U. S. Closes Its Legation In Prague

Debate Renewed In Congress On Foreign Policy

WASHINGTON, Mar. 20 (AP)—The United States closed its legation in Prague today, and ordered its minister to Czechoslovakia to return to this country.

Debate Renewed
The minister, Wilbur J. Carr, was directed to turn the legation over to American consular officials in Prague, capital of the latest country absorbed by Germany's "march to the east."

The order went from Washington in the midst of a renewal of congressional debate over American foreign policy.

The state department also released a telegram from Carr, dated March 17, which said: "There are no officials of the Czechoslovak government to which I am accredited with whom I can maintain relations for the protection of the interests of the United States and its citizens."

In the house, Representative Thill (R-Wis.) declared he never would vote to "embroider the United States in the coming European war."

"Hitler's seven league boots will lead to another European conflagration," Thill said, asserting America must make up her mind "whether she will stay neutral or not."

Sweeping proposals to revise the neutrality act, coming in the midst of tension over Germany's eastward march, reopened the fiery controversy over American foreign policy.

Administration officials were silent pending disclosure of the text of a formal protest to Germany over its absorption of most of Czechoslovakia.

On Capitol Hill, however, legislators quickly were taking sides for or against a bill by Chairman Pittman (D-Ore.) of the senate foreign relations committee to "warn warring nations buy arms in this country if they cash and ship them in their own vessels."

The present neutrality law bans such shipments whenever the president finds a state of war exists.

Annexation Of Memel Is Next Step

Understanding Between Nazis And Lithuania Reported

BERLIN, Mar. 20 (AP)—Germany and Lithuania were reported today to have come to an understanding on Germany's annexation of Memel.

Results of Parley
The outcome of conversations between Juozas Urbys, Lithuania foreign minister, and Joachim von Ribbentrop, German foreign minister, was described as:

1. Germany will receive Memel with open arms if and when Memellanders make known their desire to get "home into the reich."

2. Lithuania will consider herself rid of unnecessary ballast. The ostensible cause for Memel's reunion with Germany, however, will be Memel itself—not Germany or Lithuania.

The Memel landtag, meeting March 25, is expected to raise the cry of self-determination with a demand to "get home to the reich." Then Hitler's marching columns would enter Memel as liberators.

Circumstantial evidence indicated reunion of Memel with greater Germany is only a question of days.

(Memel, a Baltic district 1,069 square miles in area, was detached from Germany by the Versailles treaty and later placed under Lithuanian sovereignty with a measure of autonomy.)

Responsible circles indicated Memel was one of the chief topics under discussion last night at a conference of Hitler with various trusted lieutenants.

It was also admitted that the precarious state of relations with Great Britain was likewise a major topic and that the recall of Ambassador Johannes Welczek from Paris, as a parallel measure to French Ambassador Robert Coulondre's departure from Berlin, was discussed.

Whether Germany actually would abrogate the 1923 naval agreement with Britain could not be learned. Informed German editors, however, predicted Germany would take up the race in naval armaments as soon as practicable, at the same time bending every ounce of energy toward keeping up the strength of the air arm.

Alien Smuggling Scheme Uncovered

SAN ANTONIO, Mar. 20 (AP)—An alien smuggling scheme, which already has effected the illegal entry into Texas of several score alien Mexicans, and which was operated by a lone "master mind," has been uncovered by United States immigration officials, it was revealed here today.

The "master mind" who had his headquarters in Austin, managed to free across the border before the federal agents could arrest him, and now is believed to be in hiding in Nuevo Laredo.

As a result, a vigilant watch is being kept all along the Rio Grande in the belief the suspect may attempt to return to this country, since his family still is in Austin.

Local immigration officials, who have been investigating the case for several months, but who were unable to arrest the suspect because of a lack of sufficient evidence, declared the man collected from $5 to $25 per head from the smuggled aliens.

GIANT 'STRATOLINER' CARRIES TEN TO DEATH

In the top photo, spectators mill about the crumpled wreckage of a giant, four-motored airplane which crashed near Alder, Washington, on a test flight, carrying to their deaths 10 men, including two Dutch air officials, and leading American aviation experts. All were killed instantly. Below is a view of the four-motored Boeing stratoliner, capable of carrying 33 persons, while it was in flight.

People Misled On Pensions, Nelson Charges In Senate

Speaks In Opposition To Liberalizing Payments

AUSTIN, Mar. 20 (AP)—Bristling charges the people of Texas had been misled as to what they will receive in the way of old age pensions were made in the senate today by Senator G. H. Nelson of Lubbock.

Nelson was opposing a bill by Senator Doss Hardin of Waco liberalizing the present old age pension plan but not dealing with taxation.

It was the first day the senate had tackled on the floor the dynamite-laden pension-tax problem. The house had adjourned in respect to Rep. J. J. Olson of Yoakum, who died Saturday.

Nelson asserted the statement had been made all over Texas that the people had voted four to one for a constitutional amendment whereby they would receive pensions of $30, but nothing was further from the truth.

Reading the question submitted to the people two years ago, the senator pointed out the amendment merely authorized the legislature to set up a system of old age assistance and to accept federal aid and restricted state expenditures for this purpose to a maximum of $15 a month.

"The old people of Texas have been seriously misled," Nelson shouted. "I am not saying by whom, but there have been some who have gone about over the state saying if you were elected to public office you will get your $30 a month."

Asks Ruling On Road Aid

WASHINGTON, Mar. 20 (AP)—Secretary Wallace said today he would ask Attorney General Frank Murphy for an opinion as to whether passage of a county road bond assumption bill by the Texas legislature would result in a curtailment of federal highway aid to that state.

A request for the opinion is being prepared now by Wallace's aides and was expected to be forwarded within the next day or two.

The secretary said he had decided to take the case to the attorney general after receiving protests from various highway associations in Texas against a ruling last week by Mastin G. White, solicitor of the agriculture department, that enactment of the bill would not affect the federal highway aid to the state.

During consideration in Texas of the measure, endorsed by the state association of county judges and commissioners, question was raised as to whether the use of a surplus of gasoline tax collections to retire county lateral bonds would not constitute a diversion of funds under the Hayden-Cartwright act. The diversion would make liable the state to a maximum penalty of one-third reduction in annual federal aid. Such a penalty would approximate $4,000,000.

YOUTH WOUNDED BY ACCIDENTAL SHOT

Sterling Tuckas, 16-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John Tuckas, 1005 Lancaster street, was accidentally shot through his right foot Saturday afternoon while playing with a .25 calibre rifle. The bullet did not go entirely through the foot, thus it was necessary to have the damage repaired by surgery. He was treated at the Union & Bryan Clinic-Hospital Saturday afternoon, and was able to return to his home that evening.

Seek Cause Of Plane Crash

ALDER, Wash., Mar. 20 (AP)—Aviation experts came to this mountain village today to seek an explanation for the crash of the new four-motored Boeing stratoliner which carried its ten occupants to death in a spectacular 10,000-foot plunge Saturday.

Victims of the crash included A. B. Von Baumhauser, aeronautics engineer for the Netherlands government; Peter Guillemard, assistant manager of the Royal Dutch Air Lines, and several prominent American airmen.

Federal Judge Ralph E. Jenney denounced Gorin for violating "the hospitality this country so graciously extended" him, and declared he would be deported as an undesirable alien upon expiration of his prison term.

BUREAU ESTIMATE ON TEXAS OIL OUTPUT

AUSTIN, Mar. 20 (AP)—The United States bureau of mines recommended today that Texas be permitted to produce 1,415,700 barrels of oil per day in April.

Small Nations Given Chance To Sign Up

Mutual Action To Halt Nazi Aggression Is Sighted

LONDON, Mar. 20 (AP)—Authoritative diplomatic quarters said today Britain had proposed an anti-aggression declaration by herself, France, Soviet Russia and any other nation willing to join a common "Stop Hitler" front.

These quarters said the anti-aggression declaration was offered as a counter-proposal to a Russian suggestion for a joint conference of democratic nations to consider means of resisting possible German aggression.

It was not clear whether the Russian proposal envisaged participation of the United States in such a conference.

The view in London, however, was that American participation would be welcomed if it could be obtained.

LONDON, Mar. 20 (AP)—Reports circulated in parliamentary lobbies late today that Britain, France and Soviet Russia shortly might issue a joint declaration foreshadowing mutual defense measures to resist possible German aggression.

Others Could Join
Smaller European powers, these quarters said, would be asked to subscribe. Among them they mentioned Poland, Rumania, Yugoslavia, Greece, Turkey and Bulgaria.

According to these reports the declaration would not commit any nation automatically to go to war but, by implication, would involve mutual defense against an aggressor nation.

Its primary purpose would be to assure consultation among the subscribers should Germany attempt to repeat against another state her coup in Czechoslovakia.

Prime Minister Chamberlain earlier had told the house of commons that Britain's colossal defense program again would be reviewed as one of three British steps in answer to Germany's eastward drive in Europe.

The others were:
1. An attempt to rally "anti-aggressor" nations into a "stop Hitler" bloc.
2. A decision to send a trade mission to Rumania to counter German economic pressure in trade negotiations with Bucharest which have caused widespread concern.

The prime minister made the announcement after British officials also had stated that the government "may be expected to continue" closest discussions with Soviet Russia on Germany's expanding empire.

Soviet Ambassador Ivan Maisky, who has been in contact with Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax more frequently than any other diplomat since Saturday, again called at the foreign office for a discussion with Lord Halifax.

RUSSIAN SENTENCED ON SPY CHARGES

LOS ANGELES, Mar. 20 (AP)—Michael Gorin, Pacific coast manager of Intourist, Soviet government agency, was sentenced in United States district court here today to serve six years in a federal penitentiary and fined $10,000 for espionage.

Hafis Salich, Russian-born ex-navy intelligence agent, convicted of espionage, was sentenced to four years imprisonment and fined $10,000.

Federal Judge Ralph E. Jenney denounced Gorin for violating "the hospitality this country so graciously extended" him, and declared he would be deported as an undesirable alien upon expiration of his prison term.

Wm. O. Douglas Is Named To Post On Supreme Court

Securities Commission Chairman Selected As Successor To Brandeis

WASHINGTON, Mar. 20 (AP)—William O. Douglas, 40-year-old chairman of the securities commission, was nominated by President Roosevelt today to be an associate justice of the supreme court.

If the nomination is confirmed by the senate, Douglas will succeed the veteran Justice Louis B. Brandeis, who retired February 13 after 23 years on the high tribunal.

Although there had been a widespread demand for appointment of a westerner to fill the court vacancy, Douglas, a former Yale law professor, was appointed from Connecticut.

However, Douglas was born in Minnesota and received his early schooling in Washington state.

Douglas is known as a consistent new deal supporter.

Recently, he denounced as a "phony" a proposal from the stock exchanges to change trading rules. This was President Roosevelt's fourth appointment in less than two years to the nine-man court. There was no vacancy during his first term.

Another vacancy would permit him to name a majority of the bench. Chief Justice Charles Evans Hughes will be 77 on April 11. Justice James C. McReynolds already is 77, and Justice Pierce Butler is 72.

There has been speculation over possibility of McReynolds leaving the bench, but some of his friends believe he may remain until after the 1940 presidential election in hope an anti-new deal would be elected to appoint his successor when he retires.

Douglas has been chairman of the securities commission, which regulates the security markets, since 1936.

Since the administration began its current effort to reassure and stimulate business, the commission relaxed its rules concerning "short" sales of securities. Douglas balked indignantly a few days ago, however, at a proposal from the national exchanges to make further changes in trading rules. He charged that the proposed changes would not help legitimate business but would benefit "manipulators" instead.

Douglas has been on leave from Yale, where he had taught law since 1927.

France Planning Military Display

Mobilization Is Scheduled Along Rhine Frontier

PARIS, Mar. 20 (AP)—The French government was reported today to have decided upon regional mobilization along the Rhine frontier as a warning to Germany to keep hands off Rumania, a French ally.

Political sources indicated the first use Premier Daladier would make of the unprecedented dictatorial powers voted him by parliament yesterday would be an armed demonstration to Rumania that she would not have to face German threats alone.

Usual secrecy surrounded a hastily-called cabinet meeting yesterday, but political observers agreed that the first plenary decree, submitted for President Albert Lebrun's signature today, would start recall of troops and would be designed to bring the French army's standing strength up to nearly 1,000,000 men.

French military measures, these sources said, were tied in with a sudden stiffening of the French mobilization.

Sheriff A. W. Saeger of Guadalupe county, who investigated, said that Reichman had been in ill health for several months.

APPEAL FILED ON INJUNCTION AGAINST ELECTION OF JONES

WACO, Mar. 20 (AP)—William B. Brown, a Fort Worth attorney, filed an appeal here this morning asking the tenth court of civil appeals to set aside an injunction restraining the board of directors of Texas Technological college from meeting to elect Clifford B. Jones president of the school.

The directors had scheduled a meeting today at Houston.

Brown said Attorney General Gerald Mann was on route here from Austin with another transcript.

Judge Fountain Kirby of Groesbeck issued the restraining order against the school directors Saturday, on application of George W. Winingham, farmer of near Meade, whose petition contended election of Jones would be illegal because of a ruling by Attorney General Gerald Mann, which held the recent election of Jones was unconstitutional.

Mann ruled the election of Jones was not allowable because the latter was technically a member of the board of the college when the election occurred. Jones' resignation has been accepted and his successor qualified since the election.

Houston, Mar. 20 (AP)—Directors of Texas Technological college of Lubbock, meeting in the office of J. M. West, Houston member, ostensibly to re-elect Clifford B. Jones to the presidency of the institution, were handicapped by the serving of injunction papers from Groesbeck, immediately before the board went into session today.

Deputy Sheriff O. H. Gatton, acting for the sheriff of Limestone county, was at the office to await arrival of board members. First he served West, and then one by one served the others.

KERN SAYS HE WILL NOT RESIGN COACHING POST

The Sports Parade

By HANK HART

Apparently ready for delivery is the Howard county track and field title to Brady Nix's Forsan high school entry again. The annual meeting, booked to be staged at Coahoma under the supervision of Lloyd Devan, this weekend will attract five Class B teams of the county but the Bisons, who initiated their training only last week, appear the best of the lot.

They look to be the best because Hollis Parker, who tallied 23 points in last year's show, has returned along with Tommy McDonald, another point winner in last year's Midway carnival, Carleton LaBeff and Orville Creelman, senior athletes who did not participate last year.

Parker, in scoring 23 points, won first places in the 220-low hurdles, broad jump, high jump and pole vault, second place in the discus throw. This time he may throw the shot put as well.

McDonald will compete in the broad jump, high jump and high hurdles, LaBeff in the pole vault, high jump and broad jump and Creelman in a couple of field events.

Then there's Jimmy Johnson for Nix to bank on in the mile run. All in all, it looks like another Forsan field day.

Coahoma's big three, Ralph Marshall, Clyde Ellis Dunn and Lelley Echols, have all left school and Devan is scratching his head trying to find replacements for that trio which played a large part in pushing Coahoma's point total to 47 last year. He may have found a capable substitute in Rube Baker, a short distance runner, who has been looking well of late. Everitt Little, Jack Graham and others should help.

Out at Garner, Mentor Floyd Burnett lost strength when he lost the Thomas twins, R. G. and R. V., but has potential winners in W.

Carnegie Revolt Of Gridders Is Being Denied

PITTSBURGH, March 20 (AP)—Athletic troubles that echoed through Pitt's skyscraper schoolhouse and onto Duquesne's bluff campus the past two weeks today spread to Carnegie Tech but Bill Kern said he wouldn't complete the cycle of coaching changes.

Reports spotting him as the next to go in Pittsburgh's rapidly changing intercollegiate sports picture coincided with requests of 15 Carnegie sophomore gridders for "a clear understanding of their status."

College officials, denying there had been a revolt, admitted a liberal plan of President Robert E. Doherty for alumni financial help to worthy athletics had not operated as they hoped it would.

Lack of alumni contributions forced the sophomores to supplement the support by a work program. They complained they were overburdened with football practice, the necessity of work and keeping up with their studies.

This caused speculation over future grid material in the wake of a threatened depletion of players through stiff scholastic requirements that brought about dismissal of one varsity performer and two freshman prospects.

Kern only recently signed for another year at the job where he broke into national football spotlight last season.

This is his reply to reports he would not renew his contract: "I like it here. I want to stay. It's silly to think of things like that. I've got a lot of things to worry about before that time—spring football, getting boys eligible, putting them on the field next fall and so forth."

"I haven't a thing to say in answer to the report that I'm thinking of quitting because the time is too far off to even think of such a possibility."

Across the street from Tech the Pitt board of trustees gathered tonight in the cathedral of learning with indications it will pick a successor to Head Football Coach Dr. John D. (Jock) Sutherland.

Charles Bowser, former coach at Bowdoin and Grove City college, is considered the inside track.

Jock's resignation following similar action by four assistants climaxed two years of wrangling over Pitt athletic policy.

In the midst of Pitt's turmoil, "Little Clipper" Smith stepped out of the head coaching place at Duquesne. He said it was "for the best interests of the university."

Two Tex. Fem Teams In 1st AAU Games

Miller Grove Opposes Des Moines; Allison Plays Iowans

WICHITA, Kas., Mar. 20 (AP)—The women's National A. A. U. basketball tournament got under way tonight with some 200 queens of the maple courts ready to show how much girls' basketball has changed since grandmother's time.

As in every sport, form's the thing—and the girls display plenty of it. In grandmother's day knee-length bloomers and middie tights were harder to see. The game was pretty tame, played mostly to provide mild exercise for the more vigorous girls. But all of that has changed.

Today's queen of the court is smartly groomed. When she parades in the grand opening tonight she easily could be taken for a bathing beauty on display.

Her costume is streamlined to allow her the freedom the game requires. Her hair is freshly-curled. A spot of rouge and lipstick enhance the athletic color of her skin. Her fingertips will reflect the latest nail fashion.

But because she's modern, don't think she's soft. She's not an Amazon, but she plays the game all the way—whether it means a hard spill that jars her curls out of place or brings a scramble for the ball that smudges the satin sheen of her colorful uniform.

If she's on one of the better teams, she's probably taller than average, for size has its advantage in girls' play as well as in men's. Galveston, Tex., defending champion, is made up largely of girls within inches of six feet.

Little Rock, Ark., a former champion, also goes in for tall and capable girls.

Ten teams see action tonight. Twenty-five clubs from 14 states will battle through the 6-day grind to determine the champion.

Tonight's games (time is Central Standard time): 8 p. m.—Des Moines A. I. E. vs. Miller Grove, Tex.

7—Wichita Thurston vs. Hoehne, Colo. 8—Coleman, Wis., vs. Colorado Springs.

9—Allison, Tex., vs. Davenport, Iowa. 10—Kansas City vs. Wichita Steffens.

TRAINING CAMP NOTES— YANKS WIN BUT LOU GEHRIG CONTINUES TO LOOK RUSTY

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. — Everybody is trying hard not to worry about that old "Iron Man" Lou Gehrig of the New York Yankees. But the truth is Lou has looked mighty rusty this spring. He was the third out with men on bases three times yesterday but Bill Dickey and Joe DiMaggio helped the champions club out a 12-7 victory over the St. Louis Cards.

POFFENBERGER TAKES OVER AT WRONG TIME LAKELAND, Fla.—Boots Poffenberger, pop-off pitcher of the Detroit Tigers, missed a chance to get back into good standing yesterday. Going to the mound in the 12th inning with the score tied at 9-all he gave up a run in the 13th and the game to the Washington Senators.

FROTHO, AFTER 6TH LOSS GIVES PHILS A REST NEW BRAUNFELS — Manager Doc Frotho, convalescing from influenza, gave the Philadelphia Phillies a rest today on the heels of their sixth straight loss to the St. Louis Browns. He also cancelled Wednesday's exhibition with the St. Louis team to permit the Phils an early start for Harlingen, Tex.

ROOKIE'S MOUND FEAT IMPRESSES HARRIS ORLANDO, Fla.—Walter Materson, an 18-year-old rookie, was regarded as a sticker with the Washington Senators today. His feat of holding the Detroit Tigers to two hits in four innings, and striking out five batters, in yesterday's 13-inning struggle impressed Manager Bucky Harris.

A'S LOSE BUT MANAGE TO SPLIT TRIBE SERIES LAKE CHARLES, La. — The Philadelphia Athletics weren't the least crestfallen today about being held to two hits yesterday by the Cleveland Indians. They were content that they split even with the Indians in two games at New Orleans.

SISLER, TWO OTHERS ON WAY TO ROCHESTER CLUB ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. — The work of paring down the unwieldy St. Louis Cardinal roster was underway today. The first shipment to the farm took young Dick Sisler, Pitchers Preacher Roe and John Wahonie, and Catcher Lloyd Deal to Rochester's camp at Winter Garden, Fla.

Pie Traynor Is Desperately Trying To Plug Bucs' Mound Weaknesses

By ROBERT MYERS

SAN BERNARDINO, Calif., Mar. 20 (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates, having a little difficulty breaking into the win column in exhibition games, came back to their training site today to meet the Chicago White Sox, who have been having rough sledding in the spring practice affairs, too.

Harold J. (Pie) Traynor, manager of the Pirates, isn't too concerned about these setbacks, but admittedly will spend sleepless nights until he can plug up the main weakness of his club—the pitching department.

Traynor divulged he has lined out to beg, buy or otherwise appropriate a couple of pitchers, but until deals of this kind go through, he is rather pessimistic about Pirate chances in the National League this season.

He appears to be well fixed with the rest of the organization. There are two notable absentees from the 1938 ranks, and it is on the shoulders of these two, as much as anything else, that Traynor places the blame for the fold up of Pittsburgh in the closing stages of last year's fight with Chicago's Cubs. Paul (Big Poison) Waner, apparently is lost from right field, and Al Todd is gone from the catching job.

Traynor vows he won't miss either, and goes farther than that. He gave strong intimation he was glad they were gone—Waner as a hold-out, Todd traded to Boston in exchange for Catcher Ray Mueller.

In Waner's place he has Heinie Manush and Fern Bell, Bell, who hit .387 with Louisville last year, is a better fielder, doubtless, than the aging Waner, who contributed several highly important bobbles last year.

Lloyd (Little Poison) Waner remains in center, and the left field berth is taken care of by hard hitting Johnny Rizzo.

Traynor has no squawk with infield of Gus Suhr at first, Pe Young at second, Les Handley at third and slugger Arky Vaughan at short.

Mueller will be the regular catcher, backed up by Ray Berres as a rookie, George Susce.

As things stand now, Traynor rates Russ Bauers and Jim Tolt as "the only two pitchers I've got, which isn't very complimentary to the rest of the staff. His verdict might have the effect of stirring the Cy Biantons, Bill Swifts, Mac Brown, et al, into regaining their mound power they once displayed.

Browns, As Usual, Spring Leaders

Giants And Chi Cubs Unbeaten In Early Tilts

NEW YORK, March 20 (AP)—It's the same old grapefruit league they have down in the citrus belt, folks.

You can tell by the fact that the St. Louis Browns, last year's champions, are playing the club after the club in the major league clubs have played 56 exhibition games. The Browns are on top with six victories and no defeats.

There are three other undefeated clubs—the New York Giants with five victories, the Chicago Cubs with three and the Washington Senators with two.

Fred Haney, the new manager of the St. Louis American leaguers, wasn't interested in getting such a fast start because he sensed an ominous connection between the Browns finishing first in the 1938 Grapefruit grind and seventh in the American league. But playing the Philadelphia Phils every day, he has had no choice.

The Giants, who were bartering for power during the winter, have scored 53 runs in their five games and Manager Bill Terry is so

SEASON OPENS

HOUSTON, Mar. 20 (AP)—The Rice Owls will hurl a challenge at the perennial baseball supremacy of the Texas Longhorns as the Southwest conference season opens here today.

The Owls, with the strongest team they have assembled since baseball was revived at the school, will send Ed Mitchell, curveball sophomore from San Antonio, to the mound, while Uncle Billy Diech, seeking his 20th championship in 25 years, will start a Houston boy, Ned McDonald.

Galento Made 1st Challenger

Pastor, Nova And Max Baer Follow In NBA Regular Rankings

WASHINGTON, Mar. 20 (AP)—The National Boxing association again has named Tony Galento No. 1 challenger to the heavyweight boxing title.

The association's rating committee filed a notation, however, saying it neither sponsored Galento nor conceded him much chance of toppling Joe Louis' title crown.

Bob Pastor, suspended by the committee at its last quarterly sitting, was rated No. 2 contender when the officials learned the New Jersey Boxing commission had restored him to good standing.

COURTNEY, Mar. 20 — Coach Nolen Robnett and the Courtnay high school girls' basketball team returned Sunday from Waco on the state girls' basketball tournament where they succeeded in taking consolation honors by defeating La Poyney, 28-19, in the final after dropping their first round decision to Gatesville, the eventual champion.

Gatesville, which defeated Courtney by 12 points, went on to smash Meadow in the finals, 52-25.

The Eagles wind up their season play in a fray with the Garner High Billies this evening on the Courtney court. The game will decide the champion in PSAA standing in previous games Courtney has won two of three games.

The Eagles have lost but two games this season.

TEXAS CAGERS UNDERDOGS IN NCAA FIRST ROUND GAME WITH OREGON QUINT TONIGHT

Oklahoma Slated To Take Utah Into Camp

SAN FRANCISCO, March 20 (AP)—Top-notch basketball teams of four western conferences clash at the Golden Gate Exposition tonight in the first contests of the National Collegiate Athletic association eliminations.

Utah State College will meet University of Oklahoma starting at 8 p. m., and University of Oregon will play University of Texas immediately afterward.

The two winners will play tomorrow night, and the western champion will meet Ohio State, eastern division winner, in the national playoff at Chicago March 27.

Oregon's powerful team of lanky seniors, Pacific Coast conference champion, was a strong favorite. A fast outfit, led by six-foot eight Urgel (Slim) Wintermute, the center, the Oregonians have plenty of reserves and specialize in a fast break of offense.

Another big favorite was Texas, which lost only four of 23 games in the Southwest conference, and lists such victims as Arkansas and Southern Methodist. Texas plays a more conservative type game than the Oregonians.

Oklahoma, champion of the Missouri Valley conference, was figured to beat Utah State, which finished second to powerful Colorado in the Rocky Mountain circuit. Colorado decided not to compete in the N.C.A.A. Utah, on a barnstorming tour, lost to California at Berkeley last January.

Tonight's probable lineups:

Oklahoma	Utah State
McNatt	F. Bingham
Corbin	C. Morris
Mullen	F. Morris
Meech	G. Agrigola
Snodgrass	G. Lindquist
Oregon	Texas
Gale	F. Granville
Dick	F. Hall
Wintermute	C. Tate
Anet	G. Moers
Johansen	G. Spears

Officials: Lloyd Leith, Ernie Bailey, Dud De Groot, Bill Hubbard.

Bradley Tech Faces Long Is.

NEW YORK, Mar. 20 (AP)—Two of the strongest mid-western basketball teams step into the New York Basketball Writers' National invitation tournament tonight.

Bradley Tech of Peoria, Ill., and Loyola of Chicago, which drew byes through the first round of the six-team event, take on a pair of metropolitan rivals which won opening matches. Bradley faces unbeaten Long Island university while Loyola, also undefeated this season, plays St. John's of Brooklyn. The winners will meet in the final game Wednesday night.

PITCHED NO-HITTER—LOSES!

Talk of your Johnny Vander Meer, but listen to this story of 1917.

For nine innings, Jim Vaughn of the Chicago Cubs stood up on the rubber and burned the ball across the plate at the Cincinnati Reds.

Strikeouts, putouts, close plays had kept Vaughn's record perfect. Not a hit or a run had he yielded in those nine innings.

But facing him that day was Fred Toney of the Reds, and he, too, pitched a no-run, no-hitter for nine frames, the first and only double no-hit game in the history of the national sport.

But keep your hat on a minute, fans. A hour what happened. The game went into ten innings, and Vaughn was beaten by one run to nothing. He pitched a nine-inning no hit, no run game, but lost!

Lamesa B'ball Manager To Be Named Today

A Sunday afternoon meeting of fans failed to bring about an agreement on the managerial position of the Lamesa WT-NM baseball league club and another session has been called for Monday evening for that purpose.

Johnny Lane, newly appointed business manager of the club, informed The Herald this morning.

Steps are being taken to begin construction immediately on the Lamesa park, Lane said.

Park construction in two other league cities, Abilene and Amarillo, is well underway, according to information received from those sectors. Other cities of the loop are already equipped with plants.

Wheat Acreage Is Above The AAA's Goal

WASHINGTON, Mar. 20 (AP)—The federal crop reporting board creased a 1939 wheat acreage of 45,878,000, compared with a 45,000,000-acre goal set up by the Agricultural Adjustment Administration under the crop control law.

The board also estimated a national corn acreage of 92,062,000, compared with the AAA's goal of 90,000,000 acres. The estimates were based on reports from farmers on planting intentions.

Corn plantings compared with 101,714,000, the average of the last 10 years, and 93,257,000 last year, when the harvested acreage was 91,792,000 and production 2,548,238,000 bushels.

The all-spring wheat acreage was forecast at 19,508,000, compared with 22,615,000 acres sown last year and 22,203,000 acres averaged during the 1929-38 period. The board had previously reported 46,173,000 acres were planted to winter wheat last fall.

Today's report estimated 3,545,000 acres would be sown to Durum wheat compared with 3,868,000 acres last year and 3,668,000 acres for the 10-year average. Other spring wheat was estimated at 15,990,000 acres, compared with 15,629,000 acres last year and 15,726,000 for the 10-year average.

The board said the report was intended to assist growers generally in making such further changes in their acreage plans as might appear desirable.

The acreage actually planted this year, it explained, may turn out to be larger or smaller than the indicated averages by reason of weather conditions, price changes, labor supply, financial conditions, the agricultural conservation pro-

House-Yard Contest At Coahoma

COAHOMA, Mar. 20 — A house and yard beautification contest is being sponsored here by the Coahoma Civic and Study club in the hope of encouraging more attractive residential appearance.

"Much can be done to improve our city, to make us proud of our homes and to make this town an envious and inspiring example of beauty for other Texas towns," said Emilio Ramsey, publicity chairman for the club.

To encourage beautification, the city council and home demonstration club members are assisting in a clean-up week, March 20-April 1. Women of the home demonstration club are to call on residents to inform them what days the truck is to be in a particular neighborhood to haul away trash.

The contest, open to country and town homes alike, runs from April 1 through June 30. Entry blanks are available at the Adams Service station or the D. S. Phillips grocery. When entry is made, judges will call and make an inspection before any improvements are made, and then a final inspection after June 30.

Competition is divided into three cardinal points, 25 per cent of the rating being devoted to house improvement, which includes painting, repairing screens, etc., 50 per cent going to yard improvement, which includes lawn, flowers (the varieties), and trees and shrubs; and 25 per cent to other improvements.

Get Refrigerator With Ample Space

It Will Mean Savings In The Family Budget In The Long Run

To buy an ample size refrigerator is the same as to invest in refrigerator annuity insurance. In reality, a small size costs more than a larger one. The initial cost may be less than half but the buyer of a small model has little opportunity actually to cash in on his investment.

Economies effected not only pay off the initial cost of your modern refrigerator but pay additional interest on its investment, provided the initial investment is large enough to earn an extra dividend.

It is the new inexperienced user who buys a refrigerator too small. To underestimate the capacity of a refrigerator to meet future demands is a costly experiment to any individual. Once the housewife realizes the real economies of quantity buying and protector against waste she knows her mistake. It is not an easy one to correct from a refrigerator is a staple product. Style may change but like a reliable old timepiece, satisfactory service is the primary factor.

Problem In Arithmetic
A problem in arithmetic may illustrate why a small size refrigerator is more costly than a large one. Assume the head of the family earns a salary of $300 a month and has a family of four to support. According to his income, his allotment for food is $43 a month. At this figure over a period of two years, he has spent approximately $1,032. If he is the owner of a small size refrigerator he will have every day preservation but there is practically no reserve left to store vegetables and meat bought as "week-end specials." An over-crowded refrigerator runs up operating cost and care should be taken that there is plenty of room for ventilation. Many housewives have learned how to save as much as 20 per cent by quantity buying, elimination of waste and carefully planned meals.

Others have not acquired this technique quite so thoroughly and save only 10 per cent, but as time goes on and they become more familiar with the ways in which an efficient refrigerator cuts food cost over their savings are materially increased. With a large refrigerator these economies may easily be increased. A 20 per cent saving is not unusual. This figure is consistent with the economies which any number of electric refrigerator users are enjoying. A 20 per cent saving on a two years' expense of $1,032 for food is $206. In two years' time an ample size refrigerator will pay for itself and the years of additional service come as a premeditated service come as a premeditated investment—the larger the principal the more return.

I call my wife my C. P. A. — Certified Purchasing Agent!

I never saw anybody who can stretch a dollar the way she does! Everything she buys is a good value—and she never seems to get stuck with things that look good, but fall apart the first time they're used.

I told her one day that she'd make the Purchasing Agent of any business look sick. She was pleased when she saw I meant it.

"It's perfectly simple," she said. "I watch the advertisements the same way a stock broker watches the tick-tape. They keep me informed on 'good buys'—and save me a lot of shopping around, as well."

Sounds simple, doesn't it? But I can tell you it's saved this family a lot of money!

Why Married Women Work: There seems need for an official, specialized study as to why married women work. None has so far been made, and for lack of it married women continue to be the butt of criticism and of disparaging, even resentful, generalities—many of which are probably undeserved.

Women themselves are divided as to legal curbs in a matter of personal liberty as well as social policy; and amid strong opinions on both sides the real issue is too often beclouded.

Such general surveys as have been made in recent years, reveal that women as a whole are shouldering their full share of dependents, supporting themselves because they have to, or adding to a far too small family income.

Dallas Editor Invents A Sun-Dial That Tells Exact Time As Simply As A Clock

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE, Associated Press Science Editor. DALLAS — When her electric timekeeper stops because of a power break, Mrs. E. K. Mead can step into her garden, look at her sundial and reset the stopped clock correct to the second.

NEWSPAPERMAN HEAD Makes Sundial Reading Simple

She may be the only woman in the world who can do this, for she is the first to have a sun-dial that will show exact clock time. Her husband, "Ske" Mead, invented it. He is executive editor of the Dallas Times Herald.

The invention tops a sun-dial history that goes back to the prophet Isaiah. In II Kings, xx, II, the old Testament reads: "And Isaiah the prophet cried unto the Lord; and he brought the shadow 10 degrees backward, by which it had gone down in the dial of Ahaz."

But never before, it is claimed was there one which would read clock time. It has always been possible to compute clock time from a sun-dial. What Mead added is a small attachment which reads the "shadow" in clock instead of sun time.

There is no figuring to be done. It is only necessary to push a pin which sets the sun-dial so that sun time and standard time are the same on the dial for that day.

Such general surveys as have been made in recent years, reveal that women as a whole are shouldering their full share of dependents, supporting themselves because they have to, or adding to a far too small family income.

Of course, your first concern is to cut the costs wherever possible but not at the expense of essential food values. The three most common deficiencies in the American diet today are inadequate amounts of milk, fruit and vegetables, but the woman who has acquired the habit of buying in quantities has learned the secret that prices are appreciably lower only as she buys in larger quantities.

To buy in small quantities has always been extravagant and the woman who has made the best and most intelligent use of every piece of equipment installed in her home has learned particularly that a modern refrigerator has given her an entirely new slant on home economy.

Practically all markets feature specially priced foods on certain days. The savings will surprise you if you take advantage of these specials. Buy perishable foods as well as staples when they are offered at sale prices.

An efficient refrigerator retains this nutrition and eliminates spoilage and loss of flavor. Through cooking with cold, we have learned many new tricks in cookery. There is technique in serving left-overs and making them as palatable and attractive as new dishes.

Refrigerator Does Its Part For Budget

Food Preservation Means More Economy In Buying

Is 1939 challenging you to a curtailment of the family budget? Family life is always a reflection of the home-maker, so if you are a thrifty housewife contemplating living within a budget that won't bulge, you are sitting the matter of economy down to a scientific basis.

Of course, your first concern is to cut the costs wherever possible but not at the expense of essential food values. On The Record

By Dorothy Thompson

These Thompson's columns are published as an information service to our readers. Her views are personal and are not to be construed as necessarily reflecting the editorial opinion of The Herald.—Editor's Note).

CASSANDRA SPEAKING

This column, at least, is no longer susceptible to shocks over what is happening in central Europe. We feel pain and sorrow. But we do not share the perennial and amazing surprise of Mr. Chamberlain.

On February 18, 1938—that is more than a year ago now, and before the entrance of Hitler into Austria—we wrote: "Write it down. February 18, 1938, Germany won, and dictated in Berchtesgaden a peace treaty to make the Treaty of Versailles look like one of the great humane documents of the ages."

"Write it down. On Saturday, February 12, 1938, military bolshevism, paganism, and despotism, started on the march across all of Europe east of the Rhine. "Write it down that the world revolution began in earnest—perhaps the World War....

"Why does Germany want Austria? For raw materials? It has none of consequence. To add to German prosperity? It inherits a poor country with serious problems. But strategically, it is the key to the whole of central Europe.

"It is horror walking. Not that Germany joins with Austria. We are not talking of Germany. We see a new Crusade, under a Pagan totem, worshipping 'blood' and 'soil,' preaching the holiness of the sword, glorifying conquest, despising the Slav, whom it conceives to be its historic 'mission' to rule; subjecting all life to a collective, militarized state. Persecuting men and women of Jewish blood, however diluted it may be. Moving now into the historic stronghold of Catholic Christianity, into an area of mixed races and mixed nationalities, which a thousand years of Austro-Hungarian Empire could only rule tolerably with tolerance."

On September 21, we wrote an "Obituary for Europe" and on October 1, following the pact of "Peace" and the Crisis Begins," which was severely criticized in some quarters for its failure to rejoice over the peace. We said: "What happened on Friday is called 'Peace.' Actually it is an international Fascist coup d'etat. "The 'Four-Power Accord' is not even a diplomatic document. It is certainly not a normal treaty. It is such a fantastic piece of paper that it is difficult to describe except as a hurriedly concocted armistice made in advance of a war to permit the occupation by German troops of a territory which by sheer threat and demonstrations of force they have conquered by 'agreement'....

"There is not the most elementary consideration of justice.... "The pressure of the Nazis in contiguous territories occupied by German troops, their immense and cunningly organized propaganda, their house-by-house and name-by-name political organization; the ever-present threat that if the territories go German the political minorities will be exterminated, will assure the outcome of these plebiscites. One might just as well cede them to Germany in the first place....

"Even on the basis of what by intentional evidence would seem to be a rigged report (the Runciman report), Germany is guilty of provoking what was nearly an all-European war. And the punishment for this guilt is that she received everything that she was going to fight the war over.

"This 'everything' is more than the Sudeten territories. It is more than a free hand in the East. It is the domination of Europe.... "In this whole affair, described as an attempt to keep peace, the democratic process has been completely suspended. In both Britain and France the facts have been suppressed by the exercise of government pressure on the controlled radio and on the newspapers. The people of England and France are confronted with a fait accompli without even being able to gain in advance possession of the facts on which it is based....

"Not only is Czechoslovakia dismembered, what is left is destroyed as a democratic republic. It will be utterly impossible for the new state to exist under the conditions created."

On October 17 we wrote a column on "The Case of Cardinal Innitzer" in which we recalled the prophecy of Heine: "It is the greatest merit of Christianity to have managed the joy of the German in brutal bellicosity, but... when, one day, the Cross of Christ is broken the savagery of the old warriors, the wild boogeyer wrath, will break forth anew in all the barbaric fury of which our Nordic poets tell in song and saga. Even today the tallman of Christianity has begun to rot, and the day will come when its power will pitifully collapse. Then will the old stone gods arise from the accumulative rubbish of the past.... When that day comes... take good care, Franchmen, and do not interfere with those affairs which we are settling among ourselves. Take care neither to fan the fire nor to quench it.... Do not laugh at my advice.... the advice of a dreamer.... German thunder is admittedly German; it is not very agile.... but it will come one day, and such as has never yet occurred.... you will hear an explosion in the history of the world. "The hour will come, when, like spectators in an amphitheater, the nations will crowd around Germany to watch the great tourney."

Chapter 14 'WOULD-BE BURGLAR'

Assey expected to find Weston over at the hall, and the usual number of bystanders remembered seeing him just a few minutes before so he waited in the exposition rooms, where the local antique collections, and the flower and vegetable and preserve entries, held sway.

"Good evening, viewing our entries?" "Er—Mayo." "Yup." "Weston tells me that Slide has left town for the time being. He, Brinley nodded knowingly, says Slide was scared out of town, but Beasts and I know that you managed it. I wanted you to know that we appreciate it, sir, we appreciate it deeply!" "Don't thank me."

"Ah, modest, as everyone says. But you know we know." Assey wondered what sort of reward that was supposed to be. "And—Mayo." "What?" "Er—some of the ladies they want to take down their quilts for the night. I don't want to be rude to our guests, but on the other hand, it's a chilly night, and the quilts—you know what I mean. Have you any suggestions?" "There's General Philbrick over there," Assey said. "Tell him to take out his watch, and announce in that voice of his that the exposition will close in five minutes, but will open tomorrow at—well, whenever it does. Then close the door, an' the ladies can rip down quilts to their heart's content, an' no feelin's hurt."

"Wonderful!" Brinley said. "Thank you! I never thought of—oh, thank you!" Ten minutes later the antique quilts of Billingsgate—pine trees, log cabins, rising suns, birds and baskets, ship's wheel, rose of Sharon, duck's foot in the mud—and all the hundred and one other kinds, were on the way to their respective homes to warm the tourists and the old settlers.

Assey grinned and strolled upstairs towards the town offices. A man coming down brushed by him hurriedly, taking the steps down four at a time. Assey glanced after him curiously, for the man wore the first dark, city-like clothes he had seen in a long while.

Then, at the selectmen's offices, Assey stopped short. The glass-topped door was open, but there was no light in the offices beyond. He could see the marks where the lock and door had been forced.

"Goldilocks" Assey stood there and surveyed the situation. There was no sense to romping downstairs and trying to pursue the man, for the chances of catching him were something less than slim. If the fellow continued his original pace, he was now beyond pursuit, anyway. And in the confusion outside the hall, with dozens of cars starting and turning and departing, it would be next to impossible to find anyone. Not without creating a lot more confusion.

Weston appeared at the head of the stairs. "Brinley said you wanted me—is anything the matter? What's this?" "A gent," Assey informed him, "has been pryin' into that which don't concern him. Come on let's see the damage."

Weston nearly wept. "Assey, has someone broken in there? Who? Did you see—let's go after him!" "He's not important, relatively speakin'," Assey said, "but what he may have found or got or done or taken away matters a lot. Come see."

Nervously, Weston went to work in the office. "He hasn't touched Jeff's desk, and he hasn't touched Brinley's desk, but he has been at my desk—what are you laughing about now, Assey Mayo? This isn't—"

"You sounded so much," Assey said, "like Goldilocks an' the three bears. Go on, Wen, I'm sorry." "He didn't touch the files. They're all right. He didn't touch the safe, thank God, because I've got a hundred times as much cash there as usual. As far as I can see, Assey, he only went to my desk, and everything seems to be in the right order except my lower right drawer."

"What d'you keep there, ledger?" "Yes. Mostly I've got committee lists and plans for this week—I did keep 'em in the safe, but lately I've just left them out. Everyone knows 'em. They weren't important, because everything in them has been copied and printed and mimeographed. I—oh," Weston added lamely, "I did used to keep settling among ourselves. Take care neither to fan the fire nor to quench it.... Do not laugh at my advice.... the advice of a dreamer.... German thunder is admittedly German; it is not very agile.... but it will come one day, and such as has never yet occurred.... you will hear an explosion in the history of the world. "The hour will come, when, like spectators in an amphitheater, the nations will crowd around Germany to watch the great tourney."

"Did you or did you not hike that ledger over to the bank and put it in the vault?" Assey demanded. "I did. I was out front this morning when they opened the bank at eight. Well, I don't understand this much, do you?"

"Only that someone wanted to peek at that ledger. Certainly they didn't want Old Home Week plans, with the streets knee deep in 'em, so to speak. Well, well, an' I didn't even get much of a look at that fellow, either. He had on dark clothes, an' a felt hat, but he didn't limp, or smell of garlic, or have any outstandin' features. Huh. You was goin' to have a guard here at night, wasn't you, in the hall here?"

Weston shook his head. "You know there's never been a burglary in this town, unless boys broke into summer houses, or something. Why?"

"Outstandin' Outlanders "It'd seem that you had a would-be burglar here among your guests," Assey said. "Wasn't you in sight of the fact that you're not just copin' with natives here. You've got a good many outlanders, an' some of 'em are goin' to act outlandish. We'll have a couple of cops left here."

"People will want to know why." "Tell 'em, to look after your antiquities, an' exposition, an' all, an' for the benefit of anyone's edidin' or assistance. Billingsgate's gesture of safety for its guests. Two cops constantly on call. Make a hit, I shouldn't wonder."

"Well," Weston was dubious, "I suppose so. But how can we explain this door?" "Blame it on me. My car keys got locked up, an' I broke 'em. Now grab the phone an' get a locksmith an' have him fix things up. Got one in town, ain't you? Get him, then. Weston, I don't know as I ever saw a man jitter the way you can when once you get started! What's the matter with you?"

"Matter? It's like sitting on a powder keg! You can't tell what'll be the last straw that'll leave you holding the bag—" "Weston," Assey said, "get the locksmith, an' stop this foolness! I'm goin' over to the fireworks. It's most time for 'em." "There!" Weston said. "There's the next thing! The fireworks! What'll happen tonight when they have the big display? Who'll be shot tonight?" "No one." "How do you know? For all you know, someone might shoot at you!" "That is exactly why," Assey said. "I'm goin' right plumb up to the field an' stand in the middle of the crowd, teeterin' on my toes. Sara an' Jeff, an' Eloise an' Jane are goin' to stay there, an' I'm goin' to send a cop to stay with you. In fact, you're going to have a guard yourself, tonight. Does that help your blood?" "What use is a guard if someone's decided to kill me? Suppose I did keep out of the way of windows, and had a guard with me,

If anyone wanted to shoot dead ball at me, all they've got to do is figure where I'm sitting, or sleeping, and fire—right through the walls. Suppose someone does take to shooting through walls? Up at Aunt Sara's, for example?" "Won't get far there," Assey said. "That's an old house, an' built on the foundations of an older one still. There's a solid four-inch thickness of brick between the clapboards, an' the wainscoting. Aunt Sara was tellin' me today an' about how it cost 'em a young fortune to have the place wired for electricity. If anyone wants to pop at me under the circumstances, they have my permission. Now, call the locksmith, an' I'll send up a trooper. Don't worry, you'll be taken care of."

"But who was this man here?" Weston said. "What did he break in for?" "This is a new one," Assey told him. "This isn't the first one." "Someone else?" Weston said. "What makes you think so?" "The first fellow stole your keys, didn't he? Or the duplicates, or skeletons. Well, why should he stoop to lock breakin'? This is two other fellows. Weston, cheer up, will you? I—oh, goodby. I'll see you later." (Copyright, 1939.)

WANTS MESQUITE GUM FOR VARNISH EXPERIMENTS

Feyton Wheeler, a former resident of Big Spring, has written Postmaster Nat Shick for "two pounds of gum from mesquite trees."

Wheeler, who has until recently been with the paint department of the Sinclair Oil company, wanted the material for an experiment to determine if the gum could be used in the manufacture of varnish.

Shick said Monday that he would have to wait for the mesquite to show signs of life and sap rising before he could do anything about Wheeler's request. Wheeler now resides at Windom, Texas.

Going To Have A Garden?

Your Yard Will Look Larger If The Planting Layout Is Well Planned

Among the points to consider when laying out your garden: 1. keep your lawn in one piece, with trees, shrubs, and flowers around the edges and at the far end; 2. leave openings in the border shrubbery; 3. investigate planting breaks up monotonous lines; 4. prune trees high, shrubbery low.

If springtime means a chance to fix up the lawn, dig flower beds, and lay out a vegetable garden, you'll find some good tips in this story, first of six. Succeeding stories will discuss flowers, lawns, trees, vegetables, and window box gardens.

By The AP Feature Service

Before you plant pansies and petunias this spring get out Grandpa's old stereoscope. Take a look at that dog-eared picture of the national capital with the foreground of trees and shrubs. You see space between the foreground of green, and the massive stone structure beyond.

That's an effect of perspective—the key to the landscape expert's tips on how to plant a yard and garden.

To make a little plot of grass look bigger the experts tell you to draw upon tricks of perspective. Keep your lawn all in one piece. Put trees, shrubs and flowers around the edges, and at the far end.

A flower bed in the middle of a small grass plot leaves only a little green dab around the edges that looks like a tiny lawn crowded with too many flowers.

Here's another trick to add space. Leave openings in the shrubbery and trees that surround your lot. Then the eye gets a long view through to other lawns, lending a sense of distance.

You also get more open space on a crowded lot by pruning trees high and trimming shrubbery low. A large lot looks cozier with irregular plantings of shrubbery along the edges to break up straight, uninteresting lines.

Certain houses need a picture frame of trees. A tall tree on either side near the front corners may break a severe architectural line without hiding the beauty of the house.

Try 'Em Out First To get a test picture of how your plans will work out, Department of agriculture experts suggest temporary planting first. For example you can put in annual castor beans, growing four to twenty feet tall in shades from green to deep bronze, or cannas which reach three to six feet high, or Joseph's coat, four to five feet high, with red, yellow and bronze leaves. If you put them in the wrong spots you can easily pull them up and try again.

Oh, yes, you must figure on how tall and wide your trees and shrubs will look ten years from now. Otherwise a decorative shrub may become a tree hiding the most beautiful part of your house.

Your friends and visitors, even the casual passerby, will like you for planning before you plant. After all, other people have to look at your home too, unless you're a hermit.

Has First Close-Up Look At Oil Drilling, Decides Men At Work There Are Figures Of Destiny

By MARY WHALEY

Realizing an ambition is usually an anti-climax but it wasn't true in my case the other evening when I had an opportunity to see at first-hand my very first oil well. My guide and question-pestered friend was Roy Lamb, superintendent of the section that I visited.

First we went to a well where they were drilling and got there just in time to see them add another section of casing. Watching the silent, swift movements of each man I saw the giant hook and the clamps adjusted with mathematical precision. Hoover Uniform representative. Mrs. J. H. Kramer, 303 Johnson.

Next we visited a well that had been completed and, as I gathered, everything from there on out was comparatively simple. It didn't seem that way to me though with the pump working silently and continuously and the men moving levers, oiling the pump, working and watching with eyes alert.

Here where there was no noise to drown my questions, I began to ask them. I tried to find out from Mr. Lamb in 20 minutes what it would take me years to learn. The poor man began to assume a beleaguered expression but I kept on. I did everything but climb down into the machinery to inspect the things. Being uninitiated to the oil fields, I had worn my new fancy, toeless, heelless shoes much to the amusement of the workers who watched my maneuvers to keep my toes out of the oil.

A real smart person wouldn't admit this but I couldn't get over the fact that the finished hole is only a few inches around. I don't know what my active imagination had conjured up but somehow I thought from seeing the giant machinery that the well would be something like a water well, I guess, with buckets on a rope to ladle the liquid up. The those of you who have spent your lives in and around these fields, this must seem downright ignorant but remember my nearest acquaintance to an oil well was passing those on the road to San Angelo.

Seeing the men at their exacting toil and trying to picture mentally the things I couldn't see, I felt sort of humble about the whole thing.

Shows Profit On Poultry

Mrs. J. L. Buckalew, Vealmoor home demonstration club poultry demonstrator, is proving that good poultry practices pay cash dividends.

Last month she showed a net profit of $11.70 on eggs from 244 hens after feed costs were deducted and eggs kept out for home consumption. During February the hens laid a total of 2,486 eggs, and Mrs. Buckalew sold most of them for $18.50. Feed cost for the period was $6.80.

Another interesting part of her demonstration is that of her young flock. On Nov. 7, 1938 she bought 250 chicks for $36. Her feed cost to date has amounted to $32.30 and she has sold 100 of them for $32.50. Mrs. Buckalew still has 105 four month old pullets which will pay for themselves in egg production before long.

One of the secrets of her success is that she insists on good stock, getting blood tested strains of standard breeding. Next she follows a practice of strict sanitation in the care of her chickens. For laying, she has provided an average of one nest to every five hens. To avoid constant replenishment to feed troughs, she has invented a homemade automatic feeder. It consists of a metal barrel of feed turned upside down on a truck tire base. As fast as the hens eat feed out of the tire trough, more falls in through notches in the metal barrel.

In her chick compartments Mrs. Buckalew has homemade feeders and sanitary water troughs. She has a large pressure spray for periodical use on the chicken houses. Her young and old flocks are kept separate.

Charge Employes With Storing Arms For Labor Trouble

WASHINGTON, Mar. 20 (AP)—The senate civil liberties committee said today "the purchasing and storing of arsenals of firearms and tear and sickening gas weapons is a common practice by large employes who refuse to bargain collectively with legitimate labor unions."

The committee, headed by Senator La Follette (Prog-Wis), recommended legislation to prevent use of machine guns and "offensive chemical weapons" in industrial disputes. It also urged that movements of armed company police and strike guards be restricted to plant property.

Any legislation should maintain employes' rights to protect their property, the committee added.

It reported that employers purchased $1,388,812 of tear and sickening gas between 1933 and June, 1937, "chiefly during or in anticipation of strikes."

Garner Cites Views Of 1932 In Reply To Queries On Government Policies; He Hasn't Changed

WASHINGTON, Mar. 20 (AP)—Vice President Garner, it was learned today, is answering inquiries about his stand on government policies by citing a statement of views he made in 1932. He says he now holds the same opinions.

The 1932 statement was contained in a letter accepting the democratic vice presidential nomination. Garner wrote Senator Barkley (D-Ky) his philosophy on government.

"There are just two things to this government as I see it," the letter said. "The first is to safeguard the lives and properties of our people; the second is to insure that each of us has a chance to work out his destiny according to his talents."

"This involves protecting him from being injured or oppressed by those of superior acquittiveness, and perhaps less conscience, who seek to strain the rules to their own advantage."

"In my opinion, nearly all of our civic troubles are the consequence of government's departure from its legitimate functions. Our increased population and new conditions make it necessary to change the rules in order to keep the balance between the people and those who would exploit them."

"Unfortunately, these changes and adjustments result too often in enhancing instead of diminishing the evils."

Govt. Encroachment Garner, whom a group of Texas friends has advanced for the 1940 presidential nomination, said in 1932:

"Had it not been for the steady encroachment of federal government on the rights and duties reserved for the states we perhaps would not have the present spectacle of the people rushing to Washington to set right whatever goes wrong. x x x"

"The gravitation of power to Washington has built a structure of administration vast beyond the imagination of the builders of the constitution."

In recent years, Garner often has used his influence in an effort to effect government economies. In 1932 he had this to say:

"The republican platform, as usual, carries a retrenchment plank couched in vague, elusive terms—a striking contrast to the democratic platform, which demands a reduction of at least 25 per cent in expenditures."

"Republicans x x x promised economy in

Pension

Authorities will not match $15 to all that all over 65 will not get $30 and that the basis of need is bound to continue.

Referring to a statement recently by Senator Clint Small of Amarillo, before a committee, Nelson declared:

"The senator from Amarillo told you one truth. You can spend all the money you can scrape together under the present law on the books without enacting a new one."

"I think it economically and socially unsound to pay pensions to everyone over 65 years of age; I want to take care of all who need care."

"There I take my stand." Nelson fired away at the A and B classification of pensioners asserting:

"Adopt this policy and you'll create one of the greatest social problems Texas has ever known. You are asking me to consider on the same level the old man who has raised children on the principles of honesty and decency and one who has done nothing but cause the government and raise children who are now in the penitentiary."

Nelson asserted that in some counties negroes, for political reasons would be put in the classification along with whites.

"If you put my dad or someone else's dad in a class with negroes then is when the shooting will start," he said.

The Lubbock senator asserted Hardin was attempting to put the card before the house in that the legislature should first determine how it will raise pension money before it appropriates and divides it.
