

COUNTY MAY EMPLOY FARM AND HOME DEMONSTRATION AGENT

A farm demonstration agent and a home demonstration agent will be employed and maintained in Eastland county if plans for this move can be worked out by all the chambers of commerce of the county, which will meet shortly in Cisco to consider the move. To secure the services of the agents it would be necessary for all the organizations to provide $1,800 a year. The remainder of the salaries and expenses would be paid by the A. & M. college and by the county.

In a recent visit to Eastland of Mrs. Stone, district supervisor of home county agents, and Miss Mary Jessie Stone, district supervisor of home demonstration agents, both of the Extension Service department of A. & M. college, conferred with Judge Starnes with reference to securing a county appropriation. It was understood that he was heartily in favor of the movement but suggested postponing action until fall.

It was learned from them that the A. & M. college will make an appropriation of $1,400 a year for the maintenance of a county agent, contingent on the appropriation by the county of $1,000, and an additional fund of $1,200 by the chambers of commerce to be applied partially on salary and automobile and incidental expenses, a total of $3,600 per annum, this to be divided into $3,000 salary and $600 expenses; that the A. & M. college will make an appropriation of $1,200 per annum for the maintenance of a home demonstration agent, contingent upon the appropriation by the county of $1,500 with $600 by the chambers of commerce, a total of $3,300, this to be divided as follows: $2,700 salary and $600 expenses.

This will give an operating capital for both departments of $5,900, $1,800 of this amount to be raised by the various chambers of commerce.

At the meeting to be held in Cisco an effort will probably be made to prorate the assessments of the chambers of commerce. If this is done it is thought certain that the demonstration agents will be employed.

LIGGETT AND BULLARD MADE LT. GENERALS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—The army appropriation bill, carrying $362,000,000 and providing for an army of 175,000 men instead of 150,000 voted by the House for the next fiscal year, was passed tonight by the Senate and sent to conference.

The army budget went through in less than three hours, opposition to the army increase provisions and the total increase of $31,000 made over the House bill failing to materialize.

Immediately after its passage, Senator Poindexter of Washington, Republican, moved to take up the navy appropriation bill, the last of the pending measures, but withdrew his motion when it was announced that an agreement had been made with leaders by Senator Borah of Idaho that the naval bill should wait until next week.

In passing the army measure, the Senate added an amendment requested by General Pershing providing for promotion to the grade of lieutenant general of Major Generals Hunter Liggett and Robert L. Bullard, who commanded field armies overseas.

The Senate provision increasing the size of the regular army to 175,000 was adopted after the Senate had adopted an amendment that the expenditures to be confined to the total carried in the Senate bill and operating to bar any deficiency appropriations later.

The Senate adopted an increase from $1,000,000 to $2,500,000 for education in the regular army and another amendment increasing from $350,000 to $500,000 the appropriations for Alaska roads.

A committee amendment providing for discharge upon request of men in the regular army with more than one year's honorable service was also adopted.

Nine months after the armistice was signed there were 35 per cent more women at work in the country than there were in 1914.

VAST DIAMOND DEPOSIT SOUGHT IN SOUTH AMERICAN JUNGLES

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—Two young Americans sailed from this port Friday for South America to search for a vast store of wealth supposed to lie in the "chimney" of the diamond deposits of New Guinea. At Georgetown, the capital of the British possession, they will be joined by a third adventuresome American who has outfitted in Paris.

The expedition is under the patronage of Harvard university and the Smithsonian Institute of Washington, for which it will carry on geographical explorations. William J. LaVarre, Jr., a Harvard graduate of 1919, heads the party and his fellow explorers are James MacDonald of Lima, Ohio, and Dudley Lewis of Springfield, Mass. They expect to spend more than a year in the jungle.

Hand-Pick Menagerie.

Besides an attempt to follow the scattered deposits of precious stones several hundred miles through tangled, reptile infested wilderness to their source, long known to exist somewhere in the hill country, but never discovered, the expedition will take observations of the aboriginal inhabitants and geological features of the country, as well as capture specimens of native wild animals for the Smithsonian Institute.

Before his departure on the Brazilian steamer Uberaba, Mr. LaVarre outlined details of the adventure-some project. Though still in his twenties the young explorer has accompanied three expeditions to South and Central America, including a difficult mission into the heart of the Andes.

After provisions are provided at Georgetown the expedition will board a canoe houseboat with a crew of a dozen to twenty oarsmen and laborers, and begin its journey up the Essequibo river, passing out of the area settled by white men in a few days paddling. After that it will penetrate the tropical jungle entirely on its own resources.

Investigators Sought War Files for Private Gain

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—A scandal in connection with the Graham committee's investigation of the conduct of the war is revealed in letters submitted by Secretary of War Baker to Chairman Julius Kahn of the house military affairs committee, in response to a resolution introduced a few days ago by Representative Flood of Virginia, Democrat, which asked the secretary of war for the facts regarding the refusal of the war department to grant permission to J. M. Hill and C. C. Lindsay, as representatives of the Graham committee, to inspect archives of the department.

to some Pittsburgh people to suppress it. Of course, any negotiations would have to be carried on very carefully, as you wouldn't want to lay yourself open to any charge. However, if you care to split anything over the $2,000 that you can get, I think it ought to be worth five to certain people not to have it appear.

"In case you do anything, please wire me at the above address, as it will be too late after I have handed the story over."

The investigation on which Hill based his "story" is revealed by General Churchill in his report, which said further: "The investigators, J. M. Hill and C. C. Lindsay, both of whom were at one time intimately connected with an investigation of the claims of the Valley Forging company concerning the settlement of contracts for 75mm. shells, are known to possess an interest in this investigation not wholly inspired by a desire to safeguard the public interest."

"There was discussion as to the justice of the company's claims against the government and of the action of the Pittsburgh claims board in allowing same. This resulted in considerable investigation, record of which is wholly or in part in our files. Hill and Lindsay desired to see the entire file on the subject."

The war secretary's information indicates that an effort was made to use the information for private gain. Secretary Baker wrote Mr. Kahn that Chairman Graham had upheld the refusal of the war department to permit Hill and Lindsay to examine the archives.

"Thoroughly Reliable.

Artist: I'm awfully sorry I can't pay you this month.

Landlord: But that's what you said last month.

Artist: You see, I keep my word; you can have confidence in me.—London Answers.

Brig. Gen. M. Churchill, director of military intelligence, made the following report to the war secretary upon which Mr. Baker bases the refusal of the war department to open its archives. The report in part said:

"Attached please find copy of a letter dated Oct. 11, 1919, from Mr. Hill to Mr. Lindsay. The contents of this letter alone show, in my opinion, the manifest impropriety of allowing these two gentlemen access to the files.

"It is the desire of this office to facilitate the work of the congressional committee whenever called upon to do so. In this particular case, however, it is believed that the committee should utilize the services of a more disinterested medium than either Mr. Hill or Mr. Lindsay can possibly be in view of the facts above set forth."

Cause for Wonder.

"I'm surprised to see So-and-So appointed to the department of agriculture."

"Why, he knows all about farming."

"That is what occasioned my surprise."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Letter in Case.

Mr. Hill's letter, which General Churchill inclosed, read:

"Room 802, 258 Broadway, Oct. 11, 1919.

"My Dear Lindsay: As the people in Washington are apparently not going to move in the Pittsburgh matter, I have arranged to sell the story to a New York paper. It makes a corking story and is to be played up as a sensation. I haven't quite finished it yet and will not have it ready before the middle of the week. When it appears I will send you copies.

"It has occurred to me that if this paper thinks it worth $2,000 to publish, it might be worth more than that

BALANCED JURY.

By Associated Press.

CLEVELAND, Feb. 26.—An ideal, well balanced jury would be one comprising three married women, three married men, three single women and three single men for trying criminal and civil cases, is the opinion of Common Pleas Judge A. J. Pearson.

"Such a combination would serve as a check upon certain members in a 'mixed' jury, so that justice and not mere emotional or fanciful verdicts would be given," he said.

In the "balanced" jury, he added, all the points of view of matured persons would be represented.

WHAT WEST TEXANS SAY ABOUT THE RANGER CONVENTION

Bouquets are none the less sweet because their fragrance is only enjoyed by those to whom they are given, but their mission is much greater when shared with the world.

Here are several letters or parts of letters that are in the nature of bouquets sent from different Chambers of Commerce over the state to the local body following the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention.

Because the folks of Ranger made it possible to entertain the convention in the handsome manner it did, the local organization feels that the letters are really intended for the folks of Ranger and are only addressed to the chamber as a medium of communication.

For that reason it asks that they be printed:

Whaley Says:

"It has occurred to me that from a number of standpoints the Chamber of Commerce at Ranger is getting definite results. There could seem to me to be no question but that the striking manner in which the third annual convention of our association was staged at Ranger produced, in the aftermath, a definite accomplishment. I don't think I have ever seen any convention that was better staged nor where the details had been worked out more successfully than in the convention there held, and we feel that practically all the credit for this must go to the Chamber of Commerce of Ranger. Thousands who visited your city left there not with an obsession, but with the realization of the fact that a city had been built at Ranger, which was functioning successfully in a wide variety of commercial and social ways. It was a definite accomplishment to show to these thousands that in a few years such a city could be built anywhere. No one who attended that convention left there with the idea that Ranger was but the aftermath of an oil boom; but all of them must have left there with the conclusion that Ranger was a city, equipped to handle problems of a city and with the knowledge, ingenuity, spirit and determination to conduct these activities along sane and aggressive lines.

"I had an opportunity when at Ranger, as I have had in the past, to inspect some of the plans and some of the works that your organization is engaged concerning, and it is because of my appreciation of the same that I desire to take this opportunity to state to you that I think that you have every cause to feel proud of the work of the organization and to stimulate others to a continuation of results obtained and to be obtained.

"And I desire to take this opportunity to thank you on behalf of our organization and its clientele for the many courtesies extended us in our pleasant and profitable sojourn in Ranger.

"Respectfully,
PORTER A. WHALEY,
"Manager."

No "Holdup" Here.
"Out of town business has prevented an earlier letter of thanks and appreciation from myself and our organization for the splendid entertainment given our delegation at the recent convention and for Ranger's solid vote on the last ballot. In behalf of our entire citizenship of Plainview, I offer you and your organization our sincere thanks for the many favors shown. We feel that there is now the friendliest of feeling between the great oil center, Ranger, and the agricultural center, Plainview.

"In the first place, our delegation has nothing but praise for the entertainment given by Ranger during the entire convention. We went to Ranger expecting to be 'held up' in the traditional oil town style. We received splendid service at hotels and cafes at no greater cost than in Plainview. Every business man seemed very solicitous to treat us fairly and to make us feel at home. The wearers of the 'Ask Me, I Live Here' tags were certainly a credit to Ranger. We now know—and we are letting others know—that Ranger is a REAL city, and not merely the usual boom town where money-making is the sole purpose of its citizenship. It was our observation that your Chamber of Commerce has been largely responsible for the splendid spirit of Ranger's people and for the sound business basis on which the city has been placed.

"In the second place, we want to express our sincere appreciation for Ranger coming to our rescue on the last ballot with a solid vote.

"Believe me, Mr. Peters, nothing will be too good for the Ranger delegation at Plainview in 1922.

"Very truly yours,
JNO. L. BOSWELL."

Cisco's Congratulations.

The Cisco Chamber of Commerce and the citizenship of Cisco desire to express their appreciation for the courteous treatment received at the hands of Ranger people during the convention of this week. We only await the opportunity to reciprocate.

Ranger certainly is to be congratulated on the manner in which she handled such a large convention and with such success. It shows what a people can do when united.

"Very truly yours,
CLAUDE C. WILD,
President.

I want to express my cordial thanks to you and the Chamber of Commerce of which you are the secretary, for your magnificent manner in which you entertained us at the convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce.

I want to say that you did it up "brown" in every sense of the word and it is a credit to your thriving city. My wife was certainly pleased with the manner in which she, with the other visiting ladies, were treated, and I certainly think the resolutions committee made a great mistake in not showing the appreciation of the Chamber of Commerce, officially for what the ladies of your city did do. With best regards for the continued success of your work, in every phase, I am most cordially,

H. L. WINCHELL,
Of Cisco.

A Big Surprise.

On behalf of the Big Spring delegates, I want to thank you for the courtesies extended at the convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, and to assure you that it was an enjoyable affair, and one of mutual benefit.

I believe all of the delegates went home feeling that the trip was well worth the cost, for there were several parts of the program that gave us this feeling, and I know that any who had not visited Ranger before, were surprised to see what a city had been built in so short a time. It is my belief that while the boom days of Ranger may be in the past, the permanent improvements that are in progress now will work as great change in the residence portion during the next two years, as has been made in the business district during the past two years. So a visitor in 1923 will be treated to another surprise.

I want to congratulate you on what has been done and to wish you continued success.

Yours truly,
W. W. PIN,
President.

Second Nature.

A weary wayfarer, to whose back clung the remains of an O. D. blouse decorated with a rusty red chevron, flopped down under a tree in a tight-fisted farmer's yard and proceeded to go to sleep.

"Get out of there," yelled the farmer, coming to the door with a shotgun in his hand. "Git, now, or I'll shoot."

The wayfarer stirred slightly in his slumbers and a beatific smile spread over his features.

"Shoot," he murmured happily. "You're faded."—American Legion Weekly.

SENATE DICTATION TO COMMUNITY GROUP ANGERS MISS WILSON

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—Miss Margaret Wilson, daughter of the President, assails the senate on a charge of attempting to suppress free speech. Her charges were made before the National Woman's party convention in a speech on community center activities.

District of Columbia community welfare work has been handicapped by senatorial dictation and suppression, Miss Wilson said. "One reason given in the senate for cutting our appropriation was that community centers here had been breeding unrest," she declared.

"I know of nothing that could uphold that statement, but even granting it, is if the business of congress to supervise the activities or speech of those they represent? What an outcry there would be. "It would not be a lawful proceeding, I know, and therefore impossible, but would it be more logical and reasonable for us to make rules limiting the discussions of those who are accountable to us than they should make rules for our meetings?"

TRACED BY TRAIL OF DEBTS LEFT BEHIND HIS AIRPLANE

PARIS, Feb. 26.—Two hundred and fifty emigrants bound for America arrived at Cherbourg on Nov. 17 last, to catch the steamer for New York, only to find that their tickets were forgeries. After ten days at Cherbourg they finally reached America at the expense of the American society for the protection of immigrants. The man who swindled them, according to the Paris police, has just been arrested in Hamburg, Germany. His name is Andre Florian.

The capture came after a pursuit covering most of the European capitals, in which Florian, a former aviator with a good war record, made use of an airplane while the detectives had to be content with rail and water routes.

Florian, after he was demobilized, obtained an appointment with the American society, and was entrusted with the task of purchasing tickets and housing and feeding intending emigrants. He is said to have done good work for several months.

On Nov. 15 Florian suddenly disappeared. The society officials, thinking possibly he had been murdered, requested the police to search for him. Then, in a day or two, the emigrants turned up at Cherbourg with forged tickets. The police search was intensified, as it was evident that a swindling operation involving 300,000 francs (nominally $60,000) had been carried out.

Coincident with the disappearance of Florian, a fast monoplane was missing from Billa Coublay. The next trace of Florian, according to the police, was found at Athens, where he had assumed ed the title of Count De Villaminor, saying he was the nephew of a Senator Quintones De Leon, the Spanish ambassador at Paris. He purchased diamonds to the value of 45,000 francs, which he paid for in cash, then another purchase amounting to $500,000 francs, for which he paid nothing.

About this time he came to the conclusion that Bucharest was a better residential city than Athens, and there he went. He remained there for a short time and proceeded to Vienna. A few days ago Ambassador De Leon received a telegram alleged to have been sent by a nephew in Berlin asking him to guarantee the purchase of jewelry to the amount of 700,000 marks, which was described as "a bargain."

The ambassador having no nephew dealing in jewelry, informed the police. Before they could follow up the affair, Florian, who the police say was the "nephew," left Berlin for Hamburg, where he was arrested.

CHIEF OBJECTOR TO VILLARD SPEECH IS FREED BY COURT

CINCINNATI, Feb. 26.—Herbert Seal, said to have led the crowd that stormed the rooms of the Woman's City club while Oswald Garrison Villard was speaking last Saturday, was dismissed in police court here today.

The charge was withdrawn because it was said Seal and his companions had been misled by a mistaken idea of patriotism.

CONSUL IN ORGY STAMPS CHILE'S SEAL ON WOMAN

NORFOLK, Feb. 26.—A "wild night" at the Chilean institute, Arcade building: hugs and kisses, soft cooing, and the imprint of the official seal of the Chilean government on the body of one of the young women, were described in detail in police court by officers who had peeped while the party was in progress.

The blue-linked seal of Chile was implanted squarely on the body of Mrs. Maud Farney by Consul Escobar himself, who sat on her head to prevent escape while the operation was performed, Bessie Wright told the court. Mrs. Blanche Smith, police matron, told of seeing the imprint when she undressed Mrs. Farney.

A batch of Norfolk city detectives had a "look in" on the party while it was in progress.

Encoined in a nearby window, the officers got an "eyeful" which they described vividly in court this morning. Kisses could be distinctly heard, they testified. Miss Wright and Mrs. Farney were fondly caressed by the consul, they told the court.

While the alleged offense was committed in the office of Chilean consul Escobar, the arrests were not made until the two young women had left the premises. The officers were not sure of their right to invade the rooms of a representative of a foreign government and would not run the risk of international complications.

In court this morning Mrs. Farney was fined $50 and costs. Miss Wright was held as a witness, as the prosecution asked that she be not fined.

The police claim there have been frequent parties held in the office of the Chilean consul which have been attended by well known men and women. The police have not yet taken any action toward arresting the Chilean consul. This question probably will be put up to Washington.

Detectives watching the proceedings last night claimed whisky and wine flowed freely in the room and glasses were broken during the celebration.

Bessie Wright said she happened to be present by accident, as she was passing the place and was invited in by the consul. She said the conduct of the foreign representative and Mrs. Farney was ridiculous.

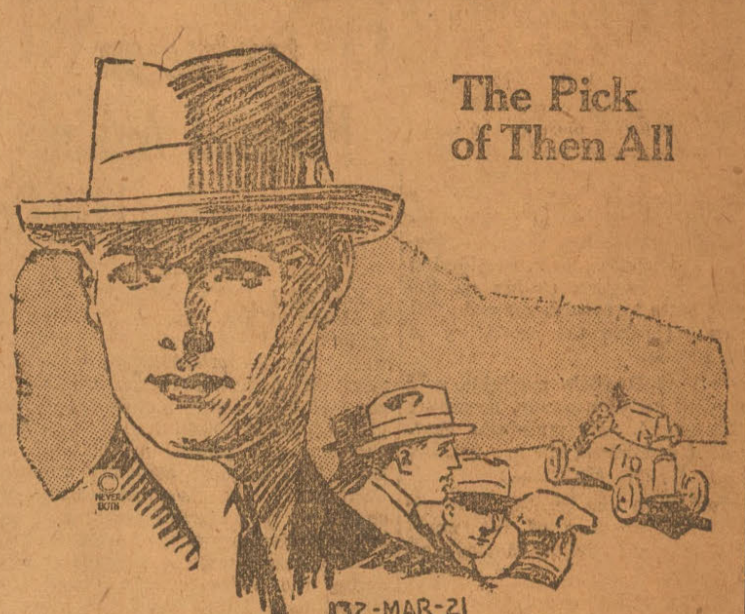

He lifted the woman's skirts, said Miss Wright, and stamped the seal of Chile on her leg several times.

Consul Escobar is well known here

"Partners of Fate." John Fraser, a young engineer, and his chum Byron Millard, a rich man's son, fall in love with Frances Lloyd and her chum Helen. They meet at an Adirondack resort. Much interest is aroused among the guests as each man has selected a woman diametrically his opposite in temperament. The four return to New York, and arrangements are made for a double wedding, when suddenly Millard's wealthy father disapproves. Fraser gets a big job on a South American railway project, and offers Millard a position. The weddings are rushed through, and all board a steamer for South America. On shipboard each man discovers that the other fellow's wife is more attractive than his own. The ship is wrecked, and in abandoning her, Fraser and Helen find themselves in the same life boat, while Millard and Frances enter another. Fraser's boat capsizes, and he swims with Helen to an island. Millard and Frances, with a rascally pursuer, Bill, an old sailor and some of the crew, land on another island. The crew draw lots for France, but she is saved by the pursuer, who wants her for himself.

Neither couple knows the fate of the other. Fraser and Helen are almost happy on their island. With tropical fruit and fish in plenty about the islands neither party suffers very much. Fraser loves Helen and knows that he has married the wrong woman; but he is a man of strict honor and builds a shelter—before which he sleeps like a watchdog every night. France being still a danger from the crew on the other island, Ol Bill saves her by stealing the party's boat and rowing her and Millard to a nearby island—in fact, the opposite side of the island on which are Fraser and Helen.

raction at the Temple theatre today, Monday and Tuesday. While it holds up to scorn the thin veneer of courtesy, the imbecility of those who imagine they can purchase honor money has seemingly made them show the reverse side of those whom they are highly effective and heartless. In dispensing with the conventional idea that rich people in search of excitement are as hopeless as they are lacking in consideration, Ouida Bergere, the authoress, advances her dream to a plane of sympathetic interest. The backgrounds are highly effective and cover a big range of the social strata, as also they afford some of the most delectable comedy hits in the lavish cabinets for cigars, liquors and perfumes in millionaire's homes.

The characterizations are striking. Most delightful of these is the impersonation of a reckless society girl by Dorothy Dickson, delightful because it is flawless as it is devoid of affection and the appearance of effort. Of rare beauty, fine poise, easy grace and a wealth of experience during her career as a dancer, Miss Dickson conducts herself as gracefully as society girls do. In addition she is blessed with a scintillating personality.

THINKS OF LOST BRIDE AND THERE SHE STANDS

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 26.—The romance of Oscar Shenderoff, dental student, which got mixed up when his father-in-law "kidnaped" his bride of a few hours, is mended again. Shenderoff married eighteen-year-old Myrtle Stewart, daughter of William Stewart, retired printer of Denver, Colo. That night her father summoned them for an interview. He urged his daughter be allowed to stay with him all night before he left to visit his son in Washington. Shenderoff says his bride finally agreed. Next day, when Shenderoff returned for his bride, she and her father had gone.

"Yesterday I could stand it no longer," Shenderoff said today. "I took a train for Washington, determined to find my wife. I telephoned several of her friends, but none of them could help me. When I got through telephoning I suspected one of the persons I called knew more than she admitted, so I determined to go to her home. I boarded a car. I looked out of the window thinking of Myrtle and wondering if I should find her. Suddenly I sat up. There on the corner, waiting for a car, as if in answer to my thoughts, was Myrtle. I rushed from that car like a crazy man. I stepped down beside her, and just then she looked up. We called a taxicab and drove to the Union Station and boarded the first train for Philadelphia."

PEACH CROP SAFE. AUSTIN, Feb. 26.—George B. Terrell, state commissioner of agriculture, has returned from East Texas where he talked with a number of fruit and truck growers in regard to the outlook for a fruit crop this season. He said that the peach crop is safe and unless a late freeze comes there will be a good fruit crop. Wesley Love of Jacksonville, Texas, one of the largest peach growers in the state, said his crop is safe so far. The tomato average in East Texas, Mr. Terrell said, will be materially increased and the cotton acreage reduced about one-third.

FEED YOUR RATS AND MAKE THEM COMFORTABLE OR THEY WILL LEAVE

By Associated Press. AUSTIN, Feb. 26.—Rats are a menace to the public health because they disseminate infectious diseases which are dangerous to man and they should be exterminated for sanitary as well as economic reasons, said Dr. Manton C. Carrick, state health officer.

"Rats are most numerous where there is an abundance of food for them and a suitable place for nesting and breeding," he said. "The starving and homeless rats will soon disappear. Existing rats should be destroyed by trapping, poisoning or by their natural enemies, the dog and cat. Rats are wary for food or eat poisoned food when other food is available. Attempts to trap or poison them often fail because the discriminating taste of the well fed rat is not taken into account. The hungry rat falls an easy victim to the trap or poisoned food. Poison for rats should never be placed in open places where it is accessible to children or domestic animals. Dr. Carrick said. "If phosphorous is used, the danger from spontaneous combustion must be kept in mind," he said.

Change in Diet.

"Baits for catching rats should be some attractive morsel which they have not been getting, as meats or green vegetables for catching rats in granaries; or seeds or grain for rats where meat is plentiful."

"Rats should not be placed in large open places, but in the narrow runways of the rats or close to a wall. The surroundings should be disturbed as little as possible. Traps must be disguised and free from odor of human hands or rats previously caught in them. Cut off the food supply of the rat by making all food storage places rat proof, with covering of wire screen or half inch mesh. Make it impossible for rats to feed on garbage and offal by keeping the garbage in tightly closed receptacles, which should be frequently emptied and kept clean. Rats should be permanently eradicated by being built out of existence. This is best done by use of concrete or cement in all construction work, screening of basements, abolition of all openings and crevices in cellars and out buildings, and replacement of plank sidewalks with concrete or cement. When concreting is impractical, resort to elevating floors to permit free access to the natural enemies of the rat. The rat, deprived of the two conditions necessary for its life—food and suitable places for nesting and breeding—cannot survive. Make every effort to cooperate with the state board of health in its efforts to eliminate the rat."

WICKED ANKLE WORTH FIFTEEN THOUSAND

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Feb. 26.—The enjoyment to be derived from dancing has a cash valuation of $15,000, a jury decided here in the case of "Tango Johnson," against the Cleveland Railway company. Johnson asserted an injury suffered in a car accident had incapacitated him for dancing for the rest of his life, and his attorneys told the jury that no amount, no matter how large, could compensate his client. The jury fixed damages at $15,000.

ROME, Feb. 26.—Signor di Saluzzo, undersecretary for foreign affairs, officially announced in the senate today the decision of the government to expel Prince Sixtus of Bourbon and Parma, brother of former Empress Zita of Austria. The expulsion was ordered because of his book entitled "Austria's Offer of a Separate Peace." Prince Sixtus, who could not be found here, is now in Paris, according to word today from the French capital.

AMERICAN IN BOLSHEVIK PRISON FRANTIC OVER WIFE, THROWN INTO DUNGEON WHEN HE LOOKS OUT

By Associated Press
BERLIN, Feb. 26.—Bolshevik methods lack all elements of decency and civilization, says M. Schwartz, California socialist and labor leader who with his wife was thrown into Bolshevik prisons in Moscow for four months after he had failed to voice approval of the Bolshevik government. His wife died of the effects of a hunger strike started while in prison, as he has made known in previous statements.

"My first two months in prison were the worst," Mr. Schwartz said after arriving in Berlin. "My wife, who could not speak a word of any language but English, was taken from me. I did not know whether she was in the same prison, or what had become of her. I could not get a word of satisfaction from any of the prison officials."

Temptation.
"There was a small peephole in the door of my cell which opened into the main corridor. This had a little slide over it and there was a sign in Russian warning the inmates of the cell that they would be placed in solitary confinement if they peeped out into the corridor."

"Many times a day footsteps passed the door. Sometimes there were light steps and I imagined women were passing. To the horror of other men in the cell with me, I occasionally moved the slide the least bit in the hope of getting a glimpse of my poor wife. I became bolder and bolder. The corridor was so dark it was difficult to recognize the people who were passing."

"Finally, in sheer desperation, I pushed the slide far back one day when light footsteps were audible. To my horror the eye of the guard almost touched mine. He opened the door and asked me if I could read Russian. I admitted I could and explained to him that my anxiety about my wife was responsible for the violation of regulations."

"I was immediately taken to a dark cell in the cellar. It was full of hungry rats. Water and sewer lines ran all around the walls and there was so much gas that I felt I was choking. I began pounding on the door but the guard warned me not to and threatened to put me into a still lower cell if I didn't keep quiet."

"At the end of three hours I was so badly overcome by the gas that I pounded on the door in desperation and asked to see the commissar who was in charge of the prison. The guard was apparently uneasy about my condition and called the commissar."

Had a Heart.

"I told the commissar my anxiety about my wife and asked him if he would not have peeped through the hole under the same condition. He was moved by my appeal and asked me if I would promise not to repeat the offense if he let me back into my old cell."

"Your may be sure, I promised, and I kept my promise. I had companions in my cell and there weren't any rats and gas there. I can't tell you how horrible it is to be confined alone. Even if one's companions have no common language, human companionship makes a cell more endurable. Solitary confinement, such as my wife endured for two months, is the most horrible punishment that can be inflicted."

"Think of a cultivated, refined American woman being treated as she was by the Bolsheviks! It is no wonder that her constitution was so undurably by her jail experiences that she died shortly after we were released. But her blood is on the hands of Lenin and Trotzky and Chlitcherin (foreign minister). She appealed to them repeatedly for a hearing and so did I. She finally effected our release by her hunger strike, but her strength was not sufficient to survive the awful agony she endured."

DIVORCES TO MOTHER AND DAUGHTER COME WITHIN HALF HOUR

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 26.—Within thirty minutes of each other, Mrs. Sarah Barr Walters and Mrs. Hazel Barr Neff, mother and daughter, both of Madison, Ill., were granted divorces in the circuit court at Edwardsville from their respective husbands, Charles Walters and Roy Neff, both of Mattoon, Ill. Decrees were by default.

Both women made the charge of cruelty. Mrs. Walters also alleged desertion and the daughter said that her life had been threatened. Mrs. Neff was a daughter by previous marriage.

The daughter alleged that Neff's acts of cruelty began the day after they were married. Within twenty-four hours after the ceremony, she testified, she had a black eye.

ONE PERFECTLY GOOD REASON WHY OCEAN STAYS SO CLOSE TO SHORE

Miss Margaret Porter of New York is about to take a joy ride on a catamaran at Palm Beach. The catamaran is a sort of a sea-going hack bound to stay right side up even in the rolling breakers. It has non-skid pontoon, demountable ears, and can take all waves on high. Perhaps, however, you will have very little if any interest for the catamaran when looking at this picture.

REDS DIDN'T RUN STEEL STRIKE, CHURCHMEN SAY

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—The steel strike of 1919 was not started by Bolsheviks, but because of long working hours, the wage situation, and like elements, according to a report made today by the Rev. Dr. John McDowell, secretary of the board of home missions. The report was discussed at the weekly meeting of Presbyterian ministers at 165 Fifth avenue.

Dr. McDowell, who was in his younger days a coal miner, said that although the commission of which he was a member had questioned employees thoroughly, it was unable to find evidence which tended to show that the strike was the effect of Bolshevism.

Dr. McDowell further asserted that in his opinion the employers and employees of the steel industry are fully capable of settling their differences themselves. He recommended the exclusion of outside influences.

Three great problems face industry, according to Dr. McDowell. The first of these is increased production, the second greater equity of distribution, and the third greater wisdom in the use of wealth.

"These can be solved only as industry is filled with the spirit of brotherhood and good will," he said.

GOVERNMENT HELPS OPIUM TRAFFIC, CHARGE IN JAPAN

TOKIO, Feb. 26.—In connection with charges concerning the sale of opium in Kwang-tung, China, several members of the Nationalist party today introduced a resolution in the house of representatives alleging that the government, in effect, has been encouraging the smuggling and secret sale of opium in Kwang-tung in violation of the international treaty.

By doing so, the resolution says, the government afforded dishonest dealers an opportunity to amass disreputable gains.

FIRST AIRPLANE SHOT DOWN IN WORLD WAR WAS BY GERMAN SOLDIER

International News Service.
PARIS, Feb. 26.—The first German airplane shot down in the World War was shot down by a young German soldier, who thought it a good joke to fire on one of his own airplanes. This fact developed during an inquiry made by a Sate-Union, Alsace, on August 15, 1914, French newspaper. A German infantryman fired on one of his own planes at lost control of the machine and crashed.

HOW EGYPTIAN NAMES CAME TO ILLINOIS TOWNS

By Associated Press
 CAIRO, Ill., Feb. 26.—An early Illinois toponym is hidden in the nickname of "Egypt" which clings to southernmost Illinois.

Inquiry as to why Egyptian names came to be interspersed in the southern part of the state with the Indian names so freely found over Illinois recalls a chapter in early Illinois history that has left its mark to this day.

While Cairo received its name because its site at the meeting of the Ohio and Mississippi reminded its settlers of the ancient city on the Nile, the angle made there by the rivers won its title because it had come in plenty when the rest of Illinois was swab with need.

Remembered Joseph.

As they turned their faces toward the south of Illinois, the needy settlers of that day remembered Joseph and his brethren, his interpretation of Pharaoh's dreams, the seven fat years and the seven lean years, and finally how all the world, including the sons of Jacob, went down into Egypt for corn.

It was in the summer of 1824 that the southern part of the state became Illinois "Egypt." Probably the best and most generally accepted story is to be found in a footnote to Davidson and Struve's "Complete History of Illinois," published in 1876.

Quoting a Mr. Roberson of Annapolis, writing in the Chicago Journal four years earlier, the history records:

"Fifty years ago, or in the summer of 1824, there was not a bushel of corn to be had in Central Illinois. My father settled that year twenty-three miles west of Springfield. We had to live for a time on venison, blackberries and milk, while the men were gone to Egypt to harvest and procure breadstuffs.

Beeswax Bought Land.

"The land we improved was surveyed that summer and afterwards bought from the government by sending beeswax down the Illinois river to St. Louis in an Indian canoe. Dressed deer skins and tanned hides were then in use, and we made our piece of cloth out of nettles instead of flax. Cotton matured well for a decade until the deep snow of 1830.

"The southern part of the state, known as Egypt, received this appellation, as here indicated, because being older, better settled and cultivated, it gathered corn as sands of the sea, and the immigration of the central part of the state, after the manner of the children of Israel in their want, went thither to buy and bring thence that they might live, and not die."

MODEL HUSBAND MUST DIG UP INCOME TAX ON 'SALARY' HE PAID WIFE

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 26.—Clarence Tattermuth boasts of being California's most modern husband. When women were granted suffrage he paid his wife a salary instead of giving her an allowance. Today he considered he had made a mistake. The income tax law is blamed.

When Tattermuth called on Colonel J. T. Flynn, of the internal revenue department, he scheduled his earnings for 1920 at $3,000. With exemptions deducted he had $40 to pay.

"Did your wife earn anything in 1920?" asked Colonel Flynn.

"Sure, she did—$1,500."

"Ah," replied the colonel. "Then you'll have to pay tax on that $1,500 also—$60 more piece."

"But that's what I paid her doing housework," said the alarmed Tattermuth. "You don't mean to say it's going to cost me $60 a year to tax"

FRISCO PREACHER DISAPPEARS WITH "SPIRITUAL" VAMPIRE

The charges of Mrs. Beatrice Wheatley alleging that her husband, the Rev. Charles A. Wheatley, of the Marine Street Spiritual church, had eloped with Mrs. Laurie Triffon, an attractive member of his church, have created a sensation in San Francisco. Mrs. Wheatley alleges that Mrs. Triffon "bargained" for her husband by means of a dialogue written in the book of a hymn book during church services, confessing love for the preacher and promising to give him a better home and more material advantages in life.

Upon investigation, following the disappearance of Rev. Wheatley, Mrs. Triffon was found at her home with her husband and three children, which added to the mystery of the alleged "elopement." Mrs. Triffon denies having written the strange love confession in the hymn book, claiming, it is said, that it must have been the "spirits" guided by the hand of Rev. Wheatley. Mrs. Triffon, finding herself in the role of "spiritual vampire," is reported that she has decided to forsake spiritualism forever.

my wife for keeping house for me, do you?"

"Sure," said Flynn. "If you paid her for work, it's your personal expense and her income. The $60 must be paid."

"I'm through with being California's modern husband," said Tattermuth. "It's too expensive. But I'll have a lot of trouble, though, when I fire Molly."

THE MODEST LEMON SHRINKS IN PRICE AS IT TRAVELS ON

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—Senator Charles S. Thomas of Colorado, Democrat, attacked a section of the annual agricultural appropriation bill today because it provided for $20,000 for a "study of the behavior of fruit during transportation."

"Private enterprise ought to do a few of these things and not lean back entirely upon the department of agriculture," he said.

"I don't know anything about the behavior of fruit during transportation except as I have watched the California lemon moving eastward across the continent to consumption."

"When it goes a little way on the road, as far as my state, or Salt Lake City, or Reno, it sells for $6 a box."

"When it goes further—to Chicago, say—it begins to behave more modestly and is worth but $5."

"When it reaches New York its modesty is heightened and its price lowered to $4."

MISSOURI'S MOST MARRIED MAN FORGOT NAMES OF SOME WIVES

POPULAR BLUFF! Mo., Feb. 26.—Events broke last within the last week for an "old duffer" who publicly admitted that he made the biggest mistake of his life when he married a "chicken."

Wednesday the eleventh wife of William L. Tillman, 79 years old, died.

Thursday he located two brothers who had been lost to him since the Civil war began.

Last night he died.

Tillman had forgotten the names of several of his eleven wives, but no one here will ever forget the "Nat Goodwin of the Ozarks."

He had but two children by his eleven wives.

Recently a newspaper published in a nearby town wished to publish a story about Tillman. The aged diver of matrimonial seas sat down with a pencil and a block of paper and chronicled his various marriages as best he could with the help of a few memories and many relatives.

Started Sweepstakes in '65.

Miss Rachel Lowry came to the post in 1865 and started the matrimonial sweepstakes with Tillman. He was 23 years old then. He had found marriage so pleasant that when she died ten years after, he entered the second heat of his hymenal derby with Miss Mary M. Canada in the same year of his first wife's death. The second wife was two years younger than her bridegroom. Here is a chart of Tillman's matrimonial history:

1. Married happily, died in 10 years.
2. Married happily, died in 20 years.
3. Adaline Cavendar, died.
4. Marguerite Parker, divorced.
5. He couldn't remember her name.
6. He couldn't remember this one's name, either.
7. Mamie Shannon was 19 when he was 58. She was the "chicken" he was the "old duffer." They were divorced.
8. Sophie T. Higgins, died.
9. Mrs. Mariette Ray, a widow, whose children made life "miserable" for her second husband.
10. Mrs. Alice Witt, died in November, 1916.
11. Mrs. Sarah Tume, who died last week at the age of 77 years.

Boasted of Few Failures.

Tillman boasted that in all his career as a love-bookmaker he had met with but few failures. He was not at all timid about conceding that "I made my greatest mistake when I, an old duffer, married a chicken in 1919."

The much-married man has lived for 30 years in his little cottage on a small farm just outside of Poplar Bluff. All his neighbors and acquaintances respected him greatly because of the devotion he manifested toward all his wives.

Recently he was asked if he would marry again if his eleventh wife died before his death.

"I certainly would," he replied.

The last Mrs. Tillman gave him a recommendation, for she spoke up at the questioner:

"He is the finest of husbands."

Tillman cultivated his crops himself and was considered by the townspeople as "well to do." It was gossiped about here that he once had slain a man whom he suspected of attempting to break up one of his nine happy homes.

CHARGES HUSBAND SOLD HER TO FAMILY BUTCHER FOR $500 LOT

Mrs. Cora Johnson of Rockford, Ill., who was "traded" by her husband, Eric Johnson, to their butcher, Berger Peterson, for a vacant lot valued at $500. The strange transfer came to light when Johnson was arrested for disorderly conduct when he attempted to retrieve his wife. Johnson had agreed to relinquish all rights to her in consideration of the transfer of the lot. Mrs. Johnson told the police. She has been living with Peterson. Peterson and Mrs. Johnson were also arrested and their story is being investigated. Mrs. Johnson says she loves Peterson and will try to get a divorce so that she may marry him.

A resolution making women eligible for state office, including that of governor, has been introduced in the Oklahoma legislature.

Hughes Gives Up $150,000 Yearly for $12,500 Job

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—Charles Evans Hughes made a big financial sacrifice to enter the Cabinet of President-elect Harding, it is apparent to those who have followed his legal work since he resigned from the Supreme court to run for the Presidency in 1916.

Hughes ranks with Elihu Root as the foremost lawyer practicing before the Supreme court and he has argued more important cases in the high tribunal in the last two years than any other private lawyer.

His income for the last year is estimated at between $150,000 and $200,000 as a minimum by a lawyer who is acquainted with Supreme court practices.

After March 4 this will drop to $12,500—the salary of a Cabinet officer.

'DEAD' HUSBAND BACK, SHE IS SUING NO. TWO

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—When husband No. 1 is not dead after all, though absent eleven years, husband No. 2 must be legally removed from the triangle.

This is the view of Mrs. Lida P. Francis, who applied to supreme court Justice Young in White Plains yesterday for an annulment of her marriage to Ernest R. Francis.

Her first husband, Winfield L. Finley, appeared in the flesh last June unexpectedly.

Mrs. Francis believes that whatever her ultimate choice she should undo the second marriage and then start from the position in which she found herself when Finley left her in 1909 after one year of married life.

She was married to Francis in December, 1917, she told the court, not having heard from Finley for eight years and believing him dead. Last June she saw him three times, whereupon she left Francis and went to live with her mother in Pleasantville.

Francis was in court yesterday apparently on excellent terms with his wife, with whom he chatted and laughed. They left the courtroom together. She told the court that Finley had expected to appear, but was detained in Auburn by the storm. Justice Young reserved decision.

SHAKEUP IN CONGRESS FORECAST NEXT SESSION

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—A change in the Republican leadership of the house may come at the opening of the special session of the new congress according to information obtained today from prominent members of the party.

There always has been a small group in the house opposing the leadership of Speaker Frederick H. Gillett and Floor Leader Frank W. Mondell, but, for the first time, it now appears that the "insurgent" movement may have a surprising strength when the new house is convened. Veteran members confess that almost anything may happen with more than 100 new members coming into the Republican ranks.

Importance is being attached to the movement for two reasons: The relations of Speaker Gillett and Floor Leader Mondell have become rather strained, it is admitted, as the result of recent incidents on the floor.

The dispute was begun about three weeks ago, when Mr. Mondell, in response to questions from the Democratic side,

MARINE OFFICER DISMISSED FROM SERVICE FOR FALSE STORIES

Capt. Edmund G. Chamberlain, who was dismissed from the United States Marine Corps as "the champion American Munchausen developed by the war," The official findings of the court-martial simply say that he was guilty of "falsification and scandalous conduct to the detriment of the naval service." Captain Chamberlain thrilled the Allied countries two years ago with stories of having shot down numbers of German planes. He had been decorated for the alleged exploits and an investigation disclosed the fact that Chamberlain's report was not based on facts.

Representative James R. Mann, Illinois, former floor leader, is saying nothing, but it appears that his influence is among the possibilities for speaker or floor leader, in the event Mr. Mondell and Mr. Gillett are defeated.

Another possibility for floor leader is Representative Nicholas Longworth, of Cincinnati, while there is much talk of Representative Joseph Walsh, of Massachusetts, and Representative Horace M. Towner, Iowa, for speaker, both being regarded as excellent parliamentarians, growing and that he must be considered.

said several bills would be called under a suspension of the rules.

The right to recognize any man with a motion to suspend the rules always has been a discretionary prerogative of the speaker and Mr. Gillett, after Mr. Mondell's speech went to the floor leader's office and criticized his statements. Later the speaker is said to have objected to the way Mr. Mondell handled several bills.

The second reason is the growing opposition to the plan instituted at the opening of this session—to have all appropriation bills framed by one committee. This took the powers of appropriation away from eight committees, comprising about 140 members of the house and the majority of them, aided by a number of others have been fighting the plan ever since it was adopted.

SAYS HE'S BANK ROBBER, BUT HE MUST PROVE IT

INDIANAPOLIS, Feb. 26.—Detectives detained Marly Palmer Haywood while they made an investigation to determine whether he is a homesick youngster or a conscious-stricken bank robber.

Haywood stopped two detectives and asked: "How would you like to catch a good bank robber?"

The officers said they wouldn't mind. "I guess I'm it," said Haywood. He told the detectives he was wanted in Statesboro, Ga., where, with two companions, he robbed a bank two weeks ago of $2,000.
