WAR OR PEACE DECIDED TODAY BY IRISH VOTE

By United Press.
DUBLIN, June 16.—The voters of South Ireland went to the polls today to elect an Irish parliament as provided under the terms of the Anglo-Irish treaty.

LONDON, June 16.—The Irish Free State under the proposed constitution, which has not yet been entirely accepted by Great Britain, will have a government somewhat similar to that of Canada. Upon the results of today's election in South Ireland final British approval depends. If the republicans win too many seats in the house of commons, many difficulties will be thrown in the way. The British government considers the constitution as it stands acceptable and if no changes are made by the Irish assembly, it will be formally approved.

Resulting War Between Wets and Drys Threatens Passage of Subsidy Bill.

WASHINGTON, June 16.—The administration ship subsidy bill, without banning liquor aboard ships, was favorably reported to the house today by the merchant marine committee. The committee rejected the Bankhead amendment to the bill, which asked that aid be withheld from any vessel carrying or selling liquor inside or outside the three-mile zone. This action threatens to precipitate a war between the wets and drys that imperils the ship subsidy bill. No Record Vote. The committee rejected the Bankhead amendment without a record vote.

The Edmonson amendment extending the Volstead law to the sea by fining ships of all registry entering American ports on which liquor is sold, was not reported on.

BAPTISTS OF NORTH AND SOUTH DIFFER MAINLY ON MEANING OF 'CHURCH'

By Associated Press.
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., June 16.—No substantial theological differences of opinion exists between Northern Baptists and Southern Baptists, E. W. Freeman of Denver, Colo., chairman of the Laymen's Council of the Northern Baptist convention, declared today before the fifteenth annual convention of that denomination.

"There are far more points of agreement and accord between the two groups of Baptists than has recently been assumed to exist," Mr. Freeman stated in his report on the recent Columbia conference, at which representative Baptists of northern and southern groups, deliberated on denominational issues.

"The main difference is that, broadly speaking, the southern group holds the stricter view as to the New Testament 'church,' believing that in the New Testament terminology and teaching the word 'church' holds reference to a local particular body, meeting at a particular time and place, organized around the ordinances, as indicated in the New Testament and rejecting the idea of a universal, invisible and spiritual church, in which all believers are members at this time. They believe that a universal and spiritual church, which will include in its members all believers of all ages and all communions, is an institution in the making, and can only find its completion after judgment and not less particular in their view on this matter, and, in general the idea of a present general or universal church has a more common acceptance."

COW THIEVES AGAIN BUSY ALONG BORDER

By Associated Press.
EL PASO, June 16.—Old timers are recalling the days of twenty-five and thirty years ago when cattle rustling was so common along the border. Conditions similar to those prevailing then are causing them to recall the former activities of rustlers. Ranchers are suffering heavy losses, as they did in the early days of the Southwest. Their herds are being driven off by twos and threes and the dozens, they report. The rustlers, it is said, come from the Mexican side of the river and drive the stock across the ford or across the river when it is low.

Held for Slaying Wife's Mother, Hangs Self With Towel

DAINGERFIELD, June 16.—W. M. McDonald, 55, prominent and wealthy citizen of Daingerfield, who shot and instantly killed his mother-in-law, Mrs. Kate Thigpen, and also shot and perhaps fatally injured his wife, Mrs. Effie McDonald, at the McDonald home here last Saturday, committed suicide Thursday morning at 11 o'clock in the county jail here, by hanging himself with a towel. McDonald was arraigned here Tuesday afternoon on the charge of assault to murder in connection with the shooting of his wife. He waived examining trial and his bond was fixed at $5,000. He was then arraigned on a charge of murder in connection with the death of his mother-in-law and was denied bail and remanded to jail. Insanity charges also have been filed against McDonald and his hearing had been set for next Monday. Mrs. McDonald's condition remains critical, and it is declared her recovery is doubtful.

The child was carried by Boyd to the home of his parents, a quarter of a mile away and help summoned, but he died before help arrived.

By United Press.
AVERNE, N. Y., June 16.—With 15,000 persons homeless and sixteen blocks of Averno in smoking ruins, police today are searching for the cause of a conflagration last night that swept 400 buildings in this New York suburb, causing a loss of $2,000,000. RAILROAD MEN SEEK CONFAB WITH MINERS

CINCINNATI, June 16.—B. M. Jewell, head of the railway employes' division of the American Federation of Labor, was authorized today by the shops crafts leaders to ask officers of the United Mine Workers for a joint conference. Rail leaders have urged that notice be served on the labor board that an overwhelming majority of the workers are voting to strike and that the officers will stand by the workers in their decision.

NO STRANGER IN THURBER!

A resident of Olden is being entertained at the police station following his arrest last night with five bottles of choc beer and two quart bottles containing a blended liquor. The alleged owner was taken in custody while seated in a happy frame of mind in his car on Main street. He told the officers that the liquor was left over from a beer and light wine party staged at Thurber.

Summoning of Raiders and Their Wives to Testify for Barnes and Atwood Regarded by Many as "Retaliation"

More than a score of the best known men and women in Ranger, practically all of the number being persons who took part in the recent clean-up raids or who are known as ardent law enforcement advocates, have been summoned by the defense as witnesses in the trial of Cleve Barnes and Harry Atwood Monday in the Ninety-first district court. Many of the women summoned are the wives of the men who conducted the raid on the Barnes garage, The Hub and other places, which resulted in a fortune in all varieties of liquor being seized and destroyed. Several men and their wives who took no active part in the recent clean-up, but who are known to be thoroughly in sympathy with the movement, were also said to have been summoned as defense witnesses in subpoenas served yesterday by Deputy Sheriff John Barnes.

The latest move of the defense in summoning Ranger women who know nothing pertaining to the case, is a matter of some conjecture and is regarded in many quarters as simply being a form of retaliation by causing them inconvenience.

FIGHT OVER TREASURY 'PIE' MAY CAUSE MELLON'S RESIGNATION

150 Republican Congressmen Sign Petition to Harding Demanding 100 Democrats Be Ousted; Mellon and Blair Prefer Efficiency, Regardless of Party.

WASHINGTON, June 16.—The treasury shakeup planned by the administration is a move to retire Secretary Mellon from office, Senator Carraway, Democrat, of Arkansas, charged in the senate today in opening an attack on the administration for removing Democrats from office to give Republicans jobs. "Harding is dominated too much by a group of senate politicians," Senator King of Utah, Democrat, declared after Carraway had spoken.

Showdown Due. A final showdown in the long fight of Republican politicians to force the remainder of the Democratic appointees from the treasury department offices is seen today. About 150 members of congress have signed a petition which will be presented to President Harding today or tomorrow, demanding the ousting of Democrats and filling their places with Republicans.

The action of the Republican congressmen virtually forces Harding to make a decision whether he will support the policies of Elmer Dover, third assistant secretary of the treasury, with the announced purpose of forcing Democrats out of executive positions, or those of Internal Revenue Commissioner Blair, who prefers a larger number of employees with more experience in government work. Blair is understood to have the backing of Secretary Mellon and the petition brings sharply to the fore the possibility of the resignation of the secretary and the commissioner. Claim Democratic Ring. The petition claims that the large number of Democrats still in the treasury are hampering the efficiency of the administration of that department. It is charged a "Democratic ring" exists in the treasury. Accompanying the petition is a list of more than 100 Democratic officials whom the congressional Republicans want removed. Charges circulated in the Blair-Dover controversy that the key positions in the treasury department were held by Democrats, were declared today by Secretary Mellon in a formal statement to be "so false and ridiculous as would ordinarily not require notice."

BIDS OPENED FOR NEW CHURCH AT MERRIMAN

Bids were opened yesterday by the board of deacons for the new Merriman Baptist church at Merriman. The board is going over the bids and expect to award the contract some time Monday afternoon. Bids were submitted by three contractors, including Quisile & Andrews, contractors for the new City-County hospital here. The new church, T. W. Duncan, member of the board at Eastland, stated this morning, will be of brick and is expected to cost somewhere in the neighborhood of $9,000. It will be constructed just west of the Merriman school building and near the present church. The new church will be complete in every way, with ample provision for the Sunday school classes.

ONLY LABOR BOARD CAN PREVENT STRIKE, UNION LEADERS SAY

By United Press.
CINCINNATI, June 16.—A railroad strike on or about July 1 is now regarded by labor leaders as inevitable, unless the government intervenes to prevent it. Revision by the United States labor board of the recently announced wage scales for railroad shops crafts and maintenance of way employes is the only thing that can prevent a paralyzing transportation tieup, a railroad union spokesman told the United Press today. Furthermore, it was stated, the unions would insist on assurances that the labor board would require the railroads to agree to full and free conferences on adjustment of disputes over wages and working conditions.

Negro Girl Given $8,000 Damages for White Man's Assault

WICHITA FALLS, June 16.—Katie Mae Decker, 15, negro girl, was awarded $8,000 damages from Harry Jaffee, former merchant, now in the oil business, in this city, by a jury in the Eighty-ninth district court here Thursday afternoon. The negro sued Jaffee as the result of an alleged assault made on her last summer, from which it was claimed the birth of a child resulted. Suit was for support of the child. The infant, a 3-months-old boy, was in the court room during the trial and was one of the exhibits.

ONE BIG UNION LABEL REFUSED BY FEDERATION

War Vets and Laborites Have Enemy in Common, Legion Head Says.

CINCINNATI, June 16.—For the second time within two days, the American Federation of Labor today struck at the one big union idea advanced by the radicals. The convention rejected a resolution providing a universal label to be used by all trades, instead of the fifty-one different labels now in use. McEner Makes Address. Organized labor and organized veterans of the World War have a common enemy in those who would tear down the integrity of America, Commander McEner of the American Legion declared today in an address before the federation. "The legion knows no sex, no creed or class of any kind except between constructive and destructive forces," McEner declared. "We must see to it that the legion remains fair, straight, tolerant and American."

DALLAS SEEKS TWO ITALIANS FOR KIDNAPING

DALLAS, June 16.—Authorities today were searching for two Italians who are alleged to have kidnaped Marie Mosca, 14-year-old Italian girl, about a week ago. The girl returned home early today in a stupor and collapsed on the front porch. She was taken to the Emergency hospital, where she was found to be under the influence of either liquor or drugs.

STATE BANKERS WOULD RAISE HALL'S SALARY

By Associated Press.
WACO, June 16.—Resolutions adopted at the second day's session of the Texas bankers' conference favored increasing the salary of the state banking commissioner to $10,000 annually; recommended the separation of the banking and insurance departments; recommended district organizations in each banking examiner's district; the refusal of charters to state banks with capital less than $25,000; a paid attorney for the state banking department. The conference approved the guaranty fund law.

ROAD CLAIMS ALLOWED

EASTLAND, June 16.—Claims for road work performed by Smith Bros., road building contractors, have been allowed during the session this week of the commissioners' court. Not quite $125,000 was allowed. On the Bankhead highway, work to date totals $49,833, which, minus the 10 per cent holdback, leaves the county's share $22,425. As the county already had paid $17,079, only $5,345 was due the contractors from the county, and this was allowed. On all other highway projects the amount allowed totaled $119,437.

PRESIDENT'S HOME TOWN TO HONOR 100TH BIRTHDAY

By Associated Press.
MARION, O., June 16.—The eyes of the country, focused on Marion two years ago, again will be turned to this Ohio town, which has sent the twenty-ninth president to the White House, July 2 to 6. Marion will be 100 years old then, and it plans to entertain more distinguished citizens during the four-day centenary celebration, than in the rushing days of the Harding campaign, when many notables flocked here.

'WHITE SMOKE' NEWEST BOOZE FOR OLD SOAKS

New York Hobo Tells How Some of His Pals Satisfy Thirst.

(Harry A. Mount in Leslies Weekly.)
It was near midnight and cold-bitter cold. The damp spring air penetrated even an overcoat, if one was lucky enough to have an overcoat. I could see by the dim glow of scattered lights that the few of the men who sat about the park in huddled groups were so lucky.

I had purposely discarded my own and I wore cast-off shoes, a slouch hat that had seen better days, and a suit that I considered good enough, or had enough, for the purpose. Tonight I would be one of them.

Bryant Park had been for many years the capital of Hobodom. Rather it was the capital when times were normal. For five years now it has been allowed to fulfill its natural purpose—that of a refreshingly green breathing space in the busy heart of uptown New York. Bryant Park occupies the space of a city block, just a square from the Broadway theatrical district and separated from Fifth avenue only by the majestic structure of the public library.

Grand Army of the Idle
But now the grass is trampled and in spots bare. The benches and lawns are strewn with old newspapers and rubbish, despite the vigilance of park employees. By day the citizen who stops in the park for a rest must crowd in among the dirty and ragged men, young and old, who doze, or stroll, or shoot craps on the sly when the cop is across the park. To be sure, they pose as the Great Army of the Unemployed, but the signs are unmistakable. It is the return of the ragged fraternity. We are getting back to normalcy.

I had proceeded less than fifty feet when a boy—he might have been twenty—stepped up to me briskly. "Beg pardon, sir," he said, "but could you help a fellow out with enough to get a bed?"

Disguise Easily Penetrated
So easily had my disguise been penetrated! Without a word I handed him some small change. But on second thought, as he turned to leave with murmured thanks, I asked if he would not walk across the park with me. He fell into step beside me.

We had hardly taken a dozen steps when a disreputable individual staggered up.

"Say pal," he said, grasping my arm familiarly, "can't you help out an old ex-service man?"

I pushed him aside and we started on.

"Booze," I remarked to my companion.
"Nope," he said briefly. "Smoke." "Smoke?" I queried.

Denatured Alcohol With Water
"Sure." These fellows can't afford booze. They buy a dime's worth of denatured alcohol at a paint store over here and then mix it half and half with water. It turns the water milky, it looks something like white smoke. That's what they call it—smoke.

"But denatured alcohol will kill a man," I exclaimed.
"No, it won't kill you—at least, not if you are used to it. It might kill you if you drink it straight. But if you mix it with water it just sets you crazy, or if you get too much, it paralyzes you for a while."

"But surely," I protested, "not many of these men drink it?"
"Oh, yes," said my informant, "all the old soaks drink it. They have to have something and you can work up a pretty good drunk on a dime's worth of smoke."

$20 a Day Panhandling
We passed a group in which a man so robust of person as to be conspicuous was the center of attention. He was talking loudly and in a boastful tone.

"I could have had a job this noon, if I had a wanted it," he was saying.
"See that fellow," said my guide, "he has been hanging around here for a month. He makes fifteen and twenty dollars a day panhandling around the park here."

FIRST PHOTOS OF S. S. EGYPT DISASTER

The pictures show some of the Lascar members of the crew of the ill-fated British steamer Egypt, who fought passengers away from the lifeboats when the vessel was rammed in a fog by the French freighter Seine. Nearly 100 of the passengers were lost. Captain Collier and Chief Purser Burrows were saved, as were Mrs. Wagner, Miss Eddenden and Miss Emmett, three of the women passengers.

French Bergdoll Nabbed While He Straddles Border

(By Associated Press.)
GENEVA, June 16.—A wealthy Frenchman, F. Bertrand, described as a deserter, has been arrested here at a moment when he had practically one foot on either side of the Swiss and French frontier line, in a cafe that straddles the border. The cafe is in the village of Sain Julien on the international boundary. Part of the building is in Switzerland and part in France.

Early in the war Bertrand settled in Geneva where, his accusers say, he made a large fortune trading with Germany. He bought a villa and several automobiles and led a life of pleasure. He said he was more German than French, and took pleasure in speaking against France, particularly in the cafe at Sain Julien where, safe on Swiss territory in one of the drinking rooms, he could be overheard and even seen by the French police in the rooms on the French side. There the French listened to his annoying talk but, unable to catch him on the French side, they could not arrest him. Bertrand boasted that—when there were no police about—he could enter France and return without a passport.

Bertrand after dining well, crossed the border by going from the room on the Swiss side to that on the French side to greet some friends. At the instant he passed the line into France he was pounced upon by two French gendarmes. He put up a fight, but was quickly subdued, handcuffed, and carried away.

"No waiter or menus are needed. Every one pays five cents and receives from the owner the fork. With this, the customer advances until he is near the edge of the pot and dips the fork into the dark boiling water. The fork goes to the bottom of the pot. If the client is lucky enough or has had experience the fork hits a piece of meat and the client fishes the meat out and devours it.

If it so happens that the piece of meat is untouched by the fork five cents is paid again, this entitling the man to a new trial.

It is a sporting chance, anyway.

Faithful Forty's Kerosene Tipple Worries Dry Men

BOSTON, June 16.—When the City and Relief hospitals in Boston open their gates of a blue Monday morning, there pour forth from their doors, "The Faithful Forty."

"The Faithful Forty" are gentlemen to that number, who spend their days basking in the warm sunlight on India and Long wharves, and their Saturday and Sunday nights in the sick wards from drinking a concoction known as "Holy Smoke" and composed of kerosene and water in equal parts.

For the last three Saturday nights "The Faithful Forty" have entered the portals of the two hospitals on stretchers, paralyzed in everything but the tongue, which wagged loudly and profanely.

One of the gentlemen has been in three times in the last week. Attendants know he is coming, because he enters of his own volition the day before, distributes cigars and words of cheer and is wheeled in on a shutter the following day.

The police don't know what to do. There is no constitutional amendment forbidding the sale of hair-oil, varnish, shoe blacking or kerosene as a drinking beverage.

PARIS LARGEST AMERICAN CITY EAST OF BOSTON

PARIS, June 16.—Paris is now the largest American city in Europe. The official census says that more than 63,000 Americans live permanently here. To this number is annually added 50,000 tourists.

Economists calculate that Americans in Paris spend an average of $10 a day. That means that $1,130,000 daily, or nearly $34,000,000 a month, is spent during five months of the year at least by Americans in purchase of French goods.

At the present rate of exchange this is almost the interest on the French debt to America.

11,000 Before War.

The interesting fact about the above figures is that before the war there were only 11,000 Americans resident in Paris and the yearly tourist total did not exceed 15,000. Their average expenditure was about half what it is now, or about $4,000,000 a month.

Thus the French debt has increased 300 per cent because of the war, the expenditure of Americans in France has increased 800 per cent, and is increasing right along.

Without exaggeration it can be stated that, apart from the French people themselves, Americans play the largest part in French business as well as social life.

It has become almost an axiom within three years that to be successful in any of the luxuries in Paris one must have an American clientele.

Thus the fate of restaurants, dress-makers, milliners and novelty makers depends entirely on the appeal made to the almighty dollar.

During the war there was avid competition among small towns and villages for the honor of having American garrisons. Mayors frequently visited the French war office, extolling the virtues and strategical advantages of their towns and urging that they be given "some Americans."

An illustration of this was seen recently on the Rhine, when the population of Coblenz almost doubled under American occupation. It developed that thousands of storekeepers had emigrated from Mayence, held by the French, and Cologne, garrisoned by the British.

When the American government decided to recall the troops of occupation it was expected that the French government would appeal to Washington to leave a garrison at Coblenz for the moral effect.

But before this request arrived at Washington another protest against the evacuation was made to General Allen at Coblenz. The protesters formed a delegation of German business men, who said they stood to lose

BRITISH ROYAL COURT DISCARDS SIMPLICITY FOR PRE-WAR POMP

LONDON, June 16.—Economy is no longer to be the keynote of court functions at Buckingham palace. No more "economy courts," as they were called, are to be held. These were established by their majesties after the war to set fashionable society a much needed example in curbing extravagances. The seal of royal approval has now again been bestowed on court trains. Indeed no women can be presented at court who does not wear them. Of course, as a man the lord chamberlain cannot presume to be an expert on fashionable feminine dress, but it is one of his many official duties to lay down the rules and regulations to which women must conform at the most exalted of court functions.

That is one of the things for which he is paid $15,000 a year. He has to be a peer besides to qualify for the exalted office, which is accounted among the political plums that the prime minister has to give away. The present lord chamberlain is in the top class of the peerage. He is the Duke of Athell.

By restoring the court train he has earned the blessing of the fashionable dressmakers. But they would have lengthened their blessings if he had lengthened the trains. Before the war three yards was their regulation length, while Queen Victoria didn't consider four yards too long. By the new regulations they need be only two yards in length and should not extend more than nineteen inches from the heel of the wearer when standing.

To walk backward before royalty in a train three yards long without getting tangled up in it imposes a severe tax on the agility and skill of

Bees Make Booze-Flavored Honey After Feeding On Bootlegger's Mash

ASTORIA, Ore., June 16.—Bee bootleggers that manufacture alcohol flavored honey are the latest violators of the Volstead act in Clatsop county, according to County Agricultural Agent McMindes.

He says that on account of the large number of stills which have been operated in the county, quantities of fermented mash have been dumped in isolated spots. The bees in their search for material for honey making have discovered these mash piles and as a result the contents of some of the hives are highly flavored.

FULL MOON IS JINX FOR BURGLAR, BOY DECLARES

NEW YORK, June 16.—"Never commit a burglary in the full of the moon in May," commented Patrick Lynch after he pleaded guilty to burglary in the first degree before Judge Johnstone in general sessions.

Lynch, 19, has several prior convictions. He was caught fleeing from the home of Edward H. Jewett, a broker, with $1,000 in jewelry.

It was the bright, clear moon that he blames for his arrest. He had entered the Jewett house by forcing a window in the skylight and lowering himself by a rope into the upper story. As he was about to depart by the same means he was startled by what he supposed was the figure of a man following him. He turned suddenly and opened fire with his revolver. He was shooting at his own shadow.

KANSAS CITY POLICE DRAG KAW RIVER FOR TEXAS OIL MAN'S BODY

By United Press.

TOPEKA, Kan., June 16.—Police here today dragged the Kaw river following the finding of clothing on the banks, in the pockets of which were papers and a bank book bearing the name of William H. Arbuckle, Fort Worth, Texas, evidently an oil man. The clothing was found by children at play. The belt was missing. The bankbooks showed large deposits, one of $28,000 and one of $21,000, in the Farmers & Mechanics National bank at Fort Worth.

A letter from a woman in Los Angeles, evidently Arbuckle's wife, was found in a coat pocket and showed Arbuckle had been in ill health. It was signed "Lue."

"Now, Edward," said the teacher, "can you tell me who Atlas was?"

"Yes, ma'am," answered Edward, "he was a foolpad."

"A what?" queried the teacher.

"A foolpad," repeated Edward, "he held up the earth."

SUBSIDIZING EMPTY SHIPS.

Superficially, President Harding's threat to call an extra session if the ship subsidy fails to pass at the regular session may be looked upon as a resort to the big stick after a reluctance persisted in even through many months of exasperating delays on the part of congress relative to enacting the President's program. But it may be considered as evidence of the importance which Mr. Harding attaches to the ship subsidy bill, rather than as a token of his impatience with the general legislative situation, disappointing as that may be. Nor, from the standpoint of the President, is it surprising that he should so rate the subsidy bill. Consistency on his part could not rate it otherwise.

One effect of the most skyscraping tariff that ever emerged from a committee room onto the floor of the house or senate is undoubtedly that of forcing American ships to sail from abroad back home with as little freight on board as it is possible by tariff law to force them. In walling out foreign goods it is reducing American vessels to one-way traffic. If American vessels are to come home in ballast because of congressional decree, then congress ought to pay the freight on the ballast. That is not the way that subsidy advocates would state the case. But such are the actual facts of the case. Having decided to commit an assault against the commerce of the nation, the only way to indemnify the shipping interests therefor is to commit another assault, this time against the treasury. The public that buys the foreign goods will be denied the opportunity to purchase them, only to pay to domestic producers the tariff tribute, and then, because our merchant marine is incidentally robbed, we must turn around and tax the public again to make the ship owners whole.

With a project like that as a part of his program, it is no wonder that the President's hope lies only in the big stick. It is going to take considerable coercion to obtain the consent of congress to such a program. And yet it is of a piece with the Republican tariff policy. Without the subsidy the tariff is enough to sweep our merchantmen off the seas, even if they had no other difficulties to contend with.—Dallas News.

Are These America's Twelve Greatest Women

A Chilean delegate to the Pan-American conference asked for a list of the twelve greatest American women, so she might write their histories as an example to the women of Chile. Mrs. Rudolph Blankenberg, widow of the late mayor of Philadelphia, was asked by the National League of Women Voters to name the candidates. Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt was selected by Mrs. Blankenberg to head the list. The other eleven picked are: Mrs. Thomas Winter, president of the General Federation of Women's Clubs; Mrs. Maud Wood Park, head of the League of Women Voters; Commander Evangeline Booth of the Salvation Army; Mrs. M. Carey Thomas, retiring president of Bryn Mawr college; Miss Jane Adams, head of Hull House, in Chicago; social worker and lecturer; Miss Anne Morgan, for her work in reconstruction in France; Mrs. Harriett Taylor Upton, vice chairman of the Republican national committee; Mrs. Barclay Warburton of Philadelphia and New York; Mrs. George Horace Lorimer, wife of the editor of the Saturday Evening Post; Mrs. Charles Evans Hughes, wife of the secretary of state, and Mrs. Medill McCormick of Chicago.

NONE OF WIFE'S BUSINESS WHERE HUSBAND GOES!

LOS ANGELES, June 16.—Friend Husband doesn't have to tell wife where he's been when he comes home at 4 o'clock in the morning.

This momentous question was settled judicially, once and for all, in an opinion handed down recently by Superior Judge Edwin F. Hahn of Los Angeles, in the plea of Marjorie B. Reed for a divorce from George C. Reed.

By implication, no more is Friend Husband obliged to cuckoo seven more times when he "barefoots" into the house just as the clock sounds his doom with four fateful strokes. He needs fear no more conjugal strife or curtain lectures. He need not waste a nickel calling up wife about 6:30 in the evening to tell her that he won't be home to dinner, or until late, because of "an important business conference."

That night of which Marjorie complained, "he stayed away without explaining to me" why that night might have been spent in Los Angeles on business, Judge Hahn declared from the bench.

There's always a fly in the ointment, however. Judge Hahn denied complete emancipation, "absolute rights for men," when he said "a continuous course of this kind might be sufficient to constitute cruelty," and, as such, ground for a divorce.

In spite of Mrs. Reed's testimony that her spouse left her and her two children destitute on a ranch at Lancaster and went off "somewhere," she was denied the decree she sought.

On Thursday morning of this week, Sidney Hocks suddenly found himself in a ridiculous predicament. He was passing the Rye Straw store. Sidney of course did so, and the proprietor went away and got busy talking, and did not return until nearly noon.

GASSERS ROMP IN FINAL GAME WITH NITROS

Red Roberts Pounded Hard While Hill Is Stinging; Score 13-2.

AMARILLO, June 16.—Red Roberts was pie for the Gassers yesterday, they nicking him for sixteen hits and taking an easy 13 to 2 victory in Amarillo's final home game of the first half.

A hearty rally in the third round, which included a homer inside the park by Johnson and a drive over the fence by Anhier, netted six runs, and it was easy sailing the rest of the way. Red also was pestered vigorously in several other rounds.

Elmer Hill, breezing along easily and backed by faultless support, held the Nitros to five hits, which they banded only in the eighth, when two runs were driven across. He whiffed eight batters during the melee.

R. R. ENGINEERS BUY COAL LANDS

CLEVELAND, Ohio, June 16.—The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers has "tackled the coal problem," according to a statement by Albert F. Coyle, editor of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers' Journal. "The Locomotive Engineers are making a $2,000,000 investment in West Virginia and Kentucky coal mines," said Mr. Coyle, "which means not only a fair deal for the miners but better and cheaper coal for the consuming public."
"The Coal River Collieries, as the new company is called, is owned by hundreds of locomotive engineers throughout the country, who have subscribed in small amounts to the capital stock of $2,000,000."
"The engineers are not only going into the business of mining coal; they are also planning the establishment of retail yards to sell their coal at reasonable prices to railwaymen and other workers in the large cities. Locomotive engineers and their friends have already organized these auxiliary coal yards in Ohio and Michigan, and have placed contracts with their coal companies for delivery direct from the mine pits to the consumers."
"The engineers have cut out watered stock and over-capitalization, organizing a company whose sole purpose is efficient production and no financial exploitation of its coal resources."

The company's message follows: "If unemployed will offer you position in charge of saddle horse tours of the Yellowstone park with satisfactory salary. Answer."

HOMERS WIN FOR EAGLES.

CLOVIS, June 16.—Two doubles followed by two home runs, in the seventh, gave Abilene four runs and a 9 to 5 victory yesterday. The score was knotted at the time. Thomas' homer was the longest drive ever seen on the Clovis grounds. Abilene made sixteen hits but many men were left stranded on the sacks.

LUBBOCK, June 16.—Henry's wildness aided Lubbock in taking the final game of the series yesterday, 9 to 6. The southpaw walked eight men and the Hubbers hit opportunely, going to the front after the Broncs had taken a small lead in the early innings. Battle and Langford made spectacular plays that held down the San Angelo score.

FIVE SAND CRABS HIT HOMERS IN ONE INNING

WICHITA FALLS, June 16.—It is believed that the Galveston Crabs set a world's record here in their game Thursday with the Spudders when they hit five home runs in one inning. The fifth inning was the one the Crabs picked to go on the worst home run spree ever known in the Texas circuit, at least. Hendricks, Witry, Deviney, Moore and Eibel were the batters who hit for the circuit.

CONFETTI WILL SAVE US, IS LEANS' REPLY TO FIELD PIECE SLANDER

"We don't need any field guns against fat men, even for sanguinary purposes," was the indignant rejoinder of Wild Bill Eaton last night when informed that the fats would use pop guns for counter battery work. "Why, we're peaceful in the first place. It can be seen from our trim and athletic proportions that we are willing to live and let live, willing to give everybody a chance, and not trying to grab the whole universe, like some folks I might mention."

"We are going to confine our offensive efforts purely to baseball. Of course, we are expecting those fats to get riled up after the first inning has gone about an hour and a half and they see they can't get us out."

Confetti as H. E.

"But we don't need any field pieces. All we'd have to do would be to lay a scuffling along the ground and choke those birds to death with confetti as they were climbing over it."

"What we want to do is to play baseball. More than that, we're going to play fair baseball. I've even got my men out there practicing so they won't hit any ground balls. Those fellows couldn't see a grounder after it got ten feet in front of them, you know, and how can they expect to stop them when they can't see them? Even if they could see them, a fellow who has to lie on his back to lace his shoes wouldn't show any class in a sport which requires agility and muscular flexibility. Why, some of those birds couldn't see the seat of their pants with a match!"

With heaven knows what in prospect as Ranger's fattest and flimsiest pick their champion for the fray and lay dark deep plots for the discomfiture of the other side, Ranger males are lining up. Folks who like quiet and repose, and object to holding aching sides, had better stay away from the ball park next Tuesday, when the hostile clans clash. Those who like action, however, will miss it if they miss it. The spondulicks go to the Ranger Baseball association, to help keep the hired hands eating.

BIG LEAGUE PITCHERS TOLD WHAT TO THROW

ST. LOUIS, Mo., June 16.—"Bench pitching" or pitching directed by the managers, has increased this year, and has resulted in pitchers allowing more earned runs per game, than in former years, in the opinion of local sport circles.

Pitchers in the major leagues this season are willing to permit the managers to tell them just what kind of a ball to throw, and if a hit results, the manager is at fault, sports writers say.

Very few pitchers—only the top-notchers—are permitted to use their own judgment in throwing in batters, and as a result they are not charged with the responsibility, according to the scribes.

RELIGIOUS EDUCATION IS AID TO AMERICANISM, SUNDAY SCHOOLERS SAY

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 16.—A plan for universal public religious education, as "the only way to stop the paganism of America," will be reported to the International Sunday school convention, which meets here June 21 to 27.

Civilization without Christianity is described by delegates to the convention as "paganism," and results from education without religious instruction, in the opinion of the sponsors of the plan. They assert their belief that foreign elements in the population have taken advantage of the decay of home religious influences in America, and that the best Americanization is to be found in religious education.

Christianity as "the fountain head of social progress" rather than a collection of dogmas is the ideal seen by the convention leaders. They urge Christian leadership in popular music and restoration of the drama as a religious art.
The last day of the convention William Jennings Bryan, who was invited to speak to the convention twice, the first invitation being recalled and a second one issued later upon insistence by his friends, will speak and his address is expected to be the feature of the day.

REDS CRUCIFY HUSBAND, PRINCESS TELLS U. S. IMMIGRATION OFFICERS

WASHINGTON, June 16.—A story falling victim to the revolution, her husband entrusted to her a dispatch box which he said contained documents of vital importance to the Russian royalists.

It is the story of Madame Ivan Tschernitschew, native daughter of Kentucky, later a Russian princess, and then widowed by the Russian revolution. Now she is fighting to return to the less turbulent land of her birth.

So interested has Secretary John J. Davis become in the remarkable case that he has ordered the board to review and consider the exclusion order issued at New Orleans and to report to him personally.

The throbs of romance and the thrill of tragedy are mingled strangely in her appeal that she receive sanctuary in America. It threads its map through the United States, Germany and Russia, and is set now in the purple and fine linen of royalty, and again in the drab garb of one compelled to engage in menial labor.

A flight across Russia, pursued by the secret agents of the soviet government and refuge aboard an Atlantic liner as a stowaway are but trifling incidents in a startling career, which had its culmination in the crucifixion of her husband by red agents, she says, in the disappearance of her only son.

The records at New Orleans show that she was born in Louisville, Ky., Aug. 13, 1881. Her mother was Countess Potenpink, a family favorite at the court of St. Petersburg during the reign of the Romanoffs. The mother renounced her royal rank to become the bride of Frederick Schlich, a German, naturalized in the United States.

The family lived in New York until 1906. The father disappeared when the little princess, as she even then was called, was but two years old. In 1902, after having resided in Europe several years with her mother, she became the bride of Prince Ivan Tschernitschew, also a Russian.

Honeymoon Lasts a Day.
The honeymoon lasted but a day, after which she returned to New York with her mother and remained there until 1909. In that year, she says, they returned to Riga, Russia, owing to the ill health of her mother, and while there a reconciliation was effected between her and the bridegroom of a day.

The family, including the husband, continued to reside at Riga, where a son was born to them. Then came the world war, followed by the revolution and the Bolshevik uprising, and the father sent the son to a place of safety. She has not seen him since.

In 1919, her statement continues, her husband was arrested and subjected to execrable torture, after which he was crucified. Before he fell victim to the revolution, her husband entrusted to her a dispatch box which he said contained documents of vital importance to the Russian royalists.

After the prince's death she fled from Riga and found refuge in the castle of a Count Dusterlough, whose estate was located on the Russian border. The Bolsheviks attacked the estate and compelled her to flee for her life. She left the dispatch box behind.

Trailed By Soviet Agents.
Then began a long journey on foot across Germany, followed by secret agents of the soviet. She made her way to Masavack, Belgium, and reached Antwerp Nov. 9, 1921.

The department of labor, in a statement commenting on the case says:

"The princess says that in her desire to reach America she stowed away aboard the steamship Gasconier. Five days at sea, hunger and thirst forced her to reveal herself to the ship's officers. So weak she could scarcely stand, she was nursed back to health and transferred at sea to the steamer Texandier, bound back to Antwerp. She succeeded in convincing the captain of the Texandier that she was an American citizen and he assigned her as a stewardess for the return trip to the United States."

Prior to her arrival the princess communicated with the American authorities seeking permission to land. Secretary Davis is making a thorough investigation of her story."

CAN'T HOLD KINNEY FOR CHILD DESERTION

By Associated Press.

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 16.—Ludie Kinney, who recently married Opal Rexroat, wealthy Carter county Indian girl, was given his liberty Thursday by the criminal court of appeals at the conclusion of a hearing on his application for a writ of habeas corpus. Kinney was arrested recently in Muskogee and held for extradition to Kansas on a charge of child desertion. He was freed by the appellate court on $1,000 bond when his application for the writ was filed more than a week ago.

The court today ordered that he be released from bond and his liberty not interfered with further on the child desertion charge. It was brought out at the hearing that Kinney is facing a charge of bigamy at Duncan, and the court indicated this was the reason for keeping him in Oklahoma. The bigamy charge grew out of his marriage in January to Miss Rexroat. It was alleged that he married before his divorce from Mrs. Veda Kinney in Kansas had become absolute.

PHYSICIANS CONSIDER AIRPLANE TREATMENT FOR NERVE DISEASES

NEW YORK, June 16.—Scientists here expressed great interest in the spectacular manner in which William Rosendorf, Atlantic youngster, gained power of speech.

The six-year-old boy, who hears perfectly, but who has been mute from birth, suddenly found himself able to speak when an airplane in which he was riding reached an altitude of one thousand feet.

Dr. Frank Keil, authority on maladies of the ear and throat, stated that the case of the Rosendorf boy has no precedent in the history of science. He continued:

"However, I cannot say that I believe altitude necessarily is a cure for non-functioning or uncontrolled vocal cords.

"It is more likely the shock to the nervous system would remove the inhibition which prevented speech."

May Prove Useful
Dr. Carolyn Bender, another specialist recently of Chicago, stated that no matter what the process of cure, the result is reason for believing that airplane flights may prove useful in treatment of many forms of nervous disease, Dr. Bender said.

"The theory of shocking the nervous system from an abnormal into a normal condition appears to be reasonable. We hear frequently of shock working the other way around.

"Medical science is full of instances of crippled nerves rising to normal functioning to meet emergencies. We have heard of persons, paralyzed and unable to move, springing from their beds and walking without difficulty when their rooms caught fire.

"I personally knew a boy whose right leg had been drawn up and useless from birth, but who used this leg with ease when he fell into the water. So vigorously did he thrash about with both arms and legs that he kept himself afloat until he was rescued. He walked afterward.

A Similar Instance
"A little patient of mine lost the use of her vocal cords after she had been cruelly frightened by being thrust into a dark room, in which she believed lions to be lurking, by her playmates. You see, this is an inverted example of the effect of shock. She was cured by being taken through dark rooms by her mother, who constantly explained the unlikelihood of lions entering a home and hiding under tables."

Dr. Keil said that the medical history of the war relates many cases of speech recovery similar to the case of William Rosendorf. He added:

"Among shell-shocked soldiers we found that any acute shock to the nervous system often would eliminate the nervous trouble, just as a hook brought it about in the first place.

"It seems likely the boy's fright or astonishment during his airplane ride shocked him into the ability to speak. I do not think it would have the same effect on all mutes."

William Rosendorf, father of the boy, will have his son taken aloft each day for a half hour's treatment. A tutor will accompany him, and when a thousand-foot altitude has been reached will speak simple words in the hope that the child will repeat them.

PARDON CLOSES NATIONAL SCANDAL

Harold F. Henwood & Mrs. Isabel Patterson Springer

Harold F. Henwood, former Denver, Colo., social favorite, has been pardoned from the Canon City, Colo., penitentiary, where he was serving a life sentence for killing Sylvester (Tony) von Phul, St. Louis sportsman and international balloonist, and George E. Copeland, wealthy Cripple Creek mining man, and aiming for life James W. Atkinson of Colorado Springs. Copeland and Atkinson were "innocent bystanders." The shooting occurred in 1911 in the palatial Brown Palace barroom in Denver, when Henwood and von Phul quarreled over the beautiful Mrs. Isabel Patterson Springer, once noted St. Louis beauty and then wife of a leading Denver capitalist. Springer divorced Mrs. Springer, who died later, a pauper, on Blackwell's Island, New York. Springer pleaded for Henwood's pardon, expressing the belief he was defending Mrs. Springer's name.

Milk's Good Food - For Babies Only, Doctor's Theory

LONDON, June 16.—"Is there any one subject today upon which doctors agree?" asks a sceptical newspaper commenting on the advice of Dr. Cecil Webb-Johnson, who has said: "Never drink milk; it is an unnatural food save for the young."

Giving his reasons for this revolutionary opinion Dr. Webb-Johnson, a specialist on diet, said to a questioner: "We are the only animals in the world who drink milk after infancy. The domestic cat, it may be pointed out, drinks milk after it has grown up, but this is purely a domestic habit. The idea has been handed down through generations that milk is a good thing to drink when you are ill. I think it is the worst thing, and I never allow my patients to have it. It causes constipation, flatulence, a dirty tongue and leads to rheumatism, headaches and tired feelings. Taken in excess it often causes appendicitis."

"Nature does not intend milk to be taken after the purpose for which it was provided has been fulfilled. I prefer hard food always. Frequently—sometimes habitually—people will go whole days without hard food of any description. That, for one thing, is bad for the teeth. Celery, apples and other things that make you bite should be on the table every day."

"Nor is milk good for the body in addition to ordinary food."

TROOPS CALLED WHEN STRIKERS AMBUSH TRAIN

SALT LAKE CITY, June 15.—National guardsmen were mobilizing today to move to the coal fields of Carbon county, where disorders broke out yesterday in connection with the coal strike. Martial law was declared and the guardsmen ordered out by Governor Mabey after a formal report had been given in to his office of the killing of George Webb, mine guard, and the wounding of H. C. Lewis, mine superintendent, and one unidentified laborer.

The casualties occurred when a train carrying men into the coal field was fired upon from ambush. The attackers, who are declared by peace officers to have been striking miners, fled into the train from both sides and were pursued for a short distance by deputy sheriffs and mine guards.

Mrs. R. D. Lavery, Mary and Louise Lavery, left yesterday for Oklahoma City for a visit of several weeks in their old home there. They will make the trip by motor.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Yonker were called to Emporium, Pa., Monday by a telegram advising them of the very serious illness of Mr. Yonker's mother.

"CAVEMAN STUFF" NO HIT WITH GIRL

When John Tarzos, son of a wealthy importer of Constantinople, met Miss Helen Wertz in October, 1920, she was librarian at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology in Boston. He implored her to go to Turkey with him and became so insistent she fled to Chicago, where he followed her and sought to force her, she said, by threats of death, to go. She had him arrested, and U. S. immigration officials are considering deporting him.
