QUESTION OLD PORTRAITS

Solution Offered For Art 'Whodunit'

PHILADELPHIA, April 21. (U)—A solution to a "whodunit" of the art world was offered to the American Philosophical Society today.

Dr. Gisela Richter, an expert in Greek and Roman art at New York's Metropolitan Museum, told the society there's been a big question about the artists responsible for some world-famed Roman "portraits" in stone.

These sculptured portraits include statues and busts of assorted Roman emperors, famous generals and also men-about-Rome who didn't get their names in history but who apparently were big operators in their own neighborhoods. The portraits also include scenes of Roman conquests.

The question has been this, says Dr. Richter:

Who were the artists who made their portraits—were they Roman or were they Greek?

Her vote, she told the society, goes to the Greeks—the same Greeks who had been conquered by the Romans prior to the time the portraits were made.

Ancient Roman writers give a vague hint of this, she said; also, a few of the portraits have Greek names chiseled on them, as though by a sculptor signing his handiwork.

But the strongest evidence, she related, lies in the fact that while the heads on the portrait statues are plainly those of Romans, the bodies are those of Greek gods like Apollo and Zeus.

HEARING RECESSED OVER FORGERY CHARGES IN PIONEER'S WILL

LIPSCOMB, April 21. (U)—A grand jury investigation into forgery charges involving the will of a wealthy Panhandle pioneer recessed until next Monday after only three of the eight persons charged appeared.

The grand jury announced no action on yesterday's hearings. Among the defendants facing an open charge of forgery is Oklahoma State Sen. Orval Grim of Cheyenne, Okla. He did not appear for questioning.

Appearing before the grand jury were Clyde Grim of Higgins, Tex., an uncle of the senator, and Mr. and Mrs. Ross Guthrie of Cherryvale, Kas.

The other missing defendants were: Vivian Guthrie of Edgewood, Ill., L. B. Thomas, L. L. Padgett, and Rusty Coram, all three of Ellis, Okla.

Sheriff E. J. Tarbox said Vivian

Guthrie telephoned from Shattuck, Okla., to say he will appear to make bond if the grand jury indicts him.

Mrs. Mattie A. Sebitt, pioneer Lipscomb County woman, died in September, 1949. A will filed for probate assigned her entire estate of from $200,000 to $300,000 to her husband, M. L. Sebitt, except for $5 grants to her brothers, Ross and Frank Guthrie. Upon his death the estate was to go to his 19 heirs. Her husband died in November, 1949.

Sheriff Tarbox said Ross Guthrie and Clyde Grim produced a second will last March which they said was dated eight years after the will filed for probate. They said the second will left the entire estate, with the exception of the two $5 grants, to Vivian Guthrie, son of Ross Guthrie.

MYSTERY WRITERS MEET

It's A Bloody Scene At Yearly Clambake

NEW YORK, April 21. (U)—The Mystery Writers of America held their annual clambake last night in an atmosphere of fluttering bats' wings, corpses in the broom closet and a dagger in every chest.

Fun? There hasn't been so much mock mayhem since the late Mr. Bluebeard started using his wives' necks for meat cleaver practice. Bluebeard, of course, wasn't kidding. These whodunit authors were—or so they said, anyway.

Take the menu, for instance. It led off with chilled hemlock cup (hemlock being a deadly poison) got down to business with a soup called "witches broth," came through with bread breast of duck euthanasia for the main course.

After the dessert creme de la crime the annual awards were presented. "Edgars," they're called—in honor of Edgar Allan Poe, a fair hand at the horror business himself. Then came the stage show, in which the crime writers kidded the goose-pimples off their industry and each other.

Why did Poe take to drink? One of the skills explained it: He had a premonition of the radio horror programs that send 20th Century children into nightmares.

What does a bride do when she finds her husband is trying to poison her? A skit disposed of that problem in no time. The bride killed several birds with one flash and fed the poison to her mother-in-law.

These mystery writers—who supply gore and suspense to the magazine, book publishers, movies, radio and television—really are gentle souls at heart. Or so they said, anyway.

Their clubroom is in the heart of the slaughterhouse district. To get in, you elbow your way through a forest of carcasses. Beef carcasses. Don't wear your best clothes. Bloodstains are hard to remove.

Bela Lugosi, the screen spine-chiller, was on hand as guest of honor—only the program called him "ghost of honor."

Final Rites Held For Mrs Howell

Brief rites were held at the Nalley chapel at 9 a. m. today for Mrs. Verda Mae Howell, 45, wife of H. M. Howell.

Mrs. Howell died at her home at 102 W. 22nd street at 7:15 p. m. Thursday following a long illness.

Following services led by Dr. P. D. O'Brien, First Baptist pastor, the remains were taken overland to Voss, Texas, where the funeral was to be held at 4 p. m. today at the Baptist church.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Howell leaves two sisters, Mrs. Euna Lee Markham, and Mrs. Euna Bell Allman, Brownwood; two brothers, Sol Loggins, Brady, and W. D. Loggins, Marlin.

New Operation Reported For Blue Babies

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
BOSTON, April 21. (U)—A new blue baby operation, which might be called three-leaf clover surgery, has been reported to the American College of Physicians.

The operation is an improvement over the original blue baby surgery of Dr. Alfred Blalock, Johns Hopkins.

The new operation was invented by Dr. Blalock and Dr. Russell Brock, London, Eng. One of Dr. Blalock's colleagues, Dr. H. William Scott, Baltimore, reported it.

The blue baby's color is due to the failure of the right side of the heart to pump blood into the lungs.

The failure is for one of two reasons. Either the funnel at the top of the heart, through which the blood passes on its way to the lungs, is too narrow, or the valve at the top of the funnel does not work properly.

The first operation gets around this trouble by making a detour for the blood to pass around both the funnel and the valve. It is not a cure. Occasionally the bypass fails to grow as fast as the rest of a baby's heart.

The new operation is used when the valve is at fault. This valve is shaped like a three-leaf clover. It lies flat on top of the funnel. The leaves lift as blood passes upward through them. But they won't bend downward, and no blood can leak back into the heart below.

The trouble comes when the leaves' edges grow together. The new operation uses a knife to cut the leaves apart. Usually two cuts are enough.

This is done by pushing a sharp pencil-shaped probe into the heart. The probe has a sheathed knife in its end. The knife makes the separations in the clover leaf.

Studies are now under way to find means of enlarging the heart funnel when it is too narrow. If that succeeds it may be possible to make perfectly good hearts for blue babies.

We build pillars of steel in the mud... and we hang a road from them!
Twenty centuries ago a little band of men built some pillars of faith. They built them in the mud of life's sweeping stream, but they pointed them toward heaven. Then they hung a road from their pillars of faith... a road their Master had shown them.

It was a new and different kind of bridge. It carried men from the cold, angry shores of strife and bitterness across to a life of unselfishness and brotherhood. It was more than another religion—it was Christianity!

When a man grows tired of the ugly side of life—when he's ready to see the other side and become a part of it—he need only turn to the Church. That is where the bridge begins.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

A WARM WELCOME AWAITS YOU

Texas Federation Of Women's Clubs, District Convention Is Opened; Fine Arts Program Set

John Ben Shepperd To Be Speaker; Large Crowd Expected To Attend

Delegates and visitors from the large District Eight, Texas Federation of Women's Clubs, which extends as far as El Paso on the west, picked up full speed today. With opening sessions held this morning, a tea and fine arts program scheduled for late this afternoon and this evening, club women were finding themselves with little time on their hands. The fine arts program, which features an address by the Honorable John Ben Shepperd, Texas secretary of state, is open to the public and is expected to draw a capacity crowd to the First Methodist church. Sessions will continue through Saturday morning.

At noon, Mrs. L. C. Brite, Marfa, directed a memorial service. Joyce Howard, accompanied by Mrs. C. H. Rainwater, presented a vocal solo.

State President Speaks At Dinner Thursday Night

District Eight's first Texas Federation of Women's Clubs president since its formation in 1937, returned "home" Thursday to address the annual district president's dinner held in the Settles Hotel. Mrs. J. Howard Hodge of Midland, president of district eight from 1942-45, faced an audience of some 150 club women to present some "practical" methods of gaining world peace. She urged the women to accept a new idea of responsibility and a greater estimate of self in service to make their town, state and nation, a better place in which to live.

"It is our task," said Mrs. Hodge, "it will be our privilege."

A desire for freedom from ignorance, as well as freedom from fear and want is a characteristic trait of Americans, said the speaker. Using as her theme, "Education Is The Road To Peace," Mrs. Hodge stated that wars grow out of political controversies, thus education is a basis for peace.

Stating that peace comes with hard work such as is done in time of war, Mrs. Hodge noted that the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs is trying to do "practical things" to promote peace. She reviewed the organization's support of the Marshall Plan, stating the club women have fed and clothed people overseas, adopted orphans, rebuilt schools and carried on an extensive letter writing campaign, working for the mutual understanding of the women of the world. Nations and its agencies and continue their study of the United Nations and its agencies and conditions in the Far East; to make a study of their own communities and to take seriously their citizenship, using their right to vote and taking advantage of the opportunity of presenting themselves for public office, especially for city and school board posts.

Mrs. Hodge called attention to the UNESCO and stressed the importance of "Books and magazines for peace." She said that geographical education in our own nation seems lacking in secondary and high schools and urged the women to see that greater emphasis was placed in this field. She said that the women should adhere to principals which promote tolerance.

If we are eager to prevent war, declared the state president, we should spend, at least, five years in working for the success of the United Nations just as we spent five years in winning the war. If the "peace people" in our own nation are not successful in guarding the peace, said Mrs. Hodge, they must work and cease to be strangers and become friends. She stated that the women should give encouragement to youth in college, urging them to consider the field of diplomatic service. She said that the importance of American heritage should be discussed in family groups so that the American way of life might be "sold to ourselves and to other peoples."

Declaring that "we women have more power than we think," Mrs. Hodge stated that "we must harness that power and turn it in the right direction." We can't make the world over," she added, "but we can study to see how it works. Science has made the world a neighborhood, women must make it a brotherhood."

"Men cannot live without struggling," said Mrs. Hodge, "but they can struggle in building up instead of destroying."

Following Mrs. Hodge's address, Ethel Foster served as narrator while Mrs. James O. Simmons, Jr., district program chairman, showed a film which pictured the club house in Austin.

Other program features included selections from "Sure Enough, How Come?" by Mrs. Harrie Smith of Midland, and two vocal numbers by Cornelia Frazier. Accompanied by Mrs. Nell Frazier, Miss Frazier sang "Micaela's Aria" from Carmen, and "I Hate Music."

Mrs. Joseph Best, district president, presided during the dinner which honored all club presidents. Mrs. C. H. Rainwater served as organist. Mrs. J. M. Montgomery gave the invocation. H. W. Whitney, Big Spring city manager, extended greetings. Mrs. James O. Simmons, Jr., responded.

Mrs. Best introduced some of the state and district officers and past district presidents and Mrs. Nell Foster, who introduced the individual club presidents. Mrs. Keith is first vice president of the hostess club for the dinner. Members of the Modern Woman's Forum carried out an old fashioned garden theme in the table decorations. Faded ribbons, pansies, fans, greenery and miniature bouquets were used in the colorful table centerpieces. As plate favors, the club presented each guest with miniature silver spoon pins.

Proceeding the dinner, Spoudazio Fara members served refreshments to district board members at a meeting held in room one of the Settles. An executive committee meeting was also held at the Settles during the afternoon. Registration began at 4 p. m.

RIBBON RAMBLINGS By Mildred Young

Dr. Sushila Nayar, who is being urged to run for Minister of Health in India, has been visiting in Texas this week.

To the women of the state Dr. Nayar makes an outstanding impression because she wears a silk sari, a long, winding Indian dress. But Dr. Nayar was reported not to be interested in talk about silk dresses or politics. Her main interest as she visited Dallas, Fort Worth and Denton, seemed to be Mohandas K. Gandhi. She was the Mahatma's personal physician from 1942 until his martyrdom.

She has been a disciple of Gandhi's since she was five years old. She doesn't believe he was a Messiah, as some people think.

"He was a man. But a man with the answer for every human problem."

"This of course, is Gandhi's doctrine of nonviolence for solving problems of life at all levels."

Dr. Nayar used the state of Texas as an example.

"All of your human problems here derive from violence. And then from trying to undo mischief with more violence. If every Texan would adopt a policy of non-violence there would be no new problems."

She got her first medical degree eight years ago. She has just taken another degree in child health from Baltimore's Johns Hopkins university. She is now packed and ready to go back to India. For Sushila Nayar, packed and ready means one suitcase full of clothing and one suitcase full of medical books.

"How many sari does Dr. Nayar have? She says that maybe she starts out with a dozen sari. But she gives them away to any friend who admires them. She doesn't know how many she has now."

Wise To Look Now To Possibility Of Widening Of Eleventh Place

Already an important traffic artery, Eleventh Place may soon face the urgent need of being widened.

We mention this because the Big Spring Independent School district soon is to construct its new high school on a tract on the north side of this thoroughfare between Goliad and State streets. Once under construction, the plant may have an unchangeable influence upon the ability to widen this street.

Eleventh Place is carrying a tremendous amount of traffic today from Johnson to Birdwell Lane, and particularly from Johnson to State. It requires no stretch of the imagination to foresee increased activity due to the construction of the high school plant, with its auditorium and gymnasium, on the north side of the street.

A couple of blocks to the west and on the south side of the street, the East Fourth Baptist church is contemplating a new church home. On Goliad but only two blocks away is the new Christian church which will mean some additional traffic on Eleventh Place to get to it.

At the extreme eastern end will be the new Howard County Junior College plant at the corner of Birdwell Lane and Eleventh Place. Already, a housing development is planned nearby with 46 double units to be constructed. West of the Junior college and south of it new additions are being opened in the general area, three other residential developments are expanding. Eventually, the county will get around to paving Birdwell Lane to connect with US 90, increasing the amount of traffic from State to the end of Eleventh Place.

Except for an offset at the end of Highland Park addition where the street widens into 105 right-of-way briefly, Eleventh Place has a maximum roadway of 70-ft. Pavement is only 40 feet wide and someday soon may need to be wider.

That is the reason that it might be extremely wise for the city and school to consider this possibility now before the school building is set. The school property, if not the key, is the most practical beginning for solving the problem.

Texas Commission To Ascertain What Effect Imports Are Having

The Texas Railroad Commission has asked 15 major oil companies to fish or cut bait on the controversial question of oil imports and their effect on domestic oil production. It has asked them to report at the next statewide hearing on how much their oil imports will average for the last six months of this year.

Production cutbacks in Texas fields were blamed by the commission and by independents on the flood of foreign oil brought into the country by the majors with both domestic and foreign production.

The majors denied imports were responsible, but the other crowd said the heck they ain't. It's darned funny we had to suffer a cutback in our own domestic production in a volume almost identical with foreign imports. Nobody can deny the cutbacks; they were made, all right, Texas fields were pinched in like a fine dielectric wasteline, and the non-importing companies hollered loud and long—to no visible effect.

Domestic production was cut and out and cut, and if you think this hurt only the smaller producers and the non-importing concerns, look again. For the year ending in February, the State of Texas lost nearly $20 million in oil gross production tax revenue, compared with the previous 12 months. One result of this was that the legislature had to levy a ten percent across-the-board tax increase to help make up the deficit—and the gross production tax caught it in the neck along with the rest.

This question of oil imports runs up against the tariff issue, whether to raise the import tax on crude oil to bring it into focus with domestic prices. There is an answer to this, without resorting to tariff hikes, as many of the distressed domestic producers have pointed out: simply put imports on the same production allowances as domestic production operates under.

That makes sense. A lot more sense, perhaps than an idea this department has been toying with, to-wit: Why not bring in this cheap foreign oil and pump it into some of our exhausted oil fields, for storage against the day when we may need a lot of oil in a hurry?

Saga Of Disappearing Mailman Has Some Congressmen In Rage

WASHINGTON, 48—IN THE LATEST Washington comedy—called "The Disappearing Mailman"—some congressmen are screaming in rage and pain.

It always adds to the complexion of life in the capital when congressmen who preach economy turn purple if economy hits them where the voters live.

The latest example is that of the Post Office Department. It's running in the red and, to save money, it announced Tuesday night the mail service will be cut, including the number of daily deliveries to your home.

By Wednesday morning some of the congressmen were roaring. They predicted they'd be swamped with protests from the folks back home. The folks who elect them to office. And this is an election year.

Donaldson had gone before the House Appropriations Committee to ask for a certain amount of money to run the Post Office Department another year. The money problem will be explained in detail in a moment.

It was the job of this committee to recommend to the entire House just how much money it thought the House should vote for the post office. The committee listened to Donaldson and looked into the PO problems.

It knows the problems: The PO has been running in the red for years because its expenses are always more than the money it collects from the public by selling stamps and so on.

STILL, THE COMMITTEE RECOMMENDED to the House that it let Donaldson have less than he asked for. But wouldn't that mean the PO would go deeper into the red?

The committee apparently believed the PO could cut its deficit down a bit by economizing. Economize now? The committee, in its report to the House said: "The committee has discussed with the postmaster general certain proposals for effecting economies, and realizes that probably all of the suggestions made will provoke some complaints from one source or another."

"Nevertheless, the financial condition of the U. S. treasury is such that every step possible must be taken to save money."

"The committee believes that sizable savings could be made by a reduction of the number of deliveries per day to many areas, particularly on those routes serving residential areas exclusively."

"Residential areas receive from one to three deliveries a day; postmaster general to provide for the rearrangement of city delivery service so as to reduce the number of deliveries wherever possible."

DONALDSON TOOK THE COMMITTEE at its word and ordered the number of deliveries cut, plus other cuts in the postal service, such as shutting down earlier at night.

Within a few hours this cry of anguish came out of Congress: "Outrageous. Fifty million taxpayers have been hit in the mailbox by this ruling."

"This lawmaker might have added: 'These are 50 million votes.'"

And promptly a congressman predicted he and his fellows would be bombarded with protests from the folks back home.

He even hinted that Donaldson had ordered the cut to arouse the homefolks into urging Congress to let the PO have the money it asked.

British Reach The Ceiling In Welfare Service Expenditures

BRITISH CHANCELLOR OF THE EXCHEQUER Sir Stafford Cripps served notice in his parliamentary budget speech Tuesday that the ceiling has been reached in welfare service expenditures.

"We have, in the last four years, taken on by way of social services and benefits all that we can possibly afford until such time as there is a large increase in our national production," declared Sir Stafford, adding:

"Even then I have no doubt that the individual will want to retain a very considerable proportion of that increase for his own spending."

The conservative members of Commons cheered this part of the chancellor's speech. However, his statement will come as a bad jolt to advocates of sweeping

"cradle to grave" social security.

INDEED, COUPLED WITH OTHER signs, it supports the idea that England has swung as far left as she is going, and may be pulling back towards "center," which would seem to be her natural position.

The narrow margin by which the Socialists won the last general election was due in part to public disapproval of the socialist nationalization program. Since then the government has been treading circumspectly, and the use of the curb on the welfare program is part of this caution. So was the action in granting the middle class taxpayer an income tax cut amounting to $32.25 a year.

Merry-Go-Round—Drew Pearson

Public Opinion Swings Other Way Regarding Russians After 5 Years

WASHINGTON, 48—Five years ago today, this column broke one of the most sensational and unpleasant stories of the war, American troops had reached the suburbs of Berlin. I reported, and then been ordered back to the River Elbe because of a demand by the Russians.

Publication brought immediate criticism from a great many people, who felt that I was upsetting U. S.-Russian relations. They especially objected to this paragraph:

"At the height of the rapid U. S. advance (toward Berlin), and just four days before Roosevelt's death, Stalin sent him a brusque note accusing the United States of making a deal with the Nazis in order to advance more rapidly through Germany. The note was couched in most caustic and critical language. The inference was that a U. S.-German deal had permitted the Nazis to transfer more troops to the eastern front and thus kill more Russians."

I mention this now, because that critical mail came from about the same general type of people who are now writing me letters upholding Senator McCarthy and denouncing everything even remotely Russian.

In other words, the pendulum of public opinion, having swung violently one way, has now swung just as violently the other way. Five years ago some people loved Russia too much, now some people hate Russia beyond the point of objectivity.

Sometimes we get better objectivity by thumbing through the pages of the past. And here are some situations taken from the old files of the Washington Merry-Go-Round which illustrate:

CANADIAN SPY EXPOSE
Situation No. 1. — On Feb. 18, 1946, I published another anti-Russian story which few believed and which made a lot of people sore. It read: "Secret revelations are stirring in Canada. They will make people hold their hats and run for the diplomatic storm-cellars. The biggest story of espionage and intrigue since the war is about to break . . . the Canadians have taken over a Russian agent, who has given the names of about 1,700 other Russian agents; also has put the finger on certain officials inside the American and Canadian governments co-operating with the Soviet . . . photostats showing payments to U. S. and Canadian officials have even come to light."

"The State Department is anxious not to disrupt relations with Russia. One Russian agent named Shimshenko was negotiating for the purchase of the blueprints of an American jet-propelled plane. The Justice Department proposed arresting him, but the State Department said no. Shimshenko sailed with his wife and child Jan. 6. He did not get the blueprints."

This, I repeat, was published Feb. 18, 1946—four years ago. Once again there was a deluge of critical letters. "Russia could not have done such a thing," . . . "you are disrupting our relations with a great ally," . . . So ran the criticism.

MARYLAND SPY RING
Situation No. 2. — On Sept. 7, 1947 I published another expose telling how a little group of government employees had operated a spy ring in a Maryland suburb basement, stealing blueprints of the B-28 photostating them, and sending them by courier to New York and thence to Moscow.

The story was considered so sensational that many newspapers did not publish it. One year and a half later, it made headlines when officially revealed by a congressional committee.

The situation as of now—Today the American people are harassed, worried and sometimes seething mad. They don't know whom to believe—McCarthy, Tyding, or who? And I don't particularly blame them.

But this much is fairly clear. While the American people have every reason to be sore, the time for them to have been sore was three and four years ago.

Today the secrets are stolen. But likewise the present administration has done the greatest personnel housecleaning of all time. It was the Acheson regime which fired the 90 homosexuals. It was also the Acheson regime which ousted a long list of bad security risks.

And though Acheson personally pulled a boner in indicating his continued personal loyalty for Alger Hiss, the real fact is that the men under him have ordered a thorough, vigorous job on loyalty checks. Acheson's Loyalty Review Board, incidentally, is under a New Hampshire Republican, Gen. Conrad E. Snow, recommended to Acheson by Russian-baiter GOP Sen. Styles Bridges.

MCCARTHY LATE
If Senator McCarthy had begun making his charges in 1946 when first elected to the Senate, not only would he have been entirely justified, but he might have stopped the leaking of some secrets. All he had to do between 1945 and 1947, was to have read this column. It gave him plenty of ammunition.

But now, after the horse is stolen and the stable door is locked, the senator from Wisconsin first claimed that there are still 207 "card-carrying Communists in the State Department." Then, when called upon to prove it, he reduced his figure to 57. Later he brought this down to one man, Owen Lattimore, who, aside from two consultations, has not worked for any branch of the government for five years.

Note—One effect of the McCarthy charges has been such terror inside the State Department that if a newspaperman walks up to a U. S. official today and asks him what time it is, the diplomat looks over both shoulders and whispers: "Sorry, no comment."

Movie Town Changed Little Over Years

HOLLYWOOD — The movie town has changed little over the years, says Sally Eilers, film "Bad Girl" of the '30s who is returning to the screen after a lengthy absence.

And, in case Senator Johnson is listening in, she added that Hollywood appears to be less immoral than some segments of Washington.

"I started in pictures back in 1928," said the actress. "Even then the Hollywood wild life seemed to be over. I used to hear stories about the gay parties, but that sort of thing was in the past."

"Social life appears to be even more settled now than ever. I think that's because everyone has become society-conscious. That trend started when Elsa Maxwell came out here to give parties and when people like Darryl Zanuck and Jack Warner hobbled with international society on the Riviera."

In her 22 years of Hollywood life, Miss Eilers boasted, she has never been involved in a scandal. She admits to having divorced four times, "but that can happen to anyone in any town."

Miss Eilers became a top star in "Bad Girl" and was one of the symbols of the depression-era flapper. She is making a film return as the dance hall queen in "Lost Stage Valley," she is being produced by one of her ex-husbands, Harry Joe Brown.

British Reach The Ceiling In Welfare Service Expenditures

BRITISH CHANCELLOR OF THE EXCHEQUER Sir Stafford Cripps served notice in his parliamentary budget speech Tuesday that the ceiling has been reached in welfare service expenditures.

"We have, in the last four years, taken on by way of social services and benefits all that we can possibly afford until such time as there is a large increase in our national production," declared Sir Stafford, adding:

"Even then I have no doubt that the individual will want to retain a very considerable proportion of that increase for his own spending."

The conservative members of Commons cheered this part of the chancellor's speech. However, his statement will come as a bad jolt to advocates of sweeping

"cradle to grave" social security.

INDEED, COUPLED WITH OTHER signs, it supports the idea that England has swung as far left as she is going, and may be pulling back towards "center," which would seem to be her natural position.

The narrow margin by which the Socialists won the last general election was due in part to public disapproval of the socialist nationalization program. Since then the government has been treading circumspectly, and the use of the curb on the welfare program is part of this caution. So was the action in granting the middle class taxpayer an income tax cut amounting to $32.25 a year.

Spring Training Poll Shows People Are Well Informed

By way of spring training for the coming political campaigns we decided to take a poll this week. Participants are, of course, anonymous, which is customary in such ventures, and if the results appear one-sided or distorted, think nothing of it.

As you will note, the poll concerns itself with timely topics, and is highly speculative.

The first question propounded was: "What type of unemployment should be meted out to groups of people who assemble for impromptu conventions in the middle of busy sidewalks?"

The answers:

Amputation on the spot 50 percent
Compulsory attendance at three consecutive sessions under the "Tree of Knowledge" 25 percent
An investigation by a Congressional sub-committee 25 percent

A clear cut majority saw eye-to-eye on the next question, although some of their colleagues differed. The question: "If you were a top Russian official and had a choice in the matter, what assignment would you select for yourself?"

The box score:

Chef (or bartender) for Stalin 12 percent
Commissioner of the exchequer (or whatever they call it) 27.96 percent
Be a "mystery" witness for Sen. McCarthy 00.02 percent

It took courage to bring up the next question, but fortunately the timing brought us company in our embarrassment. The question: "Who are the people most likely to make errors while performing their daily chores?"

The harsh replies:

Baseball umpires 33 percent
Newspaper personnel 33 percent
Politicians 33 percent
No opinion 1 percent

The fourth and last question was to have been, "What do you think of public opinion polls?" Unfortunately, the answers to that question were not conducive to publication.—WACIL McNAIR.

'That Woman' Gains Appeal As Republican V-P Nominee

WASHINGTON—"That Woman" who best a governor and former governor to enter the United States Senate from Maine is gaining acceptance around here as a contender for vice president on the Republican ticket.

Republicans are not so much happy about it as that Democrats are unhappy. The more Democrats reflect upon the Eisenhower-Smith plates which Sen. Margaret Chase Smith's home-state admirers are flaunting before the motoring public, the less they like it.

Democrats had already made up their minds that General Eisenhower is the man they have to beat. They are uncertain about his present appeal; the same uncertainty bothers them when they consider that Republicans have on tap an attractive, qualified woman who is both ambitious and skillful at gathering publicity.

Politicians say that Mrs. Edwards, because she can talk freely with the President whenever she wishes, is the most powerful woman in America.

The Smith candidacy rings no bell at the Republican national committee; her friends feel, in fact, that she gets less than her due from Chairman Guy Gabrielson.

This is attributed to the conservative viewpoint prevailing there which is as militating against her because she is a woman as because of her liberal voting record. The Smith camp accepts, as do most people, that the committee is weighted in favor of Senator Taft's candidacy for President; it is thought that neither he nor Mrs. Taft would take to Mrs. Smith in second place.

The Senator from Maine, who is always amiable but does not have that firm jaw for nothing, is going her own way. She voted against the worthy new Republican statement of principles in the Senate policy committee, and quietly brought out her own 10-point, 98-word party platform, in a nationally broadcast speech. The national committee then officially adopted it.

Senator Smith could make three speeches a day all over America if she had the time. Some important wealthy women with national stature in their own right are trying to help her grow but keep on being the nice woman who won their first regard.

It is purely speculation whether a "women's vote" exists and can be mobilized for any candidate, man or woman. The most that experienced women will say is that a qualified woman can attract leaders of her sex whose talents will be of great value to her, exactly as important men help men candidates get elected.

Big Of No. 1 Today Puzzling American Clothing Industry

NEW YORK, 48 — DO AMERICAN women today really look like a row of acorns?

This question has the clothing industry in a mild tizzy.

The accusation that women, by aping the body lines of movie stars, have become as much alike as so many unborn oak trees in their nutshells was made by Raymond Marinelli, a well known designer.

Marinelli said this sameness resulted because too many women had adopted "the universal, uplift bustline," whether or not it corresponded with their own contours.

BUT HIS CHARGE DREW AN IMMEDIATE and heated denial from a lady clothing designer—Cynthia.

"The longstanding bustline has already gone out," said Cynthia firmly. "And the acorn look is a thing of the past. It may have been popular a few years ago. But

It has been replaced by the natural look. "The trend now is for each woman to stress her own natural body line—to wear clothing with a natural shoulder, natural hip and natural bustline. And with no exaggeration anywhere."

Cynthia—lady designers, like male hairdressers, tend to regard last names as superfluous—also had nothing but scorn for Marinelli's contention that women would be more beautiful if they threw away their bras and girdles.

"I can't imagine a girl feeling good without a bra and girdle—or looking good either," she said. "She would feel uncomfortable and ill at ease—definitely not well groomed."

BUT CYNTHIA, HOW ABOUT MR. MARINELLI'S statement that women would be 1,000 times more feminine without these undergarment fashion aids?

"Don't you believe it!" said Cynthia, a tall, slender blonde with blue eyes.

"A girl just doesn't look attractive if she doesn't wear her foundation garments. She is like a bowl full of quaking jelly. A girl should wear her girdle and bra everywhere except at the beach or in her own boudoir."

"I'd certainly hate to see a girl wear a fashionable strapless evening gown with nothing underneath."

Violin Worth Fortune

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, Calif.—It would take a fortune to buy the ancient violin owned by Vladimir Lenak. He values it at $100,000. The music teacher and former concert violinist says his fiddle was carved in 1510 by Gaspard Duffourprugger, instrument maker to King Francis I of France. It is reputedly one of the earliest modern-type violins.

Lenak acquired the prize, he says, more than 80 years ago from a member of the Russian royal family who admired his playing.

Bert Garcia Hurls Second Straight Shutout, 6 To 0

Gonzales, Spud Pascual Homer

It required a couple of dazzling plays by Senor Jorge Lopez to turn the trick but Bert Garcia achieved his second straight shutout as Big Spring ripped Sweetwater's Swatters, 6-0, here Thursday night.

Lopez's brilliant strategy cut off a potential run at third base in the opening panel. Fred Haller had opened the frame for the Swatters with a walk and had scooted to second base when Rocky Darwin hit safely into short right field.

Larry Roach followed with a double-play roller to Potato Pascual. Lopez accepted Spud's throw, then fired the ball directly to Julio Delatorre at third to catch Haller flat-footed on the bag.

Haller was the victim of Lopez's fast thinking again in the third. He had singled with two away and legged it to second base when Darwin hit a drive into right that Lopez trapped while off balance.

Jerry Jones hurried brilliantly for the Swatters, averted for a lapse in the eighth when home runs by Bobby Gonzales and Pascual broke the game wide open.

Pat Stacey boomed a first inning double to register Danny Concepcion and Felix Gomez. That was all the working margin Garcia had to work with until Pascual gained a life on a misplay in the fourth.

Garcia was slow to warm to the task but by the fifth was his old self. The situation clouded in the ninth when Larry Roach singled and Ray Bauer walked but Garcia promptly fanned John Botarini and Nick Marino to send the customers home.

GLEANNINGS—Jones, who should be a tremendous pitcher in time, stopped proceedings in the fourth inning to adjust a fouled-up toe plate. The game was the third in five games here that has been played in less than two hours.

Gonzales' smash down the third base line in the fifth winged Umpire Jack Dorothy, who tried to move in all directions at once in efforts to elude the ball.

The Swatters played errorless ball for the first time this season. Jones tore into one of Garcia's pitches for a terrific smash into center field in the third but Gomez was there to gather it in. Had the drive been to left or right, it would have been over the fence.

Both Gonzales and Garcia won watches, the result of their performances.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

By the time you read this, Maitly Bell, the Southern Methodist university athletic director, will have been given a new Cadillac, two years' supply fuel and an insurance policy on that machine.

Donors were supporters of the SMU athletic teams, among them Our Town's J. Y. Robb. The vehicle was purchased here. Robb drove the car down to Dallas yesterday.

Bell was to get the car at a luncheon in Big D today.

CONCEPCION RANKS WITH BEST IN LONGHORN LEAGUE

One of the most important additions to the Big baseball club is Danny Concepcion, a youngster who is taking rank with the best first basemen the Longhorn league has ever seen.

Danny, who was with Abilene last season, can hit. He has proved that in his early games here. He is especially dangerous with men on base and has the ability to drive the ball into the outfield when a runner is seeking to get home, if he can't level down on a pitch to his liking.

What makes him an invaluable hand to the Broncs, too, is his ability to 'play the bag.' He's especially adept at gobbling up low throws and fielding ground balls with the agility of a short stop.

He is a big reason Big Spring is boasting of its 'greatest infield.' Many fans thought Justo Apizaco, the celebrated "Professor," had no equal as a fielder around first base. But Danny appears to be even more at home at that position than Justo.

BOB DOE WANTED REGULAR WORK AS CATCHER

Bob Doe, the local product, asked for and obtained his release from a Bronc contract 'because he wanted a job where he could catch every day.'

Doe was handicapped as a backstop here because he could not talk to most of the pitchers. Of the pitchers on the Big Spring staff, only Bert Baez knows much English.

At Lake Charles, La., where Doe is going, he should finally begin to live up to some of that promise he showed as a high school player. All Doe apparently needs is a little confidence in himself and the chance to play regularly.

Dallas (Moose) Womack, the one-time Odessa first sacker (1947), has been sent to Denver of the Western league by Milwaukee.

Eddie Keen, who caught for the Midland Indians back in 1947, has petitioned Harold Webb, the Tribe pilot, for a chance to make the Indian ball club.

Keen has become a pitcher since he departed the Wigwam, however, and is seeking a chance to become a starting hurler.

Bobby Dykes, the Texas better who has fallen out of favor since he lost a return match to Detroit's Lester Felton, showed signs his slump was about to end in a recent match with Tony Mascarelli of New York in New Orleans earlier this week.

Dykes, a middleweight, won a TKO over Mascarelli in the seventh round. The New Yorker was leading at the time.

Junior Arterbury, who played at both Ranger high and Ranger junior college, is due to be Texas Tech's first string quarterback next football season.

In a spring training game at Lubbock recently, Junior passed for one touchdown and ran a punt back 75 yards for another as his "Whites" beat the "Reds," 12-13.

Kansas Relays Get Underway

LAWRENCE, Kan., April 21. — At least half a dozen meet records will be on the spot in the 25th running of the Kansas Relays tomorrow.

Trackmen from 22 universities, 21 colleges and 3 junior colleges could practically rewrite the relays' record book.

Only two relays records appear safe. They are the 9.4 seconds for the 100-yard dash set by Cy Leiano of TCU in 1930, and the shot put mark of 59 feet 3-8 inch set by Charles Foville of Michigan in 1948.

Other third round matches pit Betty Rawls of Austin, defending champion and tournament medalist, against Betty Dodd of San Antonio, and Mrs. George Noble of Dallas meets Mrs. Al Mortensen of Houston.

Yesterday Miss Riley birdied two holes on the back nine to win a 4 and 4 over Mrs. Jim Wagner of Houston.

Miss MacKinnon was one-under par with an 8 and 7 win over Miss Betty Brown of Texasians.

Miss Lewis eliminated Mrs. W. K. Stripling, Jr., of Fort Worth 7 and 6. Miss Dodd defeated Mrs. Leonard Keating of Houston, 6 and 4. Mrs. Goldthwaite turned back Mrs. Jedd Roe of San Antonio 5 and 4. Mrs. Herb downed Mrs. H. C. Riedel of Dallas, 3 and 1. Mrs. Noble won from Mrs. M. W. organ, Baytown, 3 and 1. Mrs. Mortensen eliminated Mrs. Earl Gammage of Houston, 4 and 4.

Murray Dickson Is Again Thorn In Cards' Side

Associated Press Sports Writer Murray Dickson, pin-sized Pittsburgh pitcher, persists in nursing a grudge.

Consequently the St. Louis Cardinals may find the road to the 1950 National League championship a rocky one.

Dickson did not exactly jump for joy when he learned a year ago last January that Bob Hannegan, former Cardinal owner, had sold him to the Pirates. Nobody likes to leave a perennial pennant contender for a second division club.

The little right-hander showed his resentment the best way he knew. He simply pitched his heart out every time he faced his former mates. The result? Dickson defeated the Cards five times in eight tries last year—more than any other pitcher. Murry won only seven against all the other six clubs combined.

The Cards lost the flag to Brooklyn by one game. Did the Dickson sale backfire on the Birds? Draw your own conclusions.

Now comes a new season but the story is the same. Dickson made his first start yesterday. The Cards were the opposition. And as can be guessed, Murry clipped the Redbirds' wings again, pitching the Pirates to an easy 5-4 triumph.

That was the only game played in the National League. The rest were postponed because of rain and cold weather. Inclement weather also cut the American League's activities to one game. In that one, Detroit again nipped the Indians in Cleveland, this time by 5-4.

The triumph left the Tigers and the surprising St. Louis Browns as the only undefeated teams in the circuit. Each has won two. All victories have come on the road.

Dickson stemmed his former mates with six hits including Stan Musial's second home run of the season. Eddie Miller, subbing for the injured Marjory Marion at shortstop, drove in two Cardinal runs with a second inning single. The other Redbird run was unearned.

Dickson helped his own cause at the plate. He drove in two runs, one on a single in the four-run fourth inning.

Ted Gray went the route for the Tigers, limiting the Indians to six hits for Detroit's second straight one-run margin victory over Cleveland.

Manager Lou Boudreau of the Indians was hit on the left elbow while batting in the ninth inning and left the game. The extent of the injury was not determined immediately.

The Tribe, trailing 5-2 in the ninth, made it close when rookie Al Rosen clouted a four-bagger with one on.

Successful Race Program Result Of Group's Unceasing Efforts

The Sheriff's Posse Futurity, now in its second running can definitely be proclaimed a success. It has received wide spread prominence due to its operation and the quality of the horses that owners have seen fit to enter in it.

That it was well planned and well operated is due to the energies, ideas and a lot of work on the part of various Posse members.

Johnny Ray Dillard, local cotton broker and breeder of thoroughbred horses, is the Posse's Futurity committee chairman and acts as Director of Racing during the meet, since early childhood he has been associated with good sport.

Experience gained in competing on major tracks has given him the know how to direct the local program along its present high plane. But if Johnny Ray should need help and advice it is available right at home for him. His father, J. R. Dillard, a true sportsman and also a Posse member was an early advocate of the stringent set of rules adopted here governing the racing on the local track.

E. W. Lomax, pioneer stockman assists with the Futurity because of his interest in breeding good animals. He is drafted to serve in the judges' stand because of his sound judgment and firm belief in clean sportsmanship.

Dick Fitzgerald, a quarterhorse breeder, is Building Committee chairman for the Posse. He has worked diligently on construction of the 40 new permanent stables and the 20 temporary ones needed for the accommodation of the increased number of nominees this year. He serves as Clerk of Scales, weighs the jockeys, is precautionary measure to assure compliance with weight requirements.

Elton Taylor has been very active on the building committee, has furnished wiring on the newly constructed buildings. He equips and supervises sound facilities during the Futurity.

Alvin Walker, Howard county livestockman, is Corral Boss for the Posse. His is a big job. Supervising the Posse grounds, allotting of grounds and buildings. His Futurity job was to attempt to stable 300 horses in the 130 available stalls.

H. P. Wooten is the Posse treasurer, handles the Posse money when there is any. Keeps records of the individuals. His Futurity job was a big one, supervising ticket sales, sub lets concessions and any other financial transactions.

Shirley Robbins, Hack Wright and Dale Douglass, compose the entertainment committee among other chores. All are active in the financial committee and in many other details necessary to put on the Futurity.

This group does not represent all the members who labored so long and so hard to make the Futurity succeed. There were many others, members and non-members without whose help the Futurity could not have been this successful.

Roswell Loses To Vernon, 1-1-8

By The Associated Press Pat Stacey's Big Spring Broncs are back in an old familiar role: Leading the Longhorn Baseball League.

A 4-0 victory over Sweetwater last night and Vernon's 1-1-8 decision over Roswell put them there.

Roswell tumbled into a second place tie with Midland, 10-6 victor over winless, last place Ballinger.

In the night's other game, Odessa squeezed by San Angelo, 3-2. Stacey, Bobby Gonzales and Potato Pascual, the latter two home-run hitters, paced Big Spring's wins.

Timely hitting paid off for the other winners.

Harlingen Atop Valley League

By The Associated Press Harlingen, idled by rain, crept atop the Rio Grande Valley League as Brownsville and Corpus Christi moved up with victories in last night's play.

Del Rio, was knocked back to a second-place tie with Brownsville and Corpus Christi by losing to Robstown 8-11. Del Rio hurlers contributed to the downfall by giving up 15 bases on balls.

Brownsville was the hard way, 10-6, by scoring four runs in the bottom of the ninth to tie the Donna-Weslaco Twins, then push across the winning run in the tenth. Gene Chason led the Charros' attack with a home run, three doubles and two singles in six trips to the plate.

Corpus Christi solved Humberto Valdes's slants in the fifth for three runs, and went on from there to take an easy 9-3 win from Laredo.

Harlingen and McAllen was postponed due to rain.

DALLAS, FELINES SPLIT TWO GAMES

By WILBUR MARTIN Shreveport today had elbow room at the top of the Texas League standings and you can pin it on pitching.

The Sports last night beat Beaumont, 4-2, 2-1, to stretch their lead to one and one-half games. Good pitching helped win both games.

Dallas and Fort Worth split a double bill, Fort Worth winning the first, 2-0, and Dallas the 12-inning second, 4-3. Oklahoma City wallopped Tulsa, 9-2, and San Antonio smashed Houston, 11-3, in other games.

Luther Knerr and Hugh Sooter combined to yield Beaumont just four hits in the second game after O'Neill gave up only six in the first.

Big Chris Van Cuyk held Dallas to four hits in the opener, and was credited with the loss in the second game. He came in as relief for Vincente Lopez in the eighth when Dallas rallied for three runs.

Fort Worth scored two in the ninth to send the game overtime, but Dallas won when Bill Klaus doubled Jim Kirby home in the third extra inning.

Oklahoma City had little trouble smashing Tulsa and snap a five-game home losing streak. The same can be said for San Antonio with Houston. Six Houston errors helped the Missions to the easy victory.

There's a shift in opponents tonight with Oklahoma coming to Dallas, San Antonio moving to Shreveport, Beaumont to Houston and Tulsa to Fort Worth.

Penn State and the University of Pennsylvania will resume their gridiron rivalry at Philadelphia in 1952.

Angel Gonzales To Mound Tonite

The Big Spring Broncs, who gained the Longhorn league lead by defeating Sweetwater for the second time last night, wind up their current home stand in another game with the Swatters this evening. The teams square away at 8:15 o'clock.

The Hosas have now won five games in a row at home and will be seeking a clean sweep. Indications are Angel Gonzales will see the slab for the Steeds. Dick Nordido may twirl for the guests.

After tonight's engagement, the Hosas will be on the road through Tuesday night, going first to Sweetwater and then to San Angelo. They return here next Wednesday for a three-night stand with San Angelo.

Amos Attacks Social Injustice

Scripture—Amos
By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

In a democracy like ours, justice to everyone is the ideal. If a person is wronged he may apply to the courts and if he feels he has not been righted, he may take his case to higher courts, until he reaches the United States Supreme Court—highest of all.

It may be, of course, that occasionally this person will still feel he has not received justice. There are such instances. People have devised ways of cheating others—ways that the courts cannot touch.

Some have been libeled—their good names taken away. They may have lost their positions through slander, and never can reinstate themselves, and their reputations are ruined.

Across the sea men are constantly being accused of treason, spying, and brutally treated to make them confess. Cruel injustices are practiced in many nations. How will it all end? It will be punished by God in due time, but the sufferings are great.

Amos, coming from the quiet countryside, saw that the rich had forgotten God. They lived in the greatest luxury and often immorality, without giving any thought at all to the poor and needy.

God would surely punish them, Amos warned, for he had been commanded by Jehovah to tell them so, and to plead with them to turn away from these evils and seek the God of their fathers.

"For I know how manifold are your transgressions, and how mighty are your sins—ye that afflict the just, that take a bribe, and that turn aside the needy in the gate from their right.

"That lie upon beds of ivory and stretch themselves upon the 12 couches, and eat the lambs out of the flock, and the calves out of the midst of the stall.

"That sing idle songs to the sound of the viol; that invent for themselves instruments of music, like David;

"That drink wine in bowls, and anoint themselves with the chief oils; but they are not grieved for the affliction of Joseph."

Amos paints an enticing picture of Oriental luxury. Well, there are people today who drink too much, eat too much, live in selfish abundance without giving thought to those who, through no fault of their own, are in need.

Amos' accusations of men who ate the richest and best foods from the choicest of the flocks and herds, and gave no thought to the many wretched in their midst, were scathing. In those days a man who fell in debt could sell himself or be sold as a servant to work out what he owed.

Too much drinking of strong liquors was a crying evil in that day as it is today.

"When will the new moon be gone, that we may sell grain, and the Sabbath, that we may set forth wheat, making the ephah small, and the shekel great, and dealing falsely with balances of deceit? That we may buy the poor for silver, and the needy for a pair of shoes, and sell the refuse of the wheat?"

Thus did men become rich—by giving short measure and charging high prices; by false figuring with their balances to deceive, and cheating the poor by selling the refuse of the grain instead of good wheat.

"Jehovah hath sworn by the excellency of Jacob, surely I will never forget any of their works," warned Amos.

Then he pleaded with his people: "Seek good, and not evil; that ye may live; and so Jehovah, the God of hosts, will be with you, as ye say.

"Hate the evil, and love the good, and establish justice in the gate (where the trading, buying and selling was done); it may be that Jehovah, the God of hosts, will be gracious unto the remnants of Joseph."

If there was no change in their attitude, Amos warned, those who had lived in self-centered luxury, would be the first to "go captive, and the banquet of them that stretched themselves shall be removed."

MEMORY VERSE
"Hate the evil, and love the good, and establish justice in the gate."—Amos 5:15.

WORRY OVER TRADE PACT

Europe Wants Big U. S. Market Slice

NEW YORK, April 21. (AP)—Europeans are out to take a larger slice of the American market. Encouraged by Washington as much for political as for trade reasons, they are offering diesel and watches, autos and shoes, and a host of other products.

Some Americans who see their home markets invaded by Europeans—and by the Japanese—are protesting. They admit the need to keep Europe prosperous and untempted by Communism, but—

Congressmen in affected areas are nervous. At the House Foreign Affairs Committee hearing on whether the United States should ratify the Havana charter for an international trade organization, a Texas congressman asks if it would mean more petroleum imports, affecting jobs in Texas. A Connecticut congressman charges that Czechoslovakian "slave labor" is putting Danbury and Norwalk haters out of work.

Here is the manufacturer's side of the story, in textiles, chinaware, apparel and a flock of sundries: Some of the loudest cries of pain come from wool, cotton and silk industrialists. Tariffs on textiles, on the average, have been lowered 25 per cent in the last 10 years. Under the reciprocal trade agreements act they could be reduced another 25 per cent.

Textile imports hit $86.5 million in February, a gain of $10 million over January and $20 million over February, 1949.

"The cards are stacked against us," Julius G. Forstmann, president of Forstmann Woolen Co., of Passaic, N. J., says. "No amount of management ingenuity can compete against labor rates in England which are one-third ours, in Italy one-fifth, and in Japan about one-twentieth."

Dealers say that Japan sells cotton string gloves at wholesale here for just what an American producer pays for labor alone. Imported cotton goods can be shipped here at half the price of domestic products, the president of Cannon Mills says. And manufacturers of other articles have the same complaints.

Cops Intervene In Burglary Company Jobs

TOKYO, April 21. (AP)—"Robbers and Burglars Co., Ltd." went out of business today.

Its president began as a junk dealer. But business was bad. So he organized the new company. He found plenty of clients who wanted a robbery or a burglary committed.

President Harumi Hirata assembled six employees, all skilled in robbing and burgling. The company collected a commission for its service. Business flourished. Hirata took to wearing a morning coat.

Police came this morning, and they weren't looking for dividends. Now if morning-coated Hirata and his staff want to declare dividends they'll have to do it from jail.

Testimony Begins In Robinson Trial

WICHITA FALLS, April 21. (AP)—Testimony began in the murder trial of Horace Robinson after four days of selecting a jury.

The 12th juror was selected yesterday from the third group of special veniremen summoned.

Robinson, 40, is charged in the pistol slaying of Arnold H. Thom, 48, last Jan. 27.

BUDENZ TAKES STAND—Louis Budenz, a former Communist, testifies before a Senate subcommittee in Washington, D. C., investigating charges by Sen. Joseph McCarthy (R-Wis). Budenz said he knows Owen Lattimore was associated with two men who were "Soviet agents," and that evidence can be obtained to substantiate his testimony. (AP Wirephoto).

Bradley To Speak At Lubbock Observance

LUBBOCK, April 21. (AP)—Gen. Omar N. Bradley, chairman of the U. S. joint chiefs of staff and chairman of the Atlantic Pact nations, will be here Monday, May 22. He will be principal speaker at Lubbock's armed forces day observance.

New Catholic Regent

DALLAS, April 21. (AP)—Approximately 10,000 shriners from 27 North Texas counties are expected here today for Hella Temple's annual spring ceremonial. Between 200 and 250 new members will be initiated.
