SUNDAY NIGHT BRAWL IS FATAL TO NICHOLS

HUNDREDS TRAIL BANDIT GANG IN MISSOURI HILLS

Militia In Hunt for Payroll Robbers Who Shot Two, Took $20,500.

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., May 16.—Missouri's greatest bandit hunt is on today. One hundred national guardsmen with machine guns and automatic rifles and twenty-five deputy sheriffs, with posers from dozens of towns, are searching the neighborhood of Lebanon for five armed men who yesterday robbed a $20,500 payroll messenger and wounded two men.

Hundreds of farmers and other citizens, mounted and afoot, combed the broken hill country. Several times the bandits were believed surrounded but storming parties entering their suspected retreats failed to oust them. At 9 o'clock this morning they were believed surrounded in Bradshaw flats, north of Lebanon, and militia and civilians had thrown a cordon around the territory and mounted machine guns at strategic points.

GOSSIP SENDS TWO TO DEATH IN KENTUCKY

MIDDLESBORO, Ky., May 16.—Gossip—of the back-fence variety—cost the lives of two men, while a third person, a woman, is dying of wounds as a result of a shooting affray at Fern Lake, near here.

Joseph Evans, 45 years old, and Guss Martin, 40, were the victims. Both men were miners. Evans was the father of five children.

Mrs. Guss Martin, wife of one of the victims, who was wounded in the abdomen, is not expected to live.

Martin, whose first wife died three weeks ago and who only recently remarried, is said to have become enraged over petty neighborhood gossip regarding his remarriage. He bought a revolver and plenty of ammunition.

He paced up and down a railroad track for hours and occasionally interrupted the calm of the village with volley after volley from the revolver, as if practicing for the duel which took place later in the afternoon.

When he ran out of ammunition Martin returned to the village store, got more cartridges and continued his walk and firing into the air.

Apparently making up his mind that the time was opportune for real shooting Martin retraced his steps and went to Evans' home. But the Evans family was waiting for him, according to witnesses.

Seeing that Martin was armed, Martin was greeted with shots, fired, it is alleged, by Canaday Evans, the victim's brother. Martin fell, fatally wounded. But Martin mustered enough strength to fire one shot at Joe Evans, which caused his instant death. Canaday Evans then, according to witnesses, poured lead into the body of Martin.

Mrs. Martin later, was found. It is believed she was struck by a stray bullet.

NEGRO GIRL'S HEAD BLOWN OFF BY GUN DISCHARGE

WAXAHACHIE, May 16.—Lillian Thomas, a 14-year-old negro girl, was instantly killed at her home near Maypearl late yesterday afternoon when a shotgun in the hands of her 12-year-old cousin was accidentally discharged. The top of her head was blown off.

The Thomas girl was sweeping one of the rooms when her cousin picked up the gun to move it. He accidentally pulled the trigger.

Father Coming After Body; Young Winchell Is Held Clearly Justified.

H. C. Nichols, electrician, who was struck over the head early Sunday night and fatally injured by E. D. Winchell, 18, died this morning about 7 o'clock. Nichols regained consciousness shortly before his death but is understood to have made no statement.

Winchell, who has been held under bond of $200 on a technical charge of aggravated assault, was rearrested this morning on a complaint charging murder and released under bond of $500 by Justice of the Peace McFatter, to await investigation by the grand jury. Officials state that all evidence points to the fact that Winchell was acting in self-defense in striking Nichols, who is said to have been crazed with liquor, secured at the bakery of Alex Reuben, and the charge against him is merely a formality.

Reuben, together with J. T. McConnell, is under a $1,000 bond on charge of manufacturing liquor. A still, mash, liquor and empty bottles having been found on his premises, the police say.

Father Is Coming. H. C. Nichols of Cole, Mo., father of the dead man, was communicated with over the long distance phone this morning by friends of his son, and announced his intention of leaving at once for Ranger to claim the body, which is being held by the Milford Undertaking company. Besides his father, Nichols is survived by two young children, who are living with their grandmother in Tulsa. Nichols' wife died two years ago.

Nichols had until a few weeks ago been employed by the Oil Cities Electric company and is declared by Manager Gifford Clegg to have been a hard and efficient worker in every respect and to have saved considerable money out of his earnings. Since leaving the electric company he had been a free lance and has worked in a number of different electrical jobs, the last at Pioneer. He is reported to have had several hundred dollars on his person recently.

Nichols' encounter with Winchell on the Young Rusk street resulted when the youth man passed by the bakery Sunday afternoon and found Nichols fighting Reuben. In an attempt to stop the fight and the loud cursing that was reaching the ears of his mother, Winchell sought to stop the fight. Nichols is said to have turned on him. Winchell hurled a piece of cement, striking him in the chest.

This falling to stop the onrush of Nichols, Winchell again ran and was pursued by Nichols. Witnesses state that the younger man then picked up a pipe or rock and struck Nichols down.

MINERS DISCUSSING SUIT AGAINST PAPER

MUSKOGEE, Okla., May 16.—With the bulk of the preliminary business disposed of yesterday, miners of the Twenty-first district—Texas, Arkansas and Oklahoma—in convention here, opened their second session today with leaders of opposing factions predicting before the day ends a decision in the matter of the suit brought recently by officials of the district against the Oklahoma Leader, a Socialist daily newspaper. Miners of the district own $10,000 worth of stock in the paper, it was explained.

In the officials' suit it is alleged that stock in the corporation was sold illegally and the paper's affairs have been misrepresented. The Leader has supported Alexander Howit, deceased leader of the Kansas miners, and is opposing John Wilkinson, president of District No. 21.

The declaration that the Oklahoma Leader, a Socialist publication, and Frank Farrington, president of the Illinois department of the United Mine Workers, had conspired to overthrow the international organization was made today by President Wilkinson of District No. 21 at the district convention here today following the reading of a telegram from Farrington accepting an invitation to address the convention. Farrington will be here tomorrow.

THIRD TREASURY FIRE WAS MISTAKE

WASHINGTON, May 16.—Firemen of half a dozen engine companies which surrounded the treasury shortly after noon today could find no fire.

Smoke which came from a chimney but which at a distance made it appear that the roof was burning caused someone to turn in an alarm.

There have been two fires at the treasury in the last month.

GRANDFATHER TO BE TRIED FOR DEATH OF THREE

Indictment Is First on Record for Murder by Gas Asphyxiation.

HOUSTON, May 16.—Y. S. Mathis, 65 years old, was indicted today for the murder of his three grandchildren by gas asphyxiation.

This is the first indictment for murder by gas asphyxiation to be issued in the history of the law in the English language, prominent attorneys said.

William, 10, Elizabeth, 8 and Louis Mathis, 6, were found dead in bed at their home here on April 20, while the parents were absent. The room in which they slept had been filled with gas from three burners and all possible escapes for the gas had been stopped. Mathis was the only other person in the house. Circumstantial evidence connects Mathis with the tragedy, officers said.

A can of gasoline in the car exploded when Fletcher struck a match to see how bad the wreck was, according to the story he told. Fletcher was also buried.

U. S. Refuses to Treat With Russian Soviet

Allies Despondent, But Are Sending Request for Further Consideration.

WASHINGTON, May 16.—In a note sent at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon by Secretary Hughes, the United States declined to enter into the proposed conference at The Hague on Russian affairs. The note referred to the "basic fundamentals" in Secretary Hughes' note to the soviet government a year ago: "The safety of life, recognition of firm guarantees of private property, sanctity of contract and the rights of free labor."

LLOYD GEORGE THINKS REFUSAL NOT FINAL

GENOA, May 16.—Premier Lloyd George does not feel it was indicated this morning that the American refusal to participate in the commission to sit at The Hague on Russian affairs is her final word, as the document indicated a great American interest in Russia's economic reconstruction and the reply is regarded as forming a basis for forming further conferences.

The American refusal to participate in The Hague meeting makes it extremely probable that the plan will be called off. France today indicated she would follow the lead of the United States and the Russians withdrew their acceptance and asked for twenty-four hours' delay to consider a new reply.

The allies, despondent at seeing their hopes for a renewal of the European conference at The Hague next month fading, planned a new note to Washington, refusing to accept the American answer as final.

The resolution recites that the present economic blockade of Russia is unnecessary and that it is keeping American workmen out of jobs.

Brenner & Son, and blew down a large brick building, a landmark near the international bridge. Streets were flooded and water poured over sidewalks into basements.

CHICAGO, May 16.—Four men have been identified as the slayers of acting Police Lieutenant Lyons and Patrolman Clarke, who were killed a week ago following the dynamiting of two buildings in the so-called labor war.

Three of the men have confessed, while John Miller, former bartender and owner of the automobile from which the policemen were shot, has been identified as the driver of the car by the bloodstained fingerprints on the door of the car. Two of the men were taken into custody when they sought medical attention; one bore a body wound and the other had been shot through the shoulder. Both broke down under questioning and one completely confessed. Miller was taken today to an outlying police station following attempts to poison him.

Chief Justice Scanlon of the criminal court will today announce his decision on the pleas of attorneys for Big Tim Murphy and Fred Mader that their cases be set for hearing immediately.

Alleged cruelty of the Polish government to Ukrainians is given as a reason for the threat.

MINERS' STRIKE TO END JULY 1, SAYS OPERATOR

NEW YORK, May 16.—Coal operators are predicting that the strike in the bituminous industry "will be smashed before July 1." J. D. L. Morrow, vice president of the National Coal association asserted in an address before the National Association of Manufacturers here Tuesday.

Non-union mines are producing 4,000,000 tons a week, he announced, and are daily increasing their output toward the 8,000,000 weekly tonnage required to supply the national needs. The present available supply of bituminous coal Mr. Morrow placed at 47,000,000 tons.

In West Virginia, he said, "practically as much coal is being mined by non-union men during this strike as was mined during a similar period by both union and non-union miners in the state in 1920." One hundred and nineteen mines are now operating in West Virginia alone, he said.

Operators Oppose Naturalization. "When John T. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, speaks of rationalization of the mines he speaks of nationalizing your industry," he told the manufacturers. "He speaks of nationalizing the industry of the consumers."

"The government cannot correct over-development and run the coal mines any better than the operators can," he continued. "There isn't any one alive who could estimate the increased cost of coal that would result under government ownership. If the present strike is won by the miners, manufacturers will either pay more for coal under union control or they will be buying from non-union producers. And today they are entering the competitive market and selling coal at from 1 to $2 a ton cheaper than union dominated mines can put it on the market."

"Every great competitive industry in the United States is overdeveloped. That is the guarantee of the consumer of any product in this country that he can get what he wants under reasonable conditions as to price and delivery. Whenever an American industry becomes underdeveloped it then is immediately charged with being a monopoly."

BASEBALL AND BUSINESS

There is a "bet" in baseball that the winning team will score more runs in one inning than the loser does in the whole game. This is true in many instances. But it seldom is the case that one big inning alone will beat a team that by plugging away has gained one or two runs in each of several innings.

The same principle will apply to business. It is true, there is a lure in large enterprises added to a city's assets, just as there is a desire for quick riches in the mind of every man. Large enterprises are a town's "big inning," just as quick riches are the "big inning" of the individual.

But comparatively few towns or individuals become great through waiting for the big inning; trying for it exclusively, and harking not to the small gains that may be made from time to time. Far more is success won by taking "a score at a time." That process eventually leads up to the "big inning."

Ranger wants industries. Glass plants, cement plants—any kind of enterprise which would employ hundreds of men—would work an industrial miracle here. But the same effect can be obtained by many small institutions. Suppose a study of territory were to be made? Suppose many articles in common use were manufactured here—manufactured here for the reason that the location lowers the cost of selling? These small industries could be made just as valuable as one big industry. And the effort in obtaining them would be less. Also, they would pave the way for the much larger industries.

Riddick is a professional "sky hobo," who works hard, but has no regular abode. He served abroad in the air forces and later in the U. S. air mail. Now he is carrying passengers. He thinks he established a world's record in Bridgewater by taking up eighty-nine passengers in one day for $3.50 each. When he reached Washington a few months ago government officials tried to have him arrested on the ground that his machine was unsafe. But he landed in the street, near his father's home, and flew away when he was ready.

No Goggles Can Dictate Our Morals, Says Head of U. S. Flapper Sisterhood

NEW YORK, May 16.—The United Sisterhood of American Flappers, organized by New York university girls to combat criticisms of the modern girls by sour spinsters and professional grouchers, is spreading in coed and university circles throughout the East according to reports.

Letters and telegrams from students in Hunter, Barnard, Mount Holyoke, Smith and other colleges poured in at the home of Miss Sylvia Florea in this city, extending felicitations to her and the other charter members of the sisterhood, on having started a movement "second only in importance to the woman suffrage movement," as one enthusiast wired.

A reporter, accompanied by an interpreter of flapperanto, visited Miss Florea at her home. She gave out this statement: "Here's where these wurzels, goggles and crepe hangers are going to get the grand gooseberry. No superhuman canite or noodle juicer is to snoop around and dictate our code of morals. If we want to shave our necks and eyebrows that's our own little arsenic party and no business of any nut cracker."

EX. MRS. GOULD WANTS GIRLS TO WED AMERICANS

PARIS, May 16.—Princess Viora of Albania, the former Mrs. Frank J. Gould, born Helen Kelley, is sending her two daughters, Helen and Dorothy Gould, to New York for the summer. The girls, who are in school in Switzerland, will sail as soon as the term ends.

According to the princess, her daughter Helen is completely recovered from her infatuation for young Smith, of Patterson, N. J., a brother of a school chum, whom Helen met while attending school at Dobbs Ferry. This youthful romance, Helen was 17 at the time, was nipped in the bud by the princess two years ago when on a visit to New York she learned of her daughter's infatuation.

She cabled her former husband, the girl's father, Frank Gould, and told him the children must go to France at once. She backed up her cable by sending them over under the chaperonage of Princess Hurst, formerly Helen Stallo, as a law suit in New York over the estate of the princess' second husband, Ralph Husband, prevented her from sailing with them.

The princess says: "Paris is an ideal city for married folk to live in, but young American girls should be brought up in their own country. I want the girls to marry Americans."

MAE, 'BLUEBIRD OF CHINATOWN,' AND NUN IN COURT OVER $100,000 LEFT GIRL BY 'TWO-FISTED BART'

NEW YORK, May 16.—Two-fisted Bart Conroy, whose Chinatown gin mill brought better profits than reputation, left behind a struggle of a different sort from that in which he got his $100,000. Sister Mary Lima, mother superior of St. Joseph's convent, Milwaukee, one of Bart's relatives, is among those trying in court here to keep the estate out of the hands of the pals among whom Bart spent his business and leisure hours.

It's like a page out of "Limehouse Nights," this passing of Bart Conroy in the tidy flat of Chinatown Mae, an unconventional but friendly person, to whose care Bart committed himself after he had a leg amputated. It takes a "two-fisted man" too long to learn how to balance on one leg and swing a "peg leg" as a weapon, so Bart had "resigned." Soon afterward he died.

Now Chinatown Mae, whose portrait is in the police "salon" as No. 21,628 and not labeled "Portrait of a Lady," also was known as "The Bluebeard," which shows that she did not bring as much sorrow to anyone as the police did to her. Bart was not unmindful of this. His "will" left three-quarters of his estate to Susan Lynch, "my wife, otherwise known as Susan Conroy."

"Susie Lynch, alias May Mansell, alias Chinatown Mae," so the police have it, has a "regular husband," as such go in Chinatown, known as Jack Ryan, whose portrait is No. 7,010 in the police salon, and is not ticketed "Portrait of a Gentleman."

Bart was stricken with paralysis Feb. 1. He died ten days later and Jack Ryan and "The Bluebird" produced a will signed with the "mark" of Bartholomew Conroy. It is this will that Miss Garret Dyer of Cleveland and the Milwaukee nun are fighting. Counsel for these claimants point to the "three quarters" and to the character or lack of character of Ryan and the "bluebird" and have insisted to the probate court the will is false.

Miss Dyer, who saw Bart during his last illness, says he was unconscious most of the time. The alleged will is dated Feb. 3, shortly after the beginning of the "stroke."

WOMAN SLAYS HUSBAND FOLLOWING QUARREL

Mrs. Carrie N. Hubbard, wife of William B. Hubbard, Boston manufacturer, is alleged to have shot her husband to death following a quarrel. Mrs. Hubbard, it is charged by police, quarreled with her husband when he objected to her keeping company with another man whom she is said to have brought into her home.

ANCIENT SWAIN HURLED BRICK AS VALENTINE

CHICAGO, May 16.—How the lovesick pyramid builder used to scratch the emotions of his heart on a brick, which he hurled through the window of an Egyptian belle, was discussed by solemn scientists here.

Love's origin was one of the topics at the University of Chicago, where professors celebrated the hundredth anniversary of the decipherment of Egyptian hieroglyphics.

Dr. A. R. Nykl, of Northwestern university, spoke on love as translated from old titles. Wooling 4,000 years ago was not much different from that of these days of flappers and joy riders.

"The Egyptian and Arabian definition of love was the same as that of the troubadours," Dr. Nykl said. "They believed it was the union of two souls united in the world above. They also believed that love entered the heart through the eye.

"The manifestations of love through the ages are the same. The lovesick one desires to be alone. He falls into confusion when his loved one approaches. He seeks to drink from the cup her lips touched. The ancient lovers believed one could fall in love with a woman simply by hearing a description of her."

In connection with the celebration of the deciphering of hieroglyphics, the American Oriental society is holding its annual meeting at the university.

One of the principal papers was read by Prof. James Henry Breasted, of the Oriental institute, who told how Jean Francois Champollion found the key to the Egyptian writings. It was he who told the wise men who pondered over the Rosetta stone that the picture of a woman with a stick was not an advertisement, but the symbol of trouble. He knew the picture of a child meant youth; he translated the picture of an eye into the verb "see," and a wavy line into "water."

It's all simple to the wise men gathered at the university today, but before Jean came on the scene 100 years ago no one could make heads or tails out of the snakes and lizards and baskets and servants with mops that decorated the doors of temples.

To the Voters of Eastland County

In offering you my services for the coming two years as tax assessor, permit me to express my sincere thanks for the splendid support given me two years ago. I have tried to express this sincerity by giving you the best service possible. You are to be the judge whether or not the service rendered is sufficient to justify you in giving me your support for re-election.

If you are not informed as to my official record, I earnestly insist that you investigate and satisfy yourself as to whether or not it is worthy of your support.

Should I be re-elected I make the same promise as made two years ago; namely, to perform the duties of the office to the best of my ability. "A square deal alike to the taxpayer, the county and state."

It will be impossible for me to make an extensive campaign without neglecting the duties of the office (which I do not believe should be done), although I would like to meet every voter in the county personally. Especially is this true since the ladies will this year be an important factor in the campaign and it has never been my pleasure to extensively campaign among them, whom I would be pleased to meet this year if same is possible without neglect of duties of office.

Your support is respectfully solicited.
H. A. COLLINS,
Candidate for Tax Assessor.

Thomas W. Miller, Alien Property Custodian, declares.

Mr. Miller said that among the 201 German patents filed here since July 20, 1919, none of which can be touched by his office, there are at least eight patents dealing with mobile artillery which "embody many principles of American railroad artillery."

In official circles the belief is held that tracings of the American plans were removed surreptitiously from the war department and tracings made.

NITROS BREAK GASSERS' LONG WINNING STREAK WITH 6-2 VICTORY

AMARILLO, May 16.—H. Baldrige, pitching his first game for the Nitros after taking a week to get in shape, broke off Amarillo's winning streak at thirteen yesterday, he holding Amarillo to four hits and winning 6 to 2. After the third round he was almost invincible.

The Nitros took kindly to the offerings of Lefty Munger, hopping off to a one-run lead in the second round, when Pyle's hit, Hoffman's sacrifice and a pinch knock by Plumlee counted one run. Comstock's double enabled the Gassers to knot the count in the last half of the round, but the Nitros came right back with consecutive blows in the third, after two were out. The offensive was climaxed by Hoffman's triple and the Nitros rolled three scores across.

Amarillo never was in the running thereafter. Baldrige, with snappy support, kept them in hand at all stages and the Nitros hopped on Munger again in the eighth, widening their margin. They earned a clean-cut victory, but Munger was given loose backing, which added a couple to the Nitro total. The score:

BOUGHT WHOLE FAMILY FOR ONE DOLLAR

Beyden Bannas, of Detroit, hearing that a friend was hard up and needed one dollar, purchased a wife, an eighteen-year-old boy, nine-year-old girl and a baby in order to help out. The eighteen-year-old boy, however had been imbued with considerable Americanism and notified the police. Result: Bannas loses the family and his dollar while Kolzynski, who made the sale, will have an excellent opportunity to convince a Federal deportation board that he doesn't want a free trip back to Europe.

'ATHLETIC HEART' IS BUNK, RECORDS SHOW

By Associated Press.
URBANA, Ill., May 16.—Athletic heart, a supposedly serious malady affecting athletics who exercise strenuously, is all a myth, according to at least two athletic directors of the "Big Ten" and by statistics gathered at the University of Illinois.

Statistics prepared at Illinois show that there were 341 Illinois athletes who had won their "I's," who took physical examinations for the army. Of this number only one was rejected on account of injuries received while a member of Illinois teams. The letter men are the ones who do the hardest training and the test is therefore fair, according to Director Huff. Not one of the men examined had a trace of heart trouble and only 13 men were rejected by the army. This is a much smaller percentage than found in any other class of men who took the tests.
