Home Town Talk by Betty

It makes our hearts sad and pains our pride to hear some of the expressions going the rounds of Big Spring football fans.

Last year when the Steers were chasing across touchdowns so rapidly you could hardly keep a record of them—oh, boy that was a wonderful team. Those were wonderful boys, wonderful coaches. The weather was fair.

Now, when we have a club that really needs encouragement to help it reach the stride that it most certainly can reach, we find that a goodly portion of those erstwhile loyal fans were just fair weather fans—fair weather friends don't amount to much; they're not worth much.

The club of last season could have gotten along all right if it had ever given it any encouragement. This year we have wonderful material that is improving rapidly. The Amarillo coach the other day accorded the team the compliment of being a wonderful defensive club against his highly-touted eleven. But, if you listen long up and down Main street right here in the Steers' home town you'd almost come to believe the Steers really don't live in Big Spring!

That sort of spirit toward a football team gives us a pain of the sort that we imagine a fellow has as he rushes for the rail the first day out on his first ocean voyage.

We've watched many a football outfit in this country out here, and listen here, if these lifer-neck fans and so-called sportsmen will change their tunes and learn what loyalty really means this year's Steer club will do things before the season ends that will cause some mighty big upsets.

Here's the thing. The kind of talk that is being engaged in around here just takes for granted that the Steers haven't got a look in. When such a feeling is expressed a spirit of that kind comes to pervade the whole town and it gets into the club. The boys get a feeling "well, we're not supposed to do anything, nobody will be disappointed."

As far as we're concerned this football team of ours is due every year of our support and encouragement all the time, whether it wins all its games or loses all of them. The boys are being taught their football well. Now, the spirit is right what they'll get a long way. But, if they become afflicted with the kind of stuff a lot of people right here in their home town are putting out they won't get anywhere.

We can all have a lot of fun again this season if we will, but a lot of guys are doing their best perhaps unwittingly, to queer the fun.

And, Red Sheidan & Co. may look insurmountable to you, but we're not willing to concede a thing. Seen too many of these early season hurricanes fore down to gentle zephyrs, and vice versa.

MURDER PLOT

Decks of San Marcos, which were found in the trunk of the car, were found in the trunk of the car. The trunk was found in the trunk of the car. The trunk was found in the trunk of the car.

Moutray had been sent to the penitentiary from a robbery in 1926. He was pardoned in 1926 by Governor M. M. Ferguson. He was finally arrested several months ago in Tulsa, Okla., and returned to the Ector County jail.

Mrs. Decks received a letter from Mr. and Mrs. Miller of Thayer, Kan. Moutray had been sent to the penitentiary with Miller. The letter asked that Moutray's trunk be shipped to them at Thayer, Kan.

Moutray says that a woman planned the robbery and that another man whom he had known in the penitentiary killed Poland and that he (Moutray) was not present at the time of the crime. Moutray says that his companion had been in McCamey about a month before the slaying occurred and that the man who was given to him by McCamey was a woman named Captain Wright.

Officers to Washington: Ranger Captain W. L. Wright and Jim Rooney left this week for Dallas, Texas, where they claim Roger Thompson, former convict, on a grand jury indictment in 11th district court in Pecos county.

He said their plan in hope was as follows: The woman and Poland were to leave the Walker hotel at seven o'clock the morning of March 22, 1930, and head toward Lubbock, and that Moutray's companion in Moutray's car were to follow the pair and rob them on the road.

been staying at the Roberts, did as he was scheduled, drove to the Walker, picked up the woman and started north. Moutray said that he and his companion drove down to the Walker, that they saw a porter bring the woman's baggage out, place it in Poland's car and Poland drove off. Moutray said he got out and did not see his companion again until about two o'clock when he met him at the Guaranty Bank corner, Chalmers and Twelfth. Before he saw his companion he saw the woman in the case with a bundle in her arm walking down the street.

How Many Shots: Moutray lacks any information to the number of times that Poland had been shot and did not know what became of Poland's gun. The car with the dead body in the back end stayed parked on the street two hours until Moutray and his companion decided to go to the Pecos, driving about 175 miles.

Little Money: He said that his companion swore that the murdered man had little money in his possession, but those who know Poland declare that his hidden pockets were perhaps filled with greenbacks and that in burning his clothes on the banks of the Pecos they also burned a good deal of money.

Sir Basil Zarahoff, Anglo-Greek Multimillionaire, Enters Insull Case Via Series Of Cablegrams

By HARRISON SALISBURY

United Press Staff Correspondent CHICAGO — The international melodrama that has followed the billion dollar crash of the utilities kingdom of Samuel Insull deepened today when the shadowy figure of Sir Basil Zarahoff, wealthy and mysterious Anglo-Greek financier, entered the picture.

What part this latest revelation will play in the complicated story of the sensational collapse of the house of Insull in America's greatest commercial failure was yet unknown.

The name of Zarahoff entered the widespread Insull investigation in a manner typical of the little-known European who has been credited with being one of the half dozen wealthiest men in the world.

White police were detaining the worn and aged Insull in Athens, Greece, where he had sought refuge from criminal indictments returned against him here, four coded telegrams were placed before the Cook county grand jury.

It was thought possible Zarahoff's great influence, if exercised in Insull's behalf with the Greek government, might enable the Chicagoan to delay or avoid extradition from the Mediterranean country.

Whether an appeal was made to Zarahoff, however, was not revealed.

Chicago Secret testimony that indicated Samuel Insull, Sr., received $500,000 a year in salary from his utilities empire was made public today.

The testimony was given in chambers before Federal Judge Walter C. Lindley last July at a hearing to determine how much Edward N. Ripley and Charles A. McCulloch should receive as receivers for the Middle West Utilities company.

Present besides Judge Lindley and court aides were Oliver E. McCormick, vice-president and treasurer of Middle West; David A. Crawford, Pullman company official; Elias Strawn, Chicago attorney; other Chicago business men.

McCormick said he understood that Insull Sr.'s salary totaled $500,000. Salaries of other officials of Insull companies, according to the testimony, were: Martin J. Insull, president of Middle West, $100,000 a year; Samuel Insull, Jr., (past time executive) $100,000; Harry Reid, president of the National Electric Power company, $50,000; Walter S. Whelan, president of New England Public Service company, Augusta, Maine, $54,000; Marshall E. Sapp, president of two Illinois operating companies, $55,000; McCormick, $14,000.

The council's action followed a district court decision Monday which denied the Lone Star's plea for an injunction to block the municipal ownership plan.

French Authorities Asked To Help Find Samuel Insull, Fallen Utility Magnate, Search Is Futile In Italy

PARIS (AP)—The American embassy handed the French foreign office a request Saturday for provisional arrest and detention of Samuel Insull, pending proceedings to take him to Chicago on a writ of extradition to face indictments there.

The embassy received a cable request for his arrest from the United States Friday night. The embassy said Insull was now in Italy but that his exact whereabouts was not known.

ROME (AP)—Search of hotels in principal cities of Italy failed Saturday to reveal trace of Samuel Insull and his son, Samuel Jr., reported to have left Turin two days ago.

Italian police received no formal instructions, but after it was learned Washington had asked Paris to arrest the elder Insull pending extradition proceedings, authorities were on the lookout.

The United States embassy received no request to initiate extradition action.

747,898 Barrels Per Day Allowed; Order Effective October 15

AUSTIN (AP)—The railroad commission Monday issued orders reducing oil allowances for Texas fields by 117,000 barrels under average daily production for October.

The new orders are effective October 15. Production of the East Texas field will be cut to 335,000 barrels daily. The new per well allowance for East Texas, effective October 15, is 40 barrels.

Under the new schedule total allowable production of all Texas fields will be 747,898 barrels, not including marginal well production. The commission also cancelled all exemption to proration allowable in Panhandle fields.

AUSTIN (AP)—New allowances for West Texas fields included the new state-wide proration schedule, issued Monday by the railroad commission, effective October 15, fix the daily allowable of the Howard-Glassecock field at 12,500 barrels, a reduction of 2,500 barrels daily from the present allowable.

Other allowances included: Panhandle 55,000 barrels; North Texas, 45,000 barrels; West Central, Texas, 21,500 barrels; Yates pool, 35,000 barrels; Winkler county, 23,000 barrels; Ector county, 4,000 barrels; Crane county, 12,700 barrels.

Bobby Clarke Wins Decision Cutrell Badly Whipped In Spite Of Weight Advantage

Bobby Clarke, Sweetwater, overlocked a twenty-three pound weight advantage, took the offensive all the way, and slashed Red Cutrell to ribbons in the main event on the Casino boxing program Thursday night, winning by a technical knockout when Cutrell's seconds tossed in the towel at the end of the fifth.

The black-haired Sweetwater batter took four of the first five rounds and easily gained a draw in the other. In the fifth Cutrell was sent to the canvas twice, once for a count of eight, and was still down when the bell rang.

Kid Whittington, Wellington, and Red McEnty, Snyder, staged another of their hair-raising battles in the semi-final, with neither holding a distinct advantage over the six round bout. Whittington held a small margin on points but it is doubtful if his superiority was enough to justify giving him a decision.

The Herald scoreboard gave Whittington three rounds, McEnty two and one a draw.

Kid Moore, matched with the winner of the Whittington-McEnty affair sometime in the near future, went through three rounds against Shade McEnty in an exhibition.

Bud Holland, the Jones Valley Terror, took a three round battle from "Too Tall" Fields in the preliminary, displaying considerable improvement over his two previous showings. The Black Knight finally found an opponent in Al Moore but was not disposed to give it.

Texas Topics

By Raymond Brooks

AUSTIN—Courts all over Texas will show huge dockets of hundreds of pending cases, as the question comes up of abolishing 23 of the trial courts and spreading out the districts of others.

It should be shown, too that from 85 to 95 per cent of the cases are dormant and will never be tried.

A similar test was made in a Central Texas district court two years ago. There were over 800 cases on the docket. During the preceding 12 months, 18 cases had been tried. Lawyers said of the 800 it was doubtful whether over 15 or 20 ever would be tried.

Yet most of those 800 will appear on the docket now, when the question of redistricting courts comes up.

The average is approximately 70 cases each for the courts except those in large cities; and also for a good many of the big cities that have numerous courts.

Take the incomprehensible conflicting election laws. Courts have extreme difficulty of determining what they mean, and great difficulty in constructing them not to deprive someone of the benefit of the law.

One common-sense lawmaker, if alone, probably would work out a sensible, reasonable system. With two, one would have some radical idea to put in; with three, one would want to cover some particular condition he knew about; and with 180, it seems impossible to write election laws—any kind of laws—that are reasonable, simple, certain, effective.

Why should not the combined intelligence of a legislature readily create a simple registration system, in which all who vote are recorded on lists, showing to what party they belong, or that they belong to any party. That would solve questions of illegal exemptions and of voter bolting. It would deprive no party of its rights, and no candidate of assurance of any means of determining legality of any election result.

But maybe, we expect too much of the legislature, based on its records in such things as pension, fee and election enactments, not to mention conservation and tax remission.

Observers at the capitol foresee, no matter what way the litigation goes, foresaw a possible appeal of the election contest to the new legislature, meeting in January next before a governor is to be inaugurated for the new term.

The contest before the legislature, they believed, was as likely from one side as another. It is based on the assumption that court orders, short of a final judgment in the lengthy contest suit based on evidence, may substantially affect the outcome of the election.

There will be no appeal to the legislature if the contest suit is finally decided, appealed and settled before election day.

These observers, who are freely speaking, foresee that if the legislature were ready within 40 days to make its decision, that Lieut. Gov. Edgar Witt, when sworn in for his second term, would be acting governor until the decision had been reached.

But this is pure speculation, compounding one set of possibilities upon another set of possibilities.

El Paso Customs Collector Warns On Tariff Removal

EL PASO (UP)—El Paso and southwestern cattle raisers will be "ruined" if the democrats remove the tariff against Mexican cattle, El Paso collector Manuel B. Otero said today.

He described as "correct" a statement by President Hoover in Des Moines that there are two million cattle in northern Mexico seeking a market in Mexico at $2.20 a hundred pounds and $1.50 in the United States, with "only a tariff wall between."

Otero said ranchers would be getting much lower prices now if it were not for the tariff.

"Next month we will have 26,000 head coming through here from the Heart, Palomas and other ranches in Chihuahua," Otero said. "We shall collect about $20,000 in duties on them."

"Mexico has cheap labor, and plenty of grass. Even with the tariff, Mexican ranchers probably are better off than those on this side."

The present tariff is two and one-half cents a pound up to 700 pounds, and three cents over 700 pounds. There are 240,000 head of cattle in the northern district of Chihuahua, state officials in Juarez said. The average price in Mexico is $2 a hundred pounds, compared to a price of approximately $5 on this side of the river, cattlemen said. Cattle in North Chihuahua are distributed as follows: Bahiara Heart ranch, 40,000 head; La Palomas ranch, 40,000 head; other large ranches, 100,000 head; small herds, 60,000.

Westbrook To Hold Second Annual Fair

WESTBROOK—Westbrook's second annual community fair is to be held on Friday and Saturday, October 21 and 22, members of the executive committee announced last week.

This thriving community, embracing some of the best farm and ranch sections of Mitchell county and claiming the only commercial oil field in the county, needs such universal satisfaction of its first fair held a year ago that the annual program is being recognized as permanent.

Persons residing in western section of the county are extended an urgent invitation to lend full cooperation with officials in making the fair a success. Field crops, foods, vegetables, jewelry, antiques, and any other products desired for exhibition. Individual farm and community displays are to be featured. The oil industry, too, is expected to be reflected in exhibits shown for the two days.

Another interesting feature is expected in the educational department. Here the Westbrook and Latin schools are to vie one against the other in competitive exhibits that should easily be accepted as among the interesting features at the fair.

Committees recently announced to direct program for the two days follow: Executive, C. S. Lambert, Mack Surber and E. H. Patterson; Amusements, Ira D. Linderdale and Vicki Hofter; agriculture, W. T. Brooks and J. N. Calloway; culture and arts, Mrs. J. E. Skelton; textiles, antiques and curios, Mrs. Coy Castleman; school exhibit, Miss Cora Ott.

Hopes of another oil field for the Sweetwater territory faded when orders were received by drillers on the Mid-Kansas Oil & Gas company's No. 1 C. J. Henry to plug immediately after a hole full of salt water was struck at 4,007 feet.

The well, located about two miles southeast of Blackwell just over the Nolan County line, encountered oil show at 3942 feet, where quite a bit of oil was swabbed and placed in storage, and which for a few days was thought to be capable of commercial production. Considerable showing of gas was also encountered and a gas trap was erected in the belief that there might be commercial possibilities.

Legion Post Will Promote Child Work

Local Child Welfare Chairman Unusually Experienced In Work

Roy V. Whaley, recently appointed Child Welfare chairman of the American Legion post here, made a short talk at its last meeting in which he outlined briefly the Child Welfare program and work for the coming year.

Having served as chairman of Child Welfare committee of the Arkansas State Department for more than three years and being the first man recommended by the National Child Welfare Committee of Indianapolis, Indiana, for scholarship and training in New York school for Social Service work, and having had other special training, Mr. Whaley is well qualified to handle such work in Big Spring and vicinity. He also served at one time with the American Red Cross in tornado relief work in south Arkansas.

Mr. Whaley called attention in his talk to the fact that something should be done immediately toward cutting weeds throughout the city—more especially in the lowlands as it is there that many of the underprivileged children live.

He suggested that every one, both men and women, who give a meal to a transient have him first weeds on a vacant lot nearby if they have none about their own place.

At an point out many lots that haven't been cut this year," Mr. Whaley stated, "and I realized that this is the problem of the health officer and city officials. But due to the heavy and continued rains the weeds are becoming a menace. Unless something is done about them Big Spring will be plagued with mosquitoes."

Mr. Whaley is interested in the welfare of the children of ex-servicemen first, but will be glad to help in any case of an underprivileged or crippled child. He will be glad to co-operate at all times with any other welfare organization. He is now working out a plan whereby every underprivileged child in the city can have a week of fun in the City Park next summer. Children of parents who do not own cars will have an opportunity to visit and play in the park and swimming in the wading pool, which was built by the Kiwanians.

This is only one of many interesting and helpful phases of work planned by the American Legion and its auxiliary for the coming year.

Republicans Seek Candidate For N. Y. Mayor

NEW YORK (UP)—A strong flavor of national politics entered the New York mayoralty campaign today when republican leaders here are looking for a candidate to run against John Patrick O'Brien, choice of a reunited Tammany.

The republicans want a man strong enough to offset O'Brien's suave and shrewd Franklin D. Roosevelt's presidential candidacy in New York and surrounding states. They want a man who can help President Hoover carry the Tammany-controlled democrats of New York last night who believed to have leased the breach between the democratic factions in New York when non-Tammany forces led by Roosevelt and Alfred E. Smith gained control of the state convention. The choice of O'Brien also united Tammany's disoriented allies behind John F. Curry, chief of the wigwag.

Highway 9 Bond Quota Is Muddled

County Commissioner Tells Of Conditions

George White, county commissioner of precinct 3, back from Austin where he conferred with state officials on the matter of highway bond assumption in Howard county, said Friday he was confident matters would be easily adjusted concerning highway 9.

Highway 9 presents a different picture, according to White, who several years ago, part of the Galt road was also given a new coat. This was included under a blanket contract for along with highway 9. Also labor was picked from farmers and teamsters, and not done by contract, he explained.

At the state comptroller's office, White said suggestions were offered which may aid in adjusting the No. 9 figure. He said state officials were friendly in their attitude toward the county.

White searched out records on file in Austin which will be used here in submitting Howard county claims for relief under a recently enacted highway bond assumption bill. He had photostatic copies made and forwarded here.

"It is largely a proposition of submitting and having them check and approve our figures. No one can say just how much that will be," said White regarding the amount Howard county would likely be entitled to.

Miss Cauble Dies Of Burns

Popular Daughter Of Well-Known Family To Be Buried Tuesday

GLADYS ALLEN CAUBLE, 22, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James P. Cauble of Elbow, died at a local hospital at 4 a. m. Monday from burns received late Saturday morning at her home when flaming gasoline was sprayed upon her clothing from an iron.

Funeral services for Miss Cauble, a popular young woman, member of one of the county's best known families, will be held from the Charles Eberly chapel at 4 p. m. Tuesday with Rev. R. E. Day, pastor of the First Baptist church of Elbow, officiating.

Dorothy Cauble, 20, only sister of Gladys, was in a hospital Monday. She collapsed Sunday night from grief over her sister's suffering and from her own suffering from severe burns to her hands inflicted as she sought to extinguish her sister's burning clothing. She was informed late Monday morning of her sister's death.

Gladys Cauble was born in Big Spring. She is survived by her parents, her sister, Dorothy, three brothers, Buster, Barker and Donald, her paternal grandfather, J. M. Williams of San Angelo, and a number of uncles and aunts. Her mother, Mrs. J. M. Williams, before her marriage, also is a native of this county.

Two of her mother's sisters, Mrs. J. H. Barker of Houston and Mrs. Brooks Sullivan of Big Spring, will be here for the funeral, as well as a number of members of her father's family.

Funeral Arrangement Pending Arrival Of Mother-In-Law

Funeral services for Mrs. P. N. (Nex) Allen, 22, who died in a local hospital at 3 a. m. Sunday from complications following major surgery performed more than a week ago, were being delayed pending arrival of the mother of Mr. Allen from her home in Hopewell, New Jersey. She was expected to arrive here Tuesday morning, having started Monday train trip a few hours before her daughter-in-law's death.

Mrs. Allen, who was reared in Big Spring, was before her marriage Miss Edith Jacks. She is survived by her husband and a son, about three years of age, and by her father and several brothers, residing here.

The body of Mrs. Allen is in state at the Charles Eberly Funeral Home. Sunday and Monday scores of friends called there and at the Allen home in West End to offer condolence to Mr. Allen and their small son.

Edith Allen, as she was familiarly known following her marriage, counted her friends by the hundred. Men and women old and young, of almost every walk of life, Sunday were heard throughout the city expressing their personal sorrow over her death. Her condition had been satisfactory for several days following the operation, which was itself successful. Complications of acute nature arising from conditions until then not known caused her death. She was 22 years of age Friday, having been born October 7, 1910.
