

'International House' Opening Today At The R & R Ritz

Many Stars Make Comedy Successful

Cellophane Chorus New Wrinkle In Lavish Production

One of the largest all-star casts ever assembled for a motion picture plays in Paramount's "International House," lavishly-produced musical comedy which comes to the Ritz Theatre today and Monday. Peggy Hopkins Joyce, W. C. Fields, Rudy Vallee, Stuart Erwin, George Burns and Gracie Allen, Sari Maritza, Col. Stoopnagle and Budd, Cab Calloway and his Orchestra, Baby Rose Marie, Bela Lugosi, Lona Andre, Sterling Holloway, Franklin Pangborn, Edmund Breese, Lumadon star and the Girls in Cellophane are the featured players, and between them they represent the best talent of screen, stage, and radio.

"International House" is a comedy which "Grand Hotel" was serious drama. Its action is set in a hotel in a mythical Chinese city where representatives of big business from all over the world are assembled to inspect and bid on a marvelous new invention. This device is called a radio-eye, and it can see and hear anything any-

30,000 Yards Of Cellophane Used On Chorus Girls

More than 30,000 yards of cellophane went into the costumes worn by the Girls in Cellophane, the fast-stepping chorus of "International House," Paramount's screen musical comedy which comes to the Ritz Theatre today and Monday.

The chorus appears in support of Peggy Hopkins Joyce, W. C. Fields, Rudy Vallee, Stuart Erwin, George Burns and Gracie Allen, Sari Maritza, Col. Stoopnagle and Budd, Cab Calloway and his Orchestra, Baby Rose Marie, and other stage, screen and radio favorites in the cast of the picture.

The more than 18 miles of cellophane in which the choruses were draped would have been enough to wrap a man's product of cigarettes. The reason for use of such a large quantity was that every girl had to have a complete costume every day, because of the fact that a single day's wear was enough to destroy each cellophane gown.

Camera men and recorders both had their troubles with the costumes. Camera men found they required too much light, and spent days figuring out what to do about it. Sound recorders reported that the crackling of the cellophane as the girls moved sounded to the microphones like a machine gun battle, and they too had to spend long hours solving the problem.

Worst of all, from the choruses' standpoint, was the fact that they could not smoke between scenes. "International House," one of the most lavish musicals ever to reach the screen, is one of the most amusing comedies.

Described as a glittering panorama of New York life from Battery Park to Harlem, "Made on Broadway" comes to the Ritz Theatre starting Tuesday and Wednesday with Robert Montgomery and Sally Eilers, two of the screen's most popular younger players co-starred for the first time.

Montgomery is said to have another high-speed comedy role as Jeff Bidwell, super-fixer, "wise guy" and debonair gambler who hoodwinks society and reaps a harvest on Broadway. Miss Eilers undergoes an interesting character development as the bedraggled cafe waitress who is rescued from a watery grave by Montgomery and who subsequently becomes one of Manhattan's most pampered playgirls.

The unusually strong cast also features Made Evans as the ex-wife who tries to help Montgomery in a course of action during his mad career as a high-pressure public relations expert, and the supporting players include the comic Eugene Pallette, C. Henry Gordon, Jean Parker, Ivan Labedoff, David Newell, Vinno Barnett and Joseph Cawthron.

Courtesy Ferret Story
"Made on Broadway" is based on the story, "The Relations," written by Courtney Terrett, one of New York's best known newspapermen who witnessed many "inside" scenes during his years of metropolitan reporting in one of the city's most colorful administrations. Report is that actual incidents from his own experience were worked into the picture with persons and places thinly disguised under fictitious names.

The picture was directed by Harry Beaumont who has made several modern-day photoplays as "Foolish Wives," "Unashamed," "Dance, Fools, Dance," and "Our Blushing Brides," has given him the reputation of being Hollywood's master on sophisticated comedy themes. The current production is said to be replete with Beaumont's typical extravagance in the matter of luxurious settings and spectacular backgrounds for action among the New York smart set.

ELISSA LANDI, in the upper right hand picture, apparently is amused to find that the gentle ERNEST TRUAX is showing a little aggression in a scene from "The Warrior's Husband," to be shown at the Ritz Thursday only. ROBERT MONTGOMERY in "Made on Broadway," the Ritz feature for Tuesday and Wednesday.

James Dunn-Sally Eilers Team Again Presented As Team In New Fox Production 'Hold Me Tight'

"Hold Me Tight," the new Fox romance that brings together again the popular team of James Dunn and Sally Eilers, opens at the Ritz Theatre on Friday for an engagement of two days. It is the fifth picture in which these two young stars have carried the starrer roles since their rise to prominence in the unforgettable "Bad Girl."

The story of "Hold Me Tight" is said to have been specially adapted to the individual talents of Dunn and Miss Eilers, in order to bring out the abilities they have shown themselves to have in their past screen plays. It traces the romance of a young boy and a young girl, who, over insupportable barriers and the unscrupulous dealings of others, rise to realize their own love. The locale of the plot is laid entirely in New York, with characteristic backgrounds said to heighten all the action.

With much of the story centered in one of the large department stores of the city, an incidental feature of the production is a view of the latest fashions in every branch of woman's apparel. There is a slight underworld motif running through the film that is reported as one of the most thrilling screen elements in recent films.

The cast in support of Dunn and Sally Eilers is headed by Frank McHugh, comedian, and June Clyde, already one of the most popular of the younger screen stars. Others in the cast are Kenneth Thomson, Noel Francis, Dorothy Peterson and Clay Clement. The direction of the film is by David Butler. Gladys Lehman wrote the screen play from the story by Gertrude Higdon.

Demonstration Conducted By Overton Club

Mmes. Williamson And Tate Show How To Use Machine

The Overton Demonstration Club had a pinneto cheese and machine demonstration at the home of Mrs. Lloyd Whites Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Charlie Williamson made pinneto cheese the "A & M" way to show that pinneto cheese can be made in the home with very little expense and labor, especially if the pinnetos are raised and canned at home. The cheese was just as good as that bought in stores and looked very much like it.

Mrs. Frank C. Tate demonstrated the machine attachments. Much interest was shown in the making of bond buttons holes with the use of the binder.

A game which was both entertaining and educational was played during the recreational period. This period proved so popular that it will be a part of every program from now on.

Visitors present were: John Patterson, Mrs. J. C. Stephens, Miss Althea Mitchell, Miss Vessie Pittman and Miss Ruby Mae Rankin. Guests from the Lonaux Club were: Mmes. W. J. Williams, A. J. Stelling, Henry York, H. Connel, and Miss Verma Chapman.

Members present were: Mmes. T. M. Hamner, C. W. Overton, Jake Patterson, Stevens, F. C. Tate, Ike Taylor, Jewel White, Charles Williamson, J. L. White, Lewis Mayfield, A. K. Alton, and Miss Lucille Rankin.

Rag rugs and hot mats will be demonstrated at the home of Mrs. A. A. Alton at the next meeting.

where. When the hotel is quarantined, everyone goes ga ga and the developments become even crazier when W. C. Fields, an aviator sailing to Kansas City, accidentally lands on the roof of the hotel.

Peggy Joyce, thinking him a millionaire, invites him to her next marriage. Bela Lugosi, a former husband of Peggy who engineered the quarantine but was himself locked out of the hotel, watches in frustrated fury from across the street. Rudy Vallee, George Burns and Allen Wisecrack, Stoopnagle and Budd ponder the world's problems; Cab Calloway plays mad music; the Girls in Cellophane dance; Stuart Erwin makes timid love to Sari Maritza.

The picture's tempo is rapid-fire, its production one of the most lavish ever given a film.

INVITATION TO WEDDING
The Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Woodie W. Smith extend an invitation to the public to attend the wedding of their son, Lowell W. Smith to Miss Lina D. Edwards of Wink to be held next Sunday evening, June 26, at the East Fourth Street Baptist Church of this city, at 8 o'clock.

Immediately after the ceremony the young couple plan to leave at once for Chicago where they will attend the World's Fair and for Niagara Falls.

Ginger Rogers, popular Broadway favorite, is very much in her element as the heroine of "Carnival Boat," the Bill Boyd starring vehicle which comes to the Ritz Theatre Wednesday and Thursday.

As Honey Burke, the star of the show on the carnival boat, the rollicking madcap star of the musical comedy stage is afforded opportunity to show her dancing in her inimitable way. Perhaps, the show-boat stage in the picture is the smallest upon which Ginger has ever performed but undoubtedly it is also one of the most unique.

Ginger's cute voice that has won millions of radio fans in addition to her legion of film and theater admirers, is heard in "Carnival Boat" in a specially written number as a highlight of her performance aboard the "Carnival Boat." Harold Lewis and Bernie Grossman are responsible for the song.

Several of the big sequences of "Carnival Boat" take place on this typical floating "palace of entertainment" which once a year brings the glamor and gaiety of the theatre to the wilds of the timberlands.

Miss Rogers makes her second appearance opposite Bill Boyd in this attraction, having shared honors with this popular RKO Pathé star in "Suicide Fleet," the comedy-thriller of the navy which was one of the season's hits.

Marie Prevost also has an actress role in the boat sequences. Others in the "Carnival Boat" cast include Hobart Bosworth, Fred Kehler, Edgar Kennedy and Harry Sweet. Albert Rogell directed.

Tom Keene In Western Play For Week-End

'The Cheyenne Kid' Coming To Queen Friday And Saturday

Violent hand-to-hand encounters and daring riding reveal Tom Keene in a stirring, six-shooter, western film, "The Cheyenne Kid," coming to the Queen Theatre Friday and Saturday.

"The Cheyenne Kid" offers Tom Keene with his usual hazardous exploits, shuffly enacted, in an original outdoor Western tale. Action and romance are provided by the story, adapted from W. C. Tuttle's novel, "Sir Plegan Passes."

Tom Keene, a luring bronco-buster, loses his horse pursuing a dishonest gambler. He trudges across the prairie, and encounters a bandit who engages him in a violent melee. Keene emerges victor, securing his opponent's horse and gun, and rides into a neighboring town. The townsfolk note that his horse fits that of the bandit as shown on a reward poster. He is threatened with exposure by an unscrupulous gold assayer unless he murders his sweetheart's father, who owns a gold mine. How he faces this dilemma provides the suspense in "The Cheyenne Kid."

In "The Cheyenne Kid," Keene attempts the most hazardous roles in his career performing breakneck dare-devil stunts. He crashes himself and a wild Texas steer through the side of a building, and is transported by a horse which throws him in a bronco-busting rodeo. In one scene he tumbles, and in the next he is bull-dogging. Later, seeking escape from a terrific dynamite and acid rain, he storms through danger again.

On a policy of better casts in westerns because of their increasing popularity, "The Cheyenne Kid" features a competent array of talent comprised of Mary Mason, RKO-Radio starlet as Keene's leading woman; Roscoe Ates, stutering comic, who objects high humor; Anderson Lawler, Alan Hoozee, Al Bridge and Otto Hoff man.

Ski-Hi Night Club Enjoys Nice Party

The members of the Ski-Hi Night Club met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Rush for a jolly six-table bridge party Friday evening. A red and blue color scheme was used in party accessories.

Five attractive prizes were awarded in the contest. Mrs. Barker made high for the ladies and Mrs. Underwood second high; both received Dresden figurines. Mrs. Malone cut high and was presented with two decks of cards.

Mr. Ford made high for the men and was favored with a belt buckle. Mr. Burgin made second high and received a cocktail shaker.

An Leo course was served at the close of the games.

The guests of the club were: Mmes. W. G. Nichols, W. W. Barker, Tom Burgin, Steve Ford and Miss Portia Davis.

The members present were: Mmes. and Mmes. Joe Clegg, L. E. Kuykendall, Alton Underwood, D. C. Hamilton, H. C. Purser, R. E. Lee, P. W. Malone.

'Warrior's Husband' On Ritz Screen

Elissa Landi, Marjorie Rambeau, Ernest Truex Among Actors

"The Warrior's Husband," Jesse L. Lasky's second independent production under the Fox Film banner, comes to the Ritz Theatre on Thursday only. The picture is said to establish this film as the most novel and most hilarious comedy of the screen season.

The story of the picture is set in that mythical period of world history when countries were ruled by Amazons, when women did the providing and the fighting and the men devoted themselves to the less strenuous elements of life. Reversing the accepted order of things, "The Warrior's Husband" takes full advantage of the comic character of the situation. Women are seen as political, military and intellectual leaders. Men are the ones whose principal place is in the home and whose chief duty it is to keep the traditional home fires burning. The fact that romance between men and women must suffer some sort of lot under such an arrangement is said to be only one of the many humorous situations.

Elissa Landi, whose recent performances on the screen have established her as one of the most attractive players in films, has the leading role, playing in the stage production by Katharine Hepburn. Marjorie Rambeau is seen in the important characterization of the leader of the Amazons. Ernest Truex, star of the legitimate stage, has his second screen role in this picture, his first vehicle being the successful "Whistling in the Dark."

The supporting cast includes David Manners, Helen Ware, Maude Eburne, Claudia Coleman, Ferdinand Gottschick, John Sheehan, Lionel Belmore and Helene Madison. Olympic Swimming Champion, seen as Sergeant of the Guards. The largest array of women, representing every conceivable type of feminine beauty and physique, has been assembled for production. With an intimate romance as the central theme, "The Warrior's Husband" is said to have been mounted in the grand manner of the epic.

The direction is by Walter Lang. The screen adaptation was made by Ralph Spence and Sonya Levien from the successful stage play by Julian Thompson.

Louis Biles Married To Mart Girl

Louis Biles and Elva Rogers were to be united in marriage Saturday afternoon at Mart. The minister of the First Baptist Church of that city officiated, using a lovely ring ceremony.

Only a few relatives of the bride and a few intimate friends were present.

Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Biles were to leave for Galveston on a short honeymoon trip. They expected to return to Big Spring by the middle of the week and will make their home at 1501 Johnson street.

The bride, who is the daughter of a pioneer family of Central Texas, has been the honoree for many lovely showers and parties during the past few weeks. She obtained her schooling at the Mari High School.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Biles of this city. He was born and reared in Big Spring; after graduating from the local high school, he attended college at A. & M. where he obtained many honors in chemical engineering. Since his graduation from college, he has been employed in the Laboratory of the Godden Refinery here.

Expenditure of $250,000,000 in Texas from the $3,000,000,000 public works appropriation will provide employment for many and increase activities in many other lines, including industry which will be called on for many of the materials entering into the building program.

Miss Mary Happel United In Marriage To W. G. Akins

Ceremony Occurs At Home Of Bride's Parents Saturday At High Noon; Followed By Buffet Supper For Guests

The nuptials of Miss Mary Happel and W. G. (Doc) Akins were solemnized at high noon Saturday at the home of the bride's parents, with the Rev. S. J. Shettlesworth, pastor of the First Christian church, officiating.

The home of Dr. and Mrs. E. H. Happel was charmingly decorated with a profusion of roses and ferns. An improvised altar of ferns was erected in the open space between the reception room and dining room, and here the bride and groom stood to plight their troth.

The bride, becomingly arrayed in a sports dress of yellow corded silk with white accessories, came down the steps into the reception room, where the groom awaited her. Instead of a bridal bouquet she wore a corsage bouquet of yellow roses and baby's breath pinned high on her shoulder. A small white hat with a veil, white gloves, purse and shoes completed the charming ensemble. For the "something old" she wore a heavy gold necklace 75 years old that belonged to her grandmother.

For a traveling costume Miss Happel wore an attractive frock of green honeycomb crepe, with tan trimmings.

A buffet luncheon was served immediately after the ceremony for the bridal couple and guests. The dining table was spread with a Venetian lace cloth and was centered with a bouquet of white roses and Shasta daisies in a Haviland bowl.

Mrs. Clarence Wear and Miss Louise Jordan presided over the silver service.

Individual moulded chicken salad, sandwiches and iced tea were passed to the guests with slices of the white iced angelfood bridal cake that the bride had cut.

Immediately after the luncheon the bride and groom left by motor for Carlsbad, N. M., where they will spend a short honeymoon before going to Hobbs to make their home.

The bride is the charming daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Happel, a pioneer family of this city. She was born and reared to young womanhood here. After finishing high school in 1927 she attended C. I. A. two years and the University of Texas for two years, where she was a member of the Kappa Delta sorority. She was a popular member of the younger set and many lovely showers and parties have been held for her during the past two weeks.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe L. Akins of Leonard, a prominent pioneer family of Fan-troop hiked to a point near Red Dam and ate supper. Afterwards a large council fire was kindled, the Wolves and Bulls put on stunts, and the scoutmaster told a story. The troop marched back to town singing familiar scout ballads.

During the week the Bull patrol staged a hike to South Mountain. Dale Smith and John Stiff went on a fourteen mile hike. Jack Dabney passed two merit badges.

Those making the hike Friday were John Stiff, Charles Smith, Jack Dabney, Dale Smith, W. L. Grant, Gerald Alexander, Marvin House Lloyd Stamper, Buck Tyree, Howard McMathan, and John Pickford.

Senator Borah Says Conference In London Has Been Changed By Europeans Into War Debt Meeting

Editor's Note: Senator William E. Borah, Rep. Idaho, has written exclusively for the United Press his comment on the world economic conference at London and the war debt situation. Borah is a former chairman of the senate foreign relations committee of the senate and one of the foremost authorities on economic and war debt problems.

WASHINGTON, U. S.—The London Conference has been changed already from an economic conference to a conference on the debts. While it was supposed the debts were not to be discussed or considered, the debtor nations have forced them to the front. Europe offers no specific program for the readjustment of that great economic problem but insists upon the United States readjusting the debts, and readjustment means, from the European viewpoint, cancellation.

I look upon the action of Great Britain in her failure to pay a debt as a part of the program to force a reconsideration and readjustment of the debts. The debtor nations have not forced the debts to the front. They have not hesitated to criticize the United States in a most pronounced and indefensible way. The United States consented to pay six billion of the obligations. Now the proposal is apparently pay 10 per cent of the balance; other words, 10 per cent of the amount left after we had canceled nearly six billions.

For the debtors to insist upon the cancellation of the debts without offering any specific program for the adjustment of the great economic problems which stand the way of world recovery, is bold a piece of diplomacy as can be found in history.

The tariff truce which was proposed by the United States was assailed and rendered practically ineffective by the reservations of Great Britain.

It may be that Mr. Hull acted wisely in his opening speech in replying to these attacks and exposing the program and the error of nations. He discussed a financial quality of restraint but any quality that plain speaking will soon or later become absolutely necessary.

SCOUT NEWS

Big Spring scouts are getting ready for annual council camp. Indications are that most Big Spring troops will spend the latter week of the term in camp, many taking advantage of the full two weeks. Camp dates are July 12-26.

Scoutmasters and assistants will convene in a special meeting Tuesday 7:45. Plans for transporting troops to the summer camp will likely be the principal topic for discussion.

Dr. J. R. Dillard, for three years head of the Big Spring district and first vice-president of the Buffalo Trail Council, will leave soon for San Antonio where he will serve in his profession. Besides giving of his time and money, "Doc", as the boys know him, has placed first aid requirements here on a high plane.

Executive board meeting of the council was held here Thursday evening at the Crawford with 23 attending.

Many troops and scouts are working as individuals and not organizations, for The Herald offer which pays a cash commission on three months subscriptions and one boy's way to camp if the entire troop sells 40.

SHIFTING POPULATION

It will be interesting to see whether the end of the depression will bring any change to the striking new shifts in American population growth.

Figures compiled by the Scripps Foundation for Population Research show that during 1932 American cities as a whole decreased in population by more than 400,000 persons.

What Kind Of Co-Operation?

What Kind of Co-operation? The World Economic Conference has met under conditions which are radically different from those which existed when the experts prepared the program last winter.

Under these circumstances the one hope of relief lay in trying to persuade the other nations to return to the gold standard as promptly as possible with a view at least to stabilizing gold prices and stopping further deflation.

But we can't be quite certain about it. There are good reasons for believing that most of the cities are about as large now as they ever will be.

$104,759 In Howard County Funds At End Of May; All Departments Run Under Budget; Charity Demand Up

Investments In Own Bonds Save Interest And Principal, Reduce Total Bonded Debt To $230,000, Treasurer's Report Shows

With only one month remaining before the halfway point in the year is reached, Howard county has a balance of $104,759.96 on hand. This figure, given in the May treasurer's report approved by commissioners, compares with $109,027.88 at the end of April.

In practically every department, the county is running well within the budget.

It has become apparent that charity appropriations will likely be hiked due to an unexpected drain on that fund. The impending election on legislation of 3.2 per cent beer will call for commissioners' consent to increase the fund set aside for elections.

Of a $3,100 charity budget, $1,914.70 has already been expended. Usually one of the most menacing figures hovering over the charity fund, the stock had his wings clipped in May and visited only a few destitute families.

The 1933 election budget will have to be much enforced when citizens, thirsty and temperate, turn thumbs down or up on lager and pretzels.

The 32nd district court, in its final session here, cost the county a neat penny. Among the costs for May were $326 for a court reporter, $58 for waiting on court, and a $914 out of the jury fund. Board bill for prisoners amounted to $219.16.

Rounded indebtedness of the county has been reduced by $5,000 to $230,000 by purchase of bonds by Judge H. R. Dabenton and commissioners. Several hundred dollars have been saved Howard county by acquisition of the securities.

A total of $4,227.96 of a $6,115.37 budget remains in the treasury. Of a $57,676 budget, $49,983.58 is still in the road and bridge fund. Under this fund, $26,512.31 is reserved to open up new roads.

General fund, which usually withers under excessive demands, has $24,060.14 left of a $29,733.96 budget.

Balances by funds:

Jury	$ 5,042.62
Road and bridge	11,453.11
General	15,718.37

Style is worth money!...and that makes the STYLE LEADER worth more

Remember—the more advanced in style your new car is, the longer it holds its own in appearance—and the more it is worth at re-sale. . . . And there is no doubt that the STYLE LEADERS of 1933 are the new Oldsmobiles. Just a look at them, and you know that other cars will be years catching up. . . . And, of course, style is not the only thing about these new Oldsmobiles you'll enjoy for a long time—for their engineering and performance are just as far ahead of the conventional as is their appearance. In fact, your whole car will be strictly modern for a long time to come if you buy an Oldsmobile. . . . Prices are the lowest in ten years—$745 for the new Six—and $845 for the new Straight Eight—f. o. b. Lansing. . . . Come in today and drive the Style Leader.

Third, it shrinks—draws up the swollen tissue and reduces the swollen blood vessels which cause the Piles.

In other words, Pass does't merely relieve—it tends to cure the condition of Piles as a whole.

The method of application makes it doubly effective. Special Pile Pipe attached to tube enables you to apply ointment high up in the rectum where it will reach all affected parts. Thousands say Pass is the only thing that ever gave them real relief. Thousands say it saved them the need of an operation. Get Pass today and suffer no longer.

TOY BUSINESS BOOMS

Looking for results of inflation in American business is hardly a paying proposition yet, since few really inflationary steps have actually been taken; nevertheless, the director of the Toy Manufacturers of the United States reports that inflation has already caused a boom in the toy business.

Not long ago toy makers held a "Toy Fair" attended by buyers from all over the country and sales recorded at this fair were 75 per cent over those sold at a similar fair. James L. Fri, director of the manufacturers' association, attributes this largely to the inflation program.

Buyers, said, sought to get their orders in now in advance of rising prices. As a result, 300 American toy factories will have increased production schedules and larger payrolls this summer.

Superintendent W. C. Blankenship, accompanied by Mrs. Blankenship's mother, Mrs. J. T. Beasley, Mrs. Fox Stripling, and Mrs. R. Homer McNew, left this morning for Dallas and Denton.

DARLING FOOL

by MABEL McELROY

CHAPTER XL

The train slowed. Monnie, marshalling her forces and making certain her bags were all in order, felt a curious surge of excitement. She was home Home at last after the long ocean voyage, the dash across New York to make the morning train to Belvedere. Arthur Mackenzie had been everything that was kind and thoughtful, Monnie had felt, on leaving him, a pang of compunction. It seemed unfair that she should be able to give him nothing in return.

"Write me," he had said, holding her hand, on parting "If anything goes wrong—if things don't fall out as you expect." And Monnie had promised. Lightly. Why should anything go wrong now? She and Dan would be married directly after Christmas when his uncle's legacy set him free. She had no fears now. All the way seemed to be clear for her. The trip already seemed like an agreeable dream.

No one knew she was coming. She had not wired—she had thought she would surprise them in the plane. She had not written her friends and exciting too. Old Marley Brockway who drove the "Rapid Fire Taxi" took her bags, looking at her a bit curiously, she thought.

"Been away, I see," that was old Marley, always. As if you'd be getting off the train otherwise. Monnie said yes.

"Folks know you are coming?" She shook her head.

The ancient automobile rattled along Main street. Monnie felt self-conscious, riding alone. How strange to see the town exactly as she had left in five weeks ago! Nothing had changed. What should she say to her mother—to Kay—about her sudden return? They would think it extremely odd. Well, she was in for that now, for all the explanations. They would be glad to see her and so perhaps would not ask too many questions. After she had satisfied them she would let Dan know she was back. Dan! Every man on the street, walking in her direction, might be Dan!

Old Marley seemed inclined to gossip. Driving cautiously along, he threw comments over his shoulder.

"Big excitement in town last night."

"There was?" Monnie wasn't really listening. She knew Marley and his "big excitement." Probably a dog fight.

"Yes, sir! Accident on the river road. People all bungled up." Marley checked off mentally.

"Really?" Monnie was thinking of her mother—what she would say to her.

"Took 'em to the hospital," the cabman related with relish. "Hurt bad, I guess."

She listened with her thoughts far away. Once as the car took a corner cautiously she thought she saw a little group staring at her curiously. It was the usual crowd of ne'er-do-wells who hung around the fire engine house. Monnie shrugged her shoulders. The news of her return would soon be all about town.

"Maybe you know 'em. Fact is I'm sure you do," old Marley was droning on. "They was—"

Who the victims of the accident were the girl was destined not to know just then, as a milk wagon, drawn by a nervous horse, dashed across the path of the cab and Marley was too upset by the incident to chatter further. In another minute Monnie alighted at her own door.

She tried the knob, found the door locked and used the knocker vigorously. After an instant stop pondered and her mother appeared.

"Monnie! What on earth—? You're not sick?"

"Never that," Monnie embraced her small figure with vigor. "I'm fine and I've had a wonderful time! But I thought I'd loafed long enough—"

"But Miss Annetie?" Mrs. O'Dare's brow wrinkled anxiously.

"She found those old friends of hers in London and is going to see lots of them. She didn't mind."

It wasn't many mothers, Monnie reflected, who would ask so few questions as her's. Mrs. O'Dare appeared satisfied with the vague explanation though no doubt she was thinking her own thoughts.

"We've got a pick-up supper," she worried. "Nothing like what I would have had if I'd known you were coming."

The girl laughed joyously. This was getting home—having mother worry about what you ate and how you looked. She had missed it—oh, how she had missed it! The shabby little house, warm and cozy, the deep chairs, the books under the lamp. How familiar and yet how strange it all looked after the salons and cafes! Monnie wondered fleetingly what Arthur Mackenzie would have thought of her home. Then she tossed her head.

"Kay will be here soon," Mrs. O'Dare told her. "Mark's working at the Boston store. He's in the city. He runs errands after school. He's saving his money for Christmas."

"And Bill?" Monnie was almost afraid to ask about Bill. Maybe he had gone off and married Angie while she'd been away.

"Bill is like a different person these days," said Monnie's mother. Her face lightened. "He's—Monnie, I must tell you! It's all off between him and Angie."

"Not really?" Monnie was incredulous. The mother nodded.

"Yes, Angie went back to her husband two weeks ago. She'd been acting rather queerly lately. When Bill called her she was never in. Do you know, Monnie, I really think she cared about Bill and that she decided this was the best way out for them all? She knows Stan—that's her husband's name—has a vicious temper and that he'd make trouble for her. He never wanted to let her go, really, and had threatened Bill

More Miles Of Active Air Lines In Texas Than Any Other States, After Only Four Years Of Development

Texas' newest industry, air transportation, though only four years old, has developed to dimensions that give the State more miles of air line routes than any other State possesses. With 2,700 miles of active air lines spanning Texas from border to border this total registers nearly 500 miles in excess of that of California, Texas' nearest rival in air line mileage.

States was made Saturday by C. R. Smith, vice president in charge of the Southern Division, American Airways, after a survey of the national network of air lines as listed in Aviation Official Guide for June. Mr. Smith added a prediction that this extensive Texas air line mileage would be further increased within a few months through new plane services which the continued rapid growth of air transportation business demands.

Contest Testing Skill Of Horse On Reunion Card

STAMFORD—A contest which tests the skill of the horse rather than of the rider will be a feature of the cowboy rodeo to be held in connection with the Fourth Annual Texas Cowboy Reunion here July 2, 4 and 5. The test is known as the cutting-horse contest and as far as can be learned here is not held in any other rodeo.

The contest to decide the best cutting horse was inaugurated at the Reunion last year and proved so popular that it is being repeated this year with change in rules which will make the competition more difficult. The test has proved popular with the cowboys due to the great pride which they take in their horses. While the ability of the rider is considered by the judges, the winning of the contest depends for the most part on the horse.

In the contest, a herd of cattle is placed in the arena and each contestant is required to cut out five animals marked by color ribbons. Each cow must be put across the deadline designated by the judges, but on the first two attempts to put the animal across the deadline, the riders holding the herd will turn the animal back on him. Each time the animal is turned back, it is more difficult to cut the next time. Speed, as well as the skill of the horse and rider, will be considered in judging.

An elimination contest will be held in this event on the morning of July 4 and the finals will be held before the rodeo spectators on the afternoon of July 5. The entrance fee is $2.00. First prize is $50, second $40, and third $30 and fourth $20.

Rodeo performances will be held afternoon and night during the three days of the reunion with a total of $1450 in cash prizes offered. Contests will be held in cal roping, wild cow milking, bronco busting and steer riding twice daily. Ranking in lastest next to the cutting horse contest will be the old time calf roping contest for cowboys over 55 years of age which will be held on July 3 and 4. First prize will be a saddle, second a pair of boots and third a pair of spurs.

Museum To Be Valuable Place For Research

The work on the Museum is progressing slowly, but satisfactorily, according to Mrs. Mary Bumpass, director, who is remaining over until all the relics are installed.

Among the more interesting of the collections donated this week was one by Mrs. H. W. Caylor, of western objects collected by the late Mr. Caylor. In this collection were mounted heads of antelope, elk, deer, and two sets of buffalo horns, also a "dinner" horn. There are such things as an old fashioned rawhide chair, a pair of leather chaps, saddle bats, pack saddle, a Colt pistol of the old cap and ball type, four wild boar rars, a prairie net and a large collection of old fashioned guns.

The Museum is hoping to work up an Indian display as time goes on and is already collecting objects toward that end, such as tomahawks, arrows points, pictures of Indian life, etc.

The Museum will be of value to people doing research work. Copies of old informative magazines such as "The Frontier" will be made available. The Museum has a copy of the U. S. Declaration of Independence and the U. S. Constitution, both of which it hopes to frame; also an interesting display of paper money, and the historical dots mentioned in an earlier writeup.

The dinosaur bones unearthed north of town are an exhibit. The public is invited to stop by the Museum whenever it is open and to see how the work is progressing.

Soash Home Club To Meet June 21

The Home Demonstration Club of Soash district will have a precinct meeting Wednesday afternoon, June 21, at the home of Mrs. E. L. Price, near the Soash school.

Miss Myrtle Miller, county home demonstration agent, will give several demonstrations at this meeting. Club members are expected to be present. All members of the Vest, Moore, Knott, and Highway Clubs are invited to come.

E. T. Holley has returned from a fishing trip on the Concho near Water Valley. Mr. Holley reported excellent luck. He leaves Monday morning for McCombs, where he will represent the American National Life Insurance company. He will be gone about three months. Mrs. Holley will join him there later.

Confidence that returning business confidence throughout the nation, together with growing familiarity of the public with air transportation speed, comfort and rates, will still further increase air traffic volume during the remainder of 1933. This, of course, will enable the operators to still further increase and extend their air line mileage and service.

ORANGEBURGH, N. Y. (UP)—

Have you ever enjoyed the tingling thrill of a "hot foot"?

Have you ever enjoyed the tingling pleasure of upon taking the receiver from your ear and finding it (the ear) plastered with a coat of nice, thick and black axle grease?

Have you ever sat to a table loaded with food and been afraid to touch a bite for fear the might contain a Mickey Finn, the soup ground glass and the devilled eggs cestor oil?

If you answer is "no" then it's a cinch you never have visited Jack Sharkey at his training camp at Gus Wilson's "health" far.

For two hours in this rustic retreat and you'll "enjoy" one or all of the above delightful pleasures.

The boys greeted us with open arms yesterday. By us I mean to caricatures of boxing writers brought up in the Garden's sleek limousines. The Tribune man was the first fellow to be asked to join in the fun. He hadn't been there five minutes before he was called to the phone, and you should have heard him laughing when he came away from the booth with the whole side of his face smeared with grease.

We sat down to the beautifully appointed table when one of the writers suggested we turn on the big overhead fans.

Well, somebody turned them on and what do you think happened?

"Jake" Morgan is cited as one of the best pitchers in the Tri-County League. What it takes to make a first class hurler, Morgan has in it in the opinion of J. E. Payne. In fact, "Jake" is Payne's particular pet just now. The old maestro has been giving the embryo pitcher the low down on big league stuff. The coaching star, who has been told, tosses curves, and if that doesn't work, tries his special spit, knuckle, and screw tosses.

These batting averages are getting to be a pain in the neck. There is a correction to be made in all players averages due to a game that was not reported in time. After this is done all averages shall stand as far as we are concerned even if the box scores are wrong. Beginning July 23rd with the second half we will endeavor to keep accurate records if the scores improve any. We are afraid they will flunk the first semester.

Tentative plans for baseball in connection with the second annual "Carnival of Values" calls for several first class games rather than a tournament.

The Cowboys are pressing Odessa for a game there Wednesday, but have received no word concerning it.

J. E. Payne has made the following record in the Tri-County league. Played in two games, been at bat five times, and made two hits. We happen to know that Payne's record is straight, but guarantee nothing concerning any player's accomplishments.

Only one match in the Sand Belt Golf league will be played today. Midland and Colorado will wind up the first half at Colorado today. If Colorado should win 32-8, which is doubtful, Big Spring would edge out by four points.
