

C-C DEMANDS QUICK ACTION MAIN ST. JAM

City Asked to Cut Time to Clear Street to 3 Days.

A resolution was passed by the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce requesting the city commission to instruct Walsh & Burney, contractors, to remove the houses and other obstructions in front of the Hodges & Neal building and the New Wilson hotel on Main street in three days.

The board also decided to employ a man to protect its interests in the road building campaign which is under way in the county, to request the city to place all the relief work of the city in the hands of the Salvation Army and support the work with adequate funds and housing facilities.

It was the opinion of the board that the obstructions in Main street had placed a burden on merchants in loss of revenue and that the buildings should be removed at once. A committee from the chamber which was detailed several weeks ago to see the contractors about the matter, reported prior to the passing of the resolution, that it had seen time it had been promised that other houses and other obstructions would be removed, but that they never took any action in that direction.

In discussing the relief work of the city the directors were of the thought that indiscriminate begging and soliciting on the street placed a heavy burden on the city which could be lightened at least by half by supporting the Salvation Army with an organized source of revenue and directing all applications for charity or other donations to its local officers.

It was pointed out in the meeting that time after time merchants and others were approached for donations, some worthy and others unworthy, but in every case they would hand out money until the aggregate would amount to a large sum.

Swat the Rat!

Kitchen Rules. Keep all supplies in rat-proof bins. Keep mats in safes or in refrigerators. Keep uncooked vegetables in crates on shelves. Never on floor.

If Cooking is Done With a Coal Fire. Burn in your kitchen fire all refuse (trimmings of meat, bones, parings of vegetables, egg shells, all platter and plate scrapings, and all waste food). This means the putting into the fire of small amounts at a time, when they will readily burn.

If Cooking is Done With a Gas Fire. Keep all garbage in covered metal cans. Keep the cans closely covered. Have the garbage removed at least twice a week.

Have a scavenger carry your garbage can to his wagon. Report all scavengers who do not do so. Don't put garbage in slop hoppers. Always clean up your own premises. Throw no garbage into the streets nor on vacant lots.

Admit authorized health inspectors to your premises. They are there for your benefit.

Tell your neighbors to do all the above and see that they do.

RATS DRIVEN FROM CITIES DESTROYING CROPS OF FARMERS

FORT WORTH, Aug. 6.—Cities of Texas have cleaned out their rats—but now farmers in the rural districts complain of rat-covered fields, of crops devoured and entire feed store houses devastated by the rodents.

Campaigns against the rats in the cities are blamed for the rat plague in the country. The cities, aroused by the presence of bubonic plague at Galveston and Beaumont, decreed wholesale killing campaigns.

BIGBEE SCOUTS SUICIDE THEORY IN REBER CASE

Feeling Running High Over Killing of Station Agent.

The mystery surrounding the killing of L. Reber, station agent for the Wichita Falls, Ranger & Fort Worth railroad at Breckwalker, will soon be cleared up, in the opinion of members of the Stephens county sheriff's department.

Ed Bigbee of this city, former United States deputy marshal, passed through Breckwalker soon after the crime was committed and stopped and made an investigation. Mr. Bigbee stated this morning that he examined the wound of the dead man and he is positive that it was not self-inflicted, as no powder burns were apparent.

According to Mr. Bigbee, the generally accepted theory at Breckwalker is that Reber was murdered by highwaymen who hoped to gain possession of the substantial sum of money he usually carried.

Accuses Spinners of Attempts to Cut Cotton Price

AUSTIN, Aug. 6.—The following is given out by the state agricultural department:

"The price of the 1920 cotton crop with what is left of the 1919 crop will determine several important things now having the attention of the people of the world.

The producers of cotton and their friends desire a voice in the price and demand that it include a profit. The speculative and spinning interests desire to prevent this and are not asleep on their job. They generated several schemes during the harvest and sale of the 1919 crop to thwart the aims of the producers and their friends, whether or not these schemes were hatched by the enemies of the producers, such enemies have used them to beat down the price of cotton.

Some of the conditions which have been taken advantage of are as follows: The embargo forbidding the railroads to haul cotton in West Texas last fall; the shoremen's strike at Galveston, and the action of the federal reserve bank board. The embargo gave an excuse for lowering the local price by saying, "We cannot ship it." The claim of a conspiracy to lower the price is borne out recently by the editorial in a prominent New England spinner's journal in his answer to charges of conspiracy to depress the price. He says: "We haven't the least doubt, we frequently emphasized this point—that foreign manufacturers or buyers of cotton, and domestic buyers as well, have made and are making at present every possible effort to depress the price." This same editor continuing says: "The world does need cotton and will need it in increasing amounts. The cotton grower must protect himself; as certainly no one else will protect him or will pay him one cent more per pound for his cotton than it can be bought at. The dealer would try to buy it at ten cents per pound, even if the cost were thirty cents. He would sell at $1 per pound if it were possible to obtain it." The embargo furnished a splendid opportunity for this conspiracy.

The action of the federal reserve bank board caused banks to call loans on cotton, which forced it to sell, thus aiding in the scheme to depress the price.

Propaganda is being given out and plans laid to cut the value of the 1920 crop in half. The report of the car and ship shortage, which is already depressing the price of wheat; the talk of "tight money"; of a big crop, which is impossible with half a stand over the principal producing sections, and a great deal not in bloom Aug. 1, while adjoining fields have grown bolls in them, and insects demanding toll.

The fact is, as we have frequently stated, more than half of the U. S. crop is needed by foreign countries, which are not in shape to buy in large quantities as fast as we gather. Their condition must be considered, and the sale of our cotton adjusted to their ability to pay. We sold too much cotton last fall. The spinners got three months stock and the speculators about the same. They joined forces to beat the farmer on what they did not get, an average of $50 per bale. Still the future market has averaged as high and the spinners have paid the speculators as much for cotton all this year as last fall, when the farmer was receiving around forty-five cents for his staple. Will we do the same fool thing and sell too much cotton this year? If the banks and merchants urge or even permit too rapid sale, they will be caught in the same bear trap that clamped down on their causal appendages in 1918. There will be very little old cotton on hand when the new crop begins to move freely. What little there will be will be in the hands of the farmers. This gives them the whip hand in the price next fall. The local banks and merchants stay behind them. It is the first time in history that the farmers held the carry over. It is the first time in history that they have been absolute masters of the situation; that is, if the reserve banks will adopt a human policy and extend loans of the member banks to the end that the crop may be sold to bring cost of production and a profit. The state department of agriculture will give out by Sept. 10 the report of its cost-finding and price recommending committee. If our credits can be mobilized behind the farmers, the work will be done which will make certain the prosperity of the farmers and through them of all our people."

LIVE IN BOTTLE

MANCHESTER, N. H.—One of the most novel inhabitations which has ever been devised for this vicinity is credited to Mr. and Mrs. Louis Messier, who have established themselves in a bottle and are making their summer home on the shore of Pine Island lake.

Discarded street cars, piano boxes, logs in the rough, railroad ties and dry goods boxes have been used to construct homes, and we have the legend of "the old woman who lived in a shoe," but Mr. and Mrs. Messier are the first to use a bottle for such a purpose.

The bottle, made of wood, stands 35 feet in height and is 10 feet in diameter. It was constructed to advertise a widely known beverage at Pine Island park. Mr. Messier had it removed to the north shore of Pine Island lake, where it was re-erected and a connecting addition built which is used as a kitchen and living room.

The first floor of the bottle is used as a dining room, and the second and third floors, each nine feet posted, are sleeping rooms, which are reached by use of "ship" ladders.

All of the rooms are comfortably furnished and the "bottle" has electric lights, telephone service and all the accessories of a comfortable summer camp.

Seals Increase in Number Under U. S. Protection

By Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6.—The annual census of the seals now being taken by the bureau of fisheries is expected to show about 600,000 of the animals, or three times as many as when the government undertook the custody of them a half score years ago.

Although the seal spends much of its life at sea, its habits make the census-taking comparatively easy. Hugh M. Smith, commissioner of the bureau of fisheries, explains the "count of noses" is of importance to prevent "blind killing" of the animals for their furs, possibly resulting in their extinction.

Under present government control, Mr. Smith asserts that the seals are increasing about ten or twelve per cent of their number annually. Last year's count showed 550,000 of which 26,000 were killed for their pelts.

In the middle of the Bering sea, lying 40 miles apart are two islands—St. George and St. Paul—the only land to which the seals ever resort. Every spring they visit the islands to raise their young, leaving in the fall to winter in the north Pacific and it is during the summer that the census is taken.

The killing of the animals is also done in the summer, this under law being confined to the surplus males. Last year lack of labor resulted in 10,000 fewer animals being killed than government officials had planned. Japan and Great Britain along with the United States, share the revenue produced from this seal kill, a treaty giving this country seventy per cent of the animals, with the other two countries each receiving 15 per cent.

"In the old days," says Mr. Smith, "when 100,000 seals were being killed annually the government obtained $10 per skin, while now we are getting $140, which nets us about $120 per skin. Increase in the value of furs and the different method of conducting the business explains this."

Besides the sale of pelts, the government is operating a fertilizer plant on the islands for disposing of the carcasses, from which there also is extracted an oil used for dressing tops of automobiles.

JAPAN CONFRONTED BY RICE FAMINE AS RESULT OF GROWTH

By Associated Press

TOKIO, Aug. 6.—The gravity of the food question in Europe finds its echo in Japan where the problem of how to feed the population, which is increasing annually by 600,000 is becoming yearly more pressing.

Japan has ample living space for its people but cannot produce enough food for them, especially rice. Every bit of land is cultivated to the limit of its capacity. The land of Formosa, the island colony is worked to its full capacity by the two million Chinese farmers who cultivate the rice fields with great skill. In Korea, also, the grain harvest is considerable, though the failure of the Koreans to use fertilizer prevents greater harvests.

Heavy Imports

To meet the food menace Japan, by a special arrangement with France, is making heavy rice imports from Indo-China. This is a costly operation, however; the Japanese government losing $20,000,000 last year in supplying Indo-China rice to the Japanese people at a moderate price.

A solution to which the government is turning its attention is that of inducing the people to eat less rice and more wheat because of the great wheat fields of Manchuria which would be amble as a food supply, if the people would eat wheat. The enormous output of Manchuria is handled by the South Manchuria railway which at the same time transports yearly some 300,000 Chinese coolies from Shantung province to Manchuria where they labor in the rice lands of the northern province. Siberia in the great belt extending south from Irkutsk and Omsk is a wonderful grainfield, if regularly cultivated, capable of helping in the solution of the world food problem. "The grain center of Winnipeg, Canada," said a leading Japanese business man to the correspondent, "bids fair to be rivalled one day in world importance by the city of Harbin, on the border of Manchuria and Eastern Siberia. Harbin is admirably situated to handle the grain arteries of the Far East and I predict a great commercial future for that city."

or permanent residents. Fathers and mothers considering residence in a city may demand schools, churches, legitimate amusements, improvements, sanitary facilities. They never ask for a restricted district, or well modulated bootlegging, or quietly run gambling houses. Evidence or assurance of the existence of these parasitic civic encumbrances makes a city as desirable a place to live in to them as a house with the red snailpost sign.

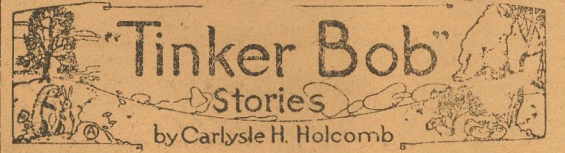

These three underground trades are present in every large community—the larger and older the city, the more apt they are to be present, for as a city grows in size and years the difficulty of maintaining an honest law-enforcing machinery and the difficulties confronting that mechanism in its operation increase apace.

But the day has past when modern policing generally gives its bland and facit approval to prostitution, gambling and the illicit sale of liquor. The red light district, in most cases, saw its last days as an organized and definitely bounded area in the first days of the war, when the government, before locating cautions, demanded that the cities which were to be favored clean the manure from their front yards. The government would not expose soldier material to that menace. Licensed gambling went by the boards years before. Bootlegging, in well policed towns, is as precarious a trade as the traffic in morphine and cocaine, and will continue to be as long as the eighteenth amendment exists.

None of the commissioners recommended a wide open town. None of them recommended rigid enforcement. All prefer regulation.

Ranger residents, as well as those who follow the precarious paths of vice, know what to expect.

MOTHER O POSSUM'S STUNT.
 The Hunter was so sorry that he told the king he would do anything that was in his power to help Mr. Musk Rat along in the world. This pleased Mr. Musk Rat so very much that he said to the King: "Tell him to let the Forest Folk have all they want to eat out of his garden."

Tinker Bob did as Mr. Musk Rat asked him, and Mr. Hunter made answer that he would willingly let all of the Forest dwellers eat from his garden if they would promise not to destroy it. Of course his dog had something to say about it, and when he had spoken the Forest Dwellers were a little afraid that it would be dangerous to enter the garden in the day time. But Mr. Hunter promised to talk to his dog about it and see if he could get him convinced that the Forest Creatures were his friends and not his enemies.

After they had settled the matter about the garden, Mr. Musk Rat felt relieved and the King made a promise that pleased them all very much.

"I see how patient Mr. Musk Rat has been with his three feet," said the King. "He has not once complained about being crippled. He has been happy to do all the things I asked him to do, and now I feel that there is a great need for me to do him a special favor. I will take him to the place where he can get his feet placed back where they belong, the Realm of the Healing. We shall go as soon as this day of frolic is over."

Tinker Bob looked about to see who might be next to advance for a place on the program. In the meantime the Hunter was trying to understand what the King meant when he promised to heal Mr. Musk Rat and put his foot back in its place.

"Here's the next one on the program and I know that everyone in the Forest wants to see her. It is Mother O Possum and her family. Chief Popsy has arranged with her for a stunt," Tinker announced.

Then Mother O Possum came forward, to the Hunter's surprise. It was surprising a wonderful thing to him. He could not understand how Tinker Bob could control these creatures in this manner. As Mother O Possum came close to the King, no one could see her family, and they thought it a little strange that the King should have announced that they were with her.

She climbed the nearest tree and went out on the lowest limb. And all the time the other creatures were looking about for her family, but could see no one that looked like her. As she neared the tip of the lowest limb, she wrapped her tail about the limb and swung down. The Forest Folk were breathless. They thought she was going to fall.

But after swinging a moment, she gave a familiar grunt and four little heads bobbed out of her carrying pocket. One by one they climbed out and wrapped their tails around the limb, two on each side of their mother. This was a stunt enough for it even surprised the Hunter.

Tomorrow—Mr. Frog and His Singers.

EFFICIENT HOUSEKEEPING
 More Hints From Readers

Still more altruistic readers of this column have sent in their "discoveries" for me to print so that other women may be benefited by them. It's a pretty generous old world, isn't it.

M. E. A. T.—"We have been very much interested in the Hints From Readers, particularly the recipe by Mrs. J. N. for white bread, quick method dated June 24th. We have a quick method also for yeast bread which helps greatly when you want bread or rolls in less than two hours. Here it is: 2 quarts flour, 2 2-3 cups water, 1 tablespoon salt, 2 tablespoons sugar, 1 tablespoon shortening, 6 cakes compressed yeast. Place flour (sifted) in bowl, after mixing salt and sugar in part of water, then add yeast and the same time as yeast—which has been dissolving in a little warm water. Knead until elastic and place in a well-greased bowl; allow to stand 20 minutes, then punch it down and in 5 minutes more mould it into loaves and place in pans; let rise for about 40 minutes, or until double in bulk. Bake 45 minutes—perhaps 50. Water must be warm for this method. A smaller batch can be made by dividing the formula—using three yeast cakes."

A. D. C.—"You may not wish to print this 'discovery' because it does not deal strictly with housework, but to me it has been a great help in my housework. (Also I am afraid you may think it a bit foolish.) Anyway, here it is: I used to be a great worrier—I worried over everything. If my cat happened to steal the fish, or I burned a cake, I was unhappy for half a day afterwards. Then one day a friend suggested that I try taking a long sigh whenever I was tempted to worry and imagine that all my troubles were flowing out on the stream of that sigh and that I had none left when I finished. I tried it and have been doing it ever since—and that trial took place three years ago. Since then, I have broken myself of worrying completely.

And the best part of it is this: my friends who used to avoid me sometimes, now seem to flock to see a good deal of me; they are always running in on me and more than one of them has remarked that I have turned into an optimist. Several of them have asked me what has happened in my life to make me so happy and change me so—but I have never told any one because it sounds so ridiculous, and I would not be writing this to you if I were obliged to use my own name.

You should not mind my saying this, Miss Kirkman, for even my own husband does not know why he finds me so much more companionable nowadays and likes to sit around at home instead of jaunting around with other men—as he used to do. All the world shuns a worrier—for they are often naggers without meaning to be."

Mrs. L. J. M.—"I find that if a brick is used for an iron stand an iron will retain its heat twice as long as if the regular kind of stand is used."

Housekeeper, Reader—"Here are two of my cooking discoveries: Lunas can be avoided in cornstarch puddings by mixing the cornstarch with the sugar before it is added to the hot milk.

Pies will always be a lovely golden brown if one brushes the crust over with milk and then sprinkles a little granulated sugar on them before baking."

Tomorrow—Corn in the family diet.

RIPLING RHYMES
 PLANS.

If you observe the also rans, you'll note they're always making plans. Some day they'll reach the shining heights and bask in wealth's and fame's delights. Next week, next month, perhaps next year, they'll venture on a high career, and show the natives goggle-eyed that they're all wool and three feet wide. And while they plan they let today, the golden present, slide away. They sit around the village pump, and plan and dream while others pump. And Time flies on with eager pace; the way Time scoots is a disgrace; and men grow old and bent and bald, and hang around until they're called. And those who worked with pep and power and made the most of every hour beneath their fig trees sit in peace, and find old age as slick as grease. But those who sat immersed in dreams, and made their futile plans and schemes, and talked "tomorrow" when "always" was slipping from their grasp away, find age a grim and sad thing to feel. Oh, make your plans for future times, but while you're planning nail the dimes.

Hunting Bargains in Ranger

By DAISY WATKINS

I. Did you ever try to dress up some day in late summer or early fall and find that your dear little pumps that looked so pretty when you bought them were entirely too down-at-heel to look respectable with your freshly clean and pressed frock? And it's too early yet to buy fall shoes; but when one can get a pretty pair of pumps or white kid boots for $5.95 or a $18.50 pair of oxfords, good for this year and next, for $9.95, why worry about shoes?

II. I saw some crepe de chine and georgette in all colors today on sale for $2.50, which is a dollar reduction from the regular price. If your supply of lingerie is low or you want to start making things for Christmas, this should be a good investment. A few yards of this combined with a bit of ribbon and lace and a little of your time and you can make that wonderful creation you admired in the window last week—the one with the $18.50 tag on it.

III. One of our downtown shops is selling hats today. Six to ten dollar hats for $2 and ten-dollar to twenty-dollar hats for $5. Could you ask more? And while you're there look at the furs they're selling at a 25 per cent reduction.

PUBLIC FORUM

Editor the Times:

The action of City Attorney Dudley, City Judge Flewellen and Acting Police Chief Reynolds in going before the city commission Wednesday and asking for definite instructions regarding whether laws against bootlegging and running open saloons, gambling and running gambling houses, prostitution and running houses of prostitution, running punchboards, obstructing Main street and sundry other crimes and misdemeanors should be enforced is a worthy action and should be commended by all who have the best interests of this city at heart.

At the conclusion of the hearing the city commission, represented by Mayor Hagaman and Commissioners Deffebach, Newnam and A. Davenport, instructed these three young men who came honestly seeking encouragement and advice in the work that they have to perform, to step on all sanitary violators and enforce the sanitary law to the letter.

By all means! Let's have a clean town.

The sanitary code is a safe code to enforce. It may make some restaurant keeper a little angry to have to "police up" his premises, but it doesn't cut in on anybody's graft. The same isn't true of the penal code of the state of Texas and the United States governing bootlegging.

Very little bootlegging goes on in Ranger. It's sold over the bar. A strange bootlegger who comes into town in the guise of a pilgrim is likely to get arrested here, but the resident bootleggers have to have some protection from outside competition.

One of the commissioners said he did not think a "friendly game of poker" should be molested. He's right. Wait 'till somebody gets angry and then arrest him.

The same commissioner, Mr. Newnam, stated that he favors a clean town—in reason. This is a saving clause.

Another commissioner declared that he believed the officers should take action against violators of the law in cases where the act "was brought to the attention of the police department." The case of the "pilgrim" bootlegger from another city, for instance. This commissioner was Mr. Deffebach.

The third commissioner present at the meeting stated that he is in favor of "regulating whiskey selling and gambling" and that if it is "kept out of sight" the city ought to be satisfied. So ought the bootlegger and the gambler. You should recognize this commissioner by now. He stated that he bought whiskey two places in St. Louis and St. Louis had been a city two hundred years. He might have added that he can buy whiskey at two hundred places in Ranger and Kansas has been a city two years.

This commissioner flatters our citizenship. He expressed the belief in so many words that we have got just the kind of a town we want, like and deserve. We have, all right. The sanitary law is to be enforced, regardless of cost, and the "obstruction" on Main street is to be removed, come what may. The water and the milk are subject to inspection at any time. All we lack is somebody to put the stamp of municipal approval on the corn whiskey and jake, compel the saloons to observe closing hours, regulate the rake-off from the little games which flourish nightly in some of our best hotels, and answer the questions of the three young men who will be compelled to bear most of the blame if some fussy old hypocrite raises a row about the decadence of morals and the rottenness of the police department, city prosecutor and city judge.

The commissioner who favors "regulating" these little harmless felonies, by the way, is Mr. A. Davenport.

After having given positive instructions to enforce the sanitary ordinances and talked in a friendly unofficial manner to Reynolds and the other two young men—a friendly "unofficial talk" is better than passing a resolution or taking any action which might be construed as definite—with reference to alleged frivolous conduct of our best bootleggers and gamblers, the commission was ready to adjourn.

When called on for an opinion on the questions, our mayor stated that he believed in making it hard on the sanitary violators and he thought by all means the obstruction should be removed from Main street inside of thirty days. Regarding other matters, he could add nothing to the wisdom of the commission as a body spoken.

Dudley and Reynolds and Reynolds told the commission that they would "let the town run wide open or close it tight as a jug," according to the wishes of the mayor and commissioners.

I have an idea that these three men don't want to be made goats.

The commission heard their statement of the case and the conditions now prevailing in this city.

An hour later the word was scattered over town, "Still wide open."

Our best liquor dealers were made happy. They have been happy, prosperous and busy the last several months.

I admire the action of Flewellen, Reynolds and Dudley.

They know that "something is wrong" and they have asked, "What are you going to do about it?"

The answer of the commission is plain. The three men understand.

So do we all. A CITIZEN.

Warn Tuberculars Not to Come Here Without Finances

By Associated Press
 AUSTIN, Texas, Aug. 6.—A general warning to tubercular sufferers who might consider moving to Texas from neighboring or distant states in seeking relief from the disease is sounded in a poster being circulated throughout the nation by the Texas Public Health association.

The poster asserts that climate is only one-tenth of the cure for tuberculosis. The health seekers from outside the state are warned unless they have sufficient funds for self-support after coming to Texas, they will encounter certain hardships and increased suffering by undertaking a long railroad journey. There are no free tuberculosis hospitals for non-residents of the state, it is explained, adding that there is very little so-called "light work" to be found after their arrival from which even limited funds could be gained for their support. It is recommended to those whom the poster is addressed that they remain where they are, as proper care and treatment at home would be far more beneficial than the conditions described which they probably would be subjected to in Texas.

"It will spare many people from other states a great amount of worry and financial strain," said Dr. D. E. Broad, executive secretary of the association, "if we warn them before they start for Texas. There are many tubercular people wandering through Texas who are penniless and we have found the larger portion of them are from other states to be thrown upon the charity of citizens of this state. The problem of the indigent migratory consumptive is one we are trying hard to solve."

ITALIAN "DIPS" PREY ON CRIPPLED AT CHURCH

International News Service.
 NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—Vincent Figliara, 28 years old, a piano tuner, and Tony De Luca, 23, were arrested in the vestibule of the Church of St. Jean Baptiste on a charge of attempted grand larceny. Detectives who arrested the men said they were attempting to pick the pockets of crippled and infirm worshippers who went to the church to touch the relic of St. Anne, which is in the center of a novena there, believing the relic of St. Anne possesses the power to cure bodily ills.

De Luca was caught by a number of women, who held him until he was placed under arrest.

The detectives said that they were seated outside the church in an automobile when a man approached and asked what time the crowd would leave the church. When the detectives told him that the church would be emptied in a few minutes they said he signaled to two men, who crossed the street and took up positions in front of the church.

As the worshippers filed out, the men said the four men were to pick the pockets of the infirm. One of them was seen to take a watch from an aged man. The man was approached, but he ran and escaped.

If the women again are granted the right to touch the relic they will be compelled to pay $1.50 for tax.

FIGHTING AIRPLANE WILL TAKE PART IN U. S. RIFLE MEET, PROVIDE FIRST COMPETITIVE AERIAL SHOOTING MATCH

This is one of the two airplanes which the U. S. army air service has sent to Camp Perry, Ohio, to participate in the national rifle meet. This will provide the world's first competitive aerial shooting matches. Every developed of offense and defense device by airplanes in warfare will be demonstrated under competitive conditions, including bomb throwing from the air and stunt flying. In front is Capt. Walter Lawson and in the rear Lieut. L. D. Bradshaw, two of the four government fliers who will compete. The machine guns in front, operated by the pilot, are synchronized to fire between the propeller blades.

Donkeys Bearing Goatskins Bring Booze into Texas

CORPUS CHRISTI, Aug. 6.—While federal officers are interfering considerably with the rapidly growing liquor traffic, between the border and interior towns, it is admitted that many cargoes of whiskey, tequila and mescale, shipped from Mexico, get by. It is reported that it is increasingly easy to get "bootleg" if one is willing to pay the price, which averages around $10 a quart for mescale or tequila and twice as much for whiskey. Most of the liquor is said to be smuggled across the Rio Grande on burros' backs in goatskin containers. If capture appears imminent, one ripping stroke of a knife destroys the evidence. A puncture in the skin allows the liquor to run on the ground. Roads are being closely guarded and a number of arrests have been made recently in this district where men in automobiles were endeavoring to make their way to San Antonio with several hundred bottles each. It is customary to travel by night and hide the cars in the brush by day, removing the contraband and hiding it in a spot remote from the vehicle. For this reason any automobile remaining in the brush all day is regarded with suspicion and a watch placed on it by federal authorities, with the result that several important captures have been made. In each instance the cars and liquor were seized by the government officers and cars condemned and sold. The resulting funds are credited to the customs house collections in the district where the seizure is made.

DIVORCED HUSBAND ATTENDS WEDDING OF FORMER SPOUSE

NEW YORK.—Among the guests at the wedding of Yarrow and William Frederick Holtzman, a well-known New York broker, in Philadelphia on Tuesday, was the husband from whom she had been divorced six weeks. It was learned. The wedding itself took place at Elkton, Md., known as "Gretna Green." On returning to Philadelphia society friends celebrated the event with a dinner at the Merion Cricket Club. Among the guests was Walter Kemble Yarrow, from whom Mrs. Holtzman obtained a divorce on the ground of "cruel and barbarous treatment."

In applying for their license Holtzman gave his age as thirty-two. He said he had been divorced four years ago in the West. Mrs. Holtzman gave her age as twenty-eight.

It was said the couple probably will make New York their home, as Mr. Holtzman is a member of the brokerage firm of A. B. Leach & Co.

Walter Kemble Yarrow, the former husband, is an all around athlete. He served with distinction as an aviator during the war.

Mrs. Yarrow and Mr. Holtzman motored to Elkton Monday night and were quietly married. Tuesday morning the couple ate a wedding breakfast at the Ritz Carlton, Philadelphia.

On Tuesday night the wedding celebration was held. It was said that the former husband was also a guest at a house party given by mutual friends at the seashore just after the divorce.

GERMANS SURRENDER CANNON

STRASSBOURG, Aug. 6.—In conformity with article 145 of the Versailles treaty, the German government has surrendered the municipality of Strassbourg 36 old cannon removed from the city by the German troops in 1870.

All Ranger Bootleggers Not Educated For Ministry

"It is queer how the report becomes current that a man of my calling were not educated for the ministry," declared the bootlegger when questioned concerning the rumor that his parents with painstaking care reared him and educated him with the idea that he was to be "one of the cloth." "Sooner or later the tale is hung on us all," he added. "Why, I do not know, unless it gives the dear public a thrill to whisper one to the other, 'yonder is a bootlegger who was educated to be a preacher.' It is quite true that I have an education of parts. My father and mother by the use of cajolery, promises and the liberal application of a club put me through high school and four years at a small college but if they had any deep laid plans to have me adorn a pulpit I never discovered the secret."

The bootlegger ceased talking. He had answered the question which had been asked. He had perhaps answered the query many times before and grown weary of its trend. But to the questioner the motive which actuated such a man—educated and of good family—in choosing the calling of an illicit dealer in liquor held a gripping interest.

When asked why, he replied by saying that he was not led by evil companions, enticed or otherwise influenced in the choice of an occupation other than the desire to make big money easily, "but that illusion is long since vanished," he added.

"One earns all he gets from the profits in selling liquor illegally."

"The life is a constant never-ending vigil of watching. Watching the police and one's friends and the officers who are supposed to be 'fixed.' None can be trusted. Then it is plan and scheme, night and day, how to avoid the law. Strangers—man or woman—are regarded always with suspicion. None can tell when they will turn out to be officers. Even the very people who buy the goods are watched and examined night and day. They may at a moment's notice turn one over to the law."

No Easy Money.
 "No, my friend, bootlegging is not the way to earn easy money. There was a girl one time. The police were after me and she was my go-between. I furnished the whiskey and she delivered it. Ours was purely a business arrangement. A cop in some manner persuaded the girl to like him and promised her that there would be a wedding. She 'fell' and told the policeman all about our arrangement. But I was too wise for them, however. I had been watching and when the police came to make the arrest I was gone. The girl 'got hers' alright. The policeman threw her over and the word spread to victed. All the plans I have laid for dodging the officers have sooner or later been uncovered. It was my scheme to solder a partition in a gasoline tank of an automobile and use one side of it for liquor. That was when I was operating out of Wichita Falls into Oklahoma. I have also used the rear casing on my machine as a utensil for carrying liquor. The latest scheme I have used was to arrange the upholstery of the rear seat of the car in such a manner that it could be let down and whiskey stored behind it. All those plans, however, have been uncovered by the officers and no matter how clever we are they will uncover every other scheme we think of. Never at any time can we consider ourselves more than one or two days ahead of the officers. If one plan remains a secret too long we ourselves become suspicious of it for fear it has been discovered and the officers have kept the fact secret.

A Gay Life—But Hard.
 "It is a hard life and its only recompense is the thrills that go with it and the satisfaction that is derived from outwitting the officers of the law."

The interview was over. The questioner went his way and as he gazed back at the bootlegger he imagined he saw a look of deep suspicion in his eyes.

SHOP-LIFTERS BLAME FORTUNE TELLER'S ADVICE

International News Service.
 NEWARK, Aug. 6.—The prediction of a fortune teller, who told them they would have good luck if they went to Newark and stole things from department stores, led to the downfall of Josephine and Elsie Cantulape, 16 and 14 years old, who were arrested here by Lieutenant Joseph Farrell after he had trailed them through three department stores.

The girls said the fortune teller predicted they would not be apprehended, according to Farrell. When arrested, the police say, the girls had several pairs of stockings and undergarments concealed in their clothing.

Is Your Skin Ablaze With Fiery Itchings?

Don't Continue to Suffer Because of Wrong Treatment.
 Impurities in the blood cause millions of tiny disease germs to set up their attack on the surface of the skin, and in the form of pimples, boils, scaly eruptions and itchy, burning irritations, begin their disfiguring and destructive work. These disease germs can be reached only through the blood, and local applications have no effect whatever. That is why salves, ointments, lotions, washes and other remedies applied to the skin can do no more than give mere temporary relief. If you want genuine relief from the tortures of skin diseases, loss no time in discarding all local remedies, and begin taking S.S.S. The Times baseball flag, on top of the Guaranty Bank building, flies when the Nitros play at home and grounds are in good shape.

DAILY TIMES SPORT NEWS

The Times baseball flag, on top of the Guaranty Bank building, flies when the Nitros play at home and grounds are in good shape.

Hudspeth Sold For $1,000 Galloway Gets Two Others

By the looks of the weather at press time, the Eagles and Nitros will be able to play their scheduled two games today—the first game starting at 3 p. m.

HUDSPETH SOLD—D C 24 Manager Jim Galloway of the Ranger baseball club last night completed the deal by which Walter Salms, manager of the Wichita Falls Spudders gets Frank Hudspeth, immediate delivery, and the Nitros get $1,000. Frank left last night for Wichita Falls.

It was probably on the strength of his last showing, when he pitched a one run shut-out game against the Abilene Eagles, Wednesday, that the big collegian was sold. It was the best game he has worked for the Nitros. He held the Eagles to three hits, one an infield smash and another a drive on which Clapp got his hand. Only Segrist's two-base blow went untouched.

By the terms of the deal, on which Manager Galloway stood firmly when Salms attempted other dickers, the Nitros get $100 cash and the balance of the purchase price in ten days, if Frank makes good with the Spudders. If he does not, he returns to the Ranger club, which is $100 to the good by the trade, anyway.

Best Luck, Frank. It is hoped that the big boy gets away in the faster time, as he has much to recommend him. He has a sweeping curve and good speed, mostly derived from his arm, as he does not use his size much in getting the smoke on it. He has fair control, best displayed in the last game he worked, in which he walked none, hit but one opposing batter and won his game on eighty-one pitched balls. Sometimes he is wild and here in Ranger he has shown a tendency to become discouraged when the boys play bad ball behind him.

That sort of thing never will get him anywhere in the faster time. If he makes good, it will be because he gets in and works, regardless of the kind of support accorded him. The worthwhile pitcher does not give up when his backing cracks. He has not been one of the winningest Nitro pitchers, Lefty Adkins, Nick Carter and Chet Boyer outranking him in that respect. It is believed that if he had worked harder for Ranger, he could have won more, as he worked, for instance, when he knew the scout for the Wichita Falls club was in the stands watching.

Other Pitchers Coming. To fill the gap left by Hudspeth leaving, Manager Galloway is dickering for Sorrels, veteran National league and Texas league fliker who has wired from Houston that he is in shape and can pitch winning ball out here. Lonnie King, a youngster from down Emnis way, who looked good enough in a workout with Wichita Falls that Salms offered him a good contract, is expected to be here in a day or so. He didn't like the looks of the Spudders family, it is reported, which is not hard to understand, from rumors which come from that direction.

Red Hill is off today to Big Springs, loaned to a club out there for the day. He will pitch today and return. Galloway realizes that to go ahead, the Nitros must fill the place Hud leaves open and he is losing no time to do it.

Yesterday's rain switched the double-header and it will be played today, as a wind-up of the Abilene series. As all clubs of the league were rained out yesterday, there may be other double-headers, the only one in which Nitro fans are interested being the match at Mineral Wells, where Cisco was to open a two-day series Thursday. It is possible that the Nitros and Resorters go into a technical tie today, with two victories here and a double defeat for the Mineral Wells club.

Possibilities Today. This happy circumstance would leave the standing looking like this:

Club	Won	Lost	Pct.	Behind
Mineral Wells	22	16	.579	0
RANGER	23	17	.575	0

By winning two while the Resorters are losing one, the Nitros will gain a game and a half, this way:

Club	Won	Lost	Pct.	Behind
Mineral Wells	22	15	.595	0
Ranger	23	17	.575	1/2

If winning two while the Resorters are breaking even, if the double-header is played there, the relative standing will be:

Club	Won	Lost	Pct.	Behind
Mineral Wells	23	15	.603	0
Ranger	23	17	.575	1

All these possibilities presuppose a double victory, after a hard night. To do it, Nick Carter and Lefty Adkins probably will work, though Chet Boyer may be called on also.

Times Baseball Flag Is Altered; Now Has Seams

Since the inauguration of the Times baseball flag, on top of the Guaranty Bank building, many questions have been asked by casual visitors and those who are not close followers of the great American pastime.

"Is it a celebration?" "What transfer company does that mean?"

"Has the town gone Japanese?" There was a resemblance between the flag, as originally whittled out, by Joe Fiebrich, the well known tailor and baseball flag manufacturer, to the flag of Japan, to the national banner of the Brown boys, which is the rising sun on a white field, but the merchant marine flag, according to one world-roving salt who is now in Ranger.

There will be no confusion as to the meaning of the flag, it was hauled from its resting place on the sixth floor of the Guaranty building during the inclement weather yesterday, taken again to Joe, and the w. k. b. flag manufacturer and altered with aggressive white stripes, designed to denote the stiteling, or seams on a baseball.

They can't say the town has gone Japanese any more. To the youngest fan, the flaming emblem against a white field floating from the highest point in town when the Nitros are playing at Municipal park is the conventional representation of a baseball.

TOVREA SUCCEEDS MANAGER WALT OF PRAIRIE CLUB

At the meeting of the Prairie baseball club last night Mr. Walt resigned from the position of manager. Mr. Walt is leaving for Oklahoma for his vacation and regrets that he cannot finish the season with the team.

The team has prospered under Mr. Walt's guidance, winning seven of the ten games played since he took the management, and the treasury has grown from $30 to over $300.

H. C. Tovrea was elected to succeed Mr. Walt, and all other managers desiring to arrange games or other business can get in touch with Mr. Tovrea by calling him at the Prairie Oil and Gas offices.

The Prairie ball team is now in undisputed possession of second place, one and a half games behind the Shops, if Prairie defeats Sinclair at the Hummel grounds, they will have completed an entire circuit of the City League without losing a game, having won four straight games to date.

Red Star Hilburn Ranger District Adds $29,220,000 of Oil Annually

Jury Hung Today and Discharged
EASTLAND, Aug. 6.—The jury in the case of the Red Star Oil & Gas company vs. S. J. Hilborn could not agree after hours of deliberation and was discharged this morning.
Figured on a conservative basis the amount of wealth secured daily from oil in the Ranger-Eastland district, embracing the Desdemona district, is $80,000 a day at the present rate of production, or $29,220,000 a year.
Several millions of dollars are being spent in this district to develop new production. Including Stephens county and the Desdemona district of this county and computing on the basis of the last official report of the pipe line runs, the territory adjacent to this city is producing $288,722 worth of oil daily or a little over $140,058,530 worth of oil a year.
A tidy sum of money, at that. It would take a "right smart" of cotton to be worth that much and lots of cities with a trade territory only partly represented by the above figures, on only one item of wealth, would feel "chesty" about it.

EASTLAND, Aug. 6.—The case of the Red Star Oil & Gas company versus S. J. Hilborn et al has engrossed the attention of the district court here for the past eight days and has attracted more than usual interest because the lease sought to be canceled covered 107 acres of land, a part of the original Hilborn lease and the center of the most stirring oil development in the county at present, and also because of the "human interest" in the life of the holders of the lease. The lease in question is an offset to the Hilborn No. 2 that recently came in near Rising Star with a flow of about 2,400 barrels.

The defendants, S. J. and W. C. Hilborn, are the sons of A. S. Hilborn, a Methodist preacher. S. J. Hilborn is a Methodist preacher in the Central Texas conference, the other son is an attorney of Palatka, Fla. There was also an invalid sister whose name appeared in the lease in controversy.
Family Flood Victims.
The aged minister after leaving the circuit in Arkansas, drifted to Texas with his wife where he had two sons in the ministry, and located in Galveston, just in time to be a victim of the flood of 1900. They barely escaped with their lives and lost the small property they owned. It was at this time that the Texas son, the minister and the lawyer son of Florida devised a plan to buy a small farm for them in Eastland county near Rising Star which was considered adapted to the growing of pears and peaches.

The lawyer being better off financially, wrote to the minister to buy a small farm and send him the bill, which the minister did. The land was bought by S. J. Hilborn, intending at the time to furnish a home for his aged parents and invalid sister.
Soon after locating at Rising Star the aged mother and wife died and the old father soon followed.

At this period in the history of the case the two brothers made a contract of sale whereby S. J. Hilborn of Palatka agreed to sell to his brother in Texas the land in controversy. There was some question as to whether or not this sale was consummated and this brought rise to the question of the validity of the lease now sought to be canceled.

EARNEST NO. 6 OF SINCLAIR CO. COMPLETED FOR SHALLOW PAY
The Sinclair company has completed its Earnest No. 6, seven miles northwest of this city and just north of the county line, for 500 barrels production. Earnest No. 7, just west of No. 6, is a location. Five producing oil wells and a gas well are located on the company's Earnest lease. The sand is struck at a little less than 1,900 feet.

Tennis Fans Look to East to Tourney at Forrest Hills

International News Service. NEW YORK, Aug. 6.—Interest of the tennis world centers on the east today with the opening of the national lawn tennis singles championship tournament at Forrest Hills, L. I., only a month away, William T. Tilden II, the new world's champion, will lead a host of not luminaries from East and West to the courts of the West Side Tennis Club for this event.

Announcement by the United States Lawn Tennis Association that the team to represent America in its Davis Cup matches with Australia will be chosen after the national championship is determined, has added zest to the matches to be played at Forrest Hill. The title tournament opens Aug. 13.

Julian S. Myrick, president of the association, today confirmed reports that a new team will be selected to meet Australia at Auckland, New Zealand, late in December. "The team will be selected on the merit of players in the coming Eastern tournaments," he said. "There may be several changes. It all depends on the showing of the players."

Two East against West tournaments are also attracting interest. One for women, will be held at Forrest Hills September 9, 10 and 11, while the other, for men, is scheduled for the same dates at the Germantown Cricket Club, Philadelphia. The Pacific Coast will send a galaxy of stars east for these events.

The Sutton sisters, Miss Eleanor Tennant, all of Los Angeles, and Miss Helen Baker of San Francisco, have already been entered as the western team in the women's events. Miss Corinne Gould, of St. Louis, it is said, may displace one of the quartet, however, before the matches are played. The eastern teams will be selected after the Forrest Hills championship matches are played.

Suet O'Moore Hits Ranger, Unpacks His Opium, Cooks Up a Pill and Tells a Tale

BY RICHARD DONAHUE.

"Suet" O'Moore, adventurer extraordinary, opportunist, idealist, dreamer, soldier of fortune, scholar and fry cook of no mean merit, passed through Ranger last night. Bound eastward, Hoboken, specifically. He owns a smelly little curio shop there.

Suet's arrival was unaccompanied. No reception committee welcomed him. The police had not been notified of his coming.

During the half hour that it took the train crew to extinguish three "hot boxes" and allow the axles to cool, Suet was interviewed in one of Ranger's catch-as-catch-can eating places.

Between saucers of black coffee and generous knivesful of stewed okra and hominy, he unboomed himself and told of his adventures in the fastnesses of Honduran canebreaks during the last twelve months; particularly he told of sage Colorado Maduro, high priest of magicians in the lost Kingdom of Virgins situated near the headwaters of the uncharted River of Gout.

Yes, Yes, Go On!

He told of a land where trees are ever verdant, where the sun never gets too warm, where breezes freighted with the distilled perfume of oleander blossoms blow, where clothes are unnecessary save for adornment—a land where the fabled milk and honey become actuality and blend into a highball of human happiness. With rare powers of imagery he graphically depicted a land where the sway of womankind is supreme and man is only a beast of burden. Finally, he told of hermit adepts in the Black Arts whose edification as individuals eclipsed the aggregate intelligence of all known savants; aged patriarchs possessed of the essence of knowledge who are on flippant terms with the Fourth Dimension and the Mystery of Molecules and who frequently, in jest, cause ducks to cackle, roosters to whinny and dogs to sing with the honey-dipped notes of the nightingale. All this by merely waving the hand or projecting their will through space.

"Colorado Maduro wasn't the real name of that old beetle, the high priest," Suet explained. "Neither is there a place called the Kingdom of Virgins or the River of Gout. The names are mine. But I do depose that a nation ruled by a beauty chorus does exist there in the interior of Honduras, where man is about as important as words of warning to an upstate ploughboy with his first horse and buggy, long pants and love affair."

Suet, according to his story, found the last Kingdom of Virgins while a refugee in the jungles from the wrath of the Honduran constabulary aroused by his attempt to throttle the president's nephew when the latter failed to see the point of Suet's Ford jokes.

In Full Swing. "Soon after I arrived," Suet related, "I was appointed Keeper of the Carmine Lip Stick to her Serene Majesty Queen Lallalaloosa. I became real friendly with old Colorado Maduro soon after I lit in town. Old Father Time, the chief priest, and I became chummy. I taught him how to shoot craps and won all the sacred vessels used in the ceremonies at the temple of the great god, Putt-Putt."

I'll bet the old dominicker is still clawing the cockle-burrs in his whiskers trying to figure out how I did it.

"Through the old boy's influence I was presented at court—not the kind you mean—and the queen fell in love with me. I demurred, told her that matrimony would destroy my girlish lines and that it was impossible anyway because she did not know how to operate a dumb waiter or persuade the janitor to turn on more heat. She persisted and offered to turn the whole empire over to me so I could exploit it as a resort for tourists who seek succor from the chills of Florida in the winter and the heat of Denver in the summer time.

And Finally. "All the preparations for the wedding were made within three days, except for one thing. We didn't have a two-seated surrey. I'm on my way to the Big Town to charter one now. Then I'm going back down there and marry Lallalaloosa!

There goes my rattler now. * * * Glad I metcha again. Come down to the Kingdom of Peruna and visit us some time. The missus will be glad to see you. S'long!"

It was thus that "Suet" O'Moore left town.

Bearing the words Lusitania, a lifebelt, supposedly from the great liner which was torpedoed off Kinsale Head, Ireland, by the Germans, May 7, 1915, with the loss of 1,200 lives, was recently taken from the Delaware river, at Philadelphia. The belt was coated with seaweed and slime, and had one strap broken. It is believed that the lifebelt made a journey of more than 11,000 miles.

DEAD WAGON CARGO MADE UP OF "LIVE ONES," DISCOVERY

GREENWICH, Conn., Aug. 6.—Many of the residents of this section are much grieved because a funeral cortege was not permitted to proceed to its destination. As the hearse was passing through Seymour, a suburb, several federal agents ordered the driver to stop his horses.

Seated beside him was a man attired in clerical robes, carrying a prayer book, who protested against the agents' request that the hearse be opened. They insisted, however, and found, instead of a corpse, 500 gallons of whiskey. Both men were arrested.

ONE, TWO, TREE! NEW YORK, Aug. 7.—For pinching the dimpled knee of Miss Sadie Harrington when the lights were out in a movie, Stanley Tyburn was armer with a pruning shears and sentenced to six months labor in the city forestry without pay.

"Now try your hand at pinching limbs," the judge ruled.
