MORE DOPE ON RANGER REF'G & P. L. COMPANY

Texas Properties in Hands of Receivers Appointed By Abilene Court.

The Texas properties of the Ranger Refining & Pipe Line company are absolutely in the hands of R. A. Stewart and W. D. Girard, receivers appointed by the federal court of Abilene. This statement has been made by Mr. Stewart, one of the receivers. Outside of Texas the company's properties are under the direction of W. DeWitt Kuhn of Kansas City and K. A. Crowley of Eastland, receivers appointed by the federal court of Kansas City, Mo. Neither set of receivers has the right to interfere in any way in the work of the other set, according to Mr. Stewart.

W. H. Fouke, who has a court order making the Texas men receivers for the property in this state also has a written appointment from Girard and Stewart placing him in custody of the properties. The document states that he shall not brook interference from any source in carrying out the orders of the federal court. Federal Judge Wilson of Fort Worth will hear both sides of the controversy and probably place the properties under the control of one set of receivers. In case such an action is taken it is anticipated the hearing will be appealed to the circuit court for adjudication. Mr. Fouke, who has been with the refining company for several months, said this morning that he is following out the orders of the Texas court by selling all the products of the refinery that are on hand and otherwise converting such articles into cash as he was directed to do by the court. It is Mr. Fouke's opinion that some scheme will be worked out whereby the Texas properties will be leased for operation.

It is his statement that last spring the Ranger refinery was earning a net profit of $50,000 a month. At that time a recapitalization took place from which the company emerged capitalized at $15,000,000. It was after this the Tiffin plant was purchased and also a pipe line through the Pleasant Grove section. It is also his opinion that if the concern can be shown to be solvent, Eastern capitalists who are already heavily involved will furnish the money to again put it into operation. In this event Mr. Fouke said the head offices of the company would be located in Ranger and its affairs put into the hands of men who are conversant with the oil business. The company is now in involuntary bankruptcy through mismanagement, Mr. Fouke thinks.

RANGER'S FIRE RECORD PAST THIRTY DAYS GOOD

Ranger fires in the past thirty days have been almost nil. Such as have happened do not involve a great loss, probably less than $1,000. While no figures are available this record is considered remarkable, and much credit is given the fire department since several incipient blazes could have developed into disastrous fires. Late Friday afternoon the department was called out on Tiffin road to answer a false alarm.

THRILLING BATTLES OF FIRST U. S. NAVAL ACE ARE RECOUNTED.

Trans-Atlantic flier NC-4 was planned and designed for war service—Remarkable achievements of naval aviation—Naval aviators were first of American armed forces to reach France—More than 15,000,000 miles traveled by naval planes—Story of the first naval ace.

Few people realized when they read the story of the NC-4's flight from Rockaway, L. I., to Plymouth, England, in the spring of 1919, that the preparations for that remarkable voyage and record smashing achievement had been begun in September, 1917. Admiral David D. Taylor, chief constructor of the navy, of course frequently discussed with me problems relating to aviation. One day in September of our first war year he sent for Naval Constructors Westervelt and Hunsacker.

"I want a plane designed that will fly across the Atlantic," he told them, as quietly as though he were ordering poached eggs for breakfast.

They realized what a task he had imposed, but set about it immediately. The undertaking aroused my warmest enthusiasm. It was a big project, ex-

MRS. HAMON ILL.

CHICAGO, May 14.—Mrs. Jake L. Hamon, widow of the Oklahoma oil millionaire and politician, was under the care of a physician at her home here today. She suffered from a nervous collapse. Mrs. Hamon was said to have been ill since the trial of Clara Smith Hamon on a charge of murdering Jake Hamon.

CITY SANITARY DEPT. AWAITS COPY OF LAW

Will not Require Health Certificates of Restaurant Employees Prematurely.

The city's sanitary department will not require health certificates from employees of restaurants and other places as required by a state law that became effective May 10, until such time as a copy of the law has been received. Even after it is in the hands of the department ample time will be given those it affects to comply with its terms before drastic action is taken, according to Wade Swift, sanitary inspector.

While it has not yet been verified, it is understood that the law will require health certificates from cooks, waiters, waitresses, barbers, operators of cold drink stands, hamburger stands, grocery clerks, fruit vendors and others who are in such a position that they are calculated to spread contagious diseases. The law is aimed especially toward preventing the spread of venereal diseases and tuberculosis, and those so affected will have to remove themselves from positions wherein they may be an agent through which the maladies might spread. Those free from any contagious disease must produce a bill of health when called upon.

Must Cover Trash Cans.
Early next week Mr. Swift said he will take drastic action with those who are failing to obey notices to keep trash boxes and swill cans covered, as ordered by the sanitary department. However, he said, only in a few places had he found lack of co-operation on the part of the people.

It is his statement that within the next six weeks the city will be in a high state of sanitation. This will be true, he asserted, because of the support the people are giving the department.

BRECKENRIDGE, May 14.—In the trial of C. E. Callahan, charged with theft of $4,000 worth of casing from the Virginia County, the jury yesterday returned a verdict of guilty, and assessed the punishment at eight years' confinement. Dyer Jolly, who in April killed his brother-in-law, W. E. Best, pleaded guilty yesterday. His plea for justification was that Best had repeatedly abused his sister. The court imposed a two-year suspended sentence.

Charlie Mims One of 6 Prison Guards Capture

NEFF TO INVESTIGATE.

By United Press

AUSTIN, May 14.—It is probable Governor Neff will go to Huntsville as soon as opportunity affords and personally investigate Thursday's mutiny, it was learned today. No official announcement has yet been made from the governor's office, however. The governor has not yet received the invitation from Mayor I. N. Adickes, Huntsville, to visit that city and investigate the state prison.

RING LEADERS CAPTURED.

HUNTSVILLE, Texas, May 14.—Ring leaders of the state penitentiary mutiny, from which forty convicts escaped Thursday, were captured in the woods fourteen miles west of here about 6 o'clock this morning, according to Capt. Jake Herring, chairman of the prison commission. The men taken included G. R. Anderson, Paris county, 25 years; Louis Dodd, Burnet county, 39 years; C. C. Mims, Eastland county, 10 years; Arthur Spraggins, Bahr county, 10 years; H. L. Watson, Ellis and Benton counties, 4 years.

They were captured by three guards without a fight. They had been sleeping in the woods when the bloodhounds led the guards to their hiding place.

DESPERATE BUT SUBMISSIVE.
Anderson, Dodd and Watson, considered the most desperate of all the characters who escaped and who declared they would never be taken alive but guns, but according to Herring did not try to use them.

They were worn out from their flight, and said they had been without food ever since the prison break.

With most of the men back behind the bars, Captain Herring began an investigation of the prison riot today.

Only thirteen of the forty men who escaped are yet to be accounted for. Twenty-five have been recaptured and two have been slain.

MIMS "WORKED" IN RANGER.
Mims, who was sent up for ten years in connection with the daylight robbery of the Oklahoma cabaret in Ranger, early last September, also is under a five-year sentence for a Fort Worth killing and confessed a part in the Graham bank robbery in August, 1920. He also was accused of being a member of the bandit band which robbed the Pine street gambling house a few days before the holdup at the Oklahoma.

He was captured immediately after the Oklahoma affair, after a running street fight in which Deputy Sheriff John Barnes was shot in the foot. Bravery of Chief of Police Reynolds and Night Sergeant Pat Singleton, who burst into a rooming house after the bandits had entered and fired from the windows, led to the arrest of Mims and Dan Hamilton. Hamilton was killed Friday by officers searching for the fleeing convicts.

HAMILTON PULLED JOB HERE.
Dan Hamilton was tried on Sept. 25, 1920, and given ten years for participation in the robbery of the Pine street gambling house early in September. He was one of several men convicted for this affair.

On Jan. 1, while still being held in jail at Eastland, he escaped but was recaptured about a week later.

TWENTY NEAR HOUSTON.
HOUSTON, May 13.—Twenty convicts have been located near North Houston on the county line it was reported here from Huntsville today. Officers sent from Houston and the prison are prepared to battle with the men.

IVAN MAN, ALLEGED EMBEZZLER, IS HELD AT PARSONS, KANSAS

Special to the Times

BRECKENRIDGE, May 14.—E. D. Wells, alleged embezzler in connection with the failure of the Ivan Bank, who was indicted by a grand jury several months ago, has been placed under arrest at Parsons, Kansas. Deputy Sheriff Wolford left last night for the prisoner.

STRIKE OF TUG BOAT CREWS AT GALVESTON BEGINS WITH WALKOUT

GALVESTON, May 14.—Refusal of tug boat engineers to move the shipping board steamer Lackawanna Bridge today precipitated a strike of tug boat crews in Galveston. All tug boats in the port are tied up and operators are paying the men off. C. H. Marshall, district agent for the shipping board, said efforts will be made to get non-union men to man the tug boats.

MEXICAN SCIENTISTS GIVE UP SEARCH FOR TYPHUS GERM

MEXICO CITY, May 14.—Search for the typhus germ, for the discovery of which the newspaper Universal offered a prize of 25,000 pesos, has been abandoned by the numerous Mexican physicians who sought it, the newspaper's offer has been withdrawn.

MEXICO HAS ENOUGH CLEAR WHITE PINE TO LAST A HUNDRED YEARS

By Associated Press

EL PASO, May 14.—The area of clear white pine beginning in western Chihuahua, Mexico, embraces 3,500,000 acres and will afford a daily cutting of 1,500,000 board feet of lumber for the next 100 years, according to a folder describing the territory around El Paso, which has just been published by the chamber of commerce.

The folder said that the livestock industry in this section of the United States and northern Mexico represents $250,000,000, capable of making $40,000,000 worth of products annually. Hides, leather, wool, mohair and fertilizers amount to $70,000,000 and mine products to a like amount.

HOW'S THIS? HERE'S GUN BUILT SO IT'LL SHOOT ROUND A CORNER

DETROIT, May 14.—A device that permit a gun to be shot "in a circle" has been invented by Alex. T. Fisher of Detroit. The United States war department has just sent him two Springfield rifles which he will equip with his device and he hopes to obtain the endorsement of the government.

Friends of Fisher substantiate his claim that a gun so equipped will enable a policeman to shoot around a corner and maim a robber, without being exposed to a return fire.

BULLETS RAIN ON HOUSES IN WEST VIRGINIA

Mountaineers Come Down in Force and Fire on Towns at Close Range.

WASHINGTON, May 14.—Major General George W. Read, commanding the Fifth Army Corps, area at Indianapolis, has been instructed immediately to dispatch federal troops to the Mingo, West Virginia, coal district, if he thinks it necessary. Secretary of War Weeks announced today.

FIGHTING INCREASES. WILLIAMSON, W. Va., May 14.

The heaviest fighting of the three-day mine workers' war in Mingo County broke out at noon today. Fighting factions hidden in the West Virginia and Kentucky hills let loose repeated volleys. Blackberry City and Auburn Gates, Springs, New Howard, and Merrimac were subjected to hot fusillades.

Captain J. R. Brockus with a detachment of state police commandeered special trains and started for the Tug river valley section.

Destination of the special train hearing state police was kept secret. Belief here was the train would run the gauntlet of fire through New Howard in an attempt to effect rescue there. New Howard was reported under particularly heavy fire. Every house in the colony was reported bullet-riddled.

A large force of men descended from the Kentucky mountains and opened fire in Merrimac at close range. The attackers were reported ready to cross the river into West Virginia. A concerted attack on Mottawan opened shortly after the general battle was resumed. Fighting in the streets there was reported.

CONSIDER SENDING TROOPS. WASHINGTON, May 14.—President Harding and Secretary of War Weeks are considering sending federal troops into the embattled district in West Virginia, it became known today.

A telegram was received by President Harding from Governor Morrow of Kentucky on the fight that has been going on for the past few days along the Kentucky-West Virginia border. The telegram said complete data on the situation had been sent to Weeks with a request for federal troops.

SIX DEAD, MANY WOUNDED. WILLIAMSON, W. Va., May 14.

Hostilities in the Mingo mine war broke out with increased fury early today. The dawn of the third day of fighting in the hills above here brought reports here of six dead and many wounded, with possibility that the casualty list would grow.

Attempts at peace late last night failed when both of the warring factions refused to stop their hail of bullets until the other side was silent.

Battle All Night.
The flare of revolvers and pistols up and down the Tug river for twelve miles continued through the night. The battle died down shortly after midnight, but was resumed at day-break.

Communications with the battle area were still interrupted this morning but the course of the fighting was plainly discernible. Shots continued pouring into the half-dozen little mining colonies in the valley between the two mountain sides.

Some of the reported dead were lying in the range of fire and could not be rescued.

Miner Killed.
Dan Whit, a miner, is among the latest victims. He left the mouth of the mine yesterday to procure water for women and children huddled in the mine mouth. He was killed before he had taken twenty steps into the line of fire.

The battle opened Thursday morning between miners who have been on strike a year and those who have taken their places in the coal fields. Two were reported killed the first day. The casualties were increased by two yesterday, with reports that at least two other victims were known.

TWENTY-FIVE MILLION GASSER EXTENDS FIELD NEAR BRECKENRIDGE

BRECKENRIDGE, May 14.—Completion of the Johnson Oil Company's number one Yeaman for 600 barrels and 25,000,000 gas, extends the proven territory a North Breckenridge anticline for more than a mile. Acreage transactions in the vicinity of the tract last week were approximately $500,000 in the location eight miles north of the city.

POST DECLARES LLOYD GEORGE FEARS GERMANY

Premier's Denunciation of Polish Revolt Fails to Win Unanimous Support.

LONDON, May 14.—Premier Lloyd George's denunciation of the Polish revolt in the house of commons yesterday failed to win unanimous support of London newspapers today. The Daily Express commended the prime minister's honesty, courage and statesmanship and insisted Poland "must be taught she cannot be allowed to become a disturbing element in Europe." The Morning Post charged the minister with "bitter partisanship, intense dislike of Poland, pusillanimous fear of Germany and ignorance of European politics."

TIRE STEALING COMBINE FOUND AT WORK HERE

Automobile tires valued at more than $3,000 have been stolen from the warehouse of a local automobile concern and sold locally. A complaint has been issued for one of the men thought to have been implicated in the steal and his arrest is expected at any hour. Two of the tires are said to have been found under such circumstances that the evidence points strongly towards the man for whom the complaint has been issued. The man has been employed in an automobile shop other than the one from which the tires were stolen.

It is the belief of the officers that a collusion existed between a part of the employees of the firm from which the tires were stolen and the man for whom the complaint has been issued. The latter selling the stolen product. In addition to the tires it is thought that the warehouse of the automobile firm has been rifled of much other valuable merchandise.

Officers are working on the case and hope to have it cleared up within a few hours.

TULSA LAWYERS OFFER BIG REWARD IN CASE OF DEATH MYSTERY

TULSA, May 14.—A reward of $1,000 for the "murderer or murderers" of Judge John Deveraux has been offered by the Tulsa County Bar association. A committee of five appointed by the association has entered the field and is conducting an investigation.

Although police officers today were inclined towards the theory that Judge John Deveraux, aged jurist who died under mysterious circumstances here Wednesday night, sustained the blow on the head by falling against a radiator at his room in a local hotel county investigators were refusing to depart from the theory of slugging and poisoning.

In continuing his investigation in this direction the county attorney points out that when Mrs. Jesse James was first arrested she said the condition of the jurist was not discovered until after 10 o'clock at night while A. P. Dickson, who was held for investigation said the judge was found lying on the floor of his room at 5 o'clock in the afternoon.

SENATOR OWEN FILES PETITION TO REMOVE RECEIVER FROM LAND

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., May 14.—United States Senator Robert L. Owen of Oklahoma, filed a petition before the United States supreme court asking for removal from the control of the receivers of 156 acres of land, located in the Red river bed, Attorney General S. P. Freeling of Oklahoma, said he was advised today. Owen's petition, according to Freeling, declares he purchased the land in question from the government in 1913.

ENGLAND WOULD BACK GERMANY IN A NEW WAR

Lloyd George Tells France Teutonic Are Entitled to Quell Polish Uprising.

CRISIS IMPENDS!

By United Press
PARIS, May 14.—The Upper Silesian situation is rapidly developing into an international crisis holding the dual danger of a Polish-German war and a split in the entente, according to well informed observers here today.

Premier Lloyd George's speech in the house of commons practically threatening Poland has caused a great sensation throughout France, both in official and unofficial circles. Anglo-French relations are being strained to the breaking point, several Paris newspapers declared in commenting on Premier Lloyd George's speech.

At the same time it was learned from semi-official sources that France is determined to enforce her program of awarding most of the industrial district in Upper Silesia to Poland, which Britain opposes.

In this connection it was stated that Premier Briand will refuse to participate in the next meeting of the supreme council unless he is assured the allies will accept in principle his Polish policy.

SILESIA NOT GERMAN.
The premier summoned the newspaper correspondents to his office and through them made a direct reply to Lloyd George. He flatly denied Lloyd George's assertion that Upper Silesia is of German origin. He declared that France would never accept a settlement giving the mining regions in dispute to Germany.

The premier admitted there was absolute disagreement between the allies, Britain holding one thesis, Italy another, France another and that they were unable to get together. Briand said the supreme council would be glad to receive any opinion expressed by the United States on the Upper Silesian situation.

FRANCE UPSET

PARIS, May 14.—"France could not be disinterested if Germany sent troops into Upper Silesia to attack the Poles," Premier Briand declared this afternoon in replying to Premier Lloyd George's speech in the house of commons yesterday. "If Germany sends in her troops, it will bring very, very grave consequences," he continued, "so grave that I refuse to discuss them."

FIRST CARLOAD CRUSHED ROCK PLACED ON ROAD

The three-unit rock crusher of the Fleming Construction Company at Eastland placed its first carload of stone on the county road Friday, according to a telephone statement made this morning by George Davison, who is in charge of the Eastland office of the road building company.

Beginning Monday Mr. Davison said the crusher will run at its full capacity which should reach 800 yards a day. Already one mile and a half of industrial track has been built over which to haul the crushed stone. This track is the same as is being used on the Caddo road. A gasoline engine of the government type is used and pulls small cars which are loaded at the crusher. The track can be laid and taken up with dispatch since it comes in sections which are connected by the use of only two bolts to each joint. Several miles of this trackage is in storage in the road building company's material yards at Eastland. The first stone will be laid on the Gorman road south, Mr. Davison said.

FEMALE 'BLUEBEARD' SAYS SHE CARRIES GERMS OF TYPHOID

HONOLULU, May 14.—Mrs. Lydia Southard, alleged feminine "bluebeard," told the United Press today that she believes she is a typhoid carrier and that this explains the death of four of her husbands and a brother-in-law. "I am innocent of any wrongdoing, but I do believe that I may be a typhoid carrier," she said, in an exclusive interview. "All of my husbands died of typhoid. I have physicians' certificates to prove it."

FRANCE LAYS PLANS TO BE READY FOR WAR

Deputies Appointed to Investigate Resources to Meet Emergency Instantly.

By NEWTON C. PARKE, International News Service Staff Correspondent.

PARIS, May 14.—France will not be caught napping in the next war. Plans for industrial, economic agricultural, as well as military mobilization of the country's resources at a moment's notice, are being worked out by a group of members of the chamber of deputies, headed by Lieutenant-Colonel Fabry, noted military critic. They took into account not only technical needs in time of warfare, but the morale of the French and the enemy population and the question of alliances with other powers.

Marshal Foch, Marshal Joffre, members of the supreme war council, Generals Nivelle, Debeney, Maistre and a number of coming men in the French military establishment have been consulted on purely technical details. Former President Poincare and several present and former cabinet members have contributed suggestions for a "moral" mobilization of the French people and for undermining opinion in enemy countries from the very outbreak of the war.

The retention of compulsory military service is naturally the first feature of these plans. With this in view the deputies' group will be on the alert to combat any attempt by the radical socialists or communists to de-feat conscription, though there is little likelihood that any serious attempt will be made for many years.

The recent feature which concerns only the military experts calls for the drawing up of plans to prevent a repetition of the invasion of France by the Germans at the outbreak of the World War, and to make France's frontier absolutely inviolable. In no other way, it is pointed out, can the nation's industrial resources be entirely at her disposal during a war.

Seek Good Will of Allies.

A complete census of French industrial establishments will be taken. This will note the rapidly with which they can be adapted to the manufacture of war supplies, their situation with reference to quick transportation of war products and the extent to which their male workers may be replaced by women.

The agricultural census will be no less complete. It is planned to have at all times in the possession of the government minutely detailed statistics regarding production in every commune, the degree to which that production will be reduced by the withdrawal of farm workers for service in the army and the centers from which food supplies may be most quickly and cheaply handled.

Both the industrial and agricultural census will be renewed from time to time and kept as up-to-date as the plans of the military strategists.

The first conclusion reached by the

STEALING WINTER COAT THIS WEATHER LUNACY, JUDGE FENLAW SAYS

A Mexican woman was before Justice of the Peace Roger Fenlaw yesterday on a charge of forcibly entering another Mexican's house and stealing a woman's heavy velvet coat. The charge was dismissed by the judge after hearing the evidence, in which it was shown that the woman charged with stealing the coat at least believed she had a right to enter the house and take it because she said she had bought it from the husband of the woman from whom it was stolen.

Apart from the evidence the judge said that he would have released the woman anyway.

"A woman who would steal a heavy coat in this weather," he declared, "could be guilty of only one thing and that would be lunacy."

FAIR SENORITAS WHO RETURN ONLY SMILES FOR WAGES MUST GO

By Associated Press.

MEXICO CITY, May 14.—Pretty-faced senoritas who have been employed in government offices, principally because of the pleasant smile they gave department heads, are to be ousted from their present positions and men are to take their places, according to a recent official announcement. After President Obregon's recent order that every cabinet officer must investigate the worthiness of his employees, it was discovered that hundreds of girls were drawing federal pay with duties that called for only occasional work.

All such are to be discharged, provision being made, however, that they shall be retained if they are assisting in the support of their parents or other near relatives.

SHIPPING BOARD GIVES GALVESTON BOY SCOUTS USE OF TWO LIFEBOATS

By Associated Press.

GALVESTON, May 14.—Two 24-foot lifeboats, equipped for sailing, have been placed at the disposal of Galveston's troop of Sea Scouts by the United States shipping board. With their receipts, two boat crews of eight boys each, under the direction of Skipper F. R. Stansberry, began active work in the handling of small sailing vessels.

The two boat crews, according to Skipper Stansberry, will take their two lifeboats with them to Kemah, their summer camp, 35 miles up the bay, from Galveston, for a ten days' outing beginning June 20. Ropework, manipulation of the different canvasses aboard a sailing vessel and navigation problems will constitute the work of the Sea Scouts at Kemah.

After the summer camp at Kemah the two life boats will be placed in Offatts' bayou here.

Go to Church Sunday

Every church that contends for enlightenment of the masses, advocates a higher moral standard, promotes public enterprise and works for the uplift of men and women, is a stone in the structure of civilization.

On the state of civilization attained depends the prosperity of the individual and the enjoyment of life by terrestrial inhabitants.

Your dollars build comfortable and magnificent houses of worship and with its assistance "the poor have the gospel preached unto them" but—

There is something worth much more to the church than your money—

And that something is your presence at its services and your hearty co-operation in every phase of its work.

Ranger is no longer an oil camp, but a young, rapidly growing city.

Upon your continued co-operation with the church depends, in a large measure, the future of the city.

Your have been liberal with your money, and moderately so with your presence, but the time has come when we must more fully co-operate.

BINGLES AND BREAKS GIVE SWATTERS VICTORY IN NINTH, 6-5

Four Runs in Eighth and Ninth Give Sweetwater Second Straight.

Friday, May Thirteenth, smote the Nitros amidst yesterday, just as they rounded into the stretch, three lengths to the good. It seemed all over but the counting, but the Swatters, using the whip viciously, came from behind and won by a nose, 6 to 5. It was a distinct upset, for on form previously shown, Nicholas Carter and his fellow Nitros should have won hands down.

Nick had gotten away to a fairly bad start, being nicked rather frequently in the early innings, giving the Swatter two runs, both earned. Then his curves began to break and from the fourth to the seventh, the only Swatter to have a free trip. But in the eighth, maybe the curve wasn't breaking, and the Swatters put two runs across, and duplicated the feat in the ninth. They edged under the wire on a tally to the good, as the Nitros went out in their half, leaving the tying run on second. The Nitros played a bang-up fielding game most of the way, but twice their beloved squeeze play went wrong and resulted in double plays, thus cutting off scores. Once the bases were full and alone down, but nary a run crossed the plate. The pinch punch was lacking. The veteran Fleaharty was calm throughout every ordeal and got away without disaster on three occasions, though he was three runs to the bad when he retired in the seventh.

Ranger Boy, Whitey Em, Gordon, and Barker pitched the last two innings for the Swatters. He celebrated his entry by striking out Carter, Clapp and York on ten pitched balls. He was touched for a single in the ninth and walked one man but escaped without being scored upon and gets credit for winning the game.

Sweetwater scored in the first, when Whitney singled, was sacrificed to second and scored on Neely's double. Ranger took the lead in the third, on Johnny Singleton's foolishly-wise base running, plus Lovley's hit. Clapp had walked. He took second on York's infield out. Singleton hit to left and Pipkin's throw to the plate, held Clapp at third, though Johnny took second on a single. Whitney wrote Lovley up, Johnny ambled down toward third. He was about six feet from the bag when Byers took the pitch. Byers shot it back to Fleaharty as Johnny darted back toward second, and when Fleaharty threw to catch him, Clapp broke for the plate, scoring the Nitros first run. Johnny took third on the play and counted when Lovley dropped a short line to right. Sweetwater tied it in the fourth, when Thrash strolled and came all the way home on Mason's fast knock down the third base line. Mason was caught at third on a close play.

Squeeze Falls.
In the fifth Murphy bunted into the air after Singleton had gone to second on a single, which Neely dropped, and Lovley had sacrificed him to third, the squeeze was on and an easy double resulted. But in the sixth, Harding knocked the props from under Whitney and was safe at first. Tolar bunted and both were safe when Ezell dropped the throw to second. With Allen up, both runners steamed up for the next base. Fleaharty's serve was a pitch, back of the batter, but Harding slid safely into third. Allen hit a short line to center and both Harding and Tolar counted when Neely tried to knock the grandstand down with his throw to the plate.

York's triple to left and a wild pitch gave another run in the seventh. It was followed by a walk, a hit batsman and a forecatcher that failed, filling the bases. But Harding rained and Tolar and Allen lifted short flies.
The Swatters got to Nick in the eighth and ninth, both times with two out, scoring the winning tallies. Nick's failure to cover first cost the two runs in the eighth, as Yark took Johnston's fast one in plenty of time to throw the runner out. In the ninth, Clapp plainly misjudged Ezell's long liner, and it went over his head for a triple, scoring the tying run. Neely's fast bouncer to Murphy counted Ezell with the winner.

TENTH INNING BOBBLE GIVES GAME TO BRONCS

ABILENE, May 14.—Comstock's error in the tenth inning lost the game to the Broncs in T. P. park here Friday, by the score of 7 to 3. The game had an exciting finish, each of the teams scoring in the tenth, and the Eagles, having the bases flocked when the gong went.

San Angelo began operations in the first inning when Truesdale singled, Lewis doubled, Brown got a two bagger, and Conkrite threw in a circuit clout for good measure, running up a four-run lead on Croswon. In the eighth, Abilene threatened to win when a walking bee began in the Broncho staff, which required three of Robinson's hurlers to stop.

THE UNTAMED.

"They that live by the sword shall perish by the sword."

That matter of fact statement, made thousands of years ago, is as true today as it was on the day it was uttered.

Witness: Dan Hamilton, ex-convict. Hamilton is an ex-convict because he is a dead convict. He broke into the penitentiary by the use of the sword, figuratively speaking, when he assisted in an armed holdup in Ranger. He broke out of the penitentiary by the use of the sword, and he broke into the hereafter by the same means.

Humanitarians may argue otherwise, but it is doubtful if they can prove by records that either kindness and forgiveness or punishment and hard treatment ever reformed a man who had set his foot upon the path of pillage. Such men, as a rule, are as a jungle lion, a foe to the peaceful if allowed to roam at large, and a constant menace even behind the bars.

It may sound heartless, but it would seem that the world would be better off without criminals who have no aversion to violence. It would simplify the problem to just calmly and quietly put them out of the way.

For man has no unavoidable title to life. He only holds it by sufferance of his fellows, and is entitled to it only so long as he conducts himself with due regard to the rights of others. So far as this world is concerned, he is but a cog in a highly involved maze of machinery, and if he hatters and splinters other cogs which are performing their normal function, he should be thrown aside.

THE WOMAN WHO SAW

The Woman confesses at the start that she finds the very mention of a budget alarming. When it comes to determining whether one-third or three-eighths of one's total income should be spent for rent, and what proportion of the twenty-four hours should be devoted to the division labeled "Church, Charities and Culture," she gives up in despair. So she has always stood a little in awe of her friend Mrs. Commuter, whose home seems to run like clockwork, whose household bills keep within fixed bounds and who finds time over from housekeeping and children to give committees and drives and all sorts of worthy enterprises. She voiced a little of this as they lingered over their orange pekoe and some of Mary Elizabeth's cinnamon toast the other afternoon before Mrs. Commuter had to dash for her train.

"It's just a matter of waste," sighed the Woman. "Now most of us squander time and thought and energy and money. And we don't realize it until we meet some one like you who seems never to waste anything. How do you do it?"

Mrs. Commuter leaned forward in her chair. "Oh, my dear," she said solemnly, "don't try to learn. You may think now that economy is a virtue, but before you know it becomes a mania. Look at me. Last Saturday I came in town in time to meet you for lunch and a matinee. When I came out of the Lexington avenue subway at Twenty-eighth street and started to cross I saw two cumberlyngs lying in the gutter. I suppose they had been knocked off some barrow, but without stopping to think I bent down and picked them up, quite forgetting everything except that cumberlyngs are expensive in the markets and they were perfectly unhurt except for a little mud. As soon as I had them in my hand I began to see that people were turning around to stare. I was wearing my new serge frock and the hat you like so much, with the gray ostrich, and I suppose I did look foolish. There I stood, getting redder and redder and not knowing what to do with the awful things, and yet I couldn't bring myself to throw them back into the gutter."

"What did you do?"

"Well, I think now it was quite clever of me. You see, there was one of these mail-boxes for newspapers on the corner, and quick as a flash I popped in the cumberlyngs and hurried away as fast as I could. Probably the postman is still wondering how they got there."

"Oh, I hope so," said Mrs. Commuter earnestly. "I can't bear to think they were wasted." But when the Woman burst into hearty laughter she looked amazed.

The Back Yard Naturalist.
In a pleasing conversational voice the lecturer spoke, using the simple phrases that John Burroughs himself would have used, as he told about the great naturalist so recently gone to his long home.

The Woman saw many school children at that audience at the museum of natural history, but she also saw old men and women, whose eyes grew soft as the pictures were thrown on the screen, life-like pictures of John Burroughs and pictures of the places he loved, apple trees, a mountain brook, view after view of the lordly Catskills, Slabsides, Woodchuck Lodge and Riverby.

The lecturer had known Burroughs well and he told the simple details of his daily life, how he cooked pancakes, made maple syrup, held autumn leaves up to the sunlight to enjoy their beauty the more; how he and "Wake Robin," his first book; how he made friends with all live things, birds and babies, the little wild wood animals, dogs and even boys who came to steal his grapes.

Not of gorgeous sunsets, of majestic views, of the wondrous beauty of the out woods did Burroughs write, but the white trillium blooms, the wet spring woods or of Fussy Feathers, the house wren who lived above his porch.

The Garden of Their Dreams.
The little Primary Teacher was smiling over a pile of paper slips covered with irregular childish scrawls.

"Many of my little people have never had the joy of making anything grow," she explained, "so we are encouraging them to start gardens, even if they are only in window boxes or flower pots. We order the seed for them, and I asked my little gardens to talk the matter over at home and then choose the kind of seed they wished to plant. These slips are the answers. Most of them read prosaically enough of 'oats, peas, beans and barley corn,' but Angelo has asked somewhat ambiguously for soup greens, and little Leah, who evidently aspires some day to a five room flat, has demanded rubber plant seeds."

TINKER BOB STORIES

By CARLYSLE H. HOLCOMB.

"THERE'S THREE-LEGS NOW"

Tinker Bob looked about to see what had become of Jack the Rabbit. Finding him gone he thought there must be something about this ferry arrangement that was not satisfactory. "I wonder what happened that made Mr. Rabbit leave us?" he asked, but there was no answer.

In the meantime Mr. Frog the Croaker was having a visit with Three-legs the Muskrat. "Croak, croak," said he, "Three-legs the King of the Forest wants to see you, did you know it? Better go and see him."

"The King of the Forest," exclaimed Three-legs rubbing his eyes. "I didn't know the King had arrived yet. Tell me where he is?"

"Didn't Billy Mink tell you that the King wanted to see you?"

"Billy Mink only told me that some of the creatures wanted me to carry them over the river and I didn't care to do that for nothing."

"Croak, croak, take it from me, it was the King of the Forest who sent Billy Mink to see you. He wants to establish a ferry across the river." Well Three-legs was so surprised that he didn't know what to say.

After he came out of his thoughtful spell he said: "I guess I'd better go and see the King. I would be delighted to help him with a ferry. I'll go out the back door while you go out the front, and I'll see you outside." After speaking thus Three-legs started toward the back door of his house which led to the surface, and Mr. Frog plunged again into the water and swam to the log where he first saw Jack the Rabbit and Sammy Squirrel. The place where Three-legs came out was in the midst of a clump of bushes. He had made his home this way that no one could see him when he first arrived on top of the soil. Peering out carefully through the bushes he saw Jack the Rabbit and Sammy Squirrel sitting close to each other seemingly talking very confidentially.

"Ah, ha," cried Three-legs, and it frightened them both, but Three-legs

had a good laugh about it. "That's a funny way to do when you see your friend."

Just about the same time Mr. Frog the Croaker came up and climbed onto the log. "Well," said Sammy Squirrel "it's time we were starting to see the King or he will be gone." Sammy had no sooner said this than he looked behind and who should he see coming toward them but Tinker Bob, Billy Mink, Mr. Long-neck the Turtle and Silky the Monkey. Three-legs had never seen Silky and had a notion to run to his hole when he first looked upon him. But Jack the Rabbit told him all about Silky and he was more easy.

"There is Three-legs now," cried Tinker Bob and he was so glad to see Mr. Muskrat that for a moment he forgot about the others. "Now how about the ferry?"

We will soon see how Billy Mink comes out.

By Associated Press.
COCHRANE, Ont., May 13.—Some wonderful canoes appeared mysteriously recently in the James Bay region. They were constructed not of birchbark, but of a strange material the North had never seen. As light and swift as swallows on the wing, they skimmed the water. Moose Factory Indians marveled. Had the Great Spirit come from the Happy Hunting Grounds to teach his red children new medicine?
The big balloon that carried three of Uncle Sam's naval aviators into the wilderness several months ago has since lain collapsed on the spot where it descended. Officials of Moose Factory, one of the earliest posts established on American shores by the Hudson's Bay Company had given orders to all the Indians who upon allegiance to the ancient fur company, to leave the great gas bag undisturbed. These orders had been strictly observed.
Didn't Know Uncle Sam.
A band of outlaw Indians, whose home village is sixty miles northeast of Moose Factory, found the balloon. Old Hudson's Bay company's orders meant nothing to them. As for Uncle Sam, they had never heard of him. But they knew good canoe material when they saw it and straightaway with their hunting knives they sliced

Joseph Daniels Tells Story of American Navy's Exploits in World War

ed States to land in France were naval aviators. One group, sailing on the Neptune, landed on June 5, 1917, at Pauillac, the port from which Lafayette sailed for America to join the struggling colonists in their war for independence.

Another group, on the Jupiter, reached Saint Nazaire on June 9, sailing through the very waters in which John Paul Jones operated in the revolution.

The United States navy had forty-four aviation stations and units in Europe. Our naval aircraft made 5,691 flights, covering a distance of 791,598 miles. They attacked forty-three submarines from the air, and were credited, according to the records of naval aviation, with sinking two, probably two more and damaging several others.

The northern bombing group, in connection with the British royal air force, dropped more than 155,000 pounds of bombs in America covered 2,483,920 miles—nautical. Our advanced training flights totaled 10,949,340 nautical miles. The total of naval aviation grew during the war to a force of over 46,000. It was equipped with 1,170 flying boats, 695 seaplanes, 262 land planes, 10 free balloons, 205 kite balloons and 15 dirigibles. Of the equipment 670 aircraft were sent abroad.

First Naval Ace.
The long flights along the British, French and Italian coasts, the patrols far out to sea, the combats with enemy aircraft and submarines form one of the most brilliant chapters of the war. A volume would be required to relate them all. I tell here only the story of the first naval ace who may represent the courage, daring and efficiency of our aviators who wrote a new page in naval history.

The first naval "ace," Lieut. David S. Ingalls, was attached to the northern bombing group in Flanders. While aircraft were arriving from the United States to equip this group, Ingalls was assigned to Royal Air Force squadron No. 213, with whom we cooperated in bombing the German submarine bases.

Ingalls began his spectacular performances on the 11th of August, 1918 when in company with a British officer he shot down a two-seater machine in a running fight over the German lines. Zipping through the upper air at 120 miles an hour, by the skillful maneuvering of their planes the allied fliers were able to get in several bursts from their Lewis gun on the tail of the Germans, whose machine crumpled up, burst into flame and fell to earth. Ingalls' machine did not escape without its share of punctures, but luckily nothing was damaged which interfered with the functioning of the motors and the wings held until the return to the squadron airdrome.

Swooped Down on Airdrome.
On the night of August 13, 1918, Ingalls flew over the German airdrome at Varsenaere, and dropping to a point where his plane nearly touched the ground, sprayed 450 pounds from his machine gun into the wondering Teutons who were making desperate efforts to get him with their "archers." Swinging in a wide circle he again swooped down on the hangars and let loose four bombs in the midst of things, putting out searchlights, scattering Germans and musing things up generally.

On September 15, he repeated at the German airdrome at Uytkerke the stunt he worked at Varsenaere. Flying low, he rushed out of the cloud-upon the German hangars and fired 400 rounds from his "Lewis" into the light canvas structures, and with the upward swing of his plane he cut free four bombs upon the Fokkers grouped on the field below.

Brought Down Rumpel at Ostend.
On this raid Ingalls was the leader of a formation of five in a wing of twenty Camels and on the return from Uytkerke, he sighted an enemy two-seater Rumpel going west from Ostend at an altitude of 6,000 feet. Ingalls and Lieut. H. C. Smith of the British air force turned out of formation, swung in over the shore and attacked. The Rumpel turned and dived toward Ostend, the Camels followed. Firing 400 rounds from ranges of fifty to 200 yards they chased the enemy plane down to about 500 feet just off the Ostend piers, when the Rumpel went down out of control, burst into flames, and crashed just off the beach.

On the 18th of September Ingalls made one of the most spectacular flights on record. In company with two English pilots in Sopwith Camels, he sighted a kite balloon at about a 500 feet elevation near La Barriere. Crossing the coast line the Camels attacked, firing about ninety Buckinghamham tracers each.

German Station Burned.
The Germans began to reel in the kite the Camels following it down to about 500 feet altitude, when two observers were seen to jump with white parachutes. Ingalls gave the balloon another spraying with tracer bullets and it burst into flames.

Three balloon hangars were observed at this station, and as the flaming balloon landed on one of these hangars, which in an instant was ablaze. There was an explosion and the fire spread to the two remaining hangars, destroying the entire station, while the flames were visible as far as Nieuport. All the Camels were badly damaged by machine gun and anti-aircraft fire, but they reached their base in safety.

On September 22, Ingalls, who, in company with four other Camels, flew all over Flanders, committing depredations on German hangars and ammunition trains, dropped four bombs on the German ammunition dumps at Handezeane, and blew up a number of wagons loaded with shells. Later he flew over the ammunition dump at Wercken and landed four bombs on a large hut filled with explosives, setting it on fire. Swinging around over the railway station at Thourout where the Germans had an enormous supply dump, he made two accurate hits. On the way back, being the fourth in the day, Ingalls dropped four more bombs on a horse transport, and he and his companions got in enough good bursts from their machine guns to account for some twenty-five Germans and thirty-five horses. It was work of this kind that won for Ingalls his British distinguished flying cross.

During a test flight on September 24, Ingalls, in company with another Camel, sighted a two-seater Rumpel over Nieuport. Both Camels attacked, following the Rumpel very close, Ingalls and his mate getting in two bursts of 200 rounds at 100 yards range. Driving the enemy to a tail spin, Ingalls followed him down to 300 feet, when the Rumpel burst into flames and quickly crashed.

The daring and enterprise of our fliers is well illustrated by these instances. But the best tribute that can be paid to the efficiency of naval aviation is the fact that during the last ten months of the war no surface craft convoy protected by American naval aircraft in the war zone was successfully attacked by enemy submarines. (Another article by former Secretary Daniels will be printed tomorrow.)

EL PASO, May 14.—El Paso Post No. 36, American Legion, has obtained $106,586 in compensation for former service men, according to Nathan Lapowski, chairman of the grievance committee. Men placed on the payroll for disabled soldiers, through the local post, are drawing $80,000 monthly, Mr. Lapowski announced.

FORT WORTH, May 14.—Canteen stations, such as were in operation during wartime, will be opened by the Red Cross and the Fort Worth Welfare Association to care for the destitute Mexicans of the city. Food and clothing will be issued from the stations in the Mexican settlements.

TORREON, Mexico, May 14.—Police are seeking "lady" robbers who have been menacing this section. The robbers, dressed as women, work in pairs or trios. They ask a man a question and as he turns a pollitely respond they hold him up. Sometimes they shed their costumes in their flight.

GALVESTON, May 14.—Galveston has been chosen as the 1922 meeting place of the Texas Osteopathic association, the exact date of which will be announced later. The women's auxiliary of the association, organized at the recent Wichita Falls convention, will meet annually with the state convention.

Folks Are More Liberal With Tips Than When Paying for Service, Barber Says

The old barber drifted off into the "whys" of the human mind, yesterday as he shaved the reporter. "I used to get gloriously mad," he said, "in the old days, when a customer would get out of my chair and give me 15 cents for a shave and then hand the porter a dime for slapping him across the back a couple of times with the whisk broom. I knew then and I know now that the darkey had all the best of it. It takes some skill and some practice to shove a man's hair, but I don't get mad any more. I have it all figured out. "Folks when they hire you, it doesn't make any difference what the price is, expect to get full value for their money. They even hope to get a little more than full value. That's human nature and you can't get away from it. So I figure that when a man sits in my chair he assumes 'n being hired to do the job no matter what

PANHANDLERS PESTER OLD TIMER SO HE LAYS ASIDE HIS TOP BOOTS

"I had to put my boots away to keep 'em from breaking me," the old-timer said yesterday in answer to a question. "Why, you know those dog-gone panhandlers around this town (thin) just because of a feller is wearing a pair of shop made boots he's a good feller and worth a million or two bucks, and they panhandle him to death. Believe me I haven't got any oil wells and I wear my boots because I always have wore 'em. I don't wear 'em any more though. Every broke man in town who sees 'em comin' figures they are shore good for a square meal. Sure, I've got some since I pulled my boots off, but not many I have to feed a man when he asks me, you know. He might really be hungry. You kaint ever tell."

Some people think that all Miss Hostetter Heck's has to do is to write poetry, but it is not. In her spare time she writes about medicine testimonials for her friends who are not gifted with the talent for fiction, and later, when necessary, she also writes obituaries for these same friends.

Physicians, business men or in fact anyone who owns an enclosed automobile can now equip their automobiles with a wireless telephone. With autos thus equipped physicians could be in constant communication with their homes for emergency calls, and the business man in touch with his office.

The two young men shown in the photograph, in experimenting, found that it was not necessary to have antennae high up in the air, but found that the wires stretched around the top of the car were successful. Four parallel copper wires run around the top of the auto on six-inch posts as is done in airplanes. They then grounded the set to the auto's engine as is done in airplanes. In their experiments they were constantly in touch with their home provided they were in the five-mile limit.

ADMINISTRATION SPOKESMEN SAY RETAILERS MUST COME DOWN

WASHINGTON, May 14—The Harding administration is using "pitiless publicity" as a club to beat down retail prices.

Regularly and almost unanimously cabinet officers and those holding important places declares that retail prices are higher than the prices of raw materials warrant and that the unwillingness of the retailer to reduce is contributing to industrial stagnation. These statements are made in speeches, talks with newspapermen, or in other ways that will bring them before the consuming public.

The apparent aim of the effort is: First, to convince the retailer that he must reduce prices for his own good, as well as that of other classes, and second, to drive home to the buyers that they can get lower prices if they demand them often and forcibly.

President Harding himself started the drive in his message to congress when he declared retail prices were too high and suggested a congressional investigation.

Since then the federal trade commission has issued a report on which the president based his statement, Secretary of Agriculture, Wallace, Secretary of Commerce Hoover and D. R. Crissinger, comptroller of the currency, have declared in speeches that the retailer is holding off inevitable reductions.

Scarcely a day passes that the retail price reduction doctrine is not laid before newspapers.

Correspondents went to see W. P. G. Harding, governor of the federal reserve board. Harding declared that retail price reductions had in many cases not kept pace with those of raw materials. He cited the case of a retailer who made 150 per cent on dry goods after the jobber's price was reduced.

The same correspondents went to see Attorney General Daugherty who made similar statements.

"Those shoes," said Daugherty, "I paid $17.50 for a pair like that last year. A similar pair cost $12.50 this year. But with the present price of hides the retailer might easily have made more on this pair than the $17.50 pair."

Assistant Attorney General Goff then said he bought a hat for $15 in New York last year.

"I got one just like it for $6 this year, but with the present price of that hat couldn't get $15 for them."

"That's it," Daugherty said. "Three housewives with powers for positive conversation can do more to convince a retailer he should reduce prices than this whole department."

SUMMER NORMAL SCHEDULED TO OPEN JUNE 6

DENTON, Texas, May 13.—It was announced today by Dr. F. M. Bralby, president of the College of Industrial Arts, that the summer session and the summer normal for teachers at the college will open June 6, that the summer normal for teachers will close Aug. 11, and that the summer session for regular college students will close Aug. 26, at which time graduating exercises will be held and degrees will be conferred and diplomas and certificates awarded and presented; and that all railroads in Texas offer a reduced rate of one and one-half fares on the certificate plan with dates of sale June 4, 5 and 6, and return privileges Aug. 11 and 12, and Aug. 26 and 27.

More than two hundred courses for teachers and college students are offered during the summer session with a group of intensely practical and valuable courses for county home demonstration agents.

GALVESTON, May 14.—"Old Darby," painted by Rosa Bonheur in 1884, has been placed on exhibition by a local furniture store. Depicting an old horse with his head thrust through a barn door, the painting is attracting hundreds of persons daily, according to those in charge of the exhibition. The canvas is said to be worth $50,000.

PITTSBURGH YOUTH HELD IN LOS ANGELES AS ALLEGED EMBEZZLER

Charles Fester, said to be a member of a prominent Pittsburgh family, who was arrested in Los Angeles last February, will go to trial there May 18 on a charge of alleged embezzlement. Fester, who, it is alleged, used the alias of E. B. Grossett, is being sped for arraignment by Mrs. Wilcox Grossett, alleging bigamy. Born in Pittsburgh, Fester attended the University of Pennsylvania for three years. An uncle left him $18,000, which, it is said, he spent on Broadway in one year.

YOU HAVE TO LAUGH IF YOU SEE THAT BILL ON MAJESTIC BOARDS

There is an acrobatic clown on this week's Pantages bill at the Majestic who is entitled to play the world's series, if athletes of this nature have one. He puts the Borsini troupe over big with the audience, with postures, poses and feats of skill that would make one gasp if he didn't laugh. His work is mixed up with balancing stunts by other members of the troupe in a way that keeps the audience pop-eyed and open-mouthed.

Laughter prevails throughout the bill, from McEntyre the marksman, on down through the comedy playlet and the Three White Kahun's musical offering. There's melody, too, not alone in this latter act, but in the playing of Countess Verona, who plonkplunks some classical stuff on an instrument that looks like a child-size grand piano, but which she calls an Egyptian cimbalon. She amuses herself on this with an earnestness that makes one wonder why musicians do not die of fatigue, then spreads a cloth over it so she can't be worried about missing any particular string and in company with the orchestra plink-plunks some jazzy tunes that call for many encores.

"The Trespasser," is the title of a domestic scene which keeps the house especially the married section thereof, roaring with its spats and quibbles, and winds up by filling everybody's bosom full of that little-house-act-with-music, or a musical act, with comedy. One can take his choice. There's a very base villain and the lines are snappy. McEntyre shoots. He shoots straightaway and from various positions, at objects both stationary and moving. He also admits that he can shoot through the hole in a photograph record and says even if he through the hole. His wife, also doesn't do it, he will "break a record." To all appearances, he shoots fancy shooting, the principal novelty being when she "hits the blade of a bowie knife, dividing the bullet and breaking two targets at once."

The bill will show here again tonight. California's output of magnesite is calcined and used as a cement, while practically all the magnesite mined in Washington is dead-burned into synthetic ferromagnesite and used as a refractory lining of furnaces and smelters.

JAIL EMPTY SECOND TIME WITHIN WEEK

For the second time within a week the doors of the city jail are swinging idly on their hinges. During the past twenty-four hours no arrests have been made and no reports of wrong doing within the city limits have been made. However, Chief of Police Reynolds and his force are knocking on wood. They are doing their best to keep the city quiet, but they say no one can tell when lawlessness will break loose.

PRESBYTERIAN DEACONS MEET; ELECT OFFICERS

A meeting of the deacons of the First Presbyterian church was held at the Gholson hotel Friday night. Howard R. Gholson was elected president, A. L. Duffer, vice-president, and A. Lyman, secretary. Plans for the alteration of the present building were discussed and the advisability of putting up a new structure was considered. Plans also were presented for increasing the efficiency of the work.

Installation of the pastor and the newly elected elders and deacons was ordered by the session to be held Sunday morning, May 22.
