

HEAD LOCKED ON TWENTY-SECOND CONVENTION QUILTS 'TILL MONDAY

MANY STORES TO BE CLOSED ALL DAY 5TH

Banks and retail clothing merchants and other members of the Ranger Retail Merchants' Credit association will close Monday, July 5. Shamrock park, where a gala day has been arranged by members of the American Legion, and swimming events and special attractions by the park management, the lake at Hagaman refinery, where the Woodmen will picnic, Wyles and other nearby pleasure spots will be scenes of celebration. Special fireworks displays will be given tonight and tomorrow night at Shamrock park. All banks will be closed, Monday being the national holiday, inasmuch as the Fourth fell on Sunday. Retail clothing merchants, all members of the credit association, signed a petition circulated for a closing Monday. It reads: "We the undersigned agree to close all day Monday, July 5th, in observance of our national holiday."

General Gorgas Dies After But Short Illness

LONDON, Sunday, July 4.—Major General William C. Gorgas, former surgeon general of the United States army, died here at an early hour this morning. General Gorgas' death was very peaceful, he was unconscious most of the time the last few days, according to the hospital attendants, and was not able to recognize Mrs. Gorgas or Brigadier General Robert E. Noble, assistant surgeon general of the United States army, the only American present at the end. Colonel Kennedy, medical consultant at the hospital, was in constant waiting on General Gorgas and every facility was afforded by the British military authorities for proper medical attention. It was stated by General Noble that Bright's disease was the immediate cause of his death. On the morning of May 30 General Gorgas suffered a stroke of apoplexy and was removed to Queen Alexandra hospital where his death occurred. For a time there was hope of his recovery but kidney complications developed. The body will be brought to the United States. Major General William C. Gorgas was considered one of the world's foremost authorities on military medicine and surgery. He fought and defeated the malarial mosquito in Panama and thus made possible the building of the great waterway. He dislodged yellow fever from its century-old stronghold in Havana and under the direction of the United States government and the Rockefeller Institute supervised campaigns against that dread disease in Central America, Peru and Ecuador. At the invitation of the British government he went to South Africa in 1913 to establish sanitary conditions in the Rand, as a result of which he received high honors from the medical profession in London and Oxford university conferred a degree upon him.

WILSON DENIES HE FAVORS ANY DE MCANDIDATE

WASHINGTON, July 3.—President Wilson has not expressed an opinion to any one with reference to a particular candidate for the presidency, said a statement issued at the White House tonight by secretary Tumulty. The statement put aside emphatically rumors which it was said the White House was informed were being circulated in San Francisco and which it was said were to the effect that the president had expressed a preference as to the party's candidates. The statement as issued at the White House said: "When a report was brought to secretary Tumulty's attention that rumors were being circulated in San Francisco that the president had expressed an opinion with reference to a particular candidate, he made the following statement: 'This is news to me. I had discussed all phases of the convention with the president and had been in intimate touch with him during his continuance and I am positive that he has not expressed an opinion to any one with reference to a particular candidate for the presidency. It has always been his policy to refrain from taking any stand that might be construed as dictation. The president, it was said, retired about 9:30 or shortly after the convention took its two hours recess. During the afternoon balloting he and Mrs. Wilson went for an automobile ride."

Fireworks Are Taboo Within City Limits

To shoot roman candles, sky rockets or other manner of fireworks within the fire limits of the city of Ranger is a violation of the law and those disobeying its terms will be prosecuted, said Chief of Fire Charles L. Buttomer. Chief Buttomer declared that he hated to take the joy out of life for the small boy, but the danger of fire recurred. The fire limits of the city extend from Hodges street on the west to Thorpe street on the east and from Blackwell road on the south to Cypress street on the north. The restriction only applies to the area described, but Chief Buttomer asks that extreme care be used where fireworks are set off in other parts of the city. The American Legion fireworks exhibit at Shamrock park on Sunday and Monday night is not affected, since the park is out of these limits. However, the display will be carefully safeguarded.

MINISTER NOT IN ACCORD IS OUT OF OFFICE

BUENOS AIRES, June 8.—(By Mail.)—The recent resignation of the Bolivian minister to Brazil, Jose Carrasco, because he was not in accord with his government's aspirations for a port on the Pacific has caused much comment in South American newspapers and revived discussion of the Tacna and Arica case. The newspapers here publish a resume of Senor Carrasco's letter of resignation to his government in which he tells why he cannot fulfill his instructions to work in favor of Bolivia through action of the League of Nations, a port in the Arica zone, whose ownership is disputed by Chile and Peru. The Bolivian diplomat, formerly vice-president of his country, makes an analysis of historical facts which go to show, he says, that Arica always belonged to Peru and that Bolivia has recognized this in various treaties some of which "were sealed by the blood of Peruvians and Bolivians in combats never to be forgotten." Bolivia, he declared, had nevertheless, "followed the policies of Chile" and now mingled in the Tacna and Arica dispute and "compromised her interests in irreparable form." The minister opposes an alliance with Chile of this sort. He adds that the territory desired by Bolivia is foreign territory and that he cannot conceive of the League of Nations "disposing of the territories of the continent on motives of geographical necessity." American nations judge that Bolivia has a right to demand an outlet to the sea, but it is from Chile that she should demand this port—one of the ports which she took from Bolivia in the past, not a port which belongs to Peru, the minister asserts. Chilean and Peruvian newspapers have entered into a sharp controversy over the merits of his argument.

PALMER AND M'ADOO FORCES ARE FRANTIC AS COX HOLDS HIS DELEGATES WELL IN LINE

AUDITORIUM, SAN FRANCISCO, July 4 (12:10 a. m.)—After twenty-two fruitless ballots the Democratic national convention just before midnight gave up hopes of selecting a presidential nominee within the first week of its session and adjourned until 10 o'clock Monday morning. Repeated attempts to adjourn were defeated throughout the early part of the night but as midnight approached and as it was about to become Sunday, the tradition that a Democratic convention never works on Sunday, with the fact that the convention was tired, worn and frazzled, had its effect and the final motion to adjourn was unopposed. When the convention stopped, Cox was leading with 430, McAdoo came next with 372 1/2, and Palmer was down to 166 1/2. The final ballot of the night was full of McAdoo movement but it failed to make much headway. SAN FRANCISCO, July 3.—Third Ballot—No nomination. Leaders: McAdoo 323 1/2, Palmer 252 1/2, Cox 177. Others widely scattered. It was a big gain for McAdoo over the second ballot last night. Fourth Ballot—No nomination. McAdoo 339, Palmer 254, Cox 178. Fifth Ballot—No nomination. McAdoo 357, Palmer 244, Cox 181. Sixth Ballot—McAdoo 368 1/2, Palmer 265 1/2, Cox 176. Seventh Ballot—McAdoo 384, Cox 295 1/2, Palmer 267 1/2. Eighth Ballot—McAdoo 388, Cox 315, Palmer 264. Necessary to nominate, 728. Ninth Ballot—McAdoo 386, Cox 321 1/2, Palmer 257. Tenth Ballot—McAdoo 385, Cox 321, Palmer 257. Eleventh Ballot—McAdoo 380, Cox 332, Palmer 255. Twelfth Ballot—Cox 404, McAdoo 375 1/2, Palmer 201. Thirteenth Ballot—Cox 428 1/2, McAdoo 333 1/2, Palmer 193 1/2. Fourteenth Ballot—Cox 443 1/2, McAdoo 355 1/2, Palmer 182. Fifteenth Ballot—Cox 468 1/2, McAdoo 344 1/2, Palmer 167. Sixteenth Ballot—Cox 454 1/2, McAdoo 337, Palmer 164 1/2, Ambassador Davis 52. Seventeenth Ballot—Cox 442, McAdoo 332, Palmer 176, Davis 57, Owen 36, Cummings 19, Clark 2. Eighteenth Ballot—Cox 458, McAdoo 330 1/2, Palmer 174 1/2, Davis 42. Nineteenth Ballot—Cox 468, McAdoo 327 1/2, Palmer 179 1/2, Davis 31, Owen 37, Cummings 19, Glass 26, Champ Clark 2, Gerard 1. Twentieth Ballot—Cox 456 1/2, McAdoo 340 1/2, Palmer 176, Owen 41, Davis 36. Twenty-first Ballot—McAdoo 395 1/2, Cox 426, Palmer 144, Cummings 7, Davis 54, Owens 36, Glass 26, Clark 2. Twenty-second Ballot—Cox 430, McAdoo 372 1/2, Palmer 166 1/2, Davis 52, Owen 35, Cummings 6.

COMMITTS SUICIDE UPON DEATH BED BESIDE HIS WIFE

International News Service. BOSTON, July 3.—Edward R. Freeman and his wife on whose death he committed suicide, rest side by side in Forest Hills cemetery. Freeman's love for his wife was so great that when he realized that she was dying his grief overcame him and he killed himself rather than survive her living. But before Freeman's body reached the grave which for him symbolized union after death, society's stern laws against self-destruction exacted their toll for conviction. The bodies of Freeman and his wife started from their Rosindale home in the one funeral procession. Freeman's church had already given its religious consolation. The double funeral procession proceeded to the Sacred Heart church in Rosindale. There a mass or requiem was said for the soul of Mrs. Freeman. Whether by design or chance Mrs. Freeman's body was not taken into the church as is the custom. It remained outside in the love of her husband who preferred the wife to life.

CONCLUSION OF RAIL HEARINGS IS NOW STARTED

WASHINGTON, July 3.—Concluding arguments on the application of the railroads of the country for increased freight rates to net an additional billion dollars yearly revenue was begun today before the interstate commerce commission by representatives of shippers. Shippers, generally, conceded the need for increased revenues by which the roads might give adequate transportation service but differed as to methods for providing the returns. R. V. Fulbright of Houston, Texas, representing the Southwestern Industrial Traffic League, advocates a separate treatment asked by the carriers of the Southwest as distinct from the western classification territory of which they are a part.

HARDING STARTS RETURN TRIP TO HIS HOME TOWN

WASHINGTON, July 3.—Senator Harding, the Republican presidential candidate, tonight was on the way back to his home town of Marion, Ohio, following his automobile. He is expected to reach Marion Monday at noon. There the home folks are planning an elaborate home-coming celebration to honor the first visit home of the senator since his nomination. No announcement of the candidate's immediate plans preceded his departure but his first public entrance will come on July 22 when he is formally notified of his nomination. AFTER THIRTY YEARS. International News Service. PEORIA, Ill., July 3.—Back! Turn back, oh time in thy flight. Nearly thirty years ago Reginald Pitney loved a lassie. But, alas, she apparently loved another, for she married a young man named Brewer. Heartbroken, Pitney enlisted in the Spanish-American war. After it he went to Rock River, Wyo., where he became cashier of a bank. A short time ago Mr. Brewer died. Pitney heard of it, came back, "popped" the question to Mrs. Brewer who answered "yes." The marriage followed. Dull romance had its sweet climax.

MEXICANS CELEBRATE AMERICAN HOLIDAY

MEXICO CITY, July 3.—The members of provisional President De La Huerta's cabinet and the diplomatic corps attended a ceremony today in honor of American Independence day. The celebration was under the auspices of the American colony here. Miguel Yavaruzias, secretary of foreign relations, appeared as the personal representative of the president, who, at the last moment, found he would be unable to attend. Patriotic speeches were delivered by members of the American colony.

MCADOO WAS NOT ANXIOUS WHILE HE AWAITED RETURN

HUNTINGTON, N. Y., July 3.—William Gibbs McAdoo tonight apparently was unconcerned with what was going on at the San Francisco convention. He attended a Shakespearean pageant at the Conkling estate and on his return to his home again declined to discuss politics for publication. During the afternoon and evening friends in New York kept him informed by telephone of the balloting. Other happenings at the convention were supplied by newspaper men who were invited by McAdoo. IF AFRAID AMERICANS WILL DOMINATE ISLE. International News Service. LONDON, July 3.—"I am a prophet and by the visions I have had I am able to tell the country what times lies before it," Thomas Carter, a barefoot fanatic declared, after he had appeared suddenly in Westminster Abbey and snuffed out the altar candles as a service offered. "A great crisis has arisen, and if there be no general repentance of the people then the people of the great country of America will come and dominate England."

HE IS CLOSE— HE IS CLOSER— HE IS CLOSEST—

A. MITCHELL PALMER, United States attorney general, went to the convention wholly assured of winning, but he stepped into third running place on the seventh ballot and there he remained with little change in the number of his votes. WILLIAM GIBBS M'ADOO sits placidly at home in the East as the battle rages. He took the lead on the start, but dropped behind Cox after a few ballots were taken. Tammany Hall is his chief opponent.

SOMETHING IS WRONG. WHO IS TO BLAME? WHAT ARE YOU GOING TO DO ABOUT IT?

The Daily Times has no axe to grind, no candidate to elect; no favors to show anyone. It is indebted to no one except the public and that debt it to expose wrongful acts and corruption in both city and county politics. Its only interest is in the proper growth and prosperity of Eastland county and the proper administration of the government. It is for the best men, entirely regardless of political beliefs. It is, however, forced to admit that there are men seeking office in the coming election who are utterly unfit for the positions to which they aspire. These men who seek office may expect the Daily Times to tell the truth about them. The voters of the county have a right to know the facts as to the character and capacity of those who ask for their suffrage. A special writer, thoroughly familiar with the conditions, past and present in Eastland county, has been engaged to present these facts to readers of the Daily Times. (This is the first of a series of articles on conditions in Eastland county.) Less than three years ago Eastland county was principally distinguished because of the fact that few people knew it was in existence. Where dozens of oil district roads now wind their way through the brush and timber, up the ravines and across the hills and mountains, rabbits, coons and coyotes then had their dens, burrows and secluded retreats and undisturbed possessions. The coons went stealthily into the neighboring fields during the day and came howling home at night. The citizens participated in their camp meetings and local gossip and political upheavals. They raised their hogs and cotton and corn and fruits and vegetables, and occasionally some fellow would raise the mortgage and thereby verify the suspicion that he had received more than his share of the campaign slush fund during a preceding election. Lawyers Avoided Starvation.

LIFE IN PRISON JURY'S VERDICT IN SLAYING CASE

WARRENSBURG, Mo., July 3.—A verdict of guilty was returned today by the jury trying James Bradley also known as Tom Clark, charged with murder in connection with the killing of sheriff Joe Talbot and two deputies of LaFayette County in May 1919. The verdict also specified a sentence of life imprisonment should be pronounced on the prisoner. The sheriff and his deputies were found slain and the three prisoners whom they were taken from Marshall to Lexington, Mo., had escaped.

MANY MEXICANS ARE OUT ON STRIKES

MEXICO CITY, July 3.—Twenty-two thousand, five hundred workmen are striking in various parts of the republic, according to El Universal, today. HOUSTON POPULATION. WASHINGTON, July 3.—The population of Houston, Texas, is 138,076, an increase of 59,276, or 75.2 per cent.

HE IS CLOSE— HE IS CLOSER— HE IS CLOSEST—

Chairman Glass, of the resolutions committee, who spoke for President Wilson in the framing of the party platform, declared in talking with friends, that it "must not be Cox," and when asked what would happen if Cox got the majority of the convention and according to custom the expected two-thirds vote, Glass replied that "Champ Clark had a majority but failed to secure nomination is only recent political history." Several things seemed to stand out above the noise and clamour and discomfort of the day's balloting. Principal among them was the fact that the McAdoo movement had not taken on the "Glacial movement" which its boomers had predicted for it and that the Cox people who were openly very discouraged one day, two ago picked up solid and constant and consistent gains which amazed their opponents in the convention. The Palmer people dwindled away much to the dismay of the Pennsylvania men who loyally stood by the attorney general all the way through. The recess was ostensibly for dinner, but really gave the opposing forces their much needed opportunity to find some sort of common ground. The little prospect of a get-together between the three leaders and the indications were that the successful would be obliged to concentrate on a stark horse. Just before the sixteenth ballot started, Tom Love of Texas, one of McAdoo's managers, approached the Palmer managers asking for a conference to prevent Cox's nomination. He invited Vance McCormick of Pennsylvania to join the conference. Two ago picked up solid and constant and consistent gains which amazed their opponents in the convention. Failure to nominate on the sixteenth plainly threw the leaders off their feet and they were at a loss as to what to do. The auditorium was thrown into confusion. The convention recessed until 10 o'clock tonight, Texas time, when the seventh ballot will be taken. After sixteen ballots to find a presidential nominee, the democratic convention found itself in a practical deadlock after having been in session eight continuous hours, during which it disposed of ballots at the rate of thirty minutes each, recessed for rest and conference to resume at eight o'clock this evening. Just before the sixteenth ballot started Thomas Love of Texas, one of the McAdoo managers, approached the Palmer people asking for a conference to talk over some means of stemming the Cox slide and preventing his nomination. Love asked Vance McCormick of the Pennsylvania delegation and former representative of the Cox boom growing in the convention made no secret of their

Something Is Wrong!

in those days was a risky business if the unfortunate party had any sense of shame and desired to avoid publicity. News items were scarce in those days and a thing of this sort was good for a whole column in every weekly newspaper in the county and a detailed account in the city dailies. There was one district court, having jurisdiction over five counties; but outside of having jurisdiction, it didn't have much to do, with the exception of such cases as were continued because of absent witnesses or by reason of the defendant vs. the state failing to show up. The docket was usually cleaned up during the term. And the grand jury would visit the jail and inspect the basement of the courthouse and issue a statement complimenting the court and all the county officers for their efficiency and courtesies, return a few indictments for crap shooting, disturbing public worship, violating the Sunday law, and occasionally throw in a felony for good measure.

It is said that a glacier moves only a few feet in a century. A tarapin has a glacier skinned mighty badly when it comes to speed. But a glacier isn't the slowest thing that ever was. Three years ago a glacier had the swiftest town in Eastland county skinned considerably in the matter of activity.

Then something happened and the glacier lost the race by a million miles in a few minutes.

Something Happened.

Perhaps ninety-nine per cent. of the total population of the country was headed for Sunday school when the news broke out.

A fire in the corner grocery and in every residential block in every town in Eastland county wouldn't have had a more disastrous effect on the Sunday school attendance that day.

A nation-wide riot headed for the oil fields in Eastland county.

Into no other part of the United States have so many people ever before poured in the same length of time.

Nowhere else on earth was there ever a more instantaneous and complex mixture and mingling of money, millions, meanness, madness and imagination.

They came by thousands: good people and bad people; highjackers and high-rollers; sports and spenders. Soon the railroads were swarmed. Passenger trains were loaded to the limit; embarrases were necessary to take care of the freight and express business. The public highways were lined and crowded with autos coming and going, and every auto was loaded. Hotel accommodations did not exist, and sleeping and eating was a question of hustle, luck and satisfaction with whatever the visitor found.

They came from everywhere. They came with money and without money but they all came hunting money and expecting to find it. Everybody had a scheme. Some of them had dozens of schemes. Schemes were the only things more plentiful than money and there was lots of money. Yes, those people came from everywhere, and many of them for reasons, were not particular about giving their former addresses and occupations.

It was a scrambling, jostling, hurrying mass of humanity. It was void of shape or form or fixed purpose as a whole. Individually it was the same thing with one ultimate theme in view—Money.

And the towns with their few homes, sleepy, happy ways and limited number of stores with their shelf-worn wares, quickly spread into the surrounding hills and farms and pastures. These towns where formerly a whoop after dark meant that the whooper would likely be run down and soaked $11.50 for disturbing the peace, became a riot of din and noise, chugging autos and a storm of human voices throughout the day and night. These towns became conglomerations of tents and shacks and open air camps. People slept wherever they could and ate whatever they could get, wherever and whenever they could get it. It was tough life, pollock, hardships and high hopes. There was mud in the streets, filth in the alleys, flies in the soup and money in everything. Prices, hopes and rents soared. Dim lights flickered through the cracks in the shacks, the dim glow hovered about hundreds of camp fires and the tower lights gleamed from distant derricks. The highjacker skulked in the darkness that enveloped him as a friend and conspirator with and terrified him as an accomplice. Pickpockets serged and jostled with the crowd, a statement which can be verified by court records and victims galore.

RANGER SHRINERS ON PICNIC MONDAY TO WYLES CANYON

Ranger Shriners and their families will make merry at Wyles Monday at the Shrine picnic celebrating the holiday. Speeches, a baseball game, contests and oiled baskets will be attractions. The trip to the picnic spot will be made in cars over one of the prettiest roads leading out of Ranger. The scenic attractiveness of the Wyles canyon has been made accessible recently by work on the road by oil companies with traffic in the direction.

Lists of the Shriners who will attend have been taken at F. E. Langston's barber shop, on Main street, and at the Oil City drug store.

FORT WORTH MEN ON SPECIAL TRIP TO BRECKENRIDGE

Twenty-five Fort Worth business men will leave the Panther city at 8:45 tonight in a Pullman special over the Texas & Pacific railroad to Breckenridge. They should arrive here shortly after midnight and the car will lay over in the yards until morning.

They will catch the 6:30 a. m. passenger train to Breckenridge and return to Fort Worth Monday night.

R. C. Hearne, Leon Gross, Joe Sanger, W. M. Massey, Ben E. Keith, George H. Clifford and a number of others are planning to make this trip.

On account of the late hour at which the train will arrive here, no entertainment is planned for the visitors at this place. R. B. Waggoner of the Times and other business men are planning to accompany them to Breckenridge.

As paved streets have supplanted the mudholes, as sanitary laws have removed the stench from the alleys, as magnificent structures have adorned the site once covered with weeds or occupied by shacks, so must the law of the tribe beautify and purify itself socially and industrially.

Something is radically wrong. Who is to blame? What are you going to do about it? Be careful how you point your finger of scorn at the party you think guilty. Although you never hold an official position, though you never sat on a jury or served as a witness, though you may belong to no clan or clique, faction and in your own eyes and estimates you are guiltless, you may be one of the parties most deeply implicated. There will have to be considerable testimony introduced and much argument within the records before a full determination and proper verdict can be reached in your case. Whomsoever you are, being one of the possible defendants, you had better watch the trial of the case.

Parrish No Deputy Sheriff, Lawrence Says Emphatically

Byron Parrish, former chief of police of Ranger, was not acting as a deputy sheriff in the visit of Sheriff R. E. Lawrence and his men to Desdemona to prevent trouble this week following a pair of fist fights between deputy John Blossom and Desdemona residents, according to the sheriff.

Sheriff Lawrence Saturday telephoned to the Times to say that Parrish, although armed, and assisting the officers, was not a deputy sheriff.

"I don't want the people of Ranger to think that Parrish is a deputy of mine," said Sheriff Lawrence. "He never has been. He went voluntarily on the trip to Desdemona, as any citizen might, to help the boys."

NEGRO BOUND OVER TO GRAND JURY IN COMPLAINT OF WOMEN

Lee Lewis, negro, was charged today in the court of Justice of the Peace McFatter with the crime of criminal assault and was bound over to wait the action of the grand jury. Bond was set at $2,000.

The complaint was filed by Louise Debose who said the negro assaulted her in the Opera House rooms on Pine street. Lewis was sent to Eastland and placed in the county jail.

SPECIAL TRAIN IN HOLIDAYS, RUNNING FROM BRECKENRIDGE

The Wichita Falls, Ranger & Ft. Worth railroad will run a special train from Breckenridge to Ranger today and tomorrow to accommodate visitors to this city from the oil fields of Stephens county. The train will leave Breckenridge at 9:10 a. m. both days and is due here at 11:05 a. m. It will run only one way.

A large traffic is being developed between here and Breckenridge.

AUTOMOBILE PARTY ON TRIP TO STRAWN CREEK

A number of residents of Young and Burger additions are planning a picnic to Strawn creek today. The trip will be made in cars. Included in the party are Dr. and Mrs. Lauderdale, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Smith, C. H. Moffett and family, Mrs. W. A. Cunningham and small son Miss E. E. Burger and a number of others.

FLAMES TAKE STEVENS HOME ON WEST SIDE

Fire of unknown origin broke out in the home of L. S. Stevens in Highland Park last night at 8:30 o'clock. The building, which was one of frame construction, was totally destroyed with most of its contents. The estimated loss is placed at $5,250, partially covered by insurance.

The fire department promptly responded to the alarm, but because the house was situated on the top and north end of Eastland hill no fire plugs were available to which the men could attach a line of hose.

The Stevens family had been away from home several hours before the fire broke out.

PERSONALS

E. H. Pierson, state fire commissioner, is in Ranger on a tour of inspection.

M. A. Turner has returned from a business trip to El Paso.

C. W. Tatum, advertising manager of the Richardson-Brown stores, left for Dallas last night after a five-day visit to this city. Mr. Tatum's home is at Athens, Texas, where one of the Richardson-Brown stores is located.

Mrs. W. A. Cunningham and son Norbert of Cisco are visiting C. H. Moffett and family of Burger addition.

Mrs. P. H. Johnson and little daughter Bonnie Jeanne of Fort Smith, Arkansas, are visiting Miss Jeanne Nichols of this city.

Mrs. William Gates, Sheriff of Stephens county, Okla., is the first woman sheriff of the Southwest.

The younger members of the American colony in Buenos Aires have formed a girls' club.

You Can't Buy a Thing at the Leader Without making a Generous Saving of Money

—Beyond doubt this is the greatest sale of merchandise we have ever given in the history of our business in Ranger. Coming at a time when even higher prices are staring the merchants of the country in the face, many business men are wondering how it is possible for us to offer such great and unusual price condescensions. Customers are daily surprised when prices are quoted on better quality merchandise such as the Leader Store carries.

Italian Dealers Refuse Requests Of Lower Prices

ROME.—News that food prices in America have dropped, and the cost of clothing also, has greatly agitated the people of Italy, and happy expectations that the example would be followed here have given place to wrath and a grim determination to get storekeepers to follow America's lead at all costs.

Yet the storekeepers remain firm. "The public buys at our prices, why should we bring them down?" is their argument. "Ah, there it is; we have not the American character," say some buyers, and go home to reflect on the fundamental difference between American and Italian temperaments.

But a small and fervid portion of the community refuses to be discouraged by American character, and have solemnly declared that they are going to assume the American character and temperament until the high cost of living goes down. So they are busily organizing the "Consumers' league," its object being to get that drop in food prices that has taken place in New York and other cities.

The tools with which it proposes to work are very simple; so simple that anybody who knows this country despairs of their working. It is just this: All consumers must join to boycott dear food, dress and amusements and adhere to the black list of dear stores which the league promises to furnish.

As dear stores are always full and as the public does not refuse to buy untrimmed straw hats which last year cost a dollar and this year twelve; as the highest priced cafes, restaurants, wine-shops and dry goods stores are the most crowded of all, a few groncheres have already foretold the failure of the league.

"We are not Americans," they say. "And we don't live in America." And the worst of it is that they have hit the truth.

EIGHTEEN KILLED IN WRECK CAUSED BY FALLING POLE

By Associated Press
SCRANTON, Pa., July 3.—In a collision between three cars on the Lackawanna & Wyoming railroad near the South Pittston station at 7:30 tonight eighteen people are reported killed and 100 injured. The accident occurred near South Pittston when lightning struck a telegraph pole along the line of the track and the pole fell over the tracks in front of a car bound for Scranton.

A moment later a limited car crashed into the rear of the car that struck the pole and a third car telescoped the second car. All three cars were piled in a heap.

Many of those killed and injured had attended the annual games of the Caledonian club of Scranton and Pittston at Valley View park this afternoon.

Many of the injured have been taken to the state hospital at Pittston.

PEASANTS IN RUSSIA HAVE ENOUGH FOOD

MOSCOW, June 7. (By Mail).—The condition of the rural population is excellent in the Volga district, owing to the fact that much which has formerly sold is now consumed as money is valueless, the peasants being unable to purchase agricultural implements, seeds, clothing and other manufactured articles.

This was gleaned by the Associated Press correspondent who visited the towns of Nijniyogorod, Simbirsk, Samara, and Saratoff, while on a tour with the English Labor Delegation to Volga recently.

There is an abundance of fresh eggs, butter and milk in most villages and in one town, which was visited, there was 7,000 head of cattle for a population of 5,000.

The system of land tenure varies but in the majority of the villages the peasants are the actual owners of the land, which has been distributed since the revolution, in equal shares for each adult inhabitant.

The government's requisitions are meeting with some opposition but the peasants are permitted to retain 32 peods (1154 pounds) of flour per capita as a yearly ration and must deliver up 100 liters (120 quarts) of milk per cow and 10 eggs per hen per year.

Many of the villages are being organized on a commune basis, notably in the self-governing German commune, with the capital at Marxstadt. The population of the German community is 600,000, all of whom speak the pure German after an absence of 150 years from their native country.

The local government at Marxstadt is well organized with school, hospital, social service, admirable administrative offices, and a number of small industries such as leather factories, flour mills and turning shops. The Germans have formed and sent to the front several regiments of infantry and cavalry, commanded by their own officers.

Politically the villages have been only slightly touched by the revolution, party lines are practically non-existent, and the government seldom interferes in its local matters. The rich peasants are discontented with the present situation owing to the redistribution of land which has deprived them of part of their holdings and which is making the poorer peasants better off than they ever were before.

Evidences of the government's efforts to modernize the rural population appear on every hand by the establishment of schools for adult illiterates, libraries, reading rooms and instruction in the new methods of agriculture.

The food situation in the towns is fairly good though the lack of salt, meat and fats is evident, but the system of food distribution is effective with the speculative prices one-third to one-tenth less than those in Moscow.

The metal works at Nijniyogorod are operating with a force of 17,500, who are turning out war material while the flour mill, cannery factory and several other industries are also being carried on.

The towns of Simbirsk and Samara are still suffering from the effects of Czecho-Slovakian occupation under which the boys under military age have been conscripted for service in Siberia.

According to Sverdloff, the assistant commissar of transportation, the resumption of the river traffic to Volga will enormously increase the supply of industrial fuel. It is estimated that 120,000,000 peods (of 36.07 pounds) of Baku oil will be delivered during the present season, but already 400,000 peods of oil has been received in Nijniyogorod.

COOKED NIGHT MEALS TO PEEVE HIS SPOUSE

International News Service.
SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 3.—Louis Domrath, coal miner, wanted a wife. He wanted one so badly that he promised Mrs. Schmaukucho, with six children by a former marriage, a home and an automobile if she would marry him.

The woman agreed and the ceremony was performed. But all is not gold that glitters, quotes the new Mrs. Domrath in a bill for divorce just filed in the circuit court here. She alleges that Louis is a bungler; that he has no money and that he failed to provide nourishment for her.

Besides, she says, Domrath has an ugly temper. One of his favorite ways of annoying her and the children, she says, is to get up in the night and cook a meal. In doing this he makes great noise and commotion "thereby disturbing the peaceful rest, sleep and peace of herself and the children."

Mid-summer Clearance Sale

The Response Was Quick and Enthusiastic, the Buying Extremely Liberal on the Opening Day of Our Sale, Friday

We were especially well pleased at the reception given our Mid-Summer Clearance Sale, on the opening day. No sale ever came at a better time for you than this offering of Summer merchandise at the height of the Summer season. We could make more by carrying these stocks over. But it pays us in the long run to give old friends a chance in merchandise they will always remember us for.

This Sale Offers Worth While Savings On Summer Wear for the Women

SPRING AND SUMMER SUITS AND DRESSES Representing the largest and most exclusive assortment in the city. Offered during this sale—One-Half Off

BIG REDUCTIONS ON ALL SILK FABRICS Including every new and popular material for this season now on sale at almost One-Half their former selling value.

SPRING AND SUMMER MILLINERY In fact every hat in the store, excepting new arrivals in Fall styles, are now selling at—One-Half Off

Every department in our store contributes tremendous savings opportunities. Hosiery, Gloves, Underwear, Traveling Bags, Trunks, Luggage of all descriptions, Corsets, Brasieres, Sheets, Toweling, Piece Goods—all on sale at savings amounting to One-Third to One-Half off regular values.

Our Men's Section
Offers Many Radical Reductions During This Sale
—Silk Shirts of superb quality; Hosiery, Shoes, Suits from such standard makers as Hart, Schaffner & Marx and Fashion Park, Straw Hats—in fact, everything in the store is now reduced to as low a margin as possible in order to make quick clearance of all Spring and Summer goods. We urge you to see what we are offering.

TRUTHFUL ADVERTISING
The Boston Store firmly believes in truthful advertising. That which is unworthy carries its own punishment, and its own penalty—its true character is inevitably disclosed in due time, even though a temporary prosperity comes to it through untruthful methods of publicity.
Candidly, we would rather have you come into our store expecting little for your money and receiving true value, than to leave, feeling you had been enticed into our place of business through an advertisement that you later felt was a fraud.
We are constantly striving for new friends, and for new business. We want to serve you in a manner that will make your remembrance of this firm a pleasure. We realize we must have your utmost confidence to do this.

SHOES
For Men, Women and Children are selling at Unusually Low Prices
—Every pair of Shoes in our Shoe Section is offered during this Mid-Summer Clearance event at a reduction of 20 per cent off prices already remarkable for their lowness.

IN THE GOOD OLD DAYS.

In glancing through an old volume in the office library the other day, one of the employes came across a letter dated Aug. 16, 1887, addressed to the editor of the News. "Inclosed," read the letter, "you will find a clipping from the Omaha Bee which I wish you would be kind enough to publish in your paper. The order of railroad telegraphers was started last year for the purpose of trying to better the condition of the profession, and as they wish to bring their wrongs before the public as much as possible to enlist their sympathies, I would feel greatly obliged if you would publish the inclosed with any comment you may wish to make."

At this date the News would hardly wish to make any comment on the clipping which was inclosed; nor indeed does it feel it possible, because of the paper shortage, to republish all of the matter contained in the clipping from the Omaha paper. But some of the facts contained in the clipping are interesting just now as a sidelight on labor conditions thirty-three years ago this summer; and because of this, and to do a certain beated justice to the sender of the letter, who perhaps is now dead and gone, we append the following extract from the inclosure which we were asked in 1887 to reprint, but which, for some reason or other, never saw the light. The clipping was in the nature of a communication to the Omaha Bee, and said in part:

"A section hand can go right to work without any previous experience and get his $1.10 a day, or perhaps $1.25, with no responsibility on his shoulders whatsoever; and when six o'clock comes he is his own boss until 7 o'clock the next morning. All his Sundays are his own. But how different with the operator; exactly the reverse. He has to work at some lone night office at $25 or $30 per month, or as a helper to some agent at perhaps $15 per month. If he doesn't do this or that, there are plenty of men ready to jump at his place like a pickerel at a frog."

An eleven-hour day and a wage of $1.15 for unskilled labor! This thirty-three years ago this coming August. Verily, the world do move!—Dallas News.

INDEPENDENCE DAY.

Independence Day always has been a day large in our lives. In younger times, before it was qualified by legislation tending toward sanity, it was a day of noise and casualties, celebrated from faint dawn until weary night with incessant attacks on the ear drums, and at the best, burned fingers and trousers and shirts ventilated with powder holes.

Fourth July, second in appeal to the imagination of young America to but one other day, Christmas. Hardly second to it for the mind of the youngster moves more quickly in response to the thrill of patriotic appeal, to blare of music and flash of national colors and to bombardment of cannon crackers and toy pistols than of the deeper appeal that the significance of Christmas carries.

Much of the day's clamor and terror for mothers has been removed by well directed legislation. There is still the attack on the ear drums of impassioned oratory, vote-seeking, but the nerve shock perhaps is less and the fatalities, certainly, are fewer.

The Fourth of July, its sting removed for the most part, carries still the significance which cannot be reviewed by Americans without a thrill of patriotic fervor. Whatever the qualifications of the candidate who appeals for our ballots through our patriotism, we cannot be unmoved by the train of thought his words put in action.

The day a year ago was meaningful as the first anniversary of our country's birth since the close of the world war. We had sent millions of our best men and boys to a struggle which we believed was made for principles similar to those in which our country was conceived. Many of them had returned. We celebrated the victory they and their buddies had purchased. We commemorated the men who slept in France.

Years do not alter the meaning of the day. But in connection with the tremendous relief that millions felt at the end of the war, special appreciations of Independence Day derived from its anniversary last year.

This year, we embark upon a presidential campaign, forerunner of the real work of construction.

The foibles incident to the machinery of our elections, ably pointed out by deft word workers who sit in the spectators seats, are directed, not at the principles in which the system is founded, but at the human vanities and weaknesses certain to appear in the working out of any human plan. None would be quicker to fight for the ground work of the plan than these same skilled fun-makers.

Ranger takes part in Independence Day this year for the first time as an organized city, with the beginning of a civic spirit. Civic unity is the local demonstration of cement which binds together the many and widely variant units of our country. Its evidence, locally, is given this year in the varied plans for observance of Independence Day.

For the first time, Independence Day finds Ranger as a well formed, well defined

You rolled and tossed restlessly all night and got up feeling worse than when you went to bed. Your tongue was coated. There was a bitter taste in your mouth. Your breath was sour. How many times has this happened? Are you going to wait until you get down sick before you act—before you get Pepsinol and let it correct the digestive faults that are wrecking your nerves and thinning your blood?

Pepsinol acts directly on the causes of stomach trouble. It insures complete digestion and the assimilation of all the food that creates strength, blood, nerves and tissues. Its use will keep your brain and body healthy, your nerves calm and steady.

 I notice your statement published yesterday, that you are planning to print a series of articles relating to the qualifications of the numerous candidates for local and county offices. Such a series ought to be of great service to all voters and especially to new comers. I hope you will publish "the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth," and that you will put it good and strong; and that if you publish anything that isn't true you will be called good and strong. Let's have the series and let it be complete.

BEAUTY HINTS

If you have palpitation of the heart the best thing to do is to see your doctor. It may of course come from nothing more serious than indigestion. In that case, going on a light diet would be all you need. But to make sure see your doctor.

If your hair is turning gray at the age of 24 you had better give yourself treatment to improve the health of your scalp rather than to attempt to cover up the gray hair by using a dye. If you will send me a letter with a self-addressed, stamped envelope enclosed I will send you my own formula for an excellent hair tonic. You may need violet ray treatments. These are frequently the very best thing to prevent premature grayness.

If you persist in ruffing your hair of course it will break off and become thin. This is one of the very worst things that you can do. If you have a lot of dandruff, rub the scalp with sulphur ointment a few days before you shampoo it and rub a little oil into the scalp immediately after the shampoo.

If a bad breath is not caused by the teeth it is due to indigestion, constipation or catarrh. Take a cake of compressed yeast every day, dissolve in water; or a daily teaspoonful of agar softened in water, for the constipation. Eat only simple, easily digested foods and drink plenty of water to cure the indigestion. If you suspect catarrh, spray out the nose and throat frequently with some good antiseptic.

Simple Method of Canning Pineapple
 Pineapple season is here and everyone knows what a tedious job it is to prepare this fruit for use. I find this a very quick and successful method. First select nice ripe fruit. Slice it in one-half-inch slices, take an old pair of scissors and remove the peeling. Then take a doughnut cutter and remove the hard centers. Blanch in hot water for a few minutes. Place fruit in jars and seal tight, then turn the lid of the jar one-half turn back. Place the jars in racks in a boiler of water, and let boil 30 minutes. Remove jars from boiler and tighten the lids. Set in a dark place until ready to use.—Mrs. H. P. Peddick, Festus, Mo., Box 196.

Telescope Man Leads You Afield IN REALM OF STAR DUST AND DREAMS And Brings You Back With Bang

BY PAUL YATES.
 Residents of Ranger have become accustomed to seeing an elderly man sitting on a stool in the street after nightfall with a telescope mounted on a tripod. At times he focuses the telescope afresh and at times he gazes through it, and again he collects dimes from persons who have despaired of the earth and are willing to risk a little amount to see if they can locate a "drop of moisture" on the moon.

Such is the routine of the "telescope man." No other calling is more dependent on the whims of the weather. A moonshiny night is most welcome to him, not for sentimental reasons but because it brings many dimes from curious persons who wish to see how our nearest celestial neighbor looks. A cloudy or rainy night puts him temporarily out of business.

The telescope man sets up his instrument on Main street about dark. In the early hours of the night he trains it on Jupiter or Saturn. He is indebted to these planets for the price of many a ham sandwich and bottle of near-beer. If communication ever is established with Mars and the inhabitants of that warlike planet have the art of taxation anywhere near as perfect as it is in this country, the telescope man will have to pay the Martians an excess profit tax on a long budget of dimes.

When business gets slack with reference to the planets, the telescope man is ready to point out the beauties of the moon. He will explain that his instrument magnifies the moon 300 diameters and one can readily see through the lenses the hilly surface of the "emotional orb."

An important part of his business is to answer questions. He is a com-

 Never hang silk material out doors to dry. It takes out all the shine and leaves it dull looking, while drying it indoors keeps it new looking.
 The best sunbonnet for every day wear can be made by using straw matting for the brim. Plain floor matting may be used, trimming it all around with cloth. You need not wash this all season, as the rain will never ruin it.

It cannot be said that the chief was trying to find fault, in fact he did not expect to find anything wrong. The brass fittings of the engine shone with a dull splendor. Every nozzle and hose line was in its place, the red paint on the trucks had been polished until it resembled the glassy surface of a tranquil pool.
 The chief's eyes were beginning to reflect the admiration one feels for a thing of beauty. Then admiration died. In its place came a look of sadness as though he had been doubled-crossed by his best friend. He turned to his captain and in a kind voice said, "Page the Wop." The captain in turn called to one of the privates to "Page the Wop."
 It is not known whether the act of the private was malicious and born of desire to give the world a deep secret, or whether he spoke in an unguarded moment without giving the possible results of his act due deliberation. It is to be doubted that the act was born of malice since the members of the fire department appear to be on the friendliest terms. But regardless of the cause the private, when instructed by his superior to "Page the Wop" called out in loud tones for

GREATER PRODUCTION NEEDED TO SOLVE ECONOMIC ISSUES, GOVERNOR COOLIDGE ASSERTS

BURLINGTON, Vt., July 3.—American citizens were urged to accept the greater responsibilities of a world of freedom and political freedom and to employ their moral force in solving the problems of the future, in an address by Governor Calvin Coolidge of Massachusetts, Republican candidate for vice-presidency, at the University of Vermont commencement.

The degree of doctor of laws was conferred upon him. The university graduated a class of 125.

"The conflicts of the past six years," Governor Coolidge said, "have strengthened the determination of all America's citizens, now as in the past, to resist all aggression and support and defend her political institutions with whatever power may be necessary for their preservation and the maintenance of the larger liberties they bestow upon all her citizens.

"It is absolutely impossible for the public to evade or shift the burden of meeting the cost of the war and paying the public debt. This is our part of the price of victory. Until this is met a higher range of costs will be the price of prosperity. There has been, and still is in certain cases, a range of artificially high prices that has not been caused by, but has resulted in profiteering. There is but one sure remedy for this, and that is an increase of production. This always is the result of a long process, and its application requires patience and forbearance.

SCHOOL TAXES FOR 1920 TO TOTAL $90,000

The Ranger independent school district will begin the coming school year with a potential income of about $90,000. This result is reached from the returns of the school taxes as have been assessed and tabulated by E. A. Ringold, city tax assessor and collector.

A property valuation of $11,290,670 has been rendered in the school district. This is not a complete rendition and Mr. Ringold said that he was sure the final tabulation would run in excess of $12,500,000.

The school tax is fifty cents on each $100. On this basis, from this source, $62,000 will be made available to support the schools.

In addition the Ranger district has $8 per capita coming from the taxes of the state. The past scholastic census gave Ranger a total of 3,000 children of school age, making revenue from this source.

Added to this will be several thousand dollars due from the poll taxes collected from the county.

In disbursing the fund, $10,000 will be used to pay interest on the school debt; $5,000 will be used as a sinking fund, and it is estimated that it will require $50,000 to pay teachers' salaries during the next school year.

All the war schools will start the terms in new and modern brick buildings, which will replace the frame structures that were erected to care for the rush of pupils when the boom hit Ranger.

The Central school building as well as the frame houses which were built on the lot will be continued next year as they stand.

However, it is expected that by the time the 1921 school year starts new buildings will have replaced them.

JOHN-A-DREAMS

LXVI. DREAMS OF PLEASURE ARE OFT VISIONS OF PAIN.

So many letters have reached me in which my readers relate dreams of pleasure of various sorts, that I shall devote this chapter to a subject not at all cheerful to contemplate. In most cases, such dreams "go by contraries." I can not, of course, mention all the pleasurable sensations that may come to dreamers—they are too varied and at time so surprising that human ingenuity can not imagine them all. But, in a general way, I must set down this principle:

"Dreams of pleasure are visions of pain."

Mind you, I do not mean ordinarily pleasurable sensations or the feeling of pleasurable contentment. What I have in mind are super-high delights, such as extreme transports of love, explosive laughter of the immoderate sort, gorging with food, and the like. Such dreams should never be welcome.

For, if you dream that your love passes is free from the fetters of daylight's reoccur, you will experience love hunger without love food, disappointment and disillusionment; or, if a dream of this sort is followed in life by an exultant love adventure, the dredge will be bitter and a few hours of elation will be succeeded by months of bitterness and regrets.

Those who dream that they are feasting high, eating and drinking to excess and imagining themselves happy in the experience, are both on the threshold of meagre and lean days, privations and losses.

Dreams that you are screaming with laughter, and you will have reason to shed bitter tears. If others are guffawing, you will in the near future witness a tragedy which will affect you deeply, though it will not concern you directly.

In other words, exorbitant dream manifestations of pleasure are evil, proving that Death travels in pleasure's footsteps 'round the world, When pleasure trends the paths that reason shuns.

H. C. M., Care TIMES

And so, if in other dream interpretations you have found that pleasurable emotions or experiences really mean pleasant things, you must always bear in mind that in those cases I referred to matters that give moderate enjoyment, but not those of which it has been said:

But not e'en pleasure to excess is good:

What most elates, then sinks the soul as low:

When spring-tide joy flows in with copious flood,

The higher still the exulting billows flow.

The further back again the flagging go, And leave us groveling on the dreary shore.

I have mentioned only a few instances of joy unconfined—and unrefined. Your occasional dreams will supply the rest. No need of asking me the meaning of such riots of the sleeping soul—you can apply them yourselves. Yet, should they be connected with exceptional circumstances, write me confidently and I shall answer in such manner that only you and I will know that your slumbers led you into chaos.

In the next chapter I will tell you of Dream of the Devil.

ACTIVE CHIEF ASKS CITIZENS TO CO-OPERATE

In a letter to the Times which he requests be published, Eugene Reynolds, acting chief of police, asks that all citizens co-operate with him in keeping down violation of the law.

Especially does he request that any conduct of any officer of the police force which is unbecoming either as an officer or as a citizen be reported to him. The letter follows:

To the Citizens of Ranger:

I have recently been appointed acting chief of police of this city and whether for short or long duration, while I hold office, I earnestly desire to do my duty and respectfully solicit co-operation of the citizenship of this community. I am desirous of obtaining information from you of any violations of the law occurring in the city and with that end in view I request all information concerning any violations of the law on the part of any officer of this department as well as any other citizen; or also facts of any maltreatment of citizens (if any) by officers, or misconduct, if any occurs, on the part.

I assure you one and all that prompt action will be taken by me to co-operate with you to remedy all evils occurring in the city. If we all work together, conditions can be improved upon for the betterment of Ranger.

Thanking you in advance, I am your obedient servant,

EUGENE REYNOLDS, Acting Chief of Police

Ranger Firemen Efficient As Any In Whole State

E. H. Pierson, state fire inspector, who is here from Austin and together with Fire Chief Charles L. Buttner is investigating recent fires, declared last night that Ranger had as efficient fire department as was maintained in any town in the state, regardless of size. His department, Mr. Pierson said, was well pleased with the efficiency with which recent fires had been handled here.

Mr. Pierson, in discussing the situation, gave the present fire chief credit for the standing of the local department with his department at Austin.

AFTER FINE ROAD TRIP, NITROS MAY GO INTO FIRST PLACE TIE; TODAY'S GAME—EAGLES—DECIDES

With two Buddies sculps at their belts, the winning Nitros, in a tie for second honors at the start of the second half of the West Texas league season, and within shot of first place, with a game with the league leaders today to settle it, the Nitros breeze back home from the best road trip of the year.

Leaving the home lot with three straight victories behind them, even the Resorters, they did the same to the Eastland Judges, our rivals on the west, and then took two of three with the Gorman Buddies in the opening series of the second half. Of the last nine played, they have won eight, and in a road trip, five of six. Not at all bad, when it is considered that the Judges and Buddies are among the toughest in the circuit, finishing, two, three in the first half.

Home in Cars. Ranger fans went over to Gorman in automobiles to bring the Nitros home last night, so that they would miss the hard train trip, which would keep them up half of the night.

The string of victories has not taken any of the Nitros reserve strength, either. No club in the league has the pitching of our own boys right now, and on this, Ranger fans may have good hopes for winning second half laurels.

Right now, after eight victories out of nine, there are four Nitro pitchers ready to work—Carter, Hudspeh, Hill and Edgar.

It was not Lefty Adkins' turn to work Saturday, as he had pitched Thursday, but he felt so disappointed over the loss of the first game and so confident of victory that Jim turned him loose with the result of another game in the won column.

According to a telegram from Jim before moving into the Buddies yesterday, the Nitros will line up today like this:

- York, 1b.
Clapp, cf.
Mooney, cf.
Galloway, ss.
Tate, 3b.
Loveless, rf.
Mason, 2b.
Penn, c.
Carter, p.

Nick Carter, who has slab honors for our boys today, has pitched twice for the Nitros and won twice. He probably will oppose Monk Harrell or Carl Hill. Carl Hill, Gomez Hill and Smokey Joe Gaines have been doing all of the work for the Eagles lately and Carl has had but two days rest. Nick has not pitched since he beat Eastland, Wednesday.

"Fighting hard and in good shape" was the word from Jim, with the line-up, with everything pretty, they open the second half, at Municipal park, at 4 p. m. today.

Two with the Cisco Scouts for the holiday, will start at 3 p. m. Monday.

Special to The Times. GORMAN, July 3.—Lefty Adkins, whose blow-up in the ninth innings of the opening game permitted the Buddies to pile up four runs and win, staged a come-back, with one day's rest, when he went out today and won, 10 to 4. Hits and opportune errors helped the Nitros to their counters.

Manager Jim Galloway hit one of the longest drives that has been seen in this park and Johnson and Fuller also scored home runs.

The Nitros took an early lead, with two in the third. They increased this lead by three each in the fourth and fifth and though Adkins cased up and let the locals run over four in the seventh, the game never was in doubt. Baldrige, Gorman's star southpaw, attempted to take home another victory from the series, but was nipped for six hits and eight runs in the six innings he worked. Fuller and Johnson finished.

Table with columns: Player, AB, R, H, PO, A, E. Rows for Taylor, lf; Gray, 3b; Fuller, 2b; Gressett, cf; Sturdy, 1b; Burkhead, ss; Whitney, c; King, rf; H. Baldrige, p; Johnson, p; Smith, rf; Totals.

Summary. Pitchers' statistics, six hits and eight runs off Baldrige in six innings; sacrifice hits, Gray; home runs, Galloway, Johnson and Fuller; struck out, by Baldrige 3, by Adkins 3, by Johnson 5; bases on balls, off Baldrige 3, off Adkins 1, off Johnson 5; double plays, Fuller to Sturdy 2; hit by pitcher, Fuller.

RESORTERS STEP OFF WITH THIRD GAME OF OPENING SERIES

Special to The Times. MINERAL WELLS, July 3.—Mineral Wells took the third of the series from Cisco, 4 to 1, in a snappy game. Mead was hit freely, but not in the pinches.

Table with columns: Player, AB, R, H, PO, A, E. Rows for Stiddell, rf; Mathews, lf; Rose, cf; Schiltz, 2b; Nokes, ss; Bockskopf, 1b; Byers, c; Totals.

Summary. LIGHT WEIGHT IS READY FOR BOUT SET FOR MONDAY

By Associated Press. BENTON HARBOR, Mich., July 3.—Charlie White, Chicago lightweight, today finished training for his ten round title contest with Benny Leonard on Monday. Following a six mile run the Chicagoan finished the day with a spirited three rounds in the ring and a round of bag punching and shadow boxing.

The on-coming Cardinals are the talk of the National league right now. Close on the heels of the league-leading Reds they are starting the big leagues with their class. It's the first time in about thirty-two years that the St. Louis fans have had a rip-snorting team and they're just about in the booby-hatch. Ferdie Schupp's hurling, Jack Fournier's game at first and the batting and utility work of Harold Janvrin are contributing factors in the club's climb.

Preparing for Yacht Race Is Detailed Work

By Associated Press. NEW YORK, July 3.—Just prior to the starting of the first race for the America's cup this month off Sandy Hook, Shamrock IV, the challenger, and the American defender of the historic trophy will be towed to a South Brooklyn shipyard for official measurement. This is a very important feature of the big contest and one that is going to create considerable trouble. Upon the outcome of the measurement, will depend the time allowance that will exist between the craft. No one knows what this allowance is going to be although all who are familiar with the situation state, that the challenger will have to give time to the defender.

It is going to be an exceedingly difficult task to measure the cup yachts. For the first time, the big race will be sailed under the universal rule of measurement. The rule reads as follows: "Yachts shall be rated for classification and time allowance according to the following formula: Eighteen per cent of the product of length, multiplied by the square root of sail area, divided by cube root of displacement."

This is an exceptionally complicated rule and one that only yacht designers understand. For the past thirty years in all of America's cup races the measurement of a boat for time allowance has been one-half of the sum of the load water line length and the square root of sail area.

In 1903 and previous years Messrs. Mower and Hyslop simply measured the deck length of a boat, dropped a plumb bob from each end into the water, floated a batten in under the bow and under the stern, measured on the batten the distance from the plumb line to the end of the water-line, forward and aft, and subtracted the sum of these two measurements from the deck length. That gave them the load water-line length. The aid area was measured according to arbitrary methods, but it was assumed to be and very nearly was the measurement area of the sails. To determine the square root of this area was a simple matter and one sum in addition and one in division determined the rating of the boat.

This was the formula even in 1903, although the measurements of boats for other races of the New York Yacht club of that year were made under a rule very similar to the one now in force, but this rule having been adopted early in 1903, and the challenge for the cup races of 1903 having been accepted in the fall of 1902, the old rule of measurement prevailed in the last cup race.

1,230 MOOSE KILLED

International News Service. HALIFAX, July 3.—Official records show that 1,230 moose were killed in this province during the two months of October and November last, which constituted the open season. About the same average number have been taken every season during the past few years.

Other official data disclose facts and figures which are astonishing to those who may have regarded Nova Scotia as a strictly maritime province. Besides being plentifully supplied with moose there are also large numbers of bear, caribou and deer, with lynx and foxes in plenty.

Germans Have Not Destroyed War Material

By MARCEL RAY,
Special Correspondent of the Petit Journal and the International News Service.

BERLIN, July 3.—Scarcely one-fifth of the war material in the hands of the Germans when the armistice was signed has been destroyed, although the treaty of Versailles prescribes its immediate destruction. General Nollet, head of the inter-allied commission of control which has entire charge of the task of supervision of the destruction of the German war machine explained to me the difficulties surrounding the work of the commission.

"Germany," said the general, "still possesses enormous quantities of war material. We have taken over thousands of guns of heavy calibre, but there remain at least five times as many which we know about, besides the hidden stores we are discovering every day. We have constructed more than a hundred centers of destruction which are working constantly. As a matter of fact, we do not actually 'destroy' the guns. We merely render them incapable of military use. The guns are cut into pieces and the metal turned over to the reparations committee to be placed to Germany's credit, or it is sold to German factories as raw material.

"Besides exercising vigilance over the destruction of German armament, the commissioner has another and much more important task to perform. This is the control of the effectiveness of the existing German army. This is something which concerns us not only today but also is a great problem for the future. It is the most difficult of our task because it is constantly complicated by questions of a political order.

"The treaty of Versailles gives the Germans the right to organize police corps without war weapons. The troops of the Einwohnerwehr were organized for war purposes and were armed precisely like those of the Reichswehr. If we find that the Ostwehr come under the same heading we will take immediate action and force the German government to dissolve this corps also."

General Nollet explained the methods by which he is carrying out the surveillance of Germany's military activities.

"The mechanism of our organization," he said, "is very simple. It consists of three sub-commissions. One has charge of German fortifications, another of armament and the third of the effective. Each of these is in charge of a general. To carry out the work of these commissions Germany has been divided into a small number of districts. In each of these districts there is a colonel with his staff and secretaries usually from twenty to thirty persons in all. They work in conjunction with a smaller German staff. If any question comes up which cannot be settled on the spot by these men it is referred to the council of the commission which reaches a decision and transmits it to the German government for execution.

COUNCIL SEEKS TO LEARN JUST WHAT GERMANY MUST PAY

PARIS, June 29.—The date of the financial conference at Brussels has been fixed by the Council of the League of Nations, as July 25, it was announced today. The results of the Spa conference regarding the method of reparations payments to be made by Germany will be previously made known to the Council of the League which will refer them to the Brussels conference with its recommendations as to the issuance of an international loan for the regulation of exchange.

In a letter to the President of the Supreme Council, accompanying the notification of the date of the Brussels conference fixed by the League, Leon Bourgeois, acting for the Council of the League, says that body is strongly convinced that the negotiations with a view to re-establishing the economic situation and the finances of the world cannot be pursued unless the obligations of Germany and her allies and the general financial situation of the former Central Empire be clearly determined.

M. Bourgeois adds that since the League Council proposes to consider the financial situation of the world it will be necessary to invite the Germans to participate in the Brussels conference. The latter expresses the hope that the Spa conference will prepare the way for a final settlement of the questions pending with Germany.

This is the first case in which the Council has assumed an important initiative in international questions and its action is creating considerable interest, particularly since its recommendations that Germany's obligation be clearly determined are taken as support of the theory that the total amount of the reparations should be fixed.

CHINESE PROBLEM NO LONGER WORRY ALONG THE COAST

International News Service.
MEXICO CITY, July 3.—According to government officials the anti-Chinese agitation in the states along the west coast of Mexico has subsided, owing to the action of the new administration in taking steps to enforce the provisions of the treaty between this country and China.

A census of the Chinese in those states shows a total of 8,335, divided as follows: Sonora, 6,270; Sinaloa, 1,600; Navarri, 250, and Colima, 85.

A census of the business activities of the Chinese as compared with natives and foreigners other than Mongolians in the states of Sonora and Sinaloa shows a total of 931 business establishments of the former as compared with 1,460 of the latter.

The Chinese have $5,014,935 invested, while the total investment of natives and

TURKEY'S "TREE OF FATE" DESTROYED BY STORM

JERUSALEM.—A storm recently wrecked a tree known as "bulmi" (tree of fate), which stood outside the city walls and formerly was used as a gallows. Tradition has it that the end would come when "bulmi" perished. To prevent destruction of the Ottoman Empire iron hoops were placed around the withered trunk and the branches were supported by strong posts. All efforts to save the tree were in vain. Orthodox Turks are convinced that the Empire of the Caliphs is doomed since "bulmi" went to pieces.

ACTOR ROLLED ON GROUND TO MAKE HIS SUIT DIRTY

When Bowers came on the set, Director Charles Maigne took one look at him and said, "Get those clothes dirty!" So out went the player to the rear of the Realart lot. There under direction of the assistant director, Bowers slid and rolled in plebian dirt until the nice new look had entirely disappeared.

TOURISTS MAY BE LURED BY DESERT OF SAHARA

ALGHERS.—It is practically certain that a railway across the Sahara desert will be built. It will be 400 miles long and its estimated cost is $150,000,000. While it takes at the present time three weeks to travel from France to Southern Africa, the trip can be made in five days when the Sahara railway is in operation. The transportation of meat from inner Africa to Europe will make the road a paying proposition.

Moore Native of Emerald Isle—Norma Hires Swift Car—Mildred On Location—"Bringing Up Father"—Stars Rejoice.

TOM MOORE was born in County Meath, Ireland. When he became old enough to go to school, he went first to the schools in his native land, and then, when the family came to America, he continued his progress in Toledo, Ohio.

He had always been more or less of an actor, even as a boy, and in early manhood the lure of the stage drew him. His magnetic personality, rollicking disposition, and love of the life made him immediately popular. For seven years he played in stock companies, and then screen managers, attracted by his work, sought him.

He began pictures in 1913, and has grown steadily more popular. He has been connected with a number of the largest of the motion picture studios, and is now under contract with Goldwyn. One of his most talked of pictures, before joining Goldwyn, was "Brown of Harvard."

With Goldwyn he played in "The Cinderella Man," "The Floor Below," "The Danger Game" and "Dodging a Million." He starred in "Just for Tonight," "Thirty a Week," "Go West, Young Man," "A Man and His Money," "Duds," "The Great Accident" and the latest release in which he is featured being "Officer 666."

He is of medium height, and rather lightly built, with brown hair and eyes in which a twinkle always lurks. His hobbies are riding and golf. He is an excellent horseman and a first rate golfer, and is always on the lookout for someone about the lot who is as enthusiastic as himself about these diversions. He is also a motor car enthusiast, and is often seen in a long, low, powerful roadster.

Norma Talmadge

The old saying that some achieve greatness while others have greatness thrust upon them came home to Louis B. Whitfield, Jr., student of the University of Alabama, the other day, when he received a message from Norma Talmadge, the noted screen star, offering him $75 a day for two weeks for the use of his car. It all happened this way: Norma is busy producing "The Branded Woman," one of her popular First National plays, in Atlanta. She needed a swift car, learned that young Whitfield had one of the fastest in the south, and obtained his consent to act as her chauffeur. True, Louis will miss all the dances of commencement, but he is not worrying. Would you? "The Branded Woman" will have an unusually distinguished cast. The three principal characters in support of Miss Talmadge will be played by Vincent Serrano, Percy Marmont and George Fawcett. Others of the players will be George Studdiford, Sydney Herbert and Edward Durant. The picture will be a screen version of Oliver D. Bailey's well-known stage play, "Branded."

Sylvia Breamer

Some years ago theatre-goers in Australian cities were commenting on the beauty and talent of a beautiful ingenue named Sylvia Breamer, who appeared in various dramatic touring companies. Miss Breamer is an Australian girl, and with characteristic ambition, she determined to storm the American stage.

Arrived in New York she soon obtained a part in "Major Barbara," and was rapidly climbing the theatrical ladder when J. Parker Read, Jr., then on the staff of Thomas H. Ince, induced her to make a test picture, which led to a year's contract in which she played leads with William S. Hart and Charles Ray. After the Ince pictures came a series of co-starring productions under J. Stuart Blackton, and this was followed in turn by a contract between Miss Breamer and Director Sidney A. Franklin, to film a series of pictorializations of Robert W. Chambers stories. She has just completed the first of these, adapted from that novelist's popular story, "Athaliae."

Johnny Ray and Margaret Fitzroy. George McManus, the cartoonist, says he had a ha-ha inspiration when he brought into being "Jiggs and Maggie," in his famous comic, "Bringing Up Father." Then, to be mirthfully modern, he introduced the famous couple into the movies. Now they are to be seen under Pathe's pilotage in a series of two-reel comedies.

Johnny Ray, who was selected to portray Jiggs, has for years been a prominent figure in theatricals. He has toured the country in vaudeville, and in musical comedy. He is the personification of Jiggs on the screen. McManus characterizes him as a "cartoon come to life" and "the personification of the pen prank."

Margaret Fitzroy is "Maggie" on the screen, and no actress could give a

Kathleen O'Connor and Jack Perrin

"Out on Location" with Mildred

finer interpretation of this farcical character than Miss Fitzroy. She, too, has had a long stage career and makes an ideal selection to play opposite the risible Johnny Ray.

Kathleen O'Connor and Jack Perrin. Kathleen O'Connor, the vivacious Universal player, did not change her name when she left her home in Columbus, Ohio, to come to Universal City three years ago. She simply left out the middle initial "M," which stands for Mavourneen.

Kathleen's mother was a great admirer of the poetry of Mrs. Anne Crawford, so when her daughter was born she gave her the name, Kathleen Mavourneen.

When Jack Perrin came from Three Rivers, Michigan, to Los Angeles, it was with the intention of being a director, but very soon, they decided that he was too good looking to waste upon the mechanical end of the pictures and before he knew it he was one of Universal's most prominent leading men.

Recently he married little Josephine Hill, another Universal player, so perhaps he is consoled.

NEWS NOTES FROM MOVIELAND

By Daisy

LOS ANGELES is considerably excited over a battle which is raging between the partisans of vivisection and anti-vivisection. Fritzie Brunette, one of the leaders of the anti, is doing active work for the advancement of her cause by personally circulating a petition, which is one of many to be sent to the state legislature. Fritzie is an intense lover of animals and is the owner of one of the most highly pedigreed wolfhounds in the city.

Readers of John A. Morosco's novel, "The People Against Nancy Preston," will be pleased to know that it has been purchased by the J. D. Hampton company for screen production. It is intended to make a big feature of it and to that end the star director of the studio, Henry King, has been chosen to wield the megaphone, while the feature role has been given to H. B. Warner.

Gouverneur Morris, who is in California making a study of writing directly from the motion picture screen, has taken a house in Hollywood.

The great success of Frank Borzage's screen production of "Humoresque," the Fanny Hurst story, has led to a second joint work of that famous writer and the Cosmopolitan director. Borzage is already at work on her story, "Just Around the Corner." Like the other Hurst narrative it concerns itself with life in New York and bristles with remarkable character drawing. It was this feature of "Humoresque" that struck the critics, who pronounced the picture one of the best ever made.

Ora Carew, star of "Mountain Madness," has tackled the job of answering her important fan letters in her own hand.

The latest Harold Lloyd picture has been finished, but as yet not titled. The shell-rimmed comedian has gone east to have a "rest" in New York with his director, Hal Roach, while Mildred Davis, his leading lady, contents herself with a tuna fishing lark on the California coast.

Caught in a leaky boat off the California coast, Grace Darmond had to take a baller and work like sixty to keep the boat afloat until the shore was reached.

"Shavings" terminated a successful run in New York Saturday night. The Cape Cod comedy will open in Boston in August or September.

"Mecca" is to have its world premiere at the New York Century after all. It was to have been produced there in February, but "Aphrodite" stayed so long that it was impossible to put it on. Then the theatre was sold to the Shuberts. Arrangements have just been made with that firm to play the Oriental spectacle there under the Comstock and Gest management.

Another play to close in New York Saturday was "Clarence." This Mark Taper play is pointed to as the most brilliant comedy of the season.

John Golden has signed a five-year contract with Hale Hamilton in which he agrees to produce any play the robust actor writes. The first will be "Her Father's House," by Mr. Hamilton and Viola Brothers Shore.

The latest Avery Hopwood comedy to go into rehearsal is "Don't Be Afraid."

Arthur is producing a new musical piece. The title originally was "Tickle Me," but it has been changed to "The Love Bath."

Zelda Sears has written the books and lyrics for a new vehicle for Mitzel. The score is by Harold Levy. Mitzel played in "Head Over Heels" for 10 weeks.

"The Passing Show" has moved from the Winter Garden in New York to the Garrick in Chicago. It is getting dangerously close to a western tour.

It is really getting awful. Flo Zeigfeld Jr. has issued a decree that there will be no prohibition jokes or songs permitted in his follies.

David Warfield's broken leg has mended and he is now in New York preparing for a revival of "The Return of Peter Grim."

William A. Brady has bought the American rights for John Galsworthy's "The Skin Game."

ST. PAUL, Minn., July 3.—Crops in Minnesota are reported in excellent condition, a recent survey by Minneapolis and St. Paul newspapers declaring the grain crop "the best in years." In some sections small grains and potatoes have suffered from unusually heavy rains, but the generally favorable condition offset these minor losses. The potato crop was especially affected.

MENDING OF LIBERTY BELL WITH ITS TONE UNCHANGED PROPOSED BY ENGINEERS

Shall the Liberty Bell, long silent, be made vocal again? Electrical engineers tell us that the crack in it can be welded and that it can then be rung as of old. D. H. Wilson, a New York engineer, has even definitely proposed the operation.

To most of us, the crack in the bell has become a part of it, and its restoration seems almost like sacrilege. Yet when we break an arm or a leg, we have it set at once. Why not cure the old Liberty Bell? It continued to ring out merrily for nearly sixty years after it had proclaimed liberty to all the world. Why should it not speak out after its eighty-five silent years, in honor of many another joyous event?

In the Philadelphia Public Ledger, Charles W. Duke tells of the proposal to "cure the Liberty Bell" and of how the cure may be effected.

Cracked While Tolling at Marshall's Funeral. The last time that the bell spoke was at Chief Justice Marshall's funeral, in July, 1835. Writes Mr. Duke:

"Electrical engineers interested in the proposition of welding would piece the sacred old bell together. Electricity, the magic power of modern industrialism, would be the medium applied not alone to close the breach in the bell, but to cure it of its chronic metal-lingual disease—slow disintegration—by applying the latest developments in the therapeutics of mineral matters.

"The project was discussed at a recent meeting of the American Welding Society. It remains for the guardians of the bell and the American people to whom it belongs, to say whether the invalid bell, with its supposedly fatal wound, shall be summoned into the electrical clinic—or left to its fate.

New York Engineer Proposes 'Operation' "It is D. H. Wilson, the New York engineer, who proposes the surgical operation. You don't recall Wilson? He is the man who fitted up anew the damaged German merchant marine. Remember, when the United States threw down the gauntlet to Germany in April three years ago, how the Hun retaliated by putting out of commission nearly every German merchant liner, tied up at American wharves? Axes were swung, explosives were used, and intricate machinery, with which these ships were propelled was 'bashed in,' in the belief that the Yanks never would be able to repair these ships in time to turn them against the Fatherland. Looking over the wreckage, some engineers said it would take a year or more to repair those ships and put them back in commission. New parts would have to be installed.

Electrical Welding Needle Essential to Good Job. Then along came Wilson with his electric welding needle. It is a matter of history, of course, that in from three to four months every single German liner was ready to put to sea again. Even while Yankee troops were wiping out the St. Mihiel salient and sweeping clean the Argonne, those German ships, led by the giant, Vaterland, were pouring American men and munitions into England, France and Belgium. Not only did Wilson and his crew weld the Vaterland and her sisters as good as new, but he made them so fleet that our 'gobs' were able to get three knots better speed out of them than the Germans had ever made."

Not only Wilson, but "Wak-en-up" Dudley, of the Chester Shipbuilding company; B. B. Chicester, the Virginian who developed the science of electric welding under water, and other authorities on welding say the grand old Liberty Bell can be redeemed; that it may have "health glands" transferred to its body that will do for it what the "Fountain of Florida" was supposed to do for dearest Ponce De Leon. Transfusion, Mr. Duke tells us, would be the process involved, just as in the hospital an anemic is wooed back to life and color again by the injection of pure, fresh blood into his veins; only in this case it would be metal transfusion.

Not only will it ring, say the welders but it will have again the same vibrant tone that it had when it was first hung the gannet to Germany in the steeple in Philadelphia in the summer of 1753.

Primitive Life Changes Ideals of Society Girl

Finds conventionalities are necessary even in South Sea Island.

When a woman of refinement and culture, though somewhat prone to play with radical sex ideas, finds a seeming savage on a lonely island where he has been cast away as a child, she is not likely to admit readily to herself that she has fallen in love with him.

That is one of the extraordinary situations occurring in "The Island of Regeneration" by the Rev. Cyrus Townsend Brandy, which has been visualized by Vitagraph. It will be shown at the Opera House today with Antonio Moreno as the castaway.

Although John Charnock had forgotten practically all of human speech he ever knew through disuse, Katherine Brenton soon discovered that his undeveloped mind possessed remarkable qualities. She proceeded to develop him, and in conducting Charnock's education she accomplished her own regeneration.

Still the thought that her interest in the castaway was growing to be love never occurred to her until the little island was torn and twisted in a mighty hurricane and earthquake. Then as she saw her strange pupil tearing madly at the shattered rock which locked the entrance to her cave, she realized what her feeling really was.

Midnight Visit to Famous N. Y. Lobster Palace Reveals Vamp's Triumph Over Boss

Broadway hunt gives conquest to Constance Talmadge as "A Virtuous Vamp."

Emerson Loos Special.

Scores of Nellie Jones office associates were shocked one autumn night to see her step lightly into the brilliant Palais Royal, clinging tenderly to the arm of her boss and head of the Crown-inside Insurance Company.

The Value of Knowing How

Couples who were used to seeing Nellie tap a typewriter eight hours per day nodded significantly to one another and opined that Nellie had "vamped" the prize of the entire office. But Nellie merely smiled innocently and examined the slimy dance of Gilda Gray, the celebrated New York dancer.

This is the situation in "A Virtuous Vamp," Constance Talmadge's second production for First National Exhibitor's Circuit which will be seen today at the Liberty Theater. John Emerson and Anita Loos have adapted "A Virtuous Vamp" from Clyde Fitch's popular play, "The Bachelor," and their work on this production is rated as among their best.

TEMPLE

Francella Billington

Those who saw Francella Billington's excellent work in the leading feminine role in "Desert Love," the recent Tom Mix thriller will be interested in the announcement that this beautiful actress will appear opposite Mix in his latest William Fox production, "The Terror," which is coming to the Temple Theater today.

Because she was born in the west—Dallas, Texas, in 1896—Miss Billington loves to play in Western pictures; and in view of the fact that she spent most of her early childhood in the west and southwest, she is particularly well equipped to figure in these. Miss Billington received most of her education in a convent at Los Angeles.

Her motion picture career to date, while brief, has been variegated and punctuated by important roles with several producing companies, including Universal and American. Miss Billington has a most attractive presence, being a striking blonde, medium of height, with golden brown hair and beautiful eyes of caressing gray.

LAMB

Doug Fairbanks in "The Mollycoddle."

"The Mollycoddle," which played at the Lamb theatre yesterday and is on the bill again today, shows Douglas Fairbanks at his best. It is also interesting as a character study of a pampered young man, the son of a grim pioneer of the old West, who comes into his heritage of courage and red-blooded Americanism through a thrilling sequence of events.

But the two most exciting and interesting episodes of the picture are a giant rockslide and a fight. After seeing the mass of rocks plow its way down a mountain and destroy an ancient village, one realizes that it could not have been faked. The scene is not only realistic, but very beautiful.

The fight scene should go down as a classic in fistfights. Beginning when the villain, a desperate smuggler, opens fire on the "Mollycoddle" from the top of a pine tree situated high on the edge of a cliff, the two combatants fall out of the tree, roll down the cliff, tumble thru the roof of a house, kick a hole in the wall and roll down the mountain, and finally fall in a swift running stream and are carried over a waterfall. During this time they never quit fighting.

Fairbanks' well-known smile is much in evidence. The picture radiates action, adventure, perilous times and a happy finish.

In Roumania Are Many Languages Under New Order

BUCHAREST, June 10. (By Mail)—Roumania, with the addition of the provinces of Bessarabia, Bukovina, Transylvania, the Banat and Dobruja, is now a country of at least 10 distinct nationalities. In its parliament are seen peasants with white kirtle and embroidered vests and leggings reminiscent of the red Indian, sitting together with red tizzed Turks.

"It is especially in the Dobruja that these different nationalities jostle together," said Queen Marie of Roumania. "Together with Rumanians, live peacefully side by side, Bulgarians, Turks, Tartars, Russians and in places even Germans. I have been to a village in the Dobruja which was part Rumanian, part Russian, part German and part Turkish. I went from one side to another, visiting many a cottage, entering each church ending my round in the tiny mosque of lowly Turks. I listened to their curious service, of which I understood naught. A woman who is not veiled has no right to enter the holy precinct but a royal name opens many a door, and many a severe rule is broken in the joy of receiving so unusual a guest.

"On a burning summer's day I came to a tiny town almost entirely inhabited by Turks. I was distributing money among the poor and forsaken, and had been moving from place to place. Now it was the turn of the Mussulman population, therefore, I visited the most wretched quarters, my hands filled with many a coin.

"Such was their joy at my coming that the real object of my visit was almost forgotten. I found myself surrounded by a swarm of excited women in strange attire, prattling a language I could not understand.

"They called me Sultana, and each one wanted to touch me; they fingered my clothes, patted me on the back, one old hag even chucked me under the chin. They drew me with them from hut to hut, from court to court. I found myself separated from my companions, wandering in a world I had never known.

In a labyrinth of tiny mud-built huts, of ridiculously small gardens, of hidden little courts, they dragged me with them, making me enter their hovels, not my hand on their children and sit down.

"The poorer Mussulman women are not really veiled. They wear wide cotton trousers, and over these a sort of mantle which they hold together under the nose. The shape of these mantles gives them that indescribable line, so agreeable to the eye, and which alone belongs to the East. Also the colors they choose are always harmonious; they are toned down to their surroundings by sun and dust. They wear strange dull blues and mauves—even their blacks are not really blacks, but have taken rusty tints that mingle peacefully with the mud-colored environment in which they dwell.

"When attired for longer excursions, their garb is generally black, with snow-white cloth on their heads, wrapped in such a manner that it conceals the entire face, except the eyes. Indiscribably picturesque and mysterious are these dusky figures, generally carrying a heavy staff in their hands; there is something biblical about them, something that takes one back to far-away times.

ATE TUMBLER BOTTLES, BUT LIVES; CURSES

International News Service. STEUBENVILLE, Ohio, July 3.—Although Jefferson county jail attendants claim that he ate a glass tumbler and two quart-size milk bottles, Luther Payne, negro, arrested as an arson suspect, failed to show any signs of distress.

Payne, according to a deputy sheriff, made two unsuccessful attempts to end his life by hanging, using his belt once and a blanket the second time. Foiled in these attempts, the deputy says, Payne broke the bottles and tumbler into small pieces and then ground them into a fine powder, swallowing the whole business, using a glass of water as a wash.

VETS RECEIVE MONEY DUE HALF CENTURY

International News Service. LANSING, July 3.—Two Civil War veterans, each more than 80, received aid from the state, which was due more than half a century ago, when the board of state auditors granted them their unpaid bounty and interest.

They were the oldest of ten who were similarly treated at the same session.

Mary and Elizabeth Bonsall, daughters of the famous Arctic explorer, Amos Bonsall, are well known artists.

Leaves Church To Wed Maiden Of Other Faith

International News Service. DENVER, July 3.—Abandoning his pastorate of the First Presbyterian church of Cincinnati, the Rev. Dr. William Leonard Spiegel was married here by a Catholic priest to Miss Marie J. Miller of this city.

The ceremony was performed in the sacristy of the Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception by Father E. J. Mannix.

Dr. Spiegel, who is on a temporary leave of absence from his church, announced that he would resign the pastorate upon the completion of an extended honeymoon trip.

When questioned concerning the attitude of his church and congregation in regard to his marriage by a Catholic priest, Dr. Spiegel said his parishioners knew nothing of his plans and doubted if they would discuss the matter a great deal.

"I do not care what they think or say," he said. "It is purely a personal matter."

Dr. Spiegel said he would not recommend the marriage of everyone of opposite faith, as a great deal of trouble frequently results. "But ours is an unusual case," he added.

"Our marriage will be church unity worked out in a practical plan," Dr. Spiegel declared, "and there is nothing in either denomination to prevent such an arrangement. As to the ceremony being performed by a Catholic priest, has not the bride always the choice of who shall marry her?"

Dr. Spiegel said there was bound to be some criticism of his marriage, "but it will be from those who have not figured out the proposition in a practical manner. Religion is a matter of personal choice, and we each respect the other's faith, and in that way keep the things that are dearest to us both."

Dr. Spiegel, who has been pastor that way keep the things that are dearest to us both."

Dr. Spiegel says he is evidently unique in two things—his present marriage and the fact that he is a boiler-maker-preacher.

"Boiler-maker-preachers are not unusual," he said, "but I have never heard of a boiler-maker-preacher before. No doubt many will be interested in that fact."

Miss Miller has always been a devout Catholic, though her mother was of the Protestant faith. Her thei, however, was a Catholic.

"There are only two or three fundamental differences between us in the matter of religion," the bride said, "and I am quite sure we will be quite happy."

AMERICAN PRINCESS' SON A JOY RIDER IN LONDON

LONDON, July 3.—William Leeds, American son of Princess Christopher of Greece by her former husband, William B. Leeds, was fined $25 for recklessly speeding his motor car in Grosvenor Place at midnight a short time ago, was ordered to pay $30 costs and his license was suspended for six months. Young Leeds, who is said to be under 17 years of age, and therefore not entitled to a license, was driving twenty or thirty miles an hour, the promoter told the court, ran into a taxicab and injured the occupant, whom he took to a hospital.

CHURCH MEN'S REPORT ON STEEL STRIKE ATTACKED

NEW YORK.—The report of the Interchurch World Movement's investigation of the steel strike is to be made public when the Rev. Daniel Poling decides the time is ripe. He is the sub-committee to whom the matter was referred at the swan-song meeting of the Executive Committee of the movement Monday.

The meeting of the Executive Committee at which this decision was reached was not exactly like a prayer meeting. Judging from the stories in circulation it was more of a monkey and parrot time, largely due to the assault on the Investigating Commission and the Executive Committee by W. U. Follansbee, president of one of the independent steel companies of Pittsburg, and Mr. Homer, the two making a committee to represent Pittsburg promoters of $3,000,000 to the fund for the movement. Follansbee and Homer wanted the report of the strike investigation suppressed, and Follansbee, acting as spokesman, was not a bit bashful about it. An editorial from the St. Louis Post Dispatch, printed some time ago, entered largely into the whole action of the Executive Committee on the steel report and it is credited by members of the original investigating commission with having prevented the report from absolute suppression.

The way Monday's row came about is as follows: On June 18 the Executive committee of the Interchurch Movement held a meeting at headquarters here. Many things were discussed, including the steel strike report, which it was expected would be passed upon. It was deferred. Another thing talked of was the $3,000,000 subscription from Pittsburg, which had not been paid. A day or two before a member of the committee had gone to Pittsburg to ask about it. He was told that the $3,000,000 was subscribed for the purpose of denominational work only and was asked for a pledge that none of it would be used for general expenses of any kind. He was unable to give this pledge, but told the objectors that there would be a further meeting on June 28, at which they could state their case. It was in response to this quasi-invitation that Follansbee and Homer came to New York.

Barred From Meeting

When they sought admission to the meeting they were barred. It is understood that Dr. Poling, a member of the original commission, was the one who insisted on their being barred and carried his point. The report was disposed of, then there was an informal meeting to which the two Pittsburgers were admitted. They had been furnished a copy of the 32-page summary of the report and declared it to be a mass of errors. Asked to point out some specific case, they completely failed. Then they got angry. Those who were in the meeting describe Follansbee's speech and gestures to have been the embodiment of energy, without even a shadow of reverence. "Occasionally," said the Post-Dispatch informant, "Mr. Follansbee would seem to remember that he was in a gathering of Christians and would try to drop into the vernacular of the church, but the transition from blank verse to simple blanks was always quick. He pounded the table and shook his clenched fist in the faces of ministers and declared that "we" paid for the work that was done and "we" demand that it be done in a spirit of fairness and with due regard to the interests of the employes.

Objections to Report

It is understood that the part of the report to which the steel men take the most bitter exception is that bearing upon the manner in which the local city and county officials in the steel sections perform their duties, denying all liberty of speech and freedom of lawful assembly to the workmen, and the attitude of the "friendly citizen class" presented by the small tradesmen, the newspaper publishers and other influences in the reserve line of the steel companies in their fight to prevent organization of their employes.

GRADS OF STAFF SCHOOL TO GET TASTE OF WAR

International News Service. CAMP FUNSTON, Kan., July 3.—Graduates of the general staff school at Fort Leavenworth are to be given a real taste of the "real thing" during a series of practical military demonstrations, which began here and are to continue until July 15.

Among other things, the "demonstrations" will include brigades, liaison and the working out of division problems. The entire personnel of the camp will participate.

NOMINATING WAS SIMPLE IN THE PAST

CHICAGO.—The nomination oratory which marks the two great political conventions this year is in sharp contrast to the nominating speeches of the early days of the parties. This has been brought out afresh by inquiry at the Chicago Historical Society and the Newberry Library here.

In the first great Republican convention Abraham Lincoln was nominated for the first time, by Mr. Judd of Illinois in these words:

"I desire on behalf of the delegation from Illinois to put in nomination as a candidate for President of the United States Abraham Lincoln of Illinois."

The first national nominating convention of the Democratic party was held 28 years earlier, in Baltimore, May 21-23, 1832. It was at this gathering that Andrew Jackson was endorsed for his second term. Jackson had been nominated previously in a number of states by the methods which were then in vogue according to the Newberry Library. It is doubtful if there was any speech at all placing him in nomination at the first Democratic national convention. The business of this convention was practically to nominate for the vice-presidency.

The convention adopted a resolution concerning in Jackson's "repeated nominations." The resolution was drawn in 60 words.

Previous to that time (from 1800 to 1801) nominations for the presidency and vice-presidency, the well known reference library says were by congressional nominating caucuses, consisting of party members of both Houses of Congress. The last congressional caucus was held in 1824 Jackson opposing the "King Caucus" as it was termed as undemocratic. In 1828 he was nominated by staff legislative caucuses and conventions held in various states. Following this popular state conventions grew up and out of them came the national conventions.

NEGRO IS TAKEN BECAUSE OF WIT OF YOUNG WOMAN

EASTON, Md.—Twice condemned to death for assaulting a 13-year-old white girl and twice escaped from jail, Isaiah Fountain, a big negro, is again in Easton jail. For a week there has been a determined hunt throughout the country and across the Delaware line in which thousands of men with a corps of policemen from Baltimore joined. Just as the hunt was about to be abandoned a 15-year-old girl made the discovery that led to his capture.

Since his escape, the negro, half famished, had been hiding on Marvel farm, less than fifteen miles from this place. He had sought refuge from Monday night's storm in a barn on the farm of Calvin Anderson, of Queen Anne, just inside the Queen Anne county line. Miss Virginia Anderson went to the barn to feed her father's stock, when she saw the negro's feet protruding from a pile of straw. She crept softly from the barn, but she had disturbed Fountain and he realized that he had been discovered.

He had removed his shoes, and barefoot disappeared in the brush. But he did not cover his trail. The Anderson girl had quickly told her father, and Anderson notified Cape Beale county authorities. Soon automobile parties had started in pursuit and the negro was captured as he was crossing a field.

"For God's sake don't shoot," the captive implored, as he groveled in the weeds. "I'm Fountain; I'm tired, and I'm hungry. I been scared to death for a week." He was taken to the Easton jail and his death warrant will be issued immediately.

During his trial a mob of 2,000 threatened to take summary justice. While the sheriff and his deputies were holding back the mob, Fountain leaped through a window, but was caught in a week.

CROWDS PACK BRECK-RANGER TRAINS DAILY

The Wichita Falls, Ranger & Fort Worth railroad is now handling 1,000 passengers a day. Many travelers are taking advantage of good connections to go over the new road to Dublin and from there to Waco. Two connections a day are made with the Katy going south and one with the Katy north. The night southbound passenger meets the Frisco train going toward Fort Worth and the morning passenger is convenient for those wishing to take the Frisco to Brownwood and Comanche.

Fifty carloads of freight a day are being handled at Breckenridge alone. A mile of track is being laid daily in the Breckenridge yards. The passenger trains carry four coaches each day from Ranger to the Stephens county seat and these are barely able to accommodate the crowds. A fifth coach is expected here soon.

Authorization has been received from the Interstate Commerce Commission to grant through rates for interstate points on the new railroad and vice versa. A schedule of rates will be published in a few days.

COOLIDGE GIVES OLD RECIPE FOR SUCCESS HUNTER

International News Service. BOSTON, July 3.—Here is Governor Coolidge's recipe for success: "There are three qualities which are essential to success—honesty, industry and thrift. Without these there can be no success that is entitled to credit; with them there can be no failure that is subject to criticism.

"The essential quality of all three of these characteristics is self-control. Without self-control there can be no development of character, and, after all, the administration of business will not be a success if the end in view is the acquisition of the power that comes from the possession of property.

"There is a power of character that far exceeds power that comes from any other source. Make your supreme choice the doing of what is right and there will never be any need of taking thought about the result. The result will be a success that will surpass any other success that can be secured."

LEGION PROMISES HELP IN RETURN OF SOLDIER DEAD

INDIANAPOLIS, July 3.—The American Legion has prepared to assist relatives of men who died overseas in claiming the bodies when they are returned to the United States. Recently, according to the legion, bodies of fallen fighters have arrived in port without the knowledge of relatives or friends of the dead men.

To avoid further confusion, Lemuel Bolles, national adjutant, has called upon 9,000 posts of the legion to ascertain the names of men in their respective localities who died overseas and whose bodies are being returned and notify national legion headquarters of addresses of next of kin. By the means of the legionnaires plan to see that none of the bodies is unclaimed when returned here.

CHINESE GIRL BECOMES SON OF HER FATHER IN ORDER TO MANAGE WEALTHY ESTATE

There are few young women even in this age of feminism who have aspired to fill so unusual a role as Lily Walker Young, the dainty almond-eyed girl from Hongkong who came to America several years ago for the express purpose of trying to make herself into the sort of son that ancestors might be proud of. And so well has she succeeded that now at twenty she has accomplished more than most young men of her age in the Flowery Kingdom or of any other kingdom for that matter.

Lily had the misfortune to be born a girl, the only child of wealthy parents, and in China such a situation is not merely a misfortune—it is a calamity, almost a disgrace for all concerned. Lily's parents bore up under the affliction, but her grandfather couldn't. He lamented so bitterly and continuously that his grief got on the mother's nerves. It was more than she could endure and she determined to make a boy of the child by giving her every educational advantage and a (Chinese) daughter would have been denied.

Lily Enters Zealously Into Mother's Plan. Feeling keenly the humiliation of her position Lily entered with zest into her mother's plans. But opportunities to conquer the world are not too plentiful for women in China. Therefore, Mrs. Young and her daughter decided that the foreign university would be the only way by which she might fulfill her ambition.

"And so when I was thirteen years old I came to America," said the small Oriental in relating her experiences.

"All by yourself?" I asked incredulously. "Quite so," replied Lily Young, daughter and heiress of her family. "A friend of my mother's had told us of a fine woman's college in Mississippi," she continued, "and my plan was to study farming there after I was graduated."

But scarcely had she got settled in the Mississippi boarding school when extraordinary things began to take place in her own country, and China astonished the world by becoming a republic.

Commercial Career Her Real Vocation. "I now began to doubt whether agriculture was just the thing," she said. "It couldn't prove a wholly satisfactory profession if China was to stay unsettled indefinitely. Then, since coming to America I had grown to realize that a commercial career was my real vocation."

Having made up her mind on this score she left the school in the south and went to a woman's college in Pennsylvania, but there, also, she did not get the training which she knew she needed. No one took her ambitions very seriously. Instead of realizing that she was the only son of her parents, people persisted in regarding her as a girl who required only a whipped-cream sort of education to fit her for life. It was maddening, but Lily Walker Young was not to be turned from her goal. At last fate turned about and smoothed the way.

CHINESE ARE ASKED TO BURY THE DEAD

SHANGHAI, June 1. (By Mail)—Foreign residents of the Jossfield and Kiangchow Road districts have asked the municipal council of the international settlement of Shanghai to urge upon the

U. S. OFFICIALS SEEK TO SOLVE AUTO PARKING

WASHINGTON, July 3.—Government officials are much interested in a new plan to solve the perplexing parking problem in populous centers which is to be put into effect in Los Angeles, Cal., and which ultimately may serve as a model for Denver and other cities.

Los Angeles is going to meet the automobile parking problem in the congested section of the city in the manner that many city officials have dreamed about, but have hesitated tackling. A petition has been filed by Ralph V. Burdick with the city council for a forty-five year lease to the underground rights of Pershing square, and plans have been completed to build therein a garage sufficient in size to accommodate 3,000 motor cars.

The total excavation will be fifty-eight feet, allowing eight feet of surface soil above the three sub-garage floors. Each floor will have the capacity of 1,000 cars. Spaces for oil, gas, tires and accessories will be reserved. The sub-garage entrances will be covered by platforms. The first floor of the underground garage, covering over five acres, could be utilized for big public affairs at night and for auto shows.

At the expiration of the lease the garage would be owned by the city, as the sub-garage would pay a certain fixed percentage of the gross revenue as lease rental. A bonding house has passed favorably on selling a bond issue for the construction. The cost is estimated as between $1,500,000 and 2,000,000.

WILL CELEBRATE MARNE VICTORY WITH CEREMONIES

By International News Service

CHICAGO, Ill., July 3.—"Marne Day" Thursday, July 15, the anniversary of the second battle of the Marne, will mark the opening of the first annual convention of the Society of the Third Division (regulars) at Chicago.

This date commemorates one of the brightest pages in the history of the American army, in which the Third Division achieved immortal fame and made good the statement of its commander, (Major-General Joseph T. Dickman) who when asked by the commander of the French corps if he thought his troops would stand, replied: "Nous resterons la." (We will remain there).

The society of the Third Division was organized while the Marne men were guarding the Rhine, and has nearly 85,000 members scattered in all parts of the United States. Branch societies have been organized in many of the larger cities. National headquarters are located in the Board of Commerce Building, Little Rock, Ark.

Plans for the reception and entertainment of the thousands of over-seas veterans of the Third Division are being rushed to completion. The division is anxious to hear from all Third Division men who are not yet enrolled.

WEALTHY WOMEN—18 . . . . . 2

LONDON, July 3.—Women of means and good social position are radically reducing their expenditures.

An exclusive restaurant, catering only to the wealthy class, is said to be running at a loss of over 5,000 per week through the falling off in trade, and the flower shops are feeling the effects of the new "economy."

"Women are ordering one gown where they used to order three," said a fashionable modiste. "I know of several cases where women who formerly had a new gown for every one of the days at Ascot are only getting one. They will show off the new gown the first day and on the second day will wear cloaks to hide the fact that they are wearing the same gown again."

Commercial travelers have a tale of woe to tell, for they find that orders are not coming in as lavishly as before at this time of the year and many wealthy women are making their own lingerie, or having it made by a woman employed by the day.

MANY EXPORTS FROM MEXICO COMING HERE

MEXICO CITY, July 3.—During 1919 Mexico exported to the United States 57,370,307 pounds of copper, valued at $10,577,593—this out of a total of 120,455,000, the entire importation into the United States, according to a statement issued by the Secretary of Commerce and industry.

During the same period Mexico produced 75,000,000 ounces of silver, 7,000 ounces more than 1918, and 15,000,000 ounces more than produced in the United States during the same period.

Mexico's cotton crop this year will be in excess of 200,000 bales—30,000 bales over last year.

Official records show that since the revolution against the Government of Porfirio Diaz in 1910, Mexico's imports and exports have increased more than three hundred per cent.

Consular invoices reveal the fact that for the first time in the history of Mexico manufactured cotton goods, calicoes, cheap prints, etc., are being exported to the United States.

The Mexican government has authorized the purchase of 27 locomotives, 100 passenger cars, 100 flat cars, 100 coal cars and 361 box cars for use on the lines of the National Railways. The orders have been placed in the United States.

Mrs. Martha M. Rodgers, recently appointed pastor of a Brooklyn church, is the first woman in the East to receive a license to preach in a Methodist Episcopal church.

Women engaged in nursing and other work under the direction of Great Britain's forces will be eligible for the Victoria Cross, heretofore conferred only on men, by a new royal warrant regulating this decoration.

BUENOS AIRES HAS PLAN TO CURB ITS RENT PROFITEERS

BUENOS AIRES, June 5.—(By Mail)—Rent profiteering in Buenos Aires, which in the opinion of many travelled visitors, yields to no city in the world in the measure of the excesses it has reached, will soon be curbed if certain bills about to be introduced into congress meet with success.

The most radical of these measures limits the rent of houses to the equivalent of about $10.50 United States money. Rents at twice this rate are not uncommon for the ordinary one-story house with which Buenos Aires abounds, rates of a year ago having been in some instances trebled. According to the author of the measure, Deputy Tamborini, rents in Buenos Aires now average 40 per cent of a family's domestic budget.

The bill also provides that an owner shall not collect from any property a rent in excess of 8 per cent of its assessed valuation. Landlords cannot transfer their contracts for rent without consent of the tenants, nor can they evict a tenant on the ground that he has violated some municipal ordinance, except by court order. Such excuses have been employed by landlords against tenants refusing to pay higher rent. Jail penalties are provided for violation of any of the provisions of the proposed law.

There has been but an insignificant amount of building in Buenos Aires since the beginning of the war. Only within the last few months has it been resumed and is on a small scale compared with the building boom which the war halted.

LIGHT VEIN IS ACCEPTED WHEN BOREDOM HOLDS

CHICAGO, ILL., July 3.—The long hours of oratory that mark every national political convention may bore the tired delegates and spectators nearly to the point of exhaustion, but never kill their sense of humor. Occasionally a witty sentence or a quick rejoinder has been credited with having had a greater effect on the final result than all the oratory of the picked spell-binders.

At the recent Republican gathering at Chicago, Frank B. Willis, former governor of Ohio, was nominating Senator Warren G. Harding for the presidency. Ohio was far down in the list. The 13,000 sweltering persons, who crowded the big coliseum had listened with only half-interest to more than five hours of fervid oratory. Willis, closing his speech said: "Good boys and girls, let's nominate Harding."

The friendly humor brought a ready response.

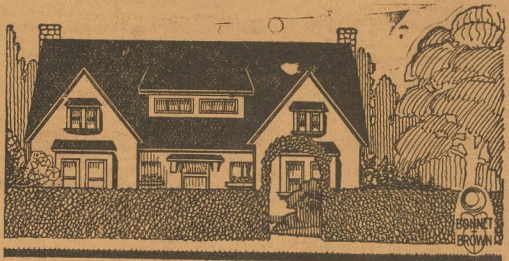

The next day, when the landslide toward Harding began, an Ohio admirer of the senator who had inscribed the sentence on a huge sheet of cardboard dropped it from the gallery. It made an instantaneous hit.

Earlier in the contest, a negro delegate from Oklahoma appearing before the credentials committee at 3 o'clock in the morning to press his claim for a seat, put new life into that body and won his point by a remark. Having told how the "illy white" side had held its convention in a hotel from which negroes were barred by the proprietor, he said: "Why gentlemen, in Oklahoma there's 'Jim Crowism' from the henhouse to the hotel."

In the laugh that followed a motion to seat the contestant was carried unanimously.

Mrs. J. F. Stimson, wife of the American ambassador to Argentina, is honorary president of the Patriotic Society of American Women of Buenos Aires. The society, which was formed when the United States entered the war, has a membership of more than 300.

TEXAS INDIANS CHANGED MODES. BEFORE OTHERS

DALLAS, Texas, July 3.—That the change from the buffalo lodge teepee to stone construction by the Pueblo cliff dweller began in the Texas Panhandle and in Oklahoma and, as the culture developed, the Indians moved westward and perfected the cliff dweller pueblos in the valleys of the Colorado and the Rio Grande, is the conclusion of W. K. Moorehead, director of archaeological surveys now working in the Canadian and Cimarron valleys.

In a letter made public by C. E. Lombardi, a Dallas newspaper publisher, Mr. Moorehead said in ancient ruins, hitherto unknown, had been discovered in four northwestern Texas and two Oklahoma counties. In addition, he said, ancient irrigation ditches had been found in Clark county, Kansas, and in the valleys of the Beaver and Canadian rivers. The newly discovered ruins extend through some 200 miles of almost inaccessible canyons, according to the letter.

For thirty-five years, Mr. Moorehead has been engaged searching Indian remains. In his present researches he is associated with J. B. Thoburn, secretary of the Oklahoma Historical Society; Eldridge R. Johnson, of the University of Pennsylvania; Ralph Durr, a Maine guide, and Norwood Eldridge and George MacEwan. For more than two months the party has been excavating and photographing the Indian ruins.

"These have been unknown to archaeologists," said Moorehead in his letter. "The expedition has worked in four counties in Northwestern Texas and two in Oklahoma and has observed more than a hundred stone foundations of small buildings.

These are scattered through almost inaccessible canyons and are usually located in very wild places. There are a few exceptions, notably on Wolf Creek in Ochiltree county, where the ruins lie on an open plain. These have been noted by travelers in the past years.

"But large groups of these ancient stone buildings on Cottonwood, Tarbox and Antelope creeks were unknown and unexplored. The same is true of many small buildings on the Archie King ranch, forty miles above Canadian, Texas.

"A number of these ruins were dug out and it was found that the foundations were three to four and a half feet in height, the stones placed on edge, and that mud or adobe was used to hold the stones in position. On top of these walls probably small logs or stones were placed and covered with dirt. The buildings vary from twenty to seventy feet in diameter and are square or rectangular. They do not appear to be circular. Near them are many stone graves. At one location 100 of these graves were counted.

"Explorations of the graves and foundations reveal broken pottery, bone implements, stone knives and other Indian stone tools. It is the belief of members of the expedition that these small structures mark the beginning of the Pueblo cliff dweller culture; that the change from buffalo lodge tipi to stone construction began in the Panhandle of Texas and Oklahoma. As the culture developed the Indians moved westward and perfected the cliff dweller Pueblo culture in the valleys of the Colorado and the Rio Grande.

"The expedition also found ancient irrigation ditches in Clark county, Kansas near Eaglewood. Other ancient irrigation ditches are to be found in the valleys of the Beaver and the Canadian. The oldest Comanches, Apaches and Kiowa were interviewed at Anadarko, these stone houses occurred, but the houses, they said, were old when they first saw them.

"These ruins extend through some two hundred miles of territory, and are similar in character. They were not built by the Pueblo Indians after these had developed their fine pottery art. If so, some of the Pueblo pottery would have been found in the ruins. We have more than 250 Indian photographs that were found in the canyons near Kenton, Oklahoma. These are of great interest, portraying the buffalo life size in color, and others showing Rocky Mountain sheep, deer antelope and human figures. These should be preserved before they are further damaged by vandals."

DAN'L WEBSTER WAS HOME BREW MAKER, HE SAYS

International News Service.
CHICAGO, July 3.—Daniel Webster was one of the original home distillers, Governor John H. Bartlett, of New Hampshire, discovered that a few weeks ago.

"It was my sad duty," he said, "to raid the farm which was the birthplace of the great Daniel. It is state property now and we found the caretaker running Daniel's own still down in the woods and using Daniel's own recipe for making the stuff. I had to fire the caretaker. There have been many applications for the place but it is still vacant."

Best Jurists Will Outline World's Court

By Associated Press

THE HAGUE, June 8.—(By Mail.)—The twelve distinguished international jurists, among them Elihu Root of the United States, invited by the executive council of the League of Nations to plan the organization of the new permanent court of international justice, constitute an impressive array of the world's most competent authorities on questions of international legislation. Those who accepted the invitation gathered here in mid June to undertake the task. Those invited were:

Baron Descamps, Belgian minister of state, professor of international law at Louvain university; member of the permanent court of arbitration of The Hague; and secretary-general formerly president of the institute of international law and writer on international questions.

M. Drago, formerly foreign minister of the Argentine republic. While holding that office he sent to the Argentine minister at Washington instructions known as the Drago doctrine (1902). He was formerly judge in Argentina; one of the arbitrators nominated by agreement between Great Britain and the United States in the North Atlantic fisheries arbitration, The Hague (1910); one of the Argentine delegates to the second peace conference at The Hague and member of the permanent court of arbitration of The Hague.

Professor Fadda, professor of Roman law at Naples university.

M. Fromaget, legal adviser to the French foreign minister; member of the permanent court of arbitration of The Hague, and delegate to the second Hague peace conference.

M. Gram, formerly judge on the mixed tribunals in Egypt; former member of the supreme court of Norway; minister of state at Stockholm before the severance of union between Norway and Sweden; member of the permanent court of arbitration at The Hague and member of the institute of international law.

Doctor Loder, member of the Cour de cassation of the Netherlands.

Lord Phillimore, English privy councillor; a lord justice of appeal (1913-1916); president of the International Law Association (1905-1908); author of publications on ecclesiastical and international law and "Three Centuries of Treaties of Peace and Their Teaching" (1917); president of committee of inquiry appointed by the British government on the subject of the League of Nations.

Elihu Root, former secretary of state, United States; president of the American society of international law; member of the permanent court of arbitration of The Hague, senior counsel for the United States in the North Atlantic fisheries arbitration at The Hague (1910); member of the Alaskan boundary tribunal and head of special United States mission to Russia (1917).

M. Vesnitch, ambassador extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary of the kingdom of the Serbs, Croats and Slovenes at Paris.

Satsuo Akiduki, formerly Japanese ambassador to Vienna, and one of the legal advisers of Japanese peace delegation in Paris.

Rafael Altamira, professor of law in Madrid university; senator.

Clovis Bevilacqua, professor of law and legal adviser to the minister of foreign affairs, Brazil.

GOLDFISH AND CRABS, BUT NOT CHILDREN

International News Service.
WASHINGTON, July 3.—Not coming under the legal status of a "harmless live animal," such as goldfish, soft-shell crab, or young chicken, children will not be accepted for transportation as parcel post packages.

The assistant postmaster-general made could have a five-year-old child sent here this ruling, based on a postal law, after from Shreveport, La., by parcel post. one nine-year-old girl had applied to go. The law specifies that "harmless live to Louisville, Ky., from Washington, and animals, which do not require food or a local man had written to inquire if he wates, can be sent.

"TRUTH IN ADVERTISING"

National Advertising Convention June 6, 1920 at Indianapolis

Studebaker Cars an Achievement

Every advertising man attending this great convention is proud over this tangible evidence of the constructive good being done for advertising by the National Vigilance Committee of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World.

"Truth in Advertising" is the motto, the slogan, and the code of the members of the Associated Advertising Clubs.

Advertising is a force upon which we, in common with every progressive concern in the world depend. We know what advertising has done for us. We know how jealously the Associated Advertising Clubs guard the good name of advertising. We know the sacredness of their solemn slogan, "Truth in Advertising."

No matter how good advertising may be, it can only be as good as the product it advertises. It can only succeed with the product. We are naturally gratified that the Studebaker, both the big six and the special six, has made good on its advertising. We give advertising full credit for carrying to the people the message of the four essential factors of car-character—beauty, power, strength and comfort—which are established in the Studebaker. The car itself completely exemplified this character. The result is today the demand for the big six and special six Studebaker is far ahead of our production.

The Studebaker reflects the policies and principles of the man behind them, and its advertising is a faithful echo of the car itself. Let us demonstrate.

What Men You Know Think of Kelly Tires. —Anything we ourselves could say about Kelly-Springfield tires would not be half so convincing as the letters which are reproduced in the following pages. These men, many of whom you know by name at least, have written us voluntarily telling what they think of Kelly tires. You, too, are entitled to just as good tire service as they are. You can get it by putting Kellys on your car.

'BEST HE'D EVER HEARD OF. From Mr. I. C. Mann of the Consumers Ice Company we have received the following: "On September 5th, 1917, I put on Tire No. J 217173—33x4, Kant Slip Tread, on my 'Olds 8'; at 7,500 miles the tread was too smooth for driving, so I put it on front left, where it has remained ever since. The total mileage for this shoe and tube is now 15,225 and still going."

Ford THE UNIVERSAL CAR. —The Ford Sedan with electric starting and lighting system and demountable rims with 3 1/2-inch tires all around, for every day in the year has no equal as a family car. Just as popular on the farm as it is in the city. In fact, it fits the family demands in every vocation of life. Large, roomy seats, finely upholstered, plate glass windows make it an open car in pleasant weather, while in rainy and inclement weather it becomes a closed car, dustproof and rainproof. It is ideal for social functions, the theatre, or parties; carrying the children to school, or for touring. It is not only comfortable, but really cozy, and above all, economical in operation and maintenance, and has all the Ford merits of strength and durability. We solicit your order for one. DAMAGED BUS AND TOURING CAR BUT RAN ABOUT 20,000 MILES. Mr. Watkins of the Kellytown Truck Company tells us of a Kelly that ran almost 20,000 miles in spite of some exceptionally hard knocks.

MR. GOOD SAYS KELLYS HOLD TOGETHER. H. M. Good, Treasurer of the Good-Summer Company, brass founders and finishers, Kellytown, writes us as follows: "On February 1st, 1915, I purchased a Cole Six equipped with Kelly-Springfield tires. I have run it every day, winter and summer, up to the present day (Sept. 13, 1916) and the mileage obtained on one tire was 15,211—on another 15,345, and the third original tire is still on the car in good condition and has traveled 15,578 miles. I have sent you two of these tires.
