

TWO WOMEN IN BANK ROBBER BAND?

WALL STREET CONSPIRACY IS CHARGED

W. Jett Lauck Says Gigantic Plan Was to Cause Nationwide Shutdown.

By Associated Press

CHICAGO, April 19.—Charges that a "capital combine" headed by twelve New York financial institutions, inaugurated a policy of nationwide shutdowns was made today before the United States Railroad Labor board by W. Jett Lauck, economist for the unions, which are arguing for perpetuation of their national agreements with the railroads.

Mr. Lauck named about 100 men who through interlocking directorships, he claimed, centered in these dozen institutions control of the majority of the country's important railroads, and of basic raw materials. He charged that:

"This inter-related capital group deliberately deflated the farmers and then undertook to deflate labor. The railroads, he asserted, were the chosen vehicle for this labor drive. Layoffs of repair men on railroads in recent months, he charged, were made deliberately, while much of the repair work was let to outside companies who charged the roads about twice what the same repairs would have cost in their own shops. One purpose, he said, was to get this portion of railroad labor out of government jurisdiction by forcing it to work for the outside concerns. These concerns, he said, were largely under this same financial control as the roads.

The document that Mr. Lauck presented made about 125,000 words. It was prepared by the American Federation of Labor Bureau of Research, Railway Employee's Department, and entitled, "Human Standards and Railroad Policy."

He names names. The dozen New York financial institutions as named were:

- Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York
- First National Bank
- Equitable Trust Co.
- J. P. Morgan and Co.
- Guaranty Trust Co.
- Equitable Life Assurance Society of United States.
- American Surety Co.
- National Surety Co.
- Mechanics & Metals National Bank.
- New York City Bank.
- New York Trust Co.
- Chase National Bank.

Mr. Lauck charged that these banks and directors in 92 Class 1 railroads, and in 20 railroad equipment companies, that their directorships reached 24 coal railroads and coal companies, and that through non-banking directors this alleged capital combine was still further interlocked. In presenting the report Mr. Lauck gave this summary of its contents:

Josephus Daniels Tells Story of American Navy's Exploits In World War

THRILLING WORK OF U. S. NAVY IN DEFEATING U-BOAT TERROR.

ARTICLE VI.

The German U-boat almost got the world's nerve. This hidden foe of civilization gliding swiftly beneath the surface of the sea, and sending its missile of death and destruction without warning into the vitals of great ships, was the biggest element of terror in the war, the heaviest tax upon morale, until—

Suddenly the tables turned. News flashed through the naval and military organizations of the allied and associated powers that there was virtual mutiny in the German fleet. German sailors were refusing to obey the orders of their commanding officers. They were lying in harbor because they declined to take them out to the hunting grounds in the ocean lanes and channels of transport.

Somewhat we had got the nerve of Germany. Then we knew the end was near. The break in the morale of the great navy of imperial Germany has no precedent in military history—unless it be found in the collapse of Russia. But Russia's vast horde, when the crash came, was an undisciplined mob compared with the organized, highly-trained

FISHING STORY!

BRECKENRIDGE, April 19.—There is a mystery well in the north end, near South Bend, according to a report reaching here. It is said that the tools were dropped when drilling at 3,000 feet and in fishing for them 5,000 feet of cable was lowered and no bottom found. Eight thousand feet of cable is being rigged up to be used today.

The well is making considerable gas.

C. OF C. CALLS PUBLIC MEETING ON BANK PLAN

Judge Starnes Will Explain His Proposition to All Citizens.

The First National Bank, as a going institution, is a thing of the past. In its stead there is being organized another bank, if the plan of C. R. Starnes goes through. It is vital to the prosperity of all business interests of one city that the assets of this bank become liquid as soon as possible, rather than wait the long drawn out administration of a receiver, covering a period of perhaps years.

The Chamber of Commerce is calling a meeting of its members, of all progressive citizens and the depositors of the bank at the Majestic Theatre, Thursday morning, April 21, at 10:30 o'clock. Judge Starnes will be present and go over the situation. Everyone is urged to be there and ask him regarding the plans of reorganization.

This meeting is being called at this time because it now looks as though the Starnes plan will be abandoned unless quick action is taken.

J. E. T. PETERS, Mgr. C. of C.

STARNES HERE ALL WEEK. Judge C. R. Starnes will be at the First National Bank all this week, he announces. He makes this extended stay in order to give depositors an opportunity to get in personal touch with him.

Many depositors, while inclined to sign the agreement necessary for reopening the bank, have waited to see the judge, it is said. The office force however, is kept busy fixing up the papers for those who agree with the plan and the report of the committee.

Matters will be all right, Judge Starnes said this morning, if the depositors would only come in faster. He cannot hold this proposition open indefinitely, he says, as each day makes the task that more difficult. For that reason, the consent of the depositors must be obtained by next Wednesday night if the bank is to be reopened under his plan and by himself and associates.

BUSINESS MEN BASEBALLERS' UNIES BOUGHT

Meet Again Wednesday Night; City League Pot Begins to Boil.

Suits will be ordered immediately for the Business Men's baseball team. The order will be turned in by Manager L. T. Summers today. They will be light gray with a green stripe, with the letters "R. B. M." on the sleeves. This pattern was one of a number brought back from Dallas by Mr. Summers and was the unanimous choice of four or five men.

While the team has not been selected, Mr. Summers is taking a chance with his own pocketbook under the belief that it will be. He bases this belief upon the practice last Sunday morning, when thirty or forty men turned out despite the cold. There were enough for two lineups and a number had to be left out.

There will be another meeting Wednesday night at the Chamber of Commerce, at which all men who aspire to a place on the team are asked to be present, and also representatives of any organizations anxious to get in on a city league.

The business men favor a city league, representing either the larger companies or the different lines of industry here, such as the Producers, Shoppers, Business Men. The oil companies also want such an organization, it would appear, and the Sun and Gulf companies already have sent representatives to talk with Mr. Summers.

Whether the city league is formed or not, the Business Men's club propose to go right ahead. Practice probably will be held on three afternoons each week, and everyone is urged to come out who can get away from business.

Ex-Kaiserin Accorded Honors In Death Denied During Life

BY CARL D. GROAT, United Press Correspondent.

POTSDAM, April 19.—The exiled Empress Augusta Victoria was buried here today amid honors denied her while living.

Never a popular figure with the German masses, the former kaiserin was buried as a heroine, with thousands of persons massing back of police lines to doff their hats and bow, as the casket passed through the mausoleum in which it was to be laid.

A special train from Berlin brought hundreds of mourners into the royal preserve. Mingling in the crowds were brilliantly uniformed officers of the old regime. The spectators brought hundreds of wreaths.

General Von Hindenburg in full uniform was prominent in the services. He was accompanied by Ludendorff and Mackensen. General Von Falkenhayne lead a regiment of hussars, the only complete military organization in the procession. The general carried the crown of the ex-empress.

General Von Falkenhayne astride a black horse, sabre and saddle hung with crepe, bore a sable cushion on which gleamed the royal diadem. The former kaiserin's sons followed the knights. Eitel Frederick, Adelbert and August Wilhelm were in full uniform. The former crown princess, whose husband was left in Holland to mourn with his exiled father, came next in an automobile.

Knights of the Black Eagle next marched in silent ranks. After them came Kaiserin's suite, seventy-two princesses of the old regime court, officials and honorary organizations.

NOT ON CARDS TO SLICE TEXAS, NEFF ASSERTS

By United Press

CORPUS CHRISTI, April 19.—Texas was never destined to be divided into sections, according to an address by Governor Neff here last night at a celebration of his signing of the bill making Corpus Christi a deep-water port and giving the city protection against gulf storm waters.

"The day is not far distant when ships loading at Texas ports will take on cargo from West Texas, wheat from North Texas, lumber from East Texas, rice from South Texas, oil from Central Texas and cotton from all Texas," said Governor Neff.

MAYOR SAYS HE HASN'T PERFORMED 'OFFICIALLY'

Mayor John M. Gholson was in charge of affairs at the city offices this morning, but up to noon had not been called on to perform any official duties. The new commission holds its first meeting this afternoon at 4 o'clock and several decisions probably will be made. Chief of these will be the appointment of new employees or confirmation of present department heads, it is expected.

MAN SHOT AT CISCO REPORTED NEAR DEATH

EASTLAND, April 19.—Word has been received here that Bob Hickman, who was shot at Cisco at the time Lawrence Adams was killed in a cafe there, two or three weeks ago, is very low in a Fort Worth hospital and is not expected to live. Mack Harris, a former Cisco policeman, was charged with killing Adams.

EASTLAND FARMER IS KILLED BY STALK-CUTTER

EASTLAND, April 19.—J. A. Thompson, well-known and well-to-do farmer of the German neighborhood, was instantly killed yesterday when his team hitched to a stalk cutter ran away, throwing him in front of the machine and mangling him so badly as to result in his death.

CHALK TALKER WANTED? LAUNDRY, RESIDENCE BURN IN BRECKENRIDGE

Is there a "chalk talker" in Ranger? You know, one of these fellows who calmly twirls a piece of crayon and draws pictures illustrating the subject upon which he or someone else is talking. If so, there is a party in Ranger who would like to obtain his services. The mission is entirely legal and the only reason for secrecy is that the planned affair may go over with due and proper surprise.

WOMAN DROWNS SELF

NEW YORK, April 19.—The body of a woman found in the East river last night was identified today as that of Mrs. Jessie Hardy Stubbs Mackaye, well known suffrage worker.

NEFF'S SIGNING OF PURE ADVERTISING BILL APPROVED

GALVESTON, April 18.—Governor Neff's signature to the "pure advertising bill," which prohibits untrue, deceptive or misleading assertions in any advertisement relating to merchandise, securities or other things, has evoked favorable comment of leading retailers and wholesalers of Galveston. According to business men this measure will automatically act as a deterrent to high prices.

Probing of Case Shows One Said to Be From Ranger

Man Arrested Here, Identified as Third Member in Frankell Holdup, Declares Slack and Woman in Jail at Breckenridge Not Man and Wife.

Special to the Times.

BRECKENRIDGE, April 19.—Although strenuously protesting his innocence of the charge, A. Leach, arrested in Ranger by Officers Daniels and Wallace yesterday in connection with the robbery of the Hamon bank at Frankell Saturday afternoon, has been positively identified as one of the two men who took $1,500 from him by Roy A. Trower, cashier of the bank. It was said here today. This identification by Mr. Trower, who identified Monday the man giving his name as Slack as one of the hijackers, completes the identification of the two men who entered the bank and of the woman who drove the robbers' automobile.

Another Woman. The woman, who said Monday she is Slack's wife, confessed to the sheriff's department here that she and the man held with her were members of the bandit gang. Slack and the woman were indicted by the grand jury today and are held in bond of $5,000 each.

Leach says he was not implicated in the actual theft of the bank, although he acknowledges being a "friend" of the pair, whom he says are not man and wife, but cousins. He says it was first planned to rob the bank at Necessity, but that the members of the band evidently got cold feet. The alleged confessions of the Slack pair are also at variance.

Leach will be arraigned before the grand jury today. Another Woman. Another woman, who is said to be Slack's actual wife, was brought before the grand jury today by Sheriff Head. She had been with her sister in Ranger and is said to own the Ford car which the bandits used. It also is reported that she came from Oklahoma with the trio, but had no connection with the plot. However, officials believe she knows something concerning it.

Leach says he was not implicated in the actual theft of the bank, although he acknowledges being a "friend" of the pair, whom he says are not man and wife, but cousins. He says it was first planned to rob the bank at Necessity, but that the members of the band evidently got cold feet. The alleged confessions of the Slack pair are also at variance.

HARDING MAKES NEW PLEDGES OF FRIENDSHIP

Cites as Example of Americanism Republics Dwelling Together in Unity.

NEW YORK, April 19.—On his first visit to New York since his election and on the occasion of the unveiling of the statue of Simon Bolivar, President Harding today pledged renewed bonds of friendship among American republics with a re-assertion to peace and liberty as an example to be followed in the western hemisphere, the old world example of a prosperous family of states living together in peace on the might will find inspiration and reconstruction of its industry and politics along the lines of progress and amity. He said the American republics could also contribute in a material sense to that reconstruction by giving their strength and resources to aid their stricken sisters across the sea.

BALLOTS MAILED TO MEMBERS FOR C. C. ELECTION

Last night eight people worked in the Chamber of Commerce offices until 10 o'clock getting the primary ballot in the mails. The lists were kept off the press until the last minute to allow changes in assignees and in endeavoring to get a correct check.

The chamber admits that with every care taken, there must have been some mistakes made in initials, a name or two may have been omitted from the roster or the letter mailed a member get lost, but it wants every member to vote.

Should a mistake of any kind have been made in any individual's case, Manager Peters would very much appreciate his being told of it and it will be a real pleasure to adjust it, he says.

It is urged that no member fail to vote, because this primary election will largely determine the men who will have charge of the affairs of the Chamber of Commerce. A majority of the board is to be elected. To get votes counted, the official ballot and return envelope must be used. The ballot must be in by 6 p. m., Thursday, April 21, when the election committee will begin counting. Every member is a candidate on the first ballot.

The ballot for the final election will be mailed on the 22nd.

MR. SWANK'S FRIEND READS RANGER TIMES

Advertising at least informs. There is no mystery about the clothing found in the pasture south of town last week and brought to Justice McFater's office. A letter from C. H. Swank to a friend here clears up the matter as follows:

"Friend James: say, did you see that piece in the Times where they had found those old clothes I had thrown away on Friday's paper?" "For goodness sake go see those people and ease their minds on that subject. Go see that justice of the peace or chief of police and explain to them that they were discarded clothes. Your friend, 'C. H. SWANK.'"

JACK ELKINS, SLAYER OF W. E. COX RELEASED

EASTLAND, April 19.—Jack Elkins, charged with the killing of his father-in-law, W. E. Cox, here Sunday night, was released yesterday afternoon on bond in the sum of $5,000, which was according to agreement by opposing counsel.

Cox's body was shipped to Childress, accompanied by members of the family, where it will be buried. Services were held in Eastland over the body by the Odd Fellows' lodge, of which Mr. Cox was a member.

"The evidence shows there is a capital combine consisting of the major banks, the railroads and the industries controlling basic materials, and that this combine has and exercises a power over the economic destiny of the United States. It shows that within the identical capitalist group lies the power to adjust or misadjust relative prices in a manner that will stimulate or suppress industrial activity. It points out that this focal capitalist group has deliberately maintained high prices of steel, coal, cement and other basic materials and that the railroads, financed by the same interests, have refused to place the orders for plant maintenance, or even the orders necessary to prevent plant and equipment deterioration.

"The exhibit shows that the greater factors in American industry, the railway equipment producers, the railway repair works, the steel interests, the coal, cement and other basic material producers—all are closely bound together by intercapital relations and interlocking directorates, coming to focus in the house of Morgan.

Misuse of Power.
 "The Railway Employees make no issue as to the propriety of a centralized system of economic control. The point of the exhibit is its challenge of the unconscionable misuse which the great combine has made of its power. The employees call attention to the national responsibility which the possession of such power entails and note that this responsibility in the case of the railway industry has been recognized and written into the federal laws of the United States, and the employees specifically point out that this responsibility is being unscrupulously evaded.

Railroads the Goat.
 "The railroads are pleading poverty. The banks are making unprecedented dividends and the same applies to steel, coal, railway equipment and similarly situated concerns. The capital combine, in preparing to precipitate unemployment, adopted the policy that the railroads 'should do it first.' Railway improvement programs were deferred; railway maintenance was reduced below minimum legal requirement.

"The report brings into clear relief the fact that there is no foundation for opinion which the employers' publicity machinery would popularize that the railways and the other great industries are the victims of some misfortune of the times.

"The industrial paralysis which has staggered America is 'capital on strike against society.' And capital, nationally and internationally organized and concentrated, takes the stand that the 'capital strike' shall go on until labor comes to its knees and consents to sweeping reductions of wages, and also consents to surrender its right to bargain collectively on a scale co-extensive with the organization of the employees."

Taking up first the lay off charges the report presented by Mr. Lauck said that the railroad shop layoffs, incomplete, in the past nine months were more than 103,000.

A letter from Raton, New Mexico, of March 11, last, charged that on the Santa Fe, in January, after six machinists had been laid off, the remaining machinists were worked overtime 1,216 hours in that month.

Examples of what the report called "the lay-off policy," were instanced from Indianapolis, Los Angeles, Nashville, Oswego, N. Y., Horton, Kan., Du Bois, Pa., and Ottumwa, Ia.

A report from Oswego, N. Y. charged that "in March, 1919 the shop here was full of steel flat cars (that was under government control) and the foreman only had about twenty-four men cutting them down. The rest of the men were walking about doing nothing at all and drawing their pay, but there was no lay off then. The government was paying for it, and not the N. Y. C. Now we have all kinds of work and we are laid off."

It was charged that in January at Winston-Salem, a foreman on the Norfolk and Western was caught pulling tags off bad order cars, while at Bluefield on the same line, foremen were alleged to have orders not to have defective equipment repaired.

Other Figures.
 Figures were presented which Mr. Lauck said showed that the total excess cost of equipment repairs made under contract by outside concerns has been sufficient to have paid all the shop employees laid off throughout the country for full time work. It was charged that the average price charged by Baldwin Locomotive Works was approximately four times the cost of similar work done in railroad shops. This was for a specific list of repair jobs done apparently in 1920. The report here, however, estimated that if all the locomotive repair work in the country were done by outside concerns the cost of the railroads would be about doubled. It gave the present national locomotive repair bill as a little more than $500,000,000. It charged that many large repair concerns added 90 to 125 per cent of the labor costs for overhead. The concerns adding the high overhead were alleged to belong to "the railroad combine," through interlocking directors.

The report alleged that the New York Central paid the Merchants' Dispatch and Transportation company of Rochester, N. Y., an average of $137 for repairs for labor per car which actually cost the Merchants' company $61 a car in November, 1910. Tables of figures were presented giving alleged repair jobs car by car. This repair company, the report said, was "distinctly a New York Central concern," adding that President Smith of the New York Central was until recently president of this company, when he resigned in favor of his son.

Bank Directorships.
 In detailing the composition of the alleged banking combine, in control of the railroads, the report said that the Vanderbilt directorships were not included. It said that among the twelve banks, the Guaranty Trust company held the largest number of railroad directorships with fifty, while the National City bank had forty-eight.

The report covered again the statements made earlier in the present hearing by Mr. B. M. Jewell, for the employees, that twenty-two well known railroad men held 193 railroad directorships, in 1920, on ninety-nine class one roads, covering 82 per cent of the country's best transportation. Naming these men again, the report said that a number of them "belong to the inner banking circle centering around the House of Morgan and the National City bank."

Basic raw materials were divided by the report into two classes, agricultural products and mineral products.

The effect of the fall of the agricultural class, the report asserted, had been to spread loss among farmers and to afford excuse for sharp reduction in wages, and finally to cause a temporary manufacturing depression. If mineral raw materials had fallen, the report declared, industry would have been stimulated. It declared that the "financial combine" controlled the production of mineral raw materials. Steel, cement and coal were specifically mentioned, as among the mineral materials. The report charged that "the combine is holding up the prices of steel and other railway supplies with a view of accentuating the depression and then persuading the public that the railroads cannot agree with the equipment companies over prices."

HARDING PROMISES WOMEN DISARMAMENT PLANS

WASHINGTON, April 19.—Definite steps toward disarmament were promised by President Harding today, according to members of the Women's peace committee which called at the White House.

These steps cannot be taken, Harding is said to have explained, until a state of peace exists.

Mary Jane and the Sunday School Picnic

ONE day in July the Sunday School gave a picnic in the woods. Everybody brought a big basket full of good things to eat, spread them all out on the table cloths on the ground. There was ham and pickles and hard boiled eggs and sandwiches and cake.

But what everybody liked best of all was a big can of Mary Jane Syrup that Mary's mother brought. Everybody said, "Please pass me some Mary Jane Syrup"—until there wasn't a single bit left in the can.

Then they sang songs and played games and told stories until Mr.

Google-Eye—the Owl, came around and said, "Say, don't you folks know enough to go home when it's getting dark? You won't get any supper if you don't hurry up."

And everybody went home. But they all said they never did have so much fun, nor so many de-li-cious things to eat before. And they never would be without Mary Jane Syrup in the house again—for waffles, pancakes, and to make most delicious Mary Jane taffy everybody was talking about.

is a lead pipe cinch that there are not five outfielders in the league, let alone fifteen, who can play along with him.

What to do about the shortstop job is still giving Sled some anxiety, although he still has Harding to fall back on, and Hamilton, who will report in May, as another alternative.

While it is nice to win the first few games, it is not so vital as forming an organization that will go the route, in Allen's opinion.

Sewell, the lanky hurler from Oklahoma, has been re-signed. Facing the possibility that Tommy Harding might replace Hale, Sled had to look around for his third rookie in case Mathis loses out at first.

SEEING IS BELIEVING. A trip out the Caddo road offers one an amazing variety of travel.

Mostly had, some worse. From chuck lold to chuck hole, the alleged highway wends its way, with occasional excursions into the brush, while one scours around stretches that have become impassable.

Wending its way along near this old road is the new Caddo road, with the dump thrown up virtually all the way, and one small stretch spread with stone.

This is to the county line. Then comes a surprise. Something has happened. That can be told a quarter of a mile away.

But comparatively speaking, it is an autoists' paradise. There now is more than a mile of road on which one can travel in excess of twenty-five miles an hour.

It will convince all citizens that Ranger must have roads, by one means or another. It will convince them that it is not wise to longer stay marooned from the rest of the world, and that is what the present state of the highways means.

And when Ranger is convinced, it will shake off the apathy as to this condition which exists at present, and it will go out and get them, by one means or another.

THE WOMAN WHO SAW

Here's a brand new story of how the down-trodden maid servant is coming into her own these days and of a surprising thing that has happened in an uptown boarding house.

The Woman was invited to visit a friend in the house the other day, and although she loved the friend she hated to go. But such a change. All was peace and quiet in the dining room.

A Domestic Drama. Just what was the domestic situation? What would be a plausible analysis of a drama the Woman saw enacted in a monkey cage at the zoo?

Seven male monkeys were taking active if not very systematic exercise on their trapezes. An eighth male brooded alone. Suddenly he dived across the cage, splendidly cuffed the baby from the mother's arms and scooted away.

Although both of them were modestly dressed, the slender mother and dour-checked father seemed to suggest country breezes, wide spaces, old-fashioned yards with picket fences, and with the breath of the first real day of spring, a yearning for just those very things assailed the Woman, and she leaned forward on the suburban train, deliberately trying to find out something about the charming pair of travelers.

TINKER BOB STORIES

By CARLYSLE H. HOLCOMB. DR. COON ARRIVES.

"O King, O King, do help me quickly, or I will die." This was the cry of Silky the Monkey after he tried to hug Chief Porky.

He did the same to Dr. Coon who was so frightened he didn't know what to do.

Coon, "and I'll soon have another one out. You must be careful or they will go in farther and I'll never get them out."

Now Silky was suffering about all he could stand. He screamed and screamed as the thorn quills, but by and by they were out and Silky was again so glad to think he was still alive that he threw his arms about the King's neck and hugged him tight and that isn't all.

With such an introduction Silky would be ready for the many good times that were ahead of him in the Forest with the King.

What Defeated the Submarines. If the fighting of the submarine menace had been left to patrol by the surface craft of the allied and associated powers there might have been another finish to the war than that which gave democracy its victory.

It was Admiral Joseph Strauss, head of the bureau of ordnance, who a few months after I had become secretary of the navy, sought an appointment with me to discuss the question of mines.

He said: "We have not, in our navy, given enough attention to mines. If we were to be engaged in a war one of the matters of first importance would be the mining of the approaches to our rivers and harbors to prevent enemy ships.

They were qualified as experts in this department of naval warfare. It was a great satisfaction to me then to reflect that, long before there had been a fleet of war-cloud as big as a man's hand in the sky, I had approved this particular work of research and taken intense interest in its developments.

So immediately upon our entrance into the war—April, 1917—the navy department of the United States, through its bureau of ordnance, made the suggestion that a mine barrage be laid across the North sea from the Orkneys to Norway.

There were doubters among our home strategists, but there were more who believed it possible and who were willing to make the effort.

Two great civilian leaders—Woodrow Wilson and Lloyd George—were convinced that only by some bold, unprecedented offensive could civilization be saved from the U-boat. Either the protected ports of the submarines could be closed, or the sea lanes themselves through which they moved the high seas must be blocked.

Joseph Daniels Tells Story of American Navy's Exploits in World War

They spoke of colliding with mines, hidden below the surface of the sea, implements of destruction whose presence could not be guessed. The U-boat ran into them as a man might run into a low-stretched wire across his path on a dark night.

Mine Barrage of 230 Miles. Across the North sea, from Norway almost to the Orkneys, there had been stretched a mine barrage 230 miles in length.

It was a new factor in the war, a surprise for Von Tirpitz. A Moloch of the sea, with big jaws, powerful enough to devour the biggest submarine, had become the unseen and unknowable terror, and the U-boat menace dwindled and disappeared before it.

Destroyer a Holy Terror. We had been fighting the U-boats with destroyers—so had the British and so had the French. The destroyer was a holy terror to the submarine, but the submarines were quite as hard a problem for the destroyer.

What Defeated the Submarines. If the fighting of the submarine menace had been left to patrol by the surface craft of the allied and associated powers there might have been another finish to the war than that which gave democracy its victory.

Future of Mine Barrages. The day may come when it will be possible to sow the seas with so many explosives, timed to go off at a given moment, that sea fighting will be seen only on the open oceans—provided the fighting craft can reach them.

Even in its incompleteness it served its purpose. It precipitated the mutiny of the German navy, which was a main factor in bringing about the internal collapse of kaiserdom.

Two great civilian leaders—Woodrow Wilson and Lloyd George—were convinced that only by some bold, unprecedented offensive could civilization be saved from the U-boat.

George expressed his belief that some form of barrage would prove the most effective offensive against the U-boat, but he did not direct the British admiralty to adopt the proposal.

Admiral Earle, convinced by his experiments that the thing could be done, overcame any doubts his colleagues might have entertained, and the general board, the chief of operations and the commander-in-chief of the fleet, joined with him in urging and pleading that an effort be made to lay the barrage.

Great Work Expected. And so at last in the fall of 1917 opposition and prejudice gave way. Admiral Earle and his associates had convinced the doubters in our own navy and rejoiced that their plan was to be put into effect.

The British admiralty officially credits the barrage with the destruction or crippling of twenty-three U-boats. According to Admiral Earle, chief of the bureau of ordnance, "It has been established that six submarines were lost in the barrage and three more so badly damaged that they never again put to sea."

Even in its incompleteness it served its purpose. It precipitated the mutiny of the German navy, which was a main factor in bringing about the internal collapse of kaiserdom.

NEGRO 'SPECIALIST' CAUGHT WHILE BURGLARIZING HOUSE

NEW YORK, April 19.—This is an era of specialization.

George Clark, twenty-three, a six-foot Negro burglar, specialized on West 125th street. Specialists from the West 123d street police station caught their fellow-specialist this morning at 3 o'clock.

For three weeks the stores and apartments of West 125th street have been catching it. One to six burglaries, sometimes all in one block, were reported daily.

Detectives Thomas Donohue and Edward Boyle were passing the W. L. Douglas shoe shop at 252 West 125th street early this morning when a brief flicker as of a flashlight came from the store.

He attempted to open the safe in the Walkover shoe shop at 252 West 125th street, Clark told the police, and failed. Not discouraged, he tunneled through the thin wall into the Waters Piano company store next door at 254, and went to work on their safe.

EMMA GOLDMAN DOESN'T WANT TO COME BACK

Denies Asking Vanderlip's Aid, Ridicules Clare Sheridan and H. G. Wells.

NEW YORK, April 19.—Vehemently denying the report that Washington E. Vanderlip had been asked by her to use his influence in the United States to allow her return to America, Emma Goldman, deported anarchist, now in Soviet Russia, likewise assails the views of Mrs. Clare Sheridan, British sculptress; R. G. Wells, British novelist, and other persons who have given reports concerning visits to Russia.

Miss Goldman's criticisms are concerned in a letter to her niece, Stella Comyn, made public here.

Miss Goldman says in part: "In the midst of this gigantic reconstruction there are persons who take it upon themselves to render a verdict when they have only been in the country a few months or weeks. Wells was here fourteen days, Mrs. Sheridan a few weeks longer. Wonderful people."

"What does the revolution signify to these gentry? Mrs. Sheridan's blood boils when she takes a seat in a theatre box in which there are Egyptians and Hindus. I hope the blood of the Hindus and Egyptians boil when they sit next to such English snobs whose class has spilled so much blood of the natives in India, Egypt and Ireland."

"I do not agree that Mrs. Sheridan writes interestingly and humanly. The form is not important; it is the substance which is silly and superficial. Her description of Balabanova is laughable. Balabanova is one of the most self-sacrificing women of Russia."

"The revolution is not for her symbolized by the few personalities selected for description. I am writing these lines in the house in which Balabanova lives. Her spirit excites me despite the fact that politically we are strongly at odds."

"I will have to hurry since I have just received a telephone call to go as quickly as possible to Moscow and to attend the nursing of our dear Peter Kropotkin. He gave instructions to notify me, and I will journey tonight. It is said he is very weak; I hope I will not arrive too late."

"The Vanderlip story is too ridiculous. I never saw him, and never made the slightest effort to see him and how could such a crazy plan ever come into my head?"

"You seem to think that I am suffering great need and hard conditions. That is not so bad, but if I were the only sufferer I would not consider it worth mentioning. How could I complain when the Russian people that have frozen and starved for three years still keep up their courage? It is this time of the breaking up of old forms and the severe battle for new things which is bringing up spirit and feeling of the deepest kind."

"Our material misery is not by any means so great; we have had it much better than the average worker. When we are in Petrograd or Moscow we live in the houses where the delegations are housed and there one does not hunger by any means. All the stories about the complaints and grievances that I have been quoted as giving vent to are absolute nonsense."

A. & M. CADETS PAID $11,768.10 BY GOVERNMENT

COLLEGE STATION, Texas, April 19.—A total of $11,768.10 was paid by Uncle Sam to 253 cadets of the advanced course of the Reserve Officers Training Corps at the A. & M. College of Texas on April 15.

The amount represents commutations for rations at the rate of 53 cents a day during January, February and March, each cadet receiving a check for $47.70, which is approximately half the cost of his subsistence at the college during that quarterly period.

The advanced course of the R. O. T. C. comes in the junior and senior years. At the time of graduation, seniors receive commutation for the period of their service from April 1 and are then demobilized from the corps. Juniors will also be paid for the period from April 1 to graduation day, but when they return to school the following September will receive commutation at the same rate for the summer months. If they attend a summer camp, which begins in June and lasts for six weeks, they receive at the time of attendance all traveling expenses to and from camp, pay of one dollar a day, and commutation for rations. Those who attend camp will then receive on Sept. 1 the 53 cents per diem commutation only for the period during which they were not in camp.

CAR IN WHICH GERMANS SIGNED ARMISTICE WILL BE PRESERVED

PARIS, April 19.—The railway carriage in which the German representatives signed the armistice is, with Marshal Foch's consent, to be given a place of honor on the terrace of the Invalides, besides the trophies of the Crimean war.

It was originally intended to present the historic relic to the Louvre museum, but it has been decided that in view of its military significance, it should be exhibited at the Invalides.

On Nov. 20, 1920, the United States army comprised 297,671 officers and men.

WOULD CHANGE SOUTH DAKOTA TO "ROOSEVELT"

Mitchell Chamber of Commerce Will Wage Finish Campaign.

SIoux FALLS, S. D., April 19.—A campaign recently has been inaugurated by the chamber of commerce of Mitchell, S. D., to have the name of South Dakota changed to Roosevelt. A similar movement, started several years ago received only little public support and consequently was dropped.

This time, however, officers of the Mitchell chamber of commerce claim they will wage the campaign until it is brought to an issue. The scheme to divorce any possible relation between North and South Dakota has brought forth considerable comment in the editorial columns of the state's newspapers. Opinion is divided, but the majority of the editors disapproved the plan, it is believed. The Mitchell Evening Republican, backing up the campaign of its Chamber of Commerce, says editorially:

"By all means, the name should be changed to that of Roosevelt. * * * The one great reason why we should get a new name for our state is that, because of circumstances for which neither state is responsible, South Dakota, must, so long as so named, be regarded as a sort of extension of North Dakota."

"The transcendent lines run through North Dakota, with one new one skirting the border between the two states. Travelers back and forth across the continent go either through Nebraska or North Dakota. They never see South Dakota. They take it for granted, therefore, that this is exactly the same kind of a state as North Dakota. When they go back home, they draw a picture of the Dakotas, entirely from a North Dakota color. If there is a terrific blizzard in North Dakota—we have very few in this state—the papers the country over refer to it as a Dakota blizzard. When crops are burned out of western North Dakota, papers everywhere announce that the Dakotas are ruined once more. When thirty banks fail in North Dakota, papers refer to it as happening in Dakota, or in a number of cases, in South Dakota, where there have been only three state bank failures in five years."

"* * * Now we have no quarrel with our sister state to the north, but we do say that we are entitled to a reversion of our own. North Dakota is a one-crop state. South Dakota is quite as much engaged in diversified farming as Iowa."

"* * * There is absolutely no way by which this state could get fair publicity to which it is entitled, as by changing its name to that of the popular President whose years of his early manhood in Dakota territory."

The Alexandria Herald, opposing the plan, said editorially: "The proposed name is good, and would carry nothing but dignity and honor, but it seems that the old name of South Dakota should not be cast aside in favor of a new name. South Dakota is good enough for the Herald, and unless there is a general sentiment in favor of the changing of the name, this writer favors letting well enough alone."

The Vermilion Republican said in its editorial column:

"We are willing to take our chances for the good old name of South Dakota is good enough for us for a while yet, at least."

COMPANY PLANNING EXCURSIONS TO MEXICO

EL PASO, April 19.—M. O. Cart, vice president of a large development company, incorporated at $35,000,000, said his company, with offices in Des Moines, El Paso and Chihuahua City, has made arrangements to run a number of excursions, one every thirty or sixty days, for several months, from the northwestern states into Mexico. Special coaches will carry homeseekers, investors and colonists, he said.

The government, he said, has promised to aid him in getting men into Mexico, that republic being anxious to obtain farmers and dairymen to settle there. After a trip through the northwestern and midwestern states, Mr. Cart said the people in those sections were interested in Mexico and seemed anxious to settle there for business reasons, seeing an opportunity for development there.

BROKER HAS TWO WIVES LIVING UNDER SAME ROOF

Mrs. Esther T. Andrews

Herbert Thornton Andrews

No Russian realist could have penned a novel to encompass the strange domestic situation in the home of Herbert Thornton Andrews, New York stock broker, as revealed by his first wife, Maud Augusta Hayes Andrews, otherwise known as Wife No. 1.

Esther Marie Tatnall Andrews is Wife No. 2. The two wives lived together with Andrews, No. 1 occupying the chair to her master's right and Wife No. 2 accepted the chair to the left.

Andrews came home to Wife No. 1 one night about ten weeks ago and calmly placing his suitcase on the floor and introducing his first wife to the beautiful blonde who accompanied him, said: "Mother, Esther and I have been married in Greenwich, Conn. Here is the certificate. Esther is going to live here with me as my wife. You are welcome to remain if you wish."

With this laconic statement, the matter rested for two months. Wife No. 1, mother of two sons, of whom Andrews seems justly proud, abided her peace for the sake of her sons. But now she has consulted her attorney and the amazing story has leaked out. Andrews claims he still respects his first wife, but maintains that he can prove he is not a bigamist.

The matrimonial jigsaw lasted peacefully for ten weeks, and now breaks with a calmness adding awe to marvel.

SLAVES STILL ARE BARTERED IN MOROCCO

MELLILLA, Morocco, April 19.—

Slavery and trading in slaves still flourishes in the unconquered districts of both the French and Spanish shores of Morocco. There have been stories that some of the slaves are white people but these reports are not borne out by the inquiry.

Threats by the turbulent Moors of the Rif coast to sell into slavery a Spanish sailor, Francisco Sallud, unless his father with whom he had been wrecked and captured paid a ransom of 4,000 pesetas, led The Associated Press correspondent to make an inquiry into the question of the existence of white people enslaved in northern Africa.

The result of his inquiries shows that of recent years instances of white people being sold into slavery have been very rare, but there are slave markets for the sale and purchase of colored people in the districts to which French or Spanish rule have not yet reached. The traffic varies according to the economic situation of the tribesmen who, when they are in funds, do not hesitate to give high prices for slaves to be used as servants. Slaves so purchased become personal property of the family into which they are bought and are disposed of by testament when the proprietor dies.

However, it is customary for the purchaser to make a formal agreement before a competent legal authority to grant his slave liberty on his master's death, when the heirs have to give up all claim and at the same time to allow the liberated slaves to live on and cultivate any portion of his dead masters' land which may have been left to him as one of the family.

A slave-owner may give his slave a wife from among the other slaves bought in the same way and the children of these marriages become slaves of the same owner unless he has signed the agreement already mentioned in connection with their parents.

The prices paid for slaves varies considerably. Generally the age is the chief consideration but, girl slaves, beauty calls the highest price. Seven hundred and fifty pesetas—about $100 at the present rate of exchange—is about the maximum figure ever paid and this only in the case of a very young and handsome girl. Should the human merchandise have passed the age of 35 or 40, the price paid is round about 400 pesetas, never more.

All purchases are made conditionally on the slaves proving satisfactory. A close examination is made of the slave's mouth to see whether he or she possesses a complete set of teeth. Proofs are required that the slave is neither weak sighted nor deaf and dumb, while limbs are tested and muscles tried and every part of the body subjected to minute inspection in order to discover physical defects.

For women slaves, three day's trial of their domestic aptitudes is demanded before the purchase is completed. Such are the conditions of the slave trade in Morocco at the present day, and this is the fate from which Francisco Sallud escaped, probably by the payment of part of the ransom demanded, although exact information as to the transaction is unavailable.

DALLAS MAN HELD IN INDIANAPOLIS FOR POSTOFFICE ROBBERY

INDIANAPOLIS, April 19.—

Officers from Dallas were expected to arrive here today to claim Charles E. Gaines, alias Perry Schneider, who was arrested in the postoffice here yesterday as one of three men who held up two mail clerks in Dallas, Jan. 14, fatally shooting one and wounding another. A letter from Schneider's wife led to his arrest.

Gaines, according to the officers, admitted he is wanted in Dallas for the holdup and shooting, but declared he was not guilty of either.

MOVE FOR NEW STATE FROM PARTS OF IDAHO AND WASHINGTON IS OLD

SPOKANE, Wash., April 19.—

Agitation for formation of a new state from counties of northern Idaho and eastern Washington, to be carried on for the next two years in the territory affected by a commission of Idaho citizens under authority of the last Idaho legislature, has existed in one form or another for more than half a century.

As early as January, 1861, a memorial to congress, asking for the creation of the "territory of Walla Walla" from parts of the territory east of the Cascade mountains, was brought up in the Washington territorial legislature, but was lost. Two years later the legislature, in compliance with petitions signed by the people considered a bill to submit to the voters a constitution for the proposed new state of Idaho. After having inserted "Washington" for "Idaho" in the bill, however, the legislature killed the measure.

This was followed by the creation by congress of Idaho territory, giving Washington territory the present eastern boundary of the state. Agitation for separation of the northern counties of Idaho from the rest of the state was soon precipitated within the territorial legislature, when the territory located the capital, which had been at Lewiston, in the northern part, at Boise, in the southern section, and this had been continued intermittently to the present time.

"Panhandle" Plan. Meanwhile, in the Washington territorial legislature, the agitation flared up on occasion. In 1868, the legislature adopted a memorial to congress which asked that the "Panhandle" of Idaho, created by the formation of the territory of Montana, be returned to Washington. This memorial recited the geographical barriers between the northern part of Idaho and the capital, and declared that "the commercial, social and political interests of the people of said northern portion of Idaho are identical with those of the people of Washington territory."

This argument is, in the main, the same as that advanced at the present time by advocates of the formation of a new state.

Similar memorials were adopted by the Washington legislature in succeeding years, and in 1875 it submitted to the people a proposal for statehood. This was approved, and in the constitutional convention which met three years later two representatives of northern Idaho. Although the constitution was adopted by the people at the next election, congress refused to create the new state.

Came Close in 1885. The nearest that advocates of "secession" of northern Idaho ever came to realizing their hopes was in 1886, when only the lack of presidential approval prevented it. The Idaho territorial legislature, in 1884, had memorialized congress for annexation of the northern counties to Washington, and in the following election both political parties in both Washington and Idaho declared for such annexation.

A bill providing for the separation passed both houses of the Forty-ninth congress, but failed to receive the approval of President Cleveland.

Other bills introduced in the same session of congress, but which failed of passage, provided for division of the Idaho "Panhandle" between Washington and Montana, by annexing that part of it north of the 47th parallel of latitude, including the five present northernmost counties of the state, to the latter territory. The present agitation provides for separation of the ten northern counties of Idaho and a part of eastern Washington and their admission to the union as the state of Lincoln. A memorial to this effect was introduced in the last session of the Washington legislature but failed of passage.

President Harding Reads First Message to Congress

In his first message to congress President Harding definitely rejected the League of Nations and outlined his plans for peace with the countries of Europe. The President appeared before the joint session and in a firm voice read his suggestions for the correction of existing domestic conditions. The entire cabinet listened to the President's speech. Mrs. Harding and Mrs. Coolidge were present. The galleries were packed. Considerable applause punctuated the telling points, the strongest demonstration being made when the League of Nations was thrown into the discard. The illustration shows the President delivering his address. In the chairs to the extreme left are Vice President Coolidge and Speaker Gillett of the house.

By United Press
NEW YORK, April 19.—The Dempsey-Carpenter fight will be held on one of the three sites now under consideration in Jersey City, N. J., Tex Rickard, promoter, announced today. Rickard said Jersey City was chosen because of its proximity to New York, its police facilities and excellent transportation.

HE'S YOUNG BUT HE'S GOT OLD IDEAS; ALSO HE'S GOT TWO TEETH
By United Press
ENID, Ok., April 19.—Wilbur Harrington, or Harry Harrington, whatever name his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Harrington, decide to give him, is much older than many children born last Sunday. Although only two days old, he has two shining lower front teeth. A hospital nurse stated the infant clamped down on one of her fingers when she gave him some medicine and added, "We'll give him corned beef and cabbage for dinner."

HOTEL MAN MARRIED
E. S. Hansberger, associated with C. H. Creighton in the McCleskey hotel, was married Sunday afternoon at 6:45 o'clock to Miss Ruth Hutchings, Calhoun of Mangum, Okla. The ceremony took place at the Methodist church, with Rev. L. A. Webb officiating.
Mr. Hansberger and his bride first met while he was at Wichita Falls with the Pioneer Trust company. Miss Hutchings was visiting Mr. and Mrs. Creighton here when the budding romance bloomed in matrimony.

RABBI PLEADS CAUSE OF FOUR YOUNG JEWS IN U. S. UNLAWFULLY
By Associated Press
EL PASO, April 19.—Rabbi Charles Blumenthal, pleading the cause of four young Hebrews, charged with entering the United States without passports, declared in federal district court here that hundreds of Jews, driven from Russia, Germany and Poland, had fled to Europe and found their way into Mexico.
"These Jews were lured to Mexico mostly by a consul in Berlin who got $10 for every one he directed to Mexico," said the rabbi. "These men, will go to anywhere to obtain freedom from persecution, went to Mexico with the promise of freedom and prosperity. The latter they did not find. They could not even find work in that foreign land and scores of them have made their way to the border, looking for the United States as their only hope. In Juarez smugglers met them and agreed to bring them across. These four were caught as others have been caught on a dare at the mercy of the United States."
Federal Judge W. R. Smith sentenced the men to thirty days in jail. Most of the time, however, dated back and had been served. He ordered the men deported after their sentences had been served.
Rabbi Blumenthal said that when they were deported the local Jews would take care of them until they could make arrangements to enter the United States legally.

JAPANESE GIRLS TAKE UP AMERICAN DANCES
By Associated Press
TOKIO, April 19.—Western dancing is being actively taken up by the younger Japanese generation and is developing into a national craze. The fox trot, the waltz, the bunny hug and all fanciful steps are being learned to the tune of jazz music. And with the coming of the dancing fad, the conversation turns to jazz and to steps and to music. To the Japanese girls, the kimono and zori seem as comfortable for the glide around the dance floor as the costume of the American girl.
A Japanese newspaper says: "A dancing teacher is now as much a necessity to the Japanese student as a person well acquainted with the grammar of a foreign language—dancing seems to be included in the curriculum of most well educated Japanese."

GREAT STUFF, BUT GOLDBERG HERE IN TEXAS
WASHINGTON, April 19.—A change in the new beer regulations which if put into effect would permit physicians to prescribe medicinal beer without limit is under consideration by the international revenue bureau, it was announced today.
As they stand at present the regulations restrict the amount of beer that may be prescribed for one person to 4 1/2 gallons a month. The proposed change would remove this restriction.

BANDITS STEAL YOUNG WOMEN
By United Press
KANSAS CITY, Kan., April 19.—Virtually the entire police force of this city is seeking today for two young women who were abducted from their escorts late last night by two bandits. After their escorts had been robbed of their money and overcoats the two young women, Miss Mildred Hardinger, 18, and Miss Margaret Hobbs, 17, were forced to accompany the bandits in the motor car in which the girls were riding with two young men. Neither of the young women has been heard from since.

OBREGON TELLS PLANS TO PAY NATION'S DEBTS

By United Press
MEXICO CITY, April 19.—President Obregon of Mexico today revealed to the United Press his plans for payment of the national debt and rehabilitation of his country.
"I have invited foreign creditors of Mexico to send representatives to hold a preliminary conference to determine a plan enabling Mexico to pay her debts," Obregon said.
Mexico's debt amounts to $275,000,000. Obregon said the treasury now has about $60,000,000 of which a portion will be released to pay back interest on the indebtedness.
Other funds obtained will be used in improving the national railways.
Obregon's determination to rehabilitate transportation was indicated when he dispatched Francisco Garey, director general of national railways, to Monterey, to confer with American equipment men for the purchase of $50,000,000 of rolling stock.

YIELD PALM TO KING OF OYSTER EATERS, HE EATS FIVE HUNDRED

MOBILE, Ala., April 19.—Jerome Tomlinson laid aside the paper. "Ha, ha, ha!" laughed he.
The paper said that John H. Duncan of Waynesboro, Miss., had eaten 228 large oysters at a Woodmen of the World supper. Whereby John was being hailed as king of the oyster eaters.
Jerome says he's something of an oyster eater himself. He challenged John.
"I wouldn't think of stopping before 500," said Jerome.
Thereupon John failed to answer the challenge.

TREASURY DEPT. MAY MAKE TIFFIN ONE OF 'BIG THREE' TOWNS

If plans of Postmaster E. L. Dulin are carried out, and the indications are that they will be successful, the treasury department will designate Tiffin as one of the "big three" towns in Eastland county and the Eleventh Federal Reserve District.

In the matter of saving and investing, the postoffices in every county in the 306 counties and parishes in the Eleventh Federal Reserve district will contest to attain the "big three" designation. This designation will go to the three towns in every county whose postmasters acquaint their patrons with Uncle Sam's Thousand Dollar Registered Treasury Savings Certificate.

With respect to these savings securities of the Government, Postmaster Dulin has noted the following points for the information of the patrons of the local postoffice.

Registered Treasury Savings Certificates of the $1,000 denomination are inscribed with and registered in the owner's name at the time of purchase. They are loss, theft and depreciation proof. They increase in
