

Parade Kicks-Off Celebration

This is the week for the big "Border Town Days" celebration in Texico-Farwell. The event will be kicked off with a gigantic parade at 4 p.m. today (Thursday) July 31.

Fred Chandler, parade marshal, states the parade will form on New Mexico Highway 108 at the intersection of U. S. 60-70-84 west of the Burger-Barn Drive Inn in Texico. All parade participants are to assemble in that area at 3 p.m.

and be ready to move out in formation at 4 o'clock. The parade will take a route eastward through Texico and Farwell and end at the Roping Arena in east Farwell.

First performance of the AJRA rodeo is scheduled for 8 p.m., Thursday, following introduction of the Border Town Queen contestants at 7:45 p.m. On each of the succeeding evenings the contestants will be introduced prior to the rodeo performances. Carolyn Langford, 1968 Border Town Days queen, will reign over the festivities until the 1969 queen is crowned on Saturday evening.

All Border Town Days visitors are invited to visit the art show which will be held at Art 'N Such between the hours of 10 a. m. and 5 p.m. on Saturday, Aug. 2. All persons visiting the art shop are invited to register for door prizes.

By the entry deadline Monday evening, some 221 contestants 19 years of age and under had registered to participate in the events at the rodeo. Dick Ratten of Happy is providing the stock for the rodeo performances.

Farwell senior class will operate the concession stand at the rodeo grounds.

The only events scheduled for Friday are the rodeo performance and introduction of queen contestants.

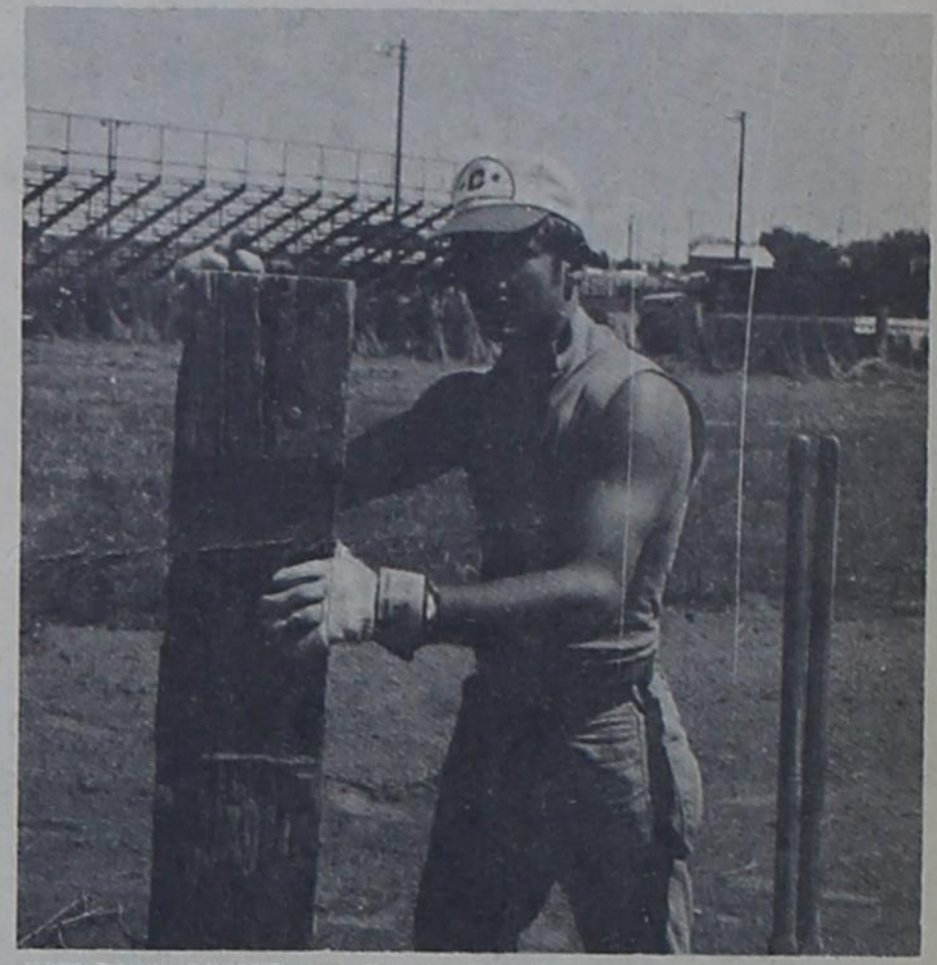

Saturday morning, the queen contestants will be judged at the city park on personality, poise, and appearance. The queen will be crowned at the rodeo performance Saturday evening.

Other Saturday festivities include musical entertainment at the city park by Edd Hardage and his grandson, Kevin Hardage, son of the Gene Hard-ages. The musical entertainment will begin at 3 p.m. Master of ceremonies for the Saturday festivities is Wilfred "Dutch" Quickel.

Starting at 4 p.m., Saturday, a barbecue meal will be served at the city park for $1.50 per plate. Barbeque beef will be prepared by Henry and Adolph Haseloff and will be served with pinto beans, potato salad, peaches, bread and iced tea. Chamber of Commerce members and ladies of the school cafeteria staff will assist in serving the meal.

New bleachers have been erected at the arena and a crowd of 2,000 persons can now be seated comfortably, according to Delbert Garner, president of the Farwell Arena Association. Admission to the rodeo is $1.00 for adults and 50¢ for children.

BUILDING FENCE --- Randy Chandler sets a post at the Farwell Roping Arena where new fence is being installed to provide additional parking space for contestants and rodeo fans. Note the new bleachers in the background. Work on the bleachers was in the last stages of completion at press time.

By John

Have you noticed? Slightly soiled Luna has been gazing down upon us with full face this week. The serene majesty of the full moon has inspired mankind down through the ages and at long last this far distant enigma is yielding up her personal secrets to increasingly inquisitive man. Somehow the concept of Eros, the alabaster God of Love, is more fitting for our monthly night rider than as a dirty gray dead repository of cosmic secrets.

However, youth being eternal youth, we suspect that the footprints of man on the moon will not decrease the power of the pull of the full moon on our emotions, and young lovers will continue to spoon by the light of the silvery moon as in ages past.

We know that occasionally this weekly reportings of the Twin Cities goes rather far afield. Generally we do not know this beforehand so are not able to extend personal greetings to local travelers.

Not so this week. Jack Williams informs us that he has been sending the Tribune air mail to the European tour group being conducted by Mr. and Mrs. Amos Tatum, and will again air mail this week's issue.

"Hello Paris, France -- Our best wishes to the Tatum and Ruth Anne, Trum, Sharon, Nedda, Patti, and Gwen."

Another Border Town Days is upon us and the entire community is agog with fun and good will. The Roping Club has worked long and hard to provide expanded facilities for their AJRA Rodeo.

This year, additional bleachers have been provided along with improved parking facilities. This improvement is in line with their always enjoyable young folks rodeo. You can't do better than to attend the rodeo at Farwell Roping Arena during Border Town Days.

Space age technology is upon us. Bob Westphal at the Holiday Store received a post card from a watch manufacturer telling that their watch movement was left on the moon to time the lunar quakes.

This isn't as startling as the post card itself. The front of the card depicts a rocket leaving the Earth as it separates the booster stages. It is in perfect three dimensional. At least, it looks three dimensional. It is on the perfectly flat post card and cannot actually have depth, but it gives the perfect illusion of depth. Darn clever, these post card makers.

One of the little things in this complicated life that unreasonably irritates us is being stopped on the highway and made to produce the old driver's license. The calm and rational part of our mind says that this is necessary for public protection and good police practice. The prejudicial part of our mind says that this is a "H--- of a note" for a lawabiding American citizen to be stopped and made to produce an identification tag as if in the Iron Curtain countries.

The reason for this week's outburst of pique is that we actually went to a driver's license shakedown expecting to find an accident. Instead we got summarily hauled over and made to wait in a long line of cars and eventually ransomed our freedom with our plastic passport. Ugh!

Gabe Anderson, Jr. Elected To Bank Board Of Directors

W. M. Decker, Chairman of the Board, and J. W. Smith, president of the Bank of the Southwest, Amarillo, announce the election of Gabe D. Anderson, Jr. of Bovina to the bank's board of directors.

Anderson is associated with the Sherly Grain Co., Bovina, and with his associates owns and operates elevators at Lariat, Farwell, Lazbuddie and Rhea. He is also affiliated with Parmer County Cattle Co., Bovina, a modern feedlot of operation. He also has oil and gas interests.

Anderson is immediate past president of the Texas Grain and Feed Association, has served as president of the Panhandle Grain and Feed Dealers Association. He has served as an of-

Vote On Nine Amendments --

Election Tuesday

Residents of Parmer County will go to the polls on Tuesday, August 5, to cast ballots on nine constitutional amendments. Absentee voting on the proposed amendments will continue through 5 p.m. today (Friday), August 1. At press time, only six absentee ballots had been cast in Parmer County, according to County Clerk Bonnie Warren.

Farwell residents will cast their ballots at the county courtroom at the courthouse while residents of Bovina will vote at the Legion Hall, in Friona, ballots will be cast at the school; and at Lazbuddie, voters will also cast their ballots at the school. Black precinct voters will cast their ballots at the elevator office and persons at Rhea will cast their ballots at the parish hall. Persons voting in the Oklahoma Lane precinct will cast their ballots at the community center while residents of the Lakeview area will vote at the Otho Whitefield residence.

The amendment which would effect persons in this area the most is amendment #2 which would authorize the Texas Water Development Board to issue $3.5 billion in bonds to finance the state's share of the cost of the long-range Texas Water Plan. Amendment #2 is endorsed by Governor Preston Smith, and former Governors Price Daniels, John Connally and Allan Shivers.

Noting that never before has a proposed amendment to the State Constitution had the support of so many Texas leaders, Smith said the objectives of the Texas Water Plan is to provide adequate water to maintain the growth and prosperity of Texas into the next century when it is estimated that the state will have a population of more than 30 million persons. The plan will provide water for domestic and municipal uses, for industry, for agriculture, for recreation, for bays and estuaries and for many other beneficial purposes, Governor Smith pointed out.

Other amendments which will be voted on include #1 which would repeal the obsolete, superfluous or unnecessary sections of the Constitution. Amendment #3 deals with raising salaries of the Lieutenant Governor, Speaker of the House and members of the Legislature; #4 deals with exempting property of nonprofit water supply companies from taxation; #5 would raise the State welfare ceiling from $60 million to $80 million annually; #6 would remove limits on interest rates to be charged on public debt.

Amendment #7 asks for broadening authority for making assistance payments to survivors of public officers, employees, and agents; amendment #8 asks for an additional $200 million in bonds to finance the student loan program; and amendment #9 would provide for annual sessions of the Legislature.

All area residents are urged to vote on Tuesday and express their opinion on all of the amendments.

Before School Starts --

Children Must Have Immunization Shots

A. D. McDonald, superintendent of Texico schools, states that in reviewing the school health record for next year, the school nurse has found that almost every child in the Texico school needs a booster shot or oral polio drops.

The school age students need boosters in diphtheria, tetanus and smallpox. The oral polio is now required since the medicine for the booster is no longer made.

New Mexico immunization laws state, "No student may attend school longer than one month unless he has been immunized as required."

Parents should realize that it is their legal responsibility to check their children's record and to get the shots up to date. This fall the names of students and parents who have not had the required immunization shots will be reported after the first month of school to the local health department (Curry County) who will in turn report them to the District Attorney's office for prosecution, as required by law.

McDonald stated, "Parents should realize that we are talking about any student in the Texico schools, not just the first graders."

Carved Frames To Be Shown At Art 'N Such

A private showing of imported hand-carved gold-leafed picture frames will be held at the Gallery of the Pink Berets of Art 'N Such in Farwell at 123 Main Street on Monday, August 4, from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m.

The frames are being brought to Farwell by the Zaldivar Company of Wichita Falls, Tex.

All persons in the area, who are looking for a particular frame, should plan to come in and see this fine display Mrs. JoAnn Liehen, co-owner of the art shop, says that a truckload of frames will be on hand from which selections can be made.

Revival Slated By Baptist Church

The First Baptist Church in Farwell will be holding a revival August 8, 9, 10. Services will be conducted each night at 8 p.m., preceded by a prayer service at 7:30.

Hugh Jack Norwood will be speaker for the series of special services and Eddie Howard will bring the sermon in song.

The public is invited to attend each of the special services.

FFA Members Receive Lone Star Degrees

The highest award to be earned at the state level, that of the Lone Star Farmer, was presented to three members of Farwell FFA Chapter at the 41st annual convention of Future Farmers of America members held in Fort Worth July 16, 17, 18.

Boys receiving the gold charm and certificate of the Lone Star Farmer degree at the convention were John Snider, Jay Herington and Robert Haseloff. The boys were accompanied to the convention by Jerry Mathis and Jon Scott, vocational agriculture instructors at Farwell School.

John Snider, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Snider, Jr. and a senior at Farwell High School, has had many projects including pig for pork production, and cotton for lint production. He has attended the Hereford Stock Show, Amarillo Stock Show, Farwell Stock Show and has exhibited champion swine. He exhibited the champion Chesterwhite Barrow at the Hereford show during his freshmen year in high school and has also exhibited other swine during the past three years.

Jay Herington, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Herington is also a senior. His projects have included milo for grain production, pigs for pork production, lambs for mutton production, and sows for pig production. Jay has attended and exhibited animals at the Amarillo show, the Lubbock show, and the Farwell and Parmer County stock shows. In addition, Jay has served as Littlefield district sentinel and has been active in district and area meetings.

Robert Haseloff, son of Mr.

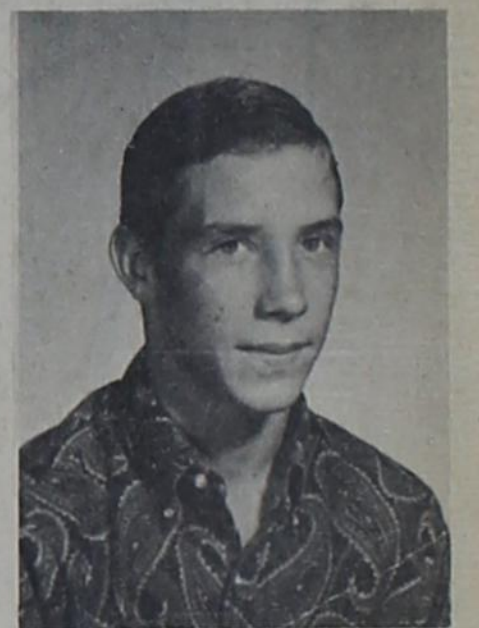

and Mrs. Henry Haseloff is also a senior. He has attended and exhibited animals at many stock shows including the Fort Worth show, Odessa show, El Paso show, Houston show, Amarillo show, Farwell show and the Friona show. He exhibited the grand champion steer at Friona in 1968 and again in 1969.

Uvon Ford Farm --

Crops Severely Damaged By Saturday Hails

Uvon Ford, who farms six miles northeast of Farwell, near Wilsey Switch, has been hard hit by rain and hail three times this year. Although it is a little late in the season to try to bring a crop back after severe hail damage, Ford plans to try to do "just that" since it is "way too late" to plant another crop.

Ford stated that he believes that the crop has another 60-70 days before frost; therefore, if the elements cooperate he just might be able to harvest a decent crop from the hail stricken area.

Hail has hit the same area on the Ford farm, a plot of land some one mile square, which lies south of the Ford home. On two occasions a 50-acre cotton crop was destroyed and Saturday the same field, which had been planted to soy beans, was hit by hail again, destroying that crop. Ford said, "I don't know but I am going to leave the beans alone in the hopes that the crop will come back and I can still reap a decent harvest."

A milo crop adjacent to the soy bean field was also damaged badly. Several acres of the milo, which had been severely damaged by earlier hails but had come back and was headed out, was badly damaged again on Saturday. Another field of milo which had been replanted after the earlier hails was almost SUBSCRIPTION RATES -- Farmer and adjoining counties, $4.25 per year; elsewhere, $5.25 per year. Payable in advance.

WON AT WEHINAHPAY --- Kent Blain and Mitchell Turnbough proudly display Troop 200's "Heaving Bar Award" won this year in competition at Camp Wehinahpay. The event was completed in 14 seconds, best time on record for four weeks of camp this year. Nineteen boys attended this, the third year, of Camp Wehinahpay participation by Texico-Farwell Boy Scout Troop 200.

Society Orders Markers

The Farmer County Historical society met in regular session at the county courtroom at Farwell Friday night, July 25. Twelve members and one visitor were in attendance.

Windborn Hardage, vice-chairman of the group, was in charge of the business session. Highway markers were ordered informing motorists of the Historical Marker in Bovina. It is hoped that the markers will be in place by "Bull Town Days." Members also discussed markers for other areas in the county.

Mrs. Ida Jesko, secretary-treasurer of the group, states that new members are needed in the organization and more of the old members should attend the meetings.

This field of milo which was replanted after an earlier hail appears to be almost a total loss. However, Ford plans to try and let it make a comeback since it is "way too late to replant."

THIRD TRY --- For the third time this crop of milo has been heavily damaged by rains and hail. Note the heads which were in the bud which "just might" be able to make a comeback.

Troop 200 Reports Third Successful Year At New Mexico Camp Wehinahpay

"Camp Wehinahpay," reports Scoutmaster Gene Bitner, "is the highlight of each Scouting year for troops in the Conquistador Council, and this year was better than ever!"

Texico-Farwell Boy Scout Troop 200 attended the fourth week of camp, which was conducted July 6-12 in mountains near Sacramento, N.M. During camp each troop has its own camping area on a scenic mountainside overlooking camp headquarters. Troop 200 also retained "Camp Cochise", which Texico-Farwell boys have used since first attending Wehinahpay in 1967. Boys and their leaders "sleep-out" in large tents, which have wooden platforms and metal cots. Meals, however, are served in a large lunchroom, decorated in style of the early Conquistadors who explored our area.

In addition to Scoutcrafts, archery, riflery, and merit badge work, Wehinahpay provides fishing for boys in the camp lake. Troop 200 fishermen "brought-in" 22 Trout this year, and had a fish-fry Saturday noon just before leaving for home.

Special attractions this year included a visit to Camp Wehinahpay's "Ghost House", a large ranch house which has been abandoned for many years, in which time many traditional "tall-tales" of horror have been passed-down from camper to camper. Scouts Mike Casey, Kent Blain, and Mitchell Turnbough won the coveted "Having-Bar Award" in camp-wide competition. Several Scouts were able to talk to their parents back home in Texico and Farwell, by amateur radio-through "phone-patches" completed between Troop 200's station and a station at Cannon AFB.

Interest of the Field Service group and students in Farwell Schools along with residents of the town is rising in anticipation of meeting the first foreign exchange student to ever attend the local school.

Exchange Student Arrives In Farwell Next Week

The young man, Sten Ake Westerburg of Sweden, is due to arrive in the United States this Sunday, August 3. He is expected to arrive in Farwell during the following week to meet his "new family" the Jim Wilmans and Bob, with whom he will be living while in Farwell.

Speaking for the Field Service which is bringing the young man to Farwell, Mrs. Gladys Kaltwasser, president of the group, said, "This will be a wonderful experience for us all to visit with this young man while he is living among us. In addition it will give us a chance to let him see democracy at work in a small community such as ours." She added, "We are all looking forward to meeting Sten!"

Visitors in the home of Mrs. True Bell over the weekend were a brother-in-law and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Felts of Sabin, and also a daughter, Mrs. L.V. Durham, Randy and Dickie of Dimmitt.

Crops Damaged --

destroyed. However, Ford states that it is too late to replant so he will try to let the crop make a comeback.

Ford estimates that he would have harvested 9000 bushels of milo before the first hail struck. After the hail his estimate on the crop was 6500 bushels and now, "I'll just wait and see what happens," he said.

There seemed to be rhyme or reason to the hail on Saturday as Ford received approximately one inch of rain accompanied by marble and golf-ball size hail while only a short distance away (at the other end of the field) only a light sprinkle of moisture fell. No measurable rain was recorded anywhere else in that area on Saturday. The rain and hail fell in a 15-minute period.

Approximately .60 inches of rain was reported in the area north of Texico-Farwell on Saturday and rainfall in varying amounts have come from the Bovina area.

In addition to Ford, other farmers who received damage to their crops were Darrell Norton and J. B. Sudderth. These same crops had also been hit by heavy rain and hail earlier in the year.

First damage to the Ford crops came early in the summer when a seven-inch rain fell washing the crops out. At that time, crops had been watered once and fertilized. The hails have cost the farmer additional fertilizer and seeds (for replanting) and also additional water for irrigation.

Ford recalls that a few years ago when his crops were severely damaged by hails he was able to harvest a fair crop. At that time the hail accompanied by heavy rain and high winds damaged the crop on the day after it had been laid by. This year the hail, on Saturday, came the day after the crop had been laid by. Ford says, "Three times in one year is almost too much-but I'll wait and see what happens."

Youths To Attend Church Camp

Approximately 16 young people from Calvary Missionary Baptist Church will attend the annual youth encampment of the state Baptist Missionary Association of New Mexico near Clouderoft, N.M., August 4-7. Church pastor, Brother John Payne, will accompany the group to the camp.

Youth and other groups in the church have sponsored money making projects to raise funds for the trip.

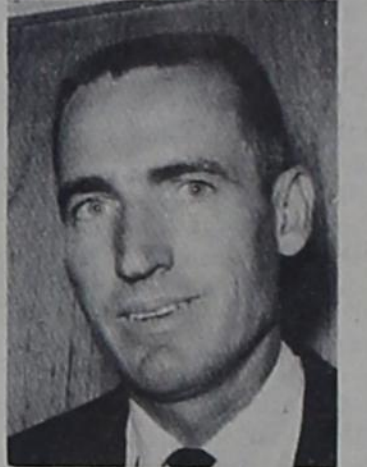

About 200 persons from all over New Mexico and this area are expected to attend.

Companion Sunday School Class of Texico First Baptist Church were hostesses for a housewarming for Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Hammit last Thursday.

Approximately 25 persons attended the social or sent gifts.

Strawberry cake was served with soft drinks.

LOOMIX

MEDICATED FEED

PROGRAM FOR RECEIVING FEEDLOT, RANCH and FARM FEEDER CALVES.

1. Medicated LOOMIX for feedlot calves contains two antibiotics which act together for control of a wide variety of disease organisms, and Vitamin A, which is often depleted in such calves.
2. Terramycin is a broad spectrum antibiotic that controls a wide variety of disease organisms in the gastro-intestinal tract as well as throughout the body by entering the circulatory system.
3. Neomycin is concentrated in the intestinal tract where it controls organisms that may produce scouring, which is often the fore runner of numerous diseases due to its weakening effect on the calf.
4. The combination of these antibiotics has been shown to be more effective than either one alone, when used at approved, recommended levels.
5. LOOMIX containing both these antibiotics can be sprayed on hay fed to newly received calves for the first 7 to 10 days after arrival. This will increase the palatability, thereby increasing the appetite, as well as giving the calves a supply of antibiotics and Vitamin A to fight the diseases common in shipped-in calves.

Harold Combs of Levelland, who farms four miles northeast of Bovina, has recently become a cooperater with the Parmer County SWCD. His new conservation plan includes the building of 14 miles of level parallel terraces on his dryland farm.

New parallel terraces will also be built later this year on the Jones and Aldridge farm near Farwell, and the V. M. Ferguson and O'ho Whitefield farms southwest of Friona.

Batte stated that much of the planned conservation work will be cost-shared through the Great Plains Conservation Program and the Agricultural Conservation Program (ACP).

In addition to the many irrigation pipelines being installed, other practices such as grassed waterways, parallel terraces, and pasture planting are being put on the land.

Guy Latta of Friona is planning a seven-acre grassed waterway to handle outside water on his farm three miles north of Hub. The waterway is to be designed and laid out by the Soil Conservation Service, and will be cost-shared through the ACP program. Other waterways are soon to be built on the

Airman Busbice Completes Basic Training

Airman Alan P. Busbice, son of Mr. and Mrs. Pershing Busbice of Farwell, has completed basic training at Lackland AFB, Tex. He has been assigned to Sheppard AFB, Tex., for training in accounting and finance. Airman Busbice, a graduate of Farwell High School, attended Texas Technological University. His wife is the former Shannon Irwin.

World Book Lore

The great composer Mozart was a child prodigy who played and composed brilliantly from an early age. He was so famous that the Austrian Emperor ordered him to compose an opera, which he did when he was 12 years old.

According to W.M. Roberts Superintendent of Schools, a new on-the-job training program for high school students will be launched this fall at Farwell High School. An "Off-Farm Agricultural Occupations" curriculum has been developed by the Teaching Materials Center, Texas A&M University, in cooperation with the vocational agriculture teachers and a state advisory committee in each related agricultural occupation. This program will give students an opportunity to spend part of their school time in on-the-job training with local agricultural business and industrial firms. Students participating will enroll in regular high school courses, including one period of related agricultural instruction, during which time they will study information related to their on-the-job training. They will spend 15 hours each weekday on the job, learning the skills and management practices involved, under the guidance of a skilled instructor selected from the firm in which the student is working.

This phase of the vocational agriculture program is designed to offer training to all high school students who have an interest in an off-farm agricultural occupation. This training can lead to in-school employment after completion of the high school program, or serve as a background for post-high school study. Further information concerning the program may be obtained by contacting Jerry Mathis and Jon Scott, Voc-Ag Instructors, or W.M. Roberts, high school superintendent.

We have the mind of Christ. —(1 Cor. 2:16).

Nothing is too complicated, or too hard for us to grasp, learn, or to understand. When we do not know how to proceed, let's pause for a moment and say "God in us knows." Then breathe a silent prayer of thanks that the way is now revealed, that the path is made plain before us, that God in us knows—so that we know too. Let us give thanks that our minds are continually renewed and that we are keenly alert through God-given intelligence.

Roberts Receives Award

W. M. Roberts, superintendent of Farwell Schools, will be among the 12 school administrators receiving the Distinguished Service Award at the meeting of Texas Vocational Agriculture teachers in Austin early in August. The administrators will be cited for outstanding service to their school, community and support of the Vocational Agriculture Education program.

Nominations for the award are made by the teachers in each of the 53 districts in the state. Through the district and area committees, the final selections are made of those to be honored.

Presentations are to be made at the association Awards Breakfast on August 6.

Approximately 1400 teachers and friends are expected to attend the meeting.

Safety Is Key To Good Life, Says 4-H

SPECIAL -- "Safety starts with you!" That is the assumption of 4-H youths throughout the state. Regardless of where they live, who they are or what they do, they soon learn that the safety pays big dividends.

These young citizens participate in the national 4-H Safety program now in its 25th year. Scores of adults work with them as volunteer leaders under the supervision of the Cooperative Extension Service.

For boys and girls to become safety conscious early in life is the aim of the 4-H Safety program, says a 4-H spokesman.

The program's sponsor, a pioneer promoter of safety, is General Motors. In addition to fostering personal interest in safety and the benefits therefrom, GM provides incentive awards to 4-H members, clubs, and to counties for outstanding safety efforts.

The program is beamed to boys and girls in the 9 to 19 age bracket. A checklist of hazards encountered in everyday activities becomes the focal point of many projects.

Right now during vacation time 4-H'ers, and their families as well, strive to stay safe while enjoying swimming, boating, hiking, camping, hunting, fishing, bike or horseback riding.

They wage campaigns against yard clutter, and toys left on stairways and driveways. They learn safe use of power tools and equipment, hand tools, pesticides and household poisons, including safe storage.

During the summer, teenage drivers are urged to take extra precautions around town and on the highways because of the many visitors who are unfamiliar with the area. Teenagers are also extra eyes and ears for the elderly and the very young at parks, beaches, street crossings and the like, 4-H leaders say.

Clubs undertake community projects such as checking and eliminating hazards for highways and public places. Water and air pollution problems likewise are tackled.

In recognition of noteworthy accomplishments, General Motors annually provides county, state and national 4-H awards. In the order named they are: safety medals, expense-paid trip (one per state) to the National 4-H Congress in Chicago; eight $1,000 scholarships.

Wives Take Cake Decorating Course

In search of something to do while stationed with her husband in Guam a little over a year ago, Mrs. Clara Lewis, who now makes her home in Texico, took a cake decorating course.

Since returning to Texico she has been teaching the course to members of the APO (Awaiting Pappa's Orders) Wives Club of Clovis. Ladies taking the course have been coming to the Lewis home once each week since May to receive the instructions. Any military wife whose husband is serving overseas is invited to attend the club meetings and any wife whose husband is on temporary duty away from CAFB is also invited to attend the meetings as a guest.

Mrs. Lewis relates the difficulty she had when taking the decorating course in Guam. "It was quite difficult to obtain powdered sugar for the icings and also to obtain suitable eggs for the cakes," she said. Eggs were mostly cold storage eggs and they are not suitable for baking purposes.

One of the things Mrs. Lewis stresses in decorating a cake is to make sure the cake is nice and smooth all over when it is removed from the oven. The right consistency of icing must also be obtained before a cake can be decorated successfully, she relates, adding that cake decorating which appears difficult is in reality quite simple.

Decorating is begun with a simple decoration and when a person has completed a course she should be able to decorate a wedding cake, which is the most difficult cake to decorate. During the course the girls have been given instruction in an Aloha cake, a stork cake, a basket and flower cake, swirls and stars cake, patch-work sheet cake, diamond lattice cake, merry-go-round cake, wedding cake and a Christmas cake.

With such instruction the girls who have taken the course will now be able to make and decorate cakes for all occasions such as Mrs. Lewis does. In commenting on decorating cakes, Mrs. Lewis said, "I could make and decorate cakes all day, every day in the week, since it is so intriguing."

Chapter Receives Philanthropic Award

Mrs. JoAnn Liethen, president of Theta Rho chapter of ESA Sorority, received a letter from Mrs. Lois Printz of Albuquerque early this week in which Mrs. Printz revealed that the local ESA chapter had been awarded third place at the International Convention on hours spent in philanthropic work. The chapter had earlier been presented with the first place state award, making a total of four times the chapter has received the state first place award. On one occasion the local ESA Chapter received the international first place philanthropic award.

Mrs. Printz also revealed the fact that she had been elected treasurer of the International ESA Organization as a delegate from New Mexico.

Informal Coffee Honors Former Residents

The home of Mrs. Carrie Christian was scene for an informal tea honoring Mrs. Belva Bowers of Lindsey, Calif., and Mrs. Billie Kittrell of Lawndale, Calif., last Wednesday. The women are former residents of the Farwell-Oklahoma Lane area and daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Everette Christian.

Out of town guests attending the social were Mrs. Ollie Willard and Linda from Santa Fe, and Miss Carolyn Willard, who has recently returned from a tour of duty with the Peace Corps in Greece. Mrs. June Darnell of Amarillo was also present for the social.

Assorted cookies were served with punch or coffee. Crystal table appointments were used. Numerous local relatives of the honorees were in attendance at the social.

Glasscocks Have Recent Visitors

Recent visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Glasscock have been Mrs. Jackie Herring and children, Leslie and Dannie, from Anchorage, Alaska; Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Moore and two daughters, from Commerce and Dallas; and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Houston from Monterey Park, Calif.

A highlight of the Herring children's visit in Farwell was a trip to the Glasscock farm where they were able to ride horses. They also were outfitted in western boots and hats by "Uncle Mose" while visiting here.

Return From Vacation

Mrs. Mildred Erwin and family returned last week from a vacation which took them to Cloudcroft and Ruidoso. Before returning home they also visited in Albuquerque with Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Burton. Mrs. Burton is a daughter of Mrs. Erwin.

Daren Hammonds Two Years Old

Daren, two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hammonds celebrated his second birthday July 18 with a family party in the home of his parents.

A cookout was held in the backyard at the Hammonds home. Completing the meal was birthday cake and home made ice cream.

Attending the social were Daren's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Carpenter and Mr. and Mrs. Bob Hammonds. Also attending were Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Briggs, Jana and Joe Don, and Mrs. W. C. Briggs.

Grandparents of the new arrival are Mr. and Mrs. Claud Coffey and Mr. and Mrs. Ollie Peoples.

YEA TEAM FIGHT --- Texico varsity cheerleaders attended a cheerleading clinic on the Eastern New Mexico University Campus at Roswell July 20-25. While at the clinic they took workshops in pom pon and tumbling. They brought home a superior and excellent rating and also returned with the "spirit stick" which they received on the final day of the clinic. Cheerleaders pictured with their instructor, Mrs. Connie Elliott (center front), include Debbie Tharp, Susan Murrell, Patricia Smith, LaWanda Yell, Jan Chumley and Vickie Richardson.

Larry Don Martin Celebrates Second Birthday

Larry Don Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Martin of Portales, celebrated his second birthday with a party in the home of his parents on July 20.

The evening was spent in playing games, and watching the honoree open his gifts. Refreshments of birthday cake and ice cream were served.

Helping the honoree celebrate his birthday were his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Bell of Texico and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Martin of Portales; also Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Ford, Shelly and Bobby, Darlene and Carrie Ann Bowman, Bee Bee Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Pierce, Terry, Bobby, Donny and Billy, and the honoree's parents and sister, Jan.

FACTS ABOUT THE TEXAS WATER PLAN

The Texas Water Plan was released November 1968. It was prepared by the Texas Water Development Board as a flexible guide for the orderly development, conservation and wise management of the states' resources to meet the needs to the year 2020.

I. WHAT IS AMENDMENT NO. TWO?

Amendment No. Two authorizes the Texas Water Development Board to issue $3.5 billion in bonds to finance Texas' share of the cost of the Texas Water Plan. This money is not to be used to provide gifts or grants, but will provide temporary financing which will be repaid by water users. The Amendment also removes the 4 percent ceiling on Water Development Bonds.

II. WHAT IS THE TEXAS WATER PLAN?

The objective of the Texas Water Plan is to provide adequate water to maintain the growth and prosperity of Texas into the next century when it is estimated that we will have a population of 30.5 million people. The plan provides for the full development of our water resources and the importation of surplus water from the lower Mississippi River for distribution to areas with declining water resources.

III. WHO IS TO PAY FOR THE PLAN?

Cost of the $9 billion Texas Water Plan -- Texas' share is estimated at $3.5 billion -- will be shared by local, state and federal governments, with those who ultimately use the water paying much of the costs of the Plan.

IV. WHY DOES TEXAS NEED A WATER RESOURCE PLAN?

By the end of this century-- in just 31 years--Texas will not have enough water to supply its growing cities, its expanding industry, and its irrigated agriculture. To assure an adequate water supply, the state has prepared to plan for the full development, management and use of its water resources -- and an imported water supply--to serve Texas to the year 2020 and to assure ALL Texans water to meet their needs.

- V. WILL THE PLAN PROVIDE ADEQUATE WATER FOR TEXAS?
- Yes. With our current major reservoirs (157), the proposed full development of our water resources (67 dams and reservoirs) and an imported supply of water, Texas can meet its water demands to the year 2020.
- VI. WHO WILL BENEFIT FROM THE PLAN?
- The people of Texas will benefit from the Texas Water Plan. The Plan provides for meeting all essential and beneficial water requirements throughout the state. The Plan will provide water for domestic and municipal uses, for industry, for agriculture, for recreation, for our bays and estuaries, and for other beneficial purposes. The Texas Water Plan will provide Water for Texas!

THE LIGHT

"Thy word is a lamp unto my feet, and a light unto my path."
The bible, God's word, has often been compared to a light, for it penetrates the darkness and reveals God to man. It is the light that leads man down life's pathway. For those who study it, it reveals not only the past, but also the future.
"The entrance of thy words giveth light; it giveth understanding..."
Attend church and hear God's leaders expound on His word.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Our Trip To The Orient

by Nelle Craig

The astronauts were chided recently for overuse of the same worn-out adjectives as they described the sights they viewed from space. We sympathize. We find also a shortage of terms descriptive enough to picture our somewhat less spectacular journey.

Our circle tour of the Orient took us recently to Japan, the Philippines, Taiwan, Singapore, Malaysia, Thailand, Hong Kong and Korea. Many friends have asked us which was our favorite country. It really is impossible to say. We came to know Japan better because we spent more time there. We had a pleasant experience in Korea that erased all of our first impressions. Singapore was far cleaner than we had expected, parts of Thailand much dirtier. We were surprised at certain demonstrations of inefficiency in the Philippines, the ambition of the Chinese Nationalists in Taiwan, and both the efficiency and the extreme courtesy of the Japanese. We are still amazed at the cacophony of oriental cities, the burning intensity of religious fervor, and the ancestral respect and adoration. We can't recreate but will always remember the sounds and the smells that were so foreign to our senses. Every new experience was a strangely exciting one.

Japan we loved. "The little people with the big ideas" we soon came to call the Japanese. Children in Japan delighted us. So amazed were they at us, and especially at James for his extreme size, that they followed us wherever we went. James became an American Pled Piper. The children loved him and he returned their love, but we have often wondered how many small sons went home to relate the story of the "giant" they saw.

Japan's school children were still in school. They were easily identifiable by their uniforms -- the kindergarten children with their bright yellow hats and parasols, older pupils in uniforms of navy blue. Great crowds of school youngsters traveled about. I was interested in how nearly the Japanese philosophy of education parallels the philosophy of special educators in America for we believe so strongly that what a child sees and experiences for himself he will remember far longer and understand much surer than that about which he only reads or hears.

The Japanese practice this from the time a child begins his education. Juniors and seniors in high school take long tours of their own country and see for themselves the temples and monuments, the historic places and the spots of beauty in their native land. Another amazing thing about Japanese youth is that nearly all of them can speak English and they are anxious to practice it with American tourists. One handsome Japanese lad apologized to us, "You must forgive my English. You see, it too was made in Japan."

The food in Japan was great. The Japanese have the reputation for having the most nutritious diet of any nation. We enjoyed it all and tried everything we had opportunity to try. We were surprised to find we liked raw fish, could tolerate sea weed, and really enjoyed sukiyaki, tempura, and other Japanese delights.

We were also pleased with many Japanese customs -- the hot or cold towel offered to guests, bowing, (a custom very easy to adopt) and the hot, hot baths. A part of the family indulged in the community bath. Others of us lost our nerve.

We enjoyed a stay at a Japanese hotel in Hakone National Park, where many Japanese young people take their honeymoons. There we donned kimono for a Japanese meal. Everything was done the Japanese way and we liked it.

We visited Atami, Nagoya, Ise-Shima National Park, Kyoto, Nara and Osaka. One of the most interesting things we saw was a demonstration of the cultured pearl, from the diving to the stringing of the pearls as a finished product. We liked the Bullet Train. It was ultra modern and comfortable. It travels at speeds up to 130 miles an hour.

The thing we liked most about Taiwan was our elegant Hotel in Taipei. Our guide had told us apologetically that we would not have the wall-to-wall carpet we were accustomed to and we were totally unprepared for what we found there. Located atop Yanshan Mountain in the northern suburbs of Taipei, it is styled after Ching dynasty palace architecture. Its elegance can not be described. The floors are of teakwood layed in intricate patterns. It is furnished grandly with ivory statues and elaborate teakwood carvings. The rich colors of the upholstery are grand accompaniment to all of this. The Grand Hotel is owned by the government. Head of its board of directors is Madame Chiang Kai-Shek. The VIPs of all nations are housed here when they come to visit Taiwan. Our visits to Lungshan Temple, Presidential Square, The National Palace Museum, and

ALMOST NATIVE --- Nelle Craig and daughter Loyce Ann became most adept at using the chopsticks with which they were provided at this Mongolian barbecue in Taiwan.

Yangming Park were other highlights of our trip to Taiwan.

The Chinese Food was quite different to the food we had become used to in Japan. We enjoyed a Mongolian barbecue and a 10-course Chinese dinner in Taipei.

While in the Philippines we made a tour to Corregidor, visiting Malenta Tunnel, the batteries and barracks, the battle memorial and watch tower. We were most disappointed that there flew neither the U. S. nor the Philippine flag. On the return trip, the Coast Guard boarded our motor yacht and fined the captain 2700 Pesos for being overloaded. They also required the captain to cut his speed to two-thirds the speed he had been traveling. We continued the journey at a snail's pace. A tour of the city of Manila included a tour of Intramuros, with terrible tales of wartime atrocities. Our guides were there and they remembered. The stories were related dramatically and we shuddered as we recalled those years.

which included the whole roast pig. We were entertained with native Filipino dances and had opportunities to learn them ourselves. We attended Jai-Alai games and took a tour into the countryside where we saw the ricelands, bamboo fish-traps, and coconut plantations.

Singapore was a pleasant surprise. It was so very clean and we soon found out that it was a very serious offense to litter the streets. Singapore is one of Asia's healthiest and wealthiest communities. It is made up of two million people of many different races. It is no longer a part of Malaysia. In 1965 it became an independent and sovereign Republic within the British Commonwealth.

Official languages in Singapore are English, Chinese, Malay and Tamil. Schools teach in any or all of them. Just this summer the Ministry of Education has made new rulings which will enforce bi-lingualism. In Chinese schools all science subjects are to be taught in English. In English schools, history is to be taught in Chinese beginning at Primary Level III. Most university students are tri-lingual. Most mono-lingual persons in Singapore speak only English. The Ministry of Education states that the new generation will "sweep aside the purely English speaking."

In Singapore we visited with Mrs. Thelma Eubank, a relative who has lived in Singapore in the past and is now a resident of Kuala Lumpur, the capital city of Malaysia. We enjoyed Botanic Gardens, House of Jade, National Museum, The Temple of the Thousand Lights, Sari Mariamman Hindu Temple, Toger Balm Gardens. While based in Singapore we also made a brief trip to the state of Johore in Malaysia where the most outstanding sight was a Moslem mosque. We were fortunate to be at the mosque at the time of the call to prayer. Sultan Mosque stands on a commanding site in Johore Bahru, the capital of the state of Johore.

Hong Kong is a shopper's paradise. "Hong Kong" means fragrant harbor. We didn't find it to be exactly that but as a harbor where majestic ocean liners, bulk carriers and tankers mingle among ferryboats, junks, sampans and other floating bodies, it is unrivaled. Russian, American, and Communist Chinese ships load and unload their cargo side by side.

We visited the usual points of interest on Hong Kong Island, taking the Peak Tram to the top to view the panorama of the colony, then visiting many other places of beauty and intrigue. On another day we visited Kowloon and the New Territories, stopping at Shek Kep Mei re-settlement area, where refugee families have been housed. We viewed light industrial factories, farmland, fishing villages where many persons are born and never in a lifetime set foot on land.

THE PIED PIPER --- James Craig attracted children at the refugee re-settlement center in Kawloon, Hong Kong much as the noted Pied Piper did. The children loved James and he in turn loved them.

We stood for some time looking over the bamboo curtain into Communist China. A Communist patrol boat slowly patrolled the river that is the present border. Twenty-eight years from now the lease which makes free the land on which we stood will expire. The very week we visited here five Chinese fishermen escaped across this border and later to Taiwan where they were given refuge. They desired only to fill their bellies that they might rid themselves just once of the terrible pangs of hunger they had known for so long. Though they made their living fishing, they stated that for six months they had not been allowed to taste the fish they caught. We felt strangely fearful as we stood on that ground. The feelings we had can't be expressed in any words we know.

In Bangkok we visited with Lt. Cmdr. and Mrs. Allen Lockhart. Lockhart is the son of the John Lockhart's of Texico. The Lockharts had made Thailand their home for 18 months and generously shared with us their time and experiences, taking us to dinner in a Thai restaurant and on a shopping trip where we bought silk and other Thai handicraft. The thing I had looked most forward to was the tour of the floating market. The scenes of river life along the Chao Phya River and the connecting canals was all we had expected. The bustling market was colorful and interesting. We left the docks in time to see water-busses carrying school children and working people to their days work, returning via the dry dock to view the Royal Barges. In Bangkok too, we visited the Temple of the Emerald Buddha and the Grand Palace, entering the Coronation Hall and the Royal Funeral Hall.

Many years ago a forestry official planted in one orchard all of the exotic fruits of Thailand. He also built there an aquarium which contains the tropical fish of Thai waters. Today there are many buildings there which house the arts and crafts of the entire country. Farmers work the rice paddies and thresh their harvest by hand. Silk weavers and wood carvers, gem cutters and umbrella makers ply their arts. There is music, dance, Thai boxing, sword fighting and cock fighting. There we saw many facets of life in Thailand.

Our first impressions of Korea were somewhat confused. Our bus ride from the airport to our hotel took us through the city of Seoul and to a nearby resort area. On the way we saw Koreans bathing in the river very near the highway. Very little mechanization of any kind

SAFE AT FIRST BASE --- Johnny Roberts of the Clovis Evening Lions Little League baseball team speeds toward first base as Brad Jones of the Texico-Farwell team stretches to catch the ball. Roberts was ruled safe as Jones was drawn off the base in catching the ball. Final score was 6-2 in favor of the Lions. By winning the game, the Clovis team is now eligible to compete in the Little League Tournament in Albuquerque.

WIND UP --- Pitcher Paul Brigham, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Brigham of Farwell, prepares to release a pitch in the fourth inning of the district championship game pitting Texico-Farwell Little League All-Stars against the Clovis Evening Lions team. Brigham allowed five runs in the first inning and then settled down to pitch an almost perfect game the remaining innings. Final score was 6-2 in favor of the Lions.

Jones, Kirkland Win Tourney

Winners of the Member-Member Golf Tournament held at Farwell Country Club last Saturday and Sunday were Randy Jones and Jack Kirkland. Second place winner was the team of Woodrow Lovelace and Buddy Jones. In the consolation play, Vernon Scott and W.M. Roberts were first, and Oakley Stephenson and Don Owens came in second.

MOVES TO THIRD -- Randy Harrison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ken Harrison and a member of the Texico-Farwell Little League All-Stars baseball team, moves from second to third base on a grounder hit into right field in a game with the Clovis Evening Lions All-Stars in a game which decided the district championship. Texico Farwell won their first district game from Raton All-Stars, 12-8, Friday evening.

Phill Elliott Injured In Farm Accident

Phill Elliott was injured in a freak accident at his farm last Thursday afternoon. The accident occurred when he was working on a sprinkler. The drive shaft broke while Elliott was applying pressure with a wrench. When the shaft broke the wrench was thrown into Elliott's neck, severing an artery and damaging some teeth. The wrench then swung into a pipe and cut a hole in the pipe. Elliott was hospitalized in Clovis for a short time Thursday and Friday but is now recuperating at his home in Texico. He is confined to the house since he lost quite a bit of blood and the heat might prove to be harmful at this time.

Fire Calls Answered

The Farwell fire department was called to an area on the farm to market road east of Farwell School Monday afternoon where a pickup truck was on fire. No other calls have been received by either fire departments during the week.

Our Trip --

was evident, it was certainly the most underdeveloped of any country we had seen. Our hotel did not begin to reach the standards of the luxury hotels which were our homes in other oriental countries. A large black rat played hide and seek in the dining room. And Korea had had breath! (We were later to learn that the hot Chinese cabbage that grew along the highways were responsible for this.)

Early next morning we traveled 160 miles by train to Taegu, a city of a million people. There we were met by 75 members of the Taegu Lions Club. How cordial was their welcome! Proudly Korean Lions showed us their work and their city. Workers at Dong San Presbyterian Hospital opened their doors and their hearts to us. They fed us a delicious Korean meal of pepper soup, mushroom rice, Chinese cabbage, grilled fish, bean sprout salad and native fruits. Korean Doctors who manned the hospital took time to sit with American families and visit and discuss Korea's present and her future. No one mentioned the past.

We visited the Han Kuk College of Social Work where we were entertained by children from the Schools for the Blind, the Deaf, the Crippled and the Mentally Retarded. The children had made gifts for the visiting Americans and entertained us beautifully. The lovely voices of the blind children, as they rang out in beautiful four-part harmony, many of their songs in English and learned for us, caused many grown men in our party to reach for their handkerchiefs in order to wipe away the tears. But no one was ashamed.

When we returned later to Seoul, the Lions there had planned another Korean feast for us, this time a barbecue, cooked at our table over coals. Next day those same Lions and their families presented each of us with a handmade gift to help us remember Korea. We shall not soon forget.

At the end of our journey we returned to Japan for the International Lions Club Convention. The most thrilling part of the convention came on the first night. On that evening the Emperor and Empress of Japan made a personal appearance, the Emperor speaking words of welcome. Then came the presentation of flags of all the countries represented in Lionism. It is traditional and a moving ceremony. As each of the flags is presented the members from that nation and neighboring nations stand. The flags of the United States and Japan were presented last, these representing the founding nation and the host nation. Each of these flags was borne grandly down the long aisle of the Nippon Budokan. What a great moment it was when so many thousands from dozens of nations around the world stood to pay tribute to MY flag and in whatever broken English they could joined Americans in singing "The Star Spangled Banner." At the risk of sounding "corny" I must say it was one of the proudest moments of my life. I had been a foreigner in strange lands for a number of weeks and I had no feeling of embarrassment for the tears that covered my cheeks as I sang. Never before have I felt just as I did in those glorious moments.

The question most often asked of since our return has been "Would you do it again?" Of course we will, if there is ever time. But first we must see Europe and Africa, South America and Australia. And then there's that trip to the moon.

ROUTINE INSECTICIDE USE THING OF PAST

The time is past when cotton growers can rely on a program of regularly scheduled insecticide applications to prevent damage to their crops. Because of the many problems brought on as a result of continued insecticide use, today's producer must carefully weigh the insect situation in his field, study the alternatives, and make control decisions on the basis of his own insect situation.

John G. Thomas, Extension Service entomologist, says there are several factors to consider in making cotton bug control decisions. The first is when to start treatments. There is no single program which can be used year after year for economic control, the entomologist pointed out. "Weather conditions and insect populations vary from year to year, and the control program must fit the current situation," Thomas said. "The insect situation may even vary from field to field, and a general recommendation to start community-wide treatments for a particular pest is usually unsound and commonly results in unnecessary insecticide applications."

He added that treatments should start when insects reach injurious levels in that field. This means that the grower must check the field and make insect counts. Selection of effective pesticides also is a factor to consider, Thomas said. Here again, the grower must know what bugs are present and at what level before he can select the right chemical. Still another factor is the productivity of a farm. The entomologist said farmers on the less fertile upland farms usually cannot afford to spend as much on insect control as those on bottomlands.

Profitable insecticide use on low-yielding, dryland acreage requires careful management, Thomas said.

Agriculture Workshop August 4-8

Eleven-Hundred and Fifty-Eight Vocational Agricultural Teachers in Texas High Schools will participate in the In-Service Education Workshop for Teachers of Vocational Agriculture to be held at the Terrace Motor Hotel, Austin, August 4-8, according to George Hurt, Director of Agriculture Education. Guest speaker for the opening general session on Tuesday morning will be Herbert J. Head, General Marketing Manager, Ford Motor Company, Birmingham, Mich. His subject will be centered around "Agriculture-The Year 2000". The meeting will start at 9:00 A.M. in the Ballroom of the Terrace Convention Center.

Also on the agenda on Tuesday morning is a welcome by Mayor Travis LaRue of Austin and remarks by Dr. J.W. Edgar, Commissioner of Education.

An important phase of the training session will be the eleven workshops conducted Wednesday and Thursday afternoons in subjects such as "Winter Feeding and Performance of Heifers," "Use and Safety of Herbicides," "Swine Management and Production," "Fram Credit," "Creative Teaching Innovations," and "Developing a Program in Off-Farm Agriculture Occupations."

The Second General Session will start on Thursday morning at 9:00 A.M. Guest speaker will be Reagan V. Brown, Extension Sociologist, Texas A&M University, College Station. His subject will be "High on the Totem Pole." John R. Guepelle, Assistant Commissioner for Vocational and Adult Education, will discuss "How Recent Legislation Effects You as a Vocational Teacher."

The Vocational Agriculture Teachers Association of Texas will hold its annual meeting on August 6, Wednesday. The main speaker will be Representative Neal Solomon, Mt. Vernon, District 10.

On Friday morning George Hurt, State Director, Agriculture Education, will discuss "What's Ahead in Vocational Agriculture." The meeting will close on Friday with teachers planning district and area in-service education workshops, Future Farmers of America and Young Farmers Activities for 1969-70.

Approximately 1158 agriculture teachers are expected to attend the meeting. The Vocational Agriculture Education program in the state is under the direction of the Division of Agriculture Education, Texas Education Agency, with George Hurt as Division Director. Teachers meet annually for training in new developments and trends in Agriculture Education.

Jerry Mathis and Jon Scott will attend the meeting from Farwell.

Love Of Horses Can Win 4-H Scholarships

SPECIAL--Six 4-H equestrians this year will be riding their horses right up to the threshold of higher education. They will be the 1969 winners of $600 national scholarships awarded in the 4-H Horse program.

First one, from each state, will enjoy the excitement of being delegates to the 48th National 4-H Congress in Chicago the week following Thanksgiving. They will be state champions whose award is a trip to the annual event. There also may be a delegate from Puerto Rico where 4-H Clubs are flourishing under the direction of the Co-operative Extension Service.

Horse ownership among 4-H'ers has kept pace with the soaring pleasure horse population throughout the United States. Well over 210,000 boys and girls enrolled in the 4-H Horse program work with one or more horses.

The program was made possible by the Extension Service and Merck & Co., Inc. First offered in 1966, guidelines were established by the Extension Service and financial support came from Merck, which provides funds for national, state and county awards.

To earn an award, the 4-H'ers fulfill certain requirements. They must have "horse sense" and know about "horse science." In their work with horses they learn the importance of balanced rations, health, and sanitation. They are taught to ride properly, train and show their horses.

Preparations are underway now to stage 4-H Horse shows. In the show ring the youngsters demonstrate horsemanship before discerning eyes of the judges. They also learn to be pretty good judges of horse-flesh themselves.

In addition to the top state and national awards, county medals of honor will be presented again this year. Based on 1968 nationwide figures, an estimated 8,000 horse club members may earn a medal.

Boys and girls between 9 and 19 years old interested in joining a 4-H Horse Club can get the details from the County Extension office. Adults experienced in horsemanship are invited to participate as club leaders.

BILL ELLSWORTH

Animals Are Rewarding Occupation

Raising two baby elephants, rescuing run-away seals, and mopping up after a calf that turned the water faucet on, are only a few of the many interesting stories Bill Ellsworth, manager of ASTROWORLD'S Children's Barnyard, can tell. Ellsworth decided early in life that animals could be a rewarding occupation and gained a degree in animal production from Colorado State University. He has spent the last eight years managing livestock in various amusement parks in Texas.

ASTROWORLD'S Barnyard offers a large supply of domestic and not-so-domestic animals to see. "What I'm proudest of are my Karacul, or Persian sheep," said Ellsworth. These are black sheep with quite beautiful wool. The wool from the unborn lambs is highly prized in the fashion world for Persian coats. Other interesting sheep are the Corsican, or Barbadoes, which shed their wool every year instead of being shorn.

"Probably the gentlest animals we have are the llamas," said Ellsworth. These animals are about six feet high and love to beg the visitors for crackers and food.

The baby kids are delightful and the most fun to watch. They don't seem to be at all impressed by the crowds and would much rather hitch a ride on the backs of the calves and sheep.

In the chicken house are some unusual kinds of chicken and turkeys and two wallabys. These animals cannot be handled by the public because of their extreme nervousness, but they are interesting to watch. The animals have their own barn behind the Barnyard where they are kept during the winter and at night. Their stalls are washed daily and fresh wood shavings laid to keep them as healthy and clean as possible.

Ellsworth is quite proud of his "family" and is looking for new unusual animals that would be adaptable to the Barnyard. "Our latest edition, and quite unexpected it was, too," laughed Ellsworth, "is 13 baby ducks. We just discovered them with the mother on the big lake in the middle of the park. Now we have to figure out a way to get them back to the duck pond!"

DON'T BOUNCE THE FISH

Did you ever see a fisherman practicing "skip-along"?

It's a game played by trailing a stringer of fish over the side of a boat while the throttle is wide open.

All kidding aside, forgetting to pull the stringer into the boat before moving to another fishing spot is a mistake made by many fishermen. The cure for the problem, say the fishing authorities at Mercury outdoors, is to properly care for fish the moment they are taken. Fish should be placed on ice as soon as possible, but there are several preliminary steps to keep in mind.

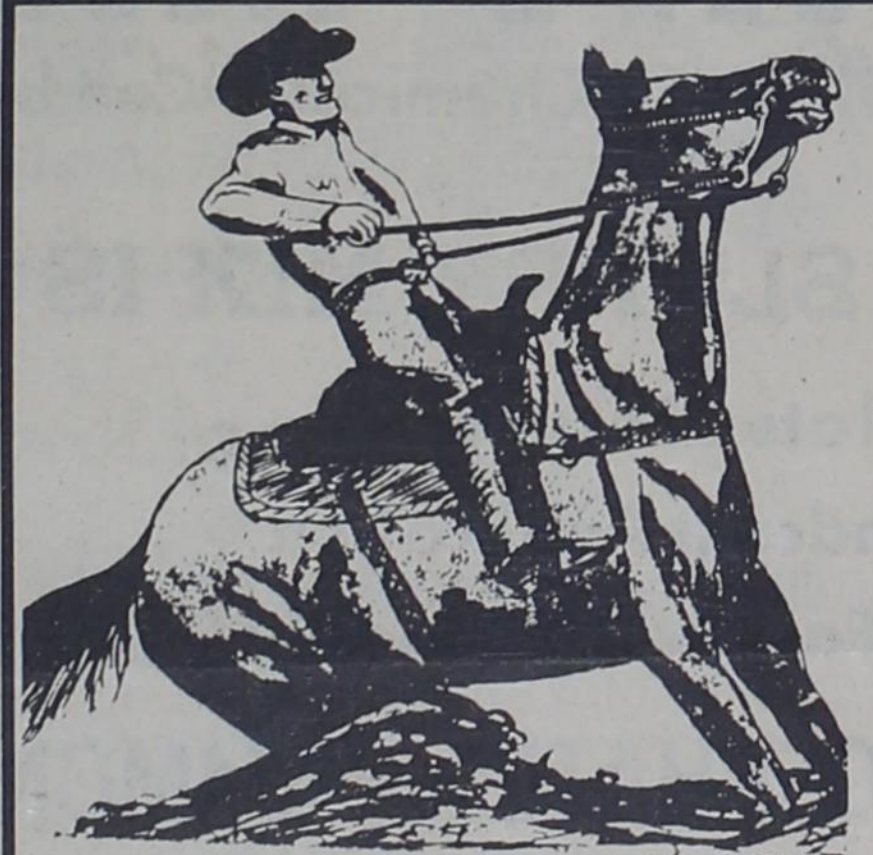

They should be drawn immediately. The stomach contents begin to decay soon after a fish is taken, and gastric juices can eat through the wall causing tainted flesh. Also be sure to remove all blood along the backbone.

Next, wipe the body cavity dry with a clean cloth or paper towel. Try to keep the fish from getting wet. Water attracts bacteria which only speeds decay.

Always put an ice chest in the boat and take along some plastic bags. The bags are perfect wrapping and will keep cleaned fish from contacting any water in the ice chest. It's better to lay fish on top of the ice than to bury them, and the chest should be opened occasionally to let in some fresh air.

In addition to not bouncing fish on the stringer, this method of handling assures you of good eating when you get them home.

However, the most important consideration, advise the lads at Mercury, is that if the woman of the house likes to eat the fish you catch, bringing them home in this manner will make it easier to get away the next time you want to go fishing.

Parmer County Students Attend Citizenship Seminar

Two high school students from Parmer County are among those attending a Citizenship Seminar this week at Baylor University. The seminar is sponsored by Texas Farm Bureau. Students attending the event traveled by chartered bus to Waco.

Attending the seminar are Sheila Garner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Delbert Garner and a student at Farwell High School, and John Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Jones and a student at Lazbuddie High School.

Approximately 390 students from 140 counties are attending the Seminar.

Four outstanding lecturers are slated to speak at the seminar, according to Harry Hamilton, president of Parmer County Farm Bureau. Speakers include Dr. C. L. Ganus, president of Harding College at Searcy, Ark.; Dr. C. L. Kay, president of Lubbock Christian College; John Noble, Muncy, Pa., author of "I Was A Slave in Russia;" and W. Cleon Skousen, Salt Lake City, author, lawyer, educator and former FBI agent.

In addition, a young former narcotics addict and ex-convict from Dallas related the tragic story of his life as an addict and criminal. At the conclusion of the seminar today (Friday), August 1, Mary Rando of Friona will give her rendition, "I Am the Nation," a patriotic recitation that helped her win the Freedom Foundation's George Washington Honor Medal.

Purpose of the seminar is to give the student a better understanding of the American system and way of life. Emphasis at the seminar is placed on economic, moral and social aspects of the American society.

Visit In Felts Home

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Felts and daughter, Tracy, from Jal have been recent visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Felts. Dick Felts has been band director at the Crane High School for the past five years and will assume duties as band director at Jal again this year.
