PRESIDENT HARDING TAKING OATH OF OFFICE

WAGES SLASHED BY 2 LARGEST PACKING FIRMS

Swift and Armour Name Radical Cut Affecting 35,000 Workers in Chicago Alone.

International News Service, CHICAGO, March 8.—Wages of employees of the two largest packing establishments in the United States—Armour & Co. and Swift & Co.—will be reduced effective March 14, according to official announcement made today. Workers who are paid by the hour will be asked to accept a cut of 8 cents an hour, while those paid by piece work will be reduced approximately 12½ cents. The basic eight-hour day also will be eliminated in the Armour and Swift plants. The move affects the plants of Swift and Armour throughout the entire country. In Chicago alone approximately 35,000 workers are concerned.

FRANCIS PRESENTS WINE TO REPORTERS; IT'S IN PETROGRAD

WASHINGTON, March 8.—“Our Dave” Francis of Missouri, St. Louis, Washington and late of Petrograd, loosened up a bit yesterday and won three rousing cheers from the journalistic entourage at the White House when the Russian ambassador appeared there to offer his resignation for the fifth time. He knew most of the “boys” of old and they exchanged warm greetings. It was then that the ambassador let slip a hole or two in his belt. “If you fellows,” said he, “can fix it up with Volstead, I own 200 bottles of champagne which I will turn over to your custody and discretionary use.” Three more rousing cheers.

“But,” continued the rare humorist, “you will have to go to Petrograd to get it. I left it there.” Volsteadian gloom. Francis abandoned not only the wine, but a Ford automobile and a sleigh. He said he sold the span of horses which went with the sleigh for 2,000 rubles, or about $20 in real money. Francis has drawn no pay for this post since April, 1919, but has been deterred from resigning, he said, by the fear of the state department in the past that his resignation would be considered as indicating a disagreement with the government's Russian policy, or open the way to a discussion over the recognition of the Soviet government.

WOLF OF WALL STREET TAKEN BACK TO PRISON

NEW YORK, March 8.—David Lamm, known as “the Wolf of Wall Street,” must serve one year in the Trenton (N.J.) penitentiary for conspiracy to restrain foreign trade and commerce during the war, Federal Justice Manton ruled yesterday. Lamm had claimed that a previous sentence imposed by him in the federal penitentiary at Atlanta, Ga., for impersonating a public official, covered the penalty of the second crime. Lamm was taken in custody by United States Marshal L. E. Casper, and will start the second year immediately. Lamm was accused of conspiring with other agents to foment strikes and other labor troubles in factories making war supplies for the allied nations. He was tried in 1917 while still serving his sentence at Atlanta. Justice Cushman, who sentenced Lamm, specified that the second sentence would begin at the expiration of the first. After the second conviction had been sustained by the United States supreme court Lamm sued out a writ claiming that Justice Cushman's sentence ran concurrently with the first.

DEDUCT C. OF C. DUES FROM INCOME RETURN

Uncle Sam has ruled that Chambers of Commerce are a necessary business expense, and thus dues to them are exempt from income tax payments, according to a bulletin of the United States Chamber of Commerce, received by the local organization. They are deductible in making up the income tax return, if the dues are paid in advance. MISSOURI COIN BILL PASSED. WASHINGTON, March 8.—The House last night passed the bill authorizing the director of the mint to strike a 50-cent coin in commemoration of the one hundredth anniversary of the entrance of the state of Missouri into the Union. The bill now goes to the President.

THREE RHINE CITIES OF IMPORTANCE ARE UNDER ALLIED FLAGS

Ebert Counsels Calmness, While German Cabinet, in Midnight Session, Reported Solidly Behind Simons' Rejection of Demands.

BY NEWTON C. PARKE, International News Service Staff Correspondent.

PARIS, March 8.—Allied troops—French, British and Belgian—advanced on the Rhine today and occupied three important German industrial and coal mining cities, Dusseldorf, Duisburg and Ruhrort. Word was received from Cologne at 1 o'clock this afternoon that the military occupation of the three cities had been completed without incident. The Germans made no resistance although sniping was reported from some districts. United States troops took no part in the military operations. They remained within their old lines in the Coblenz district. Dusseldorf was occupied by French, British and Belgian detachments. Duisburg and Ruhrort were taken over by French and Belgian troops, cavalry, infantry and air forces all participated. Strict measures have been taken in the newly occupied zones to prevent disorder. The German civil authorities have appealed to the populace to remain calm. Belgium sent a regiment of her crack grenadiers into Germany but the French government announced that only a few French reinforcements would be ordered to the front, and that no new classes would be called to the colors. The cabinet held a brief session this morning to canvass the situation.

TROOPS OCCUPY HISTORIC CITY OF DUSSELDORF

Armies of France, England and Belgium File By Silent Crowds of Stolid Germans.

WITH THE ALLIED ARMIES OF OCCUPATION, DUSSELDORF, by special cable to the International News Service, March 8.—Three thousand French, British and Belgian troops held this ancient and historic German city this afternoon. More troops continue to arrive although the population is calm and has shown no signs of hostility. The first contingent of infantry marched in at 6 o'clock this morning and began taking up stations along strategic streets and upon the bridges. There was no excitement. The populace flocked to the streets but the people only stood in silence while the troops filed by. All the allied troops in the city are under command of a French general.

“BE CALM,” EBERT URGES.

BERLIN, March 8.—President Ebert has appealed to the German nation to remain calm in the face of the allied advance from the Rhine. The German cabinet held a session at midnight. It was reported that Dr. Walter Simons, the foreign minister, was to be upheld entirely for his course at London in rejecting the allied demand for 226,000,000,000 gold marks indemnity.

GERMANS WILL NOT RESIST OCCUPATION

By Associated Press. BERLIN, March 8.—In a proclamation addressed to “Fellow Citizens,” President Ebert today said: “Our opponents in the world war have imposed upon us unheard-of demands, impossible of fulfillment; for money, and a contract which even the work of a generation would not have sufficed to accomplish. We must not and cannot comply with it; our honor and self-respect forbid. Our opponents are advancing to the occupation of more German territory, which is an open breach of the treaty of Versailles. We, however, are not in a position to oppose force with force. We are defenseless. Nevertheless, we can cry out to all who still recognize the voice of righteousness may hear: ‘TWO MEN'S STORES Open This Week Next New Hotel’

Two Men's Stores Open This Week Next New Hotel

The two store rooms on either side of the entrance to the new Gibson hotel are almost completed and will be occupied by the Popular store on the west side and by the Hub Clothing company on the east. It is expected that both stores will be in operation within a week. The fixtures of the Popular are beginning to arrive and will be placed shortly. This store is being moved from its present location on Austin street. The Hub Clothing company is a new concern headed by Jack Russell. Each is preparing to carry a complete line of men's wear. PAINTED SERVANT GIRLS NOT BARRED IN JOLIET. JOLIET, Ill., March 8.—Rouge, lipstick and half-hose are no barriers to applicants for positions as housemaids, according to Mrs. Catherine Langdon, in charge of the woman's division of the Illinois employment bureau here. “Maid who rouge their cheeks, paint their lips, roll their silk stockings and have their eyebrows plucked find places as rapidly as to the some bowered girls of yesterday,” declared Mrs. Langdon. “Although reports have reached us that the housewives have said they would rather get along without help than employ these dolled up beauties, we have no complaint from those who have placed. The girl who cannot only cook attractively but look attractive is a welcome addition to Joliet homes, and the good wages paid here are often an inducement to adorn herself and make the most of her charms.”

CHINESE CRAFT DESTROYED, 860 LIVES ARE LOST

International News Service. LONDON, March 8.—Eight hundred and sixty Chinese lost their lives when the steamship Hong Ho was wrecked near Swatow, says a dispatch from Singapore today. The Hong Ho, which hailed from Singapore, was en route from that port to Amoy, with 1,100 Chinese on board. A British destroyer and cruiser rescued 240 of the Chinese, but there were no other survivors. HAD $2,000; DIDN'T KNOW IT. By Associated Press. ANN ARBOR, Mich., March 8.—Howard Fellows of Lyons, N. Y., engineering student at the University of Michigan, was $2,000 richer today through discovery of two $1,000 diamonds in a pair of ball earrings that he offered to a local jeweler for $6. When the jeweler opened them and found the diamonds he volunteered to give the student $2,000. Fellows had carried the earrings for several months as pocket pieces.

MAN HELD IN FT. WORTH MAY BE KIDNAPPER

FORT WORTH, March 8. Police have taken into custody and are holding for further investigation a man giving the name of Randolph B. Talmadge, between 45 and 50 years old, said to answer in some particulars the description given by Irene White of Leary of the man who captured her last Thursday and held her a prisoner for thirty-six hours. The man claims to be the owner of two automobiles, one a Ford, at the Breckenridge garage at Breckenridge, and the other a Haynes which he says is in Ellisville. He also says he has been in Ranger recently, and that he was until a short time ago operating service cars between Breckenridge and Ranger. While nothing of a definite character has been elicited by the police here that would connect the man with the kidnaping affair, his account of himself has been declared unsatisfactory, and the authorities at Ranger and Breckenridge will be asked to supply all the information in their possession which may tend to throw additional light on the man and his recent movements. Chief Reynolds, when informed of the Fort Worth arrest, said it is his intention to determine whether the man held in that city is known to the Ranger police, or can in any way be identified as a suspicious character.

Harding Outlines Plans To Meet Nations Half Way for World Peace

Executive Would Scrap Excessive Armament on 50-50 Basis, Not Leaving America Unprepared. International News Service. WASHINGTON, March 8.—“Approximate disarmament” will be the proffer of President Harding for world peace. The phrase was carefully chosen by the president as he stood upon the threshold of the main doorway of the White House today. The president stressed the adjective “approximate” with special emphasis as, bareheaded and smiling, he faced the newspaper correspondents pressing him for a commitment on disarmament. The reflection he bestowed upon it left no doubt as to his meaning. What he said was brief and pointed, but in an instant he conjured up the American nation unwilling to be disarmed or unprepared for defense, but willing to join with other nations in abolishing excessive armament. Republican leaders of congress were still rolling away in well polished illuminations from the brilliantly illuminated portico as the president frankly discussed the long conference he had with them since early evening. There had been no differences of opinion between the Republican leaders with whom he had conferred at dinner and afterwards.

POLITICS QUIET AWAITS RALLY TOMORROW NIGHT

Whether Ranger will observe the Health week clean-up proclaimed by Governor Neff to begin next Sunday is up to the various organizations of the city. Manager Peters of the Chamber of Commerce has written various civic bodies and citizens, including the board of directors, teachers, secretaries of lodges, trades unions, the Bar association, the Medical society, the Apparel club, the 1290 club and Mothers' club, asking their opinions as to whether a clean-up should be attempted. The letter points out that summer is coming on and the sanitary conditions in certain sections. A copy of the governor's proclamation is inclosed, and each organization is asked if it believes there should be a clean-up and pledge help in it. If a sufficient number will pledge this help, the chamber offers. Under the governor's proclamation, each day has a specific mission, as follows: Sunday—Health Sunday. Monday—Home sanitation day. Tuesday—Rat eradication day. Wednesday—Fly and mosquito extermination day. Thursday—Child welfare day. Saturday—General cleanup day. ANTIDOTES ON IT! PARIS, March 8.—Questioned in the Chamber of Deputies today if it were true that M. Jusserand, the French ambassador at Washington, had abolished French wines from the embassy table, M. Doumer, the finance minister, replied: “Our ambassador is no good a Frenchman; he has too good taste to bar from his table the best wines in the world. “I am satisfied he can make Americans understand that it is a good thing to fight alcohol. But French wine is an antidote for alcoholism.”

U. S. NOT IN TOUCH WITH ALLIES' ACTION

International News Service. WASHINGTON, March 8.—The United States has received no official notification from the Allies of the action taken in occupying German territory it was announced to the state department today. Thus far, this government has had to depend upon press dispatches and reports from diplomatic officers as to the allied purpose in the occupation of German territory.

WATER POWER GRANT TO FORD OPENS WAY FOR HUGE PROJECT

TROY, N. Y., March 8.—The approval by the State Land board of a grant of fifteen acres of land under water above and below the Federal dam at Troy and the granting on Monday by the Federal Power commission at Washington of a license to Henry Ford to develop water power at the Troy dam opens the way for the Ford $10,000,000 project on Green Island, opposite this city. The plans approved by the Federal commission's engineers call for a hydroelectric plant and equipment, costing $250,000, on which William G. Licking of Detroit, Ford's attorney, said, the contractors, Stone & Webster of New York, will start at once. The Fords have announced plans for an industrial and residential development at an estimated cost of $750,000 on 150 acres of land on Green Island, purchased in August, 1918. Ford has visited the site at the head of navigation on the Hudson river several times and expressed enthusiasm at the opportunity for the manufacture and direct shipment abroad of his tractors and other motor products.

POOR NOT KICKING AGAINST DRY LAW, DR. ELIOT THINKS

BOSTON, March 8.—President-elect Charles W. Eliot of Harvard told a legislative committee today the well-to-do class rather than the laboring class complained about prohibition. He then told of the result of drinking at the annual banquets of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery company. # PARIS PUZZLED BY MYSTERY IN TRUNK MURDER

Writer of Passionate Poems Creates Doubt By Veiled Hints of Husband's Death.

PARIS, MARCH 8.—A new angle has developed in the Bessarabo trunk mystery involving Madame Bessarabo, a leader in Parisian literary circles and the author of several passionate novels and poems, who is accused of having killed her husband and dispatching the body in a trunk to Nancy. While not specifically denying either guilt or complicity in the crime, the novelist has created an atmosphere of doubt by veiled suggestions that the crime may have been committed by a third person actuated by a spirit of revenge. But when this was recited before Judge Bonin the criminal investigator, it was merely taken as an effort by the woman to shield her daughter, who is accused of helping to conceal the crime.

Mme. Bessarabo's recent appearance before the court further mystified the prosecutors, however, the woman insisting that her life with Bessarabo was marked by constant struggles because he indulged in what she believed to be extensive espionage on behalf of either the German or Austrian governments. The writer contends she discovered the plans of giant airplanes which were destined to destroy some island and therefore could not have been directed against Germany. Moreover, Bessarabo was educated in Vienna and spoke German better than French, which made her believe he had served as an enemy spy in France, but instead of denouncing him during the war she persuaded him finally to destroy incriminating documents.

Social World Follows Case.
On the day that Bessarabo met his death she insists that she helped him pack the airplane plans into a trunk and that together they accompanied it to the station on the way to Nancy. But at the last moment they discovered that the keys were missing and Bessarabo returned home with the trunk to bind it in an effort to insure greater secrecy. An hour later the trunk was returned to the station platform, but it contained Bessarabo's body instead of the airplane plans which incidentally the police have been unable to locate.

Further complicating the case is the suggestion of Mme. Bessarabo that her husband had experienced difficulty not only in business affairs, which thousands of dollars were due him of the construction of warehouses at Boulogne early last year, but also with several mistresses. A letter of one of these which was intercepted contained a threat of revenge "if the horrible situation was not ameliorated immediately." Mme. Bessarabo's husband really was named Wessman. He was a dealer extensively in oil stocks in Mexico, where the novelist met him after the death of her first husband, Jacques, under suspicious circumstances.

The Paris social world, which is following the case keenly, is divided into two distinct factions, but all concede that the woman's presentation of the case with the mystifying details, all of which can either be proved or disproved, has been managed with such dramatic technique that there is serious doubt whether a jury will ever be found that will render a verdict of guilty.

EARTH-COMET CRASH SET FOR LATE JUNE. CALLED OFF FOR GOOD

SAN JOSE, March 8.—Now it looks like the "world's greatest display of fireworks" isn't going to happen at all.

It was scheduled for June 29, at which time Professor Comellin of London predicted that the comet Pons-Winnecke would strike the earth.

American patriots appealed to the astronomers at Santa Clara University and the Mt. Hamilton Observatory for a postponement until the evening of July 4, but word has come back that the fireworks are all off. That is, the observers say, Pons-Winnecke isn't going to strike the earth. It is headed this way all right, but friction will burn it up before it gets this far, is the judgment of the Santa Clara experts. Professor Comellin's statement characterized as "absurd" and "foolish."

BRECKENRIDGE WILL SOON HAVE SUPPLY OF WATER

CRYSTAL FALLS, March 8.—Laying of pipe for the water line from the Clear Fork to Breckenridge to supply the needs there is proceeding rapidly. A 16-inch main from the river to Hubbard creek and a 12-inch main from there on to the city, and the adding of more than four feet to the Magnolia dam across the river here, making it an eight-foot dam, are comprehended in the new Breckenridge project. The Magnolia lake here backs water up stream for more than a mile.

SAYS PRICES OF DIAMONDS WILL NEVER BE CHEAPER

NEW ORLEANS, March 8.—Diamonds, according to the statement of Sir Ernest Oppenheimer, representing diamond syndicates in Africa, will never be cheaper. Sir Ernest Oppenheimer is now touring the country, and stopped here for a few days.

The diamond mines of Africa furnish over 70 per cent of the diamonds bought in the United States, and because of the high cost of labor and the paucity of the mines the price of diamonds will stay at its present level.

He claims that some dealers are selling diamonds cheaper because they are overstocked, but when they will have to replenish their stock they will pay a much higher price.

JURYWOMEN TO PROTEST USE OF ANKLE CURTAIN

ALBANY, March 8.—Urging the right of women to sit on juries, Mary Wood, representing the State Federation of Women's clubs told the assembly judiciary committee today that women of this state do not want ankle curtains for women juries.

"New York women do not ask that green curtains be strung around the jury box to hide their ankles, as a jury in Ohio demanded," said Miss Wood, "nor would such things as being locked up overnight, serving four months at a stretch or being compelled to sit in murder cases keep women out of the jury box. Women have by their service on juries in other states shown their fitness for this duty," declared Miss Wood. She insisted women of this state be given the same privilege.

The enactment of the Donohue bill, providing for women juries, was advocated by twelve women. No one opposed it. Pauline Field, president of the criminal bar association of New York, led the speakers in favor of it. Sheriff David H. Knott of New York, supporting the appeal of the women, said:

"It is impossible to get intelligent juries to fill panels in New York county today. With the empanelling of women this situation would be remedied."

GIRL NEEDS SUM OF TEN THOUSAND EACH YEAR, COURT AGREES

NEW YORK, March 8.—Suzanne Foley has agreed with Mrs. Elsie G. Latham, widow of John C. Latham, that an eighteen-year-old girl needs $10,000 a year for her education and maintenance.

Mrs. Latham, who applied on behalf of her daughter Alice, said her late husband, who was a member of the banking firm of Latham, Alexander & Co. of 16 Wall street, left his daughter a trust fund of $200,000. Under the will the girl could only enjoy the income from this fund until she reached the age of thirty-five. Under a court order $4,000 a year was granted her.

To prove her contention that the $4,000 was not sufficient Mrs. Latham submitted the following list of contemplated expenses for the coming year:

- For traveling expenses to Europe $5,000.
  - For tuition and incidentals, $2,500.
  - For vocal training, $500.
  - For instrumental training, $500.
  - For fur coat and other wearing apparel, $4,000.
  - For traveling expenses, here, $2,000.
- Mrs. Latham explained that the bulk of her husband's estate went to charity and that the residue was hardly large enough to permit adequate maintenance of her daughter.

IT'S "DANCE, WOMEN AND SONG" SINCE PROHIBITION HIT CHICAGO

International News Service.
CHICAGO, March 8.—Prohibition has made dances more naughty, according to a report of the Juvenile Protective association, which asserts that more objectionable dances are now being danced than ever before. The "law of compensation" was the way the matter was explained. The report says:

"In 1916-17 at 60 per cent of the dances immoral dancing was permitted. This year objectionable dancing was reported at over 70 per cent of the places inspected."

"Extreme dancing and jazz music were noted in the more expensive places, as well as in the cheaper ones. There probably can be no fundamental improvement until the public taste demands higher musical standards."

"It is very true that if you take one pleasure from a man he will find compensation in another," declared Dr. James Whitney Hall, noted alienist. The dances will no doubt be faster

WILD WEST LORE AND SCIENTIFIC LIVE STOCK RAISING MINGLE IN FORT WORTH'S FAT STOCK SHOW

BY KENT WATSON, International News Service Staff Correspondent.

FORT WORTH, March 8.—Boots and saddles, the swish of cowboy chaps, the clanking of spurs, sombreroes tilted at wide angles of vantage, flashy corduroy shirts, cracks of quirts, re-assuring whinnies of faithful prize-winning ponies, flylike dust, happy cries of exultant childhood, stifled moans of nervous old women, refined beauty rubbing elbows with the roughness of western cow camps, care-freeness of the plains replacing the conventionality of society, virility of the primeval stampeding for a brief interval the technical points of social four-flushing, glaring envious "jelly-beans" of men seeking to belittle to their women the prowess of the daring riders of the arena, the bark of carnival speakers inviting an inspection of his wares, the upward chuckle of the "gyp" who has fleeced a "simp," the glowing ardor of youth, the joy of reminiscences of the old—

That's the Fort Worth Fat Stock show, a revival of the old west, as the gates of a mighty coliseum yesterday were flung open to admit thousands of persons eager to view that somethingness of the old West that seems always fast fleeing.

Haughty thoroughbreds, cattle, horses, hogs and chickens, row on row through a hundred-odd corridors, complacent young calves, caring not whether their beauty is admired, blue-ribbon horses demanding adoration, motherly cows bidding with a zink that you look over the young ones, monster registered hogs asking nothing more than a bite to eat, hickies, old and young, of every description, seemingly sorrowful for their cooage—

That's the interior of the stalls wherein the exhibits hold forth. Rivaling the mighty expositions of Chicago, Omaha, Kansas City and other places, the Texas palace of registered livestock presents a valuable panorama of wealth to humanity. The Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock show, only event of its kind in the Southwest, well characterizes the development of the livestock industry in Texas.

Presaging that all attendance records will be broken during this week as the twenty-fifth annual event of its kind, thousands of stock raisers from all parts of the state have arrived here, not alone to see the re-enactment of riding, roping, bulldogging steers as in the days of a one-time famous West, but to benefit from the lore of information to be gained from a scientific inspection of the animals in their stalls.

Tuesday will be American Legion day at the big show, former soldiers, sailors and marines conducting the activities that will be surveyed by probably 50,000 persons. Every branch of American armed forces of the world war and every auxiliary agency will be represented in a monster parade tomorrow morning—the most grandiose procession perhaps ever staged in Fort Worth since the historic review of the Thirty-sixth division prior to departing for overseas.

With colors flying in the breeze and bands grandiloquently garbed in flashy and resplendent uniforms, blaring forth patriotic airs, the procession, as it marches through the main business section of this city, will rekindle memories of war days—a sea of khaki colored humanity, then; a vast expanse of civilians now, realizing that patriotism should be a peace time habit as well as a war time emotion.

American Legion posts from throughout the state will send delegations to participate in the ceremonies of the day.

TEAPOT STILL MADE STRONG "TEA"

International News Service.
LOS ANGELES, March 8.—The "prize" moonshine still of Southern California has been seized, but its owner, who manufactured his "night cap" and his "morning's morning," or would it be termed an "eye opener," at his bedside is at large. He went out of a window as Prohibition Agent Dan O'Leary entered the door.

United States Marshal Walton has the "prize" still. It is a miniature affair, a teapot in size. Its owner, the occupant of a downtown rooming house, had it set up at the side of his bed. Setting over a gas heater the still worked while its owner slept, and morning, noon and night he always had a "jigger" of "hooch" close at hand.

I suppose that to some of them it will be a source of sincere regret that you did not fill it up."

OUT OF THEIR LINE.

Two seamen were engaged in a heated argument as to the class of animal a hog belonged to. One of them declared it was a sheep, while the other was equally certain it was a pig. As they could not come to an agreement, one of them turned to an old salt who happened to be standing by.

"Here, Bill," he said, "you've knocked about a bit. What's a hog? Is it a pig or a sheep?"
"Bill, after due consideration, said: 'Well, to tell you the truth, I don't know much about poultry.'"—Houston Post.

Mary Jane's Visit To Grandma Susan

ONE day, Mary Jane went to visit her grandmother, who lived up the road a piece. She had a lot of groceries her mother told her to give grandma. And she had a nice "sandwich" of two slices of bread, with a whole lot of Mary Jane Syrup spread on them.

Well, she was about half way to Grandma Susan's when she said, "I guess I'll eat my nice spread of bread and Mary Jane Syrup, so I'll be strong, and able to run errands, if Grandma wants me to."

So she sat down and started to eat when a big, fat woodchuck, named Jimmy Jones, came right up alongside where Mary Jane was sitting, and said: "Mary Jane, won't you give me a little piece of bread with that lovely syrup on it?" So Mary Jane gave a piece of it to him.

Jimmy said "m-m-m-m"—once or twice, but he didn't say anything else till he was all finished. Then he said, "If folks only knew how good this is they'd eat Mary Jane Syrup for every meal, wouldn't they, Mary Jane?"

And then he gave her his arm, and they went to Grandma Susan's together, where Jimmy Jones helped Mary Jane to mow the lawn.

FATHER KEEPS VOW; SAVES SON'S FRENCH DEARIE

NEW YORK, March 8.—"Boys will be boys. It is right to forgive!" With this comment Henry George Deppe, father of Lieutenant Arlington Deppe, U. S. A., took Julie Yonnet into his embrace on Ellis Island yesterday. He kissed her and said he forgave the account she had given the immigration authorities of her love affair with his son in France and the subsequent divorce obtained by her husband. The young woman was so overcome with joy that the father of her soldier sweetheart had come to make good his promise of marriage and save her from deportation that her eyes filled with tears. She can speak but little English. It was with difficulty she managed to say: "Oh, I rejoice that you are here!" Mr. Deppe was informed by the board of special inquiry that Mme. Yonnet had not as yet been admitted to the country and that the case must go to the secretary of labor for a final judgment whether he might claim her as his wife or not. When the lieutenant's father appeared on Ellis Island to rescue Mme. Yonnet he declared that he had never heard of any love affair between her and his son being the ground for her husband's divorce. The board of special inquiry acquainted him with her testimony. "With these admissions from her, are you still desirous of making this woman your wife?" was the pointed question put to him by one member of the board. It was then that Mr. Deppe emphatically said: "Yes, boys will be boys, and it is right to forgive." They have excluded her again, but I am going to fight this thing to a finish. I am an American born citizen, and I hold to American ideas about a square deal when it comes to a woman. I have given this woman my word that I would marry her, and I sent her an affidavit to that effect in order that she might get her passport vised.

RIGHT OF LABOR TO GAIN EASE IN AGE DISCUSSED

ST. LOUIS, March 8.—The laborer has a right, during his active life, to look forward to providing sufficient funds to guarantee an independent old age, Lieut. Col. H. D. McBride, secretary of the Employees' Benefit committee of the Southwestern Bell Telephone company, said in an address before the Industrial Relations association at the City club. Colonel McBride, in making the statement, said that 30 per cent of the workers at present have nothing to their families at death; 30 per cent leave from $500 to $1,000. The loss to the worker and industry from accident and sickness, Col. McBride said, is greater than from any other single cause. Compensation laws in 43 States. "The great number of accidents which have occurred in industry," he said, "have brought into being compensation laws in all but five states. Sickness in industry gradually developed mutual benefit plans—some financed by employees, some by employers and some by both. "These had their widest development when labor was hardest to attract during the war. The average benefit is $7 a week over a disability period not to exceed three to six weeks. The death benefits range from $50 to $5,000. "The weakness of all these systems is that the employment benefits depends upon continuance of service, thus tying men to their jobs. We find that the mutual benefit and pension plans are not endorsed by organized labor. Many labor unions have their own benefit associations which provide protection for workers regardless of length of time spent with any particular company."

COURT DECREE MAY GIVE MAN EX-WIFE NOW WEDDED TO ANOTHER

ST. LOUIS, March 8.—Mrs. Hazel Barr-Neff-Stump of North Venice, Ill., today is in perhaps the most embarrassing position of any woman in Illinois. If Judge J. F. Gillham, in the Madison county circuit court at Edwardsville, Thursday, sets aside her divorce decree against Roy Neff of Mattoon, she will be considered his legal wife, although she was married in St. Louis on Feb. 25 to Homer N. Stump. Mrs. Stump's troubles are due to violations of an Illinois law in marrying before a year had passed after being divorced. She and twenty-five others were given special warning on Feb. 21 at Edwardsville, when the decree was ordered, not to remarry until the required time had passed. In cases previously heard at Edwardsville of a similar nature the court has vacated the order. Thursday she was cited for contempt of court and given an opportunity to explain her marriage. Just as soon as the vacation order is entered, if it is, she will again be Neff's wife and that makes charges for bigamy possible. She and Stump may be prosecuted criminally and informations have been filed against both in the county court of Edwardsville.

BRIDEGROOM WHO HIRED CHAPERON FOR BRIDE ON HONEYMOON IS HALTED

CHICAGO, March 8.—John Frank Heald, Bridgeport (Conn.) broker, who employed a chaperon for his honeymoon with his 19-year-old bride, today found his plans indefinitely postponed for continuing his trip to California. Heald will be taken back to Bridgeport to answer charges of obtaining money under pretenses. He also faces a charge here, and, according to detectives, various charges in Seattle, Portland, Ore.; Reno, Nev.; Carson City, Nev.; Cleveland, Ohio, and several other eastern cities. The young bride and her chaperon were busy today at a hotel, packing for the return to Bridgeport. "JERRY," OHIO TALKER CANT HARK OR RIDE NORTH BALTIMORE, Ohio, March 8.—Jersey City, a village of several hundred inhabitants, eight miles northeast of here, is cut off from the world. A few months ago the Toledo, Bowling Green & Southern Traction Co. discontinued its branch line from Jersey City to Trosbley, which connected with the outside world. Now the Oil Belt Telephone Co. has moved its switchboard from the village to Cynthiana.

JAPS MAKE YAP SMOKE SCREEN TO HIDE AIMS

NEW YORK, March 8.—Japan is employing her controversy with the United States over the island of Yap funds as a smoke screen behind which she can consolidate her expansionist campaign in Asia, Prof. Walter B. Pitkin of Columbia university declared in an interview. While Japan does not want war with this country, she will not hesitate to begin hostilities should we attempt to interfere with the progress of her scheme of imperialism, according to Pitkin, who is regarded as an authority on Oriental affairs. Europe Busy at Home. "For the next ten years the great European powers unconditionally will be concerned almost wholly with enforcing Germany to meet her reparations payments," Pitkin said. "Obviously they will not dare to weaken their naval and military strength in Europe. This will leave Japan free to pursue her territorial designs, especially in Siberia, with only the United States to intervene whenever she feels called upon to do so. "Thus, while Japan's present colossal expenditures on armament are not aimed directly at us, her militarists feel that we are the one nation against whom they are most likely to be employed. "In my opinion Japan is deliberately prolonging the dispute regarding her mandate over Yap merely to provide a trading point, with the United States, just as she has so ardently insisted upon her alleged rights to California and has sought to colonize Hawaii and the Philippines. Wants Something to Say. "She wants to be in a position to say, should a really critical situation arise through renewal of American protests over her occupation of Siberia: 'Well, we have made or will make certain concessions regarding Yap, California, Hawaii and the Philippines. Now leave us alone.'"

'HOSS TRADER' GOES BIT TOO FAR ALONG ROAD OF CUPIDITY

EAST ST. LOUIS, March 8.—The ancient and honorable pastime of "hoss trading" still flourishes in Jersey county, Ill., as witness the transactions which follow: Mike Foster and Bill Wiseman had a horse apiece. They traded, with nothing to boot. Foster fed his new possession with a view to trading it for another and getting something to boot. The high living was too much for it and it got down. Foster mobilized his kin and neighbors and they got it on its feet long enough to trade it to Curley Vanausdell for another horse and $5 to boot. Foster then traded his new horse to Peter Timpe for a pig which Timpe said was a 40-pounder and Vanausdell traded his to Rupert Summers for a pocket knife. Foster went to the Timpe place for the pig. It looked a little small for a 40-pounder and he said as much. Timpe said it was the identical pig but the horse that Foster had traded him for it was guaranteed to eat and it was not living up to the guarantee and if Foster would take it away he could have the pig and 50 cents to boot. Foster declined. Timpe threw in his dog, his shotgun and a load of wood. Foster said it was a trade if Timpe would haul the wood. That was too much for Timpe. He declared all negotiations off and told Foster to get the horse away or be "laved." Foster took the horse away.

PROSECUTION ASKED IN SALE OF BAD SALMON TO ARMY

WASHINGTON, March 7.—Recommendations that the Department of justice institute criminal proceedings against dealers who in 1918 sold the War Department five million cans of salmon, held by government experts to be unfit for human consumption, are contained in a majority report filed by the House war investigating committee. The Democratic members of the committee presented a dissenting report. The majority report condemned the War Department for failing to secure prosecution and attacked the contract. DETROIT WOMEN STORM BAKERY IN PRICE PROTEST DETROIT, March 8.—Police today quelled a disturbance at a baker shop in Hastings street, where 200 men and women attacked customers as a protest against bread prices. Bread purchased was thrown into the street. The disorder followed the report of Justice Gordon in the bread price investigation. He advised Detroiters not to buy bread from dealers who charged excessive prices.

WHEN THE AMERICANS TURNED WAR'S TIDE, AS FRENCH SAW IT

(In a review of the much discussed French war book, "G. Q. G.," written by a young staff attaché who signs himself "Jean de Pierre," the Berliner Tageblatt quotes the following graphic description of the arrival of the Americans on the scene of action. The title of the book "G. Q. G." is the initialed abbreviation of "Grand Quartier General," French equivalent of our familiar "G. H. Q.") At the very moment when the crisis was most acute, the Americans arrived. "Just at this instant (says the author), a perfect cloud of Americans swept over the country; endless columns of them packed every road, hastening in the direction of Coulommiers and Meaux. They were crowded as close as possible in all sorts of grotesque positions, bareheaded, with their shirts open at the throat. "They roared out the songs of their country at the top of their voices, while the people along the way greeted them with indescribable enthusiasm. UNCLE SAM BUFFALOED.

WASHINGTON, March 8.—Does anybody want a bull buffalo? If so speak up, for Uncle Sam has twenty of assorted sizes and including a frisky, one year calf, to give away. "Here," says the forest service commission announcement, "is an excellent opportunity to get a real, live buffalo—not as gentle, perhaps, as a kitten, but, nevertheless, a nice pet if you have plenty of room to keep him, surrounded by a twelve-foot double-fly, woven-wire fence, and the price of two tons of hay a year. The buffalo are the surplus of the flourishing herd in Wichita national forest, started fifteen years ago with fifteen head, but now numbering 150. There are too many bulls for domestic tranquility in the herd and you can have one free by paying the cost of crating and hauling.

TAXING OIL TO DEATH.

Taxing oil again. No sooner is one bill proposing to place oil in the same class held by tobacco and other luxuries dead, than another arises in its place.

The Coffey gross production tax bill is dead. Long live the Coffey gross production tax bill. That seems to be the sentiment in certain quarters at Austin, if press reports prove true. One yesterday says the governor will resubmit the bill at the special session of the legislature.

Oil is no more entitled to pay a gross production tax than is cotton or cattle or any other commodity in Texas. That fact, it is true, seems to be unknown outside the oil sections. Legislators and citizens in general seem to still believe the 100-per-cent-a-month, something-for-nothing literature with which promoters deluged the country two years ago. Oil in their minds is veritable liquid gold, to be gathered up in buckets and barrels by whomsoever will.

What Texas needs is a campaign of education as to the real status of the oil industry; its reverses and disasters as well as its plucking of golden plums, if any. What legislators should understand is that while fortune favors a few, oil with most folks is just a business, and subject to the same limitations as any other line. There has in times past been easy money in selling merchandise, in raising cotton, in raising beef, and in selling leases. But so far as enormous returns being made from actual production of oil, the cases are few and far between. Even if they were, Uncle Sam gets his. And he yields a wicked fish on incomes from production.

The state of Texas is too big and too vast in its interest to expect the oil regions to support the rest of the state.

HOLLOW PROMISES.

I hired a dozen delegates, at divers times, to prune my trees, and do odd jobs on my estates, like washing dogs and herding bees; they vowed they'd come, these shiftless skates, with sounding oaths and hully chees. I had to do the work alone, for no one came to give me aid, though I was fixed with buck and bone, to see that laborers were paid; I had to lift a ton of stone and dig a posthole with a spade. No fellow cares to ply a hawl, no toiler to the vineyard comes; there is more fun in playing pool or rolling bones down in the slums; and 'his is why, when nights are cool, the parks are full of busted burns. We read about the unemployed, and o'er their sufferings men sob; but all such tales are null and void, the empty frothings of the mob, and I would be quite overjoyed to find a man who wants a job. I'm weary and disheartened now, I've tried so long to find a guy who'll come around and paint the cow and make the trusty bucksaw fly; and all are ready with a vow, and every promise is a lie. Men break their pledges with a grin, when they should wring their hands and weep, and when they ought to toil and spin they calmly struggle down to sleep; methinks that our besetting sin is making vows we do not keep.

"Tinker Bob" Stories by Carlyle H. Holcomb

WHAT DO YOU THINK SILKY WANTED?

You see, from what was said about the Robin family yesterday, that some of the creatures were beginning to think about the coming of spring. Well, Silky, the Monkey, heard what Mrs. Red Robin had said to the King, about returning to the North and there was something on his mind that worried him very much. He had never told Tinker Bob that someone had said he was the King of the Great Forest long before he ever saw Tinker. It was for this reason he made himself so familiar with the first.

But there was something on his heart that seemed to burden him and there was no one save Tinker Bob who could relieve his feelings, so he threw his arms about Tinker's neck and began to whisper to the King. Tinker knew not what the secret might be till Silky told him with tears in his eyes, and they were real tears, too.

This is what he said to the King: "O King of the Great Forest, you must be a wonderful fellow, for I have heard so much about you. I knew you were here before I ever saw you, for the forest creatures of all these parts know you are here. Let me say that the Lions knew at the very night they snuffed about while you were trying to sleep in the tree top. My little friend the Ant Bear knew you were the King, for someone told him in the midst of the thick forest where he lives, but he was afraid."

"But you haven't told me, Silky, who has been telling you all this news about my forest. I haven't seen anyone of my friends save Mrs. Red back with you to the Forest that I may always live with you." Tinker Bob was so surprised that he didn't know what to say.

THE WOMAN WHO SAW

"The Little People."

Perhaps you, too, like the Woman, believed with George Moore that the elves and fairies were to be found only in those remote corners of the globe untouched by the black defacement of this sordid age of coal power. But lo, they have reappeared, and right in the heart of the enemy's stronghold, the Suburban Lady's coal cellar. Or so Frank says!

Now, Frank is a simple son of Sicily! He is general factotum in the small suburban town where the Lady lives, his accomplishments including what her neighbor's small boy calls, "lamping the lights," and also tending furnaces. And here enters the villain—or villainess! As the Lady's house is manless, Frank has the job of keeping it warm, and he was most distinctly falling down on that job. The house was cold, and Frank was always chopping kindling to re-heat a moribund fire. When remonstrated with, Frank explained that he tended the fire perfectly, but that "those little ones" opened the drafts and made the fire go out.

The Woman was surprised, and she questioned the neighboring children, but they were obviously innocent. When she reported this to Frank he grew excited, and his protests finally conveyed to her sceptical intelligence what "little ones" he meant. Still she was unconvinced, and as if angered by her unbelief she resorted to sabotage. Frank showed her how they had ripped the asbestos off the furnace. He invented a complicated system of wiring the doors shut, but the fire still went out. Emboldened by their success, they even grew careless about being seen at their work. When he went down cellar one morning, there they were, he said, and they laughed and ran under the coal. At this juncture her neighbors began to eye her commiseratingly, for who would enjoy the thought of a cellar infested by malicious "little people" and a simple-minded furnace tender who saw things?

But now all that is changed. No more is she annoyed by cold radiators or loud matutinal noises from the cellar. And the remedy is so simple. One morning Frank beckoned her mysteriously down cellar, and there above the furnace he had placed a rude wooden cross in the center of which was a medallion of the Christ Child. The little people are exorcised, and when asked about the fire Frank beams and says, "Oh, she burns fine." Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, please take notice!

How She Does It.

The Mid-Victorian Lady is neither young nor fair, but she prides herself of having learned the art of getting a seat in the subway, "L" or surface car. She enters, notices that there is no vacant place and, with no glance at the men seated, grasps a strap with an air of mingled patros, fatigue and cheeriness. A little practice makes this come natural, and nine times out of ten it will work; then it only remains to bestow a beaming smile upon the man who has started to his feet.

Of course, there are some men whom nothing will unseat, and she found herself recently standing before one of this kind on the "L" train. As they left Twenty-third street the man rose, and with a flourish pointed to the spot where he had been resting, but before she could sink into it another man had appropriated the place.

"Here," remonstrated the first with some violence, "I gave my seat to this lady!"

"You didn't!" shouted the other with equal vehemence. "You were going to get out at the next station, and you can't take the seat with you! I'll give the lady my seat! Here, Madam, taking off his hat with one hand, and grasping her arm with the other, "sit down! Sit down!"

The Lady obeyed, trying to ignore the laughter of the onlookers. Anyway, she had got a seat.

The Moon and I.

The Woman hurried into the train one minute before it pulled out from Grand Central and took what seemed to be the only vacant seat. In front of her, with his chubby face flattened against the window, was Bob and Daddy. Bob's high, sweet voice made it clear that he was on his way to Tarrytown after a visit to cousin Budgie in New York. And they had parted with a perplexity—the moon. Bob watched for it as the train pulled through the tunnel, and as soon as he saw it he called, "There's my moon, Daddy, and when I get to Tarrytown it will be there!" He followed it carefully all the way, chorusing, "You see, Daddy, when I get to Tarrytown my moon will be there with me." The Woman couldn't resist leaning forward and asking Bob all about it, and friendship was established.

When the train stopped Bob dragged her along the platform until the sky could be seen. Then he cried joyfully, "There it is! I told you my moon would be in Tarrytown. It always travels with me." But his face immediately saddened as if something puzzled him. After a minute he said, with great confidence, "You see, Budgie told me that my moon was in New York when I was in Tarrytown. You see, I know my moon, and there it is."

As the Woman stepped into a taxi she heard a little voice trail off, "You see, I know my moon."

A Book Review.

They sat over a leisurely lunch at the Restaurant Andre, just across from Bendel's, and watched the world wander by afoot or atop the green buses or in leisurely limousines, the while discussing "Main Street."

The Woman was listening. Her companion, the tall young matron with the vivid coloring and severely tailored suit, expressed her opinion. "Is it real?" she repeated to a hypothetical question. "Just ask me. Why, that story is so real it hurts! Most people find it amusing. But I don't, I cried over it. For, you see," she concluded, "I married and went to live in just such a town. I was another Carol, beating my wings against the conventions of Main Street. It's so real that to me it's terrible!"

Mrs. Pauline O. Field, head of the Criminal Bar association, is the only woman who practices in the Court of General Sessions in New York City.

Store News Is Good News

It gets right down to where you live. It concerns the things of your every-day life.

Every newspaper you see has its "news columns" and its "advertising columns."

The first tell of happenings near and far—of fires, sports, elections, accidents, marriages, deaths, great men, great events.

The news columns of your paper keep you up-to-date in the world of events. That is of great importance.

The second of things you eat, wear and use—things you have to buy—things that are being sold to your neighbors and friends in your own town.

But if you stop to think about it, it is important, too, that you know how to buy, where to buy, when to buy—that you keep posted on things necessary to feed and clothe you and your family and make you comfortable and happy.

Silky whispered in the ear of the King

Robin and some of the birds who come to the forest in the summer time. How can anyone know who I am in this strange land?

Again Silky whispered in the ear of the King. "O King you have a very good friend who is telling all of the creatures in the forest where you came from and how kind you were to the dwellers in the North. It is because of your kindness, O King, that I want to ask you to help me, for I am all alone in the world and no one cares for me."

It was at this time, while Silky was in the midst of his story, that Tinker Bob heard a familiar sound. "Thief, thief, thief." And when he heard this voice he knew who had been telling the creatures of the forest about him. "I know, Silky! It was Jerry, the Jay bird, who has been telling all about me. I have not

WHEN WOMAN HITS THE TRAIL IN THE CANADIAN ROCKIES

The outdoor girl—and her name is legion—knows almost as much about the trails, camps, mountains and fishing of the Canadian Pacific Rockies as mere man. Every summer Banff and Lake Louise are thronged with members of the fair sex who hit the trail to view the beauties of lakes and streams where the trout hide, climb mountains and camp for days near to Nature's heart. Safeguarded by expert guides they learn to ford streams, fish and shoot, and there are real Swiss guides from the Alps overseas to show the way to the summits of majestic mountains. When they ride, climb and camp they wear the riding breeches of their soldier brothers, husbands or sweethearts and nobody thinks anything about it—not even Mrs. Grundy, because she has been wearing the shortest of short skirts herself to be in the mode. The war changed many things. It gave woman the vote and made breeches for women conventional. And the Banff girl wears 'em. She is as much at home whipping the Spray Lakes or Lake Kananaskis for Dolly Varden trout for breakfast as she is in ordering fleet mignon from the menu of the mountain hotels and, tutored by the cowboys who ride their sure-footed ponies like centaurs, she is soon able to qualify as a centaress even if mythology did overlook her because she was a woman, and not half man, half horse. Beauty appeals to the outdoor girl, and she loves the Canadian Rockies which rise a mile or more above Lake Louise and Banff because they are unexcelled in beauty and majesty. The Alpine Club of Canada has many women members, the most expert of whom do not hesitate to attempt the conquest of any peak men have ascended. In 1901 Mount Assiniboine was ascended for the first time by Sir James O'Hara. Three years later Miss Gertrude Benham, an English girl, was the first of her sex to reach the summit of this great peak, the Matterhorn of the Canadian Rockies. Both were assisted by Swiss guides.

NITRO BALL MAKES $267; LOTS OF FUN

The Nitros are $267 richer in real money this morning. That amount representing the receipts of the Nitros' ball at the Summer Garden last night. That was cash money, but the fun the crowd had could not be computed in dollars and cents—fun intermingled with a deeper pleasure. This came with the special song features by Mrs. Cashmere, Mr. O'Brien and "Chief" Irish Buttimer. Later in the night the thrill came when W. R. Fleming's gift to the ladies were awarded. These consisted of five and three-pound boxes of especially assorted chocolates in especially prepared boxes, and a scenic doll with gold bracelets on her wrists and everything. The large box of candy was given to Mrs. L. G. Northcutt. The smaller box was awarded Mrs. C. L. Buttimer, and the scenic doll was won by Mrs. L. E. Dougan.

Fully 100 couples were on the floor for every dance and if the adjective can be excused, the music was entrancing. The musicians put their whole heart in the work, just as they did before the dance. The local union voted to turn itself over to the Nitros without charge for that dance if they were needed, and it came near doing it. The Ranger cafe jazz band was there and the Melody Five, Majestic and others. While some played others danced. The baseball association feels particularly indebted to the union for this act, since it saved it considerable money that will be used for the Nitros' training fund. It also feels deeply indebted to Mrs. E. N. Jones for the use of the Summer Garden, which was also tendered without charge. That the singing was enjoyed by the crowd was evidenced by the spontaneous applause that followed every appearance. Mrs. Cashmere sang once and was forced to respond to an encore. If a wayfaring critic, who has no ear for music except the sweetness of the human voice, may sit in judgment, Mrs. Cashmere has the exquisite melody of a more critical audience than that of last night. It tones clear and sweet as those of a flute, her voice filled the dance hall and the folks gathered there listened as one. When the song was over they such exquisite melody.

THRILL OF THRILLS HE CALLS FOUR-MILE LEAP FROM SKY

Asked what were his thoughts when he slid from an airplane 22,200 feet in the air and took the chance which gave him the world's record for parachute jumping, Sergeant Ensel Chambers, 135th U. S. aero squadron, replied: "If you would attain the ultimate in thrills and have some conception of what 'taking a chance' means, I can recommend a four-mile drop from above the clouds, with the proper working of a bit of mechanism deciding whether your jump is to be eternally." The record jump of 22,200 feet was made at the aerial station at Fort Sill, Okla. Chambers' record is accepted as official. The registered height by altimeter was 21,600 feet, which, with the height of 1,200 feet above sea level makes the official record for the jump 22,200 feet. The photograph shows Staff-Sergeant Ensel Chambers on the right with parachute and Pilot Lieutenant Paul T. Wagner on left.

PITTSBURG, March 8.—Joe Cantillon, manager and part owner of the Minneapolis club of the American association, was in this city today, and announced that he had signed Mill McKechnie, Pirate infielder, who recently was sold to the Minneapolis club. McKechnie will report for duty at Oklahoma City March 15, he said, and added that he was pleased with the transfer.

FRAZEE TURNS DOWN MILLION DOLLARS FOR BOSTON RED SOX

NEW YORK, March 8.—Harry Frazee, called "baseball's stormy petrel," may quit the game within a short time. An offer of $1,000,000 cash for the Red Sox players, franchise and real estate holdings, embracing Fenway Park, was made to Frazee a short time ago. It came from a group of Boston sportsmen who are anxious to have the team owned locally. Frazee rejected it and, although he did not fix a price, it is said that he would listen very attentively to any proposition which included such figures as $1,250,000. Frazee is in disfavor in Boston. The fans have never forgiven him for the sale of Babe Ruth and other stars. Many have "boycotted" him. Frazee has antagonized newspaper men in the Hub city and those who are not openly hostile are careful not to do anything that will help him. As a result, Frazee probably would welcome a chance to get out of baseball, especially in view of the fact that his 1921 team seems mediocre and doesn't look as if it will be more than

SPECIAL TRAIN FOR BASEBALL FANS AT BRECK

A special train will leave Ranger Sunday night at 9:15, for the accommodation of the Breckenridge crowd attending the Columbus-Cincinnati game here. It will reach the Stephens county capital at 11:15, which will allow for the usual routine of the day. Ralph Stockman is the moving spirit in this enterprise, and is in Breck today telling folks about it, so that no one who wants to see this game will stay away through lack of time to come. Sunday's game is expected to be one of the best of the series. With two days of play preceding it, the men will be in better shape both physically and from the standpoint of teamwork. If Burrus, the big first sacker of the Columbus Senators keeps up the rousing proclivities he exhibited yesterday, he is going to break more records in the Association than Babe Ruth has thus far smashed in the American league. Burrus, a left-side swinger, took a fancy to our right field fence and in an impromptu hitting practice lost about twenty balls over it. Not high and lofty ones, either, but those 2-2-tippy liners that travel like an 88 shell. One of them struck one of Ranger's best napper-mache houses. Unfortunately for the house, there's a neat round hole in it today, unless the occupant has an aversion to fresh air.

INTER-LEAGUE GAMES CARDED BY MAJOR CLUBS

NEW YORK, March 8.—Inter-league spring exhibition games between clubs of the major circuits will be in full swing within the next few days, giving baseball fans their first opportunity to compare the relative strength of the rival pennant competitors. The development of this feature of the southern training conditions has made marked advance during recent seasons. The schedules show that a big percentage of the sixteen clubs, composing the National and American league, will play such contests previous to the opening of the 1921 pennant races. A study of the ante-season dates of the major league teams indicates a list of more than seventy such games scheduled and with favorable weather conditions during March and the early part of April, fully two-thirds of these contests will probably be played. A large majority are carded for the south and southwest, although several of the clubs will complete their spring training with a series of home games just before the opening of the regular season. The exhibition schedule opened with a contest between the Philadelphia Americans and the St. Louis Nationals at Houston, Texas, today, and for the next five weeks, one or more such events are scheduled for decision each day. Two city series are involved for the St. Louis and the Philadelphia clubs will each figure in games on their home grounds just before the opening of the pennant races. The list of games scheduled by American and National league teams with clubs of the rival major circuit include the following important contests: In Texas, March 7-8, at Beaumont—Philadelphia (A.) vs. St. Louis (N.).

STAMFORD WILL ASK BERTH IN WEST TEXAS LEAGUE NEXT YEAR

Special to the Times. STAMFORD, March 8.—Stamford baseball fans have almost completed raising the sum required for the building of a baseball park and grandstand. Stamford proposes to get a berth in the West Texas league in 1922, but could not qualify in time this season because of the absence of such park and grandstand. An intracity league of six teams, similar to that of 1920, will shortly be organized here, baseball fans say. Over $450 was raised in a few minutes among fans as the first step in raising the funds for the park and grandstand. NOT HIS FAULT. BASEBALL BRIEFS

NEW YORK, March 8.—Five New York American league players who have been "holding out" have surrendered and will report to Manager Huggins at Shreveport, La., next week, it was announced today. They are: Wally Schang, catcher; Bob Shawkey and Jack Guma, pitchers; Aaron Ward and Willie Epp, infielders; Roger Peckinpaugh, shortstop, and Bob Mussel, utility player, have not yet signed their contracts, but Huggins believes they will report for training with the other regulars.

NEW YORK, March 8.—Directors of the new International Baseball league will meet here Thursday to discuss the revision of the schedule and the recent sale of the Akron club to Montreal. Representatives of the Newark (N. J.) club, which is seeking the Akron franchise, will be given audience. SAN FRANCISCO, March 8.—The retirement of Roy Gorman, veteran shortstop for the San Francisco club of the Pacific Coast league, and former major leaguer, from professional baseball, was announced today. He said he would devote his time to his business interests.

PITTSBURG, March 8.—Announcement was made here today by the management of the Pittsburgh National league baseball club that a contract had been signed with Ray Rohrer, last year's captain and outfielder of the University of California team. Pierce Works, a promising first baseman of the same team, had already been signed by the Pirates. At the time of the invasion of the East last year by the California players, the two stars were instrumental in making quite a clean

WHY GIRLS LEAVE HOME IS ANSWERED BY MISSING BUREAU

NEW YORK, March 8.—A review of cases reported to the Missing Persons bureau in Brooklyn during last month reveals why people leave home. According to Detective George L. O'Connor, in charge of the bureau, the cases may be divided into three classes, as follows: Girls who run away to get married. Boys afflicted with the wanderlust. Old men who stray away from their homes and get lost. One of the cases which has been puzzling the bureau was cleared yesterday when Carmie Cretello, 15 years old, walked into her home, at No. 851 Knickerbocker avenue, Brooklyn. She was accompanied by Peter Damato, who formerly lived at the same address. The girl, who had disappeared from school Feb. 17, announced they had been married. Of thirty cases reported, it was announced, twenty had been cleared.

RESCUED FROM DEATH, FRENCH GIRL DEMANDS DAMAGES FROM RESCUER

PARIS, March 8.—Jumping suddenly from a moving airplane as it crossed the Concord bridge in Paris, Mile. Simone Brever reached the parapet and threw herself downward. Rene Beton, a lawyer, was passing at the time. He seized Simone's skirt, holding her suspended from the bridge until a policeman arrived to help him pull her up. At the police station, where she was charged with attempted suicide, Simone said she had quarreled with her sweetheart, an aviator, who had told her to "go and jump in the Seine." She simply had, she said, obeyed orders. Then she noticed her skirt. It was from the Rue de la Paix and made of flimsy satin. Where Beton had held her suspended was a long, ugly tear. And now Simone is suing her savior, claiming damages to the extent of 1,000 francs, the price of her gown.

RAIL CATASTROPHE AT INDIANA COSTS MANY LIVES

MANY FORGERIES OF PAPER WHICH TELLS OF WASHINGTON'S DEATH

By Associated Press
CHICAGO, March 8.—Perennially and usually about this time copies of the most noted newspaper forgery of the country—the Ulster County Gazette of Jan. 4, 1800, with its account of Washington's funeral—comes to light. The only other newspaper imitation of the kind that compares is the duplication of the Vicksburg Citizen, printed on wall paper during the siege in 1862.

"I doubt if there is a genuine copy of the Ulster County Gazette of that date in existence," Edward A. Henry, who is in charge of the University of Chicago's collection of old newspapers, said here today. "At any rate, I have never seen one, nor do I know of anybody who has."

"Wilberforce Eames of the New York public library told me half a dozen years ago that he had made the most careful examinations of copies of the Gazette submitted to him as genuine—ever by chemical analysis of the paper—and had almost come to the conclusion that there never was an original."

"At the Library of Congress I was told they had twenty-six different editions. The New York public library lists nine in its latest catalog. We have three, each different from the other."

"I suppose there was once a genuine Ulster County Gazette of the date named, from which all these subsequent copies have been made. The fact that the Wisconsin State Historical society, which has the largest collection of old newspapers in the middle West, lists two copies of an Ulster Gazette for Aug. 18 and Sept. 22, 1804, strengthens this belief."

"The account of Washington's funeral is accurate and interesting. No fault can be found on that score, although I think reports of the funeral in other papers of the same time are in several instances still more striking."

"It may have been that many years after the funeral some printer, probably in the vicinity of New York, for Kingston, Ulster county, is on the Hudson, thought to produce something of interest to others and profit to himself by making a facsimile of the original account. Had he taken a New York paper, the duplication could have been instantly detected and perhaps for this reason the obscure Ulster county paper was made to serve."

Paper Is Test.
The trick evidently went well and perhaps it was this same printer that put out many of the subsequent editions. That is all supposition, of course, but there is no doubt of the multitude of editions. Their genuineness only an expert can pass on in most cases. The test is the paper. Most of these copies were made before 1850, but not early enough to have used the fine linen paper of 1800. That soft paper will be good for many hundred years yet, while the earliest Ulster County Gazette we have is already badly discolored.

"Variations are found in the printing of the different editions of the same date. In two of our copies the name of the paper is set in italics, in the other it is not. The enterprising publisher of the newest of our forgeries added the word 'copyright.'"

"Perhaps the people of the day recognized the Ulster County Gazettes in circulation as mere facsimiles. But no doubt many treasured them up as genuine. Every now and then one turns up in a trunk in some old attic and the finder thinks he has a great prize. The University of Chicago has half a dozen copies submitted to it every year. We are greatly interested in old newspapers—but we are buying no more Ulster County Gazettes reporting Washington's funeral."

ARE YOU APATHETIC? HARD TO WAKE IN THE MORNINGS? MAYBE YOU HAVE SLEEPING SICKNESS

By Associated Press
NEW YORK, March 8.—Health authorities in New York and other cities along the Atlantic coast, are making strenuous efforts to cope with the disease of sleeping sickness or encephalitis lethargica which is reported as unusually prevalent this year. While stating that the malady should not cause public alarm, the medical heads have warned that it should not be underestimated.

As an evidence of the renewed sweep of the peculiar epidemic, reports for the first seven weeks of 1921 indicate more than 218 cases in New York City of which 25 per cent were fatal. During 1920, a total of 500 cases were reported in this city with the death toll comparatively small.

Not Contagious.
Various versions as to the source and ravages of the disease have been offered. Health Commissioner Conant of New York, believes the disease is not contagious in the ordinary sense.

"This is proved," he adds, "by the fact that out of the total number of cases reported last year in New York City, only in two instances was a case reported where one previously had been found." The commissioner pointed out, however, that the majority of cases were reported on the lower East Side, indicating sleeping sickness might have resulted from congested living quarters.

Dr. Simon Flexner, in a clinical paper recently traced the origin of the disease in this country to 1918-19. He continued: "It is possible to trace cases of lethargic or epidemic encephalitis now arising in this country to an outbreak which occurred in Vienna and neighboring parts of Austria in the winter of 1916. Cases occurred in England and France in the early months of 1918 and in America in the following year. In Austria the early cases were ascribed to sausage poisoning, in England to botulism arising from various foods. This error is not remarkable. Both countries were laboring under an unprecedented condition of food shortage."

"Ultimately in both countries the notion of food origin became untenable, and the disease was recognized as arising independently of diet and other usual conditions of life, and came to be viewed as probably of microbial origin and of communicable nature."

"The outstanding feature is the lethargy, which is progressive in character and present in the majority of cases (80 per cent.). It may appear suddenly but usually is gradual in onset. The hours of sleep become prolonged, and he is hard to wake in the morning. Moreover he may fall asleep at odd hours—while engaged at work or at mealtime."

"Its duration is variable—a week, a month, or even longer—up to four months. Even after long periods of recovery may follow."

Special to the Times.
JACKSBORO, March 8.—A trial of Sunday operation of the Oil Field Special over the Rock Island between Bridgeport and Graham for four consecutive Sundays will be made, according to word received from John G. Farmer, general passenger agent of the line. If the revenues from such Sunday operation are adequate the oil field special will be a regular train feature on this line.

Drilling Report From Jack County

Special to the Times.
JACKSBORO, March 8.—Material is being placed on the John Williams farm, known as the old McKelvey place, by the Roxanna company for a deep test. The location is three miles a little north and west of Barton Chapel.
New casing has been set and drilling resumed in the Green well following a shutdown of several weeks. Splendid indications were encountered before the shutdown. The well has been cleaned out. It is rumored another location has been made in this place.
Work will start at once building rig and derrick for the Silver Star Drilling company on the J. A. Coker place, three miles south of Post Oak. The bridge across Jones creek has been completed so that material can be transported to the site.
Another test near Jermyn is announced semi-officially. Breckenridge operators are reported as having closed a deal with the Cosden Gas & Oil company on a block of leases near that place.
Prominent oil men recently examined the shallow field north of town and new developments are expected to be announced shortly.

FAMILY NAME IS TRADEMARK; USE DENIED BROTHER

By Associated Press
WASHINGTON, March 8.—A legal difference between a "registered trademark" and a simple "trade mark" was brought out in the Supreme court decision recently in the suit of the Stark Brothers Nurseries and Orchards company of Louisiana, Mo., for damages against the William P. Stark Nurseries of Stark City, Mo.
When the decision was handed down it was announced that the Stark Brothers Nurseries company had lost this suit. The statement was correct, but the inference placed upon a brief report of the decision was misleading. The Stark Brothers Nurseries company had won in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals a suit for damages against the William P. Stark Nurseries and also an injunction restraining the latter from using the family name for a trade mark. This Circuit court decision limited the damages to begin from the time when notice of registration of the trade mark was served.
Upon this limitation only the Stark Brothers Nurseries company appealed to the Supreme court. It was this appeal against limiting the damages that the Supreme court denied. In its decision the Supreme court said: "The infringement that is sued for is an infringement of a registered trademark, not infringement of a trade mark."

The court said that the plaintiff had rights in the trade mark prior to the date of its registration, but that those rights were not involved under the statute under which the appeal to the Supreme court was made.
The Stark family nurseries was operated by three brothers after the death of their father, the founder, in 1880, until 1909, when the youngest brother, William P. Stark, withdrew and formed the rival company that was defendant in this suit.

Jones, president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, as a regular delegate to represent the organization at the annual convention of the United States Chamber of Commerce to be held in Atlantic City, April 27 to 29.
Louis J. Wortham of Fort Worth was appointed national councillor and J. A. Kemp of Wichita Falls, substitute national councillor. The West Texas Chamber of Commerce is entitled to ten delegates to the national convention, one of which shall act as national councillor. The appointments include a regular delegation and an alternate delegation.

WORLD'S BIGGEST GAS FIELD AT AMARILLO

AMARILLO, March 8.—Amarillo claims the greatest gas field in the world, with 20,000,000 cubic feet daily capacity. One of the wells in this field is making 107,500 cubic feet. Roy G. Barnum, well known in local oil circles, declares that "the Amarillo field has a larger acreage than the combined gas producing fields of the states of Kansas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Louisiana and Texas outside of the Amarillo district." It is predicted that in another six months this field will be producing more than 1,000,000,000 cubic feet daily. None of the gassers have "slowed down" since their advent, indicating that they are long lived. No oil in commercial quantities has yet been discovered, but prospects are good for it in time.

MERKEL TEST IS FAILURE

Special to the Times.
MERKEL, March 8.—The Butman well in the mountains southwest of this city that has been undergoing drilling for many months will be abandoned, according to word brought here today. The casing is being pulled. According to the driller, the well was put down to below 3,000 feet, the contract depth, without a showing of oil, but with a considerable gas pressure at the 1,900 foot level, which was cased off.

STROLLING IN HER NIGHTIE IS PROPER FOR A 'VILLAGER'

NEW YORK, March 8.—In Greenwich Village it is proper for women to saunter through their hallways in nightgowns.
Magistrate Rosenblatt in Jefferson market court so decided yesterday, after dismissing a complaint against Mrs. Maria Caruso. The complainant was Miss Margaret Bollino. She testified that Mrs. Caruso had talked conversationally with her. Mrs. Caruso then said she was in a house in Greenwich Village. She said that Caruso, her husband, had frequently sauntered in and out of the line where she works in nightgowns. The magistrate said: "It is only when they do so without a nightgown that they may be arrested."

WORLD'S BIGGEST ENGINE

MILWAUKEE, Wis., March 8.—The largest power ever produced in one cylinder in the United States is developed in an engine of the Diesel type just constructed here, its builder announces. The weight of one engine is 650,000 pounds. It is 150 feet high, weighs 60,000 pounds. The engine is about fifty-three feet long and seven feet wide. Its total height from the floor is twenty-one feet.

PLAINVIEW, March 8.—In 1920 Plainview shipped twenty-six cars of eggs, one car of which went to the Philippine Islands. The poultry business is becoming one of the most important. Shipments of dressed turkeys are becoming important, some going as far as Cuba.

POLITICAL MOVE SEEN IN MEXICAN RAILWAY STRIKE

LAREDO, Texas, March 8.—Illustrating some of the ups and downs in the most work in Mexico City, the news has come here of open threats against the life of Felix Palavicini, former federal director of education and managing editor of "El Universal," for a few years past one of the most important newspapers of the capital.
The threats are reported to have come from the striking element of the railroad workers because of the attitude of the newspaper toward the strike. The threats were contained in letters sent to Senator Palavicini and upon their being turned over to government officials, it was discovered that the strike was not merely a measure of labor agitation for better wages and working conditions, but was in reality a political movement, directed against the present government, the reports from the capital said.

The strike so far has proved of little moment, although some of the local employes in Nuevo Laredo have walked out and left their chiefs in something of a dilemma.
The clerks in the freight office quit without warning recently, and as a result for a day or two there was no movement of freight, although passenger trains went out and arrived without any serious delay or inconvenience.

Declaring that the railway workers have no just grievance, the officials reiterate their assurance that the strike will be of little consequence anywhere throughout the republic, although sporadic strikes may occur at almost any minute in scattered localities.
The refusal of the government officials, from President Obregon down, to accept the demands of the strikers, appears to have had little effect in precipitating a real strike. It is believed that the elements opposed to the Obregon government are not strong enough, in the face of existing conditions, to bring about any serious trouble.

HELD IN FATHER'S KILLING DESPITE HIS DYING PLEA
LOUISVILLE, Ky., March 8.—Gertrude Glasser, sixteen, was held for the grand jury here in the death of Julius Glasser, her father, shot in the back while she was in his arms.
The girl, according to the police, said she fired the pistol while he was attempting to strangle her mother. Glasser, the police say, shouldered all blame and pleaded up to the hour of his death that his daughter be not arrested.

VERILY, HEALTH WEEK HATH ITS COMMANDMENTS

International News Service.
AUSTIN, March 8.—The "Ten Commandments" for Texas Health Week, beginning March 13, have been issued by State Health Officer Dr. Mantel H. Carrick, as follows:
Remember thy garbage can to keep it covered; every day shalt thou fill it and then shall the scavenger empty it, lest thy garbage become a stench in the nostrils of thy neighbor.
Thou shalt cut the weeds on thy vacant lot lest it become a hiding place for old tin cans, papers and divers sorts of trash.
Thou shalt plant many trees, for the sun will smite thee if thou sitest not in the shade; thou shalt plant flowers and shrubs that thy habitation may be lovely in the eyes of men.
Thou shalt starve the fly in the spring, that thy children unto the third and fourth generation shall not smite him later.
Thou shalt clean out the habitation of thy horse and cow frequently, lest the stable fly flourish and spread infantile paralysis and other death dealing diseases.
Thou shalt build a sidewalk upon the ground before thy house that thy man servant, the stranger and the book agent 'bog not in the mud thereof.
Thou shalt not harm thy neighbors garden, thou, nor thy dog, nor thy cat, nor thy hen that is without thy gate.
Look thou not upon the milk when it cometh from an unclean dairy, for the doctor will not hold thee guiltless if thy infant sickeneth therefrom.
Verily, verily, thou shalt clean thy house thoroughly, wisely and often that germ breeding dust shall not accumulate to afflict thee and thy husband and thy child and the stranger that liveth in the next block.
Verily thou shalt vote for man who have the health of thy city at heart and who will pass laws amply providing for the city's sanitation, to insure thy health and thy children's health and the health of the stranger thou knowest not; for verily if the stranger within thy city's boundaries is afflicted with grievous disease because of thy carelessness, the flies and other vermin will visit thee and his affliction shall become thy children's and thine own. But if thou wilt do thy duty and clean thy premises and compel thy neighbor to clean his premises thou shalt live long and happily.
Eggs are about low enough now to be utilized in theatrical criticism.—Springfield (Mo.) Leader.

Fake Revenue Man Dined and Wined by Duped Saloon Men

ST. LOUIS, March 8.-How he was "wired, dined and treated royally," by St. Louis saloon keepers whom he duped by means of a fake badge was related to police today by a man who says he is Harry L. Mitchell, 34 years old, a cook, following his arrest on a charge of impersonating a United States revenue officer.

Among papers in the prisoner's possession was a dishonorable discharge from the army, showing he served four and one-half months in the Fort Leavenworth penitentiary.

A bill for $27 from the Astor hotel, New York, also was found in his possession. Detectives are investigating his record further in the belief that he has not followed his purported occupation of cook to any great extent and that information of his activities may be available from other cities.

"Police Secret Service." The badge Mitchell was wearing when arrested by Special Officers Roach and Schuard of the Souldard district bears the inscription: "American Intelligence Police Secret Service No. 59."

The officers said they met the prisoner at Sixth and Hickory streets and he told them he was a revenue man. They examined the badge and escorted him to the station, where he confessed having dined local saloon keepers for the past five weeks.

"It was great fun while it lasted," he said. "I would walk into a saloon, flash my badge and tell the boss I was a revenue officer, but not a very hard boiled one."

"All of them treated me royally, giving me free drinks, cigars and often inviting me to eat a swill feed with them. I never accepted any money from them, but the cigars and drinks and dinners-I didn't have the heart to refuse 'em."

BONDS TO BACK HOME OWNING IN SOUTH DAKOTA

By Associated Press
 PIERRE, S. D., March 8.—South Dakota, through a bill enacted by the legislature, steps to the fore in meeting the house shortage in that state, by loaning to the individual, the finances necessary for the construction of a home.

The bill, which becomes a law on July 1, creates a separate home building department within the already established rural credits department. This new department is authorized to sell bonds of the state, the proceeds of which will be loaned at a rate of interest not exceeding one and one-tenth per cent above the rate paid on the bonds.

The individual must own the lot upon which the home is to be built and must furnish in cash, 20 per cent of the building cost. The state furnishes the other 80 per cent but places a limit on the amount loaned to one individual at $4,000.

Secured by Mortgage.
 Each loan will be secured by a first mortgage on the property. The mortgagor must agree to pay all taxes and to insure the building for the benefit of the state against loss by fire, lightning or tornado in the amount equal to that due on the mortgage.

Loans shall be payable in not more than twelve years, in 144 equal monthly installments about equal to the average rental, each payment carrying 30 per cent interest and reducing the principal.

To secure a loan, application must first be made to the authorities of the municipality in which the home is to be built, who will investigate the necessity of its construction, the character and ability of the borrower to meet the payments and report the results to the home building department. The department will if the report is satisfactory, carry on another ground. If the loan is considered safe and necessary, the intended borrower will be notified to make his formal application.

In every case the municipality in which the home is built is held responsible to the state for the unpaid portion of the loan in cases of default by the builder.

NEW OIL WELL SPOUTS 20,000 BARRELS A DAY

BUENOS AIRES, March 8.—The ministry of agriculture announced today that Oil Well No. 128, in the Comodoro Rivadavia district territory of Chubut, just completed, was flowing at the rate of more than 20,000 barrels a day.

The well, in a new section of the producing district, has broken all records for production in Argentina.

More people are getting married today than ever before. The average age among girls being from 15 to 19 years.

HARDING AND WILSON ON WAY TO INAUGURAL CEREMONIES

President Harding and ex-President Wilson riding from the White House to the capitol for the inaugural ceremonies.

MINE OWNERS ALSO WALK OUT WITH STRIKERS

WASHINGTON, March 8.—When employees at the Keely coal mine, Dugger, Ind., twenty of them, go on strike the employers, thirty-seven of them and also working miners, strike, too. The whole job comes to a stop until the executive board of the Miners' union arbitrates the dispute.

For the Keely mine is a co-operative partnership affair operating the property under lease. The thirty-seven are the partners and the twenty "day men" are employed by the thirty-seven. And J. J. Bourquin of the bureau of mines, in a report, asserts the Keely mine is one of the few similar properties "being operated successfully on a co-operative basis."

A majority of attempts previously had resulted in "utter failure," he said, but the success for the Keely mine plan after eight years is marked and the partners are planning purchase of the property.

The mine has an output of about 300 tons a day, all by pick work, no machines are used. It is not incorporated and any indebtedness rests upon the partners individually as well as upon the partnership. Only men who mine and load the coal are eligible for partnership and day workers employed set the regular scale of pay.

COPPERS CONTINUE ROUNDUP OF VAGRANTS

Nine negro women, ranging from a deep black to a high brown, lined up before the desk sergeant at the police station last night and pleaded guilty to the charge of vagrancy, thereby enriching the city to the extent of $15.70 each. Several negro men also were caught in the drag being made by the police on the settlers of "Blackbird alley."

The night also brought forth several charges of drunkenness and the accompanying fines. One young man asked a "cop" if he knew how to take the "kick" out of "jake." The policeman assured him that he did not but he told him that he knew how to keep a "jake head" quiet. Whereupon he showed him the way to the city bastille.

Make Boss Hustle

Management is through elected finance and policy committees, but a superintendent is provided for at a salary equal to one-tenth of the sum of the earnings of the ten partnership miners receiving the highest pay for any month. That provision, the investigator found, inclined the boss toward "close supervision and efficiency."

Prorating of earnings among the partners is made on a computation of "man-days of actual work," or the coal produced by each, which the investigator found was "undoubtedly fair to all" and which "was originated to discourage idleness and evidently accomplishes its purpose, for the miners are steady workmen." Under the system, failure to be on the job for any other cause than illness penalizes the absentee in the profit-sharing.

A reserve fund and a purchase fund are being maintained by deducting from each partner's share on pay-days, but if a partner quits, he gets all these assessments back. New coal is taken into the partnership as needed from men employed at the mine.

Personnel of the partnership group has undergone many changes since the original ten miners undertook the scheme, the report said, but after a hard struggle the property is on a paying basis and earnings of the partners high. A recent pay-day, semi-monthly, showed one miner with ninety-seven tons produced, receiving $127 after all expenses and assessments had been deducted, while a miner turning out the same amount in nearby company operated properties would have received $104.76 and must pay out of that his own powder and fuses expenses.

MEXICANS PROTEST INFLUX OF AMERICANS

MEXICO CITY, March 8.—An influx of American labor to Mexico, especially to the oil regions, is causing much concern among government officials who are receiving complaints daily from Mexican workmen's organizations that the presence of the foreigners is working a hardship on native labor.

It is asserted that unemployment in the United States has caused thousands of Mexicans to return to the republic, many of them in destitute circumstances. Arriving here they find large numbers of Americans holding the jobs which they declare, rightfully belong to them.

Moreover, in the oil fields American labor has practically supplanted native workmen and the charge has been made publicly by labor representatives that the Americans in these regions are fully armed and are on "war basis" for the ostensible purpose of protecting foreign holdings.

A fantastic charge made in this connection is that these workmen are, in reality, United States soldiers who have been placed here "to watch eventualities."

OHIO CITY HALL FOURTH PLACE SET AFIRE IN PLOT

BARNESVILLE, Ohio, March 8.—Fires in the City Hall and Marvel flour mill late this afternoon followed a $750,000 blaze at the Kerns-Gorsch glass plant this morning. The three fires today, coupled with one several days ago, caused town officials to announce that they believe the fires are of incendiary origin.

The authorities have appealed for volunteer fire guards to patrol the town tonight.

The first balloon, Montgolfier's, ascended from Lyons, France, in 1783.

Farmer to Build Memorial to Son and 27 Comrades

Community Spirit Ebbs Away Until He Finds Himself a Committee of One.

RUTLEDGE, Mo., March 8.—While the nation at large apparently is forgetting the sacrifices that the American boys made during the world war and the widespread sentiment for memorials for the hero dead has cooled, not so with James F. Barnett of this city.

Like most communities, Scotland county talking much about building a memorial for the war dead, Barnett was one of the most enthusiastic. He planned, with his fellow-townsmen, a suitable testimonial to the memory of the valor of the country's sons. But his co-workers deserted him until Barnett found himself a committee of one.

Building Memorial Alone.
 Barnett could not forget that his son had given his all, so he decided to build a memorial alone. With his own hands he laid the foundation at his farm, seven miles northwest of Rutledge. He is using his own funds and in a short time he hopes to have the memorial to his son and his twenty-seven comrades completed.

The Barnett memorial will cost about $2,000. In addition, Barnett, who is president of the Scotland County Good Roads association, has given four acres surrounding the memorial to be used as a public park. He hopes to have a community house erected in the park as soon as the estate is settled.

MONTE CARLO NOT IN CLASS WITH WHEAT PIT, CONGRESSMEN TOLD

DALLAS, March 8.—Gambling on the Chicago Board of Trade makes the Louisiana lottery and Monte Carlo look very small in comparison, Clifford Thorne, general counsel for the American Farm Bureau Federation, declared in a statement before the house committee on agriculture at Washington, according to a copy forwarded to the state federation headquarters here.

There are fifty-one times as many bushels of grain sold on the exchange as there is grain shipped into Chicago, he said, and more than 99 per cent of the sales on the "futures" market are not followed by the actual delivery of the grain. The number of bushels of wheat bought and sold on the wheat pit of the Chicago Board of Trade averages per year three times as much as the total production of wheat in the entire world.

"The entire institution is under the control and domination of speculators, and the dealer in actual grain is completely overshadowed," he pointed out. "There exists a large corps of professionals who do not make their living by legitimate investment and instead of stabilizing the market, they tend to unsettle it, causing violent price fluctuations from which they are able to reap their profits. The credit resources involved in these vast speculative transactions, aggregating literally billions of dollars annually, should be employed in productive channels."

Flag to Fly at Top

The foundation of the memorial is nine feet six inches in the ground, and is fourteen feet long by seven feet wide. On top of the pyramid bases a flag pole thirty feet high will fly the Stars and Stripes.

Barnett says he will have a man take care of the memorial and raise and lower the flag each day. A trough, seven feet long and four feet wide, has been built at one end of the foundation and in it flowers will be raised this summer.

Barnett's son, who was the proprietor of the Happy Hunting Grounds kennels before the war, is buried in the Old Fellows' cemetery at Port Royal, Ky. Barnett has just completed setting up a $3,000 monument at his grave.

TOMORROW WILL BE NATIONAL FISH DAY

Tomorrow, Wednesday, March 9, has been proclaimed National Fish Day by the United States department of commerce and an effort will be made to induce people to eat more fish on that day and all days.

This is being done, it is said, because fish is a cheap food and is healthy, nutritious, and delicious if properly prepared. This is declared to be true of all varieties of river, lake and ocean fish.

Tomorrow will be the first national fish day that ever has been held and it has the indorsement of the Bureau of Fisheries as well as that of many Chambers of Commerce. The government it is thought, will give widespread publicity to the movement.

GIRL PUTS EQUAL RIGHTS WITH MEN TO TEST

Is "equal suffrage" but an empty slogan, or have women equal rights and privileges with men? Does gaining the ballot also carry with it equal authority to act, think, dress and speak like men? Or is that subtle sentiment called "public opinion" stronger than any sanction of the law? These problems and questions were put to a test recently when Miss Lillian Jeffries dressed in a natty business suit and fedora hat, paraded up and down Broadway, Los Angeles, Cal. While no officer arrested her, and while no one in authority suggested to her that she was overstepping the prerogatives of her sex, the shocked look of surprise in hundreds of eyes, the audible jeers and grins, made her promenade anything but a pleasant one. It was an experiment to test the reality of woman's freedom and rights.

WIFE OF POSTMASTER GENERAL WILL H. HAYS

Today she is "the ghost ship of Diamond Shoals," her bones bleaching in "the grave yard of the Atlantic," her master and crew vanished; no man knows where or why. She has added one more page to the sea's great book of mystery; paid tribute to the grim power of the deep that on occasion strikes through all that men and science can do to shackle it, to claim its own.

There is no record of the Deering's last voyage. She sailed full handed, thrilling with life and power. A month later she staggered blindly shoreward, alone by night, to ram her way to her last berth on the shoals. No hand touched her wheel; no man stood to check a shock or spill the wind from her tortured canvas to ease her death struggle. She was a

CREWLESS SHIP ADDS ANOTHER SEA MYSTERY

BEAUFORT, N. C., March 8.—A grim spectre stood unseen at the helm of the Bath-built schooner Carroll A. Deering when she cleared Rio de Janeiro harbor last December, riding light, and pinged out to sea with Norfolk port to make, via the Barbadoes.

The ship was tough and trim from truck to keelson, sound throughout and no more than sweetened to the ways of the sea by her year off the building stocks. A stout New England shipmaster, weathered to all the gales that blow trod her quarterdeck. Above him clean, sound canvas towered away to the five great masts that drove more than a thousand tons through the water on airs that no more than fanned the cheek.

Today she is "the ghost ship of Diamond Shoals," her bones bleaching in "the grave yard of the Atlantic," her master and crew vanished; no man knows where or why.
