EVERGREEN CEMETERY IS SOLD TO CITY

Payments Spread Over Ten Years; Will Pay for Self by Sale of Lots.

The Evergreen cemetery was sold yesterday by A. B. Poe to the city for a consideration of $8,500, which includes all unpaid contracts for burial lots, on terms to run ten years. Deferred payments are to bear 6 percent interest. The interest for ten years added to the purchase price makes a total of $11,305, which is to be paid in ten equal installments.

The Municipal park board, which is composed of a member of several classes of businesses in the city, was suggested as being the proper head of the cemetery with a woman member of each church added. This plan will probably be accepted.

Self-Sustaining. It is said that at present fees pay the expenses for a sexton, who also acts as caretaker at the cemetery, and that the sale of burial lots will more than pay the deferred payments as they come due.

Mr. Poe has stated that he made the sale for no other reason than that his business in El Paso required his time. In that city he is the largest stockholder in the Evergreen cemetery.

Space in the burying ground on Pecan street, which has been used by Ranger for many years, is exhausted. This fact perhaps actuated the city commissioners in their purchase of yesterday.

Shrubbery Planted. The newly acquired property contains fourteen acres, five of which have been planted into lots and driveways with much shrubbery planted along the drives. It also has an arch at its front entrance that has just been completed.

Mr. Poe stated to the commission that the original price for the land was $7,000 and in addition to this he had been at heavy expense in putting in the improvements.

Obregon Receives Gold Paperweight From Americans

NOGALES, Ariz., Dec. 4.—When Alvaro Obregon was inaugurated as president of Mexico on Dec. 1, he was presented with a solid gold paperweight, the gift of the citizens of Nogales, Arizona.

The paperweight is unique in that it is designed for aiding a left-handed and one-eyed president in signing his papers. It is a reproduction in miniature of the international line and monument marking the division between the United States and Mexico in the center of the twin cities of Nogales, Arizona and Nogales, Sonora. The latter is the home and location of the business of President Obregon.

President Obregon lost his right arm while fighting as a general in command of Carranza federal troops against Villa at Celaya, Guanajuato, about a hundred miles north of Mexico City in the early days of the revolutions. He wrote with his right hand. Since then he has mastered the art of writing with his left hand, but he uses a heavy paper weight to hold the sheet in place.

The base of the paperweight is 5 1/2 by 2 1/2 inches and 1 1/4 inches high and is of 14 carat yellow gold. Across the top is a line of white gold symbolizing the international line between the two Nogales. Clashed over this line are two hands of gold, one symbolizing Mexico, the other the United States.

Modelled in white gold also is a replica of International Monument, No. 122, which works the dividing line of the two Nogales.

Above the base is a large key in yellow gold, symbolizing the fact that Nogales is known as the Key City to the Mexican West Coast. This key provides the handle by which the paperweight is lifted. The entire affair weighs 1 1/2 pounds. The key is built of commercially pure gold. The presentation was made formally in the president's palace in the half of Nogales, Ariz., by Frank J. Barry, vice president of the chamber of commerce, to President Obregon as honorary president of the Nogales, Sonora, chamber of commerce.

President Obregon is the second chief executive of Mexico to be inaugurated minus his right arm. The other was Gen. Manuel Gonzalez, who lost his arm fighting against the French invasion of Mexico in Napoleon III. General Gonzalez was inaugurated president of Mexico following the first term of Porfirio Diaz in the early 80's.

RUNAWAY TEAM SEEKS TO BE PERPETUATED IN RANGER PAVEMENT

A runaway team tearing down Lamar street Saturday morning seemed determined to climb aboard the big concrete mixer, at work laying the base for paving, and be forthwith converted into a stretch of macadam roadway. A near-sand bank foiled the attempt when the horses bogged to their knees and were hoisted by the men. An effort to get the runaway team under control was done to the horses' skins. A man started the night, it is said.

CHICAGO BOARD MERE GAMBLING HALL-CAPPER

Lays Slump in Farm Products to Activities of the "Bears."

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—Responsibility for the recent disastrous slump in the prices of farm products was declared today by Senator Capper, Republican of Kansas, to rest easily upon the "bears" on the Chicago Board of Trade. Capper charged that the board, as now conducted, is the world's greatest gambling institution, "because a lot of market gamblers find it convenient to bet on the daily quotations." As a result, the farmer who has been forced to sell his hogs and cattle at a loss, while meat continues to sell at war prices, is again made the goat," Capper said.

Dr. G. W. Truett at New Baptist Church Sunday

Dr. George W. Truett will deliver the dedicatory sermon at the First Baptist church Sunday morning at 11 o'clock. It is announced in a general invitation being extended to hear him.

The First Methodist and First Presbyterian will hold no services, in order that the members of their congregations may have the opportunity of hearing Dr. Truett at the opening of this magnificent piece of worship, the first to be completed of the several large edifices of its kind constructed in Ranger.

The services of Dr. Truett, one of the world's greatest preachers, are widely in demand and Ranger people consider themselves fortunate in he secured him for this occasion.

RESERVE BOARD HEAD ANGERED BY ATTACKS ON CREDIT RULINGS

WASHINGTON, Dec. 4.—At the hearing on the agricultural situation before a congressional joint committee, a heated dispute arose between Governor Harding of the federal reserve board and members of Congress.

Declaring that he had been the target for all kinds of abuse, Governor Harding finally demanded to know the purpose of the hearing and, addressing the chairman, asked "Is the federal reserve board on trial; am I on trial here?"

The principal topic under discussion was the sending out of circulars by the regional reserve bank of Richmond, Va., to member banks. Representative Brynes, Democrat, of South Carolina, attempted to show that this circular had resulted in a rigid restriction of credit to farmers.

BANDITS OPEN FIRE IN MINNEAPOLIS STREET; ONE FATALLY WOUNDED

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Dec. 4.—One man was perhaps fatally wounded and two others narrowly escaped death, in a volley of bullets fired by five bandits who held up and robbed officials of the Northern Bag company of $900 in cash just outside the doors of the company's building. Lysle Mealy, driver of the taxicab in which two company officials were preparing to take the money to the bank, was shot through the body. Two other bandits, waiting across the street, when they saw the scuffle, opened fire upon the officials. Mealy was the only man hit while the bandits escaped in an automobile.

C., Dec. 4.—Representatives in congress and from cotton growing states and other persons, urging the further extension of credit in the movement to hold farm products for higher prices, appeared today before the house and senate joint agricultural committee to outline conditions upon which they based their demands for aid. ARDMORE PROSECUTOR-ELECT IS EMPLOYED TO DEFEND CLARA SMITH ON MURDER CHARGE

Law Partner Announces Special Prosecutor Will Be Assigned to Case.

ARDMORE, Okla., Dec. 4.—The probable appointment of a special prosecutor to proceed after Jan. 1 against Miss Clara Smith, now being widely sought in connection with the shooting here of Jake Hamon, took the spotlight in the case today. The new angle was injected through the announcement of Charles Coakley, law partner of J. H. Mathers, county attorney-elect, that their firm has been employed to defend Miss Smith.

Coakley said that Mr. Mathers would recommend that Russell Brown, present county attorney, be permitted to continue in charge of the state for the state.

Brown announced that there had been no new developments in the search for Miss Smith, so far as his office was concerned. He is leaving today for his farm near Ardmore for a few days' hunting trip. Meanwhile authorities of a dozen cities in Oklahoma and Texas are redoubling efforts to capture Miss Smith, for whom a warrant of assault with intent to kill has been issued. Brown indicated he would change the charge against Miss Smith to murder in the event that she is captured.

Coakley in his announcement denies that the charges against Miss Smith will be dropped when Mathers takes office as prosecutor.

SAN ANTONIO AUTHORITIES BELIEVE GIRL HIDING THERE

International News Service. SAN ANTONIO, Dec. 4.—Department of Justice officials here are watching the movement of James Smith, said to be the brother of Mrs. Clara Smith Hamon, who is being widely sought in connection with the murder of Jake L. Hamon, Republican national committeeman and multi-millionaire.

Two undelivered telegrams were received here yesterday afternoon, addressed to Miss Clara Smith, in care of a local hotel. One of the telegrams was from Dallas and the other was from Ardmore. A woman answering her description checked at the hotel three days ago, but checked out yesterday afternoon. She was registered as "Clara F. Hamon, Tulsa, Okla."

It has been learned that shortly after the shooting of Mr. Hamon, his former stenographer made an attempt to charter an aeroplane to come to San Antonio, where she is said to have maintained she had a brother waiting for her to take her across the Mexican border.

Federal officials are in possession of clues which show that Mrs. Hamon is here at present, but cannot locate her. They claim that her brother is under surveillance and express hopes that they will be able to apprehend her within the near future.

MEXICO'S CATHOLIC CLERGY WAGES WAR ON RADICALISM

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 4.—The Catholic clergy of Mexico which recently held an extended conference in Mexico City has just made public a pastoral letter which attacks radicalism. The newspapers announce that this is the beginning of an active campaign which the church has inaugurated.

The letter asserts that soviet and socialist propaganda has become so aggressive in Mexico that "it is necessary to combat ideas with other ideas" and for that reason an extended list of questions and answers are set forth.

The archbishop of Mexico, who is the head of the clergy in the republic, has given his sanction to the campaign and intimation is given that as soon as the work is started in Mexico it will be extended first to Guatemala and then to other Central American republics.

One of the plans projected to defeat socialism is the organization of numerous societies of Catholic workmen.

GALVESTON TAKES SURF ON THANKSGIVING DAY

GALVESTON, Dec. 4.—Despite the recent "norther" which drove President-elect Harding from his vacation in South Texas, Thanksgiving day in Galveston broke fair and warm and many surf bathers enjoyed themselves at the beaches. Although there are many all-year-round surf bathers, according to concessionaires at the beaches, this was the largest turnout ever witnessed on Thanksgiving day. Many of the beach resorts plan to continue open all winter, it is announced.

DENY ROYAL ENGAGEMENT.

LONDON, Dec. 4.—It may be stated on high authority that the report of the engagement of the Prince of Wales to Princess Margarete, daughter of Prince Waldemar of Denmark, is without foundation. South American Countries Back Her Protests; Charges Non-Recognition.

GENEVA, Dec. 4.—An amendment to the covenant of the League of Nations eliminating article 10, the most mooted section of the pact, was introduced in the league assembly today by Charles Doherty, Canadian minister of justice. The amendment probably will be referred to the committee on amendments.

GENEVA, Dec. 4.—The Argentina delegation, headed by Foreign Minister Paucyredon, failed to appear this morning when the League of Nations assembly convened. The trouble dates back to Wednesday, when President Paul Hymans of the League of Nations was charged with giving no official recognition to protests made by the delegations. The delegates also made further protests against their treatment and are supported by South American countries.

Poland Charges Germans Plan to Occupy Silesia

WARSAW, Dec. 4.—Evidence that Germany has planned armed occupation of Upper Silesia if the proposed plebiscite in that territory should favor Poland, is said to have been given the allied governments by Poland.

Newspapers here were published copies of documents said to have been intercepted by Poland. According to these, the sixth German army corps headquarters at Breslau was to equip an expedition. One detachment of this was to proceed into Silesia in the guise of demobilized soldiers and there they were to spread propaganda to support the German cause prior to the plebiscite.

Other detachments were to mobilize twelve days before the day of voting and to wait at various points of vantage. If the plebiscite favored Poland, these forces were to wreck factories and other industrial institutions.

Aid also was to be given the German cause in some way by a secret league of former German officers and soldiers known as "Spre", the name of a river. This organization was to cooperate with the sixth army corps headquarters.

The plebiscite in Silesia has again been postponed indefinitely, said a dispatch from Warsaw under date of Nov. 10. Some newspapers in Warsaw had predicted war between Germany and Poland if the plebiscite gave Upper Silesia to Germany; but these were declared by the French foreign office to be merely fanciful forecasts and not worthy of consideration.

RUSSIAN PLOTTERS PUT TO DEATH, GIRL TRAITOR STRANGLER

MOSCOW, Dec. 4.—Sixty counter-revolutionists were taken out in small batches at several prisons here just before dawn and shot.

At about the same time the body of Mlle. Hoeltzer, the dancer, who betrayed them, was found in a gutter in a deserted street, strangled.

Mlle. Hoeltzer, a favorite here for some weeks, was popular with all classes. After her regular stage appearances she would frequently leap to a table top at a gathering of friends and dance for their benefit.

In this way, it is believed, she gained the confidence of an organization of revolutionaries and learned of their plans for revolt. Squads of troops during the night rounded up the guilty men and women. They were tried and sentenced.

Mlle. Hoeltzer, it is thought, must have been lured from her apartment by friends of the condemned plotters, who knew the hour of their execution.

TIFFIN STOREKEEPERS FINED FOR PUNCHBOARDS

Three pleas of guilty to operating punchboards followed a raid made by county officers at Tiffin yesterday. Charges were filed in Justice Fenlaw's court. The boards are being held.

THOSE OBEDIENT PILGRIMS.

When the memory of the Pilgrims fades, "the glory of our nation will depart," but no man named Calvin Coolidge and living in Massachusetts should preface the statement by saying: "They respected each other's rights, lived according to law and were always obedient to constituted authority." That is just what they did not and were not.

Denying "constituted authority," the Pilgrims fled to Holland. Arriving in America, they "fell on their knees and then on the aborigines"—whose rights they respected about as much as did Andrew Jackson later. Nor were they more gracious to whites who disobeyed their theocracy in the wilderness. Quakers they set in the stocks or flogged or drove from home. Our 7,000,000 "Anabaptists" may feel their ears gratefully that they did not live under the Pilgrims. Crop ping was too good for such "malignants."

The Massachusetts of the Pilgrims spurned the "constituted authority" of Kings. It set up the death penalty for heresy; imposed illegal religious tests, exacted oaths of fealty to the colony but not the crown. This habit of "self-determination" made Massachusetts a leader in casting off even nominal respect for authority through the Revolution; and freedom did not cure it. There were more delegates from Massachusetts than any other state in the Hartford convention, to plan nullification of national authority.

"Those sturdy, God-fearing men and women" had qualities from which, as Governor Coolidge says, "we may well take lessons." Meekness, the law-abiding temper and regard for the rights of those who disagreed with them were not among those qualities—a fact which has had its effect upon the history of the New World.—New York World.

CIGARETTE HISTORY.

A test of the Kansas anti-cigarette law before the Supreme Court will bring back to mind the peculiar history of the cigarette in the United States. Though there have been waves of prejudice against the weed in every form, and the chewing of tobacco means for good reasons—social ostracism in the cities, the only laws ever passed to restrict the practice of smoking have applied to the most harmless and least objectionable custom—cigarette smoking. The explanation is not difficult. Because cigarettes were mild, youngsters began on them. Unquestionably the practice of smoking is bad for children. It is not good for adults—but adults are allowed to choose their own forms of enjoyable suicide. When it was discovered that boys could smoke cigarettes with pleasure, and in some cases did so, the mothers of the nation were roused. The cigarette was called the coffin nail, and an unrestrained antipathy toward it sprang up everywhere. "You may smoke a pipe if you like," said the father to his son, "and I can stand the sight of cigars, but don't come into the house with one of those paper things hanging to your lips." The result of this emotion was the passage of such laws as the cigarette prohibition of Kansas.

But if cigars, pipe tobacco, and molasses plug are to be sold it is only reasonable the cigarettes should be likewise on sale to adults. Prohibition that eliminates only the mildest product would seem to have begun at the wrong end.—New York Globe.

THE WOMAN WHO SAW

No Help For Wulter. From her old home town came a letter from a teacher in the high school where, some years since, the Woman labored to make reluctant boys and girls enamored of Milton's "Minor Poems" and Burke's "Speech on the Conciliation." It was his history teacher who wrote, one who had not turned traitor to the sacred duty of training the next generation despite the lure of higher salaries elsewhere.

"Perhaps you will be amazed by a recent incident," she wrote. "It may ring back your own days here. You will recall how often on Wednesday youngsters came bearing gifts of flowers from the market stalls. Well, I have one admirer in Walter Jackson, black as the ace of spades, with a genial grin that extends from ear to ear. Regularly 'Waffles,' as the boys call him, arrives just as my room comes to order, bearing a big bouquet. I can't discourage him on the score of expense, for he says frankly that he helps a farmer woman from across the river at her stall and she gives him all the flowers that are left over. Last Wednesday his offering was a bunch of button chrysanthemums in yellow and red, really lovely, and my heart warmed toward 'Waffles,' as they made my room cheerful.

"Then came the history class, in which is a thorn in the flesh. Never by my accident does he answer a question correctly, though, heaven knows, I've tried my best. With the color of those lilywhites before me I picked out 'Waffles' the very easiest question I could think of. We had talked about it for days, and on the wall was a picture that should have saved the day. Walter, I asked, as gently as a sucking dove, 'What is the Parthenon?' 'Waffles' showed all his teeth in one side grin and returned delightedly. 'The Parthenon, Miss Leslie? Why, the Parthenon was a disease that spread all over Greece.' Now, I ask you, what in I do to? Out of the richness of your wisdom send me a solution."

The instinct for carrying on a profitable business and the ability to seize upon a favorable opportunity develops early in the life of the young American. To the Woman discovered as she accepted an invitation for a tea in Pelham at a charming home one sunny afternoon in late October. She left New York early, and her invitation had included lunch, and with her hostess she waited for the guests. Three o'clock struck and limousines began to draw up in front of the door. But, strangely enough, her guests, after climbing the stone steps and standing a moment at the door, descended again and went toward the rear of the house. Presently they came back again laughing and entered the drawing room without any explanation of their strange behavior.

The hostess tried to look composed, but the Woman begged one of the guests to explain the joke. "Go and look on the front door knob," he lady whispered. And the Woman went.

There she found a neat poster, printed in bright black letters, tied to the knob by a red string, which read: "For refreshments the guests will please call at the rear of the house as soon as they get her."

She called at the rear, herself, there to find the two small sons of the house with three small pals presiding at an up-to-date lemonade stand. They were selling a thin yellow fluid in tin cups—fifteen cents a cup—and already the rear ash box, improvised from a cigar box with a slit in the lid, was heavy with coins.

Then and there the poster came down and the young merchants went out of business, but the guests, with one accord, proclaimed it the most successful tea they had attended in a long time.

Then and Now. Formerly the employer in fear and trembling obeyed every whim of the employe, and when the employe went out on strike the employer went out on bended knee, with his hands filled with higher wages, begging him to come back.

"Tinker Bob" Stories by Carlisle H. Holcomb

OLD SQUAWS FROM THE NORTH.

When Tinker Bob and Lady Duck and Major Pole Cat were nearing the River the noise grew so loud that Major was wanting to turn back and wait till daylight. But Lady Duck did not. She could hardly wait until they arrived. (You remember the first sound the King heard was like that of a pipe organ.) Now it had grown to be a great noise like a combination of pipe organ tones, together with a rushing of much water. The King was certainly puzzled.

Tinker Bob looked closely and could see that the creatures were ducks.

"These are my friends from the North," Tinker Bob looked closely and could see that the creatures were ducks of a peculiar kind. Said he: "What is the name of these creatures?" "Quack, quack," said Lady Duck. "These are the Old Squaw Ducks from the Far North. It has become so cold up there that they had to come down here for the winter." Then their leader came out on the bank to take a look at the King, of whom Lady Duck had spoken. It was not at all easy to see in the dark, so Tinker Bob told them to wait till morning and he would return and tell them about the wonders of the Great Forest.

"Quack, quack," cried Lady Duck which meant "Good night. We will see you in the morning." (To Be Continued.)

Santa Claus' Letters

NORTH POLE, Dec. 4.—Santa Claus just thinks that there isn't anything in the world like that little pink baby that Mr. Stork fetched him yesterday, according to I. C. Seal, his private secretary, who told the Times that Santa had been playing daddy to the youngster for the entire day, Saturday, and had fought for the little fellow against the combined protests of both Mr. Penguin, the butler, and Mr. Ball.

to keep the baby, no matter what any of the rest of them thought. If they didn't like it, they could just lump it. He was a cute little youngster and he was going to make another Santa Claus out of him. And the old gentleman went off to bed, leaving them all standing astonished and taking the baby with him.

But there were other parties to be heard from about this time, for Mr. Penguin, the butler, came in with a very dejected air and with indignation written all over his face. He didn't see why they had to have a baby on the place which was always a-tending to everybody else's business, he exclaimed. Santa Claus was amazed at the ruffled appearance of the usually calm Mr. Penguin, who began to sizzle embarrassedly to one side. What in the world could be the matter with Mr. Penguin?

Dear Santa—I want a set of furs and a set of dishes and a doll, a story book, a little black Sambo and a pair of roller skates. This is all I want for Christmas, so that you can come to see some other little girl—I will close. WILLOUGHBY KELLY. 523 Lackland Ave.

Pulled Tail Feathers. And right then and there that worthy bird explained he was through with Santa and the whole works, if they kept that "brat" on the place. Hadn't he been as nice as he knew how to it and entertained it the whole while that Santa and Mrs. Stork were breakfasting? An' then the unappreciative little fellow had to go and pull his tail feathers out—tail feathers that he had spent fifty long years in growing, was justly proud of, and which were the pride of his whole family. How would he ever get the nerve to appear in society again?

Santa broke in on him about this time and told him he didn't care if the baby had pulled a few of his tail feathers out. It showed that the boy was of an industrious nature and would be a credit to Santa. Mr. Penguin had had too many tail feathers, he chewed, and the fact of the case was that he had needed a feather trimming for a long time.

Ranger Christian Science Society—Thanksgiving Services will be held in Elks' Hall, Thursday, 11 a. m. All are cordially invited.

Another thing, too, the family feather duster had also worn out and Mr. Penguin's feathers would be fine to replace those lost by the duster. He'd been thinking for a long time of asking Mr. Penguin to donate a few of his tail feathers to this good cause, anyway. He was glad the baby had beaten him to it.

RIPLING RHYMES NOT WANTED With my twelve kids and aunt and wife I'm sadly wearing out my life in search of rooms where we may dwell, 'most any shelter, poor or swell. I have the price, I am not broke, but landlords view me as a joke, and shoo me from them with a jeer, and cry, "No kids are wanted here!" They might accommodate my aunt, but take in kids—they simply can't. And I have called at sundry flats where there were plain and fancy cats; hand-fed Angoras slept and purred in luxury obscene, absurd, when human offspring were denied a needed resting place inside. And in apartments goods or mean fat pampered how-woos I have seen; they idly played their canine games, the pets of fat and pampered dames; but landlords who thought dachshunds right, and sheltered tomcats day and night, looked on my twelve assorted kids, and then turned down my highest bids. All kinds of live stock find repose in modern flats and joints like those; and even monkeys and their ilk recline on sofas decked in silk, and misy parrots caw and whoop in many a rich exclusive coop; but when I go with my twelve kids, resident in their Sunday lids, and my nice wife and queenly aunt, to find a dwelling place, I can't.

Nannie Walker Completion in With 300 Barrels

The Nannie Walker No. 2 of the White Oil corporation, on the Nannie Walker lease, was brought in yesterday for 300 barrels. The well made a natural flow from 100 feet in the sand, but was started with twenty quarts of nitro, when the flow increased.

HIGGINBOTHAM'S THORPE WELL FLOWS ONE THOUSAND

The Higginbotham company's well on the Thorpe lease, one mile south of Lee-ray, is a 1000-barrel completion at 3103-3220. The flow followed a shot of 300 quarts and is coming from the black line.

This is the best well to be brought in near Lee-ray in several weeks, and is probably the largest producer in the vicinity of the town, the Tomlinson well of the Texas company having proved a disappointment in that it failed to remain in the gusher class.

CALIFORNIA WILDCATTING. VISALIA, Cal., Dec. 4.—"Wildcat" derricks have begun to make their appearance in Tulare county and scouting parties are firm in their belief that oil lies somewhere under the surface.

Derricks are going up east of Lindsay, in the Round Valley county, where one syndicate has taken up 15,000 acres on a lease. Near Pixley another "wildcatting" expedition is about to start, while wells already have been started in the Alpaugh section and gas in large quantities has been found. These expeditions follow expert testing which has been going on for the past two years.

NINE-POUND BOY AT J. F. CASTELLAW HOME

Castellaw's store was closed all day yesterday. Two newsboys were gravely discussing the matter. Said one: "This boy is closed up to put on a big sale tomorrow." According to his companion his ignorance was stupendous. "Chee, kid," he said, "don't you know nothin'?"

This guy has got a new kid up to his home that only been there since yesterday. You don't think this geek could run a store, do you, when the stork has just brought him a boy baby?"

That was the conversation that was overheard. Why the store was closed is not known but it is certain that Mr. Castellaw has a fine nine-pound boy at his home. It arrived Thursday. Friends of the father may reach their own conclusions as to why his business was not open. Both the mother and child are reported as doing well.

HAD STOLEN TOOLS.

With tools found in his possession said to be worth $200, the alleged property of the Caddo garage on Marston street, "Shorty" Saville was arrested yesterday by Deputy Sheriff J. B. Ames and placed in the city jail. The kit, which contains a full set of automobile tools, are said to have been stolen from the Caddo garage several days ago. When arrested Saville declared that he had gotten them from another man and could produce the person if given an opportunity. Justice of the Peace Roger Fenlaw gave assurance that he would have every chance to prove his innocence.

INDIA'S TRADE UNIONS TO BE CONSOLIDATED

NEW YORK, Dec. 4.—The wiring of all labor unions in India into one national body will be made next March at the annual meeting of the All-India Trade Union congress, in accordance with a plan outlined Oct. 31 at a conference in Bombay by Lajpat Rai and other leaders and forwarded to the India information bureau here. The local bureau represents the self-government movement in India.

Colonel Josiah Wedgwood, member of parliament, a member of the British labor party and prominent in the presentation of India's case in the British parliament, attended the recent Bombay conference at which it was stated that India now has scores of labor unions where few, any, existed before the war. Madras alone, it was said, has twenty-seven unions, with a total membership of nearly 60,000 workers.

DISAGREEABLE TASTE IN MOUTH

Stomach Was Out of Order and Head Ached, So Kentucky Man Took Black-Draught.—"It Cured Me," He Says.

Nancy, Ky.—Mr. Marion Holcomb, of this place, says: "For quite a long while, I suffered with stomach trouble. I would have pains and a heavy feeling after my meals, also a most disagreeable taste in my mouth. If I ate anything with butter, oil or grease, I would spit it up. I began to have regular sick headache.

"I had used pills and tablets, but after a course of these I would be constipated. It just seemed to tear my stomach up. I found they were no good at all for my trouble.

"I heard Theford's Black-Draught recommended very highly, so I began to use it. It cured me. I keep it in the house all the time. It is the best liver medicine made. I do not have sick headache or stomach trouble any more."

When suffering from headache, constipation, stomach or liver trouble, try the old and well-recommended, purely vegetable, Theford's Black-Draught.

Just as Black-Draught brought relief to Mr. Holcomb, so it also has to thousands of others and should help you, too.

Insist on having the genuine.—Adv.

PROGRAM

LAMB—Hobart Bosworth in "His Own Law," and Pathe Review.
TEMPLE—William Russell in "The Iron Rider." Also "Vanishing Trails," episode six.
MAJESTIC—Bob Greer and Company, musical comedy, and big feature picture.
LIBERTY—Mable Normand in "Pinto," also "An Oil Can Romeo," Consolidated comedy.

'COUNTRY STORE' AMUSING

"The Country Store," winding up the Bob Greer musical comedy bill at the Majestic last night, drew a full house and much hilarity. Prizes ranged from gold watches to live turkeys and sacks of flour. One young man proved unfortunate in being fortunate. He was awarded a nursing bottle, loaded and ready for action, and his consternation when he opened the package was only equalled by the amusement of the audience. He declined the gift, firmly but politely.

LIBERTY.

Kolicking, frolicking Mabel Normand gives gloom another wrinkle. You thought she was a scream in "Upstairs" and in "Jinx"—but wait till you see her latest hurricane of hilarity, "Pinto." It's all about a society debutante—the funniest, friskiest deb that ever "came out"—for she "debuted" to the tune of a smoking 45 and a twirling lariat. She hailed from Cactus Town and she didn't know the first thing about spearing peas with a fork. But when it came to rounding up a herd of hard-boiled Harolds and haughty Henriettas—"Oh, Police"—she was a riot! Showing at the Liberty today.

LAMB.

Most of the exterior scenes of J. Parker Reedy's production of "His Own Law," starring Hobart Bosworth, released by Goldwyn, which shows at the Lamb theatre today, were taken in Big Bear Valley, Calif., one of the most beautiful mountain "locations" in the entire state. The camera succeeded in capturing much of this scenic beauty and it adds materially to the effectiveness of the love scenes and the engineering struggle with nature. As the scenario called for a great engineering job, of which Mr. MacNeir, the character portrayed by Mr. Bosworth, was superintendent, a plant was erected in Big Bear Valley. Some of the most important scenes in the development of the drama take place around the engineering project and the mountain scenery here lends color, dignity and reality to the film.

It is the human element, the sentiments of love, friendship and business rivalry, however, which forms the backbone of the picture drama.

AGED WOMAN PLACED ON TRAIN WITH TICKET TO RANGER

Bent with the weight of seventy-odd years and tremulously inexperienced in traveling, an aged mother was found weeping at midnight by Patrolman Smith of the city police force.

She was on her way from visiting relatives in Fort Worth to her home in Phoenix, Ariz. She had spent all of her money on a ticket which brought her no farther than Ranger, and the conductor had put her off the train, she said.

Patrolman Smith immediately played the roll of night errand and notified the Salvation Army headquarters here, which gave her a place to sleep for the night, bought her food and furnished her with a ticket for the rest of the way.

"HOW MY POOR BACK DOES ACHES!"

Many a woman keeps Sloan's handy for this, but it's great for other pains, too.

THAT dragging, wearying back-ache, that so many women regularly suffer from, is quickly eased by a little Sloan's Liniment. But it is good for all the family. Apply it, without rubbing, for all kinds of aches and pains, from the sharp neuralgic twinge to the dull, tearing ache of rheumatism.

Then there's sciatica, lumbago, sore muscles, stiff joints. Keep a bottle handy, for you never'll know when you will need it.

NEW AUTO SHOP TO BE BUILT, ELM AND AUSTIN

Foundations for a $21,000, two-story frame filling station and ignition garage have just begun being laid at the corner of Austin and Elm streets. It is expected the building which is being erected by C. R. Edwards, will be completed sometime during the last of January.

Provisions will be made for an automobile top repair shop on the second story of the building and an automobile accessories department will be on the ground floor. The former will employ two men permanently, while the accessory division will employ another two. Four or five expert automobile electricians, graduates from accredited schools of the East, will be employed in the ignition garage.

WHY DRUGGISTS RECOMMEND SWAMP-ROOT

For many years druggists have watched with much interest the remarkable record maintained by Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder medicine.

It is a physician's prescription. Swamp-Root is a strengthening medicine. It helps the kidneys, liver and bladder do the work nature intended they should do.

Swamp-Root has stood the test of years. It is sold by all druggists on its merit and it should help you. No other kidney medicine has so many friends.

Be sure to get Swamp-Root and start treatment at once.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.—Adv.
