Conferees Get Down To Major Tax Bill Issues

By FRANCIS J. KELLY WASHINGTON, Oct. 8. (AP) — A Senate-House Conference Committee today got down to the big points of dispute in a bill to increase taxes by $5 billion to $7 billion a year. The remaining major controversies between the two branches involve: 1. The size of the increase in individual income taxes. In all but the highest brackets, the House bill calls for a 12 1/2 per cent boost in the tax due under present rates, the Senate bill for an 11 per cent rise. The final figure probably will be somewhere in between.

2. A House proposal to make a greater portion of a company's earnings subject to the excess profits tax. 3. Whether to impose corporation taxes on unallocated profits of co-operations, presently untaxed. Members of the 12-man conference group are pointing for a final agreement by Tuesday night some even spoke hopefully of completing the compromise bill today. But any one of the big unresolved issues might hold back the final settlement several days.

The conferees capped five days of negotiations last week with a Saturday session that lasted until nightfall. They cleaned up a hundred odds and ends of the bill, but readily conceded that the big issues still remained to be worked out. Additions and increases to the excise taxes, along with a few decreases, now are out of the way.

Convict Student In Murder Trial TUSCALOOSA, Ala., Oct. 8. (AP) — A University of Alabama student convicted of second degree murder was held in the county jail today while his attorneys framed an appeal. Lawyers for James L. Colvin, 24, Lincoln, Ala., have 30 days in which to file a motion for a new trial with the Alabama Circuit Court of Appeals.

Colvin was convicted after a six-day trial in the fatal shooting of his roommate, Jerome Veasey, 27, Greenville, Miss., last April.

The jury fixed his sentence at 15 years in prison when it reported Saturday night. Court officials said Colvin could not be granted bail because the sentence was for longer than 10 years. The handsome junior, known as a good student, claimed that he fired when Veasey advanced on him with a knife, ignoring a warning to halt.

The shooting followed a brief quarrel between the roommates over noise from a party Veasey gave the preceding night in their apartment.

Senators Seek An Early Adjournment

By EDWIN B. HAAKINSON WASHINGTON, Oct. 8. (AP) — Leaders opened a frantic drive for early adjournment today by asking speedy approval of three bills involving the spending of more than $65 billion. Democratic Leader McFarland of Arizona outlined this ambitious program for his colleagues: 1. A compromise $56,937,808,050 defense money bill supplying operating funds for the Army, Navy, Air Force and Marines. 2. A compromise foreign aid measure authorizing a $7,483,400,000 program of economic and military assistance abroad. 3. A new $1,731,196,781 catch-all money bill carrying funds for more than a score of government agencies, including those handling economic controls and civil defense. Originally there had been talk that congress could wind up the session this weekend, but McFarland is now hoping for adjournment Oct. 20. Even that date appeared optimistic.

Texas Cotton Crop Seen 63 Pct. Down

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8. (AP) — The Agriculture department today estimated the 1951 cotton crop in Texas at 4.8 million bales, or 63 per cent of normal. For the nation, the figure was placed at 16,921,000 bales of 500 pounds gross weight. This is 360,000 bales less than the 17,281,000 bales forecast a month ago. However, it is sharply higher than last year's small crop of 10,012,000 bales and compares very favorably with the 10-year (1940-49) average of 12,000,000 bales. The Texas yield per acre was placed at 153 pounds while the indicated yield nationally was 284.7 pounds compared with 269.2 pounds last year and 265.9 for the 10-year average. The increase this year was recommended by the government as a means of replenishing stocks which had dwindled to a low level under the preparedness program. Supplementing the crop was 2.2 million bales from previous crops. Condition of the crop as of Oct. 6, in an accompanying report, the census bureau said 5,867,911 bales had been ginned prior to Oct. 1. This compared with 2,771,959 ginned to the same date last year and 5,306,453 two years ago. No estimate of cottonseed production was given. The Oct. 1 condition of the crop, the yield per acre and production, respectively, by states included: Texas 63,183 and 4,800,000; New Mexico 80,436 and 300,000; Oklahoma 62,174, and 580,000; Arkansas 73,341 and 1.6 million; Louisiana 82,389 and 800,000. The production of American-Egyptian cotton was estimated at 44,200 bales compared with 64,200 last year and 25,400 for the 10-year average. Production of this type by states included Texas 18,000 bales compared with 18,900 last year. Ginnings this year and last, respectively, by states included: Arizona 55,900 and 74,525; California 360,728 and 118,728; Louisiana 435,823, and 216,653; New Mexico 18,049 and 12,691; Oklahoma 54,552 and 5,758; Texas 1,702,274 and 1,002,467.

Mossadegh Due Today For U.N. Debate Of Iranian Oil Issue

NEW YORK, Oct. 8. (AP)—Iran's Premier Mohammed Mossadegh is scheduled to arrive today by plane to present his country's case to the United Nations Security Council in the oil dispute with Britain.

The council is not expected to meet before Thursday. Meantime the aged and ailing premier is expected to hold bedside conferences with U. N. diplomats from a suite in a New York hotel on the central question of nationalization of her oil is a domestic problem and the U. N. should refuse to interfere.

Mossadegh, a fervent Nationalist, led the fight to drive Britain's Anglo-Iranian Oil Company out of Iran from his bed in his modest private house in Tehran. He rarely left it except to appear in parliament, where he made impassioned pleas — sometimes accompanied by fainting spells — for support against what he regarded as foreign exploiters.

Dressed in pink pajamas, he received such dignitaries as W. Averell Harriman, President Truman's special envoy, and Britain's Ambassador Sir Francis Shephard.

Reports from Rome and Amsterdam, where the premier's plane stopped Sunday, described him as grimacing with pain and trembling with nervousness. At both stops he made only brief appearances.

Mossadegh is accompanied by his physician son, his daughter, Deputy Premier Hussein Fatemi, three members of the Iranian National Oil Board and other officials. Tehran dispatches said there were 17 in the party.

In the U. N. battle over the fate of the AIOC, Mossadegh will face Britain's suave Sir Gladwyn Jebb, whose rapier-like wit has punctured the rhetoric of such a formidable adversary as Russia's Jacob A. Malik.

The expected verbal duel between the tearful, emotional Mossadegh and United States television favorite Jebb brought a huge demand to the U. N. for tickets. With the council meeting in a small, temporary room, the U. N. said newsmen would fill all extra seats and no other tickets could be issued.

Texas Veteran Wins Fight For Custody Of Kids

LONDON, Oct. 8. (AP)—A Texas veteran closed out today a successful two-year fight for custody of his two daughters by his English war bride.

Winner in the long court battle was Wilbert Roy Benner of Route One, Del Valle, Tex. As soon as he can get boat tickets he plans to go home with his daughters Rosetta, 6, and Iris, 5.

Justice Sir Harry Vaisey voided a contempt of court order against Mrs. Violet Benner for failing to obey his directive to hand over the children to her husband.

Benner's lawyer said the Texas seized the two girls last week at Mrs. Benner's home in Purfleet. She was not at home.

The Benners were married in 1944 when the Texas was an Air Force private stationed in this country. When the war ended she declined to go to America with him.

Mrs. Benner sued unsuccessfully last October for a divorce on cruelty grounds. The court held that she filed the suit mainly to justify her refusal to go with Benner to his Texas home. He was awarded custody of the two daughters, but she refused to give them up. The contempt citation followed.

D. J. Ackner, Benner's lawyer, said today his client, having gained actual custody of the children, is content to let the matter drop.

"He no longer wishes to take his wife home with him," Ackner said. "since he has now found that Mrs. Benner has given birth to twins of which he is not the father."

Dismissing the case, Justice Vaisey commented: "It is extraordinary that a wife petitioned for a divorce at a time when she was apparently in an advanced state of pregnancy by another man and her husband knew nothing about it."

MAN IS STILL UNCONSCIOUS IN 2ND LIFE

LONG BEACH, Calif., Oct. 8. (AP)—Melvin Hewitt, 28, is going into the fifth day of his "second life" today, but he doesn't know it.

Hewitt has not regained consciousness since doctors cut into his chest and massaged his heart back to life early Thursday. He was rushed to an El Monte hospital after falling and hitting his head outside a tavern. At the time of the operation, the doctors said he had been dead 15 minutes.

Later Hewitt was removed to the Veterans Hospital here. His condition is critical.

Former Wife Back Home, Hopes King Will Be Happy

NEW YORK, Oct. 8. (AP)—The former wife of Texas oil heir Sheppard King III flew in from Rome today and said she hoped he would be happy with Samia Gamal, Egyptian belly dancer.

Mrs. Gloria King, divorced last year, said she herself still loved him—but only "like a brother."

Asked whether she resented his engagement to the dancer, she replied: "Why should I if he is happy? I think it is fine. I really do."

"If it is not the making of him, it will be the breaking of him."

Mrs. King was accompanied by King's sister, Patricia, 18. Both had been spending a vacation with King in Rome and had seen him off there on a trip to Cairo to be reunited with the girl he wants to marry over his mother's objections.

The two young women are to leave today for Houston where they will discuss the romance with King's mother.

Texas Heir Ignores Ban To Kiss Samia

CAIRO, Oct. 8. (AP)—Ignoring an Oriental ban on public kissing by unmarried couples, Texas oil heir Sheppard King III grabbed belly-dancer Samia Gamal at the airport today and gave her a big smack.

"I was missing Samia too much so I decided to come to Cairo and spend one week with her," said King who defied his mother and became engaged to the Egyptian beauty in Paris a week ago.

King was to sail for the United States, Oct. 7, to try to argue his wealthy mother out of disinheriting him. He flew here from Rome instead.

He waved his hand optimistically when asked if his mother, a wealthy widow of Houston, was still angry.

"I'm convinced that when mother sees Samia everything will be all right," he said.

He added his sister Patricia, who knew Samia in Paris, is on her way to Texas to mediate. Patricia said in Rome Sunday the mother-son dispute was none of her business.

Samia, asked whether the marriage was still on, answered with typical Egyptian fatalism: "Mekloub." (What is written in fate shall happen).

"If it is written that Sheppard and myself shall be married, then nothing shall prevent this from happening," she said.

King will stay at the Mena House Hotel at the foot of the Pyramids. Samia, who danced for King Farouk on the French Riviera last year, is on location for a new movie—"The Beautiful Face"—near there.

King said he planned to "see plenty of Samia" at the desert studio.

Here's why Fordomatic puts them all in the past!

For the past year, automotive writers, engineers and owners have been raving about a new kind of automatic driving... and here's why you get it only in Ford Cars:

All the power you need when you need it is yours with Fordomatic. You'll find it the most thrilling experience you ever had. You'll discover the advantages of having... the smooth going that automatic drives employing torque converters can give you... plus the zip, control, and savings that cars with automatic gears can give you. For Fordomatic combines the finer features of all other automatic drives!

IT GIVES YOU INSTANT "GO"!
Because Fordomatic gives you a combination of the best features of all other automatic drives, it delivers instant "go" for exceptionally easy, exceptionally smooth starting, passing, and hill climbing. Its extra intermediate gear gives you a push of extra power any time you want it... extra braking power, too, that's outstandingly smooth.

IT PRACTICALLY DRIVES ITSELF!
Fordomatic drives your car for you better than you could ever drive it yourself. It brings you a completely new thrill in no-shift-lever, no-clutch-pedal driving, because its development began where all other automatic drives left off!

Yes, Fordomatic has a torque converter plus automatic gears. It brings you only the advantages of both drives and eliminates the disadvantages.

Unlike cars with only a torque converter (which start and cruise all in one drive gear), Fordomatic starts fast and smooth in intermediate gear then shifts itself into Drive Gear.

Woman's Condition Said Satisfactory Following Mishap

COLORADO CITY, Oct. 8.—Hospital nurses at the Root hospital here reported this morning that the condition of Mrs. John McGuire, injured in an automobile mishap near the Col-Tex refinery Saturday night, was "satisfactory."

Mrs. McGuire was hurt when an automobile driven by Toke Wornack of Cuthbert crashed into the back of a cotton trailer.

Mrs. McGuire's husband, 41, of Cuthbert, was driving the pickup which towed the trailer, loaded with a bale of cotton. With him were Mrs. McGuire, Robert Murray and Judy Ann McGuire, 7, a granddaughter.

Only Mrs. McGuire was injured. Evidently, Mrs. McGuire was thrown against the inside of the cab following the crash. The trailer was wrecked and the McGuire pickup was badly damaged.

Mrs. McGuire is believed to be badly bruised but not seriously injured.

Wornack had lacerations on his face and his nose was injured. He was given emergency treatment.

The accident was investigated by Deputy Sheriff Bob McGuire, who was telephoned that there "was an accident on Highway 80 west of town." He did not know until he reached the scene that his mother, father and daughter Judy Ann were involved.

Traffic Accidents Take A Deadly Toll During The Week End

By The Associated Press

Traffic accidents took a deadly toll in Texas over the weekend. At least 29 deaths were reported on roads and streets.

At least 12 other persons died in other violence.

The worst traffic accident occurred killing six persons.

Latest Double Talk Proves That Old Leopard Hasn't Changed Spots

Joseph Stalin's latest excursion into the Never-Never Land of Marxist dialectic, as modified by Lenin and revised by Stalin, seeks to prove that Russia is eager to outlaw atomic warfare but the United States seeks to legitimize it.

The Soviet Union, he said in an interview confirming that Russia had recently touched off another atomic bomb, "stands for strict international control of atomic energy for peaceful purposes. It is not a question of whether or not we intend to use the bomb against anyone, but the U.S. wants control based 'not on prohibition of the atomic weapon but on its legalization,'" he added.

Facts are that the U.S. atomic control proposal, supported by a majority of United Nations members, called for an international commission to keep close control of both atomic weapons and atomic energy for peaceful purposes. This commission would have been empowered to enter any country and make close inspection of atomic plants whenever and wherever it chose, to insure full compliance and guard against secret A-bomb build-ups.

Russia flatly refused to go along, on the ground that to allow international inspection of her atomic facilities, would violate her sovereignty. She wanted the world first to destroy existing atomic bombs and atomic plants, then talk about inspection and control later. At the time Russia first proposed her plan, the only possessor of atomic bombs was the United States, and the only deterrent to Russian aggression was the atomic bomb.

"The U.S. plan, on the contrary, calls for full agreement on international controls first, then the outlawing of atomic bombs and the gradual dismantlement of bomb-making facilities, with full and continuous international inspection to insure compliance.

The two proposals are diametrically opposed, both in method of procedure and in execution. Acceptance of the Russian proposal is unthinkable. The U.S. plan is practical and fair to all.

Columbus Probably Not First, But His Discovery One That Counted

Honor guest at the Spanish Embassy's celebration of Columbus Day in Washington this week will be a 22-year-old descendant of the great explorer. He is "Lt. Christopher Columbus of the Spanish Navy who, by virtue of his descent from the discoverer of America, bears the honorary title of a five-star admiral.

Whether Columbus was the first to "discover" America seems doubtful, but it is certain that nothing came of earlier discoveries, while that of the great Christopher turned the world topsy-turvy.

We are told that it cost about $36,000 for Columbus to make his great find. The 90 men aboard the Santa Maria, Nina and Pinta drew wages at the rate of $3,500 a month.

And now comes an AP reporter to remind us that Queen Isabella didn't foot the bill. She offered to pawn her jewels to finance the voyage, but that was as far as it went. The money was borrowed from the endowment fund of a police force called the Santa Hermandad. The loan was later repaid by the crown. Columbus himself chipped in $3,500, probably borrowed.

Columbus never knew he had discovered a new world. He thought he had found unknown parts of Asia. And he wasn't trying to prove the world was round (the fact was generally accepted before his time), but was bent on finding a shorter route to Asia.

Contemporaries of the great captain described him as long-faced, ruddy, tall, red-headed and freckled. He held religious devotions aboardship every 30 minutes, kept a double set of books to deceive his men about the distance traveled, and made them, under dire threats, sign a statement that Cuba was part of the mainland of Asia rather than a long island.

To quote the AP reporter further — "America was discovered by mistake and named by fraud." It was named for Amerigo Vesputi, who voyaged over here and claimed to have sighted the mainland in 1497. In reality he did not see it until 1499, one year before Columbus got his first glimpse of the great land mass.

China Lobby Seeks To Put Red Tag On Any Opposing Chiang

WASHINGTON. — A new and interesting little scandal has turned up regarding the chief of staff of the Chinese army.

Last summer this column dug up some amazing facts regarding Gen. C. C. J. Chow, who is Chiang Kai-shek's right-hand man, and who sidetracked $444,706.33 into a private bank account in New York. The money was supposed to pay for U.S. war equipment, but was transferred instead to the name of a fictitious firm, the Lee Sun Company in the National City Bank.

Despite this, General Chow is the man who will handle the spending of the new $300,000,000 which the American taxpayers and Congress have just voted to hand Chiang Kai-shek.

And on top of juggling American aid money, this column has now learned that the same General Chow also pulled wires to keep his son out of the draft.

His son, I. Shih Chow, was studying at San Mateo College, California, and after the Korean war started, General Chow heard that his son as a resident alien might become subject to the American draft. So Chow hastily pulled strings to have the boy transferred to the Chinese embassy staff.

Actually, young I. Shih Chow never came near the embassy. He has continued his studies at San Mateo College as a diplomat-draft-exempt.

The order, creating a fictitious post for the son of the No. 2 Nationalist, was transmitted January 12 to the Chinese air attaché, Col. Tseng Ching-lin. Here is a translation of that order, signed by Chow Ming Hsiang, General Chow's uncle, who recently speaks for the general. The term, "young brother," is a Chinese expression of intimacy and courtesy.

"Young Brother I-Shih is studying in U.S.A. and subject to the draft laws of the government there," wrote Chow. "Loo Ying-teh (chief of the Second Chinese Air Force) has written to you and asked you favor is arranging a nominal post for I-Shih, without pay, at the attaché's office so that he may continue his studies. Kindly accomplish the arrangement immediately."

Since General Chow is second in power to Chiang Kai-shek himself, conscientious Chinese Ambassador Wellington Koo reluctantly went along with this trickery and forwarded an official note to the State Department on April 17 requesting a "change in the residence status of Mr. I. Shih Chow."

"Mr. Chow was admitted at Honolulu, Territory of Hawaii, on November 14, 1945, by a plane of the China National Aviation Corporation, as a temporary visitor. He has since been appointed as a clerk in the office of the air attaché on January 1, 1951," the ambassador reported untruthfully to the State Department. Actually, young Chow hasn't worked a day at the embassy.

The State Department accepted the Chinese ambassador's word, notified him on August 15 that "Mr. Chow has been granted a change of status from section 3 (B) of that under section 3 (F) of the immigration act of 1952, as amended, as an alien official of the Chinese government."

Note — High Chinese Nationalists have not only diverted American aid money into private bank accounts, but have used it to speculate on the commodity market, tax free. This money has also been used to finance the smear campaigns against Secretary of State Acheson, General Marshall and anyone else reluctant to untie the American purse strings for Chiang Kai-shek's government.

This high-powered, highly paid China lobby has tried to convince the American public that anyone who opposes Chiang is automatically a Communist. The real truth is that the most effective opposition to the Chinese Communists comes from guerrilla bands inside China, having no connection with the Nationalists. The Defense Department is in touch with these guerrilla bands, and is arming and aiding them—completely independent of Chiang.

Homespun, down-to-earth Fred Vinson, Chief Justice of the United States, goes out to dinner occasionally, but hostesses sometimes tear their hair over his clothes.

The other day he turned up at the home of Mrs. Arthur Gardner dressed in a gray suit and tan shoes. Some guests were horrified.

Mrs. Gardner comes from Detroit. Her father incorporated the original Ford Company when Henry, Sr., first began making automobiles, and got paid off in stock. It made him a millionaire. Now a Washingtonian, Susie Gardner gives gay, select dinner parties and this one was in honor of retiring U.S. Ambassador to Ireland George Garret.

Though some of the smartly clad guests turned up their noses at the Chief Justice's yellow shoes, he didn't pay any attention. When you're boss of the Supreme Court, you can afford not to.

On another occasion the Chief Justice was seated on a train at a dinner given by glamorous Gwen Cafritz when she called on Greek Ambassador Politis to speak.

"My country," he said, "is known for two things—its poverty and its key position between the Communist world and the West."

Next Madame Cafritz asked the Chief Justice to speak.

"I find myself taking vigorous exception to the Greek ambassador," began Vinson with a tinge of ferocity. "I don't agree with him. He's just all wrong."

No diplomat stationed in Washington likes to be reprimanded by the Chief Justice. Guests looked apprehensively at Ambassador Politis.

The ambassador described Greece as a poor country," continued Vinson. "But what country is poor that gave us democracy? What country is poor that gave us the Acropolis, Grecian art, Grecian architecture, and its great philosophers?"

The Chief Justice continued to recount the glories Greece had given the world; then concluded: "No, what little we Americans have given Greece today in food, money and military support will never equal what Greece, through the centuries, has given us."

The ambassador beamed. The nervous guests relaxed.

Forrestal Diaries - Number 11

First Defense Secretary Was Named Amid Mounting Crisis In The World

H. FIRST SECRETARY OF DEFENSE

At the Harvard commencement on June 5, 1947, the Secretary of State delivered the address which became the starting point of the Marshall Plan for European recovery. At the time, the dangerous developments in China bulked much larger in Forrestal's diary notes. At a State-War-Navy meeting on June 19 Admiral Denfeld gave his impression that the Chinese situation was one "of a continuing and general disintegration with the clear indication that the Russians will come in as we go out." At a Cabinet lunch on June 23 the subject recurred:

23 June 1947

CABINET LUNCHEON

Mr. Marshall said he had been searching for and inviting some suggestions of some positive action that we might take. . . .

The Chinese are apparently starting another drive around town to enlist further help for the Nationalist government, using particularly the danger of Communism as their chief argument. Snyder said that he had had four or five invitations in the last ten days to dine with the Chinese Ambassador. . . .

(At the State-War-Navy meeting on June 26 the "first and only subject was China.")

RIISING ANXIETY OVER CHINA

26 June 1947

STATE-WAR-NAVY

The Secretary of State stated that he had been searching for a positive and constructive formula to deal with the Chinese situation which, he said, showed every sign of disintegration. We were confronted, he said, by the dilemma created by the incompetence, inefficiency and stubbornness of the Central government — qualities which made it very difficult to help them. He cited the military ineptitude of their leaders, the cashing-in of the only generals who had produced successful campaigns, of the instability of their leadership and the appalling lack of an organization to deal with the vast and complex economic and social problems of China. . . .

I made the observation that we could not draw entirely oblique conclusions about China today without realizing that part of the anti-path, which Marshall had quoted was now mounting in China, derived from the Yalta agreement in which we gave away certain of the sovereign rights of China in order to get the Russians into the war. . . . Marshall agreed that this unfortunate fact was a substantial factor in the present rising unpopularity of the U. S. A. in China.

I gave it as my view that we should continue to supply support and ammunition to the Central government troops, pointing out that this was in consonance with the commitment we had taken with that government along with Russia, that no matter how difficult the situation became we should not withdraw entirely from China. . . .

TASK OFFERED TO FORRESTAL

(The diary notes show the Administration's continuing anxiety about China during the following weeks; they do not, however, indicate that any clear-cut decisions were achieved. In the meanwhile, Forrestal's own career was approaching a new climax. The military unification bill was at least nearing enactment, in substantial form for which Forrestal had been working for nearly two years; but even with the adoption of the conference report on July 25 there was still no definite word as to who would become Secretary of Defense, and Congress was to adjourn the next day.

(Forrestal was at the White House on the morning of July 26. The President's aged mother, Mrs. Martha E. Truman, was sinking in her last illness and the President's plane was ready at the National Airport to take him to her in Missouri. He was waiting only to receive the engrossed copy of the unification bill from the Capitol.)

26 July 1947

CONVERSATION — PRESIDENT TRUMAN

Talked with the President. The President told me he proposed to send my name up as Secretary of Defense. Bob Patterson wouldn't take it. He said he had talked to him about it, but Patterson was so hard put to it for money that he felt he was unable to stay longer in government. I told the President I would have been very happy to serve under Patterson for as long as I could be useful to both of them. The President repeated that Patterson could not be considered for the reason stated.

I asked the President whether he intended that control of the military establishment should be in civilian hands, because I said that was the way I proposed to exercise the powers in this job. He repeated most emphatically that that was his concept and that I had his full approval in proceeding on that basis.

He asked me about the post for Air and for the Navy. I said Mr. Sullivan was obviously the man to succeed me, and as regards Symington, that I felt he was an able man, the only reservation I had was whether two people who had known each other as long as he and I had could work successfully together. I said one's friends were frequently more difficult as partners than strangers.

NOMINATION QUICKLY APPROVED

(Ultimately the President departed for the airport. There, sitting in his plane, he received and signed the bill; he also signed the nomination of James Forrestal as Secretary of Defense. The nomination was favorably reported to the Senate the same afternoon, and confirmed by a voice vote in an end-of-session jam, in the early hours of July 27.)

(The appointment brought Forrestal to a new apex of popular acclaim. His replies to the congratulatory letters that came flooding in reveal the deep sense of dedication with which he faced his new tasks; those to his older associates also reveal the doubts that accompanied it. "This office," he wrote to Robert Sherwood on Aug. 27, "will probably be the greatest cemetery for dead cats in history." "If I don't do this job well," he wrote to Symington, "I certainly can't blame lack of support — although, as you observed this morning, honeymoons are soon over and roses are soon flung over by bricks." To another he declared that "when I finish this assignment my public service is ended, period. You have got to like politics if you want to be successful in it, and I frankly don't." And in still another letter he observed that "the difficulty of government work is that it not only has to be well done, but the public has to be convinced that it is being well done. In other words, there is a necessity both for competence and exposition, and I hold it is extremely difficult to combine the two in the same person."

CRISIS IN MANY LANDS

(And then in the same letter he added one of his favorite dicta: "The removal of human frictions is a substantial part of administration, whether it is in government or business." Such was the spirit in which he took up a post which was to involve more "human frictions" perhaps, than any other in government, and which at the time carried the most direct responsibility for the security and survival of the United States in an increasingly darkening hour.

(How dark it seemed is apparent from a Cabinet in early August.

8 August 1947

Secretary Marshall made a brief presentation of the world situation.

Conditions both economically and politically critical in Britain, Greece, France, Italy. He expressed sharp resentment of the British action in precipitating now their decision for troop withdrawal from Greece, pointing out that they had substantial numbers in Japan, Germany and elsewhere which could be reduced without any effect, and also pointing out that the announcement of the decision for the withdrawal from Greece was timed to occur the day after the Russian veto in the United Nations of the proposal for a continuing border commission on the Greek-Macedonian-Yugoslav frontier.

The British decisions and actions were obviously conditioned by political considerations at home, principally the desperate struggle for survival of the Labor party.

Harriman, asked for his views, expressed himself as being most concerned over the course of British policy. The extreme left-wingers have been pressing: (a) To reduce British military strength, (b) To get out of Greece, (c) To push even more vigorously on nationalization of industry.

It is a serious question whether we should underwrite the stability of a government whose objectives seem to be moving farther to the left as they lose the support of even moderate Liberals. . . .

Democrats To Hold Costly Meal Tonight

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 8. (U.P.)—In one of the financial forerunners of the 1952 campaign, an estimated 2,000 Western Democrats are scheduled to break bread tonight at a $100-a-plate dinner at the Hollywood Palladium.

The Palladium, a dine and dance establishment which gives its regular patrons Monday night off, will bear the oratory of Vice-President Alben W. Barkley and several cabinet members.

The banquet, sponsored by the Democratic National Committee, will draw delegates from 21 Western states representing some 200 votes at the 1952 party convention.

The California Central Committee has already expressed its desire to see President Truman carry the party banner again.

Man Is Not Very Big, But He Needs A Lot Of Space On Earth

Someone once said that all the people who ever lived, if gathered in one spot, could be seen with the naked eye from a vantage point like the top of the Washington Monument.

In a physical sense, none of us should feel very significant. Only his mind and his reason make man the prince of the universe.

If he isn't very big, he and his command a lot of space on this planet, though. If you challenge that statement, look about you and inventory what it takes to sustain you. If you're an ordinary individual, you'll see demands are enormous.

That fact was brought home to me while I was in military service during World War II and especially at that time I received orders to transfer my worldly belongings from one locale to another.

It usually required four barracks bays to store my clothes, though I was not exactly recognized as the Army's "well-dressed man."

A lot of the knick-knacks I have collected down through the years are entirely worthless but it would be hard to talk me into parting with them. Storage space in the domicile is always at a premium because the "junk" fills all available boxes and spills over into the closets.

Considering the clothes we wear, the food we eat, the quarters in which we live, the vehicle which gets us about . . . each of us demands an enormous amount of space.

Everyone, probably, could yield a prominent part of his belongings without suffering for it but there are few who wouldn't complain about the "sacrifice."

It's little wonder there is an ever growing demand for "living space" among the peoples of the world.

TOMMY HART

Business Outlook—J. A. Livingston

Wilson, Of G.M., In New Role: He Eats And Sleeps Escalation

DETROIT, Oct. 8. — "Go ahead," said Charles E. Wilson, president of General Motors Corp. "ask it."

I had just said: "I've a question that you may not want to answer." I asked: "Why are you the whit knight in shining armor fighting for the escalator clause?"

Wilson almost laughed. Like most men who arrive at the top of a giant corporation through the rough and tumble of competition of hundreds of other ambitious men, he brushes aside whimsies as a diversion from the main thought on push.

He said: "What you mean is, Why don't I just relax and shut up for a while?"

Apparently, he was familiar with the question. Apparently, it had come up within the G.M. family. I said: "Yes," and went on to point out that the G.M. formula had virtually become the national formula. It had been adopted—pretty much as is—by the Wage Stabilization Board. Yet Wilson has almost become a one-subject man.

His desk was covered with letters he'd received or was in the middle of writing. There were excerpts from newspapers and magazines, and half-finished speeches in preparation. He argues at lunch and dinner. Day by day, he becomes more immersed in escalation economics and, some would say, in rationalizing and apologizing for the formula. I suggested, Why not let WSB carry on the fight?

Wilson replied, carefully and thoughtfully: "I am honestly fearful that unless the merit of escalation in wage contracts is thoroughly understood, we'll lose the opportunity to establish a stable economy. A series of strikes, such as punctuated throughout all industry, would tear this country apart."

He noted that he has been attacked by bankers, manufacturers, and labor leaders. Each group, apparently, has its own party line. Bankers believe that wages and prices should be kept down. In that way increased productivity would be distributed among everybody—not workers only. The banker's capital is all in money, or its equivalent. He gains from lower prices, disinflation.

The business man's party line is low costs. He wants to hold wages steady so as to keep costs steady. In that way, he protects his customers and his profits. He has in his mind that higher wages mean lower profits.

Some labor leaders, even within the United Auto Workers, snipe at escalation. It's all right when prices advance, but if prices drop, the gains are taken away. For that reason, Walter Reuther, head of the UAW, has been under attack. In a sense, Wilson feels he has to help Reuther, since both are in this thing together.

When I suggested that the plan was "built-in inflation," Wilson wanted me to prove it. I pointed out that as defense expands, the volume of goods and services available for civilian consumption would presumably decline. That would mean a drop in the overall standard of living. But if workers, through escalation, were to get higher wages, then they would maintain their standard of living at the expense of everybody else, and bid up prices.

Wilson responded that we could not have inflation if the money supply didn't increase. He pulled out a chart to show that an increase in the volume of bank deposits and money in circulation always preceded price advances. Therefore, Wilson contended, the G.M. contract wouldn't be inflationary unless the government's policies were inflationary. Let the government control money and credit and it would control inflation.

For Wilson, the outstanding fact is that G.M. has a contract with four more years to run, that it guards against strikes, and it sees that G.M. workers will gradually improve their standard of living. To him, that makes it a darn fine contract for the corporation, the worker, and the country.

He thinks back to 1914, when Henry Ford announced his $5 day, against the prevailing wage of $3. Ford was denounced as an inflationist, revolutionist, and idiot. Wilson's not sure that his denunciations don't fall into a similar category—people who resent change. Certainly, no man ever fathered a brainchild with more vehemence and intensity than he—in his defense of escalation.

Rats Do Well Through Mazes

If you were asked to name the dullest of all animals, which would you choose? Your choice would be a hard one! There are animals which most people never have seen.

Scientists divide all living things into two classes—plants and animals. This means that fish, insects and birds are animals, along with reptiles and four-footed beasts. In addition, the animal kingdom includes clams, crabs, oysters, starfish and so on.

With such a vast number, it would be hard, perhaps impossible, to tell which is the dullest of all. We might, however, name some which are on the dull side. Among these are sponges, jellyfish, starfish, oysters and clams.

Clams are without eyes, but they have cells which may tell the difference between light and darkness. There is a heart, in a clam, also a mouth, but nothing in it deserves the name of "head." There are some nerve cells of a nature. By a stretch of imagination, think of two small groups of nerve cells as making up a kind of brain, but it is a poor brain at best.

To find the smartest animals, we need to go into the world of mammals. All mammals have two eyes apiece, a pair of ears and the senses of feeling, tasting and smelling.

Rats are far from being the smartest of the mammals, but they are sharp.

Tests recently carried out at the American Museum of Natural History, New York City, are of interest. Two mazes were provided, one for rats and one for human visitors. These mazes were made in different ways, but were about equally hard to get through. The rats proved to be about half as skillful as humans in performing the task.

DESIGNING WOMAN

Modern Chairs Should Be Selected For Comfort

By ELIZABETH HILLYER
If there's an uncomfortable chair in the house, it was probably picked for its looks. And it's as likely to be big and upholstered as it is small and wooden. There's only one way to tell a comfortable chair and that's by the sit-down test. It may not be comfortable although it looks it, and it may be far more comfortable than it looks. The pitch of the seat and back and their relation to each other make much more difference than the kind and quantity of stuffing. The chair with a straight back and a seat with a forward pitch can't be comfortable. There's little comfort in a chair that right-angles its back to a seat that's exactly parallel to the floor. But the chair that slants the seat backward to a well-pitched back is comfortable, and it doesn't need stuffed-to-bursting upholstery. Designers today show particular genius at making chairs comfortable and they do it in slim-lined, light-looking styles. For example, California designer John Keal's smart, buxleless chair sketched, which uses high upholstery everywhere it is needed, but only where it is needed. The secret of the unusual comfort of the chair is a deeper backward slope for the seat.

Area Women To Attend Book Study

Area women and guests from surrounding cities are expected to attend the mission study being conducted by Helen Poe in the First Methodist church Wednesday and Thursday mornings. Miss Poe, outstanding in the field of public speaking, will open her program in Big Spring when she lectures on "Behind The Iron Curtain" Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock in the First Methodist church sanctuary. Registration for the study of "The Mission Of The Church In America" which opens at 10 a.m. Wednesday, will take place at 9:30 that morning. A covered dish luncheon is to be served during the noon hours and Miss Poe will continue from 1:15 to 2:15 in the afternoon. The three hours of study each of these two days will fulfill requirements for completion of six hours in selected mission study, according to Mrs. Bernard Laman, district president of the United Council of Church Women. The council is sponsoring Miss Poe's trip to this city. All of the sessions will be open to the public and the church nursery will be available for parents of small children.

Uncle Sam To Woo Women To Uniform

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor
If you are a healthy, unmarried woman between 18 and 35, you can expect some heavy wooing from Uncle Sam in the next few months. You'll be bombarded by radio, television, billboards and the public prints — perhaps even by personal interview. You'll be shown the blandishments of travel, adventure, romance, education and career training. There will be no doubt left in your mind, the campaign managers hope, that Uncle Sam loves you, wants you and needs you. The object, of course, is to persuade you to put on a uniform. The opening guns of a recruitment drive will be fired throughout the country, Nov. 11, with the goal of enlisting 112,000 women in all branches of the armed services by July, 1952. The present total of U. S. service women, including nurses, is 30,000. It seems the current women's recruitment drive has been something of a flop. The girls have turned a cold eye on the best lures of military life. After all, they have had a wide choice of careers lately. Business and industry have been bidding frantically for their services. A good secretary these days can almost name her own salary and take her pick of jobs. The burgeoning bureaus in Washington have had to send teams out through the country to lure typists and secretaries into government and industry. Business men have been offering such things as daily cocktail parties and prospective husbands to reluctant stenographers.

Eight Are Added To Lodge Group

Eight local residents were initiated into the Daughters of the Nile, Cihron Temple No. 100 at San Angelo in a formal ceremony last week-end. They were Helen McDonald, Zella Nabors, Gladys Dalmont, Dorothy Parish, Bernice Davis, Amanda Hull, Sue Williams and Thelma Helton. Members from Big Spring who witnessed the initiation of the more than 50 area citizens were Ethel McCann, Mattie Muneke, Ruth Pittman and Janie Smith. A covered dish dinner preceded the evening's activities.

Jones, Harwell MC Square Dance

Lucian Jones and Charlie Harwell were masters of ceremonies when members of the Circle-8 Square Dance group met in the Roller Rink Saturday evening. Callers were Oscar Nabors, Garner McAdams, Earl Reid, George Amos, Bill Cook, Tommy Whately, Tip Anderson, Cecil Milam, Jim W. Felts, Leonard Miller and Charles Holderbaum. Music was furnished by Jim King and his Coeden Playboys. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Albert Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Cleo Richardson and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Cook, all of Big Spring. Attending from Midland were Mr. and Mrs. Hub Haggler and Mr. and Mrs. Arnold O'Neil. It was announced that Jim W. Felts would resume his classes in dancing on Oct. 22. A brief business meeting will precede the next dance Oct. 13.

GC P-TA To Meet

The Garden City P-TA group will meet Tuesday afternoon, Oct. 9, at 3 o'clock in the school auditorium. Yearbooks are to be distributed at this time.

North Ward P-TA

Officers and chairmen of the North Ward P-TA will have a meeting at 3 p.m. Tuesday in the school building preceding the regular association meeting at 8:30. A film concerning Infantile Paralysis is to be shown at this time.

Sub-Teens

Colorful Fabrics Now Add Variety To Dull Wardrobe

By DOROTHY ROE
Time was your winter suit turned out to be either black gabardine or gray flannel. These tried-and-true fabrics are still standbys in any woman's wardrobe, but nowadays she may vary the picture with colorful textured wools, homespuns, featherweight tweeds in rainbow tints — or even winter cottons. Vera Maxwell is a designer who likes to design her own fabrics, and is known for the unusual colors and textures she has achieved. After a trek around North Africa, Spain, Portugal and Scotland, Miss Maxwell has come back, as might be expected, with a whole bagful of new tricks in fabrics and colors which she unveils in her fall collection. She uses, for instance, a loose-woven plaid wool in dark gray and Portuguese pink for a series of suits and coats, with circular or

DON'T MISS BARON'S Grand Opening Sale NOW IN PROGRESS

Despite soaring operating costs, the movies continue to hold their price line as America's cheapest entertainment. That is proved by this graph of price increases from September, 1945, to December, 1950, which has been made up from a compilation of living cost increases by the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics. According to the Bureau's figures, the average rise in movie admission prices in five years is considerably less than one-third of the 38.7 percent rise in the general cost of living in the same period. Even more impressive is the small advance in movie admissions as compared with the increase in the cost of food and clothing. Although held down by Federal controls, rent went up twice as much as movie admissions. The EYES of TEXAS are on the MOVIE SCREENS

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With Tommy Hart

Publicity releases from Portales, N.M., speak well of Jackie Barron's determination to excel at his trade, which happens to be signal caller for the Eastern New Mexico university football team.

One story reveals that the ex-Big Spring quarterback, who wasn't as big as a minute when he played with the Steers and who hasn't grown much since that time, doesn't get enough football on the practice field. He studies it in his room, on football trips and seeks counsel with the coaches whenever he can.

He keeps voluminous notes on football formations and plays and pours over them for hours. Jackie is noted for his clear and quick thinking. That much was illustrated in the ENMU-East Central game in 1948. The Greyhounds were on the East Central two-yard line. A quick-opening play called for a Barron handoff to Fullback Paul Cisma.

Just as Barron prepared to regrab the ball to Cisma, the East Central defense swarmed the backfield and swooped down on Cisma. Barron cancelled the handoff, tucked the ball to his side, darted through a hole up front just before it closed and scored the first TD of his college career.

Barron served as sort of an assistant coach at ENMU last spring, when Head Coach Al Garter's other duties kept him from the practice field. Assistant Coach Carl Richardson turned all the old hands over to Barron. Since Jackie knew all their assignments by heart, the job came easy for him.

Barron remembers best the Greyhounds clash with NMU back in 1948, which the ENMU gang won, 32-19. He played all but two minutes of that game and quarterbacked all of ENMU's touchdowns.

In a game last year with Colorado College, Jackie booted a field goal that would have given ENMU a 9-7 triumph but a penalty nullified the three-pointer and the Hounds lost, 7-4.

A Physical Education major, Barron plans to coach after his graduation next spring. He should make a good one.

Another young man from this area, Bob Benton of Union, is making ENMU a good hand on the gridiron.

The 190-pound guard never played football in high school. He's now president of the senior class at the Portales college.

What Big Spring high school couldn't do with a back like James Sides, the Lubbock star, now.

He's a former resident of Big Spring, you know.

The Naval Academy football team has practice jerseys with the individuals' names printed across the front.

Spectators would appreciate it if all players wore their names across the jerseys in a game. Few onlookers ever figure out who does what on a football field.

Druggists Still Lead Standings

State Drug remained on top in Junior bowling league standings last week by beating Team 1 in two of three games. In the other match, Team 2 nipped Team 4 by the same margin.

Charles Howie of Team 2 was high scorer with 192-462. C. L. Girdner of Team 4 had second high aggregate with 411.

State Drug paced team scores with 441-1153.

State Drug now has a record of six wins and three losses. Each of the other teams has won four games and lost five.

TEXAS MEETS SOONERS

SMU-Notre Tilt Contest Headlines S'West Card

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

Associated Press Sports Editor. SMU battles mighty Notre Dame this week in the headliner of a Southwest Conference Football schedule for great interest and portend.

Until Saturday night the annual Texas-Oklahoma game would have been the glamor boy of the card. But Oklahoma took a 14-7 tumble before the Texas Aggies and that robbed this colorful contest of much of its shine.

It's certain the Cotton Bowl will be bulging with the crowd, but it just can't pack the interest of SMU's fourth try against Notre Dame.

Those who watched twice beaten SMU walloped Missouri, 34-0, Saturday saw hope that the Methodists might give Notre Dame a most interesting afternoon. It appeared SMU finally had fashioned a ground attack to go with Fred Benner's passing.

The Texas-Oklahoma game will draw 75,349 fans — all who can get into Dallas' Cotton Bowl. Weeks ago the last tickets were sold. Texas has a glittering opportunity to break the Oklahoma jinx.

The Longhorns, noted for their defense, forgot about stopping the opposition and decided to outscore them. The Longhorns smashed North Carolina, 45-20, Saturday. Their battle with Oklahoma will be the first real comparison of the two rated Southwest Conference powers — Texas and Texas A&M.

Rice plays Navy at Houston Saturday. Baylor starts its search for the title against Arkansas at Waco. Baylor last week added luster by whipping a good Tulane team, 27-14. Arkansas lost to TCU, 17-7, by not taking advantage of its opportunities and because of Gil Bartosh.

Bartosh stepped back into his accustomed place as the man of the minute in TU's attack when Malvin Fowler, who had beaten him out for quarterback, left the game because of a knee injury. Fowler may be lost the rest of the season. TCU takes on Texas Tech at Lubbock while the Aggies play Trinity, also beaten two times this season, at San Antonio.

Notre Dame has won two games, smashing Indiana, 48-6, and Detroit, 40-6. SMU had scored only seven points in losses to Georgia Tech and Ohio State before breaking loose against inadequate Missouri. Rice was the only conference team to lose an interconference game last week. The Owls bowed to LSU, 7-6. Navy, was tied by Yale 7-7 and last week lost to Princeton, 24-20.

Gib Dawson of Texas has taken over the conference scoring lead with 30 points. He made 15 against North Carolina.

I-AAAA HEADLINER

Lubbock Opposes Amarillo Friday

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

Associated Press Sports Editor. District I of Class AAAA, which has more undefeated, untied teams and more teams in the top rankings, takes the spotlight of Texas schoolboy football this week.

The opening of conference play there brings together four of the unbeaten teams and you can pick your No. 1 game.

Odeasa, rated in many quarters as No. 1 in all Texas, takes on Borger. And Lubbock, another team giving top support, tackles Amarillo.

Conference play touches practically every district in the major divisions of schoolboy football — Class AAAA and AAA.

Wichita Falls, champion last year, takes on Denison in the start of conference play in District 5 of AAA. Wichita Falls showed signs of moving out of the wilderness last week by smashing Graham of AAA, 45-0. Denison finally won a game, licking Tyler, 6-0, in a conference test.

Features last week were Abilene's 19-0 win over Breckenridge, a power of AAA, and Lamar of Houston's 40-13 conquest of Brownsville, another AAA standout.

In AAA, Brownwood moved into the front tier by licking Midland, 19-13 Palestine was impressive with a 27-4 decision over Marshall, and Longview rolled on mightily

LIPPMAN PADS LEAD IN SW

DALLAS, Oct. 8. (AP)—Glenn Lippman, who led Texas A&M in a 14-7 triumph over Oklahoma, has increased his margin in Southwest Conference ball carrying.

The Aggie halfback gained 98 yards against Oklahoma and brought his total to 254 on 21 carries — 48 yards more than runnerup Lamar McHan of Arkansas.

Fred Benner of SMU still is well out in front in passing. He leads with 336 yards on 32 connections in 55 attempts. Larry Isbell of Baylor is second with 314 yards on 20 connections in 50 throws.

Isbell is the top punter with an average of 43.5 yards on 13 boots. Bill Howton of Rice tops in passing, having snared eight throws for 160 yards. Bill Jurney of Arkansas is second with eight for 152.

McHan leads in total offense with 415 yards in 75 plays. Malvin Fowler of TU is second with 397 on 69 plays.

The Aggies tops in team offense with 1,065 yards in three games. Arkansas is second with 1,060. Defensively, Baylor leads, giving up 180.5 yards per game.

Allie Reynolds Anxious To Get At Giants Again

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK, Oct. 8. (AP)—Saved by rain from gambling on Sain (John), Manager Casey Stengel switched to Allie Reynolds (17-8), his Yankee ace, in an effort to even the World Series in today's fourth game at the Polo Grounds. Reynolds was to go against Sal Maglie (23-4), the Giants' best.

Stengel had pondered a change from Sain to Tom Morgan for the Sunday game, holding Sain for relief. When the game was postponed by rain and wet grounds, he gladly hopped to Reynolds.

Down 2-1 in games after losing Saturday, Stengel would have been forced to match a second string pitcher with the Giants' close-shaving Barber.

"I'm confident about Reynolds," said Stengel. "I know he can pitch better than he did in the first game."

"We would like to have played the game," said Manager Leo Durocher of the Giants "but I think it helps us as much as them. Maglie can use that extra day of rest."

Reynolds, double no-hit winner in the regular season, failed Stengel Thursday in the opener at Yankee Stadium. The big Indian just didn't have it, giving up eight hits and all five runs before he left after six innings. He was so anxious to get back at the Giants that he threw in the bullpen during Saturday's 6-2 Giant victory.

The Giants had to hold out Maglie until this late in the series because he worked the final playoff games against Brooklyn Wednesday. The 34-year-old vet with the movie villain sideburns needs three days rest for top effort.

Unless Stengel changed his mind, the Yanks were to present a revised batting order with Hank Bauer at leading off, Yogi Berra batting third and Gene Woodling, who hit a homer Saturday, in Yogi's old fifth spot.

Stengel was fully dressed in his first uniform when Ford Frick, in his first act as newly-elected commissioner, called off the game at 10:23 a.m. (CST). Frick surveyed the field, listened to the thunder, watched the rain and announced the postponement. It poured most of the rest of the day.

It was the first rainout in the series since 1941 when the third Dodger-Yank game at Brooklyn was postponed. "Same lineup, same pitcher," said Durocher. That meant Hank Thompson in right field and Maglie.

BEST PAY EVER

Hornsby Named Brown Manager

By ED CORRIGAN

NEW YORK, Oct. 8. (AP)—Rogers Hornsby signed to manage the St. Louis Browns for three years. Owner Bill Veeck announced today. No financial terms were disclosed except that Hornsby's salary will be the greatest ever paid a Browns' manager.

Hornsby came East for the World Series from Seattle, where he managed the Pacific Coast League entry the past season. He managed the Browns briefly during the 30's and starred both as a manager and a player with the Cardinals, St. Louis' National League team.

Veeck said that Hornsby's coaches would be determined mutually later. When Hornsby left the Coast on his Series trip he said he was considering three offers to return to the majors. None was identified.

Hornsby is in the Hall of Fame league career, which started in 1915, he won the National League batting championship six times in a row, starting with 1920 when he had an average of .370. In 1921 he reached the amazing batting mark of .424.

In his long career as a second baseman, he served in turn with the Cardinals, Giants, Braves and Cubs in the National League and the Browns in the American League. He was player-manager of the Cardinals in 1925, and in 1926 led the Cardinals to the pennant.

Since 1937, when he was released by the Browns, Hornsby has been active in both major and minor league baseball.

Ford Out Front At Kansas City

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 8. (AP)—Youthful Doug Ford held a two-stroke edge today at the start of the final 36 holes in the Kansas City Open Golf Tournament.

Four players were bunched close behind him, including Cary Middlecoff, who slammed a hole-in-one Sunday. Ford turned in a 68 to go with his 64 on opening day. His 132 total on the 6,500-yard Milburn Country Club course was 12 under par.

Jim Ferrier and Dave Douglas were right on Ford's heels with 134.

Rams Battered By Cleveland Browns, 38-23

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 8. (AP)—The folks who have been sounding taps over the Cleveland Browns, including Browns' Coach Paul Brown, can take it all back today.

The National League champion Browns looked just about as good as ever Sunday as they thoroughly trounced the slightly-favored Los Angeles Rams, 38-23.

The New York Giants, who figure to battle it out with the Browns for American Conference honors, whipped the Washington Redskins, 35 to 14, on an effective pass defense and Charley Conerly's strong right arm.

The Chicago Cardinals and Green Bay Packers came through with upsels. The Cards trounced their cross-town Chicago rivals, the Bears, 29 to 14. Green Bay blew a 28-point lead but rallied to nip Pittsburgh's Steelers, 35 to 33.

The Philadelphia Eagles beat the San Francisco 49ers, 21 to 14.

Irish As Good As '49 Team, Says Russell

DALLAS, Oct. 8. (AP)—H. N. Russell, coach of SMU, says Notre Dame's team is as good as the 1949 eleven that won the national championship.

"The Chicago Cardinals and Green Bay Packers came through with upsels. The Cards trounced their cross-town Chicago rivals, the Bears, 29 to 14. Green Bay blew a 28-point lead but rallied to nip Pittsburgh's Steelers, 35 to 33.

The Philadelphia Eagles beat the San Francisco 49ers, 21 to 14.

"My scouts report that Notre Dame has the same type team as 1949 when we were four-touchdown underdogs before we played them," said Russell. "That should be about the same margin this time." Notre Dame beat SMU, 27-20.

He described Notre Dame as "big, powerful and potent. They have some sophomores to be sure but when a sophomore makes the Notre Dame team he's bound to be a great boy."

Russell said the fans should not be deceived by the SMU showing last week in crushing Missouri, 34-0. "That's the weakest Missouri team in some time," Russell said. "I don't know whether I have a good team or not."

Leahy, here to scout the game, said SMU had a fine team — good blocking, good defensively, strong running.

"Mr. Leahy is a fine, Southern gentleman who always says nice things about you," Russell commented. "I am hopeful we can make it a good game," he added.

Yearlings Host Angelo Eleven

The Big Spring Steers, losers of four straight football games this fall and ten in a row over a two year period, get a welcomed respite this week.

The Longhorns do not return to action until Friday, Oct. 19, at which time they host the Haskell Indians.

Local grid enthusiasts will be afforded another look at the astonishing Big Spring Junior high Yearlings, however. The all-victorious Yearlings take on the San Angelo Yearlings here Saturday night. The Steer B team will also be in action but will play away from home. The Dogies take on San Angelo in Angelo Saturday night.

Stanton Faces Conference Foe

STANTON, Oct. 8.—Stanton's green but ambitious football team meets Seagraves here Friday night in its first district test of the 1951 season.

The Buffaloes lost a 6-0 verdict to Crosbyton last week end in Crosbyton.

The Bisons scored for the first time Saturday night when Scooter Polk intercepted a pass on his own goal line and ran it back 100 yards but the play was called back due to a clipping penalty.

The Stanton club played without the services of three regulars.

Thinks Soviet Has Plenty Of A-Bombs

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8 (AP)—Civil Defense Administrator Millard F. Caldwell said today he thinks Russia has enough atom bombs to hit major American cities simultaneously in "an all-out, grand-slam attack."

Such an attack, Caldwell said in a copyrighted article in the magazine U. S. News and World Report, probably would be designed to "stop production and blast the morale of the people."

There will not be one blast, as I visualize it," the civil defense chief said. "There will be a number of cities hit at the same time."

Caldwell's views were published as the Senate began debate on

Sharp Rise In Defense Workers Seen By Tobin

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8 (AP)—A sharp increase in employment of defense workers as the mobilization program begins to develop mass hiring has been predicted by Secretary of Labor Tobin.

However, Tobin added in a statement Sunday that while manpower requirements for the defense program would create new pressures on the labor supply in most areas, there would be unemployment in other areas where cutbacks in civilian goods and materials were being felt.

State employment agency surveys indicated an upturn in employment this fall, Tobin said.

Accuse Judge In Bad Feeding Of Braceros

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8 (AP)—The Labor Department has accused a Texas county judge of feeding Mexican farm workers canned meat imported as "dog food — unfit for human consumption." The department has cancelled his contract to feed and house them.

The judge, R. E. Bibb of Maverick County, could not be reached for comment. The Labor Department said he is a prominent businessman and chairman of the Democratic County Committee.

It cancelled, effective Nov. 1, a contract under which Bibb provided food and housing at Eagle Pass, Texas, for Mexicans brought into this country to do farm work. Eagle Pass is one of five such centers the government maintains to care for the Mexicans until they are placed in jobs.

Undersecretary of Labor Michael J. Galvin said Bibb had served the Mexican migratory workers meat from Mexico which had cleared customs labeled "animal food" and invoiced "dog food — unfit for human consumption."

The labels were removed after the food cleared customs and before it was served, Galvin said. He added that during the remainder of Bibb's contract, a U. S. Public Health Service inspector will be stationed at Eagle Pass to inspect all food at each meal.

The department said Bibb had bought some 2,000 cases of the meat, the duty on which was considerably less than that on meat intended for human consumption.

New Casualty List

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8 (AP)—The Defense Department today identified 276 more battle casualties in Korea. A new list (No. 414) reported 21 killed, 248 wounded, three missing in action and four injured in combat zone accidents.

BROTHERS TO BE BURIED

Played As Boys, Died As Heroes

BATESVILLE, Ark., Oct. 8 (AP)—Melvin and John Richard Barnett, who played together as boys and fought together as men, return here Tuesday to receive a recognition reserved for heroes.

This time, the brothers will remain in their native North Arkansas. They gave their lives resisting the Reds in faraway Korea. Tuesday, their family, kin and friends will pay last respects at a military funeral for the two privates, first class, late of the 1st Cavalry Division.

Thousands of other youngsters like Mel and Johnny Barnett also have died in Korea. But the Barnett boys were killed in action on the same day and in the same engagement.

The deaths of the two Arkansas brothers may be the first instance in the current conflict in which members of the same family fell in the same battle.

Melvin was 20 and married. Johnny was 19 and single. They have five brothers and six sisters.

They enlisted about the same time, three years ago and were together until they reached the Korean fighting front. Eventually, they were reunited when Johnny requested transfer from his medical unit to Melvin's company in the Fifth Regiment of the First Cavalry.

Last March, about a month after the brothers were reunited, their father, George Barnett, a farmer near here, and Melvin's wife received the nation's regrets in the simple, tell-tale messages from the Defense Department.

Tuesday afternoon, after the Batesville National Guard unit fires the traditional volley reserved for men and women who have died for their country and the bugler's "Taps" has died away in the autumn air, the brief saga of Melvin and John Barnett will be completed.

Curling, a national Scottish game, was introduced in the 16th century from the low countries.

Rough Weather In US Fatal To Ten

By The Associated Press
Ten persons were killed Sunday as rough weather slammed the country from the Mississippi Valley to the North Atlantic States and Eastern Seaboard.

In the Northeast, high winds, thunderstorms and driving rain raised havoc. Topped telephone poles and power lines cut off electric and telephone service to thousands, particularly around New York City and New Jersey. In New York, heavy rains poured water into subway tubes, interrupting service of several lines in Brooklyn and filling one tunnel with three feet of water.

Wind-churned seas threatened craft on the Great Lakes and off the Atlantic Coast. Storm warnings went up on all the Great Lakes except the Ontario. Off the Eastern Coast, the Coast Guard received numerous distress calls from small craft.

Seven of the ten deaths attributed to weather conditions occurred on highways. A bus skidded off a slippery road at Gainesville, Va., killing five and injuring 21. Two servicemen were killed in Philadelphia as their car skidded on a rain-swept highway.

A plane crash in which three Air Force men were killed was believed to have occurred about Knox, Ky., during a thunderstorm.

The Washington, D. C. area had a partial blackout as lightning hit transformers, disrupting power service.

New York City took a heavy dousing as more than two inches of rain fell within a 12-hour period late Sunday and early Monday.

The storm area shifted eastward Monday from the Great Lakes region and skies cleared in the Midwest area. East of Chicago to New England winds remained strong. The Eastern Seaboard had showers and thundershowers Monday with the rain belt extending south to the Carolinas.

Elsewhere in the nation, fair weather prevailed. It was cool today east of the Rockies. West of the mountains, it was warm during the day but apt to be chilly at night.

Early morning temperature readings included Chicago 38, Grantsburg, Wis. 27, Mason City, Ia., 32, Rochester, Minn., 28, Quincy, Ill., 28, Los Angeles 64 and Miami 72.

TEXAS BRANDS

By JOHN M. HENDRIX
Down in Mills County where there are now lots of good cattle and Four H Club boys who try and win prizes for their top calves at the annual fat stock shows held in the section, the Lazy Cane was originated in 1889 by Hudson and Rahl and has remained in those families constantly since the year that it came into being.

The County, while partially rough, is famed for its good ranches, farms, and high type of citizenship.

California GOPs Blast Truman
VISALIA, Calif., Oct. 8 (AP)—California's Young Republicans say they are fed up with "government by crony, incompetence in high office, and an administration which tolerates unethical conduct on the ground it is not technically illegal."

They adopted a resolution at a policy conference Sunday condemning the Truman administration on these grounds, and blamed the President for Communist influence in the federal government.

Other resolutions favored withdrawal of farm subsidies, decentralization of government, and a pay-as-you-go defense plan.

Girl Is Injured
Sarah Ann Owens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Owens, Ellis Homes, sustained a severe laceration on one leg Sunday when she fell from a swing and struck an iron stake. She underwent surgery at Malone and Hogan hospital and her condition was said to be satisfactory this morning.

Quake Is Recorded
