

LACKLAND POULTRY RANCH TO BE USED AS MODEL FOR WEST TEXAS

West Texas Chamber of Commerce Party and Local Men Inspect Plant After Chicken Dinner; Second Largest Poultry Ranch in State; Fifteen Others Start Up

The Lackland poultry ranch here was declared a model of its kind and considerable surprise expressed at the magnitude and success of the undertaking, by Porter Whaley, general manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, who with Hamilton Wright, publicity director of the organization; J. M. Dodson and O. D. Dillingham of Ranger inspected the plant yesterday. Snapshots of the modern houses and runs housing 5,000 White Leghorn chickens in various stages of growth will be used as models in the plans of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce to promote the establishment of other plants of the same type through this section, Mr. Whaley said.

The Lackland ranch was pronounced to be the next largest in the state and second in size only to the large poultry ranch established a number of years ago at Bowie.

Give Chicken Dinner

Mr. Whaley, accompanied by his wife and son, Clyde, and Hamilton Wright, arrived here overland from Stamford on the special invitation of Rufus and Sidney Lackland. Together with Mr. Dodson and Mr. Dillingham, they were guests at a chicken dinner at the ranch, following which the plant was inspected and the accomplishments and future plans of the ranch explained. Both of the local men were enthusiastic over the promise offered by the ranch to become one of the main industries of this section and expressed the opinion that but few people in Ranger realized the completeness of the plant or the possibilities offered.

Mr. Whaley stated that poultry raising as conducted at the Lackland ranch was along the lines advocated by the West Texas Chamber of Commerce and that organization's plans to promote the establishment of ranches of this type every fifty miles through West Texas. West Texas, he pointed out, raises all the necessary feedstuff for poultry; has a low mortality rate and offers every other inducement for the breeding of poultry on a large scale. Snapshots of the ranch will be published in the bulletin of the organization and in the Fort Worth papers.

Explains Methods

The visitors were carried through all of the houses and runs by Colonel Rufus Lackland and the scientific watering and feeding of the 5,000 fowls and their care explained. The success of the undertaking, he explained, resulted from the application of the experience of the larger breeders of the country and that gained in government experiments with common sense. The White Leghorn breed, he said, was standardized upon for the reason that this breed was almost the unanimous choice of the successful breeders who had learned from long experience. He attributed the failure of many persons in the poultry business to their specializing in the show business, instead of sticking to the commercial end. The show end so far as poultry is concerned, he said, is a rich man's hobby and a poor man's folly, and while advocating the raising of pure bred stock, he advocated sticking strictly to the commercial end.

LEGLESS LOVERS ELOPE; HEADING FOR LOUISIANA

LIMA, Ohio, June 10.—Two legless lovers who eloped from this city last week are on their way to Louisiana, according to information received here.

The elopers, both of whom are married, lost their legs when struck by trains. They are traveling in a motor car controlled with hand levers.

A relative of one of the lovers was informed today that the runaway lovers had passed through Washington, Ind., and had announced that they were on their way to Louisiana. Officials along the supposed route have been requested to watch for them. They camped all night in a park at Washington.

On the night of the elopement police raided the home of the legless Romeo and confiscated a moonshine still and 150 gallons of liquor. A warrant has been issued, charging violation of prohibition laws.

The elopement is being financed with proceeds from the sale of illicit liquor, according to police.

Valle said there were no further developments in the Blanco killing today.

HEIR OF 'TIGER' NOW LABORS IN U. S. COAL YARD

Clemenceau's Grandson, After Gay Parisian Life, Lands "Broke" in America.

SAXONVILLE, Mass., June 10.—Not many weeks ago, a shabbily dressed youth strolled into Saxonville, Mass. He was ragged and emaciated. Two days later he was in a hospital with pneumonia. No one knew the young man or whence he came. He was handsome and appeared to be well educated.

But all efforts to identify him were unavailing, and he would not talk. His face showed signs of depression and worry. His cheeks were hollow, and his lips drooping. His hands were blistered and sore.

After his recovery became a certainty, one day T. B. Quigly called at the hospital to visit a friend. He noticed the youth peering out of a window and recognized him. And now Georges Frederique Gatineau, a grandson of the former Premier Clemenceau is a guest at the Quigly home.

Once Was Heir to "Tiger's" Estate.

Three years ago Gatineau was heir to the "Tiger's" estate and the pot of Paris. After his return from the trenches, life for him became a merry round of wild night parties and beautiful women. He was wealthy. He was the leader of a small coterie of Paris revelers who had the fashionable world of Europe gasping for breath.

With an exiled Russian prince and two famous stage beauties, Georges spent his entire fortune in less than a year. Then came the crash.

Grandfather Clemenceau had long before called a halt to his heir's fast life. But the youth liked the primrose path and refused to heed the warnings. "Good old chap, grandpapa, but slightly behind the times," Georges informed his friends as nearly as the limitations of the French language would permit. He had an independent income from his cotton business and blithely continued to slap red paint on Paris.

Then Bottom Drops Out. Then the bottom dropped from under the cotton market, and Georges found himself flat broke. True to family pride, Gatineau has never been known to ask anyone for aid. So he sought work on the Brest and Havre wharves. He finally obtained a job as stoker on an Atlantic liner. From then on, nothing more was heard of him by his friends. He made three trips across the ocean, but the fourth was too much for him. The result was a breakdown, and then his severe illness.

Georges was game for any job he could get after he left the hospital. For a while he was a guest of the Quiglys, but his pride before long compelled him to leave. After three weeks, Georges obtained a job in a Saxonville coal yard.

His pay is $4 a day. At one time, he was his grandfather's secretary and chief assistant. When doctors would not pass him for military service, he enlisted as a "poilu" and served twenty-two months on the French front. He is a graduate of a Paris university and speaks four languages.

It was in Saxonville that Clemenceau found his American wife in 1870. Gatineau says that is one reason he chose to go to the Massachusetts village.

AMERICAN DIVORCES ON INCREASE IN PARIS

PARIS, June 10.—Considerable mystery surrounds the statement printed in an American newspaper published in Paris that the French courts had "thrown out all pending American divorce applications."

At the Palais de Justice, where all divorces are tried, officials were ignorant of the ruling. At the procurer of the republic, where applications are first filed, it was declared that several American divorces, including that asked by the Duchess de Talleyrand, formerly Anna Gould, were pending, and could not be thrown out before trial.

The clerk of the inferior court of the Seine, where most divorces are tried, denied the story and said that American divorces would continue to figure on the calendar as previously.

FLO LEEDS THRILLS PARIS, THROUGH WITH STILLMAN, SHE SAYS

PARIS, June 10.—The tongues of social gossips wagged furiously when "Florence Lea," a fashionably gowned woman, living at Claridge's hotel, admitted her identity as Florence Leeds, one of the most prominent figures in the Stillman divorce case.

"I have come here to live and forget," she confided to a friend. "I never want to hear the name of Stillman again."

Mrs. Leeds' gowns and jewels have been attracting much attention and comment at the races, at the Ritz and at other society haunts.

Coincidentally it is announced at the Stillman mansion, in Park Monceau, that the banker is expected here in July and that he may remain permanently.

REGAINS SPEECH IN AN AIRPLANE

William Rosendorf, son of William Rosendorf Sr., wealthy Washington, D. C., resident, had been a mute for years, but regained slightly his power of speech while making an airplane flight over Atlantic City, N. J., with Pilot Allen. At a height of 5,000 feet he was heard to say "airplane." He can hear perfectly, but lost his power of speech through illness.

'SCHOOL' TO FORCE USE OF DOPE ON KIDNAPED GIRLS IS REVEALED

DENVER, June 10.—That a "school" for teaching captive girls to become dope addicts is being conducted in a shack in North Denver, just over the line in Adams county, by an organized gang of dope peddlers, is the startling revelation made to officers of the juvenile court, by a graduate of the "school," a 17-year-old girl.

The girl, whose identity is being concealed by the court, is authority for the statement that recruits for the "school" are kidnaped by members of the gang operating at night in automobiles. The girl related how she was seized at Twentieth and Lawrence streets on a dark night and was driven to a shack near Fifty-first avenue and Sherman street, just over the county line, where for six weeks she was kept prisoner with two other girls.

The horror of the captivity is still fresh in the girl's mind; the squalor of the shack; the heavily screened windows, in which men sat and smoked and cursed and watched; the brutal assaults, the threats, the hunger—and then the escape from the misery of it all in the little white powder administered through the shiny silver needle. Once initiated into the use of the silver needle, the girl said, all repugnance to the horrible captivity was overcome and the girls subsided into a stupid, servile resignation to their fate.

The initiation into the dope habit, the girl told the officers, is merely the first step in the complete degradation of the girl, which, she says is the ultimate aim of the gangsters. A dope fiend, she explained to the officers, is the servant of her master—the man who can supply her with the magic powder when the overpowering craving take possession of her. An almost infinitesimal "shot" of cocaine or morphine, the girl said, is the whip by which the gangsters bend the girls to their every use, beating them down and down into greater shame for the profits of their overlords.

SCIENTIST HOLDS HUMAN LIFE MAY EXIST ON VENUS

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 10.—Venus is possibly inhabited by human beings and communication with planetary neighbors by wireless "may be possible, altho the cost would be immense," in the opinion of C. G. Abbot, assistant secretary of the Smithsonian Institution, who discussed various scientific phases of the "habitability of other worlds" in the annual report of the institution, just made public.

Mr. Abbot says Venus reflects light as if it were surrounded with clouds and so probably "it contains plenty of moisture."

"Its temperature is about the same as that of the earth," he added, "and all other conditions are apparently compatible with the existence of intelligent life."

Many popular writers have claimed great things of Mars as an abode of life, Mr. Abbot said, "but I cannot accept this view. All observers are agreed," he adds, "as to the existence of markings and shadings of color on Mars, but to suppose that we see there the engineering works of intelligent beings is merely fanciful."

Commenting on suggestions, "we are already receiving wireless signals from intelligent beings outside of the earth which may in turn be interpretable," Mr. Abbot declared that the best information seems to be that the "wireless indications referred to are merely disturbances introduced by solar or terrestrial causes as yet imperfectly understood and not the work of intelligent beings trying to communicate with us."

BANDITS TAKE 12 CENTS, SLAY FLEEING MAN

LOS ANGELES, June 10.—Lester Shedenhelm, a building contractor, was shot and killed here by two masked bandits after they had robbed him of 12 cents. The shot that struck Shedenhelm in the heart was fired as he ran toward his automobile, saying: "You won't get this, anyway." The young woman with whom he was motoring reported the crime to the police.

AGITATION VS. INFORMATION.

A lot of folks in Ranger object to "agitation." As doctors of conditions, they prescribe rigid application of the silent treatment.

Well, now let's see. A couple of cats on a backyard fence make a lot of noise. But according to this theory, hurling a brick at them would be "agitation," and the better policy would be to bury one's head in the sand, even as the ostrich, and refuse to disturb the feline celebration.

Any town will on occasion develop a clash of sentiments, and some persons will seek to change conditions that have existed. Sometimes those conditions need to be changed, as for instance when cats persist in yowling all night long. But no normal minded person would call that agitation, though the cats might so vote it.
On the other hand, suppose the Ranger band gave a special concert, which a large number of people were enjoying. Suppose someone took it into his head to break it up. Surely that condition would give cause to restrain the disturber. And yet the ostrich method would not have much effect and if adopted, the disturber might very likely succeed in his object.

The Times is frequently accused of agitating when it is merely giving information. Only last week the accusation was made because of the straw vote taken on Sunday closing.
But it was a case where information was needed. There was a petition being circulated asking Sunday closing.
It presented only one side of the question. Manifestly, it was the duty of the Times, as Ranger's organ for the dissemination of information, to find out how the people of Ranger stood on the proposal, and tell the people. This it did, and for all those who believe in the rule of the majority and credit the average family with possessing its share of human virtues, the result should be satisfactory.

That vote showed that approximately 90 per cent of the people of Ranger see no harm in Sunday shows and other conveniences. Chances are, the proportion is even greater, as it is the opponents of an existing condition who are most active when a vote is taken. The great mass of supporters do not take a hand unless they feel the situation demands it.

That vote, then—and it was representative—shows that Ranger emphatically disapproves puritanical regulations. And the open saloon was just as emphatically disapproved when only 5 per cent expressed a willingness to have it in our midst.

That vote was not agitation; it was a compilation of information—information that every agitator in Ranger might well take to heart.

In spite of its earnestness, nobody appears to bring Colonel Bryan's eloquent opposition to the Darwinian theory into evidence as a party issue.

WEST TEXAS
FARMS IDEAL
FOR POULTRY

Miss Myrtle Murray, Poultry
Specialist, Extension Service,
A. & M. College, Says.

West Texas is an ideal country for the poultry industry. It should be,
and is fast becoming, one of the main crops. Drouth does not affect the poultry industry. You have an ideal climate, produce your own feed and have plenty of range. Because of your wonderful range turkeys should be raised in herds and a herder employed to care for them. This alone will yield the country thousands of dollars. You have some railroads already, and others in sight that insure quick transportation to market. The Fort Worth & Denver railroad saw the splendid possibilities of the poultry industry in this section of the state when they "stood at attention" and granted practically every request and suggestion of its agricultural agent, when he organized and featured the special poultry demonstration campaign last January and February. This was one of the most systematically conducted agricultural campaigns ever promoted in this state. The fact that a railroad company spent several hundred dollars on a poultry campaign is sufficient evidence that the poultry industry has passed its infancy and is worthy of the attention of the best business brains of the country.

All up and down the Fort Worth & Denver-Wichita Valley line, bankers were ready with various propositions to promote the poultry industry.

Just last year in the city of Plainview, the Hub of the Plains, there was shipped out $600,000 worth of poultry. This was $100,000 more than the aggregate of the wheat crop.
If I understand the work of the Chamber of Commerce it is not only to promote the various business interests of the city, but its responsibility reaches to the boundaries of the country in which the city is located.
In agricultural states such as ours the success of the business man depends altogether upon both the yield and marketing of the farm crops. Since it has been proved that poultry is a cash crop, ranks with other crops you cannot do a greater work for your city and county, and one that will yield as great a per cent of gain for the amount of money invested than to encourage and promote campaigns that will stimulate this industry.

A successful poultry winning campaign is composed of links. Each link represents a seasonable campaign. Since a chain is no stronger than its weakest link each link should be systematically planned and efficiently promoted. The links or campaigns might be a "swat the rooster" campaign, "infertile egg," "culling" campaign, a "more and better poultry" campaign, "community and county egg poultry show." Perhaps an appropriate motto should be "Say It With Poultry."

A "Swat the Rooster" campaign, an "infertile egg" campaign at the present season would mean a saving of thousands of dollars to West Texas.
This should be followed by a strenuous culling campaign in the fall.
Weed out the "star boarders" and keep only the producers for the breeding pen next year. Culling campaigns in the various states have done more to interest people in standard-bred poultry than any other one thing. It is a winner every time.

A "More and Better Poultry" campaign should be launched in January and February. A plan to furnish standard-bred eggs to everyone interested should be operated.

The climax both financially and educationally will be the county and community fairs which include exhibits of both eggs and poultry. That is where we learn what is a good or bad product. Sales are made and interest stimulated for next year's poultry crop.

But some one or more organizations must assume the responsibility of starting the work. Why not that one be you?

Do you want to make more money in West Texas? Well, the hen, better housed, better fed, better culled and bred, is the surest, quickest and most economical short cut.

DRY LAWS ARE AID TO THRIFT,
BANKERS SAY

LONDON, June 10.—Bankers all over the country agree that prohibition has been a big factor in promoting thrift and that there has been a substantial increase in savings since the amendment was passed.

Answers came to questionnaires recently sent out by the National Women's Christian Temperance union, asking bankers for their opinion regarding prohibition from a financial viewpoint.

James B. Forgan, leading Chicago banker, may be taken as the spokesman for the others, who represent every state in the union, as their answers are along the same lines. Mr.
Forgan says in part:

"Immediately after prohibition became the law of the land, a large influx of savings accounts were noticeable in our bank and I believe generally in other banks. The number of accounts has steadily increased, showing that the number of thrifty is steadily growing and I believe the absence of the saloon is largely responsible for this growth.

"Another indication of the increased number of thrifty people in the community is the greatly increased number of investors in bonds of smaller denominations. There can be no doubt that prohibition is a promoter of both thrift and industry."

Bankers in smaller cities and villages called attention to the fact that many people are buying homes, that they are better clothed, pay their bills promptly and are educating their children with money that formerly went into the saloon cash register.

arettes unashamed, although their dresses leave little to the imagination," says the London Daily News.

Plague of Ants
Destroy Houses
In Illinois Town

CLINTON, Ill., June 10.—Millions of white ants, which rapidly are completing the destruction of the home of C. T. Sprague, west of here, today had extended their operations to the home of C. F. Weld, across the road.
The Sprague family has been forced to vacate. All the hardwood flooring of the home has been honeycombed and sills and weatherboarding have been penetrated so thoroughly that pieces collapsed when handled.

GROVELAND, Cal., June 10.—A plague of caterpillars threatens to interrupt operations of the Hetch Hetchy railroad. The caterpillars crawl along the rails, covering them sometimes for a distance of a mile, making them so slippery that the engines can not pull the trains up the grades.

Many times the crews have had to cut the engine from the train and run over the caterpillar covered rails to coat them with sand before the train could be pulled through.

FOURTEEN MEN SOUGHT
FOR ATTACK ON GIRL

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., June 10.— Miss Alta Fields, 17 years old, was kidnaped in an automobile by two men, driven to a barn seven miles from the city and there attacked by fourteen men, according to the story she told the police Friday.

Miss Fields was accosted by young men and invited to take a ride Thursday night. When she entered the machine one of the men clapped his hand over her mouth and she was spirited away. Another car, containing twelve men, followed.

Early Friday morning she was tossed out of a machine in front of her home. Police are seeking the young woman's assailants.

The total American casualties in the world war were 302,612, with deaths numbering 77,118.

ASPIRANT FOR GOVERNORSHIP AGAINST KLAN

School Aid and Prison Reform
Main Planks of Paris
Editor.

PARIS, Texas, June 10.—Harry T. Warner, editor of the Paris News, today gave out for publication his platform. It is largely critical of the administration of Governor Neff, but refrains from all personalities and makes point only upon his official record as governor.

Mr. Warner offers some constructive suggestions to the democrats of Texas; but is more intent upon relief for the schools of the state and for the proper treatment of the teachers and care for the children than he is concerned about theories as to new statutes or experimental legislation, holding that the members of the legislature will offer many measures designed to benefit the commonwealth.

In his formal announcement Mr. Warner says, in part:

"There are two political superstitions to which I do not subscribe. One of these is that no man may aspire to be governor of Texas who is not possessed of an independent fortune; the other that a governor of Texas is entitled to a second term no matter how inefficient, incapable or lacking he may be.

"Conditions in Texas have come to such a pass that I believe it will require neither an extensive campaign nor a costly one to prove that neither of these assertions is true, and I therefore announce my candidacy for the democratic nomination for governor.

School Situation Bad.

"Our schools are trembling upon the verge of a complete breakdown. Thousands of teachers and trustees are dismayed and bewildered and do not know where to turn nor what to do. Our children—and especially those of the rural districts—face shortened terms and a destruction of much of that efficient system which has been built up during many years of hard work. They have been betrayed and their interests have been sacrificed.

"The confidence of many of the people of the rural districts in the state has been rudely shocked because of the action of the governor in decreasing the appropriation for aid to the rural schools.

"This one veto by Governor Neff has resulted in setting Texas back ten years in an educational way. It came at a time when there was hope in the rural districts; when it was felt that there was a possibility of securing good schools without having to 'move into town'—and that hope was frustrated.

Opposes Klan.

"I am strongly opposed to the Ku Klux Klan, which has been denounced by a great number of our courageous district judges, men of probity and of far-sighted vision. Announcing high principles, this foreign organization—which has no permit to organize within Texas—has brought a reign of terror to many communities.

"The recent sudden decrease in the number of whippings and tar and feather parties is, to my mind, absolute proof that there is a central controlling body of sufficient power to either cause numerous whitecappings or to bring them to an abrupt stop—just as has been done when the outraged citizens of the state have begun to grow restive and to demand action by the state authorities to put a stop to them.

"Our prison system is bankrupt and is being operated upon money borrowed at a ruinous rate of interest and in defiance of plain provisions of the statute that the legislature shall make appropriations for the conduct of the system.

"Our state is filled with criminals from other states, drawn into Texas by lurid and untrue assertions that the law is not enforced in this state because of the inefficiency and incompetency of the local officers.

Convicts Slain.
"Many short term convicts have been slain by guards, who felt assured of protection because they had been advised to 'shoot to kill' even though they themselves were in no danger and might have prevented escapes by less forcible means.

"The board of pardon advisers has been suppressed in defiance of and contrary to the statutes of the state. I will restore it for the governor has not time to investigate all applications for mercy and some of them are meritorious.

"I believe it to be the duty of the state of Texas to care for every one of her sick and disabled soldiers without reference to what may be done later by the federal government.

"I have a working knowledge of the institutions of the state, of the departments and of the basic laws of the state without having to devote sixteen months time to learning them. I already have that knowledge, acquired as a working newspaper correspondent in and about the capital.

"HARRY T. WARNER."

BOY, 11, ADMITS TWICE TRYING TO POISON MOTHER

BOISE, Idaho, June 10.—George Han, 11 years old, in the county jail here has confessed, according to peace officers, that he made two unsuccessful attempts to kill his mother by putting poison in tea and coffee intended for her. The boy is said to have admitted that his mother always was kind to him. He explained, the alleged confession stated, that his father had suggested to him, "If we could get rid of mama, we could have a good time together."

BOTH RANGER J. P.'S SEEKING RE-ELECTION

Justices of the Peace Roger Fenlaw and J. N. McFatter of places Nos. 1 and 2, respectively, precinct No. 2, have announced their candidacy for re-election subject to the Democratic primary next month. As yet neither of the officials has an opponent, although one or two are reported in the offing and ready to file application with the county executive committee before its meeting on June 17. Justice Fenlaw went into office following the 1920 elections. Justice McFatter has served for two years and a half, being first appointed to office and then elected to place No. 2 when it was created.
The policies of both of the officials will be continued if re-elected, it is announced.

BEGGAR BLIND FOR 30 YEARS CURED BY OPERATION AND SEEKS WORK

CHICAGO, June 10.—Old Billie Rabe, 73 years old, blind beggar who with his wife, Mary, and a battered tin cup has been a familiar sight to thousands who daily pass the entrance to the Chicago commons, has left the old stand forever.

After thirty sightless years he is to see again as the result of an operation performed at the Illinois Charitable Eye and Ear Infirmary. The operation has been pronounced successful and the bandages will be removed within a week.

The old man hopes to take up the tailoring business, which he left over a generation ago. At that time he owned an apartment building, but for years the couple lived in a basement room for which they paid $4 a month rent. The couple had eight children, but all died.

THE RED BALL LINE

HARDING IRRITATED AS CONGRESS IGNORES SHIP SUBSIDY MEASURE

WASHINGTON, June 10.—Increasing irritation is evident at the White House because of the persistency with which certain Republican leaders in congress attempt to deviate from the legislative course charted by President Harding from time to time during the last few months.

Reports that the President was wavering in his stand on soldiers' bonus legislation and that he was inclined to acquiesce in whatever program congress assayed to follow, are not borne out by comment from high official sources.

The President makes no secret of the fact that he is vexed because congress continues to ignore the proposed shipping legislation recommended by him upon the advice of experts who have been making an extensive study of the subject for months.

It was intimated today that unless congress enacts this legislation before the present session adjourns the responsibility not only of legislating but of devising the plan by which American ships are to be restored to the seas will rest with the next congress.

The President apparently has been aroused by the movement among members of the house from Iowa and other middle western states to postpone action on the administration's ship subsidy bill until the next session. He has let it be known that the bill "must be passed at this session."

If congress continues to ignore the recommendation of the experts delegated by the President to prepare a comprehensive plan for establishment of an enduring American merchant marine, then the administration is at the end of its string and it will be up to congress to shoulder the proposition and to advance an alternative plan or abandon the project.

The President takes the position, it was learned, that a congress which has so much time to devote to speech-making and to discussion of subjects foreign to the measures which comprise the major legislative program of the session, can give time to thoughtful consideration of a subject of such vast importance as the American shipping marine.

If congress should fail to take action, the President does not believe he can keep Albert D. Lasker, chairman of the United States shipping board, and his associates in office for another year.

Turns Hose On Wife and Rival to Quench Love's Budding Fire

AKRON, Ohio, June 10.—A garden hose as quencher for love fires was approved here by police court.

Floyd Hide was in court on charges preferred against him by Joe Mosturzo.

"Joe was coming home with my wife," testified Hide, "and I turned the hose on them. I don't know how many times she has been with him before, but I decided to put out whatever love fires might be burning. I sure soaked 'em, judge."

Judge Pardee told Mosturzo he had given the right kind of treatment and dismissed the case.

BARKEEPER BEATEN BECAUSE HE LAUGHS AT ORDER FOR WHISKY

CHICAGO, June 10.—Being a saloonkeeper and a humorist both in these parlous days of liquor dynamite, is a trying proposition. John Glowacki will tell the world it is so.

Two rough persons entered his booze emporium. "Whisky," they barked, "and make it snappy."

"Har, har," roared Glowacki. "That is rich. Do you know any more good jokes?"

One of the customers biffed Glowacki in the jaw and the other slammed him in the eye. Glowacki took the count. Then he woke up and called the police.

CARD OF THANKS.
Rev. C. Pappagrigorin, pastor of the orthodox Greek church of Fort Worth, visited Ranger on Thursday to conduct the services at the burial of John Lontos. The deceased was a naturalized citizen of the United States and had served in the United States army during the last war. The American Legion post at Thurber sent the American flag, the post banner and rifles for military escort at the funeral and Comrade Vernon of Waco played the bugle and sounded taps at the burial. The Greeks and Grecian-Americans of Eastland, Cisco, Breckenridge and Ranger united in attendance at the funeral and mutually bore the expense of last illness and interment.

We, the undersigned committee of the friends of the deceased, desire to publicly express our deep and lasting appreciation of all these acts of kindness and evidences of regard for our late friend. Most highly do we esteem the honor paid him by his comrades in arms, for it evidences, as nothing else could do, that, though foreign-born, he was at heart and in spirit and service accepted as a true American.
