Trouble Brewing In South Africa On Constitution

By ARTHUR GAVSHON
JOHANNESBURG, South Africa, April 19 (AP)—Opposition groups risked civil strike in the sweeping plans they laid this week to thwart Republican-minded Prime Minister Daniel Malan's efforts to rewrite South Africa's constitution.

Ranking anti-government chiefs disclosed they were taking steps to:

1. Mobilize hundreds of thousands of their white supporters in a fold-arms movement—a sort of passive resistance campaign—which might paralyze industry and commerce.
2. Hit back if the government uses force to impose policies which the opposition considers unconstitutional.

The question of force might come to the fore if the government should attempt to shut down Torch Commando, a militant organization of war veterans, on the ground its activities were subversive. Malan has publicly accused Torch Commando, the opposition's strong right arm, or being Communist-tinged.

The prime minister warned Friday his government will not hesitate to use the police and, as a last resort, the armed forces to avert chaos. Nationalist newspaper organs have charged the Torch Commandos are secretly stockpiling arms.

Meanwhile, the leaders of the 10 million non-whites of South Africa, prepared their own civil disobedience campaign to defy the white man's strict race laws. Their idea is to enlist thousands of volunteers for the purpose of breaking racial laws and going to prison, inspiring the largely unorganized non-white masses to do the same.

Members of the Communist Party, banned in South Africa, are actively supporting this campaign for mass disobedience, but they do not dominate it. There are but three known former Communists among the 20 leaders of the Negro, Indian and colored (mixed blood) organizations, though there may be other fellow travelers among them.

Angry parliamentary debate seemed to dispel rumors that moderates in Malan's Nationalist Party and the opposition United Party were hunting a compromise.

Round Up Highlights

At least two events in the 26th annual Boy Scout Round Up here Thursday through Saturday are depicted here. Above, all the units pooled their United States flags in the big parade Friday afternoon downtown. Below, these boys were typical of a thousand others in demonstrating the unwritten Scout law—"a Scout is hungry." They had just been through the serving line at the barbecue.

Record Crowd Attends Annual Buffalo Trail Round-Up Here

Tents were folded and campfires doused Saturday afternoon as 1,000 boys and leaders closed out the 26th and one of the most successful of the annual Boy Scout Round Ups of the Buffalo Trail Council.

Last contests were concluded shortly before noon and awards announced before the traditional barbecue made possible by Big Spring friends of scouting. Despite the record, there was enough meat, beans, trimmings and free Coca Cola for the crowd.

Only one troop, No. 54 of Midland, qualified as a Blue Ribbon winner in the camping contest. Eight qualified for the next highest award, four of them in the Big Spring district, 17 for yellow and 21 for white.

More than 1,200 youngsters took part in the Scout parade through the downtown area Friday afternoon. Big Spring Senior and Junior High Bands led the procession, and all units massed their United States flags in one group. Cubs joined in part of the line of march. The Air Force furnished transportation to and from the parade for the boys, and Hal McIntyre was the marshal.

For the big barbecue, which cooked slowly all night and until shortly before noon Saturday, Dr. W. B. Hardy, Melvin Choate, and S. M. Smith were in charge. Smith headed up the foods committee. Serving tables quickly, was directed by Troy M. Harrell.

Sam McComb, chairman of health and safety, had generous praise for the Big Spring Nurses Association. "They had someone on duty at all waking hours," he said. "They spotted a couple of cases of measles and one of pneumonia which we probably would have taken for rash and a cold."

The only near serious casualty was Jimmy Mills of Snyder, who stopped the blunt end of a broken arrow shaft with the corner of his eye. Nurses fixed him up as good as new in short order Saturday morning. Nurses participating were Myrtle Ehler, Letha Duke, Ann Ecal, Billy Hodges, Bessie Love, Blanche Jacobs, Doris Sprague, Jane Burks and Esther Tranham. An unusually large number of townspeople turned out Friday evening for the second of the big council fire programs of the Round Up. "Indians" again gave their fire starting ceremony before units presented their stunts. With the temperature higher than the night before, some few Scouts sneaked tenderfoots past the patrols for some "snipe hunting."

Results tabulated by George Melear, veteran clerk of the Round Up, showed:

Compass—No. 51 (Midland), No. 15 (Big Spring), No. 5 (Big Spring).
Scout Law Relay—No. 55 (Penwell), No. 72 (Odessa), No. 1 (Big Spring).
Knot Tying—No. 55 (Penwell), No. 152 (Midland). None qualified for third place.

Archery—No. 66 (Kermit), No. 133 (Midland), No. 53 (Terminal).
Chariot Race—No. 81 (North Cowden), No. 151 (Midland), No. 185 (Midland).
String Burning—No. 55 (Penwell). None qualified for second or third.

In the Lone Star (Big Spring) district, those qualifying for red ribbons, and their point totals, were: No. 1 (222), No. 3 (201), No. 9 (228), No. 14 (227).
Yellow ribbons went to No. 2 (199), No. 4 (206), No. 5 (208), No. 8 (215), No. 11 (Foran (207), No. 15 (202), No. 19 (192).
White ribbons went to No. 6 (163), No. 7 (182).

Other troops in the council were classified as follows: Red—No. 55, No. 74, No. 77, No. 150, No. 152; Yellow No. 27, No. 34, No. 43, No. 53, No. 58, No. 64, No. 72, No. 81, No. 84, No. 153, and No. 366; White, No. 55, No. 38, No. 46, No. 42, No. 46, No. 51, No. 52, No. 59, No. 62, No. 66, No. 80, No. 82, No. 89, No. 151, No. 165, No. 185, No. 249.
Amateur radio operators provided special message services to various points, principally within the council area, although one went as far as Kansas. One message was directed to Fort Worth to Carl

S. Blomfield, for many years district chairman here, who in turn sent greetings back to the Round Up. Working tricks were Jack Miles, W5VOP, H. T. Walton, W5ROH, Dr. Mark Gibbs, W5UQN, Van Foster, W5SYW.

Registration stood at 922 Scouts registered and 88 units leaders, or 1,010 actually in camp. This was easily a new record. In addition, there were around two score Explorers and district committee chairmen, working under Wesley Deats, chairman, in staging the Round Up.

QM Is Seeking To Convert Wool To Frieze Cloth
FORT WORTH, April 19 (AP)—The Army Quartermaster Corps is negotiating with industry to convert 2,105,000 pounds of raw wool (clean weight basis) into frieze cloth. It was announced at the Quartermaster Depot here today.
The cloth is used for lining winter combat and arctic uniforms.
The move is being made at this time, the Quartermaster Depot said, to take advantage of economies made possible by the current low level of textile activity, and to provide employment in the wool goods industry.

N.Y. Votes Due To Put Ike Total Near Taft

By JACK BELL
NEW YORK, April 19 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower may pull up close to Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio in national convention strength when Republicans of nine states pick presidential delegates next week.

Democratic primaries in New York and Pennsylvania Tuesday and a state convention in Kansas Saturday seem unlikely to shed much new light on that party's confused presidential race.

Eisenhower's campaign gets its biggest shot in the arm in New York's primary election Tuesday, when 50 of the state's 96 delegates will be chosen. The remainder will be picked later by the GOP State Committee.

Of the 96, the five-star general seems likely to wind up with a large majority. Taft forces have claimed they will get 20 in a state where Gov. Thomas E. Dewey has put on the thumbscrews for Eisenhower.

If this jump in delegate strength is combined with something of an even split in five state conventions and district meetings in two other states, Eisenhower could wind up the week within about 25 votes of Taft's total.

More than half of the GOP Chicago convention's 1,205 delegates will have been chosen by the week end. Taft starts the crucial period with 209 publicly committed or leaning toward him to Eisenhower's 121.

The Eisenhower surge in strength probably will be short-lived, however, since Taft expects to forge ahead the following week when

Taft's Campaign Manager Claims 239 Delegates

WASHINGTON, April 19 (AP)—Sen. Taft's campaign manager, David S. Ingalls, declared today that 239 delegates are in the Ohioan's column for the Republican presidential nomination.

He said this total—with 603 needed for the nomination—comes from 18 states which have completed or nearly completed their delegations, and is more than twice the total of 97 Gov. Thomas E. Dewey received from the same states on the first ballot at the 1948 national convention.

Ingalls added in a statement that the same 18 states gave Taft only 38 delegate votes on the first ballot in the 1948 national convention.

Ohio's 56 delegates are chosen in a May 6 primary.
Principal Republican question mark next week will be Pennsylvania's primary to complete that state's powerful 70-vote delegation.
Of 10 at-large delegates already chosen, Taft is credited with three, Eisenhower two and five are uncommitted under the leadership of Gov. John Fine.

Pennsylvania has a preferential (popularity) poll in the primary, but only the names of Eisenhower and former Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota are on the ballot.

Taft has discouraged any organized campaign for write-ins and his state leaders profess to be much more interested in the outcome of the clash between Taft and Eisenhower delegate slates in four congressional districts in Pittsburgh. The four districts pick eight delegates.

Many politicians thought the Pennsylvania delegation might wind up largely uncommitted so that it will be in a strong trading position at the Chicago convention, where Taft and Eisenhower may go into the early stages with about equal strength.

New York names its Democrat as well as GOP delegates on Tuesday also.

The New York Democratic organization on Friday announced it will try to line up 94 delegate candidates behind international trouble-shooter W. Averell Harriman, adding, "This is not a gesture."

Harriman is director of the Mutual Security Agency.
Sen. Lehman (D-NY) said, "We are going to push his name throughout the country x x x gain him the nomination and the election."

There aren't any Democratic names on the Pennsylvania primary ballot, so write-ins can be expected. However, they may not influence greatly the final decision of the 70-vote group.

Party leaders, including Dist. Atty. Richardson Dilworth of Philadelphia and Mayor David Lawrence of Pittsburgh, have indicated they want to look around more before making any commitments.

Taft and Eisenhower will test out their relative strength in the south in conventions in Louisiana Wednesday and Arkansas Friday and Saturday, and district meetings in Georgia Saturday.

Louisiana is the scene of a hot fight between the backers of the two major candidates for the state's 15 delegates. The fight may be carried into the national convention by the loser.

Arkansas Republicans will complete the selection of an 11-vote delegation, with indications of a split in strength. Of two picked already, one delegate backs Taft and the other is uncommitted.

Georgia Republican leaders are split in two camps with State Chairman W. R. Tucker and National Committeewoman Mrs. Robert Snodgrass lined up for Eisenhower. National Committeeman Harry Sommers supports Taft.

How the GOP candidates are running in the West and Far West may be indicated by state conventions Saturday in Arizona, Utah and Colorado.

Taft backers are claiming a majority of Arizona's 14 but the Eisenhower forces have put in some heavy lifts there.

In Utah, Taft has been given backing by Gov. J. Bracken Lee but here again the Eisenhower people have bid strongly for a majority of the state's 14-vote delegation.

In Colorado, it's a fight between a Gov. Dan Thornton, supporting Eisenhower, and Sen. Eugene Millikin, backing Taft.

OPS Restaurant Rules To Be Told At Monday Meet

A meeting of importance to all restaurant, cafe and soda fountain operators will be held in the Chamber of Commerce conference room (Room 2) at the Settles Hotel tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 when the new Office of Price Stabilization regulation 134 will be explained by Alton Taylor, restaurant pricing specialist.

All out of town cafe operators are also invited to attend this conference.

This new regulation freezes restaurant prices at the level shown on menus or charged during the week of February 3-9, this year, and became effective April 7th. It also provides the ceiling prices must be posted not later than Friday in a place where they will be easily visible to customers.

Taylor will be prepared to answer any problem that the cafe or restaurant operator may have, an announcement says.

TELEGRAPH TIEUP, STILL ON Western Electric, Bell Solve Dispute

NEW YORK, April 19 (AP)—The major phase of a nation-wide telephone workers strike ended today with a compromise wage agreement. Negotiators strove to end two smaller disputes.

Agreement was reached between the Western Electric Company, manufacturing affiliate of the Bell Telephone System, and 10,000 equipment installers of the CIO Communication Workers of America.

Negotiators were in session here to end a strike of 6,000 Western Electric salesmen, distributors and warehousemen, members of the same union.

The union estimated 8,500 CWA members were on strike separately against the Bell affiliate in Northern California and Nevada.

Another communications strike, a walkout of 31,000 AFL Commercial Telegraphers union members seeking higher wages from the Western Union Telegraph Company entered its 17th day with no settlement in sight.

The 12 days of telephone worker strikes involved 43 states and the District of Columbia and hampered long distance telephone service. A number of non-striking operators respected picket lines. Their duties were taken over by supervisory personnel.

The new pact between Western Electric and the installers provided a basic average wage increase of 14.1 cents an hour and fringe benefits of 17 cents for an over-all package of 31.1 cents an hour. The union had asked a 23-cent-an-hour basic wage increase and unspecified fringe benefits.

Wages under the old contract averaged $1.64 to $1.77 an hour. The new contract is for one year, beginning Monday. It is not retroactive, and is subject to union membership ratification.

The demands of the other strikers were essentially the same as those of the installers.

A. T. Jones, CWA vice president and chief negotiator, said the installers were removing picket lines today.

Jones termed the installers' new contract the "largest" yet negotiated with Western Electric.

NEXT WEEK

Gruenther To Talk At Newspaper Meet

NEW YORK, April 19 (AP)—The nation's newspaper publishers and editors will meet here next week for two major newspaper week meetings.

The Associated Press, news gathering cooperative, will hold its annual membership meeting and luncheon Monday at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel. Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, chief of staff to Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower in the North Atlantic Treaty forces, will address the luncheon.

The American Newspaper Publishers Association will meet from Tuesday through Thursday at the same hotel. Sen. Harry F. Byrd (D-Va.) will address the closing dinner Thursday night.

Dr. Alberto Gains Paz, editor of the Argentine Daily La Prensa until its seizure by the government, will address the ANPA on Wednesday.

Six directors will be elected at the Associated Press meeting to fill expiring terms. There are 12 nominees.

The nominating committee has nominated for five of the posts: Benjamin M. McKelway, Wash-

Cotton Growers Meeting Is Set For April 28th

County Agent Durward Lewter said yesterday afternoon that plans have been about completed for the speakers who will be present at the Howard County-wide cotton growers meeting scheduled to be held in the Court House at 8 p.m. April 28th.

Lewter said he feels it is very important that every man who plans on a cotton crop this year attend the meeting.

Among the speakers scheduled are Fred Elliott, cotton specialist at Texas A&M College; Ed Bush, gin specialist, who will also discuss insecticides, and W. H. Jones of Lubbock, district agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Further announcements about the meeting will be made later this week, Lewter said.

The county agent also again called attention to the fact that he has a supply of literature on cotton insects, both beneficial and harmful, and insecticides, that the growers might wish to read previous to the meeting at which these subjects will be discussed. He said this literature is available to any farmer who will call for it.

Hightower Winner Of Clapper Award

WASHINGTON, April 19 (AP)—John M. Hightower, Associated Press reporter on international affairs, tonight won the eighth annual Raymond Clapper Memorial Award for "exceptionally meritorious" work during 1951.

The $500 prize was voted by five newspaper editors, serving as judges, for Hightower's general coverage of the State Department at Washington last year.

It was the second journalistic award in a row for Hightower. On April 2, he was named winner of the Sigma Delta Chi Distinguished Service Award for Washington correspondence. His articles predicting and appraising the MacArthur removal were cited then for special excellence. Sigma Delta Chi is a professional journalism fraternity.

The Clapper prize was to be presented to Hightower by Alexander F. Jones, executive editor of the Syracuse (N.Y.) Herald Journal, at tonight's annual banquet of the American Society of Newspaper Editors. Jones is retiring president of the society.

This award is given in memory of the late Raymond Clapper, Washington reporter and columnist who was killed in a plane crash in the Pacific during the last world war.

It goes to the correspondent whose work "most closely approximated, in the opinion of the judges, the ideals of fair and painstaking reporting and good craftsmanship."

WASHINGTON, April 19 (AP)—John M. Hightower, Associated Press reporter on international affairs, tonight won the eighth annual Raymond Clapper Memorial Award for "exceptionally meritorious" work during 1951.

The $500 prize was voted by five newspaper editors, serving as judges, for Hightower's general coverage of the State Department at Washington last year.

It was the second journalistic award in a row for Hightower. On April 2, he was named winner of the Sigma Delta Chi Distinguished Service Award for Washington correspondence. His articles predicting and appraising the MacArthur removal were cited then for special excellence. Sigma Delta Chi is a professional journalism fraternity.

The Clapper prize was to be presented to Hightower by Alexander F. Jones, executive editor of the Syracuse (N.Y.) Herald Journal, at tonight's annual banquet of the American Society of Newspaper Editors. Jones is retiring president of the society.

This award is given in memory of the late Raymond Clapper, Washington reporter and columnist who was killed in a plane crash in the Pacific during the last world war.

It goes to the correspondent whose work "most closely approximated, in the opinion of the judges, the ideals of fair and painstaking reporting and good craftsmanship."

No Information Yet On Status Of Health Unit

No further information on the status of the Midland-Ector-Howard health unit has been received since a communication three weeks ago, City Manager H. W. Whitney said Saturday.

During the past week, however, one factor that had clouded the picture had cleared. Midland, which had a separate health unit for that county under consideration, turned down the single idea. It would have required something like $30,000 at least, more than twice what was now being invested; officials there said.

While Midland was exploring the possibility of unilateral action, Dr. George W. Cox, state health officer, had said that the status of the tri-county arrangement was uncertain.

In his last letter, however, he told city officials here that he had a prospect as director to succeed Dr. F. E. Sadler, who went to Abilene as the Taylor County director. This prospect was due to visit the various cities. Unofficial information was that he was taking a refresher course to qualify as a director.

Both Howard County and the City of Big Spring had doubled their budgets early in April to comply with the budgetary requests of the state health department for the tri-county unit.

Progress On CRMWD Is Said Steady

Supply and gathering line progress is steady on the Colorado River Municipal Water District project, E. V. Spence, general manager, said Saturday.

Pipe on the 27-inch line has been laid eastward from Odessa to a point past the Midland-Lamesa road. It has been strung on the ground virtually to the well connections in central western Martin County. Installation of the gathering lines struck one hub late in the week but Spence was hopeful that this could be settled promptly.

Work on the dam across the Colorado River in southwestern Scurry continued to progress. Deadline for starting the dam closure is about a month away, according to a notice from the contractor. In the meanwhile, activities have been thrown into a state of uncertainty by the topping of a productive reef a mile east of any so far discovered in the lake basin area. A conference with principal oil operators in the area may be held soon.

Man Is In Serious Condition Following Shooting Accident

Rudolph Aguilar, 15, was received at the Cowper Clinic and Hospital in what was described as a serious condition early Friday night.

He told police officers he shot himself while cleaning a .22 calibre rifle. Surgeons who operated said the bullet passed through the liver.

The accident happened at NE 7th and Runnels.

Theft Is Reported

Mrs. Pauline Porter, 505 Runnels, reported to police yesterday that thieves pried open the glove compartment of her car Friday night. She also reported two hub caps stolen.

How you can make a profit of $27,295,971 and go in the hole!

1. According to our accountants, Union Oil made a net profit during 1951 of $27,295,971. If this bookkeeping profit represented the company's actual "take" our 26,347 common share owners would be overjoyed. But after paying dividends of $11,444,269, we actually ended up on the minus side of the ledger to the sum of $7,584,000 in working capital.

2. Here's the reason: In 1951 we had to spend $62,421,000 for replacement of worn-out equipment and oil properties and to enlarge our facilities to meet the greatly increased demand in the West for petroleum products. This money came from three sources.

3. $40,381,000 of it came from the "depreciation and depletion" allowance. (The sums a corporation sets aside each year to replace equipment and oil properties when they're worn out.) $14,606,000 of it was made up out of profit. $7,584,000 of it was taken from working capital—the "checking account" a business keeps on hand for day-to-day expenditures.

4. We obviously can't keep dipping into our working capital indefinitely and stay in business. For if we do we'll eventually run out of money to carry our receivables, inventories, etc., and pay our daily operating expenses. That's why something has to be done about a situation that affects not only us but every U. S. corporation.

5. Briefly it is this: The sums the tax collector allows you to set aside for depreciation and depletion are based on what things cost when you acquired them—not what it costs to replace them today. Since those depreciation funds aren't adequate to replace equipment and oil properties at today's prices, we have to make up the difference somewhere—or go out of business.

6. On top of this, extremely heavy taxes on corporate earnings make it almost impossible to retain enough profits to make up the difference. So we have to take it from working capital. That's why we must have a tax policy that will permit corporations to earn enough for the replacement and expansion necessary to maintain the productivity and economic growth of the nation.

If Labor Can Seek Extra Buck, Industry Can Try To Retain It

WASHINGTON, April 19 (AP)—It would be nice to say that after the steel crisis is over labor peace can be expected. Actually, it appears just the other way around.

Fox Control Program Set In Hopkins

SULPHUR SPRINGS, April 19 (AP)—Officials directing the rabid fox control program in Hopkins County have warned residents to pen up their pets during the poisoning period, April 22-25.

Property owners taking part in the project will be issued a poison bait mixture of strychnine and horsemeat. Advance indications are that some 500 cartons of bait will be placed in various parts of the county.

Signs denoting premises where the bait is located will be issued to each person making application for bait. The cartons containing the poison mixture will be labeled as poison, and an antidote will be printed on the label.

All baits not eaten during the four-day period will be picked up on April 25.

Rabies-diseased foxes have been found in the southern part of the county.

Indication that they may have moved into the northwestern section came last week. A fox observed acting as though rabid was killed on a road near North Hopkins and its head sent to the State Health Department laboratory at Austin.

Texas Air Wing To Get Duty For Two-Week Period

DALLAS, April 19 (AP)—Texas' 904th Reserve Training Wing will be called to active duty for two weeks, May 4-May 18, the Air Force announced today.

Col. Jerry W. Davidson, Fort Worth, commanding officer, and some 164 officers, airmen and WAFS will be called.

They will report to Hensley Field Dallas, for the two weeks of duty on their regular jobs.

It is the first active duty training tour for the wing's "Week-end Warriors" as a unit. The wing was activated July, 1951.

Col. Davidson said the Air Force has approved flying training for the wing and airplanes will be available on or before July 1.

C-City Contracts For New Jail Let To Lubbock Firm

COLORADO CITY—Contracts for the new jail here were awarded Saturday.

County Judge Sam Bullock announced that H. R. Bundock of Lubbock was low bidder for the construction of the new Mitchell County jail. Bundock submitted a proposal of $73,320, lowest of seven offers.

The Southwest Steel Company of San Antonio was low with an offer of $24,541 for installation of jail equipment. To this the general contract will be added $4,893, in architect fees, running the total outlay to $102,754.05.

Voters gave an almost 3-1 margin of approval on July 7, 1952 to the $110,000 bond issue to finance the new jail. Before plans could be drawn and contracts let, however, the volunteer credit committee failed to approve the bonds for issuance. This action was rescinded subsequently, but then the job ran into NPA difficulties in getting steel allotments.

has a right to strike for the dollar or two it wants from an employer, and where the employer has a right to keep that dollar or two, it is taking pretty much of him.

It is a natural area for trouble. And nobody has yet figured out how these rights of labor and management—firmly imbedded in law and custom—can be retained and yet insure the labor peace everybody wants.

The steel case itself is bound to stir up other labor troubles. The Truman administration claims a Wage Stabilization Board recommendation for settling the steel dispute only allow CIO President Philip Murray's steelworkers to "catch up" with other unions. Yet only this week the WSB recommended the union shop for two big plane companies, Boeing and Douglas, for the stated reason it had given the union shop in steel. The union shop requires all workers in a specific industry to become union members.

Other unions are going to want the union shop. And notwithstanding the government's "catch-up" claim for steel, other unions are going now to maintain they're behind.

Ginners Schools Being Planned

A series of two-day ginners schools to be held the latter part of this month and early in May have been announced by E. H. Bush, cotton gin specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The schools are being jointly sponsored by the Extension Service, the Texas Cotton Ginners Association and various manufacturers of cotton gin machinery, and will furnish gin operators with an opportunity to pick up practical information on the function, construction, adjustment, operation, repair and maintenance of gin machinery and equipment.

The first school is scheduled for April 28th and 29th, at the Murray Company of Texas plant at Dallas; the second will be held April 30th and May 1st, at the Lummus Cotton Gin Company in Dallas; the third will be held May 5th and 6th, at the Centennial Cotton Gin Company of Dallas, and the fourth is scheduled for May 7th and 8th, at the Continental G in Company plant in Dallas.

Pre-Trial Meeting Suggested By Judge

DALLAS, April 19 (AP)—Trial judges in Texas should make more use of pre-trial conferences and the common-law performances of oral instructions, a State Supreme Court justice said today.

The speaker, Associate Justice Clyde E. Smith, declared that "the trial judge must constantly retain his position as the only lawyer in the trial of a law suit who is personally disinterested in the outcome of the case."

Justice Smith spoke to a group of lawyers at a meeting honoring State Supreme Court justices. It was sponsored by the Dallas Bar Association and the Southwestern Legal Foundation.

hind the steelworkers in wages. Add to all this the fact that this is the time of the year when many employers and unions are negotiating new labor contracts and you have the answer: labor trouble aplenty.

Government labor experts say that, after the steel case, unions and employers may be reluctant to send their disputes to the Wage Stabilization Board. If industry is dissatisfied with the board's suggestions for settling the steel case, so is labor dissatisfied with the delays and "hazards" of the WSB processing of cases.

Only a few days ago the unions and employers involved in a nationwide oil dispute, in which 200,000 CIO, AFL and independent union members are threatening to strike, decided to try to settle their troubles on their own rather than let the WSB handle them. A strike is threatened for April 30.

In the background too is a mammoth legal fight over presidential powers to seize an industry. Congress, stirred by the steel seizure, is getting ready to review the whole seizure question and the steel industry, itself, is priming for a court showdown on the matter, all the way to the Supreme Court if necessary.

Quick settlement of the steel case could end the hot controversy on legality of seizure. People might soon get more interested in other things, such as the political campaign. However, the industry seemed bent on carrying the seizure legality question to a final verdict.

An interesting sidelight of the legality question is this: If Truman lacked the constitutional power to seize the steel industry, he probably also lacked constitutional power—despite a specific law of Congress permitting it—to seize the railroad industry, as he did nearly two years ago.

This rail seizure has managed to stall off any prolonged rail strike. But the rail dispute, nearly three years old, is still unsettled. Any final court decision that the President lacked seizure power most certainly would lead to a rail strike.

Kilgore Is Picked For Church Position

HOUSTON, April 19 (AP)—Dr. F. H. Kilgore today was elected vice president of the Southwestern Unitarian Conference.

His selection came at the meeting in progress at the First Unitarian Church.

The Rev. Robert Sonen of Tulsa, Okla., was elected president of the Unitarian Conference.

MUSTN'T KNOW HOW TO USE A RAINCOAT

That wasn't the Headless Horseman who went through town on a motorcycle during a brief shower yesterday afternoon.

It was Patrolman Jack Fill-yaw of the Big Spring Police Department who, when he was caught out in the light rain, put a waterproof cover on his cap and wrapped himself in a slicker.

Pretty good sized children who had never seen a raincoat before ran into their houses calling their mothers to come look at "The Thing" or the "Man from Mars" or "one of the Limblings" depending on whatever their favorite comics happen to be.

Aggies In Area Asked To Take Part In Muster

The solemn ritual originated nearly half a century ago after a march from old Malin in protest of no San Jacinto holiday will be observed here Monday by Texas A&M Ex-students.

All Aggies in the Big Spring area are invited to take part in the traditional Aggie muster. The local rites, identical with those being held round the world Monday, will climax a buffet dinner in the high school cafeteria.

The name of a Big Spring Aggie, Milton Cagle, will be on the roll call this year when names of those who have died within the past year are called. Cagle, brother of Mrs. James Bruce Frazier, gave his life in the Korean campaign.

Approximately 75 Aggies and their wives are expected to take part in the muster, said Jack Cook, head of the Big Spring club. He stressed that the club is especially anxious to have all Aggies connected with the Air Base attend the muster.

It was in 1903 when the traditional San Jacinto holiday was not observed at Texas A&M. Students protested and marched on the office of President Thomas Houston. While they returned to classes in the afternoon, they vowed that never again would the anniversary of the battle which brought Texas independence go unobserved. Today, where Aggies are, they pause on April 21 for the muster.

Soviet Regime May Change If Ike Is Elected

By The Associated Press
An even dozen states hold primaries or political conventions in the busy week ahead, with the spotlight on New York and Pennsylvania whose Tuesday popularity primaries will elect 230 delegates of both parties to the July national conventions.

This is the picture today in the two hot-spot states: Pennsylvania—Has 70 votes at each party's nominating convention; both have picked 10-vote-at-large delegates; each will fill the remaining 60 posts April 22, all uncommitted.

Political developments yesterday: Former ECA Administrator Paul G. Hoffman said the general's election might force an entire change in Russian Leadership.

Sen. Lodge (R-Mass) told a Salt Lake City rally Eisenhower is the only man, except Washington, ever offered the nomination of both parties.

Taft wound up a three-day swing through Massachusetts yesterday with six talks in the Boston area. He said no matter whom the Democrats nominate, he will have to run on the "same Pendergast policy" as President Truman.

Publisher Frank E. Gannett, a political foe of Gov. Dewey, said he is supporting Taft, but admitted that all of his papers may not do so. He said they speak for themselves.

Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee, a Democratic presidential candidate, said in New York that "seizure of industry by executive order or any other method is a dangerous thing to have get started . . . in this country." He was commenting on Truman's recent seizure of the steel mills.

Not Enough Comedy

MOSCOW, April 19 (AP)—Izvestia complained today about a lack of comedy in Soviet theaters. The government newspaper said comedy is particularly well suited to "our energetic, cheerful life and full, healthy humor."

Asks Group To Study HST Impeachment

WASHINGTON, April 19 (AP)—Rep. Bender (R-Ohio) today proposed the appointment of a bipartisan House committee to "explore fully the possibility of bringing successful impeachment proceedings" against President Truman.

Bender said in a statement that the seizure of the steel industry and the President's remarks implying that he has authority to take over newspapers had raised "a constitutional question of the utmost gravity."

Bender is a backer of Sen. Taft of Ohio, who said in Boston April 17 that members of Congress should consider impeachment of President Truman for his seizure of the steel industry.

Sen. Mundt (R-SD) predicted today that a blast the President delivered at Congress yesterday would lead to renewed demands for his impeachment. President Truman threatened to keep Congress in session until next New Year's unless it approves all the bills he has asked for defense.

Rep. Bender proposed a joint committee of Democrats and Republicans to consider possible impeachment proceedings.

Bender said President Truman had declared "that he has authority to take over the newspapers, radio, television and communications system of the nation at the moment . . ."

This referred to the President's statement at a news conference last Thursday attended by visiting members of the American Society of Newspaper Editors. One of them asked:

"If you can seize the steel mills under your inherent powers, can you, in your opinion, also seize the newspapers or-and the radio stations?"

President Truman replied that under similar circumstances, the president has to act for whatever is for the best of the country. That's the answer to your question, he added.

Later the White House refused to amplify the reply, an aide saying the question was "purely hypothetical and academic."

Order Disciplinary Action Against Six AF 'Strikers' End

SACRAMENTO, Calif., April 19 (AP)—Orders have come to Mather Field to stop disciplinary action against six Air Force officers who refused to fly, Capt. Jack Rose said today.

The officers had been charged with disobeying orders to fly but had continued on non-flying duty since.

"Some other disposition is going to be made of them," said Capt. Rose, public information officer at the base.

But he said all he knows is that "we were told to suspend any action."

Last Monday Col. Robert C. Paul said the Air Force would not take any action against the men until their cases were investigated.

When Field Has Crystallized, Be Sure To Check Upon Qualifications

Considerable emphasis has been placed upon participation in precinct conventions this year. This is particularly important because the May 3 gatherings have a bearing upon the selection of presidential candidates, both for Republican and Democratic parties.

There is another importance attached to this date too, for it signals the time when candidates must have filed for posts. We have no desire to encourage or stimulate anyone to entering political races, for this is a decision that the prospective candidate himself or herself should make with due calculation. But we think it wise to point out that time is limited and that those not yet decided should be warned that an hour of decision is at hand.

Our main point is this: After the picture has become crystallized within a fortnight, people of Howard County will have little less than three months in which to check up on all those who are asking for office.

Too often we vote blindly, barely knowing candidates if at all. In such circumstances we are apt to play hunches or take the word of some passing acquaintance that such and such a man is a good old boy. Worse than this, many of us will run down the economic status of candidates and decide that those who have fared poorly are the most deserving. The hard fact is that generally those who fare poorly in the every day economic tussle did so because of a lack of energy or astuteness, a fact which should put them at disadvantage in the administration of public affairs.

The exercising of a voice in the presidential race is important. Of equal or perhaps greater importance is the responsibility of checking on the qualifications of all those who offer to serve us as our public officials.

Good men will welcome that sort of attitude and will be eager to supply help. Those who resent it and dodge the issue may well be regarded with skepticism. So, in the coming months when candidates hand you a card and ask for your consideration, ask them some questions.

Matter Of Fact—Stewart And Joseph Also

Evenly Balanced Strength Seen For Taft, Eisenhower By July

WASHINGTON, (AP)—With the New Jersey primary, the pre-convention struggle has at least passed the halfway mark—a minor blessing to be thankful for. General of the Army Dwight D. Eisenhower has rounded the turn with a big surge forward, but it is extremely important to note that Sen. Robert A. Taft is still running steadily and still running hard.

The comparative positions of the two contenders are best judged on the face of the figures. Some weeks ago, Taft headquarters admitted a confidential estimate of the Senator's potential strength at the Republican convention. According to this tabulation, it was hoped that the Ohio Senator would go out to Chicago with a minimum of 653 delegates, overt and concealed.

Certain states, like Michigan, were considered too uncertain for inclusion. Nonetheless, 653 votes on the first ballot would surely be enough to give Sen. Taft the quick victory toward which his strategy has always been aimed. In the weeks since this estimate of his strength was made, Sen. Taft, however, has run a much slower race than originally forecast.

The biggest set-back occurred in Maryland, where Taft forces counted on the support of Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin, who has now announced for Gen. Eisenhower. Despite the grumbling of the Ohio Senator's friends, there is very little doubt indeed that Gov. McKeldin has the power to take his state's twenty-four votes into the Eisenhower camp. In other states, Sen. Taft has had some ups, as in Nebraska and Illinois, and some downs, as in New Jersey and New Hampshire. Over all, the best estimate now gives Taft 208 delegates, but if he had done as well as previously expected, he would have slightly over 250.

It is bad weakness in any racer to travel about 20 per cent less fast than his planned speed. On the other hand, the Senator is still a most formidable contender. This is best illustrated, earnestly enough, by a somewhat more recent confidential tabulation of Gen. Eisenhower's strength, prepared by the Eisenhower high command.

This Eisenhower forecast shows the General with approximately 530 delegates on the first ballot, with about 350 for Sen. Taft. These figures reflect considerable hope, as well as many solid promises. For example, in the always dubious South, the Eisenhower high command claims substantially larger inroads into normal party strength than one could like to bet on at this writing.

If you adjust the Eisenhower estimate by writing down the more obviously optimistic claims, you reach the conclusion that the General and the Senator are going into the convention with almost equal blocks of delegates. Each block ought to be between 450 and 500, out of the 1,205 total.

To be sure, this is only the outlook as of now. Sen. Taft, for example, may benefit unexpectedly by the withdrawal of Gov. Adlai Stevenson of Illinois from the Democratic contest. Stevenson's withdrawal is bound to sow confusion among the Democrats. And the Republican professional politicians, encouraged by the disorders among their enemies, will be more inclined to gamble on naming Sen. Taft.

By the same token, the whole picture can be radically altered if Gov. John S. Fine, of Pennsylvania, decided to declare himself. Fine controls the largest block of his state's seventy votes, of which Sen. Taft's forces claim forty. If the Pennsylvania Governor plumps for Eisenhower, he could start a bandwagon rush, which would in turn more than substantiate all the Eisenhower claims in the South. In Pennsylvania, where the voting balance has changed to favor the Democrats in recent years, most grass-root politicians are reported to want Eisenhower, because they think he will help their local nominees. Perhaps for this reason, Gov. Fine, while continuing to make a mystery of his intentions, has recently seemed to incline toward the Eisenhower camp.

In summary, there is no doubt at all that the New Jersey outcome leaves Gen. Eisenhower in an excellent position to win the Republican nomination. But there is equally no doubt that the Eisenhower leadership is growing very prematurely, when they attempt to discount the chances of Sen. Taft. As of today, it seems most likely that these two leading contenders will go into the convention with rather evenly balanced strength.

The result will then depend on the secondary strength each candidate can develop, from the following of such lesser contenders as Gov. Earl Warren of California. Here Gen. Eisenhower has a much better chance than Sen. Taft. Yet there is always the possibility that the vision of a deadlocked convention and a dark horse nomination, which fascinates owners of small groups of delegates, will somehow upset the plans of the Eisenhower camp.

Uncle Ray's Corner

Sunday Talk: About Owls

A boy named Henry Gutman writes: "I would like to know whether owls live either in the very cold Arctic or in the very hot tropics. How do the eyes of an owl compare with those of a man?"

Owls are most common in the North Temperate and South Temperate parts of the earth, but some live in the Arctic Zone, others in the Torrid Zone.

Snowy owls get along very well in cold and in far northern parts of Canada.

In the snowy owl family, the males are covered with pure white feathers, but many of the white feathers of the females are barred. Young owls in this group have dark brown or deep gray coverings.

The average length of a full-grown snowy owl is about 23 inches. The females are larger than the males.

The Arctic area is the chief breeding place of snowy owls. Their nests are simple affairs, usually being placed on the ground or on a ledge of rock. Only a few bits of grass and a few feathers are used to make what is called a nest.

As the Arctic winter comes on, snowy owls often fly southward. Some move only a few hundred miles, but others go to southern Canada or to northerly parts of the United States.

There are many examples of Torrid Zone owls. Some live in the Malay area of Asia, others in northern Africa, still others in Central America and South America.

The eyes of owls are set in the head in such a way that they make us think of the eyes of a person with both eyes at once. The usual bird has eyes which are set apart so that only one of them sees an object at a given moment.

A bright day is a poor day for an owl to see, its eyes are dazzled by sunshine. In dim light (as deep twilight) owls are sharp-eyed.

Nobody Knows What's Going To Happen When Politics, Mother Nature Act Up

By FRED GREENE

Apparently Mother Nature takes to her heart the old adage of women being unpredictable. Certainly nobody foresaw the rampaging floods and subsequent disaster now being unleashed in the Midwest. And who would have thought West Texas drought conditions would remain so long and so severe?

The ravaging waters of the mighty Missouri River have posed a week-long threat to vast areas of the Midwest, centering its heaviest blows in the vicinity of Omaha and Council Bluffs, Iowa, after lashing the Dakotas.

As of Friday afternoon, the swollen crest inched up over the 30-foot mark, well over the previous high of 24.6 feet and a flood level of 19 feet.

At present, sodden dikes in the twin city area are holding, but the crisis is due to be reached this weekend. If the waters break through, vast industrial and stockyard areas will be inundated to the point of virtual ruin. Downstream near Kansas City, the river is out of control. A creeping brown tide covered all land and nearly all of what is on it.

Tired soldiers and civilians are working night and day in a feverish effort to hold the line against the Missouri. In the Council Bluffs-Omaha area alone more than 24,000 persons toiled.

Easily the most awesome floods ever unleashed by the Missouri, the pressure in the Omaha channel against dikes is more than 1,250 pounds per square foot. Upstream, where the river is wider, the problem has not been as serious. The Omaha channel, considerably narrower, must have higher and stronger dikes in order to ward off increased pressure due to the more narrow width.

The political picture, still in the Spotlight, took another twist this week when New York County chairman unannouncedly endorsed W. Averell Harriman, Mutual Security Administrator, for the Democratic Presidential nomination. Since the state has 94 votes, such support can be powerful if carried beyond the first ballot custom of nominating a "favorite son." Sen. Herbert Lehman said Empire State Democrats intend to carry Harriman's name all the way.

Long in politics, Harriman has largely been concerned with American foreign policy in his accomplishments. He was a confidant of the late President Franklin Roosevelt and attended nearly all international conferences with him.

Meanwhile, Sen. Estes Kefauver, another Democratic aspirant, continues to secure delegates right and left. After chalking up powerful support in this week's New Jersey primary, Kefauver got additional backing from Sen. Paul Douglas (D-Ill.) after Gov. Adlai Stevenson said he could not take the Democratic nomination. Stevenson, desired candidate of a large segment of Democratic leaders, feels he has an obligation to carry out as governor.

On the Republican side of the ledger, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower soundly trounced his Republican opponent, Sen. Robert Taft, in that party's N.J. primary test. He scored a 158,000-vote victory margin, bettering predictions previously published by most of that state's editors.

Taft adherents claimed a moral victory, but they did that in advance by shrewd tactics, claiming Taft sought to withdraw from the race, didn't want to run in N. J., etc. Nevertheless, Taft's name was on the ballot, for better or for worst and he lost. Taftites initially sought to "get out" when they charged Gov. Driscoll broke a promise to

This Is Not A Healthful Place? You Haven't Heard S. E. J. Cox

"Big Spring is a poor place for doctors. It is too healthy."

It is the town's proud boast that a typhoid case never originated there. There were fewer deaths from the "flu" in Big Spring than any town its size in the United States. Consumptives grow strong and tall and full-chested. Malaria is unknown.

"Big Spring doctors usually take up a side issue. Insurance agents cannot live there without other work. Even in the hottest months of summer, one reaches for a blanket before morning, and smuggles under it to keep warm. This is not an occasional occurrence, but happens every night."

Before you pick up your telephone to protest about this little monograph on Big Spring, I hasten to disclaim any authorship.

You might be interested to know that the excerpts are from an article titled "Leave Medicine Behind," which appeared in a publication dated August, 1920.

The publication was called "Opportunity," and left the strong impression that the only place of real opportunity was Big Spring, Texas.

Perhaps it should also be made of record that the pamphlet "Opportunity" was published by S. E. J. Cox, the man who envisioned oil in these parts ahead of most other people, and hastened to sell this vision to folk who were willing to drop a few dollars in oil stocks. As I understand it, they really dropped the dollars.

Mr. Cox, as the oldtimers who watched him operate here well know, was no piker when he started selling Big Spring as the coming oil capital of the world. His magazine contains no less than 50 pages, every page of it devoted to some of the attractions of Big Spring, rather on the order of the first paragraphs in this column.

Let us say that some of his observations were perhaps intemperate, and let us say that others provided ground for outright refutation. Anyway, Mr. Cox thought Big Spring was—and would be—a great place, and you can't get mad at him for that.

The cover of "Opportunity" carries a big picture of oil flowing from a well into an open slush pit. It carries the caption, "Soll in Virgin Territory...This well, General Oil's McDowell Discovery, Enhances Company's West Texas Holdings $100,000,000." General Oil was Mr. Cox's company.

But Mr. Cox did a big job of not only selling oil wildcatting (with General Oil Company) as the place to put your money, but Big Spring as the place to live. Here's more on the healthfulness of this place, as written in another article in Mr. Cox's pamphlet:

"They did not need to tell me about Big Spring's splendid water. It is so good I could not get enough to drink. I had been stopping at every windmill all day as I drove from location to location, and the Big Spring climate is just as invigorating. The altitude is 2400 feet above sea level and gulf breezes sweep the country. One sleeps like a baby in its crib and wakes feeling fit to lick an army. I have yet to meet an outsider that has visited there who is not 'raring' to return and make his home. Consumptives go there, and in a few months develop a punch in either fist and a kick no quart of hundred proof ever boasted. Some enterprising doctor is going to pick the place for a sanitarium some day, prescribe harmless bread-dough sugar-coated pills, and let the climate do the work while he collects the fees, grows fat and gets rich."

Well, Big Spring's altitude is pretty close to 2,400 feet.

Kefauver Continues To Lead Taft In Latest Presidential Trial Run

(One of a series of reports by the Gallup Poll on the political situation today.)

By GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., April 17. — Sen. Estes Kefauver on the Democratic ticket noses out Sen. Robert A. Taft on the G.O.P. ticket in the latest presidential "trial heat" conducted by the Institute among a cross-section of the nation's voters.

The division of sentiment is similar to a previous trial heat between the two reported a month ago, except that Kefauver has gained slightly, largely because he is more popular among Democratic voters now than he was then.

On the other hand, Senator Taft has registered a gain among Independent voters, while Kefauver has lost some ground with this important group.

Each voter in the survey was asked: "Suppose Taft is the Republican candidate and Kefauver the Democratic candidate, which party would you like to see win the election—the Republican party or the Democratic party?"

The vote:

Kefauver	48%
Taft	40%
Undecided	11%
	100%

The previous test reported March 5 showed Kefauver with 47 per cent, Taft with 41 per cent and 12 per cent undecided.

Independents Closely Divided

The Independent voters in today's survey show a close division of sentiment on the two candidates, as follows:

INDEPENDENT VOTERS (Today)
Kefauver	44%
Taft	40%
Undecided	16%
	100%

larger as follows:

A month ago Kefauver's margin over Taft with the Independents was somewhat larger as follows:

INDEPENDENT VOTERS (March)
Kefauver	48%
Taft	35%
Undecided	17%
	100%

The Independent vote, according to the latest Institute test, constitutes slightly more than one-fourth of the electorate.

In a survey reported last month 39 per cent of voters listed themselves as Democrats, 34 per cent as Republicans, and 27 per cent as Independents.

By Political Affiliation

Among persons who classify themselves as Republicans, Taft is favored over Kefauver by a huge margin as follows:

REPUBLICANS ONLY (Today)
Taft	78%
Kefauver	15%
Undecided	7%
	100%

A month ago the figures were almost identical.

Among Democratic voters, Kefauver's strength is proportionately greater than Taft's is among Republicans, and the Tennessee Senator has been gaining with the Democratic voters.

Here are the figures in today's survey as compared with March:

DEMOCRATS ONLY (Today)
Kefauver	80%
Taft	11%
Undecided	9%
	100%

DEMOCRATS ONLY (March)
Kefauver	75%
Taft	12%

Live Malady Study Is Now Underway

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Public health officers are apprehensively watching the worst outbreak of hepatitis (liver inflammation) in the history of the United States.

The epidemic is among children in the Navajo Indian school at Tuba City, Ariz. Of 400 children, more than 300 have the disease. It is not often fatal, but no cure is known and it is capable of spreading far and wide.

In Tuba City the disease was first diagnosed as flu, a common mistake. It was not recognized as hepatitis until an Indian girl died in November. The disease spread from person to person and also in water and food. The health authorities say an outbreak of the Tuba City size might spread the infection in Arizona and New Mexico.

This form of hepatitis occurs all over the world. The outbreaks are sporadic. Union forces had it in the Civil War and American troops had it in the Pacific and in other parts of the world in World War II.

Controls Over Rubber To Be Lifted By U.S.

By JACK RUTLEDGE
 WASHINGTON, April 19—Almost all government controls on rubber are being lifted April 21, indicating officials believe the national stockpile is adequate, synthetic production satisfactory, and prices reasonable.

Sentenced

The sweeping revocation of controls was greeted with enthusiasm by the rubber industry, which finds itself free of government restrictions on use of the basic raw material for the first time in 11 years.

209 Taft Delegates Seen At Present By AP; Ike Has 121

By The Associated Press
 Republicans pick 224 and Democrats 168 national convention delegates in the coming week. Most of them will be named in the New York and Pennsylvania primaries on Tuesday.

The Republican total thus will be raised to 614, or more than half of their convention voting strength of 1,205. Sen. Taft of Ohio still leads in unofficial first ballot preferences with 209 to Gen. Eisenhower's 121. To win the nomination a candidate must poll a majority—603.

The 209 delegate figure for Taft—like that for Eisenhower—is based on delegates who have officially pledged their support, plus those who have been willing to designate informally their first ballot choices. Taft's national headquarters last night claimed a total of 239, or 30 more than The Associated Press tabulation. The increase is made up largely of claims of delegates shown by AP polls to be uncommitted.

The 30-delegate net increase claimed by Taft includes claims of 4 more in Florida, 5 more in North Carolina, 18 more in Michigan, 2 more in Alaska, 5 more in New Jersey and 3 more in South Carolina, a total of 37. But it excludes 1 in Arkansas, 2 in Louisiana, 3 in Pennsylvania and 1 in Virginia listed in the AP count.

The Democrats will bring their total this coming week to 413. This figure is slightly more than one-third of the national convention voting strength of 1,200, with 616 needed to nominate.

Sen. Kefauver of Tennessee leads in the unofficial standings to date with 40 and Sen. Russell of Georgia is next with 37 through yesterday noon.

Kefauver also has won several key state preference votes, in Illinois and New Jersey, for example, but has not won any of their delegates. The preference vote was not binding on delegates named in those states and the delegates elected have not indicated any candidate leanings.

The latest AP tabulation of delegates pledged, "instructed," "favorable or willing to state a first ballot choice:

IN NEW OVERSEAS POLICY

AF Denies 'Strike' Ends Point System

By VERN HAUGLAND
 Associated Press Aviation Reporter

WASHINGTON, April 19—The Air Force said today it will abolish on June 1 the point system or credit for overseas service which it has been using in part to determine whether fliers should be assigned to foreign duty.

A spokesman said that the projected replacement of the point system by a method based upon an individual's date of return from his most recent foreign tour had nothing to do with the recent refusals by some officers to fly.

An Air Force spokesman said the new plan for selecting men for overseas duty has been under preparation for months, and that advance copies have already been distributed to a limited number of persons in the Air Force.

The spokesman explained the proposed new method to a reporter this way:

1. No officer or airman will serve more than 18 months overseas separated from his dependents.
2. No person who has less than 12 months still to serve will be eligible for overseas duty.
3. An individual returned from foreign duty may not be assigned overseas again until he has served at least two years in the United States.

4. In cases where Air Force men decide to pass up the 18-month provision and wait overseas for their dependents, the complete foreign tour will be the prescribed tour or 12 months after the arrival of dependents, whichever is longer.

The present point system was originally developed during World War II to determine when men were eligible for return to the U.S. It has also been used as one factor in assigning men overseas since.

The Air Force acknowledges the system has defects. Officials said, for example, that it might have been possible for an Air Force official—either regular or reservist—to amass as many points in two years of foreign duty after World War II as one who saw three years' service in the war. On the other hand, they said, a man serving in Korea would generally pile up points much more rapidly than one on foreign duty elsewhere.

Some Air Force officers at Randolph Air Force Base in Texas and elsewhere have recently refused to fly, some of them claiming they had had a full share of combat. One has been court-martialed and others face disciplinary action.

Gen. Hoyt S. Vandenberg, Air Force chief of staff, described press accounts of these incidents as a "tempest in a teapot."

Vandenberg More Concerned Over Bipartisan Policy Than Elections

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON, April 19 (AP)—The private papers of the late Sen. Arthur Vandenberg disclosed today that during one dangerous impasse with Russia President Truman talked about telephoning personally to Generalissimo Stalin "to see what he could do with him."

The President's famous project for sending Chief Justice Fred Vinson on a peace mission to Moscow had just been nipped by Secretary of State Marshall. It was 1948 and a critical time.

The Truman-Dewey Presidential campaign was at fever heat. The Russians were blockading Berlin. The world was gripped by war fears.

There was apprehension here that the Kremlin would try to take advantage of American political differences to act worse abroad, and possibly stumble into war.

Republican Sen. Vandenberg wrote that at a secret White House meeting with himself and Democratic Sen. Connally, Truman seemed "anxious to do something" for peace and appeared aware also that his election campaign "sadly needed a shot in the arm."

The President made clear he was just looking into the idea of phoning Stalin, according to Vandenberg's notes, and there is no evidence that anything ever came of it.

The incident stands out in "The Private Papers of Senator Vandenberg," however, as a fascinating footnote to a risky period of recent history.

It illuminates the working relationship which the Republican senator had with the leaders of the opposition party even in an election year.

The 399-page volume of Vandenberg's papers—a record of the senator's conversion from "isolationist" to "internationalist" and of his influence on great affairs through the last decade—is to be published next Tuesday by Houghton Mifflin Company, Boston.

Sen. Vandenberg's son, Arthur Jr., his assistant through 14 years, edited the letter, diary and scrapbook sections that make up the volume. It mainly covers the time from 1939 to Vandenberg's death of cancer on April 18, 1951.

Chief among the book's disclosures about the events on which Vandenberg had inside knowledge are these:

1. Britain formerly had a veto over American use of the atomic bomb. This was provided in wartime agreements between the late President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill, arranging for joint development of the weapon in the first place. The veto agreement ended in January, 1948, the war-time American-British-Canadian partnership having dissolved and final decision on use of the bomb passed into the hands of the President.

2. In July, 1948, at a Blair House meeting (recognized as sensational at the time) President Truman proposed to share America's A-bomb secrets with Britain and Canada by reviving full atomic partnership with them. He said the British and Canadians wanted this and it would benefit American atomic developments. Vandenberg opposed such sharing. He argued Britain should co-operate without getting the secrets.

3. In the years before his death Vandenberg envisioned Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower as a Republican presidential possibility. On Dec. 12, 1949, he wrote his friend Dr. Isalah Bowman, Johns Hopkins University geographer, responding to a suggestion that Eisenhower would make the party's strongest candidate in 1952. Vandenberg replied, "We may find ourselves 'riding the same horse.'"

4. President Truman wrote Vandenberg on March 27, 1950, that he believed "the Chinese and Far Eastern situation eventually will be rescued from the totalitarian regime at Moscow." The letter dealt mainly with the President's idea of the importance of bipartisan foreign policy.

5. Vandenberg frequently worried about his relations with both Democrats and Republicans. On November 13, 1947, expressing a desire that the U. S. do more for anti-Communist nations in Europe, he wrote, "Evidently I am to have some degree of trouble with Bob Taft. So be it! The world is full of tragedy; but there is no tragedy greater than that we have to have a presidential election next year in the U. S. A. That must be what's biting Robert..."

6. Five days later Vandenberg was worried about Sen. Connally, the Texas Democrat whom he had succeeded as chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee when the Republicans captured Congress in 1946. "Sooner or later this feud will explode," he said—but a really damaging blowup never came.

7. At the Republican convention in June, 1948, Taft sent word "that he would wish me to be his secretary of state," Vandenberg wrote. After Gov. Thomas E. Dewey became the Republican nominee Vandenberg regarded Dewey's foreign policy adviser, John Foster Dulles, as "the next Republican secretary of state."

8. Early in the conflict with Russia Vandenberg foresaw the possibility of a United Nations organization without Russia. In a confidential letter to Col. Alton T. Roberts of Royal Oak, Mich., March 15, 1947, he wrote:

"We may wind up with a 'United Nations' without some of the big powers—just as the old League of Nations wound up without Russia."

9. Vandenberg was highly critical of the administration's Far Eastern policy, which was beyond the pale of bipartisanship. He first opposed recognition of Red China until its actions merited such a step, then after the Korean War he flatly opposed it. He wrote, however, the United States should be concerned not only to salvage "what we can in China, but also in doing what will best keep another billion of Asiatics out of the Soviet orbit."

He felt the United States "virtually sold China down the river" at Yalta and Potsdam and in our subsequent demands for coalition (of the Nationalist government) with the armed Chinese Communists.

10. Like everyone else Vandenberg was alarmed about the dangers of war in the Berlin blockade of 1948-1949. Following a foreign ministers meeting in Paris in June, 1949, at which the Russians were on the defensive, Vandenberg wrote that he agreed with John Foster Dulles that "if we can only keep up this peace momentum in Western Europe, the danger of a shooting war is over at least for the time being."

The great, publicly dramatic turning point in Vandenberg's career came on Jan. 10, 1945, when in a Senate speech he advocated a treaty of the major Allied Powers to keep the Axis Powers, once defeated, disarmed. For a man regarded as the leader of the isolationists this proposal to make a long-term international commitment marked the beginning of a new era.

Texas Construction Is Down This Week

AUSTIN, April 19 (AP)—Construction dipped sharply this week, the Texas Contractor reported today. The total was $5,874,099 compared with last week's $7,911,223. The total of construction contracts let so far this year has reached $291,337,091.

Mercury Gains Top Record In Economy Test

SUN VALEY, Idaho, April 19—A Mercury Monterey, driven by Bill Stroppe of Long Beach, Calif., won the 1952 Mobilgas Economy Run Sweepstakes here Thursday.

The Mercury topped a field of twenty-six stock-model cars with 39,718 ton miles per gallon and 25,4093 actual miles per gallon for the rugged 1,413.4-mile course.

The winning car got a mile and a half less per gallon than that recorded by the 1952 sweepstakes winners—a Lincoln. American Automobile Association officials said the difference probably could be attributed to the fact that this year's entries were not permitted to have optional gears or extra jets in the carburetor.

Stroppe drove a Mercury to win the 1950 test. Best actual gasoline mileage was recorded by a Henry J. Corsair, which made the 4-state run with an average of 30.858 miles per gallon. It was entered in a special lightweight class.

Among cars competing in regular price classes, a Studebaker Champion had the best mileage with a gallon of gasoline consumed every 27.8220 miles.

Each car competed with others in its price class and all vied for the sweepstakes, which was determined by the ton-miles-per-gallon system. Weight of car and passengers was multiplied by the number of miles traveled and the result divided by the number of gallons of gasoline consumed. This gave all cars, heavy or light, an equal chance.

Each car carried, in addition to its driver, a relief driver, an AAA observer and one other passenger. The cars averaged 40.8496 miles per hour during the 3-day run over deserts, mountains and tableland and through 100-degree temperatures and below freezing. Thus the drivers experienced every highway and other condition that might be encountered by the average motorist in a year's driving.

Winners were announced and trophies presented by Clarence Boesemeyer, executive vice president of General Petroleum Corporation, sponsor of the run.

STALIN'S SON IS QUOTED

Polish Intellectuals Murdered In The Katyn Forest Massacre

By SEYMOUR TOPPING

LONDON, April 19 (AP)—A son of Prime Minister Stalin was quoted today as having said the Russians "probably" exterminated Polish intellectuals in the Katyn Forest massacre.

Testimony to this effect, purportedly given by a former Polish Army officer, was disclosed to a news conference by the American congressional committee investigating the wartime massacre. The committee has completed four days of closed hearings in London.

The son quoted was Jacob Stalin (or Djughashvili), elder son of the Soviet boss, Jacob has been missing since 1941 when he was captured by the Germans while serving as a senior lieutenant in the Soviet Army.

The witness, testifying under oath, was George Lewszceki, Lewszceki said he met Jacob in Luebeck prison camp in Northeast Germany.

Lewszceki testified he asked Stalin about the Katyn Forest massacre after receiving letters blaming it on the Russians. According to Lewszceki, Stalin said the reports were "probably correct," that he had heard in Russia of the extermination of intellectuals in one camp near Smolensk after there had been an uprising in camp.

Lewszceki testified the camp Stalin referred to was one of three which held the 15,000 Polish officers and intellectuals who died in the Katyn Forest massacre. Stalin was quoted as describing the intellectuals as "most dangerous." Stalin told him, Lewszceki said, that the executions had been more humane than those carried out by the Germans.

Stalin was rumored to have offered a huge reward for information as to the whereabouts of Jacob, his eldest son by his first marriage, but his whereabouts remain a mystery and there have been reports that he died at Luebeck.

The congressional committee, headed by Rep. Ray J. Madden (D-Ind.), refused to release the full text of Lewszceki's testimony pending publication of its reports. Fragments of the testimony were given to reporters by Rep. Daniel J. Flood (D-Pa.) and by an aide.

Lewszceki, who lives in London, was one of 32 witnesses heard by the committee. Madden said the committee has established that the some 4,000 bodies so far exhumed in Katyn Forest are all from one camp and there are other graves. Madden disclosed earlier that testimony heard in London pinpointed the time of the massacre—in the spring of 1940. In the cross-barrage of charges hurled by the Germans and Russians, who accuse each other of the massacre, the Russians have maintained the murders occurred after the German invasion of Russia in 1941.

The committee will hold hearings in Frankfurt, Germany, from April 21 to 25 before returning to Washington.

WEEK'S REVIEW

Midland Prospect, Andrews Discovery Tests Look Good

SAN ANGELO, April 19—Prospects of Devonian production in the Midland County section of the Pegasus field, and additional pay in an Ellenburger discovery in Andrews County topped the West Texas oil news this week.

The possibility of Devonian production in the Midland County section of the Pegasus field, now productive from the Pennsylvanian and Ellenburger, was gained in Superior No. 4-16 J. D. Windham, C NW NW 16-40-45-T&P, 3/4 mile east-northeast of Ellenburger production and 1/2-mile east-southeast of Pennsylvanian production in the field. The test recovered 5,385 feet of 45.7 gravity oil, 500 feet of black mud with slight sulphur odor and 90 feet of drilling mud on a two-hour test between 12,352-485. Phillips Petroleum Co. No. 1-E.E. University, Ellenburger discovery in southwestern Andrews County, logged 360 feet of Ellenburger pays and was set to drill 25 feet deeper for another test.

The project flowed 52 barrels of 43 gravity oil with a shakeout of 8-10 of one per cent. It flowed to pits for six minutes, then to tanks for one hour. Recovery was 3,100 feet of free oil from 12,352-485 after tester was closed. All drillstem tests taken since entering the Ellenburger at 10,665 feet have shown oil and gas. It also indicated a 1/2-mile southwest extension to Devonian production in the Block 12 field.

Half Dozen Spraberry Tests Due

Half a dozen locations in the Spraberry areas of eastern Midland County have been staked, five in the Driver pool and one in the Tex Harvey field.

The Tex Harvey location will be Sinclair Oil & Gas No. 1-E TXL-Midland, 660 from the south and east lines of section 41-37-35, T&P rotary to 7,500 and estimated elevation 2,600.

The Driver locations include Sinclair Oil & Gas No. 1-F TXL-Midland, 660 from the north and east lines section 11-37-45, T&P, estimated elevation 2,700, rotary to 7,400. James H. Snowden, et al No. 3-15 J. W. Driver, 3,299 from south and 660 from the east lines of section 15-37-45, T&P, will be projected to 8,000.

James H. Snowden et al No. 2-15 J. W. Driver will be 1,980 from the south and east lines section 15-37-45, T&P, rotary 8,000. Humble Oil and Refining No. 4-D TXL will be 1,980 from the south and east lines section 1-37-45, T&P rotary to 7,900. Skelly Oil No. 2 L. H. Shackelford, 660 from the south and 1,977 from the east lines section 18-37-45, T&P will be projected to 7,500.

Borden Prospect Gets Salt Water

Baker & Taylor Drilling No. 1 W. D. Johnson, Jr., wildcat in southwestern Borden County, tapped salt water in the reef on two tests at the end of the week.

A drillstem test was taken from 8,309-8,334 with the tool open two hours. There was a steady blow of air throughout. Recovery was 500 feet of salt water and 135 feet of salty drilling mud. The final open flowing pressure was 325 and the shut-in pressure, after an unreported length of time, was 3,500.

Another test was taken from 8,450-8,470 with the tool open one hour. There was a strong blow of air throughout with recovery of 7,200 feet of salt water and no shows of oil or gas. Operator was circulating while awaiting orders whether to deepen or to plug and abandon.

Location is 660 from the south and west lines of section 41-32-50, T&P, nine miles southwest of Gall and nine miles north of the Good Canyon reef pool.

Martin Prospector Running New Plug

After two unsuccessful attempts to take a drillstem test, Humble No. 1 Blocker, southern Martin wildcat, was to plug back from 12,048 to 12,040. As soon as the plug cures, operator will attempt a test in the Ellenburger top from 12,000-40.

E. M. Craig, Jr., Midland, No. 1 Schenecker, et al, 330 from the south and east lines of section 18-38-1b, T&P, drilled to 4,244 in lime and shale.

Shell No. 1 Elma I. Slaughter, C NE SE 77-B, Bauer & Cockrell, 10 miles north of Lenora, drilled to 11,550 in lime and shale.

Mitchell Wildcat S. F. Hurlbutt, et al No. 1 Ina Wallace, southwestern Mitchell County prospector, had drilled Saturday past 5,058 feet in shale. Location for this exploration is 660 from the north and west lines of section 24-33, H&TC, 15 miles southwest of Colorado City.

Devonian Pay Flows Firmly In Terry Co.

Coroco Drilling Company No. 1 Atlas Life Insurance Company, central-west Terry County flowing discovery from the Devonian, found further possibilities of oil in drilling an additional 70 feet.

The test was taken from 12,700-730 with the tool open two hours and 15 minutes. The flow was at the estimated rate of 50-60 barrels per hour.

The 30-foot section to 12,760 had good shows and like that above showed no signs of formation was.

This wildcat had previously shown for production in three zones in the Permian. They are at 8,292-8,351 feet; at 9,184-9,245 feet and at 10,057-10,117 feet.

Top of the Devonian has been called at 12,700 feet. That is on a datum of minus 9,243 feet.

This well has shown possibilities in three other zones.

Winkler Gets Wildcat Test

A wildcat venture for southeastern Winkler County has been announced by Shell Oil Company. It will be the No. 51 Sealy-Smith Foundation, 1,980 from the south and 660 from the west lines of section 46-A, G&MMB&A survey.

This 5,200-foot test will go to the Clear Fork and is four miles northeast of Monahans and is one mile north of the nearest Clear Fork production in the Monahans field. Most of this field is in Ward County but some goes over into Winkler. Drilling will start immediately.

Glasscock Pair Staked

Sinclair Oil & Gas Company No. 1-B TXL-Glasscock, 660 from south and west lines section 25-37-45, T&P, will be a Drifter field location. It is projected to 7,300 and has an estimated elevation of 2,740. Location is 18 miles southwest of Garden City.

Sohio Petroleum No. 1-A W. A. Bigby, 660 from the north and east lines of section 16-36-55, T&P, will be a Drifter pool location projected to 7,800. It is 20 miles southwest of Garden City and is three-fourths of a mile southwest of production in the Bigby area.

Drilling On A New Water Well For City Set Monday

Operations will start Monday on drilling of a new water well on the Sally Edmondson tract in northern Glasscock County.

This together with one other new well and an existing one which has been cased off for several years, will be used to boost water supplies to Big Spring this summer.

The cased well, dug originally for testing purposes, has been cleaned. H. W. Whitely, city manager, said that a pump is expected the first of the week and will be installed immediately. This well is adjacent to the supply line to the O'Barr Field in northern Glasscock and can be tied in quickly.

Whitely estimated that the two additional wells could be completed within a week each barring any trouble. Installing gathering lines may take longer.

Lea County, N.M. Continues To Be Most Active

Lea County, N. M., for the fifth consecutive time, topped all other counties in the Permian Basin on the latest Reed Rollar BH Company semi-monthly survey of active rotary operations.

With 125 rigs going on April 10, Lea showed a drop of two during the 15-day period ended on that date and showed a 26 count bulge over second place Midland County where 99 rigs were going.

Midland replaced Upton as the leader in Texas. Upton had 98 rotary rigs on April 10, according to the Reed survey.

The entire Permian Basin, which includes West Texas and Southeast New Mexico, had 750 units of rotary rigs on April 10, an increase of two over the March 25 figure and 138 more than was recorded one year ago.

The most active area continues to be the Spraberry Trend's Four Corner area which includes, Midland, Upton, Reagan and Glasscock Counties. That region accounted for 271, or 36 per cent, of all the active rotary drilling in the Permian Basin.

Counties covered by the survey with April 10 figures and the March 25 figures (later in parenthesis) are:

- Andrews 33 (32), Borden 13 (13), Cochran 20 (18), Coke 17 (22), Crane 12 (9), Crockett 10 (10), Dawson 7 (6), Ector 40 (40), Gaines 29 (31), Glasscock 33 (30), Howard 10 (9), Kent 13 (12), Schriener 13 (13), Scurry 36 (34), Terry 11 (no count), Tom Green 8 (7), Upton 98 (106), Ward 9 (11), Young 13 (no count) and Lea 125 (127).

Wright To Retire As General Atlas Head

After two score years of work, most of it in the natural gas and carbon black field, Carl J. Wright, vice-president and general manager of General Atlas Carbon Company is to retire.

Wright was here last week on his last official visit of the company's plant just east of Big Spring. He took occasion to say so long to many friends he has acquired in less than two years of connection with this community. Retirement date has been set for May 1.

He's going right back to Fort Collins, Colo., where he grew up. He and Mrs. Wright, who was his high school sweetheart, went back there recently and acquired a comfortable rock home out at the edge of the town. It has some acreage with it and a large outbuilding which Wright plans to turn into a workshop.

Fort Collins is in proximity to the Rockies so that Wright can slip off occasionally and enjoy his fishing.

A native of Harfield, Minn., Wright went to Rensselaer Polytechnic in Troy, N.Y., after his graduation from high school at Fort Collins. In 1913 he completed his electrical engineering work with honors and joined the Cities Service staff as junior engineer. Soon he was on the personal engineering staff of Henry L. Doherty, Cities Service president. This gave him an opportunity to do research and to experiment.

He was married to Florence Hawley in 1915. Wright was made chief technologist of Combustion Utilities Corp., a Doherty subsidiary in 1922. Two years later he began serious and intensive study in the furnace type carbon black and who is district superintendent.

"One of my regrets at retiring is not being able to renew my friendships here as often as I'd like," he said. "Big Spring has made us truly happy that we selected this city as a site for our Dfcon plant."

His position will not be filled. Much of his administrative duties will be taken over by Bill Dixon, for whom the plant here is named and who is district superintendent.

World Crude Output Rises To New Level In February

TULSA, Okla.—Opening of the world's largest pipe line in the Middle East and continued substantial increases in production in the United States lifted total world output of crude oil to a record high level in February.

An average of approximately 12,077,000 barrels daily was drawn from the world's oil fields during the month, the Oil and Gas Journal reported today. This rate of production was 1.5 per cent greater than January and nearly 6 per cent above February 1951.

The month's most significant development, the Journal said, was the step up in production from Kirkuk field in Iraq in order to fill the newly completed 556-mile, 30 and 32-in. pipe line to the Eastern Mediterranean at Banias, Syria. This line is a companion project to the famous Tapsline and by the end of the year is expected to be delivering about 300,000 barrels daily.

The new line was built by Iraq Petroleum Co., Ltd., which at Kirkuk operates one of the world's largest oil reservoirs. The additional production required for the line in February boosted total Iraq production about 21 per cent to a new high of nearly 226,000 barrels daily.

United States oil production in February rose to 6,359,000 barrels daily, its highest rate since the country's all-time record of 6,374,000 barrels daily last October. Of the total world production increase from January to February of 176,000 barrels daily, the United States accounted for approximately four-fifths.

Venezuela's oil output, stimulated by heavy demand for its low-gravity crudes, rose to another record in February with a daily average of 1,828,400 barrels daily. Canadian production dropped off nearly 24,000 bbl. daily, but this was the normal result of seasonal closing of shipping on the Great Lakes.

Coating Concern Names Zone Head

The appointment of W. D. Adams as West Texas zone manager for Tube-Kote, Inc., Houston, has been announced by L. E. Heisen, president of the company. Adams is a graduate petroleum engineer of Texas A. & M. College with prior oilfield experience. Tube-Kote is an applicator and formulator of baked-on plastic coatings for tubular goods for the oil industry.

Oil Well Completions Decrease In A Week

AUSTIN, April 19—Texas oil well completions dropped this week from last week's 251 to 213.

Total wells completed so far this year are 3,611 compared with 3,094 last year, the railroad commission's weekly drilling report showed.

There were fewer dry holes this week than last; 108 compared with 127.

There were nine wildcats, down from last week's 14.

Tollett To Attend Petroleum Council And Directors Meet

R. L. Tollett, president, and A. V. Karcher, secretary, are in New York for the regular meeting of the Cosden Petroleum Corp. directors Monday morning.

Tollett will attend a dinner in Washington, D.C. Monday evening honoring Walter S. Hallanan, president of Plymouth Oil Company. Hallanan also is president of the National Petroleum Council which is holding its meeting in Washington on Tuesday. Tollett expects to be back in the office here Thursday morning.

Sterling Explorers Are Drilling Ahead

Humble No. 1 W. L. Foster, north western-Sterling wildcat 2 1/2 miles east of the Glasscock County line, drilled to 4,519 feet in lime Saturday. It is projected to 9,500.

Humble No. 1 Dayvault, C N E 13-15, H&TC, a mile and three-quarter outpost to the Marvin Wichita-Albany pool, drilled past 2,058 in permian dolomite.

Lynn Venture Spuds

Shell No. 1 Edwards, central northern Lynn county exploration, spudded and was at 205 feet in lime Saturday. Operator is deepening.

MEET THE 'SENIORS' Of The COSDEN FAMILY

This is the 52nd in a series of special Cosden presentations, recognizing the long and valued service of those employees who have been associated with Cosden for 15 years and longer. Cosden is proud of the scores of its workers who have contributed to its success through so many years.

Dixon C. Biddison

A Big Spring resident for most of the time since 1915, Dixon C. Biddison rates among Cosden's group of veterans by virtue of his employment on April 24, 1935.

He joined the company on that date in the Maintenance Department. In May 1941, he was made gauger, was later promoted to stillman, and in 1950 became an operator number one, the position he now holds.

Biddison was born in Fort Worth and attended grade school there. He then moved to Big Spring, where he received his high school training.

During World War I, he served in the Navy and also the Army. After discharge from the Army, he worked for the Fred Harvey Newsstands in various parts of Texas and Oklahoma before returning to Big Spring in 1928.

On January 29, 1928, he was married to Miss Gussie Parrish of Fort Worth. They have one child, Charles D., 23, who is serving in the U. S. Army with the 529 Artillery Observation Group. He is now stationed in Oklahoma and is scheduled for foreign duty. The Biddison's own their home on East Highway 80.

Mr. Biddison's hobby is maintaining a trailer park on some property he owns east of Big Spring.

Disarming Followers Is Bolivian Problem

By ROMAN JIMENEZ
 LA PAZ, Bolivia, April 19 (AP)—President Victor Paz Estenssoro today faced the ticklish task of disarming some 10,000 fiery followers who triggered the revolt which boosted him to power last week.

These followers from the ranks of Paz Estenssoro's National Revolutionary party (MNR) were given rifles and machine guns when the MNR joined police and Army units in the three-day uprising that deposed the military government of Gen. Hugo Ballivian. It is estimated 600 persons were killed in La Paz and 105 in the city of Oruro.

The MNR, a strongly nationalist movement, is led by a group of intellectuals for the most part cool-headed, logical men. But the bulk of their following consists of fanatics with an abiding hatred for the owners of Bolivia's great tin mines.

Observers said the new regime's leaders are openly worried about keeping rein on trigger-happy elements.

La Razon, the chief opposition newspaper, was forced to shut down Thursday night in the face of armed threats, despite government pledges of press freedom.

Propaganda Minister Hugo Roberts said the paper will have to stay closed a few days until the hot-heads in the populace cool off. He told the paper's protesting editor, Guillermo Cespedes, the government cannot fight "people in arms"—especially with memories of last week's carnage still "too fresh."

La Razon, largest paper in Bolivia, is owned by Victor Carlos Aramayo, one of the country's big three tin mine owners.

La Razon has frequently criticized the MNR. MNR followers,

Social Security Benefits Up For Those Retiring Now

Under a quirk in the social security laws, persons retiring now may come in for higher benefits than those who checked in a few years ago.

Generally speaking, claims now filed run higher, said Jack Calvert, manager of the Odessa social security office. The range is from $20 to $80 per month with the average probably around $50 to $60.

Calvert explained that the amendments to the Social Security Act passed in 1950 provided for a new method of figuring benefits when the worker has had at least a year and a half of work after 1950. The new benefit formula bases the social security benefit on the average monthly wage beginning Jan. 1, 1951, instead of averaging the wage all the way back to Jan. 1, 1937. In most cases the wages during 1951 and 1952 have averaged more per month than during the past 15 years, and a higher social security benefit results.

Calvert pointed out that this is not an automatic increase for people already receiving benefits. Their rate will stay the same unless they are under 75 and should return to work for about a year and a half to requalify under the new formula.

During 1951 there may be a dif-

Aggie Muster Set At Colorado City

COLORADO CITY, April 19 (SP)—H. E. Maniss, president of the Colorado City A&M Club, has announced an Aggie muster to be held at the new elementary school, April 21 at 8 p.m.

Following a dinner, the Mitchell County A&M Club will pay respects to their departed comrades, and will pay tribute to the Texans who won the State's freedom at San Jacinto, 116 years ago.

The local club is one of 375 similar clubs who will hold this, the 49th annual Aggie muster.

More Counties In Rain Project

Announcements that seven more West Texas counties are organizing to join the rainmaking project, and that Dr. Irving P. Krick, founder of the Water Resources Development Corporation of Denver may make a speech in Big Spring on May 13th, were made yesterday by the office of the Weather Improvement District at Lamesa.

The announcement listed Garza, Scurry, Kent, Fisher, Nolan and Stonewall, as the latest counties where meetings have been held and where efforts are now underway to raise a set quota to participate in the cloud seeding activities of the West Texas Weather Improvement District of which Howard County is a part. As originally proposed the district was formed around the nuclei of seven counties and with the addition of those now organizing it will be composed of 17 counties with prospects that even more will join as soon as county-wide meetings can be called.

Dr. Krick, meteorologist, who pioneered in increasing precipitation through the process of seeding moisture-pregnant clouds with silver iodide particles from ground generators, will speak in San Angelo on May 19th, and at Waco on the 12th. He is scheduled for an address in this area on the 13th, and Big Spring has been tentatively selected as the place for this appearance.

Each of the district's counties is

Creighton Sells Bull To Arkansas Rancher

Charlie Creighton of the Creighton Tire Company and purebred Hereford breeder, has delivered a registered bull to Floyd Phillips of Booneville, Arkansas, for service with a herd of registered cows in that state.

This bull is Major Mischief 130, sired by Creighton's Major Mischief 20th, and is a half brother to the three bulls Creighton sold at the eighth annual Howard County-South Plains Hereford Association Sale here on February 11th, for an average of approximately $925.

The sale of the bull to the Arkansas breeder was at private treaty.

The Creighton bulls are of Advance Mischief breeding through Advent Mischief and Major Mischief.

Held For Assault

Willie B. Hill was held by county authorities Saturday on a charge of aggravated assault. The charge, lodged after Hill was transferred from city police, followed an argument with Caledonia Lockhart, officers said.

Leads Meeting

When services of a revival meeting begin today at the First Baptist Church in Coahoma, the Rev. A. L. Teaff will be the leader. He is pastor of the First Baptist Church in McCamey, Otis Allen of Norton is song leader. Services continue through the week at 10 a.m. and 8 p.m. The evening services are preceded by half an hour's prayer meetings.

THE GRUB LINE With Franklin Reynolds

The first written record of the Vitamin A deficiency which threatens West Texas livestock because of the drought is found in the Bible. "And the wild asses did stand in the high places, they snuffed up the wind like dragons; their eyes did fail, because there was no grass." (Jeremiah 14:6)

That passage accurately describes the symptoms and the cause. The lack of Vitamin A which the animals get from green grass is variously known as night blindness, cottonseed meal poisoning, fat sickness and by other names.

County Agent Durward Lewter is advising stockmen to be on the alert for it. He is also warning them against mineral deficiency and is suggesting that all stock be given plenty of a mixture of two parts carboxer and one part bone meal and salt free choice. Phosphorus is another item the animals normally get through good grass.

With the arrival of warmer weather dairymen know the bacteria count in milk is going higher unless precautions are taken to prevent it.

R. E. Burleson, dairy husbandman for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service warns that higher counts may result from flaws in the milking procedure, from milking unclean and unhealthy cows, from unclean attendants and from using improperly cleaned utensils and milk cans. Burleson says the dairymen should be sure that their cooling facilities are adequate for the weather ahead.

He also advises dairymen to start their fly control programs at this time, and reminds them that plans for an approved fly control program may be obtained from the county agricultural agent.

white stockings is an omen of bad luck.

The famous California thoroughbred, Your Host, recalls this old belief. Your Host is a sorrel with four stockings and a blaze, and he has proved more than one man wrong.

About a year ago running in the San Pasqual Handicap he fell and broke a foreleg in four places high in the shoulder. His owner had him insured with Lloyd's for $250,000.

Veterinarians who examined the horse declared the situation was hopeless and recommended that he be destroyed. Lloyd's paid the loss and took the stallion over, for they had found one veterinarian who believed Your Host's break could be repaired.

It had been repaired and quite successfully. Your Host is almost a normal horse again. A few days ago an Eastern syndicate paid the insurance company $150,000 for him and he has been taken to New Jersey where he will be placed in the stud.

When he was a yearling he ran a fence picket to his neck, injuring the spine which has always caused him to run with a motion that gives him the appearance of racing sideways.

But the old race horse men will always insist a horse with four stockings is an omen of bad luck.

One old cowboy who never believed this was Tom Mix. He always preferred a horse with four stockings and a blaze.

When Your Host was taken to Louisville to run in the 1950 Kentucky Derby his owner was afraid the water there might upset him, and so a hundred 40-gallon barrels of California water were taken along for him to drink.

Angelo Colts Boast Fine Pitching Staff

Mark Christian Is In Command

By BOB MILBURN
Standard-Times Staff

SAN ANGELO — Baseball experts say you can't stay put on a winner and repeat but the Angelo Colts, season-long champions of the Longhorn League by 10½ games in 1951, will try to put the tie to the old axiom with basically the same team in 1952.

A new manager, Mark Christian, and a new catcher along with the return of Jake McClain from Harlingen of the Gulf Coast League will be the major changes in the Colts lineup at the season's start against Big Spring Monday night. Christian's lineup through most of the exhibition games has been the one which will probably open the season with. Working at first base himself, the manager appears to be right at home. As good as Wayne Wallace was in 1951.

A change on the infield finds John Tayoan, 277 hitter and all-star selection at third base in 1951, shifting to second base, his first love. Tayoan has always liked to work around the keystone and has shown adeptness at the double play during the training grind.

Shortstop goes again to Tony Guerrero, light hitter but effective glove man. Guerrero has been working well with Tayoan at the twin killing spot although he won't be expected to add materially to his .230 batting average, the peppery little fielder will cut down many base hits intended for left field. Guerrero was head and shoulders above all other shortfielders defensively last season, leading the position with .944.

Ken Kowalk, currently suffering with a sore shoulder, has returned to third base, a position he patrolled through the first half of 1951 before being benched. The lanky limited service competitor fielded a respectable .946 at the hot corner in 37 games but it is his long-ball power that will be the biggest asset to the Colts.

Left field goes to Jesse Serrano, at least until Billy Joe Kieser recovers from a broken ankle suffered early in the spring. Serrano batted .310 in 1951, is fast and while not possessing a great arm, can throw well enough from the left field post.

The return of Steve Follett from Birmingham of the Southern Association about a month ago gave Colts hopes a tremendous boost. Follett slugged out a .359 average and drove in 116 runs in the 1951 season. He also possessed an arm that held the respect of every base runner in the league.

Jake McClain, a member of the Colts in 1948-49 but with Harlingen the past two seasons, falls heir to the right field job. The big boy, happy to be back in the Concho city, has been looking great this spring. He has been meeting the ball with regularity, has hit for distance and has been dynamite in the clutch. While not a fancy Dan in the field, McClain won't do the club any harm in the right field pasture.

Catching, long a sore spot on the local front, may still be unsettled at the season's start. A rookie and two limited service men are battling for the post. Both Armando Flores and W. E. Arbuckle have been looking good with Demby in the cage because of his tremendous power.

Flores, with two years experience in the Mexican League, has just started to hit and may be given first chance at the job. Pitching is where Mr. Christian breaks into smiles. He has five hurlers back from last season plus Cotton Russell, long a stand-out with Vernon. Add several likely looking rookie prospects and chances are the Colts won't have to bow to anyone from the mound standpoint.

In Lew Lozano, he has a 20-game winner returning and a pitcher who already this year has hurled a no-hit, no-run contest against Abilene. Lozano, still only a limited service player, should be the steady man on the staff, the hurler who can serve as a "stopper."

Indio Beltran, with the second best earned-run average in the league in 1951, is back to hunt Longhorn swingers. His 19-7 mark of last year doesn't begin to tell of his value to the squad. Beltran, a rubber-armed right-hander, can take a regular turn and still relieve if needed.

Russell, a star hurler at Vernon under Joe Berry, suddenly lost his effectiveness in 1951 and couldn't win, either for Vernon or the Colts. Seriously thinking of changing to fulltime outfielding, Russell this spring seemed to rediscover his mound touch and now is counted on as a Colts starter. Hindered by a sprained ankle, his conditioning has been slowed but he is now about 10 days to move.

Bob Jarvis, 18 and 6 last year, pitched winter ball on the West Coast and reported late to the Colts. But the winter pitching kept the righthander in good shape and he should be ready within a week to take his regular turn.

Llanseras-Funkler, the old Robert Lee rabbit taster, is back with his low ball and should provide the Colts with a top-notch relief artist. Of the newcomers, Merle Blackman and Lawrence Henke have shown to the best advantage. Each Longhorn team will have to retain at least three rookies. One of the Colts rookies will surely be a catcher with the other two coming from the pitching staff or the pitching and outfield.

Kermit Sakewitz, vying for an outfield position, is another rookie who may stick. The youngster has impressed while filling in place of the regular outfielders. He may not be quite ready for C ball but may be retained, at least until the return of Kieser, out with a broken ankle.

Another semi-newcomer, Jimmy Price, seems a sure shot to be retained as a lefthanded starter on the pitching staff. Price, with the Colts in 1950, returns. He has a world of stuff and could be a big winner. The fact that he tosses them in from the portside is also in his favor.

Probably the greatest Col need, as it was last season, is lefthanded hitting power. Again the starting lineup is without a lefty.

The Colts, attendance leaders the past two seasons, hope to duplicate the mark in 1952. They would like very much to surpass the 118,000 they drew last year, but with the drought and other conditions, this is doubtful.

Outfield Candidate

A ranking candidate for an outfield berth in the Big Spring Bronco Lineup is Buddy Grimes (above), a native of Stephenville. Grimes, who can also catch and play the infield, has hit well in the early exhibition games.

AT LAWRENCE, KAN.

Four Records Fall; Hooper Wins Twice

LAWRENCE, Kas., April 19 (UP)—Four records were broken and another tied as Olympics-conscious Chinclads matched spikes in the 27th annual Kansas Relays today. New records in the baton events went to host Kansas in the four-mile relay and Oklahoma in the one mile relay. Texas University tied the 880-yard relay mark.

Lee Yoder of Arkansas cracked the 400 meter hurdles mark in 52.5 seconds after Kansas' Bob Deviney had altered the old mark at 52.6 in the preliminaries.

Jim Gerhart, former Rice star now attending graduate school at the University of Texas, posted a new standard for the hop, step and jump at 47 feet 2 inches.

Kansas' great four-mile team failed by 2.2 seconds of equalling the American record of 17 minutes, 16.1 seconds set by Indiana in 1937, but managed to break its own Relays mark in 17:18.3.

Wes Santee anchored the Kansas home a hundred yards ahead of second-place Missouri with a 4:11.6 mile.

Oklahoma's Harry Lee, Quannah Cox, Charles Coleman, and J. W. Mashburn ran the mile relay to 3:14.8 to better the old record of 3:15 by Rice in 1950.

Texas, with Dean Smith, Carl Mayes, Jim Brownhill and Charles Thomas carrying the stick was clocked at a record-equalling 1:25.2 in the university 880-yard.

Darrow Hooper, Texas A&M's great weights star, defended both his shotput and discus titles. Hooper put the shot 53 feet 9 inches and took the discus throw in 152 feet 8½ inches.

Thane Baker of Kansas State repeated in the 100-yard dash, upsetting Dean Smith of Texas in the last time of 9.5 seconds.

Public Names Yanks, Bums As Champions

By GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., Apr. 18—Baseball fans throughout the country, joining in on the annual guessing about the pennant winners, have the 1952 season doped out this way:

They predict that the New York Yankees will walk off with the honors in the American League this year.

In the National League they give a slight edge to the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Last year they also picked the Yankees (right) and the Dodgers (wrong). Batting average for accuracy: .500.

During the ten days before the opening game this year, interviewers for the Institute questioned a representative cross-section from coast to coast and found roughly four persons out of every ten saying they follow professional baseball.

These fans were asked which teams they think will win the league championships.

The voters do you think will win the American League championship this year?

Casey Stengel's Yankees, polled the largest number of votes by a wide margin—42 per cent.

Next came the Cleveland Indians with 13 per cent.

The rest of the vote was scattered throughout the other six clubs. A total of 28 per cent weren't willing to venture a guess.

AMERICAN LEAGUE
"And which team do you think will win the National League championship this year?"

The Dodgers got the largest number of votes—53 per cent.

The New York Giants, NL pennant winners last year were chosen by 21 per cent of the fans this year, followed by the St. Louis Cardinals with 6 per cent.

Accuracy Has Been Spotty
Ball fans have been questioned at the opening of each season for several years past. The record for accuracy has been spotty, to say the least.

In 1948 the fans named the Yankees and the Cardinals as the most probable winners, whereas the actual victors turned out to be the Indians and the Braves. Batting average: .000.

But the experts were no better that year. Sportswriters polled by the Associated Press also picked the Yankees and the Cardinals.

Phillies Beaten By Braves, 9-7

PHILADELPHIA, April 19 (UP)—A three-run ninth-inning rally, punctuated by three singles and propelled by a sacrifice, enabled the Boston Braves to defeat the Philadelphia Phillies, 9-7, today in a Shibe Park slugfest.

Reliever Andy Hansen was the victim of the Brave attack.

Sam Jethroe and Ed Matthews helped the Boston cause with homers, while Granny Hamner hit a four-bagger for the Phils.

LITTLE SPORT

Little, Reigel In Tournament At Colonial

FORT WORTH, April 19 (UP)—Lawson Little and Skeel Reigel entered the $15,000 Colonial National Invitation Golf Tournament today, bringing the field to 34.

Little and Reigel, who entered professional golf after winning the National Amateur championship, will join a Colonial field that already includes two former National Amateur kings — Billy Maxwell, the winner last year, and Charles Coe, the titlist in 1949.

Maxwell, North Texas State College, and Coe, Oklahoma City, are the only amateurs thus far in the Colonial Tournament, scheduled for May 21-25.

Little has played in all six previous Colonial tournaments. Reigel appeared here for the first time last year.

The Colonial field now is made up of the following:

Prahn To Make Austin Trip

ODESSA — Dick Prahn of Big Spring won a trip to the State Meet in Austin by finishing in a tie for second place in the shot put event in the Region 1-AA Track and Field Meet here Saturday.

The meet, incidentally, was moved here from Lubbock due to bad weather but it rained here, too.

Walter Cooley, Odessa, was winner of the shot-put event.
Summary, in part:
100-yard high hurdles—Weldon Haller, Odessa; Robert Keatinge, Midland; Tommy Harris, Odessa; Allen Ward, Pampa.

AT LAMESA

Wright Nudges Jerry Scott

LAMESA—Bobby Wright of Big Spring moved into the semi-finals of the Lamesa Invitational Golf Tournament by defeating Jerry Scott, Big Spring, 5-4 on a soggy course here Saturday afternoon.

Earlier, Wright sidled Chick Trout of Lubbock while Scott was disposing of C. D. Graham of Brownfield.

Wright meets Dave Lawson, Lubbock, in this morning's semi-finals for the right to go into Sunday afternoon's 18-hole finals.

In the upper-bracket play, Buster Tuttle, the medalist, advanced into the semi-finals by beating Roy Pedan, Kermit, 1 up. The other quarter-final match remains to be completed. Raymond Marshall of Lubbock and Red Brown of Floydada were all tied at the end of 18 holes Saturday and will play a 'sudden death' match this morning.

Sunset Winner In 3-AA Meet

DALLAS, April 19 (UP)—Sunset captured the Class AA Region 3 team track championship here today.

And the five other Dallas city teams joined the Bisons to make a shambles of the meet in AA competition.

The Bisons rolled up 35½ points compared to 25 for runner-up North Dallas. Following in order were Woodrow Wilson, 23; Forest, 22; Crozier Tech, 10; Adamson, 6½; Temple, 6; Waco, 5½; and Highland Park, 5½. Sherman and Cleburne each totaled 5 points, Corsicana and Denison 2 each and Greenville 1.

Ennis made 25 points to capture the Class A crown with Diamond Hill second with 17. Garland tallied 15 and Archer City 13. Arlington and Decatur each scored 11.

Valley Mills, last year's runner-up, won the Class B title with a 28-point total. Following were Grandview, 19; Northwest (Justin), 16; and Joshua, 11.

Tech Grid Squads Play To Deadlock
ODESSA—The Reds and the Whites played to a 21-21 tie in a Texas Tech intra-squad football game here Friday night.

The Friday Reds had to come from behind with two last quarter touchdowns to gain the deadlock. The Whites led at half time, 14-7.

School's Suit Goes To Trial In W'Falls

WICHITA FALLS, April 19 (UP)—The suit brought by Midwestern University against the Texas Intercollegiate League and the Wichita Falls School District goes to trial Monday in 78th District Court.

The suit involves the use of Coyote Stadium by Midwestern and subsequently as a site for the annual Oil Bowl Charity Football Games.

The league ruled that no property of a school district may be used for pre or post season contests without official sanction of the league.

The injunction and damage suit asks a permanent restraining order against the league from retaliation or suspension of the district from the league if the district keeps its 10-year contract with Midwestern allowing games at Coyote Stadium.

Otherwise, Midwestern wants the league and district made liable for $7,000 damages yearly for the remaining six years of its contract.

Guy Rogers, Midwestern attorney, said the 1952 Oil Bowl game between Oklahoma and Texas all-star high school players had been set for Aug. 29.

Aggies Defeat Frogs, 7 To 6

COLLEGE STATION, April 19 (UP)—Substitute Rightfielder Carl Menger blasted a 350-foot home run in the bottom of the 11th inning today to give Texas A&M a 7-6 victory over Texas Christian University and a sweep of the two game Southwest-Confederate series.

Menger had replaced Dave Britt in the ninth inning as a pinch-runner. He was the first man to face Pitcher Harvey Swaim in the 11th.

After trailing 6-2 through seven innings, the Aggies tied up the game on a run in the eighth and three in the ninth. The encounter lasted three hours and 35 minutes. It was halted for 35 minutes in the early stages by a drizzle that hampered play throughout.

Disgruntled Demos Get GOP Invitation

By DAVE CHEAVENS
Former Democrats who are sick and tired of the current national government were given a jolly invitation Saturday to take part in Republican precinct conventions May 3.

Henry Zweifel of Fort Worth, chairman of the GOP executive committee, reminded them that the Republicans have adopted their own version of a party loyalty statement which simply says: "I am a Republican and desire to participate in Republican party activities in the year 1952."

Zweifel said unhappy Democrats who are willing to go that far this year in protesting "high taxes, wanton waste and corruption in high officialdom" are not only included, but they are welcome this year.

Zweifel's bid came after Texas Democrats once more went through the process of falling out with each other, this time on the question of party loyalty. The state executive committee said that precinct conventions may or may not require the pledge, after they have organized and by majority vote.

This point was sharply challenged by the "Loyal Democrats" who said they would carry their battle for insistence on an iron-clad pledge right on through the precinct, county, state and national conventions. The prospect is they will cut loose and hold their own conventions if the loyalty pledge is not taken.

The executive committee's action came after Gov. Allan Shivers ripped into the "Loyalists" with a sharply-edged speech calling them the "self-appointed and self-seeking serfs of a corrupt national political machine." He wants Texas and the South to build a new Democratic party, he wants Texas to have a stronger voice in it, and he wants a return to what he called fundamental party principles.

The U. S. Senatorial race was still a one-man affair with Atty. Gen. Price Daniel still the only announced candidate.

Reps. Lloyd M. Bentsen of McAllen and Wingate Lucas of Grapevine took themselves off the bronze list after quick visits home. Daniel opponents so far were stranded high and dry following Sen. Tom Connally's announcement he would not run again. Gov. Shivers repeated he had no intention of seeking the post.

Zweifel said he hoped restless Democrats would sign the GOP declaration of party affiliation, "burn their New Deal-Fair Deal bridges behind them and join with us in making Texas a two-party state by electing a Republican president, state and county officers from constable to governor."

"Now it has long been apparent that many voters had become sick and tired of the New Deal and wanted to join up with the Republican party, especially for 1952," Zweifel's statement said.

"Also it appeared to many to be an opportunity to help make Texas a two-party state."

Two From City Will Attend WT Pharmacy Meet

Shine Phillips and Joe B. Hedeston will attend the West Texas Pharmaceutical Association's annual convention in Abilene Thursday and Friday.

Registration at the convention will begin at 9 a.m. Thursday at the Windsor Hotel. The opening ceremony begins at 2 p.m. Thursday. Immediately following, two colored sound movies will be shown one pertaining to displaying, merchandising and arranging of a drug store and the other concerning with the process of manufacturing prescription bottles.

At 4 p.m., a Dr. I. Q. giveaway program will be held, providing gifts for everyone. A banquet is planned for 7 p.m. Thursday, followed by a dance and a breakfast at 1 a.m.

H. C. Patterson, president of the Texas Pharmaceutical Association, will speak at 9:30 a.m. Friday, along with Max Roesch, secretary of that organization.

The visiting ladies will be feted with a luncheon at the Wooten Hotel at 11:30 a.m. Friday. Walter H. Moses, Pure Food and Drug Administrator, and Inspector for the State Board Pharmacy Al Raethel will appear as afternoon speakers.

The President's Banquet is planned for 7 p.m. Friday, followed by a dance and another breakfast.

Estonia Student Wins Fellowship At East School

ABILENE.—Juri Nou, Estonian student who has been studying at McMurry College for the past two years, has been awarded a junior assistantship in mathematics at Johns Hopkins Graduate School in Baltimore, Maryland.

The assistantship will allow Nou $650 on tuition and $875 cash yearly until he completes his study towards a Ph.D. He will be teaching four hours a week.

He plans to enroll in October to begin his doctorate in mathematics, as he graduates from McMurry in May with a double major of math and secondary education and a double minor of physics and German.

Juri came to McMurry in Sept. 1950 and has attended both summer and winter since his arrival in order to complete his work as soon as possible. While a student he has been a member of Future Teachers of America, Science Club, Jaycees, Kiva, men's social club, and Kappa Delta Pi, national education society, for which he served as president this year.

During his stay on the campus, he estimates that he has made some 120 speeches at civic and church events throughout West Texas concerning his home-land and foreign relations of the United States.

Nou escaped from Estonia when the Russians made their second invasion and was taken to Germany by the Nazis and placed in a labor camp. Following the end of World War II, he was transferred to a displaced persons camp and from there came to the United States and lived in the eastern states for a year before coming to McMurry.

Habeas Corpus Writ Is Asked In Court

In an ex parte proceeding a writ of habeas corpus for Shan Gabe Brothers has been asked in 118th District Court.

The petition asked that Mr. and Mrs. L. Z. Shafer produce the child, it was brought by the child's mother, who on March 19, 1952 had signed papers of consent which became part of proceedings for adoption instituted by the Shafers.

Excitement To Be Missing If Gruenther Heads Pact

By PRESTON GROVER
SUPREME HEADQUARTERS Allied Powers in Europe, April 19 (AP)—Departure of Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower to make himself available for the presidency will break up a two-man American machine which has worked like the fly wheel and mainspring of a fine watch.

Eisenhower and his chief of staff, four-star Gen. Alfred M. Gruenther, have been in such close harmony that their subordinates doubt if they have had a real difference since they came to Paris 15 months ago to organize the North Atlantic Treaty Organization defense force.

Both have served long years as staff officers to higher-ranking generals. Both were elevated to high rank over the heads of scores of seniors.

Eisenhower is nine years older than the 52-year-old Gruenther and since coming to SHAPE he has not put in nearly as long hours as his chief of staff.

Eisenhower often dictates to a battery of three secretaries. He does not keep all three going at once, as Napoleon is supposed to have done. But he dictates fast and furiously to one secretary for 10 to 30 minutes, releases her and calls in the second. By the time the third has done her stint the first is ready with a first draft of the dictation.

Often he walks around his green-carpeted office, swinging a golf club as he dictates. If he is in good humor he makes it known by broad smiles and good-natured quips. When he feels on the sour side he makes that known too.

Gruenther also dictates fast and frequently, and is famous around SHAPE for his "Gruenthergrams." These are little notes written on thin slips which are sent scudding around headquarters. They get quick action on information on such unrelated subjects as what to do about kids running up and down the enlisted men's quarters and how many jet planes runways the Russians have built in Hungary.

Gruenther has been known to issue as many as 50 of these terse directives in a day. He occasionally hums a tune to himself as he works.

More even tempered than Eisenhower, he also is less effervescent. Both love to play bridge. Often they team up against members of their staff during long hops between Atlantic Pact capitals. On a recent flight to Ankara, Turkey, they spotted their opponents two points to one—and still work.

Gruenther never was an athlete at West Point. Eisenhower broke a knee at football. Now he plays golf. Gruenther used to play a determined but unspectacular brand of tennis. But he has given it up.

For recreation at home, Eisenhower paints. Sometimes when he has a problem troubling him, he starts dabbling aimlessly on the canvas and swearing at what has happened. Presently he is working out a design and bursts out laughing. If friends drop in he often goes right on, painting and chatting. Mostly he paints landscapes. One of these was reproduced as a Christmas card last year.

Gruenther's hobby is a big collection of records. His tastes are wide, but he stops short of the extremes of the heavy classical stuff and bebop. Often when he brings home work, he puts on a stack of records and turns them loose while he gets to his paper chores. Eisenhower reads much history and is a very fast reader. Gruenther also reads fast, but concentrates more on current economic and political magazines and American and British daily newspapers.

Both men have sons in the Army. One of Gruenther's sons was badly shot up in Korea.

At SHAPE, Gruenther and Eisenhower begin their day with a half hour of discussion over yesterday's activities and the plans for the how day. Sometimes British Field Marshal Lord Montgomery, Eisenhower's deputy, joins in.

If Gruenther succeeds Eisenhower as SHAPE commander, there are not likely to be many radical changes here. But a lot of color and excitement will be missing. Gruenther is a quieter character than Eisenhower.

Joining In Clean-Up Week

That Big Spring housewives have already started their cleaning-up and fixing-up projects is evidenced in the pictures on this page.

Whether it is washing windows, raking up stray papers from yards and around shrubbery, cleaning up around garbage and trash cans or tidying up alleyways, these homemakers are doing their part in the campaign to make the city cleaner, healthier and more attractive.

In many instances even the small fry are taking advantage of the sunshine and warm spring days to get into the act, as most of these pictures show.

Newcomers Like Wide Open Space In Texas

Some people call the Civil War the War Between the States, others, the War Between the North and South.

But at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fredrick Doelp, 1603 Johnson, it could be both. For each of the four members of the family was born in a different state.

The Doelps are newcomers to Big Spring from Roanoke, Va., and he is the registrar at the VA Hospital.

Mrs. Doelp is a native of Augusta, Ga. and her speech still reflects just a touch of southern drawl.

He, on the other hand, is a Philadelphian. But that's just the beginning.

Their daughter, Marilyn, 7, was born in Kansas and the other man in the family, Alan, almost 4, is a Virginian.

Before the war, Mr. Doelp dabbled in newspaper work in Balti-

Jaycee-Ettes Elect New Officers At Thursday Meeting

Officers for the coming year were elected at the meeting Thursday of the Jaycee-Ettes in the Settes Hotel.

Mrs. Tom Hendricks was named president and other officers include Mrs. Pete Jones, vice president; Mrs. Joel Culver, secretary; Mrs. Frank Martin, treasurer; Mrs. Commodore Ryan, reporter.

The next hostesses will be Mrs. Keith Brady, Mrs. Oliver Cofer and Mrs. Don Burnam. Fifteen attended.

Couples Class Has First Social At Methodist Church

Members of the recently organized Younger Couples Class of the First Methodist Church met at the church Friday night for their first social.

D. Orval Strong was toastmaster for the evening and Joe Pickle spoke on "How To Be Happy, Though Married."

A covered dish supper was held prior to the program.

The class was organized March 30 and charter membership is being held open through April 27. At that time the election of officers will be held and a name will be selected for the class.

Thirty-two attended.

E. C. Dodd, president of HCJC, and several of the faculty members attended the meeting held in Lubbock this past week-end for the Certification Committee meeting.

Civil Service Examinations were given Saturday afternoon in the administration building.

Several of the girls seen eating at Morales' Thursday night were Beth Stasey, Pat Lloyd, Jean Fortenberry, Mary Sue White, Beverly Jones, Jean Stratton and Jan Masters.

The zone track meet which was scheduled to be held at Amarillo on Saturday was postponed. The tracksters have made plans to attend the state meet which will be held in Denton next week-end.

The boys representing the tennis team in Borger recently were Russell Green, Harold Rossen, Jimmie Jennings and Jackie Jennings. The boys were accompanied by Coach Bennie Rutherford.

Congratulations are in order for Rita Faye Wright and John Edwin Fort who will be married on May 2. John and Rita are former students.

New books recently added to the library include ten volumes of "The Book of Popular Science," edited by Dexter S. Kimball for The Grolier Society, Inc.

A new volume of "Current Biography (1951): Who's News and Why," "Bolivar and the Independence of Spanish America" by J. B. Trend; "Simon Bolivar," by G. A. Sherwell.

Several new annuals have been received, such as "The Cactus," from the University of Texas, and "The Yucca," from North Texas State College.

Recent visitors: Jim Frazier, a cousin of Bruce Frazier's, from Rosita, Chabulla; Sgt. Fred L. Pickett of the Big Spring Air Force Base, whose home is in Kansas City, Mo.; Sally Ann Hogan of Sprenberg; Mrs. Grady Duling and Mrs. Doris Powell, formerly of Temple, and now of Big Spring; Mr. Mitchell, superintendent of schools at Ackerly.

A distinguished guest was a welcome visitor at HCJC on Wednesday. He was Dean Charles M. Shepardson of A&M College, Bryan. He was a guest of President Dodd and Bruce Frazier of the science department.

We were glad to see Melvin Byers and J. W. Drake home on furlough from the Navy and the Army.

BETTY CANON

Betty Canon To Wed Ike Robb On June 12

The engagement and approaching marriage of Betty Canon of Longview to J. Y. (Ike) Robb Jr. of Big Spring was announced Saturday.

The bride-elect is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Olin Bur Canon Sr. of Longview. Mr. and Mrs. J. Y. Robb Sr. of Big Spring are parents of the prospective bridegroom.

The betrothal was revealed Saturday at a tea in the Longview Community Center. The couple will be married June 12.

Hostesses were Mrs. Julian Harlison Hurst and Mrs. William Burk Paterson.

In the receiving line with the hostesses were the honoree, Mrs. Canon, Mrs. Robb, Mrs. M. H. Bennett of Big Spring; Sally Sample, Mary Louise Knott, Kay Keoun and Sue Hall, who will be bridesmaids.

The refreshment table was laid with a pink net cloth with swags pinned with tiny nosegays of pink and white sweetpeas. The centerpiece was a bride's bouquet centered with an orchid and white streamers with lilies of the valley and stephanotis. White tapers burned in silver candelabra.

On the register table was a large nosegay with pink streamers. The bride's book was covered with lace and satin and beaded with seed pearls.

The bride-elect was attired in a ballerina length gown of pale pink marquisette appliqued in pink organza flowers and re-embroidered in seed pearls. She wore matching pink slippers.

Mrs. Canon wore a brown lace over white organza ballerina length gown and Mrs. Robb chose a blue shantung.

Mrs. Patterson wore a gray organza ballerina length dress appliqued in yellow and white flowers. She wore matching yellow slippers.

Mrs. Hurst was attired in a ballerina length gown of black lace over pink.

The honoree was presented a piece of her chosen silver.

Out-of-town guests at the tea included Mrs. I. D. Russell of Wellington, Rosane Dickson of Houston, Dotty Terry of Dallas, Terry Wheeler of San Antonio and Miss Keoun of Marshall.

Where to shop for what

LOOK WHERE YOU'RE GOING... INTO SUMMER! Into the newest in skirts from ZACK'S OF MARGO's... some full, some slim; some with the gentle ripple of softly flowing lines, some with all the crisp confidence of precision tailoring... all emphasizing a freedom of line and fabric totally new... definitely charming. You'll find cottons and more cottons, linens and denims... a wonderful selection of solids to rival the rainbow... For desk-to-date serviceability, a variety of skirts is your perfect partner to meet the ever changing demand of your wardrobe.

RUB-A-DUB-DUB... the shirt's in the tub... and as soon as it's out, it will dry quick as a wink, because it's one of the new crinkle-crepe nylon sport shirts from ELMO WASSON'S. Fashioned from this magic fabric, these shirts will keep him looking like a COOL million on the hot days ahead. Combining two outstanding names, Jayson and du Pont, they'll mean new comfort for handsome casual wear. In brown, tan and navy, the short sleeves are priced at $8.95... the long, $9.95. For comfort to a "T", you'll also find Hob-nail weave "T" shirts in open mesh cotton. At $2.95, they'll raise his standard of loafin' and keep him dressed to a "T" at all times.

CRYSTAL GAZING... into a marine globe set with breathtakingly beautiful roses. It's clearly a case of art in floral arrangements at its best. You'll find this crystal clear ball at FAYE'S FLOWERS. The roses are completely submerged in water, to prolong their freshness and beauty indefinitely, and they have been especially treated to hold their color. If you like to do unusual floral arrangements of your own, you'll also find the globes that have not been planted. They're a stunning show-off for single (large blossoms as well as clusters, or they can be used effectively with artificial flowers. When you gaze into these crystal balls, you'll find a whole new world of floral beauty.

THE OLD SCOTCHMAN SAYS... the best way to hold on to your money is in one of the richly styled and skillfully tailored billfolds from HESTER'S. You'll find all kinds and colors for both men and women. An interesting bit of information about the Meeker billfolds, is that every time you buy one of this kind, you are contributing to charity. All the profits from the Meeker Company go to three homes for handicapped children. These billfolds are fashioned of quality leather in flat purse type style. They have a zipper pocket on the back, a compartment to take care of your identity, and change pocket for your small money as well as a section for the kind that folds. Priced from $5.00 up!

BETTER THAN A SWISS ECHO... that comes back to you over and over again... that's the Webster-Chicago wire or tape recorder that you'll find at THE RECORD SHOP. This marvel of electronic memory will allow you to keep a permanent record of memorable events for years to come. For business it will be your private secretary, for music or speech teachers it's invaluable in studying student progress, and as far as entertainment goes, this ingenious machine is a constant source of exciting educational fun. Record a record of party fun, family functions, compile your own album of sportscasts and athletic events... You can keep the record for a lifetime or erase and use many times over.

LET'S TALK BABY TALK... Let's talk about the complete line of baby necessities at the HARDESTY DRUG, because there you'll find everything that's a must for the nursery set. You'll find Playtex baby pants, scientifically designed to give your baby water proof protection with maximum comfort... Playtex sheets for crib, carriage, and bassinet... and to treat to new arrival royalty, there's the Playtex Baby Pak with everything you need for baby's first days.

You'll also find various kinds of milk base formulas and pablums that are blessed events in themselves to keep baby happy and budget conscious mamma content. From baby bath powders, you can be assured of the best for that all important member of the family.

SHANTUNG CASTS ITS SHADOW... on the summer scene for discerning travelers on fashion's highway, MARGO'S brings you a silk shantung sandal pump with a charming talent for fusing style and feet. Its beauty is more than stymie-deep... the choice of creamy natural, pale shell pink or royal navy with open toe, low cut vamp and slender high heel make for foot flattery from every angle. Trimmed with two dainty rows of seed pearls accented with tiny rhinestones, it's the perfect complement for your afternoon and evening ensembles. Lovely to look at, luxurious to wear, these sleek little shoes reflect the lady-like way to look this spring and summer.

THE BETTER TO BAKE WITH, MY DEAR... and, my, what big news it is... it's the West Bend Electric Ovenette at the BIG SPRING HARDWARE. An amazingly versatile appliance, this little oven is designed to handle most any baking or roasting assignment. Modern homemakers will welcome it as a practical, helpful addition for busy baking. It bakes or roasts foods, easily, browns them to perfection and gives them that wonderful taste-testing flavor. Best of all you can take it with you to the mountains or seashore. While you take a vacation, it stays at work—anywhere there's an AC outlet. Weighing only 8 pounds, it packs easily—it's portable. From cover to base it is a gleaming example of the widely recognized West Bend quality.

THE MERRY MONTH OF MAY... is a time of festive occasions, and no doubt with Mother's Day and Graduation coming up, there will be many parties planned. Of course, the problem of appropriate refreshments is always an all-important consideration in the planning of any party. Why not make it easy on yourself, and let Mr. Bowen at the DOUGLASS COFFEE SHOP plan, prepare and serve the choicest of items in keeping with the occasion. He will do the catering and handle all the details to perfection to keep the party running smoothly and make it a success in every way. You will enjoy your guests more, and your guests will enjoy themselves to the fullest with this efficient service at hand.

YOU CAN WORK WONDER WITH COLORS... and to give your home a new facelift for spring the new line of Art Craft venetian-blinds at GREGG STREET FURNITURE are the sensation of the season. In colors correlated to provide harmonious backgrounds for any furniture or decorative scheme, these blinds are gay, not gaudy, fresh as tomorrow, and destined to make your whole room beautiful... in your choice of metal or wood, they will be custom-made to fit any size window you might have. Select from fascinating color combinations for dramatic color accents, effective where window locations require closed blinds, and preferred for controlled lighting when open. These smartly styled blinds are the quickest way to a new home outlook... so gratifying to a housewife's heart.

New Carpet Design

Venetian Bars is the designer's name for this new carpet being shown at the 1952 carpet fashion show. Highly decorative, it combines a rhythmic arrangement of bars, reminiscent of a cattle brand in olive, avocado and pomegranate against a nubby twist ground. Made of a blend of wool and man-made fibre, it is an excellent choice for a formal, modern dining or living room.

HI-TALK

By Margie McDougle

The Shorthand Club and the El Rodeo staff left Friday at 12:30 p.m. to go to Fort Worth. Saturday morning the girls also visited TCU. They were free to shop Saturday afternoon and attended the Ice Capades Saturday night. Girls in the Shorthand Club making the trip were Shirley Riddle, Frances Rice, Frances King, Pat Morton, Billie Strickland, Davy Crittenden, Mary Ann White, Marcu Tinkhan, Veda Wilkerson, Patsy Wilson, Jerry Christenson, Vesta Harrison, Peggy Jenkins, Norma Rouse, Betty Wright, Martha Hughes, Melba Jones, Peggy King, Louise Boadie, Wanda Woods, Patsy Maddux, Sue Love, Mary Frances Norman, Mary Ann Attaway, Beulah Cook and Pat Dillon.

Members of the El Rodeo staff are Gayle Price, Joy Williams, Jackie Marchant, Martha Clare and Sandra Swartz. The sponsors making the trip were Betty McGinnis and Mrs. Stewart.

Ranch Week is in full swing around BSHS. All the boys are letting their beards grow out and the girls cannot wear make-up without a permit. Thursday morning class meetings were held for the election of nominees for Ranch Queen. Doris Jean Brown is the senior candidate, Rosemary Rice the junior, and Ann White the sophomore. Votes for the queen of your choice are one cent each.

An all school picnic was held Friday night at the park. Kangaroo court was held after the picnic, followed by a bonfire and marshmallow roast. Monday morning there will be an assembly program starring Hoyle Nix and his West Texas Cowboys. The band will also play for the dance Monday night. Tickets to the dance are $1.50 per couple, and your ticket will count 150 votes for the Ranch Queen of your choice. The dance will be held in the Junior High gym at 8 p.m.

The band has been working hard preparing numbers for its spring concert which is to be held this year in the Senior High auditorium. This program will be one in the series of programs commemorating the 50th anniversary of the Big Spring school district.

Plans are underway for this year's Senior Souvenir Edition of the Corral. The journalism classes are working hard to make this year's paper the best BSHS has ever had. The cost has not yet been set but it will be necessary for 500 copies to be sold. The editions will go on sale April 21 and you can purchase one from any journalism student.

A cordial welcome is extended to five new students in BSHS. They are Ellen Pearl Morton, Neffie Richard Heavens, Jean Word, Betty Sue Davee and Yvonne Carrell.

Some of the couples having a good time at the picnic Friday night were Monohm Holly, Elbert Long, Jean Dixon, Bon Lockhart, Doyle Maynard, La Veda Wasson, Alma Crittenden, Wayne Medlin, Shirley White, Doyle Mason, Jody Miller, Jackie Milam, Mary Sue White, Freddie Blalack, Marilyn Jackson, Ross Word, Anna Mae Thorpe, Roger Brown, Libby Jones, John Lawrence, Speck Franklin, Gay Jones, Janice Anderson, Bobby Hayes, Lynelle Martin, J. L. Claxton, Bobby Adams, Jackie Jennings, Narrelle Dene, Norman Dudley, Wanda Kinsey, James Fryer, Annette Puckett, Harold Haynie, Mary Ella Bligny, Roy Hester.

The physical education department gave a tap dance routine at the Settles ballroom Saturday night, and following this they journeyed to Forsan to tap for the Junior-Senior banquet. Our newly-organized stage band also furnished music for the prom.

The A Cappella Choir will sing at HCJC Wednesday morning at 8:45 during an assembly program. They will sing "Hospi di po mi Lui," "Madam Jeanette" and several other numbers. There will be several trios of popular and hillbilly songs.

Mrs. Marguerite Selkirk is announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of her daughter, Cora Ellen, to Calvert K. Koether of Fort Worth. Mr. and Mrs. Koether of Austin are the parents of the prospective bridegroom. The wedding vows will be exchanged in June at St. Mary's Episcopal Church. The Rev. William Boyd, rector, will officiate.

The Rook Club met Friday in the home of Mrs. S. P. Jones. Guests were Mrs. F. D. Rogers, Mrs. L. H. Thompson, Mrs. G. C. Graves, Mrs. E. C. McCullough of Alabama and Mrs. B. F. Power. Nine members also attended.

The Latest In Fashions Featured At Pet Show

The dog wore a bolero ensemble, the white rabbit a pink carnation corsage and the Shetland pony a red ribbon in his hair. They joined the procession that circled the Washington Place school and passed in review before the judges.

The Student Council was staging its annual Pet Show. There were a few disasters. A small girl carrying a bowl of goldfish received an unexpected bath when, in her hurry to keep up with the procession, she spilled half of the contents of the bowl over her. A few dogs escaped from their owners and attempted to make hasty departures. Others dug their paws into the ground and had to be pulled, like a sleigh on runners, in the parade.

But for the most part, kids, parents and teachers alike had the time of their lives.

After the judging prizes of canned dog food, heads of maize and bunches of carrots were awarded the winners. They went to Pat Johnson for the best kept pet, a collie dog; to Deborah Johnson for her dog, the best dressed pet; to Julia Ann Blackwell for the best behaved pet, a Maltese kitten; to Martha Alice Hardy for the smallest pet, a goldfish; Wanda Boatler, largest pet, a Shetland pony; Mickey Jones, most unusual pet, an alligator; and Dwan Robinson, prettiest pet, a white rabbit.

Also shown was a large variety of dogs and cats, chickens, a lizard, parakeets and love birds, a duck and a baby goat.

Mrs. H. L. Derrick, a teacher and faculty advisor to the Council, assisted the group in planning and staging the show.

Congressman Speaks To HD Women

COLORADO CITY—Congressman Omar Burleson of Anson spoke to almost 300 farm women from 14 counties Thursday morning at the Texas Home Demonstration Association meeting in Colorado City.

Burleson noted that the Home Demonstration Associations were having a tremendous impact on rural America today, and that it was only beginning to be felt. "In fact," he said, "many women's organizations are having their influence manifested, and I am extremely glad they are doing it."

"I think the peace of the world might be more secure if women had more to say about the running of our affairs."

Following its delivery, the bishops, according to Methodist usage, take no further part in influencing legislation. They do, however, preside over business sessions and speak at devotional services.

Outstanding events in the two-week affair will be the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper administered the first morning under the direction of Senior Bishop Herbert Welch of New York, now 90.

The traditional episcopal address, a corporate utterance signed by all the bishops, will be read the first evening by Bishop Paul B. Kern of Nashville, Tenn., its author. The document is similar in purpose to the President's message at the opening of a new Congress.

Special events will be fewer than usual to permit sufficient business sessions to care for the large amount of legislation.

The Rev. Dr. Fred B. Newell of New York is chairman of the Commission on Entertainment of the General Conference and the Rev. Dr. Aubrey S. Moore of Chicago, secretary.

The chairman of the San Francisco committee is Host-Bishop Donald H. Tippett.

Methodist Pastors To Attend Conference

The issuance of the first volume of "The Interpreter's Bible" will be commemorated in an evening program. There will be a Youth Night, a California Night, a pageant celebrating the 1948-52 "Advancement for Christ and His Church," among other evening programs.

Special events will be fewer than usual to permit sufficient business sessions to care for the large amount of legislation.

The Rev. Dr. Fred B. Newell of New York is chairman of the Commission on Entertainment of the General Conference and the Rev. Dr. Aubrey S. Moore of Chicago, secretary.

The chairman of the San Francisco committee is Host-Bishop Donald H. Tippett.

Make Cut Flowers And Corsages Last

That corsage will be fresh for a second wearing if you mist the flowers lightly with water, pop them into a moisture-proof cellophane bag, clip the top and store them on the bottom shelf of the refrigerator. The cellophane holds the moisture inside so the entire corsage is refreshed.

Cut flowers also will last longer if you clip the stems as soon as you take them from the florist's box, sprinkle the petals with water, wrap in cellophane and place in the refrigerator for several hours before arranging in a vase. A commercial preservative placed in the vase also will help preserve the blooms.

Ranch Queen Is Crowned Friday Night

Ranch Week activities at the Junior High School were concluded with the coronation of the Ranch Week Queen and Western Dance in the school gymnasium Friday evening.

Carolyn Whitefield, 7th grade candidate, was crowned queen. She was presented a Western shirt as a gift from the students and her escort was Nugent Reid.

The other candidates and their escorts were La Rue Casey, eighth grade, and Brick Johnson; Sue Barnes, seventh grade, and Stormy Edwards.

The affair was sponsored by the student council. Chaperones were Avon Wilcke, Mrs. James and Lynn Porter.

Garden Club To Hear Speaker From Midland

Mrs. F. N. Shriver of Midland will be guest lecturer when the Big Spring Garden Club meets Wednesday at 2:30 p.m. at Howard County Junior College.

An authority on flower arranging, Mrs. Shriver will instruct the Garden Club members in the making of corsages.

The commissioners luncheon will be given the same day and will be followed by a program featuring Mrs. Almanrode, who will report on the national meeting she attended last year and will summarize the achievements of the home demonstration organization in Texas. The tea will follow the program.

The Howard County Home Demonstration Council met Saturday afternoon in the office of Mrs. Eugenia Toland, agent, to make plans for National Home Demonstration Club Week, April 26-May 3.

Among the observances planned is a tea to be held May 5 honoring the state president, Mrs. R. M. Almanrode, of Munday. Mrs. Sam Armstrong of Coahoma is in charge of publicity and Mrs. M. M. Edwards of Coahoma will handle the arrangements.

Victor August Halfmann And Bride On Wedding Trip To San Antonio

GARDEN CITY, (Sp) — Mr. and Mrs. Victor August Halfmann are on a wedding trip to San Antonio, Houston and Mexico City following their recent marriage.

The bride is the former Delores Louise Lynch, daughter of Tom P. Lynch of Garden City. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Halfmann of St. Lawrence.

The Rev. William Moore said the nuptial mass April 15 at St. Thomas Catholic Church in Big Spring, as the couple stood before an altar decorated with peach gladioli. White lilies flanked the scene.

Helen Green played the traditional wedding marches and accompanied Mrs. Harold Talbot, who sang "Ave Maria" and "Panis Angelicus."

long sleeves and peter pan collar. The full, floor-length skirt extended into a train. Her fingertip veil was caught to a crown.

She carried a heart-shaped bouquet of white carnations.

Clara Ann Halfmann, sister of the bridegroom, was maid of honor. She wore an aqua net dress with a fitted bodice and full skirt and matching jacket. She wore a narrow matching crown.

Bridesmaids were Teresa Lynch, sister of the bride, and Jean and Grace Halfmann of San Angelo, sisters of the bridegroom.

They were attired in lavender, lime and peach dresses designed like that of the maid of honor.

Leo E. Lynch of Garden City, uncle of the bride served as best man.

Dorothy Lynch, the bride's sister, was flower girl. Her dress was fashioned like that of the other attendants.

When the couple left on their wedding trip, the bride wore a navy blue suit with white accessories.

They will make their home in St. Lawrence.

Mrs. Hoffmann attended the schools in Newcastle, Okla. Her husband attended school in Rowena. He has farming and grocery interests in St. Lawrence.

A reception was held following the ceremony at the home of the bridegroom's parents.

Cut flowers decorated the entertaining suite. The refreshment table was centered with the three-tiered wedding cake and flanked by white candles.

Mrs. Ralph Halfmann and Mrs. Walter Halfmann alternated at the guest book.

Members of the wedding party and guests were entertained following the reception at a ball in the Garden City school gymnasium.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross led the grand march followed by the bridal couple.

The B&B Rhythm Boys of San Angelo played for dancing.

Out-of-town guests for the wedding included those from Rowena, San Angelo and Big Spring.

DESIGNING WOMAN Plastic Clothesline Makes See-Through Room Divider

By ELIZABETH HILLIER
A smart modern room divider comes by the yard, decorative picture cord comes with the laundry supplies — both are plastic clothesline. The see-through room divider is a ceiling-to-floor row of satiny white cords. Make it with an uncut length of the clothesline. Nail an end of the clothesline to the floor or a wooden base attached to the floor, stretch the line straight to the ceiling or to the top of an archway frame and nail it there, but don't cut the line. Continue it for 3 inches on the ceiling or the top of the archway frame and attach it again with another nail. Then stretch the line down, straight to the floor, attach it there, continue for 3 inches, attach again, stretch to the ceiling and repeat each step until the divider is as wide as you want it. As a picture cord, the clothesline is decorative, especially as it makes a pattern of white against a medium or dark wall. Attach it to the ceiling and to the wall behind pictures.

Mrs. Asbill Speaks At Meet; 4-H Club Has New Members

GARDEN CITY, (Sp) — Mrs. Tom Asbill spoke on "The Philosophy of Missions" by James Cannon, when the W.C.S. met at the church Tuesday afternoon. The meeting was opened with a prayer by Mrs. Max Fitzhugh.

Mrs. Asbill led "Savior Like A Shepherd Lead Us" with Mrs. I. L. Watkins at the piano.

Mrs. J. P. Boswell brought the devotional.

A tea was planned for May 5 as Mrs. Jim Johnson of Lorraine will review a book at that time.

Officers will be elected at the next meeting. Mrs. Boswell led the closing prayer.

Mrs. Jim Eiland gave a demonstration on fruit tarts when the Garden City 4-H club met Wednesday at the school.

ITALIAN DESIGNER

Newest Visconti Design
Is Fashionable Middle

Sailing fashionably with an Italian middle! You'll be doing just that—and more—when you wear Simona Visconti's newest contribution to the scheme of things fashionable.

The return of the middle has been one of the most heralded events of the current season. It has been acclaimed everywhere, because no other type blouse does line—the waistline presenting a problem equivalent to the national debt!

We chose Pattern 1101 because it is a pattern of separates: three pieces, including middle, skirt, and halter that can be worn separately or together. It was chosen, also, because it gives the American woman an opportunity to wear a bona fide design from the hand of one of Italy's greatest designers.

The fineness of the Italian hand is seen in the middle's turn back collar, which gives vent to a deeply cut neckline that provides plenty of coolness. The skirt is simple, with seams in front and back, and a pleat in the back. The halter is simply cut in front, but is cut in back so that one can absorb the sun's rays and a multitude of compliments, simultaneously.

Fabric suggestions include denim, linen, silk shantung, and pi-que—with a soft polka dot silk for the halter.

Size 12 requires 4 1/2 yds. of 35-inch material for the middle and skirt, and 2 1/2 yds. of 39-inch material for the halter. Pattern 1101 is available in sizes 12, 14, 16, 18, 20. To order pattern 1101, send $1 to Spadea Syndicate, Inc., Dept. 164, Box 258, Madison Square Station, New York 10, N. Y. For air mail handling, enclose 25 cents. To order pattern booklet VI, send 15 cents.

New Sewing Aid

A new type of curtain heading simplifies the making of cafe-style or brise-bise curtains. Loop attachments are sewed right into the decorative curtain tape. Once width and fullness have been decided on, the trimming is sewed to the curtain and it is ready to slip on a rod, eliminating the necessity of attaching metal rings.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Nevins are in Fort Worth over the week end.

Dainty Motifs

By CAROL CURTIS
Delicate and fragile-looking as little forget-me-not flowers are these wreaths, circles, bowknots, vines, clusters and yoke-piece designs. There are seventy-six dainty motifs in the transfer pattern; enough to embroider a christening robe, sacques, baby pillows, nightgowns and day dresses! Colors may be pink or blue, all-white or a combination of dainty pastels.

Send 25 cents for the BABY EMBROIDERIES (Pattern No. 462) transfers and color chart for working, sketches of all stitches used. YOUR NAME, ADDRESS, PATTERN NUMBER to CAROL CURTIS Patterns ready to fill orders immediately. For special handling of order via first class mail include an extra 5 cents per pattern.

Paper Motifs Grow Smaller

Look to the new classic and stylized wallpaper patterns, in a variety of color combinations and imaginative design treatments, to help create handsome new room effects in both mood and dimension.

Provincial prints, for example, a long-favored pattern-type for smaller rooms, are becoming increasingly popular, for the small scale medallions and rosettes, featured in these patterns, do much for new smaller size apartments and homes.

A trend toward "quiet living" can be seen in the new wallpaper patterns that have a toned-down, traditional over-all motif. However, many of these quieter patterns incorporate earth tones or black as a background thus lending a novel and striking touch to an otherwise conservative theme.

Wallpapers with matching draperies or bedroom accessories are now available. Manufacturers are offering these coordinated groups in a variety of designs, such as florals, geometrics and stripes, all in blending tones and "feelings" so they may be used in adjoining rooms.

Squaw Skirt

New fad for summer will be the "squaw" skirt, easy to make and fun to wear. It requires no ironing. After laundering, the skirt is rolled into a tight rope, tied at each tier, squeezed into a nylon stocking and hung up to dry.

For A Clean Puff

A clean white cotton ball can be tucked in the compact each day for extra skin cleanliness. When an ordinary powder puff gets dirty, it is likely to deposit grime on the skin each time it is used.

Pick-Up Schedule Announced Here

Pick-up schedules for the city's annual clean-up campaign have been laid out to give everyone an opportunity to get collections of trash ready before the trucks start making their rounds.

Although the clean-up campaign starts officially on Monday, the city crews will wait until Friday to start hauling away the trash. That should enable everyone

Kitchens A Good Spot To Remodel

New cars and travel finished a poor second to home modernization in competition for the 1952 family dollar according to a recent national survey report.

Nearly 42 per cent of all families in a broad cross-section of the nation, both geographically and economically, reported plans for remodeling and repairing their homes in the near future.

The two places where remodeling dollars can show the most results are the kitchen and the bathroom. If these rooms are newly modernized, even the home 30 years old can hold its own in competition with new homes.

Most older houses have large kitchens which can be readily remodelled for greater attractive-to participate on schedule, city officials explained, and the schedule is important this year because it will be virtually impossible for the city crews to do any doubling back, once they have made the rounds.

The schedule: Friday and Saturday—all of the area east of Main Street on the south side of town.

Monday, April 28, and Tuesday, April 29—all of the area west of Main Street on the south side of town.

Wednesday, April 30, and Thursday, May 1—all of the north side of town.

The trucks will haul away the trash as rapidly as possible, said R. V. Foresyth, city street superintendent. However, he said the speed will depend largely upon the cooperation of citizens.

Those who live east of Main Street on the south side of town should have their collections of trash in place by Thursday night. The pick-up crews will begin working early the next day.

Trash that is likely to be scattered by the wind should be packed in some sort of container—boxes or bags—so that crew can handle it swiftly. Large items, such as old lumber, prunings from trees, etc., should be stacked as neatly as possible on the street, or alley line at the usual places for garbage collection.

Have You Seen Your Alley Lately?

This is a scene that may be duplicated all too easily throughout Big Spring. It may be your alley, or do you know? Most alleys get in such atrocious condition because nobody ever bothers to look at them, much less employ good housekeeping. Clean up week is the logical time to start a good housekeeping habit on alleys.

Alleys Need Extra Care Right Now

There's an old proverb that says you can't judge a book by its cover. Let's hope that many homes in Big Spring aren't judged by their alleys.

A glance down almost any alley in the city will reveal litter of all kinds.

Everything that citizens don't want is often dumped in the alley behind their homes. The accumulated assortment of old paint cans, trash, garbage and other odds and ends not only makes an alley unsightly but often unpassable.

Now that the pollen season is about ready to begin, citizens should be extra careful to keep garbage in a closed container.

Nothing breeds flies like uncovered garbage and many experts think that nothing transports disease like the buzzing little demons.

Because trash is being hauled away without cost during Clean-Up Week, it should be an added incentive to the people of Big Spring to clean up their alleys.

But Clean-Up Week just happens once a year. For a safer, healthier city, alleys should be kept clean and neat all the time.

PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS, the general health and welfare of our citizens depend upon wholesome surroundings arising from good clean living conditions, and

WHEREAS, the lives and property of our people are endangered by fire caused by the cluttered conditions in home, factories, alleys and streets, and

WHEREAS, unity of effort is required for the future development of our community, and

WHEREAS, we are all dedicated to the great mobilization effort for the defense of our democratic heritage and freedoms, and

WHEREAS, the national defense authorities esteem a Clean Up-Paint Up-Fix Up Campaign as the most effective method of collecting household metal scrap so vitally needed for the defense effort,

THEREFORE, I, GEORGE W. DABNEY, MAYOR OF THE CITY OF BIG SPRING, do hereby designate April 21 as official opening day of the CLEAN UP-PAINT UP-FIX UP PROGRAM, and call upon all departments of the city, its commercial organizations, civic clubs, schools, churches, boys' and girls' clubs, and all other associations, and our people in general to take an active part in this constructive program for community improvement to insure success.

This, the 20th day of April 1952.

FHA Loan Will Help You Make Improvements If Budget Tight

Any financial expert will tell you that improving your home is a sound investment. But if your budget is already straining at the seams and certainly makes no allowances for re-modeling, an F. H. A. Title 1 Loan Plan is your answer.

It is a practical, painless and inexpensive way to re-decorate, improve or re-model your home. In fact, the F.H.A. is designed primarily to help Mr. and Mrs. Average Home-owner with their re-modeling plans.

Under the terms of this loan you may repair your roof, paint your house, install new hardwood, tile or linoleum floors, add charm to your home's interior by re-painting or wall papering, even add a room for an expanding family or put up a garage, a workshop or perhaps an apartment over your garage.

The F.H.A. Title 1 Loan Plan also covers structural changes, such as re-doing an old inconvenient kitchen, or building an outdoor living room, complete with barbecue. The plan also allows you to install air conditioning so that your home may have an ideal year 'round temperature.

You may also install new safety wiring or convenient electric outlets, keep your home cool in summer, warm in winter with insulating or weather-stripping.

If you are ready to modernize your home now do these three things:

- (1) Inspect your home, decide on the improvements necessary and list them.
- (2) Ascertain the approximate cost from your architect, contractor, plumber, etc. (3) Take the completed list with jobs and prices to your bank. They will arrange financing to cover the cost under the F.H.A. loan.

Loans may be made up to $2,500 with as long as 30 months to pay. Monthly payments are small, for example if you borrow $300 for 30 months the cost would be approximately $11.25 each month. Terms may be arranged to suit your budget.

So if your home needs repairing or brightening this spring, consider an F.H.A. Title 1 Loan. Don't neglect the investment you already have in your home... protect it by keeping it in good repair always.

Just A Little Elbow Grease With Tools Can Do The Job

Many individuals never discover how talented they are with a hammer, a saw and perhaps a bottle of glue until they become homeowners.

Most of the jobs can and are undertaken by the householder himself. Those of major proportions usually justify the expense of hiring it done.

Any financial expert will tell you that improving the home is a sound investment. If you listed the number of things that need repairing around the place, the length of that list might surprise you.

A man does not necessarily have to be a licensed electrician to fix light bulbs. He needs only have a working knowledge of electricity and a memory. He needs the latter to turn off the juice before he ever starts work on the project.

You can add to your closet space by adding shelves in unused corners, and such an undertaking doesn't demand a degree in architecture.

If you have an abundance of flies and other insects in the summer months, then perhaps the screens need fixing. A hammer and a few small nails might do the job.

The householder will find he can improve the floor of his home and put down carpeting without too much trouble.

Implements used around the home like lawn-mowers, washing machines and radios, unless they need a major overhaul, can usually be repaired by the owner.

If the roof leaks in a spot or two, the householder finds he can correct the trouble without summoning help.

If he can get into the attic, he can spot the holes easily by the light seeping in. He then can locate them by sticking sticks or rags through so that they can be spotted from the outside.

The recipe for any such undertaking is simple: Take a dash of imagination and mix well with quantities of elbow grease. The results will surprise you.

No Problem Here

Problems of sanitation and sightliness are solved by this modern "garbage shed" at a Big Spring housing development. As a part of its over-all building plan, Big Spring Rental Houses, Inc. installed these protective shelters for garbage cans. They are protected with screen against flies and hail wire against rodents and dogs. When not in use, the doors are latched tight (inset top left). Concrete floors are easily cleaned. R. V. Forsyth, street superintendent for the City, admires the shed and wishes more people had them.

Painting With Enamel Requires No Special Skill

Unpainted furniture offers a fascinating challenge to the painstaking artist, for here surely is the inexpensive way to something really beautiful.

This is one kind of painting that requires no special skill—it is the one time you don't have to know a water color from an oil—all it demands is determination and patience. So take your choice from the lively color selections now available and paint something for your home.

Enamel is first choice for the job. Work in a well-ventilated room, and start your job off by filling in any imperfections in the wood with a good wood putty, allow to dry, then sandpaper off smoothly.

Next step is to dust thoroughly with a turpentine rag. Now you're ready to seal the surface with a coat of she-lac, diluted with denatured alcohol. When dry, smooth with steel wool.

The undercoat may be tinted if you're using a dark enamel and you'll find this coat has a lot of hiding power. Allow to dry for 24 hours, then sandpaper again lightly, to remove all bumps from the paint. Enamel must be applied with light, cross-brushing and quickly. If it starts to dry before you finish, the marks of the brush will show.

If you follow these simple steps for painting with enamel, your furniture will have a professional look and will be able to take its place proudly beside the finest custom-made pieces.

Many Small Things Can Do Fine Job In Home Cleaning

You can begin your home cleaning with brush, broom and mop, but why stop there?

There are so many other small jobs that you can do to increase its attractiveness and make it more livable. A waxed floor, for instance, is much easier to keep than one which has not been waxed, and there are many liquid waxes on the market which may be applied quickly, with or without an applicator, and require no polishing.

But if you insist on paste wax, and many do as it is much more satisfactory for some types of floors, you can rent an electric polisher for a nominal fee.

Many women paint their own woodwork and do other retouching jobs, especially now that manufacturers are turning out quick-drying enamels that completely dry in a few hours or overnight.

It takes an ambitious woman to tackle her own papering, but many do and achieve excellent results. Perhaps a more satisfactory method of rejuvenating old, scarred or faded walls is to cover it with one of the new type rubber base paints which may be applied either with a brush or a roller.

A new plastic-based enamel is being recommended not only for woodwork but for old and worn linoleums. It forms a hard coating, easy to care for. Ordinary porch and floor enamel may also be used on linoleums.

If you don't have the time, energy or money for one of these projects simply rearranging the furniture might help the appearance of a room.

A Well-Kept Country Home

An example of the well-kept country home, surrounded by neat and orderly grounds free of debris is the residence on the Benca O. Brown ranch, south of Vincent. Note how much nicer it is to have a four-strand barb fence around the place than a more expensive woven wire or picket fence if neither of the others should be in good condition. Brown is one of the supervisors of the Martin-Howard Soil Conservation District and is engaged in making experimental grass plantings this year and in an extensive mesquite eradication program. He raises fine Herefords and doesn't endanger them, or the people on the ranch with scattered junk.

Farm Clean-Up Is Economical And Can Also Prevent Fires

Almost any farm or ranch home will look from $3,000 upward better to a prospective buyer if there is paint on the buildings that should be painted, and no litter of junk around these buildings and corrals. At the same time it will look much better to the people who live there and from such an appearance of their physical surroundings they will take a greater pride in their agricultural activity. Moreover, the home surroundings will be safer and given on the most orderly and neat of farm premises hazards both of fire and injury to persons are numerous enough.

So there isn't any reason why the observance of Fire Prevention and Cleanup Week which commences in Big Spring tomorrow should not be extended to farms and ranches as well. There might be even more reason for this in view of limited livestock and crop production that is possible at this particular time because of the drought. Around nearly every farm and ranch home there is scrap metal that can be profitably put to one of two uses. It can be added to the national drive for scrap or it can be utilized to make repairs or worked into handy gadgets that can be used around the farm or ranch, or even the home.

Useless, combustible material can be burned or otherwise disposed of at this time. Unightly trash can be buried. Corral can be cleaned for the benefit of crop land. Otherwise unused lumber, pipe, steel barrels can be converted into troughs. Nails and pieces of wire that could be injurious to livestock, particularly to cows that will swallow almost anything small enough to go down, can be picked up. Farm machinery can be painted both for appearance and its protection, and since most farm and ranch homes have their own small water systems that are large enough to afford some measure of irrigation, shrubs and trees may be set out and flower beds prepared. And this is a good time to do that fence-fixin' that has so long needed to be done, but that just never has been gotten around to!

And maybe the farmer or rancher is even lucky enough to have the water to justify the seeding of the yard to some grass or mixture? Such fire prevention and cleanup activity need not be particularly expensive. It is mainly a matter of work, and three strands of barb wire strung on cedar posts around a yard looks much better than an unpainted picket fence with a good part of the pickets missing and a weather-beaten gate hanging by one hinge.

As a general thing the farmer who lives in a home surrounded by neat, clean and orderly grounds is much harder to discourage than the one who pitches his plow points up against the front porch, throws down oil cans where he empties them, and who can stoop over almost anywhere and pick up a piece of baling wire.

It is especially to the interest of the breeder of purebred cattle to have his home present an attractive appearance to the prospective buyer who may drive up almost any time. It is difficult for such a buyer not to associate the cattle with the appearance of the farm or ranch on which he finds them. Instinctively he will get the feeling that the man who takes pride in his home, both inside and outside, is also the type of man who takes more than usual pride in his cattle.

It has become customary for Hereford and Aberdeen-Angus breeders, and Shorthorn breeders to some extent, to insist that their animals be perfectly groomed, and posed in straw before their pictures are made, and then some of them even go so far as to want the photographer to retouch his negative to straighten the back-line and to paint in a tail switch. All of which is designed to show the animals to their very best advantage, and yet many of these same breeders will show the same cattle to prospective buyers in a corral or shed that would shame an old Spanish-blooded Longhorn cow.

Just as an old worn pair of boots look better when cleaned and polished than a new pair coated with month-old manure, so does a $2,500 home in orderly and clean surroundings look better than a $25,000 residence surrounded by odds and ends of things that should be elsewhere. Every unneeded object removed from the premises and put in a proper place also means the removal of one more hazard to human and livestock life and limb.

Fire is one of the greatest dangers faced by the farmer and rancher, because most frequently he does not have sufficient water supply or pressure to fight a major blaze and because skilled firefighters with their modern equipment are not available to him within the matter of a few minutes. They should, therefore, be particularly careful about this hazard and should protect themselves against it not only with insurance but with a continuing cleanup and fire prevention program that will always keep reduced to the absolute minimum the possibility of such a loss.

Around nearly every ranch and farm there is enough unused water pipe to build a frame and the material for the solid part from which an attractive sign or two can be made that will guide visitors to the country home, and this might be a good season for the construction of such signs if there is a welding outfit on the place or if a neighbor has one that might be used.

In connection with a fire prevention and general ranch and farm cleanup program, it has been announced that a workshop on home improvement will be held at Texas A&M College, April 28th and 29th, and that this workshop is open to all home demonstration club members and all the men who wish to attend. This is the first such event ever held at College Station and homestead improvement programs will highlight the program. Generally it is planned that this program shall include information on selection, planting and care of shrubs, lawns, trees and flowers, recreation and outdoor equipment, and particularly safety and cleanliness around the homestead. All visitors will be taken on a conducted tour of the A&M College greenhouse. Additional information on this workshop may be obtained at the county agent's office.

When a recipe calls for "lamb ribslets" have the butcher cut the best of lamb into pieces that are about two inches long and about half an inch wide.

Good Crowds Attend Revival Services
Good crowds have marked the opening services of the revival at the Prairie View Baptist church, according to the Rev. Leslie Kelley, pastor.

He has been speaking daily at 8 p.m. Mrs. Vernon Langley has been in charge of music and Jackie Fryar has been serving as pianist.

Saturday morning aged members who could not normally attend, were brought to the church by members. The Rev. Kelley spoke on "God Promises Strength for the Weak." A highlight was testimonial by these members who had labored so long in the Lord's vineyard. The Prairie View church, located in the Fairview community seven miles north of Big Spring, recently completed new building facilities including a nursery, additional Sunday school space. Used the first time Easter, the new class space made possible the formation of a young married men's class with Edgar Phillips as teacher.

TRASH COLLECTION

- 1 The City is requesting that all trash material to be disposed of be piled out before special pick-up trucks start their runs. Since such a large area is to be covered, it will be impossible for trucks to go back over routes covered.
- 2 No restrictions are placed on type of materials to be picked up, so long as it is placed adjacent to the location where garbage is usually picked up. The trash may be in boxes, barrels or stacks, so long as it is accessible.
- 3 If you have large drums or other non-regulation containers you wish to keep, place these containers back in the yard and off public property. The city commission has instructed that all non-regulation containers left on alleys or streets be picked up and disposed of.

'Big 12' Officials

A series of executive changes have been announced by the Big 12 Corporation of Dallas. Three men who have had wide experience in the drug and merchandising field are now associated with the company. They are, pictured above, left to right: H. B. Bickers, R. L. Brown and L. H. Townner. Bickers is new chairman of the board of corporation and will concentrate on financial and administrative affairs. Brown is president and general manager, while Townner, well known in the advertising agency field, is retained as advertising consultant. The Big 12 Corporation currently is planning an extensive merchandising campaign on its proprietary remedies.

Vacant Lot Clean-Up Can Be Neighborhood Project

One of the perennial problems connected with any clean up campaign is what to do about vacant lots.

There isn't any totally satisfactory answer.

Some municipalities order them cleaned and if not have it done and assess the charges against the property much the same as if it were taxes. However, that isn't done hereabouts.

Since most vacant lots are most offensive when they are adjacent to occupied residential property, the power to offend is greatest against those who are closest.

Hence, if you have a problem of this sort, the answer is to clean it up yourself. Of course, the property probably doesn't belong to you, and technically you might be trespassing. But owners who lack civic pride enough to see that they are cleaned up and kept clean very seldom raise a finger to protest some gratis work to improve the looks and perhaps the value of their property.

Sometimes these trouble spots can be worked out as neighborhood projects. Several families can join hands and do the job quickly. Occasionally, some organization or club gets inspiration to clean up an eyesore.

If permission can be had to turn the area into a playground, probably the youngsters in a neighborhood can be enlisted into the campaign.

But however the attack, it probably still boils back to the fundamental rule of getting things done—do it yourself.

Pontiac Training School Being Held

The features of Pontiac's new Dual-Range Hydra-Matic are being covered in a school held at Marvin Wood Pontiac in Big Spring. Six mechanics from this area are attending for instruction on disassembly, assembly and repair of the unit. R. L. Shirley, Pontiac instructor from the Zone sales office in Dallas, is conducting the school. A two-day refresher course is being held for those mechanics that have had previous Hydra-Matic training. The five-day school will cover every element of the Hydra-Matic transmission for mechanics with less experience on this unit.

Girl Scout Camp Set At Colo. City

COLORADO CITY, April 19 (SpI)—Milton Bodzin, local director of camping for the Colorado City-Girl Scouts, has announced that Girl Scout Day Camp will be held from May 25 to May 30 at Riddick Park. Dates were set Friday at a meeting Girl Scout leaders, attended by Mr. and Mrs. Bodzin, Mrs. Virgil Stone, Mrs. H. E. White, Mrs. Bob McGuire, Mrs. Johnny Auten, and Mrs. Willis Jones.

The Angel Falls in Eastern Venezuela has a total drop of 3,212 feet.

Clean-Up Can Eliminate Lot Of Fire Hazards

Big Spring probably has more fire hazards right now than ever before in its history, but most of them can be eliminated if citizens cooperate in the annual clean-up campaign next week, declared H. V. Crocker, city fire chief.

The drought has multiplied the fire hazards in this area, Crocker reminded, and the people must alert themselves to some dangers that exist.

"We can't do much about general effects of the drought, but we can take steps to give a maximum amount of care to our property and to the property of our neighbors," the fire chief explained.

He cited trash and rubbish accumulations near buildings as one of the chief hazards. In some cases high spring winds have whipped scrap paper, tumble weeds and other refuse against outbuildings, fences, etc. This should be removed immediately, Crocker asserted.

A number of vacant lots in the city also are considered fire hazards, Crocker reminded that weeds and grass are in condition to spread flames rapidly to adjacent property once they catch fire.

Any type of rubbish is a fire hazard, and the city-wide clean-up campaign offers local citizens an excellent opportunity to rid their premises of trash and get it hauled away free, the fire chief concluded.

FOR BETTER LIVING Here's Check List For Clean-Up Week

One of the best ways to complete a job is to have a check list. If you want to really do a thorough job of cleaning and fixing up around your place, perhaps this list will enable you to avoid overlooking some important items.

Here is the list under major headings:

Bright, New Carpet Colors Do Something For Rooms

The basic foundation of any room is the carpet or rug which sets the color keynote for the room. American women who show great courage in the selection of colorful wearing apparel are often quite timid about using the same courage in the selection of a carpet color.

Time was when the solid virtues of laque, grey or medium green carpets were considered the backbone of any decorative scheme.

Variety Of Textures In New Carpets

The comfort and warmth of carpets and rugs in more rooms in the house is more practical than ever, this spring, with the increasing use of variety of man-made fibres for floor covering in exciting new textures, informal and timeless designs and bright and cheerful colors.

The big news in textures, for 1952, is the number of novel weaves developed by using the properties of man-made fibres to create the weave rather than fitting the characteristics of a weave to the man-made fibre.

Outstanding is the super-textured carpet weave which gives a novel bulky effect much in the way that the high fashion coat fabric, poodle cloth, does. This new weave gives carpets a hand-woven appearance and is complimentary to the smooth sleekness of modern furnishings.

Casual weaves, featuring hit and miss textures which show no definite pattern but which are achieved by combinations of pile height, different yarns and ingredients, offer a pleasing highlight to informal decoration as well as a comfortable feeling of softness and warmth underfoot.

Newest designs include shadow motifs that have no set definition of outline. These patterns are good with casual, informal, Provincial and even simple traditional furnishings. Also noteworthy are the stylized designs that have been reduced in scale to fit the confines of the average room.

These were good conservative colors that "went with everything." In time, homemakers discovered that good conservative colors may be completely out of step with the rest of the room. Conventional colors in carpets or rugs are neither fun to live with nor do they "do" anything for a room. The smart new colors shown in the 1952 Carpet Fashion Opening collections can be the foundation for many charming rooms which express best the kind of living your family wants.

Grey, green, beige and rose are still with us. These are basic colors when used to emphasize a decorative scheme they are ideal colors. But something new and exciting has been added to carpet colors in 1952. Colors are crisp, sharp, off-color and a few are downright bold. Astonishing combinations make some of the new carpets and rugs stunning foundations for many types of rooms.

The new carpet colors aren't all high shades. Nut colors are to be found everywhere from black walnut to a just off-white Brazil nut meat tone. Sun or earth tones give a new look to beige. There are two distinct schools of thought in the beige colorings: cool, light and clear tones and warm, sunny plink often deepening into a true terra cotta shade. Sometimes combinations of both the very dark nut colors and light airy shades are combined to give the carpet a fresh new look. Cocoa, mocha, fur and coffee browns are still important carpet colors.

The greens are as varied as they are popular this year. Blue spruce green is one of the leaders in this group. Yellow greens which include both pale and deep olive tones, avocado and light spring green are to be found in solid color carpetings and as accent colors. Dark forest and pasture land greens are very good. The old reliable medium green has been supplanted to a great extent by these shades which have character and appeal.

Greys may be anything from pale oyster to deep charcoal. One of the most exciting innovations in the 1952 carpet color palette is the black and white combinations in stripes, spaced mixtures and stippled or spatterdash effects. Equally high fashion is the creamy white, black and taupe de negre combination in one of the most sophisticated of the new carpet designs.

On The Battlefield

Barbara Payton meets Guy Madison on the battlefield. They are principals in a drama dealing with the defense of Georgia in Civil War days. "Drums in the Deep South." It's the featured attraction at the Jet Drive-In Theatre tonight and Monday night.

Early-Day Texans

Phyllis Thaxter and Randolph Scott share headline honors with David Brian in the Technicolor story, "Fort Worth," offered at the Lyric Theatre today and Monday. Scott is a crusading publisher who leads the way in cleaning up crime and corruption in the Texas town during its frontier days.

They're Strangers

Robert Walker savorsdrops on Ruth Roman and Farley Granger in this scene from "Strangers On A Train." The suspense drama is featured tonight and Monday night at the Terrace Drive-In.

Like The Eskimos

Alan Young and Dinah Shore make love a la Eskimo in this scene from the Technicolor piece, "Aaron Slick from Punkin Crick." This opus, based on the fabulous comedy that has been presented on thousands of school stages, is featured at the Ritz Theatre today and Monday.

'Fort Worth' Story Of Texas City's Pioneer Days

Fort Worth, Texas, takes its bow in the film named "Fort Worth," playing at the Lyric theatre today and Monday.

Starring Randolph Scott, David

Brian and Phyllis Thaxter, the film story (done in Technicolor) tells a story of Fort Worth's early struggle to combat the lawlessness of roving bandits and corrupt politicians. The film presents Scott as a gunfighter-turned-publisher, using his pen in an effort to restore order to the town. However, when his crusading editor is murdered, Scott returns to his sixguns to prevail against the mobsters.

Helena Carter, Ray Teal, Lawrence Toland and Paul Picerni have featured roles.

The felt tents of the Mongol tribes of Asia are called yurts.

'AARON SLICK' AT RITZ
Old Favorite Made Into New Musical

Something new with something old is promised in a novel approach to musical comedy with the presentation of "Aaron Slick from Punkin Crick." This opus is at the Ritz Theatre today and Monday. It presents three stars of widely differing talents and eleven new songs, all wrapped up in Technicolor action. And the public should recognize the title as an old favorite, since it's the same piece that has been shown on school stages all over the country, and has run up to its credit some 50,000 performances.

Alan Young, Dinah Shore and Robert Merrill are in the top roles. Claude Binyon directed and Jay Livingston and Ray Evans handled the musical score, which introduces several new numbers.

"Aaron Slick" is noteworthy on several counts: it marks the screen debut of Metropolitan Opera star Robert Merrill, one of the youngest headliners in the history of New York's Met; it provides versatile TV comedian Alan Young with his first screen starring role; and it gives top vocalist Dinah Shore a fine chance to act as well as sing.

The story of "Aaron Slick" really explains how a hilarious hayseed and his girl from down the road meet up with a scheming tent-show singer. The conniving baritone's attempts to swindle them out of a piece of valuable acreage sees off a spirited round of songs, dance and fun that rolls from bucolic byways to the naughty nighteries of Chicago.

'Chain Gang' On State's Program

"Chain Gang," a fighting reporter's expose of the terrors of a prison chain gang, is the Thursday attraction at the State theatre.

Douglas Kennedy, Marjorie Lord, Emory Parnell and William Phillips are featured in the cast. Howard J. Green wrote the script and Law Lander directed.

Seniors Take Over Station Operation

It's Senior Day again at KBST Wednesday. Members of the graduating class of Big Spring High School will take over full operation of the local station, handling every detail of sales and programs, and sharing in the day's income. The special day has been observed for several years.

Bud Whitney is to be station manager for the day, and will be assisted by Diana Farquhar as program director, and Billy Mac Sheppard and Shirley Riddle as sales managers.

Other members of the sales department include Harold Haynie, Ray Arnold, Bill Moren, Doris Jean Brown, Shirley McGinnis, Mary Jean Armistead.

A group of continuity writers will include Jackie Marchant, Patsy Martin, Maren Tinkham, Shirley McGinnis and Sue Robinson. Carl Preston will serve as traffic manager.

Harold Haynie has been named head engineer, and will be assisted by other seniors.

Voices you will hear as announcers for the day will be those of Haley Hodnett, Jeff Hanna, Lane Bond, Billy Mac Sheppard, Dale Chasney, Chazzy Howie, Jerry Rogers, Ray Arnold, Leon Pettit, Tommy Thigpen, Bobby Adams and Maren Tinkham.

Other seniors will assist in all departments, and several special programs are on schedule.

THE MIDDLE CLASS?

Two economists will discuss the question, "Is the Middle Class Doomed to Extinction?" on America's Town Meeting of the Air. This program is scheduled over KBST Tuesday evening at 8 p.m.

Speaker for the affirmative will be Dr. Leo Wolman, economist for the National Bureau of Economic Research. For the negative Leon Henderson, former OPA director, will take the stand. Marquis Childs, columnist, will be moderator.

JACK BERCH

Songs and stories aimed to touch both the heart and the funnybone are featured this week on the Jack Berch Show, an ABC feature heard over KBST Monday through Friday at 11 a.m. Inspirational thoughts, old songs, and favorite poems are among the show's highlights.

Civil War Days Setting For Action Drama

An episode in the defense of Georgia when Sherman's forces were on the march during the Civil War is the basis for action in "Drums in the Deep South." The picture headlines the State theatre's program today and Monday.

Starred in the leading roles are James Craig as a Confederate officer; Barbara Payton as the wife of another officer, and Guy Madison as a former friend who is now an officer in the invading army. Barton MacLane, Craig Stevens, Tom Fadden, Robert Osterloh, Taylor Holmes and Robert Easton are other principals in the cast.

Embodying many spectacular shots, the picture was made in Superintecolor. It shows the destruction by artillery fire of the rails and rolling stock of a stretch of railway threading its way through a narrow defile at the foot of a steep mountain of granite, on which the Confederates, by superhuman effort, have emplaced their short-range cannon.

A heart-warming romance is embodied in the picture, which was directed by William Cameron Menzies.

Strong Story Of High Piracy Is Offered At Ritz

That plot favorite, piracy on the high seas, provides the action background for "Anne of the Indies," an adventure drama playing at the Ritz Theatre Tuesday and Wednesday.

Replete with sea battles and fast action—with romantic interludes—the picture adds the attraction of Technicolor.

The tale of a pirate king is presented with a variation, since this time it's a pirate queen. She is portrayed by Jean Peters, and co-starring with this young lady are Louis Jourdan and Debra Paget. Others in the cast are Herbert Marshall, Thomas Gomez and James Robertson Justice.

Jean is the ungentle lady officially known as Captain Providence and in the pirate trade as "Anne of the Indies," a protégée of no less a personage than Blackbeard, the master pirate, and himself characterized in the film by Gomez. Jourdan appears as a French sea captain, and Miss Paget is his beloved.

Western Film Has Dietrich And Kennedy

The Ritz theatre puts on its western garb again this week, with the screening of "Rancho Notorious" on Thursday and Friday.

But the regalia carries a certain class with it, since this Technicolor opus has such stars as Marlene Dietrich, Arthur Kennedy and Mel Ferrer.

It has been given the works, according to previews, and an action-packed story of love, hate and revenge, pace and suspense.

"Rancho Notorious" records a folk legend, about a doomed cowpuncher whose fiancée is murdered in a holdup a week before their marriage. The cowpoke (Kennedy) sets off in revenge, and his wanderings lead him across the path of a legendary woman of mystery and power, Miss Dietrich. A friend of the lady's is Mel Ferrer, a cool gunman who sits on the sidelines until the action starts, and then is muchly in the foreground.

Good Time For Checking Up On Tools For Yards

"Fixing up" usually goes hand in hand with "cleaning up," and many Big Spring residents probably will be doing something more than merely collecting trash around their homes during the city-wide clean-up campaign next week.

Regardless, many will find themselves in need of a few tools to accomplish the desired results.

First and foremost, a good strong rake is recommended for the clean-up work. Then, if the project reaches the pruning and "fix up the back steps" stage some other implements will come in handy. A hammer and a saw might be indicated.

Most any routine clean-up and fix-up job can be handled with a hoe, rake, hammer and saw. Not many people around Big Spring this season need a lawn-mower yet, but most everyone, is hoping the time will come when that implement will be an essential to a well kept yard. So, clean-up week may be the proper time to check over the grass-cutting apparatus, or, if there isn't one on hand, perhaps steps should be taken to acquire one.

Pruning can be done with a saw, but if there is any volume, or if a repeat performance is anticipated within a few months, a person might do well to get some specialized pruning equipment. There are a lot of gadgets on the market these days which make pruning swifter and easier.

Such items are an aid not only to cleaning up and fixing up, but also help from time to time in the future to keep things ship shape around the house and lot.

Word On Allocation Of Rental Housing Is Due Next Week

Announcement on the allocation of 300 rental units for Big Spring is due the first part of this week.

The Federal Home Administration district office in Fort Worth Friday made it clear that no allocation had been made so far.

However, it was announced that "serious negotiations are underway."

No action is expected before Monday, but officials indicated that Monday or Tuesday should bring the matter to a definite head.

Pasture Prospects 'Good' In Both Oklahoma, Kansas

By FRANKLIN REYNOLDS
Drouth conditions in West Texas are reflected in the fact that the Blue Stem-Osage pastures of Kansas and Oklahoma are fully leased at record prices.

About 97 per cent of the available grass was under lease on April 1st, compared with 96 per cent a year ago, 62 per cent two years ago, and the ten-year average (1940-1949) of 84 per cent. Department of Agriculture reports, compiled by range specialists from the Denver office, say that pasture feed prospects in this Kansas-Oklahoma area are from very good to excellent, with plenty of moisture in the soil.

These pasture areas wintered more cattle than a year ago, and there was an increase noted in the population of cattle owned by stockmen in those areas. Some cattle were turned in on these pastures last fall and during the early winter from the dry areas of West Texas and other points in the Southwest.

The early leasing of pastures left but a very small acreage to meet the late demands and because of this situation some drouth-ridden cowmen had to ship to pastures in other parts of Oklahoma, Kansas and other states. Lease prices reached a record high early this year, far above the previous record prices of 1951, and lease prices set in February and March were well above those made in January and before the first of the year, except in a few isolated cases.

Pasture prospects are branded from good to excellent in both Oklahoma and Kansas, and pasture grasses got a little earlier than usual start this year although the early-March weather was cool. There was also a good crop of old grass, and cattle in the pasture sections wintered in good condition. Cattle arriving early from the Southwest's dry spots were thin but in strong condition in most instances.

ago, and the ten-year average of 94 per cent.

Kansas Blue Stem lease prices are at record levels generally, exceeding the previous high of 1951 by about 43 per cent. The bulk of the leases for cows and steers were at from $25 to $32 per head, with young cattle at from $18 to $20 a head. The average prices for cows and steers this season is about $27.75 compared with $19.40 last season, $13 in 1950, and the ten-year average of $10.50.

Leases for young cattle average about $19.70 per head this season, compared with $13.90 last season, $9.20 two years ago and the ten-year average of $7.40, while acreage guarantees are a little below last season and are generally 2.5 to 6.5 acres for steers and cows and from 2.5 to 4.5 for young cattle for the season.

The condition of the Oklahoma pastures on April 1st was 92 per cent, the same as a year ago, compared with 82 per cent two years ago and the ten-year average of 90 per cent. Stock ponds are full, and the expected sunshine and warm weather will assure good early grazing in view of the good supply of soil moisture from the winter's rains and snows.

As in Kansas the Oklahoma lease prices are at an all-time high with an increase of from 70 to 75 per cent over the previous record of last season. Leases for cows and steers are mostly from $20 to $30 per head, with young cattle at from $15 to $22 per head. Leases for cows and steers this year average about $25.95 per head, compared with $14.70 last season, $12 two years ago, and the ten-year average of $9.05 per head. Leases for young cattle average about $18.30 per head, compared with $10.70 last season, $8.90 two years ago, and the ten-year average of $6.45, while acreage guarantees are the lowest for several seasons with steers and cows mostly 5 to 7 acres and the young cattle 3 to 5 acres per head for the season.

Stockmen are finding feed prices greatly advanced whether the feed comes inside a barb wire fence or in a sack.

WHAT'S HAPPENED NOW, DEAR? THE CAR SOUNDS FUNNY

VERY FUNNY! WE'RE OUT OF GAS, AND THE LAST FILLING STATION WAS WAY BACK ON THE HIGHWAY!

GLUG!

SPUTTER

FOR PITY SAKES! WHAT KEPT YOU FOLKS? THE ROAST WON'T BE FIT TO EAT!

RAN OUT OF GAS AND I HAD TO TRAMP 3 MILES FOR IT. I FEEL LIMPYER THAN A BATCH OF OVERCOOKED SPAGHETTI!

SAKES ALIVE, SON, YOU DO LOOK TUCKERED OUT. IT'S A GOOD THING I MADE ICED LIPTON TEA FOR DINNER. THERE'S NOTHING LIKE THAT BRISK FLAVOR TO REFRESH A BODY!

I HOPE YOU MADE A BUCKET OF IT! THIS TIRED OLD BODY NEEDS PLENTY OF REFRESHING!

BOY-O-BOY! THIS ICED TEA REALLY HITS THE SPOT! IT SURE HAS A BRACING FLAVOR.

COURSE IT HAS... IT'S LIPTON TEA!

WHEN YOU FEEL ALL WASHED OUT ON A WARM, STICKY DAY... RELAX, AND ENJOY ICED LIPTON TEA. IT DOES MORE THAN QUENCH YOUR THIRST... IT REFRESHES YOU THROUGH AND THROUGH! THAT'S BECAUSE LIPTON'S HAS A BRISK FLAVOR THAT STANDS UP WHEN ICED. A LIVELY, BRACING FLAVOR THAT COMES FROM LIPTON'S OWN SPECIAL WAY OF BLENDING THE CHOICEST ORANGE PEKOE AND PEKOE TEAS

PLEASE, DADDY, SHOW US WHERE THE BROOK IS

DON'T BOTHER YOUR FATHER, CHILDREN. HE'S ALL TIRED OUT!

ME TIRED? DON'T YOU BELIEVE IT! THAT ICED LIPTON TEA GAVE ME A NEW LEASE ON LIFE. C'MON, KIDS... LET'S GO!

WHEN YOU NEED A REFRESHING LIFT, FOLKS... ENJOY ICED LIPTON'S BRISK FLAVOR!

LIPTON TEA
brisk flavor. never flat!

Thrifty, too! Tea, even as choice as Lipton's, costs less than any other drink except water. Make it by the pitcherful on hot days!

US ROUGH RIDERS'LL GET THE "THIEF" THIS TIME!

THEN YOU'LL HAVE MORE 'DE-LISH-US' FROSTEE FOR YOURSELVES!

ARF! ARF! FROSTEE AGAIN! AND, BOY, THIS CHOCOLATE FLAVOR'S JUST AS GOOD AS THE VANILLA I HAD LAST NIGHT!

HEY, MOM! LOOK WHO'S BEEN EATING OUR FROSTEE!

HOPE WE GET SOME FROSTEE FOR OUR REWARD!

COMIN' RIGHT UP, PARDN'RS! IT'S SO EASY 'N' ECONOMICAL I MADE TWO TRAYS OF FROSTEE THIS TIME!

MOM'S SMART! AND SHE MAKES FROSTEE OFTEN, TOO!

OH, BOY, I'M PUTTING NUTS ON MINE FOR A FROSTEE SUNDAE!

LOOK! I MADE A FROSTEE SODA WITH ROOT BEER!

AND I'VE MADE A REFRESHING FROSTEE MILKSHAKE!

ALWAYS FRESH-TASTING 'CAUSE YOU MAKE IT WITH WHOLESOME FRESH MILK!

ARF! ARF!

TASTING IS BELIEVING! IF YOU LIKE ICE CREAM, YOU'LL LOVE FROSTEE!

SO EASY!

TAKES ONLY 5 MINUTES OF MOM'S TIME

It's THAT SIMPLE! And you can serve Lipton Frostee so many, many delicious ways -- "as is" or with sundae toppings of fruits, nuts or sauces. Makes dandy sodas and milkshakes, too. See package for directions and other variations. For rich ice cream, use cream instead of milk.

A SWEET WASH IS A CLEAN WASH

Surf guarantees you a sweeter wash than any soap, any other detergent

Try, smell, and compare!

Try a wash with Surf—then compare the sweet smell of cleanness in your Surf wash with anything that was washed with the product you have been using. You'll be delighted with the new, sweet, clean difference.

Shirts, Sheets, Children's Clothes — Even the Grimiest Work Clothes come sweeter clean when you wash them with Surf.

Just one wash with Surf—one sweet, clean wash—will tell you why we can make this guarantee so confidently.

A Surf wash smells sweeter because it is so clean. Surf not only gets out the dirt and grime you can see in clothes—it also reaches deep into the fabric and gets out the hidden dirt—soap scum and odor—that other wash-day products leave in.

You'll know what a sweet, clean difference Surf makes when you compare your Surf washed clothes with ones you've washed with the product you have been using. With Surf your clothes will smell as clean as they look, and look as clean as they smell. Today, or weeks away, that's your proof that they're clean, clear through.

So—switch to Surf for a sweeter clean wash—in any make of washer, any kind of water! And Surf is kind to your hands.

Unconditional guarantee! The makers of Surf—Lever Brothers Company—guarantee you the sweetest clean wash you've ever had—regardless of the product you now use with or without rinsing—or money refunded.

Try Surf for dishes, too! Surf's rich, rich suds cut grease as no soap can. Your dishes will have a sweet, fresh cleanness you never before thought possible. Not a trace of greasy film. No oily odor in your dishpan. Just Surf's sweet smell of cleanness. Soak and rinse! No wiping necessary! Surf is the easiest way to sparkling dishes.
