GAS EXPLOSION ROCKS ABILENE EARLY TODAY

Wrecks Letus Building in Heart of the Business District.

By United Press. ABILENE, Oct. 15.—An explosion wrecked the Letus building here early today, injuring the janitor and breaking thousands of dollars worth of plate glass in adjoining building. Gas accumulating in the building during the night caused an explosion when the janitor lit a match. The one-story building was only recently constructed in the heart of the business district, and contained several stores. Tremors resulting from the explosion were felt one mile distant.

The janitor's condition is serious, it was stated at the hospital to which he was taken.

FORMER RANGER CITIZEN WRITES GASOLINE BOOK

Is Now Recognized Authority on Casinghead Gasoline Industry.

A book entitled "Natural Gasoline" has been written by G. G. Oberfell and R. C. Alden. This work is of considerable interest to Ranger. It treats of a subject very close to the commercial heart of Ranger and one of its authors was formerly a Ranger citizen.

In the preface, the authors give special acknowledgment of valuable aid in the preparation of their work by T. K. Smith, of Chestnut & Smith, one of the principal manufacturers of casinghead gasoline in the Ranger district. The work is technical in nature, yet written in a style quite intelligible to the layman. It treats of testing, composition, chemical and physical properties of natural gasoline and the gas from which it is produced, determination of gasoline contents, methods of analysis, charcoal absorption methods, operation and upkeep, equipment, meters, source of supply and various other matters intimately important to the producer and operator. It is replete with illustrations of plants in operation, many of which are said to have been made in or near Ranger, while Mr. Oberfell was operating here. The tables in this work are said by gasoline men to be exceptionally valuable and among the most complete ever published.

Representation On Interstate Commerce Commission Unequal

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—Rumblings of the approaching storm around the interstate commerce commission came closer today, as the national association of railways and utilities commission prepared to act on a proposal to afford strict geographical representation on that body.

A report calls attention to the fact that there is no representative on the commission from the southeastern or the southwestern states. A resolution is to be adopted requesting congress to provide a remedy for the unequal representation.

There are three members on the commission from New York state, three from Wisconsin and one each from Massachusetts, Kentucky, Indiana, Washington and Oregon.

Rockwood, who is serving as judge advocate, compose the board.

Eastland County Attracting Much Attention Throughout the State

Eastland county has, within the last few days, come in for much public notice in the large daily papers. Not only the road maintenance wrangle, which is stirring the state capital and business circles all over Texas, but her splendid exhibit at the Texas State fair and springing into importance in football circles have figured in press notices, many of which are given scare heads. A number of papers have taken note of the fact that Eastland county is the only county in the state with three class A football teams in it and sport writers either say or hint that the sixteenth district race will in all probability narrow down to an Eastland county affair. The state fair exhibit of Eastland county agricultural products is attracting more than statewide attention, it is said. Last year Eastland

U. S. SENATOR S. M. RALSTON PASSES AWAY

He Was Democratic Governor of Indiana and Beat Beveridge for Senator.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 15.—The body of Samuel M. Ralston, junior United States senator from Indiana, will be taken back to his old home in Lebanon, Ind., for burial, according to arrangements made today by members of his family.

Ralston died at 11 o'clock last night after an illness of many months. Friends of the deceased senator expressed a wish that his body lie in state at the state capitol before being taken to Lebanon.

When Samuel M. Ralston finished his term as governor of Indiana on Jan. 1, 1911, he said he was through with public life and went back to the practice of law.

He managed to stay with his law books and cases undisturbed for five years.

Then, in 1922, the democrats of Indiana decided he was the man to beat Albert J. Beveridge, former senator from Indiana and one of the best campaigners the state has ever seen, in the race for the senatorship. Ralston went at the task rather unostentatiously and surprised even his friends by the big majority he rolled up.

Ralston was born in Tuscarawa county, Ohio, Dec. 1, 1857, the son of John and Sarah Scott Ralston. When he was eight years old his parents moved to Spencer, Owens county, Indiana, where he grew to manhood, working on a farm in summers and attending the short winter terms of an old-fashioned country school.

Later he taught school for seven years. His first school was famed because the pupils were so unmanageable they had driven several teachers off the job. After his patient attempts to preserve order failed, Ralston called the ring-leader of the troublemakers, a big strapping country youth larger than the teacher himself, up before the school and whipped him in a standup fight. Ralston ruled the school from that day. Funds saved from his salary as a teacher at last enabled him to enter the Indiana Normal college at Davison, where he was graduated at the age of 27.

Returning to Spencer, Ralston read law in the office of a country bar-rister and was admitted to the bar. He took up the practice of law in Lebanon, where he remained until his election as governor in the fall of 1912.

The Ralston administration was marked by a big reduction in the state debt and the beginning of the construction of Indiana's system of good roads.

His intervention in serious labor strikes in Indianapolis resulted in an amicable settlement.

The power shown by Ralston in his campaign against Beveridge brought his name to the front as one of the "presidential possibilities" for the democratic nomination in the 1924 race.

BRAKEMAN KILLED, FIREMAN INJURED IN TRAIN WRECK

WALL STREET BULLS SEEM TO BE WORKING OVERTIME

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—Tremendous activity broke out in the stock market again today. Many new highs were established in various sections of the list before noon.

Is Clarence Darrow to be the new style dictator of America? The coeds of the University of Texas are now wearing regular "Darrowian galls" to hold up their skirts. "They're just as usable as the Oxford legs the boys are wearing," says pretty Thelma Winder.

MacNIDER TO BE ASSISTANT WAR SECRETARY

Former National Commander of American Legion Named By President.

He was commissioned a second lieutenant during the war and sent to France as an instructor. He was advanced during the war to major and was decorated for bravery and meritorious service.

District Attorney Appears Disturbed By Much Publicity

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 15.—In one breath denying that his presence here has anything to do with a new investigation of the William Desmond Taylor murder mystery and in the next declaring he will make it "hot for anyone in my office who gossips," District Attorney Asa Keys of Los Angeles county was scurrying through San Francisco today.

The denial came after a report that he had rushed here on a clew that might lead to the arrest of Bob Hollywood motion picture director or may have hopes of locating Edward Sands, Taylor's secretary, or the mystery woman involved.

"I am not here on the Taylor murder and if I were I would not admit it," said Keys. "I cannot say why I am here. This is a terrible thing to get out."

Ranger Citizens Called As Witnesses In Damage Suit Trial

COURT WILL DETERMINE AGE OF DEFENDENT

If Albert Florence Be Under 17 He Will Be Tried for Murder As Juvenile.

A hearing in the Albert Florence case, in which the defendant Florence is charged with murder growing out of the killing of Arthur Tombs in Cisco some months ago, was begun yesterday before Judge George L. Davenport of the Ninety-first district court, the purpose of this hearing being to determine whether or not Florence is to be tried as a juvenile.

The Texas statutes provide that anyone under 17 years of age committing a crime must be tried as a juvenile and, if found guilty, even of murder, can only be sent to the state reformatory and that only for the remainder of his minority. The law also provides that when an affidavit is made that one charged with crime is under 17 years of age, then it is the duty of the district judge, without a jury, to hear testimony and determine the age of the accused. If he is found to be 17 or more years of age the case is to be set down for trial as any other case. Otherwise it is to be set down for trial in a court for juveniles. If the defendant is not tried before he is 17, regardless of his age at the time the offense was committed, he may be tried as any other person.

In the Florence case an affidavit has been filed by the defense stating that the defendant was not 17 years of age at the time the crime was committed and that he is not at this time 17 years of age, hence is entitled to be tried as a juvenile.

The hearing of the case was not completed yesterday and will be resumed as soon as the county attorney, who is engaged in the trial of another case, can get to it.

Mosquitoes Must Be Suppressed To Stop Dengue Fever Plague

AUSTIN, Oct. 15.—The eradication of mosquito breeding places is as necessary for the control of dengue fever as it is for malaria, and a continuous warfare should be kept up against these pests, stated Dr. H. O. Sapperton, state health officer, in the following message to the citizens of the state:

"Following the recent rains throughout the state, mosquitoes have become more numerous than at any previous time this year, a few localities reporting them in large numbers. As this is the period at which in previous years dengue fever has gotten in its deadly work, the citizens of the state are urged to destroy the breeding places of mosquitoes wherever possible, that Texas may be kept free of this disease this year.

"The dengue epidemic of 1922 has been estimated by insurance companies to have cost the wage earners of the state more than $3,000,000 in the loss of time from work, to say nothing of other losses. Since that time, through the effective mosquito control work which has been done on a co-operative basis by the state board of health with the municipalities of the state, dengue has steadily decreased, there being only 369 cases reported in the entire state last year.

"Mosquitoes can not breed without water. If the people would bear this in mind and use the following precautions the problem of dengue and malaria would be solved. Do not allow any unnecessary standing water on premises.

Barrels or tubs of water, ponds and pools of water that it is impractical to drain, should be oiled, as this is an effective measure against mosquito breeding.

Tanks, shallow wells and underground cisterns should be stocked with minnows as these small fish feed on mosquito larvae.

Screen all buildings with 16-mesh wire as this fine mesh is necessary to turn mosquitoes.

TEST WITH DIRIGIBLE AND AIRPLANE IS SUCCESSFUL

PULHAM, England, Oct. 15.—An experiment to test the possibility of an airship carrying airplanes to defend itself was successfully conducted here today. The giant dirigible R-33 took aloft a plane swung from a trapeze. The plane, piloted by Lieutenant Hague was launched in midair and Hague flew his craft a distance and then succeeded in re-attaching it to the dirigible.

AIRSHIPS FOUND TO HAVE MANY MINOR DEFECTS

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—The airship Los Angeles, sister ship of the Shenandoah, was found to contain numerous minor defects when both ships were inspected early this year, Dr. Clark Blou, technical director of the Aluminum company told the court of inquiry today. He said there is no way seemed to affect physical properties of strength.

Wells' Damage Suit Against Officers Yet Occupies Court

The plaintiff in the case of Harvey Wells vs. Sheriff Bob Edwards et al., finished taking testimony yesterday, and this morning the defendant began introducing evidence. It is the opinion of attaches of the court in which the case is being tried that practically all of today will be required to finish with testimony. The case is attracting considerable attention and a large number of witnesses are being examined. Wells is suing for $10,000 damages alleged to have been sustained by him when he was arrested and thrown in jail by members of the Eastland county sheriff's department following the killing of Policeman Jim Daniels in Ranger about the first of this year.

SECURITY PACT FOR RHINELAND IS ADOPTED

Final Confirmation by German Reichstag Is Necessary, However.

LAUSANNE, Switzerland, Oct. 15.—The final text of the Rhineland pact today was adopted by the security conference. The action came shortly after the German delegation had announced its approval of the pact. Signatures of the delegates, however, will not mean final consummation of the fact. It must be confirmed by the German reichstag.

PARIS, Oct. 15.—"History has been made today," exclaimed Premier Paul Painleve when informed the German delegation at Lausanne had accepted the Rhineland pact. "I have wired congratulations to Foreign Minister Briand," he added.

Washington Wins Deciding Game of the World Series

The Washington Senator today won the 1925 world series, defeating Pittsburgh in the deciding game by a score of 9 to 7. The score was tied in the seventh inning, but Washington made two runs in the eighth and took the game.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 15.—Walter Johnson, veteran pitcher for the Senators, was holding his own at the end of the eighth inning of the seventh and deciding game of the 1925 world series today, although 16 hits had been made off him, while Pittsburgh had tried successively Aldrich, Morrison and Kraemer and was warming up Oldham for the ninth inning.

The game near the end of the eighth inning stood 7 to 7, with two men out and three men on bases. It proved one of the most exciting games of the entire series. Showers fell during the morning and this afternoon was rainy. The men had to be given towels to keep their hands dry.

Comer knocked a two-bagger and brought in two of the three men on bases, making the score 9 to 7 in favor of Washington, with a chance of making another run or two before the end of the eighth inning.

Governor May Issue Deficiency Warrants; No Loan Is Possible

AUSTIN, Oct. 15.—The issuance of deficiency warrants by the governor to the state live stock sanitary commission is the only legal method at this time to provide money to fight the foot and mouth disease, the attorney general said today. He said the constitution forbids the state making such a loan as suggested to banks in Houston and it could be enjoined.

TWO SHIPS GO ON ROCKS IN DENSE FOG

SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 15.—"The graveyard of ships" in the straits of Juan de Fuca sought toll again today when two vessels went ashore in the dense fog blanketing the Puget sound area. Tugs were sent from Victoria early today to the rescue of the freighter Endyk, grounded on the rocks, 14 miles from Victoria.

The Japanese steamer Ryno went ashore near Vancouver at 3 a. m. but freed herself and went on her way an hour later. Harbor radio here received no details as to damage to either vessel, except there were six feet of water in the forehold of the Endyk.

FARMERS CONTINUE TO BRING IN COTTON

The rainy weather has not deterred a number of persistent farmers from continuing to bring in their cotton to the Ranger gin, according to H. L. Stewart, manager. "There has been a slight falling off since the rains set in, but only slightly," Mr. Stewart said. He still predicts a crop for the county running from 1,800 to 2,000 bales for the season.

TEXTBOOK MUST HAVE ALL SUCH REFERENCE OUT

Publishers Instructed to Eliminate Three Chapters From Book on Biology.

AUSTIN, Oct. 15.—Teaching of evolution in the public schools of Texas will not be permitted under an order made by the state textbook commission in the adoption of a textbook on biology by Thurman J. Mann with instructions to the publishers to eliminate all reference to evolution.

The book is said to contain three chapters on evolution covering 20 pages, and members of the textbook commission, or a majority of the commission, could not consent to any child in a Texas school being instructed on anything so inimical to the laws of a sister state.

The book "New Essentials of Biology," by Hunter, which figured in the Tennessee evolution trial of John T. Scopes, was offered to the textbook commission and rejected without consideration.

Promoters Charged With Fleecing Public In Sale of Stock

HOUSTON, Oct. 15.—Charges that Blevins and his 13 associates made commissions totaling several million dollars in three years were made by the prosecution when the men were called for trial today in the federal court on charges of using the mails to defraud in the sale of stock in the Southern Motors association. It is charged that the Southern Motors association sold more than $6,000,000 worth of stock. The organization was supposed to manufacture motor cars for southern consumption. As a matter of fact, it is charged by the government, no cars were manufactured except when a prospective buyer of stock visited the plant. Immediately after the departure of the "prospect," work was stopped.

TRUCK FARMING NEAR RANGER PROFITABLE

A. Davenport Irrigates Five-Acre Tract Successfully. Also Has Jersey Cows.

There are few better examples of what good dirt and plenty of water will produce in the Ranger vicinity than the five-acre farm of A. Davenport, about a mile out of Ranger, from which he sold 300 dozen turkeys Wednesday, which sale, with other products of the farm, for delivery through a term of several weeks, assures him, he says, a daily income of $25 for some time to come. His average daily income from that farm the year round, he says, is now a little over $12 a day, counting Sundays. He has worked out a plan which will bring that up to $25 a day the year round in the near future, he claims.

Mr. Davenport has only five acres in truck. He has a good supply of spring water piped in. He says the water around Ranger is ideal for irrigation purposes. The sale of turkeys was made to the Texas Produce company. Besides his turkeys, Mr. Davenport brought in five bushels of fresh okra and several other bits of garden truck Wednesday, as he does every day now. He has, besides his five acres, a 40-acre orchard and a pasture for his cows. His truck garden is planted to turnips, about three acres; black-eyed peas, about two acres, and some other truck. He has 22 head of registered Jersey cattle and does not count the milk and butter produced in the above daily income, but does keep tab on the sale of calves. He has 120 hens. These bring him an average of $1 a day for eggs. His calf sales average above $700 a year, or about $2 a day, he figures.

An orchard planted to peach, apple and pear trees, is counted on to help bring the average up to $25 a day.

BASEBALL PLAYER DIES IN BRECKENRIDGE

BIBLE THOUGHT.
Love Masters Fear: There is no fear in love; but perfect love casteth out fear.—1 John 4:18.
Prayer: O God, Thou art love; may Thy spirit live in us, and then we shall daily walk in confidence.

LIABILITY FOR FIRE.

Personal liability for damages arising from fire on account of the alleged gross carelessness of another will be given its first test in the courts of Georgia as a result of the filing of one of the few suits of its kind, in the Bibb county superior court. The petition, instituted by the Macon Cabinet works against the Southern Box & Basket company for damages of $17,000, is of particular interest for the reason that insurance companies and officials and citizens of Macon are working in conjunction to reduce the normal burning ratio of Macon.
Mass meetings of civic bodies and citizens have been held to correct conditions that will result in increasing insurance rates if not abated, and the city courts are invoking fire hazard laws and assessing heavy fines for their violation.
When the public once awakens to the fact that property owners, who carelessly or willfully permit fire hazards to exist on their premises, cause thousands of dollars of useless expense to other citizens in the shape of necessarily higher insurance rates, there will be a more general demand for fines and penalties to be charged against such property owners who are responsible for loss by fires.
In the present case the defendants were notified to clean up their property. All notices were ignored and accumulations of trash were permitted to exist with resulting fire losses to adjoining property. This case deserves national attention and should form the basis for legislation relating to personal liability for negligence in maintaining fire hazards.—The Manufacturer.

Martin W. Littleton argues that inasmuch as the conduct and operation of the government for eight years and perhaps longer, was fixed by about 50 per cent of the voters in 1920 and 1924, there is but little reason for questioning five to four decisions by the United States supreme court. He asserts that in the whole history of the court this division of five to four has existed in only 30 cases, and of these only eight decisions were rendered declaring an act unconstitutional. In 133 years the supreme court has declared invalid only 49 acts of congress, 310 acts of the state legislatures and 42 municipal ordinances.

During the year 1924 new highways to the extent of 23,000 miles were built to grade or surfaced on the state systems, according to the bureau of public roads of the United States department of agriculture. More than 17,000 miles were surfaced. Adding the mileage surfaced in 1924 after making allowance for the fact that a portion of the new work consisted of the resurfacing of old roads, it is indicated that approximately half of the 251,610 miles embraced in the state systems were surfaced at the beginning of the present year.

A peculiar antithesis exists between Great Britain and France. The French government is described as financially in a bad way, but economically the country is sound. The British government is sound, but economically is in a very bad way. Britain's declining trade, her staggering figures of unemployment, her recurrent labor crises, have elicited from some Englishmen outcries of impending national ruin.
West Texas this year has largest cotton crop in history of the section.

LUNCHEON AT SUBURBAN HOME.

Mrs. C. D. Woods very charmingly entertained the members of the primary department of the Methodist Sunday school at her home, seven miles out on the Caddo road, yesterday. It savored of the good old days when women paused long enough to spend the afternoon with one another and work out problems beneficial to themselves and their families. However, at this all day meeting yesterday, the plans worked out were for the interest of the little children that these women teach each Sabbath morning. Mrs. Woods is superintendent of the primary department and Misses C. E. Maher, M. K. Colie, S. P. Boone and Mrs. Bihartz are its teachers. At a three-course luncheon, served at the noon hour, covers were laid for Misses May, Boon and Colie, as it was impossible for Mrs. Bihartz to be present. The superintendent and the teachers plan to make this monthly luncheon a regular occurrence as it gives them more time for planning their important work.

COUNTY FEDERATION MEET.

Members of the County Federation are requested to bear in mind the fact that it will meet Saturday afternoon in Eastland at the B. Y. F. U. cottage. Mrs. Philip Pettit of Cisco, president of the county federation, sends a card to this office asking that we give proper notice of the meeting and that all women are invited.

MOTHERS' CONGRESS TO HAVE FAIR DAY.

Texas Congress of Mothers day will be observed over the state Monday and special observation of it will be made at the state fair, in Dallas. There will be a reception for all members attending the fair and this will be held in the booth maintained by the Dallas Council of Mothers, in the main exhibition building. Mrs. C. E. Maddocks, who is state president of the Texas congress, will be the guest of honor and will be in the receiving line with Mrs. J. C. Jones, president of the Dallas council, and presidents of affiliated parent-teacher clubs.
In connection with the statewide celebration of the sixteenth birthday of the state body, which now has a membership of about 40,000, birthday gifts will be sent the state organization to swell the endowment fund. Mrs. C. E. Maddocks has just recently returned from Omaha, Neb., where she attended a meeting of the national board of Mothers Congress, and on route home she stopped in Fort Worth and one last Monday gave three lectures at a council meeting there, giving one in the morning, one at luncheon and one in the afternoon at the Woman's club to the Kindergarten club. Mrs. Maddocks left today for Leuders, where she will be honor guest tonight at a reception, which will formally open their school.

NEW ERA CLUB HAS GOOD BEGINNING.

The New Era club started off with a flourish yesterday afternoon when it held its first meeting of the year at the Ghoslon hotel, and it won't be the case of a "new broom sweeping clean," for this club has laid out enough work to keep everybody right on the job until the last meeting in the spring. It was an excellent meeting. The program went off without a hitch, everybody bringing up their work and the attendance was almost 100 per cent. Delegates were elected to the state federation, which will be held in Austin, November 10-14. Mrs. L. C. G. Buchanan being elected as delegate and Mrs. M. H. Hagaman as alternative. Mrs. Buchanan, who is the new president of the club, presided over the meeting. The subject of the study for yesterday afternoon was "The History and Meaning of the Short Story," with Mrs. A. H. Allison as leader. Misses Barkley, Bronstadt, Buchanan, Clifton, Dean, Green and Hagaman all gave interesting talks and papers on the different topics for discussion, and Mrs. M. F. Peters favored the assembly with a vocal solo. The next meeting will be on October 28 with Mrs. G. C. Barkley as leader.

PARENTS' DAY AT CENTRAL WARD.

Tomorrow will be parents' day at the Central Ward school. This means that parents of children attending this ward will be welcomed from the time that school takes up in the morning until it lets out in the afternoon, and that they are requested to visit the school for at least a few minutes during these hours. Parents' day is a movement toward creating a more sympathetic understanding between the parent and the teacher. The school-room is the teacher's work shop and it's the child's home for a greater portion of the day, for nine months. If the parent can project their vision efficiently to realize just what conditions mean to the teacher and to the child, then a better understanding is sure to be the result. Just now the great urge is for a better school building in which to house these little folks. Parents are requested to attend school tomorrow and see just what sort of a room their child or children sit in all day, and then decide if they don't think a new school building worth while. This new school building is the thing that the Central Ward Parent-Teacher association has up its sleeve this year and it looks as though they had started in in dead earnest to get it. They are putting on parents' day once a month not only to promote the cause of a new building but to cement a closer tie between the parent, teacher and the child.

PERSONALS.

Mrs. F. D. Farquhar and daughter, Yreba Ramsey, will leave this afternoon for a short visit to relatives in Sweetwater, returning here early next week to join Mr. Farquhar, who will leave with them then for their new home in Florida.

Mrs. G. B. McClellan and little daughter have returned from a month and a half's stay in New York and Atlantic City. Mrs. McClellan said that a fur coat was very comfortable in New York, when she left there, and that she saw killing frosts in St. Louis, so that the "sunny south" was quite a drastic change in climate.

Dick Phillips is in Jayton looking after his farming interests in that section of the country.

Mrs. Harry Lenoy is attending the Dallas fair today.

Mrs. Alice True, secretary of Ranger Retail Merchants association, left today for Dallas, where she will attend the convention of secretaries of Retail Merchants associations, to be held there Friday and Saturday.

John D. Ghoslon is in Santa Fe, N. M., on a business trip.

Mrs. J. L. Wheat and children, who have been visiting Mrs. Wheat's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Williams, left today for their home at Big Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Sivalis left today for Dallas to attend the state fair.

Miss Dahl, of the City-County hospital, will leave today for California for a visit with her mother. Miss Dahl has recently been ill and while on sick leave will recuperate in California.

Jack Phillips, one of Ranger's pioneer citizens, has been quite sick at his home for the past few days and is still confined to the house.

Dr. H. A. Logsdon, C. C. Patterson and Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Hickey will attend the seventeenth district meeting of the American Legion of Texas, to be held in Brownwood Sunday. Mr. Hickey goes as a delegate from the local chapter.

RANGER LIONS PLEDGE FEALTY TO BULLDOGS

Will Go in Body to Attend Game at Breckenridge Next Saturday.

The outstanding feature of the meeting of the Ranger Lions' club at its noonday luncheon at the DeGross hotel Thursday was the standing vote to go in a body to back the Ranger team in its first conference game of the season at Breckenridge. Saturday, the assurance of President Owen of the Eastland Lions' club that 400 Eastland boosters will be on hand to support the Ranger team in that game last Saturday, and the expression, which met with loud cheers, of the general sentiment for Eastland county teams to stand together except when playing games with each other when, of course, each will be for his own home team. The vote to get behind the team as a body was unanimous. Thirty-four signed up to attend the game. The Ranger Lions unanimously endorsed the song, "Dear Old Texas," written by two Eastland ladies, Misses Taggart and Leonard, so the Rotarians and Lions are now joined in urging this for the state song.

LOST LAD IS ENTERTAINED WHILE PARENTS ARE SOUGHT

Separated from his mother with only a piece of cornbread to comfort him, but getting lots of satisfaction out of that, a two-year-old lad, unable to talk or to tell his name, was picked up by Mrs. C. O. Terrell shortly after noon today near West Main and South Ghoslon streets. Being on her way to a train, Mrs. Terrell turned the boy over to Mrs. E. H. Maher, who enlisted the aid of the police to locate his parents, and then took him home for luncheon. It was several hours before the identity of the boy was established, but finally he was claimed by Mrs. M. M. Dutton of 42 1/2 Walnut street, and restored to his home.

Eastland County Wins Honors and Gains Publicity At Dallas State Fair

Eastland county won eighteenth place among Texas county exhibits at the Dallas State fair, according to Secretary George W. Briggs of the Eastland Chamber of Commerce, who has just returned from Dallas. Last year Eastland county was awarded thirteenth place. Harrison county, an East Texas county, was the winner of first place this year, which is the first time in the last several years that a West Texas county has not been awarded first place. "Eastland county had a remarkably fine exhibit, and considering the attendance at the fair which was not as heavy this year as last, attracted much more attention than it did last year, and the prime object of the booth, that of advertising the resources of Eastland county, was achieved," Mr. Briggs said. Judging Very Close. Mr. Briggs stated that competition was so keen and judging so close that some of the counties were only one-twentieth of 1 per cent apart. Eastland county was only 7 per cent behind the county winning first place and only 3 per cent behind the county winning tenth place this year. "As a result of our exhibits at the fair last year and this, Eastland county is now recognized not only as a county where large quantities of high grade petroleum, gas and gasoline are produced, but it is also well and favorably known as an agricultural and poultry country," Mr. Briggs said. To illustrate this he told that at a meeting of the exhibitors, in Dallas Tuesday night, the toastmaster was calling on the various men in charge of exhibits for speeches and when it came his turn to make a talk the toastmaster without calling his name or the name of Eastland county, said, "We will now hear from the egg-basket of Texas." This remark was applauded, which showed that at least a majority of those present knew instantly where the egg-basket of Texas was. "Eastland county," Mr. Briggs says, "could win much higher place at these state fairs if more time could be spent on selecting and preparing material for the exhibit. Many of the counties winning highest places not only have from one to two men working on their exhibits for many months, but they plant and grow products especially for the exhibit," he said.

ON THE RANGE AT RANGER

By THE FENCE RIDER.
(Items for this department must be placed in to the Fence Rider, by 12 o'clock daily in order to insure their insertion. Don't be haphazard. Jingle the telephone bell.)

Ranger always did set the pace. She showed them what real oil fields were and Texas followed up with a lot of very nice little pools here and there. Ranger decided to put a nice fall rain and, would you believe it, it rained all the way to Pittsburgh and stopped a perfectly good ball game up Pennsylvania way.

What other game is there in all the world which would cause men, women, boys and girls to stand out in a wet, cold rain and yell themselves hoarse for two hours, except football? Really there are just two kinds of games being played nowadays. Football and the other kind. And about seven hundred Ranger people are going to witness this kind of game next Saturday over in Breckenridge.

Eastland has a high school paper called "Hi Life." Was that just a slip of the pen? Didn't you intend to say "hi living"? Anyway, welcome to the peppy little sheet.

No matter what kind of football game we see next Saturday, we will, at least, hear some fine music. What with Ranger's hastily collected bunch of prize players and our little sister city's big bunch of high school tooters, there'll be some nice little old echoes wakened round about 3 p. m. Saturday.

As stated before, that game will be called at 3 p. m. If you want to keep up on such matters, read your daily Fence Rider column. I know some folks who do. Incidentally, the admission will be two bits and six bits—two for school pupils of all grades—six for adults.

A story is going the rounds of a Ranger girl whose sweetheart took her for a sail in an airship. Asked how she liked it, she said: "I was just simply carried away with it!"

A farmer is the biggest gambler on earth. He doesn't play for as big stakes as an oil man and a few other types of chance takers. But he takes chances oftener—takes more chances. He bets on the weather, seed, birds, insects, markets—about everything you can think of. And he gambles with death. When he plants his crop he bets the floods will not wash it away, the birds scratch it up, the drought dry it up, the insects eat it up, the market hogs gobble it up—and bets he will live to gather it. Still, it is a pretty safe bet in the Ranger vicinity, where crop failures are few and far between.

MAY SEYMOUR FOOT LOOSE

by BEATRICE BURTON ONEA

THE STORY SO FAR:

May Seymour, whose husband, Dr. John Seymour, killed himself because of her love affair with Jim Carraway, returns to her home town after a year's absence.

She comes late one night to the home of her lawyer, Dick Gregory, and Gloria, his wife. She tells them how the ugly story of her past has followed her everywhere. And so she has made up her mind to go to Europe where no one will know her. She turns over her house to Ulysses X. Forgan, a wealthy widower, to sell for her. And she begs Dick to sell her stocks and bonds for whatever they will bring. All she wants, she says, is enough money to dress the part of a well-to-do widow for a few months, so she can land a rich husband.

A week later, with $8,000 in her handbag she goes to Atlantic City for a rest before sailing. There she meets a divorcee, Carlotta Froking, and her friends, Dan Sprague and Herbert Waterbury.

One night while the foursome is at a supper club, May's bag drops to the floor and her roll of money falls out. Waterbury scolds May for carrying so much money about with her and offers to take care of it for her. But May refuses.

He makes love to her in the days that follow, and finally asks her to invest her money in Dan Sprague's oil well. She has led him to think that she has much more money than she really possesses.

Finally a letter from Ulysses Forgan comes. He tells her he can sell her house for $12,000 cash or for $16,000 on terms.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY:

That night when she had eaten her lonely dinner, May went up to her room to answer Ulysses Forgan's letter.

"Dear Mr. Forgan," she wrote. "Being a foolish woman, I have decided to take $12,000 for my house now, instead of $16,000 in little dribdrabs, on terms. A bird in the hand— you know."

"I suppose the safe thing for me to do is to invest the money. Later on, I'm going to ask you to give me your advice along those lines. My husband used to tell me that government bonds were the only safe buy for a widow."

"I am going to stay here in Atlantic City until you send me the money for my house. Where I shall go then, I really don't know. To Europe, probably. The only thing I'm sure of, is that I shall never come back there."

"Cordially yours,
"May Lucas Seymour."

"I don't know why I told him all about my plans—or, my lack of plans," she said to herself, as she dropped the letter into the mail-chute beside the elevator. "But he's one of those quiet, understanding people to whom it's easy to tell things."

She sat beside her window with her chin cupped in her hands, and a far-off look in her eyes. "I'd take his word for anything," she thought. "I'm sure he's as honest as the day is long. He looks that way, anyhow." She remembered, then, the queer little gleam she had seen in Herby Waterbury's eyes that day. What had it meant?

"After all, I know absolutely nothing about these people I've picked up down here," she said to herself. "I don't even know where Carlotta came from! Dan Sprague has an oil well in California, so Herby says. And Herby has a picture of a house in Brooklyn that he says he longs to him. And that's everything I know about the three of them."

Her thoughts were cut short by a light tapping on the panels of her door. "Come in," she called, and Carlotta Froking pushed open the door. Her plump little figure seemed shorter and dumber than ever in a ruffled pink taffeta frock, with a cape to match.

She twinkled at May, and surveyed herself in the long mirror of the wardrobe, with childish admiration. "Look at me, all trimmed up like a birthday cake!" she said. "Dan's asked me out to dinner with him. And I'm taking your advice along with me—I'm going to vamp him to a frazzle. Who knows? Tomorrow's dawn may find me a blushing bride!"

May studied her face. The fading blondness of it was rouged and powdered into a semblance of blooming girlhood. But, under the harsh electric light, shadows came out under the eyes, and at the corners of the mouth. Carlotta was old. There was no doubt about it!

And for her, a lonely woman, age was a tragedy. Much more of a tragedy than it was for the comfortable middle-aged wife, who was also the mother of a family.

"How long has your husband been dead?" Carlotta asked, surprisingly, walking over to the dressing-table. "May I borrow some of your perfume?"

Without waiting for an answer she poured May's "Black Narcissus" perfume over her fluffy blond hair, and rubbed it under her chin.

"My husband," May said very quietly, "has been dead for more than a year."

She held her breath for a moment, and then continued: "He—committed suicide."

"Committed suicide? Do you mean he killed himself?" Carlotta asked. Her blue eyes were like saucers.

"What else could I mean?" May asked, "certainly he killed himself."

"Well, I must say you take it calmly," the other woman observed. "If it had happened to my husband, I'll bet I wouldn't go around telling it."

"Why not?" May asked coolly. "There are people, you know, who think divorce is just as disgraceful as suicide."

"Now, she'll go and tell all that to Herbert Waterbury," she added to herself, when Carlotta had gone, leaving a trail of "Black Narcissus" perfume in her wake.

That, really, was what she wanted her to do, she found when she searched her mind. She knew that if she married Herbert Waterbury, she would have to tell him about Dr. John's death. And it would be easier to do if Carlotta had paved the way.

"I suppose Carlotta told Herbert the sad story of my life," she thought, remembering last night.

At that moment there was a knock on the door.

May hurried to open it. A bell-boy stood there with a florist's box in his arms.

Breathlessly she opened it. Within was a mass of full-blown cream-colored roses. She buried her face in their fragrance before she read the little card that was tucked among their leaves.

"You'll like these," Herbert Waterbury had written across the face of it, "and will you have lunch with me at 1? I'll wait for you in the lobby."

"Well, I like his cheek!" May said to herself. "He's so sure I'll accept his invitation that he's going to wait in the lobby for me! For two pins I'd fool him and not go to his durned old luncheon!"

But she knew she would. She dressed herself with extreme care, in soft mauve crepe with a hat to match. She pinned one of Waterbury's roses to her breast, and with a beating heart went downstairs to meet him.

He met her, unsmiling, and took her hands in his for just a second. Fire glowed in his blue eyes as he looked at her.

"You're a stunner!" he said admiringly.

May was vaguely disappointed. She didn't like to be called a "stunner" by this man whom she was trying to marry. She wanted him to want her—not to admire her.

But, in her turn, she could not help admiring the sure, man-of-the-world air with which Herby gave his luncheon order.

Today, he was very good looking, very debonaire, extremely well dressed. How other women would envy her if she were the wife of a man like him! And think of all the money he had, besides—

May crinkled up her nose at him in a saucy smile.

"I'm wearing your rose upon my heart, Sir Knight! And you haven't said a word about it," she reproached him gayly.

"I'm wearing my own heart on my sleeve," Waterbury answered, leaning across the table and speaking in a low tone. "Can't you see that I'm very much in love with you—and have been since the minute I laid eyes on you?"

May shook her head. "No, I can't see that," she answered. "Are you?"

Dr. Tanner came here nearly 15 years ago and opened a medical practice. Until recently it was not known that he had at one time been the original Western character whose name inspired many thrilling Western novels.

America's finest cooking fat

At a recent celebration held here, Dr. Tanner revealed his former identity and displayed a large array of guns and weapons, which he had used years ago when he was boasted as the best shot in America.

Dr. Tanner broke the world's record for long distance horseback riding in 1893. He was also known as one of the best rifle and pistol shots in the country.

A short time later he secluded himself in a Mid-Western college and obtained his medical degree and then came here to practice.

"I concealed my 'Diamond Dick' title because I didn't believe it would help my practice," explained Dr. Tanner.

ALL IS READY FOR GAME WITH BRECKENRIDGE

Two Bands Will Furnish Music and Large Number of Ranger Boosters Will Attend.

There was joy around the Bulldog kennels late yesterday afternoon when it was announced that Leader Underwood had finally got together 20 of his prize-winning players—some of the fellows who won that West Texas Chamber of Commerce prize at Mineral Wells, and they have agreed to go for the love of the team to play at Ranger's first conference game in Breckenridge next Saturday. This, with the famous 50-piece high school band of Breckenridge, will furnish musical thrills for the assembly, while the players supply thrills on the gridiron.

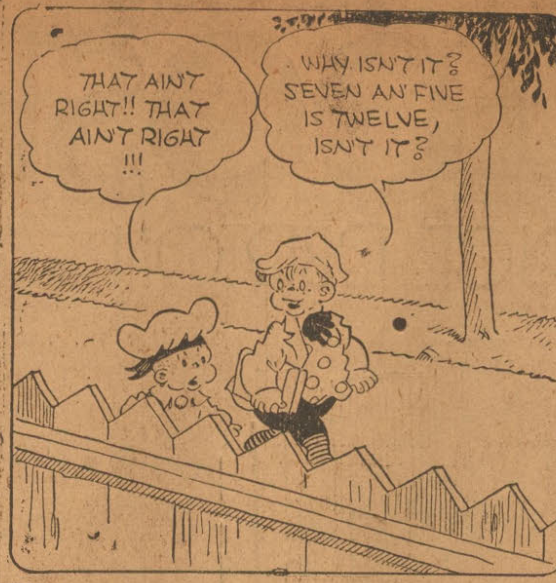

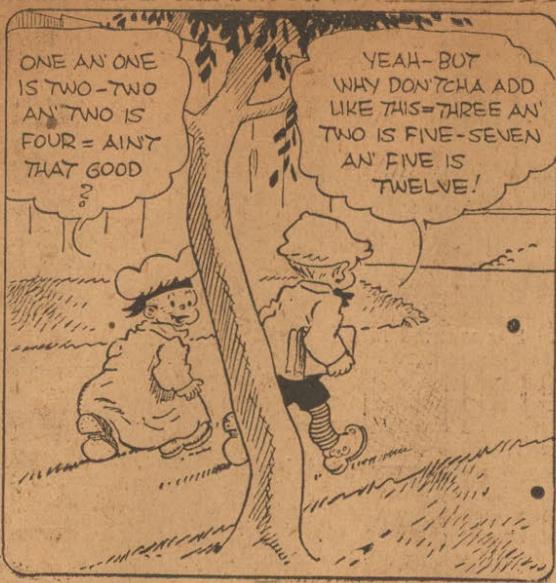

Leader Underwood said these players have been long apart and will have to whip themselves in shape on very short notice. They do not promise prize muscle, but a lot of good, loud, peppy stuff such as is relished at a game. They have finally overcome their reluctance to risk their musical reputation on this jumped-off performance, it is said, in order to boost the home team.

Transportation for band and pep squad has not all been provided yet, according to C. C. Patterson, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, but citizens are rallying to the call with encouraging alacrity and the seems no doubt enough cars will be on hand before time to start. Movements are on foot today to have several delegations go in a body. The Lions' club is the only one of these yet to report somewhere around 100 per cent gang ready and rarin' to go.

The team and Coaches Cherry and Davis are out training every day until "called on account of darkness." Saturday's game promises to give Ranger High an opportunity to show the Ranger bunch is not a lone star but an all-star aggregation. It is claimed for the Bulldogs that nobody can tell which player is going to do the stunt to turn the trick at any time—that it is a team rather than some individual player that will meet the opposing aggregation. With Short, Grubbs and Phillips, crippled, and some new men in their places, this claim may have an opportunity to establish itself or prove fallacious Saturday.

Word comes from Breckenridge that the splendid town spirit is manifesting itself and being imparted to the players. They are said to have forgotten that Eastland disaster and

Large Delegation Expected to Go From Eastland to See Game.

The Eastland Mavericks, accompanied by the Eastland High school pep squad and a large number of fans, will go to Comanche tomorrow, where the Mavericks will meet the Comanche Indians in their second official game of the present football season.

The Mavericks are in splendid condition and are confident that they will return from the Comanche game with the Indians' scalps dangling to their belts. But while they feel sure of their ability to whip the Indians, they are not taking any chances and will be wide awake and watching all corners.

Bobbie Bates, appointed by the Eastland Lions' club as a committee to secure cars in sufficient numbers to carry the pep squad and all other Eastland fans who otherwise could not go, is making arrangements for a large number of cars and it is stated that there will be room for everyone desiring to go.

JURY TO TRY MURDER CASE IN INDIANA HARD TO FIND

By United Press.

NOBLESVILLE, Ind., Oct. 15.—Twelve men who have not formed an opinion as to who was responsible for the death of pretty Madge Oberholtzer or who has been disqualified for jury service through connection with or antagonism to the Ku Klux Klan are yet to be found in Hamilton county. The attorneys who are trying to select a jury to try D. C. Stephenson, Earl Klenc and Earl Gentry for murder, have not given up hope. One venire of 69 men has been exhausted and the attorneys will probably be well through the second venire of 100 prospects before the day closes.

DALLAS.—Lone Star Gas company will lay 138 miles gas pipe, costing $5,000,000, to supply local demand.

TAKES THE PLACE OF "DRASTIC" CALOMEL FOR COLDS AND FLU

"Pepsin-ated" calomel acts better—clears up colds quicker—and kills flu germs

Nasty clinging colds and dangerous flu germs quickly lead to lung infection. Clear up these troubles immediately, but never do it with old style "raw" calomel. It is too drastic on your system.

There is a newer and more improved kind that is especially made for colds, grippe and flu. It does not tear through your system like a streak of lightning. It acts mild and gently, for it is combined with pepsin, which makes it work slow and more effectively. This new pepsin and calomel combination is known as "Pepsin-ated" Calomel. It has all the beneficial cold, grippe and flu germ-inactivating effects of the old style "raw" calomel—but the drastic and unpleasant effects have been entirely neutralized with pepsin. Nasty "follow-up salts" are not even necessary. People who are ill with flu, grippe or colds can secure immediate and complete relief with one or two doses of "Pepsin-ated" Calomel. One tablet at bed time lets you rest well all night long and yet while you sleep, it effectively drives out the flu, grippe and cold germs that often lead to pneumonia or lung infection. Hereafter when you feel cold congestion coming on, go to Phillips Drug Store or any other good druggist and get a 50c or 50c package of "Pepsin-ated" Calomel tablets. They will bring quick relief and benefit your entire system.

He's Grid's Biggest

This full-blooded Choctaw Indian is said to be the biggest football player in the game this season. He's Theodore "Tippy" Roebuck, star tackle with the Haskell Indians. He is six feet, six inches tall and weighs 240 pounds. They say opposing linemen let him have his own way pretty often.

It is freely stated that they will go into Saturday's game with the best team Breckenridge ever had. That it is going to be a battle royal, is believed by all who have lifted the cover and looked on the inside. That Ranger will be right there in the midst of the battle, backed by one of the boostingest set of boosters and some of the out-fightingest fighters on the field, is stated with entire confidence.

UNIQUE GENEALOGICAL BOOK IN GARCIA COLLECTION

Special Correspondence.

AUSTIN, Texas.—Family genealogies are not always rare, but a handmade book of such nature in the Garcia collection of the University of Texas is distinctly unique, according to Dr. Lota Mae Spell in charge of the collection. This book, made in Spain in 1793 for a Spanish noble family that had migrated to Mexico is considered one of the most interesting in the Garcia library. It is artistically decorated throughout, and all the work was done by hand. The leaves of the book are of the highest grade of parchment, practically unobtainable at the present time because of its exorbitant cost. Fine silk covers the pictures. The volume is bound in red leather. With the volume was the scribe's bill for the work. For the lettering he received $20; for the coat of arms, $180; for the family crest, $200; for the seals and signatures, $42; for the binding and slip cover for the volume, $120. The total cost of the book is given in the bill as $1,335.

When Joseph Pennell, the famous etcher, visited Austin a few years ago, it is said he admired this book very much, and declared that the parchment used in it was some of the best he had ever seen.

Elinor Glyn, the popular fiction writer, enjoys the reputation of being the only woman to have made a success as a motion picture director. Madame Glyn writes her own film stories, picks her own casts, and does her own directorial shouting through a megaphone. In Hollywood she is known as the "prima donna of the films."

THOUSANDS of mothers for over three generations have praised Mother's Friend for relieving them of unnecessary pains during expectancy. How important it is that the Mother-to-be should pass this period with calm nerves. The sweetest story ever told is the soothing of mother to her unborn child! Mother love and expectancy—be prepared to make this dream a reality. "Everyone was surprised how well I got along," writes Mrs. Alfred E. Ammon, Murcise, Ind. "My pains disappeared" after using Mother's Friend and I was sick only an hour and a half at baby's birth. "Mother's Friend is the formula of an eminent physician. It aids the muscles and tissues to expand more easily during the constant readjustment of expectancy, month after month, right up to childbirth. Plain oils only penetrate the skin. Mother's Friend penetrates deeper and soothes the broad muscles of the abdomen, back and hips; making them soft and pliable—thus really aiding Nature to do her part. Mother! Insist on Mother's Friend—the same as used by our mothers and grandmothers—don't wait—start using tonight—and meanwhile write Bradford Regulator Co., Dept. 33, Atlanta, Ga., for free valuable booklet "Motherhood and the Coming Baby" (sent in plain envelope). It tells how Mother's Friend can help you during expectancy and at childbirth. This booklet also tells you many other things you want to know. "Mother's Friend" is sold by all druggists—everywhere.

Corn Husk King

Here is W. E. Blain, of Wichita, Kans., "the corn husk king." He pays $130 a ton for corn husks and sells them for hot tamales wrappers. His only complaint is that he can't get enough corn husks to supply the demand.

"First Flight," by Lawrence Stallings and Maxwell Anderson, authors of "What Price Glory," carries more importance than the average new play.

"First Flight" is no such "knock out" as "What Price Glory." It hasn't the startling, dynamic power of the war piece. But, of course, the public mind could not react to this phase of that ironic, realistic war piece. For "First Flight" is an episode in the life of Andrew Jackson when the free state of Franklin was standing out against North Carolina.

"FEMININE BLUEBEARD," VERY DARING CRIMINAL, BREAKS JAIL

MRS. CLARA CARL
By NEA Service.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind.—Another chapter in a story of crime rivaling the famous "Bluebeard" murders in France has been written with the escape of a woman "fifer" from the Indiana women's prison.

Displaying the same clever criminal skill which police alleged caused her to murder two husbands and a father-in-law by slowly poisoning them to death, Mrs. Clara Carl escaped from the prison. So far no trace of her has been found. She is considered one of the most daring woman criminals in the country.

There is cool, calm and deliberate manner about Mrs. Carl. It was manifest when she was charged with the crimes three years ago, and again was shown when prison authorities after her escape found that for weeks she had been planning her break for liberty.

Feeding Chickens.
So cleverly did she outwit the prison authorities that she took all belongings with her. Mrs. Carl had deceived the warden into believing that she could be trusted and she was assigned to feeding the chickens in the prison yard.

Just at dusk one evening, she climbed up on the chicken house, then on to the prison wall and dropped over on the outside.

Since murder charges were first preferred against her she has been known as "the feminine Bluebeard."

Her life story is a curious mixture of crime, love, happiness and tragedy. She was the beautiful daughter of a farmer living near New Straitsville, Ohio.

When a young girl she eloped with Robert Gibson, young son of a New Straitsville florist. They had been childhood sweethearts.

Robert and Clara appeared deeply in love. They went to Cleveland, where Gibson was a teacher. His wife was employed on a newspaper. They conceived the idea of getting rich by going from town to town, writing and selling illustrated histories of various localities.

They went to Huntsville, Mo., where Gibson became suddenly ill. Doctors seemed unable to help him and he died within a short time.

A few months later Clara married Frank Carl at Seneca, Kan.

The couple went to New Philadelphia, Ind., and invited the husband's father, Alonzo Carl, $5, to live with them.

Again a mysterious malady afflicted Clara's husband. The father-in-law also became suddenly ill.

Frank Carl was a picture of health and was noted for his powerful physique.

But within a month his strength left him so fast that he became a living skeleton.

Bodies Exhumed.
When both the husband and father-in-law died terrible deaths, the county prosecutor was deluged with letters demanding an investigation. Exhumation of their bodies revealed enough arsenic to "kill a dozen men," according to the prosecutor.

The trial in 1922 resulted in a second degree murder conviction and a life sentence.

Apparently the motive of the "feminine Bluebeard" was to obtain the petty fortunes of her two husbands.

She secured only $3,000 after the death of her first husband and $2,000 from Carl's insurance, making her crimes all the more amazing.
