SLUMP IN COAL INDUSTRY DUE TO CONSUMERS

"Buy Only as Needed" Policy Declared Dangerous by Investigators.

WASHINGTON, March 26.—Consumers, and not the railroad, the operators or the miners are responsible for present depression in the bituminous coal industry, Dr. George Otis Smith, director, and F. G. Tryon, coal statistician of the geological survey, declared in a statement issued here tonight.

A policy of "buy only as needed," is being pursued dangerously by bituminous consumers, the statement said. Empty coal bins will be the result, it was said, should a sudden industrial upturn develop, and in such an event the mines would be unable to produce and the railroads unable to carry sufficient coal.

Reports of the bituminous production for the last six months, the statement said, show constant declines, 6,525,000 being the production for the first week in March, as contrasted with a weekly production of around 12,000,000 during the first week of the present month. Twenty-six thousand short coal mines reported to the geological survey an average employment of only nineteen out of a possible forty-eight hours. Only a few hours were lost at a few mines, it was said, because of car shortage and but little because of local strikes in Missouri and Kansas.

Music of Popes Will Be Sung at Cardinal Gibbons' Funeral.

BALTIMORE, March 26.—At the funeral services for Cardinal Gibbons next Tuesday in the cathedral there will be sung music heard before only at the funeral of sovereign rulers of the Catholic church in the Sistine chapel in Rome. The manuscript never before has left the Vatican. Just before the body is laid to rest in the crypt beneath the cathedral altar this solemn Gregorian chant will be sung.

Music which was prepared especially for funeral services for popes is among the most magnificent ever written for a Gregorian choir. It will be sung by the Gregorian Choral society of St. Mary's seminary.

SIX BODIES OF MURDERED NEGROES FOUND

Georgia Plantation Discloses Grossest Evidence Involving Rich Planter.

ATLANTA, March 26.—The bodies of six negroes in all were dug up today on the plantation of John Williams in Jasper county by agents of the department of justice, led by Clyde Manning, a negro employed by Williams, who had confessed to aiding in the murder of the negroes, according to reports received from Covington, Ga., today.

Three of the bodies were uncovered by the officers this morning in a pasture near the Williams home and the others were disinterred this afternoon according to the report.

TOM CAT, SPEAKING IN HIGH C, TELLS HIDING PLACE OF RED LIKKER

NEW YORK, March 26.—A cat in search of a lost chord today led to seizure of thirty-six bottles of whisky inside a piano aboard the Trinidad liner Nanyaro.

A prohibition inspector accidentally stepped on pussy's tail. Puss yowled and jumped from the deck through a porthole into a cabin. She landed on what would have been the top of an upright piano if it had been closed. But it wasn't, and amid a fit of feline jazz the dry agents caught the jangle of glass. Discovery of the whisky followed.

Besides carrying a full course in the university, he is serving as pastor of the Methodist church at Arcadia Park, a small town on the Fort Worth interurban. He goes to his charge on the interurban and preaches to his congregation two Sundays in each month.

Mr. Pentecost is a senior in the College of Liberal Arts. During his entire course in college he has been working his way. He expects to enter the school of theology next year and is working toward the B. D. degree.

GERMAN FILM STARS WANT BIG SALARIES

BERLIN, March 26.—Alleged "fantastic salaries" demanded by German film stars has caused film producers so much concern that a move has been made toward limiting their pay. The moving picture companies, in making this announcement, gave out a list of salaries which they believe exorbitant.

The salaries of a few women reached 800,000 marks yearly, it is said, although the normal pay for first class work is about 3,500 marks daily while employed. It is customary to hire even well known performers by "the piece." Those under regular contracts are paid from 7,000 to 30,000 marks a month. Unknown players are paid as low as 150 marks a day.

NEW SECRETARY OF THE NAVY MEETS FORMER SUPERIOR OFFICER

BOLSHEVIKI CONDONED SPIRIT OF REVOLT AMONG SAILORS FROM STANDPOINT OF GOOD POLICY

Details of Kronstadt Revolt Gathered by Correspondent Show Moscow Government Argued Better to Have Them for it Than Against.

STOCKHOLM, March 26.—The details of the revolt in Kronstadt against the Bolshevik administration and the conditions forming a background against which this episode can be seen and judged have been learned by the correspondent from well informed circles by way of Riga and Helsingfors, Finland. Ever since the Bolshevik revolution Kronstadt had a tendency to develop into an independent Soviet republic within the larger Russian Soviet.

Under czarism discipline in the navy was stricter than in the army. But since then insubordination among the sailors has been hard to check. In Kronstadt the sailors lived in officers' private villas and dined in officers' clubs, avoiding all drills and enjoying a paradise as long as they were supplied with food and clothes from Petrograd. The government in Moscow did not interfere, arguing it was better to have the sailors for it than against it.

General Denekine, Admiral Kolehak, General Yudenitch and General Wrangel, the anti-Bolshevik leaders, had to be fought on land and it was necessary to establish a Bolshevik army. Yet Trotsky never forgot he once had been in the Russian navy and he only awaited the proper opportunity to make the Russian navy as strong and supple in his hands as he had made the army.

SOCIALISTS OF LEFT IN SWEDEN VOTE TO JOIN THE INTERNATIONALE

STOCKHOLM, March 26.—The Socialists of the left in congress here today adopted by an overwhelming majority a resolution in favor of joining the Third Internationale of Moscow unconditionally. The adoption of the resolution resulted in the cessation of the minority who formed an independent party.

By Associated Press BEAUMONT, March 26.—A posse of 500 at Leesville, La., 100 miles north of here, is searching for a negro who is accused of attacking a woman at Rose Pine, La., early this morning and leaving here by the roadside, beaten to unconsciousness. She was found an hour after the crime by railroad section men and rushed to a Leesville hospital. It is believed she will recover.

W. TEXAS A. & M. BILL IS VOID, FOES CONTEND

Turning Clock Back in Emergency Makes It Unconstitutional, Is Said.

AUSTIN, March 26.—Legislators who opposed the West Texas A. & M. college bill have by no means given up the fight on the measure. Just because the bill was passed in the last few minutes of the legislative session has not caused them to cease activities. In fact this has been the basis of their counter-attack. Governor Neff said tonight that during the week he had received a number of letters from representatives who oppose the bill, pointing to a detail in the passing of the bill which they claim makes it void and unconstitutional.

At 12 o'clock noon on March 12, the day the legislature adjourned sine die, the A. & M. bill was on the calendar together with several other equally important measures. To save the bills from dying on the calendar, the house clock was turned back several times and when the house finally adjourned though the house clock showed 12 o'clock, it was really 3:25 p. m. The opponents of the bill now claim that as this measure was passed after the hour for sine die adjournment that it is dead and void. The bill is now before Governor Neff for his final action. He refused to give the names of the representatives who are waging the final stand against the bill.

STRIKERS WANT JOBS BACK BUT PLACES FILLED

ATLANTA, Ga., March 26.—Conciliatory proposals were offered today by representatives of striking employees of the Atlanta, Birmingham & Western railway at the hearing being conducted before Federal Judges S. H. Sibley of the Northern Georgia district and Henry B. Clayton of the Southern Alabama district.

Counsel for the employees announced the men were willing to call the strike off immediately and accept the wage reductions offered by the company, provided all the strikers are permitted to go back to work as a body and at their former status and provided an audit was made of the company's books with a view of determining whether the former higher wage scales can be paid by the company. Morris Brandon, chief counsel for the railroad, declared the proposition could not be accepted, as the railroad had employed some 500 men since the strike was called who could not be discharged.

DARING FLIER IS STILL BATTLING FOR HIS LIFE

NATCHEZ, Miss., March 26.—Early tonight the condition of Lieutenant W. C. Coney showed but little change. He is still conscious and resting easily. He has made no further statement as it is the desire of his physicians to keep him as quiet as possible. His mother is expected here tonight.

ODESSA AGAIN IN HANDS OF SOVIET FOES, IS REPORT

CONSTANTINOPLE, March 26.—An unconfirmed report from Varna is that the troops who lost Odessa early in March after they had captured it from the Bolsheviks, recaptured the city March 17.

The revolt in South Russia began on Feb. 25 when Ukrainian revolutionary troops led by Simon Petlura, the peasant leader, and General Makno, occupied the city of Odessa, but subsequent advices appear to indicate that Odessa has been retaken by the Bolsheviks.

FORMER IS CHARGED WITH THEFT, LATTER IN RANGER KILLING

Automobile Thievery and Slaying of W. L. Dickson in Ranger Several Weeks Ago Lead to Sensational Climax.

SPECIAL TO THE TIMES. EASTLAND, March 26.—John Harrell has been indicted by the grand jury under a charge of theft and his bond placed at $1,000, which was made.

Ed Bigbee of Ranger was indicted by the same grand jury on a murder charge, in connection with the death of W. L. Dickson, which occurred several weeks ago. Bigbee shot Dickson five times at Main and Austin streets. The killing is said to have arisen over family trouble. Dickson lived in the Bigbee home two years before his death. The defendant in the case came before the open court and without writing his bondsmen agreed to produce him on the date his trial was set. This class of bond is known as a recognizance bond.

At a former grand jury session the evidence against Bigbee was examined and no bill returned. However, where the alleged crime is murder, any grand jury can return an indictment at any time until the defendant has gone into court for trial.

Auto Probe Involves Harrell. It is said that Harrell's arrest was the aftermath of an investigation made by insurance men, a state ranger and a special agent of the automobile theft bureau of Dallas. These men several days ago are said to have captured two men with an automobile in their possession which was the property of L. F. Lippold of Eastland. It was also said seen to leave the car just before the that Harrell and another man were officers took it and the two men it contained into custody.

DALLAS CRIME WAVE STILL GOING STRONG

DALLAS, March 26.—Two hold-ups, a store burglary and a safe robbery were staged in Dallas last night. Several house prowling jobs and small theft cases also were reported. The crimes occurred in different parts of the city, indicating that two or more gangs were operating.

ENLARGEMENT OF CHURCH ROOM MARKS EASTER

Special Easter services will be held at practically all Ranger churches today. The occasion also will be marked by the opening of a new house of worship, the Christa church on Main street, and by the enlarging of the Church of Christ so as to practically double its capacity. The Christian church is a stucco building at 412 Main. It is not entirely completed, still lacking windows and a few fixings like that, but it is far enough along that services will be held today. Rev. J. G. Winstett, the pastor, who has been here for several months, organizing the church, will preach.

The Church of Christ on Mesquite street will spend $1,500 in remodeling and providing more seating capacity. The funds for the work will be obtained by pledges from members and others.

When the improvements are completed the building will have a capacity of 400 persons. Its present capacity is about 200. Since the present pastor, J. W. McKinney, took up the work for the organization it has been growing and has reached such proportions that an addition was almost imperative.

There will be special music by Mr. Champion this morning at the First Baptist church and Rev. Mr. Johnson will preach on "The Resurrection." Mrs. Hyatt will sing at the evening services. About forty little tots assembled at this church yesterday afternoon for an Easter egg hunt, which was a great success, if one can judge from their happy faces.

GIRL SENDS 2-CENT STAMP TO SHIP BUFFALO BY MAIL

WASHINGTON, March 26.—The forestry service asked recently if anybody wanted a buffalo, having a score on hand to dispose of. The service has been deluged with requests.

One little girl sent a two-cent stamp expecting a baby buffalo by return mail. A farmer with five children wanted a family playfellow. Stock men wanted to try cross-breeding. Wild west shows rushed applications by mail and telegraph. The supply was quickly exhausted.

PUTS BABY ON OVEN DOOR; GOES CALLING; BABY KILLED

ODEN, Utah, March 26.—Mrs. Kenneth Thornock wrapped her baby son in a quilt and put him on the oven door of her kitchen stove while she went across the street to call on a neighbor.

When she returned thirty minutes later she found the baby burned to death.

STUDENTS FROM RANGER MAKE FINE SHOWING

Ranger students made a fine record at the county interscholastic meet Friday night at Gorman, scoring one first, two seconds and one third. Of Ranger's seven entrants, only two failed to place.

Paul Dresser of Cooper school won first place in the junior boys' declamation. Durwood Brown and Will Phillips, the high school debating team, took second place, losing to Cisco in the final after each team had won several debates.

Robert Campbell of the High school took second place in the senior boys' declamation contest. Claudia Cox was awarded third place in the senior girls' declamation contest.

Ranger did not compete in the athletic events, which were staged today. E. L. Wickline of the High school and Miss Cooper were the teachers who accompanied the team.

DALLAS, March 26.—Donagan Miller, 14, was killed this morning when his head struck the sidewalk in front of his home while wrestling with his chum, Cyril Ness, 15, who lives next door to him. Doctors say the boy's skull was fractured.

HUGO STINNES IS STRONG-MAN OF GERMANY

War Enriched Him and Made Him the Dictator of Industry.

LONDON, March 26.—Hugo Stinnes, generalissimo of German industry, recently accused of plotting a strike of several hundred thousand workers in the Ruhr district to make more difficult the Allied occupation of Dusseldorf, Duisberg and Ruhrort, is referred to by the Berlin correspondent of the Times as "an earnest and dangerous patriot."

Stinnes, a multi-millionaire member of the Reichstag has put through some of the greatest financial deals of his career since the armistice. He has been called "a relentlessly efficient, human calculating machine." It has been said that he would sacrifice every mark of his enormous fortune to bring back the monarchy.

Mine-owner and coal merchant, ship-owner, landed-proprietor, head of a great chain of newspapers, proprietor of the very finest hotel in Berlin, trader in oils, paper, hides, jute, peat and manufactured wares of many kinds, Stinnes, the Times correspondent says, "is today the wealthiest, most influential, best-known and at the same time the least well-known man in Germany."

Publicity and notoriety are alien to him, it is stated, and he prefers to remain behind the curtains in the Reichstag, permitting his henchmen and lieutenants to do the talking while he pulls the strings.

"There is nothing in his appearance to betray the man of genius," says the correspondent. "Just fifty years old, of medium height and sturdily built, with black hair and beard that show up strongly against a rather sallow complexion, Hugo Stinnes in an inconspicuous figure as he slips in and out of the Adlon hotel, his bowler hat tilted slightly on one side, one hand in his pocket, and one or two secretaries following hard on the heels of their chief in his well-worn black coat and black tie. He stops to speak to no one. He has no time for small talk in the lounge with other guests. He is a relentlessly efficient, cool, human, calculating machine."

The foundations of the Stinnes fortune were laid by the present Stinnes' grandfather and increased by his father. The youth was sent to a gymnasium and later worked as a miner and attended the School of Mines in Berlin. Embarking in business for

LIGHT OPERA CO. GIVES PLEASING PERFORMANCE

May Be Forerunner of Full Cast Operas in the Fall.

The performance of the Light Opera company last evening at the Methodist church, under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce, was a treat to the music lovers of Ranger. The program was presented in two parts, the first consisting of quartets, duets and solos, and the second a quartet arrangement of the Gilbert & Sullivan light opera, "The Witch's Curse." Every number was thoroughly enjoyed by the audience, from the opening quartet, "The Spirit of Spring," to the "Second Hungarian Rhapsody," from the sextette from "Lucia," to Mr. Morris' encore telling of the struggle of "Captain John McPhearson" to escape the wiles of the "gals." Altogether, it was an excellent performance.

In his introduction, Mr. Peters announced that this is the first of a possible series of high-class musical entertainments to be presented in Ranger. The Chamber of Commerce is planning to present two full cast operas in the fall, "Carmen," and possibly "Madame Butterfly." Mr. Peters also mentioned the proposed visit to the United States of Premier Clemenceau, and said that if M. Clemenceau can be persuaded to include Texas in his lecture tour, the Ranger Chamber of Commerce will endeavor to bring him here.

himself at the age of 23, his remarkable career began. He went with success into the coal and iron trade, becoming a prominent figure among the magnates of Rhenish Westphalia and branched out into the development of tramways and electric power in the coal fields.

But his "real great spring to fortune," says the Times, "came with the great war."

"His fortune before the war was estimated at 40,000,000 gold marks. What it is now he probably could not say himself—possibly 1,000,000,000 marks." Newspapers now owned by Stinnes are said to number at least 60.

"People are eagerly asking with what ultimate object all this colossal wealth is being incessantly piled up," says the Times correspondent. "Does his present association with and financing of the Volkspartei mean that Stinnes is preparing to bring back the monarchy?"

AIN'T IT THE TRUTH.

"The benefits of prohibition," said Edward Bok, the famous editor, at a Y. M. C. A. lecture in Philadelphia, "are countless. And not the least of these benefits is the abolition of a certain class of pessimists—that is the heavy drinker, who, getting up stale every morning from too much booze the night before, inevitably finds life a burden. Many men are like John Horrocks."

"Wishing to administer a gentle reproof to Horrocks one day, I said: 'Did you ever hear the saying, John, that a man who never drinks nor smokes, nor stays up late at night, always lives to a great age?' 'Yes,' replied John with a yawn. 'That's his punishment.'—Los Angeles Times.

FOOLING THE JUDGE.

The jurymen ran breathlessly into the courtroom. "Oh, your honor," he exclaimed, "if you can excuse me, please, please do I don't know which will die first—my wife or my daughter." "Dear me, that's sad," said the judge. "Certainly you are excused." The next day the jurymen was met by one of his fellow jurors, who, in a sympathetic voice, asked: "How's your wife?" "She's all right. Why do you ask?" "And your daughter?" "She's all right, too. Why do you ask?" "Why, yesterday you told the judge that you did not know which would die first." "Nor do I. That is a problem that time alone can solve."—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

MOTHER IS WONDERING.

"Mamma, I've got a sweetheart," exclaimed Carl, a lad of 7, one evening on his return from school, "and she is pretty too."

After several moments of thoughtful consideration of the subject, he asked: "Mother when we grow up do the boys marry the girls because they are good-like you when papa married you?"

And mother is wondering.—Indianapolis News.

HOME INFLUENCE.

"Is your boy Josh happy and contented on the farm?"

"Yes," replied Farmer Cornstossel, "the old place puts him in a fine frame of mind. When Josh gets tired of the gay city, he comes home for a few square meals and nobody could be more comfortable. But the way he tells about the caberays and the motion pictures is makin' mother an' me downright restless an' dissatisfied."—Washington Star.

It is rather tough when national honor prompts a couple of countries to fight about a piece of ragged ground that isn't worth a quarrel. Why not shake the box or cut the cards.—Los Angeles Times.

WOMAN WILL SPEAK ON "AMERICAN GOVERNMENT"

"American Government" will be the subject on which Mrs. Bertha Moser Haines will lecture at the Methodist church Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The lecturer is being brought to Ranger under the auspices of the 1920 club from the Bureau of Extension of the University of Texas.

Mrs. Haines comes highly recommended as an entertaining and capable speaker, well qualified to handle the broad subject which the club members have been studying for the past year. The lecture is public and free.

JUDGMENT SUSTAINED AGAINST DRILLING CO.

Roy and Homer Mead were sustained this week in a $20,000 judgment against the W. J. Kerwin Drilling company, J. E. Ingram reports after returning from El Paso, where he represented the Meads before the court of civil appeals. The suit was over a breach of contract and was tried several months ago in the Eighty-eighth district court at Eastland.

KIDDING TEACHER.

"Where were you yesterday, Tommy Cribbs?" asked the teacher.

"Please, mum, I had a toothache," answered Tommy.

"Has it stopped?" asked the teacher sympathetically.

"I don't know," said Tommy. "What do you mean, boy? You don't know if your tooth has stopped aching?"

"No, mum, the dentist kept it."—Los Angeles Times.

GETTING SUSPICIOUS.

"Well, my dear?"

"The cook has issued an ultimatum."

"What about?"

SO THERE!

After six years' service as "public foot-wiper," as he expresses it, Palmer V. Johnson, editor of the Marion (S. C.) Star, has been retired as the mayor of the town. Editorially in his newspaper he comments: "They heaped all the troubles of the universe upon our weary bald pate—and then they lifted all our burdens from us by beatin' us at an election—Glory be!

"We have settled land disputes, family disputes, dog disputes, and some unfair accounts."

"We have been insulted, disgusted, spat upon and imposed upon."

"We have locked up culprits for wrongdoing and then envied them their place of limbo.

"We have been blamed for stopped sewers, blocked streets, heavenly showers, poor telephone service and the present price of cotton."

"We have been called a liar until we almost believe it."

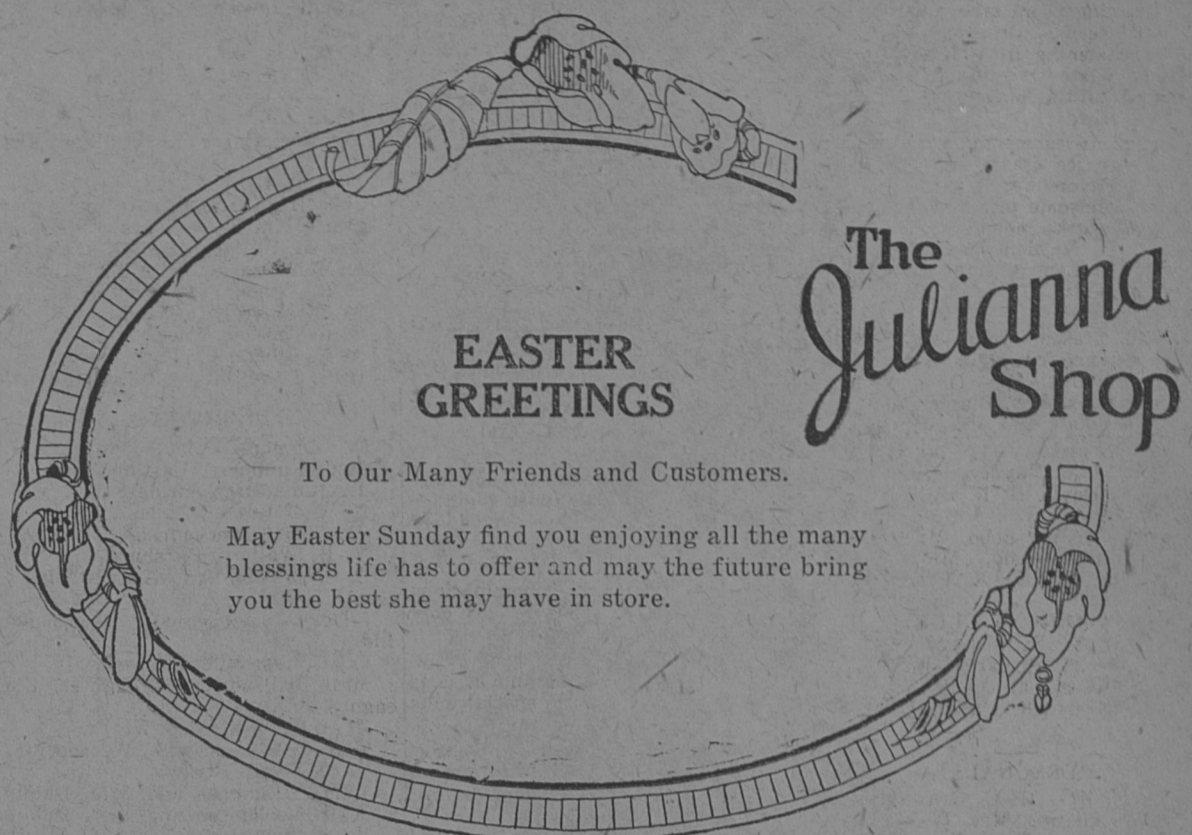

"We have become widely known as a grand rascal, an arch criminal, a desperado, a policy player and a bigoted fool."

"We have been accused of attempting to give the Presbyterian church title to the town hall.

"Mothers accused us of overrunning the town with dogs and dog owners blamed us with the deluge of babies."

"When the baby had whooping cough it was because we allowed the north wind to blow, and when it had colic it was because we allowed dope fiends to exhaust the supply of paragonic at the drug stores."

PERHAPS THIS TALE PROVES WHAT EVERYMAN CONTENDS

Women, they say ("they" meaning the men, of course) have no sense of fair play, and to our great humiliation, we have to admit it occasionally, or rather, occasionally some one of the sex does something which calls out the old slam and the whole of womankind has to suffer.

However, since Everyman has his pet stinginess, surely Everywoman may have hers, the point of differentiation being, whether she is being stingy and taking of her own flesh, or in being stingy she is taking it out of the other man's hide.

This story we have lately heard of two women who surely took it out of the other man's hide!

MIDNIGHT LUNCH IF OFF NAVY'S BILL OF FARE

WASHINGTON, March 26.—Orders were sent out today by the navy department abolishing the midnight lunch served to the deck watches on all ships since beginning of the war. Midnight lunch was the exclusive prerogative of the engineer force from time immemorial until the world war. When the submarine menace forced deck divisions to stand long watches, day and night, the midnight, lunch was authorized for all hands.

CUPID'S BLUNDER.

Jim Peters was very much in love but too bashful to propose. Finally, he decided to pop the question by telephone.

"Maggie, I love you," he breathed, softly. "Will you marry me?" There was a moment's hesitation before the answer came.

"Of course I will, George. Why didn't you come and ask me, you simpleton?"

And Jim yelled back: "You'll have to break the news to him yourself. I'll be darned if I will!"

HOSPITALITY GETS A SHOCK; O, GRATITUDE!

Our hero went blithely whistling up Main street without an apparent worry on his young mind. From the opposite direction came another young fellow slinking along, furtive-eyed, as if dreading the feel of a "copper's" boot and his harsh voice telling him to move along.

They met. The furtive-eyed one accosted our hero and in a whining voice said, "Listen, bo, could ya lemme have four bits to sleep on?"

The blithe young fellow was touched to the heart by the plaintive plea. "I am sorry old man," he said, "but I am a little short myself."

He stood in a brown study for a moment as if pondering the trials of a man—then he brightened. "I'll tell you what I'll do," he declared, "I'll let you share my bed."

They went together for three blocks. It seemed a long way to the furtive-eyed man, but at last they reached their destination.

He of the high spirits climbed in,

OIL FIELDS CLAIM ANOTHER WANDERING HUSBAND, THIS TIME FROM FAR MANITOBA

On a farm in far away Manitoba a wife and mother waits. It is nearing spring, and work must be done if there's provender against another winter. Fields must be plowed, and crops must be planted. But the farmer, the head of the household, the provider, is absent. Somewhere in the vast oil fields of Texas, so the story goes, he wanders, leaving behind his obligations as a husband and father; turning his back on those whom he should most fondly cherish, leaving them to fare as best they may.

And he is not alone. At least he was followed, the lonesome wife tells the Ranger, postmaster in a pathetic letter, "by an old maid which was always chasing him here."

"My husband left here four months ago," Mrs. D. M. Giles writes from Scarth, Manitoba, "and" referring to the "old maid," continues: "I would like to know if they are living in Ranger or if he is by himself."

Unmindful of the complex duties of Ranger's postmaster, she asks that worthy public servant to "find out on the quiet and let me know what he is doing there. He is, I believe, been working for some oil wells in Ranger or near there."

"I am a mother of four children, and I would like to know, as I live on a farm and it is nearing spring. So please oblige me, as a party here had a letter from him saying he was leaving there soon, and I would like to know what to do."

Mrs. Giles appends a postscript in which she repeats her plea and includes with the declaration of her belief that "he intends to leave me. I have always been a faithful wife, and am very upset."

Here her bitterness against the "other woman" finds expression to the exclusion of her anxiety over her absent "lord," and she asks: "Could the law do anything with her?"

INABILITY OF FARMER TO OBTAIN FAIR PLAY COSTLY TO CITY FOLK

NEW YORK, March 26.—New York City may not care much for the "other half" on the farm lives or feels, but what New York does materially affects what New York gets in the way of foods and prices, Secretary of Agriculture Wallace has pointed out.

Here is a warning from the secretary directed especially to the "downtown" section of New York City. It reads:

"We must look into the administration of our credit machinery."

"They who control the finances of the country and who have it in their power to influence, either directly or indirectly, the extension of credit can exercise a large amount of control over the prices of farm products."

"The same is true of the administration of our transportation systems. Through the simple device of regulating the flow of cars, the prices of farm products can be sent up or down at the will of those who exercise such control."

"We have had some costly experiences along this line during the war."

COUNTY FARM BUREAU BULLETIN NEWEST CHILD OF TEXAS JOURNALISM

Special to the Times.
 DALLAS, March 26.—The youngest child of Texas journalism is the County Farm Bureau Bulletin, a by-product of the rapid growth of the Texas Farm Bureau Federation. Bulletins launched thus far are bulletins in the strictest sense, for maintaining some sort of periodical communication of plans, purposes, and accomplishments of county farm bureau leaders, items of general interest, a directory of the county organizations, and a farmers' exchange.

The first issue of the Wharton County "Exchange" contained 117 articles listed in the exchange section in addition to a long article on the membership drive of the Texas Farm Bureau Federation, a directory, and numerous smaller local news items. The Bell County "Exchange" had eight pages and a supplement in its third issue, which also contained the announcement that the size would be increased from four to five columns.

The Ellis County "Bulletin" has developed a vigorous newspaper style and also ventured an editorial column called "Backfire." The first thrust it makes in regard to the organization of farmers is:

"The brave, courageous fellow who says: 'I'll watch you a year, and if you succeed in getting up a full head of steam, I'll jump on and ride with you,' should be recommended for a Carnegie medal."

A number of other publications are being started by county farm bureaus, and the new child may soon rank with its brothers, the dailies, weeklies, church and school papers, and other periodicals.

STATE HEALTH OFFICER SCORES FLIES IN RHYME

By Associated Press.
 AUSTIN, March 26.—The state board of health has opened its annual campaign against the fly. Dr. Mantion M. Carrick, state health officer, offered the following spring jingle as his advice in the campaign:

A mild and gentle winter and a warm and early spring,
 Means the coming of the enemy whose danger we would sing;
 It's that disconcerting animal, that ever lasting fly—
 We must swat the plague-goned creature, or lots of us may die.

If you want to rid your household of the death-befriending pest,
 Clean up all his breeding places, leave no place for him to nest;
 For the filthiest of creatures is the filthy breeding fly,
 And we've got to swat the creature, or lots of us will die.

If you've got a dirty stable, buy yourself chloride of lime,
 Sprinkle it around the premises, be sure to start in time;
 Keep manure in covered boxes, and remove it from the fly,
 For we've got to swat the creature, or lots of us may die.

Take a peep around your kitchen—is your garbage covered up?
 Open pails are breeding places; furnish meals for him to sup;
 You can keep the dirty enemy away if you'll but try,
 For we've got to swat the creature, or some of us may die.

After taking these precautions, one last word we have to say,
 Arm your family with a swatter, swat the creature all the day;
 Stalk him up and down the country, this death-delivering fly,
 For we've got to swat the creature, or lots of us may die.

SUBSTANTIAL CUTS IN IMPLEMENTS OF FARM ANNOUNCED BY MAKERS

Special to the Times.
 CHICAGO, March 26.—Substantial reductions in prices of farm implements have been announced to officials of the American Farm Bureau federation by seventeen of the leading implement manufacturers. Cuts in prices range up to 20 per cent.

Officials of the Farm Bureau have been in frequent conferences with machinery manufacturers relative to price reductions. However, figures brought down to date by the Farm Bureau, based on figures released by the bureau of labor statistics on March 17, shows the following: Farm products, 25 per cent above 1914 level; all other commodities, 67 per cent; metals and products, 68 per cent; chemicals and drugs, 76 per cent; clothes and clothing, 102 per cent; fuel and lighting, 127 per cent; building materials, 129 per cent; house furnishing goods, 180 per cent.

Who Is W. R. Fleming?

His political enemies point their fingers at him and echo the question, "Who is W. R. Fleming?"

His friends, and they are legion: pause for a moment and consider the question of who is W. R. Fleming.

The consideration brings a vision of a 15-year-old boy a product of the people trudging through the hills of Pennsylvania bound for the city, seeking that thing all men seek—a livelihood. He found that way—he became a contractor, money came in—big jobs were secured and completed, money came easier but he never forgot that he was from the people. With the oil boom he came to Ranger as did 95 per cent of the present inhabitants. Large jobs were here to be secured by men of large caliber. He secured them—ask almost any large oil company. He turned them out with speed and dispatch—he made more money but it never blinded his eyes to the fact that is one of the people from which he sprang. Though he may sit with bankers and men of means today in Ranger, his friends are among those whose blood flows in his veins—the common people.

Now he has the largest road contract ever awarded a single firm. He received it in competitive bidding because he knew his business. But faith will be kept with the people—they will receive a dollar's worth of value for every dollar spent.

Because his friends know that he knows the people and what they want he was prevailed upon to offer himself for the mayor's office, and if elected he has pledged his word that his official action will be for the people and not for any clique or clan.

For the benefit of those who still wish to know who W. R. Fleming is—the latch string of his office door on Marston street hangs on the outside—no ceremony is required to get in—go to see him, hit him on the back, call him Fleming if you like, then you will know who W. R. Fleming is. You will know that he is of the people, not tied by any clique or clan.

AMONG THE MOVIE STARS

Wallace Reid and Grace Morse in "The Charm School"

From Studio to Screen—"Worlds Apart"—"The Charm School"—Motion Picture Life Not All Milk and Honey—Champion Burlesque Wrestler.

Back in 1916 Donald MacKenzie made a picture called "The Challenge," and he needed a rough western girl with a pretty face. He saw a Harrison Fisher drawing, in which Helene Chadwick was the beauty portrayed, and he immediately wanted her. He got her, and that is how she started in pictures.

"The Cup of Fury," based on Rupert Hughes' famous novel, is her first big production, and although the story has an all-star cast, her part is the principal one and she carries it to perfection.

She desires to become a pianist, and practices regularly every day no matter how weary she may be called to work at the studio. Her preference is for playing dramatic parts, more than anything of a comedy nature. Being a robust and perfect type of beautiful young American womanhood, she naturally loves all outdoor sports and indulges in swimming, tennis, golf, motoring and most anything that happens to come along when she has leisure moments.

Constance Binney.
Constance Binney is as charming and beautiful as ever in "Something Different," adapted from the story, "Caldron's Prisoner," by Alice Duer Miller. As a New York debutante, who is bored to death with life and everything it holds she goes in search of "something different." And she finds it down in Cuba where the nicest insurrection ever staged is held for her special benefit, it seems. She gets into all sorts of trouble and eventually finds "something different" in her love for the president's handsome brother, who makes her his prisoner.

boarding school, has an altercation over his plans to abolish the regular curriculum in favor of a course which will make the academy a "charm school" with the head mistress (Grace Morse), who puts up a fight for the classes.

Eugene O'Brien and Olive Tell.
Through conspiracy with his sister, Marcie Marshall, Peter Lester causes Phyllis Leigh to spurn the love of Hugh Ledyard that he, Lester, may himself marry Phyllis. Hugh, in desperation, marries Elinore Asche, whom he has saved from a suicide's grave, and about whom he knows or asks nothing. She, in turn, marries because she is in desperate want, but bears no love for Hugh. As man and wife in name only they live in a great mansion until the day Peter Lester brings his bride to the Hunt club's annual meet and remain at Hugh's home as guests. Harley and Marcie Marshall also are guests at Hugh's. During the night Lester is murdered and Ten Eyck, a servant Elinore has lately hired, is accused of the crime. The mystery clears when Elinore discovers that Harley Marshall is a drug addict. She traces him to Chinatown and there in an opium den he confesses and Hugh and Elinore find that they are in love though married.

Dustin Farnum.
Mr. Farnum is a down east Yankee, having been born in Hampton Beach, N. H. Many years of his life, however, have been spent in the environs of the cattle country of the middle and far west and sailing the coastal waters of the Pacific.

He rides a cow pony with the best of the round-up men and ropes a steer in close to record time. His ability with a six-shooter is well known to many cowpunchers of Wyoming and Oklahoma who have engaged in target competition with him. All the tricks of the lariat he knows and is just as much at home in chips and sombrero as any of the range riders.

Bessie Love.
Pausing for a moment from the production work which has been occupying this young lady's attention, Bessie Love rises to tell the world that the life of a motion picture actress is not all milk and honey. But it's worth every bit of effort to get the letters of admirers complimenting Bessie on her latest work for the screen.

Miss Love has found of late that the best pictures can be made from the popular novels and so she has produced "Bonnie May" and "The Midlanders," both of them best sellers from the fiction field. The little star is now working on "Fanny of Tophill Trail," a western story.

Kalla Pasha.
Kalla Pasha, the world's champion burlesque wrestler, is in reality a native of the city of Chicago. He has been dubbed "the hand-painted Americanized Turk," and Kalla Pasha is satisfied with the identity, revealing on his ample person, when in his fighting togs, the evidence of his evolution from Turk to American as completely as wall paper. Four feet, two inches measure his waist-line, and sixty inches is his chest measurement. He weighs 325 pounds.

BEBE DANIELS, IN LOS ANGELES, LAYS CORNERSTONE IN DALLAS

Star Sends Wave Through Space, Performing Unusual Ceremony.

Miss Bebe Daniels, the popular motion picture star, recently had the honor of laying the cornerstone of the new million dollar Palace theatre in Dallas, Texas, her native city. The star herself was in Los Angeles and the interesting ceremony was performed by telegraph.

Laying the cornerstones of public buildings has long been the occasion for impressive ceremonies. Moreover, it has frequently happened that celebrities in distant places have pressed buttons to open great exhibitions or to set in motion the wheels of giant new industries. But this is the first time in history that a cornerstone has been laid by wire, the distant star touching a button that broke a certain electric contact in Dallas which allowed the cornerstone to slide into its permanent place, at the same time ringing a bell which announced to the assembled throng that the deed was done.

The interesting ceremony took place at 10:30, Dallas time, but Miss Daniels had to arise early and hasten to Los Angeles from her country home in Beverly Hills, as her part of the performance had to take place at 8:30, Pacific Coast time.

In order to get the star's flash through without a break the United Press held its wires open for five minutes, from 8:28, Los Angeles time. This in itself was an unusual tribute to the popular cinema beauty, for never before has the United Press ever used its wires for any other purpose than the transmission of news.

A niche in the cornerstone contained a copy of the Dallas Journal for that day, a photograph of Miss Daniels, and a letter from her containing her good wishes for the success of the theatre which will always be linked with her name.

When completed the Palace theatre will be the largest photoplay house in Dallas, with a seating capacity of 3,000.

NOTES OF INTEREST FROM N. Y. THEATRES

The books of the mail order clerk at Maxine Elliott's theatre, New York, where "Spanish Love" has been playing for close to a year, showed on Saturday night of last week that there were visitors from no less than twenty-six states of the union in the theatre. Theatre ticket brokers report "Spanish Love" to be the first play visitors to New York ask to see.

Wagenhals and Kemper, producers of "The Rat," the sensational success which is playing to capacity audiences at the Morosco theatre, New York and the Princess theatre, Chicago, have refused an offer of $200,000 for the motion picture rights to the play.

A complete set of lithographs, used to advertise "Spanish Love," the extremely successful romantic melodrama, at Maxine Elliott's theatre, New York, which were used for the play when it was originally produced in Spain some years ago have been secured by Wagenhals and Kemper, the producers. Replicas will be made and used in this country. They are undoubtedly the most unusual advertising lithographs ever seen for a theatrical attraction.

BRIDE AT THIRTEEN—DIVORCEE AT SEVENTEEN

International News Service.
KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 26.—A bride at 13 and a divorcee at 17 looms as the matrimonial record of Mrs. Ruby Dale.

The girl, who four years ago was Missouri's youngest bride, found the matrimonial pathway "full of thorns," even though she was wedded with her parents' consent.

She charges her husband, John Dale, thirteen years her senior, with gross neglect of duty. She also charges him with cruelty. The "cruelty," she charges, consisted of his forcing her to work at a packing house while he "loafed."

Despite his "gross neglect," she charges Dale accompanied her to and from work because of his jealous disposition. The case will be decided the coming session of divorce court.

MANY STRANGE CUSTOMS IN CURIOUS CONSTANTINOPLE

By Associated Press.
CONSTANTINOPLE, March 26.—There are many curious things in this ancient city of the Turk which are unknown to most people. It has remained for a sailor aboard the United States warship Scorpion to classify some of these oddities for the readers of Far Seas, the paper published by American bluejackets in Near Eastern waters.

"Just imagine," he writes, "lying up traffic on the main thoroughfare of a big city during the busiest hours of the day by driving a flock of sheep down the street. But they do it over here."

Some other alleged strange things done by the Constantinopolitans he cites as follows.

A street car passenger often bargains with the conductor about the price he will pay for a ride.

If a youth takes a girl to the movies once or twice her parents expect him to marry her.

Turkish saleswomen, even in the smallest shops, are required to understand or speak seven or eight languages.

Native men are accustomed to "rent" a pipe to smoke while they sip their afternoon tea.

A policeman, if he finds a pick-pocket at work, may beat him almost insensible and then let his prisoner go.

Some Constantinople stores have signs in as many as eight languages over their doors.

A tourist may engage a boatman to row him for two miles for two or three cents.

SPRING COMES TO TOWN.
(Atlanta Constitution)

I.

There's not a chimney corner
Can hold a dreamer down
When the winds sing of the blossoms
An' Springtime takes the town.
You hear the world's heart beatin'
An' in dreams you seem to wait
For the meetin' with old sweethearts
In the starlight, at the gate.

II.

The green still calls the gray folks
That don't forget the spring;
Sweet was the old-time music,
But the sweetest song's to sing!
Don't think about Life's winters—
A sky with stormy frown.
For the world seems young forever
When Springtime comes to town.

III.

The long way, the long way,
But though the way seems long
You hear the old-time travelers
Singin' the mornin' song!
The violets don't forget you,
Winds shake the blossoms down,
An' the old world's still Love's sweetheart
When Springtime comes to town!

WAR, SHORT SKIRTS, SILKS AND WIDE DEFLATION CAUSE BIG COTTON SURPLUS, IS DECLARED

DALLAS, March 26.—Styles, including short skirts and the wearing of silks, the devastation of war, and world-wide deflation of the big factors in causing the greatest surplus of cotton in the world's history which is on hand today, E. F. Shropshire, director of the cotton division of the Texas Farm Bureau Federation, declared in endorsing the move of the Dallas Housekeepers' league to wear more cotton goods and extend the uses and consumption of cotton.

"We are wearing foreign products and making a market for foreign labor to the detriment of our own neighbors," he said. "The farm bureau is strongly in favor of the movement and believes that the womanhood of the nation can make it succeed. Civic organizations should realize everywhere that they are obligated to serve the farmers' welfare, too, and that their responsibility extends beyond the corporation limits of their city out to the farthest parts of their trade territory.

"Indications are that the worst part of the financial depression has been passed through and with the increased consumption of cotton through the efforts of the women, the reduction of cotton acreage 33 to 50 per cent, and the making of every farm self-supporting, there is hope of relief for the farmer. This move of the Dallas women is evidence of real patriotism and I hope it will spread throughout the country. I have been told that if the women of America were to wear cotton clothes exclusively, it would increase the consumption about 1,300,000 bales."

FLASHES FROM FILMLAND

Mrs. De Wolf Hooper and William Davidson head the Selznick company in presentation of "You Can't Kill Love," a photoplay made from a Michael Phillips story. Maurice Costello, a veteran among photoplayers, will have an important supporting role.

Eugene O'Brien will soon be presented in "Gilded Lies," based on a story by John Lynch, and directed by William P. S. Earle. The leading lady will be Martha Mansfield, who will, then make her final appearance in his support previous to becoming a star in her own right.

Albert Payson Terhune's novel, "The Fighter," will soon be screened by Selznick with Conway Tearle starring and Winifred Westover leading the support.

"The Purple Riders," the Joe Ryan Vitagraph serial, is being filmed in true western atmosphere and with real cowboys in the supporting company. Ryan and his troupe are living in the open on the Mexican border in Lower California, camping in tents and cooking their meals over little open fires.

Larry Simon has a new leading woman in his forthcoming comedy,

"The Rent Collector." Her name is Norma Nichols. The supporting company also includes Frank Alexander, "Babe" Hardy, Bill Hauber and Al Thompson.

Other members of his supporting cast are Emmett King, John Stepping, Geoffrey Webb, Eric Mayne, Mona Lisa and Max Asher.

Constance Talmadge has just started work on "Beauty or Brains," an original story purchased by Joseph Schenck from John Emerson and Miss Anita Loos. Kenneth Harlan is playing opposite Miss Talmadge in the film.

After an absence of a year and a half, Elsie Ferguson has returned to Paramount's eastern studio to make her latest picture, "Footlights," a story of the stage by Rita Weiman. "Cabria," Gabriele d'Annunzio's Roman spectacle, which was shown in 1913, is to be revived, at least in part. Harry Rayer, who presented the original production in America, announces that he is preparing a new edition, to be issued soon.

MAJESTIC. Is morality a matter of geography? Can a man make himself, or is he controlled by the subconscious influence of primitive ancestors? Billy Thorpe, a no-or-do-well in the effete atmosphere of social civilization, is banished by his family to South America. As assistant to his brother-in-law, overseer of a large rubber plantation, his better instincts assert themselves and he makes the plantation a paying proposition for the first time.

In exact antithesis, the brother-in-law, James Ellison, who had been a man of character and standing in the business metropolis, has degenerated in the tropics to a derelict dividing his time between rum, drunken slumber, and an immoral, beautiful native girl, Korea.

Thorpe's fiancée and Ellison's wife, on a yachting cruise, make them a surprise visit. Ellison excuses his dissipation as the haggardness of over-work, and makes it appear that Thorpe is the one infatuated with Korea. Because Ellison's wife is Thorpe's sister the young man says nothing, but his romance is ruined. Under the stress of his emotions he reverts to a primitive type and thrashes Ellison.

In revenge Ellison bribes the half-breed master of Korea to lie regarding Thorpe's relations with the girl. Infuriated, Thorpe duels the native with army sabers and runs him through. Thorpe still maintains silence to save his sister from the truth, but his fiancée learns the facts from Korea. After all you will want to see for yourself when "Honor Bound" comes to the Majestic theatre today, with Frank Mayo as the star. Jacques Jaccard wrote and directed the story.

TEMPLE. Douglas Fairbanks' new picture, "The Nut," which comes to the Temple theatre for three days, starting today, has all the elements that go to make up a successful photoplay. In all probability this offering will prove to be one of Doug's most popular vehicles.

Possessing the usual spontaneity and swiftness of action that characterizes all Fairbanks' celluloid creations, it is further distinguished by some of the most unique novelty features ever utilized in the making of a photoplay.

The theme of the story is love—the unquenchable of a man for a maid. And the romance that runs through the picture forms the basis for a very clever and intriguing plot. The whole story happens in Greenwich Village, famous Bohemian quarter of New York City. The play derives its name from the fact that Doug as Charlie Jackson, the eccentric hero, earns the nickname of "the nut" because he is an inventor and on account of the devices he resorts to in order to win the heart of lady fair.

Ably assisting Fairbanks in the presentation of the story is a capable cast including Marguerite De La Motte, who registered such a distinct triumph with the agile "Doug" in "The Mark of Zorro." The villain in the piece is William Lowry who has been hissed to success in many Fairbanks pictures.

Ted Reed, the youthful director, is responsible for the mastery of detail and a keen understanding of the seriocomic situations.

Miss Gladys Leslie, the one-time Vitagraph star, has just completed an important role in "Jim the Penman." Lionel Barrymore's fourth and last production under his contract with Whitman Bennett, "The English Melodrama" has been given an American locale.

"Behold the Man," the Pathe picture based on the life of Christ, which was seen on consecutive Sundays recently at the Apollo theatre, will be shown at the Academy of Music in Brooklyn next week.

The report circulated some time ago that Marv Pickford would do "Little Lord Fauntleroy" seems to be verified by an announcement from the production manager, Benjamin Ziedman. As originally rumored, she will play two parts—those of the little hero and his mother.

Norma Talmadge has commenced picturization of "The Sign on the Door," Channing Pollock's successful stage play. Lew Cody and Charles Richman have the leading male roles.

WORLD'S PRESS CONGRESS WILL OPEN IN HONOLULU, IN HISTORIC SURROUNDINGS

First Printing Was Done in Hawaiian Islands in the Year 1822.

HONOLULU, March 26.—The Press Congress of the World, which will open in Honolulu in October of this year, will hold its sessions a stone's throw from the spot where the first printing was done west of the Missouri river, almost one hundred years ago. The old coral building where the Ramage press, brought from Boston by Elisha Loomis, turned out its first work on January 1, 1822, still stands on King street, Honolulu's main thoroughfare. It is but a few steps from the Iolani palace of monarchy days, not the capitol, where the press congress will convene.

Entries in the diary of Elisha Loomis, which is preserved here, show that he and his precious printing apparatus left Boston on the brig Thaddeus which carried the first Christian missionaries to Hawaii, and landed in the islands April 9, 1820.

Loomis, who was born in Middlesex, Yates county, New York, in December, 1799, says in his diary that he started setting up his press in Honolulu in December of 1821, and on January, 1822, this entry appears: "This day commenced the first printing that was ever done at these islands. Governor Cox was present and printed the first sheet."

The governor referred to was the Hawaiian governor of the islands of Oahu on which Honolulu is situated. He had been a warrior chief in the armies of King Kamehameha the Great, who united all the islands under one crown.

Loomis' press was used principally for printing educational matter for instruction of the Hawaiians by the missionaries, but an entry in his diary in March, 1822, shows that at that early date the king had realized its value and had sent him two royal decrees to be printed for promulgation.

The first newspapers turned out in Hawaii were printed in the Hawaiian tongue adapted to English letters, one at Lahainaluna, Island of Maui, called "Ka Lama Hawaii," or the Light of Hawaii, and the other at Honolulu called "Kumu Hawaii," or the Foundation of Hawaii.

Both of these papers appeared in 1834. From that day the press of the islands has grown until it embraces papers in Hawaiian, English, Portuguese, Chinese, Japanese, Korean and Filipino.

The press that made history and laid the foundation of educational work in Hawaii is in the Oregon historical museum at Portland.

MERMAIDS IN ARGENTINA ARE MODEST

By Associated Press

BUENOS AIRES, March 26.—To the American accustomed to the hilarity of Coney Island, the gaiety of Atlantic City or the furious sport of the California beaches, Argentina's principal seaside resort, Mar del Plata, is a surprise, for one can really rest there.

He sees no merry-go-rounds, no scenic railways, no thrilling devices of any kind. He catches sight of few "mermaids" sporting on the sand. He is charmed, or shocked, by no frivolous or scant bathing togs. He sees no running about, no leap-frog, no surf-riding, no dancing on the sand to the strains of distant music. Instead, he finds a sober multitude quietly promenading or lolling in chairs decorously chatting, or sipping drinks. He sees a smartly dressed crowd both of men and women. When fashionable Miss Argentina hies herself for the beach city she equips herself with a trunk full of Paris gowns. She usually takes an ocean dip every morning between 1 and 12, attired in a bathing costume that falls modestly below the knees, and seldom carries between the surf and her bath house. She may sometimes play a bit at tennis in the morning, too, and in the afternoon try a round of golf on the excellent links up the beach. In the evenings she will dance at the hotel or at the villas of friends, but always chaperoned by her mother.

She dresses often and effectively and strolls along the "Rambla" looking wistfully out to sea, sometimes having her picture snapped by one of the many ambulant photographers with quick developer outfits who need only a discreet nod as an order. Mar del Plata has a permanent winter population of about 30,000, but throughout the southern summer its expensive hotels and costly villas shelter several thousand of Argentina's fashionable folk, mostly from Buenos Aires, while there are numerous cheaper hostels for those of lesser means.

Would Be All at Sea. "But suppose," they said to him, "this bill you are so keen about should cause your party to throw you overboard?"

"Well, in that case," the young politician responded, "I'm quite sure I'd have strength enough to swim across to the other side."—Boston Transcript.

SUED FOR DIVORCE, MAN SAYS WIFE WASHED SHIRTS ONLY ON NIGHTS OF THE FULL MOON

Husband Claims She Regulated Household Duties According of Planetary Positions.

International News Service. CHICAGO, March 26.—The moon's a poor thing to regulate a Chicago household by, Judge Holmes ruled recently in the case of Joseph Tranka, charged with non-support. Tranka admitted having fled his comfortable South Side home, but submitted the following extenuating facts:

If the moon shone in full-orbed glory, he said, indications were that he would get his meals on time the next day. For hours Mrs. Tranka would bathe in the magical beams and on the morrow her enthusiasm for work was marvelous to behold.

Stars Fix Wash Day, Too. Washing day was regulated by the planets, he declared. Saturn, Jupiter, Mars, Mercury, Venus and Neptune ordained by their appearance in the heavens the days when his shirts should be washed.

And far off in the ether were nebulae, comets, meteors, constellations, alien suns, fixed and variable stars, which made Mrs. Tranka's affections likewise variable.

"I couldn't stand it," said Tranka. "The moon was her ouija board and the stars indicated all the changes in our household habits."

Every morning she went to see a fortune teller. She would return too late to prepare my lunch. At night she would leave the dishes unwashed to wait for the moon!

Beware the Quarter Moon! "One day the moon would be full. That meant everything would be peaceful the next day. The house was cleaned, the meals prepared and the dishes washed."

"But more often the fortune teller would tell her to watch for a quarter or half moon. Those were the days I learned not to come home."

Mrs. Tranka said her husband left her last week after quitting his job. The latter told the court he was driven to it, but promised to go back and provide for her.

"And forget the moon," was Judge Holmes' parting advice to Mrs. Tranka.

MADAM CURIE SAYS RADIUM WARMS EARTH

NEW YORK, March 26.—In the first interview that she has granted to the press in many years, Madame Marie Curie, the eminent Polish scientist and discoverer of radium, who will soon visit the United States, explained this week to Viola Irwin Williams, Paris correspondent of the Philadelphia Public Ledger, the true significance of radium.

"Since its discovery some twenty years ago, the importance of the properties of this material revealed by radio elements has continually increased. For instance, radio-active bodies give out heat. A powerful radio-active substance, such as radium, is a constant source of heat. It has been thought up to the present that the earth has been constantly cooling since its solidification. A study of radio-active elements shows, on the contrary, that not only is it not certain that the earth is cooling, but it is even possible that it is getting constantly warmer, and this changes all our opinion on the evolution of the terrestrial globe."

Constant Heat Discharge. "It has been recognized that this discharge of heat from radium plays an important role in the thermal equilibrium of the terrestrial globe. It is known that radio-active substance, such as radium, are disseminated throughout the earth's crust in minute quantities. These quantities can be measured by electro meters. These measures have established that a given quantity of radium throws out heat sufficient to melt in an hour its own weight in ice."

"Because the radium is so strong it was natural to try its curative value, for the chance to alleviate human suffering is never neglected. From the first trials the results obtained in certain cases were encouraging and soon it was established that radium rays would cure a certain number of maladies, especially various affections of the skin, such as superficial ulcers, lupus, birthmarks, granulation of the eyelids, etc."

Its Use in Disease. "Other more difficult medical applications have required more time in or-

A. & M.'S POPPY SEED SENT FROM FLANDERS FIELD

President Offers it for Free Distribution to Those Who Are Interested.

COLLEGE STATION, March 26.—President Bizzell has just received from a personal friend, Mr. Theo G. Lemmon, whose home is in Los Angeles, Cal., some poppy seed from Flanders Field. These seed were accompanied by the following extract from a Los Angeles paper:

While abroad during the summer of 1919 on a horticultural commission for the French government, the president of our company had an opportunity of visiting some of the recent battle grounds of France and viewing the disaster wrought by modern warfare. The devastated cities and towns, the chaos of forest and field, the ruined cathedrals and desolated homes, the homeless wandering aimlessly about with only a bare existence confronting them and all of the joy of living gone—all of these sights bore mute testimony of the curse of autocracy's ambition.

As he stood in contemplation of this hideous mockery of man's efforts and achievements he was impressed as with the miracle by the beauty and der that their results should be sure and definite. Thus good results have been obtained in treatment of arthritis and neurotic cases. During the war radium therapy was used in treating infected wounds and sores whose healing remained arrested.

"But the most important result consists in the constantly increasing number of deep cancers treated by this method. This particularly difficult application has only developed slowly, but it now is certain that radium offers to us a powerful means for fighting cancer."

the promise of the poppies everywhere existent in the abandoned trenches, in the shell holes, in the very ruins of buildings on the roadsides and in the deserted street and on the fields of carnage, where the martyrs to a cause gasped an end to earthly life there, blood red symbols of the life blood of the heroic dead, grew the poppies.

And thereupon a thought occurred to him and of that idea was born a mental vision of those same poppies growing in a land where the highest ideals of mankind have birth and fructify; growing along our magnificent boulevards in beautiful gardens and public parks; growing in memory of the sons of our allies and of America, who gave to the full measure of their devotion that liberty and justice should not perish from the earth.

Out of this was born the resolution to crystallize the thought into accomplished fact—but free from any commercialism. Arrangements for harvesting the seed and its shipment to us were undertaken and perfected, but unavoidable delays have just placed us in possession of it. It is now ready for distribution without charge to any one who regards the scene as commensurable and who wishes to take part in its fulfillment.

MORE LIGHT THROWN ON SECRET TREATY BETWEEN WILHELM OF GERMANY AND CZAR OF RUSSIA

Dr. Dillon of London Makes Disclosures to Correspondent at Galveston.

By Associated Press
GALVESTON, March 26.—Additional light on the Bjorkoe treaty—the secret treaty between the then Emperor Wilhelm of Germany and the late Czar Nicholas of Russia—which, from his sanctuary at Doorn, Holland, the ex-king claims to have been the first move toward a league of nations, was given the Associated Press by Dr. E. J. Dillon, a former editor of the London Daily Telegraph, war correspondent and author of many books on international questions. Dr. Dillon, who now resides in Mexico City, visited here recently en route to Washington, D. C.

Excerpts from the forthcoming memoirs of Count Witte, Russian statesman as detailed in a recent dispatch of the Associated Press, which challenged and contradicted the assertion of the former German war lord that it was he who took the first step in the direction of a league or association of nations, were corroborated, by Dr. Dillon, who then resided in Petrograd.

The veteran journalist first learned of the "cousinly" Bjorkoe agreement when he, as a member of Count Witte's peace plenipotentiaries, returned with that party to Russia, after the conclusion of the Russo-Japanese peace treaty at Portsmouth, N. H.

In substance the agreement obligated Germany and Russia to defend each other in case of war with any other European power (including France). Russia pledged herself to make every effort to win France over to this convention, but regardless of French acquiescence, the agreement between Germany and Russia was binding.

Returning from Portsmouth to Russia in 1905, Count Witte talked with the kaiser.

Count Witte Deceived.

"He turned to the general political situation in Europe and reverted to our 'Peterhof' conversation," Count Witte wrote. "I reiterated my belief in the desirability of a general rapprochement of Russia, Germany and France. This rapprochement tending to become a close union, which would be joined by other European powers. Delivered from the burden of military expenditures, Europe would be enabled to create a mighty naval force which would dominate the world."

"His majesty assured me that he shared my views and then declared that my scheme had finally been carried into effect at his meeting with Emperor Nicholas at Bjorkoe. His majesty asked me whether I was satisfied with this development and, in my innocence, I replied that his words filled my heart with joy."

Upon his arrival in St. Petersburg, Count Witte had an interview with Emperor Nicholas. "His majesty told me," writes the count, "that he had received a letter from Emperor William. He was glad, he added, that I shared the views which were the foundation of his agreement with Germany. The text of this agreement, however, his majesty did not show me."

The count then narrated, according to the excerpts as detailed to the Associated Press, that the next day he met Count Lamsdorff, Russian minister of foreign affairs. "He asked me, in his voice vibrant with ill controlled indignation: 'Do you really approve the Bjorkoe compact?'"

"I replied in the affirmative. 'But have you read the Bjorkoe treaty?' persisted Lamsdorff. 'I confessed that I had not, whereupon he handed me the text of the agreement.'"

Count Witte exclaimed: "This is monstrous! The treaty dishonors us in the eyes of France!"

In view of the fact that Russia's good faith with France was at stake, they having previously entered into a treaty, the count and Minister Lamsdorff set themselves to the task of obtaining the abrogation of the Bjorkoe agreement. The pact was a "skeleton in the closet" of the foreign office, according to Dr. Dillon, and he himself possessed a copy of the instrument for six years before it was given to the world. It lay in the safe of his residence in the Russian capital.

"English newspapers wouldn't have published it—they were afraid it might prove to be the torch that would set all Europe aflame," Dr. Dillon said. An American newspaper finally gave it to the world, he added, the Petrograd correspondent of the New York Herald calling it to his editor. From New York it was later republished in European newspapers. Dr. Dillon, who lived in Russia from 1876 until shortly before the outbreak of the world war, knew personally the late czar's grandfather, Alexander II, as well as his father, Alexander III, and was the recipient of many honors from the late emperor.

RATTLESNAKE DRIVES PLANNED IN WEST TEXAS

Special to the Times.

SNYDER, March 26.—A few weeks ago it was the winter diversion to hold throughout West Texas counties "rabbit drives," which brought the hides of many of these herbivorous animals into the fur market, but now Snyder citizens are determined to inaugurate "rattle snake drives," following statements that the rattlers are this year more numerous than ever before. It has been suggested that snake dens not be molested so that hunters may next spring return and finish the job that they are now starting. The warm winter has been beneficial to the production of a large family of the hisses, it has been said.

PROHIBITION BECOMES VITAL ISSUE IN ULSTER

By Associated Press

BELFAST, March 26.—Prohibition has become a vital issue in Ulster. The big Protestant element of the population is taking a lively interest in the campaign against drink. As in Scotland, the efforts of the "drys" appear to be directed toward securing local option.

There is little doubt that the Unionist members of the new Parliament will be sharply divided on this issue.

WOMEN DON'T ENJOY RIGHTS MEN HAVE YET

By Associated Press

CHICAGO, March 26.—Granting of woman suffrage has not yet given women full rights with men in a large part of the United States, it is indicated by a survey of the middle and southwest made by the Associated Press. In only a quarter of this territory, it appears, do women stand unmistakably on an even footing with men.

The discriminations where they exist are, however, for the most part small. The chief disability lies in the right to sit on juries.

The stumbling block in this case is generally a constitutional provision that jurymen must be males. Removal of this disqualification has been urged in a number of legislatures this winter.

Other exceptions women are under in various states include these: In Iowa, they cannot sit in the legislative employ.

In Wisconsin, they do not pay poll tax.

In Texas, Oklahoma, Missouri and South Dakota women are regarded as barred from jury duty by constitutional provision or statute.

In Nebraska, although an Omaha woman recently sat on a jury existing law makes this irregular. In Kentucky, a portion at least of the circuit judges believe that the use of the masculine in the statute does not bar women from jury duty, as women have served on a circuit court jury in Jessamine county and on both petit and grand juries in Laurel county. There has been no opinion by the Kentucky attorney general or the courts.

In Minnesota the attorney general has held that women cannot serve on juries, but several district court judges have held otherwise and admitted them to juries. In Illinois until the supreme court rules definitely, judges are permitted to determine for themselves whether women shall serve as jurors

The North Dakota legislature recently passed a law permitting women to serve on juries but not requiring such service.

In Indiana the legislature has just received a discrimination by enacting that the father and mother jointly, if living shall be the natural guardians of their children, instead of the father alone.

Iowa women contemplate effort to have their inability to sit in the legislature removed through an approaching constitutional convention. Otherwise they enjoy full rights with men.

DE LEON CLAIMS BABY WITH PRIZE-WINNING BUNCH OF GRANDPARENTS

Special to the Times.

DELEON, March 26.—DeLeon is up in the air, so to speak, over the statement appearing in a Dallas newspaper to the effect that a baby of the Hogan family in that city had eight grandparents. The article was accompanied by a print of the baby. Now DeLeon has a baby that has ten—count 'em—grandparents and it wants Dallas to take down its sign for ancestral honors. "Bobbie Jean," 20 months old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Stringfellow, residing on rural route No. 3, DeLeon, wants some publicity. Her grandparents are: Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Stringfellow, DeLeon, great grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Merritt, DeLeon; Mrs. H. E. Thiebaud of Highland; A. Y. Whitacre, Hale Center; Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Carey of Colorado Springs, Colo., and Mr. and Mrs. C. Ardrey of Clarendon, Texas.

There are few cities of the size of Laredo where there is less real criminality, according to the police. The local jail has had as few as four or five occupants awaiting trial and fifty is the largest number listed, these including federal prisoners and those awaiting trial by the city court for minor offenses.

There is no other place of confinement for federal prisoners and those charged with crimes against the federal statutes are held in the county jail for the federal district court.

"Your wife used to object to your smoking?"

"Yes," replied Mr. Meekton. "That was before Henrietta became so interested in great public questions. Now she has her light a pipe now and then so that when she makes a speech she won't mind the cigarette smoke in the audience."—Washington Star.

HOME-TALENT CRIMINALS ARE SCARCE IN LAREDO

By Associated Press

LAREDO, Texas, March 26.—A study of the cases that come before the grand jury here shows that, with the exception of a few minor offenses—the purveying of an occasional bottle of mescal or tequila, petty thefts and the like—all those accused of criminal offenses in this county are from other sections, many of them from distant points, both in Mexico and the United States.

Some of the shrewdest thieves come from interior Mexican points, especially from Mexico City, and none of this sort of criminals comes in the class of robbers with firearms. They rarely enter a building that is occupied at the time and while many cases of "sneak thieving" are reported, there is not a single case of violence offered to the occupants of a residence or store.

DUNNAM PREPARING 1,000 TAX DELINQUENT SUITS

SAD DISAPPOINTMENT.

"So you consider Jack misleading and disappointing. Why, dear?"

"Well, he had me on the tenterhooks last night in expectation that he was going to ask me to go to the theatre."

CRYSTAL FALLS DISTRICT HAS ACTIVE WEEK

Completions Few, but Much Acreage Is Acquired for Production.

CRYSTAL FALLS, March 26.-Although no completions of any great consequence were reported in the past week in the Crystal Falls district, great activity was shown in the acquiring of acreage, ranging in blocks of from forty to four hundred acres. The majority of transfers were in the neighborhood of the Yeaman survey, although several blocks changed hands in the neighborhood of the big Guaranty No. 1 well. The largest tract acquired was obtained by O. A. Bateman and associates of Breckenridge, who, after a careful survey of the Crystal Falls district, pronounced it now to be the likeliest looking land for big production in the north Stephens county field. It is expected that the Breckenridge interests will begin drilling immediately, their acreage, being close in to the Gilbert Johnson No. 1 well on the Yeaman survey which now holds the center of the stage in this field.

This well is of vital importance due to the fact that it lays between the Bell No. 1 of the Roxana and the wildcat Stribling and should it come in for the big production looked for, will prove up an immense amount of territory in the Yeaman survey and including 3,400 acres not involved in litigation. According to decisions rendered during the past few weeks in Stephens county this land will soon be returned to the original owners. The land in question is the property of S. J. McIntyre, J. T. Hawley, W. R. Powers, J. K. Wisdom, M. F. Ham, J. R. McIntyre and J. R. Funderbunk and was leased during 1909-10 by these parties to G. J. Thomason and associates of Haskell and Wichita Falls. According to the plaintiffs, the land was leased for the coal, gas oil and other mineral rights, and inasmuch as Thomason, it is alleged, failed to develop same they are seeking to cancel these leases. They also contend that the land was originally leased chiefly for the coal rights, there being three well defined veins, covering approximately ten thousand acres. In the event that this acreage is cleared, it is expected it will be divided into small blocks and disposed of to the independent operators.

Officials of the Gilbert Johnson company report they expect to complete their well during the coming week, they having been held up by a collapsed joint of 6-inch pipe which has now been pierced with a swedge. The pay is expected to be struck in the neighborhood of 3,350 feet and ample tankage has been provided to care for big production. They also extend their line to the Stribling well. Unlimited faith in this field by the Roxana company is shown by the fact that they have acquired an additional 150 acres in the I. A. Sloan tract, directly northwest of their Ball holdings, and on which they are now erecting a derrick.

Other activities in this field include Brock-Northern Oil Syndicate, who are down 300 feet on their lease two miles southwest of Crystal Falls.

Burkburnett Oil & Leasing Co., Robertson No. 1 well down 2,300 feet. Patterson-Mauer No. 1, block 11, Yeaman survey, down 1,500 feet. Sharp & Mahaney, Sarah Blythe No. 1 setting 8-inch pipe.

GAS, ASPHALT, MAKES SHOWING AROUND PECOS

People Believe Production Is Close, but Definite Knowledge Is Week Off.

Special to the Times. PECOS, March 26.-Gas and asphalt and two wells cemented off just above what is believed to be production has Pecos on edge with anticipation, but with slight prospect for satisfied curiosity for another week.

A small water sand just above the gas found in the Bell No. 1, at 1,707 feet, made it necessary to secure a string of six-inch casing and the extent of the showing underneath cannot be determined until after the water is shut off.

Drilling has been resumed in the asphalt beds at the Laura well, but as is often the case in other fields it is necessary to go considerably deeper before the oil production is struck. The presence of the asphalt and the heavy gas is taken as a very good indication of the correct structural location of the Laura and the showing has stimulated considerable trading in that vicinity. The gas pressure has led some to believe that the oil production was but little lower. The well is now down 2,050 feet in a hard black lime formation that produces the asphalt.

The cement bridge in the Soda Lake well will probably be drilled out this coming week. It was placed above a showing at 1,863 feet. The bridge in the Ranger-Hudson, on section 18, block 2, will not be touched until April 5, as the drillers desire two weeks for the cement to properly harden.

Additional interest in the Soda Lake territory has been occasioned by excellent showings in the Trans-Pecos Oil company well two miles to the west. This well has had considerable gas and an excellent showing in a lime rock that gives promise of possible production when the casing has fully settled and operations are resumed. This hole is down about 800 feet.

Culberson county activities are drawing attention to that territory again after considerable delay had been occasioned by fishing jobs in the deep tests being drilled there. The Owens No. 1 is down 575 feet and the Owens No. 2 has started operations but halted drilling long enough to lay a water line to insure a plentiful supply. The Lewis-Jones syndicate is operating below 200 feet on their new hole.

The Pecos Angeles and Texoiland wells in the Bell territory have overcome their financial difficulties and are preparing to start operations. The Pecos Angeles will probably get to drilling on Monday while the Texoiland will not get going until later in the week.

U. OF T. GEOLOGISTS TO SURVEY LAND FOR OIL

Special to the Times. AUSTIN, March 26.-Drs. J. A. Beede and W. S. Adkins, geologists of the Bureau of Economic Geology and Technology of the University of Texas, will leave early this week to make a geological survey of two blocks of university lands, situated in Culberson county. One of these blocks contains 48 sections and the other 24 sections, embracing a total of 46,080 acres. This land is said to be under lease to private interests for oil exploration and exploitation purposes. While the survey which Drs. Beede and Adkins will make is to be with particular reference to oil possibilities, general geological conditions will be taken into account, it is stated. About two months will be occupied in making the survey.

BIDS TO BE RECEIVED FOR CRYSTAL FALLS DAM

Special to the Times. CRYSTAL FALLS, March 26.-A hydro-electric plant will be erected on the Clear Fork of the Brazos river within a short time. The erection of the plant will be made possible due to the six feet above the present spillway, which will impound the water to the city of Breckenridge. Bids for the erection of the dam will be opened today.

MINEOLA WELL NEAR PYRON IS IN 45 FEET OF SAND

SNYDER, Texas, March 26.-The Mineola well near Pyron is in 45 feet of sand at 3160 feet. Preparations are being made to shoot and test this well.

The Vincennes well in southeastern Borden county is in oil sand at about 2100 feet and gassing heavily. Should this well make a good producer it will prove up a large amount of territory in Borden and Mitchell counties.

JAP STATESMAN OPPOSES RACE IN ARMAMENT

Declares His Country Would Suffer in Competition With America.

TOKIO, March 26.—Representative Yukio Ozaki, ex-minister of justice, who has come into prominence anew because of his championing of restricted armaments accepted the challenge to a public debate on armaments issued by Professor Matsunami of the Imperial university, who recently returned from Manila where he delivered a series of lectures on jurisprudence.

Ozaki began with a brief review of the respective naval strengths of the United States and of Japan and in the course of his argument pointed out that, far from reducing the margin of superiority that the United States now possesses over Japan, a race for naval armament will only widen the advantage America already possesses.

"Nothing can be more absurd, useless and unwise than for Japan to compete with America in armament building," declared Mr. Ozaki. "As a matter of fact, the more Japan strives, the more she will suffer for integral crises will then become severer. It is a lucky thing that at this time, an American, Senator Borah, has attracted the attention of the world by his plea for cessation in the mad race for piling up armaments. If Japan takes advantage of the opportunity that presents itself, then she will be saving herself from all the ills that will attend the building of huge armaments, ills which are inevitable if the naval race is to be run."

"Great Britain has suspended naval construction and it now only needs that America and Japan arrive at an understanding in order to give realization to Senator Borah's proposition. Under these circumstances, considering that America took the lead one way, why should not Japan approach America and reach an understanding."

Dr. Matsunami based his argument on the contention that it would be better for Japan to abolish her navy altogether if disarmament is so essential. He asserted that since the United States had not joined the League of Nations there is no reason why Japan should approach the United States on a matter which has not been decided one way or the other by the league.

In rebuttal Mr. Ozaki said armament restriction as leading to the abolition of the navy was on a par with temperance resulting in total abstinence. "It is to pave the way for the end of using force as a means of settling disputes that armament restriction is advocated," he said, and added: "In my opinion, there is not the slightest harm in seeking an understanding with the United States on this matter although she is not a member of the League of Nations."

High cost of the necessities here is attributed to the many middlemen, to lack of proper storage facilities, and to high transportation costs.

HOTELS MUST TAKE STEPS TO PROTECT PATRONS FROM FLIES, MAINE COURTS SAY

HOTELS MUST SO

The Maine courts have decided that the owners of establishments which do not use vigilance in protecting food against flies are liable to their patrons. A decision in the case of Williams vs. Sweet (Maine, 110 Atl. R. 376), is quoted in "The Journal of the American Association," as follows:

"The supreme judicial court of Maine, in granting the defendant a new trial after the plaintiff had recovered a verdict in this action to recover the price which the defendant had contracted to pay for certain rooms for two weeks, in the month of August, but which the defendant and his party had abandoned after four days, says that the crux of the case was found in answer to the inquiry: was the defendant justified in leaving? It will be conceded that a hotel when it holds itself out to the public as a place of resort for rooms and board carries with such offer an implication that it will furnish its patrons with accommodations that are compatible with the standing of the hostelry, the prices paid, and the class of people invited to become its guests. These accommodations include apartments, table, dining service, and especially such sanitary conditions as are calculated to render the surroundings inviting and wholesome rather than repulsive and deleterious to health. The complaint in this case was that at the table at which the defendant and his party were accustomed to sit, the flies were so numerous and became so obnoxious that their presence created an intolerable condition in violation of the obligation of the landlord to furnish suitable and sanitary dining facilities as implied in his contract. The real issue involved a single question of fact: Was the defendant justified in leaving the hotel on account of the fault of the plaintiff, in allowing flies to collect at the defendant's table in such numbers as to become insanitary and repulsive? The court thinks that he was."

A Dangerous Disease Carrier

"It is a matter of common knowledge that the common house fly has come to be regarded by the enlightened understanding, not only as one of the most annoying and repulsive of insects, but one of the most dangerous in its capacity to gather, carry and disseminate the germs of disease. He is the meanest of all scavengers. He delights in reveling in all kinds of filth; the greater the putrescence, the more to his taste. Of every vermin, he above all others is least able to prove an ally when charged with having been in touch with every kind of corruption, and with having become contaminated with the germs thereof. After free indulgence in the cesspools of disease and filth, he then possesses the further obnoxious attribute of being most agile and persistent in ability to distribute the germs of almost every deadly form of contagion. It is a matter of common knowledge that yellow fever was formerly the scourge of certain localities in our own and other countries. For years no one mistrusted or was able to detect the cause. But one day it was announced that a certain kind of mosquito by using its sting communicated the germs of this dread disease. The knowing introduction of one of these mosquitoes now would constitute a criminal offense. While the house fly has not yet been regarded as fatal as a mosquito, he, nevertheless, is now attracting the serious attention of sanitary and health departments all over the country; in fact, all over the world. The dangers with which his presence is fraught are also a matter of common knowledge, and hence of judicial notice. The court finds that the bibliographic list on this subject in the last twelve years embraces 136 publications in books and bulletins issued in many countries and printed in different languages. "That the defendant left the plaintiff's hotel on account of the obnoxious presence of flies there can be no doubt, and the court thinks that he was justified in so doing. Accidentally, flies may invade any dining room, public or private; but the presence of flies in a dining room regularly in numbers, however small, is a menace not to be encouraged or tolerated. A single fly may so contaminate food, milk or a dish as to communicate a dangerous or even deadly disease—tuberculosis. To the person, therefore, who knows its dangers, flies about the food in numbers however small, are at once repulsive, nauseating and dreaded. A single fly may be reeking with filth covered with a million noxious germs. To those informed on the subject, this case presents a matter of importance and serious consideration. Reasonable conditions of sanitation are always to be measured by the fatality of the diseases liable to be communicated as the result of the lack of such conditions."
