Navy Expects New Atomic Sub Will Be Deadliest Craft Ever

By ELTON C. FAY
AP Military Affairs Editor

GROTON, Conn., Jan. 16 (AP)—When Mamie Eisenhower smashes a bottle of champagne across the sleek nose of the USS Nautilus here Thursday, she will be christening a vessel the Navy expects to be the deadliest and most versatile craft in history—the first atomic-powered submarine.

Designed to demonstrate high underwater speed, ultra-long cruising range and elusive skill, the Nautilus and other A-subs to follow her will be able to fight with either standard explosives or turn out nuclear missiles, torpedoes or mines if a mission requires them. She will have a choice of power to drive her propellers—atomic, Diesel engine, electric motor.

The Navy is confident the submarine will work, even though no craft or vehicle before it—afloat, on land or in the air—has been propelled by the power of the atom. For months the Atomic Energy Commission and the Navy have been test-operating an exact reproduction of the Nautilus' nuclear power plant. Out on the Idaho desert steam from the atomic firebox has been spinning a turbine and driving a propeller like one of the two on the Nautilus.

But it will be sometime next summer, when the Nautilus puts out for sea trials, before the designers, nuclear physicists, shipbuilders, slide rule experts and others can be sure how efficiently the first of the atom-powered undersea boats will operate. First she must undergo final fitting out.

Until then, the engineers cannot tell whether she will live up to expectations of an underwater speed of about 30 knots. Nor can they be sure about the flexibility of power, general maneuverability of the boat, exact burn-out rate of atomic fuel under actual operating conditions and the noise generated by the submarine when under way—an important factor in working against an enemy's antisubmarine efforts.

Built into her are torpedo tubes to fire the new, fast and silent electrically driven torpedoes with target-seeking guidance system. These tubes can handle torpedoes with atomic warheads when such weapons are developed.

The same procedure used in planting conventional mines can be used to release atomic mines through the torpedo tubes.

The Navy plans to equip the atomic submarines with gear for carrying and launching the guided missile named Regulus. These missiles already have been fired from submarine decks and could easily be adapted for a nuclear explosive warhead.

Exponents of the atomic submarine claim it is virtually an all-purpose craft. It will have world-girdling range, they say, and ability to remain submerged for weeks or months, limited only by the endurance of the crew; underwater speed matching most big surface ships; hull strength to dive well below the levels attained by any present boats, where detection is difficult or impossible; and it will be able to use its main, atomic engine for full power submerged without resort to the limited speed of electric propulsion.

Wingate Lucas To Be Candidate Again

FORT WORTH, Jan. 16 (AP)—Congressman Wingate Lucas announced today he will be a candidate for re-election.

He said many of his friends have expressed fear he would decline re-election because of the disadvantages of the job.

"But, I think in times like these, everybody should be willing to make sacrifices," Lucas said. "And, in addition, I like the job."

Lucas, World War II veteran, began serving in Congress in 1947, succeeding Fritz Lanham. He and his wife and five children live in Arlington, Va. They spend their summers at their Grapevine home.

IT HAPPENED

Shades Of Chivalry

PROVIDENCE, R. I. — Sen. Florence K. Murray, only woman in the Rhode Island Senate, gave this description yesterday of her life as a legislator:

"You're not wanted, you're not invited, you just go. And if you stay home, you're not missed."

Sign Is Belied

DALLAS (AP)—Investigating officers described an auto accident early Friday as routine. A motorist driving in the rain struck and knocked down a sign which said: "Dallas—Texas' Safest City."

Dennis The Menace

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—Tired of the quiet life, a 4-year-old boy toddled into the corridor of an apartment house and:

Filled a dozen mailboxes with dirt. Tipped up letters and switched all the others.

Tipped over a garbage can and broke milk bottles.

"I can't believe he did all this," his mother told police.

Baton Just For Show

LONDON (AP)—Paul Adam, British dance band leader, let a professional cat out of the bag in court yesterday. He said dance musicians play just as well with no baton to lead them.

"A symphony orchestra," said Adam, "depends on the conductor. But a dance band does not."

Medical Meet Is Set

SAN ANTONIO, Jan. 16 (AP)—Practicing Texas physicians will gather in San Antonio Jan. 26-28 to study latest medical techniques.

The annual mid-winter International Medical Assembly of South-west Texas will bring in 18 outstanding physicians from throughout the country to present 40 scientific papers.

May See Eclipse

ABILENE (AP)—Texans may be able to see a total eclipse of the moon Monday night. Doman Roberts of the Hardin-Simmons University department of physics said the total eclipse should begin at 8:17 p.m. and end at 8:47.

Standing Room Only

SCOTTSDALE, Ariz. (AP)—Artists will lecture here today on "styles in art." The public was invited to attend—but asked to bring their own chairs.

Not Right Tickets

JOHNSTON, Pa. (AP)—Unused tickets for last year's policeman's ball can't be credited toward parking fines.

Not in Johnston, anyway. A motorist tried to talk Police Magistrate James T. Malloy into a "trade-in," but Malloy would have none of it.

The motorist paid the fines and departed without saying whether he would attend this year's dance.

Man Can Remove 'Em

DENVER (AP)—The man from the telephone company was adamant: that tree on Jim Harpster's property had to be destroyed.

It was interfering with telephone and power lines. Besides, it wasn't a pretty tree at all. Harpster finally agreed. That's when the man bent on removal of the ugly tree said thanks and handed over his business card.

His name: Joyce Kilmer. He's a fourth cousin of the World War I poet who died soon after writing a memorable tribute—"Trees."

Tyler Pair Suffer Burns From Crash

GLADEWATER, Jan. 16 (AP)—A Tyler couple was burned seriously last night in an auto accident that also injured an Athens, Tex., minister.

Mr. and Mrs. Noble Edmond Chafin, (623 East Houston) Tyler, were in good condition in a hospital today where they were being treated for burns on their hands and faces.

The Rev. Wilson M. Carwie, Athens, driver of a second car involved, was being treated for chest injuries and undetermined injuries.

Officers said the Chafin car skidded on wet pavement and collided with the Carwie vehicle. The gas tank on the Chafin car caught fire.

Elks Back Polio Drive

Debbly Gaines, March of Dimes poster boy, gets pledge from Earl E. James, Grand Exalted Ruler of Elks that the Order's 1,110,000 members will work vigorously in this year's polio drive. The support has extended to the local Elks lodge, and the Exalted Ruler of this lodge, W. C. Ragsdale, has pledged his organization's full support. In addition to a donation by the lodge, its facilities and manpower have been made available, and already members are joining with other MOD workers to help raise the war chest to whip polio. Ragsdale has conferred with Mrs. W. O. Underwood, campaign chairman, on the lodge's participation. "We have always supported the March of Dimes," said Ragsdale, "but this year we feel we should give our greatest cooperation. More money is needed this year in order to complete tests of a trial vaccine that may whip polio. We are going all out."

Spanish Dancer To Benefit From Gambling Secret

MONTE CARLO, Monaco, Jan. 16 (U-P)—Mrs. Edith Earle, an elderly British woman with a secret system for winning at the gambling tables, said today she is going to give her winnings to La Belle Otero, a turn-of-the-century Spanish dancer who was the rage of the continent. La Belle Otero, 84-year-old Caroline Otero, is nearly destitute and now lives in a small room in Nice. Mrs. Earle, 79, is a regular winter visitor to Monte Carlo, where, she says, she wins around 30,000 francs ($115) a day, thanks to a secret system taught her by her late husband, a mathematician. "Last year I won 3 1/2 million francs in three months," she said. "A maharajah offered me five million francs for my secret, but I refused."

Connell To Be Honored

AUSTIN, Jan. 16 (U-P)—Acting Gov. Jimmy Phillips has designated Jan. 19-24 as Commander Connell Week in Texas in honor of Arthur J. Connell of Middletown, Conn., National American Legion Commander.

Stanton Rotary Club Receives Its Charter

STANTON (SC)—Some 200 guests from a dozen West Texas points helped put the new Stanton Rotary Club "in business" Friday evening. It was charter presentation night for the new club, and in addition to the charter Stanton Rotarians received gifts and checks from clubs at Canyon, Perryton, Plainview, Mulshoe, Snyder, Midland, Sweetwater, O'Donnell, Lamesa, Ralls, Seminole, Levelland and Big Spring.

Herschel Coffee, chairman of the department of economics at West Texas State College and district governor for Rotary clubs, presented the charter. Adolph Swartz, president of the Big Spring Rotary Club, the sponsoring organization, presented the gifts and congratulations of other clubs in the district.

Program was held in the high school gymnasium with sophomore and junior girls of Stanton High School serving the meal.

Coffee, who also was principal speaker, discussed the development of Rotary International since the first club was organized in 1905. One basic objective of the organization, he said, is to foster the ideal of service throughout the world.

The speaker listed the four avenues of service as acquaintance and fellowship, the means of service; vocational service; or establishment of high ethical standards in business and the professions; community service; or improvement of the conditions of livelihood; and international service, the development of "enlightened understanding and good will."

Ralph Caton, Martin County attorney and president of the Stanton Rotary Club, presided. He introduced six past district governors, including Elmo Wasson of Big Spring, Charlie Paxton of Sweetwater, Lloyd Wicks of Ralls, Bill Kerr, Fred Wemple and Percy Bridgewater, all of Midland.

Entertainment included songs by Mrs. Don Newsom of Big Spring, tap numbers and a "modern jazz ballet" by Mary Jane Engstrom and Diana Dawson of Stanton. Accompany Mrs. Newsom was Mrs. Ann Houser of Big Spring, while Mrs. John Evinger provided accompaniment for the dancers. Dinner music was by Mrs. Edmund Tom.

The Stanton Rotary Club was organized Nov. 9 under sponsorship of the Big Spring club. Charter members were Caton, Bob Deavenport, Stanley Wheeler, John Pinkston, Ira Boothe, Pepper Martin, J. W. Sale, Sammy Houston, Walt Dickison, Arthur Wilson, Harry Billington, Jack Arrington, Jack Bentley, Carl Clardy, James McMorries, Dan Saunders, Rev. E. B. Coon, Paul Jones, Dr. George Dawson, Jess Miles, James Webb, R. K. Rogers and Herb Riley.

Georgia's Under-21 Voters Behave Much Like Elders

By JIM THOMASSON

ATLANTA, Jan. 16 (U-P)—In the only state which has opened the polls to them, Georgia voters between 18 and 21 years apparently behave much like their elders, participating more actively in hot elections and voting along lines of family and local interest.

Georgia lowered its voting age to 18 in 1943 and most political leaders today agree that the 10-year experiment has been a success.

However, there is some difference of opinion as to the effect of expanding the voting age group by three years.

President Eisenhower recently recommended that the voting age be lowered to 18 years nationally.

On the basis of Georgia's experience, this likely would bring out a wave of new voters at first—and then the youngsters would register and vote in just about the same ratio as those from 21 years up.

No accurate figures are available as Georgia's registration lists are not too accurate at best and there is no segregation of registered voters by ages.

Also, there are no figures on actual voting by the younger people.

In 1943, the year a constitutional amendment to lower the voting age to 18 was approved, Georgia had 428,157 registered voters.

The total jumped to 562,684 in 1944. Although 1944 was a regular election year, veteran politicians attribute much of that increase to registration by young voters.

In 1945, the registration total was down to 502,404. Then in 1946, it jumped to 1,077,949, but in the meantime the state had adopted a new constitution which abolished the poll tax.

Texas Manufacturers Install New President

DALLAS, Jan. 16 (U-P)—Earle Cabell of Dallas last night was installed as president of the Texas Manufacturers Association.

The president of Cabell, Inc., of Dallas reaffirmed TMA's stand for improved workmen's compensation legislation and adequate salaries for teachers.

Some 500 Texas businessmen and their wives attended an installation banquet.

Maxwell House Java Price Increase Set

NEW YORK, Jan. 16 (U-P)—General Foods Corp. has advanced the wholesale price of its Maxwell House coffee a nickel a pound.

Retailers are expected to pass the increased price on to consumers, trade circles said, sending the store price of the brand to about $1.09 a pound. The present retail level is $1.04 in most stores.

State President Of Real Estate Group Due Here

A renewal of organization effort on the part of the Big Spring Real Estate Board is scheduled Monday, and a meeting has been called for the election of officers and the charting of a new year's program.

This session will be held at the Crawford Hotel Monday noon, and all members are urged to attend, said Worth Peeler, president of the Board.

The Board functions in affiliation with the Texas Real Estate Association, and the state president, Vincent H. Schmitt of Galveston, was here last week to enroll members for the new year. He and Peeler planned new activities and contacted many real estate people in the city. Peeler said that those working with the local Board include R. L. Cook, Jack Cook, George O'Brien, R. B. Reeder, Nova Dean Rhoads, J. W. Purser, Marie Rowland, Emma Slaughter, Mrs. N. W. McClesky and Mrs. W. D. McDonald. Mrs. Thelma Montgomery, associated with Mrs. Rhoads, also attended a conference.

Efforts will be made, said Peeler, to put before the public the aims and objects of the Real Estate Association to the extent that the public may be served better.

Senator Will Launch Probe On U. S. Prisoners Of Reds

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16 (U-P)—Senator Potter (R-Mich) said today he may send investigators to Tokyo to question Japanese who say they recently saw some U.S. citizens being held in Russian prison camps.

Potter said an investigation will be made of these and other reports of Americans held against their will behind the Iron Curtain, in Russia, Red China and perhaps elsewhere. He said he will direct the study as a one-man task force of the Senate investigations subcommittee.

Its objective, he said, will be to identify as many of the Americans as possible if the reports are substantiated, and provide information to help the government in pressing for their release.

Potter said he has discussed with representatives of the Japanese embassy his idea of sending emissaries to Japan to question a group of Japanese captured during World War II and only recently liberated from prison camps in Russia. He said they are reported to have seen Americans in such camps.

Potter said the embassy representatives have assured him "there would be no complaints as far as the Japanese government is concerned" against any U.S. interviews with the prisoners.

LOST 50 POUNDS WITH THIS HOME RECIPE

For many of this country's 25,000,000 overweight adults, reducing diets have become a dominating business. But the frightening fact is that many of the most popular diets are extremely dangerous.

Why not try the Barocinate way and reduce safely, easily and without starvation diet?

Just get your own drugist's 8-ounce bottle of Barocinate—now just $1.89. Mix with grapefruit juice as directed on label. Then take according to directions. That's all there is to it. If the very first bottle doesn't show you the way to reduce, return the empty bottle for your money back.

Mrs. G. T. Hicks, 819 Whitting Avenue, San Antonio, Texas, wrote that she "thinks Barocinate is wonderful and lost 50 pounds taking it."

At a Canadian conference it was estimated that one Canadian in 60 is an alcoholic.

Mexico Pinches Off Legal Bracero Flow

By CHARLES H. GUPTILL
MEXICO CITY, Jan. 16 (AP)—Mexico pinched off the legal flow of migrant farm workers to the United States today following collapse of negotiations for renewal of a 12-year-old agreement regulating their employment.

U.S. authorities in Washington watched skeptically for the effect. The State Department has long urged Mexico to stop the flow of illegal migration and has been told it is impossible. No one there seemed to think that it could be done any better now.

Rep. Kenneth Mills Regan (D-Tex.), who represents 19 Texas counties on and near the border, said: "I'm sorry that there's any difference between the two republics, but I doubt if closing the border will be very effective. The Mexicans need the Yankee dollars and we need their labor."

The agreement—formerly renewed with slight variations each year since it went into effect in 1942—expired last midnight.

Negotiations broke down over the question of wages for the Mexicans, largely employed for "stoop labor" on farms and ranches of the Southwestern United States. Mexico wanted a fixed pay rate in the new agreement. U.S. officials insisted on sticking to the agreement under which the U.S. Labor Department decided on a "prevailing wage," saying that since there is no legal basis for fixed wages in the United States, they could not be specified in an international agreement.

U. S. Ambassador Francis White carried on the negotiations. Foreign Minister Luis Padilla Nervo, White had insisted that the talks were cordial, but last night he said Padilla Nervo kept him cooling his heels a long time before seeing him. When the deadline passed, Mexico ordered her borders shut, apparently in protest against a U.S. "stop gap" plan for admitting the workers.

State Department sources in Washington said that, despite Mexican opposition, the United States would go on with its temporary plan to set up stations on the U.S. side for registration of workers. Mexico contends the U.S. plan would have the effect of legalizing illegal border crossings—long a sore point in the migratory problem. The United States contends that it is up to Mexico to patrol her own borders and prevent such crossings.

Laredo Publisher Flies To Mexico On Bracero Issue

LAREDO, Jan. 16 (AP)—William Prescott Allen, publisher of the Laredo Times, flew to Mexico City today to study the migratory laborer (bracero) situation.

Mexico and the United States have been unable to agree on a new pact. The old agreement expired last night. Allen declared U. S. policy toward Mexican farm workers had never been consistent. "We've been using the braceros as if they were checkers," Allen said, "and through this blow-up in negotiations in Mexico City we are defying Mexico's rights by saying we are going to hire anyway."

Under the old agreement, Mexico recruited workers for temporary farm employment in the United States in the interior and sent them to the border for admission to the United States.

The United States said last night it would go ahead with a temporary plan of setting up stations on the U. S. side of the border for registration of workers. Mexico has closed its borders to Mexican farm workers seeking to get jobs in the United States.

Mrs. Hobby Says Leadership U.S. Help On Juveniles

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16 (AP)—Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby said today the principal help the federal government can give in coping with an "alarming increase" in juvenile delinquency is to provide leadership for states and local communities. Mrs. Hobby, secretary of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, testified before a Senate Judiciary subcommittee which is making a nationwide study of the extent and causes of teen-age crime.

She said youthful delinquency is "one of the most complex social ills facing our nation today." Samuel M. Brownell, commissioner of the Office of Education, told the subcommittee that the problem of juvenile delinquency is grave but he said that, nonetheless, "95 to 98 per cent of our children are normally law-abiding."

He said an estimated 385,000 children were "legally delinquent" in 1952 in the sense they had broken the law and had been referred to juvenile courts. This is about two per cent of the children in the 10 to 17 age group, he noted.

To Honor Scarlett

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Jan. 16 (AP)—A Danish shipowner who made a fortune out of the film "Gone With The Wind" will name two ships Scarlett O'Hara for the heroine of the story. Danish theater owners found the picture too expensive for showing, so shipowner, Jorgen Jensen ferried thousands of movie fans to Sweden to see it.

Riding THE GRUB LINE With Franklin Reynolds

A busy week is ahead in area livestock circles.

Wednesday, Jan. 20, is the date of the annual calf sale of the Mitchell County Hereford Breeders Association. This sale will be held at the Mitchell County Livestock Auction Barn at Colorado City at 1 p.m.

Twenty-three calves, ranging in age from eight to 20 months, will be sold. There are 16 heifers and seven bulls.

Breeders consigning to this fifth annual sale include Earl L. Brown, R. D. Buchanan, Chesney's Choice Herefords, Leslie Hamilton, P. K. Mackey, Spade Ranch, Thompson Ranch, Sam C. Thompson, all of Colorado City, and O. R. Carpenter of Cuthbert and Dr. Bruce Johnson of Lorraine.

Then the 17th annual Mitchell County 4-H and FFA Stock Show will be held Friday and Saturday, Jan. 22-23, also at Colorado City. Thursday and Friday of this week, Jan. 21-22, are the dates for the annual Martin County 4-H and FFA Junior Livestock Show, with the annual sale scheduled for 2 p.m. Friday at the Martin County Show Barn in Stanton.

Saturday is the day for the annual Sterling County 4-H Show at Sterling City.

The next event will be the annual Glascock County 4-H and FFA stock show and barbecue on Feb. 5 at Garden City.

Wednesday morning six members of the HCJC Jayhawk Aggies Club, two members of the Lasso Club, and Bruce Frazier of the HCJC agricultural staff, will depart from Big Spring at 7:28 a.m. on a Pioneer plane for an aerial view of the area.

The two members of the Lasso Club are Beckie Sewell and Marjorie McDougall. The Aggies are Elvon DeVaney, Donald Denton, Richard Elmore, B. F. Welch, Henry Hicks and Ben Hitt.

This is the third annual aerial

Rail Union Loses Case

OMAHA, Jan. 16 (AP)—District Court Judge Jackson B. Chase ruled today that a railroad employee in a non-operating position does not have to join a union in order to work.

The ruling was made in the case of five Union Pacific employees who had protested a union shop contract between the railroad and non-operating unions. A 1951 amendment to the Federal Railroad Labor Act permits union shop contracts notwithstanding state laws which prohibit them. Nebraska has such a law.

Judge Chase said "the enforced discharge of employees from their interstate labor activities appears unreasonably far removed from the authorized federal field of interstate regulation." Similar suits to the one filed here have been filed or are being tried now in other states.

Hall Service Is Set Here Today

Funeral service for George William Hall, 68, who died at his home here Friday will be conducted at 3 p.m. today at Nalley Chapel.

The Rev. Clyde Nichols pastor of the First Christian Church, will officiate. Burial will be in Trinity Memorial Park. Pallbearers will be J. C. Pickle of San Angelo, Roy Bruce, J. Andy Pruet of Abilene, Denver Dunn, Harry J. McKinney, Jess Woody of Stanton, Ben McCullough and Tommy Hutto.

Jet Plane Crashes At Bergstrom AFB

AUSTIN, Jan. 16 (AP)—A T33 Air Force jet trainer plane from Tindall Field, Fla., crashed shortly after takeoff from Bergstrom Air Force Base here today. The student pilot, a member of the 3625th Fighter Training Group, was killed. The Bergstrom public information office withheld identification pending notification of next of kin.

Cause of the crash was not indicated. The plane plunged into the ground about five miles north of Bergstrom and about one-half mile east of Austin.

C-C Directors To Meet On Monday

The board of directors of the Big Spring Chamber of Commerce will meet Monday at noon in the Chamber conference room at the Farmian Building.

Manager Jimmie Greene also announced that a meeting of the Merchants Committee will be held Tuesday at 10 a.m. Chairman Culin Grigsby has called the meeting to discuss plans to attend livestock shows in some of the neighboring towns.

All Big Spring merchants are urged to attend the Tuesday meeting, Grigsby said.

for Livestock Show will be held at Sterling City next Saturday, Jan. 23, and dinner will be served at noon in the Community Center by the ladies of the Methodist Church.

The dinner alone is well worth the trip to Sterling. Judging will start at 11 a.m. and W. M. (Dub) Day Jr., of Rankin, county agent of Upton, will do the judging.

Show officials this year are Ewing F. McEntire Jr., Clinton Hodges and Ross Foster. Members of the show are these three together with L. F. Hodges, Foster S. Price, Chesley McDonald, Neal J. Reed and Ralph Davis.

Awards to be made this year include a pen of three lambs given by Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Bird to some club boy or girl who is feeding; a showmanship award given by the Sterling American Legion Post; two Holland belt buckles to outstanding lamb feeders; two trophies to the feeder of the champion crossbred lamb; and a plaque to the feeder of the champion fine-wool lamb. This plaque is being presented by J. T. Davis, Sterling City rancher and banker.

A prediction that U. S. 87 will become a four-lane highway from Dumas, up in the Panhandle, all the way to Big Spring, in time, was made during the week at Lamesa by Highway Commissioner Marshall Formby of Hereford.

The occasion was a noon meeting at Bart's Restaurant, at which Formby was the guest of honor. He had come to Lamesa to go on to the intersection of SH 349 and FM 87, to participate in the formal dedication of SH 349 that afternoon, but the event was called off because of the weather.

Formby discussed Texas highways in general and West Texas highways in particular, and told the group that his door was always open to people with ideas and troubles.

Attending the luncheon were a number of members of the Lamesa Chamber of Commerce. Guests from Lamesa included Judge R. F. Spraberry; Rev. J. H. Crawford, who gave the invocation; Mrs. F. P. White, who assisted with the program; Mrs. A. C. Barnard, who played dinner music, and Rev. Walter Horn. Out-of-town guests included F. H. Coleman of Pecos; Virgil Crawford, Vernon Towns and Grady Elder Jr., of Brownfield; Essie W. Moore and R. W. Pittman of Seminole, and W. R. Smith of Plainview.

Other Highway Department officials present were S. C. McCarty of Lubbock, district engineer; R. L. Faltinson of Pecos, district engineer, and A. W. Partain of Lamesa, resident engineer.

Stanton telephone subscribers all have numbers with five numerals, but the first numeral in all these is "4."

Those folks over there have learned that first "4" doesn't mean anything and that they don't have to dial it. All they need do is dial the last four numerals and get the person they want.

Bill Glasford: 'I'm The Coach'

LINCOLN, Neb., Jan. 16 (AP)—The University of Nebraska will stick by its contract with head football coach Bill Glasford, it was announced today.

A statement issued by acting Chancellor John K. Selleck with the concurrence of the board of intercollegiate athletics and all members of the board of regents said one who could not be reached said the athletic board today "unanimously voted to fully and in good faith comply with all provisions of its contract with Mr. Glasford, x x x"

LINCOLN, Neb., Jan. 16 (AP)—Where's the guy who yelled "Fire the coach?" Down at the Administration Building they've got a question for him. How? They want to know.

There's a hearty enough heave-ho movement under way at the University of Nebraska. Its object is head football coach Bill Glasford.

But, as Glasford himself puts it, "I am still coach."

His contract, they say, is as tight as Uncle Willy's Sunday shoes. Glasford can't even ask to have his name cancelled—he has seven more years to go if he wants to exercise a five-year option.

At Glasford's $12,500 a year salary, that's $87,500 worth of contract.

The Cornhusker school has parted company before with its coaches whose contracts hadn't expired. But the current "Goody coach" move has some twists all of its own.

So far, the most prominent people to lend their names to the campaign to oust Glasford are 35 football players who will be back next year. They say Glasford's removal is a "must."

There's also a petition in which 44 players say they won't play football for Nebraska in 1954 if Glasford is coach. This is reported to be in the hands of acting University Chancellor John Selleck.

The idea of letting undergraduates in effect dictate to university officials has promoted protests from Glasford supporters.

In this connection, Selleck was recently quoted as saying: "What would you do if making no change in personnel involved not fielding a team next fall?"

The "can't quit" clause and the contract long terms were written in happier days in the Nebraska Athletic Department. Glasford then appeared to be leading the Cornhuskers to greener pastures and Pitt, his own alma mater, was making a bid for Glasford's services. Alumni and students had pleaded with Bill to stay.

Glasford is not without support now. He has made two public appearances since being asked to quit. On both occasions, at Omaha Tuesday and at Norfolk, Neb., last night, he drew ovations and pledges of support.

The Madison, Neb., Chamber of Commerce has adopted a resolution urging that Glasford not only be kept as coach but also given the vacant athletic directorship. Newspapers in Omaha and Lincoln have editorially attacked the contract-breaking efforts as well as the idea that a coach should be asked to leave under fire from players without having been given a chance to defend himself.

The way things stood today, it looked like a stalemate. Wednesday, the sports writers were beginning to talk about a $150,000 athletic board "sinking fund." University officers declined to say whether it could or would be used to pay off Glasford's contract.

Bowie Halves Double Bill

Teams representing Big Spring High School and Bowie Junior High of Odessa broke even in basketball games played here Friday afternoon.

The Eighth Grade Yearlings of Big Spring copped a 23-29 verdict in the opening game, after which Bowie won the Ninth Grade engagement, 50-34.

Jan Shuren enjoyed a busy afternoon for the Yearlings in the opener, getting 22 points. Jimmy Bice proved Big Spring's most effective point-getter in the afterpiece, roping 11 points.

The Eighth and Ninth Grade clubs host Sweetwater Tuesday afternoon.

On Jan. 29-30, the Ninth Graders take part in the annual Odessa Junior High School Tournament.

JOHNSON IS '53'S BEST

DALLAS, Jan. 16 (AP)—David Kossas Johnson, head scoring All-America fullback for Rice Institute was Texas' athlete of the year in 1953.

The 178-pound Baytown youth was named this by the Texas Sportswriters Association. He polled 33 of 74 ballots to far outdistance a dozen other candidates.

Johnson, who gained 944 yards in 16 games for an average of 5 yards per carry, will receive a plaque here Feb. 15.

The hard-driving Rice senior carried the ball 158 times, lost only 17 yards, scored 20 touchdowns and kicked two extra points. He also led in kickoff returns with a 28 yard average and was a stand-out defensive player.

Darrow Hooper, Texas A&M weight star, was second to Johnson in balloting with 9 votes.

Harrison Sets Pace In Crosby Pro-Am

By RUSSELL NEWLAND
PEBBLE BEACH, Calif., Jan. 16 (AP)—Grazed E. J. "Dutch" Harrison, 43-year-old veteran of the golfing wars, battered four strokes off par in the third today to go into the lead of the Bing Crosby Pro-Amateur Championship Tournament with a two-round total of 139.

When the chips were down and the going tough, the one time Little Rock, Ark., caddy, now professional at Ardmore, Okla., came through with a 35-33 average charge at the 26th hole of the 54-hole $10,000 event.

Harrison played his second round over the Monterey Peninsula Country Club course, 6,248 yards mostly cut out of the woods, and with par requirements of 35-37-72. In his opening 18 yesterday, he posted a one-under-par 71 for Cypress Point.

Harrison, who has been traveling the tournament circuit for 15 years, proved that experience really counts in the clutch. He hit low shots into the wind and rammed home putts with authority.

While Bill Dutch was taking over the role of pace setter, Texas Tony Holguin of San Antonio who startled the field with his first round 62, put on a "Gone With The Wind" act today.

He took an 81 at Cypress Point, nine over par, in contrast to his nine under figures yesterday over the Monterey Peninsula Course. Holguin simply blew to pieces and his two-day 144 left him trailing the new leader by five shots.

Tommy Bolt of Houston moved into contention with a second-round 70 and total 141. Jimmy De-maret of Houston also jumped into the thick of it with a fine 68, giving him a tie with Bolt at 141.

Doug Ford of Yonkers, N. Y., tacked up another 71 for a total 143. Defending champion and favorite Lloyd Mangrum came through with a 70 and total 143. Deadlocked with him were ex-champ Byron Nelson of Roanoke, Tex., with 72-71; Australian champion Peter Thomson with 72-70; Jimmy Clark, Huntington Beach, Calif., 69-74 and Bob Task, Havdenville, Mass., 72-71.

Grouped at 144 and the only others to equal or better par for the first two rounds were Chuck Conroy, Tacoma; Max Evans, Detroit; Earl Stewart Jr., Dallas; Holguin and Ellsworth Vines, Arcadia, Calif.

Park Hill, Central Emerge As Ward Quints To Beat

Park Hill and Central Ward emerged as the teams to beat after the firing had ceased in Ward School Basketball League play Saturday morning.

Park Hill, which is coached by Billy Mack Sheppard, steamrollered East Ward 58-9, while Central Ward rallied to win over Kate Morrison, 20-17.

Gordon Bristow tossed in 12 points for Park Hill as the Spartans rolled to their second victory in two starts. Don Everett and Jay LeFevre each scored ten and Jack Richmond eight for the winners.

Central's Calves, unbeaten in two seasons now, had to score eight points in the final period while holding the Maroons to one in winning their game.

Don Masters had ten points, August Joe Lueddecke six, Jimmy Tucker three and J. B. Davis one for Central.

David Abree accounted for seven points for Kate Morrison, five of them on free throws. Mike Zubiate counted four, Manuel Corona three, Jimmy Marin and Frank Paredes two each.

West Ward smashed North, 34-1, to win its first game of the campaign.

Bobby Evans tallied 14 points for the Cowboys, Don Hayward 11 and Homer Hills six.

North Ward scored its lone point in the second period.

College Heights lost to Airport in the other game, 15-10. Charles Gambol and Doug Herbert each registered five points for Airport.

Jimmy Allen hit for three and Don Alfrede and Charles Madry one each.

For College Heights, John Freeman and Rafor Harrison each counted four points and Doyle Crew two.

SA OPENS APRIL 9
NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 15 (AP)—The Southern Association's 154-game baseball season will open April 9 and extend through Sept. 6, association president Charlie Hurth announced today.

Tourney Opens On Feb. 25th
The ninth annual Big Spring Girls' Volley Ball Tournament will be staged Feb. 25-26 this year, almost a month in advance of the time it has been staged in previous seasons.

The big sports carnival, which annually attracts big crowds to Steer Gym, is being moved forward to avoid a conflict in dates with the Texas State Teachers Convention.

Eighteen teams have been invited to compete in the tournament. Lamesa is the defending champion, having beaten a favored Phillips club in last year's finale. Sixteen teams were entered last year but the tournament has had as many as 24 clubs.

Ted Phillips, local business man, will again furnish the trophies for the tournament.

The local girls' volleyball team will open its season around Feb. 14. Four teams are in the Big Spring district this year. The others are Odessa, Midland and Lamesa.

In years past, the district titlist has been decided in a one-day tournament. This team will play a double round-robin schedule this year, however.

Tech Frosh Beat Jayhawks, 72-62

LOOKING 'EM OVER

Ysleta has agreed to visit Big Spring for a football game again in 1954, will meet the Steers on Oct. 1. Coach Carl Coleman is still having a hard time filling his team's card, needs one home and one road game now. He contacted Altus, Okla., which developed a state championship team after losing an early season game to Vernon, but was told its schedule had been filled only recently by a Texas school. Big Spring may be forced to go into AA ranks to complete its card. One reason San Angelo refused to play Big Spring again is, and other AAA schools around the state, are trying to confine their play to their own classification, figuring they gain little prestige by beating AAA teams. Port Neches is something less than an even bet to reach the AAA playoff finals in 1954, though it will have fine material again, because Orange may be forced to return to that classification. Orange does not have the minimum number of scholastics to stay in AAA. Breckenridge will get a trophy, emblematic of its District 1-AAA co-championship in football, the night of Jan. 20, at which time the Buckaroos will be honor guests at a banquet in the American Legion hall there. Supt. W. C. Blankenship of Big Spring will present the award. The seating capacity of the Rose Bowl may be increased to 110,000 (from 100,000) by reducing the seating space for each person from 16 1/2 to 16 inches. Joe Jacobs, a Negro infielder who was assigned to Pat Stasey's Roswell baseball club for a while last season, will get a chance with Oakland of the Pacific Coast League this year.

Coaching 'Pretty Rank', Says Kramer

Catfish Smith may have stepped down a notch in the coaching ranks when he left East Texas State for Longview High School but he probably is getting more money. He was paid only $7,500 annually at Commerce. Odessa's Bronchos will play the same non-conference football foes they met in 1953—Port Arthur, Waco and Highland Park. Waco comes west to meet the Hosses on Sept. 17. The Bronchos averaged 14,117 paid admissions at five home games in 1953. One observer says the reason we can't win back the Davis Cup is that the top athletes ignore tennis for such games as baseball, boxing and football. Jack Kramer blames the United States' disappointing showing in the matches to poor coaching.

Jayhawk Attendance Is Sadly Off

Coach Harold Davis of the HGCJ basketball team is concerned more than a little bit over the slump in attendance of the Jayhawks' home games. Considering the fact that HGCJ is the defending West Zone champion, the public isn't supporting them very well, though the Hawks' record compares favorably with the best jays teams in the state. Davis has just about given up the idea of playing about given up the idea of playing any more Saturday night games. The patrons can always find a lot of excuses for staying away. The "recession" could be only temporary and college officials probably regard it as such, for some members of the board are thinking in terms of adding a balcony to the Jayhawk Gym and increasing the seating capacity to more than 1,000 by the 1954-55 season. Cooper Robbins, Odessa's High School's grid mentor, was given a new Mercury automobile and a check for $1,250 for having led the Bronchos to the state finals last fall. When and if a similar ceremony takes place here, at least four coaches will probably be honored in some way. Where football successes are evaluated, assistant coaches should not be overlooked, as Coach Coleman or most any other head mentor will tell you. Some of the Odessa fans are up in arms, by the way, because Houston Scribe Frank Goddard, a former Amarilloan, stoutly insisted that Carl Schlemeyer was an over-rated ball player. Goddard expressed his opinion in a letter to Patti Powell, the Amarillo writer, and Powell forwarded the letter to Spec Gammon of the Odessa American. If Schlemeyer is over-rated, he's fooled a lot of college scouts, because he's been coming them out of his hat since September. He's one of the most sought-after players in the history of the Texas interscholastic League. If he winds up at Oklahoma University, as is rumored, more than one Southwest Conference coach may commit hari-kari.

Bossio Punished By Sandy Saddler

NEW YORK (AP)—Sandy Saddler, the featherweight champ, goes to Ft. Jay Monday to work out his last three months in the Army. His confidant he still can handle anybody in his division. The lanky 5-foot-7 New Yorker gave little Billy Bossio, a 5-foot-1 halfpint, a solid going over last night in his first start in 22 months. Saddler, sleek at 130 1/2 pounds, stopped Bossio in 2:35 of the ninth round of a non-title go at St. Nicholas Arena after dropping him twice for automatic eight counts in the third and ninth. The second knockdown actually was more of a push than a punch.

Two Gloves Meets To Be Completed

FORT WORTH, Jan. 16 (AP)—Two regional Golden Gloves tournaments in Texas will be completed next week as qualifying for the annual state meet opens. The Fort Worth tournament, which started Friday night with a record entry list of 237, will be completed on Tuesday night. The San Antonio meet will start Monday and run for four nights, finishing on Thursday. The following week, eight other regional events will start, at Waco, Galveston, Amarillo, El Paso, Wichita Falls, Abilene, Corpus Christi and Dallas. The state tournament is scheduled for Feb. 17-22 at Fort Worth.

Founder Dies

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 15 (AP)—One of the founders of the Sugar Bowl sports classic, Harry W. Fletcher, died today at a New Orleans hospital. He was 64.

A&M Presents Sports Awards

COLLEGE STATION, Jan. 16 (AP)—Texas A&M tonight gave its annual sports awards at a banquet. They included: Conrad Magourik, New London, halfback, given the Bert Pfaff Award for best blocker. Don Ellis, DeQuincy, La., and Durwood Scott, Munday, given the Lipscomb Loveless Awards for most valuable players. Norbert Chindorf, Lockhart, tackle, given the A. M. Waldrop Award for most improved lineman. John Salzer of Austin received a new award, the Herb Smith Memorial, given by A. O. and H. E. Nicholson of Dallas to the best little man on the squad. Smith was a small end on A&M's famed football team of 1939. He was killed in World War II.

50-1 Shot Wins Hialeah Inaugural

MIAMI, Fla., Jan. 15 (AP)—Abe Levinson's Tidewater, longest priced horse in the race at nearly 50 to 1, won the Hialeah Inaugural Handicap before a crowd of 23,811 at Hialeah Park today, covering the six furlongs in 1:11.5. Tidewater whipped a classy band of 17 other three-year-olds and upward and paid $103 even, $32.20 and $17.70 in the $2 mutuel. A.H. Bowen's Sweet Vermouth was second, three lengths back, and paid $9.30 and $5.90. Hypbasis was third, a neck behind Sweet Vermouth. Hypbasis paid $7.70. Brookmeade Stable's Dutch Lane was fourth.

Baugh To Continue As H-SU Assistant

HOUSTON, Jan. 16 (AP)—Sammy Baugh, football's all-time passing whiz, will become a Houston insurance executive Feb. 1. Baugh today was named president of the newly-formed Southern Fidelity Life Insurance Co. Linus F. Hardin, chairman of the board of the new company, said Baugh will continue as assistant football coach at Hardin-Simmons University and coach of the rodeo team at the Abilene school. Baugh is to assume his part-time Houston duties Feb. 1. The former Texas Christian University star also is to speak here Jan. 26 at a banquet honoring the Lamar High School football team, Class AAA champions for 1953.

International Meet Begins Wednesday

LAREDO, Jan. 16 (AP)—The annual International Amateur Golf Tournament will begin at Laredo's Casa Blanca Country Club Wednesday, with about 150 golf amateurs from Texas and Mexico competing for the title. Lonnie Wendland of McAllen won the title last year and will be back to defend it. The international cup matches, between golfers from Texas and Mexico, will be held Sunday, Jan. 24.

Laredo To Stage $3,000 Tourney

SAN ANTONIO, Jan. 16 (AP)—Laredo, Tex., became a last minute addition to the winter golf tour Country Club course to be the scene of a $3,000 Laredo Open, Feb. 12-14. Laredo volunteered to fill the blank space on the winter golf tour on short notice after the Tucson Open was dropped by its sponsors. M. P. (Moak) Wilson, of San Antonio, the president of the Winter Golf Sponsors Assn., completed arrangements for the 54-hole medal play tourney.

Knockout Of Imports Aim Of Independents

By MAC ROY RASOR
AUSTIN, Jan. 16 (AP)—Texas Independents on Monday, who have long shaken their heads and fists at oil imports, are getting ready what they hope will be the knockout blow in their battle.

Their goal is to make sure the U. S. reciprocal trade agreement dies on schedule. It expires June 12 unless extended by Congress.

A study being completed by the Texas Independent Producers and Royalty Owners Association will attempt to show such a funeral is the hope of preventing economic disaster both at home and abroad.

Results of the study will be taken to Congress and the public.

TIPRO contends the present trade policy induces the U. S. economy to absorb foreign goods, including oil, to a degree that supplants domestic production.

Such a "solution" to export surpluses, says TIPRO President M. D. Bryant, San Angelo, might very well set off these reactions:

1. Launch a home recession into a world-wide depression, thereby costing exporters far greater home market losses without corresponding market gains abroad.
2. Retard the growth or even undermine completely the relatively few home industries which imports could displace, some of which—like petroleum and chemicals—are essential to national defense.

3. Create disharmony among the allies by usurping disproportionate shares of their markets far greater than any improved relations which might result from granting them indiscriminate access to our home markets.

4. Intensify the already dangerous degree of nationalism among so-called underdeveloped nations by denying them full opportunity to develop or sustain their own industries for meeting their own requirements.

TIPRO contends the most reasonable and safe middle-course answer is to let the Reciprocal Trade Act expire. That would leave in effect current agreements and rates but empower the tariff commission to make changes as required to protect vital home industries.

Such a policy, the independents hold, would protect vital home industries without retarding world trade necessary to the strength of free-world allies.

Spraberry Has Slight Gains In Activity

A slight increase in Spraberry activity was recorded on the Jan. 10 survey of Permian Basin rotary rigs conducted by Reed Roller Bit Company.

But the overall Basin count showed a drop as did the number of rigs in the immediate seven-county area. Number of rotary rigs operating in the Permian basin slipped from 585 on Christmas Day to 458.

A loss of 18 rigs was noted in Howard, Glasscock, Borden, Dawson, Mitchell, Martin and Midland counties, the count going from 64 on Dec. 25 to 46 on Jan. 10.

The huge Spraberry Trend Area of Upton, Midland, Glasscock and Reagan counties had 22 rotary units drilling on Jan. 10 as compared with the 30 on last tabulation.

Howard county still leads this area even though the rig count dropped from 20 to 17 in the two week period.

Midland County's count fell from 18 to 12 in the same time, Borden slipped from 8 to 7, and Glasscock rigs decreased from 8 to 3. Both Martin and Mitchell had two rigs on each count.

Although Reed Roller Bit has made the rig count only once a month lately, a tabulation will be made on the 10th and 25th from now on. Only those rigs active on the day count is made will be tallied.

Other counties and the number of rigs in each with previous tally in parentheses follows:

Andrews, 73 (69); Cochran, 3 (3); Coke, 22 (25); Crane, 17 (20); Crockett, 15 (13); Chaves, 1 (0); Cribbs, 2 (1); Dickens, 0 (1); Ector, 22 (25); Eddy, 1 (8); Gaines, 15 (7); Garza, 8 (5); Hockley, 6 (8); Kent, 14 (13); Lamb, 1 (2); Lea, 88 (97); Lubbock, 4 (1); Loving, 3 (1); Nolan, 4 (4); Pecos, 16 (15); Presidio, 1 (1); Reagan, 11 (9); Reeves, 2 (1); Scurry, 10 (17); Schleicher, 14 (13); Sutton, 4 (8); Tom Green, 5 (4); Terry, 8 (10); Upton, 22 (20); Ward, 8 (8); Winkler, 8 (10); and Yoakum 5 (1).

IPAA Hopeful Of Settlement Without Laws

By CHARLES HASLET
WASHINGTON, Jan. 16 (AP)—The executive committee of the Independent Petroleum Association of America (IPAA) still hopes foreign oil imports will be reduced by voluntary action without legislation.

After a two-day meeting this week in Midland, Tex., the committee issued a statement saying it was "encouraged" by prospects for "settling the issue without legislation."

But the committee said it was ready to reconvene on short notice to discuss legislative action "in event of failure of all other approaches to the problem."

Rep. Saylor (R-Pa) has said he will seek early House committee action on his bill to limit oil imports to 10 per cent of the domestic demand for the similar quarter of the previous year and residual oil imports to five per cent, on the same basis.

The National Coal Assn. and the United Mine Workers have announced support for such legislation, declaring it would help the domestic oil industry.

Some curtailment of oil imports has been announced in recent months by some importing companies. But independent oil operators apparently will be satisfied with nothing less than the curbs proposed in Saylor's bill.

Gasoline stocks are heavy for this time of the year and there have been cuts in domestic production.

In support of its case for reduction of imports, the IPAA has submitted a voluminous report on "U. S. Foreign Trade in Petroleum" to the commission on foreign economic policy, a labor-management group headed by Clarence B. Randall.

The statement of the IPAA executive committee praised President Eisenhower's pledge, in his state of the union message, to recommend a sound program for safeguarding the domestic production of critical and strategic metals and minerals.

As to petroleum, the committee said this was a recognition of the need for "maintaining an adequate domestic supply as sought under the program of this association."

Award Is Made To Plaintiffs

STANTON (SC) — A jury awarded plaintiffs $70,000 Saturday to conclude a damage suit tried in 118th District Court here.

James Cantrell, member of the Midland Fire Department, had petitioned for $227,370.50 as a result of a collision in which his wife, daughter and another person were killed.

After considering 41 issues for nearly four hours, the jury awarded $10,000 to the death of Joyce Maxine Cantrell, 4; $38,000 in the death of Minnie Lee Cantrell, wife of James Cantrell; $20,000 to Jackie Lee Cantrell, 2, another daughter; and $4,000 to Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Applin, parents of Mrs. Cantrell.

Suit was brought against Zephyr Drilling Corporation, a Zephyr truck, was in collision with the car in which Mrs. Cantrell, her daughter and Louis A. Burris, a cousin of Mrs. Cantrell, were killed last Mar. 17 at a highway intersection north of Stanton.

MITCHELL WELL TESTING REEF

A drillstem test is underway this weekend at Wellman, Weiner and DeCleve No. 1-30 Blainville, a wildcat in Mitchell County, about 3 1/2 miles west of Colorado City.

The zone being sampled is between 7,300 and 7,385 in Pennsylvania lime. The hole is bottomed at 7,465. Location of this explorer is 660 from the south and east lines of the southwest quarter of section 39-37, T&P.

Pew Says Import Oil Supplanting Domestic Crude

SIDNEY, Mont., Jan. 16 — The question of how much foreign oil should be imported into the United States has a direct bearing on oil production in the Rocky Mountain area, Jno. G. Pew, Sun Oil Company vice president in charge of production, said here Thursday night.

Speaking before a dinner meeting of the Sidney Chamber of Commerce, Pew said that the area could not be developed as adequately as its prospects warrant until additional crude oil transportation facilities had been provided.

"The judgment of pipe line investors, as to the future adequacy of markets for crude oil from this area cannot help but be colored by the import question," Pew said.

"The crux of the problem," he added, "is that imported oil, produced and transported at less total cost than domestic oil, is encroaching upon the market sorely needed by domestic producers."

Pew said some 15,000 domestic oil producers have reason to fear that the denial of markets to domestic crude oil, because of growing imports, will mean hardship and, in some cases, ruin for them.

As evidence that imported oil is supplanting domestic oil in American markets, Pew noted that even though refineries on the East Coast processed more crude oil in 1953 than in any other postwar year, the amount of domestic crude oil refined in the East "declined again last year from previous high levels."

He said that of the total crude oil being run by major refineries on the East Coast, about 60 per cent is foreign crude.

Few domestic producers, he said, are opposed to all imports. What they desire is that "a spirit of fair play be practiced."

"If that spirit is established, domestic production will regain its health."

Seaboard Completes Producer In S'East Dawson Reef Pool

Seaboard Oil Company of Delaware added another producer to Dawson County's Spraberry West (Pennsylvanian) Field this week-end with the completion of its No. 3 M. J. Peterson.

Potential flow through a 16-64th inch casing from an open hole zone in the Pennsylvanian was 423 barrels of oil and no water. The 5 1/2-inch casing was set at pay top, 8,093 feet, and the total depth was 8,145 feet. Gas-oil ratio was 359-1 and gravity measured 40.4 degrees. Tubing pressure was 400 pounds.

The No. 3 Peterson is located on a 423-67 acre lease about a half mile south of Midway.

Seaboard also spotted its No. 1 L. T. Middleton this weekend as a wildcat location some four miles southeast of Arvanna. It will be drilled by rotary to 4,500 feet, starting at one foot. Drillsite is 1,980 from north and west lines, 1-35-6n, T&P survey.

Other Dawson County ventures were reportedly drilling ahead. Carlton Deal No. 1 J. H. Adkins, C NW SE 20-35-6n, T&P survey, is making hole at 9,513 feet in black shale. Location is three miles southwest of Lamesa.

R. J. Carraway No. 1 T. A. Loe, 660 from north and west lines, labur 12, league 3, Munger subdivision, is boring below 10,239 feet in lime. This wildcat is about nine miles northwest of Lamesa.

In Borden County a test is scheduled at Russell McGuire No. 1 H. D. Deal, wildcat some 13 miles southwest of Gall. Operator is now acidizing perforations in the casing between 7,558 and 7,597 feet.

"Making hole" was the report issued on all other projects of which the operators could be contacted.

Texas Company No. 1-AR State, C NE SE 17-7-University survey, in Martin County, got down to 10,872 feet in lime and shale. This project is in the Block 7 (Devonian) formation.

In the Oceanic (Pennsylvanian) Field of Howard County, Wellman and Texas No. 1-36 Mildred Jones was reportedly down to 3,400 feet in lime. Location is about two miles northwest of Vealmoor on a 40 acre lease. Drillsite is C NE NE NW, 36-33-3n, T&P survey.

Texas Pacific Coal and Oil No. 1 J. O. Hamey, 1,694 from north and 2,842 from east lines, 14-32-2n, T&P survey, hit 6,668 feet in lime this weekend. This project, along with those to follow is in the Luther area near the recent Silluro-Devonian discovery well.

Texas Pacific Coal and Oil No.

1 E. N. Phipps, C NE NE, 10-32-2n, T&P survey, is drilling at 5,120 feet in lime and shale. Texas Pacific Coal and Oil No. 1-B Spencer, C SW SW, 11-32-2n, T&P survey, reached 7,575 feet in lime and shale. And the same firm's No. 1-C Spencer, C SW SE, 11-32-2n, T&P survey, got down to 8,205.

Magnolia To Build Line From Corsicana To Gulf

A new 208-mile, 20-inch crude oil pipe line with an initial pumping capacity of 122,000 barrels daily will be built by Magnolia Pipe Line Company from Corsicana to Beaumont, according to an announcement made Saturday by L. H. Truse, company president.

Plans and specifications for the line are being prepared now, and construction is due to begin during the second quarter of the year. It will require six months to complete.

The line will run direct between the two cities and cross the Trinity River 10 miles south of Oakwood, and then pass near the towns of Crockett, Livingston and Sour Lake.

Pipe for the new line has been bought and delivery is now being made. Right-of-way is being surveyed and purchased. Meter installations will be made at Beaumont where oil delivered to Magnolia's refinery there will be measured by automatic metered instruments instead of by tank gauging. Six 122,500-barrel tanks with connecting pipe lines will be built at the refinery.

New pumping equipment will be installed at Corsicana, together with necessary tank farm lines and two new 120,000-barrel tanks. Plans are being drawn so the pumping capacity of the line can be ultimately increased to 165,000 barrels of oil per day by constructing an additional pump station on the line.

Simpson Is Elected By Cancer Society

Dick Simpson, rancher of Big Spring and Borden County, has been elected to the state executive committee of the American Cancer Society, Texas division.

He was named to the state board at a meeting of the society in Austin Saturday, and in this position shares in the general policy and planning activity of the organization's program to curb cancer.

Simpson has served as a district chairman and state director. He has been active for some time in affairs of the Cancer Society, helped direct its work in this area and conduct finance campaigns.

Pan-Am Firm Shifts Man

Several organizational changes in the Pan American Production Company's Exploration Department have been announced by E. R. Turner, president.

William B. Rodan, who has been district geologist at Abilene, in charge of Pan American's exploratory activities in West Texas, has been transferred to Houston to fill the newly created post of assistant superintendent of the exploration department. Rodan is a University of Texas graduate and entered the company's employ as a geologist in 1946 in the West Texas District.

Coincident with Rodan's appointment in the Houston office, Jack H. Hendrickson, who since 1949 has been employed as a geologist in Pan American's Abilene office, has been promoted to district geologist for West Texas and the Abilene area. Hendrickson also received his degree in geology from the University of Texas.

Ray E. Fairchild, who was employed by Pan American as a geologist following his graduation from the University of Missouri in 1950, has been transferred from Abilene to Houston, where he will devote his efforts to research and special problems.

GAS STRONGER

Sunray Officials Foresee Good Business This Year

TULSA, Jan. 16 — The production and sales of natural gas will show the biggest gains in Sunray Oil Corporation's 1953 operating report, the statistics for which are now being compiled in a year-end audit, the company's directors were informed here today at their regular quarterly meeting.

Sunray's total production of crude oil and liquid products from field plants and not daily refinery runs will hold approximately even with 1952 figures.

Sunray's long-term policy has been a conservation of its gas reserves and 1953 sales increases will reflect initial deliveries at peak prices of gas from the company's leases in the Red Fish Bay and Mustang oil fields of Nueces County, Texas. In other sections of Texas production areas Sunray's sales contracts had escalation clauses effective during 1953 which materially increased the selling price of its natural gas produced. Further improvement in the gas price is seen for the first quarter.

It was reported that while generally heavy inventories of gasoline have depressed demand, most of Sunray's production of this product is on long-term contract and is moving to market satisfactorily. The cold weather of this week has stimulated movement of liquid pe-roleum gas. The company's sales of No. 6 fuel oil is moving as rapidly as its refineries can manufacture this product.

"We are not at all pessimistic about oil industry business conditions in 1954, although our operating policy must be more realistic than ever in the face of the changing production and refining problems which confront the oil industry at this time," C. H. Wright, chairman, and W. C. Whaley, president, declared in a joint statement.

"Our management policy will be to watch every operating cost during 1954 in an endeavor to maintain the company's economy on an even level in view of the obvious leveling off from war-time high conditions which never were normal," they said. Despite stringent reductions in crude oil production in the proration states, the company's discovery and development of wildcat and semi-proven acreage, and increased production of water flood and repressured older leases helped the net crude production for the year. An aggressive drilling program has been mapped.

The company's directors declared a regular quarterly dividend of 3 cents per share on the company's common stock to be paid March 20 to shareholders of record February 5. The quarterly dividend on the company's 4 1/2 percent cumulative preferred stock, series A, will be paid at the rate of 26 9/16 cents per share on April 1 to shareholders of record March 10 and the regular quarterly dividend on Sunray's second preferred stock, amounting to 2 7/8 cents per share, will be paid on March 1 to shareholders of record February 5.

'Alamo Platoon' Has Openings

Applications for membership in Texas' second "Alamo Platoon" still are being accepted, T-Sgt. Wes Ward, Marine recruiting representative in the San Angelo district, has announced.

The 150-man platoon will leave Jan. 28 to start Marine Corps training. All members of the unit will take initial training together, said Sgt. Ward.

The first Alamo Platoon started its training in July, 1953, and made such an outstanding record that the new unit was authorized, according to the recruiting representative. The new platoon will carry a special flag and will compete through basic training with similar units from other states.

Special ceremonies have been planned to mark departure of the new all-Texas platoon. The program will be held on the plaza before the Alamo in San Antonio.

Additional information may be secured from Marine recruiters who visit Big Spring each Tuesday afternoon and Wednesday.

Burglaries Are Admitted By Youth

An 11-year-old lad has admitted breaking into two local establishments and pilfering small amounts of cash.

Juvenile Officer Shorty Long said Saturday that the boy told him he had broken into the Cosden Station No. 1 at 804 E. 3rd twice during the past week, the last time at midnight Friday. His mother confirmed that he did not get home until after midnight.

He also told the juvenile officer that he had entered the ante-room at Miller Pig Station and made away with money in the boxes left on newspaper racks. The money was recovered said Long. Investigation will continue Monday.

The Lyric Theatre, 110 East 3rd, was also burglarized here Friday night, authorities said. The youth was not involved, however. Money was taken from the theatre cold drink dispensation machine.

Roberts Tract Gets Test In Midland

A wildcat oil well location has been spotted on the Dora Roberts Ranch in Southwest Midland County by the Forest Oil Corporation and the Cities Production Corporation. It is the No. 1-C-4 Dora Roberts.

The prospector will be the first ever drilled on the 20,000 acre ranch, which had reportedly never even seen seismograph work until leased last year for an estimated five million dollars.

The wildcat will be drilled to 13,500 feet for a test of the Ellenburger. Drillsite is 1,980 from north and east lines, 46-41-3s, T&P survey. Operations will be by rotary.

Actually the location is only a half mile southwest of Warren No. 2 Sanders, recently completed discovery well of the Warren (Pennsylvanian) Field. But since the No. 1-C-4 Roberts will test the Ellenburger, it is a wildcat.

Forest Oil and Cities Service Oil Company obtained a five-year oil and gas lease on the Dora Roberts Ranch in mid-1953. When the announcement was made Aug. 13, unofficial sources said a cash bonus of approximately $5,000,000 was paid.

The terms of the lease, required the two companies to drill an Ellenburger wildcat "in the near future." The No. 1-C-4 is that wildcat.

The ranch extends along the west line of Midland County, with part being in Ector County. It is about 10 miles long, north and south, and approximately three miles wide, east and west.

Ranch land is on a line between the Pegasus-Sweetie Peck multipay area in Southwest Midland and Northwest Upton and the Park Halliland in Central West Midland County and the Headlee in Central East Ector County.

The lease covers sections 3-4-5-9-10-16-17-18 - 19-20-21-22-29 - 30-32-34-40-42-44-45-46 and the west part of 37, all in block 41, township 3-south, T&P survey, plus sections 42 and 43 in block 41, township 3-south T&P survey, and section 6, block 41, township 3-south in Ector County.

Knowland Predicts Senate Will Pass Treaty-Limit Amendment

By JACK BELL.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 16 (AP)—Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) predicted today the Senate will approve some sort of constitutional amendment redefining treaty-making powers.

Knowland, the Senate Republican leader, said he expects to know by next Tuesday whether administration leaders can reach a compromise with Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio) on an amendment which President Eisenhower has criticized as restricting his authority to deal with other nations.

The Bricker proposal would amend the Constitution to prevent treaties from overriding domestic law and would give Congress authority to "regulate" presidential executive agreements.

It was understood that if such attempts fail, Knowland, Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich.) and other GOP leaders will try to draft a middle-of-the-road substitute which Eisenhower might not find entirely to his liking but could accept.

This would be offered in the Senate as an alternative to the Bricker proposal from among the 60 senators who have permitted their names to be attached as co-authors with Bricker of the resolution.

Administration leaders apparently think they can get enough Democratic support, along with the few Republicans openly opposing Bricker, to muster enough votes to substitute their version for the Ohioan's.

states. The amendment would become effective only after it was ratified by three-fourths of the state legislatures.

It was the understanding in administration circles that President Eisenhower is determined to go to the country by radio and television to urge support for his position if it is not likely to adopt the leadership substitute.

Even if he lost the fight in the Senate, Eisenhower's friends believe they might have a trump card in the House, where 60 of the GOP members in politically doubtful districts have been welded into something of an Eisenhower bloc.

ONE MOMENT PLEASE

Never has there been a time when (The Dollar Being What It Is), You could buy so much transportation for so little money. There's a terrific GAP between the new car price and that of a year or two old USED CAR.

The depreciation has been taken in heaped up proportions by the NEW CAR buyer. Which gets us up to you, the USED CAR BUYER, and your status.

1953 Models at exceptionally high DISCOUNTS.
1952 Models at more than 1-3 OFF NEW PRICE.
1951 Models at less than 1/2 PRICE.

These cars are exceptionally clean—USED but not ABUSED models with thousands of trouble FREE miles left.

Workers Order Lodge Is Ruled Front For Reds

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16 (AP)—The International Workers Order, Inc., an insurance and fraternal organization claiming 100,000 members, was ordered today to register with the Justice Department as a Communist front.

The order was issued by the Subversive Activities Control Board at the request of the Justice Department, which moved for a default judgment on the ground the IWO several times had failed to appear in its own defense.

The organization, which has about 1,700 local lodges throughout the country, contended it could not defend itself because a New York state court had denied it authority to retain counsel.

It was the SACB's first order directing an organization to register as a Communist front under the Internal Security Act of 1950. The Communist party itself has been ordered to register but has appealed to the courts to reverse the board and to declare the act unconstitutional.

Registration proceedings have been revoked by Justice Henry Clay Greenburg of the New York State Supreme Court on the ground it was Communist dominated. The New York superintendent of insurance, Alfred J. Bohlinger, was placed in charge of its affairs pending transfer of its insurance accounts to a commercial firm.

In today's order, the SACB denied a petition by five IWO officers, who were ousted by Bohlinger on Dec. 15, for permission to intervene.

John Abt, attorney for the group, said in advance that he would appeal if the petition was denied.

Coty Installed Amid Silence

PARIS, Jan. 16 (AP)—France installed Rene Coty today as President of the republic for a seven-year term with a giant show that was an artistic success but failed to arouse much public enthusiasm.

Almost all the capital's dignitaries turned out for the brief ceremony at the Elysee Palace, the French White House, and for a reception at the Paris City Hall. But lots of Parisians showed no great interest.

During the day Coty made five separate trips through the city in an open car. From a thin line of spectators gathered along the routes came a few cries of "Viva Coty" and "Viva le President." There was no massed cheering.

A 71-year-old Independent Republican lawyer and statesman elected by Parliament Dec. 23, Coty succeeds Socialist Vincent Auriol, 69, as the figurehead chief of state.

In a short speech upon assuming the presidency, Coty praised Auriol as the director of "a national renaissance."

"If the work is not yet completed," he said, "a magnificent effort at least has been made. To continue the effort, I am counting on our ardent and courageous youth."

Red Scientists Say Earth's Core Rock

LONDON, Jan. 16 (AP)—The Moscow radio said today Soviet scientists have found the core of the earth is rock, thereby exploding a common theory it's iron.

An English-language broadcast pointed out that "it is only under the weight of the upper strata of the earth that the rock-like matter of the core assumes new qualities and acquires the density of iron."

Boris Levin, a top-flight researcher in geophysics at the Soviet Academy of Sciences, said in the broadcast that the structure of meteorites is the same as that of the earth.

Bermuda has about 300 islands with about the same total land area as that in Manhattan.

Change In Anti-Red T-H Procedure Urged

By ROWLAND EVANS Jr.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16 (AP)—Closed-door hearings on alleged Communist infiltration of some labor unions have started before a Senate subcommittee, with indications that some top union officials will be heard publicly within the next few weeks.

The subcommittee, headed by Sen. Butler (R-Md.), is studying a bill Butler introduced last year which would erase the non-Communist affidavit section from the Taft-Hartley law and turn over to the Subversive Activities Control Board the job of identifying Communist-led labor unions.

President Eisenhower referred to this bill in his 14-point Taft-Hartley revision program sent to Congress last week. He recommended that the requirement for non-Communist affidavits, which now applies only to union officials, be extended to employers also. Then the President added: "Specific proposals for legislation dealing with Communist infiltration generally are now under study. If such legislation is enacted, making the Communist disclaimer provisions of the act unnecessary, I then will recommend that they be entirely eliminated."

In addition to Butler, the subcommittee is composed of Sens. Walker (R-Idaho) and McCarran (D-Nev.). On Friday it took testimony from Robert N. Denham, former general counsel of the National Labor Relations Board. Denham was reported to have urged quick action by Congress along the lines suggested by Butler's bill.

In a statement today, Butler said he is being attacked by "many representatives of labor" as "anti-labor" and that his bill is being portrayed as a scheme to "destroy trade unions."

Butler said neither of these charges is true. He went on: "Extensive material has been developed by the Congress which conclusively establishes that, by capturing strategic posts in certain labor organizations, the Communists pose a dagger at the heart of our industrial system and have a key to the inner recesses of our defense establishments."

He said Communist infiltration of labor unions involves "an overriding question of national security" which requires "the combined efforts of the American free labor movement, the public at large and adequate legal machinery in proper hands" to control.

The SACB would make a preliminary investigation of any charge that a union "is substantially directed, dominated or controlled" by any individuals, whether officers or not, who are or ever have been Communist party members or who have "consistently aided, supported or in any manner contributed to or furthered the activities of such organizations."

If the hearing supported the charge, the suspension of bargaining rights would become permanent and the NLRB would hold an immediate representation election among the employees involved. Presumably, they would elect a new bargaining agent. At least, that is the aim of the bill.

Meanwhile, the work contract in effect between the employee and management, fixing hours and wages and other conditions of employment, would continue in full force. An appeal from the SACB ruling would be taken to the U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

Brewing Company Forms Sales Area

MILWAUKEE, Jan. 16 (AP)—The Miller Brewing Co. announced today formation of a Southwest sales district made up of Texas and Oklahoma.

Edward T. Stoddard, former Texas state manager, has been named to head the new district, with offices in Dallas.

members or who have "consistently aided, supported or in any manner contributed to or furthered the activities of such organizations."

Attend dedication and open house ceremonies of Howard County' pride... the new courthouse at 2:00 p.m. today.

D.A.'S SECRETARY—Mrs. Bonnie Franklin (above) is secretary and office assistant to District Attorney Elton Gilliland. She's finding that filing is a good deal easier with adequate storage in the new courthouse.

They Really Appreciate The New Courthouse

Howard County's new courthouse, being dedicated today, is a matter of pride with all the citizenry; but those who really appreciate it the most are the people who work there. This includes the charming young secretaries, clerks and deputies who spend all their laboring hours in the offices. Time was when they had crowded, drafty, ill-arranged and generally unsatisfactory space. Now they are reveling in the brand-newness of a modern building, well lighted and ventilated, finely equipped and furnished, with all the luxuries of the truly modern office building. Meet some of the young ladies who particularly are enjoying the new courthouse.

WITH COUNTY ATTORNEY—Mrs. James (Marylene) Weir serves as secretary to County Attorney Hartman Hooser, and, at right, prepares to take dictation on official matters. 'Tis a far, far better office that Mrs. Weir has in the new building.

JUDGE'S AIDE—Mrs. William E. (Joan) Hood (above) is secretary to County Judge R. H. Weaver, and also handles stenographic matters for the Commissioners' Court. These officials have commodious offices in the southwest corner of the second floor of the new courthouse.

Before America Was Discovered?
This tall and intricately carved cabinet may have been built before Columbus discovered America in 1492. It is a product of 15th century French furniture-making. Note the small chair at right with its hand-tooled leather and graceful carving. The furniture is in the home of Mrs. Manley Cook, 1611 Main.

Museum Might Envy Local Dining Room

Eating from a 500-year-old dining table is no rarity for Mrs. Manley Cook. She has an entire set of ornate dining room furniture not a day less than five centuries old. The imposing dark oak grouping came from France and was in the same family until it was purchased in 1952 by Mrs. Cook's daughter, Mrs. James Shaffer, who was in Europe with her serviceman husband.

The former owner was a French woman whose home had been occupied by the Nazis in World War II. She sold her furniture to pay for remodeling her home. Although Mrs. Cook is not quite sure what style the furniture is, a little encyclopedia research revealed that her French antiques probably were made during a period of remarkable progress in the furniture craft. Probably it is Gothic style since that motif ruled supreme in the designs of French furniture up to the 16th Century. Articles of furniture previous to 1500 are very rare.

There are nine pieces to the set—a huge china cabinet, a table, a dessert bar (a kind of buffet) and six small chairs with hand-tooled leather backs and seats. The table, Mrs. Cook told us, will extend to banquet size making it almost as wide as her dining room. The china cabinet is almost ceiling high.

The pieces have kept their age well, indicating that they have had good care. Mrs. Cook has a large collection of china from Europe including

Students Hear Talk About Marine Life
FORSAN—Capt. Paul Dry, a merchant marine of many years service, gave a talk about marine life at school assembly. Awards were presented to winners of an essay contest on Americanism that had been sponsored by the Forsan Study Club. Winners were Dwaine Balte, first grade; Patrick Honeycutt, third grade; Jackie Whetsel, fourth grade; Michael Huchton, fifth grade, and Nan Holliday, high school.

Joe Holliday, school superintendent, is taking the census for the coming year's enrollment. Mr. and Mrs. Dan Furse attended funeral services in Hobbs, N.M., for Dan Topping, one of the superintendents for the Amerasia Oil Co. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Philley and baby were recent Abilene visitors.

Service Club To Have Ladies Night
FORSAN — A ladies night was planned for Feb. 11 as an annual affair by the Forsan Service Club at a meeting Thursday night. The special night will be given in the form of a dinner or banquet. C. C. Brunton presided. About 20 attended.

R. L. Bowman, pastor of the Forsan Methodist Church, will give the benediction today to close the open house at the dedication of the new county courthouse in Big Spring. Dan Hayhurst is home from Wichita Falls for the weekend with his parents. He has as his guest J. D. Lamer of Wichita Falls. Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Long of Blackwell were here recently visiting Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Long.

CAMPUS CHATTER

By Cecil Niblett

The Lass-O club entertained with a covered dish supper and square dance in the SUB Friday night. Both the Agriculture and Lass-O members had a very enjoyable time.

The Jayhawks met the Tech freshmen in a practice game Saturday night in Lubbock. They lost their first conference game Thursday night to Odessa with a score of 68 to 57. There to back the Hawks were: Jann Bailey, Rose Lawson, Frances McClain, Margie McDougle, Mary Ann Moore, Becca Sewell, Myrna Talley, Bobbie Jamison and Leon Sparkman.

Next Thursday night the third movie in the series of movies planned for the students by the college will be shown. First choice: "Young Man with a Horn," Kirk Douglas; second choice: "With a Song in My Heart," Susan Hayward and third: "Yellow Sky," with Gregory Peck.

Postponed due to weather conditions, the flight sponsored by the Agriculture Club will be scheduled for Wednesday morning. Taking the flight are: Elvon DeVaney, Henry Hicks, Elmore, Donald Denton, Benny Welch, Becca Sewell and Margie McDougle.

The ag. department weather stations report the first measurable rainfall for 1954: 39 hundredths of an inch was received here Thursday night.

Tuesday afternoon the agriculture class journeyed to Fishers Fowl Farm where they saw hens-in-cage egg producing operation. The class gathered the days' eggs and by mechanical process the eggs were washed, candled and assorted. This is another of the field trips conducted by the ag. dept. to points of interest in Howard County which will familiarize students with the latest agriculture activity.

The bacteriology class surprised Bruce Frazier with a birthday party Monday night. The class presented Mr. Frazier with a sport shirt and afterward the group had coffee and cake with Mrs. Hale. "Down to the Sea in Ships," an assembly was presented to the student body Thursday morning. Capt. Paul Dry explained different gadgets that made us feel that the life of a sailor was a very exciting one indeed.

The second shipment of the "Jay-hawker" was sent to press this week. Pictures of the different clubs and organizations will be shot this week to meet future deadlines. Coffee and cake will be sold to the night classes Monday for the March of Dimes. Everyone, support the March of Dimes!

Child Study Club Hears Two Topics
"The Nervous Jittery Woman," presented by Mrs. Woodrow Dowling and "Accepting Parents' Responsibility," by Mrs. W. H. Bain were the subjects making up the program for the Child Study Club in the home of Mrs. R. E. McCure Jr.

Mrs. Wayland Yates was co-hostess. Mrs. Bain reported on the March of Dimes progress. Several club members were to have helped make collections on Saturday. Refreshments were served to 13 members.

WMS Makes Plans For Focus Week
FORSAN—Plans for Focus Week were made by the WMS of the Baptist Church at a recent meeting and Bible study.

In keeping with Focus Week, which is an enrollment week, members drew love partners from a board of partially dissected hearts. Each member will visit a prospective member and invite her to the Focus Week program. If the person attends, the broken heart will be mended. The visitation arrangement was presented by Mrs. Carl Tipple, program chairman. Nine attended.

Socorro Puga Weds In Morning Rites

Socorro Puga, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Puga, 509 N. Main, became the bride of A-3C Praxedis Valenzuela of Kingsville in a formal ceremony Saturday morning at Sacred Heart Catholic Church.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Santos Valenzuela of Kingsville. The Rev. B. A. Wagner O.M.I., read the marriage ritual and celebrated the Nuptial Mass at 8:30 a.m.

The altar was decorated with white gladioli. Sister Monica was organist and accompanied Alfonso Marin and Lydia Corral, who sang "Ave Maria" by Rossini.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a white lace gown styled with Peter Pan collar and long sleeves. She carried white gardenias.

Mrs. Ruben Marquez was matron of honor and Jeanie Everett and Concepcion Subia were maids of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Nettie Puga, Emma Puga, Mary Lou Garcia, Marcela Gonzalez and Elodia Zubiate.

Ruben Marquez was best man. Groomsmen were Fred Puga, Charles Perra and Rafael Gonzalez. Teleforo Perra and Nonato Holguin ushered. Judy Aleman was flower girl and Norma Lee Puga was ring bearer. Acolytes were Jesus Molina and Emiliano Perra.

A reception was held in the home of the bride's parents. The bride's table was centered with an arrangement of carnations. Mrs. D. M. Leyva and Mrs. Lupe Soto assisted.

For a wedding trip to Kingsville the bride wore a grey suit. The couple will live in Big Spring, where the bridegroom is stationed at Webb Air Force Base.

Judge Weaver Talks On Responsibility
"Another 'R' should be added to the basic 3-Rs taught to today's children—'R' for responsibility," Judge R. H. Weaver reminded members of the College Heights P-TA at a recent meeting.

In discussing civic responsibility Judge Weaver said that civic responsibility and duties as well as rights and privileges should be instilled in a child at an early age. Mrs. Patricia Butts' third grade room presented a musical program, "The Gingerbread Man," with Janice Harrell as announcer. Mrs. Butts' room won the room count. Fifty-five attended.

Book On Minister's Life Is Reviewed
Mrs. J. D. Benson reviewed "No Trumpet Before Him" by Nelle Gardner at a meeting of the Home-makers Sabbath School Class of the First Christian Church. The group met in the church parlor.

The book is a biography telling the story of a minister and his triumph over the gossip and slander of his church. Mrs. N. C. Beil presided and Mrs. Benson led the opening prayer. Mrs. W. W. Inkman and Mrs. A. V. Karcher were hostesses. Fifteen attended.

BLACK FACE T V

IS BEST FOR YOU—IS EASIER TO WATCH!

HERE'S WHY!
Blacker Blacks!
Softer Whites!
With Less Glare!

There is nothing in any TV set to create black. Black is only the absence of light on a TV picture tube when the beam is turned off. That black can be no darker than the face of the set when it is turned off. On a G-E TV set . . . the set with the black face . . . you get blacker blacks because the face of the set is black.

With blacker blacks to start with you get sharper, clearer pictures without high brilliance . . . you can turn down your brilliance without "washing out" your blacks . . . you do NOT need glaring whites to give good contrast.

DATE DATA

By Beverly Brandow

Wolves Are Problems Not Much In Demand

It was a first date, you confide to your trusted diary. You tried hard to make the evening right even to blowing your whole allowance for some heavenly cologne. You were scared and crossed your fingers that the evening would go smoothly without any little hitches or throw your shaky self-confidence completely off balance. But, as fate would have it, things turned out like real life instead of well plotted fiction. The dilemma, horns and all, presented itself and you, without the aid of an author to put clever, appropriate words in your mouth, goot.

out embarrassing him or in any way jeopardizing his self-respect. If you're not quick with a fancy answer to head him back into a lighter vein of conversation, accept the fact and don't flounder about in a nervous effort. A simple, forthright explanation of how you feel about making a game of love and playing it with every stranger, will do just as well. If he pulls off the road to park, or if, in front of your house his arm slides around your shoulders, announce, in a clear, distinct voice, "Whoo there!" As you take his arm away, give his hand a warm meaningful squeeze that assures him you are not shocked or furious. "I'm about to save you some time and trouble," tell him. "You're wondering if I'm 'that kind' I'm not, any more than you are nor am I inhibited, repressed, or Victorian. It's just that we haven't known each other long enough or well enough for a real friendship to have had a chance to develop. Let's not make a mockery out of something holy and beautiful by mixing it up with counterfeit emotions. I don't blame you for wanting to see what sort of a girl I am. Now that you know, how about coming in for some ice cream?" If he accepts, find out what cookie or cake is his favorite and casually remark, "I'll have to make it for you sometime." Before he leaves be sure to tell him again what a fine time you've had. Be original by complimenting him on something like his dancing, his neatness, or his easy line of chatter. All of this will let him know you have forgiven and forgotten his blunder and he still stands not mean pet with him, however. Your job? Set him straight with-

He Knows Beauty

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Director Lists Items Of 'Feminine Appeal'

By LYDIA LANE
HOLLYWOOD — Motion picture director Jean Negulesco is one of Hollywood's most gifted and versatile personalities. He has won recognition as a painter, writer and connoisseur of beauty. That he admires and understands women is reflected in all of his pictures, particularly his latest, "How to Marry a Millionaire."

quality," Negulesco added, "is not charming." But regardless of his mood, Jean confessed he is always attracted by a basic honesty. "To be truthful, I find infinitely more appealing than an attempt to be sophisticated and poised. Pretense is sheer stupidity, an insensitivity to values and this I have no patience with. Truthfulness is one of the most important parts of beauty." "Tell me more," I insisted. "We mustn't forget to mention the charm of a soft voice," he said.

FOR MORE BEAUTY

Every reader will want a copy of Lydia Lane's new booklet, "1954 Diary For Beauty." Handsomely printed and featuring autographs and photographs of your favorite stars, the booklet is crammed with vital information on make-up, diet, complexion, exercise, etc. Included in the booklet, too, are such important items as care of the hair written by Ava Gardner, a plan for staying young by Irene Dunne and a workable plan to keep your hands beautiful by Donna Reed. These plus many other subjects are covered in the booklet.

Get YOUR copy of "1954 Diary For Beauty" by sending ten cents (10 cents) AND a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Lydia Lane, Hollywood Beauty, in care of The Big Spring Herald.

HI--TALK

By Libby Jones

Well, girls, you'd better start saving your money because Twirp Week (The Woman Is Required To Pay) starts tomorrow and will end Saturday night with the annual Twirp Week dance. By the way, the proceeds will go to the March of Dimes. Something new has been added this year, too. The Student Council is sponsoring a date bureau for Twirp Week. The bureau will be located in the foyer between 8:30 and 9:00 a.m., 12:15 and 1:00 p.m. and during the sixth period. Boys who want a date will stop by the bureau and fill out a name, address and phone number. Girls who want a date and don't know whom to ask, simply stop by the bureau and look over the list of eligible names.

Benefit Ball Slated For March Of Dimes

A return to the era of the President's Birthday Ball is in store for Big Spring, as plans are under way for a special benefit dance for the March of Dimes program.

This function will be at the Settles Hotel on the night of Jan. 28, and the sponsoring organization, the 1905 Hyperion Club, will publicize it as one of the season's major social affairs.

Admission to the dance will be only $1 per person. The Settles ballroom, and Joe Williamson's organization is contributing the orchestra is making a special price concession. "We expect a great sum to be turned over to our local polio fund from this affair," said Mrs. Obie Bristow general chairman of the project.

She announced that 30 couples are to be named to serve as special hosts and hostesses for the affair. Tickets for the dance will be available this week for general distribution.

Back in the '30s, when the National Polio Foundation first started its fund raising activities through the leadership of the late Franklin D. Roosevelt, the President's Birthday Balls were standout functions. People danced that others might walk and the affairs gathered extensive support.

"We hope to see a return of this idea," said Mrs. Bristow, "and hope that a great number of people will join in the social occasion, not only for their own enjoyment, but principally in the name of a good cause."

FRIEDA GAPPA

DRESS PARADE

A "must" in the wardrobe of any young career girl is a many-occasion costume. A tan suit of burlap weave with a nubby finish fills the requirement very attractively for Frieda Gappa.

The jacket has three-quarter length sleeves with cuffs that run back. Stand-out pockets at the hip-line give a nipped-in look to the waist. Miss Gappa likes to wear brown accessories and a medalion necklace with the suit.

Evelyn Arnold looked smartly casual when she was hostess for a sorority meeting. With a straight black wool skirt she wore a black wool jersey blouse styled with three-quarter length sleeves. The collar glittered with silver sequins, pearls and rhinestones and her jewelry was dangling rhinestone earrings.

When Trainmen Ladies received an official visit from a state officer, Mrs. C. Spears chose a striking gold and black color combination for her ensemble. With a black wool suit she wore a high-necked gold colored blouse. Her earrings and necklace were bronze and her accessories black.

The focal point of the costume Mrs. H. J. Rogers wore was her grey crocheted hat, her own creation, styled with a flat crown and turned-up bill. The bill was trimmed with rhinestones and pearls to match the trim on the lapels and turn-back cuffs of her grey jacket. Her bag, also original, was crocheted in blue in a cylindrical shape. Bright accents to her navy blue dress were her matching bow-shaped pin and earrings.

Officers Installed By Two Lodges

Mrs. Thelma Braune was installed noble grand of Rebekah Lodge 284 and Joe Roberts noble grand of Mullins Lodge 372 in a joint ceremony at IOOF Hall recently.

Other Rebekah officers installed were Mrs. Bonnie Phillips, Mrs. Evelyn Rogers, Mrs. Sue Neilson, Mrs. Lucille Havens, Mrs. Beulah Morrison, Mrs. Eula Pond, Mrs. Julia Wilkerson, Mrs. Lorena Hainey, Mrs. Audrey Cain, Mrs. Julia Hewitt, Mrs. Ruth Wilson, Mrs. Della Herring, Mrs. Nannie Adkins, Mrs. Judy Kebrer, Mrs. Amanda Hughes, Mrs. Lucille Thomas, Mrs. Alma Crenshaw, Mrs. Rosa Lee Gilliland, Mrs. Jewel Rayburn and Mrs. Barbara Ervin.

Other Mullins Lodge officers installed were Walter Braune, Ernie Kebrer, Luther Coleman, Jack Jones, J. A. Shipley, Eugene Thomas, Leon Cain, A. C. Wilkerson, Bart Hayworth, Charlie Campbell, Charlie Boland and Earl Wilson.

Refreshments were served to 60 members and five visitors.

set with blue stones in white gold. Red was the color Mrs. W. E. Rayburn chose for accessories for her fitted navy blue suit. She wore red shoes and gloves and a red blouse. Her necklace and earrings were set with blue rhinestones.

Mrs. C. W. Nevins carried a bag made by herself of navy corday trimmed with red and white beads. She wore a classic navy fustle suit and her jewelry was gold set with rhinestones and sparkling blue stones.

Amber beading trimmed the hat Mrs. C. L. Lumpkins wore with her brown suit and was repeated in the amber stones of her earrings. Brown lizard shoes and bag and brown gloves were her accessories.

Class Plans Book Review

Mrs. W. A. Hunt will review Garth's "The Everlasting Arms," a book with a religious theme, Feb. 9 at the First Methodist Church. The event will be sponsored by the Philathea Class and admission will be $1.

Last year the class sponsored a review by Mrs. Hunt of "The Silver Chalice."

Plans were made at a class meeting in the church parlor. Mrs. F. Dorsey and her group were hostesses for a buffet dinner. Mrs. J. T. Baird gave the invocation.

Mrs. Ruby Martin gave the devotion, "Discriminate, Eliminate and Consecrate" (Josh. 24:15, Matt. 6:33) on how to begin the new year.

Mrs. E. M. Keese presided and gave the benediction. About 25 attended.

Broiled Dinner Shown

Sue Newman demonstrated the preparation of a broiled dinner for the Luther Home Demonstration Club Thursday in the home of Mrs. Jim Ziks. Eleven attended. Mrs. Brady was welcomed as a new member.

Officer Of Texas Lodge Visits Here

Mrs. Beulah Pfannkuche, past grand president of Texas Lodge, Trainmen Ladies, made an official visit to the local chapter Friday night. The lodge presented Mrs. Pfannkuche with a gift. She is a member of San Antonio Lodge 5.

Mrs. Pretty Smith, a charter member, was another guest.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. C. L. Lumpkins, Mrs. Pinkie Kesterson, Mrs. R. O. Carothers, Mrs. Della Hicks, Mrs. H. W. Rogers and Mrs. C. Spears. The next meeting will be Feb. 6 at 2:30 p.m. Newly installed officers were in charge of the meeting. They include Mrs. A. J. Cain, president; A. J. Cain, counselor; Mrs. C. Spears, past president; Mrs. Albert Smith, vice president; Mrs. Bill Rayburn, outer guard; Mrs. Walter Moore inner guard; Mrs. Allen Guess, conductress; Mrs. L. A. Webb, warden; Mrs. Ruby Smith, chaplain; Mrs. J. P. Meador, secretary; Mrs. Frank Powell, treasurer; Mrs. L. D. Jenkins, pianist; Mrs. Cain, delegate; Mrs. Charlie Nevins, alternate delegate and legislative representative; Mrs. Spears, alternate legislative representative; Mrs. H. J. Rogers, Mrs. Spears, sick committee.

Islam Leader Says Veiling Not Required

CAIRO (AP)—The Supreme Guide of the Moslem Brotherhood has declared that Islam does not require veiling of women.

In a press interview Supreme Guide Hassan el Hodeiby called the veil "an aristocratic custom born of the jealousy of men." The supreme guide added that Islam simply orders that a woman should cover all her body except the face and the hands.

The leader of the widespread Moslem organization also explained that Islam permits polygamy but does not encourage it. He admitted that women should have the right to sit in Parliament, but "her political rights should not conflict with her duties toward her husband, her children, and her home."

Our New Courthouse Must Last Us Long Time... Take Good Care Of It

The third permanent home of Howard County administrative, judicial and enforcement agencies will be dedicated today as a highlight of an open house program to inspect the new plant.

This is an orderly structure, attractive but not burdened with a lot of stress that the building trade calls "cheese-plate." The interior is well appointed with its marble and granite wall-coverings. Plastered walls are finished in pleasant shades.

The county commissioners court wisely has ordered new furniture for virtually all offices pertaining to county and precinct functions.

We enumerate these highlights to emphasize that as of this month our county is starting out with a "brand new" status so far as physical properties are concerned.

After all expenses are paid, the project will have cost in excess of $900,000. For this we have issued one million dollars in bonds. By the time they are repaid, we will indeed have had a substantial investment in this plant. From the simple mechanics of finance, we ought not to abuse such an investment.

The old red sandstone building, which perhaps was as modern in its day as is the present structure now, has been an unsavory advertisement to travellers along U. S. 80 for many, many years. The new plant with its brighter lines and design can be a positive advertisement, if we see that it is kept attractive as time goes by.

This charge of care goes primarily to the officials and staffs who will make daily use of it in their labors. Next will be the custodial forces who will see that it is maintained and is kept clean. Finally, there is the people who traffic in and out of the courthouse for any reason. Not many will be so crude as to willfully deface the building, and there will be even less of these anti-social characters if the general public will take it upon itself to challenge any such abuse and to report them promptly. Anyone caught destroying or defacing the building should be dealt with promptly and sternly.

Washington Calling—Marquis Childs

Farm Proposal Brings Biggest Argument To Center Of Stage

WASHINGTON — The struggle between the President and the Congress that has all along been inevitable is now front and center on the political stage. It will go on for many months and the outcome is, to say the least, uncertain.

The biggest and the loudest controversy is already shaping up over the President's proposal for flexible as opposed to fixed farm price supports. This gets down to fundamental differences in both economics and politics.

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson has had his way in the first phase. The Eisenhower proposal reflects Benson's deep — one may almost say religious — conviction that the American farmer must be freed from rigid controls determining what he shall plant and what he may sell. The report some months ago that the President would drop his Secretary of Agriculture as a consequence of the growing volume of protest from the farm states is seen to have been mere speculation.

As to the second phase on Capitol Hill, the advocates of fixed 90 per cent of parity are already clamoring that theirs will be the final victory. And they have good reason to make that claim. They have repeatedly shown that, in accord with that homely prescription for victory, they can get there fustiest with the moistest votes.

Their strength is in farm areas where prices have been slipping and where ancient patterns of agriculture are menaced by new competition. As senators from the Southwest pointed out on the Senate floor, the cost of producing cotton in the deep South is anywhere up to twice as much as the cost of raising cotton in Arizona and California. Southern Democrats are as one in their adamant support of 90 per cent of parity.

Some Midwest Republicans are nearly as vociferous in a determination to accept nothing less than present supports. In a highly significant change of emphasis,

The Constitution of the United States probably provokes more arguments than anything else that has ever been written.

Its champions are legion in this country, even among those who work toward cross purposes. Yet there is none—conservative, liberal or middle-of-the-road—who is reluctant to propose changes when they would serve the interest of his particular philosophy.

Fortunately, it takes a lot of doing to change the Constitution, and when a change is made citizens of the country can be fairly certain that it represents the will of most of the people who live under it. It's an amazing document if for no other reason than its endurance.

Tin Can Phones Work

KUALA LUMPUR, Malay 16—A tin can telephone system is providing communications for Malay villages in five areas in Kelantan state, north Malay.

The Telecommunications Department in Malay disclosed existence of these phones in a warning issued to the villagers to have them dismantled as wires from their phone networks were interfering with regular government lines whenever they fell across them.

President Faces Criticism From Urban Dwellers On His Program For Farmers

"You can't use my name," said the irate voice over the telephone. "But I wish you'd put in my squawk against the sale of butter to Russia. We can't afford butter at our house. Yet the government's going to sell it to Russia at cut prices. And I have to eat margarine."

That just about sums up the rationale behind President Eisenhower's farm program. The government has to satisfy city dwellers that the farm price support program isn't a big gravy train for the farmers. Otherwise, Eisenhower and Congress will have an urban revolt on their hands.

Butter illustrates the problem. The Commodity Credit Corporation owns about 250,000,000 pounds at a cost of $188,000,000. It can't sell this butter to Americans. That would break the market and ruin the price structure. So it buys and hoards. If the government wants to dispose of butter to Russia, it would take a loss, but at least the butter would be gotten rid of.

As the telephone voice summed it up, "Why shouldn't I have the butter? I've already paid for it in taxes. When I buy it at the store, I have to pay a price my own taxes have pushed up. I buy back my own taxes!"

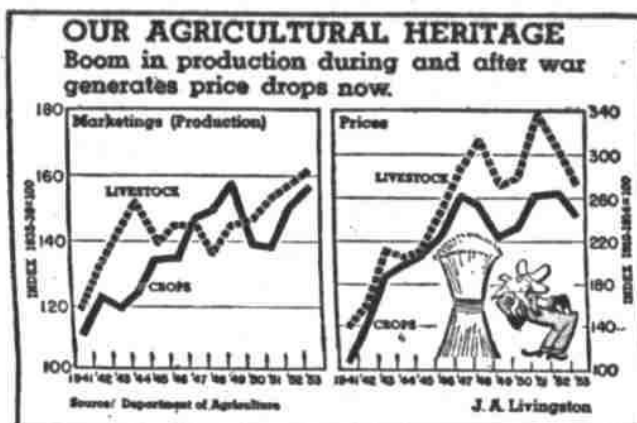

The Eisenhower farm program is strictly middle of the road. It recognizes that surplus stocks of commodities are mounting; that as long as high support prices persist, farmers will be loath to cut acreage; that if they don't voluntarily cut acreage, the government must set acreage and marketing quotas, which don't do the job. For farmers merely shift from one crop to another. Besides, that puts the government in the business of farming—and the Republicans theoretically don't want the government in business.

Eisenhower isn't proposing anything new. He is re-adapting the Agricultural Acts of 1948 and 1949. The 1948 Act, enacted by a Republican Congress specified a 60 per cent to 90 per cent formula for setting support prices. The operation of the act was postponed at the last minute. The next year, the Democrats established a 75 per cent to 90 per cent support formula. Again the flexible support program was put off.

The objective of all farm programs in recent years has been to assure the farmer that the money he receives for a bushel of wheat or a pound of cotton will buy the same amount of things he needs as it did in the five years of 1910-1914. Actually the government has been satisfied to guarantee only 90 per cent of parity—of what he could purchase 40 years ago. That's the meaning of 90 per cent of parity.

Now Eisenhower wants to change that base period to the most recent 10 years. The farmer's needs have changed. He buys tractors instead of horses, electricity instead of kerosene. That will make a difference in the ratio. Eisenhower also wants to provide flexibility in support prices. Instead of 90 per cent, he wants 75 per cent to 90 per cent, depending on the supply of wheat, corn, cotton, and other major crops.

The farmers can see for themselves what has been happening. In the last two years, farm prices have been declining. But production hasn't declined (see chart). The cotton supply of 9,000,000 bales is equal to a year's domestic consumption. The two-billion-dollar stock of wheat—440,000,000 bushels owned outright by the government and 400,000,000 in loan—represents more than we consume in a year. The shift would not take place until 1958. And then it would be in easy stages. The modernized formula would lower the parity price of wheat, corn, peanuts, and cotton. Eisenhower would limit that drop to 5 per cent in any one year. As an example, the parity price for wheat is now $2.45. It couldn't decline in one jump to less than $2.33. And if the support percentage were 90 per cent, the support price would then be $2.10.

Furthermore, the President doesn't want the farmer to suffer immediately from the burden of stocks now overhanging the market. Under his plan, these would be a factor in determining whether support prices would be set at 75 per cent, or 90 per cent of parity.

So the President proposes that Congress set aside $2,500,000,000 of the commodities on hand as an emergency reserve. They would not be counted as supplies on hand. They'd be used for aid to foreign nations for school lunch programs, and held as a safeguard against war or crop failure. Biblical Joseph has come alive again.

The Eisenhower plan is an attempt to reconcile a basic economic conflict between farm and city, with the farmer bound to lose, as

Another Birthday Story, One About A Mighty Smart American

The opinions contained in this and other articles in this column are solely those of the writers who sign them. They are not to be interpreted as necessarily reflecting the opinions of The Herald.—Editor's Note.

There's another birthday around here today, and it just could be that I would tell certain children a birthday story in case they would turn off that consarned TV set.

"Is it a sure-enough one, Uncle Wobbly, or just one you will make up?" inquired some skeptical youngsters.

"Why, a really one, for sure. Did I ever tell you any others?"

"We-I, sometimes you don't get everything just the way our schoolbooks tell it, Uncle Wobbly."

Huh, and maybe the schoolbooks don't put in the interesting parts, neither. You wanna hear this?

"Ye-s-s, Uncle Wobbly."

All right then. Sit right there.

You heard of Benjamin Franklin, of course. Well, he's the one that had the birthday. Woulda been 248 years old today, which is too old to do much good. But don't you forget it, he done plenty of good during his own time. Just about one of the greatest fellers that has come down the pike, before or since, and not many done as much to get this here country on its feet and a-walkin'.

There was a lot of things old Ben done. One thing I guess you have been told about, this discoverin' electricity. Did it a-flyin' a kite. Had a key on the kite string, as I recollect, and when a bolt of lightning hit the kite, the stuff zig-zagged down the line, hit the key and bounced off in a big spark. Don't see how old Ben kept from gettin' knocked plumb down, and may have for all I know. Anyhow, he jumped up and said, "This is electricity."

"Oh, Uncle Wobbly. It wasn't just that way. He did some experiments to establish electricity with lightning."

Yeah, but who's around to say he didn't fly a kite?

Besides that, he was a writer from way back. Wasn't much of a speller, I guess, putting a "k" on Almanac, but he and a feller he dreamed up, name of Poor Richard, put out some books that had more sense in a page than most books today do in seven chapters.

One thing, Ben and Richard said if you burn the candle at both ends, you're sure wasting tallow. Another was that if you rip your britches best thing to do is stitch 'em right then and there, and not wait to send 'em to the tailor shop later, because by then the tailor will charge you for at least nine stitches, and tailoring comes high these days. Seems like, too, he said that if you're holding a good thing in your hand, like a quail maybe, don't be turning it above to run over and grab two more quail out of the bush. You might not get 'em. See what I mean?

"We think so, Uncle Wobbly, but that doesn't sound like our copybook."

All right. All right. Point is in this story is that old Ben said some things that make sense.

But what I'm trying to tell you, for truth, that old Ben really helped his country. He got in on helping write the Declaration of Independence, and our Constitution, too. He went to England and scrapped old George III all around until our colonies went to scrapping for themselves. And he went to France for a long time, too, and did a lot to help the little new country get some attention.

He was a big official in Pennsylvania, and in Philadelphia, too, and started some government services that everybody uses to this day. He even said it was the city's part to clean the streets which ain't a bad thing to be reminding folks about these days.

He was a mighty fine printer, one of the best, and he was an inventor from the word go. Thing is, he wasn't a selfish man, and didn't take out any patents or any copyrights. Most everything he did, he did to help along his fellow men. That was a big part of his religion.

Yessir, this old Ben Franklin was a great feller, and you ought to be proud he came from the same country that produces people today. It's a good birthday, and maybe we ought even to have a school holiday.

"Oh, goody. Uncle Wobbly, when will they do that?"

I ain't for sure, but another thing about old Ben. He said a penny saved is a penny earned. Here, take this copper and hang on to it while it does some earning. And go to bed early, and get up early in the morning. That, old Ben said, will make you feel pretty good, make you pretty rich and pretty smart.

Confident Living—Norman Vincent Peale

There Is An Easy Remedy For Physical Tension Of The Body

Do you ever find yourself drumming your fingers? Tapping your feet? Stroking your cheek? Biting your nails?

All these habits are evidences of one thing—muscle tension in the body. And the body is a complicated instrument. The motivating factors which permit you to raise your arm, open and shut your eyes, eat and speak are things men of science would give anything to know how to reproduce. We are still trying to find out more about the complicated relationships between our bodies and our minds.

Some years ago I became convinced that muscle tension had so much to do with mental tension that I determined to practice bodily stillness techniques. I found them very helpful and effective. In the course of my investigation of this subject, I attended a demonstration of the ancient Hindu practice of yoga. The yogi giving the demonstration sat for one solid hour without twitching a muscle. I tried it myself and thought I was going to die. I could hardly stand it. I even seemed to hear myself swallow.

But I soon found that the secret is to relax and think of every part of your body as quiet and still. You have to believe that God is giving his peace to your muscles and nerves. When you get this stillness in your body, you are in tune with the harmonious factors of the universe and the re-creative powers of God.

One day, at my farm in Dutchess County, New York, I went for a walk. It was a glorious summer day and I walked past one of our meadows, noticing that, as the wheat rippled in the wind, it resembled the gentle undulation of the sea.

I was reminded of a woman who told me of going down to Florida for a rest after a nervous breakdown and lying on the sand day after day watching the sea. Suddenly she became aware that the beating of the waves against the shore synchronized perfectly with the beat of her own heart. Then she noticed a blade of beach grass waving in the breeze, and its movement too was in rhythm with the beating of her heart and the pounding of the surf on the sand. Suddenly, for the first time, she felt the inner harmony and stillness of the universe and its close relationship to herself.

As I thought about her experience while sitting on the fence and watching the wind ruffle the wheat, I had a delicious sense of physical well-being. God's harmony was touching me. In body, mind and spirit, I felt his quietness.

You can practice stillness of the body, even in the midst of a world full of tumult, and achieve release from tension. One way to do this is to lie down on some fairly flat surface, like the floor, where you can keep the backbone straight and the organs in proper balance. Start with your feet and say, "The stillness of God is in my toes. My feet..." Come up through every part of your body saying, "The stillness of God is in my heart, my lungs, my stomach, my fingers, my arms, the muscles of my neck, my face, the lids of my eyes..."

What you are really doing is paraphrasing the Bible and saying to yourself, "Be still, (my physical body) and know that I am God." If you can conceive of His hand as touching every part of your body with His healing touch, you can find release from physical tension.

HEBREWS 12:1—"Wherefore seeing we also are compassed about with so great a cloud of witnesses, let us lay aside every weight, and the sin which doth so easily beset us, and run with patience the race that is set before us, Looking unto Jesus."
As a young lad on the farm in the State of Illinois I was taught to read the Bible very early in life, in fact, before I became a Christian. Under the guidance of my Godly mother, I was instructed in the Christian way of life, both by interpretation of the Word and example of Christian living by my parents.

Worcester Not Just A Sauce

S-Sgt. L. G. Steffan will probably always be fond of Worcester-shire sauce. It was in the home of the sauce, Worcester, England, that he met the now Mrs. Steffan. He and Mrs. Steffan, their daughter, Carol, two years and Sgt. Steffan's mother, Mrs. Emma Dillon arrived in Big Spring a little over a month ago. The sergeant was on a 93-day leave. Part of the leave was spent here buying a lovely home at 1008 Howell and furnishing it.
Home for him is New York State. Mrs. Steffan hails from Birmingham, England, and Carol was born in Shaftesbury.
An Air Force career man at eight years service, the sergeant hopes to remain in Big Spring quite some time. He is taking over the duties of chief clerk of the maintenance squadron at Webb.
Mrs. Steffan plans to become a coed at the junior college where she will take a business course. She has her eyes on a secretarial position after she completes the course.

No. 1 Fan

The way Aldo Ray is looking at Jane Wyman in this scene from "Let's Do It Again," Technicolor film which shows tonight and Monday at the Jet Drive-In, you'd think he was her top fan. But he has competition from Ray Milland, who has the role of her ex-husband.

'Remains To Be Seen' Stars June Allyson, Van Johnson

"Remains to Be Seen," which shows at the State Theatre today through Tuesday, is based on the Broadway hit by Howard Lindsay and Russel Crouse. June Allyson and Van Johnson and Louis Calhern head the cast of this Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer film.

The story revolves about the death of a wealthy man who, after having been pronounced to have died a natural death by his

Aumont and Goddard Cast In Color Film

Alfred Lord Tennyson wrote a famous poem about the charge at Balaclava containing the lines "Into the valley of death rode the six hundred."

This heroic charge from the Crimean War is retold in Technicolor in Columbia Pictures' "Charge of the Lancers," which shows Wednesday and Thursday at the State Theatre.

The movie in particular deals with the siege of Sebastopol. Jean Pierre Aumont has the role of an Allied officer with the forces before the Russian port.

Aumont and a fellow officer, played by Richard Stapley, delivers a new type of cannon to the front lines. Stapley is captured by the Russians and Aumont volunteers to rescue him. This he does also learning enough of the fort's secrets so that the Allies (British, French and Turks) can take the fort.

Allied with Aumont in his endeavors inside the fort is Paulette Goddard as gypsy woman. The climactic scene includes a charge of the Lancers before the fort in the 19th Century war.

'Let's Do It Again' Showing Now At Jet

"Let's Do It Again" is a light comedy with Jane Wyman and Ray Milland as quarrelling husband and wife who get a divorce but still have a yen for each other. Aldo Ray has the role of Jane's suitor, a big man in uranium.

The film shows tonight and Monday at the Jet Drive-In.

The United States uses more than 1,000 pounds of steel per person per year.

'THE ROBE' TO SHOW 4 MORE DAYS AT RITZ

"The Robe," Twentieth-Century Fox CinemaScope epic, is being held over at the Ritz Theatre for four more days, through Wednesday. The new dimensional film with stereophonic sound stars Richard Burton, Jean Simmons, Victor Mature and Michael Rennie in the story of what happened to the soldier who won Christ's cloak at the Crucifixion, adapted from the long-time best-selling novel by the late Lloyd C. Douglas.

CinemaScope uses an unusually wide screen to create an illusion of depth to scenes, providing near three-dimension effect without the viewer needing to wear any special glasses. A special anamorphic lens is used to expand the image from the specially shot 35 mm. film to the wideness of the CinemaScope screen.

Pneumonia Cases Show A Gain Here

Pneumonia accounted for approximately 25 per cent of all the communicable disease cases reported during the past week by local doctors to the city-county health unit. There were 71 cases of pneumonia listed, while the total number of cases reported was 287.

'Sea Of Lost Ships' Stars Derek, Hendrix

Heroic action by the Coast Guard and International Ice Patrol to save ships from icebergs in the North Atlantic sets the stage for "Sea of Lost Ships," Republic Studio's production which shows Friday and Saturday at the State Theatre.

Starring in the film are John Derek, Wanda Hendrix and Walter Brennan. The supporting cast is headed by Richard Jaeckel and Tom Tully.

Derek and Jaeckel have the roles of two young men brought up in the traditions of the Coast Guard. Derek's father has died in the service and he was adopted by Jaeckel's father, a Coast Guard chief played by Walter Brennan.

The picture is adapted from a story by Norman Reddy Raine.

Globe-Trotting Influences Vera Maxwell's Fashions

By DOROTHY ROE
NEW YORK (U)—The weather and the travel habits of American women are ruling factors in designer Vera Maxwell's wearable and colorful collection of spring fashions.

The globe-trotting Vera explored Denmark, Austria and Bavaria to get inspiration for her current series, and comes up with a distinguished group of Danish print cottons, hand-woven flax linens from Bavaria and Austrian details such as green velvet collars on linen coats.

Miss Maxwell, an inveterate traveler herself has concentrated on travel costumes for a number of years, featuring dress-and-coat combinations which can be dressed up or down for various occasions. This season her prize outfit is a straight coat of chiffon-weight camel's hair lined in a liberty print silk matching the accompanying dress with adjustable wrap-around bodice in the favorite Maxwell manner.

A suit of Bavarian handwoven flax linen in natural color has a blouse and jacket lining of red plaid cotton and a green velvet collar. Another highlight is a loose coat of yellow linen with a Chinese print, lined in solid color blue linen to match the sheath dress that goes with it.

Vincent Monte Sano makes news with loose, soft coats that achieve fullness by means of box pleats falling from shoulder yokes, sometimes belted in just below the shoulder blades.

Belted suits are important in the Monte Sano spring collection, one recurrent model having a soft shirt top belted at the natural waistline.

Black and navy silk coats, fitted or loose, are important in this collection, as they are throughout the New York wholesale market.

Mobile Jewelry

Parisian jewelers are developing designs with emphasis on pliability. Large drop diamonds tremble like heavy fruit on clips made up of small leaves, each mobile. Jewel-bearing stemens in the center of flower clips are of flexible gold or platinum wire to make them mobile.

American Designer's Pattern

Varden Petite
FOR THE 'LITTLE WOMAN'

'Church Dress' Combines Good Fashion, Simplicity

Varden Petite, a house that made a big thing out of the "little woman" (5'3" or less) calls today's pattern model their "Church Dress," a proper name for a style that combines goodness of fashion with simplicity of demeanor.

Very easy to make its buttoned front gives it a wide size range, for bigger sizes can leave the first three buttons open very prettily.

Shown originally in a crisp silk (good for giving extra emphasis to that back fullness), it works up equally well in cottons, linen or sheer wool.

Size 12, bust 35, waist 25½, hips 36; size 14, bust 36½, waist 27, hips 37½; size 16, bust 38, waist 28½, hips 39; size 18, bust 40, waist 30½, hips 41; size 20, bust 42, waist 32½, hips 43.

Size 22 requires 4 yards of 39-inch material for the dress. To order Pattern 1170, address Spadea Syndicate, Inc., P. O. Box 535, Dept. B-5, G. P. O., New York 1, N. Y. State size. Send $1.00. Air-mail handling 25 cents extra. Pattern Booklet 10, 108 pages, available at 25 cents.

Mrs. Jackson Is Honoree At Coffee

Mrs. L. B. Jackson was honored Thursday morning with a pink and blue coffee by Mrs. C. J. Killelea and Mrs. Vance Leuthold in the home of Mrs. Killelea, 1201 Marjorie.

Decorations featured a centerpiece of baby shoes filled with pink and blue daisies. A silver coffee service was used and a silver lazy susan held pink and blue refreshments.

Attending were Mrs. Gerald W. Rooney, Mrs. Ray Young, Mrs. Weaver, Mrs. George Strader, Mrs. Floyd Herbert, Mrs. Max Richie, Mrs. Bernice McClendon, Mrs. Frank Foster, Mrs. George Butler, Mrs. Clyde Baker, Mrs. Dorothy Lougee, Mrs. George Form, Mrs. Martha Hall.

State Fair Art Show Set

DALLAS (Sp)—A new division in the Women's Department of the State Fair of Texas next fall will offer $600 in premiums for oil and water color paintings by amateur artists.

The exhibition will supplement the jury professional show held each year during the fair by the Museum of Fine Arts, Mrs. Leah Jarrett, manager of the department, said.

Only residents of Texas will be eligible to enter and paintings must have been completed within the past three years, Mrs. Jarrett said.

Portrait, landscape, marine scene and still life classifications will be listed for both oil and water color paintings, with premiums for oils $50, $30 and $20 in each classification, and $25, $15 and $10 in each water color class.

Music Study Club Hears Mrs. Beckham

Mrs. Fred Beckham discussed "The Voice of Nature" at a meeting of the Music Study Club recently in the home of Mrs. Don Newsom.

Co-hostesses were Mrs. Leonard Shipman and Mrs. Bill Griese. The program was as follows: Mrs. Leslie Green, piano, "Nocturno" by Respighi; Mrs. Harold Talbot and Mrs. Griese, vocal, "Morning" by Speaks; Mrs. C. A. Boyd, piano, "The Little White Donkey"; Mrs. Ruth Burnam, vocal, "Where the Bee Sucks" by Arne; Mrs. Griese and Mrs. Talbot, vocal, "The Hills of Home" by Fox; and Elsie Willis, piano, "The Lark" by Glinka-Balakirew.

Loretta Turner Named Park MYF President

Loretta Turner was elected president of the Park Methodist MYF at a regular business and social meeting Thursday evening in the home of Donald Cannon, 206 E. 18th.

Other officers elected were Cannon, vice president; Billie Jean McClendon, secretary, and Dan Pettitt, treasurer.

Ann Webb presided at the meeting. Refreshments were served and games were played. Eight members and two sponsors attended.

New Courthouse Built With Eye On Future

Howard County's fourth courthouse—the third permanent one—has been built with an eye on the future.

This accounts for its functional design and its spacious accommodations in terms of present demands. With a million-dollar investment, officials are hoping to avoid the problem of the county's second permanent home—space for one fourth the population it was originally designed to serve.

Done in light brick and dressed with stone, granite and aluminum spandrels, the building houses five floor levels and presents a modern though not futuristic appearance.

A multiplicity of offices, courtrooms, and other uses share in its 50,300 square feet of space.

So far as is practical, the appropriation of space has been grouped according to functions. For instance, the most used offices such as tax, clerk, library, law enforcement are on the first floor. The second is devoted largely to precinct and county functions; the third to District Court; the fourth to security and deliberation. The basement area designed primarily for service, including agricultural offices, engineering, storage, and for operation.

The structure was erected and equipped at a cost of approximately $550,000, which includes funds for demolition of the old building. There remains the problem of finishing the grounds, access drives or walks.

General contract was in the amount of $459,000, or at the rate of $9.10 per square foot; air conditioning and plumbing (approximately $100,000 to the former and $40,048 to the latter) $140,048; electrical $34,293. This brings the regular building costs to $12.57 per square foot.

Elevators cost $33,961 and the jail furnishings $56,200. These bring the over-all building costs to $14.35 per square foot.

Over-all dimensions of the building are 135x75 feet. There is a full basement which is eight feet and six inches below finish grade. Footings extend down 22 feet below grade. From grade to first parapet is 48 ft., 6 in., to center parapet 53 1/2 feet.

The north and south entrances are identical except that the north doorway—the main entrance—is finished in granite. The south is finished in stone. Both are framed with stone columns and accentuated with aluminum spandrels. The east and west entrances are framed in granite. Each floor level is belted with stone trim.

Except for the basement, which has glaze tile, the corridors are wainscoted with granite. Finish above the wainscoting is plaster and all ceilings have acoustical treatment or acoustical tile. Walls of offices are plaster finish and steel casement windows admit the light. Corridor floors are the main stairway are in terrazzo. Office floors are in asphalt tile and county and district courtrooms in cork.

Inset in the lobby on the first floor is a map of Howard County with the salient features as they exist today.

On the basement level are the county agent and the county home demonstration offices; the latter with a demonstration cottage layout; the open storage and old record vaults; engineering and surveyor offices; the boiler room with its mechanical equipment.

On the first floor are the offices of the tax collector-assessor; the county clerk; the sheriff; the county free library.

The second floor is devoted to offices of county and precinct functions; the county courtroom and justice courtrooms.

District functions are the pivot for the third floor which houses the offices for the district judge and attorney, court stenographer; the grand jury rooms; witness and consultation rooms; the district courtroom and jury deliberation room.

The fourth floor houses the jail area, accessible by separate elevator; the jailers' apartment; the kitchen for the jail; the dormitory and lounge space for jurors. The latter is accessible only through the district court jury box, and it also contains facilities for women, if and when women are made eligible for jury duty in Texas.

The roof contains only the pent house, which shelters the elevator mechanical equipment, vents and the cooling tower. It also has a flag pole, which, happily, may be lowered horizontally for repainting or for dismounting the halyard should it become fouled.

Niece Sues H. R. Cullen

SAN ANTONIO (U)—A niece of H. R. Cullen, millionaire oilman-philanthropist, has charged her wealthy relative with false imprisonment and named him a defendant in a damage suit for $350,000.

Cullen is the Houston man who has contributed millions to educational and charitable institutions in Texas and was one of the biggest contributors to the Republican presidential campaign fund in 1952.

The niece, Mrs. Helen Cullen Brantley, 39, of Dallas, charged her arrest in Harris County (Houston) her imprisonment in Harris and Bexar county jails, and eventual commitment in early 1952 to the San Antonio State Hospital were the result of a conspiracy between her uncle and her father, R. E. Cullen Sr.

Mrs. Brantley and her husband, Patrick, filed the suit Thursday in Judge C. J. Quin's 57th District Court here. She alleged her commitment to the state hospital on a complaint filed here by her father followed her arrest in Houston after she had failed to see her uncle about a family matter.

She said that after she left the swank suburban home of her uncle that she was lodged in a Houston jail on Jan. 18, 1952, and was brought to San Antonio the next day and placed in the Bexar County jail.

She also said that after being driven to San Antonio and lodged in the county jail that she was seen by Dr. G. D. Boyd, county health officer, in a room she believed to be in the San Antonio police department.

Mrs. Brantley said she remained in the county jail until Jan. 24, 1952, and was detained at the state hospital five days after a hearing in lunacy court. She was released, she stated, by Criminal Dist. Judge W. W. McCrory on her application for a writ of habeas corpus.

The millionaire's niece alleged she suffered severe and permanent injuries to her body and physical health as a result of the arrest and confinement.

The Old And New—Scene Of Contrast

A sharp contrast is presented in this view from Main street which shows Howard County's modern new courthouse standing beside the 43-year old structure which it replaces. The area between the street and the new structure on this side of the building will be the scene of dedication ceremonies set for 2 p.m. today. The old red sandstone structure at right already has been vacated by county officials, and trees have been cleared from the block. The old building along with the former jail and other structures on the block (not shown in picture) will be razed soon.

Senior County Employee Recalls Happy Days In Old Courthouse

Maybe you wouldn't understand it, just looking at the old courthouse and the new, and contrasting the offices in the sandstone building and those in the modern plant.

But Mrs. Loy Acuff is making the change with not a little sentimental reminiscing about the old structure. There were many happy days for her in the 26 1/2 years that she worked in the now vacated county home.

Mrs. Acuff, or Miss Helen as almost everyone knows her, ranks as the senior county employe and the only assistant county superintendent Howard County ever had. Not only had she spent more than a quarter of a century in the red sandstone courthouse, practically "living" all over the east end of it at one time or another, but she resided the greater part of her life within its shadows.

Miss Helen, who is the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry R. Hayden, was born diagonally across the street northwest from the courthouse. Her grandfather, Joseph Potton, had lived directly north of the courthouse. Later, the Haydens moved a few doors away, and until her marriage she was never further than a block from the courthouse.

After graduation from high school in 1924 she worked for a time with the Rix Furniture Store. It was one day in September 1927 that she was walking up a street when County Judge and Mrs. H. R. Debenport pulled along side in their car.

"You're the very one I'm looking for," he announced. "How about coming to work for me?" he said. "Start in the morning."

Miss Helen never asked about hours or pay, only what time to report. Her predecessor, Mrs. Golda Satterwhite, had been taken ill and physicians told her not to return to the office.

"You'll just have to sort of find things for yourself," the judge, who was then the ex officio superintendent, told her.

And that's the way she started. Indeed, she did find out everything herself and she's never forgotten what she found. After serving in a dual capacity, keeping the records for the common school districts and as secretary for the judge, she went for a year as a deputy in the sheriff and tax collector's office.

About that time population had suddenly increased and the county passed the 2,000 scholastic mark, entitling it to full time county superintendent. Pauline Cantrell (now Mrs. J. E. Brigham) was elected and Judge Debenport resigned the ex officio duty to permit her to assume office ahead of her first elective term. She prevailed upon Miss Helen to return to the superintendent's office.

The office was moved upstairs on the north side, and then back on the south side, when the county agent and home demonstration agent offices were discontinued temporarily, and finally back downstairs on the southeast corner where she started.

At the outset there were something like 100 trustees and more than 100 teachers to be served in the 28 common school districts. There was only one independent district—that of Big Spring—at that time. Later Coahoma, then Knott and Forsan took the independent route.

Consolidations and annexations have reduced the roll until today there are six districts, five of them active. Numbers of scholars checked by the office, however, on the census rolls has increased from the slightly more than 3,000 to more than 6,000.

MRS. HELEN ACUFF ... Recalls Happy Days

If she had ever done anything else, Miss Helen probably would have been a teacher.

"I like school work, and I like to be around teachers, and trustees, and around young people," she explained. "Why lots of these youngsters who come in—I can remember recording their first census records and the date of their birth."

Few people in the county know more people than does she.

She has served under three superintendents—Mrs. Brigham, who held the office for six years, Miss Anne Martin, who served for eight years, and Walker Bailey. She can remember the day that Bailey's father, who was a trustee at Fairview, told her "I have a boy teaching down in Runnels County, and Miss Helen, he's a mighty good boy." Her boss now kind of uses that as a gauge on whether she is measuring up.

There are many, many other things that happened in the old building, including the periodic daily visits by the late Hub Underwood who came in with walrus mustache and chew of tobacco, to stoke the old coal stove. You kind of get the idea of her attachments to the place when you see the hammer and the old broom Hub gave her when he grew too old in county service. Miss Helen brought them over to her new quarters with her.

For another, it boasts plenty of seating space for patrons who want to linger and perhaps read a magazine or a book.

A centrally-located catalogue where location of books can be found at a minimum expense of time and effort.

An estimated 700 lineal feet of shelves are already in place in the library. More can be added around the walls.

The library now has about 9,000 volumes and, of course, is growing annually. The books it already has on hand will just about fill all the available space.

The facility is also equipped with a centrally-located delivery desk, complete with detachable top for check-out cards; an office for the librarian and a work room, where books can be repaired. A cabinet for repair supplies plus a lavatory is located in the work room.

Six tables, including one for juveniles, and enough chairs for 24 persons have been distributed about the two main rooms of the library.

Library Might Outgrow Its Quarters As Shelves Fill

The Howard County Free Library can and probably will, in time, outgrow the space set aside for it in the new courthouse.

Right now, the facility should be one of the most popular in the county building.

Located near the north entrance on the first floor of the courthouse, it boasts everything the old one lacked or had in inadequate quality.

For one thing, the new library has plenty of window space, which provides for ample natural lighting.

For another, it boasts plenty of seating space for patrons who want to linger and perhaps read a magazine or a book.

For still another, it boasts a centrally-located catalogue where location of books can be found at a minimum expense of time and effort.

An estimated 700 lineal feet of shelves are already in place in the library. More can be added around the walls.

The library now has about 9,000 volumes and, of course, is growing annually. The books it already has on hand will just about fill all the available space.

The facility is also equipped with a centrally-located delivery desk, complete with detachable top for check-out cards; an office for the librarian and a work room, where books can be repaired. A cabinet for repair supplies plus a lavatory is located in the work room.

Six tables, including one for juveniles, and enough chairs for 24 persons have been distributed about the two main rooms of the library.

A space has also been provided for daily newspapers which come into the library.

The facility is also equipped with a bulletin board and a display counter for display of new books. The latter feature is located at the entrance into the library itself.

Glasses Can Be Good Clue

GENEVA, N. Y. (U)—Eyeglasses left at the scene of a crime can give pretty good clues to the criminal.

The pupils of both eyes are rarely the same distance from the center of the nose.

Eyeglass lenses tell how far the wearer's pupils are from the center of his nose—indicating position of the eyes in the face. The lenses tell whether he is far-sighted, near-sighted, or has other visual faults.

Distances between nose pads indicate large or small features, or show that the wearer had a broken nose. Angle and length of temples sketch the size and shape of the head, and position of ears. For eign material on the lenses could give clues to a person's occupation. And the glasses often can be traced back to a dealer, and even the purchaser.

Rest Breaks Are Healthy

By ALTON L. SLAKESLEE, AP Science Reporter

NEW YORK, Jan. 16 (U)—For longer life, lie down on the job—for a little while, that is. A brief nap or 10-minute rest after lunch is good for you.

That's the advice consulting psychologist Peter E. Slagle of Chicago offers business executives in a report prepared for a manufacturer of sleep equipment (The Englander Company). But it could go for anyone who works under tension and high pressure.

A little rest and relaxation on an office couch might help avoid heart attacks, or fatal auto accidents when driving home tense and worried during rush-hour traffic, he says.

Slagle cites statistics that the life expectancy of the average American man is nearly 68 years. But bosses in busy occupations may die at any time from 37 to 61. And many in really high pressure fields never live to be 50.

Most workers get regular rest breaks, he says, and so do soldiers on long marches. The businessman who works like a horse should give himself the same break.

Penicillin Allergy Can Be Overcome

DALLAS, Tex. (U)—Dr. Lee J. Alexander of Dallas tells of a way to overcome sensitization to penicillin—meaning you get an allergic-type reaction to the drug. The method is in desensitization by giving very tiny doses of penicillin, gradually increasing the strength of injections until the patient again can take a full dose of it safely.

Writing in the Archives of Dermatology and Syphilology of the American Medical Assn. he tells of desensitizing eight men and women so they could take penicillin again if they needed it to fight off serious disease.

Prof Gets 100 Per Cent Attendance

RENO, Nev. (U)—A University of Nevada professor, A. L. Higginbotham, is getting 100 per cent attendance at his early morning classes these days.

Higginbotham, head of the Journalism department, was injured in an auto accident recently and still is not strong enough to resume teaching on the campus.

So his students meet at his home. For the 8 a.m. classes, Mrs. Higginbotham serves hot coffee and an occasional doughnut.

Security

A prisoner in Howard County's new jail will be about as "secure" as a jail can make a person. Bars, steel in the floor and ceiling are "tool proof." Doors to the various cells and cellblocks are operated from central control boxes outside the confinement area. Shown above is portion of one of the cells which will accommodate four prisoners.

Any Prisoner Who Breaks Out Of New Jail Will Earn Freedom

If an ambitious prisoner sawed constantly for 28 days and wore out 10,000 hacksaw blades on the job, he would get just 1-18th of an inch into one of the bars in Howard County's new jail.

That's the word from Olen Puckett, architect for the new courthouse, top floor of which is mostly jail.

There won't be any digging through the jail floor or ceiling either. Embedded in the waterproof concrete floor and roof are thick networks of the same kind of steel bars made of "tool proof" steel.

Glass, what little is used in the jail, you might also call "tool proof." Windows in the jail doors are 1/8th of an inch thick and made of tempered glass.

The glass over light fixtures also is tempered and is cast over a wire net to prevent prisoners from breaking the material and using the pieces for weapons.

Security was the guiding factor in design and construction of the fourth-floor hoosegow. The jail is divided into three cell blocks, plus women's and juvenile quarters.

There are four cells and a central "tank" in each block. Door to each cell is operated from outside the block by electronic controls. The jailer can transfer a prisoner from one cell to another or into the tank without ever entering the block.

Each cell block has steel bunks for 16 prisoners—four per cell. The tank, where occupants of the block may be allowed to congregate during the daytime, and where most of them will receive their meals, is equipped with steel tables, a big laundry fixture, shower, lavatory and commode. Table legs are embedded in the concrete floor; in fact, nothing in the jail can be picked up, thrown or overturned.

Lavatories, fountains, and other fixtures have valves and water outlets flush with their surfaces so there is little likelihood of their being broken.

Each of the five cells for women and children has "private" shower and other fixtures. Four of the cells have two bunks each, while four can sleep in the other.

Counting the padded cell for violent prisoners, the jail can "sleep" 61 persons. There's a standing room for a hundred or two.

In addition, there's the "drunk tank" where inebriated prisoners will go to "sleep it off." This tank is equipped with wooden benches along the walls and has a shower.

The jail is designed so that every person admitted may be given a shower. The county also has purchased a large batch of coveralls which will be issued to jail inmates for attire during their stay.

The entire lockup area is surrounded by a run-around, a sort of alley jail custodians may use to keep an eye on activities inside. The jail also is equipped with a first aid room, with operating table and cabinet for surgical supplies.

The padded cell has walls cushioned with six-inch-thick pads. Floor which may be flushed with water from outside is covered with a rubber mat. Anyone confined here will have a hammock to sleep in, solid comfort when compared to the iron beds in remainder of the jail.

The jail is semi-air conditioned, having large vents through which it will receive the "overage" of conditioned air from the district courtroom.

Security precautions also were considered in design of the port-holes through which food is passed to the cells, and in arrangement of the openings through which conversations may be carried on.

The food passes have steel doors which may be opened only from the outside. Speaking holes have been fitted with wickets through which even a needle can't be passed.

Puckett says the jail is "pass proof." There's no opening through which any object can be handed from the outside.

The jail, in the top of the courthouse, is reached either by special elevator or stairway. The elevator can be operated from the jail floor only by special key. Its first floor entrance is in the sheriff's office. Door at the top of the stairs in the jail area is of steel.

The elevator, which will be used only by jailer and other peace officers, is equipped with rings to which a prisoner may be handcuffed while en route up or down. There is a jail kitchen, equipped with king-size ranges, refrigerator, a 10-gallon soup kettle, and other cooking essentials. Adjacent to the kitchen is a pantry. Both are separated from the confinement section by a steel door.

Grand Jury Conference Room

A "horseshoe" type desk designed to facilitate investigative work is a feature of the grand jury room in the new courthouse. The grand jury room is located on the third floor adjacent to the District Attorney's office.

Grand Jury Has Well Equipped Meeting Place

The Howard County Grand Jury will perform its work easier and faster in the new courthouse.

In addition to a well-equipped and spacious grand jury room, the new building provides another convenience which was noticeable by its absence in the old building.

That is the availability of witnesses and prisoners in the county jail. The grand jury room, located in the northeast corner of the third floor, is only a few feet away from either the stairway or elevator which connects with the fourth-floor jail. Persons can be brought from the jail to the grand jury room for interrogation in a matter of minutes.

District Attorney Elton Gilliland says this will speed up grand jury investigations. Adjacent to the jury room is a small witness waiting room, and next to this room is a larger waiting room which can be used by either the grand jury or the district attorney whose offices adjoin on the south.

The jury room is equipped with a large, horseshoe-shaped table around which the jurors and the district attorney will be seated. Witness chair is located at the open end of the table.

The district attorney has two offices, in addition to the waiting room he will share with the grand jury. His secretary will occupy one of these and the other will be used by the attorney for private consultations and his routine work. Offices of county Attorney Hartman Hooser are located in the northwest corner of the building, on the second floor. The two offices and storage room adjoin the county courtroom and are just across the hallway from the county judge's office.

We Are PROUD

To Have The New HOWARD COUNTY COURTHOUSE In Our Nenghborhood

The new courthouse is indeed an asset to our community . . . The beauty of this new building will add to the ever growing skyline of Big Spring . . .

Gilbert's SHOES
Mrs. Patti Gilbert, Owner
108 W. 3rd Dial 4-7391

Law Enforcement Offices Are Arranged For Business

The various law enforcement agencies in the new courthouse have two things in common—a private corridor and easy access to the jail elevator which quickly takes them to the ground floor and outside.

The enforcement offices—highway patrol, sheriff's department, border patrol, constable and juvenile officer—all are situated in the southeast quarter of the building. They are located on various floors, however.

The southeast quarter of the structure is the only section with the "private" hallway. Actually, the hallway isn't exclusively for the use of officers, but it would be of little value to anyone else since it leads only to law enforcement officer and the jail elevator.

Starting in the basement, immediately at the right of the south stairway, are offices of the Highway Patrol and driver's license examiner. This unit consists of two rooms. The elevator to the jail has its basement entrance into the larger of the rooms, while a smaller office is located immediately to the east and also opens into the "front" room.

Sheriff Jess Slaughter, his force, Constable W. O. Leonard and Juvenile Office A. E. Long occupy the entire southeast quarter of the first floor.

Long and Leonard share one office at the east end of the building, while Slaughter and his deputies have four rooms. The sheriff's office is in the southeast corner of the building.

Next to it, and spaced along the south corridor are two offices for deputies and for conference purposes. Then, opening onto the south entrance of the courthouse, is the sheriff's "receiving room" which will be occupied by the office deputy and where persons entering the jail or being investigated will be fingerprinted, photographed and booked.

The jail elevator also has an entrance in this office. There is direct access to the outside, so that prisoners won't have to be taken through the courthouse lobby.

The sheriff's department also has a large closet filled with locking gun cases. This will serve as storage for the sheriff's arsenal as well as for safe-keeping of evidence gathered in an investigation.

On the third floor, and still in the southeast quarter of the building, are offices which are rented to the U. S. Immigration Service, or Border Patrol. This unit has direct access to the jail elevator. It also is adjacent to the office of District Attorney Elton Gilliland, a matter of convenience as Border Patrolmen often act as interpreters for the DA.

Border Patrol and the Department of Public Safety offices will be furnished by those agencies, while county law enforcement offices of course are furnished by the county with modern steel fixtures the same as in other parts of the building.

Jailer Boasts Modern Unit

One of the nicest units of the new Howard County Courthouse is located right next to the jail on the fourth floor.

It is the jailer's quarters, a modern, compact apartment which will be occupied by Sheriff Jess Slaughter and his wife.

The jailer's apartment is in the southwest corner of the building, sealed off from the jail by steel doors.

The apartment is reached by the jail elevator or, in case of emergency, by way of the jail stairway which leads to the "lobby" of the jail area.

The jailer's quarters consist of combination living room-dining room-kitchen, bedroom and bath.

Particularly noticeable to the housewife during open house today will be the compact kitchen unit which is built into the north wall of the living-dining room. The unit includes cabinet, refrigerator, range and sink, all combined in a gleaming porcelain.

Living and dining area is furnished in the casual modern style, with birch furniture of "open stock." Bedroom has similar furniture and is carpeted.

Bathroom is tiled in gray with maroon trim, with white fixtures. Plaster above the tile wainscoting is painted blue.

Only a few feet away from entrance to the apartment is the elevator. A small entrance hallway separates the apartment from the jail area and jail end of the elevator is closed by a steel door which has shielded peephole, speaking wicket and all the security provided in the doors to the jail.

Clerk Has Largest Office In Building

More floor space has been allotted to the office of the County Clerk than to any other office in the new Courthouse.

Located on the southwest corner of the first floor and containing a large basement work room, the office covers about 2,390 square feet.

This is more than twice the size of the office in the old courthouse, but County Clerk Pauline Petty feels the added space is necessary because of the rapid growth in records during recent years.

Not only do county employees have plenty of room to manipulate, but those having business in the clerk's office will find ample counter space for service. The large L shape counter can accommodate up to 50 people.

File cabinets of various types line the walls of the office and 11 desks are spaced evenly behind the counter along with two large work tables. Six of the desks are for abstract workers, who will have ready access to all records.

Found in abundance in the office are deeds of warranty and trust and records of liens probate minutes, births, deaths, marriages, assumed names contracts, bills of sale, federal tax liens, court judgments and commissioners' court transactions.

A number of miscellaneous records—such as doctors' and nurses' registers—are also kept in the office. Petitions filed for civil action in Howard County Court and criminal charges are also housed there.

Most of the equipment in the office is new, but some of the old files had to be moved out of the old courthouse for the large quantity of records.

Majority of the old equipment is in the basement work room, where a large photostat machine has been installed. This machine is to photograph all records so that the copy can be filed and original returned to the owner.

Mrs. Petty has four deputies on her staff, and each is equipped with a new steel desk trimmed with chrome. The desks are immediately behind the reception counter. All are colored grey.

The entire office is a vault, with a large steel door being the only entrance. The basement work room can be entered only by stairs from the main office. Both the basement and main office have bars on the windows to prevent entrance or exit.

Walls of the office are green, the floors have inlaid linoleum, venetian blinds are on the windows, acoustical tile covers the ceiling, and air conditioners are plentiful.

Deputies are Adelle Carter, Doris Morrison, Marciel Morris, and Gail Anderson.

In Clerk's Office

Abstractors are shown at work in one wing of the county clerk's office. The spacious office provides room for storage of all county records, working area for the clerk and deputies, as well as for the abstract researchers. The clerk's office is on the main floor of the new courthouse.

Plenty Of Room

For the first time Howard County's tax assessor-collector has facilities for departmentalizing work in that busy office. The new facilities are expected to increase convenience to the public, as well as relieve crowded conditions that had cramped workers in the old building.

Tax Office Designed For Full Efficiency

The office in the new Howard County Courthouse with which most people will become familiar during the coming year is that of the Tax Assessor-Collector.

Those who purchase automobile license plates, pay poll taxes or render property taxes will have occasion to visit the office at least once.

The office, which is the second largest in the courthouse, should not be hard to find either. It covers the entire northeast corner of the first floor and contains storage space in the basement.

People having occasion to do business in the tax office will find a large roomy reception room with chairs spaced about the wall. There are seven tax windows to assure prompt service in case of crowds.

Mrs. Viola Robinson, assessor-collector, is mighty proud of the new office and the furnishings. Fixtures were constructed specifically for the work involved, where there was only a make-shift arrangement in the old courthouse.

The tax office is colored in a brownish pink shade and trimmed in aqua-green. Acoustical tile is on the ceiling, and the floor is covered with brown, red and cream colored linoleum. Floor space covers approximately 2,352 square feet.

Six desks are in the main office along with a large work table. All are grey in color. Mrs. Robinson also maintains a desk in her private office, which is located with the vault to the west of the main work room.

The office is a bee-hive of activity. Seven typewriters, two tax roll machines, four adding machines, and records galore are in constant use. Six deputies work in the office.

Three separate departments are maintained in the assessor-collector's office. The automobile department is headed up by Helen Stanley, and she is assisted by Martha Denton. Loy House is in charge of the assessing department. And in the tax department are Sophia Corcoran, Leta Metcalf and Genevieve Cass.

While the visitor can see the activity going on behind the counter, he misses quite a lot of work which is done in the basement. Here the old files, which must be rifled often, are stored.

Actually the basement has the appearance of stacks in an old library. There is hardly room between the shelves for a person to turn around, and volumes are filed all the way to the ceiling. A desk and a work table are also housed in the basement.

Vault in the tax office is of the latest type. Individual cash drawers taken from the counter can be locked up separately each night. Although the entire vault has only one entrance through a steel door, another compartment on the inside can be locked. This insures double safety. Shelves line the vault walls.

Choate has a semi-private office in the southwest corner of the room. Partial partitions which rise about four feet from the floor cut off the office, allowing Choate to carry on conversations with people having personal business.

Large windows allow plenty of light into the clerk's office, offsetting the vault-like atmosphere created by the doors. The walls are light brown, ceilings are equipped with acoustical tile, and the floors have inlaid linoleum.

A counsel table is available in the office for people to consult with their lawyers.

The office is more than twice

Law Library Is Well Equipped

If you're looking for a lawyer, you can probably find one on the third floor of the new Howard County Courthouse.

For it is on the third floor that the law library—which has just received a number of additional legal volumes—is located. There are 18 chairs in the library, and attorneys have indicated that these chairs will be well used.

Three large work tables are arranged in the center of the library room, and book shelves line the two side walls and part of the front. Three large windows are on the north wall.

The shelves, which can be readily adjusted to fit various sized books, have pink tips which blend with the green color on the walls. In addition to the main entrance to the library, another door leads to the District Clerk's office.

Plenty Of Space Provided For County's District Clerk

One of the most secure offices in the new Howard County Courthouse is that of the District Clerk.

The office, which is located on the third floor, can be entered only through three large vault-like steel doors. These doors are made of steel and can be opened only with the proper keys.

People having business in the clerk's office will be primarily concerned with the public entrance, which is located just at the head of the stairs on the north side of the hallway. The other two doors lead into the law library and toward the District Court Room.

It is the responsibility of District Clerk George Choate to see that all doors are locked during the hours the office is closed. This is to safeguard the public papers which are housed in the office, thus assuring a lasting record.

The office has a strict atmosphere of business. People entering the huge room will find an "L" shape counter over which business is conducted. Deputy Elizabeth A. Burrell doubles as receptionist.

File cabinets are spaced at intervals about the room, and they contain records of cases pending in court and those which have already been tried. File dockets, fee books, district court minute books, tax suit records and other records are filed numerically.

Choate has a semi-private office in the southwest corner of the room. Partial partitions which rise about four feet from the floor cut off the office, allowing Choate to carry on conversations with people having personal business.

Large windows allow plenty of light into the clerk's office, offsetting the vault-like atmosphere created by the doors. The walls are light brown, ceilings are equipped with acoustical tile, and the floors have inlaid linoleum.

Several Types Of Lights Used

Although several different lighting systems are used in the new courthouse, practically every office has incandescent lights.

The lights resemble the fluorescent lights of which most people are familiar. However, they are known as "allm line" lights, and they illuminate just as soon as the wall switch is thrown.

The electrical system has been planned so that approximately 40 candle power—which is recommended for paper work—is over each desk.

The allm line lights are encased in eight-foot fixtures containing four long bulbs extending from end to end. Each bulb or line burns about 120 watts and supposedly functions excellently for a thousand hours or more.

The lights are covered with small cross-hatched alabs known as "egg crate louvre." This prevents too much light being spread from the lines.

Ceiling lights have been installed in the District Court Room which throw down powerful rays to light up the entire space. Three large lights, all with square glass covers, are directly over the judge's bench. There are 11 other round ceiling lights spaced at intervals.

General lights are also found rooms and closets.

Texas Range Is Shorter

AUSTIN 17—The condition of all Texas range feed as of Jan. 1 was considerably poorer than a month earlier but was better than that of a year ago, the U. S. Department of Agriculture reported this week.

The USDA's monthly range and livestock report found condition of range feed at 67 per cent. That was a five-point decline from Dec. 1, resulting from low temperatures, lack of moisture and heavy grazing during December.

While range condition was four points rather than a year ago, it was eight points below the 10-year average of 75 per cent for this time of year.

New Building Has Plenty Of Rest Stations

Exclusive of the jail, which contains 21 water closets, the new Howard County Courthouse has 17 rest rooms.

Nine of these are for the public, and the rest are either in private offices or in rooms reserved for the jury panels serving in court.

Public rest rooms can be found on the 1st, 2nd and 3rd floors and in the basement. One for men and one for women are on the south side of the hallway in the east wing on each of these floors. Also a ladies lounge is located on the third floor.

Private rest rooms are in the offices of the District Judge, the County Judge, and the jailer's quarters.

One each is located in the grand jury room, the regular jury deliberation room, the men's jury dormitory room, and the ladies jury dormitory room.

There is also a model bath room located in the home demonstration office of the basement.

The 3rd floor ladies lounge has a day bed, club chair, vanity and bench, a full length mirror, and a tile bathroom containing a water closet and lavatory.

All of the public rest rooms contain two water closets and lavatories. Also all are finished in tile.

A New House Of Justice Dedicated To Equality For All

Another landmark has been completed and progress once again has come to the fore. It is indeed a welcome sign when our city is able to dedicate another fine edifice to the prosperity of our fine community. We have made a good start, now it remains only for us to follow through and we will indeed become the center of activity in West Texas.

We, who are a part of the city, wish to thank all who participated in the planning and construction of the new Courthouse; and we hope that our greatest dreams are realized in the interests of justice. Surely the City has done its part, now it remains only for us to follow through as good citizens. Congratulations for a job well done.

Pictured above is part of the mechanism housed in the basement of the new Howard County Courthouse which controls the heating and cooling of the building. The all-weather air conditioning system works off circulating water, which is heated or cooled to the desired temperature. The same ductwork is used in both winter and summer, with air-conditioning outlets in each room. The entire system cost more than $100,000.

Fourth Courthouse Is Far Cry From County's First

Howard County's fourth courthouse is a far cry from the first, or even its second, which was in reality the first permanent one.

Actually, there was no structure devoted wholly to courthouse purposes at the start with organization of the county in 1882. One of the first acts of the new commissioners court was to appropriate $500 for construction of a two-story frame building which was to serve Howard County Common School District No. 1. In so doing, the commissioners court reserved to use the upper story for courtroom purposes for six months or until a permanent courthouse could be constructed.

Prior to this, county functions were carried on in a sort of curbstone fashion, and I. D. Eddins, who served as a justice of peace, held court in his home. The frame structure was completed early in 1883.

Meanwhile, the county had accepted on Dec. 2, 1882 the gift of all of block 21, original township site, from W. H. Abrams, land commissioner of the Texas & Pacific Railway Company, for courthouse purposes. This was across the street from the frame building which had been erected where the U. S. Post Office now stands.

The court then led a movement for a new courthouse "not to exceed $40,000 in cost." On Feb. 14, 1883, contract was awarded to J. H. Milliken & Co. to construct the native building, which also was to house the jail, in the amount of $33,700.

Inclusion of the jail was a happy development, for the court had been obliged on Aug. 14, 1883 to close a trade with J. Speight for $487 to construct a calaboose. Because prisoners had either to be guarded here or taken to Colorado City, the court kept the heat on Speight to complete the battle quickly. But the "pokey" was so unsubstantial that the prospect of a good jail in the stone courthouse was a healthy one to contemplate. With the order for the new home went its corollary, a 50-cent tax levy to finance it. On both scores, the contrast with the present issue and courthouse is marked. The issue out of which the new county $1,000,000. The tax levy, however, was for 19 cents.

This temple of justice, which at times was so meagerly occupied as to permit a pioneer doctor to have his offices there, proved sufficient until June 29, 1907 when the court entered an order for $46,000 to finance the construction of a new courthouse and jail. Contract for the building went to L. B. Westerman in the amount of $36,000 and red sandstone was chosen for the material. It was completed the following year.

A bulky and ponderous structure, it served well enough until after 1928 when the oil quickly trebled the population and increased demands upon county offices by many times. About the time there was some agitation to provide more adequate quarters, the celebrated depression fixed its grip.

By the mid-30s, however, there was again some speculation but it never warmed much until 1938 when the commissioners court began serious consideration. It went so far as to send delegations of officials and community leaders to inspect some of the more recently constructed courthouses in Texas. Application was put in for a Public Works Administration project, but by the time PWA announced its grant, the fever had cooled. Nothing came of it.

Early in the 30's, county government was consulting for space. The county courtroom was partitioned to satisfy the needs and to help house relief offices. Other partitions followed. The tax collector-assessor made two successive moves but each time ran out of space. The clerk's office had to be enlarged. So in 1948, a $800,000 issue was proposed, but it was defeated at the polls. Two years later, with the building having been momentarily condemned as structurally unsafe as well as woefully inadequate, the public gave resounding approval to a million dollar issue to provide a courthouse that would not only serve present needs but which would look ahead.

With occupancy of the new four story (plus full basement) structure with its 50,300 square feet of floor space, the old building and its auxiliaries will be demolished. Few, if any will be the tears shed at their passing.

Air Conditioning Plant Is Finest

The new Howard County Courthouse has one of the best heating and cooling systems that money can buy.

At least that is the opinion of Bill French, engineer of the structure, who says that the $100,548.00 all-weather system assures year round comfort.

Heat is generously supplied in the winter, and cool temperatures are maintained in the summer. The heating and cooling units are interchangeable simply by moving a lever on the "summer-winter" switch.

Both units work by water circulation, with hot water being pumped about the building during the winter and cold water during the summer. Each room is equipped with one or more window air-conditioning units from which warm or cool air is fanned from the circulating water.

In winter the heating system is switched into play. A gas fired boiler generates steam, which is transferred to a heat exchanger to warm the water. Then the hot water is circulated to all the window units. In summer, two huge compressors with 160 total horsepower are switched on to chill the water. Then cold water is pumped to all the window units through the same pipes that had been used for heating purposes.

When the treated water—either cold or hot—reaches the window units, it runs through coils. A fan in each unit blows over the coils to give the conditioned air. Each window unit has a fresh air intake to pull in fresh air.

Each window unit has a manual control with which the fan can be regulated at three speeds, controlling the amount of heat or cool air circulated. Also each unit has a drainage system so that condensed water which drips off the coils can be disposed of efficiently.

The air-conditioning system has four zones—one each for the north, east, south and west sections of the building. There is a pump for each zone, and each one works separately of the other.

Degree of hot or cold air circulated through the system depends greatly on the outside temperature. The complete system works on an "outside control" basis, French points out.

The mechanism allows for the outside temperature and corrects that on the inside—for each zone. All weather factors are taken into consideration, and even temperatures are maintained on the inside.

If the sun is on one side of the building, overall heat to be circulated in that zone will be automatically cut down. If wind is on another side, then more heat will be generated in the zone covering that side.

Stale air goes out through the cooling tower on top of the building. As the water which has already gone through the complete cooling process is passed through the tower, the stale air picked up while water circulates is let off. The tower can accommodate 420 gallons of water per minute.

Each of the court rooms has a large air conditioning unit, and these units work on the same principles as the window units except on a larger scale. Air goes into the courtrooms through duct work in the ceilings.

Cool air in the District Court Room is exhausted into the jail on the fifth floor to furnish the only air conditioning prisoners will get. The heat for the jail comes from fin convectors which have hot water running through them.

The jail also has a huge exhaust fan to create a draft and pull out stale air. The roof is also insulated to help keep the jail section cool.

Building . . . . A Beautiful Skyline

A New Courthouse . . .

Congratulations, Howard County, on your new courthouse. It adds immeasurably to your standing in the West Texas community and lends added beauty to Big Spring's skyline. Designed to serve all citizens of the county, its completion is a pat on the back for all those who worked so diligently to bring it about.

We are proud to be identified with this project and extend sincere best wishes to Howard County officials and all county residents on dedication and open house ceremonies today.

It was our pleasure to do the roofing and waterproofing for your new courthouse.

LYDICK-HOOKS COMPANY

ABILENE, TEXAS

Westminster Choir To Appear At HSU

ABILENE (Sp1) — The famed Westminster Choir will appear on Feb. 11 at Hardin-Simmons University Rose Field House. This year marks the 31st season this concert group of 40 voices has been before the concert public.

The Westminster Choir was first organized to serve as the volunteer choir of the Westminster Presbyterian Church of Dayton, Ohio. Though the choir retains the name it had in its affiliation with this church, it is no longer a church choir, but the touring concert unit of Westminster Choir College in Princeton, New Jersey.

John Finley Williamson, founder and conductor of the choir, is also founder and president of the Westminster Choir College. Since its initial tour in 1921, the Westminster Choir has sung throughout the United States, Cuba and Canada, made European tours in 1929 and 1934 which included England, Scotland, 13 countries on the continent and Russia.

In 1853 the United States got the Gadsden Purchase, a strip of southern Arizona, from Mexico for 10 million dollars.

Bell Telephone Has Record Profit In '53

NEW YORK (U) — The giant American Telephone & Telegraph Co., whose Bell System companies operate four-fifths of the nation's telephones, had a record net income of $421,060,000 in 1953.

The quarterly report to stockholders released today showed this was equivalent to $10.31 a share and compared with net income of $358,493,204 or $10.09 a share on a lesser number of shares for 1952.

Joins Odem's Staff

HOUSTON (U) — Carlos G. Watson Jr., Brownsville, went to work yesterday as an assistant on the legal staff of U. S. Atty. Brian S. Odem.

Local Men Make Tour Of IH Plant

Curtis Driver, dealer, and J. B. Lamb of Driver Truck and Implement Company, have returned from Fort Wayne, Ind. and Springfield, Ohio where they participated in a special tour of International Harvester's motor truck divisions.

Dealers and servicemen were taken behind the scenes and observed the production techniques which have made International the world's largest producer of a full line of motor trucks.

Besides the magnitude of the assembly lines, the Big Spring men were impressed with efficiency of operation and engineering at every step in the process. At the close of the tour and a hospitality program, representatives of most International outlets claimed basic chassis models for transfer to their respective showrooms.

Two Firms Submit Abilene Low Bids

PORT WORTH (U) — Low bids for construction at Abilene Air Force Base have been submitted by Ottinger Construction Co., Fort Worth, and Robert E. McKee, El Paso, Army Engineers announced here yesterday.

Two sets of bids were invited for building seven 3-story air-men's dormitories and two mess and administration buildings. One calls for concrete frame structures, the other for brick. The Air Force and the Corps of Engineers will decide jointly who gets the contract.

Ottinger's bid totaled $1,950,247 for the concrete work, McKee's $1,800,104 for brick construction.

Another Great Asset For Our Great Country . . . .

Yes . . . a great asset to the country, city and the state of Texas is this new and modern Courthouse of Howard County. ### Designed To Serve

Howard County's fine new courthouse is designed primarily to serve our needs in running the county government. However, its builders, and planners, have gone a step farther and added new beauty to Big Spring and have given all county citizens a public building that will serve for years to come.

To those responsible for its planning and building, we say well done, you have erased a landmark but have erected in its stead a modern new courthouse that is in step with the progress of our fine county. It is with pride we join Howard County officials in inviting your inspection at dedication and open house ceremonies today.

CONGRATULATIONS . . . . CITIZENS And OFFICIALS Of HOWARD COUNTY

It is indeed, a pleasure to congratulate you on this dedication day . . . We deem it a great pleasure to have had the part of planning and constructing this courthouse for you . . . We know that this is another stride forward for Big Spring, and it is just the beginning for a community with foresight.

Again . . . May we sincerely say . . . CONGRATULATIONS.

B. F. HORN COMPANY

GENERAL CONTRACTOR

ABILENE, TEXAS

Imposing Entrance

One of the few ultra-modernistic features of the new courthouse is the main entrance to the District Courtroom. The huge double doors are covered with red leather, and gleaming miniature cattle brands make up the border.

District Courtroom

Convenience marks every feature of the new district courtroom. There are adequate entrances and exits for those who have business with the court, as well as a conveniently located doorway for the public—all of which can be used with a minimum of confusion.

Jury Dormitory

The jury dormitory in the new courthouse probably represents the most radical change in facilities. Comfortable, single beds are neatly arranged in the sleeping quarters, with individual reading lamps for each bed. In addition there is a separate lounge for jurors, and, when needed, space for women jurors.

Three Courts Now Have Ideal, Separate Quarters

The three courts which function in Howard County's courthouse have facilities in the new building for ideal operation.

The courtrooms are located in somewhat widely separated portions of the building, which should serve to avoid confusion when all three are in session simultaneously, and each has space adequate for its needs.

The District Courtroom located on the west end of the third floor is something of a show place, but far from ornate, and is purely functional in design and equipment.

One factor that will impress persons familiar with the courtroom in the old building is the absence of outside noises. Visitors already have commented on the excellent acoustics, and the ventilation system is such that court proceedings can hold forth without opening windows during all seasons of the year.

A cork floor covering serves to deaden footsteps, and entrances are arranged so that spectators and those involved in court proceedings may come and go with a minimum of disturbance.

The main entrance to the District Courtroom is impressive. It is located at the west end of the third floor corridor. The huge double doors are finished in red leather, with a border of miniature metal cattle brands.

New furnishings in light-finished hardwood lend a modernistic touch to the interior.

Swivel chairs designed for unusual comfort have been installed in the jury box. And this box is as close to the public as a jury will come during the course of the trial of any case which requires that the jury be kept together—excepting meal times, of course. A single door opening directly from the jury box leads to the jury's conference room, which is equipped with a drinking fountain and sanitary facilities. A stairway leading from the jury conference room leads to the lounge and jury dormitories on the floor above. There is no other entrance to the jury quarters.

The lounge, or reading room separates two dormitories. In the larger dormitory there are 13 completely equipped single beds (there are no double deck bunks), 12 for members of the jury and one for the bailiff. There are individual reading lamps so that jurors who desire may read after retiring for the night without disturbing others in the dormitory.

The smaller dormitory is unfinished as yet. It was built to accommodate six single beds, and will be put into use if and when women are made eligible for jury service in Texas.

The door leading from the jury box to the conference room is on the west side of the bench. On the other side of the bench, a similar door leads into the District Judge's office. The judge's office is equipped with an executive type desk, book shelves, cabinets, etc., and has its own sanitary facilities.

There is another doorway leading from the courtroom and located behind "the rail" which opens into a small corridor. This corridor leads first to the entrance to the court reporter's office and then to a side entrance to the District Clerk's office.

The court reporter's office, completely equipped with new and modern furniture, is large enough for storage of the reporter's records and for conferences when attorneys or others need to confer with the reporter during court recesses, etc. It also is large enough to accommodate all persons involved when the court reporter is recording routine depositions, etc.

By continuing through the small corridor to the side entrance, a person can reach the District Clerk's office, and the county law library is located immediately east of the clerk's office.

Thus, Judge Charles Sullivan, his court reporter, Charles (Hap) Kee and District Clerk George Choate, along with attorneys, can make use of these facilities without emerging into the main public corridor on the third floor.

And witnesses no longer will be herded into corridors and pushed out to the stairways. There are two witness rooms equipped with chairs, etc., and a small conference room where attorneys may confer with witnesses outside the courtroom. These witness rooms are located across the main third floor corridor from the clerk's office and adjacent to the public seating space in the courtroom.

The combined facilities for District Court embrace virtually all space in the west half of the third floor, plus the jury dormitories on the fourth floor.

Water For Cooling, Heating Is Treated

Water softeners have been installed in the new Howard County Courthouse to insure protection of the $100,000 cooling and heating system.

The water which is being pumped here now from Martin County wells is too hard for proper functioning of the system, and the Commissioners Court decided the softening process was necessary.

Two softeners have been installed in the building, and it is estimated that they can accommodate some 6,000 gallons of water per day. These softeners can be regenerated daily, if necessary, by the janitorial staff.

The softeners were installed by the Continental Products Company of Odessa on a low bid of $1,150.

County Court Emerges From Rags To Riches

The new courthouse provides Howard County Court with the first home of its own in more than a decade.

It was shortly after the outset of World War II that the county courtroom in the old courthouse was "boxed in" and put into other use. Such action was necessary due to lack of space in the old building, which even 12 or 15 years ago was beginning to pinch.

The most recent tenant of the old county courtroom was the tax office.

For County Court, the new building represents a literal "rags to riches" development.

The new county courtroom is located on the second floor at the extreme west end of the main corridor. It is equipped with a modern bench, jury box and ample seating space outside the working area to accommodate jury panels and spectators.

Double doors lead from the main corridor to the public seating space.

Another door is located adjacent to the bench. This leads directly from the County Judge's office.

There is no specified place for County Court juries to deliberate, but there are handy facilities available for that purpose on those rare occasions when they are needed. When it is not in use, juries may use the commissioners court council room, which adjoins the County Judge's office, or a spare room to be used for records, etc., adjacent to the County Attorney's office.

Superintendent Has A Spacious Office Layout

In Walker Bailey's old office, chances, are he'd be the first person you'd see upon entering the county school superintendent's office.

In his new quarters, located in the northeast corner of the second floor of the new courthouse, his desk is located in the inner office of a department that includes three rooms. (The other house the spacious book room and rural school library, which Bailey is commissioned to maintain, and Mrs. Helen Acuff, long-time employe of the superintendent's office).

Bailey will be no less accessible than he has been in the past, however, he says he intends to keep his door open for all callers.

Shelves line three walls of the book room, so built that all books are within easy reach of the average person. Mrs. Acuff's duties are such that she will be working much of the time in the book room and rural school library as well as maintaining records.

HOWARD COUNTY COURT HOUSE

Dedicated To Equal Justice For All Who Enter Its Portals . . . A Monument To A Progressive Citizenry . . .

DEDICATED THIS DATE JANUARY 17, 1954

We at the Big Spring Motor Company, the Management and employees, wish to congratulate the progressive citizens of Howard County who have worked so diligently for the building of our new Court House. It has been a big job, but not bigger than the fine craftsmen who have built it. May we say Hats Off to the Commissioners Court, the County Judge, The Planning Committee of the Chamber of Commerce and to the many others who have worked so hard to bring this new edifice to us. We thank you.

BIG SPRING MOTOR CO.

Living Room

Home Demonstration Agent Sue Newman has "living room" in her office. Shown above, the agent's office is in the living room of the home demonstration cottage in the basement of the new courthouse. The home demonstration quarters include combination kitchen and dining room, bedroom, bath and the living room.

Take Your Choice

Persons who have business above or below the first floor of the new courthouse can take their choice between an automatic elevator and a spacious stairway. One elevator is available for public use, while another is for exclusive use of law enforcement officers.

Commissioners Court

The large chamber, above, will provide seating for a large number of visitors at commissioners court meetings in the new courthouse. Commissioners table is shown in the south end of the room. In the foreground are benches for visitors.

Cottage Planned For Home Demonstration

Citizens inspecting the new Howard County Courthouse today also will have an opportunity to view a model home.

It is the home demonstration department's "Cottage" located in the northwest corner of the courthouse basement.

It includes living room, bedroom, bath, kitchen and dining room — completely furnished.

The model home is adjacent to the offices of Home Demonstration Agent Sue Newman and County Agent Durward Lewter and their staff.

Mrs. Newman's desk is in the living room, but she will share the outer office with the agricultural agent's secretary. Entered by way of this "front office" are the quarters of the county agent. His assistant, Jimmy Wren, has a desk in the reception area, also.

The offices are adjacent to the basement storage area which the two farm and home officials will share with other courthouse personnel for storage purposes. The agents' duplicating equipment probably will be operated in the storage room, also.

Both the offices are equipped with new steel furniture, including desks, chairs, filing cabinets, etc. Consequently, only records, office machines and similar equipment had to be moved from the county and home demonstration building at 311 Scurry.

The home demonstration cottage is equipped with birch casual modern furniture throughout, all purchased from a local home furnishings dealer.

Kitchen is fitted with steel cabinets and sink unit, stove and refrigerator and other accessories. Walls are of plaster, painted a light yellow.

The dining area is adjacent to the kitchen, and may be seen from the living room. It has dining table and chairs, silver and china cabinets, etc., all in the style of furnishings in the living room and bedroom. Plaster walls here are finished in a light green to match living room. The bedroom is painted a light rose.

Bathroom is tiled to within two feet of the ceiling, with wainscoting of gray with maroon trim. Plaster above the tile is finished in blue.

With exception of the bathroom, which has a tile floor, the quarters have floor covering of asphalt tile. Decorative chandeliers provide artificial light in the living and dining rooms, while conventional fixtures are used in other parts of the "house."

The offices of the county agent and demonstrator are conveniently reached from the main floor of the courthouse by way of the west basement stairway or the main stairway at the south entrance to the building.

Treasurer Has Colorful New Office Space

One of the smaller and more private offices in the new courthouse is that of the County Treasurer.

The office contains only one desk, two chairs for visitors, a closet and a wall vault. These items are all that are necessary for Mrs. Frances Glenn, treasurer, to set up shop.

Although the public is welcome in the office, Mrs. Glenn explains that her work deals primarily with various county officials. Consequently an elaborate layout is not necessary.

However, the office is among the more colorful in the building. It has three colors on the wall—yellow, green and brown—and is trimmed with other colors on the floor and ceiling.

Main entrance to the treasurer's office is on the second floor near the head of the stairs. It is on the north side of the building, joining the auditor's office by connecting doors.

A large vault in the office houses supplies, old records, keys to the building, and occasionally some amounts of money. Most money is banked during business hours, however.

Mrs. Glenn has been treasurer since 1949. Before that she worked in the tax assessor-collector's office and at the bombardier school here. She originally hailed from Knott and has lived in Big Spring since 1932.

County Surveyor In Basement Office

One of the offices which profited by the move into the new courthouse was that of the County Surveyor, which previously had been quartered on the second floor of the old City Hall building on the northwest corner of the courthouse lot.

Ralph Baker, the surveyor, now shares a portion of the basement with the American Red Cross.

Actually, the two offices are located in different rooms but anyone looking for the County Surveyor's office finds he has to go through the ARC headquarters.

The County Surveyor's quarters is equipped with four drafting tables, plus a desk and a table.

The office also boasts a vault, where the various records, maps, etc., are to be kept.

Facts, Figures On New Building

If you are interested in facts and figures about Howard County's new courthouse, the general contractor, B. F. Horn of Abilene and the architect-engineer, Puckett & French of Big Spring, have the answers for you.

For instance, the building is 135 x 75 feet and has five floors. The basement floor is 8 ft. 6 in. below grade level and footings extend 22 feet below grade level. The building is 48 ft. 6 in. from grade to the first parapet and 53 ft. 6 in. to the center parapet. It contains 50,300 square feet of floor space.

Contained in the building are 100,729 face brick; 121,420 common brick; 4,602 fire brick; 61,128 clay tile (all sizes); 13,840 glazed tile.

Into the structure went 265,000 pounds of reinforcing, structural, joist and miscellaneous steel; 50,580 pounds of granite; 237,240 pounds of marble; 687,600 pounds of cut stone.

A total of 1,977,500 pounds of sand, 3,364,200 pounds of gravel, 783,840 pounds of cement, requiring 17,633 gallons of water for mixture, were elements of the building.

General contract was for $459,000; air conditioning and plumbing for $140,648; electrical $34,293; elevators $33,961; jail $56,200. Furnishings (with some still to be bought) cost $73,477. Other costs will be the architect engineering fee (five per cent of construction) and the installation of walkways, drives and landscaping. Cost per square foot on general contract was $9.10; heating and plumbing $2.79; electrical 68 cents; total $12.57. When elevators and jail are figured in, cost is $14.35 per square foot.

Administrative Offices Are Grouped Along Second Floor

County administration headquarters is on the second floor of the new courthouse — grouped about the county courtroom at the west end of the building.

Administrative offices are those of the county judge, the auditor and facilities of the commissioners court.

The commissioners courtroom is adjacent to the stairway leading from the first floor. The spacious room is equipped with benches for visitors to commissioners meetings and has a large conference table for official discussions and other business meetings.

Next to the commissioners courtroom is a private conference room. Mrs. Joan Hood, secretary to Judge R. H. Weaver, has her desk in this room which also is connected with the judge's office.

Benches in the commissioners room are of the same type used in county and district courtrooms.

Red Cross Office Now In Courthouse

The Howard-Glasscock chapter of the American Red Cross has offices in the basement of the new courthouse.

Mrs. Moore Sawelle, executive secretary, has moved her furnishings and equipment from the old building at the corner of Fourth and Scurry where she formerly shared office space with the Boy Scout organization.

The new Red Cross office is in the east wing of the courthouse basement, in the northwest quarter of the building which also houses the county surveyor's office.

while other furnishings are of the steel variety. Flooring as in other offices, is of asphalt tile to match plaster walls which are finished in light pastel colors.

A departure from the gray color of furniture throughout most of the remainder of the building will be noticed during open house in the judge's office. Furnishings here are finished in brown.

Furniture includes new desks and chairs, filing cabinets, book cases, storage cabinets and similar items.

The auditor's office is at the top of the stairway leading to the second floor, on the north side of the building. Immediately inside the entrance is a small lobby.

The visitor will look across a small steel counter of the desk and accounting facilities of Auditor Lee Porter.

The office also is equipped with a large vault room for the storage of courthouse supplies, financial records and other material.

County commissioners you'll see during the open house are Feto Long, Arthur Stallings, Ralph Proctor and Earl Hull.

ASC Has Office On Second Floor

The Agriculture Stabilization and Conservation Office, formerly the Production & Marketing Administration, is situated on the second floor of the new courthouse.

Gabe Hammack, office manager, and his staff have two large offices for operation of the local agency of the Department of Agriculture. The ASC (PMA) had offices in the old city hall building at Third and Scurry until the new courthouse was completed.

Aliens Reminded Of Registration Requirements

M. R. Toole, El Paso, acting district director for the U. S. Immigration and Naturalization Service, has reminded aliens once more that they have until Jan. 31 to register.

Under federal law, all aliens residing in the United States and all temporarily for a period in excess of 29 days must file an address report during the period from Jan. 1 through Jan. 31, 1954. Such a report must be filed in each succeeding year.

This is in addition to the change of address report which must be submitted on Form AR-11 by all aliens residing permanently in the United States within 10 days of such change of address.

All aliens temporarily in the United States must submit, in addition to the report submitted in January of each year, form AR-11 showing their current address at the expiration of each three months period, regardless of whether there has been a change or not.

If an alien is temporarily absent from the United States during the January registration period, he must file such report within 10 days of his return.

For those who have applied for naturalization papers, but who have not yet been naturalized, it is necessary to comply with the law and register this month and file address reports periodically until naturalized.

Forms may be secured at the post office and left there when completed.

Bond Election Upheld By Judge At Laredo

LAREDO (AP)—Webb County commissioners were upheld yesterday by Dist. Judge E. D. Salinas in calling a $523,000 county road bond election.

A group of bankers, businessmen and ranchers had sought to invalidate the election or any bonds issued. They charged the county has been transferring money from the road fund to the general operating fund.

Grand Jury Inspection Set Off Events Leading To Courthouse

General concern over public safety and the care of public records led to the construction of Howard County's new courthouse.

Fittingly, it was a grand jury that focused the public's attention upon undesirable conditions, and once they became acquainted with the facts, voters of the county did something to remedy the situation. It all started in January, 1951.

Although most area citizens knew that the old courthouse which had served since 1909 was not much to look at, it was generally assumed that it could be kept in service for a few more years. In fact, only a matter of some two years had elapsed since the county's taxpaying voters had turned down a $600,000 bond issue which had been proposed to replace the structure.

Then came the first move in a series of events that ultimately brought out the voters to support a $1 million bond issue.

The grand jury for the January, 1951, term of 118th District Court was instructed by Judge Charlie Sullivan to make an inspection of the courthouse and jail. Such procedure on the part of a judge often is routine, but that particular grand jury complied with the instructions in a business-like way. In calling attention to the need for such an inspection, Judge Sullivan noted that County Commissioners had encountered space problems in providing facilities for carrying on the county's business during the year just started.

In addition, Judge Sullivan noted that some "small" crevices that had appeared over a period of months in walls of the district court room had suddenly increased substantially in size.

The result was a written report by the grand jury detailing a list of items which the jury suggested might need immediate attention. The grand jury found "structural faults," amazingly crowded conditions in all county offices, undesirable sanitary conditions, and other things which it listed in the report over the signature of Foreman John L. Dibrell Jr.

One week later county commissioners had a well-known engineer on hand to make an inspection.

Prof. Neils Thompson of the University of Texas spent several hours in the building, and immediately gave commissioners a verbal report. He advised commissioners that the old building had fallen victim to "differential settling" and that parts of the building were indeed hazardous to the public. He further advised that in most cities the old building would have long since been condemned.

The engineer recommended that use of the district court room be discontinued until some temporary repairs could be made, and that the west entrance to the court room be sealed immediately.

The engineer's recommendation was followed, and district court was shifted to the city hall for a brief period while temporary repairs, as outlined by Prof. Thompson, were made.

The subsequent petition and order calling for a bond election appeared as mere formalities in the wake of those developments, but the public had become thoroughly awakened to the problem.

Groups representing civic organizations and individuals made it a point during ensuing weeks to "see for themselves." Tours of the old courthouse and jail became common.

Meanwhile, county commissioners engaged the services of architects, and plans for a proposed new building were ready before the date set for the bond election.

These plans, calling for construction of a four-story (with full basement) building, were widely publicized, giving all voters an opportunity to envision the exact use the county proposed to make of the bond money.

The bond election was held on May 12, 1951, and the $1 million issue was approved by a margin of 956 to 335.

That's how Howard County got its new courthouse.

A Dream Comes True . . .
And Today's Open House
At Howard County's New Courthouse

Yes, Howard County's dream of a new courthouse has now become reality . . . and dedication and open house today give our citizens one of the finest courthouses to be found in West Texas.

To the officials and citizens of Howard County, we offer our congratulations upon the completion of this splendid new building. The design is one of beauty, adding much to our county and Big Spring. All in all, we are quite pleased with it and add our best wishes to those who have made it possible.

PROVE IT YOURSELF!

"HAND-HEAT TEST" SHOWS WHY.
Dip hands in water. Then put a tablespoon of any leading washday detergent in one hand — put a tablespoon of VEL in the other.

FEEL THE HEAT from washday detergents, indicating irritating alkalis and harsh chemicals that cause "Detergent Burn"!

FEEL NO HEAT WITH VEL because Vel contains no irritating alkalis or harsh washday chemicals to cause "Detergent Burn"!

VEL is a miracle of mildness! Vel helps you avoid rough, red hands — causes no "Detergent Burn"!

MarVELous for dishes and finest fabrics!

*VEL is the trade-mark of the Colgate-Palmolive Company.

Panel 1: YOU SENT FOR ME, MR. MCKEE?
YES, EASY, I'M ALARMED BY WASH TUBE'S LARGE DONATIONS TO CHARITY RECENTLY! HE CAN'T HAVE EARNED THAT MUCH! NOT ON HIS INCOME!

Panel 2: I'VE BEEN PUZZLED TOO, SIR, BUT PERHAPS HE INVESTED WISELY...
FIDDLE-FIDDLE! WASH IS NO FINANCIAL WIZARD... TO PUT IT MILDLY!

Panel 3: HMM... WELL, AT LEAST WE KNOW HE GOT IT HONESTLY!
YES-AHEM-OF COURSE... UNLESS HE'S SUFFERED A TEMPORARY MENTAL BREAKDOWN...

Panel 4: NO ONE ADMIRES PHILANTHROPY MORE THAN I! BUT WASH CAN'T SEEM TO GET OUT OF DEBT... MUCH LESS SAVE!
MR. ROWDY SPLENDID TO SEE YOU, SIR! SOME VERY URGENT!

Panel 5: NO... HE'S OUT. BESIDES, I FIGURED I OUGHTA TELL YOU FIRST! YSEE, WASH'S GIFTS LATELY TOTAL $17,000! QUITE A COINCIDENCE, EH?
NOW WAIT A MINUTE! I RESENT THAT IMPLICATION! IT WAS A COINCIDENCE, BUT HE DIDN'T-- WAIT, EASY! I... I'M SURE THERE'S SOME MISTAKE! I HAVE THE UTMOST FAITH IN MY SON-IN-LAW!

Panel 6: DON'T MENTION THIS TO ANYONE YET, RONDY! I'LL STROLL OVER AND LET WASH CLEAR THIS UP!
TH' OLE CODGER WOULDN'T EVER REPORT IT TO TH' COPS! HE COULDN'T STAND TH' DISGRACE OF AN EMBEZZLER IN TH' FAMILY!

Panel 7: THIS IS AN OUTRAGE, WASH! BEING DRIVEN FROM OUR OWN HOME BY DEADBEATS, CREDITORS, AND SALESMEN WHO THINK WE'VE STRUCK IT RICH!
WOULDN'T BE SO HARD TO TAKE IF WE WERE RICH! GOSH, I HAD TO PROMISE MR. WACKANDAL I'D NEVER TELL ANYBODY HE PUT UP TH' MONEY FOR THOSE DONATIONS! HAM... HERE'S MR. MCKEE TO WELCOME US!

Panel 8: WASH, I DISLIKE PRYING INTO YOUR AFFAIRS, BUT WHERE DID YOU GET THE MONEY YOU GAVE THOSE CHARITIES?
...I CAN'T TELL YOU, MR. MCKEE!
NOW, DADDY, DON'T BE SO NOSY! IT WILL ONLY EMBARRASS WASH! HE HAS ENOUGH TROUBLES ALREADY!

ALLEY OOP

By V. T. Hamlin

Panel 1: NOSIR, GUZ, WE NEVER EVEN SAW ANY TRACKS!
S'NO GAME ANYWHERE... WE'RE FACING STARVATION! WHAT'LL WE DO?
D'YA SEE WHAT OOPS DOIN' OUT THERE? AWRIGHT, GO GIVE 'M A HAND!

Panel 2: D'YOU EXPECT US TO EAT VEGE'BLEGS?
WE'RE NOT RABBITS, WE'RE MEN! WE EAT MEAT!
ALLEY OOP, TH' MIGHTY HUNTER, GRUBBIN' IN TH' DIRT! GHAAA!
YEAH... PITIFUL! I ALWAYS KNEW HE WAS CRACKED!

Panel 3: THERE... ALL DONE. BEST L'L OL' GARDEN YE'VEER SAW... WHEW! BET I SLEEP GOOD T'NIGHT, YEZZIR!

Panel 4: EH? WHUZZIG? MORNING AL-READY?
YEH, CMON, GET UP... I WANTA SHOW YOU SUMPIN.

Panel 5: THERE, SEE? MY GARDEN!

Panel 6: YGOTTA HAND IT TO OOP... WHEN HE SETS OUT TO DO SUMPIN, IT SURE GETS DONE!

Panel 7: YEH, BUT WHO'D A-THOUGHT HE HAD TH' SENSE TO MAKE TH' GAME COME TO HIM, STEDDA GOIN' AFTER IT LIKE WE'VE BEEN DOING?

Panel 8: BARBECCLED STRUTHIOMIMUS! Mmm Mmm! MAN, THIS IS EATIN'!

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

With Major Hoople

Panel 1: I MISPLACED THE TV DRAMA I'VE BEEN WRITING ALL WEEK!
HOW DID IT GO?
YOU'D DOTE ON IT, LEANDER! THE SAGA OF BOLD BEN BLACKSTONE, OLD INDIAN FIGHTER! IT'S REALLY ONE OF MY OWN ADVENTURES!
SOUNDS HOT AS A PICKLED PEPPER!

Panel 2: BOLD BEN BATTLES A BAND OF APACHES SHOOTING POISON ARROWS AT HIM

Panel 3: A CYCLONE COMES ALONG--HE DRIVES A STAKE AND FASTENS HIS LARIAT TO IT, SHOOTING ALL THE WHILE

Panel 4: AS BUCKSKIN BESSIE FLOATS PAST IN THE CYCLONE, HE LASSOES HER, SAVING HER LIFE, WHILE POLISHING OFF THE LAST OF THE BLOOD-THIRSTY REDSKINS!

Panel 5: WOW! IF I'D SEEN THAT LAYING AROUND I'D REMEMBER IT TO MY DYING DAY!
UM! PERHAPS YOUR AUNT MARTHA PICKED UP THE PLAY WHILE DUSTING!

Panel 6: DID YOU SEE THE MANUSCRIPT OF MY TV PLAY, MARTHA, MY DEAR?
YOU MEAN THAT ABOUT BOLD BEN THE OLD INDIAN FIGHTER?

Panel 7: YES! WHERE IS IT?
WHILE I WAS READING IT, A SMALL TORNADO BLEW IN THE WINDOW AND BLEW IT AWAY!

Panel 8: BAH! I'LL WRITE A LETTER TO THE EDITOR ABOUT WOMEN WITH THEIR COMMONPLACE MINDS! NO IMAGINATION WHATEVER!

DON'T YOU WORRY, MR. JULIUS- NOTHIN' IS GONNA HAPPEN TO THE BUS THAT'S BRINGIN' YOUR WIFE AND KIDS-

IT WAS A LUCKY NIGHT FOR ME WHEN I STUMBLED IN HERE- JOBLESS, WET AND HUNGRY- AND YOU GAVE ME SHELTER FROM THE STORM-

MR. COBB GAVE ME A JOB- AND NOW I'LL HAVE MY WIFE AND KIDS WITH ME AGAIN- MY OWN LITTLE FAMILY-

GEE- IT MUST BE TERRIBLE GRAND TO HAVE A FAMILY ALL OF YOUR VERY OWN-

BUT YOU ARE GOING TO HAVE A FAMILY OF YOUR OWN- MR. AND MRS. COBB PLAN TO ADOPT YOU AS THEIR OWN CHILD-

I KNOW- BUT IT'S JUST LIKE A DREAM-

MEANWHILE
MINNIE MEANY- HI YA KID- AM I GLAD TO SEE YOU! WHATEVER THE JOB IS I'LL TAKE IT AN'-

KEEP YOUR NOISY TRAP SHUT, BABY-FACE BOGGS, OR WE'LL BOTH LAND IN THE SOUP!!

ARE YOU KIDDIN' ? YOU MEAN YOU'RE GONNA BREAK AWAY FROM YOUR OLD LADY? THAT'S BAD- IT'S RISKY DOUBLE-CROSSIN' YOUR OWN MOTHER-

KEEP YOUR ADVICE - DO YOU WANT TO PICK UP A BUNDLE OF EASY MONEY FAST? IF YOU DON'T--

DID I SAY NO? IF ITS MONEY I'LL BE ALL BARS AND NO MOUTH-

THIS IS A HIJACKING JOB- MY MOTHER IS PLANNING TO FIND A LITTLE KID AND MAKE A HUNDRED GRAND- OUR JOB IS TO STOP HER- SHE WON'T DARE YELL TO THE LAW- CATCH ON?

I KETCH, BABY- I KETCH-
