AIR DEFENSE MOVEMENT IS ANNOUNCED Army and Navy Secretaries and White House Combine in Ponderous Undertaking.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—Appointment of a committee of nine to study the development of aircraft for national defense was announced by the white house tonight.

The personnel of the committee follows: Maj. Gen. James G. Harbord, retired, president of the Radio Corporation of America; Dwight W. Morrow, partner of J. P. Morgan & Co., New York; Howard E. Coffin, aircraft engineer, Detroit; Senator Hiram Bingham, Connecticut; Rear Admiral Frank Fletcher, retired, Washington; Representative James F. Parker, republican, New York, chairman of the house committee of interstate and foreign commerce; Representative Carl Vinson, democrat, Georgia, member of house naval affairs committee; Judge Arthur G. Denison, Grand Rapids, Mich., circuit judge, and Dr. William F. Durand, Los Angeles, president of the Institute of Mechanical Engineering and member advisory committee for aeronautics. The naming of the committee was made known tonight and the following letter was given out.

Gentlemen: Your joint letter stating that for the purpose of making a study of the best means to develop and apply aircraft in national defense and to supplement the study already made by the war and navy department on the subject, we respectfully suggest that the commander in chief of the army and navy appoint a committee to study and advise on this subject.

Every other Sunday night there is singing at Yellow Mound and will be here next Sunday night. On Sunday night week singing will be held in the Morton Valley community, near Mr. Tyler's store.

EVERETT TRUE BY CONDO YOU THREW A LIGHTED CIGARET BUTT DOWN THERE. YOU SHOULD PUT IT OUT.

YOU BET I DO!! AND PART OF MY BUSINESS IS PAYING TAXES, AND THEY TAKE A CLIMB EVERY TIME THE FIRE DEPARTMENT TAKES A RUN!!!

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK By E. R. Waite, Secretary Shawnee, Okla., Board of Commerce.

George S. Mumford, president of the Atlantic National Bank of Boston, says: That it is interesting to reflect how many popular myths have become political gospel and are sincerely believed by a great mass of the people have little real foundation in fact.

That take for example the statement that high railroad freight rates on farm products hurt the farmer—and yet on cool reflection it must be evident that it is the consumer that has to pay this charge whether it be high or low.

That high taxes on corporations gives a convenient method for raising public money out of the wealthy; and yet it is evident that the tax is merely an additional expense of production to the manufacturer and of operation to the railroad, and is added to the selling price of the manufactured article and to the passenger freight charges of the railroad.

That in discussing the relations between capital and labor, if one were to ask with what or whom labor contested in the case of a dispute, the answer nine times out of ten would be that capital was the actual enemy of labor; and yet capital represents the invested earnings of these very laborers with all the investments of savings banks, insurance companies, charitable funds as well as individuals, and it is really the managers and not capital, capitalists, if you choose, and not capital, that labor disputes with.

That banks make excessive profits out of the public and fatten on pensions, and that the federal reserve system was organized solely in their interest is often heard; and yet their capital stock is owned publicly and may be freely purchased by any one, their dividends are a low return on the market prices of their stock, their deposits have always decreased and their very existence has been shaken in times of panic, and as to the federal reserve system, without it the money could not be had to carry on the enormous volume of business this country now needs.

ACTIVITY IN HUDSON SALES IS REPORTED

Demand for Higher Grade Cars Alleged to Evidence Discrimination

As a result of greatly reduced prices, the sales activity of Hudson and Essex cars has been greatly stimulated, both locally and all over the United States. The autumn season, according to Gullahorn Motor Co., Hudson-Exsex dealer, gives every indication of setting new high records.

With all lines of new cars having been announced, he continued, the public is in an excellent position to judge comparative values, and to reward with a great volume of business those manufacturers who present most value for the money.

"Immediately after the Hudson-Exsex price reduction was announced," said Mr. Gullahorn, "we began to receive inquiries and orders for cars in great numbers. The late-summer-early-fall season is ordinarily rather below normal for motor cars as well as other businesses, but in the case of the Hudson-Exsex price reduction we might have thought we were in the midst of a spring rush. It was the best business 1925 has given us.

It was evident that the motoring public had made up its mind that Hudson-Exsex were the values it had waited for. The men and women who called at our place of business came in to buy rather than simply to inquire and shop around.

"In our opinion the automobile battle of 1926 will be fought out on the basis of values. There is probably no standard motor car today, but that is capable of pleasing a great number of owners. That being true, the question in the mind of the average man or woman who is buying a car is to invest his money so as to obtain the best general all-round value for it.

"The secret of Hudson-Exsex success—the reason why Hudson has become the largest builder of six cylinder cars in the world—is that its whole program is based on giving great value. We feel that when motorists consider what Hudson-Exsex has to give for the money in comparison with the general list of offerings, our future demand is sure to be large and consistent. Hudson and Essex are now offering the best cars they ever built at by far their lowest prices—and for that reason deserve the patronage they are receiving."

By "THE FENCE RIDER."
(Items for this department must be phoned in to the Fence Rider, by 12 o'clock daily in order to insure their inclusion. Don't be bashful. Jingle the telephone bell.)

What's the matter with Ranger? She's oil right!

Everybody knows what's the best town and the snappiest, newest newspaper in the oil belt. We know it ourselves but modesty forbids our mentioning names. And that's no gasser.

Ranger has enough gas and oil to grease the machinery of the universe and make the wheels go 'round a thousand years or so, enough cotton to pad the bosom of Dame Nature, enough glass sand to crystallize public opinion and let everybody see through the situation, enough sand, lime, cement and brick clay to pave the milky way and enough cows, hogs, hens and pretty women to supply milk, butter, ham, eggs, and happiness to everybody. Yet alas, Ranger hasn't anything like enough houses for folks to live in. If everybody, every business and professional man in the city would do as one man is doing, build five, we might be able to stay in out of the rain.

That the oil and gas sands have been merely scratched and that they'll be opening up new oil pools long after children now living have become grand-daddies, is the opinion of a well known oil man recently expressed.

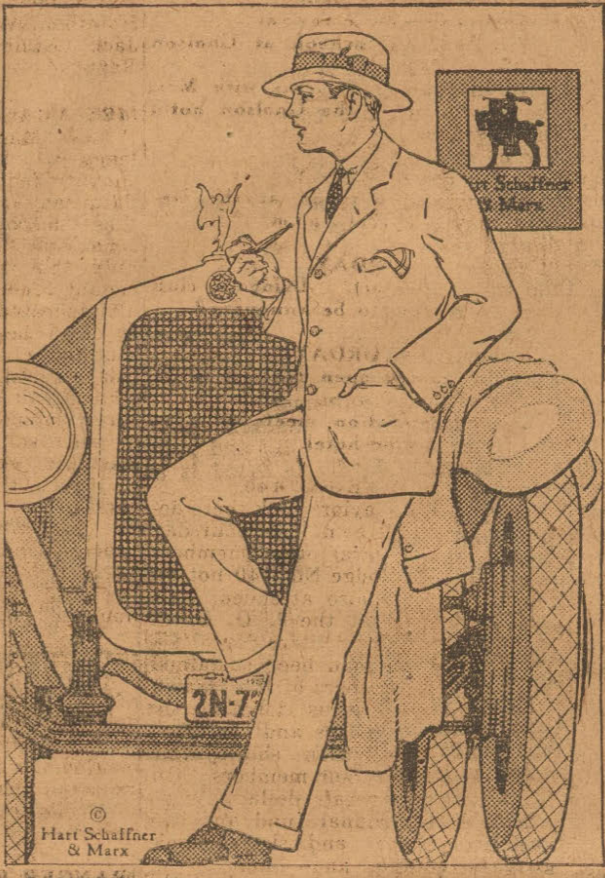

The other day the Fence Rider buckled on his spurs, put on his six-(pea)-shooter in his belt for protection, mounted his bronc and rode out among the fair and dangerous sex to pick up opinions regarding Gloria.

"The Flapper Wife." Listening in on numerous key-hole conversations, this is what he heard:
"I could choke her but I can hardly wait for the paper. I simply can't help reading it."
"I glory in Gloria's spunk. Let her take that man of hers down a few pegs. I know some husbands around Ranger that deserve a wife like that."
"I think she's just as cute as kittens."
"Bet that steno runs off with her husband, yet. He's a flapper man, I think."
"Hasn't she a Gloria—ous name?"
"I always read Gloria first and then do my dishes."
"Shocking! I didn't know there was such a wife on earth. I think it a disgrace to read about her even. That last installment was the worst I ever read."
"Well, what's the use of being pretty if you are supposed to do all the drudgery of a common, ugly wife? A husband can hire people to do his drudgery. And too much work spoils beauty."
"Oh, did you read the last one, girls? It's simply darling!"

where he has been angling for a time.

RANGER WATER SUPPLY MEETS REQUIREMENTS

State Health Board Pronounces Water Pure and Wholesome

The Ranger municipal water supply is now ready to be utilized by the public for drinking purposes, according to the state board of health. City Engineer B. H. Peacock has received from the board reports on the bacteriological analyses of samples of water taken from the city mains at different places in Ranger, the reports showing the water now being pumped into the Ranger city mains is of first-class quality, meeting the standards of the American Public Health association in so far as a safe drinking supply of water is concerned.

The report from the Texas state health department is as follows: "Results of the bacteriological analyses of water specimens submitted gave no evidence of the presence of organisms of the B. Coli group. The sources from which the samples were taken may therefore be considered as reasonably safe for drinking purposes at the time of the collection of the specimens."

Periodical examinations of the municipal water supply is to be made from time to time and the results given to the public, so they may rest assured they are getting a good sanitary water supply, according to City Engineer Peacock, who gives the following suggestions:

"Customers who receive their water on usual ends, or from pipes that are seldom used or drained, should take particular pains to see that the line is flushed every day, because stagnant water is more receptive to the development of obnoxious odors and harmful bacteria than is water that is continually circulating."

Several samples were made by the city engineer at the filtration plant Saturday and he reports that the operator, Mr. Griffin, has the filter beds and the dosing machines in perfect working order.

Sample specimens of water sent to the state health board were taken from hydrant taps at four different places and each test showed the water to be safe, the report being as follows:

Oil Cities Electric company office: Bacteria per C.C., 30; gas formation, none.

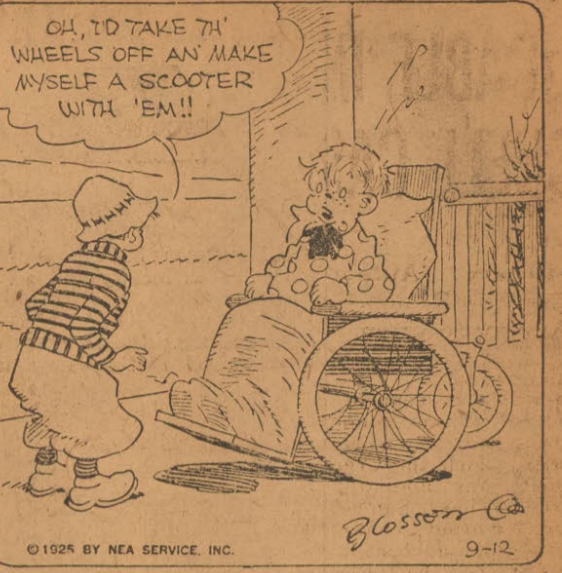

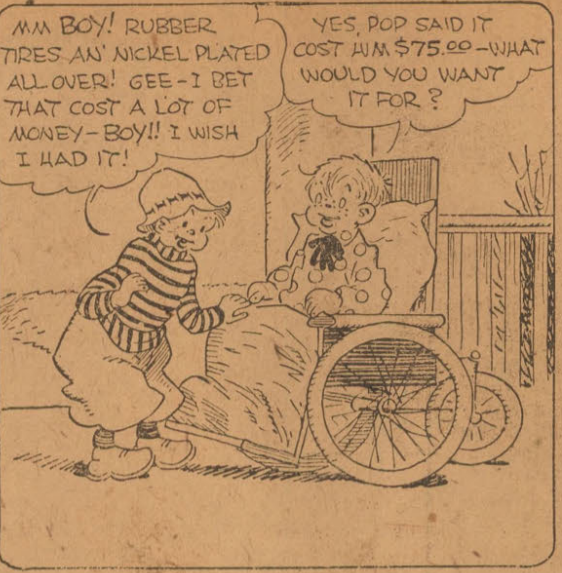

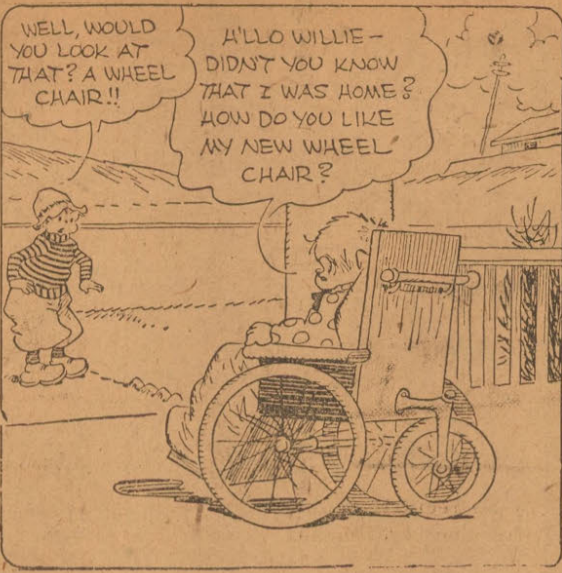

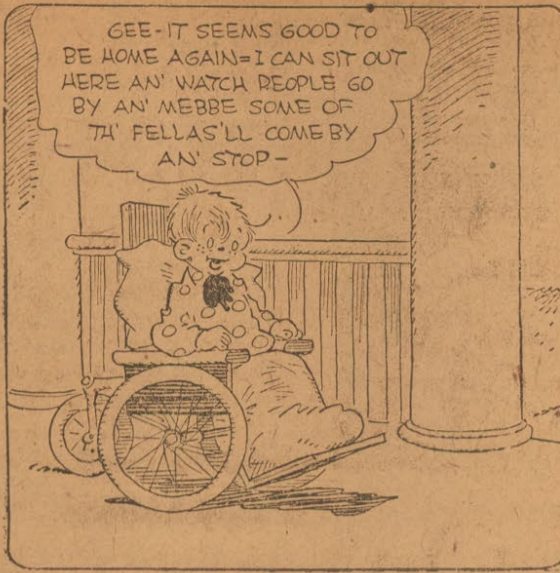

Ranger Furniture exchange: Bacteria per C.C., 20; gas formation, none.

City hall: Bacteria per C.C., 30; gas formation, none.

Filtration plant: Bacteria per C.C., 25; gas formation, none.

This result shows that the tap water in the city is testing just as good as that taken fresh from the filter beds at the plant. This shows leaving any shadow of doubt that the continuous flushing of the city mains during the months of May and June has brought good results. That is, any contaminated matter that might have been accumulated in the mains up to that time has either been flushed out of the system or has been thoroughly disinfected by over-dosing with chlorine.

FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS

During the past week, about five times the usual amount of chlorine gas was turned into the city mains for disinfecting purposes, said City Engineer Peacock, who feels that the lines are now in a fair shape to receive the filtered water from the plant and transmit it on to the ultimate consumer.

For the benefit of those who are not conversant with the regenerating or purifying qualities of chlorine gas, it might be said that this gas is a very deadly poison to all bacterial life, and is absolutely harmless to the human being in its diluted state in the water. This gas is passed into the main just after the water leaves the filter bed, and acts as a final guarantee that the water is safe. The filter bed itself is a cleanser, but in the last analysis, the chlorine gas is the real safeguard to the ultimate consumer.

The recognized standard upon which the sanitary quality and safety of a water supply is based is as follows:

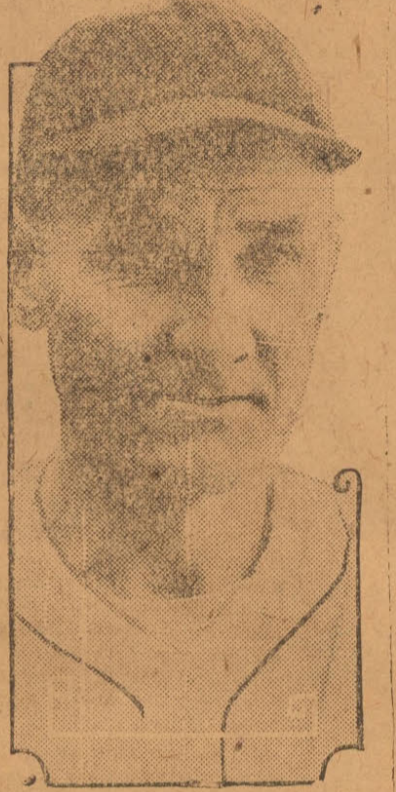

1-The total number of bacteria developed after 24 hours of incubation shall not exceed 100 per cubic centimeter.

2-Not more than one out of five 10 C.C. portions of any samples examined shall show the presence of the organisms of the B. Coli group.

Hence it will be noted that the tests made from the local hydrant taps comes easily within the specification as given above.

WAR ARTICLES APPLICABLE IN MITCHELL CASE

Ranger Military Authority Gives Interesting Resume of Laws Apt to Be Cited.

If Col. William Mitchell is tried before judge advocates as seems at the time probable, he will no doubt be called to answer under certain articles of war with which the average citizen is by no means familiar. At the request of the Times, Samuel K. Wsaff, Ranger attorney, connected with the reserve judge advocate's department, has prepared the following resume of articles of war, which, in the main seem to cover the laws under which the colonel will, in all probability, be arranged. In submitting these, the Ranger attorney disclaims any intention to take sides in the controversy. He has confined himself actually to reproducing the articles from the military code verbatim. The resume follows:

The 22nd article of war provides: "That, any officer (meaning military officer) who uses contemptuous or disrespectful words against the president, vice president, the congress of the United States, the secretary of war, or the governor or legislature of any state, territory, or other possession of the United States in which he is quartered shall be dismissed from the service or suffer such other punishment as a court-martial may direct. Any other person subject to military law who so offends shall be punished as a court-martial may direct. (MCM 1921, p. 350.)"

The contemptuous or disrespectful words, as used in this article, cover language disrespectful and contemptuous in themselves, such as abusive epithets, denunciatory or contumelious expressions, or intemperate or malevolent comments upon official or personal acts, etc., or words disrespectful or contemptuous because of the connection in which and the circumstances under which they are used. (MCM 1921, p. 350.)

It is essential that a person against whom such words are used be in one of the officers named at the time; but it is immaterial whether the words are spoken against him in his official or private capacity. (MCM 1921, p. 350.)

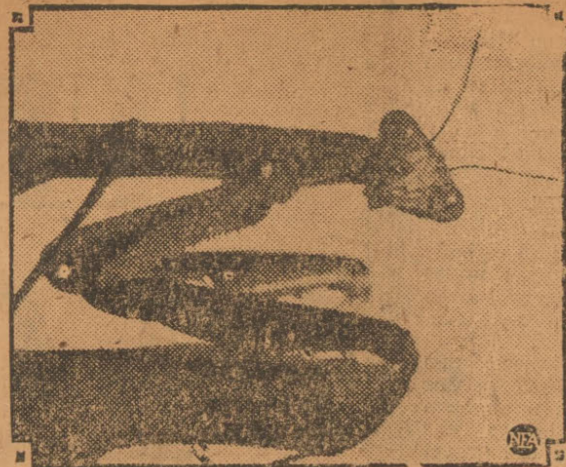

The language used must be disrespectful or contemptuous. Adverse criticism in emphatic language in the heat of political discussion, but not apparently intended to be personally disrespectful, are not made the basis of trial under this article. (MCM 1921, p. 351.)

A commissioned officer is tried by the general court-martial which may consist of any number of officers not less than five (A. W. 17). And the following authorities appoint the general court: The president, commanding officer of a territorial division, commanding officer of a territorial department, commanding officer of an army, army corps, commanding officer of a (tactical) division, etc. (MCM 1921, p. 17.)

The appointing authority is the defense counsel, and one or more of the accused, to be selected by the accused. A. W. 17; the accused can ask for individual counsel either civil or military and also has the right to retain civilian lawyers to represent him at the trial.

Court-martial trials, the practice and procedure thereunder, evidence, testimony and everything pertaining to the procedure in connection therewith is under the present practice the fairest court in American jurisprudence. Its proceedings, from the inception to conclusion and final approval and confirmation is judicial, affording the accused a fair and square trial. The rights of the accused are guarded in every way so that justice may be done.

Only Praying Mantis in America Poses for This Picture

The mantis is an oriental bug, something like a grasshopper only different. It is about the length of a good sized cigar, spends much time in prayer, is always hungry and can turn its head and look over its shoulder—something no other insect on earth can do. Above it is shown exercising this last prerogative, facing the camera in a straight-forward manner.

This pose, adopted by all regular mantises when at ease, is the reason why they are called "praying" mantises. Instead of being wrapped in devotion, however, the mantis is really keeping its eyes open for something to eat. Let a fly buzz past and zip! those arms will shoot out like lightning and there will be one less fly.

INVESTIGATE CONTROL SAYS JAS. COUZENS

Michigan Republican Congressman Finds Many Have Faith in Mitchell

By United Press. DETROIT, Sept. 12.—A congressional investigation to determine whether unified or dual control of the army and navy air service is desirable is the logical way for air control, United States Senator James Couzens, republican, of Michigan, believes.

"There is apparently considerable public belief in the charges of Colonel William Mitchell, and, in justice to all concerned, congress should go to the bottom of the matter," he told the United Press. "Such an investigation should be conducted by the joint military affairs committee of the senate and house," Senator Couzens said. "The major aim would be to supply data upon which congress could reach a sound conclusion."

GORMAN NEWS BRIEFS

GORMAN, Sept. 12.—Cotton picking is the order of the day in the Gorman territory and cotton has been coming into the gin here at a lively rate.

Formal opening exercises of the Gorman high school will be held Monday morning and every indication points to a successful school year. The following compose the faculty: G. W. Scott, superintendent; J. M. Macon, principal; Dewey Mulloy, athletic coach and mathematics; Miss Addie Welch, English; Miss Dena Meyer, Spanish and Latin. Other branches in the high school will be taught by the superintendent and principal. The grade teachers are J. H. Cooper, principal of grammar school; Mrs. Dona Moorman, Misses Eunice Locker, Lucile Bishop, Della Wall, Viola Dover, Ruth Harvey, Mary Neblets, Claudia Ledger, and Eddythe Walker. Miss Bonnie Jean Crow of Waco will have charge of the music.

Mrs. Louise N. Miller, 76, died Wednesday in a local sanitarium. She is survived by her husband and the following children: Haywood Miller, Edlen; Horace Miller, Gorman; Mrs. Erub Oliver; Menard; Mrs. Sam Baker, Bailingier; Mrs. Kinney Paramore, San Antonio; Mrs. H. E. McClure, San Antonio; Mrs. A. B. Cade, Seattle, Wash.; Mrs. A. J. Guy, Marfa.

Gorman celebrated their golden wedding anniversary last Wednesday. Mr. Graham is 72 and his wife 67 years of age. They came to Eastland county in 1898 from Mississippi. There were nine children who attended the celebration. They were: Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Graham, Rush Springs, Okla.; Mrs. Gunter, Rush Springs, Okla.; Mr. and Mrs. Dorsey Reynolds, Stanton; Willow Graham, Lamesa; Mr. and Mrs. R. Q. Graham Eastland; Mrs. Cora Graham, Eastland; Giles Graham, Gorman; Mrs. Mack Thurman of Gorman. There were also a total of seventeen grandchildren and two great-grand children present.

RANGER LEADS IN AMOUNT OF COTTON GINNED

Farmers Report Staple Opening Faster Than They Have Ever Known It

Twelve bales of cotton were brought into Ranger for ginning Saturday, despite the rain Thursday night and Friday morning, making a total of about 150 bales that have been ginned in Ranger this season. Had rain not fallen at least 30 or 35 bales would have been brought in Saturday, H. L. Stewart, manager of the gin, estimated, but it is expected in a few days, anyhow.

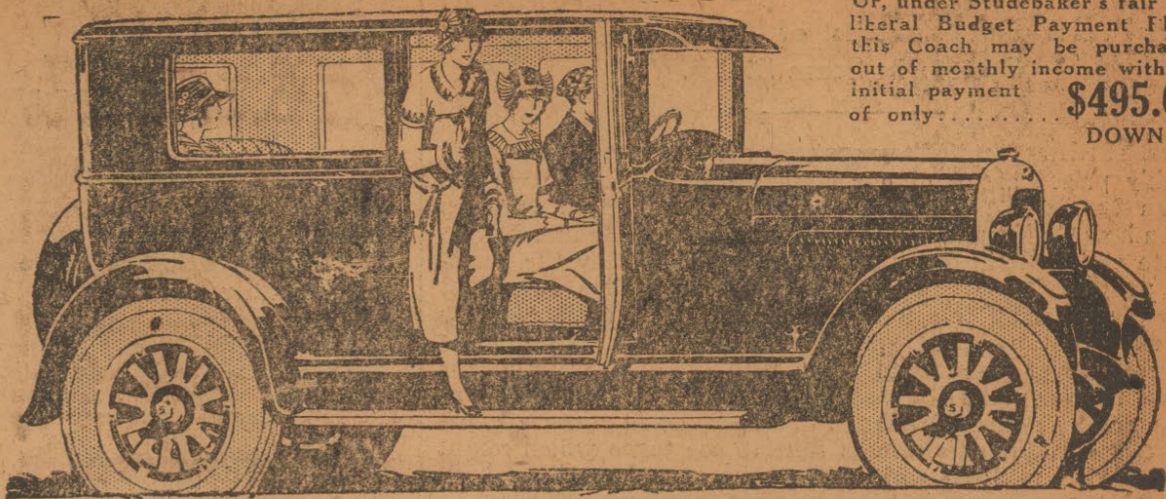

While rain was not needed to mature and open the cotton, it has not done any harm, farmers coming into Ranger said. Cotton picking is merely delayed, for the cotton cannot be picked or ginned when it is wet. Had there been any great amount of wind with the rain, the cotton might have been damaged, but the rain without wind was beneficial rather than otherwise, aiding in a larger crop.

Cotton in the Ranger territory is opening faster than ever before, farmers generally report, and previous estimates of the total production of the Ranger territory are expected to fall short of the actual crop. So far this season, the Ranger gin leads all others in Eastland county in the amount of cotton ginned.

One-Profit Value Unit-Built Construction Make Studebakers Bargains in Quality

BECAUSE Studebaker builds for Studebaker cars all bodies, all engines, all axles, clutches, differentials, steering gear, springs, gear sets, gray iron castings and drop forgings—it is possible to give purchasers two advantages:

1. A price advantage: Because Studebaker eliminates extra profits which all other manufacturers (except Ford) must pay to outside parts or body makers. Thus Studebaker is able to use steel of extra toughness, fine northern white ash and hard maple, wool upholstery, plate glass, painstaking workmanship to precision standards, and extra equipment, such as gasoline gauge, clock, stop light, etc.—yet charge no more than competing cars.

2. A construction advantage: Because all parts are not only designed to constitute one harmonious unit, but are Unit-Built in Studebaker plants. Being built as a unit, every Studebaker functions as a unit. This results in years longer life, scores of thousands of miles of excess transportation, greater riding comfort, minimum repair costs and, finally, higher resale value.

The net of it is this: the one-profit Studebaker with its unit-built construction offers you a bargain in quality.

There are others in our general price field who also build quality cars. But for models that are at all comparable their prices are higher.

Others, who once built quality cars, have made material sacrifice in order to secure superficial price advantages. These cars are good value for the man or woman who wants that kind of a car. But if he wants a bargain in quality there is only one answer—Studebaker.

Consider, for instance, the Standard Six Coach, illustrated above. It has wool upholstery; plate glass; fine trim to hide all tacks; heavy, ornamental hardware; clock; gasoline gauge on dash; automatic windshield cleaner; stop light; locks on ignition; steering gear, door and spare-tire carrier all operated by a single key.

Slam the door and the sound says "quality." Swing on the door. Run one wheel up on the curb and note how the doors still open and close. Sit on the firm, heavy fenders. Try the steering gear. See how easily it handles the full-size balloon tires. Test the comfort of the deep rear seat. Its genuine wool upholstery covers two layers of washed, quilted cotton, one layer of genuine curled hair and extra long springs closely held together by small coil springs.

Run the engine—the most powerful in any car of this size and weight, according to the ratings of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce. Come in and see this bargain in quality—the lowered price closed car ever sold by Studebaker.

Easing the Burden of State Taxation

Banker Points Out Benefits of Community Property System in Some States.

FAVORABLE aspects of tax systems are now among the most highly prized assets of our states, it is pointed out in the American Bankers Association Journal in connection with an article on how California, which has never had a state income tax, cuts state and Federal death taxes nearly in half by the "community property" system. L. H. Roseberry, Vice President Security Trust and Savings Bank, Los Angeles, author of the article, says that a recent amendment to the tax law enables future residents of the state to take advantage of it. Reference is made to a former article by Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Dewey, voicing the need for death tax reform and citing a hypothetical case involving California inheritance taxes which might have been levied in 1920. Since that time the laws have been changed, Mr. Roseberry declares, so that the figures then given do not correctly represent the present situation. He says:

"Ever since its admission California has had the 'community property' system. Eight other states have a similar system. 'Community property' is property accumulated by married persons during their marriage, except that which is acquired by gift, bequest or inheritance. Approximately 65 per cent of all property in the state is 'community property.' Such property in California enjoys the most favorable position in regard to death taxes, both state and Federal, of any state in the Union (excepting possibly the eight other states having a similar property system) including states boasting of no inheritance tax whatever. The California 'community property' system is recognized for the purpose of levying Federal estate taxes, and only one-half of it is now so taxed, while in Florida the whole estate of a decedent is subject to the Federal levy.

How the Law Works
"California's law expressly provides that upon the death of either husband or wife, testate, only one-half of their net 'community property' shall be subject to inheritance taxes. The same exemption applies upon the death of the husband intestate, while the whole net 'community property' is totally exempt from all state inheritance taxation upon the death of the wife intestate. The Federal estate tax law now follows precisely the California law in this respect.

"As the result of an amendment made to the California Inheritance tax law by the 1925 Legislature, this immunity from state inheritance taxes likewise now extends to 'community property' of non-resident married persons, who hereafter take up their legal residence in the state. This puts 'community property' in a more favorable position regarding death taxes than exists in any other state in the Union, with the possible exception of the other community property states. This extension of the exemption will add 15 per cent to property in the state coming under this definition, which means that approximately 30 per cent of all property probated in California will enjoy the lightest death taxes in America.

OPENING OF HIGH SCHOOL TO BE PUBLIC

Formal Inauguration Business and Fine Arts Courses to Be Features of Day

For the first time in history, the Ranger High school will this year offer full courses in both commercial arts and fine arts, according to Superintendent Holloway and Principal Forrest, and the formal inauguration of these two courses will take place at the public opening of the High school, Monday, at 9:30 a. m.

Students will assemble at 9 a. m. and the public at 9:30, it is stated. However, in the event parents or others go with students at the earlier hour, it will be unobjectionable. The opening program will comprise, among other numbers, a solo by Miss Christine Carter and a reading by Miss Marie Flahie, both of the new fine arts department, addresses by Mrs. Maddocks in behalf of the Parent-Teacher association, M. H. Hagaman in behalf of the school board, and a cornet number by Mr. Underwood, who, it is expected, will organize a High school band. The afternoon will be devoted to classifications and Tuesday morning students will report to their classes for active work, it is stated.

An important feature of the commercial course, it is open to all and anyone may take the course or courses selected, either during regular school sessions or night sessions which are to be organized. The work in the Ranger schools is fully affiliated with the department of education at Austin. The teaching force in the commercial arts department is thoroughly trained in commercial work and first-class instruction is promised. Day classes will be during the regular day school hours and night classes on Mondays, Tuesday, Thursdays and Fridays, beginning at 7 o'clock and closing at 9 o'clock.

The courses of instruction will include commercial geography, typewriting and shorthand, business letter building, commercial arithmetic, bookkeeping, commercial law, accounting and secretarial course. Students above the scholastic age and

RIO GRANDE FALLING.

By United Press.
BROWNSVILLE, Sept. 12.—The Rio Grande after reaching a record high stage is reported as receding at 11 points between Brownsville and Del Rio. The San Juan river is down to normal at Rio Grande City. There have been no serious damages reported from the floods.

SAN ANTONIO, Sept. 12.—Reports from points along the course of the Rio Grande, Saturday, indicate that the crest of the flood is nearing the mouth of the border stream. Del Rio reported at 11 a. m. Saturday, that the river was five feet above the normal stage and that there were no flood waters near the city. The international bridge, covered with 12 inches of water, is still intact.

Laredo reported at noon Saturday eight feet above, but waters receding.

At San Benito, between Brownsville and Laredo, the waters were nearing the levee with indication of a rise.

Claim Prosperity of Farmers Justifies Rail Rate Increase

CHICAGO, Sept. 12.—The first week of the special interstate commerce commission hearing here on the western roads for a freight rate increase of 5 per cent concluded with presentation of evidence designed to show that farmers can afford an increase. Bankers took up the entire session today with tales of agricultural prosperity. Albert H. Denton, president of the Home National bank of Arkansas City, Ark., said:

"The farmer has his feet on the ground. Nineteen hundred and twenty-four was a good year for the farmer. They made progress and paid off many of their debts and their general financial condition is satisfactory. The deposits of the Home National bank are now higher than ever before and this is a direct reflection of agricultural prosperity."

The interstate commerce commission will study the evidence presented during the conference and give a decision some time this fall.

Luncheon—Vegetable soup, toast sticks, rice pudding, tea, milk.
Dinner—Steamed haddock, creamed potatoes, green beans, pear salad, whole wheat bread, butter, junket ice cream, lady fingers, milk, coffee.

The pear salad for the four-year-old child should be simplified or omitted. The grapes should be seeded and the skins removed.

CREAMED BACON ON TOAST

Six thin slices bacon, 1 1/2 tablespoons flour, 2 cups milk, few grains pepper.

Broil bacon until crisp. Remove from broiler and keep hot. Put 2 tablespoons bacon fat in frying pan, add flour and stir until smooth. Add milk, slowly, stirring constantly. Season with pepper and add bacon broken into bits. Pour over hot toast and serve with broiled tomatoes to grown-ups or children of school age.

BROILED TOMATOES

Wash solid tomatoes but do not peel. Cut in half-inch slices. Dip in hot bacon fat and broil over a clear fire or under gas broiler. Brown first on one side and then on the other.

The child who carries his luncheon to school must eat a hearty, unhurried breakfast. No matter how hearty an evening meal is, the morning meal is, the one that must see the child through the schools. A protein food to build and repair tissues, fat and carbohydrate to produce quick energy and heat and the very necessary mineral salts and vitamins, must be included in his breakfast.

Stewart's Washington Letter

BY CHARLES P. STEWART
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON — Everybody knew President Coolidge was thrifty, but even for him it was "going some" to evolve a scheme by which the government's to get $160,000,000 worth of public buildings without spending anything—in fact, in the long run saving money. Explained, however, it's simple.

TO begin with, the government has about half as much room as it needs to accommodate, suitably, its numerous personnel in Washington.

Of the other half about 50 per cent are quartered in a lot of war-torn shacks that never were meant to be anything but temporary and now are on the verge of falling flat down if they're not torn down. For the remaining workers rented office room is provided.

THE president wants to get the war shacks' occupants into regular, permanent buildings before their present roofs collapse on them. He wants also to cut off the $20,000,000 to $25,000,000 item which the government now pays annually in rentals.

What, he asked, would be the cost of putting up the necessary structures to house the entire outfit in the style the government ought to maintain its hirelings in? The answer, estimated, was $150,000,000.

THE presidential soul revolted at the thought of taking any such sum out of the government's pocket. Wasn't there some way of getting the buildings without doing it? The president began figuring. We won't appropriate $160,000,000, he said to himself; we'll issue long term 4 per cent bonds for it.

The interest will be $6,400,000 annually. Thus our housing problem will be solved and we'll be saving each year the difference between $6,400,000 interest and $20,000,000 to $25,000,000 rentals or $13,600,000 to $18,600,000.

At the end of a dozen years at most this saving will amount to enough to pay off our $160,000,000 bond issue. Then we'll have our buildings cost free, and can begin to economize.

Retailers Have Catchy Slogan For Campaign

"If it's in Ranger, buy it here," is the slogan which the Retail Merchants association have adopted, according to their secretary, Mrs. Alice True. The circularization of 1,500 families living in Ranger trade territory has been an important item in the buy-in-Ranger campaign recently set on foot by the association and carried out through the secretary. Merchants say responses are already showing the helpful results of this campaign of education.

Why.

THE Better Buick steps far ahead of all previous standards of motor car performance.

75 Horsepower!
The Master Valve-in-Head engine now delivers 75 and more horsepower. And there is 60 and more in the Standard models.

Triple-Sealed Engine!
Three new seals for the famous Buick sealed chassis result in decidedly longer engine life, noticeably lower operating costs—an Air Cleaner—a Gasoline Filter—an Oil Filter protect the engine.

4 and 2 Door Sedans!
Real sedans with Fisher Bodies. Upholstery and fittings according to Buick's luxurious standards. Real sedans... at "coach prices."

DuPont in Duco!
New beauty! The latest, smartest, most striking color and finish combinations for motor cars.

Safe Night Driving!
The Better Buick introduces the Controllable Beam Headlight. It furnishes, constantly, a flood of soft, searching light on the roadway without glare in the eyes of the approaching driver, and without dimming.

Lower Prices!
And while Buick has raised Buick quality and performance even higher than before, it also has been able to make substantial reductions in prices.

Better acquaintance with the many 1926 advancements and improvements in the Better Buick will convince you that: "Again Buick Has Built a Better Automobile!"

The FLAPPER WIFE

by Beatrice Burton ©1925 NEA SERVICE INC.

Gloria Gordon, beautiful flapper, marries Dick Gregory, a struggling lawyer. Her idea of marriage is fun and fine clothes—and no work or children.

She refuses pointblank to do her own housework, and hires a maid. But Dick has to let the maid go, because he can't afford to pay her wages. Gloria has swamped him with debts for her clothes and a new automobile.

She becomes infatuated with Stanley Wayburn, an actor. She lends him money, and when he leaves town to go to New York, Gloria follows him. But he spurns her. It is only about the burglary, but he is not there. She wrings from Miss Briggs a confession that she is in love with Dick.

Gloria goes home, determined to win Dick again. She does her best to clean up the house, and show Dick what a good wife she is going to be. But she forgets to order food for supper. Dick unwillingly offers to take her out to a restaurant.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

Gloria followed Dick out to the garage. She couldn't help noticing how his than May. Perhaps he was sorry that he had married her. "Well, she wouldn't let him be sorry! She had turned over a new leaf.

"Where are we going?" she asked as the car turned into the street. "We're going to invite ourselves to Mother's for a meal," Dick answered grimly. "I'm sick of restaurant food. I'm fed up on it."

Neither of them said another word until they swung into the broad driveway of the Gregory homestead.

It looked so peaceful and welcoming tonight, with its lights streaming out from the windows—its rose bushes blooming beyond the sweep of lawn.

Mother and Father Gregory were just sitting down to dinner, when Dick and Gloria walked in. "Well, isn't this a fine surprise!" Mother Gregory cried. She got up and put her arms around Dick, while Father Gregory beamed at them over his horn-rimmed spectacles. Gloria felt left out in the cold.

"How did you know we were going to have strawberry shortcake for supper?" Mother Gregory asked. She turned to Gloria and gave her the briefest of kisses.

"I smelled it!" Dick answered, laughing. "Blocks and blocks away I smelled it—above the rich perfume of gasoline that scents our town! And it drew me, like a magnet!"

He looked like a boy as he sat down at the table—carefree and happy, in his old home. Gloria watched him with narrowed eyes. She hadn't seen him like this for weeks.

Mother Gregory bustled around the room, getting out plates from the china cabinet, and napkins from the side-board.

"Leg of lamb, tonight—and fresh peas. I shelled them, myself, and they were a job!" she said. But there was no complaint in her voice. She was a born housekeeper, and she loved hard work—really enjoyed it!

Gloria looked around the room. How different it was from her own dining room at home! She couldn't help thinking that.

There the silver was tarnished, and the chairs were dusty. Here there were fresh roses in the center of the snowy cloth. Everything—glasses, forks and furniture—that could be made to shine, was agleam. There wasn't a speck of dirt anywhere.

The salad was crispy cold, and the things that should be hot were hot. The meal was delicious.

then that Gloria realizes that she never really cared for Wayburn. But she is afraid to go home to Dick. She tries to land a job as a chorus girl and fails.

Discouraged, she goes home to Dick, who takes her back, but not as his wife. While Gloria is at home one night, the house is burglarized. Dick doesn't get home until early morning. Gloria wonders if he has been with his secretary, Miss Briggs, of whom she is extremely jealous.

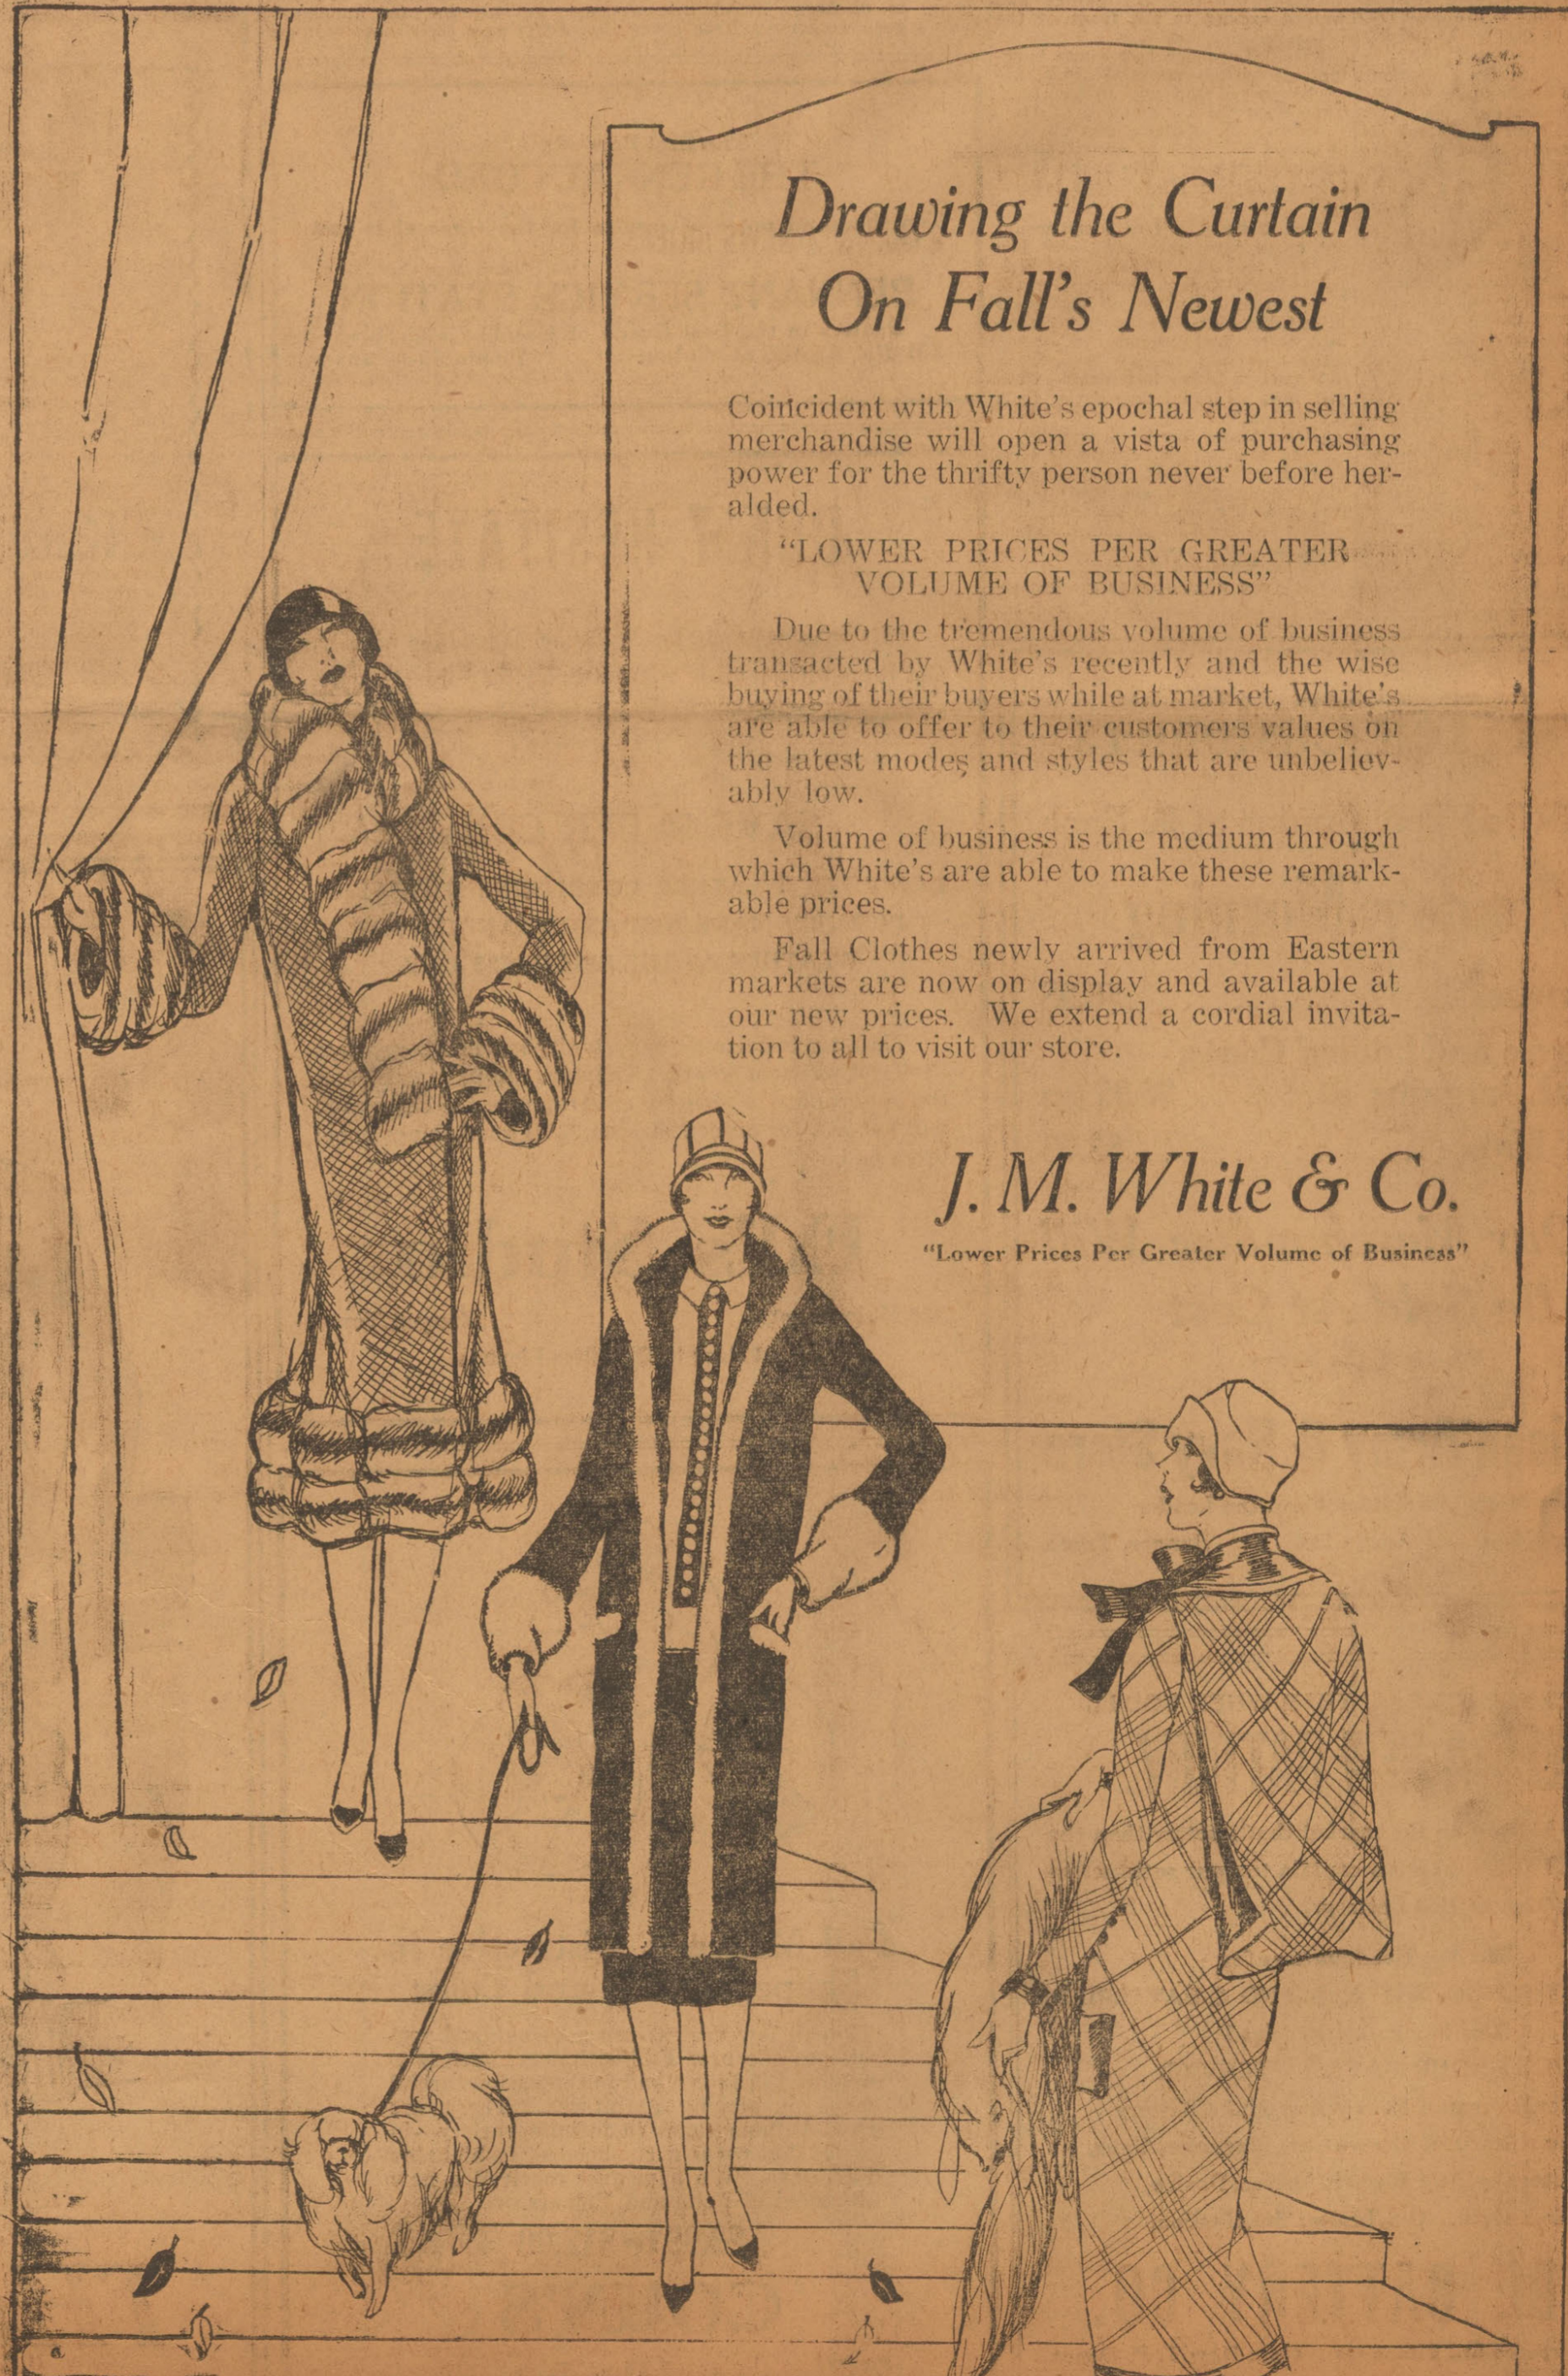

But next morning she learns that he was at the house of Dr. John Seymour, who had killed himself in dependence over the love affair of his wife, May, and Jim Carewe. Gloria goes to Dick's office to tell him she had dropped and his step-ladder when he awoke.

"Ricky," she said, using the old nickname. "I'm sorry as the dickens that I didn't have dinner ready for you tonight. I can see that you're dead tired. How much sleep did you have last night?"

"Not a wink," Dick answered. "How could I sleep when my best friend had just killed himself because of his utterly worthless wife? I can't figure out why John cared so much for a good-for-nothing creature like May. He should never have married her in the first place! That was his big mistake."

Gloria bit her lip. She wondered if Dick thought she was any better

"Mother Gregory," Gloria said, on a sudden impulse, "You're wonderful! If I could keep house just half as well as you I'd be satisfied. And by jinks, I'm going to learn how to do it!"

Mother Gregory laid down her fork. She gave Gloria a searching look.

"My dear child!" she said, "That's the most sensible thing I've ever heard you say! And if you need any help, come to me for it."

"Give her your recipe for straw-berly short-cake," Dick suggested. "You said you were going to have short-cake, didn't you?"

Mother Gregory laughed.

"As Gloria would say, 'we are going to have nothing else but,' she answered, "Gloria, you carry out the plates while I cut the short-cake. It's Maggie's night out."

Gloria picked up the platter and took it out into the big, clean kitchen.

"I've been thinking over what you told me this morning," Mother Gregory said to her, quietly. "About you and Dick living apart—I would not worry about that if I were you. It will turn out all right, after a while. Dick's pride's hurt—and I can't say I blame him."

Gloria shook her pretty head.

"No," she said, "It goes deeper than that. Dick doesn't care for me any more—I saw it in his face to-night. And it isn't that he hates me. He's just indifferent to me. He's through with me!"

She went into the dining room and came back with a pile of plates, and a vegetable dish.

"Then, whom is he in love with?" Mother Gregory asked. "If he's not in love with you—depend upon it, a man of Dick's age is always in love with somebody or other. That's Nature."

Gloria stood silent for a moment, watching Dick's mother pile whipped cream on the short-cake.

"Yum, yum! Doesn't that look delicious!" she said childishly. Then she sobered. "I told you this morning that I think he's fallen in love with Miss Briggs. And I do think so!"

"Nonsense!" Mother Gregory said sharply. "Dick likes you just as well as he ever did! You just settle down and be a good wife to him, and he'll be tickled to death with you."

She nodded vigorously, so that all the beads on her black dress sparkled.

"I really haven't been a good wife, have I?" Gloria asked humbly. Afterward, she wished she hadn't said that.

Mother Gregory was the soul of frankness always. She opened her eyes now, and let Gloria have the truth about her wifehood—or at least what she considered the truth.

"You never were any kind of a wife at all to Dick!" she said. "You were a drag and a worry to him—a pretty toy. And any toy becomes tiresome, after a while."

She put her hands on the girl's slim shoulders, and looked at her gravely.

"Months ago I told you married life wasn't a game, but a business, didn't I?" she asked. Gloria nodded. "You believe me now, don't you?"

Mother Gregory went on. "And I'm going to tell you something else. Nothing ties a man to a woman like a child. You take my advice, and give Dick a son or two—and a couple of daughters."

Tears smarted in Gloria's eyes. It was too late now, for that wise advice. Dick no longer loved her—He didn't want her to be the mother of his children. She was sure of that.

She winked away her tears, and helped Mother Gregory serve the short-cake.

There was a chill in the air when Dick and Gloria left the Gregory homestead at ten o'clock that night.

Gloria shivered in her thin silk frock. She cuddled up against Dick in the machine, and laid her head down on his shoulder.

But he paid no attention to her. He might have been a man of iron as he sat at the wheel.

"Move over, Gloria," he said finally. "You're in my way. I can't reach the brake."

"You don't need the brake. There's no traffic," Gloria said crossly. But she moved away from him. She had a wild desire to cry.

"You just don't want me near you!" she said, her voice trembling. "I know—I know."

Dick said nothing.

In silence that seemed to crackle all around them—so electric it was—they drove into the garage and walked around to the front of the house.

"Well, I wonder how many burglars will visit us tonight!" Dick said as he turned the key in the lock. They went in.

"It's a shame about that silver—although we were insured," Gloria answered. "I went down to the office today, and had Miss Briggs look it up."

Dick frowned. "I wish you would not come down there and give her orders," he said. "When I got back from lunch today, she was gone. Her mother called up to say she'd been taken sick. I suppose her feelings were hurt because of something you said to her—You were rude enough to her last night!—Now you promise you'll stay away from my office."

Gloria tossed her head, wilfully.

"She wasn't sick because of anything I said to her!" she exclaimed. "It was something she said to me that made her sick, I'll bet you!"

Dick sat down in his armchair and filled his pipe.

"Well, what did she say?"

"Told me what a crush she has on you," Gloria answered calmly.

Dick leaped to his feet. "What!" he almost shouted.

"Sure she did," Gloria said. "She told me she's been in love with you for years and years. She said that right up to the time you married me she hoped you'd fall in love with her—That's why she hates me, so! She thinks I came between you."

Gloria stood in front of him, watching to see how he took it.

He took it, unwillingly. He didn't want to believe this thing that Gloria had just told him, although he must have guessed it.

"Are you telling me the truth, Gloria?" he asked at last.

Gloria threw out both her little hands and grabbed the lapels of his coat. "Why should I tell you a lie?" she asked.

"I don't know," Dick answered. "But you've told me a good many of them, you know, in the last few months."

Gloria winced under the sting in his quiet voice.

"Well, whether you believe it or not, it's the truth," she said. "She's in love with you—and you've got to get rid of her. You'd better hire a man for your secretary next time. He won't fall for your fatal beauty!"

She sat down on the davenport, and picked up a magazine. She turned its pages idly. Every nerve was waiting for Dick's answer.

He took his pipe from his mouth, emptied the ashes from it, and began to scrape its bowl with his pen-knife. Gloria could see that he was thinking hard. His eyebrows were pinched into a frown.

"No," he said presently. "I'm not going to discharge Susan Briggs. She's a good worker—and she never upsets me. No matter how nervous I am, she soothes me, somehow—just the sound of her voice, the way she looks."

He was trying, in his awkward man's way to tell Gloria that the very sight of Susan Briggs' quiet eyes gave him a sense of profound placidity and strength—the thing he needed.

"Why?" Gloria cried, "You're talking about her as if you're crazy about her. You are in love with her!—I've told you so, before. And I was right!"

ATTORNEY PROPHECIES DOMINATION BY WOMEN

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 12.—"The emancipation of women is slowly leading to the captivity of man."

This is the claim of Larry McDaniel, former circuit attorney here, McDaniel in speaking before a local club said that "women's rights" are being carried too far. He referred to the barber shop, man's last stand, which has been invaded by women.

The attorney prophesied that it would not be many years before there would be a woman president of the United States and cited statistics showing there are 10,000,000 more women in the United States now than there are men.

ENID IS TIRED OF OIL; LOSES FAITH IN BOOMS

ENID, Okla., Sept. 12.—Towns in Oklahoma are becoming tired of oil. Enid has taken the lead with the announcement "we have more than oil here."

Only recently when a good oil field was discovered at Enid's door the people got together and announced they didn't want their home town advertised as a boom oil town.

When two oil gushers of mammoth proportions were brought in within a week, business men displayed only well bred interest in the newly acquired wealth. Instead of feverish excitement, people here went along much as if nothing had happened.

OLDEST SCARF PIN

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., Sept. 12.—The search for the oldest collar-button in use has led to claims in the field of ancient scarf pins.

Dr. W. F. Rayle, of this city says the one he wears was bought on the day Lincoln was shot.

"I am wearing a scarf pin in the shape of a miniature Bible that was purchased on April 14, 1865, the day President Lincoln was shot by Booth," he says. "The pin is in perfect condition, though worn every day."

BRECKENRIDGE PREPARING FOR OIL BELT FAIR

Special Correspondence. BRECKENRIDGE, Sept. 12.—Work is being rapidly pushed on the new exhibition building at the Oil Belt fair grounds so that everything may be in readiness for the fair, Sept. 29 to Oct. 3. The exhibition building is 90 by 160 feet, built of reinforced concrete and brick, with a steel frame roof.

The directors have contracted with the Red Hussar band of Dallas to furnish music for the matinee and night performances in front of the grandstand, including a balloon ascension each afternoon with automobile races on Sept. 29 and Oct. 1, and horse races the other three days. One of the most interesting departments of the fair will be the women's department.

The citizenship are looking forward to this first fair as a gala event in the history of the life of Breckenridge.

The butter burning lamps of Lhasa, forbidden city of Tibet, soon will be no more. Their place will be taken even in the most sacred shrines, by electric lamps, and electricity to light these lamps will be generated by a hydro-electric plant that is now making its way on the backs of pack mules along trails reaching from the Indian border.

NOW CLASSED AMONG THE SCIENCES

Back to the days when primitive man first cast the ruddy glow of firelight on his cavern walls through the rubbing together of sticks—on to the era of flint and steel, when venison turned over the glowing coals of a kitchen fireplace, to the present day when a world's attention is centered upon the nutritive value of various foods and the matter of their preparation—the art of Cooking has kept steadily apace with the Spirit of Progress.

All Foods Are Not Proper Foods

It all depends upon those who consume them. What is nourishing food to one may prove greatly detrimental to the well-being of another. What to one person may prove to be a builder of rich, red blood and strengthening tissue, may succeed only in creating a series of woeful physical conditions in persons differently constituted.

These are subjects every housewife should be interested in

Did You Ever Think of This?

That the human being—man, woman or child—is after all merely a natural product of a highly organic nature—a product of that which he or she absorbs? This is obviously true. And knowing this, is it not then easy to understand that a properly functioning organism must be maintained through foods in which organic substances still predominate?

In proper food preparation only can this be made possible.

Liver Oil and Sunshine Baths Best Treatment for Ailing Babies

P. HOLLINGSWORTH, Press Staff Correspondent, WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—Giving babies of America the right start through a health campaign based on scientific lines, is the children's bureau of the department of labor, at the conclusion of a three-year experimental New Haven, Conn., in co-operation with the Yale university school of medicine.

Years of the tests, conducted with infants and children up to five years of age, have been completed. Dr. Elliot, head of the child division of the children's bureau, announced today.

Purpose of the study is to find the treatment that will, when systematically, fortify babies against the prevalence of disease, early rickets, which Dr. Elliot said to exist in some form in 90 percent of the children examined at the New Haven clinic.

Can Be Cured.

Results of the first two years of the claim that rickets can be cured by the babies are taken at birth, even "sunshine baths" and periodic doses of cod liver oil.

Sunlight is the important agent in the treatment, according to Dr. Elliot.

For a long time its advancement of tuberculosis was known. Dr. Elliot has spent two years of experiment in the disease of the nutritional ailment of infants, lowers the vitality and other diseases, the percentage reduced from 90 to 50.

Even better results are shown in the three years of work are ended next September.

As conducted at New Haven through the co-operation of the local health authorities, consists of exposing the new babies as soon as the mother is able to bring the child for examination.

Cod Liver Oil Daily.

Daily doses of cod liver oil are administered, and open exposure to the rays of the sun, taking precautions during the heat of summer to the eyes. The baby is gradually led to "tan" which is regarded as a sure sign of the needed sunbathing effect. Half a teaspoonful of liver oil daily is the amount for the first six months of the year, which is increased until the child shows that a "cure" has been effected.

In 3,000 children ranging from 1 to 5-year-old boys and girls examined at the New Haven clinic since September, 1923, the results began. Of these 552, 213 were used as controls to determine the effectiveness of the treatment of the 332 children taken from birth. Splendid results with the mothers are the rule thus far, it was found that only 192 out of the entire group having dropped before the result could be determined. The results were taken from a mixed population totaling 13,500 inhabitants.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK

By E. R. Waite, Secretary Shawnee, Okla., Board of Commerce.

James M. Thomson, publisher of The New Orleans Item, says: "That advertising has developed within a generation in the United States of America until today more money is spent for advertising than is spent for the entire wheat crop of the United States. Thus, if bread is the staff of life, advertising is the staff of business."

That while advertising started in a humble way and was an incident of the first publications in which it appeared, it is now the tail that wags the dog in most of the great daily newspapers of the United States. For the larger part of the revenues of the most successful daily papers in this country is represented by advertising rather than circulation revenue.

That from a rather crude and shaky beginning, advertising has developed into a combination of business, profession and art.

That there appears to be no reasonable limit to the continued growth of advertising. Nearly 30 years ago, when I started in business there was a question in the minds of conservative people regarding the truthfulness of advertising. Fakers and get-rich-quick schemers were among the first people to appreciate the value of this great force in commanding public attention. Today the advertising columns of first class newspapers and magazines are written by men whose professional standing is beyond question, and whose word is as good as their bond. Years ago most of the reputable papers excluded not only medical fakers, but all forms of fake advertising from their columns. Today the presumption is all in favor of the accuracy of the advertised statement, and is all in favor of the good quality and fair price asked for the advertised goods.

The exclusion of what was bad and the development of new and improved methods or forms of advertising have won the appreciation of the general public. The past quarter of a century in the United States has seen advertising become the most important factor in the distribution and sale of commodities and service.

First Aid Teams Meet to Compete in Life-Saving Tests

By United Press.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Sept. 10.—Eighteen of the 28 mining states of the country are represented in the Bureau of Mines first aid and mine rescue meeting starting here today. It will last until Saturday when final safety awards will be made in the presence of many notables.

Governor Len Small, of Illinois, will officially welcome the contestants and the state mine officials designated by the governors of each competing state to attend the gathering.

Secretary of Commerce Hoover found it the last minute that he would be unable to attend in behalf of the bureau of mines, sponsor of the safety contests. Acting Director D. A. Lyon, and Dr. T. T. Read, safety director of the bureau, were in charge for the federal government.

The meet is held under arrangement with the various states and the individual mining companies sending teams to compete for the two bronze congressional medallions, awarded for the highest score in first aid as well as mine rescue. Other prizes also will be awarded Saturday for placing in the various contests. A banner is to be given the state holding the highest score.

Seventy teams are expected to line up today when the meet starts. Sixty of these will start the preliminary contests in first aid. The mine rescue contests with 10 competing teams will be run off tomorrow. Saturday will be the day for finals when tie scores can be determined.

A trip will be made tomorrow by the contestants to Lincoln's tomb, as a feature pilgrimage of the occasion. John L. Lewis, president of the U. M. W. A. will deliver an address.

The awards Saturday will be followed by addresses. A. J. Moorshead, president of the Illinois operators association, is expected to speak then.

The states represented in the meeting of ore to ship before winter ties up the lake traffic, it was stated.

COLONEL MITCHELL TO BE AT DALLAS STATE FAIR

DALLAS, Sept. 11.—Colonel William Mitchell, air service colonel, who is now in the limelight as a result of his severe criticism of the war and navy department, has accepted an invitation to attend the state fair, at Dallas, October 10 to 25, to judge hunters, jumpers and polo ponies at the horse show. His message of acceptance stated: "I shall be delighted to come to Dallas and serve the best I may."

County Poor Farm, In Center of Rich Oil and Agricultural District, Being Made Comfortable Home For Inmates

That the Eastland county poor farm may become one of the richest tracts of land in the county was indicated by a recent inspection of conditions there. At least one good oil well offsets a location on the county farm and oil and gas wells are now operating on three sides of it. The next farm adjoining is producing half a bale of cotton to the acre by conservative estimate this season, on land on which at least a third of the crop was destroyed in a spring overflow and an estimated 25 bales sacrificed to boll weevil.

The county farm itself is run on an allowance of $80 a month and what it produces. It contains only 39 acres, about 13 acres being tillable. The oil wells adjoining are producing 15 to 20 barrels of oil a day, settled production, and considerable gas, it is stated. There are locations for five wells on the farm itself.

The adjoining farm belongs to J. H. Whitten who works it successfully and somewhat intensively. He has a field of corn in full ear, melon patches, Minorca chickens, a number of Rhode Island reds, and incubator and several milk cows.

The county farm keeps a good sow, raises sweet potatoes, black-eyed peas and cane grass corn, the small cob variety which, it is stated, will be ground into meal to be used for bread. Only one small tillable patch was found to be idle this season, this being a small field adjoining the Whitten rich acres, which has been allowed to grow up in cockle burrs but which, it is stated, will be cultivated next year.

Manager O'Neal has made marked improvements in conditions on the county farm and the inmates interviewed expressed satisfaction with their treatment. Among these was Harvey Bellow, the man who has entirely lost sight in one eye and is now seriously debating whether to have himself of the opportunity to have the other treated on the slim chance of saving it. He sees objects only as a bulk or mass.

Water has been piped from Eastland to the poor farm and is now available from faucets in the two houses on the farm, one being the home of the manager and the other of the inmates. Two bathrooms are in the house occupied by the farm charges and one in the home of the manager. There are also two isolated houses of one-room each on the property, one of these being occupied by two inmates who were married several months ago.

MARTYRDOM CHARGE AVOIDED
By United Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 12.—With the Mitchell aircraft controversy rapidly drifting beyond control of the army and navy officials, the administration succeeded today in getting the situation partially in hand. Colonel Mitchell will be tried for insubordination probably in San Antonio, but the administration is maneuvering to avoid making a martyr of him, therefore the president has given permission to Acting Secretary of War Davis to make a presentation of the whole aviation situation that the white house might not appear to be doing anything that might hamper the defense. At the same time he has pacified the army and navy by approving the court-martial of Mitchell.

Discovery of Commander Rodgers and his crew of the lost PN-9 No. 1 has been reflected in fewer protestations against the aircraft administration flowing into the white house.

new theory and new motives in connection with the murder of Mrs. C. B. Cook, regarded as Benton county's militant temperance crusader.

Coroner C. L. Modlin today admitted that he had developed no evidence pointing directly to the original theory that Mrs. Cook had been slain by bootleggers or their agents for revenge. The possibility that the murder may have been committed by a lunatic and that it might have resulted from bitter feeling among members of the ku klux klan was admitted.

Both Mrs. Cook and her husband are said to have been connected with the klan. In his testimony before the coroner, Cook said that he was in another town, about 40 miles from his home, the night his wife was killed.

PUT HEALTH IN THE LUNCH BOX

Kellogg Company Dietist Gives Advice for School Children

(By Barbara Brooks, Home Economics Department, Kellogg Company, Battle Creek, Michigan.)

The first of September is ushered in with the ringing of bells—school bells. Although the old brass bell with the clapper has been replaced by electricity, no doubt children run to school just as fast when urged on by the modern sound as their parents did when the harsher clang warned them that they might be late.

School days mean that the freedom of summer is over—girls and boys must settle down to a routine in which almost every act is supervised—except eating. All summer mother has seen to it that vegetables have been included in the noon menu—and that they have gone into the children to build strong bodies. Now the children either carry their lunch or purchase it at the school cafeteria. In the latter case it is hoped that there is a wise assortment from which to choose and some one to suggest appetizing and wholesome combinations.

If a lunch has to be carried, the mother knows what goes into it, but she cannot be sure that it will be eaten. Her aim should be to prepare the foods in such a way that they will appeal to the appetite, give variety and provide the materials necessary for the growing child.

Such attractive lunch boxes can be purchased today that the problem of packing has been simplified. The thermos bottle can hold hot or cold liquids depending on the time of the year. Lemonade, fruit juice, or milk for warm days—the milk can be in the form of egg nog for the underweight child; cocoa, soup, hot egg nog or milk for the cooler weather.

Vary the sandwiches by using different kinds of bread—whole wheat, bran, or steamed brown, as well as different fillings. Put small bran muffins in occasionally—children like the ones with dates especially well. An individual package of ready-to-eat cereal is enjoyed once in a while. Eggs may be served in several ways—hard cooked, stuffed, in sandwiches or salad. For dessert, fruit, raw or cooked; pudding such as corn starch, rice, baked custard, or gelatine; or cookies such as rolled out spices cookies with fruit.

You may find it helpful to make out the lunch box menus a week in advance. You need not hold absolutely to your plan, but thinking ahead will avoid a lunch put together without thought. This is rarely enjoyed and proves a waste of time and food.

CIPPELL—New highway through this city, to be 60 feet wide.

Hale county, this year, has best feed crop in its history.

French artist says American girls are just dolls. We say you can't stuff one with sawdust.

Where are the old-fashioned girls? They are out in Arizona. She had stolen a horse.

Youth has its advantages. So has age. Older you are the more easily you remember when the weather was worse.

Funny things happen. Chicago woman caught three robbers. And she's 40, and hasn't caught a husband yet.

Education's great. Some people curse and swear. Educated ones perspire and use profanity.

Imposters are terrible people. In Oklahoma, a bank was robbed by three men who didn't work there. (Copyright, 1925, NEA Service, Inc.)

RISING STAR NOTES

RISING STAR, Sept. 12.—Mrs. Tubbs of Shantytown, presented here Thursday night by members of the Eastland B. Y. P. U., was enthusiastically received. One-half of the proceeds from the play went to the Rising Star Baptist church.

M. G. Robertson, local state road supervisor, states that he is informed that the Hoffman construction company of Eastland, which has the contract for asphaltting Highway No. 23, leading west from Rising Star, would, within the next few days, establish a camp at Pioneer and begin re-topping the Rising Star-Coleman road. The roadbed is said to be in good condition and it is said that the topping can be put on in about ten days.

A gas well estimated to be making 3,000,000 cubic feet of gas per day, has been drilled in on the I. H.

Madison farm near Rising Star by Mook and associates of Eastland. The gas is said to have been struck at a depth of 1090 feet. It is understood that drilling on the well will be continued in the hope of finding oil in paying quantities.

The Rising Star public schools will open Monday morning at 9:00 o'clock. The public is invited to attend the opening exercises.

HOUSTON.—The Houston Pipe Line company has completed construction of 160 miles of gas line from Lucas in Live Oak county, to Edna, in Jackson county. On the Houston end of the line rapid progress indicates that the line will be completed into Houston by December 1.

FORT WORTH.—Water mains and hydrants to be installed in sections not yet provided with them.
