Vote Two Short Of Amount For Over-Riding

WASHINGTON, July 14 (AP)—The Senate passed the $4,000,000,000 income tax reduction bill today, sending it to the White House where a certain veto awaits it.

The vote was 60 to 32, which was two short of the two-thirds margin the supporters of the cut would have to run up in order to make the bill law over President Truman's objections.

Three Senators were absent -Wagner (D-NY), ill at his home; Tobey (R-NH), in New Hampshire at the bedside of his ailing wife, and Elbert Thomas (D-Utah), en-route to the capital after attending an international labor conference at Geneva, Switzerland.

The House already has cleared the bill by a margin of nearly 3

Before the final vote, the Senate rejected a series of amendments, including a proposal to allow husbands and wives in all states to split their income for tax purposes. Also turned down was a proposal to raise personal exemptions from $500 to 0600.

The joint income amendment was offered by Senator McClellan In arguing for his amendment,

McClellan shouted that it is an "indefensible injustice" for taxpaymunity property plan.

The Arkansas senator said that while he regards the issue as nonpartisan, "The Republican party has the primary and major responsibility to pass the amendment because it is in power." He appealed to G. O. P. Senators 'not to be hidebound" by the opposition of republican leaders to the proposal. "This may be a losing fight," McClellan declared, "but it won't be a lost fight." He said the issue will come up 'again and again" until congress finally adopts such a program. Senator Fulbright (D-Ark.) arthat "from our point of view this is not a tax reduction scheme, but a tax equalization measure, to remove inequities." Republicans planned to speed the tax cuting bill to the White House by nightfall. President Truman told leaders at a White House conference today that his veto would be forthcoming quickly-in ample time for congress to vote on overriding before the July 26 adournment date.

Garver started the string July Pipeliners in action against Big 4th by taking over the final five Spring Motor while Big Spring innings against Shreveport. He next came up with a shutout against Houston, then followed with the Fort Worth whitewash.

Looking 'Em Over

With TOMMY HART

From this corner, it appears that the Big Spring Bronc pitchers need road work, if they expect to retain the edge over other craftsmen in the Longhorn league.

The hurlers appear to tire in the late innings and it's their legs, not their arms, that seem to give way on them. For example, Gerry Rodriquez pitched five innings of tremendous ball against the Sweetwater Sports Saturday night, but he began to sag in the sixth and was all tuckered out by the time Manager Pat Stasey relieved him in the seventh.

Any great athlete will tell you the secret of condition is leg stamina. A person with weak underpins will never go anywhere in the athletic world.

The Broncs almost let the Saturday night contest get away from them by pitching to big Bob Cowsar in the top half of the ninth order. Cowsar slammed a fat pitch out of the lot for enough success all evening.

Thanks to Jake McClain's tremendous triple and a thoughtless throw by James Brocato, the Sports' second sacker, the Hosses rallied to gain the edge.

The grade of umpiring in the Longhorn league continues to improve but we think some of the arbiters are not doing right by the hurlers when they hesitate to rule in his favor on a corner

The youngsters need all the encouragement they can get in that way and must be taught to shoot for the corners. Gig Gigliello is the most ular and perhaps the most com-

An investigation is being launched by Attorney General Price Daniel as to the possibility of collusion in gasoline price increases. This is a part of a campaign of renewed emhpasis on enforcement of antitrust laws announced by the attorney general.

We do not know that there was any agreement among the major suppliers on the price increase, but it merits inquiry. In the case of increasing bids for crude oil, it is evident that there will be uniformity of action, for the high bidder is quite apt to get the oil. Similarly, reduction in tankwagon prices of gasoline brings a similar if not identical pattern of action quickly, for again, the most attractive price will get the business. But this formula should not necessarily follow through on price increases to consumer.

It is possible that no actual collusion will be established. Often time the spirit of the law can be circumvented by "gentlemen's agreements" and common practice-although not altogether wholesome practice. Although gasoline is the product in the limelight at the moment, it should be noted that this disturbing unanimity is not confined to the petroleum industry. Indeed it reaches into other realms of business and even into the service field in the matter of fees and charges. Free enterprise, about which we hear so much, is based in a great measure upon competition, and any trend to universal price structures deals this theory a sharp blow.

Protection And Hungry Peoples

Not so long ago considerable debate preceded action of Congress granting a $400 million loan to Greece and Turkey. This, together with the implication that there might be more such demands, stirred speculation as to the necessity of surveying national resources before extending such a sizeable amount. This same point is being raised with each appeal for millions of food and clothing to keep alive hundreds of thousands of impoverished people in Europe and Asia. This, we are reminded cannot go on

It is interesting, therefore, to note that there has been scant reaction to estimates that it will cost the U.S. $400 million to whip the hoof and mouth disease problem, now causing so much concern to the livestock industry along the border and in Mexico. Most of the comment we have seen regard this as a necessary fight-as it doubtless is-and there fore the virtual inevitability of $100 to $400 millions for the campaign is accepted with a degree of inevitability.

Certainly militant action must be taken against the malady, for the livestock industry could be dealt a severe and staggering blow by it. The only effective means seems to be slaughtering of infected animals and burying them in quick lime. This calls for compensation to the owners.

But we can't help but wonder what will be the reaction of isolationists when proposals for this expense come up in Congress. In all probability they will join hands in the fight against disease that threatens to affect large numbers of cattle. When funds for putting food in the mouths of starving people come up, however, they may cry for caution.

Review Of 'Facism In Action'

under its thumb.

WASHINGTON, IP-Very shortly the government will publish, for sale to the public, a booklet called "Fascism In Action."

This study in dictatorship-how it works and how it gets that way-was prepared by a special staff of the library of Congress.

Rep. Wright Patman, Texas Democrat, asked that it be done. Before it could be printed for the public the house had to approve. This it finally did after much delay and fiery debate because some congressmen said it was a waste of money. This writer has gone through original copies. It is worth the time of anyone who wants to understand fascism in action.

Patman wanted it made public as a companion piece to "Communism In Action," another booklet which the house ordered printed last year. The conclusion of the long fascism means these things:

Perhaps your father should keep out of senate battles and confirmation crusades, but I stand for certain things, and I have to fight for them. I don't see any other alternative. One of the things I don't stand for, or rather stand against, is the

I have your letter with the clipping from the Chicago Tribune

Mrs. George Arnold.)

My dear daughter:

As a matter of fact- and I probably know this better than anyone else in the USA-it's nearly always a losing battle when you challenge a member of the club. For congress is the most exclusive club in the world, and no matter how much the members differ with each other when an outsider attacks, they all rally to each other's defense. I could scarcely believe it at first, but when indications of graft first began to develop regarding Congressman Andy May of Kentucky, Senator Alben Barkley, for whom I have the highest regard on most things, tried to call off the investigation. Barkley wanted to protect a member of the club-especially one from

And when Bob Allen first exposed the fact that congressman Gene Cox of Georgia had taken a $2,500 bribe in connection with a Federal Communications Commission radio license, Sam Rayburn and other club members brought such pressure on Attorney General Biddle that he never prosecuted him-even though his own criminal division recommended it.

Or when the justice department finally prosecuted Ex-Congressman Curley of Boston, Rep. John McCormack, also of Boston, pulled all sorts of wires to get him POLICING CONGRESSMEN Again when Senators Morse of Oregon and Taylor of Idaho introduced bills requiring members of congress to register their financial holdings and their stockmarket speculations (two of their colleagues had just been exposed for speculating in the cotton market, the bill promptly was pigeon-holed and never has seen the light of day since. Congress was only too glad to demand that labor unions open their financial records to the public, but not members of congress.

(Editor's Note-Drew Pear- to be expected that senators son's column today takes the would rush frantically to the defense of their colleague, Congressman Robert F. Jones of Ohio, and want to ram through > led by Ferguson of Michigan have held up the appointment of a new solicitor general. Phil Perlman, for six long months. The solicitor general has the important duty of arguing cases before the supreme court. But all winter and spring the justice department has limped along without a solicitor general while Senator Ferguson first waited four months before even holding hearings, and then subpoenaed all Perlman's income-tax returns and the records of the firms for which he practiced law.

Meanwhile, not one gesture has been made to request the income tax returns of Congressman Jones is a member of the of law clients, or in any real way to scrutinize his record.

The difference is that Congressman JJones is a member of the club. Mr. Perlman isn't. MAULING WITNESSES

Another thing which gripes your dad is to see the unfair way Senators Will Maul and tear to pieces some scared and helpless witness who has never before faced a senate committee or never even been in Washington. Then when a member of the club comes along for cross-examination, milk and honey simply drips from their mouths. Never do they ask an embarrassing question. Never do they look into his record. Never do they assign an FBI agent to check into his A simple phone call from the senate to the justice department would have revealed the fact that exactly one day after Congressman Jones was nominated to the Federal Communications Commission, the FBI had been ordered to investigate him in connection with an entirely different matter . However, when it was known that he had been nominated by the President of the United States for this important job, the justice department decided to withdraw the investigation-because it might prove embarrassing. That, however, made no difference to the members of the elub, someday, perhaps, they might be up for confirmation.

the other hand, when the chief of police of Beaver Dam, Ohio, Frank A. Barber, testified that Congressman Jones was a member of the Black Legion, Senator Capehart of Indiana proceeded to berate Barber because he had arrested 80 motorists on the 4th of July week end. In-

Congressmen Protect Each Other stead of asking questions about Jones's membership in the Black Legion, the senator tried to make it appears that Police Chief Barber was committing a crime by discouraging speedsters on a week end when the radio was warning the nation there would be more traffic accidents than ever before in history.

NO BLACK ANGELS Naturally, members of the Black Legion are not angels, and these witnesses had some unsavory spots in their pasts. Probably they wouldn't have been Black Legionnaires if they badnot. In fact, the Black Legion had a record for crime, race discrimination and religion-baiting which surpassed the Ku Klux Klan. If it had been otherwise, nobody would have cared whether Congressman Jones was a member or not.

But the senatorial members of the club who investigated the matter seemed interested only in investigating the past lives of the witnesses, not the past life of the man whom they were supposed to look into before they confirmed him for high office. Judging from the cross-examination, it almost looked as though the witnesses were up for senate confirmation, rather than Congressman Jones. Of course, this incident in itself is not so important. But when you line it up with the other cases in which congressmen vote to protect their colleagues, or vote the pocketbook interest rather than the public interest, then it brings weakening of public confidence in representative government. Undoubtedly this is one reason why the Gallup Poll shows a diminishing confidence in Congress.

Now that you're getting to be an "old" married lady you may rot remember it, but it was the shoddy behavior of the German Reichstag which helped to bring on Hitler. And it was the weakening of the Italian parliament which paved the way for Mussolini. And it has been the selfinterest of members of the French Chamber of Deputies that has given such a boost to communism in France.

So at this time when we are trying to make our democratic system an example which will prevent communism abroad .I would like to see our Congress forget the club spirit for a little while and adopt the most rigid standards possible for its own members. For, in all my year in Washingtin, I have always championed Congress and considered it the most important cornerstone of our 3-cornered democratic system.

Please excuse this lecture, and don't worry too much about Colonel McCormick.

Love. From the old man.

Business Behind Cartoon Making

HOLLYWOOD, (A)-As an investment, the cartoon feature picture is getting to be like a toll bridge-you are sure to get your money out of it if you wait long enough. That can be gathered from the words of Walt Dis-

The economics of the movie industry are enough to make a business administration professor turn in his cap and gown. And trying to figure out the wherefores of cartoon profit-making might cause him to blow his top. For instance, it might be 10 years from the moment an idea pops into Walt's head until the time the finished picture shows a profit.

As the cartoon wizard pointed out in his comfortable but inauspicious office, an ordinary movie can show a profit within a year of its conception. Four months of shooting, two of editing and printing and a half-year in the theaters can put a film in the black. "Now we have to depend on a re-issue for a profit from cartoons," said Disney. The timetable of a feature reads something like this: preparation-one and a half years; drawing-two years: release three years. Then it is withdrawn for two years and re-issued. By that time it starts paying off. Disney will throw his whole staff into work on "Alice In Wonderland," his first post-war superspecial, and even so, production will require two years, maybe more.

No Trace Of Glocca Morra Found

By JACK O'BRIAN

NEW YORK, (P-Millions of folks have wondered "how Are Things in Glocca Morra?" while humming, whistling or listening to that hit ditty from "Finian's Rainbow." Apparently no one ever will know by telephone, judging by the recent experience of a Columbus, O., editor.

Restively considering the tune after countless repetition on the radio, the editor decided to answer the query once and for all. Picking up the telephone, he put in an overseas call to the mayor of the Irish town. But after five hours of combined effort on the part of the Ohio telephone workers, overseas operators in New York and the young ladies on the London switchboards, just about everything else in Ireland proved to be available except Glocca Morra.

Donny Cove and Killy Begs were on tap and presumably their mayors were available, as were Kilderry and a number of other towns mentioned in the song. But no Glocea Morra.

AS MATTERS now continue.

Prime Minister Eamon de Valera is in receipt of an urgent request to clear up the matter of location of the tune town, the exasperated editor asking simply: 'Where is Glocca Morra?"

If this sort of thing keeps up perhaps the Irish Tourist Association will break down and help get a hamlet named after the show's top hit tune. This ambition was voiced and vigorously attempted by the musical's press agent, Sam Friedman, but to date it has remained just a Broadway drum beater's dream. . . .

Male Choruses Invited To

Male choruses of Texas are beng invited to participate in a 2,000 voice male chorus festival at Dallas in October.

Invitations to all such organizations in the state to have a part has been issued by Edmund F Boetcher, member of the board of governors for the state chapter of the Associated Male Choruses of America. The Texas chapter was formed in June.

The festival, in conjunction with the state fair, is to be its first big event and perhaps the first of its kind in the history of Texas music. Persons or male chorus organizations interested are invited to contact Boettcher, 706 Texas & Pacific building, Dallas 2, Texas.

Flying Disc Prank Blamed

ORANGE, July 14. (F)-A flying disc prank was blamed today for Saturday's fatal shooting of John L. Blackburn, 19, of Port Arthur, at a Calcasieu Parish, La., night

For Shooting

E. J. Smith, owner of the night club located across the Sabine river from Orange, said today that Blackburn opened a package labeled "dangerous, explosive, keep your hands off," and then sailed a china plate across the dining Smith said a gun was discharged during a scuffle between Blackburn and an employee, who is now being held by Louisiana authorities for questioning.

Blackburn died en route to a hospital. An inquest has been set by Dr. E. L. Clement, Calcasieu Parish coroner, for today in the Lake Charles, La., courthouse.

QUESTION

Is Your Home Like An Oven?

Answer

Yes, because heat from the sun penetrates into your attic and side walls. From there it goes inside your home. When the sun goes down, this heat is trapped and it takes several hours for your home to cool inside. Fi-Blak Insulation stops this heat from penetrating into your home.
