Proceedings In Budget Hearing To Speak Here

A stenographer's report of proceedings in the annual hearing on the city budget, held Wednesday evening follows:

MR. PICKLE—This meeting is for the purpose of discussing budget as submitted. I think that we will agree that it is fair that we confine our deliberations to the budget.

City Manager Spence was called on by Mr. Pickle, but due to the fact that E. J. Mary had another engagement and had to leave, Mr. Spence asked that Mr. Mary say a few words to the audience.

MR. MARY—I am sorry to have to rush away like this. I have gone over the budget with some of the city commission and though I am not very familiar with city budgets, I just want to express my thought on the subject in a general way. We have elected the city commission from a cross-section of the business men of the town, and I am sure they have the best interest of the town at heart.

My company, though it is a large tax-paying company in the county of Howard, we do not pay taxes in city of Big Spring, but we have the good of the city at heart. We employ, normally, about 100 men. These men we try to make citizens. A good number own their own homes. I own property and pay taxes. We appreciate the things that the city commission has done for us. We appreciate the City Park. Our men bring their families out there and enjoy the recreation. A good many of them are enjoying their home life in Big Spring more than they would otherwise. They appreciate the auditorium, the golf course, and we hope that the day will come when we will all be able to go out and enjoy all these facilities. I guess you read in the papers where we have definitely decided to rebuild our plant. We feel that we will be with you for a long time. We have a general interest at heart. We think that they are trying to do the right thing and hope you feel the same way about it.

We have been working from our plant 6 hours a day. We have kept as many men as we have been able to do. In June, 1931, we were forced to give our men cuts. Yesterday I got word from the boss to cut those men back on 8 hours a day. You see instead of cutting wages and cutting expense we want to pay them more money. The more money we pay them the more they will pay you. The better they will run their business. We are all vitally interested in it. They will appreciate it if you will give them a "pat on the back" and go to it.

MR. SPENCE—It is my duty as prescribed in the charter, to prepare a budget—what we have to do the coming year, what it will cost, and how much the people will demand in the way of improvements and service. I don't think any budget is perfect. Take our federal government—they could not predict that its budget would run out. I don't contend that this budget is perfect.

Mr. Spence read the expenditures of 1932-33 and the proposed budget for the coming year, a copy of which may be seen at the city hall. After reading every item in the proposed budget he commented as follows:

Your bonded obligations are taken care of for eighteen months. I am going to take up first the administrative department of the fiscal year. Salaries for 1932-33 were $1,071,685; recommended, $1,045,548, a saving of $26,137. I might say in passing that the administrative department duties have not declined. The fact that partial payment plans are not permitted splits the payment plans, in addition to the fact that delinquent taxes roll around. We don't stop with sending out one delinquent notice. And we have more bookkeeping in the water department.

REVENUE—I want to explain this to clarify a little misunderstanding. There are $54,262.36 of various taxes which included $5,466, split payment plan, therefore $48,796 that is being paid this month. We know they are being paid for they are by firms that are practically all paid up now. In other words, if we did not have the split payment plan it would have been paid already.

I recommend or estimate that we will collect $54,100. Now some people wonder if we only collected $54,100, how we figure practically the same this year. We estimate current taxes, $45,700 plus $8,400 of split payment plan. We estimate $64,100 less current taxes.

DELINQUENT TAXES—This next is the interest and sinking fund budget. Again I wish to clarify certain misunderstandings. This takes you up to October, 1931. The period between March of 1931 to the following October, certain bonds mature and we have to have money to take care of them, or else we would have to go to the bank and borrow it. Therefore, we set up a reserve or appropriation for that. We have to appropriate $72,405.78. We are taking care of the bonded obligations for sixteen months.

CONGRESSMAN JOSEPH W. BAILEY, JR., above, of Dallas, will speak here Saturday, July 1 in support of legalization of 3.2 per cent beer and repeal of the eighteenth amendment. It is planned to have Congressman Blanton of Abilene espouse the dry cause here the same day.

POLICE DEPARTMENT—We have four police; two extra men, alternating weeks. I don't see where we could make any reduction unless we cut the salaries or cut the extra police. Keep in mind all the other items appropriated in other departments. I think it can be readily seen by the commission and myself that there is no motive to spend more money than is necessary. Maybe some of you would like for me to cut more—but you still want the service.

SUPPLIES—They are based on last year in the police department. We hope we don't have to feed any more. We pay 25c per meal, and it has been more than that.

AUTOMOBILE EXPENSE—We operate one car at night and in day time with part time police and the inspector uses it. The chief furnishes his own car. We burn gas and oil but not parts. Others are small items and we hope they will not come as high.

FIRE DEPARTMENT—I will say this for the firemen. I think we have some extra good men. I am proud of them. We have seven at this time. If we should reduce them in number you would have one fire engine—if we had a three-piece equipment, seven men operating three pieces. No reduction with same service. We have an excellent man acting as fire chief, Harry Lee, who deserves a hand-shake from all the citizens. He volunteers his services without pay. We have some fifteen volunteers that are good men, who don't get any pay. They have use of the recreation hall and get their suits cleaned and pressed if ruined in a fire. I don't see how this department could be reduced and still operated.

MATERIALS AND SUPPLIES—Fortunately last year we made a saving. We did not have to buy much hose, but this year we do not know. Castings may blow out, so we must allow for it. Some of the hose has been there a long time. We made an appropriation there to take care of that condition, but we are not going to spend it if it is not necessary. We carry insurance for all men in that department in group. The state will not permit us to carry liability for our employees, which makes it mighty hard for us as we cannot protect them in that way. Most of them take insurance in order to be protected.

HEALTH AND WELFARE—Since I prepared this budget, we have made a slight reduction in chemist's appropriation, by reducing time one day to $10 per month, and that will give a saving.

County And State Roads Are Sought

Cemetery Improvements, Natatorium, Reservoir Are Listed
Highway work, lateral roads, flood control including a reservoir, cemetery improvements, a natatorium, and run ways for the airport were listed as eligible public works projects for Big Spring in a report filed Wednesday by the local relief committee. Total of expenditures, exclusive of roads, would be approximately $875,000.

Action came after the relief committee had considered recommendations of a committee appointed Saturday evening at a public meeting called to discuss possible projects.

The relief committee concurred in the special committee's suggestions. In addition to money asked for both highways and lateral road work, the request amounts to $875,000.

Cemetery improvements are listed at $15,000. The natatorium, a self liquidating project, is set at $30,000. Run ways for the airport would cost an estimated $20,000.

Flood control, which would embrace a project creating a dam and artificial lake near Morita, is figured roughly at $300,000. All grants, with the exception of the swimming pool project which is to be self liquidating, will direct gifts under the public works program sponsored by the government. If not obtained as direct grants funds will not be accepted.

The dam, if erected, would be situated below Morita. Drainage from fifty sections would probably back water onto land owned by J. W. Thorp, J. B. Harding and Mrs. Mabel Quinn. Damming of the stream would be calculated to erase the flood menace created by the rampant Elbow creek when swollen by rains. The project also would include works in the city to control flood waters.

Two Boys Who Killed Smithy Are Captured

Citizens And Officers Continue Hunt For Two Others
MERIDIAN, Texas (AP)—James Anderson and Clarence Hains, two of four prisoners who escaped from Gatesville reformatory Wednesday night, were captured Thursday on the White Ranch, twelve miles east of Meridian. Officers and citizens then renewed their hunt for William Scott and Grady Applegate.

GATESVILLE (AP)—Bloodhounds, officers and citizens beat the wooded, rough country between Meridian and Whitney Thursday searching for four boy inmates of Gatesville Reformatory, wanted for playing Will Leonard, reformatory blacksmith.

Two of the boys were seen on the White ranch, twelve miles east of Meridian Thursday morning after their stolen automobile became inoperative, and fled into woods under gunfire of Tom Gillespie, constable. Leonard was slain with an axe as the boys sought keys to his automobile in which to escape.

Two Good Will Tours Arranged To Advertise Carnival Of Values

Two Good Will trips to advertise the Carnival of Values have been planned by the advertising and publicity committee composed of Calvin Boykin, chairman; Pat Allen, Max Jacobs, and E. C. Jones. One route will be west and south, the other east and north. "All merchants in the Carnival of Values should make these trips," stated Mr. Boykin. The first trip will cover 250 miles. The towns to be visited are Stanton, Midland, Odessa, Crane, McCombs, Rankin, Texas, East, Big Lake, Stiles and Garden City. Lunch will be had in McCombs. This trip will probably take place on June 27. Fred Drew and the Mexican Boy Scout Drum and Bugle Corps will accompany the caravan. Literature and other advertising matter will be given out on the trip. The second trip will be taken on June 28. It will lead to Comstock, Westbrook, Colorado, Engle, Galt, Lamesa and Ashcroft.

'Not Guilty' Returned On Every Count

Defendant Leaps To Feet, Tears In Eyes As Verdict Read

NEW YORK (AP)—Charles E. Mitchell was acquitted Thursday on all counts of an indictment which charged him with income tax evasion.

The jury which heard the government charges that Mitchell, former chairman of the National City Bank, had cheated the government in 1929-30 of more than $850,000 in income taxes, returned the verdict a little more than 24 hours after taking the case.

Mitchell leaped to his feet as he heard "not guilty" pronounced, his face fiery red, eyes filled with tears.

With Max D. Steuer, his counsel, he left the courtroom while the jurors were in the box, saying "Can't talk now—too moved."

NEW YORK Outlook

Insiders will tell you that a slight recession in business and the markets would be the best thing that could happen this summer. They will also tell you there is a good chance it will work that way. Cooperation between the government and financial and business leaders will be directed to that end. It remains to be seen whether they can control it.

They don't want a continuous rise counter to seasonal tendencies. Such a movement could only come from excessive speculation and might lead to an unhealthy reaction when an upturn is needed most. On the other hand a full seasonal drop would discourage business and damage reemployment prospects.

Some mighty important Wall Streeters are all set to cooperate every way they can. They are now convinced that the only salvation for themselves and for the country is in the course the President has charted. Their knowledge and skill in speculation should make them useful allies.

Securities—Wall Street is saying that the Rockefeller never lose a chance to ride on the front seat of virtue's bus. They refer to the prospectus of Equity Corporation offering an exchange of securities to the stockholders of one of its subsidiaries. Joe Bailey, Jr., To Urge Repeal And Tom Blanton May Speak For Dries On Program Of Carnival Of Values

Joseph Weldon Bailey Jr., congressman-at-large from Dallas, has sent definite word that he will speak here Saturday, July 1 on the Carnival of Values program, in favor of repeal of the eighteenth amendment.

Mr. Bailey will open the campaign in West Texas for the legalization of 3.2 beer and the repeal of the eighteenth amendment. He will probably be the leader of the wet forces in West Texas. Negotiations are now being made to have Thomas L. Blanton of Abilene, congressman from the Seventeenth district, speak here on the same day in favor of prohibition and continuation of the eighteenth amendment.

Announcement of a plan by which cotton farmers, with the cooperation of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration, may receive at least 10,000,000 acres of cotton land from production this season was made by Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace and Administrators George Peek and Charles J. Brand, with the approval of President Roosevelt.

Plans for a campaign to enlist the cooperation of the cotton producers throughout the south have been completed. The Agricultural Adjustment Administration will launch "Cotton Week" in the south during the week of June 26, a week of intensive effort to present to producers the opportunity to sign in sufficient numbers to insure the success of an acreage adjustment program.

Contracts for the South's approximately 2,000,000 cotton producers are being printed and will immediately be sent to the state extension forces. Local committees are being organized in approximately 820 cotton producing counties. Contracts will be in the hands of individual cotton producers during "Cotton Week", the period set aside for signing contracts to take out of production a certain portion of the producers' land now planted to cotton and in accordance with the purposes of the Agricultural Adjustment Act.

The cost of this program, if 10,000,000 acres are taken out of production will depend upon the manner in which producers choose to offer their cotton acreage to the government under one or the other of two plans that have been devised.

Up To Farmers If enough farmers offer to take their land out of production so that the Secretary of Agriculture is satisfied that the plan will succeed, he will accept them and the contracts with the cotton farmers will result. Payments will then be made and the cotton options granted in accordance with such contracts. The Secretary will proclaim the payment of the sums provided in the contracts and a processing tax must, under the law, go into effect at the beginning of the marketing year for cotton, which is about Aug. 1.

It was pointed out by the Agricultural adjustment administration that there is absolutely no discretion with the secretary of agriculture to decide whether such a tax should be levied. The agricultural adjustment act expressly provides that when the secretary determines that benefit payments are to be made with respect to cotton or any other commodity he must proclaim such determination and a processing tax automatically goes into effect at the beginning of the marketing year next following. It makes no difference under the statute that an appropriation is

10 Per Cent Cut Continues To July 1934

Management Accedes To Desires Of Roosevelt Administration

WASHINGTON, (AP)—An agreement was signed Wednesday night by representatives of railroad executives and railroad labor leaders settling upon a 10 per cent wage reduction to be effective until June 30, 1934. The agreement was signed in the office of Joseph E. Eastman, federal railroad coordinator.

In return for the extension of the 10 per cent cut now in effect the railroad management agreed to withdraw a demand for an additional 12 1/2 per cent reduction in the basic rates of pay.

Announcing the agreement tonight, Eastman said "This agreement has been reached because both the railroads and the employees wish to do nothing which would in any way embarrass or threaten the present policy of the administration."

The agreement came after two days of conferences between the coordinator and the conference committee of managers of the railroads and the railway labor executive association. Eastman's announcement said: "The railroad managers and the railroad labor executives have entered into an agreement under which the arrangement by which 10 per cent is being deducted from the pay checks of employees will be extended from Oct. 31, 1933, until June 30, 1934, and under which the date on which either party can submit a notice in accordance with the provisions of the railway labor act indicating a desire to change the basic rates of pay will be extended from June 15, 1933 to July 15, 1934."

"Under this agreement the railroads will surrender for a period of eight months their right to seek a further reduction in employee compensation and the employees will surrender for an equal period of time their opportunity to secure an elimination of the present 10 per cent reduction.

"The notice given by the railroads on June 15 of an intention to seek a 22 1/2 per cent reduction in the basic rates of pay will be cancelled. This agreement has been reached because both the railroads and the employees wish to do nothing which would in any way embarrass or threaten the present policy of the administration.

"They realize that the government has now embarked upon a wholly new policy designed to promote business and industrial activity and to further the general welfare.

"They appreciate that until the results of this policy can be made clearly determined it will be difficult to deal wisely with this wage controversy and that the active prosecution of such a controversy at the present time might have a most disturbing and unsettling effect. x x x

"This agreement has been reached voluntarily in a spirit of cooperation and I desire to express my very sincere appreciation of the attitude of both parties. They have been reasonable and amicable and they merit the commendation of the country."

Farmers To Hear J. E. McDonald In City On June 30

Farmers of Howard, Dawson, Mitchell, Martin, Midland, Ector, Scurry, Sterling, Glasscock and neighboring counties are invited to attend a mass meeting here Friday, June 30, at 2 p. m. to hear J. E. McDonald, state commissioner of agriculture, in an explanation of the federal government's cotton acreage lease and retirement plan.

Invitations have been sent through newspapers, throughout this district and it is expected that more than 1,000 farmers will gather here, since those of this region are especially interested in the plan, due to unusually dry conditions at this time.

National Recovery Act Provides Weapons To Combat Racketeering

Government May Act Against Underworld Of Business, Which Has Preyed On Legitimate Trade

The following is the first of several dispatches describing the far-reaching effects of the Roosevelt recovery program, now entering the administrative stage. These dispatches will deal with related phases of the central subject, but each will be complete in itself. —Editor's Note.

BY RAYMOND CLAPER
United Press Staff Correspondent (Copyright, 1933, by United Press)

WASHINGTON (UP)—The industrial recovery program has provided new weapons for a fight to stop racketeering.

Broad powers granted by the industrial recovery act, the farm adjustment act and the securities control bill include authority to move against the underworld of business that has preyed on legitimate trade.

They make it possible to reach on one hand the heavy-jawed racketeer who, with a squad of thugs at his back, wrings his profits from terrified milk dealers, for instance; and on the other the glib stock salesman with a brief case full of worthless securities.

Extirpation of racketeering is not the prime object of the recovery program, but it is an important by-product. The recovery legislation is designed to increase consumer buying power by reducing hours so that more people can work by insuring a living wage so that more people can buy the products of factories and by giving to the farmer a fair price for his produce so that he can again become a purchaser.

This requires industry to maintain minimum wage standards. Industries must be protected against cut-throat competition or the whole structure collapses. That is where elimination of racketeering enters as part of the program.

President Roosevelt himself emphasized that the government must protect industries which play the game.

"We must protect them from the racketeers who invade organizations of both employers and workers," he said when he signed the industrial recovery bill.

Attorney General Cummings already has begun a fight to stamp out racketeers. He has been limited chiefly to activities which interfered with interstate commerce. Now he may act against any who violate the fair play industrial codes being set up by the department of agriculture and General Hugh Johnson, industrial administrator. Still further federal action may follow an investigation of racketeering now being started by a senate committee.

Already the department of agriculture has come into conflict with racketeering in the Chicago milk industry. In the attempt to give the dairy farmers a higher return, an agreement regulating distribution of milk in Chicago has been drafted and is about to go into effect.

Racketeering interests have made milk one of their targets in Chicago. Tribute is levied against milk wagon drivers by men who sit in armored offices and ride in armored cars. Some interests at the mercy of these influences are opposing the price schedules which the federal government wants to put into effect. This issue is expected to precipitate the first court test of the government's new licensing powers.

Enforcements -- Not Repeal

WHO IS TO DRINK IT?

This is a report of an actual dialogue which took place between two American citizens the other day—one of them an employing printer, the other a clergyman, to whom the business man spoke frankly, as one does to a good friend.

"Well," said the layman, with an air of finality: "Prohibition is a failure, and we must get used to the idea of making America wet once again."

"But who is to drink the liquor?" queried his friend. "Will you?"

"Why, no," he replied; "you know I am a teetotaler."

"Will your son drink it?"

"No, that shall not be!"

"Would you want it to come back for the sake of your printers and pressmen?"

"No, it is my practice to discharge drinking employees."

"Do you want your customers to drink it?"

"No, I would much rather not; I am sure that those who use liquor will not buy so much from me nor pay their bills so promptly."

"Will you want the engineer on much better off without it." —From the Callahan Correspondence.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH AND PROHIBITION ENFORCEMENT

The Presbyterian church has been for years and now is squarely committed to the principle of prohibition; and is definitely and emphatically on record in support of the national law on that subject.

There exists, however, both within the denomination and without, the impression that the Presbyterian church of today is not providing a determined and forceful leadership by means of which its members may be aroused to maintain all of the splendid gains which have been made through national prohibition, and to offset the widespread propaganda by which some seek the restoration of a legalized liquor traffic. . . . "May we remind the pastors of our churches that the primary responsibility and incomparable privilege of molding the minds and establishing the characters of the coming generation is theirs. There is nothing 'just as good' as a good pastor. The responsibility is great, but the privilege is greater. If the church is not a growing population, its cause is lost. In an age that has hitched lightning to its industrial movements, no church will measure up apart from a leadership touched with fire from the throne of God.

"This is a day demanding intense and intelligent leadership. The warfare against constitutional government has been forced upon our country by the powers of organized evil and God's men dare not be silent or inactive. Join the Rapport based the way for the coming of the Kingdom by his setting blazing arraignment of unrighteousness, and the prophets of the Christ who scourged the thieves out of the Temple must gird themselves anew for the war that is before them. It is not enough for the pastor to a law-abiding, to be registered upon the side of right; he must be militantly against that which is against the Kingdom of his Christ.

"God pity the pastor who does not find willing in his soul volcanic forces of indignation as he sees the organized efforts of the forces of evil! That blazing wrath must find expression in open warfare against the . . ."

"It is quite true that, as an organization, the church can not enter the sphere of political action, but it is quite as true that the Christian citizen cannot remain without that sphere. . . . The same man are Christians and citizens and they must render to God that which is God's and to Caesar that which is Caesar's. The Christian citizen must vote and be counted speak and be heard, and be a competent creator of intelligent public opinion."

Famous El Paso Store Approaches An Anniversary

Those who know the Popular Dry Goods Company of El Paso, feel that it deserves the recognition won during its thirty-one years of service as the "Southwest's Greatest and Most Complete Department Store."

The store began its expansion program thirty-one years ago, and each year has been marked by definite accomplishments. Each step forward has been taken with the thought ever in mind that, to be successful a commercial organization must feel certain responsibilities toward the public it serves, its employees, its competitors and the manufacturers of the merchandise it sells.

The degree to which the store has fulfilled its obligation to its customers is best attested to by its successful business record and extensive clientele, many who, having once been customers of the store, continue their patronage, regardless of where they reside, and it is with pride that the store points to the friends who have been with them over a period of years. It is one of the largest stores in Texas, and both its stocks and service would do credit to a city several times the size of El Paso.

The Popular Dry Goods Company enjoys the reputation of being one of the best organized stores in the country with a well trained and efficient personnel. Many of the workers having practically grown up with the store. Out of the 500 employees more than two hundred have seen service from ten to twenty-five years and a number are nearing the thirty-year milestone.

It is a wise merchant who can adjust himself and his business to a new way of modern merchandising and retain the interest and cooperation of those who work for him, and the very fact that numbers of the employees have been with the store for so many years is proof that the human element has not been eliminated in the march of progress.

The Anniversary Sale is the store's premier event and is built upon a great vote-getting platform of quality, fashion, price and service. Knowing that "What's new in fashion" is just as important to the customer as the price and that there can be no economy without quality, all purchases made for the Anniversary Sale were selected with these thoughts in mind, and it goes without saying that the prices are most attractive, and all Anniversary Sale offerings reflect the efficiency of the store's 25 buyers who hand-picked the market for items for each of the 75 departments represented in the sale, and customers of the store will share in the savings they were able to effect.

The commodity market has since risen, and so great has been the upswing, that the manufacturers have withdrawn price quotations and are unwilling to accept orders for future delivery in the face of a "Bull" market.

The prices that will prevail during the Anniversary event will give to customers of the store "Once in a life time opportunity," and will be a last call on low prices.

In sending this message to its friends in the Big Spring district the Popular extends a cordial invitation to them to attend the sale, and make whatever purchases they are in need of that they are unable to buy from their home town merchants, and if they cannot attend the sale in person, they are invited to write, wire, or telephone the mail order department for any items they may be interested in.

The sale starts on the morning of June 26 and will continue for one week through Saturday, July 1.

Mad Bull Injures Charlie McClintic

MIDLAND—Rushed against a fence by an infuriated bull that had unhooked him by grazing his mouth off its feet, Charles A. McClintic, Midland cattleman, was rushed by Ellis ambulance from his southeast Midland county ranch early in the afternoon for emergency treatment at a Midland hospital.

A complete examination assured surgeons he is not in a serious condition.

Only brief reports were received on particulars of the accident. McClintic was riding in the pen when the bull attacked his horse. When his mount was thrown to the ground, McClintic fell free of his stirrups, but could not get to the corral fence before the bull attacked him. Head bruises and cuts on the body were sustained when the animal tossed the cattleman into the fence.

It was not believed McClintic suffered internal injuries.

Administrator Of Industrial Control Served On Border

EL PASO, (UP)—General Hugh S. Johnson, selected by President Roosevelt to administer the national recovery act involving the $2,300,000,000 public works program, once beat the brush along the Rio Grande for Mexico's elusive bad man, Pancho Villa.

He was captain in Uncle Sam's army then and already had won the reputation of a trouble-shooter. Weeks in San Francisco as a lieutenant in charge of the quartermaster administering relief to the earth quake victims of 1906 was part of his early training for difficult assignments.

During the world war as a brigadier general he anticipated the draft and had applications ready weeks in advance of the authorizing legislation.

In civil life he is an attorney and manufacturer. His legal knowledge gave him the position of judge advocate of the Mexican expedition hunting Villa.

As an attorney he became general counsel for the Moline Plow company and later the trusted adviser of Bernard M. Baruch, an acquaintance met on the war industries board.

New motor oil shows America how to get 28 1/2% more miles per quart

3 YEARS OLD—One of the cars borrowed for this test run had piled up thousands of miles on its speedometer—yet Gulf-lube cut its oil consumption to the bone!

2 YEARS OLD—Pistons and rings in this car had never been replaced—but that made no difference to Gulf-lube! For Gulf-lube lasted every competing oil tested in this car by a wide margin!

1 YEAR OLD—This roadster was in good average mechanical shape, with pistons and rings well "broken in" but not worn. And again Gulf-lube carried off top honors against other leading 25c motor oils!

BRAND-NEW—This car's mileage was little over 1000 miles. Rings and pistons were tight and oil consumption was low. Yet even in this almost new car, Gulf-lube lasted 37.4 more miles per quart than the average of the competing oils!

MEASURING THE EXACT AMOUNT OF OIL placed in each of the test cars. Representatives of the Contest Board of the American Automobile Association tested Gulf-lube against leading brands of 25c oils in 6 borrowed cars—and Gulf-lube stood up 28 1/2% longer before a quart of oil had to be added.

Gulf-lube wins amazing test with borrowed cars of different makes

SIX AVERAGE CARS—from new to several years old—were borrowed from their owners and placed on the Indianapolis Speedway.

In these cars, representatives of the Contest Board of the American Automobile Association tested four of America's leading brands of 25c oils.

In a 4-day grind around the track, at a constant speed of 45 miles an hour, these cars tested each of the competing oils.

And, at the end of the test, Gulf-lube had beaten every oil in every car! In Car No. 2, for example,—when oil "C" was replaced with Gulf-lube, consumption dropped from a quart every 652 miles to a quart every 1447 miles!

And, averaging the figures for all cars, Gulf-lube cut the oil costs on these cars 28 1/2%!

Buy less oil—get better lubrication

Switch to Gulf-lube now. You'll buy less oil. And you'll get better lubrication. Try it! It's the finest motor oil a quarter ever bought. Get it at any Gulf station.

Whitehill Shuts Out Sox As Mates Hit Eighteen Safeties

ST. LOUIS—The New York Yankees put over two runs in the thirteenth inning to defeat the St. Louis Browns 5-3 Wednesday. Lou Gehrig hit his 17th home run of the season in the seventh and Tony Lazerri cracked out a circuit blow in the 12th.

Senators 9, White Sox 6

Chicago—Earl Whitehill's shut-out pitching and his mates' 15 hit attack against Gregory and Kinsey gave the Washington Senators an easy 9-0 victory over the White Sox in the opening game of their series Wednesday.

RED SOX 10-3, TIGERS 9-5

DETROIT—Detroit won the second game of a double header from the Boston Red Sox here Wednesday, 5-3, after losing the opener, 10-9.

Use Of Federal Public Works In Sanitary Projects Is Sought

AUSTIN (UP)—Use of part of the federal public works fund for sanitary improvements in Texas was urged today by the state department of health.

California, Tired Of Dodging Law, Gives Up

DALLAS (UP)—Investigators had no explanation today for the death of Earl Lee, 21, Seymour, Dallas county, who succumbed three hours after drinking a bottle of home brew. He died here yesterday.

NEW YORK—Net earnings of the Reynolds Metals Co. were double those of May, 1932, and substantially in excess of April, 1933, officials of the company reported.

VITAL TO TEXAS

The world economic conference which opened in London "touches Texas so much more directly than it touches most other states of the American union that our people ought to have a correspondingly more acute understanding of the importance of the conference and of the problems it will consider," the Texas Weekly remarked.

Glasscock Court Opens And Closes Within One Day

MIDLAND—District court was opened and closed Monday in Glasscock county—but that is no news. In the history of the county there have been few instances of courts having taken more than two or three days to exhaust investigation of grand juries and try what few cases come up for trial.

Should The Children EAT IT?

PARENTS, particularly mothers, are paying a lot of attention to children's diet these days. For it is far more economical and pleasant to keep a child well by feeding him correctly than by nursing and doctoring him back to health.

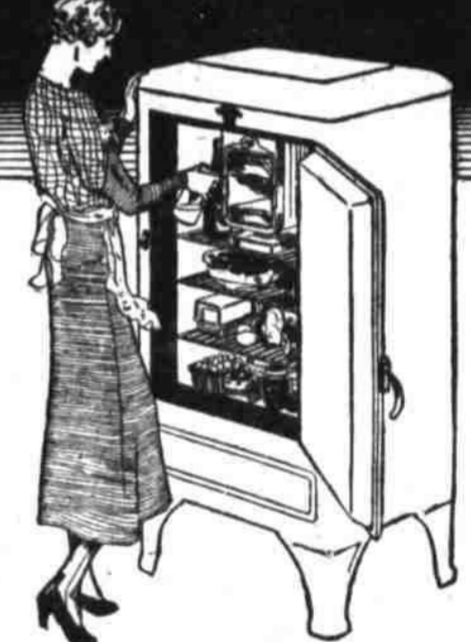

Of course in case of doubt the doctor should be consulted regarding what a child should eat and what he should not eat. But do you realize that the leading manufacturers of food now seek the advice and approval of the leading nutritional authorities in the country, relative to the claims they make for their products in their advertising?

In other words, food advertisements are reliable sources of information regarding diet. They are based upon the results of the latest approved scientific discoveries about vitamins, minerals and roughage, in relation to vigorous bodies, clear complexions, sound teeth and properly regulated systems.

So read these advertisements carefully. Consult your doctor about them. Very often the advertiser invites you to do this because he has asked authorities, whom your doctor respects, about statements made in those advertisements.

By WALTER LIPPMANN
The Taken Payment

In the British Note, dated June 12, it is said that:

The conclusion at which His Majesty's government have arrived is that payment of the June installment could not be made at this juncture without gravely imperiling the success of the Conference and involving widespread political consequences of a most serious character.

In his reply the President, presumably with deliberate intention, makes a rather sharp distinction between the economic consequences of war debt payments and the political consequences. Thus he says that the President's statements concerning the world-wide economic cause and effect of the debt, but he does not deny, in fact, he "understands" that payment now would have "widespread political consequences of a most serious character."

It is these "political consequences" which must be understood in the United States, if we are to understand why the British government has not made a full payment. For obviously it could not be said today that the British government is unable to pay the June installment, since in the past few months has accumulated a larger gold stock than at any time since the war. The decision not to pay in full, and to ask for immediate revision, is not, as the British note clearly shows, based on inability to pay, but on larger political considerations.

They originate in the agreements made at Lausanne about a year ago. It will be recalled that by the Lausanne convention, signed on July 9, 1922, reparations as such were canceled, but Germany agreed under certain circumstances to make a contribution to her creditors. She was to deposit bonds for about 700 million dollars, but these bonds were not to pay interest for at least three years. The bonds were not to be issued, however, until and unless other German government securities are on a 5 per cent basis or better. (They are now on a 10 per cent basis or worse). Now the point to be noted is that this agreement reduced Germany's capital liability to a little less than 10 per cent of her liability under the Young plan. The payment made by Britain on Thursday is a little less than 10 per cent of what was due. This is not a coincidence.

It must next be recalled that a week before the Lausanne convention was signed Great Britain, France and the other creditors of Germany entered into a "Gentlemen's Agreement" which provided that they would not ratify the convention with Germany until they had made satisfactory debt settlements with one another and with the United States. They said further that if the agreement with France and the other creditors of Germany was not ratified "the legal position, as between all the governments, would revert to that which existed before the Hoover moratorium." In other words, legally, Germany would be liable for the payment stipulated in the Young plan that these consequences are so serious.

When Herr von Papen, who represented Germany at Lausanne, learned of this Gentlemen's Agreement, he put a question publicly to Mr. MacDonald, the British Premier, asking what would happen if the Lausanne agreement were not ratified. The reply was that in that event "a further conference will be held." Now as a result the position today is this: The Lausanne convention has not been ratified and will not be ratified until Britain, France and the other creditors of Germany obtain a final war debt settlement. If they do not obtain it, either by agreement or default, they have to have another reparations conference with Germany.

It will easily be realized how unprofitable and how dangerous to the peace of Europe, would be a conference with Herr Hitler over the dead bones of reparations. It would yield no money and it would provide Herr Hitler with a grandiose opportunity to defy France and win a resounding diplomatic victory.

These, in brief, are those "widespread political consequences of a most serious character" which the British Note refers to without dissent by the President. It may be asked why the British could not have made their payment and washed their hands of German reparations. The answer is, first, that they have agreed not to do it, and second that it would make matters worse if they did. For then Lausanne would still remain unratified by France, and a direct conflict over reparations between France and Germany would be far more dangerous to peace than negotiations in what Great Britain was still a participant and able to exert a moderating influence on both sides.

No one, I think, who really comprehends the European situation will hesitate in agreeing that the British government's decision is statesmanship. The British could not cut loose from Europe, and leave the continent to stew in its own juice. By paying in full they would have separated themselves from France, wrecked the Lausanne convention and precipitated a Franco-German dispute which, under present conditions of fear and suspicion, could lead no one knows where.

The payment of something less than 10 per cent has been called a "token payment." It is doubly a token. Toward the United States it signifies a recognition of the debt contract. Toward the continent of Europe it signifies a recognition of the Lausanne agreement. If the art of statesmanship is to compose divergent interests, this is statesmanship of a high order. For while it does not settle the issue, it averts a breakdown over the issue. Within the time limits more than that could not have been done.

The President's response has been equally far-sighted and responsible. He has shown that he knows what would be the consequences of a breakdown and then a reopening of the reparations question; and that even default would have been less dangerous to the general interests of the world. By not paying this small payment, he has preserved the legal claim which is more than he would have done had he stood pat and forced Britain to default. The irreconcilables may cry out that less than ten per cent would jeopardize the entire trust will not be considered a default by the opinion of the world. In stating that he does not personally consider it a default, the President has uttered a moral judgment which reasonable men everywhere will be only too glad to support.

What Makes a Safe Tire? ... I KNOW!

ARE you willing to risk your life on advertising statements claiming blowout-proof and unblowable tires? One manufacturer gives as the reason for claiming blowout-proof tires—the use of one ply of another color—another, a patented "no breaker" construction—a mail order house, high stretch "elastic" cords, etc., etc. Actually the fundamental cause of a tire blowout is the flexing of the tire which causes friction of the fibers in the cord, resulting in heat and causing the rubber to soften and the cords to deteriorate.

There is a reason why Firestone Tires have won the 500-mile Indianapolis race for 14 consecutive years, the most gruelling tire test. The reason is the Firestone patented extra process of Gum-Dipping which saturates every fiber and insulates every cord with pure rubber—which gives strength to the cords and prevents friction and heat in the fibers. This year 42 drivers in this race equipped their cars with Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires and not a single driver had any tire trouble.

Race drivers know why Firestone Gum-Dipped Tires are safer and not subject to blowout and will not risk their lives on ordinary tires. Your life and the lives of your family are often in danger at the high road speeds of today and you should not take greater risks than the race drivers who make sure that they have the best and safest tires they can buy—Firestone.

THE MASTERPIECE OF TIRE CONSTRUCTION

Come in today. We will give you a liberal trade-in allowance for your old tires on new Firestone High Speed Tires—the safest tires in the world.

Friends of the Family

LOOK at the packages on your pantry and bathroom shelves, and see what a multitude of brand names you recognize. Some of them have been familiar for years. You may have made the acquaintance of others only a few weeks ago. But even these are not suspected strangers. You have bought them confidently because they were advertised. And it is the same with your sheets and towels, your shoes and clothes, your electric appliances, the car in your garage—nearly everything you use.

Advertised products have a standing that commands respect. They are not nameless, but vouched for by responsible firms. The fact that they are advertised is in itself an indication that their standards of quality are strictly maintained, that they represent honest value.

As science and discovery go on, newly developed products are constantly being advertised—ready to help you save money and improve your standard of living. Every advertisement of such a product you read in your daily paper is a letter of introduction to a new and possibly useful friend.

It will pay you to read the advertisements in this paper every day. By so doing you will meet many choice products—worthy to become friends of the family.

DARLING FOOL

CHAPTER XLIV

Monnie was at the telephone following Monday morning, trying to get a blurred connection. "Long distance (call in) the parlor droned. "Calling Miss Dare."

"Then came a man's voice, leisurely, deliberate, "Monica?"

"Yes."

"This is Arthur Mackenzie. I'm passing through your town tonight. I stop to see you?"

Almost before she knew it she answered him and the brief connection was broken. A step sounded behind her and there stood Charles Euzance.

"Sorry I interrupted."

She smiled at him. "You didn't, was just a friend." Then she thought, "How stupid of me to be like this with him!" She explained, it was Arthur Mackenzie. He's stopping in to see me tonight."

"Dropping in?" Charles' voice was sarcastic. "From London or here?"

She flushed, lifting her chin. Neither, merely from New York. "Why don't you like him?"

Charles shrugged. "He's all right. One of those picturesque burgeois of finance. Rich enough."

"For what?" Monica prompted.

"For anything." Charles' tone rapped the subject. Courteously, as one stranger to another, he asked, "Is the doctor?"

"No, he's not." How odd she thought, that he didn't know Dr. Asterman had gone to Chicago or that conference. Surely she had heard him tell Charles only yesterday about the trip.

"I won't stop then," Charles said. He was gone with a cool and staid bow in her direction.

"I hate him!" Monnie said, aloud the quiet room. She was furiously angry. No one had ever said her so angry before. She wanted to quarrel with him violently, satisfyingly.

"What did you say?" Charles as on the threshold again, lean elegant. He had heard her.

"Nothing!" She stared back at him, all defiance.

"Oh, yes, you did." Suddenly his face was not two inches away from hers. He, too, was angry. His eyes were grimly. Monica desperately pouted her own, in the hope of a kiss. Almost before she knew what was happening he had snatched her arms to his sides, was using her fiercely angrily.

"You asked for that."

"Oh, oh!" She pouted, struggling for release. "How dare you?"

"You wanted me to." He taunted her with that, letting her go.

She would have struck at him only that again those strong arms pinned her as in a vise. "Saving them for Mackenzie, eh?" Monica flushed a deep scarlet, at only the words but the tone was insulting.

Tigers To Play Stanton Team

Manager Object Of Complaints By Fans

The Mexican Tigers will play the Stanton baseball team here Friday on the diamond near the Casino at 4:30.

The Tigers have a good ball club but have been the object of considerable comment about the manager. Skipper A. M. Hernandez has done a creditable job in keeping the team among the winners and most of the complaints about the manager have come from persons who have done nothing to help the team. The manager wants it known that any fans who are confident they can improve the team will be given a cordial welcome, but those who kick and do nothing are not wanted.

NEW YORK (UP)—Cotton mill activity in the United States is at the highest level in four years and still tending upward, the New York Cotton Exchange service reported today.

CLEVELAND—American steel operations continue to make good headway with a rise of one percent to 49 per cent and are expected to reach 50 per cent of capacity this week for the first time since April, 1931, the trade publication "Steel" said Tuesday.

NEW YORK—Continental Can Co., Inc., now has more than 5,000 loaves of "a payroll" or 700 more than at this time last year, Carl C. Conway, chief executive, said Tuesday.

J. T. Thornton Jr., son of Chief of Police and Mr. J. T. Thornton, is visiting with his parents here this week. He is a member of the state hospital in Austin.

Monnie dressed half-heartedly for the coming of her visitor that evening. He had said his train would arrive at seven and he would call directly afterward. Monnie was not thinking very clearly of him. Over and over again she rehearsed the scene of the afternoon. Words, expression, gestures—all were printed on her brain. She looked at herself curiously in the mirror her eyes darkening at the thought of Charles' kisses. How had he ever dared? Oh, she would show him! He thought the worst of her anyhow. She might as well give him reason for thinking it.

Kay came in as she was putting the finishing touches to her hair.

"Nice," commented the younger sister briefly. "I like your hair that way. Makes you look frail and interesting." She grinned, gamine-wise.

"What's this kind of finance like, anyhow?" Kay demanded, dropping on the bed and propping her chin on her linked fingers. "I'm dying to see him. If the country clubbers thought we had bagged such a big bird they'd all be on our doorstep."

"He's well, he looks like a movie director's idea of a Wall Street man," Monica confessed, wrinkling her brows. "He knows what he wants. When he goes into a restaurant all the waiters jump."

"Mmmmm-mm." Kay yawned deeply. "Then he's a mar after my own heart. I like 'em bossy."

"He's so rich it scares you," Monnie said after a pause. "But he's nice in spite of it."

"Like him?" Kay watched her idly.

"Oh, yes," Monnie polished her nails.

"Don't seem awfully enthusiastic."

"Don't I? Well, I can't help that. He really is splendid and I'm very anxious to see him."

Kay rolled over on her back and regarded the ceiling. "Home Town Girl Marries King of Wall Street," she chanted sweetly. "Hung With Ropes of Diamonds."

"Don't be an idiot," Monnie lightened her lips, remembering the man who had held her in his arms only a few short hours before. Charles would see! She would show him.

If Arthur Mackenzie asked her to marry him tonight she was going to say "Yes."

REAL ESTATE 48 Farms & Ranches FOR SALE—Six thousand acres on highway near Coahoma; half in cultivation; price reasonable; address Kellar Carter, Cotton Exchange, Dallas.

PROCEEDINGS— (CONTINUED FROM PAGE 11) ing of $300, and still we have a chemist subject to call.

Charity increased a little last year. If the public works program gets under way we may not have to see it. That has increased some $500. I don't believe that department can be reduced in any way because we have inspection of 25 salutes around Big Spring besides the local dairies. The inspector finishes his car—salary $100.

STREETS—I tried last year cutting off the lights a little early and putting them later, but it did not work to the satisfaction of all, so we put them back at full time.

MATERIALS AND SUPPLIES—Last year $418—estimated $500. It is just a case of what we will have to have in the way of supplies for the streets, tractors, gas and oil. If it does not rain we won't have to drag the streets.

CAPITAL—OUTLAY—$2200. That was put in using free labor that we might buy material and build something permanent. (I might comment about this work here.) It was R. F. C. labor. Rock is purchased from a man who was delinquent in taxes but will pay. This can be reduced some $1200 if the commission sees fit to do so, or it can be left not to be spent unless you have the money and need it.

WATER DEPARTMENT—This is one department that should not be cut very much because it is paying entire cost of the entire operation of city $18,000 towards the paying of the bonds. All of the taxes that we collected last year and that we expect to collect will not pay this year's bonded obligation.

WATER REVENUES—If we reduce taxes too much we must take it up from water revenues. If we increase taxes you can reduce water. Sixty per cent of the people didn't pay taxes. Sixty per cent of the water users are renters, and don't pay outside of utilities. In keeping your water rate where it is you will relieve taxpayers. We have 53 wells that pump at different times. Some pump regularly. We have one complete new well, cost $100, 300 feet deep and pumps 300 gallons per minute. These meter men also read gas meters for which we get 25c revenue. They are here at all times to give you service in the way of installing meters, testing them, and for general service. Stationary and supplies takes care of printing. It may look large, but there is lots of stationary used.

AUTO AND TRUCK EXPENSE—We have three pickup trucks that take care of distribution and two pick-ups in the field, and a truck that does part time duty in the street. Material and supplies may be bought upon recommendation of such goods. Pump station repairs—we cannot tell about the repairs. They are in good standing, but we do not know about the improvements in the other departments, at the expense of later on having to spend a large amount of money in keeping up the water system. We are extending some brass cast iron which applies to water works. It is in much better shape, has doubled capacity by pumping out the sand. We found a pump that would stand it. We could let the pump wear out and show the saving and the next year it would be more costly.

SEWER DEPARTMENT—No comment. Question. CLYDE E. THOMAS—How much is the labor of the caretaker at the park? Answer. MR. SPENCE—$400 per month, works six hours; before he was getting $80, seven days a week.

REVENUES—We have a margin on all of the items. Of course we can be mistaken. I have explained interest and sinking fund budget. This is a budget prepared to give practically the same service. I checked it and there is some savings I figured up and some that have to be made. Some I cannot say now for they may be in water department or some other department. We may have a storm or lots of rain to cause extra expense. The appropriation in water works may not be sufficient. That which is appropriated will not be spent unless necessary. A budget was of special good when we had plenty of money, but now is changed. Stay within your revenues, and forget the budget. It may be necessary before the year is over to make further reductions as we did last year. We had some men working five days per week—depending on condition, and work they were doing. I will say this—I will do my utmost to keep expenses to the minimum and stay within your revenues and I think I can do it and I would be nearly up to the mark. People are cutting expenses everywhere.

MR. SHIVE—Even though the golf course is done by R. F. C., it is an expense that could be spent more street lights. I know we don't have enough, but let the lights wait. It puts me in a position to say no and that is hard to say with a smile. I wish it were possible to fulfill all requests. I always keep in touch with the commission and furnish monthly financial statements. I may have to call on them this year—may run up against it plenty hard, but with your cooperation and the commission, I will get by and save some money. I am not perfect. Open for questions.

CLYDE E. THOMAS—What will be the estimate tax rate for this year? MR. SPENCE—I cannot say because we don't know what valuations there will be on present valuations there would be 10 to 15 cent reduction. I don't know what the board of equalization is going to do or the commission. You will either get that back in taxes or reduction in values to fulfill all requests of the equalization board and of the commission. I will appreciate it if you will ask questions on subjects that are not clear. I personally express a welcome for all recommendations and each will be given serious consideration.)

Mr. Mauldin introduced T. C. Thomas, who brought a recommendation from a committee. T. C. THOMAS—Mr. Spence said when he was up there that nobody wanted the job of presenting the budget, and I don't want this job tonight, but I am going to do it. I am going to endeavor to show how we can save about $20 to $25 per month to reduce water taxes. I have a letter from Lubbock, Texas up there: city tax rate is 9c and school rate is 9c; percentage of valuation 90 per cent. Lubbock has 800 kilowatts, produces 40,000 gallons water. The cost in is $104 and in Big Spring $216, a saving of $112. 900 kilowatts in Water water rates in Lubbock 40c and in Big Spring, Texas, $1.00 per gallon. Lubbock has 800 kilowatts, produces 40,000 gallons water. The cost in is $104 and in Big Spring $216, a saving of $112. 900 kilowatts in Water water rates in Lubbock 40c

Every town is cutting taxes all over the state. They are doing what we are trying to do tonight. I am not going to criticize this budget. Last spring we had an election and it was said to be for a new year of $5,000 savings. Last year the total expenditures were $90,354. We believe that that budget can be cut to $72,134.60. That is a saving of $18,219.40. That is the difference between the savings and the proposition just submitted. I don't think we can save that much, but I believe we can save, because some salaries have been reduced and are still fair, and that salaries have been equalized. One salary of $4320 should be reduced. Where one man is getting $52 per month, this committee recommends that this man should be paid $70.

We have gone over this budget carefully. Our pay roll would show $40,907 against $56,019, which includes salary expense, such as stationery—$118; recommended here $748, and insurance $107; postage $228; recommended $990. Heat $484.84; $200; lights $3756—$3320. Street light maintenance $921—recommended $880.

Biggest cuts we believe are this: city manager, $2160, allowance of $200 for gas and oil; $1800 mayor and commission. $600 for city attorney; inspector $100 per month, three jobs in one. Police—$1740—recommended $1520; eight patrolman $1200—$1200; combination police $1200; city judge $300, each police $200. Fire department—$1500; three engine men $1200, and fire marshal $1400.

Health Department: Part time job—$1100. Street Department—Combination man $400; street grader $180; laborer $900; extra labor $1500. The extra labor should be paid full scale in handling water department. Recommends caretakers salary raised to $960.

We have certified copy total $90,354.64. We believe each item can be carried out for a total of $72,134.60. Personally, I believe $7000 should be added for labor. Net reduction allowing $2,000 to be added for labor in addition to $1,750 for street department. I believe the saving is worth going after.

He gave Stamford and San Angelo as examples: Stamford pays city manager $150; cost to keep books $2645. The manager at San Angelo gets around $3000 or $3500 per month with a population of approximately 25,000, and Stamford manager gets $150 per month. What should Big Spring manager, with a population of around 10,000, get? Laredo's gas rate was cut from 67 1/2 to 55c. I sincerely believe that if we will go after this and endeavor to get some of this, build our own electric plant, water lights, taxes, same as Lubbock, we can save and make a go of it. I think it is the profits and electric lights they are making money on.

MR. PICKLE—We all know the names of the commissioners and considering that fact it is not fair that Mr. Thomas give us the names of the persons on his committee.

MR. THOMAS—I go ideas from everybody. We tried to be fair. We will be fair about the city manager if there is any reason why we should pay so much money and have such high cost.

MR. TAYLOR—What is expected on the new deal?

MR. THOMAS—Depression is going around the corner, but the drought has caught us here in Big Spring, and that is why we must do something about it.

CITIZEN—Give us an estimate of what it would take to operate park.

MR. THOMAS—We don't own any golf grounds. Only 50 people played golf last year, and if 80 play this year that will be 160 in two years. All labor is done by R. F. C. It is an average of 4,000 golf balls playing a year. People are cutting expenses everywhere.

MR. SHIVE—Even though the golf course is done by R. F. C., it is an expense that could be spent more street lights. I know we don't have enough, but let the lights wait. It puts me in a position to say no and that is hard to say with a smile. I wish it were possible to fulfill all requests. (CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1) cently purchased by David Milton, John D. Rockefeller Jr.'s son-in-law. Atlas Corp. has just put out a prospectus for a similar purpose on exactly the opposite principle. They said as little as possible.

This was not due to a desire to evade the law. The leverage factor works so rapidly with Atlas that they claim it is literally impossible to set up a statement, print it and still have it accurate by the time it reaches the public. They don't want to encourage phony law suits on such grounds.

The "strike suit" fraternity is rubbing its hands at the prospect of a rich harvest when the securities law really gets going. Lawyers who thrive on such business are getting ready for the biggest rush in history.

Insiders predict that the mortality among directors of corporations, which are obliged to offer securities to the public will run as high as 80 per cent. Everyone will get out from under who can.

Allied Chemical—Allied Chemical's plea of patriotism (forecast in this column a week ago) didn't go over so well here. The critics claim the information the Stock Exchange wants couldn't possibly help foreign competition.

The Stock Exchange touched a sensitive spot when it backed formation of a committee to elect new Allied Chemical directors. The management may not care whether their stock is listed on the Exchange or not. They do care who runs the company.

Inflation—The Federal Reserve banks are about ready to give up their credit expansion program through the purchase of government bonds for the time being. They have created $200,000,000 of excess reserves of which $125,000,000 are in the New York district. If the banks won't use this extra credit it's a cinch there's no use pumping more down their throats.

This doesn't mean that credit inflation has failed. It simply means that neither the banks nor business are quite ripe for it yet.

Germany—Germany's American creditors are not as docile as might appear from newspaper accounts. There is a strong feeling that the moratorium move was not made in good faith. What the Germans fear most is seizure of some of their finest ships which are technically pledged for certain loans.

Austria—New York gets private word that Austria now outranks even Germany as the possible source of an explosion. The Austrian Nazis may prove stronger than the government. If they gain power they will probably declare Austria part of Germany. This would create an immediate crisis with both France and Italy.

Britain—Local observers say that Sir Herbert Samuel's Liberal group in Parliament is anxious to join the Opposition in spite of election pledges to support the government. Liberals in general would like to see Lloyd George return to leadership. Conference results may shape a new government.

Business leaders here say that Britain seems to be the first to show real improvement in employment. There is a steady monthly decrease in unemployment there for the first time in five years. Ninety-two thousand more people are at work in England today than a year ago.

Arms—Confidential figures from Paris show that armament makers were almost the only ones to show a profit last year. Private figures of Hotchkiss factories reveal a net profit of nearly 15 million francs for 1932, a gain of more than two million over the preceding year.

Power—The death of Dr. Rudolph Metz removed a unique figure from Wall Street. He was probably the best authority on Europe's financial who's who. If a European went to do business with certain New York banks they would first check his reputation with Dr. Metz.

Sidelights—Wall Street calls the London Conference the "Century of No Progress Exposition." Stock market professionals want to be known in 100 days but they never know when the skids may be kicked from under them. They try to console themselves with the thought that Mr. Roosevelt won't allow the market to hit the dust.

"He wouldn't let that happen to us, would he?"

COTTON—(CONTINUED FROM PAGE 1) available for the payment of any portion of the consideration involved.

The secretary does have the function of determining the rate of tax which, under the law, is the difference between the normal average farm price and the fair exchange value. This difference is determined from available statistics of the department of agriculture. The rate of the processing tax will be announced by the secretary after he has received and accepted enough offers from the farmers to take cotton land out of production.

MR. PICKLE—The large part of your proposed savings is in salaries. Is it not, Mr. Thomas? MR. THOMAS—Simply off of the higher brackets, and not lower brackets.

Officials Criticized And Commended At Hearing Here On Proposed Annual Budget

T. C. Thomas Submits Substitute Schedule Of Salaries—E. J. Mary, Shine Philips, A. V. Hart Support Commission

About 200 people attended the public hearing on the municipal budget held Wednesday evening at the city auditorium.

City Manager E. V. Spence, read and commented upon all items in the proposed budget he has submitted to the Board of City Commissioners.

T. C. Thomas read a list of proposals on wages and salaries calling for a material reduction, especially in the salary of the city manager. He said the proposals he read were agreed upon by "a committee" but left unanswered several requests by Mayor J. B. Pickle that he give the names of his committee. Included in Mr. Thomas' remarks was advocacy of municipal ownership of public utilities.

Mayor Pickle finally said the proposal Mr. Thomas read would be received as suggestions from Thomas personally.

The meeting ended with suggestion by Clyde E. Thomas and others that a committee of fifteen be named, five by the chair, ten by the audience, to take up the budget further. He was told that any group of citizens had the right to appear before the commission on the budget or any other matter.

Support Officials. Shine Philips and A. C. Hart concluded the meeting in brief talks.

Mr. Philips characterized as "a bunch of bull" most of the proceeding of the evening, declaring that the people had elected five men as commissioners and ought to look to them to handle their business properly. He criticized efforts to have "a committee" appointed, declaring that purpose of the proposed committee would be to take the city's business out of the hands of the duly elected commissioners.

Declaring "I am satisfied," and that the Railroad Brotherhood of which he is a member was satisfied with the way city business is being conducted, Mr. Hart said emphatically that he and his organization were unalterably opposed to cutting wages and salaries and that he would favor additional taxes to prevent cutting them.

Secretary Wallace, in announcing the program, made the following statement: "The Department of Agriculture feels that it is desirable that a substantial portion of this year's cotton production be eliminated. With the prospects for an unusually high yield of cotton this year and a 12 to 13 million bale crop of American cotton, it is believed that the price of cotton this fall, if no elimination of production occurs, will be disastrous to the producer. If the reduction sought is achieved, the situation will be materially improved and the prospects for a price approaching the fair exchange value definitely strengthened. It has long been recognized by the cotton producer and the Department of Agriculture that the mounting surplus of cotton, more than the normal carry-over at present, must be reduced. If any material improvement is to be had in the cotton situation.

"The cotton grower should, therefore, realize that the price of cotton this fall when he markets his crop will be determined largely by fundamental economic factors which will be adverse unless something is done. This plan, if it is accepted by the cotton producers, offers an approach to adjust production more nearly to demand and will be the first step in the reduction of this tremendous surplus."

George F. Pack, administrator of the Federal Agricultural Adjustment Administration, discussing the policy of presenting the growers with the opportunity to make the choice, stated:

"In undertaking a program, so broad in its scope, in which the more than $100,000,000 may be paid to cotton producers, it was decided that the wisest course to pursue would be to place the matter squarely before the producers. This program does just that. It will be the opportunity and the responsibility of the cotton producer to decide what he shall do. If enough of the growers offer their cotton acreage to the government to insure that a reduction in acreage can be obtained sufficient to justify the program, plans will be carried forward with all possible dispatch. The cooperation of the producers is essential to any of the adjustment programs. It must be known definitely and in advance what the cotton producer will do. The powers of the government under the provisions of the Agricultural Adjustment Act are offered to the cotton grower if he desires to make use of them. We only seek to point the way. The grower must decide whether he will follow the program which we believe will achieve desirable results."

C. Cobb, director of cotton production, under whose direction the cotton program will be administered, believes that the cotton producers of the South are anxious for a plan that will assist them in solving their difficulties.

I have received telegrams and letters from the farmers themselves from Texas to the Atlantic coast urging that this program be put into effect. They realize that if something isn't done, the present year's crop will be sold at sacrifice prices," Mr. Cobb said. "I have the utmost faith in the plan we have worked out which places the responsibility directly upon the individual producer. I have every confidence that he will do his part to improve a very bad situation. We are proceeding to put this program into operation at once. State extension directors and county agents are being sent full information as to the contracts the growers will be asked to sign. To the individual grower, I would say, see your county agent and to the citizenship of the South I would urge the fullest measure of cooperation to this enterprise that so definitely offers relief from depressing influences that have adversely affected the entire region. The success of this program means the restoration of buying power and will bring better times to all my people in the Cotton Belt."

The administration of the plan, if the farmers offer to reduce a sufficient amount of their acreage to justify the attempt, has been assigned to Chester Davis, director, Production Division; C. A. Cobb, Chief Production Section, and Lawrence Myers, Economic Adviser, for cotton, Agricultural Adjustment Administration.

The Abilene Country Club will stage its seventh annual invitation tournament July 1, 2, 3, 4.

An eighteen holes qualifying round will be played on July 1 with the championship and other flights commencing the second and continuing through the fourth.

Entertainment will start with a Caucuttia pool and a stag supper the night of the first and round out with a German dance on the fourth.

The tennis courts in City Park are being built with R. F. C. labor.

Gold medals will be awarded winners of the doubles in the West Texas Tennis tournament with sterling silver medals for runners-up. The winner in the singles will be awarded a silver statue and the runner-up a silver medallion. All awards will be FERMANENT and will be appropriately engraved.

J. A. Hutchinson, a dyed in the wool tennis fan, informed us in a recent letter several entrants could be expected for the tourney from the Pecos territory. Hutchinson also lists the following: Pecos Valley net champions: Women's singles, Bobbie Avery, Barstow; women's doubles, Bobbie Avery and Gracie Guber, Wink; mixed doubles, Alton Collins and Johnnie Hutchinson, Barstow; men's singles, Gilbert Murray, Pecos.

In a preview Wednesday morning of the Baer-Schmeling fight, we marveled at the young California giant's terrific punches. Baer gave the former champ plenty of punishment from the first second of the fight until he was awarded a technical knock-out in the tenth round. The California boy swung a series of wide lefts and rights while Schmeling used only short left jabs. An interesting thing to note was the fact that Schmeling led the fight until the final blow but failed to even close the winner at any time during the fight. The German boy's hope lay in the clinches which he used many times during bout but was shoved off with the Californians' long left arm and pounded with the devastating right.

The picture was shown from the ring-side and shows an unusually clear blow by blow account of the fight. Some of the punches were delivered with such force they could be plainly heard by the audience. The fight is well worth seeing and is being shown at the Ritz theatre today for the last time.

An interesting thing for individuals as well as business firms to enter in the Carnival of Values will be the terrapin derby. The race promoter informs us fast "ponies" may be secured for a nominal sum and trained and decorated to the owner's own particular desires. NEW YORK (UP)—If you are looking about these days for an excuse to take advantage of the nice and juicy odds which are certain to be given on that large party, Primo Carnera, on the night of June 29, you might do worse than take into consideration the many great fighters who, like the giant Italian, couldn't whip your cousin Egbert in a gymnasium.

At the same time you might give a thought to the regiment of boxers who looked like a combination of Sullivan, Dempsey and Leonard in the gym, but who folded up like a muscle rack in actual combat. But we were talking about fighters who like Carnera looked lousier institution. Instead, he's going to T. C. U. and join Jim Simpson. Able White of Big Lake, also, enters T. C. U. this year.

Catholic Nine Takes Verdict

Brown Eagles Rap Augilar Off Mound In Fourth Inning

Brown Eagles Tuesday saw a comfortable five-run lead melt away before a final five inning drive by the Mexican Catholic Athletic club and dropped their second game of the week to the Catholics.

Augilar, Catholic twirler, took his leave from the mound in the fourth after the Eagles had rapped his offerings for a total of five runs.

T. Fierro, replacing him, tossed shutout ball for the remainder of the game while his mates got busy with their bats. Catholics won the game in the ninth on a single run after two had been pushed across in the fifth, two more in the seventh and the count knotted in the eighth.

C. Valdez, throwing for the Eagles, was given poor support by the feathery tribe. Errors played havoc with an otherwise well pitched game.

Score by innings: Catholics.....000 020 211-6 Brown Eagles.....001 000 000-5 Errors: Catholics, Augilar, T. Fierro, and Julian Vega; Brown Eagles, Valdez and R. Gomez.

The Eagles swooped down on three Catholic pitchers Wednesday to revenge two losses already suffered this week.

Subbiah, the Catholics well in hand while the Birds slumped all offerings over the diamond. Batteries: Catholics, Rodriguez, T. Fierro, Mendoza and Julian Vega, Juan Vega; Eagles, L. Gomez and Subbia.

GRAND PRAIRIE MAN DIES

GRAND PRAIRIE (UP)—Funeral services were held here for S. T. Grubbs, 75, tombstone salesman and resident of Grand Prairie for 12 years. He died suddenly yesterday. Surviving are his widow, a son, Jack Grantham of Houston, and a daughter, Mrs. Stanley Anyett of Greenville, Miss.

In training, Gene Tunney is a fine one to consider. One prep at Tunney in a workout and you'd swear you could lick him every day in the week and twice on Sunday. For some reason the man many consider the finest all-around boxer the ring ever saw couldn't get going until it meant something. Mickey Walker is an even better example than Tunney. In gymnasium form Mickey wouldn't get past the first round of the middle Atlantic states intercollegiate. Yet the Mick will go down in the books as one of the meanest, toughest, hell-cattiest middle of all time.

So, Carnera's unimpressive work outs for the Sharkey man may be a good omen. Certainly, if looking punk in training is a sign, he'll be a ripping killer against Sharkey. What we mean is, he looks pretty awful. Or at least he did yesterday.

In four rounds against Harold Mays and a gentleman of color introduced as "Huberto Arzi, champion of Porto Rico." Primo proved it was possible to commit each of boxing's seven deadly sins in seven distinct ways. Looking at him you felt that Sharkey was as sure an equiptose against Kate Smith at a mile and a quarter.

But, you will remember, 99 out of 100 said Schmeling was a cinch to slaughter Baer, and the German was lucky and proud to have a head sitting upon his neck when he sailed.

Race Track To Be Built At Houston

HOUSTON (UP)—William F. Kyne, prominent California turfman, may supervise the first racing meet at the new San Jacinto Downs track, tentatively scheduled to open Dec. 1.

Kyne will come here to confer with F. W. Neuhaus, vice-president and general manager of the San Jacinto Downs Club. He owns the Tanforan track near San Francisco and is widely known.

Developments over the week-end indicated that construction of the San Jacinto Downs plant, to cost approximately $1,000,000, will begin within 30 days. The site is 12 miles southeast of here.

Neuhaus said the full-set up of directors and officials of the club would be announced during the coming week. The backers include Tilford Jones, kinsman of Jesse H. Jones, RFC chairman.

Reach for a Lucky

—for always Luckies Please!

Why shouldn't I say nice things about Luckies?

I must confess that I enjoy smoking more and more. Maybe it's because I started with a cigarette that suits me right. Luckies are so very mild. I like the fine taste of their tobaccos—and because I'm so sensitive to personal daintiness—for, after all, my cigarette touches my lips—I particularly welcome the added assurance of purity which "Toasting" affords. Whenever I hear comments about cigarettes—I always say, "But Luckies are different." And then I would say some nice things about "Toasting". To hear me you'd think that I discovered "Toasting"—but that's just my way. I like to root for things that please me. And certainly—"Luckies Please!"

because "It's toasted"
