SELF-DEFENSE PLEA DENIED HUGHES

Cut in Railway Wages Is Refused

WAGE BOARD HOLDS ROADS MUST RETAIN AGREEMENT

Sudden and Sweeping Victory of Labor Men Was Surprise Even to Their Attorneys; Had Expected Delay.

International News Service. CHICAGO, Feb. 10.—Railway employees throughout the United States won a sudden and dramatic victory over the railroads here today when the United States wage board flatly refused to grant the plea of the railroads for abrogation of the national agreement and permission to reduce wages of railway workers. The decision of the board was a complete denial of all that railway executives had contended for.

The decision came as a climax to weeks of hearings and was a complete surprise to Frank Walsh, general counsel for the railroad brotherhoods, and B. M. Jewell, head of the railway department of the American Federation of Labor.

The board, holding that it could not assume jurisdiction in the plan presented in behalf of the railroads, announced through its chairman, R. M. Batton, the following conclusions:

"It is the judgment of the board, therefore, that the requests of the railway executives for the immediate abrogation of the existing rules must be and is accordingly denied.

"The board must also deny the request of the association of Railway Executives as presented by the chairman of the labor committee that much of the decision to affix wages for unskilled labor be set aside and prevailing rates of wages in the various territories served by any carrier substituted."

The decision of the board means that railways must continue to deal with employees according to rules drafted during the life of the United States railway control, and known as the national agreement. Wage scales fixed by this agreement remain in effect despite the plea of the roads that to continue the present rates of wages meant bankruptcy.

By Associated Press. DENISON, Feb. 10.—The St. Louis & San Francisco railroad today announced a reduction of wages of maintenance of way employees here from 42 cents to 25 cents an hour. Local officers of the maintenance of way brotherhood declare the cut is a violation of the national agreement.

SELF MADE MAN DEFEATS FIVE IN MAYOR'S RACE

HOUSTON, Feb. 10.—Oscar F. Holcombe, 32 years old, self-educated architect, was elected mayor of Houston over a field of five opponents, the returns of Wednesday's election has made certain.

Holcombe was born in San Antonio where his father died when he was 11 years old, leaving him the sole support of his mother and two young children. Moving the family to Houston when sixteen, young Holcombe obtained a position as an apprentice in a planing mill, studying borrowed hours at night. Later he became the head of a contracting concern and gained a reputation over the state for erecting school buildings and other structures, meanwhile gathering a comfortable fortune.

NEINAST DISLOYALTY CASE UP IN HOUSE

AUSTIN, Feb. 10.—Argument by H. J. Mathes in behalf of Representative E. J. Neimast of Washington county, charges of disloyalty consumed the entire time of the house this morning. Charges against Neimast are that he obstructed the draft and is guilty of a felony in pleading guilty in federal district court to this charge. The house committee has cleared Neimast of actual guilt but recommended that he be seated because he had been convicted of a felony.

5 PER CENT IMMIGRATION BILL APPROVED BY COMMITTEE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10.—A bill limiting immigration from any one country to 5 per cent of aliens of such country in the United States at the last census was unanimously approved today by the senate immigration committee. ### FOUR DISTRICTS TO HANDLE WORK OF W. T. CHAMBER Plainview, Abilene, Fort Worth and Del Rio Will Be Branch Headquarters.

West Texas Chamber of Commerce executives yesterday planned the districts which will in future handle the business of the chamber, under the supervision of general headquarters. This move, outlined in the Times shortly before the convention, is designed to bring the chamber into closer touch with the problems and needs of the various parts of West Texas, and is expected to secure more rapid action in remedying some conditions. There will be four districts, exact boundaries for which will be laid out at the first meeting of the board of directors.

The Plainview district will be in charge of W. K. Whipple and will comprise the Panhandle, bounded on the south and east by the cap rock line and also including extreme West Texas, around Pecos and Toyah.

Ranger District. The oil belt district will extend along the Texas & Pacific from Colorado or Midland to Ranger or Strawn, will take in Brownwood, Ballinger and San Angelo on the south and on the north will meet the Fort Worth district around Graham, probably. B. F. Bennett will have charge of this district, with headquarters at Abilene.

The Fort Worth district will take in Wichita Falls and other cities on the eastern fringe. J. E. Barrow will be in charge.

J. C. Wells, who conducted the West Texas exhibit on its northern tour, will manage the Del Rio district, which includes the entire southwestern part of the state.

W. J. Wheeler, organization manager, will supervise all districts from headquarters at Waco. Manager Whaley will maintain the Stamford headquarters.

All of the executives except Mr. Bennett left Ranger last night. Bennett will be here for several days conducting the campaign for members here. He announces that there is no intention to cover work in Ranger in supporting the organization, but feels that this city will want its proportional representation compared with other cities. To have this, around 175 memberships, will be necessary.

CONVENTION COMMITTEE THANKS FELLOW WORKERS

There is no pleasure in life that equals the joy that comes from duty well done or of some sacrifice that has meant something to someone else. Happiness never reaches us without effort on our part; it must be earned, fairly and honestly, and something given in return.

That is the reason all Ranger is happy following the adjournment of the third annual convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. It is a better city and more favorably known throughout all West Texas, because the citizens here, through their Chamber of Commerce, did their duty and made some sacrifices for the pleasure, comfort and entertainment of others.

The value to Ranger of the great newspaper publicity obtained by this convention cannot be estimated. And the newspaper publicity is only a small part of the good will beneficence obtained. By word of mouth, hundreds of people who were here will tell thousands about the kind of a city Ranger is. Many of these people came to the city expecting to find a stagnated, boom town. They

Explosion Wrecks Office of Barnes Lumber Company; Man Is Hurlled Into Street

As the result of an explosion at 9 o'clock last night, which has not yet been satisfactorily explained, the office of the Barnes Lumber Company is badly wrecked and R. H. Haverlin is wondering how he escaped alive.

Mr. Haverlin, with two friends, was in the office last night. Five minutes before they went away the fire was turned out of the gas stove. His two friends preceded him out of the building and just as he was locking the door from the outside, the explosion occurred. He was blown into the street and temporarily knocked out by the concussion but is all right today beyond being bruised.

Cuspidor Through Roof. The entire front of the office was blown out. The heavy door was splitting from its hinges and the walls of the building, which are of tile, were sprung. In the ceiling is a hole through which a man could place his shoulders, caused by a cuspidor being blown through it. Evidence on the walls show that a heavy steel safe was lifted at least a foot from the floor.

Follows Gas Line. Along the floor itself a double set of boards were crushed and broken. This damage follows the gas line and the natural supposition is that the explosion was caused by gas.

Beneath the floor is a twelve-inch space that has an air vent on the outside and just how gas could have accumulated and caused the damage cannot be explained; and if it was gas how it became ignited is another feature that has not been explained, since Mr. Haverlin is certain that no fire had existed in the building for at least five minutes before the accident happened.

The only evidence could be found that a flame existed was the singed eyebrows of the man who was locking the door and he had no remembrance of a fire.

E. J. Barnes, president of the company, supports the gas theory but like others, he is at a loss to understand how it became ignited and why it was not discovered before the explosion happened.

He estimates that the cost of repairing will be heavy since both the heavy plate glass windows in the front of the office were completely demolished and much of the office furniture wrecked.

Partition walls, it is believed, will have to come down and be replaced but the outer side walls, it is thought, are not damaged sufficiently to necessitate their rebuilding.

POLICE FORCE AGAIN REDUCED; TEN MEN NOW

The Ranger police force is now down to ten men following the reduction of the force by two men yesterday, when Patrolmen Carr and Smith were dropped under a retraining order. Carr, however, was reinstated this morning when John Ames resigned.

Under the workings of the lessened force, Assistant Chief Reynolds and Day Sergeant Daniels will help answer police calls during the day. Chief Cooper will also spend more time in the office conducting investigations. Jim Hunt will be the only regularly employed day patrolman.

During the night, the force will consist of Captain Tom Weeks, Night Sergeant Singleton and Patrolman Carr, Ingram and Daniels. John Wallace will continue as pound master with Hugh Barr as special officer.

The city commission expressed itself as believing that the reduced force would be equal to the work that needs to be done since the city has settled to normal conditions.

Until several days ago fifteen men were regularly employed.

LITTLETON IS DENIED BAIL AT EASTLAND

Slayer of Cal Yancey Will Appeal Habeas Corpus Decision.

Special to the Times. EASTLAND, Feb. 10.—"Let the defendant be remanded to jail without bail," were the words constituting the judgment of Judge Hill this afternoon at the conclusion of the habeas corpus trial of John Littleton, charged with the murder of Cal Yancey in Eastland on the night of Jan. 26.

The state introduced Sidney Webb, Johnnie Yancey, Mrs. Yancey and Dr. Carter, all eye-witnesses except Dr. Carter. The testimony showed that John Littleton that night came to the front door of the Yancey home, and that his wife, Fannie Littleton, wife of defendant, met him and invited him into the house.

Then Mr. Yancey invited Littleton to have a seat and Littleton said "No, the boys are waiting for me. I want to talk to Fannie a few minutes." Littleton and his wife went into the kitchen, which was also used as the family dining room, where they talked for about forty minutes. While in the kitchen, Littleton and his wife talked about their property and his division among them. They had separated about three weeks before.

Littleton was heard to say while in the kitchen that he intended to be satisfied before he left there.

Drew Pistol. As he turned from his wife he drew his pistol, and Fannie said "Look out, Papa," and then Littleton, opening the door, said to Yancey, who was sitting in the front room playing fox and geese with Sidney Webb, "Hold up your hands, Cal Yancey."

Littleton was standing in the door with his pistol in both hands in front of him. As Yancey was in the act of arising from his chair, Littleton shot twice in rapid succession, one shot taking effect in the left side of Yancey's head, causing him to stagger and fall inside the kitchen. As he was falling Littleton shot a third shot, which lodged in the door. Then Littleton rushed backward into the back hall and out into the back yard, still holding his pistol in hand. As he passed Johnnie Yancey at the back door steps, he said "Get out of the way, I am not after you." Yancey lived about one hour after being shot.

The defense placed Mrs. Fannie Littleton on the stand and showed that her husband gave her $25 that night while they were talking together in the kitchen.

The defense gave notice of appeal to the court of criminal appeals.

The grand jury will meet next Monday and it is expected that this will be one of the first cases presented to them.

INTERNATIONAL NEWS SERVICE

AUSTIN, Feb. 10.—George Mendell Jr., of Austin is heading the lobbyists opposed to the bill by Senator R. M. Dudley designed to exclude Japanese and other Orientals from land ownership or tenancy in Texas. Mendell broke forth today in a ten-page pamphlet severely criticizing the policy attempted by backers of the bill.

THAT'S CHARGE MADE BY AMERICAN LEGION MEN WHO SEEK EXCLUSION OF ORIENTALS.

International News Service. AUSTIN, Feb. 10.—George Mendell Jr., of Austin is heading the lobbyists opposed to the bill by Senator R. M. Dudley designed to exclude Japanese and other Orientals from land ownership or tenancy in Texas. Mendell broke forth today in a ten-page pamphlet severely criticizing the policy attempted by backers of the bill.

"If the legislature has the power to prohibit a landowner from selling or leasing his land to a certain class," begins the caption of the pamphlet, "it also has the power to compel the landowner to sell or lease his land to a class wholly obnoxious to him. This land exclusion legislation is a matter of treaty between nations and not one for legislation by a few states."

Represents Japs. Mendell admitted today that he represented the Japanese association of Texas, composed of a colony of approximately 200 Japanese residing in Harris county, with branch colonies of about 100 in Orange and Brazoria counties. He lists the names of prominent Texans who will stand sponsor for the colonies and verify their reputations as to their worth in the communities in which they reside. He demands to know why the Japanese question should be a serious one to Texas with less than 500 of the Orientals residing in the state.

"Is it right," he queries, "to drive 300 Japanese from their farms?" He then points out that the fourteenth amendment warns that "no state shall deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the law" and insists that "we find the initiative in conflict with our own constitution since it proposes a discriminatory classification of aliens, conferring upon one class the protection of the law which it denies to the other class."

The American Legion is strongly sponsoring Senator Dudley's bill and members of the legislative committee of that organization today refuted the figures used by Mendell in his pamphlet.

"The assertion of Mr. Mendell that there are not more than 500 Japanese within our borders is preposterous," a member of the committee declared today.

"That number can easily be counted in any of the larger cities of Texas alone. And the number of Japs is increasing daily."

Dollars Before Patriotism. "Corporations owning cutover timber lands in Orange, Travis and Brazoria counties are fighting the bill because they put dollars before patriotism. These corporations expect to sell their land to the Japanese. It is a mercenary matter with them—not a matter of sentimental injustice or abrogation of any clause in the constitution, as Mr. Mendell would make believe."

California's Japanese situation should offer conclusive proof to Texas Americans that it will be detrimental to our civilization to permit the establishment of Jap colonies in Texas. The damnable picture bride system used by the Japanese association of California is too barbaric for Americans. By federal agreement with Japan, Japs are not granted passports to this country unless they have a wife or husband here or are coming for some specific temporary business mission.

"The Tokio end of the Japanese association of California and Texas and every other state sends a bunch of photographs of bawdy Jap women to San Francisco, the male Japs—single—pick a bride from the bunch, having never before seen the woman and knowing nothing of her, and by Japanese law the pairs are married on paper across the sea. The wife then is able to get a passport to this country. She meets her stranger husband and they go into the child-producing business. If the woman is barren, she is returned to Japan—useless."

Those facts may seem startling, but they are true, according to information given out by Congressman Box at Washington who, with other members of congress investigated the Japanese situation in California.

Pans Mendell. "Mr. Mendell, who admits that he represents such interests as those which promote such dastardly schemes has a very poor brand of Americanism. He should get himself a queue and go into Japanese quarters."

The American Legion is going to scrap that exclusion bill through the legislature, because a majority of the people want it. We are going to put it over—some time—despite the bitter opposition offered by large corporations. We're going to show those birds who offer to sell America to the Japs that Americanism is stronger than their dollars."

MISSIS CHURCH ONCE IN FORTY-EIGHT YEARS

HAVERHILL, Mass., Feb. 10.—Andrew E. Fay has probably been to church more times than any living person in Haverhill. After forty-eight years of continual service as sexton of St. James' church he has retired. Fay's record is a remarkable one for faithfulness to duty. Only once since 1873 did Fay miss a service at the church on Sundays or holidays.

SHOOT OIL ON WATER TO CALM ANGRY WAVES

International News Service. BOSTON, Feb. 10.—Shells filled with a gallon of oil and fired at angry waves by the U. S. life guards will calm them, according to tests made by H. S. Parker, of Cohasset.

"These shells filled with a gallon of oil fired at angry waves would scatter the oil on the surface of the water. A barrage of such shells to the windward of a wreck would produce a sufficiently smooth sea to enable a lifeboat to make a safe approach from the shore to the wreck. These shells are now being tested."

DEATH PENALTY WAS NOT ASKED; JUDGE REBUKES STATE COUNSEL

Assistant District Attorney Curtis "Called" by Judge When He Sought to Impeach Defendant's Lawyers.

International News Service. DALLAS, Feb. 10.—The fate of Angelo Hughes of Breckenridge, charged with the killing of A. E. Lockhart on Nov. 16, will be in the hands of the jury about 3 o'clock this afternoon, when arguments of the prosecution have been heard. Acting on a technicality of the Texas laws, Judge Pippen ruled that neither Lockhart nor Stevens, victims of the double killing, was under arrest at the time they were shot and had the right to resist being taken into custody.

The judge refused to charge the jury on the law of self-defense.

The case will be given to the jury based on charges of manslaughter and murder and the question as to whether the shots fired caused the death of Lockhart, for which Hughes is now on trial on a murder charge.

Assistant District Attorney W. L. Curtis was rebuked by the judge for turning from the jury to the defense's counsel and trying to impeach them. C. L. Shurtliff made the first argument for the man on trial.

No request for the death penalty has been made by the state.

BOSTON, Feb. 10.—Rescue at sea of the officers and crew, 600 miles off Halifax, of the Belgian steamer Bombardier by the United States ship Mount Clay was told in a radiogram to the naval station at Otter Cliff, Maine, today. It was relayed to the Boston navy yard.

The Bombardier in distress began sending S. O. S. calls two days ago, and the Mount Clay and other steamers responded. Apparently the Mount Clay was the first to reach the side of the sinking ship.

Meanwhile the officers and crew of the Bombardier had taken to small boats and were standing near the disabled vessel which was liable to go down at any moment. The radiogram told of the rescue of the men from the boats at daylight this morning.

course it was better to get the essential supplies at any cost rather than waste time in dicker when time was worth millions of dollars and thousands of lives.

This is all true, and it was time it was said. But if the business men who made personal sacrifices in order to put the war through deserve our gratitude those who stood in the way and exacted tribute those who stole, those who grew fat on the blood of the army, ought all the more to be found out and punished. At time it was necessary for the army to pay exorbitant prices. At times it was necessary to cut through the red tape which protects (even though it also impedes) official transactions in time of peace, but it was never necessary for any business man or government employe to take advantage of the chance to steal. There was plundering and there was stealing and for the credit of men like General Dawes, who did their duty for the usual scant rewards of duty, the guilty ought to be exposed.

There would have been no news value in the investigation, said General Dawes. "if it were not for me standing around here swearing." That is true. THE WOMAN WHO SAW

How the College Girl Writes an Appeal.

"Pretty clever, I think," said the College Girl, as she handed the Woman a letter that had just arrived from the secretary of her class. "If that doesn't get a response for the Wellesley Semi-Centennial fund from every one of 1910, then the girls have lost the sense of humor and the ready response to values that used to characterize them when we were really girls."

The Woman read, and reading smiled audibly. All of the full page scold she may not reproduce for lack of space, but here are a few choice bits that are even now being coined into subscriptions for the "College Beautiful."

"Do you want Wellesley professors to be lured into plumbing? Probably plumbing would thereby grow more reasonable, but wouldn't we feel a certain something lacking in our national life?"

"With its present income the college cannot hold or attract faculty of the sort it wants. Plumbing will get them."

"Give as much as you can—at least ten per cent. of one year's income. Of course, we don't advise mortgaging the home or renting the baby, but consider all your resources. If they are many don't let modesty restrain you from giving into the thousands and getting credit with your conscience and the income tax. However, not many can dash off unrestrained checks. In that case make some money."

"Sell your unbecoming clothes or that furniture you made a mistake on. Sell your handwork, your ingenious ideas, your recipes. Burst into print, into song, into the limelight—anywhere that it pays to burst. Make 1910 and 100 per cent. synonymous."

"If that letter doesn't get a response that equals its own appeal the reader acknowledges that she knows nothing of college women."

Circumstantial Evidence.

The Three Dyed-in-the-Wool Business Women pride themselves on looking thorough New Yorkers, but pride goeth before a fall, and great was their fall. Lurching with two out-of-town business friends, they found themselves pressed for time, as one of the guests had been delayed in the mysteries of the subway, so they hailed a taxi and hurried on ahead of the guests in order that all might be ready when they arrived.

The taxi driver was not familiar with the historic spots of the financial world and knew not where the "Favara" was. However, he did know Broad street, and on being told that the Favara was at the foot of it, picked his way down that thoroughfare through the maze of curb-walkers. As the taxi trailed through the crowd one young curb-broder after another thrust a bonning face into the window and chirped "Seeing New York, girls? Sub-treasury on the left. Watch out for bomb throwers," and many another would-be witty remark directed at the "rubes." They simply had to tell the tale to the guests when they arrived, but they assured the Out-of-Towners that it was the taxi that did it, and never would they have been taken for sightseers had they been on their own feet swinging along Broad street as they did every day in the week.

Bow-wow.

It was over her very first open-air "bird," I was greatly amused to find that the father of a little girl was taking the part of the bird in the very superior it makes any of us.

"Tinker Bob" Stories by Carlisle H. Holcomb

A WORD FROM THE FOREST

Tinker Bob and Lady Duck had to be on their way or they would not arrive in the land where the feathered friends of the forest spent the winter. Tinker was very anxious to see how some of his friends lived during the winter time when there was snow and ice in the Great Land of the Forest.

Tinker was really anxious to hear a word from Major Pole Cat and Chief Porky, but there was no one who could tell him the story of the Forest Creatures unless it was the Beautiful Creature of his Desire.

He had been thinking about that very thing when Lady Duck spoke to him. Said she: "Quack, quack, I wonder what Major Pole Cat is doing tonight? It is very warm here, but I'll bet there is plenty of ice in the Great Forest just now."

This really interested Tinker Bob and at once he spoke to her: "Lady Duck, I was just thinking of that very thing myself. But I can think of no way by which I can get a word from the Land of the Forest."

There was silence for a moment while he was trying to think of a way to find out what was going on in the land from whence they came. He remembered that Old Man Experience had told him that anything he asked of the Beautiful Creature would be granted him.

But he could not see how this creature could tell him about what was going on in the Great Forest, for they were so far away and it had taken them some time to get to this place in the far South. Surely the beautiful Creature of his desire could not go back to the Forest in one night and return with the news of what was happening.

Lady Duck was not thinking any more about it because she thought it was impossible to consider such a thing, so she busied herself watching the Rats as they were following their new leader about the forest.

Tinker Bob thought he would take a

Another subway jam! The Business Girl waited on the platform for her train. She was tired and decided to wait until she could get a seat, hopeless as that seemed just then.

Around the corner came the two red jags. Men leaned over the tracks to see if it was their train. Women picked up their bundles and prepared for the attack. As the train drew up the Girl looked in anxiously, hoping that there would be an empty seat. Up and down the car she looked, then she drew back to wait for the next train.

He did tap the Stone, and then something strange happened. It wasn't so peculiar, had he only thought of it before. This is what it was.

He heard a voice speaking to him, at first he could not understand from whence it came, then suddenly it dawned upon him. It was the Moon speaking:

"I will tell you," he said, "about the things that are going on in the Forest. Everyone is happy. O Possum has kept his place and Red Fox has served as a good guard, and Major Pole Cat, with Chief Porky and Jack the Wood Ant are in the King's Palace. CALIFORNIA WINTER.

"This winter in this pleasant land, where I have pitched my moving tent, but goods like snow and sleet are banned, and frosts don't function worth a cent. Yet fogs come drifting from the deep and moors and eves are often cold, and shivers through your system creep, and all the air seems damp with mould. And then you'd like to build a fire, a good old-fashioned roaring blaze, such as all mortal scouts desire, on cold and clammy winter days. But here, where all the prospects please, and only profiteers are vile, you'll have to sit around and freeze—no man can own a cordwood pile. We buy our wood in little sacks from some distant forests came; with chunks the size of carpet tacks we feed the sad and ghastly flame. Our coal we purchase by the quart, and burning it seems quite a crime; no fire can roar and rip and snort when fed a pellet at a time. The fog overshadows this winter night, it pierces through me like a sword; my lantern's burning as I write—it's all the heat I can afford. But there are countless sunny days when everything is fine and grand, and then I take my lyre and praise the glories of this wondrous land.

Caveat Emptor Old John Hancock 925-1000ths Don't Be a Roman! Know Values

AN EDITORIAL ON ADVERTISING

The men who signed the Declaration of Independence had faith in it. Its success meant fame—its failure death. But they had faith—they identified themselves with it—they signed.

So with the manufacturer who trade-marks and advertises his goods. His trade-mark name is his signature to the pledge—"I back this article, its quality, its value, and its service to the public. I am responsible for it; the praise or blame belongs to me."

He has faith.

"Caveat Emptor!" said the Roman—"Let the buyer beware!"

"Buy by the trade-mark name!" we say today—"Let the buyer be wise!"

Today if a man makes a product that is good enough to be proud of, he trade marks and advertises it, that all the world may know him as the author. This mark is his pledge of quality—of his responsibility—of his word of honor to you that he backs his product to the limit. And if a manufacturer does these things, let the buyer be wise—let him look for the trade-mark name and buy with his money a pledged commodity.

But if a manufacturer avoids or neglects these things—if he makes and sells a product without mark, name or sponsor—"Caveat Emptor!"

The government specifies that silverware must contain 925-100 of the virgin metal before it can bear the mark "Sterling." This is for your protection.

But what of such products as tooth-brushes, hats, kitchen utensils and collars? There is no government specifications of quality there! What protection have you in buying these and the thousand other things you use in daily life?

You have the trade-mark name of established reputation.

Remember that a manufacturer's advertised trade-mark name is to an article of merchandise what a signature is to a letter. If it is a symbol with which he says—"I made this article and I'm proud of it."

An un-trade-marked article is like an anonymous letter—it may be trustworthy, but who knows? If the manufacturer knows, his trade-mark isn't there to prove it. It is a pig in a poke—a doubtful quantity.

It is for all of us to spend our money as we see fit. It is for the wisest of us to get the utmost of quality and value for our money—and in this category come the consistent purchasers of standard trade-marked goods.

An advertised, trade-marked article has the 100 per cent backing of the man who made it. If it is an established product, it is only such because it has passed the acid test of public use. If it is new, the trade-mark is the manufacturer's pledge to stand behind the article and see it make good—or make good for it. But it is his—he wants you to know it, and he tells you with his trade-mark name.

An established trade-mark name protects you. For safety and economy today buy trade-marked goods of

DIAMOND AT NEW PARK SET 'CATA-CORNER'

That Makes Right Field Longer Than If Base Lines Parallel Fence.

There will be plenty of work at the new ball park if it is completed by March 7, says Boss Allen, who is directing activities. However, that plenty of work will be done, is his declaration.

The club house and most of the fence have been re-erected at the new site. The concrete posts are ready for work of rebuilding the stand. The stand is piled up on what will be the diamond. That's where the work is "at" today. In addition to rebuilding the stand, considerable work must be done on the grounds. There is a gradual slope from centerfield to the home plate. Center field will be cut down and the infield built up. Then Sled expects to roll the new dirt down and pack it.

Right field will be short. There seems to be no question about that. The circular stand forces the home plate well out into the grounds, even when the two are crowded down together. However, by twisting the field around to the left, much of the right garden will be long enough to require a man-size wallop for clearing the wall. One advantage of this layout is that there will be no sun field this year. Possibly the first base guardian would be blinded on a long throw from left field, but even that is doubtful. A disadvantage will be that only the right end of the stand will be behind the catcher. Most of the fans will have to view the game from the home-third base side. It was either that or make a sun-field of the stand, and nobody wanted that.

Have Five Handy.

The ticket sale for the opening game—the game you're going to give five bucks to see—has been handicapped by Good Roads and conventions and things like that, but it will be on in full blast next week, the directors say, so keep the five-spot handy. Incidentally, the new park is going to have a new name, and it is likely that the fans themselves will select it. Think of a good one, but keep it mum, because there may be a prize attached.

About this ticket sale now, if you haven't already heard: Last year the park was too far out. Cost a dollar to ride. Lots of times you wanted to go but didn't on that account, or if you went anyway you missed a little about it. To make baseball a community affair, the club's backers decided the park must be moved. That would cost several thousand dollars. The directors had already put in several thousand without hope of return, or if they have hope, it's as faint as the milky way.

The Nitro rooters would like to do it, someone suggested to them. "They'll be glad to pay $5 for a ticket to the opening game. Seven hundred of them can pay the expense. They'll think it's a good investment, let alone helping the club."

The board thought they would. So, as said above, have the five-spot handy.

TAD'S TID-BITS

An Australian Heavy of Promise.
NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—Sporting writers in Australia are hoping that Jim Roland, a new heavyweight novice, advances as much in the future as he has in the past with his ring work.

Roland, whose real name is Dwyer, has won three of four contests down there and has shown great promise. Billy Shadé watched him at a benefit performance one evening recently and was favorably impressed with the big fellow's work.

It would stimulate boxing greatly if Australia could step out with a first-class heavyweight a year or so from now. They haven't had one since they gave away watches with boys' suits, and you know that was many years ago.

A fellow has to skip quite a bunch of years before he can name the day that a good Australian heavy set his foot upon these shores.

They sent us the cream of the crop seven or eight years ago, but the cream was cream cheese. Bill Squires and Bill Lang were the two canvas kissers we piped at.

Before that they sent over a boatload that will never be forgotten.

That party consisted of Peter Jackson, Bob Fitzsimmons, Frank Slavin, Joe Goddard (the barrier champion), and Jim Hall.

Australia has, of course, always had little men who were masters of the padded mitts, but we haven't seen a star in any of the smaller classes lately either.

Lew Edwards came over here and was knocked kicking by Ritchie Mitchell. He was looked upon as a world-beater, at that.

To bad they can't dig up some of the birds that we saw in the 90's, such as George Dawson, Billy Murphy, Young Griffo and Abe Willis.

Below we reprint a clipping from the Sydney Referee. You will notice that the sporting editor, W. F. Corbett (W. F. C.) comment on the rabbit punch:

Jack Feneley penned this: Reading your comment of Jack Green's defeat at the hands of Criqui through terrific up-pereuts and jolts to the head, justifies my reminding you of Vince Blackburn's exhibition with Criqui. Cannot grasp why our boxers are so impetuous in boring in against Criqui. He, using good tact, does very little leading. A strict referee should pull him on the rabbit-killing punches he uses in close work. (Why? the blow is not barred.—W. F. C.) Godfrey, with his long leads, should gauge Criqui's powers. He is the only

'MEMPHIS PLAN' EXPECTED TO CUT COTTON CROP 50 PER CENT

Draft: Plan Decided Upon By Growers, Business Interests and Bankers of South to Limit Acreage to About One-Half That of Last Year.

International News Service.
MEMPHIS, Tenn., Feb. 10.—Probably the greatest reduction in acreage and production of cotton in the history of the Memphis region will be made this year, according to the best informed agricultural experts in this portion of the cotton states.

Under the "Memphis Plan" for reduction of production, it is proposed that acreage shall be cut 50 per cent this year. While even the most hopeful do not expect such a great reduction, the more conservative believe that a 20 or 25 per cent reduction will have been written in the records when picking time rolls around.

The "Memphis Plan" is a plan adopted a few weeks ago by a mass meeting of representative growers, business interests and bankers of all cotton growing states. Similar plans have been adopted in other "lean years" for the cotton grower, but the Memphis plan has "teeth" that other plans of other years did not have. Just how effective the teeth will work remains to be seen. Indications point to their being fairly efficient.

Operate on Credit Basis.

It is an undisputed and deplorable fact that cotton planters operate on a credit basis. In the spring their bankers "stake" them to sufficient funds to put in a crop. That means money to buy seed, pay overhead expenses and many times, running expenses. In the fall when cotton is picked, ginned and baled and then marketed, the banker is paid back. In the following spring the round robin of credits starts again. The cotton farmer operates that way. If he has an exceptionally good year, as he did in 1919, for instance, the extra money goes for luxuries such as automobiles, nicer homes, nicer furniture, and so on. No one blames him especially.

The banker consequently holds the key to the situation in most instances. If the banker does not give the cotton planter sufficient money on which to operate it puts the planter in an "awful mess." And that is where the "teeth" of the Memphis Plan of cotton acreage reduction comes in. The plan proposes that the farmer who does not cut down his cotton acreage will be denied credit by his banker.

Little Foreign Consumption.

It is estimated that there is enough unspun cotton on hand now to run the world for two years. Great hopes of foreign consumption were knocked into a cocked hat by the exchange situation, which made a bale of cotton cost so much in Europe that it entered the class of luxuries. The "shortage" of three or four or five years during the war was considerably overestimated, too. It was figured that Germany, for instance, would need lots of cotton and take lots of cotton. But Germany did not and has not.

Like all farm products, cotton took a terrific slump in price. On the other hand, the 1920 crop was put in when cotton was very high and no expense was spared in planting it, for everyone believed there would be continued good prices. It cost between 30 and 35 cents to produce a pound of cotton which now has a market value of 15 cents or less. The South consequently is burdened with a terrific loss running into millions of dollars. It cannot produce another great crop of cotton and prevent going flat broke. Reduction campaigns consequently are pointing out the seriousness of the situation.

TRADE DRIVES GOTHAM'S '400' FROM AVENUE

By Associated Press

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—Stealthy, but steady, advances by tradesmen, covering a period of more than 20 years, have virtually broken the residential exclusiveness of Fifth avenue, known the world over as the home precinct of the Vanderbilts, Carnegies, Harrimans, Plants, Fricks and other wealthy families.

One by one mansions which housed international personages and gave to Fifth avenue much of its glitter and fame are surrendering to the commercial enterprise and the rich are seeking homes in new "exclusive" parts of the city. Real estate men, who have watched with interest this aggression of trade, say that another decade will have wiped out the last bit of residential exclusiveness in the avenue.

The change in Fifth avenue was reflected in the recent purchase of property bordering the East river at Fifty-eighth street by Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt Sr., where she intends to build a home in a section known as Sutton square. This bit of property is directly across from Blackwell's Island where, a city prison is located and is almost underneath the Manhattan approach to the Queensboro bridge. Real estate men expect that Mrs. Vanderbilt's migration to the East river will mean a new exclusive district in a part of the city where near-slums existed before.

Mrs. Vanderbilt, who a few years back, helped to make Fifth avenue history with her brilliant social activities, said when she purchased the East river property that Fifth avenue had "lost its residential atmosphere, which was its most valuable charm." Traffic and crowds, resulting from the trade invasion, she said, had taken away its exclusiveness.

The fight to "save" Fifth avenue has been waged since the late 90's, when real estate men began to get options on property near the magnificent mansions. Members of the Vanderbilt family and others owning homes there expended millions of dollars in buying up property in an effort to stem the tide.

Much of this property was purchased at exorbitant figures and after a lapse of years has fallen back for business use, hotels, banking houses, jewelry stores, millinery and fine tailoring establish-

BEING AN ELOPING NEWLYWED SAVES YOUNG MAN FROM JAIL

Because he had eloped on Jan. 28, written his new wife a card from Houston on Feb. 2 and sent telegrams from other Texas points on Feb. 4-5, Grover Sapp probably was saved from being bound over to the grand jury yesterday on a charge of passing a forged instrument.

On Feb. 3 or 4, someone passed a check to W. B. Palmer for $10, drawn in favor of J. H. Andrews and signed by C. Miller, by whom Sapp has been employed for the past six months. The check was on the First National bank, where Miller said he had never had an account. Palmer cashed the check and his description of the man who gave it to him fitted Sapp, who was arrested and charged with passing a forged instrument.

The case came up for examining trial yesterday before Judge Roger Fenlaw. The new bride was there in defense of her husband, as were twenty or thirty of their friends.

On to Houston.

The evidence was that Sapp and Miss Lilon Griffith ran away to be married Jan. 28. On the 31st they were married in Fort Worth. She returned home and he went to Houston and other points. On Feb. 2, 3 and 4 he wrote the card and two telegrams, arriving home Feb. 6. He was arrested Tuesday, Feb. 8. The name signed to the card was identical with the signature he made in the court room.

Mr. Palmer in his testimony said that if Sapp was not the man who gave him the check he closely resembled him. He also said that the man who gave it to him stated at the time that he had worked for Mr. Miller.

Judge Fenlaw ruled that the evidence was conclusive that Sapp was not guilty, and therefore he was discharged. Fenlaw was promptly given an ovation by the crowd and thanked personally by the defendant, his young wife and Sam Washoff, who appeared for Sapp.

CHICAGO, Feb. 10.—Decay and loss of teeth is due to the habit of rapid eating prevalent among the American people, Dr. Wallace Holcomb, of Toronto, Canada, told delegates attending the National Dental society convention.

Nature provided that chewing was one of the greatest benefits for teeth preservation, Dr. Holcomb said. He asserted that every morsel of food before being swallowed should be chewed once for every tooth in the head.

SAULE WAS FRIENDLY, BUT SUSPICIOUS; AND SO WAS CHECK WRITER

Saule Perlestein has the inbred caution of his race. Saule also is a good business man and likes to make sales—but being cautious, he looks upon the tender of a check with a great deal of suspicion. Like other Ranger merchants, he has bought quite a little of this class of experience.

Yesterday a customer came forward, and being duly recommended by a friend, wanted to make a little purchase and pass a check. Mr. Perlestein turned him over to Julius, who sold him $3 worth of goods and took a check made out for $15. Julius passed the document to the boss, who in turn started for the bank upon which it was drawn.

When he had disappeared, the customer made an excuse to get to the back of the store. He was told that he might go but the goods would stay on the counter until the cash on the check was returned. He went and did not come back.

When Perlestein came back he still had the check but it was marked across its face "No Funds."

forty-one injuries resulted from fires during January, G. W. Tilley, state fire marshal, announced today.

GIRLS IMPORTED FROM ARMENIA TO BE SOLD AS BRIDES

Left: Naomi Selvein, Hanarach Zafranzian and Arasag Seodia, three of the last cargo of girls brought from Armenia to be brides of rich Armenian fruit growers in California. The practice of importing the girls and selling them to the highest bidders was disclosed to a California District attorney by one of the fruit growers, who claimed his offer for one of the girls was accepted, but later she was sold to another man at a higher figure.

SWAPPING FEVER OUTBREAK IS SIGN THAT SPRING IS HERE

BY ERNEST W. SPARKS.

The first true harbinger of spring—one that never fails—was noted yesterday. It had none of the poetry of the first whistle of the blue bird, the woodsman's sign. In fact, it was prosaic. Yet it was a first breath of the coming season.

Two men, George Hemmingson and Mr. Pitcock, made a "swap," involving one hen and a rooster of royal lineage and one pig of no less royal blood. The trade was put through by Charles Moore and refereed by Colonel R. R. Nelms. The battle of wits was staged in the water-works office.

Said Mr. Hemmingson: "I have a pig that is eating me out of house and home. He has cost me $3 already and I must get rid of him." (Those of the ent know that this was a leader for an offer to swap—notice the small price of the feed bill.)

"I have a white Plymouth Rock rooster that cost me $25 and a hen with which he has been mated that I would like to sell," said Mr. Pitcock. (Notice the price put on the rooster.)

Enter Mr. Moore: "How much do you want for your pig?" he asked Mr. Hemmingson. George answered that he hardly knew. The same question was put to Mr. Pitcock. The answer was the same.

"Well, your prices are the same. Why don't you swap?" said the middleman. And they did.

It was the approaching season that put the trading feeling in their blood. All those in the know will tell you that. A little later a close observer will note pigeons, pigs, bantams, rabbits and shrews being transferred back and forth between homeowners, and jack knives, agate taws, twine strings, pieces of glass, iron and brass, passing from one small boy to another. These things are true harbingers of spring, but it is considered advisable to get the weather man's sanction before the "heavies" are exchanged for B. V. D's—the truest sign that spring has come.

SPIKER MARRIAGE UPSETS 'MORALISTS,' PROVES SUCCESS

BALTIMORE, Md., Feb. 10.—The celebrated Spiker marriage experiment is a success. This announcement was made by Mrs. Guy Spiker, the English girl who married the brother of her baby's father.

"We are living happily together," she declared to the United Press today. "Our first year of married life has been a joy, and next Sunday we will celebrate our first anniversary with a family dinner."

Those present at this dinner will include Perley Spiker, father of Mrs. Guy Spiker's child, and his own wife, Coza Spiker, who welcomed her husband's affinity into her home.

A year ago Emily Knowles arrived from London carrying a baby in her arms. She said that Perley Spiker had lived with her in Europe while he was serving in the American Aviation corps. Immigration authorities detained her.

Guy Spiker, brother of Perley, said he would marry the girl and adopt the baby. Mrs. Perley Spiker said she would forgive her husband and the girl and take the latter into her home with her baby.

Under this agreement Miss Knowles was admitted to the United States and was married to Guy Spiker. It was predicted the experiment would fail.

Mrs. Ralph Smith, a member of the British Columbia legislature, will be given a cabinet position, probably that of minister of education.

FORDSON

The Ford Motor Company have just issued a book called "The Fordson at Work." This book is given free. Call in and get one. If you cannot call, write and we will mail you one without charge. It is out what the Ford Motor Company says about the Fordson Tractor but what the army of users have to say. This book voices the hardest kind of practical experience. It shows in illustration the Fordson Tractor at actual work along some ninety different lines of activity. It shows in these illustrations the wonderful versatility and utility of the Fordson Tractor. Shows it to be, beyond all question, the one bit of machinery that is a necessity, not only on the farm but along many lines of commercial business; especially does it show up the Fordson as a valuable servant on the farm. With it the farmer is relieved of the hard work; because he can take advantage of the weather in preparing his seed bed; he can do it at the right time; the same is true when it comes to harvesting. It solves, to a great extent, the problem of scarcity of labor.

With its wonderful, reliable power, it brings to the farm home all the conveniences, in the way of running water in the house, electric lights, operation of the washing machine, churning, separating the cream from the milk; it assumes and takes to itself the drudgery of farm life both in the field and in the house and it is only a matter of a few years until it will be as universal in its service on the farm as is the farmer himself. It will become a part of farm life; a beneficial part; a profitable part. Get order in for there's a rush coming.
