vers and automatic pistols, which the American film hero produces on the slightest provocation."
 This is one of the statements made by an official of a newly-organized film company here; a company created for the avowed purpose of popularizing home-produced films.
 "Our English girls can hardly be said to gain by the extremely sickly sentiment which forms the story of many love films from over the water," continued the producer. "American producers have apparently no knowledge of British customs and ways."
 The company of which the speaker is an officer has just been organized and is at present making an offer of stock. Several of the leading British firms are said to have been already acquired by the new company, which is expected to become the largest of its kind in England.

Ranger Cook to Start on 50,000 Mile Walk Sunday

To walk three times around the world, 25,000 miles in South America, 15,000 miles in Canada, 10,000 miles in Old Mexico, 75,000 miles in Europe and 33,688 in America for a total of 235,688 miles is some little stroll. However, it is a record E. F. Lamberth, who is now in Ranger, says he has made. In addition, Mr. Lamberth declared that Sunday morning he would start on another walking tour of 50,000 miles and which will require four years to finish.

According to his plans he will cover 1,000 miles each month and will during the course of his trips visit nearly every county seat in America. After doing America, Mr. Lamberth plans to visit Vancouver, British Columbia and from there go to the British Isles.

He will, he declared, start the tour with a capital of 75 cents and live by his wits each day throughout its course without begging or offering anything for sale. His income will, he stated, be derived from his appearance in theatres where he will do paper tearing acts at which he is an adept.

Mr. Lamberth is by his statement a member of America's Walker Association and in addition carries a union card as a cook. He began his walking career in 1897 and has been walking on and off ever since except during the war.

"FLY COPS" OF SKY TAKE UP NEW JOB
 SPRINGFIELD, Mass., July 9.—Springfield's "sky policemen" will carry "four bombs" as part of their equipment in fighting disorder in that city. These bombs are similar to those used during the war and render the most violent persons helpless.

Edward A. Terhune, Jr., one of the new "fly cops" flew from South Boston and landed on the banks of the Connecticut River, where the new 5,000 acre airside is located. On his arrival, together with Wesley L. Keough and Frank De Costa, he took oath.

Fire patrol duty and the pursuit of auto bandits will also form part of their duties.

Statements of Campaign Expense Filed at Eastland

Special to The Times.
 EASTLAND, July 9.—Under the new law the candidates for public offices are required to file two statements of their elections and one after, instead of the one campaign expenditures, one before the statement after the election that was formerly in effect. The law states in sense that any candidate that knowingly violates any of these provisions cannot have his name on the ticket.

Several candidates for public offices in Eastland county have violated this new ruling by not filing a statement of their campaign expenses. The following is a list of the candidates who have filed a statement with County Clerk Earl Bender:

G. G. Hazel, candidate for county attorney, $608.82.
 J. W. Dully, candidate for justice of the peace, precinct No. 7, $21.

P. L. Parker, candidate for tax assessor, $96.40.
 Elzo Been, candidate for district judge, $294.
 A. E. Firman, candidate for county attorney, $100.
 E. L. Trimble, candidate for county judge at law, $295.
 Jno. A. Russell, candidate for state senate, $236.10.
 G. W. Harding, candidate for justice of the peace, precinct No. 7, $23.
 E. S. Pritchard, candidate for county treasurer, $131.
 Roger Fenlaw, justice of the peace, precinct No. 2, $50.51.
 H. A. Collins, candidate for tax assessor, $133.15.

PRINCE KNOWN FOR KNOWLEDGE OF INDUSTRY

LONDON, June 19. (By Mail).—Prince Albert, who has become Duke of York, Baron Killarney and Earl of Inverness, as second son of the King, who possessed titles as King Edward's second son, is known as "The Industrial Prince" because of his keen interest in economic questions, his belief that he is no member of "the idle rich but a genuine worker," and the popularity he has won with wage earners with whom he frequently and comfortably converses.

The prince is described as "a typical, amiable, likeable, practical Englishman, who has no brilliancy but knows the job being prince is no sinecure." His passion is for lawn tennis and squash rackets, and his chief indoor amusement is dancing. Recently he was created a wing commander in the Royal Air Force in which he won his wings as a pilot.

Prince Albert makes no pretense to oratory "but always says something to the point and his speeches are not written for him."

Special trains bringing delegations from the Middle West and Eastern states are scheduled to arrive today. Colonel B. W. Hough, former commander of the 166th infantry, is president.

ALFALFA MOST IMPORTANT FORAGE CROP IN CANADA
 EDMONTON, Alta.—Alfalfa, which thirty years ago was regarded in the United States and Canada as an agricultural experiment, has become one of Western Canada's most important forage crops, and the acreage devoted to it has increased remarkably in recent years.

Manitoba had 3,671 acres in alfalfa in 1915 and 5,181 in 1919; Saskatchewan, 2,620 in 1915 and 11,526 in 1919; Alberta, 17,027 in 1915 and 21,533 in 1919; and British Columbia 12,000 in 1915 and 13,331 in 1919.

Crop reports show there will be a large increase in alfalfa acreage this year throughout the Canadian West. British Columbia, it is said, will double its present acreage by 1921. The increase in alfalfa indicates a corresponding increase in live stock. Western Canada, which once grew wheat almost exclusively, is gradually changing into a diversified farming country.

Socialists to Campaign for Fall Election

CHICAGO, July 9.—A "front cell" campaign is planned by the Socialist party for Eugene V. Debs, its presidential nominee, according to William M. F. Eigenbaum, director of publicity for the national campaign. Mr. Eigenbaum said to a handful of proofs were shooed to him in Socialist to Debs' prison at Atlanta every month. What Debs has to say will then be distributed by the campaign committee.

The usual touring will be taken care of by Seymour Steadman of Chicago, the vice presidential nominee. He is to start the middle of this month for Texas and Oklahoma, finishing this trip the latter part of August, and on the first of September plans a transcontinental tour ending in Chicago two months later.

The organization of the Socialist campaign will be taken up by the party's recalled that he one time helped to publish at Detroit, Mr. Eigenbaum said.

As usual, the Socialist plan to make a large use of pamphlets in their campaign. Mr. Eigenbaum said the party has distributed 27,000,000 in 1916 and hoped to get out 50,000,000 this year.

Two of the expelled New York assemblymen, he said, are now out speaking for the national office in the campaign. Louis Waldman and August Claassen are the men engaged. The campaign doesn't have the art," commented this official Socialist paper published at party headquarters. "The New Day" is a new name for the party organ, chosen several weeks ago in place of "The Eye Opener" which served as the party paper after "The American Socialist," discontinued during the war.

The Socialists are having trouble in getting on the electoral ticket in several states, Mr. Eigenbaum said. He said that owing to the party having lost its legal standing in Montana, it was certain that

MUSEUM TO AID ARTISTS IN THE SALE OF WORKS

CHICAGO, July 9.—Artists exhibiting at the Chicago Art Institute the past year have received encouragement thru the museum's delegating one of its staff to stimulate sales. Several pictures sold at $8,000, and one at $11,000 and another at $15,000. The total ran into a substantial sum. The man working on sales has been given an assistant during exhibitions.

"If we don't support the artists we don't have the art," commented this official, reviewing the results of the season past.

Water Works Has 1,000,000 Gallon Pumping Capacity

An additional pump of 500,000 gallons capacity is being installed by the Rymer Waterworks company and will when put into use raise the pumping capacity of the water plant to 1,000,000 gallons daily.

The pump that is being installed is to protect the company in cases of emergencies. The present equipment is ample to care for the needs of the city, but all its capacity is required and should it break down or be put out of use for any cause, water pressure could not be kept in the mains. With the added pump, pressure can be maintained at all times.

Vice War Will be Launched by Salvation Army

CHICAGO, Ill., July 9.—Announcement was made at headquarters of the Salvation Army here today that more than 6,000 citizens "representing the most active elements in the social and economic life of the states west of the Mississippi" have been enlisted to aid the Army in arresting vice and helping the poor unfortunate. The statement says in explanation of the new organization:

"This work is to be conducted through the medium of the county advisory boards. By the first of October there will be a board in every county, and 12,000 leading citizens will thus be banded in an effort to assist the crushed and fallen. Advisory boards, supplemented by the trained personnel of the Army and its chain of institutions, are stren-ously attempting to solve the social problems of their home communities.

"Briefly, the advisory boards constitute a live and active lay organization and through this constituency the Salvation Army aims to extend its facilities to every obscure corner of the western states. Although a part of the Salvation Army's Home Service Program in 1920, the work of a permanent character, and designed to broaden the scope of the Army's labors without invading new activities or encroaching on other organizations.

"County Advisory boards will be linked together by a state advisory board. Activities will be centralized and efforts unified through this system. The constructive program of Americanization which is interwoven in all the Salvation Army's operations will be carried, together with better facilities for temporary aid and spiritual encouragement, to each community west of Chicago.

"Advisory boards will be authorized representatives of the Salvation Army, and will be expected to advise with officers over the amount of the need for any or all of the organization's sixteen major activities in each county. They will bring to the attention of the Army all cases that come within the scope of its activities.

RUSS PRISONERS IN FRANCE BEING SENT BACK HOME

PARIS, June 22.—(By Mail.)—The prisoners of war in French hands, being remnants of the Russian expeditionary forces that landed at Marseilles, acclaimed by enthusiastic throngs, in 1917, are being expatriated as fast as the slow progress of negotiations with the Bolsheviks will allow.

About 5,000 of them remained interned after all other prisoners, including the Germans, had been sent home. Coming as allies and participating in some of the fiercest fighting along the Aisne, the Russians were deeply impressed by the revolution in their country; discipline suffered until finally revolt and mutiny broke out in the ranks, requiring severe measures. The contingent never again participated in military operations. The men were used for a time in road repairing but the results were unsatisfactory. They are being exchanged for French soldiers taken by the Soviet forces on the Archangel front.

RAILROAD DENIED PETITION TO RUN GULF BOAT TRADE

WASHINGTON, July 9.—Application of the Southern Pacific for permission to operate its Atlantic steamship lines in either regular or irregular service between the Atlantic seaboard and the Gulf coast was denied today by the interstate commerce commission which held such service is not in the interest of the public and would prevent competition of the Southern Pacific ships which make Texas Gulf ports.

"TRUTH IN ADVERTISING"

HUMANITY SAYS: "That which is unworthy carries its own punishment, and its own penalty—its true character is inevitably disclosed in due time, even though a temporary prosperity comes to it from caprice of unthinking."

ROSE PERCY IS IN WASHINGTON IN GLASS HOUSE

WASHINGTON, July 8.—Rose Percy has come to Washington. She lives in a glass house, though in all of her fifty-eight years she has never thrown a stone.

Stranger still, rose is as fresh and youthful looking today as in 1862 when she was the idol of fashionable New York and rich men gave her jewels and dresses. Her cheeks are just as red and her blue eyes just as shining.

Rose comes to her crystal residence quite naturally. She is the guest of the Red Cross national museum, having been donated by Mrs. Horace H. Chittenden, of Concord, N. H., in whose family she lived for more than half a century.

Dr. James Peters, father of Mrs. Chittenden, won Rose Percy in a raffle, which brought $1200 to the great Sanitary Commission fair held in New York in 1864.

Rose didn't object to being put on the auction block like a slave of the days of Uncle Tom, for Rose Percy is literally what the young man in the popular song speaking figuratively, of course—calls the young lady. She is a "great big beautiful doll," made of wax, with blue eyes of china and "real hair." She is mascot of the American Red Cross for the Sanitary Commission of civil war times was the forerunner of the modern Red Cross.

Rose Percy's history began in 1862, when she made the acquaintance of a circle of young ladies attending Mrs. Ogden Hoffman's fashionable school in New York. These young ladies set out to furnish her entire wardrobe, using not only their nimble fingers to make dainty garments, but also their nimble wits and feminine charms to persuade leading merchants, jewelers and furriers of the day to aid in the work of beautification.

There were silk, velvet and linen fabrics and filmy laces; a full set of ermine furs, jewelry, stationery and cards—in fact, everything that a beautiful young debutante like Rose Percy could possibly need, and all bearing the trademarks of firms which were household words in the days of our grandfathers.

Presently Rose Percy was completely fitted out. Lingerie came first—piles of lawn and linen garments trimmed with Valenciennes lace; then the outer things—a gorgeous point d'Alencon reception dress, with pelisse to match; silk gowns, too of blue and pink and solesino, and green plaid; green and purple poplins, elaborately brocaded piques, delicate lawns with ticks and ruffles; skating costume; and last, marvelous bonnets to match the costumes.

Then Rose Percy journeyed to the great Sanitary Commission fair. Funds were needed for the ministering to the soldier sick and wounded. It was the function of its day, and at the various booths and tables, presided over by young society belles, appeared the treasures of the whole world. In the midst of all this display sat Rose Percy, her wardrobe nearby, while hundreds of both the great and obscure participated in the spirited bidding for her.

Many times since the days of the Sanitary Commission Fair Rose Percy has traveled about the country to exhibitions where her presence might excite some interest and general curiosity for some worthy cause. The passing years, apparently do not dim her eyes or cool her enthusiasm; yet just now she seems perfectly content to pass the remainder of her days in the big glass exhibition case at the museum.

JOHN-A-DREAMS

LI. VERSIONS OF POETS, DREAMS OF POETRY. Great good fortune awaits those women who dream of poets and poetry. Some time ago I told you of books and reading, but reading of poetry is a thing apart and refers to the fair sex alone. As for men, the things explained in the chapter about books apply equally to poetry.

A woman or girl who reads poetry to herself will soon harbor a sweet secret in her heart, one that will make all days sunny and all nights lit with the soft lustre of the stars. If she reads poetry aloud, then all her little world will know of her dear adventure and will rejoice with her and she will be envied among her friends.

If one other person is present as she reads, the meaning changes. If the companion is a woman, she will have a rival but will win the man her heart craves. If a man is present, then her wedding day is far nearer at hand than she can possibly imagine. Some unforeseen event will hasten the rise of the honeymoon in her sky.

If she dreams that a man is reading poetry to her, her ears will be delighted by a longed-for avowal from lips which to her sorrow, have kept silent hitherto. If a woman reads poetry to her, a friend will tell her that her love is not in vain—that the man she has chosen means for her, but lacks the courage to declare himself.

To take up a book of poetry without reading is a sign that the next declaration of affection which will come to you will leave you cold and unresponsive. To find that the poetry is written in a foreign language, means that you will be asked by the man of your choice to leave the city in which you live, and go with him far, far away—and if it happens to be a foreign language you know, you will go; but if you do not understand it, you will decide to tear him from your heart rather than leave the familiar surroundings behind you.

To meet a poet means that the man you will choose for a husband is of fine character and perhaps above your station. If a married woman has such a dream she must make up her mind that she does not fully understand her husband, that many of recent domestic disagreements were due to the fact that she dreamer, instead of trying to study the ways of the man who is or will be the father of her children, has rudely followed her own bent and has driven him to seek solace with his own thoughts—an evil thing which often leads to lasting misunderstandings.

To dance with a poet is a sign of merry days to come, in all likelihood in the country. To be kissed by a poet indicates your engagement or, if you are married, a sweet but innocent adventure which you may not care to relate to your husband, but which has done no harm to your soul.

To see a poet without speaking to him, is a sign that you will fall in love with one whose heart belongs to another and, for a short while you will be very unhappy. But the sorrow will pass. The best dream of all in this class is to be with a poet who is reading his own poetry to you. This means that your love affair will be sweeter than you ever dared imagine, that soul-delights are yours which come to very few women.

Mrs. G.—As I have already stated, my dream interpretations have never been published in book form. If ever they do appear, I shall let all my friends know about it through the newspaper. In the next chapter I will tell you of Soldiers and Warriors.

'SOMETHING IS WRONG'

(Continued From Page One) and wrecks. Certainly these places had been in operation for a time previous to these raids. How long is another question. Perhaps a few vigorous raids in the start would have stopped the whole business in short order. Just where are you going to place the responsibility for commission of duty, if there was any, in these communities, in connection with the gambling dives? How much of this responsibility lies with the local officers, how much of it with the county officers and how much of it with the indifference of grand juries and the local citizenship? Every one concerned is entitled to a fair hearing in this matter. You know that a grave responsibility rests somewhere and that there was not a proper functioning of the law, but mere rumor and personal grievances are not the proper sources through which to fix blame and neglect of duty. Maybe there was as much neglect of citizenship duty as there was of official duty.

Lawlessness Cowardly. Local disorders are the natural outgrowth of locally diseased conditions. Lawlessness naturally seeks a community where it will be least disturbed by local sentiment. Right or wrong the sentiment of any community will in large measure rule. If it can't rule openly it will rule secretly. Bad characters never rule a community long. They will wreck their rule through their own jealousies and rivalries, if it is not ended otherwise. Somewhere at some time, there is the inevitable drift to the side of law and order, but why should the orderly element of society be forced or even seductively permit itself to be thus imposed upon? Tolerating a wrong is a poor excuse, submitting to a wrong is generally an act of moral cowardice. A little righteous wrath can make a whole brigade of swaggering, loudmouthed sin skeedaddle most any time.

According to the records there was not a case of indictment and arrest for robbery in 1917, whereas there were fifteen in 1919. A single case of robbery in 1917 would have aroused the whole county, and escape would have been very difficult. In 1919 it was an easy matter to commit a robbery and escape. The criminal had his crowd in which to hide, the victim could seldom give a description that would lead to detection. As a general thing the victim could not identify his assailant if confronted by him. Don't overlook the fact that the law has had abundant troubles of its own all along the line.

According to the records there were four indictments and arrests for theft in 1917, as against sixty-seven in 1919. Keeping up with thieves was not a very big job in 1917. It was practically an impossible task in 1919. People expected to have their staff stolen if they didn't watch. Therefore every fellow being his own guard to a great extent probably means that a fellow who has something stolen unless it was very valuable he said nothing about it, but caused greater caution thereafter.

But after all there was lots for the law to look after when the oil boom broke loose, and there was very much of a limit to what the law could do, and the term law as here used applies to the people charged with the enforcement of the law, and in the next article will be presented and discussed some of the reasons why the law has had many troubles of its own, and why the law hasn't been what the law should have been.

SEEK FUNDS TO IMPROVE PORT

By Associated Press
KINGSTON, Jamaica, June 24.—(By Mail.)—The Jamaica government is planning to borrow in London $15,000,000 in order to make the port of Kingston a first-class one by deepening of the channel to the piers and other improvements. It is proposed to extend the railway to the wharves, to construct additional piers, erect a big dry dock and a wireless station and establish an oil and coal depot for ships. One purpose of this program is to make Kingston a port of call for vessels passing through the Panama canal. Members of the legislature assert that Kingston should be well equipped as well as Cristobal, the Atlantic entrance to the Panama canal.
