PRESIDENT HARDING SUFFERS COLLAPSE

CUNO LIKELY TO RESIGN OFFICE OF CHANCELLOR

Paul Loeb and Dr. Gustav Stresman May Become the Leaders of New Cabinet.

LONDON, July 30.—The Central News correspondent at Berlin has sent the following despatch to London:

"Your correspondent learns from well informed political circles that the resignation of Chancellor Cuno and his cabinet is imminent. Cuno is convinced that this step must be taken.

"It is understood that the new leaders of the cabinet will be Paul Loeb, president of the reichstag and Dr. Gustav Stresman, leader of the People's party.

"A definite decision will not be reached until the reichstag meets the latter part of next week."

Germany Takes Effective Steps to Stop Communists

BERLIN, July 30.—Inclement weather and extra police precautions combined to quench the communist trouble threatened for Sunday, anti-fascist day. The Sunday exodus was heavy, however, throughout the country, the people fearing communistic demonstrations against the fascists and against the Cuno government.

Kioting on a small scale occurred at several places and several persons were reported killed in one clash. Open-air meetings and demonstrations were forbidden in Berlin and proved very tame affairs in the few places where they were held.

BALDWIN TO INFORM COMMONS ON STATUS OF REPARATIONS PROBLEM

LONDON, July 30.—The French and Belgian reply to the British note on German reparation payments is to be delivered tonight and Premier Baldwin will make a statement in the House of Commons tomorrow. It is learned on good authority that the French reply is couched in conciliatory language and is agreeable to an impartial commission to fix new reparation figures, but the French object to trading partial withdrawal from the Ruhr for cessation of "passive resistance."

The Belgian reply is said to differ materially from that of the French, but there is no suggestion that the Franco-Belgian pact on Ruhr occupation has been broken. It is understood that the French and Belgians are agreed that negotiations with Germany cannot be carried on while "passive resistance" continues and that the payment of reparations must be guaranteed before troops are withdrawn from the Ruhr.

BOMB EXPLOSIONS ATTEND STRIKE AT NOVA SCOTIA PLANT

SYDNEY, Nova Scotia, July 30.—A series of mysterious explosions occurred here this morning. The pipe lines that supply the British Steel corporation, where a strike is in progress, were blown up in several places.

Police were advised that several men were seen leaving the scene of the explosion. According to the police, the explosion was due to bombs. The damage was heavy.

AXMAN BURNED AT THE STAKE IN MISSISSIPPI

YAZOO CITY, Miss., July 30.—Willie Mansfield, a negro, who fatally wounded Mrs. Russell of Marleyville, near here, with an axe Saturday night, was burned at the stake Sunday after bloodhounds had trailed him and a companion into the swamp. Physician said that Mrs. Russell cannot live.

ROY MITCHELL PAYS PENALTY FOR MURDERS

Negro Is Hanged at Waco to Satisfy First of Six Death Sentences.

WACO, July 30.—Roy Mitchell, convicted of six murders, paid the extreme penalty today for the murder of Mrs. Ethel Denecamp in January of this year.

The trap was sprung at 11:02 a. m. and he was pronounced dead at 11:25 a. m.

Execution of Roy Mitchell, negro, marked the closing chapter of a series of murders declared to be the most brutal in the history of McLennan county by local officers. Mitchell was to pay the death penalty for the murder of Mrs. Ethel Denecamp on the night of January 19, this year, but he had been convicted of five other murders besides being charged by indictment with two others. In six sensational murders, the negro was given the death penalty.

In addition to the murder indictments, Mitchell was billed in three criminal assault cases, two attempted criminal assaults and two assaults to murder.

Many Crimes Within Year. All of the crimes with which Mitchell was alleged to have been connected were committed in or near Waco within a period of one year. Mitchell was not arrested or suspected of participation in the crimes for nearly a year after the first mystery murder. The crimes were committed in the outskirts of the city or on country roads, all in the darkness of night. In all but two cases the victims were attacked while automobile riding.

Utmost mystery surrounded each of the series of murders. County and city officers combined their efforts to reach a solution of these mysteries. State rangers were dispatched to Waco and for several weeks investigated the cases. A gold tooth possessed by Mitchell was practically the only clue on which the officers had to work on.

Absence of a motive for the crimes made the task of ferreting out the responsible parties difficult, according to officers. Opinion was divided as to whether a negro or a white man committed the deeds. The theory of robbery vanished when officers learned that probably not more than $50 was obtained in all of the murders. Mitchell was arrested by Sheriff Leslie Stegall and Deputy Phil Hobby on January 20, this year, on a Waco street. Information had come to officers that Mitchell had made remarks regarding the murder of W. E. Holt and Mrs. Ethel Denecamp, the last of the long series of killings. While the negro was being held in custody, officers went to his house and searched it. The search resulted in the finding of a pistol claimed to have belonged to Holt and other evidence which tended to connect the negro with at least four crimes. Following discovery of this evidence, Mitchell was spirited away to Hillsboro for fear of mob violence. He declined to do any talking, going on a hunger strike. Force feeding was used.

Mitchell Admits Guilt. Later Mitchell was returned to Waco and in the presence of Sheriff Stegall made statements concerning four of the murders, describing everything in minutest detail. Later he admitted guilt in the other crimes charged against him. At his trials none of the juries deliberated more than 20 minutes, each assessing death. Mrs. Ethel Denecamp, for whose death Mitchell paid the penalty, was killed on January 19 on the Springfield road. W. E. Holt, her escort, was also killed at that time. According to Mitchell's statement he killed Holt first, dragging his body through a plowed field and then killing Mrs. Denecamp, hid her body in a clump of bushes.

Other murders for which Mitchell was convicted were: W. F. Driskell, Waco cotton man, on May 7, 1922; Herold Bolton, shot six miles from Waco on May 25, 1922; Grady Skipworth, Nov. 20, 1922; and Mrs. W. H. Barker, at Concord, near Waco, on the night of Feb. 11, 1922.

A woman companion of Bolton identified Jesse Thomas, negro, as responsible for the young man's death. Immediately after he was identified, he was shot dead, taken by a mob and burned in the Waco public square and his charred body dragged through the streets.

IRENE CASTLE INFERS COURT RECORDS LIE

She Says She Has Not Obtained Divorce and Has Not Asked For It.

NEW YORK, July 30.—Irene Castle, dancer, today added another mystery to her matrimonial tangle when, upon returning today from Paris, she announced before leaving the steamship that, contrary to cable advices, she has not obtained a divorce from Robert Tremaine, to whom she was married not very long ago.

"I have not been granted a divorce and I have not instituted proceedings for one," said the dancer, adding that she would meet Mr. Tremaine when he returns to New York next week on the Majestic. She was firm in her denial of any divorce being granted her, despite dispatches received from Paris last week quoting court records showing she had been granted a decree.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC WOULD ROUTE THROUGH TEXAS AT LOWER RATE

WASHINGTON, July 30.—Permission to reduce the freight rates 14 per cent between New York and Pacific coast points, routing by boat to Texas ports and thence by rail over Sunset-Gulf lines, today was given the Southern Pacific system by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

DAM ACROSS PECOS RIVER NEAR RED BLUFF PLANNED

DALLAS, July 30.—Construction of a dam to provide an irrigation reservoir on the Pecos river to furnish water for approximately 200,000 acres of land, is under consideration.

Preliminary plans have been drawn for a 100-foot dam providing a reservoir with a total storage capacity of 3000,000 acre feet of water. A site locally known as the "Red Bluff" was being tentatively selected for location of the dam.

C. of C. Breakfast Wednesday Likely To Be Big Affair

The weekly breakfast of members of the Chamber of Commerce and their families will be held in the Ghoslon hotel at 7 o'clock Wednesday morning. It will occupy just one hour and 15 minutes, so all attending may be assured they will not be delayed in reaching their offices afterwards.

All intending to attend are asked to notify Secretary Bennett of the Chamber of Commerce or the Ghoslon hotel before 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon, so that proper arrangements may be made. At the meeting last week pledges were given by 40 of those present that they would attend this week and, so far as possible, each would bring another. It is desirable to increase the attendance at these weekly breakfasts to at least 100, and 200 would be welcome.

Five Bandits Rob Passenger Train to Tune of $85,000

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., July 30.—In a battle aboard a speeding electric passenger train early today, five bandits killed one passenger and wounded four others, before snatching a satchel containing an $85,000 payroll and escaping to the hills. Poses and police have been rushed in pursuit.

While the train was speeding through a wooded section, the five men drew guns and demanded that all in the cars hold up their hands. They then began a systematic search for weapons. Some passengers resisted and the bandits opened fire. Mrs. Rose C. Kiatartz was shot as she sat in his seat. One of the bandits gave the signal for the train to stop and then made their escape.

CITY ENGINEER HAS ALLEY IMPROVEMENT PROPOSITION TO MAKE

City Engineer Seward said today that he would be willing to help property owners on the north side of Main street between Rusk and Marston streets get together on a proposition of improving the alley immediately back of the business houses facing Main street.

GOLFERS FROM MINERAL WELLS CONTEST HERE

Play Between Teams Marked by Close Scores; Dr. C. C. Craig Scores Highest.

Close scores between the competing individual players marked the golf play yesterday afternoon between the Mineral Wells and Ranger golf teams at the Ranger Country club grounds. The visitor made 18 points to the locals' nine points. The match was played to decide the tie for fourth place in the Oil Belt tournament.

The difference in holes won, both in and out on the course, between players representing the two clubs was small with several exceptions. The points made were as follows: Ranger. Fouke 1-2, Pond 1, Holmsley 1, Craig 3, Harrigan 1, Harkrider 0, Logsdon 0, Dreby 0, Phillips 1-2.

Mineral Wells: J. W. Crutcher 1-2, B. V. Durham 2, J. M. Belcher 2, G. W. Hubbard 0, John Meyers 2, N. A. Jenkins 3, Stuart Arledge 3, Blake Sweat 3, D. C. Harris 1-2.

Dr. Clyde C. Craig made the highest number of points, beating his opponent, G. W. Hubbard both out and in. Going out Craig won four holes to Hubbard's three. Coming in the Ranger man took six holes to his opponent's two.

WOULD-BE BRIDEGROOM MUST KNOW HIS BRIDE'S NAME

GAINESVILLE, July 30.—A young negro swain who applied at the county clerk's office for a marriage license, found he was unable to tell the name of his bride-to-be and was forced to postpone procuring the necessary papers until he went to the girl's home and learned to spell her name.

Auto and Railway Crashes at Grade Crossings Appal

(Copyright by the United Press) Thirty-seven persons were killed and scores injured over Sunday by railway trains. Most of the casualties occurred when trains crashed into automobiles at grade crossings. One train, running between New York and St. Louis, killed four in one accident, nine in another and one in another. When a car stalled on Long Island in front of an express train, four women and one man were killed. At Gainesville, Ga., four persons were killed. Four met death in an accident at Poplar Bluff, Mo. Three were killed at Valesboro, N. J.; two at Augusta, Kan., one at Detroit, Mich.; and one near Barre, Vermont.

Specialists are Summoned to Diagnose Case

Nation's Chief Executive Has Unfavorable Heart Symptoms Following Attack of Pto- maine Poisoning. Bulletins on His Condition Issued From the Presidential Suite in Palace Hotel at San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, Calif., July 30.—President Harding has suffered a serious turn for the worse, following the illness that attacked him in Seattle. Serious symptoms have developed and, after a consultation of his physicians today, the President's entire Pacific coast program was cancelled.

Four physicians have been consulting about President Harding's case. Dr. Roy Ryman, head of the medical department of Leland Stanford university and former head of the American Medical Men's association, and Dr. Cooper, of San Francisco, heart specialist, were summoned by Dr. Sawyer and Dr. Joel T. Boone, the President's personal physicians.

A bulletin issued this morning by Dr. Sawyer says: "Because of new symptoms arising during the day, indicating that complications have set in, a consultation of physicians has been called. After the conclusion of their conference, bulletins will be issued regularly so that the public may be kept informed on the President's condition."

Speaking Tours Appear Hard on Chiefs of Nation

President Harding is the second chief executive of the nation to be stricken while on a speaking tour of the country. In September, 1919, President Wilson was forced to abandon his trip on behalf of the League of Nations at Wichita, Kan., by a nervous collapse that developed on board his special train.

President Harding had an attack of pto- maine poisoning at Seattle and developed heart symptoms at the Palace hotel in San Francisco, and has been forced to cancel the remainder of his Pacific coast trip.

Dr. Joel T. Boone, who was in attendance on the President throughout the night, reported that the President had slept quietly and passed a fairly good night. He said that a statement would be issued, giving the exact nature of the President's illness, and the views of the specialists.

President Harding regrets exceedingly that it has become necessary to abandon his Pacific coast schedule, but otherwise is in cheerful spirits, according to his secretary, George B. Christian, Jr.

SANDERS HURT WHEN HIS AUTOMOBILE AND ANOTHER CAR COLLIDE

J. W. Sanders, of the Sanders-Colegrove Hardware company, was cut about the face in several places and his big Jordan roadster wrecked in an automobile collision with a small car near the White bridge, about one mile east of Eastland on the Bankhead highway, last night. Sanders had his injuries dressed in Eastland.

HASTY CONCLUSION LOSES FAT FEE TO PARIS DOCTOR

PARIS, July 30.—A Paris surgeon is telling a good story against himself. He was called in to operate an American woman for appendicitis, and when the cure was complete the patient, seeking to show her gratitude in some way that was not too common-place, embroidered a cigar case and took it to the surgeon.

Unfortunately the surgeon had just had a run of patients who had paid for his services by presents of little intrinsic value, so he could not help saying, "No, really, Madame, take away such rubbish; a thousand franc note would be much more acceptable."

PRESIDENT WILL BE TAKEN TO WASHINGTON WHEN HE CAN TRAVEL

SAN FRANCISCO, July 30.—President Harding will be rushed to Washington on a special train as soon as he recovers from his attack, probably within two weeks.

Further developments in the condition of President Harding, ill in a hotel here as the result of an attack of pto- maine poisoning are being watched with interest.

The two physicians of San Francisco, who were called into consultation last night had not been recalled up to 9 o'clock this morning. Neither Brigadier-General Sawyer nor Lieutenant Commander Brunis, assistant to Dr. Sawyer, would make a statement in advance of a bulletin promised.

There was encouragement, however, from the fact that all was quiet in the President's sick room.

BULLETIN INDICATES THE PRESIDENT WILL RECOVER

SAN FRANCISCO, July 30.—Physicians attending the President issued the following optimistic bulletin late this morning: "The President had a fairly comfortable night with several hours sleep. His temperature at 9 o'clock was 101; his pulse 115 and his respiration 33."

"The abdominal symptoms following a digestive disturbance while on board the Henderson is now localized in the gall bladder region. There are no peritoneal symptoms. The lungs are clear. White blood cells, 10,800. The kidneys are functioning properly and there is no disturbance to the nervous system, other than caused by fatigue. While his condition is not acute, he has temporarily overstrained the vascular system by carrying on speaking engagements while ill."

In plain language, that means that President Harding has strained his heart, but there is nothing organically wrong, and as soon as the acute indigestion has been cured and he gets some rest, he will be well again.

FIRST DETECTIVE LESSONS PROVE RATHER EXPENSIVE

SAN ANTONIO, July 30.—Embryo detectives who paid fees to an "instructor" in the art of detecting here, have since spent much of their time trying to run down clues as to the whereabouts of the professor who disappeared after getting his advance payments.

WHEAT SUPPLY AND PRICE.

While the price of wheat has been falling, other prices as a whole have been rising until very recently. It costs more now to raise a bushel of wheat than it did a year and two years ago. Labor is scarce and expensive. Farm hands have been lured to the cities by the prospect of high wages. The prices of most of the commodities which the farmer has to buy, both in producing his crops and in maintaining himself and his family, have risen.

Both the absolute price of wheat and its relative purchasing power with respect to other commodities as a whole were declining from 1909 to 1913. In other words, the forces of competition as reflected in comparative prices were affecting adversely the growers of wheat. Year by year a bushel of wheat was the equivalent of a diminishing quantity of other commodities in domestic markets. The marked advance in the price of wheat as an incident of the war raised its purchasing power considerably. Since 1917, however, although the price continued high until 1920, the value of wheat in comparison with general prices has declined greatly, and remains at an extraordinarily low level.

Perhaps the most exasperating feature of the problem is that the prosperity of the farmer is conditioned by factors over which he has only an indirect and partial control, save over long periods. Not only is it true that farming is in general a small scale industry, carried on by numerous independent producers without adequate organization for concerted action, but the price of wheat is essentially a world price, determined by the world's production of wheat on the one hand and world's demand for wheat on the other.

Moreover, the variability of the seasons, apart from general price changes, subjects the wheat farmer to a widely fluctuating yield per unit of production costs. Only imperfectly does the variation in price offset the fluctuating output per acre or per unit of cost. This is a natural consequence of competition with the several other wheat exporting countries. On the other hand, in the case of cotton, for example, the American production is so large a part of the world output that a short crop in this country is a more powerful influence upon price than is a corresponding shortage in wheat production.

What the World Is Doing

AS SEEN BY POPULAR MECHANICS MAGAZINE

Travel by Stagecoach and Camels in Australia

The interior of Australia covers so vast an area that only a small portion of it can be reached by rail. In the early '50s an American started a line of coaches from Melbourne to Castlemaine. This was soon after gold was discovered. Since that time a network of coach routes has been built up, covering a large area. These link up the coast cities, situated on railroad lines, with the interior—the "back" country. A journey by coach is not always a pleasant experience in Australia. South Australia lays claim to the doubtful honor of what is called the "dead finish" in coach travel. This is a trip from Haddon Downs to Farina, some 404 miles, and the fare, one way, is $50. It is not a "de luxe" journey, as may be judged from the time-table, which states distinctly that "Female Passengers are Not Carried." Nor is the coach used at all times by the travelers. One coach line notifies its passengers that they "must be prepared to travel the latter part of the journey on camels."

Att Army Marches in Circle

Pail With Float Prevents Call Drinking Too Fast

Fast drinking is a habit which careful stock raisers are anxious to correct in young calves, for if allowed to continue, it is likely to cause digestive disorders that affect the animal in after life. An effectual check against this is believed to have been found in a simple metal float that fits into a straight-sided pail in which it slowly drops as the calf feeds. A hole in the center of the float, the upper surface of which forms an inverted cone, regulates the flow of milk, and prevents its being drunk too fast.

Bracing Chimney Extension

A tinsmith who was confronted with the problem of erecting an extension on a low chimney, without attaching guy wires to the roof, braced the extension in the manner shown in the drawing.

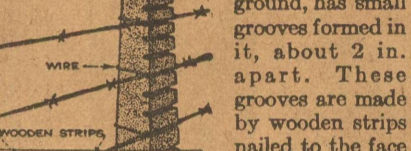

An iron band was bolted around the chimney as indicated, and stovebolts were fitted in holes drilled on each side, for the guy wires. The latter were fastened to the top of the chimney extension, and were spread apart by means of a steel hoop, which was held in position by wrapping each guy wire around it once. This bracing made the extension so strong that it has withstood the heaviest gales.

Simple Alarm Safeguards Car Against Theft

The drawing shows a simple theft alarm that can be attached to any car, and will, when set, sound the horn and keep it sounding, the moment the emergency brake is released. It consists of a switch having two spring-contact blades located in a V-shaped slot, cut in the floorboard at right angles to the brake-lever slot, and a movable fiber arm that is pushed between the ends of the blades, after the

Attaching Wire to Concrete Posts

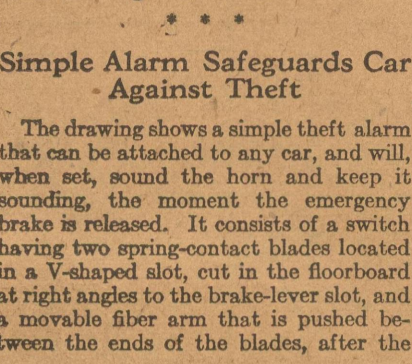

A good method of attaching wire to concrete fence posts is shown in the drawing. One side of the post, as far as it extends above the ground, has small grooves formed in it, about 2 in. apart. These grooves are made by wooden strips nailed to the face of the form in which the posts are made. The fence wire is laid in the grooves as shown, and bound in place by a short length of wire, passed around the post and twisted around the fence wire.

It consists of a switch having two spring-contact blades located in a V-shaped slot, cut in the floorboard at right angles to the brake-lever slot, and a movable fiber arm that is pushed between the ends of the blades, after the

When the owner uses the car, he pulls the arm back, so that the brake lever may be moved past without disturbing it. This circuit, of course, is independent of the regular horn circuit.

ing additional output of the other crops may depress prices to such an extent that new difficulties are encountered. One effect of the war was to increase enormously the output of wheat in the United States. The collapse of Russia, formerly one of America's chief competitors in the world's markets, particularly helped to raise relative wheat prices out of all proportion to those normally prevailing. A further stimulation of production occurred when the United States government recognizing that a very large production of wheat must be maintained at any cost, appealed to the patriotism of the farmers, and as a further inducement fixed the minimum Chicago prices at $2, $2.20 and later at $2.26 and $2.40 a bushel. These factors combined to bring about an expansion of the wheat acreage in this country.

CHEMISTS CONTINUE TO FIND METHODS TO DIVIDE ELEMENTS

By Associated Press

CHICAGO, July 30.—Two chemical elements hitherto considered indivisible have been separated by Dr. William D. Harkins, professor of physical chemistry at the University of Chicago, whose experiments in this field are expected to revolutionize the chemical theory of a century. Dr. Harkins explained how he tried to separate chlorine, the greenish yellow gas used by the Germans when they first introduced chemical warfare. Chlorine has long been considered one of the 90 odd elements, like carbon, oxygen and hydrogen, which have defied all attempts at division. These so-called elements are present in the earth and in the sun.

"For five years we worked," he said. "We tried all sorts of apparatus and used more than a ton of hydrogen chloride before we succeeded. The gas was diffused through the stems of church warden pipes. These pipes are made of white clay and have stems between 18 and 24 inches long. The lighter parts of the gas passed outward through the stems. The heavier parts remained, and thus we discovered that our so-called element, chlorine, could be separated and another time-honored theory had surrendered. Virtually all physicists and chemists in the United States have accepted the results."

Dr. Harkins then demonstrated that mercury, also considered a fundamental substance, can be broken up. Like the chlorine twins, the parts of mercury look alike but are vastly different in weight, he explained. Dr. Harkins is performing similar experiments with zinc and cadmium to see if they too are mixtures instead of elements. "These experiments indicate, then, that there probably is only one fundamental element instead of the 90 we have been pinning our faith on

Cement Bridges More Economical Says City Engineer

Whenever a bridge is needed within the city limits, City Engineer Seward is going to advocate that it be built of cement. He says that the life of a wooden bridge is only five years, much shorter than that of a cement bridge. The difference in cost is more than made up by the longer life of the bridge built with cement. The city engineer is having a cement crossing built on Spring street.

The gutters are being cleaned out on West Main street. They have filled up with a collection of rubbish, making the drainage ineffective.

Negroes Try To Force Way Into White Folks Dance

By United Press

WORTH, Ill., July 30.—One negro was killed and a number of other persons, including several negroes, were hurt in a riot that followed a negro invasion of a white community dance here Sunday. Two highway police were injured in the riot.

More than 150 negro construction gang workers, armed with razors and guns, entered the hall where the dance was in progress and took the white women from their husbands and escorts and compelled them to dance. The white men quickly engaged in a pitch battle with the negroes and the highway police entered and gave aid. The negroes retreated to cars they had in waiting, firing as they went. A number of persons were wounded at that time.

Police were called from adjacent towns and a rush made on the negro quarters where conflicts took place resulting in several casualties.

BOXING, TENNIS AND GOLF HAVE GAME ATHLETES

By HENRY L. FARRELL (United Press Sports Editor) NEW YORK, July 30.—Bobby Jones, young Atlantic golfer, is one of the best examples of pluck, patience and persistence to be found on the entire list of sport's star athletes.

It took 21-year-old Bobby just seven years to rise to the height of golf when he won the American national open championship, one of the great prizes that the game offers.

When he was a 14-year-old boy, it was too much to expect that he would win a national championship. When he was 16 the job was still too heavy for such youthful shoulders, but when he came to 19 it was expected that he should begin to deliver.

Many theories were advanced when he failed to live up to the reputation that he had established as the "boy wonder" of golf. He was said to have been retarded by the adulation he received in his kid days; it was suggested that he had too much temperament to become a champion, and finally it was intimated that he didn't have the "heart" to get "out of the rough" that is on the course of every championship.

No greater test of his courage could have been asked than that which he faced when he was forced to play off a tie for the championship at Inwood. Where he failed previously on the last hole, causing some to sniff that he couldn't "carry weight," he rose to the heights of brilliance in the last hole of the crucial test and won from an opponent whose games never had been questioned.

Perhaps nothing that is attached to the open title itself came up to the joy that was in his when he was able to show that he had the heart and the game of a real champion.

Another great athlete who vindicated himself recently was Tommy Gibbons, and he had to do something that no other boxer had done to show that he, too, had a great heart.

Gibbons had to stay fifteen rounds with Jack Dempsey, the heavyweight champion, under odds that would have made the stoutest of hearts waver, to show some of the eastern wise men that he had at least the heart of a champion.

When experts' opinions were being expressed after the Dempsey-Gibbons match had been made, many of the trained experts said that Gibbons could not last more than a few rounds. They granted that he had the technical qualifications of a fine boxer and a heavy hitter, but that he could not stand rough going.

Gibbons had never met anything but set-ups, it was pointed out, and when he went up against Harry Greb, his timid heart made him step back several times when it looked like a little more aggressiveness might have given him a knockout victory.

Gibbons was sick the last time he fought Greb, but he did not advertise it and he did not alibi. He had an abscess in one of his front teeth when he fought Dempsey, but he said nothing about that.

The only thing he did do was to go in and stay fifteen rounds under punishment that at times almost hurt the spectators.

No other light heavyweight in the game would have consented to fight Dempsey under straight rules. Few heavyweights would do the same thing, but Gibbons accepted the rules and a hand-picked referee without a grumble or a protest.

Tommy Gibbons may not be listed on the record books when he gets through as "one of the best fighters," but he certainly will be listed as a game fighter.

During the recent clay court championships, Bill Tilden, the greatest of them all, protested about the conduct of the gallery during one of his matches.

Some comment suggested that no game man would allow the crowd to bother him.

Tilden's objections were on purely ethical grounds. It is considered very poor etiquette for a tennis gallery to applaud a champion's errors and much worse to make any kind of a demonstration while a point is being played.

There is no gamer player on the court than Bill Tilden, and there is no finer sportsman, or none who has done for tennis.

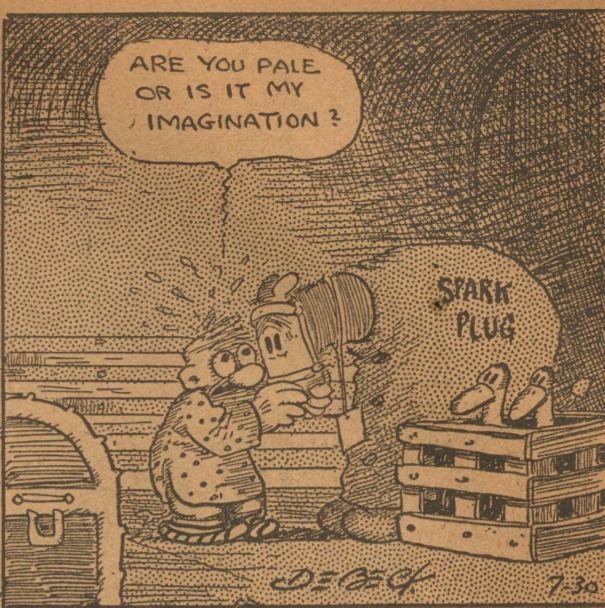

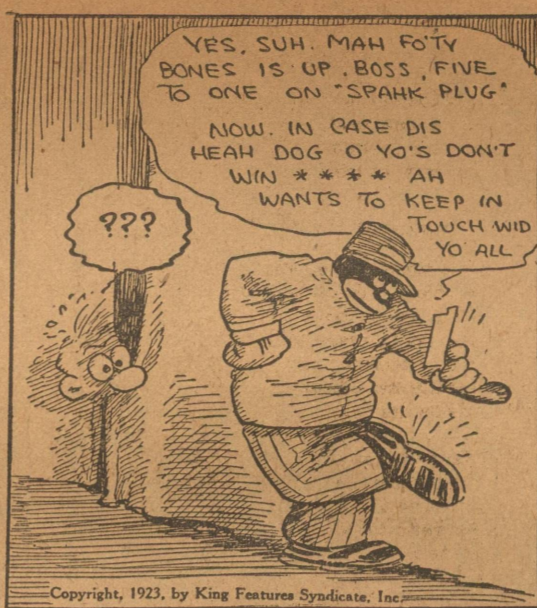

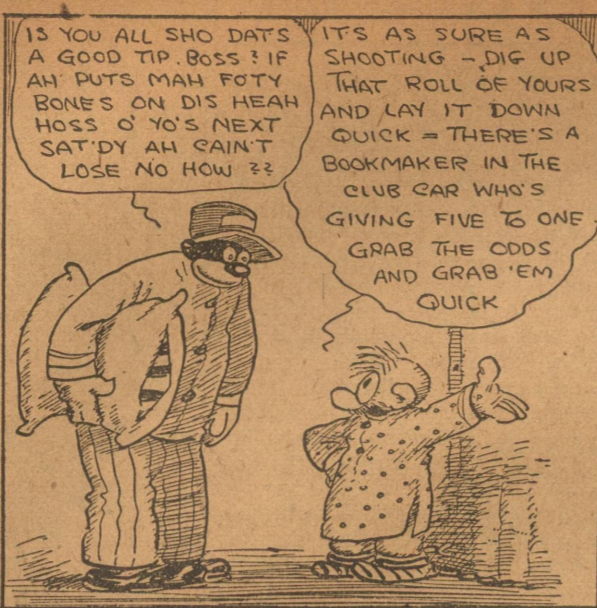

While Tilden was playing Norton, three years ago at Wimbledon, the crowd was decidedly pro-Norton, and it applauded every point he made, but Tilden never opened his mouth.

British galleries, schooled in etiquette, applauded after the point had been made, and Tilden accepted that as being proper.

Snapper's Pitching Staff Should Stop Thurber Sluggers

Breckenridge took two games from Thurber over the week-end. The Saturday score was 4 to 0 and yesterday Breckenridge won 12 to 9 after Thurber had piled up ahead of five runs in the first inning.

The Thurber club is due for a fall at the hands of the Snappers at the week-end. This club is met Saturday and Sunday at Thurber. The scores between the two teams this season have been 7 to 2 and 10 to 6.

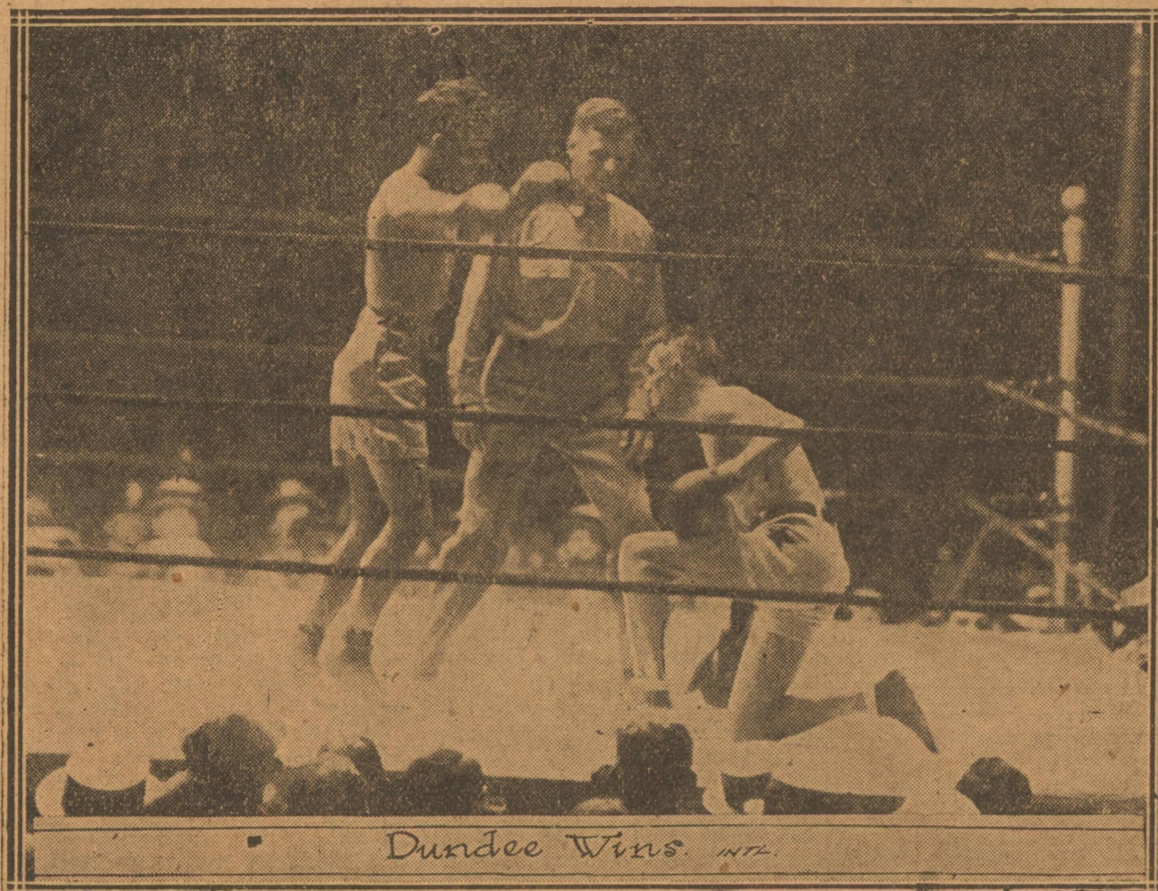

Four games have been scheduled between the two clubs for August, and the Snappers must take all four to get the edge on the Thurber team.

With Riddings, Nugent, Strepy and Redus on the pitching staff the slugging ability of the Thurberites should be curbed somewhat.

HOW MOSQUITOES MAY BE DRIVEN FROM HOUSE

Folks that live in communities where the mosquito is a summer pest and is usually the size of a button will welcome the hint as to the latest "skeeter shoo-er." Possibly you are not able to sleep at night because you are "bitten to death." In spite of this, take your screen out of your window, leave it wide open and set your electric fan about six feet inside the aperture, pointing outward. In this way you will double the breeze around your window. Any venturesome skeeter coming anywhere near the draft will be drawn toward it and blown out of doors. Once out, it lacks the strength to beat its way back against this blast of artificial wind.

New Featherweight Champion

The aspirations of many years were brought to realization when Dundee defeated Criqui, the French fighter, who recently defeated Kilbane for the title of featherweight champion. Dundee had long contended that he never could get the opportunity to win it, and when the opportunity finally was presented, he seized it with a strong and vigorous grasp, although Criqui took a full measure of punishment before he would surrender it.

RANGER GETS BACK AT BRADY IN SECOND TILT; 10-INNING BATTLE; McELREATH AND MCKAY STAR

BY HOWARD BARMAN

It was a close decision that Umpire Neil was called upon to make in the last half of the tenth yesterday, when, with the score tied, one man out, McKay drove to deep left field and continued on to third. McKay dived into the bag low, there was a cloud of dust, the crowd standing up expectantly and Umpire Neil was waiting at the third stop for the play. When he made the motion that he was safe, the crowd cheered and Captain Shell of Brady shook his head disapprovingly. O'Keefe a few minutes later drove a bouncer towards the left of the pitcher's box and McKay came racing home for winning tally, 4 to 3. The crowd went home jubilant.

Brady Might Return. Brady and Ranger took one game apiece in the two-game series. The two teams furnished baseball sport of a high order for a city of Ranger's size Saturday and Sunday and it goes without saying that the fans who saw the game would be glad to see them battle again before this season ends.

"Coconut Red" McElreath sparkled in left field Sunday. His fielding and throwing won the admiration of the fans and fanettes alike. In the second frame he grabbed a hot one off Scoggins' bat near the third base foul line, fell in the act, rolled and came up with the ball glued in his glove. In the third he raced in towards shortstop and picked up a ball below his knees. But his greatest play came in the eighth. McCasland slammed the ball along the third base line. It took a straight cut for the clubhouse. With an ordinary fielder, it would have been good for two bases. Red speeded toward the clubhouse and picked up the ball and whipped it to second. The astonished McCasland stopped almost stock still before reaching second. That his apparent two-bagger could have been reduced to a measly single seemed impossible.

Riddings Not in Form. Riddings didn't show all of his stuff Sunday. He told Manager Snapp before the game that he didn't believe he could do his best. His arm was idle for more than a week. He likes to get into action once or twice each week. He was touched up for 10 hits while the Snappers were getting six off Bunger. The Brady twirler pitched a pretty game but it must be admitted the breaks were against his teammates Sunday. Such luck as this has faced the Snappers on so many occasions that we can't help but sympathize with the visitors even if it does seem like treason.

The Snappers got busy and scored a run in the first frame. McKay, who made three out of the four runs credited to the Snappers, walked and stole second and went to third on a passed ball. O'Keefe was out, White to Adkins. Adams flew to Hampton. McKay touched the bag and raced home for a score. McElreath flew to Scoggins, ending the inning.

Brady Makes Two Runs. In Brady's half of the third, White flew to McElreath. U. Lane and Bunger singled. McCarty also binged. Shell got a base on balls, forcing Lane home. McElreath tallied on a third base line bunt by Adkins. Scoggins was out, McKay to Adams.

Ranger tallied once in the third. Riddings grounded to Bunger. McKay made first on Lane's failure to hold a third strike. Linsmore singled to left field. O'Keefe lined the ball to left field, scoring McKay. Adams flew to Scoggins. Dinsmore raced home to Umpire Neil waved him out.

Brady made a desperate attempt to score in the fifth. McCarty, who made three hits out of four trips to the plate including two triples, poled the ball to left field. He stopped at third. Shell tried to work the bunt and score trick but he failed. His bunt rolled at least 15 inches outside of the first base line. He finally lifted a ball to Adams. Adkins was out, McKay to Adams and the danger was over.

Shell Wobbles Twice. In Ranger's half of the sixth, Dinsmore was out, White to Adkins. O'Keefe was safe on Shell's misplay. He stole second. Adams got a base on balls. McElreath rolled an easy one to Shell, who wobbled for a second time. O'Keefe, who was on second, started off and on reaching third he started for home after seeing the hard struggle Shell was having with the ball outside the infield. Gibson struck out.

The ninth inning comes around and finds both teams battling, Brady to tie the score and the Snappers to keep it 3-2. White rolled to Dinsmore, who stopped low for the ball. His throw to first drew Adams from the bag and White was safe. He advanced on U. Lane's roller. A pitched ball allowed White to score. Bunger out, McKay to Adams. Mc-

TEXAS TECH LOCATING BOARD WILL MAKE ITS SELECTION KNOWN SOON

Selection of the town for the Texas Technological college will probably be made at a board meeting in Fort Worth within a week after the locating board concludes its final inspection at Vernon, on Aug. 7, according to a staff writer in the Star-Telegram.

Informal conversations of members of the locating board among themselves and with newspaper correspondents indicate that they believe that the location ought to be made as expeditiously as possible, it is stated.

WEATHERFORD COLLEGE HOLDS HIGHEST POSSIBLE RANK

With the election of sixteen very strong teachers to its faculty, and having received the rank of a first class junior college from the Texas Association of Colleges, Weatherford College now holds the highest possible rating with the state association, the State Department of Education, and the General Board of Education of the Southern Methodist church.

The faculty is headed by R. G. Boger, A. M., of Southwestern university, who has been president of a strong junior college for the past five years. Every literary teacher has an A. B. degree, and has an A. M. degree or has his work almost complete for the A. M. degree. The commercial department is headed by T. H. Gatlin, for the past five years president of the Texas Business college. The fine arts faculty consists of teachers who have had the best training in America, and has separate teachers for the following departments: Piano, voice, expression, violin, art, and military band instruments. Mr. Conway E. King will have charge of the band and will give instruction in band instruments. He is the present director of the championship band of Texas.

The following football coaching staff has been selected: H. J. Gregory, of Southwestern university, director of athletics; Sam Leiper, strong tackle of A. & M. last season, line coach; W. F. Richards, quarterback and end of Auburn, assistant coach.

With such a line-up, and because the administration has arranged room and board to be had at from $20 to $25 per month, Weatherford college expects a boomer year next season. A catalogue and general information will be gladly sent upon inquiry.—Advertisement.

BRUTAL MURDER IS REVEALED AT AMARILLO

Special to the Times

AMARILLO, July 30.—The sheriff's department has been unable to find any clues to the brutal murder of Diego Perea, 63, wealthy Spaniard, whose body was found Saturday night in a neat little home in which he lived alone. His feet were tied and his head beaten to a pulp. It is believed that he had been dead one or possibly two days. A bloody hammer was found beside the bed.

Perea was a religious man and was well educated. He had told friends that he at one time was a Catholic priest.

Robbery is believed the motive for the crime, for Perea was reported to have a large sum of money around the house. He is said to have had no relatives in America. He was a native of Spain.

MANILA LIKES PERFUMES.

MANILA, July 30.—The people of the Philippines have spent 14,273,332 pesos for luxuries since the first of January. Of this amount automobiles took the major part, but diamonds and other precious stones, perfumery and cosmetics show up largely in the customs records.

MAIN DRAG STUFF

Personal Version of the Hold-Up That Agrees With H. Fair's Private Idea; an "Ammonia" Letter From Eastland and "Sloforth."

BY P. G. T.

Hymie had been suspicious of the stranger ever since the man entered the store. There they were alone together, in the balcony. The stranger had asked to see a suit. Hymie turned to lift it from the rack and, half seeing, half sensing a sudden, suspicious movement from the customer, he turned, facing him.

As he did so the man struck him heavily on his shiny pate with a threaded piece of iron. The iron exploded, once heavily, and then to Hymie's dimmed senses there came 12, 15, possibly 20 shots, that sounded deafening in the closeness of the balcony. Bullets flew in every direction and with them stars, half moons, comets and vari-colored flashes of blinding light.

Hymie distinctly felt six bullets pierce his small body. He screamed chokingly, then with a superhuman effort twisted himself from the grasp of this pyrotechnic maniac and half walked, half fell swiftly down the stairs out into the daylight.

"Help! Police! I am shot! Take me to the hospital." And then in a scarcely audible, gasping voice: "Don't forget to lock the store."

The great mystery has never been solved. The assailant has been captured but refuses to talk.

Where is this mysterious weapon with the combined qualities of a sky rocket and a Big Bertha? All that was found in Hymie's three ball bank was a large machine bolt.

And the bullets, the stars and the comets—where did they go? Will these questions ever be answered.

The man who beamed H. Fair says his motive was not robbery. Perhaps he was going into business and wanted the location.

Do You Save Enough?

BANKERS say that saving money is largely a matter of habit—of systematically putting away something every pay day—of consistently thinking in terms of thrift.

The bankers are right. But remember that thrift embraces buying as well as saving. It is "penny wise and pound foolish" to save by scrimping and yet spend money needlessly in making your every-day purchases.

Has it ever occurred to you that every day you can save something simply by reading the advertisements in this paper? Do you realize that the advertisements tell you just where and when to buy to advantage—that they tell you how to avoid regrettable expenditures?

Thrifty folks realize that advertising has reduced the selling costs of thousands of factories and stores. Many of the things that today count as necessities or simple luxuries could not be sold at anything like their present prices had not advertising created a broad market for them. It has made millions of sales at small profit where otherwise there would be thousands of sales at large profit per sale.

So, you owe a great deal to advertising. And you owe it to yourself to read advertising.
