ANOTHER LIE NAILED.
 Dispatches sent from Washington by authorized correspondents to newspapers in various parts of the country, some of which published them without inquiring into their source or authenticity read something like the following that was published in a paper at Long Beach, Calif.:
 "Washington, June 14.—The capital has become during Shriners' week, the wettest place in the United States. Hard liquor may be obtained here in almost any amount and no visitor of the reported crowd of 300,000 persons need be thirsty for long if he wants liquor and has the price to buy it.
 "This condition existed despite the statement of Prohibition Commissioner Haynes that it would be hard to buy a drink in Washington during Shrine week.
 "In the shadow of the capitol building, within a stone's throw of the White House, near the treasury department, and not far from the place where Commissioner Haynes holds forth all kinds of liquor, good, bad and indifferent may be bought.
 Here is the contrary report and it comes from a known and trustworthy source, Dr. Clarence True Wilson, general secretary of the Methodist Temperance Board with headquarters in Washington. He said:
 "Now this dispatch is not only contrary to the truth, but is so absolutely false as to be ludicrous and yet, this and similar stories were inflicted on the Sun and other well-meaning newspapers throughout the country.
 "The fact is that probably Shrine week in Washington was the driest week any community has ever seen. To begin with, the Shriners are a rather high-class bunch of men, all Masons and good citizens. Comparatively few of them would stoop to deal with a bootlegger or to outrage the constitution of the country they love. They are neither froth nor slum dogs and just at present they are not concerning themselves much with drink.
 "But in addition to this, the federal and city authorities of Washington, having the hearty support of local newspapers and organizations, clamped down the lid so tightly that very little liquor was able to seep into Washington. Many public-spirited people who are not ordinarily enthusiastic prohibitionists were afraid that some of the Shrine visitors would get hold of bootleg whisky and be poisoned, thus creating a scandal, and they were determined that this should not occur. They demanded and received co-operation of hotels and business men throughout the city. As a result there were only two arrests for drunkenness on the biggest day of the convention and the quota of drunks at the police court, which even in normal prohibition days is not half what it was before prohibition, was cut in two. A special court was organized to deal with Shriners who might be arrested on minor charges and as there were a quarter million of them, more or less, it was planned to keep the court open day and night.
 "Not one Shriners was arrested during the convention and the court had no business.
 "There are legitimate ways of opposing prohibition but a great many neutrals are getting tired of the stuff which is being constantly poured out in a stream by anti-prohibition propa-gandists and by innocent newspaper men who are victimized by them.

 "Day by day these falsehoods play up with great publicity fall by the wayside and expose their naked rotteness.
 "You can fool a wise man once and a dull man twice, but you can only fool a fool three times."

RANGER GIRL WILL ATTEND OKLAHOMA SCHOOL

Miss Leatee Moorhead will not attend the state school for girls, as was indicated by an order of Judge Joe Jones of the Eastland county court, but left Sunday for Comanche, Okla., where she will live with her grandmother, Mrs. Rudder, and attend school, said her mother yesterday. She had accompanied her daughter to Comanche, she said, and her daughter was delighted to be with her grandmother, who is equally glad to have her grandchild with her. The girl will enter the seventh grade at school and has set her heart on finishing high school within the next three years. Mrs. Moorhead said her daughter would make her home with her grandmother, but would come back for occasional visits.

LACK OF ELEGANCE IN FRENCH MAN DEPLORED

PARIS, July 10.—"I have been unable to find a single portrait in the combined salons of a man truly representative of French masculine elegance," deplores Andre Defouquieres, the lecturer.

M. Defouquieres does not believe that modern "dandyism" is at fault, but rather the artists who seem madly attracted towards men whose clothes are badly cut, with the coat collar either too high or too low. He admits that the modern male costume, outside of those for war or sports, cannot inspire artists, many of whom are glad, therefore, to resort to models wearing the open Byronic collar. He asks that future salons show some counterpart to the feminine elegance they now display.

BIG MEN NEEDED.
 "One of the big problems of modern business is to develop young men to hold executive positions. Industry and business of the country have reached a point where it is difficult to find men capable of assuming the management of large affairs," said James A. Farrell, president of the United States Steel corporation, and chairman of the Foreign Trade council, to the College of Commerce of Tulane university, New Orleans. He continued:
 "The foreign trade of the United States was $5,500,000,000 last year. It is a vital necessity to this country. I hope 90 per cent of such young men as you will go into foreign trade."

KERRVILLE.—Eighty patients from Camp Logan hospital have arrived here as the first contingent of war veterans who will be cared for at the federal hospital here. It is expected 500 veterans will be given treatment at the institution, which recently was leased by the federal government from the state. The hospital, formerly known as the American Legion Memorial hospital, is now known as the U. S. Veterans hospital No. 93. Dr. R. L. Cook, senior surgeon of the federal health service, is in charge of the institution.

SAN ANTONIO.—Approximately 200 San Antonio Elks will attend the national convention of that organization in Atlanta, Ga., according to local officials. Included in the delegation will be a 50-piece band of the San Antonio group which will compete for honors in the convention. A patrol will also be entered from San Antonio for drilling honors.

DENTON.—Plans for the $300,000 administration building which will be erected at the North Texas Teachers' college here have been received by school officials. The building will include several novel features it is stated. The auditorium which will be included will seat 2,800 persons. Bids will be received on the building by the board of regents in session at Galveston, Aug. 25.

HOUSTON.—Texas will be represented by at least five students at the summer session of the University of Mexico, Mexico City. Four Houston students have signed up to attend the school. They are: Miss Rose Wade, Corinne Loftus, Anita Howard and Jewell Black. Miss Nannie Brooks of Wharton also will attend. The school opens July 5.

Japan's electric power has been so weakened through an exceptionally dry winter, that steam plants are being installed to help out.

FUTURE OF HIGHWAY BUILDING IN TEXAS WILL DEPEND MUCH ON AMENDING STATE CONSTITUTION

By Associated Press
 FORT WORTH, July 10.—The future of highway building in Texas and the highway system depends upon the outcome of the special state election on July 28, when the road amendment to the constitution will be voted upon, in the opinion of A. R. Losh, district engineer for the U. S. Bureau of roads.

"By their vote the people of Texas will say whether or not Texas is to go forward in the highway movement and develop a greater transportation system to supplement her railroad and steamship lines or to continue in a road building and improvement system which serves principally local institutions," Losh declared.

 The proposed amendment would authorize the legislature to pass laws permitting the state highway department to use state funds in the maintenance of highways and in designating a state highway system. It does not carry a bond issue or authorize the legislature to issue bonds for roads. Counties would be relieved of the expense of maintaining state highways under the amendment.
 "The state highway system will be more extensive than the present railroad system of Texas," Losh said.

"There are less than 17,000 miles of railroad in Texas, but many miles of these give duplicate service. The state highway system will not provide duplicate lines, consequently its larger mileage will provide transportation service to many communities without railroad service at present.
 "Texas with her vast territory, her diversified interests, and with the possibility for expansion and development agriculturally and industrially is in greater need of highways than any other state. Texas is expanding industrially. Her population is concentrating in the individual centers. This movement will increase and to serve her population the elastic transportation facilities provided by highways is essential.

Reserve Officers of Eight Corps to Go Into Camp July 15

SAN ANTONIO, July 10.—Preparations are being completed by army officials at Fort Sam Houston here for the training of approximately 250 reserve officers who are expected to attend the summer camp for such officers. The camp will open July 15. Officers from all parts of the Eighth Corps area are scheduled to attend.

Although attendance at the camp is voluntary, the officers receive regular army officers pay, which is expected to enlarge the number attending. All officers of rank from second lieutenant to colonel holding reserve commissions are eligible to the camp.

Was Told He Had Cancer
 "I surely am a booster for Ferrasal. I suffered with a bad stomach for the last few years. One doctor said I had ulcers, another cancer. "While in Austin, Texas, I saw an advertisement of Ferrasal. I gave it a trial and it certainly brought results. I feel one hundred per cent better than I have for the past four years.
 "Sincerely, I beg to remain a booster for Ferrasal."

A pure vegetable shortening that you will enjoy using

MRS. TUCKER'S Shortening is bringing a new delight in cooking good things to thousands of women. Cakes, muffins, pie-crusts, hot biscuits, in fact, everything in which you use shortening, can be made lighter and flakier with Mrs. Tucker's. For Mrs. Tucker's is a pure vegetable shortening, with all the richness of butter, but with none of the heavy greasiness of lard.
 Once you try it, we believe you will like it better than any other. And one of the nicest things about Mrs. Tucker's is that it is less expensive than lard and goes farther. And it is made right here in the South.

Made exclusively of choice Cotton Seed Oil. The South's own cooking fat.

7 ft. Brass Whistles On Leviathan weigh 250 pounds apiece.

TWO of the largest steam whistles in the world are on the Leviathan and sound a warning note that can be heard for miles. They are attached to the upper part of one of her three stacks and are 7 feet high weighing 250 pounds apiece. The whistles are made of brass which is a permanent metal, resisting rust, and unaffected even by the action of sea water.

Death From Cancer Soon Will Be Crime Physicians are Told

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., July 10.—Death under 75 years of age from diabetes, Bright's disease, cardio-vascular ailments and perhaps cancer, soon will be a crime, according to Dr. Claude A. Burrett of Rochester, president of the American Institute of Homeopathy, at the institute's annual convention.
 Modern scientific methods will add 20 years to man's span of life the next half century, he declared, asserting that present-day research soon will make it as great a crime to die young of one of the now supposedly fatal ailments as it now is to die of typhoid fever.

 He said it is the duty of physicians to instruct people how to live balanced lives to avoid degenerative diseases induced by the intensity of existence in America.

BRITISH TREAT YANKS COLD AT OPEN GOLF MEET, LATTER DECLARE

BY PAUL R. MALLON (United Press Staff Correspondent) NEW YORK, July 10.—The air was damp and chilly at Troon when the British open golf championships were held recently. A cold rain poured down over the grass course and the Americans stood shivering while they made comment on British hospitality. It seems they thought the British attitude toward them wasn't any better than the weather. On every hand they met obstacles that are not usually placed in the way of visitors. A few hours before the qualifying round started, the Americans were relieved of their best club, the corrugated mashie, by edict of the governing board. They had been practicing with that club continuously. They could see no reason why the British let them practice with it up to the eve of the match and then took it away from them. They needed it badly on the wet course. Everywhere they went, they say, they were neglected and, in some instances, derided. Several said before they left that they would never again return to England to play golf. Gerald Patterson, who won the Wimbledon tennis championship last year, declared after the tournament, that he would never go back, because of the treatment he said he suffered. There must be some good reason for the change of sentiment. It is certainly not in retaliation for treatment of British athletes visiting the United States, though the number of these is small. Some believe it may be prompted by resentment against the increasingly frequent successful invasion of England by American stars. Jack Hutchinson and Walter Hagen captured the open title two years. Before that, it was considered exclusively British. Americans won the Walker cup again this year. At any rate the team from the United States cannot be accused of making these statements, because of its comparative poor showing. The thing reached such a stage that London sport writers are commenting upon it. More and more Olympic material is bobbing up all the time. Boots Lever, star sprinter of Pennsylvania, ran the 60 yards recently in 6 4-5 seconds and then stepped 70 yards in 7 5-10 seconds for a new world record in both. In Chicago Walter Brooks ran the 220 low hurdles in 23 6-10 seconds for a new world mark. D. Hubbard of Michigan jumped 25 feet and 2 inches—just an inch less than the record. Bob Shawkey is being hailed as the most valuable pitcher the New York Yankees ever had. He came to them in 1915 and in nine seasons since that time has won 124 games, losing only 88. The Yanks got him for a waiver price.

LANGE KILLED BECAUSE OF FAMILY TROUBLES, STATE RANGERS REPORT

AUSTIN, July 10.—Killing of Otto Lange last week at his home near Somerville resulted from family difficulties and was not inspired by a secret organization, reports by State Ranger Aldrich, and Sheriff Parker of Washington county, received here today show. Aldrich returned today from Somerville, where he was sent to investigate the killing. Parker assisted the authorities. Ranger Captain Hamer is expected to return today. Acting Governor Davidson today received a telegram from the Somerville Ku Klux Klan offering a reward of $100 for the apprehension of the parties responsible for Lange's death. A report to Davidson at noon today from Ranger Captain Hamer said that new discoveries may lead to an arrest shortly.

TY COBB THE REAL BASEBALL SUPERMAN

NEW YORK, July 10.—Tyrus Cobb more or less successful trainer of a fiery bunch of real Bengal Tigers out in Detroit, probably will be breaking baseball records when all the sport writers are in the old men's home. Cobb came to Michigan from the Georgia pines 18 years ago. Since that time he has corralled the following records: Most home runs, 1,741. Most games played in the American league, 2,304. Most years played in the league, 18. Greatest number of hits, 3,236. Greatest American league number in total bases, 4,566. Highest lifetime American league batting average, around .375. American league record for extra base hits. Batted .300 or better for three seasons consecutively. Batted .400 or better for three seasons. Made 200 or more hits per season for 17 consecutive seasons. That's not a bad record for a man to retire on. He has smashed pre-
