEM OVER A SPUR OF THE MOUNTAINS AND DOWN INTO THE NEXT VALLEY AND THERE IS THEIR LOST RIVER RETURNING TO THULE BY ANOTHER ROUTE!

"THEY DIVERTED THE RIVER WITHIN THEIR OWN BORDER. WE TOO WILL BE LEGAL AND BUILD A DAM—ON OUR SIDE OF THE BORDER!"

THE MEN OF THULE SET TO WORK. FROM DAWN TO DUSK HUGE BOULDERS, RIPPED FROM THE HILLSIDE, THUNDER DOWN INTO THE STREAM BED AND BEHIND THE OBSTRUCTION THE WATER RISES HIGHER AND HIGHER.

AND STILL HIGHER UNTIL, ACROSS THE BORDER THERE IS A SHARP DROP IN THE VALUE OF REAL ESTATE. THE MEN OF SCANDIA SCURRY TO THE SAFETY OF HIGHER GROUND AS THEIR VALLEY BECOMES A VAST SWAMP.

THEN VAL HAS HIS MEN LAY ASIDE THEIR TOOLS AND TAKE UP THEIR WEAPONS. THEY HAVE NOT LONG TO WAIT, SOON ANGRY MEN CROSS THE BORDER TO FIND THE CAUSE OF THE FLOOD.

"REMOVE THAT DAM!" THEY SHOUT, ADVANCING WITH DRAWN WEAPONS. "COME AND DO IT YOURSELVES, OR RETURN OUR RIVER TO US!" IS THE CHALLENGING ANSWER.

THE MEN OF THULE LOOK TO THEIR PRINCE FOR LEADERSHIP... BUT HE IS SITTING ON A ROCK WITH HIS SWORD SHEATHED!

NEXT WEEK—The Avenging Arrow.

TARZAN

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

"THE INCAS WERE MOUNTAIN PEOPLE," SAID JORGE, "SO IT WAS LOGICAL FOR THEM TO SETTLE ON LUNYA." "THEN THE INDIANS HERE NOW ARE THEIR DESCENDANTS?" ASKED TARZAN, ENGROSSED. "EXACTLY!" REPLIED THE SPANIARD.

THEN, DESPERATELY, JORGE WHIPPED OUT A KNIFE, LEAPED FORWARD AND CUT TARZAN'S BOWSTRING!

"NOW YOU PAY FOR YOUR NEGLIGENCE!" JORGE HISSED. "NO ONE CAN ROB ME OF MY TREASURE—MY HERITAGE!" HE HURLED THE WEAPON WITH DEADLY ACCURACY, BUT TARZAN, NOW KEENLY ALERT, DROPPED TO THE GROUND AS THE SPANIARD QUICKLY FLED.

THE APE-MAN FOLLOWED HIM BY WAY OF EERIE, CRAGGY PASSAGES. ONCE HE PAUSED, GRIM, WITH THE TURN OF EVENTS, JORGE'S MIND WAS FAILING FAST-- AND A CRAZED LAUGHTER OCCASIONALLY ECHOED THROUGH THE INKY BLACKNESS...
