

ADMINISTRATION BACKERS LIMIT FIGHT

RANGER BANKS GAIN MILLION SINCE DEC. 31

Twelve Per Cent Increase Registered While Other Cities Fell Away.

When nearly all large cities show material decreases in bank deposits, Dallas having fallen off $26,000,000 from Dec. 31 to Feb. 28, Ranger has gained nearly $1,000,000 in that period. The call of Dec. 31 showed Ranger with deposits approximating $3,000,000. The call of Feb. 28 shows approximately $9,000,000.

Every bank in the city, with the exception of the First National, made substantial gains. The restricted room available at the First National bank, the fact that it is often crowded so badly that persons cannot get in to do business, has prevented that institution from registering the gain that it would otherwise have made. With the early completion of the splendid new quarters now nearly finished, the First National will have this handicap removed.

Ranger banks have shown a steady gain in deposits every month since the discovery of oil. The fact that they have registered an increase in the face of a restricted money market, when banks generally are showing large shrinkages, is the best answer available to the assertion that this city is "slacking up."

The gain is approximately 12 per cent, or 6 per cent a month.

CAMPAIGN AGAINST DRUG HABIT PLANNED BY REVENUE AGENTS

CHICAGO, March 6.—Plans for a nation-wide campaign against the drug habit by the most stringent enforcement of the Harrison anti-narcotic act yet attempted are being formed by officers of the internal revenue department, it was announced today by Charles Rogers, assistant supervisor collector at Washington, in Chicago to direct organization of the field deputies.

He said the department had received reports of an alarming increase in the number of drug victims in the smuggling traffic.

DAYLIGHT ROBBERS IMPRISON BANKERS LEAVE WITH BOOTY

HOUSTON, March 6.—Two armed men walked into the American State bank at Harrisburg at noon today, covered the cashier, two women assistants and two customers with pistols, ordered them into the vault, took all available money and Liberty bonds and something less than $5,000 and made their escape.

Half an hour later a customer entered the bank, heard the yells from the vault and notified the sheriff's officers.

NEWS PRINT CONSUMPTION MUST BE CUT DOWN, SAYS PUBLISHERS' ASSOCIATION

NEW YORK, March 6.—Immediate reduction of ten per cent in consumption of news print paper by all newspapers was urged in a resolution adopted here today by the board of directors and paper committee of the American Newspaper Publishers Association. In case advertisers do not cooperate, the resolution advises the publishers to raise their advertising rates sufficiently to bring about the proposed reduction.

DRY GOODS ASSOCIATION BATTLING PROFITEERS

NEW YORK, March 6.—The national Retail Dry Goods Association opened its campaign against profiteers today by placing large posters in offices in New York, urging its members to resist price advances and insist on deliveries. The merchants are asking to report "all unfair manufacturers and wholesalers to the department of justice."

DRASTIC NOTE DISPATCHED TO TURK GOVERNMENT

LONDON, March 6.—The Allies dispatched another note to the Turkish government today. The terms of the communication were not disclosed, but it is understood that they are drastic and will be followed by a hostile action should the necessary arise.

ALLIES FORGET WORLD DEBTS, GERMAN SAYS

BERLIN, March 6.—German diplomacy "must take up the struggle at the point where President Wilson permitted it to slip away from him," said Count von Bernstorff, former German ambassador at Washington, at a mass meeting of university students in a discussion of the nation's foreign policies.

Von Bernstorff declared that the president had barely touched upon the problems of negotiating a just peace but failed to solve it after being first to assert that the war was not to end in the creation of a new balance of power.

Count von Bernstorff said he had warned against any attempt to achieve a revision of the treaty through negotiations with individual entente powers. Such a procedure he characterized as a "dangerous illusion" which was calculated to expose Germany to the charge that she was intriguing.

"In punishing Germany," he said, "the entente forgot to take cognizance of the economic condition of the world at large. The vanquished are unable to pay the war costs of the victors; the whole world, with the exception of the United States, is bankrupt."

In connection with her declaration, Germany must convince the entente that she is unable to meet the treaty's conditions unless she is given raw products and ample credits which would enable to work off the indemnity, he declared.

Discussing the League of Nations von Bernstorff said that Germany should not beg to be received into it, which to the treaty, the bureau said, but a person who is physically unable to get his returns in on time because of illness may secure a thirty-day extension on application of the collector of his district.

ALIBIS UNAVAILING IN INCOME TAXES, SICK ONLY EXCUSED

WASHINGTON, March 6.—Alibis of the negligent will not be accepted as excuses to escape penalty for failure to file income tax returns for 1919, the bureau of internal revenue announced today. Statements must be filed by Monday, March 15.

"Did not know" or "forgot about it" and similar pleas will be of no avail to the tax payers, the bureau said, but a person who is physically unable to get his returns in on time because of illness may secure a thirty-day extension on application of the collector of his district.

INDIVIDUAL PLANT IS PLACE TO SETTLE PROBLEMS CONFERENCE WILL REPORT

WASHINGTON, March 6.—The proper place to grapple with the labor problem is in the individual plant, the second industrial conference will tell President Wilson in its final report. The conference adjourned today after having held eighty sessions since its first meeting, December 1. Its report, adopted unanimously, will go to the president next Wednesday and will be made public within about fifteen days.

Specific recommendations regarding hours, wages, women and children in industries, unemployment and similar problems have been made the conference announced, and a definite stand on collective bargaining, the rock on which the first conference came to grief, has been taken.

ALIMONY, LIKE SALARIES, SUBJECT TO REVISION ON ACCOUNT OF OLD H. C. L.

TOPEKA, Kansas, March 6.—Alimony, like wages, is subject to revision on account of the high cost of living. It affirmed a decision of the Shawnee county district court, where Mrs. Grace Nixon brought suit for an increase in alimony from her former husband, Ira Nixon.

LIEUT. FRED H. UTLEY KILLED IN PLANE CRASH

LAWTON, Okla., March 6.—Lieut. Fred H. Utley, was instantly killed and two privates injured, one fatally, in attempting to make a forced landing in an airplane this afternoon at Anache, Okla., near here. Utley's home is in Michigan.

THERMOMETER AT BILLINGS SLIDES TO MINUS THIRTY INSIDE OF TWELVE HOURS

BILLINGS, Montana, March 6.—A drop of thirty-three degrees in about twelve hours established a new record for Billings last night. At 6 o'clock last night the thermometer read one below zero and reached its lowest point of 7 a. m. today, when thirty-four below was registered.

SUFFRAGISTS AWAIT NEWS FROM STATES YET TO RATIFY

Miss Alice Paul and the heads of the various departments of the National Woman's party are shown here at the headquarters in Washington. Four states are still needed for ratification of the suffrage amendment and the women are anxiously awaiting news from those states which are calling special sessions of the senate. The women in the group are: Mrs. Lawrence Lewis, Philadelphia, treasurer; Mrs. Abby Scott Baker, Washington, political chairman;

Miss Anita Pollitzer, legislative secretary; Miss Alice Paul, chairman; Mrs. Florence Brewer Boeckel, Washington, press chairman; and Miss Mabel Vernon, standing, secretary of the National Woman's party.

RAIL CLERKS' STRIKE TESTS NEW MEASURE

CHICAGO, March 6.—An embargo today was placed against all express shipments except newspapers and funeral equipment by the American Railway Express company, following its strike of "insurgent" railway express clerks who demanded an increase in wages of $35 a month.

The strike, called by R. E. Shepherd, chairman of the Chicago and western lake division of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks, is without the sanction of international officers. More than 2,500 men responded to the strike call, Mr. Shepherd said.

District Attorney Cline today began an investigation of the walk-out to determine whether it was a violation of the new transportation act. If evidence warranted, he indicated, the first test of the new law would be made. He telegraphed to Washington to ascertain how far his authority extended.

RANGER TAKES PLACE WITH BIG OIL CITIES IN O. AND G. DIRECTORY

J. Alfred Powell compiler of the Fossil Oil and Gas directory, is in Ranger, co-operating with the Chamber of Commerce in assembling names of operators here for the Ranger entry in the directory.

Ranger will take its place with Fort Worth, Wichita Falls, Dallas, Houston, Beaumont and San Antonio, of Texas cities, in the book, with all companies of the field listed and a special page devoted to Ranger's importance to the West Texas oil industry. No other Texas cities, outside these seven, are mentioned.

The directory covers four states—Texas, Kansas, Oklahoma and Louisiana—listing all the oil companies, refineries, oil well supply companies, pipe line companies, torpedo companies and tank manufacturers and all refiners of the United States.

JAPAN WILL HOLD ON TO VLADIVOSTOK AND STRATEGIC RAIL POINTS

WASHINGTON, March 6.—Although planning to withdraw the bulk of her troops from Siberia, Japan will relinquish control of Vladivostok and vicinities, the Chinese eastern railways and the strategic railroad junction in the trans-Baikal region, according to official information received here.

THEODORE ROOSEVELT LEFT AN ESTATE OF THREE-QUARTERS MILLION

MINEOLA, N. Y., March 6.—The state of New York will receive $83,891 as an inheritance tax from the estate of the late Col. Theodore Roosevelt, according to reports of the state inheritance tax appraiser, filed here today. Official transfer tax appraisal shows that the former president left an estate worth $727,713 after all expenses and debts had been deducted.

DANIELS LAYS THREE NAVAL PROGRAMS OUT

WASHINGTON, March 6.—Three provisional naval building programs depending on Senate action on the peace treaty were laid before the House naval committee today by Secretary Daniels.

If the United States ratified the treaty and became a member of the League of Nations, Mr. Daniels said, he would recommend the construction only to "round out" the fleet now built or building. If the Senate rejected the treaty and the United States definitely decided not to join the league, he said he would urge application of the three-year program of 1916, with some modification, with a view of making the fleet "incomparably" the greatest in the world.

In case the Senate took no final action on the treaty at this session of Congress, the secretary said, he would present a ship program for construction as rapidly as possible in order that the United States might not lose ground in competitive naval building.

Secretary Daniels told the committee it must choose between the three proposals. The sixty-nine ship program, he said, would cost about $195,000,000. He gave no estimate of the cost of a new three-year program.

Included in the tentative three-year program, Mr. Daniels outlined, were ten dreadnoughts and six battle cruisers, but he added that he would ask appropriations the first year for only two battleships and one battle cruiser. In addition, the program would include for the three years twenty light cruisers and a large number of smaller craft.

The sixty-nine ship program included two dreadnoughts and one battle cruiser for prompt construction with a large program of cruisers and auxiliaries, while the program the secretary recommended if the United States ratify the treaty and become a member of the league, includes no capital craft.

FRENCH FOLLOWING CLEMENCEAU'S ADVICE "HAVE MORE CHILDREN"

PARIS, March 6.—Former Premier Clemenceau's pithy advice to the French on his last speaking tour: "Pay your taxes and have children," has been followed by a crystallizing of sentiment for prompt remedies to the gradually decreasing birthrate.

"How to save France" and like phrases are being used in a vigorous campaign by the National alliance, organized to fight birth control and to encourage the increase of population by making it an honor to have large families and by giving bonuses for all children after the second.

Pictures are being used by the alliance comparing France and Germany, showing how France's almost stationary population in past decades and its present decreases threaten the nation and, it is added, "France is lost; nothing can save a nation that commits suicide," unless present conditions are remedied. Illustrations are given to show that it is possible for a race to die out or become so weak as to be engulfed in a sudden influx of foreigners. Other pictures contrast the indulgent attitude toward irregular life with the opprobrium, that, it is urged, should attach to such conduct.

FAVORED DEMS UNWILLING TO GO ON BALLOT

NEW YORK, March 6.—William G. McAdoo again made plain his intention not to permit his name to be entered on presidential preferential ballots when he sent a telegram today to B. F. Ewing, chairman of the Democratic state committee of California, requesting that he be kept out of the California primaries.

HOOPER ALSO UNWILLING TO GO ON BALLOT

SAN FRANCISCO, March 6.—Herbert Hoover will not permit his name to be used in the California presidential primaries as he is not a candidate for the office, according to a telegram from him read here today by Gavin McNabb at the Democratic state committee meeting.

CAN'T SLICE FAT OFF, SURGEONS MAINTAIN

PHILADELPHIA, March 6.—Philadelphia surgeons scoff at the suggestion of operations on fat men to reduce their weight. "Operations for the removal of fat, a prominent physician said, 'are not practical. Wherever fat is removed scar-tissue forms. When this occurs the skin refuses to function."

"Persons excessively fat have the fatty tissue all over their bodies. To do any appreciable good in reducing weight, it would be necessary to operate extensively. Thus a wide area of scar-tissue would form."

MINISTER'S ILLUSTRATION GETS HIM BOOST IN PAY

LONDON, March 6.—So struck were the congregation at a church here with an illustration by the minister that they doubled his stipend. The minister was preaching on the high cost of living and exhibiting a basket with forty-eight eggs in it, said: "This is what a predecessor of mine got for a shilling 75 years ago."

WOMEN VOTERS IN INITIAL APPEAL ON LEGISLATIVE QUESTION

WASHINGTON, March 6.—The recently organized League of Women Voters presented its views on a legislative question to Congress for the first time today when Mrs. Edward P. Costigan, a representative of the league and vice-president of the National Consumers League, appeared before the House agriculture committee to urge federal regulation of the packing industry.

"About 6,000,000 children in this country are not getting sufficient food," she claimed.

WILSON WON'T ENTER TREATY NEGOTIATIONS

Senate "Irreconcilables" Declare Again Issue Is Dead.

WASHINGTON, March 6.—The move to bring President Wilson actively into the peace treaty compromise negotiations got such a setback at the White House today that the "irreconcilable" senate opponents of ratification again pronounced the treaty dead and gave notice that they would move Monday to bring the debate speedily to an end.

Officials close to the President declared that Democratic senators already were wholly advised of the attitude of the executive and that compromise proposals should be addressed, not to Mr. Wilson, but to Senator Lodge of Massachusetts, the Republican leader in the senate. It was not revealed whether the President would grant the requested conference with Senator Simmons of North Carolina, representing the senate Democrats, in a rival effort at compromise, but the White House officials intimated that they thought further efforts to inquire into the President's views would be superfluous.

The development caused un concealed disappointment among the Republican and Democratic senators working for an eleventh hour compromise, but it did not put a stop to their negotiations. Some on both sides openly declared the only course left was to make an effort at agreement and then if a ratification were accomplished let the President decide whether he would accept or reject it.

Among the "irreconcilables," however, it was confidently asserted that no agreement ever could be reached on such an uncertain basis, and that if the declaration of the White House officials reflects the views of the President, further delay of the ratification vote was only so much time wasted.

Six reservations besides that relating to article ten remain to be disposed of, the senate having acted during the day on the seventh of the list of fourteen adopted last November. The reservation voted on was that exempting the United States from paying expenses of the League of Nations without congressional action.

WOMEN VOTERS IN INITIAL APPEAL ON LEGISLATIVE QUESTION

WASHINGTON, March 6.—The recently organized League of Women Voters presented its views on a legislative question to Congress for the first time today when Mrs. Edward P. Costigan, a representative of the league and vice-president of the National Consumers League, appeared before the House agriculture committee to urge federal regulation of the packing industry.

"About 6,000,000 children in this country are not getting sufficient food," she claimed.

TEXAS WILSON MEN TAKE UP BAILEY "DEFI"

State Issues Sidetracked Until National Delegates Picked.

DALLAS, March 6.—Democrats of Texas supporting the administration of President Wilson today picked up the gage of battle hurled down by the anti and state Democrats, led by former Senator Joseph Weldon Bailey.

Meeting here in unofficial statewide conference, these "Woodrow Wilson" Democrats laid plans for an energetic campaign to send to the national convention at San Francisco a Texas delegation that will stand "solidly and unreservedly in approval and support" of the Wilson administration.

State issues, it was decided, will be set aside until after the precinct convention May 1, when delegates will be chosen for county conventions the following Tuesday, which in turn will select the personnel of the state convention of May 25, when the Texas delegation to the San Francisco convention will be chosen.

CANDIDATES PRESENT.

Four candidates for governor—Pat M. Neff, Waco; R. E. Thomason, El Paso; R. E. Looney, Greenville; Dwight L. Lewelling, Dallas—agreed to confine their campaign activities, until May 1, to the national issue, with a view to defeating the efforts of the Bailey faction, which seeks to control the state convention and send to San Francisco an anti-Wilson delegation.

A resolution adopted by the conference unequivocally endorsed the national administration and a telegram was sent to President Wilson informing him of this action and acquainting him with the purpose of the campaign the conference had decided on.

Thomas H. Ball of Houston, chairman of the conference, soon will appoint a state Democratic administration committee of fifteen members and a state central committee of thirty-one members. County and precinct chairmen are to be chosen throughout the state.

CAMPAIGN FUND RAISED.

By volunteer subscription, $8,448.79 was raised at the conference for a campaign fund. Many speakers at the conference bitterly scored Bailey, who recently announced his gubernatorial candidacy on a platform opposing the "progressive Democratic" administration of Woodrow Wilson and urging "a return to the principles of Thomas Jefferson."

Cullen F. Thomas of Dallas branded Mr. Bailey as a "stalking horse" of the Republicans and said he and James E. Ferguson "got their heads together," the one to fight the Democratic party without and the other within. Former Governor Ferguson headed the group of Democrats who withdrew from the state party last fall and formed the American party.

Governor W. P. Hobby, who has announced his candidacy for selection as delegate at large to the San Francisco convention, referred to the Bailey movement as one of "broken-down politicians with more leaders and fewer followers than any other political organization ever known." He declared the purpose of the movement was to destroy the prohibition amendment and bring back liquor.

WOMEN REPRESENTED.

Many women from various sections of the state participated in the conference.

"OLE TOM" WAGGONER RECOUNTS DAYS BEFORE TEXAS HAD OIL AND THAT FIRST ELECTRA WELL

"You say you want me to talk about the old days in Texas—cow punchin' and all that? Well, have a seat and—here, lady, meet A. B. He's my daughter, Electra's, husband. She's my only daughter and I named Electra, Texas, after her."

W. T. Waggoner, known to his friends as "Ole Tom" Waggoner, multi-millionaire capitalist, stockman and oil man, of Fort Worth, leaned back in his chair, pushed his soft black hat to the back of his head, manuevered a half-smoked cigar, crossed his legs and folded his arms—a picturesque type of the real-estateage of pioneer days in Texas. And little changed by time and fabulous prosperity. Though Waggoner does not discuss the offer it is known that he has refused fifty million dollars for his oil holdings alone. He is now arranging to lease for oil development his 275,000-acre lands comprising 275,000 acres in Wilbarger, Baylor, Wichita and Archer counties.

Never Will Give Up Cattle. "I will never give up my cattle though. I love a cow better than anything in the world except a woman," the millionaire said in a velvety sentimental tone that enters into his conversation only when he talks of his cows, the dearest things in the world. He is modest, quiet, plain, and dresses in the simplest manner. And he is happiest when he is out on his ranches among his cattle and roaming over his extensive plains.

"I love to work. When I go out to the ranch I always walk from the station out; it's only a mile. But the children, they always ride. I think they like oil better'n they do cows. They ain't so much work about oil," he said with a chuckle, shaking his shoulders with a smile playing about his mouth. There are three Waggoner children, Guy and Paul Waggoner of Fort Worth, and Pearl Waggoner Wharton of Dallas. W. T. Waggoner saw the first spurt of oil that ever came from Texas soil. In 1902 he built Electra, now the center of the Electra oil fields. Crude oil was selling at 40 and 50 cents a barrel and nobody wanted it at that. Naturally, when day when he saw a man than hire one now. It's an awful time to live, an awful time." Then he raised his eyes and you knew he was forgetting that he is a multi-millionaire, forgetting that oil will air intruding on his cattle's own. You knew that he was recalling the soft sunsets of the early days and the glow of the plains in the twilight and the coyote howls and the wolf cries at night, the Indian fights and the encounters with the outlaws, the poker games and the old trails. Suddenly he chuckled. "You didn't think I was old enough to tell about the cow punchin' days, did you? Why, I've worked with cows 'bout a hundred years. What's that? Do I believe in reincarnation? No, I don't." He chuckled again, turned his cigar over and over between his teeth and began.

"Way back in—let me see." He counted on his fingers, "on two, three" back to 1861. "Yea, that's the year I started out on Hunt Creek on the west fork of the Trinity river, sixteen miles west of Decatur and four miles from Bridgeport. Way back there. "But wait, I kin remember further back on that. When I was but eight years old the Indians used to come up to the house and scare the life out of us. My father has fought nearly a million Indians. One night when I was only eight years old my mother and me was all by ourselves. Pretty soon we heard the Indians coming. We grabbed the only gun we had. And I believe if them Indians had come up to the house I would have shot them."

His eyes twinkled and the color mounted to his face as he progressed with his story. Then his eyes dropped and he talked in that soft conversational tone that so seldom creeps into his talk. "Next mornin' we found our dog out by the gate dead with an arrow right through his back. And over by the big gate was the remains of the old fat mare the Indians had killed and eaten and left only the carcass. And I cried, you bet. This lad of eight was destined to see more gruesome things. His father, Dan Waggoner, Texas pioneer ranchman, and belonged to the frontier militia and was away from home most of the time. He dined in occasionally and got a fresh horse to go back on guard again. This left young Tom alone with his mother. His First Wealth. In 1869 the Waggoners drove their first herd into the little Wichita country and kept it through the winter. In the spring Tom and "some of the other boys" drove the herd to Kansas City and came home with $75,000. This was the first money they made of any consequence since the close of the Civil war. They bought steers with it at $8 and $12.50 a head and sold them the following spring for $30 a head.

"And then I did have some money," he said with more pride than he ever evinced when talking about his ever towering millions made in oil.

Oklahoma Indian territory began to lure the wandering cowboy and he herded all his cattle and drove them into the Kiowa, Comanche, Apache country. Against strenuous odds he fought to retain a claim comprising 650,000 acres. "We didn't have no right to that land, we was just intruders," he said after a pause in his narrative. "It belonged to the Indians and the government finally opened it up for actual settlement and we had to skidoo back across the Red river into Texas. But then was hot days when we held that land. It cost us a lot of grub to hold that land. The Indian agency made us fence every foot of it. We gave the Indians beef and stood in with the marshals by giving them beef, tobacco and whiskey and playing poker with them. There was always a white marshal for every branch of Indians." Eventually the Texas intruders leased the land from the Indians. Their greatest trouble was with the Kiowas who fought to the bitter end against leasing land to the "pale faces." The white men held council with the Indians and numerous were the paw wows held over the proposed lease. "When it was finally agreed to, the Indians demanded currency, gold and silver in payment. With Earl Burnett. "Me and Captain S. B. Burnett usually took the money up to the agency where we turned it over to Chief Quannah Parker. It was always necessary to take along four or five cowboys to look at all the creek crossings to make sure there was nobody there to way-lay us. We traveled in horse wagons and ox wagons all the time. We didn't know there was such a thing as an auto in those days."

Reminiscing upon the early days, Waggoner tells a weird cowboy story about his uncle who was killed by the Indians. Soon after moving into the Wichita country four cowboys were staying with the herd all night. About midnight the Indians attacked them. In the moonlight the arrows darted. Those who watched could not tell who was falling. After more than an hour had passed and the Indians had taken all the horses and disappeared, Waggoner went out to where the three cowboys were bending over the dead body of his uncle. An arrow had pierced his heart.

The Funeral Cortage. "That old cowboy song, 'O, Bury Me Not on the Lone Prairie Where the Coyotes Howl so Mournfully,' kept ringin' in my ears and I said, 'Boys, we'll take George Hallsell back home to bury him.' So the body was placed in a horse cart and the seventy-five mile drive across the plains was made and George Hallsell was buried among his loved ones. Then the cowboys drove over the desolate country to return to their herd. The corral that was invaded by the Indians who used their bows and arrows so unscrupulously is now a part of the vast Wichita oil fields. "I reckon there's an oil derrick where John Hallsell died," Waggoner said with a gleam of western romantic insight filling his eyes. Indians and outlaws were equally troublesome to the Texas pioneers, Waggoner says. "I could tell an outlaw as far as I could see him, and the prairies were as full of them as they were of Indians." Waggoner purchased this land at $1.50 and $2.50 an acre, continuing to add to his acreage until he had 250,000 acres, which is now being drilled in the Texas oil belt. Adjoining land in this district that is on the market is cheap at $5,000 an acre. Waggoner has leased his holdings for one-eighth royalty and $100,000 bonus and has one hundred producing wells on his tract. In 1900 he gave each of his three children a ranch of about 90,000 acres. He doesn't remember exactly how much land he gave each one. The old cattle king likes to recount the hunts of the early days.

Paling With Roosevelt. "One of the best times I ever had was on Captain Burnett's ranch in 1906 when Teddy Roosevelt visited for five days. He was one of the biggest, finest men in the world. He was a good sport, I'll tell you. For five days we had the time of our lives, chasing wolves with Teddy. We caught seventeen during that time and Teddy was present when the dogs caught eleven of them. We gave him the best horses and he certainly could ride." In 1905 Waggoner came to Fort Worth where he still makes his home. He bought the Hunter Phelan bank which later became the First National Bank and Trust company. He has large real estate holdings in Fort Worth and is actively interested in and instrumental in the rapid growth of Fort Worth.

W. T. Waggoner is timid; no other word will describe him. He is reticent about his personal affairs and has consistently refused to see newspaper reporters. An incident that occurred in "his" town, Electra, Texas, will serve better than anything else to picture the real Tom Waggoner. He donated some land for the school that was to be built. He gave strict orders that his name was not to be in any way mentioned in connection with the gift. When the building was completed and Waggoner went out to see it, he found that the corner stone bore his name. Those who tell the story say, "Old Tom didn't say a word." A few months later, Bob Moore, manager of the Waggoner interests had a deed ready for Waggoner to sign.

"The school needs some more land, so I have had this deed prepared and it's ready for you to sign," Moore announced as if everything were settled. "The— you have," replied the rich land owner who shies clear of notoriety, "you might as well tear it up. Not another d—n acre do they get. I told 'em how to act about that other and now they can whistle."

The multi-millionaire ranchman and cattle king doesn't "play society" but goes to his desk every day when he is in Fort Worth. "But I shall love them cows and I'm goin' to have my land stocked with white-faced cattle as long as I live. Even if it stocked with oil derricks too," he persisted doggedly and emphatically.

ST. LOUIS UNION LEADERS TAKE POLITICAL CENSUS. ST. LOUIS, March 6.—St. Louis labor leaders, representing approximately 100,000 union workmen, have decided to send questionnaires to all candidates for public office in the forthcoming election, asking them to define their attitudes on labor legislation. Those who fail to make their views clear, it was explained, will be opposed as well as those against labor measures.

DRUG MEN WOULD BAR BOOZE SELLING PLACES. ST. LOUIS, March 6.—The St. Louis Retail Druggists association has asked congress to enact a law prohibiting the dispensing of intoxicating liquors by pharmacists upon physicians' prescriptions. Such legislation is desirable, it was explained, to prevent "undesirables" from entering the drug business. The druggists urge that government agencies be established where such liquors may be sold for legitimate medical purposes.

WILDE IS PROVING THAT HE GOT AWAY TO A BAD START IN HIS AMERICAN TOUR

Recent victories of Jimmy Wilde, greatest little fighter of the British Empire, have proved conclusively that he really is a wonderful little boxer and that he got away to a bad start when he lost his opening bout in America to Jack Sharkey, a young husky in Milwaukee. Victories over Mike Ertle and Johnny Russell, for instance, have given him a chance to show his speed and punching powers for which he is famous. The above picture, taken just before he knocked out Mickey Russell in the seventh round, shows how Wilde must concede height and weight to his opponents. He weighed 105 pounds and Russell weighed 116 pounds.

The Eyes of the Ranger Oil Field ARE CENTERED ON THE Sturki No. 1

OF THE COMANCHE OIL ASSOCIATION At Hasse, Texas, located 3 1/2 miles east of that town, on the Frisco railroad, fifteen miles south from Dublin and eight miles north from Comanche courthouse, in Comanche County.

Drilling at 3,165 Feet 90 Feet in Black Lime

Laboratory and chloroform test shows oil very plainly. The log of the well is most favorably approved by leading oil men.

We Have the Only Offset Acreage to Sell Offered at $150.00 an Acre Will go to $200 or $1,000 an acre within a few days to thirty days.

Everybody Is Offered an Opportunity to buy acreage in five, ten, fifteen or twenty-acre tracts. Only 100 acres will be sold at this price.

Syndicate a Company Among Your Friends

We are thoroughly confident that this is the one chance in a lifetime to make a speculative investment with an almost certain opportunity of winning out.

- BUY 5 acres for a total of . . . $ 750.00 BUY 10 acres for a total of . . . $1500.00 BUY 20 acres for a total of . . . $3000.00

YOU MUST BE QUICK!

Drilling in the next few feet of this well will take but a few days. You may make the most money you ever made, on your investment. Yet the well may be a small producer. Only the driller's bit can tell. It is past all knowledge of chemists and geologists and the best of oil men.

Comanche County Oil Producer and is one of the biggest oil producing counties in the Mid-Continent field. The famous Duke and Knowles wells that opened the oil rush to Texas in 1918 are in Comanche County. Desdemona is but over the county line.

Had YOU Owned Lease Acreage

offsetting the Vestal well that but lately came in in the wildest of wildcat territory, you would be very happy. An investment in lease acreage offsetting any of the big wells, namely the Duke—Knowles—Waggoner of the Desdemona field, or the McCleskey—Roper—Perkins and the famous Norwood of the Ranger field, and you would be almost or perhaps independent.

More Than a Hundred Men

—Operators, drillers, chemists, geologists (two of the best in Texas) and oil men who know and have studied the log of this well; who have seen the acid and other tests, are all of the same opinion that the Comanche Oil Association's Sturki No. 1 well will make a producer, and many of these men suggest to look for a very big well.

The HUMBLE OIL COMPANY owns offset lease. O'Keefe & Collett own nearly 900 acres almost within a mile of this drilling well.

This acreage is offered to the Big Companies—to anybody who has the money to buy it. To the people who want to invest $25 to $100 or $500, we will give a receipt for their money and syndicate ten to twenty acres, and form a mutual company with a two-thirds money control, the name of the company, officers and by-laws to be made by a called meeting.

Advance in Acreage Will Be Made Wednesday, March 10, 1920

SALVATION ARMY.

The magnificent war activities of the Salvation Army which have been and are highly lauded by our boys who have been overseas have opened the eyes of all to the splendid spirit of service which has always animated these militant Christians.

As the editor of Stars and Stripes put it: "We used to think of them as a little bunch of folks standing on a corner holding a meeting, beating a drum, but we know them better now. Wherever there is a need, there, without blaring trumpets of public, their hands are busy doing practical service for humanity."

Someone of a statistical turn of mind recently computed that there were over one hundred separate and distinct lines of activity in this world-wide movement. In India, the criminal tribes have been turned over to them by the British government; in Java, they have the care of the leper settlements; in Australia, the delinquent boys and girls are looked after, the cost of the operation being paid for by the different governments.

The army activities are as varied as the problems of poverty. They include shelter for homeless men and women, homes for working girls, children's homes, rescue homes for unfortunate girls, maternity hospitals, slum work, day nurseries, cheap food depots, cheap clothing and second-hand stores, employment bureaus, work among prisoners, medical relief and visiting nurse work, summer outings for the poor, Christmas and Thanksgiving dinner baskets, missing friends and inquiry departments and farm colonies.

The army's work in the southwest is comparatively new and is not on the same scale as army activities in other parts of the country where it has been in service for a longer period of time. Until recent years, the army has confined its activities to the larger cities of the world where the need was greatest, but it is now extending its work to the smaller cities. There are twenty-four corps in this division and the army plans to double this work in the next few years.

Few of the army corps in this territory own the buildings they occupy and it is planned to obtain suitable buildings for army work in every city and town where a corps is established. It is planned to make these buildings community centers which will be memorials to the soldiers who have fallen in France.

Such a building will be a distinct asset to Ranger. The building will be open all day and in the evenings and will be in charge of a Salvation Army officer, the army being responsible for its operation and maintenance.

The boys who have been to France and who claimed the Salvation Army hut as their club house and home while abroad will turn naturally to the Salvation Army building in their town and it will serve as their club house here.

Christian people and all who believe in the Salvation Army code of practical service are asked to aid in the effort to raise funds for the Salvation Army home in Ranger.

The next best thing to doing Christian service is to help someone else do it. Thousands who see opportunities for such service are not favorable can join in the Salvation Army work by contributing to and securing contributions for the work.

BIG GAME HAUNTS BORDER RICH FARMING REGION IN NECHAKO VALLEY

DANGER IN THE WIND

VANDERHOOF, B. C.—Naturalists declare that a circle with a radius of seventy miles drawn around Vanderhoof would include the finest game region in North America. In the forests and hills that flank the Nechako valley and sweep away on the east to the Rocky mountains are found elk, moose, caribou, deer, mountain sheep, mountain goats, black and grizzly bear and almost every variety of game, large and small, known on the continent. Mountain sheep are especially abundant. This is due to the rapid increase of this rare game in the protected area of Jasper Park in which these animals are estimated to number 5,000.

In addition to big game, blue grouse are plentiful and the Nechako river and its tributaries which water the valley swarm with Dolly Varden, rainbow and brook trout, sturgeon and a wide variety of other fish. In a chain of lakes a few miles south of Vanderhoof, on the edges of town, a fisherman recently caught eighteen Dolly Varden trout or a trout a minute, with an ordinary pole and line baited with raw meat. Vanderhoof is on the Grand Trunk Pacific railway and is six miles from the exact geographical center of British Columbia. The Nechako Valley of which the town is the shipping point and business emporium, is being rapidly settled. With soil of remarkable fertility and a climate made mild and equable by the chinook winds, the valley is developing into a rich agricultural region with farm wealth represented not only by grain crops but livestock, orchards, fruits, poultry and vegetables. With the produce of their gardens, wild game in season and fish of the most toothsome varieties, the tables of Nechako valley farmers groan with good things the year round.

Hunt, Mrs. J. B. Stackable and Miss Beulah Spear, extend their thanks to all the workers who aided in the drive, to those who contributed and to the Times for liberal space in behalf of the children of Ranger.

YAWNING PIT OPENS BELOW DANGLING MAN

LONDON, March 6.—John L. Cope, leader of the British antarctic expedition which is setting out in June, in the course of a lecture told the following story of a thrilling experience he had while a member of the Shackleton expedition marooned on Ross Island in 1916:

"While leading three men over a dangerous glacier, I failed to notice a crevasse which was almost covered with snow. Suddenly I felt the snow give beneath my feet, and I fell headlong. Happily, my comrades saw me disappear and promptly started to pull on the sledge ropes.

"These held, and I found myself suspended over a bottomless pit. I was about twenty feet down and I was being held by the sledge harness, which was around my chest and shoulders. I dangled helplessly.

"About ten feet below my feet the opening suddenly widened until I could see the sides of the crevasse. Huge columns of ice, many of them the weirdest shape, were sticking out, some blue in color, others of a whitish pink tinge.

"I tried to look down, but below me, as far as I could see, there was nothing but ice and darkness. Now and again the roar of ice falling down the sides of the crevasse reached me, sounding like distant thunder.

"After what seemed hours of waiting, I heard a voice calling me from above, and looking up saw the face of one of the men of my party. 'Are you all right?' he asked, peering over the edge of the crevasse.

"Yes," I replied, "but I cannot get up. I'm hung here." "Hang on then," he shouted. "We'll make a rope ladder." And while I was hanging there, the two men on the ice above set to work to make the ladder.

"While I was thus suspended, my mits fell from my hands, and very soon I was half frozen. I watched the mits falling, glancing off columns of ice, till they disappeared from sight. At last the ladder was lowered down, but my hands were so frozen that I could feel nothing.

"I swung about until my feet found the rope, and I caught hold of it. But my sense of touch was gone, and I had to look to see if I was clutching the rope before I dared trust myself to start climbing.

"Swinging backwards over the pit, I climbed higher and higher, and as I reached the top, the harness which had held me up fell from my shoulders. If I slipped, nothing could save me from being dashed to pieces on the ice. "I snouted to the men asking them to lower the harness to reach me, but I was so cold I could not climb further, and my legs would not reach far enough to reach the rungs of the ladder.

Best Quintets in Scholastic Tourney Chicago Mar. 18-20

CHICAGO, March 6.—Teams which will be invited to compete in the second annual basket ball interscholastic of the University of Chicago on March 18, 19 and 20, will be selected shortly, and as most of the strong five already have submitted records a hard fought tournament should result. Other records of both high school and academy teams will be considered if submitted immediately, so that the pick of the best five of the country will fight for the national title. Teams from Louisiana, Arkansas, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Missouri and eleven other states have submitted records and asked for invitations.

The Coshatta, La., team, with a total of 292 points to 77 for their opponents so far this season; Stivers high of Toledo, with a record of 16 straight victories; Jonesboro, Ark., undefeated so far this year, and holder of the state title since 1917, and Crawfordsville, Ind., undefeated this year, and recently winner of the Tri-State tournament at Cincinnati, have asked for invitations and probably will be invited to compete.

A preliminary round for teams of the Chicago district will be played on March 12, when the best five of that section will fight for the right to enter the national competition.

Individual trophies and team prizes will be given to the teams finishing first and second in both the high school and academy sections.

WOLVERINES BRING OUT BIG TRACK SQUAD

ANN ARBOR, Mich., March 6.—Sixty aspirants of Michigan's track team are being tried out by Coach Farrell. With two exceptions these include all of last year's regulars, Captain Sedgwick and "Pat" Smith being the only members of last year's squad missing this season.

The loss of Sedgwick, however, has left a big gap in the Mile and Blue long distance department. The team expects to be strong in the distances—mile, jumps and weights, but no predictions are being made concerning its prospects in the mile and two mile events.

According to Coach Farrell, Carl Shuman, Michigan's all-around star from Spokane this year will specialize in the hurdles and will be kept out of the sprints.

ST. PAUL PRINTERS MAKE READY FOR BASEBALL MEET

ST. PAUL, Minn., March 6.—Preliminary arrangements are being made by St. Paul printers for the season interscholastic baseball tournament to be held here this summer. A fund is being raised to defray general entertainment expenses. The local printers team will start practice as soon as the snow melts. Delta delphia, Cincinnati, Chicago, New York, Cleveland, and Washington, D. C., are among the cities to participate.

RICKEY NOT WORRIED ABOUT BROWNS' THIRST

BROWNSVILLE, March 6.—When Manager Branch Rickey of the St. Louis Cardinals picked Brownsville for his spring training camp, many "stove league" fans in the north grabbed a map of Texas, and in one session of this city in extreme south Texas, and predicted:

"Rickey will have his hands full with that gang down next to 'swat' Mexico."

But Rickey didn't give that angle much thought when he signed for the spring workouts here. The usual club discipline will be enforced.

NEBRASKA WANTS BACK IN VALLEY CONFERENCE

LINCOLN, Neb., March 6.—The University of Nebraska is to seek readmission to the Missouri Valley Athletic conference, the board of regents of the university has announced. A resolution will be sent to the valley board of control when it meets late this spring. Nebraska withdrew from the conference last year because of conflict with valley rules requiring that no conference team shall play on any but a conference ground. Nebraska desired to play an annual game at Omaha.

APPLEGRAN COACHES FAIRMONT.

WICHITA, Kan., March 6.—C. O. ("Doc") Applegran, right guard of the University of Illinois' championship football team for three years, all-western player and a member of Walter Eckersall's second all-American football team in 1919, is the new coach of athletics at Fairmont college here. Announcement of his appointment has been made by the athletic committee of the college. Applegran is an athletic athlete and will coach all branches of athletics at Fairmont.

RICKEY MAKES TRAINING FIND, BROWNSVILLE

BROWNSVILLE, March 6.—It remained for Branch Rickey, manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, to discover that way down in extreme southern Texas, nestling along the Rio Grande, there is a spring training ground for major league baseball clubs that may prove a real "find."

Rickey, accompanied by C. M. Mack, came to Brownsville last fall in search of a training camp for the Cardinals spring training camp here, and so for the first time in major league history a club will train in Texas south of Houston and San Antonio.

The local association guaranteed suitable baseball grounds and a cash guarantee of $10,000 for ten exhibition games, but a change in the exhibition series schedule will give the valley twelve games, principally between the Cardinals and Philadelphia Athletics, who are training at Lake Charles, La.

In Brownsville, where the Cardinals will work out, the playing field has been put into condition under direction of Frank Hill, an old-time professional, who late in the '30's played in many parts of the country, but principally with the Southern League.

The schedule of games between the Cardinals and the Athletics calls for three games between Card teams at Brownsville, March 6, 7 and 13, and one game at San Benito, March 14. The Cardinals and Athletics play at Mercedes March 16, at Pharr March 17, at San Benito March 18, 21 and 25, at Donna March 19, at Brownsville March 20, 24 and 27 and at McAllen March 22 and 23.

STADIUM NEARS READINESS FOR OLYMPIC GAMES

ANTWERP, March 6.—Rapid progress is being made in the preparations for the seventh Olympiad and the organizers feel confident that everything will be in readiness before the opening of the stadium on August 15. When the Belgian delegates appeared before the International Olympic committee a few months after the armistice, to claim for Antwerp the honor of being chosen as the seat of the seventh Olympic games, much doubt was expressed as to the possibility of organizing, in less than a year, a sporting carnival the preparation of which at Athens and Stockholm had taken several years. A little more than six months after the laying of its corner stone the executive committee of the seventh Olympiad wanted the newspaper correspondents to visit the stadium, which is practically completed.

Situated at the gates of Antwerp, just outside the fortifications, in the little suburb of Beershot-Kiel, easily accessible from the city, the stadium covers an area of some ten square acres. The principal entrance is situated at the southwest angle. On either side of this monumental entrance the athletes dressing rooms and shower baths are being erected. At the northeast angle another entrance surmounted by a triumphal arch sixty feet high, has been cut through the cement structure. Through this entrance will pass the king of the Belgians, Prince Leopold and other members of the royal family of Belgium when they choose to honor the games with their presence.

On the summit of the triumphal arch above the latter entrance will be a vast platform, whence buglers, trumpets, heralds will announce to the attendance the arrival of the competitors of the road races as they enter the stadium for the final turn around the track.

An enormous blackboard facing inside the stadium will be hung down from the top of the triumphal arch, whereupon will be recorded by electrical apparatus the results of various competitions being contested.

On either side of the stadium is a row of boxstalls, forty-eight in all, each accommodating eight spectators. Moreover, eight "boxes of honor" in the center of which stands the "royal box," are inserted between the ordinary boxes on the southern side of the structure. Immediately behind the royal box stands the diplomat's box. The public stand on the southern side has a seating capacity of 6,400, while the stand to the north can accommodate 3,800. There will be standing room for 19,000 more, thus enabling 30,000 people to attend Olympic games daily.

Pavilion wherein dressing rooms of the athletes are being put up measures eighty yards and contains six dressing rooms of fourteen yards by seven yards. Bars, cafes, restaurants are being arranged for the benefit of spectators.

The arena itself measures 190x102 yards. The Stockholm stadium was 116 yards long by 77 yards wide. The width of the running track circling the stadium is ten yards. For the hundred yard and the hundred metre dash, however, a straightaway chute directly in front of the principal grand stand, the southern one, measuring 130 yards in length with a width of fourteen yards is being prepared. The circular track measures 410 metres or about 450 yards. The football field is 116 yards long by 44 yards wide.

PHILADELPHIA, March 6.—Coach Robertson of the University of Pennsylvania has several athletes on his track team who hope to represent the United States in the coming Olympic games at Antwerp. In Earl Eby, the interallied 400 metre champion and recent winner of the Millrose 600-yard event in New York, Robertson believes that he has the logical successor to Ted Meredith, who started the athletic world in 1912 by winning the 400 and 600 metre events at Stockholm.

Besides Eby, Pennsylvania has four star quarter milers in Elmer Smith, Davis, Gustavson and Maxam. With either Eby or Maxam as anchor man this quartet would be strong enough to represent America in the 1,600 metre relay.

Two others, Sherman Landers and Everett Smalley, are likely to make the Olympic team. Landers is a fine pole vaulter, running broad jumper and is the national hop, step and jump title holder, while Smalley has shown remarkable ability over the hurdles.

LIFE BEFORE MAST IMPROVES OF LATE

GALVESTON, March 6.—Men who go to sea are no longer obliged to undergo the discomforts and hardships attendant upon a seafaring life in the past, says Captain O. J. Christensen, manager of the United States Ship—over board's sea service at this port. Instead they sniff salt water in the tubular steel vessels, sleep in clean quarters and have access to wholesome recreation rooms. Wages are high and the prospects for promotion are good.

WOMEN URGE BUDGET PLAN OF BUYING AS EFFICIENT WEAPON IN FIGHTING H. C. L.

Leading women of Bridgeport, Conn., have organized to educate the housewives in buying their supplies on the budget plan to help fight the high cost of living. Weekly meetings are to be held to discuss current prices, economical menus, etc. Mrs. H. W. Fleck, Mrs. Frank L. Wilder, and Mrs. Arthur M. Comley are leaders in the work.

The move is a direct result of the mass meeting of Connecticut women held in Hartford a short time ago. Mrs. Fleck, chairman of the committee in Bridgeport and Fairfield county, has been interested in practically all community affairs of the women since the war began.

"Suicide Club" Title Should Have Been Given to Salvation Army, Wounded Gunner Maintains

Ranger starts its drive for the Salvation Army home here Tuesday. In the two days—Tuesday and Wednesday—$15,000 will be raised for the purchase of quarters offered at a very reasonable figure by the Methodist church.

The work that the army did in France is typified in the account a Baltimore exchange gives of the story told by a wounded machine gunner:

Suicide club! Us? Say when you're looking for somebody to pin medals on for striking to the little jobs under fire, don't go any further than the Salvation Army girls!

That is the way First Class Private William J. Proctor, whose home is in Boston, Mass., from his cot on General Hospital No. 2 at Fort McHenry, answered a question put to him about his experiences as a member of the 102nd machine gun battalion in many months of action in France.

"Yes, they called us machine gunners the suicide club," he added, "because we were supposed to stick to our little bullet squirts until we were killed or until we wiped out everything before us. But I didn't see a machine gunner in France—and, believe me, I know a lot!—who showed any more ability about hanging on to his job than the smallest, frailest girl that the Salvation Army sent overseas."

"I'll tell you that I saw them leaning over their cook stoves, frying doughnuts when Heinke's shells were plunging up acres of ground on all sides of them. They stuck when they were ordered to go back and take it from me, it's a different proposition staying there dropping hot dough into a pan and staying there when you're dropping hot bullets into the other guy!

"I remember the first Salvation Army girls I saw. It was in the Verdun action. We didn't know who they were, because we hadn't been told the Salvation Army had sent anybody overseas. But when they handed us their hot sinkers and coffee—oh, boy! I'll tell you we knew them after that.

"You can't make anything else but a Salvation Army rooster out of me as long as I live, and there's 2,000,000 other boys who were over in France who think the same as I do. I hear the Salvation Army is going to start a drive for $13,000,000 on May 19. They'll get it, it's a cinch. As long as any boy that went overseas with Pershing has a nickel in his clothes, he'll give it up for the Salvation Army! We were broke overseas most of the time, and the Salvation Army gave us things, and didn't even ask us to thank them. They didn't bother us about religion either—just kept us comfortable and we won't forget it!"

THREE REASONS FOR BAD SCHOOL PUPILS

CINCINNATI, O., March 6.—Bad behavior of school children is due to several causes to which three stand out prominently, Mrs. H. T. Woolley, director of vocational bureau in the Cincinnati public schools, reported to the principal's association here. Mrs. Woolley based her statements on an exhaustive survey that has been made in the schools.

Principal causes for bad behavior Mrs. Woolley says, are maladjustment in schools, while teachers frequently fail to realize; maladjustment in families, due to the attitude of parents, step-parents or general home conditions which result in the formation of "gangs" or detrimental conditions.

Other causes include "bad adjustment of class work, differentiating between manual training and theoretical work; clashes of personality or dislike for teachers; heredity, bad social attitude, due to false conceptions and psychopathic or really abnormal conditions."

School conditions can be corrected in most instances through studies made by the bureau, she said.

TOWN IS MOVED A MILE DOWN THE ROAD

Steam caterpillar tractor, built for log hauling, pulling house to new foundation.

The town of Hibbing, Minn., was moved recently a mile down the road. The ground the town was built on was purchased by the U. S. Steel Corporation because it contains rich iron ore deposits. The town was moved to permit mining of the ore. Pretentious public buildings, stores and houses were moved. Steam caterpillar tractors and smaller gas tractors were used to move the buildings.

With Calenders Aid

By CORONA REMINGTON. Copyright, 1920, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

"Gee! I'm insane!" he ejaculated as he let the paper fall from his hand and plunged toward the door.

"What's the matter, Langdon?" asked an astonished fellow club member.

"Just noticed the date on that paper—it's the twenty-eighth, and tomorrow—"

His friend did not hear the rest as the door slammed behind him.

"Most absent-minded fellow I ever knew; always forgetting some dinner engagement or something," volunteered another member who was sitting nearby.

John Langdon dashed up to his room, glanced at the clock, threw a few things into a suitcase, laid a brand new suit on top, picked up his hat, overcoat and valise and rushed down the street.

As he opened the front door a gust of snow-laden wind nearly knocked him over. He blinked as the sharp particles hit his face, but hurried to the corner where a taxi picked him up.

"Grand Central," he ordered, "in a hurry." And a few minutes later he was scrambling up the steps of Number Thirty-Eight.

"Golly! That was a close squeak!" he ejaculated as he dropped limply into a nearby seat, and in another second the train was slowly moving out of the station.

It was a typical February night and Langdon's young, clear-cut features took on an expression of anxiety as he reviewed the possibilities of becoming snowbound.

"And the farther west we go, the worse it's apt to get," he groaned under his breath.

Thoroughly exhausted, he retired early. For the past week he had had an extremely hard case and his mind had been encrossed with legal details practically every conscious moment. But after he was in bed he could not sleep.

His thoughts went time with the rhythmic chuffing of the locomotive as it struggled through the ever-deepening snow. "This time tomorrow she'll be mine!" he kept saying to himself, and he at last fell asleep to dream of whimsical gray eyes and a quick little smile. When he awoke the next morning he rang for the porter.

"How long before we get to Huntington?" he asked.

"Due at five-twenty, but we're three hours late already, sah," and the black head withdrew.

New Auto Shop Offers Day and Night Service

Announcement has just been made by Manager F. J. Moses that the new Rex Service Station and Garage located in the building recently occupied by the Pastime Pool room on Pine street will be open for service to the public day and night after Monday, March 8.

"The doors will never be closed," said Mr. Moses, "we will have in charge at all times first-class mechanics and car washers."

In remodeling the building for a garage, Mr. Moses put in a wash rack for cars and built a large shop for repairing. The shop is large enough so that four cars can be worked on at one time and will accommodate as many as five cars on the waiting list. The shop as well as the rest of the garage is amply lighted.

The storage room is large enough to quarter about thirty-five cars, leaving plenty of room for a drive-way through the building to the alley. There is also another entrance to the shop from the rear. This, of course, will come in handy as cars coming in and out of the garage will not interfere with the workmen in the shop. Another feature about the storage room that Mr. Moses has made is in laying out stalls for the cars.

The company will be prepared at all times to get parts for any make of truck or car on short notice. Mr. Moses said that they were employing two expert men, both of whom have had factory experience to check all work on cars and trucks besides having some of the best mechanics in the country.

E. W. Pew, well known merchant of El Paso and for thirty years engaged in the shoe business, is manager of the new store, T. O. Oliver, formerly of El Paso and for the last year and a half engaged in business here, is a partner of Mr. Pew in the concern. The store will handle standard lines of high grade footwear and hose, etc., at reasonable prices.

BUILDING PERMITS OF WEEK TOTAL $6,700

Building permits issued from Monday morning until Saturday noon totaled $6,700. Most of the permits were for alterations on residence property or for new residences.

The list is as follows: Independent Trench company, garage, $200; W. H. Stafford, one-room addition to house, $300; A. F. Smith, alterations and improvements on brick building, $4,000; H. J. Burger, residence, $1,000; Huddleston & Conning, small warehouse, $500; F. E. Fredricks, two-room frame house, $200; Moore and company, alterations on Opera House stage, $500.

BLACK AND WHITE SPORT OUTFIT OF SILK IS NOVELTY

Here is one of the most striking costumes for sport wear which has been shown this season. It is a youthful model developed in black and white. The corded silk skirt has a narrow belt from which are suspended two triangular shaped side panels, both of which are heavily embroidered in black. The blouse harmonizes with the skirt in that it is trimmed with a small black and white silk tie and black and white buttons.

MODERN SHOPS GET QUARTERS POE BUILDING

Mrs. Agnes Dillard and Mrs. May Gardner, lately of St. Louis, have opened a millinery shop in the Poe building, on Marston street. They are thoroughly experienced in this line of business and they bring the expert knowledge of latest modes, good taste and good values which they gained in the larger city.

Their shop will be strictly up-to-date when all the fixtures and stock of goods arrive; a real city shop, one which would be a credit to Fort Worth or Dallas. A splendid assortment of spring hats is on the road and some consignments have already arrived.

A beauty parlor will be opened on the second floor of the Poe building by Mrs. Dillard and Mrs. Gardner. It will be the most complete and up-to-date of any in west Texas and will be under the capable management of Miss North, of St. Louis, a recognized expert in her line. The shop will be open about March 15.

E. M. Hume has opened a fine ladies' ready-to-wear shop in the Poe building. His store will handle everything dear to the feminine heart in the matter of waifing apparel. Stock and fixtures will be the best that can be obtained, and his long experience enables him to secure exceptional values. Ranger now has an exclusive shoe store, the Guarantee Shoe company, of El Paso, located in the Poe building.

"Good Lord! And we were to be married at eight," moaned Langdon. "She'll never forgive me."

His face turned a ghastly white as the situation impressed itself upon him. Before he could even hope to reach Huntington the guests would have begun to assemble, the minister would be there to perform the ceremony, and he, the bridegroom, would be—where? If only he had taken the afternoon train, but being wrapped up in the case almost day and night for a week had made him lose all track of time. Adele would never forgive him. How could she? Think of the humiliation he was going to cause her. And his hands were tied—utterly tied.

He could send a wire, of course. Not that it would do much good. He decided to do that immediately, so he rang for some blanks, then wrote and rewrote and tore up and wrote again. He knew exactly what he wanted to say and he had never had any trouble wording a telegram, yet none that he wrote satisfied him.

"Have to let it go at that," he said at last, as he reread his latest efforts: "I know you can never forgive me, but shall not reach Huntington before 8:15 or 8:30, at least. Whatever you do about it, I shall love you always. Will explain when I arrive."

When the wire reached Huntington Adele read it in bewilderment. "What can it mean?" she asked as she handed it to her mother.

"I can't understand it at all," she answered, "but we shall have an explanation before long, as he says he will be here this evening."

"I hope so," the girl replied with warmth.

Langdon will never forget that day. At every station he consulted his time table. He gazed with horrible helplessness at the snow-covered scenery as it crept slowly past his window. Whenever the train stopped he felt like kicking the passengers off in the hope of saving a moment's time.

The world cannot abuse one forever. At last No. 38 crawled into Huntington and Langdon leaped from the car before it came to a standstill. As he rushed through the station, he glanced at the clock. Eight thirty-five, it placidly announced. He jumped into the first taxi and soon found himself standing at the Hamiltons' front door, with his heart missing every other beat.

He was dumbfounded to find that no guests were assembled, no carriages stood without. She had decided not to marry him and sent them all away? He reeled as the thought flashed into his mind and for a second contemplated flight. An instant later she was beside him. He never remembered having entered the house.

"Dear Jack, do tell me what's the matter. Everything is so strange and incomprehensible. I've been nearly distracted since your telegram came this morning."

"Darling, can you ever forgive me?" he pleaded.

"Forgive you for what?" she demanded, growing pale with anticipation.

"For what?" he shrieked. "Why, for being late. You know we were to be married at eight o'clock and it's nearly nine now."

"But we decided the wedding was to be tomorrow, the first of March, and my birthday."

"But today is the first of March. Yesterday was the last day of February."

"No, it wasn't, Jack. Yesterday was the twenty-eighth. This is leap year, you know."

It was Langdon's turn to be surprised now. An expression of intense relief and happiness overspread his face as he sprang off the couch in a bound and caught the little girl in his arms.

"Tomorrow we will drink a toast to the leap years to come," he laughingly said.

And they did.

SKIRT AND BLOUSE STAGE A COME-BACK

There is going to be no little competition this year between the popular one-piece frock and the separate skirt and blouse. Just now the skirt and blouse are in the lead. Here is a dainty skirt for late spring and summer. It is fashioned of silk crepe called "sea spray." The popular style of blouse, which does not tuck in at the waist but reaches to the hips, is worn with the skirt.

FUEL OIL PRICES CONTINUE TO HOLD INTEREST IN GULF COAST FIELD THROUGH WEEK

HOUSTON, March 6.—Notwithstanding the prospects of a new oil field in the coastal country at North Dayton in Liberty county about midway between Houston and Beaumont, the market situation continues to be the most interesting phase of the oil industry in the southwest.

General advances were posted in crude petroleum prices at the wells last week, the prices going to $2.25 for Gulf coast fields by all the principal purchasing concerns, with premiums of 25 cents a barrel by independent refineries and eastern buyers.

Jobbers and marketers have withdrawn all quotations on fuel oil which is now selling at $2.75 and $3 a barrel, spot cash f. o. b. cars at the loading racks. One important marketing concern that has been supplying irrigating plants with their liquid fuel requirements has refused to renew the contracts at any price as it can not get the grade of oil any more that it has been furnishing them, and they have been buying small quantities and paying $3 a barrel for it.

Until recently the demand for distillate has been rather slack but the rapid increase in farm tractors and the buying of this product by eastern refiners for re-cracking to recover more gasoline has caused sharp advances in all grades. Tank car lots of the cheaper grades, which were selling a few days ago as low as 6 cents a barrel are now bringing 9 and 10 cents in tank cars at the refineries for shipment within a limited radius. The better grades are bringing from 12 to 18 cents a gallon.

The distillate from Gulf coast crude is a valuable product and is of a higher grade than that from the lighter grades. The 25-28 gravity grade is a light straw color and contains considerable gasoline and lubricants.

The Galena-Signal Oil company is not selling any more of this product from its works on the ship channel below Houston but is installing a battery of thirty-six 600-barrel high pressure stills to re-crack the distillate and take out more of the gasoline, lubricants and other valuable by-products.

As the value of coastal crude becomes better understood by the refineries, unless market breaking fields are discovered, the prices at the wells are bound to increase materially over present values in the next year or two.

At least two coastal refiners are specializing on airplane lubricants manufactured from Humble and West Columbia crude and are building up a good trade at attractive prices, the bulk of these grades going to foreign lands.

Wildcat Thrill at Dayton. Field operations in the Gulf coast region show a prospect for a new field at North Dayton in Liberty county where the Texas company is reported to have a good showing of oil in No. 1 Schlender at 2,340 feet at a location several hundred feet west from the shallow wells in the old North Dayton pool.

Company officials are not giving out any information, but it is reported that the drill had penetrated fifteen feet of pay sand when it was stopped. Six-inch casing was set in this hole some time ago and a test made at about 2,200 feet.

APPLE PRODUCTION INCREASES, NORTHWEST COAST OILERS HOLD STEADY FOR ADVANCE

WASHINGTON, March 6.—Apple production has increased enormously in the northwest since 1900. Last year Washington, Oregon and Idaho, with the help of Montana and Colorado, produced one-quarter of the total crop of the country. With new acreage coming into bearing, the department of agriculture says, it is likely that the northwest in a few years will be producing a much greater part of the country's total crop.

If big losses are to be avoided in the marketing of the annual crop of the northwest, government experts say, growers will be forced to give greater attention to equipping their properties with up-to-date storage houses than they have heretofore. Because of increased production and an acute shortage of refrigerator cars last season, growers in the northwest were unable to move their apples to market and thousands of boxes of the fruit were caught unprotected in the orchards by an early freeze, while other fruit remained on the trees and was frozen because there was no place to store it.

A government specialist is now making his headquarters at Yakima, Wash., to personally assist growers who expect to build storage houses during the spring and summer. He is supplied with working drawings of houses tested during the last five years.

U. S. KNOWS "ALL" IN STEEL BUSINESS, SAYS SCHWAB, DISCUSSING DISCOVERIES

Charles M. Schwab, chairman of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, took occasion on his fifty-eighth birthday, which he celebrated recently, to discuss reports from France and Belgium that chemists there had discovered new processes of steel making. Said "Charlie": "The new process amounts to nothing more than we have been doing for years in this country. They say the Frenchmen and Belgians have invented a secret process by which they can manufacture nickel, chrome, and similar steels at a cost amounting to not more than a high grade Bessemer steel plus the cost of the alloy.

Latest photo of Charles M. Schwab. And this is what has been going on in the mills in this country right along, except that we don't make such a secret about it. They don't know anything over there that we don't know yet."

AMERICAN LANGUAGE CONTEST IS EXTENDED

CINCINNATI, O., March 6.—Interest in the world-wide contests for essays written on "Why We Should Have an American Language," under the direction of State Senator Robert J. ## JURTISS DESIGNS NEW WATER "SCOOTER" WHICH IS DRIVEN BY AIRPLANE ENGINE

Glenn Curtiss, famous airplane designer, has invented a new type of low draft boat which is propelled by an air propeller driven by an airplane engine. The motor is of a 400 horse power. The "Scooter," as he has named the craft, is fifty feet long, with a ten-foot beam. It has a draft of only three inches when running and eight inches when anchored. It makes fifty miles an hour. A roomy cabin accommodates ten persons and there is ample deck fore and aft for fishing or harpooning. The boat has been tried out at Miami, Fla.

Senator O'Brien announced that in addition to the four prizes, consisting of $200 for first prize, $75 for second, $50 for third, and $25 for fourth, an additional seven prizes—three of $10 and four of $5—would be given, a total of eleven prizes.

Trick Coop Gets Egg-Layers, and Picks Out Slacker Chickens

ST. LOUIS, March 6.—A bell rang in the kitchen of the home of Robert W. Maxton of this city, and was followed by the cackling of a proud hen. "There's someone at the door," a visitor suggested. "Oh, no," replied Mr. Maxton, "one of my hens has just laid an egg." Mr. Maxton tired of supporting hens that would not lay, he explained, so he installed "trick nests" in his henery. When a hen enters a nest, a door closes and imprisons the foul until release by the owner. In this way Mr. Maxton ascertains what hens are laying the eggs. An electric alarm is connected to the doors of the nests, and when a hen seeks exit by pressing against one of the doors, the bell in the kitchen rings. The plan has worked successfully for the past several months, Mr. Maxton said, and there have been no false alarms.

THE TIMES' DAILY SHORT STORY

VALUED AT A MILLION

By RAY BAKER.

Copyright, 1920, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

Uncle Sam was doing a poor business, in spite of the fact that he had no competitors.

The postoffice was vacant of customers except for the white-haired, white-bearded man, wearing spectacles of the old-fashioned variety, with straight bows, who stood at the writing desk and alternately bit the end of a pencil while he thought, and laboriously and painstakingly formed scrawling hieroglyphics in putting the thought on paper.

Round his neck was wound a white scarf with big, red, round dots in it, giving it the appearance of a dozen flags of Japan merged into one. However, the scarf had no bearing on what he was scribbling for the characters were intended to be English, and the man's face was plainly American, of the homely, honest backwoods kind.

The scarf must have been part of the man, the same as his ears and nose, for it was an unnecessary barrier to the cold, due to the fact that the bright spring sun was shining. He had been standing there an hour, and there had been no indication that he expected to complete his task within the next sixty minutes.

It began to look as if business might be picking up; for a young girl clad in a plain blue suit, her head adorned with a tam of the same hue, beneath which ringlets of light brown hair peeped, came through the turnstile door and walked to the high desk. In her hand was a small package, which she proceeded to address, standing near the old man.

"Fine weather," he observed, and the girl smiled at him and agreed, but it was not a very bright smile. A close observer might have detected an undue redness about the blue eyes, as though there had been moisture there in considerable quantities.

"What's the value?" He placed the package on the scales. "A million dollars."

The young man let the package slip from the scales, but caught it before it went far.

"Eh?" he ejaculated, as he replaced it on the counter. "How much did you say it was worth?" And his eyes met those of the girl.

"I said a million dollars," she returned with a wry little smile. "The package is worth that much—to me."

"Oh, hello, Ruth," he exclaimed, recognition showing in his glance. He extended a hand through the window, and she took it, her eyebrows lifted in surprise.

"Hello, Harold," was her response, her face flushing. "I didn't expect to see you back here. Where have you been?"

"Oh—around some," he said, and it seemed there was a queer, eager look in his eyes. "West, mostly—down the Columbia river with the salmon fishers a good deal. I was up in Vancouver a year, too. Seriously, what is this package worth?"

Her face became more flushed. She bit her lip.

"I'm sure I can't tell; probably $50."

He began filling out a blank.

"If it was a couple of years ago, I'd say it might be a diamond," he observed, "but you can't buy a diamond now for sixty—at least, not a decent one."

"It's a little one, and I've had it a—"

She caught herself and bit the lip again.

"So it is a diamond! Excuse me, Ruth; I didn't mean to be curious. It's none of my business, of course."

When she handed him the package the address side had been down. But he had reversed it while weighing it and had inadvertently looked at the name. It had made no impression on his mind then, because he had not seen the girl; but now he recalled it.

"It's a queer world, isn't it?" he remarked sympathetically and understandingly, as he tore off the stamp. "Yes, it certainly is," and she could not suppress a sigh.

She lacked three cents of the necessary amount of change, so she gave him a ten-dollar bill.

"Smallest I have," she explained, apologetically.

He took the bill and rummaged in a drawer.

"Well, what do you think of that? It's the first time I ever know of such a thing in a postoffice. I can't change it. Pardon me a minute," and he left the window to return shortly with the announcement:

"I can't find change for ten anywhere in the office; so I've had to send out for it. Perhaps you won't mind chatting with me for a few minutes."

The old man with the scarf stuck his face into the scene and asked for a stamp, grinning.

"Thankee, thankee," said the old man. "I ain't went away to postoffices," and he went away.

"I heard you were married," the girl remarked, avoiding the young man's gaze. "Did your wife come with you?"

The clerk's face indicated surprise. "You did? Well, you heard wrong. Look at this."

His fingers were busy with his watch chain, and presently he held up a tiny gold ring with a setting in which a white stone gleamed.

The girl's eyes sparkled as though reflecting the stone's brilliance.

"The one I had," she breathed. "True enough. When I left your house that night, three years ago, I hurried it into the street, but after walking half a block I came back, found it shining in the dark, picked it up and—I've been wearing it on my chain ever since."

"How funny," she ejaculated, her face a deep crimson. "What for?"

"Oh, I thought—well, to tell the truth, Ruth, I came back here hoping I might return it to you. But I've heard you're engaged already, were going to be married next month."

Her eyes lowered and watched her fingers trace an intricate, meaningless figure on the counter.

"I was," she said, and there was a catch in her voice. "When I didn't get any mail from you, and when I heard you were married, I accepted Ralph Henderson's proposal. I didn't really love him, but he was so persistent and I was heartsick."

Porto Rico Leads World in Number Hookworm Cases

By Associated Press

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, March 6.—There is more hookworm in Porto Rico today than in any other country in the world, with the possible exceptions of India and Ceylon, according to Dr. Victor G. Heiser of the Rockefeller foundation. Dr. Heiser has offered the co-operation of the Rockefeller foundation to the government of Porto Rico and the commissioner of health in combatting hookworm in the island.

"Hookworm is probably the most serious economic problem which Porto Rico faces today," said Dr. Heiser. "I have asked cane planters why they did not pay more wages and they said because the laborers could not earn it, and probably they are right."

Dr. A. Ruiz Soler, commissioner of health, said that probably the government would accept the offer of assistance from the Rockefeller foundation and that a campaign against anemia would be undertaken. Dr. James B. Grant, also of the Rockefeller foundation, who has been here for some weeks making an investigation of health conditions in the island, will remain for some time and will, with the co-operation of Dr. Soler, prepare a plan for attacking the hookworm problem.

Anemia, which during the Spanish rule was believed to be due mostly to malnutrition, now is attributed to a great extent to infection. It is believed that the disease was brought in with the early slaves and thus spread uncontrolled throughout the length and breadth of the island.

The government has spent altogether $357,000 in bringing relief to the unfortunate sufferers. A survey recently made by Dr. Grant shows that 90 per cent of the population in rural areas harbor hookworm infection. Every light infection with hookworm is said to cause mental retardation. Defective mentality thus produced renders the children incapable of assimilating instruction.

HORSE AND MULE NOT DEAD NUMBERS, NEED OATS

WASHINGTON, March 6.—American farmers are not reducing their acreage of oats because of the rapidly increasing use of automobiles and trucks, on the theory that the horse and mule are being made a back number, according to a report by experts of the department of agriculture. They have made a special study of the situation and say:

"The number of horses and mules on farms, if decreasing, is doing so at a rate so slow as to have little or no effect on the oat crop. Furthermore, statistics show that American farmers are not cutting down the total oat acreage but are actually increasing it. A great number of American farmers, particularly in the corn belt, are justified in making extensive sowings of oats each year."

George May, fireman at Akron, O., holds the title of horseshoe pitching champion of the United States. He won the honor by defeating a long list of champions of states, counties, cities and villages all over the country in a tournament at St. Petersburg, Fla. Fred Brust of Columbus, O., former champion, went down to defeat before May, 60 to 21. May won twenty-six straight contests of 50 points each.

FAITH in the WHITE PRODUCT

If the installations of White Truck fleets in commercial service were expressed in terms of money, they would furnish impressive evidence of the faith have in White performance. The following figures show some of the large investments represented by individual fleets.

1 owner has invested over	$2,000,000
2 owners have invested between	1,000,000 and $2,000,000
5 " " " "	500,000 and 1,000,000
6 " " " "	300,000 and 500,000
15 " " " "	200,000 and 300,000
41 " " " "	100,000 and 200,000

These figures do not include any trucks owned by the United States or foreign governments

When the large user standardizes on White Trucks, acquiring more of them every year, he must know their operating merit. When he invests a quarter million, half a million, two to three millions, in White fleets, he must have implicit faith in their investment value.

What safer example could be afforded the truck buyer who does not have a broad comparative experience of his own to guide him. Investment value in the case of a single truck depends upon earning power quite as much as in the case of a large fleet.

ZBYSZKO, BACK IN U. S., WRESTLED FOR HIS LIFE IN RUSSIA

Stanislaus Zbyszko, the first of the Zbyszko brothers to star in the wrestling game, recently returned to the U. S. after an absence of ten years. Among the thrilling experiences he had while in Russia during the war was that of saving his life by throwing Alberg, another famous wrestler, to prove that he (Zbyszko) was really a great mat artist and not an imposter and spy.

The grocer looked at him and chirped, "You mean that you want a whole side of bacon?"

Scaldy pulled his roll of bills, flashed it at the grocer and said: "Say, I want BOTH SIDES. I WANT A WHOLE BACON, and I kin pay fo' it."

Jerry—McGovern and Corbett did not fight at the featherweight limit, but way above it. Corbett, of course, knocked Terry out, but we fail to see how he was champion, as he scaled five or six pounds over the weight when he won.

PROPOSED CARD SYSTEM FOR LIQUOR DRINKERS IN ONTARIO

International News Service. TORONTO, Ont.—There will be among other legislation at the coming session of the legislature, certain amendments to the Ontario temperance act. There also will be suggestions made which will not be included in the legislation that passes the house.

It is not unlikely that there will be a licensing system started by which every person who wishes to obtain liquor will have to carry a license card with his photo on it. This card will allow the party holding it to get a certain amount of liquor each week or month from the government vendors without the necessity of first having to obtain a doctor's prescription. To make sure that no person got more than the proper amount at a time, the cards would be punched by the vendors.

WAR DEPARTMENT INSISTS LIVE SOLDIER IS "DEAD"

International News Service. HAVERHILL, Mass.—Although the parents of Adolph E. Roy, returned overseas soldier, now working in a local factory, have previously notified the government that their son, reported by the war department as being dead, is very much alive, the government apparently insists that he is dead.

TAD'S TID-BITS

(Written for International News Service.)

Step Back, Boys, Give 'Em Air.

NEW YORK, March 6.—There are two heavyweight boxers in the east here who have the scribes a bit excited. One is Gene Tunney, managed by Billy Roche, and the other is Bob Fitzsimmons Jr. Tunney so far has shown much more class than Fitz, but then time is a great factor in a pug's life. Many a bird who started off rather poorly came on later like a whirlwind and made a big name.

Jim Jeffries was no wonder when he started fighting in Frisco. He was big and could hit, but that was all. Billy Delaney believed in him, however, and brought him east. Jeff failed to stop Bob Armstrong in his first eastern start and he was penned to a turn. A bit later he came right back and knocked out Fitzsimmons, winning the heavyweight title, and an awful crimp into the reps of some who called him the "Los Angeles Lobster."

Jack Johnson was knocked stiff by Joe Choynski in one of his early fights, yet he came on and won the world's championship.

Jack Dempsey, the present champ, was no thriller around the country before Kearns got him. He was just an ordinary boxer. He gathered confidence later on, though, and is now considered as great as the greatest.

If young Fitz and Gene Tunney were not rushed to the front too rapidly we're bound to get excited about them. They've made great starts. Now let's see how they'll continue.

Willie Meehan Knew.

When Willie Meehan was east a short time ago he was very anxious to see a bloke who owed him a piece of jack. It was rather a cold morning that Willie stopped at this fellow's hotel, and when he asked for him on the downstairs phone the valet replied that his boss couldn't see anyone for an hour or so, as he was taking his bath.

Willie looked out of the door. Then, getting his north and south closer to the phone, he replied: "That's the bunk. He ain't BATHING NOW. People don't bathe in THIS KIND OF WEATHER."

Barnum Was Right.

Lately there have been a lot of advance notices about fights which said, "Who's this will TRY THIS TIME. He can't afford to let what's his name STAY."

Still the suckers dig to see a pair of stallers box again.

If a fighter doesn't TRY EVERY FIGHT why not cut the price of admission in half on those occasions when he isn't fighting?

Who'd want to go to a baseball game where Ty Cobb and Babe Ruth and other stars were advertised to play, only to see them work at half speed?

But Nelson was one bird who TRIED EVERY TIME. Old Bat usually tried so hard the FIRST TIME he met an opponent that it wasn't necessary for a second or third or fourth match, as we have nowadays.

Scaldy Bill Quinn, Spend'rift.

Scaldy was a mussy scrapper some years ago. He grabbed a bunch of dough one night and next morning went directly to a grocery store and ordered "A WHOLE BACON."

Hudson For Five Years The Master in Motor and Style

Hudson Created the Touring Limousine, the Sedan and Other Distinctive Body Designs and the Exclusive Super-Six Motor

No other car is so well regarded by so many people as the Hudson Super-Six. The proof is everywhere about you. More than 85,000 are now in service and for five years it has been the world's largest selling fine car.

Observe its predominance in any assemblage of fine cars. Each body type is noted for handsome appearance and rich completeness of every detail. Hudson created new standards of beauty. All know how its leadership in design is acknowledged.

But Hudson's chief appeal must always be in performance.

If any car dispute's Hudson's supremacy in speed, endurance, hill climbing or acceleration, it is not by official proof.

Hudson Solves Greatest Of All Motor Problems

All automobile engineers were seeking ways to reduce motor vibration when Hudson solved the problem through the patented Super-Six motor. It added 72 per cent to power and almost doubled efficiency. No weight or cylinders were added.

And the Super-Six at once proved its leadership. It became the most famous speed car, winning all important stock car speed records, and with special cars embodying the Super-Six principle it won distinction in all championship speedway events.

But it was not to prove speed that these tests were made. Hudson merely established its speed qualities in development of its value as a reliable, enduring car, such as you want.

These Tests Helped Build the Present Hudson

And remember, it was chiefly through endurance, made possible by its exclusive motor, that Hudson won these victories. Such tests impose a strain that could be equalled, in ordinary driving, only by years of hard use.

These records are three, four and five years old. Yet they have never been matched. And the Hudson of today is a better car because of what they taught.

But not the slightest change has been made in the Super-Six motor principle. For no way has been found to improve it.

And because it has found no rival in performance Hudson's sales leadership among all fine cars has been unbroken.

Hudson production has always been under the demand. This year shows a repetition of the shortage. So, to get a Hudson at all this summer calls for early decision.

MABEL NORMAND SAYS:

Some day I'm going to get fresh like Will Rogers—and write a book. It isn't as hard as it sounds. You just have to sit down, make ugly faces, and all the other people in the studio will come up and tell you funny stories. But I will say that you must write them down. You can't expect everything. Another thing. This Young Visitor stuff has gone to Friend Rogers' head. Have you noticed his spelling recently? And his punctuation? But wait until he writes a book on art and shows his sketches! No, not even Daisy Ashford could have done them. And I think I'm qualified to pass an opinion. They once told me at the art school that Rosa Bonheur painted horses better than I did. Well, of course, I couldn't stay after that.

NATIONAL WOMAN'S PARTY MAKES HER YOUNGEST OFFICER

Miss Anita Pollitzer of Charleston, S. C., who has just been made one of the legislative committee of the National Woman's party, is twenty-five years old. She has the distinction of being the youngest of the party's officers and is said to have a wider acquaintance with members of congress than any other young woman in the country.

EDUCATION ASSET WOMEN DISCOVER

By Associated Press. LONDON, March 6.—The young women of this country who desire to enter the well-paid professions have suddenly come to the decision that there is cash value in a university degree. As a result the women's colleges at Oxford and Cambridge are being bombarded with applications for admission. Somerville and Lady Margaret's at Oxford, and Newham and Girton at Cambridge, cannot begin to accommodate all those who wish admission, it is stated. This growing popularity of the woman's college is said to be due largely to the number of excellent positions which have recently been secured by university women. Despite previous prejudices, employers have discovered that a modern university education is a business asset. One commercial man recently publicly stated: "The Oxford woman writes a good, clear letter and has more common sense than a score of ordinary clerks. And what is more, in these days she is not afraid of work." The university women are also finding employment in all sorts of warfare work, and as inspectors in establishments where women are employed. Offers of work as inspectors are being received from America, it is stated, and good salaries are offered.

"WATSON" OUT-SHERLOCKED SHERLOCK—GOT HIS MAN

International News Service. HAMMOND, Ind.—Sherlock Holmes has been out-Sherlocked. Some time ago down in Winber, Pa., "Watson"—that's what the police here dubbed him—woke up one chilly morn to discover that his roommate, Bert Pollak, was gone. Likewise had "Watson's" $300 and practically all of Pollak's belongings disappeared. Incidentally, the cash till of a restaurant on the floor below had been tapped. "Watson" appealed to the local police and after weeks of weary waiting he was informed that there was nothing doing. "Watson" was blue. But suddenly he bethought himself of the photograph of Pollak's wife—the woman in Hungary who was awaiting her husband's call to America—which the roommate had overlooked in his flight.

He had prints made of the photo and sent them to all the foreign-language newspapers he knew of, with a little information attached to the effect that Mrs. Pollak, arriving unexpectedly in America had been unable to find her husband at his old address, and would he kindly communicate with her? One of the papers chanced to fall into Pollak's hands and he "bit." "Watson" was on the receiving end to get Pollak's address enclosed with a letter to the "wife."

Hammond society note—Mr. Bert Pollak has departed for Winber, Pa., on business. He was accompanied by S. W. McMullen, chief of police of that place.

"THE LUCK OF THE IRISH" AT THE CAPITOL
"The Luck of the Irish," an Allan Dawn production, headed by Assistant Director Saul Harrison resulted in saving Marguerite Marsh from possible fatal injury, it is stated, when a toboggan carrying Miss Marsh and members of the company upset and pitched the star directly in the path of a second toboggan. Harrison is said to have thrown himself in front of the fast-moving vehicle, diverting it from its course by inches; and at the same time William Pyle, assistant cameraman, pulled the star to one side. Harrison sustained painful injuries, it is said.

MARGUERITE MARSH HAS NARROW ESCAPE

Quick action on the part of Assistant Director Saul Harrison resulted in saving Marguerite Marsh from possible fatal injury, it is stated, when a toboggan carrying Miss Marsh and members of the company upset and pitched the star directly in the path of a second toboggan. ECZEMA

Also Called Tetter, Salt Rheum, Penic, Milk Crust, Water Poison, Weeping Skin, etc.

I believe eczema can be cured to stay. I mean just what I say C-U-R-E-D, and NGP merely patched up to return again. Remember, I make this statement after handling nearly a half million cases of eczema and devoting 12 years of my life to its treatment. I don't care what all you have used nor how many doctors have told you that you could not be cured, all I ask is just a chance to prove my claims. If you write me TODAY, I will send you a Free Trial of mild, soothing, guaranteed treatment that will surely convince you it has me. If you are disgusted and discouraged, I dare you to give me a chance to prove my claims. By writing me today I believe you will enjoy more real comfort than you really thought this world held for you. Just try it, and I feel sure you will agree with me.

STAY ON THE WATER WAGON!

If You Are One Who Has Quit Indulging in Strong Drink.

Cadomene Tablets Will Help You Over the Rough Period.

Cadomene Tablets are helpful to weak nerves. Weak, faulty nerves often come from strong drink. Sometimes the system is impoverished by excesses of one kind or another, such as poor digestion and faulty nutrition. Overwork, anxiety, and even grief causes abnormal nervous conditions. The strength of body declines. The strength of will power wanes. Nervousness and sleeplessness causes further weakness and loss of vitality. Years of faithful practice taught a great physician that the formula now used to make Cadomene Tablets would surely build up the health of his patients. Now, anyone can take this great medicine if needed.

Mr. Joe N. Herndon, 1645 Twenty-Fifth street, Sacramento, Calif., writes: "I am using Cadomene Tablets and find a great improvement has been brought about in two days." Every package is guaranteed satisfactory to the purchaser.-Adv.

PERSONALS

H. R. Caldwell, of Washington, D. C., state supervisor for the census bureau, was a recent visitor in this city. George Hemmingson, formerly secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, left Saturday afternoon on a business trip to Necessity.

A party of four couples from Ranger spent a very enjoyable evening at the "Gardner dance, given at Cisco by the young men of Eastland Friday night. Those attending were Misses Mitzi Goodwin, Alpha Winston, Dolly LeClare, Mabel Kurley, L. S. Kinard, Burbon Martin, John Folks, Walter Harwell.

HAPPIEST WOMAN IN THE STATE NOW

Mrs. Smith Says It Would Be Ungrateful Not to Tell Others of Tanlac.

"I believe I'm the happiest woman in California today and it is all because of what Tanlac has done for me," said Mrs. Eugene Smith, a prominent and popular Los Angeles woman who resides at 630 West 52nd street. Mrs. Smith is an officer of the Eastern Star and other organizations.

"For six years I suffered from a complication of troubles that finally led to a general break down. I had awful pains around my heart, which I was told were caused by pleurisy. My kidneys were in such bad condition I had constant pains in my back and my neck and shoulders would get stiff times and my limbs swelled so I could hardly walk. I was so nervous that even the ringing of the door bell upset me and it seemed impossible to get a good night's sleep. I tried everything I could hear of to get relief, even to having all my teeth treated, but kept getting worse and became so weak and emaciated that I weighed only one hundred pounds. Finally they took me to the hospital and I stayed there six weeks, but did not seem to improve in the least, so I was brought home and had just about given up hope when a friend persuaded me to try Tanlac.

"I began to feel better after the first few doses and by the time I had taken four bottles of Tanlac I had gained eighteen pounds in weight and felt as well and strong as I ever did in my life, for every one of my troubles had left me. "The results from Tanlac must be permanent, for it has been four months since I took my last dose and I feel as well now as I did then, and I think I would be ungrateful not to tell others what a wonderful medicine Tanlac is."

Tanlac is sold in Ranger by Phillips Bros., and in Eastland by Butler Drug Co.-Adv.

A Woman's Verdict

Tells of Suffering Greatly With Kidney and Bladder Trouble and How Balmwort Brought Relief.

Her Letter Well Worth Reading.

Mrs. Nellie Meekin, 609 East 138th street, New York City, writes:

"For the last year I had suffered greatly from kidney and bladder trouble, distressing pain in the back and hips, with rheumatic twinges and frequent severe headache, accompanied by nervousness, chills and fever; also a frequent desire to eliminate, a stinging, burning sensation, with pain in the region of the bladder. I would frequently have to arise at night, my sleep being disturbed by the pressure and inflammation in bladder. Beginning the use of Balmwort Tablets I noticed almost instant relief, and continuing to use them I am now totally well and relieved of all pain and distress from which I suffered. I am glad to recommend Balmwort Tablets as a reliable beneficial medicine and trust others may find relief and freedom from pain and distress as I did, etc."

The above letter is a true statement and is now on file in our offices. Balmwort Tablets bring relief when other medicine has failed. Sold by leading drug gists, $1.00 per tube.-Adv.

APPEAL MADE FOR AID FOR NEEDY FAMILY

Citizens of Ranger are noted for the generosity with which they respond to an opportunity offered to help a family which is in real distress.

"A man who has a family broke his leg about three months ago, and the family have expended their savings for hospital care and living expenses, and must depend now on outside help. Another operation and hospital care are necessary or else the man will be a hopeless cripple for the balance of his life. Surely the citizens of this city will respond."

"The flu cases and several pneumonia cases have exhausted funds of the social service bureau, and the city has no funds to take care of the case."

WORKING STUDENTS BEST MONEY RISKS, SAYS DR. BIZZELL

By Associated Press
DALLAS, March 6.—Ambitious young men, anxious to acquire an education at whatever cost in hardship and sacrifice, are the best financial risk in Texas, according to Dr. W. B. Bizzell, president of A. & M. college, in an address here. He said that of between $40,000 and $50,000 loaned each year to A. & M. students "on their bare notes" by men interested in educational affairs, "not a nickel" had been lost.

Dr. Bizzell urged Texas business men to interest themselves in problems of educational institutions, because the state's educational system "constitutes an enterprise of greater magnitude than all the railroads and other corporations combined."

"We have a critical situation regarding teachers," Dr. Bizzell continued. "Since last June, 241 teachers out of 850 have left our (A. & M.) staff, and in almost every instance have gone where they receive more money. If you want a man in your business you pay what is required to get him. A maximum price is fixed by law for most of our positions. We cannot pay more. It is going to be absolutely necessary to pay more money for teachers if the educational system of the state is to be kept up to its present efficiency."

SPOOKY VOICE IN WELL PIPE WAS COAL MINER'S

International News Service.
PETERSBURG, Ind.—"What's coming off up there?"
A spooky, subterranean voice emanated from the two-inch well pipe Dode Smith was pulling from the ground at his home near here.

The well had gone dry suddenly and Dode, with the aid of his brother George and John Watson, was pulling the pipe from the well.

The trio were stricken speechless and as they stared at one another the mysterious voice again was heard:
"Hey, S'matter up there?"

This time Mrs. Dode Smith heard the voice and she likewise was startled.

"Your well is down here," the voice explained. Then Dode Smith had a hunch.

"That you, George?" he shouted down the pipe. An affirmative answer and considerable explanation revealed that a miner friend of Smith's was down below and that coal workers, cutting a new shaft, had tunneled under Smith's well, whereupon the bottom had dropped out, dampening the miners.

RAID NETS EIGHTEEN WAGONLOADS OF RAISINS AND OTHER "BOOZE" MATERIALS

Police tagging the goods before removing it from the "distillery." The electric mash grinder can be seen below at the right.

In one of the most successful raids conducted by police and dry forces since prohibition came, Cleveland, O., police confiscated eighteen wagonloads of raisins, raisin-mash and other material for making booze. The "still" was located on the second floor of a house in a residence section. The equipment found in the still included four fifty-gallon containers and an electric mash grinder. Three hundred and ninety cases of raisins were stacked along the walls.

FIRST OIL VIOLATION PAYS $5,000.00 FINE

By Associated Press
AUSTIN, March 6.—The Texas Railroad commission won its first penalty suit instituted for violation of a ruling that prohibits the drilling of oil wells within 150 feet of a property line or within 300 feet of another well, when judgment by agreement was entered in a case from Wichita Falls. The commission entered suit for the maximum penalty of $5,000, but agreed to a judgment of $500.

LARGE HANGAR HOUSES HUGE U. S. DIRIGIBLE

By Associated Press
CAPE MAY, N. J., March 6.—The English dirigible R-36, which the U.

S. navy purchased from the British government for $3,500,000, will be housed at the Cape May navy yard air station. Work has been begun for the erection of a large hangar which must be completed within the next two months. A railroad line is being constructed to the site of the building in order that the 600 tons of material necessary for the hangar shall be placed on the ground speedily.

At the present hangar, from which the C-5 went out on its disastrous trip last spring, there is being put together under the direction of an Italian expert officer a new dirigible which may have its trial trip in a short time.

The regular complement of the flying station adjoining the naval station is 400 officers and men.

ATLANTA, Ga.—Judge Pendleton in the motion division of the superior court, has decided that a "weiner stand" is a restaurant in the meaning of the law. ### PRETTY MISS, SMOKING, STARTLES OHIO TOWN

URBANA, Ohio.—Just to prove that this little Ohio town is daily becoming more cosmopolitan and that New York City has nothing on it, listen!

Dressed in the very latest creations, a good-looking girl was observed strolling indifferently about the streets smoking a cigarette.

Did she attract attention and comment?

With a long holder in her mouth and puffing away with the utmost abandon, she sure did create some furry.

LONE STAR.
Hart Picture Pleases Many at the Lone Star.

William S. Hart's newest Paramount-Areraft picture, "John Petticoats," which was presented at the Lone Star theater yesterday with considerable success, has a quality that most of this star's productions lacked, and this quality will probably make it universally popular. This quality is comedy. It is full of it. The picture starts out with one of the funniest situations imaginable, and the fun is kept right up to the end.

This doesn't mean that it isn't a strong drama—it is fully as strong in plot and situation as "Wagon Tracks," for instance, or almost any Hart picture that could be named. The comedy is simply an added attraction. Hart is a lumberman in the northwest at the beginning of the picture. A letter from a lawyer announces that he has fallen heir to a modiste shop. He doesn't know what a modiste shop is, but he suspects it is a saloon, and he goes to New Orleans to find out. When he sees what he has inherited, a proper shame overcomes him and forces him to conceal his ownership.

Then the plot enters in, and concerns a girl, her father and the young woman who manages the modiste shop. This girl, to whom Hart becomes a good friend, is betrayed by a society snob who is at the same time trying to marry the girl Hart loves. The unfortunate young woman commits suicide, and the blame for her death is laid on Hart. All works out clearly and unexpectedly to a happy ending.

Some of the best scenes of the picture are those in which Hart, invited to a fashionable ball, amazes the guests by giving them a real lumberjack dance. This isn't the hit he expected, so he tried to learn the waltz. Which is as funny as might be expected. The sub-titles are filled with excellent humor.

In order to have the locations exactly right, the Hart company went to New Orleans to make this picture. So in the exteriors many glimpses of the old city are shown.

OPERA HOUSE.

The Story of "The Rider of the Law." Jim Kyneton of the Texas Rangers was accused of stealing ore from the K Midas mine. He was accused by South, king of the saloon and dance hall. Captain Graham, commanding Jim's division of the Rangers, told Jim of the accusation and ordered him to arrest the guilty man within a week.

Jim Kyneton faced a desperate situation. His investigations revealed to him that Nick, his half-brother, was stealing ore from the mine and that The Kid, a boy from the east whom Jim had pledged to help, was involved with the wayward Nick in the thievery.

True to his oath as an officer of the law, Jim arrested his half-brother, The Kid and another man and confined them in a deserted shack on his ranch.

The men escaped. There was only one course open to Jim. He must capture the fugitives to save his honor as an officer and to clear his aged mother of the suspicion of having released the men.

The story is told graphically in "The Rider of the Law," a Universal photodrama with Harry Carey in the starring role, showing today at the Opera House.

LIBERTY.

"Extravagance" Showing Today at the Liberty.

Helen Douglas is the extravagant wife of Alan Douglas, a wealthy Wall Street operator. A friend, Billy Braden, seeing the fallacy of an artificial life in the city, has put sham behind him and is going west. He urges Douglas and his wife to follow his example. On the other hand, his business partner insists that they throw their all into an exchange deal to make a "killing." Helen decides she would rather be a paving stone in York than a boulevard in a western city. For this good advice she asks her husband to buy her a necklace. He refuses and they quarrel and she tries to forget her sorrow in sleep.

She dreams her husband fails, forges and kills a pursuing policeman, with the result that he is condemned to the chair. As she pleads for mercy with the immovable judge she awakens. Hurriedly dressing she goes to the exchange and discovers a panic in the stocks in which her husband was speculating. In an effort to save himself he makes a wild appeal to buy for her personal money and securities. She refuses him aid. Seeing himself ruined, Douglas in a frenzy, catches his wife by the shoulders and denounces her before the crowd as a woman who has taken all and given nothing! She stands firm, however, even as her husband stands over her threatening to strike. When he returns home that night Helen tells him she realizes what a life of pre-

"The Shepherd of the Hills."

A particular and sentimental interest to Americans centers about the novel of "The Shepherd of the Hills," a picturization of which is to be shown in this city at the Liberty theater March 8 and 9. A story more typically American could not be written. The scenes are laid in the Ozarks, a part of the United States which may be said to have been discovered by Harold Bell Wright, as it is a region little known to the average person beyond those in that immediate vicinity, before the advent of "The Shepherd of the Hills." It has since become a national vacation ground, visited by thousands of tourists every year. A casual visit there showed Mr. Wright its possibilities, and he remained to write a story of present-day life in that country. This story is now known in every land, and any one who has read the book can immediately understand how wonderful it could be shown in pictures. The picturesque and sturdy mountaineers are faithfully portrayed, and the scenic background is lavish in its display of nature's beauties in southwestern Missouri. The dramatic possibilities of the book lead themselves admirably as well, especially the element of mystery which pervades the whole story and which is so startlingly cleared up at the end of the play.

QUEEN.

War Veteran With Douglas Fairbanks Though Douglas Fairbanks' picture "His Majesty, the American," which is playing at the Queen theatre just now, is as peaceful a film as the lively Douglas can make, he was in a trial assisted in making it by a lot of Uncle Sam's fighters. The director of the picture is Corporal Joseph Henabery, this being his first motion picture work since his return from the army. The camera staff is under the supervision of Lieut. Victor Fleming, late of the United States Signal Corps and who incidentally went to France with President Wilson on board the steamship George Washington, on the president's first trip over, in charge of the government photographers.

Billy Shay, who assisted in the editing of the picture, received military decorations in France; and as though this were not military aid enough for Douglas, three hundred returned soldiers were given work in the construction of a French village which is used in the picture and which cost something in the neighborhood of $40,000 to build.

WALLIE REED IN "SPEAKIES."

Wallie Reed fans will be interested in the announcement that he will play the hero role in "The Rotters," the English comedy satire by H. P. Malby, at the Little theatre in Los Angeles. On the stage Wallie was a success in vaudeville and he also had some experience in melodrama of the livid brand.

Johnny Hines, comedy star, formerly associated with the World Film pictures, is to play the "red-headed" office boy in the forthcoming "Torchy" series. Rickard Appears Strong Yet.

The week before the big fight at Toledo last July Tex Rickard was a worried man. He was worried about accidents, he was worried about the weather, and he was worried over reports about being held up.

Tex had heard it whispered that Jack Kearns was to demand $15,000 more than he had agreed to box for in his contract. The wise guys from Broadway who had arrived that week were sure that Jack Kearns would win the bid. They heard it in New York. They knew. The boys in the know were topped off.

A few days before the fight Rickard went to Dempsey's camp and sat down himself that things were all right. Kearns said that no such thought had ever crossed his head. That was enough for Tex.

On the way out of the little quarters Tex heard a voice calling him. It was Dempsey. Tex stopped and waited for Jack to come over. Blushing like a school girl and fiddling with his sweater, Dempsey said:

"Mr. Rickard, I haven't had a chance to thank you for what you've done for me. You've given me a chance to box for the championship and I want you to know how thankful I feel. If I win the championship I want to be able to do something big for you some day."

That little talk threw a lot of cheer to the system of T. Rickard, and they're not sure right now whether Tex had Jack's moniker to a contract or not.

If an American promoter gets the fight it looks as though either Rickard or Coffroth will grab it, as both are very close to the champion and Manager Kearns.

What's become of the old-fashioned guy who used to kick at the size of the COLLAR on his scuttle of suds?

Joe Humphreys told us one the other day about Mickey McDonough. It seems that Mickey's manager got him a bout in Albany. He took the boat with Mickey and split the state-room. In the morning both arose at the same time and started dolling up for the cats. The manager was combing his beautiful locks when he happened to turn around and spotted Mickey using his toothbrush.

"Hey, get away from that horse's head. THAT'S MY TOOTHBRUSH," he barked at his charge.

Mickey, with a surprised look, stopped the scrubbing and piped, "Well, where's the one that belongs to the boat?"

"THE AMAZING WOMAN" a LLOYD CARLETON production with RUTH CLIFFORD pair in Lima), the pelican and two species of gannet. By actual computation of the nests of some of these birds per metre on one of the islands he estimated that more than 1,000,000 of that one species inhabited it. Mr. Murphy said the ancient Incas of Peru highly prized the guano birds and penalized with death anyone who killed one. Many of the motion picture films he brought back showed, he said, the life history of the seabirds as well as the native fisheries and the guano industry.

Peru. President Leguia, and other prominent men, he said, have encouraged foreign scientific men to visit Peru for the purpose of ascertaining the best conservation methods. A steam trawler and two launches were placed at Mr. Murphy's disposal upon his arrival at Lima, and from these he conducted his researches and experiments. Guano, he said, is the best fertilizer known for sugar cane, and before the war vast quantities of it were shipped to the United States through Charleston, S. C. Peru herself, he said, is utilizing the fertilizer not only for growing sugar cane but for rice and cotton.

Ocean freight rates, Mr. Murphy said, might be affected by the competition which has sprung up since the close of the war. Within the last six months, he said, eight or nine steamship lines—Dutch, French, Italian, British and American—are now stopping at Peruvian ports. As an instance of recent freight costs, Mr. Murphy cited the case of a Curtiss airplane occupying a crate not much larger than would be required for an automobile and upon which the charges were $900. Mr. Murphy, who is now thirty-four years old and a graduate of Brown university, is a director of the Explorers' club. His expedition to Peru was aided financially by the American museum of Natural History and the American Geographical society.

COASTAL WATERS OF PERU TEEM WITH ENOUGH FISH TO SUPPLY HUNGRY WORLD, SAYS EXPLORER

By Associated Press. NEW YORK, March 6.—Peru's coastal waters are teeming with enough fish to feed the world and her islands are all veritable bird sanctuaries, according to Robert Cushman Murphy, curator of natural science of the Brooklyn museum, just returned from six months' exploration in South America with 500 photographs and 10,000 feet of motion pictures. Mr. Murphy said that on one island he found "the most abundant seabird life on earth," as many as 1,000,000 feathered creatures of a single species. The fisheries of Peru, he said, are unorganized and, although fish are plentiful, including such edible varieties as the bonito, anchoveta, pejerrey or smelt, the conger (somewhat like a cod), the flounder and corvina (comparable to the American salmon), Peruvians literally "go hungry" because of their scarcity and the high price inland due to the problems of icing and transportation. A few miles off the coast, the returned explorer said, he let down a net and drew it out of the sea filled with four varieties of the most delicious edible crabs. These crustaceans, he said, would furnish the basis for a big canning industry both for home and foreign consumption, vast quantities of such sea food now being annually imported to the United States from Japan. The "wonderful fish and bird life" of Peru Mr. Murphy attributed to the Humbolt current, a cold body of oceanic water which flows along 1,800 miles of the coast. He made many observations of this current, he said, following those of Alexander Agassiz and Dr. Robert F. Coker of the United States Fish commission, pioneers in such work. Although Peru's proximity to the equator, he said would cause one to suppose that it might have a temperature like that of Florida, its actual temperature was more like that of Boston. The result of the interesting correlation between the Humbolt current and the abundance of fish and bird life, he said, he has covered in more than 500 pages of data. He brought with him sixteen cases and crates, in which are specimens of curious marine and feathered creatures. Mr. Murphy called attention to the guano or fertilizer deposits of Peru, which, he said, may be doubled by the conservation methods devised by Francisco Ballen, a Peruvian, who he described as "one of the most far-sighted and able economists in the world." In furtherance of Mr. Ballen's plans, the explorer said, he advocated increasing the breeding area of the guano producing birds, at present confined to fifteen islands, the largest of which are the Chinchi and Lobos, and where deposits of fertilizer 150 feet in thickness may be found. The value of the guano deposits, he said, was also due to the action of the Humbolt current, the cold winds, from which, blowing over the arid land, preserved the fertilizing qualities of the bird lime. Mr. Murphy, whose work was aided by the Peruvian government, said the islands might be enlarged by dynamiting the cliffs into the sea. He also urged the stoppage of guano gathering during the "courtship" of the birds. The guano, he said, is dug by natives in the interior of the islands and carried in small railway cars to the coast where it is put aboard ships. Exportation of the fertilizer, he said, was being held up on account of the ocean freight rates. The guano birds were enumerated by Mr. Murphy as the white-breasted cormorant (commercially worth $15 a

A STORY OF THE LONE STAR STATE

The Texas gold mine near the border of Texas was being systematically robbed by Jim Kyneton, a member of the Texas rangers, the only police body of the old Border State, was openly accused of complicity in the thefts—Jim Kyneton, above all others. It was incredible.

But the ranger captain had faith in Jim. He gave him just a week to round up the culprits. Jim arrested them, but his heart was torn, for the leaders of the gang were his brother Nick and his best friends. The story of a brave officer's fight against the call of family ties and friendship is told in "The Rider of the Law," Harry Carey's newest western.

Rose Chester was raised in a hovel. The treatment she received at home caused her to run away and earn her own living. She never doubted that the people she left were her parents. One day in a quiet little country church the ripping open of a flour bag and a song awakened the memory of another home. Rose found a father who had been seeking her for a score of years. This is the story of Vitagraph's O. Henry feature, "The Church with an Overshot Wheel."

Russian Language to Replace German in Schools, Urged

Dr. Edward H. Egbert, an official of the American central committee for Russian relief and a keen student of Russian affairs, believes that now is an opportune time to substitute the study of Russian for German in American high schools and colleges. He predicts that, in another generation, English and Russian will be the predominant languages of the world. He urges its study in America because of the tremendous trade opportunities which Russia will present, once that vast country establishes a settled government.

Dr. Egbert was chief surgeon with the American Red Cross detachment to Russia in 1914. He visited Russia three times during the war and spent most of his time there until the outbreak of the revolution. When Catherine Brecklevsky, "the little grandmother of the revolution," was in this country he traveled with her as co-lecturer.

Dr. Egbert says that the "impossible" language which many English-speaking people believe, says Dr. Egbert, "The entire Russian vocabulary has only about one-third the number of words to be found in an unabridged dictionary."

"If one is familiar with five or six hundred Russian words, he can get on very well and can make himself understood from the White Sea to the Black Sea, or from the Baltic to the Pacific, along the lines of travel. Few realize that one can travel further with a knowledge of Russian than with any other language."

"The Russian language is, of course, difficult for one who is unfamiliar with other Slavic tongues. The knowledge of other languages does not help one a great deal in acquiring Russian because of the many words which derive their roots from other modern languages."

"Such words as 'tramway,' 'automobile,' 'telephone,' 'socialist,' 'democratic,' and many technical terms are taken from other languages, being altered only to conform to Russian grammatical rules or to avoid confusing the Russian ear."

"As compared with the English, the Russian is a pure language. It, like the country, is not highly developed because the life of the great mass of people has always been so simple that the need for the expression of the more complex ideas has never been felt. The educated class in adopting foreign ideas and inventions has, therefore, adopted the foreign names."

"It would be most opportune at this time to substitute the study of Russian for that of German. Surely, the Russian language is equally rich in literary styles as the German, both in prose and poetry."

"As for the length of time required to learn Russian, I have been told that the British government allows seven months for its foreign attaches to perfect themselves in the language, while it permits eleven months for acquiring Hindustanese. "The spelling of Russian words is euphonic and with rare exceptions each character has an unvarying sound value. The grammar is not extremely difficult. In Russian one can always express himself with a nicety of meaning. It is a beautiful language. None other is so rich in terms of endearment or courtesy, and in every day expressions showing a belief in and devotion to God."

French government to relatives of American soldiers killed in the world

With approximately 1,245,000 school children in the state, the appor-
