

DAN MOODY WILL TAKE THE STUMP AGAIN

WELCOME TEXAS EX-RANGERS TO YOUR OLD CAMPING GROUND

HOW ABOUT FERGUSON CONTRIBUTIONS?

CHARGES MADE THAT COTULLA JUDGE HELPED

Welhausen Denies That He Rendered Aid Monetary Assistance

AUSTIN, Aug. 10.—A check up of campaign contributions has revealed in Governor Miriam A. Ferguson's statement of expenditures today that George A. Welhausen of Cotulla had contributed $25 toward the governor's campaign fund in the recent primary.

Information here is that Welhausen was county judge of La Salle county and was renominated in the last primary.

At the meeting of the Democratic executive committee in Dallas Monday, Ferguson forces attempted to have Dan Moody's name left off the ballot in the second primary because of alleged violation of the Texas election laws.

A petition to the committee charging that Moody accepted contributions from other candidates, which the law forbids.

In a message received from San Antonio, Judge C. A. Welhausen of Cotulla today denied he contributed anything to the campaign fund of Governor Miriam A. Ferguson. The denial from Judge Welhausen was obtained over the long distance telephone to the United Press.

The statement from Judge Welhausen was given in reply to a report emanating from Austin that he had been charged with contributing $25 to the governor's campaign fund.

Charges and counter charges were flying thick and fast around the capital today. According to some, more denouncements will be made by both sides and it begins to look as if there will be some long drawn out litigation over the matter. It appears now that some action will be taken by the Ferguson side to keep Moody's name off the ticket, and counter proceedings may be brought to have the name of Ferguson withheld.

CATHOLICS ARE USING BOYCOTT

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 10.—With all hopes of mediation gone in the face of a decisive government victory to date in the Mexican religious controversy, Catholics here are now concentrating on opposition to the new religious war through the use of the luxury boycott and the arousing of a unity of religious spirit.

Hundreds of priests, positionless with the closing of their churches, have been sent to the small towns and villages in the interior to preach the idea of the boycott. The appeal is being headed by the Indians, who are the most devout Catholics of the country.

United States Supplies World With Gum

WASHINGTON.—Uncle Sam is supplying the world with chewing-gum. His trade in this indispensable appurtenance of stenographers increased more in 1925 than did any other branch of the foreign candy trade.

Commerce Department statistics disclose that $4,636,010 of American confectionery, including gum, chocolate and other sweets, was sold abroad last year, as compared with $3,516,000 the year before, and $1,469,000 in 1913.

HYDE PARK OVERCOME BY CATERPILLAR PLAGUE

LONDON.—A scourge of caterpillars descended upon Hyde Park, London's famous 364-acre playground. They fall on benches and tables too fast to be swept up, caretakers complain.

These Newlyweds Beat the High Cost of Living

These four newly-married couples of Williamsport, Pa., have a way to beat the high cost of living. They clubbed together and rented a house, pooling their funds to pay for food, fuel, lights and so on. As a result they are living for only $60 per couple each month. They are, left to right, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Grady, Mr. and Mrs. James Dawes, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Haines and Mr. and Mrs. Herman Zimmerman. Before marriage Mrs. Grady, Mrs. Dawes and Mrs. Zimmerman were Margaret, Viola and Annabelle Haines, sisters of Harry, one of the husbands.

ANTI-VOLSTEAD HEADQUARTERS ARE OPTIMISTIC

By CHARLES P. STEWART, NEA Service Writer.
WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—Headquarters of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment is about the most optimistic place in Washington these days.

As the anti-prohibition folk see it, things have been breaking their way so fast recently that they actually believe—or profess to believe—they stand some chance of having a majority in the next congress, which is more than they dared hope for until very recently. They did look for gains, they say, and for victory in a number of state-wide referenda, but not for a congressional majority earlier than two years hence.

The senate's prohibition investigation and the prohibition angle of its slush fund inquiry laid a good foundation for moist campaigning, preliminary to the fall elections, spokesmen at wet headquarters observe, but they never expected to see such a super-structure on top of it as later developments have built there.

Andrews May Quit.
The sequence of events was rapid. First came the Dwyer rum ring trial, with its revelation of coast guard graft and A. Bruce Bielaski as a dry under-cover man for the justice department at a salary of $13,200 a year, or $3,200 more than the next best paid man in the entire department except Attorney General Sargent, and within $1,800 of what Sargent himself gets.

Then followed unofficial but almost certainly authentic confirmation of reports that Gen. Lincoln C. Andrews will resign as dry czar, as soon as he returns from England, on the ground that prohibition is unenforceable without sterner laws than now exist, which seems an impossibility, inasmuch as so dry a congress as the present one failed to enact them at its last session.

Fired Green.
Finally came the suspension, by Acting Secretary of the Treasury Winton, of the northern California and Nevada prohibition administrator, Col. Ned Green, on charges of drinking seized liquor, giving it to his friends and entertaining them at wet parties.

When it is considered that Green was Andrews' right bower and supposedly was slated to succeed him, it becomes apparent that this was extremely serious.

Rescue Workers Find Level Of Men's Pocket

SALEM, Ky., Aug. 10.—Rescue workers who toiled all night sinking a new shaft in an attempt to reach five men entombed in the American Star & Zinc company's mine, had reached a level of the pocket in which the men are trapped at 6 o'clock this morning.

Water collected in the old shaft had rendered it practically useless.

All Dressed

COIN HARVEY IS NOT DEAD, IS VERY ILL

By United Press.
ROGERS, Ark., Aug. 10.—W. M. H. (Coin) Harvey, widely known economist, ill at his home here, is still in a critical condition today. He is suffering from blood poisoning.

He was erroneously reported dead yesterday.

Leavenworth Kansas Faces Real Shake Up

By United Press.
LEAVENWORTH, Kan., Aug. 10.—Mayor Henry Fraser of Leavenworth and William Rowe, chief of police, resigned today, on demand of C. B. Griffith, state attorney general.

Griffith also demanded the resignation of George Seitz, financial and revenue commissioner. Fraser said he would call a special meeting of the commissioners late today, at which he would tender his resignation.

Griffith indicated that unless Seitz resigned, he would institute ouster proceedings against him.

CONSOLIDATION OF BORDER WORK WILL BE SOUGHT

By United Press.
WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—General H. C. Smithers, chief co-ordinator of the United States will ask congress at this next session to enact legislation creating a uniform border patrol, empowered to enforce all laws of the nation, in effect, establish a federal police force.

"Such a force would save the taxpayers thousands of dollars annually and would be more efficient than the half dozen or more services now operating along the international boundary line," General Smithers said today.

"A single homogeneous border patrol under one head would meet all needs. Now, labor department agents on the border look after aliens; prohibition officers watch for rum smugglers; department of agricultural investigators scan diseased plants and animals; public health physicians stop diseased immigrants and custom officials guard against smuggling and look after the collection of duty on merchandise. Under the co-ordination plan, one person could do the work it now takes five to perform."

As it is now the work of one practically overlaps the other. While the move is looked on favorably from some quarters, yet there is some doubt as to the consolidation of the Department of Agriculture forces with that of the health department. The public health department could be co-ordinated with the labor forces and work well together.

Chinese Radicals And Labor Unions Forces In Battle

By United Press.
HONG-KONG, China, Aug. 10.—Serious street fighting between armed bands of radicals and opposing labor union groups has been going on in Canton for more than a week, advisers received here said. Two hundred casualties were reported.

The radicals groups, it is said, planned to present an ultimatum to the government demanding that the leaders of the labor union groups be put to death, and seceding a general strike, if the government does not comply with the ultimatum.

GRAND JURORS SELECTED.
The jury commissioners for the Eighty-eighth district court selected the following to act as grand jurors for the coming term of the Eighty-eighth court, which convenes Monday, Sept. 6:

Lee Owen, Cisco; J. T. Berry, Cisco; Clyde Garrett, Eastland; H. O. Satterwhite, Eastland; M. K. Collier, Ranger; Hall Walker, Ranger; R. L. Cooner, Gorman; T. F. Wynn, Gorman; R. V. Nabors, Desdemona; Elbert Trimble, Carbon; H. S. Childress, Rising Star; E. F. Alton, Cisco; route 3; T. L. Lasater, Nimrod; W. H. White, Gorman, route; L. C. Cash, Pioneer; Tom Scott, Ranger, route.

ADVANCE GUARD ALREADY HERE GREETES OTHERS

Program Outlined Takes In All Sorts Of Entertainment

The vanguard of the Texas Ex-Rangers has arrived. P. H. Rice of Ada, Okla., arrived in Ranger last night and was the first to register at the Ranger Chamber of Commerce.

Everything that can be done to make the stay of the Texas Ex-Rangers pleasant while they are here will be done.

They will not get thirsty. Half pints of ice cold buttermilk will be for the asking at any time at a booth at the Gholson hotel. This booth has been arranged by courtesy of the Ranger Creamery company and will be presided over by pretty girls.

They will be "shot" by a cameraman and the West Texas Coaches will place one of their big coaches at their disposal to convey them to places of interest while here.

Putzon Borglum will meet with them Thursday and Friday and help them launch their movement for a ranger monument.

Then each day there will be eats, and entertainment, other than the special things arranged for.

Flags will be waving from every mercantile establishment when they arrive in the morning, as merchants have been reminded to put their big flags out.

All of the hotels in anger have responded to Dr. Logsdon's call for rooms for the visitors, so in addition to the rooms that will be available in private homes, it looks as though the Texas Ex-Rangers will have plenty of places to sleep.

Georg Murphy has charge of the east; Raymond Teal of the program, and Harry Logsdon of the housing, while W. C. Hickey, is the general chairman.

The Rotary Club will entertain the visitors at lunch Wednesday noon, and the Lions Club will play host to them at the same hour on Thursday.

The Ranger Chamber of Commerce will give them a supper on Wednesday evening at the American Legion Hall, and at 7:30 they will be entertained by a musical program there.

On Thursday evening a tour of the oil fields, another supper at the hall and picture shows at the Liberty and Lamb will complete that day's activities.

Program.
The program for the three days is given below:
Wednesday, Aug. 11—Registration and assignment to homes, 8:30 till 10

NATIONAL BANKS IN FINE SHAPE

By United Press.
WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—Resources of 7,978 reporting national banks in the United States, Alaska and Hawaii, amounted to $25,315,624,000 for June 30, an increase of nearly one billion during the year, J. W. McIntosh, comptroller of currency, announced today.

Loans and discounts, including re-discounts, totaled $13,417,674,000, an increase of $743,607,000.

'Financially Limp' Is Police Exchequer, Declares The Chief

"Financially limp," is the way that Chief of Police Davenport of Ranger feels today. The tenth of the month has crept up on the police office without a fine being assessed, and naturally none collected.

"Just a good town, that's all," Mr. Davenport said today on commenting on the lack of revenues from fines.

NEW OWNER NOW IN CONTROL OF SANGER STORES

By United Press.
DALLAS, Aug. 10.—Sanger Bros. department store passed out of the family which founded and has controlled the institution for 65 years, here this morning, when Clarence Linz, retiring president introduced Chester L. Jones of Kansas City, as the new president of the concern in the presence of 700 employees, assembled on the first floor of the local store.

Jones spoke briefly to the employees.

In connection with Jones taking charge of the Sanger stores, what is claimed to be the largest application for life insurance ever written in Texas was completed today against the life of Chester A. Jones. The policy was handled by a local company and was for $1,000,000.

The firm of Sanger Bros. has been one of the developers of Texas for 35 years or longer. It has served Texas and Texans before railroads began to traverse West Texas.

The Sanger family is deeply interested in practically every town in the state. The last member of the original firm died little more than a year ago.

DEMPSEY IS DEALT REAL BLOW

By United Press.
NEW YORK, Aug. 11.—Prospect of a Dempsey-Tunney world heavyweight boxing match, in New York on September 16, were dealt a severe blow by the state license committee today when the committee deferred action of Jack Dempsey's application for a license permitting him to fight in New York.

The committee deferred decision of Dempsey's application "pending his compliance with the rules and regulations of the New York Athletic Commission."

CANNING DEMONSTRATION.
Miss Ruth Ramey, Eastland county home demonstration agent, gave a canning demonstration at the home of H. L. Gibson, North Dixie street, Eastland, Monday. One hundred and fifty cans of corn were canned. The demonstration was witnessed by several persons.

QUO WARRANTO PROCEEDINGS MAY BE FILED

Statements Will Be Issued By Both Within Few Days

DALLAS, Aug. 10.—Attorney General Dan Moody again will take the stump in his campaign for the Democratic nomination for governor by next Monday unless Governor Miriam A. Ferguson withdraws from the contest within the next few days, he announced here today.

Moody was in conference with his leaders here this morning. He plans to return to Austin during the afternoon, and said he would issue a statement either in Dallas or Austin reviewing yesterday's development at the session of the Democratic executive committee.

Moody leaders expressed a belief that the filing of quo warranto proceedings in the state district court to prevent Moody's name going on the ticket by the Ferguson forces is the next step they anticipated.

Lon Curtis, who presented the petition at the executive committee meeting yesterday against Moody was still in Dallas but refused to make any comment today on Governor Ferguson's future plans. James E. Ferguson returned to Austin Monday night.

Quo warranto proceedings may be filed in any district court and have the jurisdiction to keep candidate's name off the ticket, according to versed in in the provision of the Texas election law here.

James E. Ferguson said before leaving Dallas, he expected to issue a statement from Austin with in a few days.

Notices Sent Out.
Secretary B. Fleming of the Democratic executive committee today was sending out notices to county chairmen certifying the names of Moody and Ferguson in the governor race for the second primary. Others on the ticket for the run-off included Hall and Hatcher for state treasurer and Alford and Pollard for attorney general.

WEATHER MAN SEES SOME RELIEF

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 10.—The torrid temperatures of the south-west, which for the past few days have ranged above the 100 degree mark, sending city folks to resorts and irreparably damaging late crops, may abate today in the wake of local thunder showers, the weather bureau indicated.

No drastic change, however, in the prevailing mid-summer temperature was promised, although the low humidity in this section served to increase the suffering.

One prostration was reported in Tulsa, Okla., yesterday, when the temperature reached 103 degrees.

Ranger-Thurber Highway Will Be Graded, Dragged

As an aftermath to the journey that was made by Texas Pacific Coal and Oil officials and members of the various chambers of commerce, of Eastland county, made last Friday and Saturday, the road from Thurber to Ranger, or rather from the curve on the Bankhead highway, to Thurber, is being graded and dragged and will soon be one of the smoothest bits of roads in this vicinity.

PREMIER ABDUL MUSHIN SLIGHTLY WOUNDED

BAGDAD, Aug. 11.—Premier Abdul Mushin El Sadun, was slightly wounded today when a dismissed official of the custom department, sought revenge in the government's offices. The premier's wounds were in the head and arms.

Seems to Be a Continuous Performance

FROM THE BIBLE
 Though I speak with the tongues of men and angels, and have not charity, I am as sounding brass, or a tinkling cymbal.—First Cor. Chap. 13, verse 1.
 Prayer—O Lord endow me with charity so that I may serve Thee and love my neighbor as myself.

WELCOME, RANGERS.
 While Ranger is nominally the hostess to the Texas Ex-Rangers' association reunion, these old boys are really the guests of Eastland county. We welcome you, thrice welcome.

Are Found In The Southwest
Ancient Relics
 AUSTIN, Aug. 7.—Further evidence that Texas is a rich and practically untouched field for research by the ethnologist and anthropologist is had by the published dispatch from Washington that H. B. Collins Jr., assistant curator of ethnology of the Smithsonian Institution, Washington, recently explored a number of ancient mounds along the Gulf Coast, extending east from Galveston Bay, and that he obtained from them skeletons, jewels, ornaments, implements, battle-axes and arrows.

What is more to the point, so far as the people of Texas are concerned, is that these valuable relics of a prehistoric race were taken out of the state. The need of a state museum for exhibiting and preserving such collections is becoming more and more urgent as the research into these mounds continues, it is stated by persons who are deeply interested in such discoveries.

In this connection, it is interesting to note that Roy Bedichek, director of the Interscholastic League Bureau of the University of Texas, recently made a week-end trip into the hills of Bandera county for the special purpose of investigating an Indian mound or "kitchen midden" which was brought to his attention by J. Marvin Hunter of Bandera, editor and publisher of the Frontier Times. Both Bedichek and Hunter are much interested in the study of the life and customs of the primitive people who lived in Texas prior to the coming of the white man. They have personally made extensive investigations of Indian mounds in various parts of the state.

At Bandera, Mr. Bedichek was joined by Mr. Hunter and they proceeded over a rough mountain road to a point near Tarpley, about 15 miles south of Bandera. They met with no difficulty in finding the mound and it proved to be one of the largest ever discovered in Texas, according to Mr. Bedichek. Beyond establishing beyond a doubt its identity as a "kitchen midden" of remarkable magnitude and possible scientific interest, nothing was done by the visitors on this preliminary trip to uncover its contents. They hope that this may be done in a systematic way at some later time.

Mr. Hunter is regarded by persons who are interested in the unwritten and unpublished history of Texas as doing a work of unestimable value in collecting and preserving records dealing with past events that have a bearing on the life and work of pioneer settlers. These rare chronicles find a public outlet through the Frontier Times which was established by Mr. Hunter at Bandera several years ago.

Chicago To Face Real Football War During Season
 CHICAGO, Aug. 10.—With the granting of a charter by C. C. Pyle's American League of Professional Football clubs to the Chicago Bulls, Inc., a football war looms in Chicago.

Organization of the new club means that Chicago now has three professional football organizations.

Pyle, manager of Red Grange, who will head a New York football aggregation this year, said the Bulls would have his personal backing and would be managed by Joey Sternaman, late star quarterback for the Chicago Bears.

The announcement of Pyle, although not entirely unexpected, caused a furore in football circles here. Grave doubts were expressed as to Chicago's ability to support the Bulls in addition to the two older teams—the Bears and Cardinals.

A bitter fight for players also is foreseen, with Pyle making the first move by taking Sternaman, probably the Bears' biggest drawing card. The older clubs, however, have shown no disposition as yet to go on any contract signing rampage, claiming that they already have the cream of the professional talent on their rosters.

SOCIETY AND SOCIAL AFFAIRS

PERSONALS
 Mrs. N. J. Navokovich and daughter, Miss Marguerite, have returned home from a delightful visit to the mountains and cities of Colorado. They report a wonderful time.

Dr. Carl Wilson and his mother, Mrs. H. B. Wilson, have returned from a pleasure trip to Houston, Galveston and Corsicana, and Dr. Wilson is back in his office again. They report some terribly hot weather, especially on last Sunday.

Eugene Baker and family have returned from a motor trip to San Antonio and other interesting historical points in that part of the state. Mr. Baker thoroughly enjoyed his trip to the old missions, and to Goliad, and feels that every loyal red blooded Texan should make that trip at least once during their lives, so as to live over again the days of our Texas heroes, among the scenes that commemorate their brave deeds.

Max Bentley, staff correspondent for the Record-Telegram, will arrive in Ranger, Wednesday noon to "cover" the Texas Ex-Rangers' convention for his paper.

J. H. E. Jones and Mrs. Jones, are now keeping house at the Hall Walker home on Young street. Mrs. Jones has been in California for the past six weeks.

Turks Manufacture Other Articles Than Pipes And Carpets

LONDON.—Carpets, flutes and weird smoking pipes do not constitute the entire output of Turkish manufacturers, as many people think.

An exhibition of Turkish exports, recently shown here on board the S. S. Kara Deniz, touring European ports to boost Turkish trade, included canned fruits, mineral ore, Black Sea coal and women's shoes.

'Grandma' Miller Attends Worship At First Baptist

Grandma Miller, 90 years old, mother of Mrs. Ferguson, and an aunt of Mrs. R. L. Ross, were the two oldest persons attending services of the First Baptist church, Ranger, Sunday.

Both old ladies seemed in good health and spirits and today, Rev. W. H. Johnson was to take the younger of the old ladies for a visit to the older one.

Grandma Miller recently celebrated her ninety-third birthday, and is still able to "sew a fine seam" and pieces quilts.

Interest Grows In Community Services Nightly

Interest in the Community Service, being held in the yard of the Chestnut-Smith plant, on the Blackwell road, by the First Baptist church of Ranger, continues to grow.

Rev. Mr. Vaughn and his choir are doing some great work, and each night furnish a musical treat for the congregation.

Congestion is avoided in the yard by correct parking and one need not fear the heat as the ground is sprinkled, and thereby rendered quite cool.

Rev. W. H. Johnson tonight will speak on "The Necessity of Regeneration."

These services are open to all and a cordial invitation is extended to the public to attend any or all of them.

Crosbie Bought Old Bily Burke Place; Move Here

E. K. Crosbie, who bought the Billy Burke place in the extreme eastern part of the city, has taken out a building permit at the city hall, to repair and reroof and generally improve the property.

This home was one of the very expensive ones that was built during Ranger's boom days. Mr. and Mrs. Crosbie live on the Sunny Jim lease, between Olden and Ranger, but will move to Ranger.

Stoner System Crew Completes Young Addition

With Hodges Oak Park addition partially covered, and all of Young addition completed, the three crews of men working under officials of the Stoner unit system, feel that they are making an inventory of the city pretty well under headway.

In most cases they meet with courtesy and have encountered very little opposition when they have explained that they have nothing to do with the taxes, but are just making an inventory of Ranger.

Oil Belts Win Fast Game From The Salesmen

The Oilbelt Motor team came off victorious in a game between themselves and the Salesmen yesterday afternoon at Nitra Park, Ranger. It was a snappy game throughout. Cook pitching for the Oilbelt made nine strike out and Avant for the Salesmen one or two. Bryant caught for the Oilbelt and Cotulla for the Salesmen. The score was 4 to 3 in favor of the Oilbelt team. The winning team made four hits and the Salesmen three. There were no sensational plays at all, just good interesting baseball.

The VANITY CASE

© 1926 by G. P. PUTNAM SONS

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Mrs. Prentiss, who suffers from insomnia, sees lights mysteriously appear and disappear in the Heath household next door one night, and the next morning Harbor Gardens, Long Island, is agog with the murder of Myra Heath and the disappearance of Perry, her husband.

House guests of the Heaths are Lawrence Inman and Bunny Moore. Inman might have a motive because he is heir to Myra's considerable fortune, she having cut off her husband in her will. Suspicion also points to golden-haired, vivacious Bunny Moore, because of her refusal to answer questions at the inquest.

Myra Heath was a peculiar woman. She never used cosmetics, never wore colors. She had a mania for collecting glass, and it was a rare old whisky bottle that was the instrument of her death. Candles were burning at her head and feet when a maid discovered her body, and nearby was a card marked, "The Work of Perry Heath." Strangest of all, she was heavily made up and dressed with gay colors.

The strangest thing about Heath's disappearance is the fact that all the windows and doors had been locked on the inside the night before and were found that way in the morning. Finger prints of Bunny and Inman are found on the bottle. A vanity case has strangely disappeared and physicians determine that the rouge was applied to Myra's face after death.

At the Country Club, the murder is discussed by Sam Anderson, Heath's rival for the club presidency; Al Cunningham, who is trying to solve the case, and others. Some believe Heath the murderer. Others, including Anderson, disagree, Cunningham believing Bunny Moore is concealing something calls on Mrs. Prentiss.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XVI

Now, Al Cunningham was not an Adonis for looks, but he had an ingratiating way with him, which, added to a discreetly flattering tongue, sometimes made astonishing inroads on the confidence of middle aged or elderly ladies.

He passed the Heath house, and beaming his most debonaire smile, he deliberately walked up the garden path and up a few steps of the porch of Mrs. Prentiss.

Toddy Buck looked round in surprise, then rose, to greet a supposed friend of his aunt.

But Mrs. Prentiss showed no recognition of the caller, and Cunningham, taking all on one bold move, held out his hand to her, as he said, "You'll forgive me, I know, when you hear what I've called about."

His smile faded and gave way to a mysterious air, and his lowered voice promised thrilling revelations.

Emily Prentiss couldn't resist this, and she graciously bowed and pointed to a nearby chair.

Cunningham, thus encouraged, tacitly took Todhunter Buck also into his confidence, and began by saying:

"I'm Al Cunningham, a Gardens man, of course, and I saw you two at the inquest this afternoon, Mrs. Prentiss, I felt sure that you knew something about the affair but as you were not called upon, you couldn't—or didn't tell it."

"Well, I declare!" cried the astonished woman. "Now however did you guess that? Here I was just discussing with my nephew whether or no I ought to tell somebody, and along you come! It's just providential, that's what it is! You a detective, Mr. Cunningham?"

"Well, I am, but not a professional one. As a matter of fact, I'm a rank amateur, but I'm working in the interests of the Country Club. Mr. Heath was a member, you know, and some of the men think they ought to look into the matter of his strange disappearance. And they've put the work rather more or less into my hands. So, as I said, I have a hunch you know something—oh, I beg your pardon, forgive the slang!"

"No harm at all," Mrs. Prentiss beamed on him. "My nephew here, uses the most atrocious slang, so I'm used to it. Well sir, your hunch is a right one. I do know something, though whether it's a fancy account or not, I can't say. But seeing you are what you are, and send out by the club and all, I don't see why I shouldn't tell you. In fact, I'd have told it before if I'd known who to tell. I don't altogether cotton to the police. They're so high and mighty, and they can take what you tell 'em, and then twist it all out of kilter until it's no use to them or anybody else."

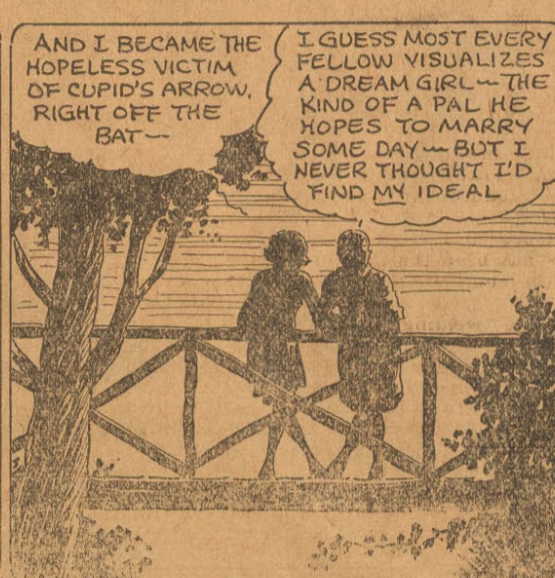

"That's so, Mrs. Prentiss," Cunningham's voice was deeply sympathetic. "Now, if you care to tell me, I'll promise you the information will not be wasted."

"All right, I'll tell." Whereupon, Mrs. Prentiss detailed anew her watch of the night before. She told accurately and just as she had told her nephew at breakfast of the strange appearances, disappearances and reappearances of lights in the Heath studio.

"It is a most interesting story," Cunningham said, when she had finished. "And I am sure it is of the utmost importance. Were it only concerning the main lights of the room, it would not be so peculiar, but the appearance of the two small sparks which were doubtless the candles left there, makes it all a strong piece of evidence, which, however, needs straightening out and unraveling to get its meaning. Let us try, Mrs. Prentiss, to reconstruct the happenings. Keep check on me and tell me if I go wrong. Now, say the complete darkness at half-past eleven meant the family and servants had all retired."

"Yes, that's probably right."

"Well, then, say that when a dim light appeared perhaps half an hour later, some one came downstairs on a trifling errand—for a book, or cigarettes or some such thing."

"Yes—though that isn't very definite."

"Ah, you thought I would be one of those detectives who could deduce a man with a hooked nose and Van-dyke beard, with a slight limp and a cast in his left eye!"

Mrs. Prentiss laughed, appreciating the banter.

"Well, go on," she said.

"Well, the indefinite prowler came downstairs, snapped on a small light, maybe a desk light—that wasn't the candle, was it?"

"No, I recollect the effect clearly, it was doubtless, as you suggest, a small desk light or reading lamp."

"Then, in a few moments comes another person, who flashes on the full lights of the room."

"Of course, though, it need not have been another person. It may well have been the first, the indefinite person, still hunting what he came after."

"Right! You are a born detective, Mrs. Prentiss! Well, anyhow, that big light stayed on till about one o'clock. That right?"

"Yes, as near as I remember the hours. Then the candles showed."

"Yes, and it was during the time of that big light—between twelve and one o'clock, that Mrs. Heath was killed. Or, at least that's the way I see it. For the candles were, in all probability, put in place to represent funeral candles. Now that must have been done after the lady was dead. Then, having arranged things to his satisfaction, the murderer snapped off the big light, and left the room, whether he left the house or not."

"But there were more lights on and off after that."

"That is the most important of all. If my belief is the truth, that the crime was committed just before the candles were lighted, then whoever has, so far, kept quiet about it."

Does "Iron Mike" Actually Think?

LET a world jaded with the modern mechanical and scientific marvels pause for a moment to consider "Iron Mike" the most mysterious and uncanny marvel of them all.

The UNITED PRESS operator, sitting at the keyboard—perhaps in New York—typewrites the news-story which is instantly typewritten by the receiving machine in Chicago or San Francisco. THE ONLY CONNECTION BETWEEN THE TWO MACHINES IS A TELEGRAPH WIRE.

"Iron Mike" is the nick-name of this magical device which can handle from 12,000 to 15,000 words or more a day—as much as the most expert human telegraph operators can handle.

There are more than one hundred and fifty "Iron Mikes" in operation on UNITED PRESS circuits today making possible new successes in speed and accuracy and volume in news transmission.

This newspaper is a UNITED PRESS newspaper. The whole wide world is now your neighbor. The UNITED PRESS makes it so. A volcano kills 900 people in Japan—a Ukrainian leader is assassinated in Paris—a new oil field is discovered in Siberia—Asquith and Lloyd George cross swords in a debate in the House of Commons—you know these things instantly through the UNITED PRESS service rendered to this newspaper. Look for the line "BY UNITED PRESS" in this newspaper every day.

STARTLING CHANGES IN 'THE WISE GUY'

One day in a hula skirt, the next in the Mission girl's bonnet and uniform. This is the metamorphosis brought about in Frank Lloyd's new First National picture, "The Wise Guy," by Betty Compton, who plays the role of "Hula Kate." The other characters also appear in uniforms typical of the traveling Mission, whereas when they began in the production they were clad in the rough and tumble outfits of the habitués of a Medicine Show.

Steel Increases Range of Auto Styles

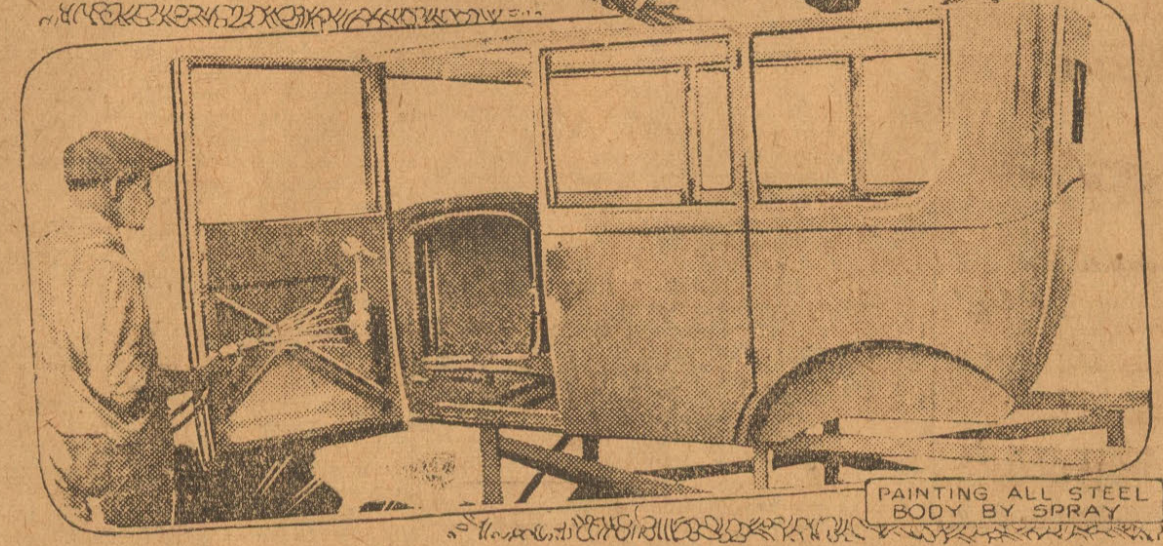

New Models Predicted For 1927; Spirited Development Forecast

By Kent Lighty, in "Autobody"

THE past year has seen the sudden rise to prominence of the all-steel, full-vision body and its still holding the center of the picture because of the opportunities steel construction offers in the way of creating style without sacrificing safety. Perhaps the most significant development of 1926 was the adoption of all-steel closed bodies by Jordan and Ford. It is comparatively recently that the closed all-steel body has entered the medium-priced class. Its entry caused considerable comment in the industry and received great impetus through the advertising campaigns conducted by the car manufacturers adopting it. Reasons lying behind this trend are manifold, though they may be explained as the natural culmination of engineering experience. The Edward G. Budd Manufacturing Co. has been making all-steel bodies in Philadelphia since 1914, when Dodge Bros. adopted this construction for their open cars. Mechanical improvements in methods of production have piled one upon the other, until today the all-steel body can be made economically for either large or medium production schedules. An important element in this development is the improved process of manufacturing the dies necessary to make steel stampings.

ELECTRICAL WELDING OF AUTO FRAME SECTION

PAINTING ALL STEEL BODY BY SPRAY

The time is but shortly past when eight months were required to manufacture dies; automatic die-making machines now produce their products in less than two months. Almost equal to this in importance has been the development of electric spot welding, which has practically replaced riveting and acetone welding. The various units of steel to be welded together are held firmly to standard measurements in specially designed jigs; when the body is finished, it is composed of innumerable pieces of steel, fastened together, but may be said to be a monotype, a body of one continuous piece of steel. The result of this mechanical progress, coupled with efficient line production, is that the average time of assembling an all-steel sedan body shell is 45 minutes. Further economies have been developed within the past few months. Present styles still hold closely to the forms prescribed by wood construction, but it may be pointed out that designers working with steel are not being forced to sacrifice design in the interests of strength and safety. Experimentation has scarcely tapped the new field open to designers. The body architect is limited only by his ingenuity and his imagination, and there is wide speculation as to what form the automobile bodies will take in the future.

BASEBALL New Method For Making Brick Is Given Study

WACO, Aug. 10.—A method for making brick through a chemical process from cotton stalks and clay, is being studied by directors of the chamber of commerce with a view of the establishment of a plant for the manufacture of such a brick here.

The new method, it is claimed, will revolutionize the building trades industry.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS ABOUT "What Makes a Good Tire?" Question—Does any one single feature make a good tire? Answer—No. Question—Then what does make a good tire? Answer—The perfection of all the different operations that are necessary in producing the finished product from tree to tire. Question—As for example? Answer—The success of the United States Royal Cord Balloon in delivering true balloon cushioning and comfort, and yet giving long-lasting service is largely due to these six important factors:

Plantations The United States Rubber Company owns and operates scientific Rubber Plantations in Sumatra and Malaya. Has 7,000,000 rubber trees, all yielding latex now, from which this Company produces its Sprayed Rubber and its Latex-treated Web Cord. Sprayed Rubber Of the greatest importance, because of its fine quality, and its freedom from acid and smoke. Briefly, the latex is sprayed into a chamber containing hot, dry air, which dries out the liquid from the latex, leaving the pure, solid rubber. This does away with the old methods of smoke-drying and acid coagulation.

Uniform Cotton Cord To insure absolute uniformity and high quality of the cotton cord used in United States Tires, the United States Rubber Company operates its own cotton mills at Wainsboro, South Carolina. Here the choicest grade cotton is made into cords to meet the rigid requirements of the tire factories where it is used to produce Latex-treated Web Cord. Latex-treated Web Cord Also an invention of the United States Rubber technicians. The cords are laid parallel without tie-threads, and soaked in virgin rubber latex, which forms an elastic web through and through between the cords. Important because it gives the cord structure maximum strength and maximum flexibility.

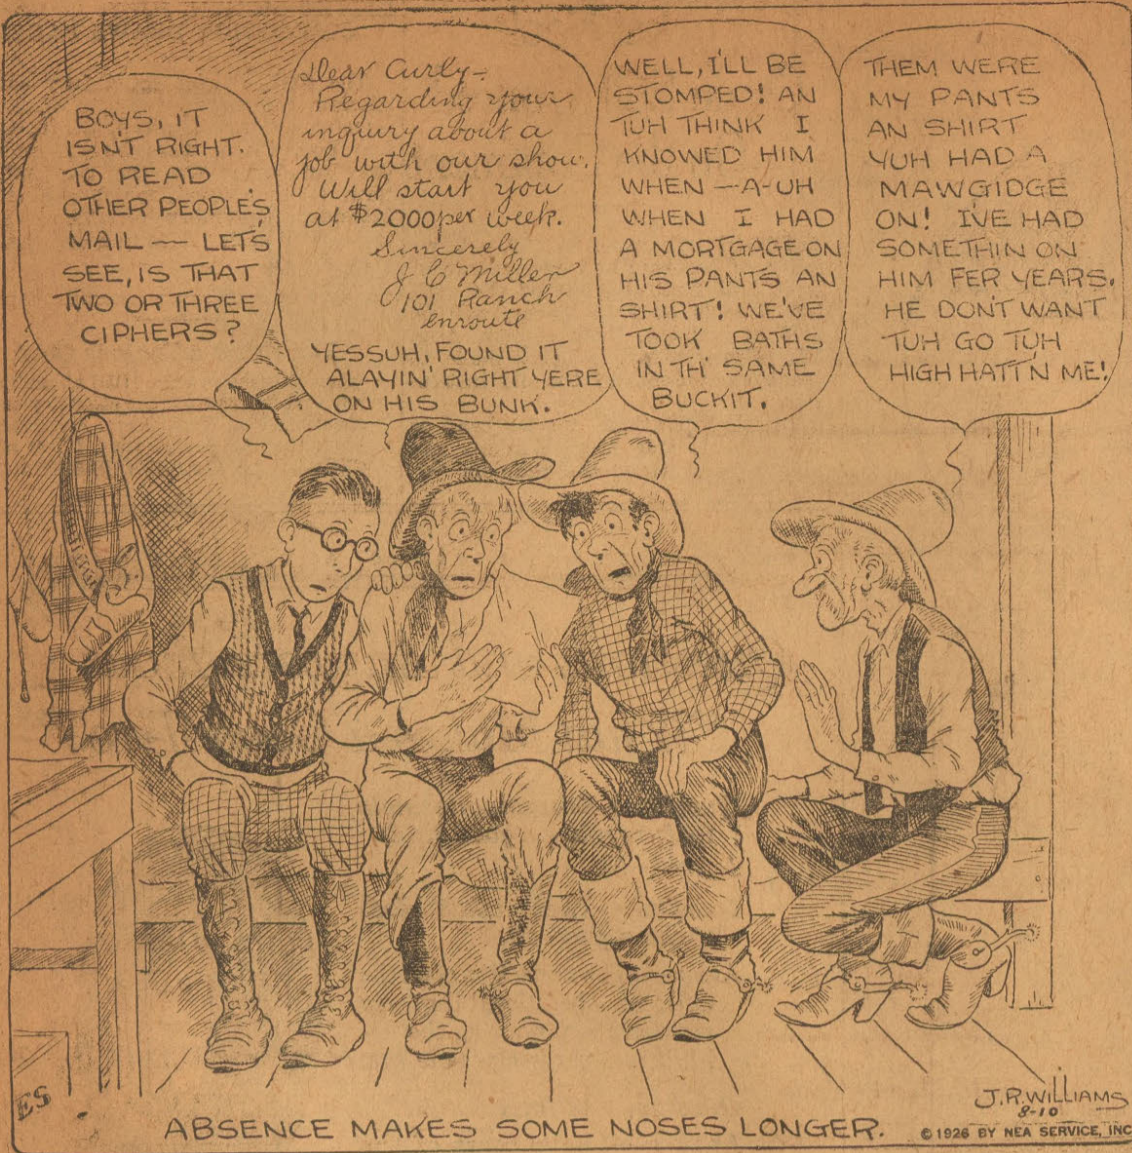

Flat-Band Method of Building Tires Do not miss the importance of this revolutionary improvement in tire-building. The way it works is highly technical. But the result is that each cord in a United States Royal Cord is made to lie in exactly the right position, under precisely the right tension, and to take its due share of the work. Searching Tests from the Tree to the Tire United States Tire tests begin with the raw materials—and these tests never stop. Many tests are made during the process of manufacture and finished tires undergo various tests such as the "Tread Wear Test" illustrated. Even after the tires are sold and in use, their performance on the road is being checked by factory-trained experts stationed all over the country.

BATTLE OF BALLOTS WILL BE WAGED IN FOUR STATES TODAY

Two Women Seek Highest Honors, Buckeye State

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Aug. 10.—Two women, seeking the two highest offices the state can bestow, were among candidates in the Ohio primary election today. Miss Florence E. Allen, associate justice of the supreme court, is a candidate for the democratic nomination for United States senator. She is the first of her sex to seek this office in Ohio.

Alabama Voters Are Passing On Road Bond Issue

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Aug. 10.—Alabama voters went to the polls today to elect a United States senator, a governor, a full complement of state officers and members of both houses of the legislature, since the democratic nomination in this state is equivalent to election. The campaign has been one of the hardest battles in the state's history with a proposed bond issue of $75,000,000 for highway improvement as the chief issue.

Campaign Quiet In Nebraska, Tickets Named

LINCOLN, Neb., Aug. 10.—After one of the quietest primary campaigns in the state's history, Nebraska today went to the polls to nominate candidates of four political parties for governor. Three of the parties—the democratic, progressive and Lafolette independent—offered but one candidate for the gubernatorial nomination. Republicans were offered their choice of nominating Gov. Adam McMullen for another term or of choosing between Robert G. Ross, former livery stable proprietor of Lexington, Neb., and Fred G. Johnson, Governor McMullen was an overwhelming favorite.

Prisons And Text Books, Big Issues In Old Arkansas

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Aug. 10.—Arkansas voters were deciding at the polls today for the first time since the reconstruction, whether an Arkansas governor will fail to secure a second term endorsement. Gov. Thomas J. Terral, seeking a second term, is opposed in the primary election by Judge John E. Mar-tineau, who as candidate for the democratic primary nomination in 1924 finished third in a field of six. Not since the post-civil war days has a governor in this state been defeated for a second term. The gubernatorial campaign has revolved about administration of the state text-book commission and Terral's prison policy.

The republicans this year present an unusually large roster of gubernatorial candidates, with 11 aspirants. However, the race has narrowed down to three leading candidates—Secretary of State Thad Brown, Myers Y. Cooper and State Treasurer Harry S. Day.

Little interest centers about the democratic gubernatorial election. Gov. Vic Donahey, seeking a third term, has for his opponents, A. P. Sandles, James C. Beatty and J. H. Kaufman. Politicians expected Governor Donahey again will be the democratic standard bearer. The other republican gubernatorial candidates are: Grant Beam, Ross P. Buchanan, Charles J. Dirks, Harry C. Gibson, Harry A. Shanley, Joseph B. Sieber, Harvey C. Smith and William Grant Webster.

In the republican contest for the senatorial nomination, Senator Frank seven other contenders. He has been endorsed by the state dry forces. His opponents for the nomination include: Albert D. Acorn, Charles Dick, Alfred J. Fiorini, C. Q. Hildebrandt, Thomas W. Latham, Lloyd A. Price, and George L. Watson. Other state offices to be filled at the elections in November for which candidates sought nomination today, were lieutenant-governor, secretary of state, treasurer of state, attorney general, and three supreme court benches—chief justice, and two associate justices. A total of 87 candidates will present themselves to the voters—considered an unusually large number in Ohio.

McDowell has the support of the Brandon administration, but has been bitterly fought by opponents of the gasoline tax. A. H. Carmichael of Tusculumbia, for years prominent in Alabama legislatures, is advocating a $35,000,000 bond issue. Col. Bibb Graves of Montgomery has announced that he favors a $25,000,000 bond issue, while A. G. Patterson of Albany-Decatur is against any bond issue at all.

Patterson declared that it is impossible to raise $8,000,000 a year without issuing any bonds. The road bonds have been the only real issue injected into the campaign as all candidates have pledged themselves to abolish convict leasing immediately upon being elected. The senate contest, has centered around the question of money. This has been the major point raised with Hugo L. Black, Birmingham attorney, on one side and John H. Bankhead of Jasper, ex-Gov. Thomas E. Kilby of Anniston and L. B. Musgrove of Jasper on the other. Musgrove, Kilby and Bankhead are reputed to be millionaires, while Black has represented himself as a poor man. Judge J. J. Mayfield of Montgomery, fifth entrant in the race, has conducted a conservative and unobtrusive campaign and has not been involved in the battles of other candidates.

Charles W. Bryan, former governor and democratic vice presidential nominee at the 1924 election is the only candidate seeking the democratic gubernatorial position. Because of his lack of opposition in the primary campaign, the brother of the late William Jennings Bryan has preserved his campaign "ammunition" for use after today. All of Nebraska's representatives to congress are seeking re-election. A comparatively light vote was anticipated throughout the state, leaders of the two major parties said.

Helium Reduced To a Solid In a Dutch Laboratory

AMSTERDAM.—Helium, now the most extensively used gas in lighter-than-air dirigibles, has been reduced to a solid by Professor Keenson of Leyden University. The gas was first reduced to a liquid in 1908, but more than 20 years of effort to bring the gas to a solid form have failed. The reduction was made through use of powerful pumps and low temperature. The gas had to be reduced to 459 degrees below Fahrenheit zero before pressure could be applied, it is said. The new element is clear, crystalline and transparent.

FEZ RULED UNHYGIENIC

CARIO.—The Egyptian fez has been condemned as unhygienic. The congress of Egyptian doctors has proposed that a reward be offered for the best design of a new style of washable hat, with a brim. It must be suitable for peasants and citizens.

Women Attract Lightning Is Belief of Priest

VIENNA.—Women are especially dangerous companions during an electric storm, a woman contributor wrote to the Vienna newspaper "Neues Wiener Journal." As her authority for this statement she cited an unnamed Swiss priest. "After mass had been said one Sunday," she wrote, "I tarried some minutes in the church and got into conversation with the priest, an old friend of mine. I asked him why he insisted on separating the men from the women during service. He replied: 'It is better so. When lightning strikes a church it always strikes that part in which the greatest number of women are congregated. Women have a magnetism for lightning as well as for light-minded men.'"

13-Month Year Is Endorsed By Weather Man

WASHINGTON.—Proposals for a 13 month year are endorsed by Prof. C. F. Marvin, chief of the U. S. Weather Bureau, because it would make weather forecasting simpler. The weather could be averaged up more easily, he points out. Support of the plan has been given in many of our scientific quarters. The year would have 13 28 day months, with an extra "year day" at the end of the last week in December. At the end of June every four years, a "leap day" would be inserted.

Mayor of Summer Resort in England Files Complaint

MATLOCK, Eng.—When the old-fashioned mayor of this old-fashioned health resort complained recently in a Sunday newspaper that "ninety percent of our inhabitants this summer are girls," he launched one of the greatest sociological investigations of modern times. For the young men of England, struck by the novelty of a whole town populated almost entirely by girls, seem to have decided to put in their holidays studying the various aspects of so unusual a community. They have filled up as by magic every hall bedroom in Matlock. Four jazz orchestras are arriving this afternoon to assist in the scientific research.

Bumps and Blotches Cause Folks To Be Backward

Help them wherever you see that they are standing back, afraid to assert themselves simply because they feel sensitive about their pimply, red and rough face. Thousands of people all over the country are praising Black and White Ointment, and Black and White Skin Soap, because they get rid of their skin troubles by everything else they tried did them no good. Tell your friends, who are struggling under this handicap in life, to get Black and White Ointment, and Skin Soap, from any dealer. They will be delighted with the quick results they will get from it. They are economically priced, in generous packages. The 50c size Ointment contains three times as much as the 25c size.

Auto First Aid Kits Is Urged By Red Cross

WASHINGTON.—Hundreds of persons killed in automobile accidents every year could have been saved from death had first aid been given the victims, according to the American Red Cross. Fifty-two lives a day is the toll automobiles are taking in the United States. Tourists are urged to carry in their cars a Red Cross First Aid Kit as a regular part of their emergency equipment.

Excavators Find 20 Skeletons Of European Race

SAN DIEGO, Cal.—Origin of 20 skeletons, uncovered by commercial excavators near here, is puzzling scientists. The absence of utensils and weapons near the bones led to the belief the spot was not an Indian burial ground. "The bones appeared to have been buried about 200 or 300 years and seem to be those of some European race," said Dr. Wesley Bradford, associate director of the San Diego Museum.

A college education is a fine thing for the man who can use it without revealing it.
