State Department Split Over Policy Difference

within the state department may vitally affect American foreign policy on almost every major outstanding issue.

This is one of the main problems which will confront Secretary of State Byrnes upon his return

One resignation already has resulted, and speculation is rife among departmental insiders that others either will follow or there will be important reassignments.

First to go was Col. Alfred McCormack, who quit as organizer of a Central American intelligence unit because he contended his plans were wrecked by opposition within the department.

Speculation about possible future resignations revolves chiefly around Undersecretary of State Dean Acheson, Assistant Secretary Will Clayton and McCormack's former colleagues and successor in the intelligence job-William Langer,

Most of what will be said will be vague and largely in the "God, home and mother" class of utterances. Some, realizing that the pension bloc is a pretty fair sized one, will be liberal with promises.

One gubernatorial candidate. Beauford Jester, has declared for taking "old-age assistance out of politics." He neglected to say just how this will be accomplished. It is easier said than done. Statutes would have to be amended and even then they would be subject to abuse and to attack.

It seems to us that the only real hope of getting anywhere on this problem is a real-

One of the "issues" in the forthcoming ization that the program was conceived to aid the needy aged. We have said before and repeat it now that the fact that a person attains the age of 65 should not be the signal for a reward from the state.

Pension forces point to the possibility of new or additional revenues in support of the program. We do not argue that this is not so, or whether it is wise to continue the upward trend of expenditures. For the moment the point we wish to make is that many a truly needy oldster is forced to get along on too-limited funds, partly because there are some others who have qualified under the law by deeding property over to heirs in order to become legally needy.

A lot of this results from a misconception of the philosophy behind the program-that of assistance and not of pension. There will be a fair meeting of minds under the first philosophy, a wide divergence on the latter.

Martin-Howard Soil Conservation District News

Wilson Bros., ranch cooperators, located in the Howard-Borden county line conservation group, plan to seed approximately 10 acres of retired cultivated land to grass this fall. This will be done by planting sweet sudan, combining the seed, leaving the stalks and leaves as mulch protection on the surface of the soil and then seeding native grasses such as side-oats grama and little bluestem.

W. L. Wilson said, "a good cover of vegetation or stubble is necessary in this country to control wind erosion and moisture evaporation in cultivated fields or on

35-Year Residence In County Ends In Jack King Death

A residence span of almost 35 ears in Howard county ended inthe passing of Jack King, former railroad man, cafe and truck op-erator and city policeman, for whom funeral services were conducted at the Eberley-Curry chapel Wednesday. He succumbed the day before, at the age of 54.

Born in McKinney on February 29, 1892, King came to Howard county with his family in 1911, settling in the Moore com-

He was married to Miss Alta Kuykendall of Big Spring, Aug. 16, 1914 and farmed in the Moore community for a few years before starting to work at the T&P shops here as a machinist. He worked there until the strike in 1922, then was in the trucking and cafe business until about five years ago when he joined the police force here. While on the force, he walked the same beat that his father, Sam King, had walked some 30 years before, when he too, was on the law force here in Big Spring.

ACTS ON THE KIDNEYS To increase flow of urine and relieve irritation of the bladder

from excess acidity in the urine

Are you suffering unnecessary distress, backache, run-down feeling and discomfort from excess acidity in the urins? Are you disturbed nights by a frequent desire to pass water? Then you should know about that famous doctor's discovery—DR. KILMER'S SWAMP ROOT—that thousands say gives blessed relief. Swamp Root is a carefully blended combination of 16 herbs, roots, vegetables, balsams. Dr. Kilmer's is not harsh or habit-forming in any way. Many say its myreefour effect
