LAMB.

Not often do pictures from two different studios make the general appeal of the same character as the picture at the Lamb theatre today and tomorrow. "The Cheater" is almost a duplicate in theme of that of "The Miracle Man," which swept the theatre-goers almost off their feet last season. May Allison plays the part of a fortune teller and a member of an underworld gang of sharpers in London. She conceives the plan of posing as a mystic who can work miracles of cure by faith.

An English lord seeks her in behalf of his crippled child and the woman accompanied by her confederates becomes a member of the manor household. The child learns to love the adventuress. The mending of a broken doll inspires the child with faith in her healing powers and the experiment brings success in spite of its unworthy motive. When the father, a widower, also falls in love with the fortune teller the shame of her trickery comes upon her. Confession leads to the woman's regeneration and happy marriage to the peer.

The flashes of the big city crookdom are made especially interesting, particularly the tricks of the fortune teller's room. The story has all the sympathetic motif of "The Miracle Man," but in this case it is the woman alone repentant.

Chester Boyer Fans Eleven Resorters Blanks 'Em 2to0

ON THE ROAD.

With a string of Resorter scalps at their belts, the Nitros take the road today, closing the first half of the season with a tough series at Eastland.

Outsider:

Explain to me The pleasant joke And why it is you smile, Nitro Fan:

The story is simply told. Smoke Boyer went to the usual brand of ball, perhaps a notch better than usual and the team he him gave him usually support with no costly breaks.

In addition, the lean, long, dark, smoke ball artist started off the batting rally which put over Ranger's first run and did it with the first single made by the Gallagher's.

Supina's Control Good. Supina, who played here and there in the Resorter's line-up in the opening game of the series, pitched against the Nitros and though he seemed to have little enough, it was certain his control was good.

Ham tried to stretch his triple into a homer and missed it narrowly. He made the third out, Doran to Brown to Supina to Byers.

Another triple brought over the second run of the day. String Clopp, after two were out in the eighth, smoked a grounder through Knight, on third Manager Jim followed it with his second triple of the day and String counted. Dude's inability to connect left our manager on third in each instance.

The first Resorter up, Lester, swung a single down the third base line and Clopp retrieved it with a wild peg to Jim. Lester took second. Boyer beamed Wakefield on the jaw and Blair went in to run for him. Byers later taking his place in the field. Bockspok bounced a grounder to Ham, who threw him out and then Smoke whiffed Doran and Knight. That was the nearest the Resorters came to scoring and the only time they got a man to third.

Dude Saves Score. They didn't reach second again until the ninth, when, after two were out, Mason kicked Knight's grounder and Brown drew the second walk Boyer issued. Arnspeker poled a short drive to center and Dude took it in a snappy run, ending the game.

NITRO NOTES.

Jack York, who was replaced in the management of the Cisco club, has been signed by the Nitros and played first Sunday. He fields a better game than Henke, though perhaps is not as good with the stick. He is better in the fielding pinch, as was demonstrated at Abilene, when the Nitro door keeper made four errors in two days. Jack got one error Sunday, on a low throw from Hamilton. He shortens up throws on close plays by his reach and fields a heady game.

Graves, the new short, was out with a bad thumb. Jim took that place and fielded a good game, besides doing his work at the bat. His first triple, with two out in the sixth, went to the score board and the second, which scored Clopp in the eighth, sought the fence in right center.

Smoke Boyer hung up eleven strikeouts and walked two, which is more than he usually does. He fanned every man in the Resorter line-up at least once and Lester and Doran a couple of times. Four Resorters watched the third strike over without trying to connect with it.

The game was played to a good crowd, which nearly filled the stand. Autos were permitted in the park and filled both parking spaces. They should not be permitted to encroach on fielding territory, but should be backed to the fence, so that fielders have a chance at tall fouts.

As duels are apt to be, it was run off in snappy order. The time was one minute under 1:40. In the third, fourth, fifth and seventh, the Resorters were out in order. In the first, second, third and seventh Boyer ended the frame by whiffing a visitor. In the third and seventh, it was by whiffing two.

Of the three hits scored against Boyer, Lester's, in the first, and Supina's, in the eighth, were the only clean ones. Supina took an awful crack at one and sent it out on a long foul in the eighth that struck barely outside the foul line. It had the fans worried. The score was 1 to 0 and only one was out. No more till next Sunday.

ABILENE GETS LAST GAME OF FIRST SERIES

Special to The Times. CISCO, June 27.—Carl Hill was a little too strong in the pinches today and Abilene took the last game of the series in ten innings, 5 to 3. The Eagles had scored two in the sixth and the Scouts came back in their half of the same inning and tied the score.

Both Billings and Hill pitched tight ball. In the tenth Kizzlar, first man up for Abilene, doubled; Segrist walked and Milam singled to right, scoring Kizzlar. Segrist was caught at the plate. White singled to left scoring Milam. The Scouts could do nothing with Hill in their half. The game was featureless with the exception of a running catch.

If You Are Easily Tired Out, Your Blood Needs Purifying

Clogged-up Impurities Will Undermine Your Health. The first symptoms are usually a loss of appetite, followed by a gradual lessening of energy, the system becomes weaker day by day, until you feel yourself on the verge of a breakdown. This whole condition is but the result of impurities in the blood that show that nature needs assistance in giving the system a general housecleaning.

TIMES WIN GIVES TOBACCO NINE A PLACE AT BOTTOM

Ranger Times left Ranger Tobacco in undisputed possession of the cellar Sunday, winding up on the long end of a 9-4 score. Wild throws a-plenty marred the performance of both teams, with McCormick of the Times and Atwell and Jones of the Tobacco company being the more prominent offenders. McCormick pegged badly three times after making nice stops of ground balls. These, with the assistance of George's chunk through first, accounted for the Smoke Emporium's runs. Atwell made his chief bid for the spotlight in the second round when he hit four batters, thus giving the Times three runs. Jones furnished the feature of the seventh, when he messed up a throw to the plate and allowed two runners to score. His wild heave past third allowed another brace of tallies a moment later.

Cullum pitched a nice game for the Times, holding the Tobacco boys to three hits. He fanned eight men and walked one. Atwell also was fairly stingy with the safeties, he being reached for three solid raps and two infield hits. Three of these were bunched in the fifth. He struck out four batters and hit four, but did not issue a pass.

Score by innings—R. H. E. Tobacco Co. 000 042x—9 5 6 Times 000 100 300—4 3 7 Batteries: Cullum and Winkler; Atwell and Jones.

THE CITY HEALTH OFFICE.

The city should invest its health office with greater dignity and authority; it should be filled by a doctor who is on a salary, working exclusively to build up and maintain proper health standards. In other words, Ranger should have a full-time health officer.

Under the present plan a busy physician is known as city health officer. He fills a thankless, payless position in which he is unable to serve with the efficiency required in any city of a population of over 10,000. He has his private practice to take care of and serves actually only under the state laws.

Those things that should be started to improve health conditions are wholly beyond him. His duty is chiefly that of a public doctor in the matter of communicable diseases and epidemic. He supervises quarantine laws and takes action only on matters that fit in with his own work.

A full-time health officer if responsible for the sanitary condition of the city, he is entrusted with the duty of keeping the health plane above the danger point. He educates the residents to reasonable measures and secures what action is necessary for the protection of one part of the populace from the carelessness of others.

Another important division of his office is the work among children. He is medical supervisor in the schools, testing children for tuberculosis that may be cured, weeding out those suffering from communicable diseases, detecting cases of malnutrition and physical defects.

In this division he builds for the future generation by preventing the growth of sub-normal children. His office also prevents the spread of disease through the schools, thereby often making the school the safest place for children even when an epidemic rages. The success of any city and its future are closely wrapped up about the children. Tomorrow's leaders are today's children. That over the work of their fathers, every safeguard must be thrown up about them to make them as nearly physically and morally perfect as can be under the present system of society.

There are a thousand details properly belonging in the department of public health that can only be required by a physician, and so many and various are they that only a full time health officer is able to dispose of the daily first of tasks.

It is not a new idea, but one that has been tried with success in thousands of cities everywhere in the United States. A report from cities where a full-time health officer is now employed will say that the city could not possibly afford to return to the plan under which Ranger now operates. This full-time man has the city plated, charted and indexed. He has every back yard cleaned up, inspects milk and water sources, investigates reported nuisances and, in all, is at work every hour of the day.

He is as essential as the police force, perhaps even more important. For every moral menace by crooks or one sort and another, there are a hundred or more health menaces. A gunman kills but one victim, a fly breeder may spread typhoid germs that will kill hundreds; a robber steals a pocketbook, a tubercular patient at large destroys the health of many and ruins lives. Instances of this sort may be made without end. Health is the prime mover of the present day and must be supervised with the greatest care and diligence.

KILL THE RAT.

A national campaign has been launched as the result of the introduction of the bubonic plague into the United States, against rats. The government has issued circulars that are being sent everywhere in the country where there are two or more people.

The rat is not a scavenger, he is a menace; not only does he destroy property, but spreads disease. At various times in this history of the world, campaigns of similar nature have been launched to exterminate the rat. Chiefly have these drives been localized at seaports where the rodents are most in evidence.

And as at the present time each drive has had its beginning when the rodent was found to be responsible for the introduction of plague into communities. With his long greasy tail and unclean skin he serves as a fertile field for all that is filthy and disgusting. There is probably no dirtier animal than the rat.

In its literature the government admits the campaign at this time may not serve wholly as prevention against the spread of bubonic plague. It is said that this rat serves as a timely excuse to drive the rat to its last hiding place, to make the extermination plan nation wide in scope. If there were not a disease of any kind in the whole world this drive would be well advised.

Not so very long ago Ranger declared war on the rat and fought briskly for a time, but the drive went the way of so many similar campaigns, interest lagged and finally the killing was left entirely up to the man on whose premises depredations were being committed. As there are always persons who will not join for such a cause, they must be aided that the interest of the majority may be cared for.

A far-sighted program should be mapped out that will assure a long contest. Or during one month a vigorous fight may be embarked upon which, if of the proper heat, would rid the city of the major part of its rodents.

481 FARMS OUT OF 6,000,000

It may be the fact, as announced by the department of agriculture, that the wheat crop of last year was produced at an average cost to the growers of $2.15 a bushel, which is three times the average farm price of wheat for many years prior to the world war and which would leave little or no profit to the grower at the government's guaranteed price of $2.26 a bushel.

But a survey extending to only fourteen districts of the country and to only 481 out of the total of 6,000,000 and more farms is a little too limited to be popularly impressive in the demonstration of this officially proclaimed fact. It leaves to be explained why farm land values have risen so greatly in the meantime, and why so many farmers have been selling their farms at high figures and retiring with a competence to cities, and why the automobile industry could flourish so mightily on a demand whose rural growth is more notable than any other, and why costs of wheat growing should have increased so greatly out of proportion to all known increases in the wages and costs of industry in general.

A survey to prove what is claimed to be proved in this case must extend beyond a tiny fraction of one per cent of all the farms in the United States.—Chicago Tribune.

CONSOLIDATED CHURCH "UNSCRAMBLES."

The cause of church consolidation, so much urged in these days, has suffered something of a setback by failure of the Olathe, Kan., experiment at unifying denominations. Four months' trial of the idea has resulted in the Federated church of Olathe becoming again two bodies—Presbyterian and Congregational. They have "unscrambled."

It is a dream of some people that "all churches will unite some day." Seeking to realize the vision, these folks now and then seek to make the dreamed of day come at once. They argue that "this is an age of consolidation in business and industry, for better efficiency of methods," and therefore religious organizations ought to merge with like purpose. The experiments are occasionally successful; quite often they are not.

Business principles and business policies cannot be taken altogether as a guide in the matter. It requires a stretch of imagination, indeed, to consider all the trade of a community being transacted under one roof by one firm. We have well defined family lines, and always shall have, it is to be hoped—although maintaining the 200,000 homes representing the population of St. Louis is much more expensive than would be the care of all the people collectively. The church denomination bears a closer resemblance to the human household than to a commercial or industrial plant. The true happiness and success of any family lies in its life being properly directed rather than merged with the existence of other domestic circles.—St. Louis Times.

TESTED RECIPES

Tomato Toast. Mix 1/2 cup juice off a can of tomatoes with 1/4 cup cornstarch. Cook the balance of the tomatoes, adding a sliced onion and chopped green pepper if liked. When well cooked and seasoned thicken with the tomato juice and the cornstarch previously mixed. Pour this over eight slices of buttered toast and serve hot. Grated cheese over the top is a delicious improvement.

Raisin Nut Bread. Beat together 3/4 cups of sugar and 1 egg, add 1 1/2 cups milk and 4 cups flour and 4 teaspoons baking powder sifted together. Last of all add 1/2 cup raisins and 1/2 cup nuts chopped and floured. Put all in two well greased loaf pans, then bake one hour. This is fine for bread and butter sandwiches.

Hints. If sugar and cornstarch or flour are sifted together, they need not be moistened before thickening pudding sauce, etc. Nor will the sauces be lumpy. A pound of sugar and 1/2 pound white sirup is equal to 2 pounds of sugar in canning fruit or making preserves, but will not make stiff jelly.—Mrs. Charles will not make stiff jelly.

BEAUTY HINTS

The great Scandinavian culture teacher, Dr. J. P. Muller, says that the best exercise for a woman to take is the following, which I have frequently recommended in this column:

Lie flat on the floor, in some loose gown, without corsets (never do any exercise with corsets on—they restrict the movements of the body and destroy all the benefits of the exercise). Have the feet under some heavy object to act as a support—a bureau, a bed, or any large piece of furniture will do. Lie relaxed on the floor, with the hands on the hips, and fill the lungs with air. Sit up slowly, keeping the spine as straight as possible—always keeping the hands on the hips. The only assistance in changing from the flat to the sitting position should come from the feet, which will be held down by the piece of heavy furniture.

You will feel a slight pull on the muscles of the legs and of the back, and a distinct pull on the muscles of the abdomen. If you are not accustomed to any sort of exercise, do this only a couple of times at first, for the muscles badly in need of this sort of exercise will probably be sore. Keep it up every day until you have so strengthened your body that you can do it half a dozen times or more without supporting the feet.

Dr. Muller says: "This exercise imparts a classical shape to the shins, the lower part of the abdomen and the groins. It serves in the highest degree to strengthen the whole of the abdominal region. If every girl from youth onward were to perform the twelve movements of this exercise every day, protracted, painful and dangerous childbirth would become a thing of the past."

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Unusual Hints. In rainy weather when salt becomes damp, put 1-2 teaspoon rice in the salt shaker. The rice will draw the dampness from the salt, and it will shake freely.

One often puts too much salt in food while cooking it. To remove same, place a clean wet cloth over the top of the vessel in which the food is cooking. The steam will send the salt into the wet cloth.

If you peel onions before peeling potatoes, they will not leave odor on your hands. Take a crocheting needle or any steel article in your mouth while peeling onions and you will not be troubled with tears.

To keep lemons, have some nice dry sawdust in a box, and bury the lemons in it. They will keep for weeks.

Byproducts of the Kitchen.

The price of meat need not concern the woman who has learned that every particle of juice is precious, and that the bones, skin and marrow of animals and fowls have their distinctive flavor and uses. There is always a bit of juice left on the platter of the beefsteak, pork, lamb chops or roast of any kind. Many persons cut off the small portion of a chop or the tough end of a steak and leave these bones upon the plate, and throw them away after the meal. The tough end with the addition of a few inexpensive vegetables can be made into a very nice dish for luncheon or supper.

The bone, juice and bits from the chop can be utilized in the soup pot, or the bones can be cooked with the juice, the meat cut into cubes and served with brown gravy and dumplings. Never throw away a raw or cooked bone until it has passed through the stock pot. Even then see if the bone contains marrow. If so, shake it out and use it on small squares of toast. This is very tasty and dainty.

In the hock end of a ham there is al-hard to utilize, as it cannot be easily sliced. Chop it and mix it with scrambled eggs. Or pass it through a meat grinder, season, mix with a little melted butter and pack it in a jelly glass, make it airtight with paraffin and save it for an emergency sandwich filling.

All housewives should have a grease pot. The grease from various kinds of meat are the most valuable byproducts of the kitchen. Beef drippings make excellent pie crust if they are beaten to a light cream and a squeeze of lemon juice and a half teaspoonful of baking powder are added. For ginger bread and cookies, beef drippings are even better than lard, and drop cakes made of them for the children are wholesome and tender. Poultry fats are just the thing for spice cakes and cookies. Often a bacon grease can be made to take the place of bacon when frying eggs.

DEEP WATER WAY PROJECT BACKERS WILL HOLD MEET

DETROIT, Mich., June 28.—Crystallization of sentiment favoring the Great Lakes to the waterway project is expected by proponents of the plan to result from the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Tidewater Congress to be held here July 22, 23, 24.

In addition to representatives of the fourteen states comprising the Tidewater association, Canadian supporters of the project also will attend the congress. Discussions are to cover every angle of the proposed deeper waterway plan. Financial, engineering, political, economic and international phases will be considered.

At the opening session July 22, United States Senator Charles E. Townsend, of Michigan, will outline the plan. Other speakers on the program include Herbert Hoover, Senator Merrill McCormick and Miles Pindexter; Major General Lansing H. Beach, chief of engineers, U. S. A.; Julius H. Barnes, former head of the U. S. Grain corporation; Charles K. Anderson, vice-president American Manufacturers' Export association; W. L. Ross, president of the Clover Leaf railroad; Congressman A. P. Nelson, of Wisconsin; Charles E. Fowler, of the American Society of Grain Exporters Association, Omaha, Neb.

States comprised in the association are Illinois, Michigan, Minnesota, Indiana, Ohio, Iowa, North Dakota, South Dakota, Montana, Idaho, Wyoming, Colorado and Nebraska.

MONEY, YES! WATCH, NO! CONDUCTOR GETS THIEF

International News Service. OMAHA, Neb., June 26.—Confronted by the business end of a six-shooter, E. E. Harrington, a street car conductor, surrendered $50 without resistance the other night. But, when the highwayman demanded that the conductor "fork over" a watch that belonged to his dead wife, Harrington "got busy."

Snatching the "hold-up's" revolver, Harrington beat him into insensibility with it, and then turned him over to the police. Harrington received a reward of $500 for his "capture."

WOMEN BELL RINGERS WANT TO WEAR HATS

International News Service. LONDON, June 26.—The Ladies' Guild of Bell Ringers cannot decide whether they should wear their hats while "chiming." St. Paul said women should remain covered in church, but that fails to convince the hatless ringers.

WHO'D THINK IT?

LONDON, June 26.—Love Lane, Tottenham, furnishes more divorces than any other street in London. Next in rank comes Angel Road, Edmonton.

Roxana Well At Crystal Falls Is Making Good

CRYSTAL FALLS, June 28.-Crystal Falls is now almost surrounded by good production. The Roxanna company's Ball well, 2 1/2 miles southeast is flowing by heads with the drill only a foot in the pay. It is being cleaned out and is good for between 1500 and 2000 barrels. It extends the field north-west from Breckenridge. Drilling was begun on this well January 1. Depth is 3370 feet. Oil was found in gray lime. The Sinclair's J. B. Sloan No. 1, 2 1/2 miles northwest at 3200 feet is getting out dropped casing and is expected to come in a good producer this week. The showing was everywhere as good as that in the Ball.

The Hopper No. 1 of the Gulf, three miles southeast is drilling at 3100 feet with a good showing of both oil and gas. This well was started 90 days ago. The Prairie Oil and Gas Company's Brown No. 1, two miles east, is drilling at 400 feet.

The Invincible's Roberts No. 1, one south is drilling at 100 feet.

In the Ball field, three miles east, there are now five producing wells making from 100 to 1500 barrels each with pipe line connection to the central pump station at Ranger.

The Cooper-Henderson, No. 1 Stoker, four miles south is drilling and showing with a good showing of oil and gas. There are four new derricks located in the Stoker being erected by the Pechontas and Sioux Oil and Refining company, and many new locations made. The Roxanna will drill three offsets to the Ball well.

The delegation consists of Mr. and Mrs. James Burton Glenn and two daughters, Mary and Bertina, James Burton Glenn Jr., Doctor C. H. Searle, C. W. Kean, F. J. Kean, George A. Keady, Frank Matthews, W. H. Scofield, R. S. Bucklin, David Tilt, Charlie Black, William Glenn, Theodore Elworth, Charles H. Packard, W. E. Richard, W. H. Rollo, W. H. Craig, Harvey Hales, D. R. OIL FIELDS OF RUMANIA WILL NOT BE OPENED

BUCAREST, June 8. (By Mail).-Despite the heavy speculation in oil and oil property now going on in Rumania, expert oil men say that it will take at least five years for this country to properly develop such prospects. The speculators are merely selling prospects to each other rather than developing the property.

The oil production in 1919 was 917,999 tons which was less than fifty per cent. of the production of the oil fields. The amount of oil shipped out of Rumania in March, 1920, for example was 5,278 tons, which indicates the difficulty of getting the oil transported.

There is one small pipe line which runs from the oil fields to Constantza. There are about 2,000 tank cars which might be operated. It takes two years to drill a well. It costs ten times as much now as before the war, the oil transportation is bad, and the government puts many restrictions on the export of oil.

DRILLERS STRIKE COAL VEIN WHILE WORKING ON WELL

Baird, Texas, June 28.-A vein of oil of unknown extent was struck by drillers at the Cap Canfield well at Baird, Texas, at a depth of 500 feet. In the first Hart well eight miles northeast of here the drill went through an eighteen foot vein of coal at 550 feet.

Veins of lesser thickness have been drilled through at other wells to the north and south. There is known to be a vein of channel coal of three to four inches in thickness eighteen feet below the surface underlying Baird. It burns with a fierce heat leaving but a light flaky ash.

A Texas & Pacific railroad geologist declared forty years ago that there was a large deposit of superior coal in Hart Valley where the eighteen foot vein was cut recently. The belief now grows that it may be more profitable to prospect for coal than oil.

JUST GAVE UP SUFFERED SO

Weakness, Pains and Other Troubles Had Discouraged This Arkansas Lady. She Took Cardui, Found It Helpful. Got Well!

Harrisburg, Ark.-After serious symptoms had become apparent, Mrs. Belle Wilkerson, of Route 1, this place, says she "got worse and worse."

"I wasn't able to stand on my feet and had to go to bed," she explains. The grew worse, and for about three weeks nothing seemed to do me any good. I grew so weak and nervous and could not sleep. I began to have pains in the lower part of my body, and all across my back. There was a great deal of soreness and pain in my left side. I just gave up for I suffered so. I grew discouraged and thought I was not going to get well.

"My head not only ached, but would feel so light and dizzy. . . . I decided then I would take Cardui, as I read of how many women it had benefited, and some whose case was like mine. When I began Cardui, just after a few doses, I noticed a change. I slept better at night. . . . and felt like I could eat something. I got up and began to do the work in the house and yard, and after three or four bottles of Cardui I was well."

If you suffer from disorders peculiar to women, take Cardui-the Woman's Tonic. It should help you, like others.-Adv.

SERVING AND SAVING

SOME FACTS FOR GAS CONSUMPTION

The United States Bureau of Mines Conservation Department, the Texas Railroad Commission and every kindred power is determined to reduce or eliminate waste of gas wherever waste may be found.

The customer can reduce his bill, get more heat from gas burned, and more gas when he needs gas most.

The Gas Company can render service only with the co-operation of both industrial and domestic customers.

We want to secure a sufficient quantity of gas and deliver that gas fairly and efficiently.

The customer, be he large or small, must use gas to the best of his knowledge. By so doing he can save money, provide convenience for himself and his family, act fairly toward his fellow citizens and safeguard the interests of his children's children.

To save money, to save gas, to serve and be served—read and think about these facts—tested and proved by the government and private gas experts in the United States.

Cooking

- Don't light the gas until you are ready to begin cooking.
- Turn it off when the operation is completed. Cut down gas when boiling commences.
- You waste gas and money when you try to cook through a solid stove top. Grid or open top ranges are economical.
- The burner should not be more than 1½ inches below the bottom of the vessel to be heated.
- The tip or breaking point of the flame is the point of greatest heat. The flame should break just below the utensil.
- A pressure of two ounces will cook any meal better than higher pressure if adjustments are correct.
- Gas must have the right proportion of air mixed with it at the burner to burn properly. The air is sucked in through the mixer, it cannot be forced into the pipe with the gas. The mixer must be opened or closed to secure proper combustion. The pale blue, steady, non-luminous flame has greatest heat.
- Leaky pipes, faulty fittings, and low burners run up gas bills, waste gas and impair service.
- Take time to see. Ask your stove dealer, ask your gas company.

Heating

- Stop leaks and keep your stoves and furnaces clean.
- Air must properly mix with gas at the burner in your stoves. It takes 9½ parts of air to 1 part gas for perfect burning.
- Ten gallons of water are generated when you burn 1,000 cubic feet of gas. Carbon di-oxide is given off. Partial burning gives off poison. Don't burn gas in a sleeping room at night. A living room heated to 68 degrees F. is more healthful than higher temperatures.
- Stoves with flues and mixers are best. Gas burned in a coal furnace does not give high efficiency.
- Gas logs burned in open fireplaces and similar appliances are wasteful. Bricks and fire clay in various shapes do not aid materially in heating. They have a tendency to smother flames and cause fumes.

Meters

- One hundred meters won out recently in an accuracy test against one hundred watches, under similar conditions of heat and cold. The tests covered a period of one, two and three years.
- Meters do not record comparatively faster when pressure is low.
- An arrangement now in force by the company provides that when a customer believes his gas meter is inaccurate, the customer can demand a test in his presence by gas company representatives.
- Learn to read your own meter and record readings.
- The meter is in your home to protect you. It is there to report accurately to you the amount of your purchases during the month. It is the recording agent, with equal responsibility to the customer and the company.
- If you will use gas wisely and economically, give it the right kind of a chance to serve you well and regard it as the greatest, cheapest and most convenient heating agent man has ever known, you will save money, save gas and help render good service.

We are anxious to serve and assist you. We have kept faith with you, by expending large sums of money in the Ranger plant. A small consideration on your part now will do much to avert shortage of fuel for the coming winter, and insure comfortable firesides instead.
