

FIGHT LOOMS IN ALLOCATION OF RELIEF MONEY

Bill's Passage Is Predicted By Leaders WASHINGTON, April 28 (AP)—Congressional leaders predicted today President Roosevelt's $1,763,000,000 relief proposal would be accepted readily by both house and senate, but a fight is brewing over how the money should be spent.

Senate Leader Barkley (D-Ky) and House Leader Rayburn (D-Tex) agreed the sum asked by Mr. Roosevelt for the year beginning July 1 was "conservative." The WPA would get $1,477,000,000 of the total, the National Youth Administration and the Farm Security Administration $123,000,000 each, and about $140,000,000 would go to other federal agencies for relief activities.

Barkley said while he did not see the necessity for any "long-winded arguments," there would be a controversy over a formula for allocating relief funds among the states. Three major plans have been suggested: 1. Senator Byrnes (D-SC) would distribute funds half on the basis of a state's unemployment and half on the basis of population.

2. Republicans generally support a proposal to turn relief administration back to the states, and Senator Lodge (R-Mass) would require that money be distributed among the states according to jobs required to meet unemployment needs.

3. Representative Woodrum (D-Va), leader of economy-minded house members, also has proposed turning relief back to the states, with congress fixing the amount each state could receive and with a federal administrator supervising projects. Mr. Roosevelt already has adopted a part of Byrnes' relief plan by ordering reorganization of the FWA, WPA and other works and relief units into an integrated federal work agency.

Mr. Roosevelt emphasized that the $1,477,000,000 he asked for the WPA was about one-third less than the $2,250,000,000 appropriated for relief for the current year.

This reduction was made possible, he said, by prospects of improving business and consequent increased private employment, so that as against an average WPA employment of 3,000,000 persons this year the average next year would be 2,000,000.

Mr. Roosevelt upheld past handling of the relief problem and said it was "one of our most efficient administrative accomplishments." The president opposed any change in the relief set-up which would do away with WPA. He said adoption of a role would be "disastrous."

House Debates Youths Taken Pension Again After Escape

AUSTIN, April 28 (AP)—Quit cold by a senate adjourned for the weekend, the Texas house of representatives today labored alone in the face of bitter debate over a salient amendment to finance bigger old age pensions. Some time ago, the lower legislative branch, after weeks of wrangling, killed a similar proposal, but yesterday Rep. E. H. Thornton, Jr., of Galveston, advocate of the senate-approved plan now hanging fire, served notice he would attempt to bring the issue up today.

PARIS, April 28 (AP)—Warplanes seized by Germany in Czechoslovakia have been offered for sale to France, a source close to the government disclosed tonight. Reports of this offer and Chancellor Hitler's Reichstag speech, which was interpreted in French official quarters as "moderate," were taken here as comforting indications for peace.

FUEHRER RAISES ISSUE OF RETURN OF LOST COLONIES

Indicates Matter Of Aggression Does Not Concern United States; Asks Roosevelt To Uphold Pledges Made By Wilson At Versailles

BERLIN, April 28 (AP)—Chancellor Hitler today replied with ornate argument and denial to President Roosevelt's peace pledge proposal but said Germany was willing to exchange non-aggression pledges with her neighbors. He advised President Roosevelt in carefully chosen but respectful words that nations directly concerned should determine the matter and added that evidently no nation had asked for American protection against Germany.

Hitler served notice on Great Britain that he was denouncing the 1935 naval pact and told Poland he considered the 1934 ten-year German-Polish non-aggression pact was ended. He said Poland violated the pact by mobilizing troops when Germany had no intention of attacking her.

Blames Nazis For Change In Policy

LONDON, April 28 (AP)—Sir John Simon, chancellor of the exchequer, declared today it was "the action of Germany" which was responsible for Britain's new foreign policy. Speaking shortly after Chancellor Hitler's reichstag speech, Sir John insisted British character had not altered. "The thing that has changed British policy and changed it with unanimous approval," he said, "is the action of Germany."

Polish Offers Are Disclosed

He asserted his offers to Poland had been rejected. These offers, he publicly revealed for the first time were: Return of Danzig as a free state into the framework of the German Reich; a sovereign German route across the Polish Corridor to East Prussia and a railway line across the Corridor at Germany's disposal; a free harbor at Danzig at Poland; acceptance of present boundaries between the two countries as final; a 25-year non-aggression treaty, and a guarantee of the independence of Slovakia by Germany, Poland and Hungary.

Naval Pact With Britain Out

Hitler declared that the basis for the naval treaty with Great Britain, limiting the reich's navy to 35 per cent of the British, had been removed and that he had notified the British government to that effect. "Since England today, both by the press and officially, upholds the view that Germany should be opposed under all circumstances and confirms this by the policy of encirclement known to us, the basis for the naval treaty has been removed."

TWO AGAINST LOVE

Chapter One A STRANGE WILL In obedience to Jocelyn's touch the sleek black horse slowed his rolling canter to a walk. "Mephisto," she murmured, "you're the wisest horse in the world!" She patted his proud neck. "You know, didn't you, that Geoffrey was going to kiss me and I didn't want to be kissed? He won't forgive you for running away, you black demon!"

Mephisto turned his head to look at her flying red hair and laughing mouth. He blinked his eyes, then sidled toward the long row of palm trees which lined the driveway at two-foot intervals. Sometimes, when his mistress was in reckless mood, he let him do the stunt he loved; zigzagging through the line of gray tree trunks as fast as he could go. He hesitated expectantly as another horse trotted up. "Jocelyn," replied the blond young man called Geoffrey, "why must you ride that horse? If you can't control him you should stay off him!"

Text Of Hitler's Speech Given To U. S. As Reply

BERLIN, April 28 (AP)—The text of Adolf Hitler's reichstag speech was handed to the United States embassy today as the chancellor's official reply to President Roosevelt's peace appeal of April 14.

Nazis Outdo Selves In Having Nation Listen

BERLIN, April 28 (AP)—The thorough-going Nazi organization outdid itself today that every German might do his "national duty" of listening to Reichsfuehrer Hitler's response to President Roosevelt. At direction of Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels, workers gathered in community halls, school children assembled in study rooms and store and office workers hastened to the nearest radio sets to hear the Fuehrer.

Poland To Answer Hitler 'In The Same Manner'

WARSAW, April 28 (AP)—Poland replied to Adolf Hitler's reichstag speech with a warning today that attempts to put pressure on her will be answered "promptly and in the same manner." The German chancellor's denunciation of the 1934 German-Polish non-aggression pact and his formal admission that he had made demands on Poland concerning Danzig and the Polish corridor were greeted by a foreign office official with the declaration: "Germany knows well she can not apply to Poland the methods she has already applied in eastern Europe—accomplished facts and pressure."

Market Reaction Only Momentarily Favorable

NEW YORK, April 28 (AP)—The stock market gained only momentary comfort from Hitler's speech to the reichstag today. Most Wall Streeters' first reaction to the German chancellor's remarks was that it seemed somewhat "conciliatory," but a momentary buying wave in stocks, trading subdued and early gains of 25 cents to $2 a share was largely lost.

A Bus Load Of Travelers Is A Cross Section Of Everyday Life

By MARY WHALEY

The most interesting thing in the world to do, in my opinion, is to watch a coast to coast bus unload passengers at rest stops. As the people crawl out, dusty, wrinkled, to get their sea legs back, they represent a cross section of life.

From the richest to the poorest, from the oldest to the youngest, the sad and the happy, they're all on board the bus.

There is the sailor or soldier, the flirt working her nondescript looking "pick-up" for a free meal. There are always the lovers and the querulous old persons who get either too hot or too cold and will sooner or later lose something that will take the whole bus load of people to find.

There is the drunk, or the life-of-the-party type, who cracks obvious jokes with great guffaws at his own humor. There is the silent individual who rides for hours and even days without a word or a glance at his fellow travelers.

There is the inevitable child who would play footraces up and down the aisles and whose tired wails keep the rest awake. There is the woman who demands the best seat but is always afraid she hasn't gotten it. There is the business man who reads letters and important looking documents and fills the air with blue haze of a black cigar that will eventually cause a situation over whether the windows shall be up or down.

And leading them all like a mother with her troublesome children, is the bus driver, whose opinion of the human race must be poor. He is the man who sees humanity at its worst after days of travel, sleeping, eating and reading in close quarters.

Sometimes watching the buses unload, I wonder if the passengers haven't just dressed for their parts, so closely does each fresh busload resemble the last one through. If I lived next door to a bus stop, I would spend my time hanging out the window watching the travelers. I wouldn't get much done but it would sure be entertaining.

General jealousy is different. A variety of people or circumstances may make you jealous. That kind of jealousy, says the doctor, is nothing but possessiveness.

If you're jealous because your husband goes out to play poker; or because he pays attention to everyone but you at parties; or because he doesn't tell you what's on his mind, the real reason for your unhappiness is that you want him to share his whole nature with you.

Something To Ponder

Heaven forbid, says Dr. Knopf, "It would be a calamity if you should know another person's every move before he makes it."

And here's another bit to make a jealous individual think twice. Says Dr. Knopf, "Jealousy is often a cover for the individual's own weaknesses." Meaning that if you're the kind of husband who keeps a wary eye on his wife to be sure she isn't flirting, it's because you are stifling a yearning for a little flirtation yourself.

Dr. Knopf has found that an individual rarely is jealous of a person like himself. An older woman usually is jealous of a younger, for

Can Husband Or Wife Be Cured Of Jealousy?

This is the second of six weekly articles in which psychologists and educators discuss problems that often trouble the average married couple, and tell how they may be met.

By LYDIA GRAY SHAW AP Feature Service Writer

If ever the green-eyed monster sneaks up on you, you'd better get off in a corner and start analyzing. Because if you're jealous, it's probably your own fault.

Jealousy is a character weakness, says Dr. Olga Knopf, New York psychiatrist who is authority for these statements, and it can be cured, just as selfishness can be, if the individual tries. But most people won't make the effort, she thinks.

The jealous individual may think jealousy indicates great and undying love. Love doesn't have a thing to do with it, says our authority.

The best way to start fighting the dragon is to understand what kind of a beast the dragon is. Dr. Knopf says there are two kinds of jealousy—specific and general.

If you flare up only when you see Mrs. Jones, who you imagine is an object of your husband's attention, you suffer from specific jealousy.

General jealousy is different. A variety of people or circumstances may make you jealous. That kind of jealousy, says the doctor, is nothing but possessiveness.

If you're jealous because your husband goes out to play poker; or because he pays attention to everyone but you at parties; or because he doesn't tell you what's on his mind, the real reason for your unhappiness is that you want him to share his whole nature with you.

Some Self-Analysis

Of course some jealousy is justifiable—where the facts indicate one of the couple isn't playing the game. But even then, it's not too late for self-analysis.

Study the situation, advises Dr. Knopf, and see what the rival has to offer that you haven't. Chances are, your husband or wife has turned away from home because of the other's failure to make a good partner.

Certainly men are jealous, says the psychiatrist, "Did you ever try to knit when your friend was around? How did he act? Didn't he insist you put it away and pay attention to him? Well, then..."

Next week: How can we avoid petty squabbles?

NEW FISHING LAW TO PERMIT 24 PANHANDLE COUNTIES TO OPEN SEASON WITH OTHERS

AUSTIN, April 28 (UP)—Recent legislative repeal of a law affecting 24 Panhandle counties will permit them to join the rest of the state in opening the general fishing season Monday, the game department announced today.

The lifting of restrictions prohibiting catching of black bass and crappie and the use of artificial bait on May 1 for the first time in years will include the counties of Dallam, Sherman, Hansford, Ochiltree, Lipscomb, Hartley, Moore, Hutchinson, Roberts, Hemphill, Oldham, Potter, Carson, Gray, Armstrong, Wheeler, Deaf Smith, Randall, Donley, Farmer, Castro, Swisher, Briscoe and Hall.

Fishermen in those counties previously had been forced to wait until June 1 to join the army of Texas anglers, but the current legislature repealed the law closing the season during April and May and made it March and April in conformity with the rest of the state.

The department said certain general laws defining license requirements, methods and taking fish, size limits, and other points would be effective throughout the open season but that anglers should be careful to obey special county laws which took precedence over the general regulations.

Consult Wardens
Fishermen were advised to consult game wardens or digests of laws to be found at sporting goods stores on more than 200 special applications of county regulations concerning fresh water fishing.

Department officials asserted there were no exceptions to the rule all resident Texas fishing with artificial lures must buy a license costing $1.10. Non-residents or aliens must purchase a non-resident license at $5 or may get a $1.10 five-day license when fishing with artificial bait.

Sportsmen may fish in their counties of residence without a county resident fishing license except in 22 counties in which the universal license law is in effect. They are Mason, Menard, Kerr, Schleicher, Crockett, Sutton, Kimble, Real, Edwards, Blanco, Llano, Kendall, Gillespie, El Paso, Hudspeth, Culberson, Val Verde, Kinney, Maverick, Terrell, Brewster and Harris.

The resident fishing license, costing 55 cents, is not required of residents under 17 years of age or those who fish on property they own or on which they reside. Persons holding an artificial lure license are not required to buy the resident license.

No Wire Nets
The department warned against use of wire nets and fish traps except where permitted by special county laws.

Black bass of less than 11 inches and crappie less than seven inches in length may not be taken under the general law but there are exceptions in some counties. No exceptions, however, are permitted to the general law prohibiting the sale of bass and crappie. Other fish, however, may be sold in most counties, subject to a multitude of county regulations.

The general law on bag limits says it will be illegal to take in one day more than 15 bass, 15 crappie, 35 bream, or an aggregate of more than 50 of these species; or to possess at any time more than 30 bass, 30 crappie or 70 bream.

The general bag limit law, however does not apply in 70 counties, a few of these having their own limits and the rest no limits at all. The department said many counties have special minnow laws.

AUSTIN, April 28 (UP)—Mrs. E. R. Hury of San Antonio finished the first 18 holes of the 36-hole final of the Women's Texas Golf association tournament here today two up on Miss Betty Jameson, also of San Antonio and defending champion. Both women played ragged golf.

FETCHES LAW

It's no wonder that "Law Comes to Texas," just as the title of the Friday and Saturday show at the Lyric theatre suggests. Veda Ann Barr, heroine, is enough to fetch along any law, and Bill Elliott, returning to the screen after a year's absence, straightens out a tough situation in pre-ranger days of Texas.

Tom Tyler In Fast Western

Plenty Of Action In Queen Show, 'Galloping Thru'

Opening with a gun battle and a fist fight, "Galloping Thru," Friday and Saturday feature at the Queen theatre, stars Tom Tyler, ace western actor, in a rip-roaring classic of the great open spaces.

Right off the bat Tyler dashes into a thrilling chase, pursuing bandits who killed his father. Wounded, he is left for dead on a lone trail. When he recovers, his determination to wipe out the bandit gang is satisfied only when he accomplishes his aim, but not before several men are dropped with smoking guns, a stage-coach is overturned, and a thrilling gun battle on the main street of a little western town decides the issue.

Betty Mack supplies the romance while Al Bridge is cast as Tom's pal. G. D. Wood and Stanley Blystone are the mean men. Other members of the cast are John Elliott and Si Jenks.

Twister In Gonzales

GONZALES, April 27 (UP)—Gonzales county residents repaired today the damage done by a twister which whirled along a strip of territory eight miles long. It was estimated the storm caused thousands of dollars' damage. A serious spring dry spell was broken, however, by the five-inch down-pour that came in with the blow. Outside the storm sector, one to three inches precipitation drenched the parched country. No one was reported injured during the twister.

WHAT AND HOW MUCH OUGHT RELIEF COST?

Relief costs too much, critics charge, especially to administer. Yet there is a singular lack of dependable information on how much it costs should cost. Any serious effort to establish a basis for ascertaining cost merits attention.

A resolution is now before the New York State Legislature to create a joint legislative committee to study the question. Its sponsors assert that relief costs in the state are excessive. They contend that the administration of home relief costs about 13 per cent of the total amount of relief granted.

The usual procedure is to lump together all expenses of a public welfare department, other than the amount of relief granted, and to consider the total as administrative cost. But should all such items be so considered? In business not all personnel and operating charges are classified as administrative expense.

Applying this division of costs to its expenditures in a sample month, the New York City Department of Welfare found the administrative pay roll to be 1.53 per cent of the total. The operating pay roll for the same period, which included the direct services to relief applicants, represented 10.95 per cent of total expenditures.

Welfare officials have many other functions besides distributing relief funds. One is to determine whether persons are eligible for relief. Almost 50 per cent of all applications for home relief in New York State are rejected. If administrative and operating costs are drastically curtailed through reduction of staff, the cost of increased relief because of less thorough and less frequent investigation may be greater than the administrative savings.

Chapter 48 THE ROUND-UP Inside the Randall house, Ascy greeted Kay absentmindedly. "You, huh? 'Bout time. Wait outside, Ham. Sit down, Kay. Listen an' don't interrupt. You got a job."

On The Record

By Dorothy Thompson

(Miss Thompson's column is published as an informational and news feature. Her views are personal and are not to be construed as necessarily reflecting the editorial opinion of The Herald—Editor's Note.)

THE NOTE AND THE BEAM

While our public officials are conducting an energetic offensive against the ideas of the dictatorship, this country follows a dogmatic program which tends toward dictatorship and adopts many of the measures which are most susceptible of criticism under the dictatorship, such as a rapidly increasing income tax in the proportion of the national income controlled by the state, the strangulation of private enterprise and initiative by taxation policy and the setting up in the WPA of a separate work economy demoralizing the working standards of the rest of the economy.

THOMPSON

And now the latest move in the same direction is the proposal to barter American cotton against British-grown rubber and tin, together with an export subsidy for cotton.

The warning as to the direction in which we are tending comes from numerous sources. Mr. Henry Scherman, in the April 22 "Saturday Evening Post," has a brilliant article on the eventual meaning of a systematically unbalanced budget.

The latest report of the Brookings Institution is not at all in harmony with New Deal theories but, we are told, represents the views of the ablest men in the treasury department.

Nevertheless, the chance of these views being adopted is remote, in consideration of the political situation.

The reports from Bolivia describing the justification of the first totalitarian state on the western hemisphere are enlightening. President Lieut. Col. Busch has proclaimed a totalitarian state, with certain capitalistic interests being obstructing his efforts to solve financial and economic problems.

It is worth noting that the regime which has established the new system—which, from the first reports, closely follow the German model—started with half-baked semi-socialist ideas, and that the new dictator was the instigator of capital confiscation. The sequence is logical. The state having undertaken much, must undertake more and must have increased power in order to deal with its own errors.

In Chicago a controversy is going on over the WPA policy which is receiving more publicity than it has received. Building contractors and trade unionists are protesting that building enterprises undertaken by the WPA—eliminating the contractor, disregarding established methods of operation, giving questionable supervision and overloading jobs—are bankrupting the building industry, and that the WPA is doing work with relief labor which undercuts the union scale.

It bears a distinct analogy to the Brazilian coffee valorization, which ended with dumping and burning unmanageable supplies. The world carry-over of American cotton is expected to approximate fourteen and one-half million bales by next August—the largest in history—and government loan holdings, if no cotton is released before August, plus the expected 1935 crop of thirteen million bales, are estimated to bring the world carry-over to four or five years of normal export requirements.

Since the government's loan holdings were not hedged in the market, the barter deal will merely transfer stocks from the producing area—interested in stabilizing cotton prices—to the consumer, and will prevent a change in our policy in the direction of stimulating foreign markets.

The mere enunciation of the plan has virtually killed the export market. The anarchic price influence of the whole proposal means that the foreigner hopes to obtain his requirements at his own price, while the internal demand is affected by expected lower futures.

The scarcity of desirable cotton outside government-loan stocks, which has stimulated foreign production, the high price of American cotton relative to foreign growth—these have meant that foreign exporters have been using less and less American cotton.

Politically speaking, such a barter transaction, once begun, is bound to be extended to other commodities, which will demand to benefit from subsidies. So we introduce a new pork-barrel scheme, the mere apprehension of which will disrupt the markets of other commodities.

In its present form we will subsidize the foreigner without expanding our foreign markets and depress the world price level of cotton—and then, in all probability, extend loans to Brazil to offset the deflation of her cotton income, which our previous policy originally stimulated.

We will actually be the first to set the example of subsidizing raw materials that hitherto have had a free world market.

Dr. Claudius Marchison, president of the Cotton Textile Institute, challenges Secretary Wallace to explain why Great Britain, whose export of cotton goods is now less than half of what it was eight years ago, has not resorted to export subsidies. He rightly says that if she had, the United States would have been the first to denounce the plan and impose countervailing duties on British goods.

The secretary of state continues: "I have frequently had occasion to point out that agreements for foreign trade based upon the principle of bilateral balancing, implemented by barter or compensation arrangements, is fundamentally unsound and that such practices, when adopted as a general policy, not only constitute a highly disruptive influence in world commerce but are injurious to the very countries which utilize them. While there may be circumstances under which special types of barter arrangements may be considered necessary to supplement other methods of trade promotion, the substitution of a general policy of barter or compensation trade for normal trade methods inevitably leads to a curtailment of total trade and reduction of living standards."

There might, of course, be a justifiable barter if on the basis of a uniform price. But the barter proposal now made is not such a one. It consists of pegging the price here and letting the international price take the brunt.

One is compelled to see in this measure a political camouflage for the bankruptcy of the New Deal agricultural policy since 1934, which, building on the Hoover farm board errors, compounded misplanning long before the authoritarian barter attack on world economy.

TWO AGAINST LOVE

by Frances Hanna

He shrugged his big shoulders. "I would mean nothing to you that this is only the middle of March!"

"So what? The pool is heated to seventy degrees and some March sun will do no harm to my lily-white skin. Meet you in ten minutes..."

Running toward the great English manor of gray brick she heard Mephisto whinny. She wished Geoff understood her as well as Mephisto did, but she recoiled, skipping up the stairway to her rooms, how could one expect a man to have the understanding of a horse? Geoff knew polo ponies but he certainly did not know women. Rather a darling, though, and magnificent on the polo field.

After adjusting a blue satin swim-suit over her slender, compact curves she tucked her thick wavy hair under a blue cap, snatched a robe, and hurried out to the tiled swimming pool at the side of the house. Seeing that Geoff had not yet appeared she bounced twice on the springboard and plunged into the clear, sun-dappled water.

Geoff, joining her at the side of the pool, said, "Lyn, you're stubborn and wilful and you worry me to death, but right now your eyes look like huge blue sapphires set in borders of black onyx. May I kiss them?"

She held still while his lips brushed her lashes, then she dived to the bottom of the pool. Coming up she called, "In what novel did you read that simile?"

"All right," he said. "So I have no imagination and no sense of humor. Your grandmother told me that often enough. She didn't like me, did she?"

"Of course she did. But most of the time she lived in the past. I suppose she was a Victorian, wasn't she?"

"All right," he said. "So I have no imagination and no sense of humor. Your grandmother told me that often enough. She didn't like me, did she?"

The Sports Parade

By HANK HART

The deal between Tony Rego and the New York Yankees, which came after several days of negotiations, was completed at 3 a. m. Thursday when Joe Devine, chief Yankee scout, finally got a telephone call through to the Big Spring manager. Devine was in El Paso at the time.

It seems that Josh Billings had originally aided Clovis to getting together with the New Yorkers only to have the Yankees queer the deal. Devine is said to have abruptly ended negotiations with the New Mexicans and taken up with Big Spring where the terms were friendly in the first place.

The pact with the locals give the Yanks their second agreement in the southwest, their fifteenth in minor league circles. El Paso of the Cactus league also works with them. Other clubs of that "family" are Newark, Kansas City, Binghamton, Norfolk, Va., Augusta, Wenatchee (Wash.), Akron, Amsterdam (N.Y.), Joplin (Neb.), Norfolk (Neb.), Butler (Pa.), Neosho (Mo.) and Easton (Md.), Newark, Kansas City, Binghamton and Norfolk, Va., are owned outright. The others simply have agreements.

Devine should be remembered locally. He spent two days in Big Spring during the 1938 season, came out to watch Johnny Soden, among others, pitch. Devine was privileged to sit in on a game the day Soden was at his best, fanned the Clovis club through seven innings.

Rego hints he would like to get the champions out here for an exhibition game next spring when the Yanks swing through Texas, hitting Ft. Worth and Dallas along the way. If seats or accommodations could be made for a crowd of 5,000 or 6,000 people that move might be considered.

The home run clouting of the local squad is proving a pleasant surprise to local fans. The '38 Barons hit less circuit smashes than any other team in the league last year.

The Midland team is composed entirely of rookies. There isn't a class man on the squad.

The Midland manager, Jimmy Kery, won't be out of action for as long as was first thought. He has his injured paw bandaged but will be able to don the harness in less than a week. He was hurt the first day on one of Joe Piet's fast pitches.

One of the outstanding features of Lubbock's early rush has been the hard work of Bob Mosel, who speared first sack, who couldn't hit the size of his hat band last year. Bob has been fitted with special glasses on orders of the Lubbock parent club, the Chicago White Sox, and simply can't be put out.

The Hubber pitching staff is said to be much weaker than it was last year. Although winning two of their first three games the Hubbers' opposition have made a total of 30 runs.

The softball grounds at the Mury park is in need of immediate improvement. The lights are improper, the infield in gasty shape. When the situation is bettered the city league's schedule can get underway.

Murphy Calls Off Spring Grid Game

The intra-squad game, feature of spring training in the Big Spring high school football camp, originally scheduled to be played this afternoon at Steer stadium, was cancelled this morning by Coach Pat Murphy.

Murphy said he has decided to close the spring work without holding the game because of the many injuries that had been suffered in camp.

The Bovines will not don their grid togety again until next September. Monday afternoon John Daniel will inaugurate spring basketball drills in the high school gym. Workouts will continue through two weeks.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By EDDIE BRIBETS

NEW YORK, April 28 (AP)—The success of the phenomenal Phillies has affected Doc Prothro strangely. He says the Dodgers look like a first division ball club to him. . . . Joe McCarthy (who once was an engaged guy himself) is fretting last Joe DiMaggio jump the gun and decide to get married in mid-season. . . .

Curses!
Dear Diary: Damn it, we forgot the name of the Detroit scribe who said: "Detroit now has a hard Rowe to who."

Cliff Melton can't understand why his comeback is flopping. Says his stuff is better than ever. That's just what your customers are saying. Cliff... Gehrig's batting average—.167... Giant attendance off 50,082 for seven games... Dodgers using orange-colored balls in practice. . . . Anything can happen.

What they say:
Casey Stengel: "I'm through being smart. Every time I try it, I outsmart myself. . . . Doc Prothro: Bill Terry told me there was no ball club in Philly. Last week I answered him. . . . Bill Meyer, Kansas City manager: Ted Williams is the greatest natural hitter since Babe Ruth. . . . Gus Mancuso: For three innings Paul Dean had as much as he ever had. After that he was through.

Cincinnati is all broke out with professional courtesy. When Tom Swope, the Post's baseball expert, lost his wrist watch, it was promptly found and returned by the general manager of the rival paper, the Times-Star. . . . The Yanks continue deaf to Connie Mack's pleas that they play a game or so under the lights of Quakerstown.

OPENING DAY SIDELINE PATTERN

By JOE PICALE

First home game impression—We could use a battery like Grover Dunham and R. L. Cook, who tossed and caught the first ball. . . . Ira Thurman with his red boutonniere and Bill Tate with his 10-gallon straw hat were sartorial standouts. . . .

Decker strolled again in the second and immediately stole his first sack of the year. He went to third on Marshall's ground ball and came home when Malvica erred on Stasey's hopper after Volk whiffed.

Wooten tallied in the fifth on Berndt's line single into center field after gaining first base on a sharp lick into right field. Marshall stepped into a fast pitch in the fourth for a line bingle and came home on a long fly by Capps after being sacrificed by John Volk to Bobby Decker, do villain infielder, touched off some fireworks at the second, then almost stepped on a cracker as it made a belated explosion. . . .

The Hubber pitching staff is said to be much weaker than it was last year. Although winning two of their first three games the Hubbers' opposition have made a total of 30 runs.

Recreation News

Softball followers have good news. The diamond at the park is being reconducted. The infield is to be leveled and leveled, and the outfield is to be cleared of all hazards, but the natural vegetation is to be left to minimize the blowing dust.

The average railway haul of fresh fruits and vegetables is approximately 1,400 miles, while the average haul of all commodities is only 250 miles.

DENTON IS RELAY FAVORITE

PHILADELPHIA, April 28 (AP)—Two of the nation's top-notch relay teams—Pitt and North Texas Teachers—defied their world's records in the sprint and distance medley races today as the annual two-day Penn Relays open at Franklin Field. . . .

Marshall And Stasey Pace 16-3 Win

By HANK HART

While Johnny Soden was having himself a time freeping enemy bats, his Big Spring Baron team mates went to work on Ray Taylor and Jim McLaughlin, blasted out a respectable 16-3 victory over Midland's Cowboys in the first WT-NM league game here Thursday afternoon. Despite perfect weather only 750 were on hand to witness the classic.

Soden surrendered eight hits and was invincible except in the fourth inning. . . . Taylor pitched to just four men in the first inning. He slipped a free ticket to Bobby Decker, the leadoff man, and developments came thick and fast. . . .

Decker strolled again in the second and immediately stole his first sack of the year. He went to third on Marshall's ground ball and came home when Malvica erred on Stasey's hopper after Volk whiffed.

Wooten tallied in the fifth on Berndt's line single into center field after gaining first base on a sharp lick into right field. Marshall stepped into a fast pitch in the fourth for a line bingle and came home on a long fly by Capps after being sacrificed by John Volk to Bobby Decker, do villain infielder, touched off some fireworks at the second, then almost stepped on a cracker as it made a belated explosion. . . .

The two teams tangle again today in the series finale. Charley Morgan was due to do the pitching chores for the locals. Saturday the Abilene Apaches come to town for a two-game series.

Anglers Can Fish After May 1

By DAVE CHEAVENS

Grease your elbows, anglers brothers, if you hope to slide into your favorite spot for opening of the game fishing season in Texas Monday, May 1.

Indications are anglers will stand shoulder-to-shoulder in popular two-bit bank fishing places where past experiences have produced crapple fishing in the sloughs and brush piles along the banks was above par. That doesn't necessarily mean fishing will be good everywhere, because Caddo's reputation is firmly established as a producer no matter what conditions are elsewhere.

Worming fishermen, patiently breeding their way through March and April, reported many bass hungry enough to gobble garden huckle. Two trot-line fishermen from Cleburne, John Butler and Bill Chamless, inadvertently caught a 14-pound bass at Lake Buchanan. They tossed him back after making a re-appointment for May 1.

Advance reports indicate reservations for boats are going fast at such popular waters as Eagle Mountain, Bridgeport, Lake Kemp, Buchanan, Medina and Innumerable others both large and small.

Sheriff Gets Foe

FORT COLLINS, Colo., April 28 (AP)—William (Big Bill) Mayfield, heavyweight champion at Fort Francis E. Warren, Wyo., will come here May 12 with the intention of beating up Ted Schaffer, the Larimer county sheriff, at Schaffer's invitation.

CRACK TEAMS AT DES MOINES

DES MOINES, Ia., April 28 (AP)—Thirteen young men of track and field, including many of the country's top-ranking performers, went to their marks here today in the opening of the thirtieth annual Drake Relays. . . .

FEM BOWLERS BEGIN NEW SCHEDULE

Six teams started play in the women's bowling league this week. Joining with Harry Lester's five, a member of the circuit which recently completed its schedule, were Toby's, Taylor's Electric, Howard County Refinery, Round Top and Jack Frost Pharmacy.

Bucs Lose 7th Game In Row To Red Birds

By JUDSON BAILEY

Before it is completed this major league baseball campaign may be remarkable for many things, but right now it is distinguished for the number and length of its extra-inning games.

In 11 days, during which many contests were rained out, there have been nine marathon matches, approximately double the number of extra-inning ventures over any similar period in recent years.

The White Sox won 2-1 with Hank Steinbacher pinch-hitting Mike Kreevich home. Kreevich singled four times and scored Chicago's other run.

The Chicago Cubs and Cincinnati Reds were headed for a long bout until the Reds burst out with eight runs in their half of the eighth to win 11-3.

The Boston Bees and Philadelphia Phillies also decided their melee in the eighth as Al Simmons hit for the circuit and Boston's margin in a 5-4 triumph.

On the other hand the Washington Senators had no trouble subduing the Philadelphia Athletics 6-3, on the nine-hit knuckleball pitching of Dutch Leonard.

The St. Louis Browns eased past the Cleveland Indians, 4-2, with Johnny Marcum having a shutout until the ninth when Jeff Heath hit a home run with one on for the Tribe.

Bad weather in the east caused postponement of the games, scheduled between New York and Brooklyn in the senior circuit and the Yankees and Boston in the American league.

Bufs Score In Ninth Inning To Win, 4-3

By the Associated Press

Harry Brecheen hurled shutout baseball through eight innings last night but a bobble by a Houston Buff mate set things up for the Fort Worth Cats to score three runs in the ninth for a deadlock. The Buffs then got an unearned run in their half for a 4 to 3 victory.

The Dallas Rebels defeated the Shreveport Sports, 8 to 7, and climbed back into first place in the Texas league standings. The defeat dropped the Sports into a tie with the San Antonio Mission for the runner-up spot.

Wet grounds caused postponement of the Tulsa at Beaumont game and rain kept Oklahoma City idle at San Antonio.

Nick Cullop, power-hitting outfielder, got his fifth homer of the year in the big Buff eighth when two runs were scored.

Brecheen pitched tight ball and it looked as though he had a shut-out for the records. There were two men on and two down in the Cats half and pinch-hitter Karl Kott lined to shortstop. It appeared to be all over—but the ball bounced out of Eddie Lake's glove and Kott filled the trio with a double.

At Shreveport Sal Glatto, veteran Rebel right-hander, was credited with his fourth victory in as many starts this season. He was relieved, however, in the ninth by Joe Demoran when the Sports mustered a threatening rally which put the tying and winning runs on base.

WA OPENS SEASON

TOPEKA, Kan., April 28 (AP)—The Western Association, with two new clubs in the lineup, opened its 1939 baseball season last night with St. Joseph, Fort Smith, Springfield and Hutchinson breaking into the victory column.

New to the eight-club league are St. Joseph's Angels, who took over the franchise of last season's champions, Ponca City, and Topeka, which replaced Bartlesville. Other teams are Joplin and Salina.

Four Horses Are Rated At Top

By the Associated Press

ST. LOUIS, April 28 (AP)—The Kentucky Derby appeared today a four-horse race starring Johnstown, Technician, El Chico and Challengon in the future books of St. Louis' betting commissioners.

Heather Broom's victory over Third Degree at Keeneland yesterday failed to change betting here in either of the largest books, operated by James J. Carroll and Charles Burke.

"The result of the Wood Memorial at Jamaica tomorrow will decide the real derby betting," Carroll commented.

"If Johnstown whips El Chico decisively, the William Woodward colt will be an odds-on choice for the derby. If El Chico wins the same way, he'll become the post-favorite. Betting men figure the derby strictly a four-horse proposition right now."

Johnstown stood at 2 1-2 to 1, backed down from the opening price of 10. Technician, entry of H. M. Woolf of Kansas City, whose Lawrin won the 1938 derby running, stood at 4 to 1, forced there from a 12 to 1 opening price.

El Chico, unbeaten in 1938, was balanced with Challengon at 5 to 1 in both future books.

Sande Charge Romps Home

By the Associated Press

LENGINGTON, Ky., April 28 (AP)—Earl Sande, who was "cheated" of a good chance to win the Kentucky Derby last year with the favored Stagehand, bounced back into the derby picture today with a "dark-horse"—Heather Broom.

After Heather Broom, owned by John Hay Whitney, won the Bluegrass Stakes at Keeneland yesterday, defeating four other derby eligibles, Sande announced the son of the Porter would be entered in the Churchill Downs classic.

Sande said: "He showed that a mile and an eighth was nothing at all for him, and I am sure he will give a good account of himself over the mile and a quarter derby route."

If World Of Tomorrow Is Like World Fair Version, It Will Be A Remarkable Place In Which To Live

By JACK STINNETT AP Feature Service Writer NEW YORK—If the World of Tomorrow lives up to the New York World's Fair of today—Whoops! What a place to live in!

In the first place all is peace, for there's not one hint anywhere that there's such a thing in the world as war. Decentralized cities filled with air and light. Decentralized industry, with thousands of clean factory centers spread out like model villages. Express highways traveled at minimum speeds that make today's speed laws sound like reports on a tortoise race. Huge liners in the skyways. Electrified farms. Dairies with merry-go-round milkers. Houses of tinted glass and concrete, "wool" clothing made from skimmed milk, "silk" clothing made from coal tar, new plastics to serve a thousand uses.

The men who make the World's Fair exhibit wheels go around insist, however, that none of this is idle dreaming—perhaps no more than a generation away. The date most often used is 1960. Almost everything exhibited is not only within the realm of possibility, but has been tested and proved practical.

Visitors who want to concentrate on the World of Tomorrow at the fair, which opens April 30, will start with the Perisphere, in which a six-minute trip on a moving platform will give a bird's-eye view of Henry Dreyfus' "Democracy." It's a model city of 1,500,000 persons. The buildings are low, letting enough light and air to exterminate the pale race of moles who now inhabit our metropolises. Industrial and manufacturing "suburbs" encircle the city but do not crush in upon it.

Three-level Traffic moves on three levels—on elevated sidewalks for pedestrians, and express subways and highways to the suburban centers, the latter without intersections. There is much glass, new methods of lighting, and no parking problems; each building and store having space for the maximum number of cars for tenants, shoppers.

The transportation sector of the fair traces transportation from the first wheels to a Rocketport, where visitors can see small model rockets depart for other planets.

The General Motors diorama gives an "airplane" view of express highways running straight as strings across the continent, boring through mountain, spanning chasms in glass-encased suspension bridges. Controlled traffic will move at speeds from 75 to 125 miles an hour—and highway lighting, operated by photo-electric cells, will move with the cars.

One exhibit is a model electrified farm where the farmer must be an electrical engineer and his wife a domestic science expert. Tomorrow's Model Town In the Town of Tomorrow, there are 15 model homes, ranging in price from $2,500 to $20,000, this last for one of glass and concrete, with "tarrara marble" walls in the kitchen and baths, much glass furniture and almost every modern household gadget known. The food sector proves that the world of today is undernourished and shows how the world of tomorrow, by optimum diets, can remedy the condition. The new frontiers of medicine and health are demonstrated. Lighting of tomorrow will be done by fluorescent and capillary ated his views that "necessity of a free access to the east for the Polish state cannot be ignored." Hitler ominously referred to Czecho-Slovakia's fate, saying of Poland's rejection:

Hitler

"The worst is that now Poland, like Czecho-Slovakia a year ago, believes under the pressure of a lying international campaign that it must call up troops, although our country, both Christian and un-Christian. We urge your attendance. The young people's hour at 7:15. The evening service at 8 o'clock with special singing preceding the sermon. You like to attend church where you feel welcome, where a Christian welcome awaits you at God's church. Think this over: If there is a heaven, there is also a hell. There are just two classes of people, too, the saved and the unsaved. One class will go to heaven, the other to hell. Friend, stop and think, where will you spend eternity?"

Further developing his attitude toward Britain, Hitler said:

"If England perchance thinks she may look upon Germany as a vassal state then our love and friendly feelings have indeed been wasted on England."

In further explanation of his denouncing the Anglo-German naval accord Hitler said he had "heard the statement of the British prime minister to the effect that he is not able to put any trust in German assurances."

"Under the circumstances," the Fuehrer said, "I consider it a matter of course that we no longer wish or expect him (British Prime Minister Chamberlain) or the British people to bear the burden of a situation which is only conceivable in an atmosphere of mutual confidence."

Without naming Rumania but obviously referring to her, Hitler declared "Germany is determined not to allow certain economically important markets to be stolen from her by terroristic intervention or threats."

This apparently referred also to Britain who has guaranteed Rumanian independence.

In his direct replies to the points of Roosevelt's message, Hitler did not disclose how many of the 21 nations enumerated by the presidential reply to the German questionnaire asking them if they felt themselves threatened.

Roosevelt's suggestion that disarmament or limitation of armaments be discussed at a world conference was countered by Hitler's presentation of an imposing array of statistics showing what Germany did between 1919 and 1923 to get rid of her guns.

Nevertheless, the Fuehrer expressed his willingness to join in disarmament discussion provided "Mr. Roosevelt, you do not appeal first to me and Germany but rather to the others; I have a long line of practical experience behind me and shall remain skeptically inclined until reality has taught me to know better."

To Roosevelt's proposal for discussion looking toward improvement of international trade, Hitler replied in part:

"It is my belief, Mr. Roosevelt, that it would be a great service if you would remove the barriers to a genuinely free world trade beginning with the United States."

Hitler appealed to Roosevelt to redeem the promises of President Wilson on the basis of which "Germany once laid down her arms."

"President Wilson solemnly pledged his word that German colonial claims, like all others, would receive the same just examination."

"Instead of this the German possessions were given to nations who have always had the largest colonial empire."

"As a precaution against the threat of another war, I have not only united the German peoples politically but have also rearmed them; I have also endeavored to destroy sheet by sheet that treaty which in its 48th article Hitler apparently erred as the Versailles treaty has only 440 articles) contains the vilest oppression which people and human beings have ever been expected to put up with...."

"Mr. Roosevelt, I have endeavored to attain all this without spilling blood and without bringing to my people and consequently to others the misery of war."

MARKETS

Wall Street

NEW YORK, April 28 (AP)—Early gains in today's stock market, following the less war-like than expected Hitler speech in answer to the Roosevelt peace plea, subsequently were wiped out in most cases and replaced with losses running to 2 points.

Some who sold short in the morning cashed profits by covering just before the finish and prices generally ended above the day's lows.

Puzzled brokers, seeking for something to explain the buying timidity, advanced the suggestion all traders did not take at face value the moderately conciliatory tone of the Fuehrer's reichstag address. The thought was advanced that the broadcast may have been largely for German consumption and would hardly preclude another Nazi coup.

At the same time, the majority in Wall Street expressed the belief the Berlin broadcast tended to ease war tension, at least for the moment.

Prominent on the downside most of the time were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, Sears Roebuck, U. S. Rubber, International Harvester, Douglas Aircraft, Santa Fe, Dupont, Westinghouse, Johns-Manville and U. S. Gypsum.

Johnson Thinks U. S. Victimized By War Talk

WASHINGTON, April 28 (AP)—Senator Johnson (R-Calif.) contended in hearings on neutrality legislation today, that this country was being "edged" into war by false propaganda.

Questioning a witness before the senate foreign relations committee, Johnson asked if it were not true that "a determined effort is not being made by propaganda to educate the American people that they can't keep out of war?"

The witness, Dr. Charles C. Tansill, professor of American history at Fordham university, said he thought this was true.

"And that way," Johnson added, "we are being edged into war."

"It's a repetition of the old theme song, 'Save the world for democracy,'" Professor Tansill said. "That theme song is being revived."

Dr. Esther Calkin Brunauer of Washington, associate in international education of the American Association of University Women, appearing before the house foreign affairs group, said Hitler's statement he had no thought of attacking any nation in the western hemisphere confirmed her interpretation because "the United States has a good strong army; a navy and he knows it."

Park Improvements Discussed At ABC Luncheon Today

Discussing the erection of a swing at the West Side park and voting to spend $5 for the Boy Scout barbecue to be held soon, members of the ABC club met Friday noon at the Settles hotel for luncheon and business session.

Doyle Vaughn was appointed to investigate the possibilities of sponsoring a bowling team and is to report at the next meeting. The erection of the swing provided by B. Bronstein will also be discussed later.

Two guests were M. Carnoham, local G.M.A.C. representative, and Dr. Leo Rogers of the Kiwanis club, who announced the minister to be given by the Kiwanians to-night and solicited the club's support.

Robert Bean provided the musical program by playing three numbers on a guitar. C. Y. Clinkscales and D. W. Carnett were in charge of the program. Approximately 20 persons attended.

Anton Man Killed Near San Angelo

SAN ANGELO, April 28 (AP)—H. H. Woody, 25, of Anton, Tex., was instantly killed near here early today when his grain truck collided into a concrete culvert on the Sweetwater highway. A brother, Will, was critically injured.

A passing motorist found the body of the dead man in the cab of the wrecked truck, both legs severed just below the hips. Will Woody was unconscious, his head and one leg being injured. He was brought to a hospital here.

Investigating officers said they believed the driver of the truck went to sleep and lost control of the vehicle.

The huge truck was heavily loaded with sacked grain which was scattered a distance of 60 feet over the highway.

Funeral services this morning were pending arrival of relatives from Anton.

HOUSTON, April 28 (AP)—Fate of their biennial exposition uncertain, oil men today heard one of the directors, W. B. Sharp of Houston, propose the show be held every four years instead of two.

Sharp suggested at a directors meeting that the Houston show be opened only once every four years and that the Tulsa oil show, which is operated by a different set of directors, follow suit.

The upper chamber argued over a house bill licensing real estate dealers and adjourned without taking action. The so-called fair trade act was not reached on the calendar, and there was no indication of favorable action on the house's gross receipts tax bill.

The house passed a senate bill stringently regulating travel bureaus after opponents claimed it would exterminate the agencies. The proposal went to the governor for signature.

Another senate proposal approved finally by the house was one prohibiting counties from selling automobile license plates at a discount. Advocates asserted the highway department had been losing more than a half million dollars a year by selling licenses for scrap.

The bill also specified motor vehicles must be licensed in the county in which they are located most of the year. Under the present system, company trucks or automobiles are registered in the county in which the company has its headquarters, which system usually benefits the larger counties.

est of efficiency, both Secretaries Woodring and Swanson have submitted recommendations, aides disclosed, that may figure in Mr. Roosevelt's next government reorganization proposal to congress.

Secretary Woodring made three recommendations for war department changes, which like Secretary Swanson's are confidential. There were hints, however, that one agency involved was the chemical warfare service. Some officers have favored merging it with the corps of engineers.

There appeared also the possibility that the Inland Waterways Corporation, operating a string of barge lines on the Mississippi and other rivers, might be shifted. It is now under Woodring's general supervision.

The army general staff is understood to have disapproved a one-time proposed merger of the field and coast artillery corps.
