

Tuneful Melodies Played in Court to Soothe Sting

SAN FRANCISCO, April 28.—Tuneful melodies loved of old and popular airs of recent composition will dispel from his court what Police Judge Sylvain Lazarus termed the "customary air of resentment and hatred."

"It's just an experiment based on the demonstration of the power of music to take the sting from 'ten and costs.'"

The music was first produced by a phonograph which a detective said was stolen. He brought the phonograph and records into court and the judge ordered the session opened with music.

"Ben Bolt" was played and the court proceeded to the case of a drunken man who attempted to break away from the officer who arrested him.

"All By Myself" served as prelude to the trial of a lone automobile speeder.

"There is nothing in the world that tempers our emotions as much as music," said Judge Lazarus at the close of the session. "But there is danger, even in music. Some selections might soften our hearts too much. Too much jazz might make us forget the misery that we should remember. For that reason, each melancholy tune must be offset by one that is exhilarating."

To replace the photograph which brought the innovation, the judge will have one of his own sent from his home.

FALL KILLS BOY.

DUNCAN, Okla., April 28.—Waldo Cline, 17, son of R. W. Cline, former mayor of Duncan, is dead from injuries received in falling from an automobile on the pavement, suffering a brain concussion. He was rear-end in Duncan and was a student in the local high school.

No metal or alloy has been found which can be substituted for lead in pipes for carrying water or drainage. It never deteriorates or decays. The gutter spouts at Windsor Castle, England, were installed in 1589 and are still in perfect condition.

The motor truck and automobile, privately owned or operated by a corporation, is fast making the local trains out of the large cities in the United States no longer a necessity for either freight or passengers.

ELEVEN INJURED AS EXPLOSION WRECKS BIG FORT WORTH STORE

Special to the Times.

FORT WORTH, April 28.—A terrific explosion yesterday afternoon wrecked the interior of the Turner & Dungee grocery at 502 Houston street, more or less seriously injuring eleven persons. The origin of the explosion is unknown, but believed to be gas. Seven of the injured were rushed to hospitals and the others were taken to their homes. Beside the number known to have been injured, several others were reported cut and slightly injured by flying glass and other debris.

Ammonia fumes which forced persons entering the building after the explosion to don masks, resulted in a report that the ammonia plant in the store had exploded. The plant, however, was found to be intact by Fire Chief Ferguson. A. S. Dungee, proprietor of the establishment, could offer no explanation of the explosion. Two months ago, he said, a gas explosion caused by a leak in the basement, knocked a man unconscious, but that he supposed the leak had been repaired.

The entire interior of the store was wrecked, the blast being so great as to break an iron pillar supporting the ceiling and to hurl barrels of produce through the store and smashing them. The entire glass front of the store was blown out. Among the injured were:

W. E. Glass, 274 South Main street, bruised and stunned.

E. T. Watkins, cut about the head. Wade Herron, badly cut about the head.

Mrs. Paul C. Jones, 200 East Fourth street, bruised and slightly cut.

Ed Bailey, negro man, 111 Bryan avenue, bruised and cut on arms. Mrs. J. Fisher, 1810 Belmont street, bruised and burned, not seriously.

A woman, driving a big automobile in front of the store at the time of the explosion, was injured when the windshield of her car was broken. Her wounds were dressed by a physician in the Mrs. Dan Waggoner building.

Mrs. E. P. Freeman, 1200 West Fifteenth street, scratched about the face; not seriously hurt.

J. E. Coleman, 1047 Richmond, cut about face; not seriously hurt.

George Hale, Riverside, bruised and cut about face; not seriously injured.

Mrs. Geo. Hornback, 1208 May, slightly bruised and suffering from shattered nerves.

A. S. Dungee, proprietor of the store, was not present at the time, having gone out to visit several of his stores. He was just returning at the time he saw the first ambulances arrive.

KANSAS CITY, April 28.—Al S. Parker, president of the Stewart Land company, was indicted here today by the federal grand jury on charges of using the mails to defraud, in connection with the sale of Texas lands.

$100,000 FUND TO BUY JURORS IS UNDER PROBE

CHICAGO, April 28.—Reports that a $100,000 "slush fund" had been raised to "buy" favorable verdict in two recent trials for labor leaders on criminal charges in Chicago are being investigated by the state's attorney.

A man said to be high in labor circles is being sought, it was alleged, as the chief of the band of "fixers" involved in the raising and dispensing of the fund.

The recent confession of Henry J. Smith, a juror in the panel which acquitted Simon O'Donnell, former-head of the Chicago Building Trades council, of charges of graft and extortion, that he was paid $1,000 for a verdict of acquittal, is said to have led to the uncovering of the huge "slush fund." The leader who is sought is said to have disappeared after Smith's confession.

Four others, in addition to the fugitive leader, are said to be under surveillance.

They are: "Take care of your children an hour each day." "Help your wife prepare the breakfast." "Get a job at once." "Stay home at least five nights a week." "Take your family out walking at night and on Sunday." "Start a savings account." "Wait on yourself instead of making your wife wait on you."

175 BARRELS HAIG & HAIG TURN TO 'POP'

NEW YORK, April 28—As the last batch of a shipment of 175 barrels of "1902 bonded Haig & Haig" whisky in bottles, packed in sawdust, swung up from the pier to the hold of the Ward liner Mexico one barrel slipped from the hoistbag and shot downward to the dock. There was a crash as the staves parted and longshoremen rushed up to save what they could of the wreckage. But the liquid which trickled out and formed little pools on the pier, instead of being whisky which would bootleg at $15 a quart, was nothing but strawberry soda of the cheapest kind, such as is retailed on New York's lower East Side at 2 cents a bottle. An investigation was started at once by the customs authorities, for the government valuation on the shipment was $110,000. Strawberry soda was found to have been substituted for the whisky in each of the 175 barrels, and evidence was collected indicating that the change had been made during the five hours the liquor was on its way from the freight yards to the dock. Customs officials said 6,260 bottles were involved and that the whisky formed part of a bonded shipment on a through bill of lading from Quebec to Havana. At the annual meeting of the Brooklyn Chamber of Commerce, several women were elected to membership. This is the first time in the history of this organization that women have been thus honored.

DEVILFISH AND DIVER BATTLE 50 FEET DOWN

Quick Thinking Wins Man's Fight for Life in Puget Sound.

TACOMA, Wash., April 28.—Battling for his life fifty feet below the surface of Puget sound, Walter McCray, a diver, known in marine circles from Alaska to California, came out victorious over a giant devilfish.

The monster wound its tentacles so tightly about McCray that the diver was unable to reach the knife he carried for protection. When one tentacle threatened to cut off the air supply, McCray, thru the submarine telephone, called for a short steel wrecking bar. With this weapon the diver was able to pierce the body of the devilfish and at last with man and monster still struggling desperately, McCray was drawn to the surface by the diver's assistant and other men called to help.

While Richard Burnett, a dock watchman, stood by with drawn pistol, unable to shoot because the diver and devilfish were so completely tangled, others attacked with what weapons there were at hand and at last the devilfish released its hold and disappeared beneath the water.

The devilfish was one of the largest ever seen in these waters and was the first, McCray said, that ever attacked him.

McCray, who suffered chiefly from exhaustion, was prepared to resume diving.

EX-SERVICE MEN WILL ESTABLISH FARMING COLONY

McGRATH, Minn., April 28.—This thriving farming town is virtually assured one of the most unique farming projects in the United States as the result of a recent visit here of former soldier students at the government vocational training school at Minneapolis, who propose to purchase a tract of 3,500 acres of land near here to develop farms for themselves.

The former service men, forty-six in number, are more or less disabled as a result of army service, and have been studying agriculture at the training school. As the course stipulates that they must devote a certain period to practical application of their schooling, it was suggested to the men by Prof. B. D. Mayne of the training school that they acquire the title to farm lands and pay for it with the salary and expense moneys to which they are entitled under the provisions of the vocational training law.

According to the plan proposed by Prof. Mayne, the students will purchase the land in one tract and then apportion it out, each farm being separate. When the tract is finally settled and prepared for cultivation it is planned to build a set of community buildings at a central location and establish a new town.

BANDITS GIVEN BLANK CHECK, FILL IT IN FOR HUNDRED; RETURN RING

CHICAGO, April 28.—Edward P. Morse, an attorney, and his wife recently were held up by robbers who took the attorney's valuables and stripped the wedding ring from his wife's finger.

Mr. Morse bargained with the bandits for the ring. They agreed to return it for $100, according to Mr. Morse. Not having the cash, he offered them a signed blank check which they agreed to fill in for $100.

The canceled check for $100 was returned to the attorney Wednesday.

ORIENT WILL RESTORE SHOPS AT SAN ANGELO

SAN ANGELO, April 28.—The Kansas City, Mexico & Orient railway of Texas will be given two and one-half years in which to restore its headquarters, offices and shops at San Angelo to prewar strength, under a contract which the board of city development has authorized Judge W. A. Wright, local attorney, to close with the Orient officials.

NORMALCY HITS BOOTLEGGERS.

DALLAS, April 28.—"These are hard times for the bootlegger," Prohibition Enforcement Officer Allen Bailey says. He recently returned from an extended trip through West Texas.

"The booze costs too much," Bailey said. "People can't pay the price. Therefore they let it alone. I've talked to a number of bootleggers after their arrests and they say that 'hard times' are putting them out of business."

"Newspapers are helping us in the fight. Publicity about poison booze is bankrupting many bootleggers."

Philadelphia has over 9,000 manufacturing plants operated on the factory system, with capital invested amounting to $7,000,000,000.

Prominent Women Attend Pan-American Conference

BLIND BOY TO SEE AGAIN WITH ANOTHER'S EYES

HORNELL, N. Y., April 28.—A blind boy has been made to see with eyes transplanted from a dying man.

That was the information given here tonight when it was declared that a remarkable operation on John Eichberger, 19, of this city, is to prove a success.

Four years ago Eichberger was struck in his face with a stone. The left eye was injured so severely that the sight was destroyed. Then the sight of the other eye failed, apparently in sympathy with the left eye.

Last August Eichberger was taken to Mt. Sinai Hospital, where an operation was performed. It was only partly successful, the youth being able to distinguish light from darkness. After two more operations it was found that the pupils were so diseased that it was believed at the time that sight could not be restored.

Realizing the hopelessness of the situation surgeons are declared to have transferred live and healthy pupils to Eichberger's sockets. The pupils were taken from another man in the hospital who had no chance to live.

The operation appeared to be feasible at the time, it is said, because the nerves leading to the pupils of Eichberger's eyes were alive.

As soon as the healthy pupils were connected with the live nerves sight began to return to Eichberger.

The improvement was slow but steady. The case is declared to have progressed to such a point that hospital surgeons are certain the operation will become a success and that the patient will be able to see as well, if not better, than he ever did.

Eichberger is expected to be discharged from the hospital in three weeks.

DAUGHTER'S BANISHED SUITOR SHOTS FARMER

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 28.—James Whittaker, 68 years old, a farmer residing at Tucker's Station, four miles west of Jeffersonton, is in a serious condition at his home, due to a bullet wound alleged to have been inflicted by Bedford Harris, 19, a suitor of his daughter, Anna Whittaker, 19.

The shooting took place near the Whittaker home when the father instructed the girl to terminate her companionship with the youth. Harris, it is said, then shot Mr. Whittaker.

Due to the latter's age, the wound may result fatally, physicians say.

It is estimated that during the last five years the American people have been swindled out of $140,011,231 by worthless stock boosters.

MRS. OBNCHAIN'S SISTER

Charged with grand larceny, Glens Smart, pretty 19-year-old sister of Mrs. Madalyne Obchain, co-charged with the murder of Belton Kennedy, has been arrested at Los Angeles. Her former sweetheart, P. W. Douglas, swore out a warrant alleging that she embezzled $240 of his money.

GERMANS MEET SLIGHT SUCCESS IN IMITATING FRENCH CHAMPAGNE

Six Months to Finish. The next phase of the "treatment" is to place the bottles on a movable frame on which the position of the bottles undergoes a slight alteration each day, and the sediment is prevented settling at the bottom. Formerly this part of the work was done entirely by hand, but now has been simplified by use of a mechanical apparatus. The sediment gradually gathers around the mouth of the bottle just below the cork, the latter is loosened and cork and sediment fly into the air. The vacuum thus caused is filled with so-called "champagne liquor," by which the "dry" or "sweet" quality of the champagne is determined. The bottle then is permanently corked and the champagne is ready to be shipped. About six months is consumed in these processes.

Prohibitionists are as busy as beavers in Germany, and as nothing today is without the realm of possibilities, no one can venture a prediction as to the eventual outcome of their propaganda, but at present German drinks and is merry. There are said to be 600 liquor rooms in Berlin alone, while Vienna has consumed 40,000,000 kronen worth of wine in the last year. Before the war, alcoholic drinks amounting to more than billion gold marks (which equals the reparation indemnities as fixed at the London conference) were consumed in Germany, a sum now represented, as the Germans would say drastically, "by a dirty twenty billion paper marks."

More typewriting machines are used in the United States than in all the rest of the world.

German wine connoisseurs assert that since the war there has been a perceptible deterioration in the quality of French champagne, whereas German "Schaumwein" is improving steadily, the reason being that sugar has not reached its pre-war plentifulness in France, in consequence of which saccharine is used to a certain extent. Only saccharine was used in Germany during the war, but this no longer is necessary. The famous Henckell champagne cellars at Biebrich on the Rhine, before the war, always had on hand a stock of 15,000,000 bottles, designed to cover a period of five years' consumption of German "champagne."

Wines used in the making of champagne require the most careful treatment while stored in the huge vaults awaiting fermentation. This is a 14-day process, after which the wine is poured into bottles and corked. As the fermentation produces an atmospheric pressure of 3 1/2 degrees, this corking is a subtle process. This fermentation continues for five or six weeks at a high temperature, after which the bottles are removed.

6,000-BARREL GAIN SHOWN IN PIPE LINE RUNS

WICHITA FALLS, April 28.—With total runs for North and Central Texas fields amounting to approximately 127,000 barrels daily average for the past week, the production of the district shows a 6,000 barrel recovery from the average of the previous week, which was 121,000 barrels in round figures.

Young county, which last week showed a drop from the previous week of 1,500 barrels, shows the effect of the new producers in the deep lime, with a gain of 1,200 barrels. Stephens county is also up about 2,000 barrels from the figures of last week, while other pools made smaller gains.

Production by pools follows: Burkburnett 33,900, Electra 12,680, Iowa Park 2,570, Holiday 1,370, Petrolia 320, Stephens county 44,450, Ranger 12,330, Desdemona 5,900, Strawn 3,280, Coleman county 70, Brown County 560, Moran 380.

WATCH LOST IN FIELD PLOWED UP AFTER 5 YEARS

PARIS, Texas, April 28.—Five years ago A. J. Coleman, now deputy sheriff of Lamar county, was farming on the Sulphur. While at work in the field he lost an open-face gold watch.

Ernest Keith, while working in the same field, plowed up the watch, and knowing the circumstances, brought it to Paris and turned it over to Coleman.

The watch was apparently none the worse for the five years it had been underground.

EDUCATED CHICKS!

CHICAGO, April 28.—The chickens that brought in the silver dime are to share the fate of the goose that laid the golden egg.

Judge John F. Haas issued the death warrant in Englewood police court when Casey Jones, 22, was brought before him with a rooster and two hens, charged with blocking traffic with a street performance.

"I've got those chickens trained," Jones explained. "Just let anybody throw a dime in the street a chicken will go get it. The other one will cluck and the rooster will crow."

"They won't work for less than a dime, though. And they refuse to take wooden quarters. I made $10 yesterday."

"You kill those pets and have them for supper," ordered the judge.

FLIVVER WAS A WATCH BEFORE IT WAS BORN, FORD SAYS IN LIFE STORY

NEW YORK, April 28.—Life on a farm drove Henry Ford into making automobiles.

Mr. Ford says so himself in an article which he calls "My Life and Work," written by himself in McClure's magazine for May, with the collaboration of Samuel Crowther, author and editor.

And Mr. Ford still feels the same way about farming. Not that he has anything against farmers, he points out, but there is "too much hard hand labor on farms." Because he was born on a farm and knew without question just what farming means, Mr. Ford invented an automobile with which he hoped, first, to lighten the farmer's task and, second, to aid people without a lot of money in their search for enjoyment and business relief.

That, in a nutshell, is what Mr. Ford's article gives as the reason for the Ford car. Incidentally it is the reason for his interest in farm tractors and for a lot of other things which have happened in Detroit recently.

Almost a Watch.

The automobile, however, barely escaped being a watch. Mr. Ford had a desire to do fine mechanical work and his ideas naturally turned to watches, he says. At one period of those early days he had 300 watches and knew what made the wheels go around in every one of them. It was then he thought of the possibility of making a watch for 30 cents. In fact, he says, he almost started in the business but refrained when he figured out that watches were not a necessity and so would not be sold.

"Just how I reached that surprising conclusion is difficult to state, now," he observes.

But a combination of the farm and the watch, and the sight when he was only 12 of a road engine was too much for anything plebian in Mr. Ford's future. He started to consider the possibility of machines and after glancing at that engine, studying it, watching changes, reading and thinking, Mr. Ford branched out into the automotive industry.

Of course, says Mr. Ford, the horseless carriage was a common idea. He had it, as did several other inventors. But Mr. Ford figured that steam was the best means for moving his car, and he set about making a machine to operate by steam. He built one, and it ran. But it had defects, lots of them. He very carefully points out most of them. When he found he couldn't work out his difficulties to his satisfaction, he turned to gasoline and so was born the Ford.

Began in 1890.

"It was in 1890 that I began work on a double cylinder engine," he writes, "because it was quite impractical to consider the single cylinder for transportation."

Shortly after that the farm was left behind definitely and completely, when Mr. Ford went to Detroit as an engineer and machinist for the Detroit Electric company at exactly $45 a month. The job wasn't much in itself but its great beauty lay in that it kept him out in his workshop for he had spare time and he employed it.

Two years later Detroit got a thrill. Chug-chugging down its main street came the gas buggy. In the seat was (Henry Ford. Behind it was a string of frightened horses and curious people. In front of it was bulwark of wandering thousands. Henry Ford had found a way to ride without horses to drag him.

The machine, however, was a slight problem. To begin with it blocked traffic. Not that it stalled, but every time Mr. Ford stopped the crowd started and he could not, in safety, leave the car a moment. Always there was some curious soul who would climb aboard, play with the brakes or the clutch and then trouble commenced.

Finally, it came to a show-down with the city authorities. At last, writes Mr. Ford, although there were no speed laws, no traffic ordinances, he had to get a permit from the mayor to operate the machine. "Thus for a time," he continues, "I enjoyed the distinction of being the only licensed chauffeur in the country."

Four Years to Sell.

Mr. Ford ran that first machine 1,000 miles until 1896 and then sold it. It took him four years to make the first sale of a Ford automobile, but he immediately did what he has done since—put his profits into building a new and better car.

All this time, Mr. Ford was working as an electrician with the Electric company. He had become a foreman at $125 a month but his gas engine experiments were not popular at the shop. The trouble was they believed in electricity completely, and were at least mildly sceptical about gas.

Fairly soon, therefore, Mr. Ford left the electric company. That was when a group of men willing to take a chance stepped in and organized the Detroit Automobile company. Mr. Ford was chief engineer. He owned a small block of stock and it was his car they sold. There were disagreements over questions of finance and auto development, and Mr. Ford quit. He took his patents with him, opened the famous, one-story, brick shed and proceeded to build and sell about twenty-five cars. About that time—it was then 1902—Mr. Ford won a road race in one of his own cars and business began to pick up.

Formation of the Ford Motor Car company was the result.

"I determined absolutely," writes Mr. Ford, "that never would I join a company in which finance came before work or in which bankers or financiers had a part. I have yet to have it demonstrated that is the way to success. For the only foundation of real business is service."

SAN FRANCISCO JURY IS SCORED BY JUDGE FOR LIQUOR VERDICTS

SAN FRANCISCO, April 28.—The whole hearted enthusiasm and alacrity with which San Francisco juries find defendants not guilty in liquor cases in the United States district court was the subject of sharp comment to a jury by Judge William C. Van Fleet.

After a jury had been impeached the defendant pleaded guilty and was fined $500.

"Gentlemen," said the court, "this defendant by changing his plea has robbed you of a chance to find him not guilty. You are excused until tomorrow."

SEEKS PROHIBITION TRUTH.

SIDNEY, N. S. W., April 28.—A commissioner will be sent by the state of New South Wales, Australia, to learn the truth regarding prohibition in America, according to an announcement by Premier Dooley. Upon the report made by the commissioner the government of the state will act upon prohibition measures here.

WIDOW'S IRE LOOSED ON MAN WHO SLEW HUSBAND IN PROTECTING HER

NEW YORK, April 28.—Mrs. Vito Marcione, garbed in widow's weeds, shot a dramatic Sicilian touch into the proceedings of the court of general sessions when she walked up to Dominick Galati, who was standing before the judge's bench awaiting sentence for the murder of her husband, spat three times into his face and launched upon him an Italian curse which made him cringe. Galati appeared to be more affected by the curse than by the subsequently pronounced sentence, which was a term of from ten to twenty years in Sing Sing prison.

The dramatic nature of the incident was rendered more acute by the fact evidence in the case established that the murder grew out of an attempt on the part of Galati to protect Mrs. Marcione from possible injury at the hands of her husband, who owned a grocery. Galati was his clerk.

Dec. 2, 1921, Mrs. Marcione, serving a customer, spilled sugar upon the floor. Her husband reprimanded her. Her reply angered him and in a moment a family row was in progress. Marcione ran at his wife threateningly and Galati interfered.

The grocer kicked Galati out of the store. Returning in a few minutes, Galati shot Marcione, who died.

Use Ice Now and Save Food

PEOPLE who wait until warm weather to take ice lose much more than they save. Ice costs a mere trifle in early Spring; in a well-iced refrigerator it melts slowly.

Spring Weather Is Changeable

The thermometer often rises 20° to 30° in a single day. That is bad for perishable food. Any temperature over 50° spoils it rapidly, especially milk. Stale milk is unwholesome long before it tastes bad.

In a well-iced refrigerator your food is not only kept evenly cold; it is protected from dust and bacteria in the air. Start taking ice now. You will be money ahead.

This emblem is your protection. It is the official pledge of the National Association of Ice Industries and will be on our wagons just as soon as the Association can furnish them.

LUCKY SEAL!—How'd you like to be a seal and have Miss Mildred Owens, pretty San Francisco girl, feed you like this? The little fellow is just a week old. He was born in a museum just opposite the famous seal rocks on the Great Highway, San Francisco. The youngster hasn't yet started his farewell tour of America. The theatrical agents are after him, though.

JAZZ!—Margaret Bannerman has set staid old London agog with her dances. Men love her; women "roast" her—all of which, mixed well, makes her a "hit." She's playing as the new Egyptian in the cigarette number of "Pot Luck," the newest London revue, and critics say she's about the classiest ever.

FUNERAL OF JOHN BARLEYCORN!—Prohibition officials, for all their authority, have hearts. Prohibition Director Roy A. Haynes stopped them when dry officers in Chicago started to pour many barrels of beer into the sewer. Our photographer was on the job and snapped the "sizzling streams" before Haynes could stop the outpour.

IN INDIA!—Now that we've told you where he got that hat, we'll remark that the Prince of Wales is a Colonel in the army in India.

WAR'S AFTERMATH!—Blood ran red on the Chemin des Dames (The Ladies' Way) farm when French and German armies clashed in the great struggle of death. Because the soil was so literally torn to pieces by bursting shells, the French Government has condemned the property. The proprietor, however, has come back to wring a living from the shell-shattered soil.

FAME!—Rescued from oblivion in the basement of the Post Office Department in Washington, the portraits of fifty Postmasters General of the United States since the foundation of the Government have been installed in a gallery of their own on the first floor of the building in which they served. Here Chief Clerk McMooney is hanging some of the pictures.

FROGGY!—Katherine Jane White has a "frog farm" in her father's San Francisco apartment. She raises the frogs for "frog leg" trade. Since January, little Miss White has gathered 638,412 eggs from her frogs and looks for a million by July. When the pollywogs get to be young frogs they are taken to the country and in two years grow large enough for marketing.

CHUG-CHUG!—With clippers chugging to his automotive achievements, Henry Ford, Detroit multimillionaire, wants the Government to sell him the Nitrate plant at Muscle Shoals, Alabama. Many Congressmen favor acceptance of Ford's offer, but the Administration has given no indication as to whether the proposed deal is likely to go through.

ON TIME!—Modernized to the "nth" degree is the miniature rail road of W. Cecil Gage, of Fishkill, N. Y., who has the distinction of being owner of the only private railroad in America. Gage has a perfectly equipped roundhouse wherein the baby locomotive is stored when not in use. His train is always on time.

CHAMPIONS!—Keeping in trim is "the fondest thing we are of," say these New York chorus girls, who are taking physical training from "Midget" Smith, contender for the bantamweight championship title. Charles Dillingham, theatrical producer, invited "Midget" to prescribe a course in physical training for his chorus beauties. Now, everybody wants to be a prize fighter!

FAVORITE!—Two years from now the foal, seen taking a nap, will be a favorite on the American turf, says James Butler, breeder of race horses. The filly is out of Minaret, who drowns at the left. Twelve foals were among the season's "get" at Butler's East View (New York) breeding farm.

HOME AGAIN!—Dudley Field Malone, prominent American attorney, has brought his wife back to the United States after a honeymoon trip through Europe, during which they visited England, France, Belgium, Germany and Italy. Being back home, says Lawyer Malone, is the "best thing what is."

ARRIVED!—Countess Markievicz, one of the dominant militant leaders in the Irish Republican movement, and Katherine Barry, sister of Kevin Barry, hanged as a rebel in Dublin, have arrived in America for a lecture tour. Miss Barry, known as the "Mother of the Irish Republic," is at the right.

PASTIME CLUB HAS ITS FIRST MEETING.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Haden were host and hostess to the first formal meeting of the Pastime Club, last night, and in their spacious home the club was happily launched. The bridge tables were placed in the dining room, which, like the rest of the home was beautifully decorated in cut flowers and lovely potted plants. Bridge was the pastime for the evening and Mrs. Roy Jameson made ladies' high score, receiving as a prize a pair of hand-made and embroidered pillow cases. The ladies' low score prize, a fancy ironing pad went to Mrs. R. B. Wagonman. Mr. W. H. Fouke received the gentlemen's high score prize, a leather wallet, and Mr. F. E. Langston, the gentleman's low score prize, a deck of cards.

Following the game, the players were refreshed by a chicken salad course, ice cream topped with whipped cream and cherries, and cake.

Instead of arranging for the meetings alphabetically, as is usually done, there was a number drawing and the host and hostess entertain according to their number. Mr. and Mrs. Lytton R. Taylor drew the number for the next meeting which will be two weeks from Thursday night.

Those present were: Messrs. and Mrs. E. E. Langston, Roy Jameson, Earl Taylor, W. H. Fouke, J. C. Pullen Mrs. Leo Parr and Lytton R. Taylor, and the host and hostess.

THURSDAY BRIDGE WITH MRS. DUDLEY.

Mrs. Beverly S. Dudley was hostess to the Thursday Bridge Club, Thursday afternoon—at which time there were three tables at bridge. The high score prize, a lace and fine dresser scarf, went to Mrs. Frank Rarey; the consolation prize, a dainty apron, was awarded to Mrs. W. D. Conway, and the cut prize, a fancy powder puff to Mrs. Cabe Terrell.

A beautifully appointed salad course was served to the following: Mrs. Frank Rarey, Frank Brahaney, Cabe Terrell, Garrett Bohning, Eben Finney, W. D. Conway, E. E. Crawford, T. J. Holmsley, C. C. Craig, H. D. Bishop, Horn.

LONDON SHOWS TAMED DOWN FOR PRINCESS MARY

LONDON, April 28.—Princess Mary's presence at first nights seems to have a highly restraining effect on risque plays, but the fact that the princess should attend such shows has set London gossips talking.

The princess picked "Decameron Nights" for her first appearance at the theatre since she married Viscount Lascelles. The reason for the gossip is that Queen Mary is not supposed to approve of royalty's presence at the opening performances of plays in which the costumes are as abbreviated as some of those in "Decameron Nights."

But Princess Mary's arrival was confined to the management and there were some quick changes in the play. For instance, the entire prologue was cut out. It represented Willette Kershaw, an American actress, in an Eve-like costume, washed up on a beach after a shipwreck. The management decided the prologue took too long.

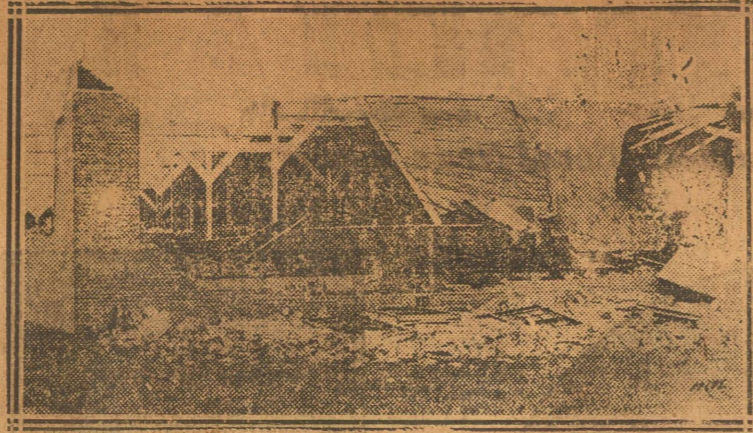

Then later in the play an erring wife is stripped before the populace in front of St. Mark's as a punishment. There is an eclipse of the sun during this episode, but it was remarked that the lights went out much more quickly when the princess was present than during the dress rehearsal.

MISSES HIS TRAIN, BUYS NEW CLOCK FOR CAFE

POPULAR BLUFF, Mo., April 28.—The stranger entered the lunchroom, glanced at a clock on the wall, compared the time with his railroad time table and set down to eat. He had ten minutes to catch his train—by the clock on the wall. He paid his check and departed. But he came back, somewhat peeved.

"Friend," he said to the lunchroom owner, "your clock is wrong. It caused me to miss a very important engagement. Take this $5 and buy a new one. I was on my way to get married—and now I'll have to walk."

TWELVE DEAD IN WAKE OF TEXAS CYCLONE

Unroofing many buildings, demolishing dozens of homes and smashing hundreds of plate glass windows, a Texas cyclone took a toll of twelve lives. This picture from the devastated area shows how the "twister" destroyed a warehouse at Dallas. The damage done by the cyclone is estimated at $1,500,000.

Farmers in Pennsylvania, who use their passenger automobiles to haul produce to market regularly, must pay $5 additional this year for their license. When a car, no matter if it is equipped with the passenger seats, is used to haul produce, it is classed as a commercial vehicle.
