Boyer May Work Two Games Today Against the Eagles

SHADE FOR NITRO FANS

The roof of the grandstand is completed and the fans who are out to see the Nitros go against the league-leading Abilene Eagles will have ample protection against the sun.

Rain spoiled the prospects for a game yesterday at Municipal park and the Eagles and Nitros had a ray or rest. What water fell was not enough to put the grounds in bad shape, but Manager Jim thought the prospects looked dark and so called the meeting off.

Ches generally looks like a million dollars about the ninth inning and he has expressed a willingness to go two against the Eagles. If he doesn't, Frank Hadspeith is ready with three days rest after a six-inning job last Thursday.

PRAIRIE DEFEATS PHILLIPS AGAIN IN BANG-UP PASTIME

In a hotly contested game Sunday afternoon, which was a pitchers' battle between Elie of Prairie and Giblin of Phillips, the outlaws of the Prairie bested their antagonists in the final round, 1 to 0. The feature of the game was the support of both pitchers, Dick Jones, center fielder for the Prairie, stabbed what looked to be two hits for extra bases, Herrington, in left and Williams in right, covered their territory well.

Legion Fisticuff Bill Friday Night Has Strong Card

Mickey O'Connell, formerly of Denver, Colo., but now hitting the ball around Strawn, is matched against Jack Arnold, in the main event of a boxing exhibition, at Bryan Hall, 205 Pine street, under the auspices of the American Legion, Friday night. Mickey is a good tough lad and recently put away the prize of Park's camp. Jack's work is familiar to Ranger boot fans. He has lost four goes in 297 starts. Both boys weigh 122.

Times Short Story

PERFUME OF BISCUITS.

By R. RAY BAKER.

At 7 o'clock George Henderson's alarm clock rang down the curtain on the dream, and his eyes sprang open. The room looked the same as always, and yet there seemed something strange about it. Finally it dawned on him that a perfume from the past was seeping up his surroundings—a perfume of making biscuits.

The faint sound of an oven door banging shut and the rattling of pans came from the next room. "The new light housekeepers," George commented, "he mumbled from bed and began to dress. That won't last long, Mrs. Maloney simply won't stand for any baking."

Arriving at his office, George waded into his correspondence, gave instructions to his assistants and clerks, then secluded himself from all callers and gave himself up to day dreams. Elsie Havers was the cause and the subject of these dreams. George could not forget her, although he had seen her last ten years ago.

When George recovered from the blow he discovered he had never loved Vivian; it had been simply a case of infatuation. His thoughts naturally reverted to Elsie, and he attempted to renew his neglected correspondence with her. His letters came back unopened, stamped "undelivered." He wrote to mutual friends and learned that Elsie and her mother had left Harbor Springs and were living in Chicago, although their address was unobtainable.

"Why not pay the old town a visit, anyhow?" he asked himself after a few moments more of cogitation. "It must be a nice spring weather now. Elsie won't be there, but it will be a pleasure to visit the places we used to visit together. I haven't seen the place in ten years."

George awoke at seven the next morning he dressed hastily, packed a suitcase and instead of heading for the office went to the station. Twelve hours later he stepped off the train at Harbor Springs. He was tired, so he went straightaway to bed at the hotel.

George seemed imbued with new life as he walked to the window in his room the following morning and looked over the harbor from which a fresh, invigorating breeze was wafted. He dressed quickly and hurried to the street. As he walked up the bluff his gaze increased. Soon he was swinging along a country road, his shoulders back, his step firm, inhaling pure country air.

"Hello," he called. "Wait a minute!" The driver applied the brakes, and the machine stopped. "Well, well," said the driver. "If it ain't George Henderson!" "Bill Jackson!" George exclaimed, and he extended a hand, which met a firm, warm clasp. "Are you still dealing in maple syrup?" "Not twenty-nine be enough for the stove?" asked George, reaching for his pocketbook. "I haven't tasted maple syrup in ten years."

"None, I can't see it." Bill's face was covered with a multitude of grinning wrinkles as he added, "but I'll give you one, for old time's sake, you know. You used to be my best customer!"

Two years ago this baby was pitching baseball on the Erasmus high school team in Brooklyn. Now he's the sensation of the American League.

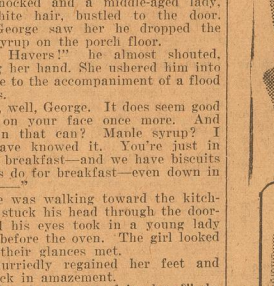

Waite Hoyt, after many false starts, finally reached the heights that John McGraw and other reputable judges of pitching talent predicted for him some years ago. This headstrong youth did not accomplish his arrival over night. Held back by the foibles of youth until this season, it seems that the passing years have ripened his judgment. Curves, fast balls, control and every other mystery that goes to make a finished pitcher, were his when he came to McGraw's protection at fifteen years old, five seasons back. But "temperament" was his weakness. He failed in battles with his manager. Waite has his own ideas, but they seem to work. He is bubbling over with self-confidence. He is bizarre, eccentric and blase. It is difficult to recognize the new Hoyt, now nominally headliner of the Red Sox's pitching staff.

To stay in that position, Waite must continue to keep his natural talents at the present high state. And if he has at last found control of his head, he will stay there.

HOP ON ALEC'S FAST ONE IS WORKING, WHICH MEANS HE'S GOING GREAT GUNS

Recent pictures of Grover Cleveland Alexander in action and at close range.

Alexander's pitching, aided materially by the effective work of Jim Vaughn, is one of the main reasons why the Cubs are now in the battle for first place in the National League. Grover has been there with his war club, too. He has hit over .350 while pitching winning ball and celebrated his tenth straight victory by winning the little of ball game in the tenth inning with a home run. He is hitting .300, which shows what an important part pitching is playing in the team's success. Grover made it easy for the Cub batters in two of his victories by blanking the opposition.

THE STREETS ARE DIRTY.

The business streets of Ranger are disgracefully dirty; further than that, there are collections of debris beside the curbs that are health menaces. Fruit peels, decayed food and vegetables lie all about providing a serious breeding place for flies.

It would probably be well for the city to employ a force of laborers to clean the business streets carefully. The accumulation of sand nearly a half inch deep may easily be swept into piles, collected and carried away.

When the streets are clean, the problem of keeping them so is minimized. In their present condition the excellent pavement is not such a valuable asset. So greatly has soil accumulated that many of the streets resemble more country roads. During wet weather pedestrians are loath to cross because slime is deep everywhere.

The initial cost, as it was said, will be little; the advantages cannot be computed in dollars and cents. From the health standpoint, the work is a vital need. Several hundred dollars expended for sanitary purposes are well spent if one life is saved. It is possible many lives will be saved if the city will clean out the disease breeders on the principal thoroughfares. Typhoid fever, a fly-borne disease; Ranger wants none of it, but an epidemic is possible if measures are not taken to fight flies.

After the streets have been cleaned up the city may employ a man to devote his time to collecting refuse during the day.

Even the smallest towns of less than 5,000 have such a functionary. He works steadily from one end of the street to the other. If one man is unable to keep pace with the work, two may be employed. Such workers are ordinarily old men, for there is no call for speed but rather for patience. The city can well afford the wage of an employee in this capacity would demand.

The original cleaning may take the form of a flushing or a big sweeping day. Flushing suggests itself as the most sanitary if the water is available and drainage is in good condition. Otherwise let it be sweepers who will work behind a sprinkling wagon, to prevent the spreading of unnecessary dust.

At all events, the streets of Ranger are dirty; they discourage the visitors; in them are disease breeders; on rainy days they are covered with slime; in dry weather they are dusty. They must be cleaned or Ranger will not keep up with itself as a growing, progressive city.

CHEVROLET HAS SMALL FORTUNE FROM BIG RACE

INDIANAPOLIS, June 14.—Gaston Chevrolet of Indianapolis is $36,300 richer as a result of his victory in the recent 500-mile automobile race over the Indianapolis Speedway course. His prize money included the $20,000 offered by the promoters of the event for first place 1,300 pounds of the business men's lap purse, and the remainder offered by automobile accessories firms.

Rene Thomas, who won the speedway event several years ago, took second money, $10,000 and also $3,200 more in the lap and accessory prizes. Ralph DePalma, who was five miles in the lead with only thirty miles to go when his machine faltered, took $8,000 in lap money and $3,000 for fifth place.

Speedway officials have indicated that next year's race again will be for cars having a piston displacement of 183 cubic inches or less. James A. Allison, treasurer of the speedway, said an additional $25,000 probably would be added to the purse, making it $75,000 in all. Business men of Indianapolis are considering a suggestion to make up a lap purse of $500 per lap for next year instead of $100.

WHIST DRIVES APPROVED.

LONDON, June 13.—Whist drives have been approved as legal in England. It has been decided that since the prizes are offered by someone not playing, the winning of money in a whist drive does not class as a wager.

I was just looking in the window of a candy and ice cream store yesterday wondering how it would feel to work in there even without any wages, and some lady came up with a little white toy on the end of a chain, saying, "O little boy, will you please hold Fluffie for me for a few minutes? I simply must have a drink of soda water."

And then she gave me a chain to hold, saying, "Now be good, Fluffie, mama's coming rite out agen. And she went rite the store, being a fat lady with thin eyebrows, and the little dog tried to go in after her and started to bark like anything, me holding him back by pulling on the chain, which jest then who came up but Skinny Martin and Leroy Shooster, and they started to laff like anything, Skinny Martin saying, "What is that, Benny, a dog or a fee?"

My don't you get a dog your size, Benny? sed Leroy Shooster.

And Skinny and Leroy Shooster kept on laffing and making insulting remarks, such as, "That's the worst looking dog I ever saw. If I had a dog like that I wouldn't admit it. That's no animal, it's a vegetable. And they was still making them when Mary Watkins and Lorettie Mincer came up. Mary Watkins saying, "O wat a ferfickly bewtiffil little dog, and Lorettie Mincer saying, "O, izent he jes too cunning for anything? I think he's perfectly adorable."

Skinny and Leroy don't think so. They think it's a ferse looking dog, I sed, and Skinny quick sed, "I do not. Can't you take a joke, it's a all rite of a dog, and Leroy sed, "I've saw wers dogs than that, can't you take a joke? Wich jest then the lady came out, saying, "Heers mamma, Fluffie, don't cry, and here's a quarter for the nice little boy for minding you. Meaning me, and she gave me a quarter and I took Mary Watkins and Lorettie Mincer in the store and havt them each a soda and Skinny and Leroy wawked away trying to look independent."

A Sure Sign.

"What a pretty girl old Grayson's got hold of!" exclaimed the envious young fellow to his friend as they watched the skaters.

"Yes," replied the other. "She certainly is pretty. But I think she must be his sister."

"Why?"

"Well, before they came on the ice I heard him ask her if she was never going to learn how to put on her own skates."

NEW LOCK BOXES FOR POSTOFFICE ASSURED FEATURE

The local postoffice will be fitted out with 1,500 lock mail boxes equipped with Yale locks and keys. Postmaster J. F. O'Connell said this morning that he has definite information that the fixtures would be provided. However, he does not know when they will be installed. The new equipment will be of solid oak and will replace the present system of delivery boxes which unlock with a combination. This feature will place the Ranger office on a basis with the best in the state.

ASKED ROOSTER BE STOPPED IN MORNING SONG

MINNEAPOLIS, June 14.—The rooster's early morning crow cannot be restrained by a court order.

Such was the decision of Judge W. W. Bardwell in district court here, after hearing a petition from Dr. C. F. Dight, a former alderman of this city, seeking an injunction to restrain sleep disturbing noises which, he said, came from his neighbor's house and yard.

In his complaint, Dr. Dight alleged his neighbor had a squeaky pump which was operated during slumber hours; that dancing was going on at his neighbor's house at all hours of the night and morning; that a phonograph was being played when its hearers should have been in quiet repose; that pots and pans were thrown maliciously about the kitchen, creating an irritating din, and last but not least, residing in the back yard of said neighbor was the owner of a disturbing crow, all of which curtailed his sleep.

The court, in an opinion from the bench, said it would issue a temporary restraining order requiring that the neighbor not make unnecessary noises at unseasonable hours, but that it was beyond the power of the court to debar the rooster from his crow or restrain him from using it at certain hours.

MAJOR AND MR. WOODCHUCK ARRIVE.

When Major Pole Cat found that these strange creatures were Mr. and Mrs. Woodchuck and their son, he was very glad. He remembered that Mr. Chuck had come to the Forest last fall. "But where did you stay all winter?" asked he.

"Oh, I sleep all winter in a hole in the ground and then on the second day of February I come out to see what the weather is like. And if the sun shines I go back into my hole and stay six weeks, and if the sun does not shine, I stay out—and spring comes to visit me once."

Major had never heard such a story before. He thought this fellow must be a wonderful creature. "So the spring comes at your command?"

"Yes," replied Mr. Woodchuck. "The spring does just as I say. And when the blossoms are all out, I tell him to go back to his home and let summer come, and he does just as I say."

"But where does spring live?" asked Major Pole Cat. "This is all new to me. I know when spring is here, but I never knew where it lived."

"I supposed everybody knew where spring lived, but if you do not I can tell you. Spring lives in the sun and only comes out once a year to visit us, and that is when I call him." Mr. Woodchuck was very glad to tell Major all he knew about spring.

"Well, if that doesn't beat all I ever heard of," said Major. "Now do you know where summer lives? I know when summer is here, but I do not know where summer lives."

"Yes, Summer comes when spring goes back to the sun. Summer puts the fruit in the place where spring had placed the blossoms." Mr. Woodchuck looked up and saw Mr. Sun smiling at him from his home in the sky. "Summer comes abo from the sun just the moment spring returns. Summer is a great friend of mine because it brings me all the food I can eat and makes me fat so I will not have to eat anything all winter."

Major Pole Cat and Mr. Woodchuck and his family had journeyed on until they were very close to the place where Tinker Bob and Bob White were caring for the little Chucks.

"Now," said Major. "I will have to leave you for the King has called me. I do not know what he wants, but I must go alone, for I might be called upon to watch some creature, and therefore I could not be seen with you."

They parted and Major went one way while Mr. Woodchuck and his family went another. It was not long, however, till there was a shrill whistle and a signal from the King that Major understood. And at the right time Major sprang into the presence of the King and took charge of Red Fox. Then the King went to get Mr. Woodchuck and his wife.

Tomorrow—The King is Surprised.

BULGARS WISH ONLY TO HAVE PEACE ALWAYS

SOFIA, Bulgaria, June 14.—Bulgaria will keep the peace despite the loss under the treaty of her provinces of Dobruja and Thrace, Premier Alexander Stambulsky has told the Associated Press correspondent.

"America and the allies may be assured that we shall maintain order and quiet and bear our burdens and trials stoically," he said. "We will face the harsh sentence the peace conference has imposed upon us with courage and fortitude and rely upon internal reconstruction and persevering labor to gain what we have lost in the war. Bulgaria for the moment may be crushed, but she will rise again with new strength and be an example to the world of what patience, industry and national patriotism can accomplish."

The premier referred to Bulgaria's relations with Greece, Serbia and Rumania. "We desire, of course, to live in harmony and good will with our neighbors, but some of their territorial demands are so excessive that any cordial and enduring relationship seems well-nigh impossible. How can our friendship with Greece be permanent while Mr. Venizelos denies us the right of a seaport on the Aegean? And how can our friendly feeling toward Rumania be anything more than artificial and transitory while she insists on holding the Southern Dobruja? With our other neighbors, Serbia, we desire to live on the most agreeable terms; but in the absence of a permanent government there we have not been able to take the necessary steps toward establishing the elements of future friendship."

M. Stambulsky then discussed America's participation in the war and the peace conference. "It was Mr. Wilson's promise that we should gain by peace all that we were striving to gain by war that caused our soldiers to lay down their arms and to capitulate to the great powers. But what did the peace conference do? It trampled our feet all the high principles which your president had enunciated. And Bulgaria was thus completely misled."

"However, with all the tremendous burdens that have been imposed upon us by the allies," Mr. Stambulsky concluded, "we have not lost hope. I look optimistically to the future. The world is in a process of regeneration and re-creation. Mr. Wilson's principles, which were flouted by the allies, are being taken up by the peoples of the earth, whether conquerors or conquered. Inevitably a popular movement will be created which will enforce a revision of the peace treaty. Even in the Allied countries there is much dissatisfaction with it."

TEACHERS ORGANIZE TO BOOST SALARIES

AGENTS SEIZE WHISKY.

RAVENNA, O.—Eighteen hundred quarts of whisky, on route from Pittsfield to Akron, were seized by Sheriff J. W. Stevens ten miles south of here. The men were driving an automobile and a truck.

AVIATOR IS KILLED.

CLEVELAND, Ohio.—Neal C. Montis of Maywood, Ill., a mechanic, was killed, and J. P. Harris of Chicago, pilot, was seriously injured when a mail plane they were flying went into a nose dive and fell 600 feet here. W. L. Smith of New York, who had just brought the mail from Bellefonte, Pa., in another machine, was a passenger and escaped with slight bruises. The plane had just started for Chicago on its regular trip.

ISLANDS MAY CAUSE WAR.

PARIS.—While the League of Nations is solemnly forming the machinery and laying the foundation for a future Utopia a new war seems brewing between Sweden and Finland in the north. The bone of contention is the ownership of the Aland Islands, located in the Baltic Sea, at the entrance to the Gulf of Bothnia. Each is equally covetous of gaining possession of the group of islands and both have made claims, although the Alands were neutralized by the treaty of Paris in 1856.

COULD NOT HOLD OUT LONGER

Virginia Lady Realized She Couldn't Stay Nervous, Weak, Pale, and Hold Out Much Longer. Cardui Helped Her.

Dublin, Va.—Mrs. Sallie Hughtet, of Route 2, this place, recently related her interesting experience in recovering her health, saying: "When I came on I was in a very bad condition and nothing the doctor gave me did me any good. Some say you have to let this take its course. . . but I knew there ought to be something to give relief. I was so nervous, weak and pale. I could eat or sleep to do any good, and I felt I couldn't stand this very long. "I heard and read of Cardui, and how it had benefited other women in the same condition, so decided to use it myself. After my first bottle I felt better, so of course kept it up, and it did the work. "It helped me as nothing else did. I began to pick up right away. I ate and slept and could rest. I knew I was getting better. I kept it up and it did wonders for me."

Thousands of women, suffering as this Virginia lady did, have used Cardui with equally happy results, and voluntarily relate their experiences so that others troubled with disorders common among women, may learn to take Cardui. Let your druggist supply you, today.—Adv.

ONION ISLAND TO CELEBRATE ANNIVERSARY

HAMILTON, Bermuda, June 14.—Bermuda, the oldest remaining British "plantation," is preparing to celebrate its centenary this autumn, for which purpose 2,000 pounds have been appropriated. Since the Prince of Wales announced the other day that he meant to call on his royal subjects, they hit on a scheme of combining two festive occasions and having one grand affair on October 7 when the Renown, with the heir to the throne aboard, is to cast anchor here.

It was August 1, 1620 that the colonial parliament held its first sitting, but as the royal engagements cannot very well be altered, it was thought wise to set back the gala date.

For nearly 300 years the business of governing this tiny outpost of the empire has gone on under the same forms without material change. It is natural that the 20,000 inhabitants of the twenty square miles of coral rock should wish to honor their aged constitution.

Originally founded by a shipwrecked company under Sir George Somers, destined for Virginia in 1609, the islands have remained continuously under British rule.

Revenues are raised chiefly from tariff duties. No land taxes are levied by the colony. There is a very light tax on realty in the parishes and the proceeds are used for the maintenance of the poor.

There are no divorce laws in Bermuda and only one breach of promise case was ever tried here. Most of the cases on the calendar involve bicycle stealing, assault, or theft; there is little serious crime, though in a region where everyone rides a wheel the theft of a bicycle is regarded somewhat as horse stealing was in the West a few years ago.

There are old-timers here who have never set eyes on a train or trolley car, but of late they have had the satisfaction of seeing flying boats circling through the air.

Innovations of any kind are apt to be looked upon with some suspicion. The majority is conservative and that is perhaps why so much sentiment is attached to the coming celebration of the 300-year-old constitution.

CHINA'S FOREIGN TRADE IS DAILY INCREASING

SHANGHAI, June 14.—Growth of China's foreign trade is shown in a report just issued, giving customs revenues of the 48 ports in China in which duties were collected. The total collections for last year amounted to 46,000,160 Haikwan taels, an increase over the revenues collected in 1918 of 9,094,115 Haik. The Haikwan tael, unit of customs value in China, ranges in value from $135 to $150 gold.

DANZIG AND POLAND SIGN PEACE TREATIES

REMOVES CAUSE OF HEADACHE

Doctors Condemn Remedies That Merely Relieve the Pain—Claim Aspirinal Also Removes Cause—Absolutely Safe.

Doctors and druggists are delighted with Aspirinal, the new elixir that relieves headache (and colds) within two minutes and also removes the cause and prevents the return of headache the next day by gently acting on the liver, "correcting biliousness and constipation which are usually the cause of headache. The next time you have a headache go to your nearest drug store, hand the clerk half a dollar for a bottle of Aspirinal and tell him to serve you two tea-spoonful in a little water. With your watch in your hand count off two minutes and call for your money back, as per manufacturer's guarantee, if you can't feel your headache fading away within the time limit. Your druggist invites you and expects you to try Aspirinal. Everybody is doing it. Adv.
