DEATH STALKS IN COURSE OF REFUGEE SHIP

Typhus, Starvation and Bitter Cold Follow Navaio.

CONSTANTINOPLE, March 8.—Death pursued the 800 refugees who fled from Novorossisk on the steamer Navaio at the approach of the Russian soviet forces after many had died of disease, cold and starvation.

The craft arrived here with many emaciated and starving passengers. Eighteen hours after leaving port the vessel struck a blizzard. Its food and coal supplies were all consumed and for four days the Navaio drifted in the Black sea.

Typhus then appeared on board and refugees saw scores of bodies of their shipmates consigned to the waters. Hundreds of passengers arrived here with frozen hands and feet.

PLANS READY FOR CAMPAIGN FOR $15,000

Ranger's drive for the Salvation Army, endorsed by the Chamber of Commerce and carried on by its members, starts Tuesday. Members of the committee met with M. H. Smith, chairman, and Capt. B. S. Comer of the army at the Chamber of Commerce at noon Monday to make final plans.

Captain Comer will be assisted also by Mrs. Comer and his daughter, Miss Ethel Comer. Headquarters of the drive will be at the chamber offices, where Manager L. E. Temple Peters will be, at all times, in close touch with the progress of the work. C. C. Chenoweth is treasurer and contributions may be made directly to him at the Texas Bank and Trust company. Everyone's support is necessary for the success of the drive, which has for its object the purchase, for $15,000, of property at present owned by the Methodist church and suitable, with little chance, for many quarters. The price which the church has made is very reasonable, the financial sacrifice having been accepted to aid the army work.

WOODROW AND TEDDY LEAD AS NAMES FOR DOGS WEARING TAGS

A total of $4,000 in licenses was issued by E. A. Ringold, city tax assessor and collector, last week. Service dog licenses, amounting to $870; dog licenses, $110. Wagon needles contributed $120 and foot peddlers $17. Electricians paid $10 for permits a house mover $5, and a nitro expert $3.

Instructions have been issued the city police to arrest all drivers of dray wagons and service cars found operating without a license.

Stray dogs running at large without tags will be likely to meet a barrage at any time.

In securing a license for a dog, it is necessary to give the name of the animal. So far two names have been far in the lead. They are "Woodrow" and "Teddy."

GRAND JURORS REPORT SCORES INCOMPETENCY

EASTLAND, March 8.—The grand jury of the Eastland county district court made its first report and returned into court thirty-six indictments. The grand jury made an oral report to Judge Hill and scored officers for failure to perform their duties, suggesting that same deputy sheriffs should have their commissions taken from them for failure to perform their duties and some for entering private residences and searching same without warrants. They have recessed subject to be called back by the judge. Monday the criminal court docket was taken up and given right of way, and it may be that some of those indicted Saturday will be brought before the court early this week.

CASHES CHECK, NOW HELD BY RANGER POLICE

What is regarded as one of the best arrests in several weeks was made Monday evening when the Ranger police took H. C. Mitchell, in the First National bank. According to Chief Parrish Mitchell was attempting to cash a check which he had received from $500 to $800.

Police officers state that they have a full confession to the alleged attempt to cash the check and other chapters in a career of "penmanship," including former penitentiary sentences for similar offenses. Peters banks have been turned against the activities of a man answering Mitchell's description and have been on the lookout for him. The arrest was made by Sergeant Reynolds and Detective Debus.

NEW ST. RITA'S DEDICATED BY BISHOP LYNCH

St. Rita's Catholic church was dedicated Sunday morning by the Right Rev. Joseph P. Lynch, bishop of Dallas. After the high mass, which was sung by the pastor, Father R. A. Gerken, the bishop preached to the congregation. The church was filled to capacity and many were standing in the aisles. Bishop Lynch is an orator with a magnificent presence and a wonderfully modulated voice. He held his audience captive to the conclusion of the sermon.

In part, he said: "This is no other than the house of God and the gate of heaven." Gen. 28, 17.

"Such were the words upon the lips of our ancestors in the faith, long centuries ago, after they had dedicated abandoned pagan temples to the service of the one, true God, and to the cause of His only begotten son, our sacred redeemer, Jesus Christ. They serve to recall the Christian thought of the ages, regarding the solemn majesty of a truly Christian house of worship.

Henceforth this church is the house of God and the gate of heaven, because in the order of Divine Providence it is set aside in a most special manner to the exposition of an overwhelmingly important topic, the necessity, the benefit and the beauty of religion; and to the sacred rites divinely appointed for the proper exercise of its holy mysteries. Here human brain, brawn and heart will co-operate with divine grace in soul service; all to the end that God may be become more honored and man's soul-life adequately developed.

The speaker then developed the idea that man by nature is religious, and that religion answers every important question that can be asked by the human mind.

Speaking of the institution of the Mass the bishop said in the course of his address: "From this vista of the twentieth century the mind looks back to ascension Thursday, 1542, and we see Juan de Padilla, a Franciscan friar, companion of Coronado, celebrating the sublime sacrifice of the cross at Texas. The first Christian service held within the confines of the state of Texas."

In closing the bishop congratulated Father Gerken and praised the faithful people who co-operated so loyally in every effort of the pastor, and said: "Those who conform their lives to the lessons inculcated here will never prove Judas Iscariots to Christ and will never become Benedict Arnolds to America. But they will be considerate husbands, dutiful wives, obedient children, appreciative servants of God and loyal citizens of our country."

WILSON TO DECLARE HIS POSITION ON LODGE RESERVATION

WASHINGTON, March 8.—President Wilson will state his position on the Lodge reservation to article 10 probably today, it was stated at the White House. The president's attitude on this and other reservations will be outlined in a letter to Senator Hitchcock. He did not see Senator Simmons, as requested by Senator Hitchcock.

Administration officials said that the president would not accept the Lodge reservation to article 10. It is disclosed that he discussed the Taft reservation to article 10 with Senator Glass and while he did not state his approval of it, he did not say that he would not accept it.

WOMAN TAKES POISON PILLS AFTER LUNCH

Mrs. Ethel Cameron of Fort Worth Near Death at Hospital.

Mrs. Ethel Cameron, about 22 years old, finished her lunch at the Ranger cafe at 1:30 p. m. Tuesday and then swallowed the contents of a small box of strychnine tablets. She was taken to the Ranger hospital in charge of Drs. Henry and Farmer. Her condition is serious.

D. W. Downard and H. T. Grove, who were at a nearby table, saw the girl swallow the poison and called to Mrs. E. Harris, wife of one of the proprietors of the cafe. Physicians were called at once and the girl, suffering from the initial spasms resulting from strychnine, was taken to the hospital.

She told Mrs. Harris that she had taken twelve grains of the poison, but did not give her motive. She came to Ranger Saturday from Fort Worth. She said she had a husband, but did not know where he was.

SHERIFF'S MEN GET 150 QTS. SUNDAY RAID

County Attorney Hazel and Dude Thompson and John Bloxam, of the sheriff's office, raided a shack on North Marston street Sunday and secured 150 quarts of liquor, of "good" quality. The confiscated property was loaded in a truck and carried to Eastland. A large crowd gathered to watch the seizure.

More than one arrest is expected in connection with the affair. Papers have been sworn out against the alleged owners of the liquor.

Sunday's raid follows close on a raid at Desdemona, conducted by the sheriff's office and the county attorney. Gambling houses were entered and the gambling equipment burned. An outfit for making "choctaw beer" was discovered and destroyed together with several kegs of the beer. Several arrests were made.

The raid conducted here Sunday broke a record. It marked the confiscation of the largest amount of "good" liquor ever discovered at one time here.

County officers have suspected for some time that liquor was being bootlegged in Ranger in large quantities, and officers were detailed to make a quiet investigation and discover the source of the whisky.

LUMBERMEN'S LAWYERS DENY VIOLATION OF ANTI-TRUST LAWS IN BUREAU

MEMPHIS, March 8.—Denying in detail the allegations of the government that the "open competition" operated as a statistical auxiliary of the American Hardwood Manufacturers' association, was a conspiracy in restraint of trade, attorneys for more than 300 different lumbermen, named in the government complaint, in their answer today defended the so-called plan as wholly within the law and contended that dissemination of information relating to the basic facts concerning the industry which might result in individual action to raise or lower prices does not constitute a violation of the Sherman anti-trust law, under which the suit was brought.

GASSED WAR VETERAN CAPTURED AND THIRTY KILLED, TRAIN HOLD-UP

By The Associated Press.

EL PASO, March 8.—Joseph Williams, an employe of the American Sterling Refining company at Pedriena, Mexico, is a captive in the hands of Villa and is held for $50,000 ransom, according to passengers from southern California.

Williams is an American citizen who served in the world war and is still suffering from the effects of German gas. He was returning to the United States for treatment when the northbound Mexico City-Juarez train on which he was traveling was held up Thursday morning.

In a battle between the Villistas and the train guards, ten guards and nineteen bandits were killed. The balance of the defenders were either wounded or driven off.

Williams was taken captive and carried away by the bandits after the guards of the train had been dispersed.

PURE DICTION MEETS SLANG, IN TITLE RACE

Choosing a name for the Ranger club is not a matter of vocabulary, it seems, for the selections submitted in handwritten letters that indicate that the fan or fanette if a follower of Atlantic Monthly and the verse of Edgar Lee Masters, do not stack up appreciably higher than the simple penciled ones. And the chances are that the judges will favor a name with zip, and possibly the savour of slang. "But all kinds are submitted, and all kinds are welcome; all kinds more are due; and of them may come the one that makes up the judges' minds for them in a moment. On one hand we have the "Greasies" and the other the "Alphas," or again the "Mudcats" as opposed to the "Invincibles." Yet who will say which is to be preferred? Not the sporting editor, for he is only too willing to leave the question to the mature judgment of the trio selected to do the arbitring. Selections continue to come with every mail, and each is given its due, dated, and placed with the predecessors against the day of judgment. The date and hour of arrival is marked on each so that if two have submitted the winning name, the one first offered will be the winner. "No use splitting the pot," opines R. G. S., one of the judges, who may have derived that phraseology from the great national pastime not played in a ball park. The best name gets the $25.00. Whatever its date of arrival. But none will be judged until the contest closes.

The Times Title Contest. For the best name for the Ranger Baseball Club of the West Texas League—$25.00. First, Second, Third, Name, Address, P. O. Box, Contest closes March 15. Mail titles to Sporting Editor 818, Ranger.

of picture theaters. Her latest production, "The Amazing Woman," is the feature which will be the attraction at the Lone Star theater today. This six-reel photo-story was produced by Lloyd Carleton, a director whose achievements have made screen history.

OPERA HOUSE.

Air of Mystery and of Secret Intrigue Always is Present.
 One of the most faithful and vivid pictures of San Francisco's Chinatown ever put on the screen is seen in "The Tong Man" with Sessue Hayakawa as its star, which will be at the Opera House tomorrow. This film contains not only a detailed and close pictorialization of the shabby buildings which compose Chinatown, but wonderful views of the artistic interiors.
 Of all the foreign quarters which have grown up in American cities the various Chinatowns are both the most surprising and the most mysterious. In all instances they have grown up in the older more antiquated parts of cities; for the double reason that Chinamen like to live cheaply, and because these narrow, often crooked streets remind the almond-eyed men of the narrow little streets of their native land.

"The World and Its Woman," which will be presented by Goldwyn at the Lamb theater, beginning today, the opening scenes present the star as a young girl in Russia on the estate of an imperial prince. May Girard plays the role of the six-year American girl who is destined for an operatic career. The little girl has no playmate, and when the young son of the prince, whom the father is engaged for some engineering work, comes to see her, she immediately calls him "Mike." Together they read the story of Cinderella and the girl then informs the future prince that she will marry him when they grow up. The prince replies that this is impossible, but his playmate assures him that Americans can do anything.
 Years later, at the triumphant debut of the American girl as a star in the Petrograd opera, the prince is attracted by the beautiful new star. He has forgotten the little girl of his childhood, and begs for an audience with the new prima donna. He is shown behind the scenes, and in the dressing room is greeted with "Hello, Mike!"

QUEEN.

Star Creates Totally Different Type in His Latest Picture "Greased Lightning." Charles Ray, the Thomas H. Ince-Paramount star, appears in a decidedly new type of character in his new photoplay "Greased Lightning," which will be presented at the Queen theater today.
 We have seen Mr. Ray in past performances as the baseball player, the hired man, the young city sport, the spoiled mother's boy and the like, but no type of the past gives him such opportunity for his subtle comedy as does the small town inventor, a character he portrays with admirable taste in "Greased Lightning."

 The play derives its name from a racing automobile, the product of the young inventor's genius, which fails to work until the crucial moment in the story. Then it becomes the speed demon that runs down the villain.

The latest news force in the latest section of the Lone Star state—the Times.

We welcome criticism and suggestions. We want to make the Times your ideal of a newspaper.

COMPARATIVE NEATNESS.

Main street, from Marston to the Texas & Pacific station, presents a vivid contrast, in the condition of its sidewalks and its streets. Merchants of that section, almost without exception on the north side of the street, have complied with the sidewalk ordinance requiring fourteen foot concrete walks. With business-like zeal and pride in their establishments, they keep the sidewalks clean, as far as the condition of the streets will permit. In early morning, before the wind and traffic have an opportunity, the walks are neatly swept and free from litter. The streets, by comparison, piled with trash, dried mud, forgotten piles of dirt and refuse, are as alleys in a slum compared with the dooryard of a Holland housewife. A city can advertise its cleanliness and tidiness with just as good effect as a merchant. Once the pavements are cleaned, as they never have been since laid, they could be kept clean with a minimum effort.

Why not let the newcomer, arriving in Ranger, know that the city has ten blocks of paved streets, and is proud of them?

BONUSES AGAIN.

New suggestions received by the house military committee as to additional compensations for soldiers throw no new light on the question. It is proposed that men in the service of the United States during the world war be given $500 in a lump sum. The representative of the Private Soldiers' and Sailors' Legion, in making this request, attacked the "miserly" compensation bills now pending before congress.

The help that $500 in a lump sum would mean to men formerly in the service is small enough. In 25 per cent of the cases, possibly, it would be put to good use.

The Fletcher-Smith reclamation bill, which would make available thousands of acres of fertile land, has provisions to a much saner end. Former service men and women would be preferred in the sale of the lands and as the provisions of the bill are continuing, this advantage could be taken now, or at any time to come. Though the bill does not harness a new and extravagant expenditure on the country, it is suggested that in the sale of the reclaimed lands, that former service men and women be aided by loans, with first mortgages taken against the lands.

This sort of step, with the alternative of aiding soldiers, sailors and marines to own their own homes in the city, where their activities are such that they do not feel the call of the farm, would be a true help to the men who bore the country's arms.

The Women's Missionary Society will give an old fashioned "Spelling Bee" Monday evening, 8:30 o'clock at the Methodist church.

There will be no admittance fee charged.

Booths with ladies selling sandwiches (not the pink ten kind) and home made candies will serve the crowd.

M. H. Smith will "give out" for the spellers and will, no doubt, know just the word you need. Come and see and have the fun.

Streets are most cordially invited to attend and meet the Pastor, J. W. Beard and Church Members.

TOURIST ESTIMATE IS FAR TOO LARGE, SAYS U. S. CONSUL GENERAL.

BY ROBERT P. SKINNER, United States Consul-General in London.

(Written for the International News Service.) LONDON, March 8.—It is preposterous to think that a million Americans are coming to England this year as tourists. Taking the tourist season at six months, and allowing for ten ships leaving New York every day, each carrying 300 first-class passengers—though, ships like the Mauritania, of course, could carry more—that only works out at something over 70,000 tourists.

I hear no official objection to tourists on the score of food. The food situation is easing in France and the British food controller has such a glut of ham and bacon he has had to re-export some of it. With every passing week food will become more plentiful.

The French are welcoming tourists by creating a chain of hotels along the old battle front.

Suggestions have been made that the Americans will spend money with a lavish hand. That is doubtful. In pre-war days it was reckoned that an American in a three-months' tour would spend $1,500. It is impossible to estimate how much an American may spend now; it certainly cannot be estimated by the amount of the letter of credit he may take out.

I do not agree the enhancement of the value of the dollar will have anything to do with attracting Americans over here, as the rises in prices will counter-balance that.

The districts Americans will visit probably will be the whole battle front, as well as England and Italy. Of course, places where the American soldiers fought will have the most interest for them.

Three news services, Associated Press, International News, and Central Press, with other photographic services, keep readers of the Ranger Daily Times abreast of the world movements.

STORM RELIEF WORK AT CLOSE BY MARCH 14

By Associated Press. CORPUS CHRISTI, March 8.—No new applications for storm relief will be considered after March 14 by the American Red Cross, according to A. W. Jones, Jr., director of south Texas relief work, who has maintained headquarters in Corpus Christi since the tropical hurricane of last September 14.

"We shall close the books on new applications just six months to a day after the storm," said Mr. Jones. "We feel this will give ample time and opportunity for every storm sufferer to file any requests for aid, and at the same time give us ample opportunity to clear up our work. We believe this to be fair to all concerned."

The Red Cross, however, does not intend to quit relief work on March 14, Mr. Jones explained, but will simply not entertain new cases. To date, he said, 4,000 relief applications have been filed and they still are coming in. The majority of the new cases, he said, are from persons who left Corpus Christi immediately after the hurricane, or from persons who sustained property losses here, although they do not reside in this city. Some of these applications, Mr. Jones said, are from the north, east, west and south as well as from Canada.

Regarding the latter cases, Mr. Jones declared the Red Cross feels that "notwithstanding the applicants are not living in the devastated area, if they are in need we should consider their cases according to standards laid down by the society."

The work of the Red Cross in Aransas Pass, Port Aransas, Rockport and other outlying points had virtually been completed and efforts now are being centered here. Twenty relief workers are on duty here.

FALSE TEETH MAKERS' THREATEN TO STRIKE

International News Service. NEW YORK.—The False Teeth Makers' Union has sent out a proclamation to its 1,200 members in this city calling for a general strike unless the Dental Laboratory association yields to its demands. According to Samuel A. Stofel, general organizer, the union would not be able to cause a false teeth famine throughout the United States.

The demands are for a forty-four-hour week, the closed shops and a 40 per cent increase in wages.

PASTOR SAYS EL PASO IS CRADLE OF CRIME

By Associated Press. EL PASO, March 8.—Declaring that El Paso has become a "cradle of crime," because of its proximity to "wet" Juarez, Rev. Dr. Rufus Baker, pastor of a Methodist church here, in an address recently urged enactment of more adequate and intelligent laws to deal with the situation.

"El Paso is situated just across the border from what has been termed perhaps the most wicked place in the world," he said. "Juarez is wide open. Passports, annual and daily, are easily secured. El Paso has filled up within the last few months with denizens of the underworld, who come here for booze and dope and to ply a nefarious business. Crime is on the increase."

Dr. Baker urged citizens to acquaint themselves with conditions and to see that adequate steps are taken to improve the situation.

DALLAS IN CAMPAIGN FOR PUBLIC SAFETY

By Associated Press.

DALLAS, March 8.—A public safety campaign to eliminate traffic accidents is to be launched in Dallas to prevent, if possible, a repetition of the heavy death toll recorded in 1919. During last year twenty-four persons lost their lives as a result of street car, automobile and motorcycle accidents, according to the vital statistics department. For the first two months of the present year five persons have been killed in similar accidents.

Plans for the safety campaign are being worked out by city officials in cooperation with the Dallas Automobile club.

AUSTRIAN PAPER CROWNS USED AS BOTTLE LABELS

GENEVA.—The value of the Austrian crown has fallen so low that the Swiss manufacturers of "Crown" beer are pasting paper Austrian crowns on their bottles instead of the usual labels. The labels cost ten centimes apiece, whereas the Austrian crown is worth only three centimes.

Are You Old At Fifty?

How it stings and hurts when the young folks call you "the old man" or "the old lady" for the first time! What a shock to your pride, and self-conceit. Perhaps you did not realize that you were growing old and slowing down!

Nature intended that men and women should be in their prime at fifty, but the nervous strain of modern life, the overwork, worry and fear of the future, lower the vitality, undermine the health and make us old before our time.

But age is not a matter of years. There is no necessity for premature aging. The body normally renews itself every few years. The only difference between youth and age is that in youth there is an abundance of cell-salts in the blood, and it is vitalized with life-giving oxygen. The abundant cell-salt solution builds new cells and destroys worn-out cells rapidly. The oxygen vitalizes and electrifies the blood. Youth is rich. The hot, red blood urges to activity, and pulses rapidly through the arteries, making the whole body glow with warmth, vigor and vitality.

The importance of supplying these cell-salts to the blood has only recently been understood and appreciated. REOLO combines these cell-salts so perfectly that they are easily assimilated by the blood. REOLO supplies to the blood the vitalizing oxygen, the reconstructive organic iron that nature must have to make rich, red blood. It builds new cells, destroys and eliminates useless, worn-out cells, strengthens the walls of the arteries, veins and capillaries, quickens the circulation of the blood and sends through the entire body a stream of rich, red blood, which gives strength, energy and endurance.

Start the REOLO treatment today and you will be delighted with the steady, gratifying improvement in your health. The large package of one hundred tasteless, pleasant tablets, only costs one dollar, and it is guaranteed to give satisfactory results or your money will be returned immediately.

Enoch Arden, A. W. O. L., May Find Law Has Encouraged His Wife to Scorn Delay and Wed Again

By MARGERY REX. Written for the International News Service.

NEW YORK.—Modern Enoch Ardens who have left love behind and come back claim their supremacy, now may find that a woman when spurred by her love, may not only take another, but may call law to her side to sustain her choice.

Many such cases have come up in the United States since the war, because men were unheard of after the conflict, and yet were not in the lists of casualties or those reported missing or dead.

And the latest of these is the story of John Riss, a machine gunner, of the 305th company of the twenty-seventh division, who was reported dead. Before going to war he had a disagreement with his wife, and he remained away from her after returning to the United States. After consulting with friends, he decided to get a divorce, so that his wife who had married again, believing him dead in France, could be freed from him.

Miss Helen McCormick, assistant district attorney of Kings county, told me of a similar story that came to her attention some time ago. A woman, believing herself to be a deserted wife, had been legally a widow, married again. When her first husband appeared, complications arose which resulted in the woman's children being removed from her care, since she was considered an improper person to rear them. The matter was finally adjusted so that the second marriage could be made legal through a divorce from the first husband and a remarriage which resulted in a happy homecoming for the children.

The best way to prevent any risk of a long lost husband or wife coming back to claim his or her own, said Miss McCormick, "is for the deserted one to take the matter to court and have the marriage declared voidable, a proceeding resembling annulment action."

"Under the domestic relations laws of New York state a marriage is absolutely void if contracted by a person whose husband or wife by a former marriage is living; unless either the former husband or wife absented himself or herself for five successive years, then last past, without being known to such person to be living during that time."

"To safeguard anyone about to contract a second marriage, the thing to do is to have the first union judicially decreed void if contracted by a person whose husband or wife is living."

"The law is based on the idea that marriage is an obligation for both, the responsibility being to concern oneself as to where the other is, and to search in the event of his or her disappearance by means of every possible communication, by relatives, friends and newspaper ads."

"The penal code says that a person who has a wife or husband living, who marries another, commits bigamy. The penalty for this crime is imprisonment for not more than five years."

"Many persons simply go before the marriage license bureau in event of making a new marriage and present an affidavit stating he or she has made every possible effort to determine the whereabouts of the deserter to no avail."

"And in such a case the woman does not so much take the chance of bigamy charges if the man reappears after her having her new husband, in case he becomes weary of her, say that she made a false affidavit in order to have his own bonds freed."

"Laws say a marriage is absolutely void if contracted by a person whose husband or wife by a former marriage is living, unless the former husband or wife has absented himself or herself for five years without being known to that person to be living during that time."

"A marriage is voidable when it is possible to set it aside, and it is void from the time it is declared so by court of competent jurisdiction."

"The law was not meant to be construed so that a couple by mutual consent could separate, take no steps to ascertain each other's whereabouts, and after five years have passed, make another marriage. Diligent and honest search must be made."

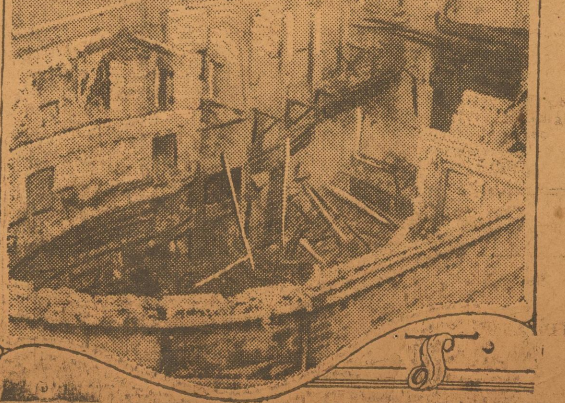

"I would say that in all soldier cases it is best to take the matter to court after every possible effort to ascertain whether the man is dead, before marrying again. It is the best and safest way and the new bride will not find afterward that her husband's gotten affidavit may be used against her by her new husband if her warrior Enoch comes back."

International News Service. METZ, March 3.—When the Germans were finally forced to return Alsace and Lorraine to France they left behind them one of the characteristic marks of the Teutonic system of imposing German culture in conquered lands. Although practically every grown person in the restored provinces is bilingual, speaking French and German, besides the local dialects, the children speak only the harsh, guttural tongue of the erstwhile rulers. French teachers and, in fact, the entire administration of Alsace-Lorraine, are now endeavoring to instill French traditions, the French language and French civilization into their young minds.

Alphonse Daudet's story, "The Last Class," is a classic French literature. It tells the pathetic tale of a French teacher in an elementary school of Alsace in the tragic days of the debacle. On the eve of the French evacuation of Alsace, following the signing of the treaty of Frankfurt in 1871, the teacher was taking leave of his little pupils. He recounted to them the history of France, the causes of the war and the tragic consequences, ending the lesson by walking to the blackboard and inscribing the words, "Vive la France!" as the Germans entered to take possession.

Until the outbreak of the war in 1914 this old teacher's last lesson had been the guiding spirit in the minds of the school children in Alsace and Lorraine. Then there came a change. Pupils in all the elementary schools

THEATRE WHERE THOUSANDS OF U. S. BOYS WERE ENTERTAINED DESTROYED BY FIRE

The ruins of the Theatre Francais. Thousands of veterans of the A. E. F. will recall the famous Theatre Francais in Bordeaux, France. French actors and travelling troupes connected with the A. E. F. and war organization entertained U. S. service men there during the war. The theatre recently was totally destroyed by fire.

were forbidden to speak French. Any infringement of the order was severely punished. Children who refused to obey were whipped. Many of them were even deported to the interior of Germany. So it happened that when the war was over and the tri-color floated again over the citadel, the French authorities were astonished to hear children of five to eight or ten years chatting among themselves, arguing, quarrelling—all in German. They had forgotten, or never had been permitted to learn the language of their fathers.

When M. Millerand, now premier, took charge of the administration of Alsace-Lorraine one of his first tasks was to organize a system of education, which, while borrowing nothing from the oppressive methods in vogue under the rule of the Germans, would bring back into the fold of French civilization the new generation of the provinces. M. Manceron, prefect of the department of the Moselle, who is taking a prominent part in the work, explained its organization as follows:

"In every commune we have founded committees whose duty it is to group all students who have left school since 1914. Evening courses in French language, history and literature for these students have been started. These boys and girls are discovering a new France, a France vastly different from that painted for them by their German teachers, who devoted all their energy to demonstrating that France was decadent and that the only nation on the globe worth anything was Germany."

"We are gathering together all available French books to stock the schools and public libraries with the best in French literature, which the Germans, of course, took pains to exclude. We intend also to make use of the 'movies' to counteract the effect of these five years during which French was 'verboten!'"

Trained Workers Speaking Native Tongues Bring Thousands Foreign Born Into American Melting Pot

By Associated Press

PITTSBURGH, March 6.—More than 200,000 foreigners who live within twenty miles of the Pittsburgh court house are being Americanized through the education of women and children by trained workers who speak their home tongue and are acquainted with their home customs.

These workers are selected by church boards from among the foreign population, and after being educated in cooking, nursing and the essentials of Americanism are sent among the people to carry out a system by which the foreigners may be lifted to the level of his American neighbor. For religious purposes they have the active assistance of clergymen who speak the languages of immigrants from southern Europe, and who are in sympathy with the people.

The Pittsburgh Presbytery of the Presbyterian church, the pioneer in the movement, has thirty-two educational stations scattered in all parts of Allegheny county, forty-two trained foreign workers and fourteen ministers. It also publishes four weekly papers having a combined circulation of almost 100,000, and the leaders of the movement estimate that fully 20,000 foreigners come under the influence of its workers every day.

The plan is simple. Foreigners coming into the district usually collect in groups, each nationality living in its own section of the community where the men are employed. Colporteurs, speaking many languages, are sent among them to spy out the land and inquire into their needs. These men gain the confidence of the people and in time begin the distribution of literature printed in the language of the particular group. This includes short stories depicting American life and into classes which are now engaged in making America. Gradually the foreigners

VINCENNES, Ind.—"White Mule For Sale." Thirsty ones who heeded this inviting sign, tacked on to the door of a stable, found a real, somewhat-alive white mule for sale. Here's the story, as told by one of the federal agents who aided the state prohibition enforcement commissioner in a recent round-up of whiskey peddlers in this section of the state. A clique of bootleggers purchased an old model white mule, scoured the animal up, placed him in a stall and then hung out the sign. Those interested enough to inquire were "sized up" thoroughly. If in doubt the bootleggers' representative on duty displayed the mule's good "points" and quoted a price far beyond reason. If the prospect looked "safe" his thirst was quenched.

WAR DEVICES OF THE FUTURE HORROR FILLED

International News Service.
PARIS, March 6.—Awful as was the destruction of life and property in the war which came to an end in November, 1918, it will be surpassed ten-fold by the wholesale butchery of the next armed conflict between the nations. Men who have devoted their lives to the study of methods of killing armies state that, owing to the immense advance in science such as chemistry and electricity, they regard the possibility of another general war with unspeakable horror.

Chief among the tragic consequences of the advance of science will be a formidable intensification of aerial bombardments, new and more deadly, asphyxiating gases, fresh methods of "long range" slaughter, never and more powerful explosives. Submarines, guided by wireless telegraphy, will have no need of crews to risk death and their torpedoes will be set off by the same means.

M. Painleve, who was French minister of war in the Millerand cabinet of 1917, believes the most potent weapon in the next conflict will be "torpedo shells" which will be able to travel immense distances before exploding.

According to M. Branly, France's chief wireless expert, nobody will be safe, even far behind the actual fighting front. Wireless methods of destruction will have reached such an extraordinary development, he declares. In the course of the next ten or twenty years that people will have seriously to consider the building of subterranean cities because on the surface of the earth there will be no security for life. M. Branly regards the combination of wireless telegraphy and aviation as wireless telegraphy and aviation as which will decide the prime characteristics of the next war.

"The progress in aviation is fraught with the direst possibilities since it is now easy to transport enormous quantities of explosives at unheard-of speed," said M. Branly. "The only way to prevent the wholesale slaughter of non-combatants in the next war will be the construction of subterranean shelters under all our cities capable of accommodating the entire population. We have seen airplanes large and powerful enough to carry twenty, thirty, even forty persons, and I foresee in the near future airplanes capable of carrying 100 passengers. They will have a speed of more than 180 miles an hour. Setting out from Berlin they would be over Paris in a couple of hours, dropping immense quantities of explosives.

"A lot has been written about the possibility of causing explosions and conflagrations at a distance by means of wireless telegraphy. There has been much foolish talk regarding it. In order to accomplish anything of that nature an apparatus on the spot where the action is to occur is indispensable. Suppose, for instance, the Germans wanted to set Paris ablaze. They would have to have in Paris, already arranged, a series of apparatus which might be called 'receivers.' Without them nothing of the kind is possible.

"At sea, however (the same objection does not hold. It will be quite within the range of possibility, for example, to hurl into the midst of an enemy fleet an engine of destruction which can be exploded by wireless telegraphy. In the same way it is possible to conceive a submarine, without being steered by wireless, in a strategic position for the discharge of torpedoes, which would also be done by wireless."

This is the year when the emperors take the census and the profiteers take the dollars.

Ranger Grocers Would Bring New Business Here

The Ranger Retail Grocers' association will meet at 8 p. m. Thursday at the Chamber of Commerce offices. Tom Bell, secretary of the Eastland Retail Merchants' association, and C. S. Fields Jr., a merchant of Eastland, were present at last week's meeting and Mr. Bell talked on the advantages of a credit bureau system and a joint advertising committee. He pointed out that credits sometimes were given to "dead beats," while honest men were denied the accommodation because of the mistrust caused by the man who would not pay his bills. Through the credit bureau, customers will be correctly rated.

"Many large concerns and business institutions are lost to a town because of lack of enterprise on the town's part in not giving a helping hand and a necessary boost."

On this theory, the grocers' association aims to be at the disposal of every business institution in Ranger, and to secure for Ranger new business. Committees selected to work out plans for the promotion of the organization were appointed and permanent officers were elected: Conrad H. Hittchett, manager of Jussell & Co., president; Henry Gollstein, Model market, vice president; I. E. Gardner, second vice president; Raymond Estep, secretary and treasurer; directors, L. G. Summers of Summers Quality market, C. C. Pines of the Basket grocery, Raymond Estep, W. J. Robinson of Robinson's market, and W. P. Brooks.

KING OF PROFANITY IS FIVE YEAR OLD LAD TAKEN SUNDAY

A number of teamsters who thought they had the art of "cussing" raised to a degree of perfection changed their minds Sunday when a five-year-old boy gave an exhibition on Marston street, near the postoffice.

About fifty bystanders were listening. The boy was in a tantrum, cursing and throwing stones at the crowd. He was taken to police headquarters by E. A. Ringold, city tax assessor and collector, but all efforts to make him tell his name met with failure. He turned over chairs in the station, cursed everybody present, and finally sank his teeth into Mr. Ringold's leg. When he was released he tried to go back upon the street, but was prevented from doing so when he turned back south and was taken to the station. A residence proved to be in a house on South Rusk street. Investigation will be made to determine whether his mother should be allowed to keep the child.

NEW CITY POUND WILL BE READY BY END OF WEEK

The new city pound, located back of the police station, on Austin street, will be completed this week. Recently a pound was built near the city incinerator, north of the city, but it was removed to make room for a ball park. Stray animals will be put in the pound and a fee charged for their maintenance.

GROUND BROKEN ON POSTOFFICE SITE

Ground has been broken for the new postoffice building, on Elm street, and materials for building the structure are being assembled.

The building is being erected by McManus & Parton and will be leased to the government for a period of ten years, at $13 a year. Every effort will be made to have it in shape for occupancy by the first of May, at which time the department's lease on the present postoffice building expires.

Your Help May Save Family Head From Disability

If you could help to prevent a man from becoming a permanent cripple by sending toward a fund of $500 to pay the expenses of an operation, would you do it? You can help, and the case is an urgent one.

The man suffered a compound fracture of the leg about three months ago. The leg did not heal when it was set and another operation became necessary. Now a third operation is imperative. The man is attended by one of the best physicians in Ranger, and the physician has made and will make no charge for his services. The only expense connected with the operation will be for hospital fees and medicine.

The man has a wife and family who are dependent upon him for support. They have spent all their savings to care for him and provide necessities of life for themselves.

If the operation is performed, the man has every chance for a speedy recovery. If it is not performed he will likely be a cripple for life. The city has no funds to care for the case, and the public is asked to lend aid.

Contributions will be received at the social service room on the second floor of the Marston building, Monday and Tuesday. Mrs. Grace Harrington, Red Cross nurse, or an assistant, will be present.

CORPUS NOW FAVORS BREAKWATER INSTEAD OF HIGHER SEAWALL

CORPUS CHRISTI, March 8.—Abandonment of present plans for the construction of a high seawall here in favor of a breakwater, with a lower seawall along the shore line, is the recommendation of a citizens' committee which recently investigated ocean and other protective systems in eastern cities. Mayor Gordon Boone, who was a member of the committee, expressed the belief that the city council would adopt the recommendation.

Judge Walter F. Timon, also a member of the committee, explained the committee's plan to a mass meeting here. The committee visited Buffalo, Cleveland and points in Florida.

"The committee came to this conclusion," Judge Timon said. "If a forty-foot dike can be tamed by a breakwater, as at Buffalo, Cleveland, and other points, then we want similar breakwater construction here. This should be five or six feet above the sea level. Then we should build a seawall along the shore line of lighter construction than at first contemplated."

Robert J. Cummings of Houston, a consulting engineer, explained to the meeting that a "breakwater" would be just what its name implies. It would prevent water from being forced into the city in storms similar to that of last September 14, but it would permit only still or quiet waters to enter behind the breakwater and would keep out floating debris, which, he said, caused most of the loss of life and property during the September hurricane.

"SEER" AT TOPEKA FINDS OIL BEARING LANDS THRU SPIRITS!

TOPEKA, Kan., March 8.—Many novel schemes in the promotion of "wild cat" oil development companies have been discovered by investigators working under the "blue sky" division of the state banking department, but what investigators claim to be the prize winner of these was recently disclosed at Pittsburg, Kansas, in which the leading role was taken by a "seer." Following the dictates of the "seer," it is said $150,000 has been invested in oil leases and well digging in the Texas field.

"The proposition as promulgated by the 'seer' has been very successful from the standpoint, financially, of the 'seer' who is said to have been remunerated handsomely for her guidance to seekers of wealth," said an agent of the department who recently investigated the "seer's" enterprises. "She has had a number of trances which resulted in numerous investments by the faithful. She would go into a trance in which she claimed was made known to her the exact location of certain lands in the Burkhardt field in Texas on which oil could be found."

"Trance No. 1 resulted in the purchase of a lease on two acres for $30,000. Oil was found on this tract, which was in proven territory. The woman later had four more trances, each specifying land on which oil could be found. Her agents in each instance procured leases on the designated lands, and they let a few of their friends, about fifty in all, in on the 'road to wealth.' But some of the investors became skeptical. They appear to have strayed from the road to certain wealth, and want their money back. The department still has the matter under advisement as to future action."

THEATERS

LIBERTY.

"The Shepherd of the Hills." Pastoral simplicity of the kind that approaches grandeur is the inspiring force in the picturization of "The Shepherd of the Hills," the photoplay which will be seen at the Liberty theater March 8 and 9. The rugged honesty and worth of men that lead simple lives in the sequestered Ozarks are graphically depicted. These men, tall and upstanding, are of the same type as the sturdy farmers that reach up towards the stars from the eternal hills; the same type of men who landed upon Plymouth Rock and laid the foundation for this land of ours. In this great photoplay are shown these truly American people, living to-day as their forefathers did; men of stout strength and the kindness of children. The people in this play really live their lives. There is no sham, no affectation. They love, hate, and have their being all unconscious of the fact that they are portraying the great drama of life. The scenic background for this great drama is supplied from a region rich in nature's beauties and a part of the country which has been seldom photographed. The play consists of ten reels with special musical interpretations.

HAD NERVOUS BREAK-DOWN

But Health Restored to Texas Lady, Who is Well and Strong, Able to Do All Her Household and More.

Rosebud, Texas. — Mrs. Annie Lange, of R. F. D. No. 4, this place, writes as follows regarding her experience with Cardui: "Some time ago I had a nervous break-down of some kind. I was very weak, and so nervous. It all seemed to come from trouble, for at I had fainting spells and suffered a great deal, but more from the weak, tremble, no-account feeling than anything else. I knew I needed a tonic, and needed it badly."

"I began the use of Cardui, to see if I couldn't get some strength, as I knew of other cases that had been helped by its use. I felt better. I soon saw a great improvement, so kept it up."

"I used seven bottles of Cardui, and can say the money was well spent, for I grew well and strong. Now able to do all my household and a great deal of work besides."

"If you are run-down, weak, nervous, and suffer from the ailments peculiar to women, it is very likely that Cardui will help you, in the way it has helped thousands of others, during the past 40 years."

Take Cardui, the woman's tonic.—Advertisement.
