

DIST. MEET TO OPEN TODAY

Bovina, Lazbuddie Favored

Farwell plays host to the four other teams of District 3-B this weekend in what promises to be one of the most exciting district basketball tournaments in years.

The games will be played in Farwell's gymnasium, which is in use for the first time this year. Seating capacity of over 1000 is expected to be inadequate for some games which will hold great interest for the fans.

Providing the biggest attraction of the meet are the host Steers and the Mustangs of Bovina, the latter being a team apparently bent on doing at least as well this year as in 1955 when they won third in the state.

The Mustangs are entered as favorites to win district because of their unblemished conference record of eight wins and no losses, including two over Farwell. Farwell's hopes have not died, however, because their games with the high-scoring Bovina team have been close ones.

Bovina has won half of the crown by virtue of its perfect season play. The district tournament will count as one-half of the championship. The Mustangs lead off against Lazbuddie tonight at 8:30, and if they win that game as they are expected to do, will meet Farwell at 2:30 Friday.

Farwell drew a bye in the first round of play.

In the girls division, Lazbuddie appears to have the sharpest sextette, and currently is holding sway in the district. Closest behind them are the Bovina Fillies.

The latter team begins the tournament play tonight (Thursday) at 7 o'clock when they meet Adrian. That game, plus the one between the Bovina and Lazbuddie boys, will be the only two games played tonight.

Friday morning at 9 o'clock, Farwell and Vega girls will meet in the semi-finals. Both of these teams drew byes in the first round of play. Farwell has won both matches against this team in district play.

Winner of the Bovina-Adrian game will meet Lazbuddie in the same round at 10:30 Friday morning.

Winners of the two above mentioned games will meet for the district championship title at 7:30 Friday, unless Bovina should upset Lazbuddie to throw the two teams into a playoff Saturday.

At 1 o'clock Friday afternoon, Vega and Adrian boys will play the first game in the boys semi-finals. Farwell boys are to meet the winners of the Bovina-Lazbuddie duel played Thursday night.

If Bovina wins over the Steers, the Mustangs will meet the winner of the Vega-Adrian game Friday night at 9 o'clock.

If the Steers manage to upset the Mustangs, and if Bovina or Farwell or one of the other two girls' teams is able to stymie the Lazbuddie girls, one-game play-offs will decide the title.

Playoff games would be played on a neutral court with the schools involved deciding on the time and place of the matches.

Wherever you are, whatever you do, there's a good chance that you have some connections with someone so that you can buy things wholesale.

If you're a hardware man, you get your wrenches, appliances, and such for yourself at wholesale. If you are a car dealer, you give yourself the best deal in town—which is something you don't advertise to the public.

If you work for somebody, chances are that your boss is glad to order stuff that he sells to you wholesale. If you're a farmer, or some independent contractor, you're sure to have an uncle or some close friend who will pick up this or that thing at cost.

The newspaper business is no different. We can buy an item at wholesale, and since the wife is the money spender at the Graham household, she runs this wholesale buying operation on a big scale.

Our wholesale ace-up-the-sleeve is naturally a paper product: toilet paper. To get a volume discount, the wife orders the stuff a case at a time, and naturally, the writer is always the Johnny on the spot who gets to unload it and tote it around.

If you think you know what it's like to look ridiculous, you ought to start out the front door of your business (which you otherwise try to make look like a sober, high-minded enterprise) with both arms full of rolls of toilet paper.

There is no concealing the identity of a roll of toilet paper, you know, since this universally popular item is a familiar object in every family's household.

Passers-by can spot the little cylinders of wrapped tissue, with their hole through the center, from three blocks away, and it never fails that the moment we step from the door a half dozen cars pass by, or the judge dismisses a 40-man jury venire at the courthouse across the street.

Once, when the rolls were piled in our arms above the line of eyesight, we stepped off the curb unexpectedly, and the jolt tumbled off about a half dozen rolls into the gutter.

About this time, four little kids pedaled by on bicycles—two boys and two girls. The girls looked the other way and played like they didn't see the debacle, but the boys just grinned and stopped and helped us recover the paper.

As fate would will it, two cars full of people passed by before we could shove the cargo safely in the car, and we must admit that we felt pretty stupid.

Nobody ever says anything about these little scenes. That's what hurts, we guess. They just grin and pass on by.

We wonder how many people down at Lariat subscribe to or ever read the Dallas Morning News?

Usually, we don't bother to plug any paper other than The Tribune, but it is a fact that a fellow working for that big daily is making Lariat, Texas, as famous a place as Dogpatch, Hootin' Holler, or Circleville ever will be.

The man is Paul Crume, front page columnist of the News, who got his start in newspapering right here in this shop under the old master, Hop Graham, just the same as we did.

Since the Dallas News has a circulation of more than 200,000, and is neck-and-neck with two other newspapers in the state for the honor of being the biggest newspaper in Texas, Crume's writings have no little influence.

It's a shame that the News has traditionally circulated in North and East Texas instead of North and West Texas, because a week seldom passes that Crume doesn't have something to say about Lariat, his hometown, "the metropolis of Precinct 3."

We'll bet Ted Dealy of the News a Linotype that The Tribune has five times as many subscribers in Lariat as does the Dallas Morning News. In fact, if he wants to go farther, we'll be glad to prove that the State Line Tribune has more subscribers in Dallas than the DMN has in Farwell.

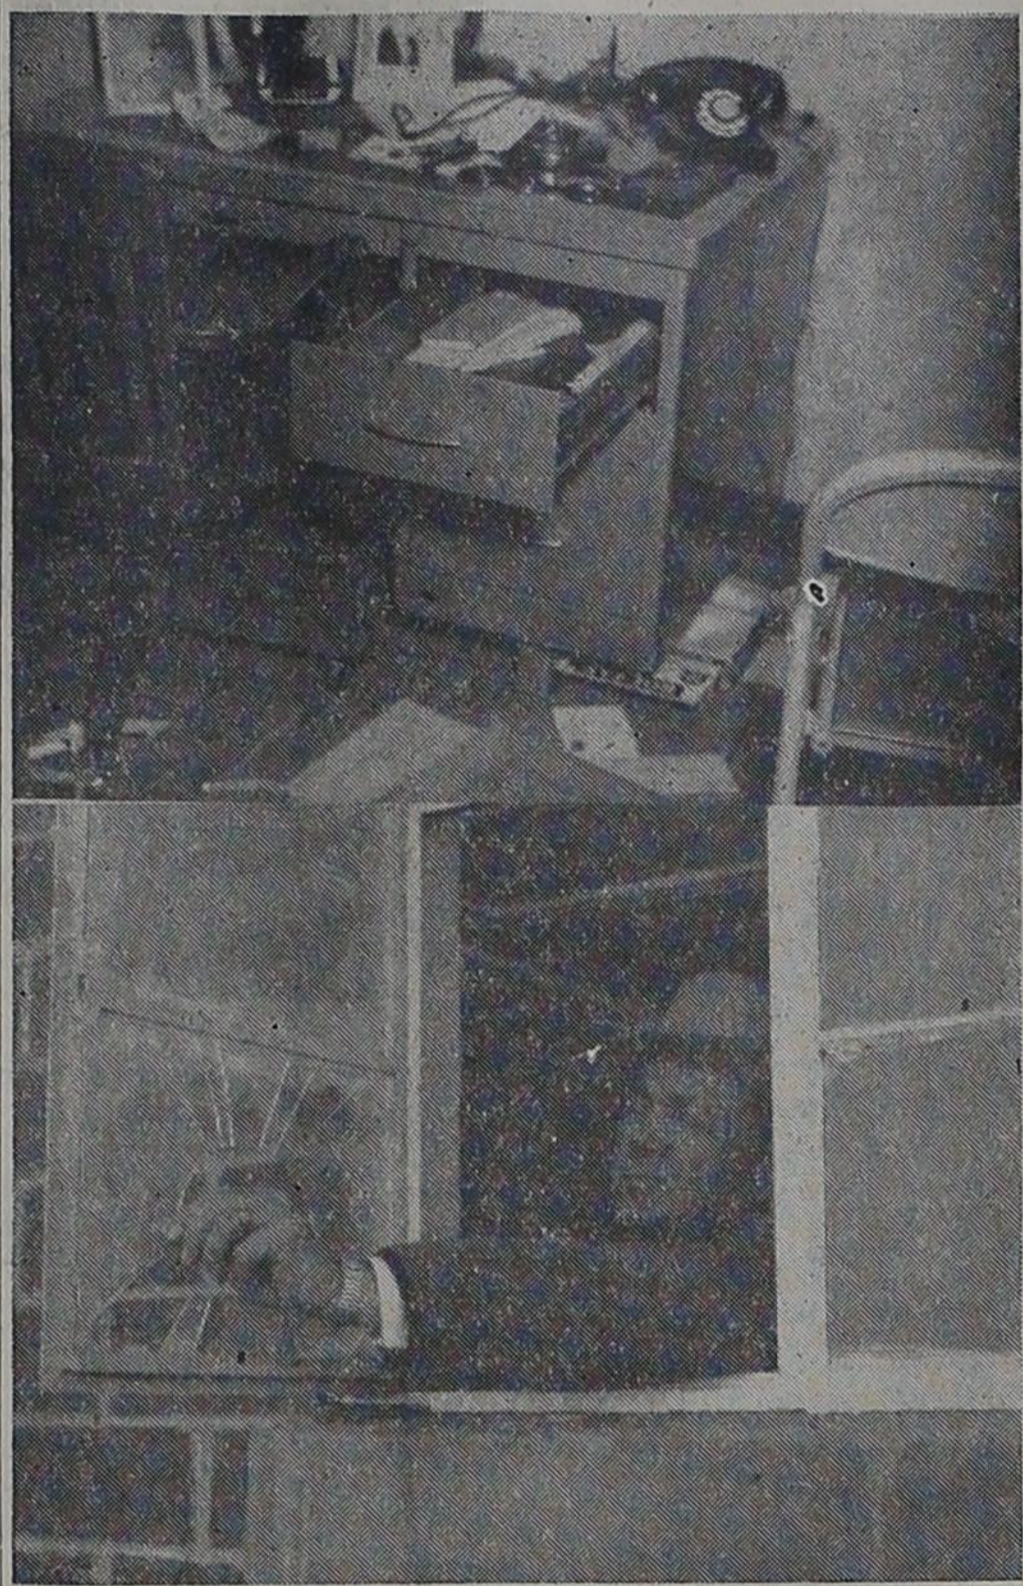

Well, at any rate, we're glad to give that paper credit for putting Lariat on the map, because they surely have done it. Whenever we go to press conventions downstate and meet folks, we always tell 'em we're "nine miles northwest of Lariat."

That establishes our location firmly in their mind, nearly always. We used to say, "We're nine miles east of Clovis, New Mexico." Lariat seems to be much better known.

Riley Boss, Texico old-timer, phoned up Monday morning to say that he agrees with Uncle Tom Randol that the snow of 1906 was the greatest ever to fall in this area.

Riley says that his father, John Boss, measured snow at a depth of two feet out in the open in the pastures that year. He adds that 1923 was just about equal to the one we had two weeks ago.

Burglars at Fern's Department Store in Farwell Saturday night ransacked the building, in a search for money. In the top photo is a scene in the office of Mrs. Walter Hardage, manager of the business. The lower picture shows the broken window at the back where the burglars gained entry. Sheriff Chas. Lovelace is checking for fingerprints.

Farwell Burglaries Solved in Single Day

Burglars had a heyday in Farwell Saturday and Sunday nights, but about all their crimes netted them was a prompt visit from the law, and now they are sitting in jail thinking things over.

The first, and most serious, burglary occurred Saturday night at Fern's Department Store, but was not discovered until Monday morning when Mr. and Mrs. Walter Hardage, owners of the business, came to work.

They were stunned to find the inside of the store a shambles, with racks of clothes torn down and heaped in the floor, furniture overturned, gift-wrapped boxes ripped open, shelved merchandise in a disarray, a large electric clock torn from its place on the wall, stationery and paper strewn about, and around $3,000 in new clothes missing.

The appearance of the store suggested vandalism as the only object of entry, but Sheriff Chas. Lovelace says that the youths admitting the crime were looking for money which they thought might have been hidden somewhere in the store.

Admitting the act are four Clovis Spanish-American youths, Frank Montoyo, 17; Ben Tenorio, 16; Lupe Madrid, 15; and Edward Armijo, 16. The crime broke the same day that the crime was discovered.

A Clovis woman, who entered an unrented apartment which she owned at 218 Davis Street in Clovis, spotted a cache of the stolen clothes in the bathtub of her apartment.

She notified police, and when Sheriff Lovelace telephoned that department in a check, it was established that the clothes had been taken from Fern's. The Clovis officers already were holding Madrid for questioning concerning another burglary.

Questioning of persons in the neighborhood of the apartment brought to light several suspects, and eventually, all four admitted taking part in the act.

The boys broke out a window in the rear of the building, and climbed through. They told officers that it was about 9:30 when they entered the building, and the clock which they pulled down correlated — it read 10:10.

About $2000 of the stolen goods has been recovered, but some is still missing, says Sheriff Lovelace. (Continued On Last Page)

Jack Spurlin of the store says that all women of the area are invited to the show, which will be accompanied by door prizes, refreshments, and free soap powder.

AFTER 17 YEARS— HE'S EDUCATED

After seventeen years—a college degree!

But things aren't quite as they seem in the above statement, although Capt. Carthon Phillips, son of Mrs. Kate Phillips of Farwell, did receive his degree after that length of time. But his record of achievement, had a time lapse between his first two years as a collegiate, and his last years of schooling.

Captain Phillips began his schooling in agricultural economics in the fall term, of 1938 at Texas Tech. After two years, he went into the service, and has since decided on a military career. But in 1951, he decided to complete the requirements for a college degree, and began night classes during off-duty, while in Newfoundland. His courses were extension classes from the University of Maryland.

His last semester of work was in residence at the University, which is located at College Park, Maryland. He was stationed in Washington at the time.

It was on February 2 of this year, that the captain completed his degree in Military Science and Tactics with a minor in Education.

Capt. Phillips and his wife, Doris, accompanied by their 4-year-old son, Tracy, arrived in Farwell Tuesday night for a brief visit with relatives before they go to Honolulu where he will be stationed.

Tracy, at the ripe old age of four, was born in Newfoundland, and will now have his second opportunity, to learn about life overseas. He is one child who is learning his geography first-hand.

THE STATE LINE TRIBUNE

"OFFICIAL PUBLICATION OF PARMER COUNTY"

FARWELL, TEXAS THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 16, 1956 NUMBER 19

THE TRIBUNE'S EDITORIAL COMMENT

What's Happened To the Statistics?

A fellow whose name we didn't know addressed the writer on the street recently, wondering what had become of the well drilling statistics which we ran all during last year, about every four weeks.

After explaining to him why we no longer publish the statistics, it occurred to us that the explanation should be passed on to other readers, who might also be wondering about this matter.

The statistics of permits issued and wells completed within the boundaries of the High Plains Water District are still available to us, and we usually take them from the monthly publication of the District, "The Cross Section."

During 1954 and 1955, Parmer County was one of the leading counties in the District in the well drilling statistics, and in fact, may have drilled and completed more new irrigation wells in that time than any other county.

The latest count on the number of wells in the county now stands at 2200, and with most of the choice irrigable quarters already drilled on, it is likely that the "boom" for drilling wells would be over, even if depressed farm prices had not applied the brake they have to development.

Last year and the year before, Parmer County consistently developed as fast, if not faster, than any other part of the District, and we were proud to report those figures. Now, however, the picture has changed, and drilling has slowed to a trickle.

In December, only 16 wells were reported completed here, whereas, in Lubbock County, 40 installations were made. It would be a distortion to present these figures in print without appropriate explanation, however, because there is no distinction made between reporting NEW and REPLACEMENT wells.

Parmer County, fortunately, has had a minimum of replacement wells in its statistics. Lubbock County, however, has listed many wells as "new" ones, when in reality, they were only taking the place of wells that had failed. The same thing is true in other eastern and southern counties of the District, and has been for some time.

That is the explanation of why we haven't bothered to print well drilling statistics recently, simply because they didn't furnish a truly proportional picture.

We would make a suggestion to District officials that the situation could be clarified considerably if the permit applicant would include in his required information, whether the well was truly a new one, or just a replacement.

At any rate, here is the last go-round on figures, which is a compilation of the 1955 statistics. Take 'em with a grain of salt: WELLS COMPLETED—Lubbock, 606; Hockley, 547; Parmer, 494; Lamb, 456; Castro, 371; Floyd, 358; Deaf Smith, 285; Bailey, 254; Cochran, 196; Randall, 147; Armstrong, 12; Potter 4.

And a last warning: Don't forget that these figures aren't broken down into pump sizes, either, and capacity of wells is a good yardstick of how extensively an area has been developed.

Manuel Kesner Tells Of Life in the Navy

A world cruise which included stops in 14 foreign countries and his ship's four day seige with Hurricane Diane are the things that Manuel Kesner remembers most about his four year stay in the U. S. Navy.

Kesner, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. N. Kesner, enlisted in the Navy in October 1951 and received his discharge in October 1955.

Kesner took basic training at San Diego, Calif., where he attended commissary school. From San Diego, Kesner was transferred to Alaska where he remained for 11 months before being assigned to a base in Guam for a three month stay.

Life as a cook in the Navy proved enjoyable to Kesner who laughingly says he had a dangerous job and that "being a cook, every guy on my ship knew me."

The 17 day trip on ship from Alaska to Guam was the first and only experience Kesner had with seasickness. He remembers that the first four days at sea were "pretty rugged," but after that, he was never bothered with being sea sick.

After a six month tour of duty at Saipan, Kesner spent a 30 day leave at home with his parents.

He returned to San Francisco where he was assigned to the destroyer USS Fechteler. The Fechteler was one of four destroyers to start a world cruise in March of that year.

On the world tour, crew members drilled on ship upkeep, air operations and gunnery fire while the vessel was at sea. When the ship reached a scheduled stop, the crew had liberty during its stay there. The length of the visits in the various ports ranged from three days to two weeks.

Kesner says that in most of the places they visited, travel agencies arranged touring parties to scenic or historic places for interested parties.

Visiting so many different places was responsible for keeping everyone confused about their money, says Kesner. He says that as soon as they reached a foreign port, they changed their military payment certificates to that country's currency. Then as soon as they had learned the value of that particular medium of exchange, they'd move to another port where the value of the dollar changed again.

In Hong Kong and Singapore the currency is in dollars, but the values are different. In Ceylon, American money was changed to rubles, and in Korea and Japan, dollars were changed to yen.

Some of the places visited on the cruise were Honolulu, Pearl Harbor, Sasebo, Pusan, Manila, Indochina, Subic Bay, Hong Kong, Singapore, Colombo, Suez Canal, Port Said, Naples, Nisbon, Gulf de Juan and Plymouth, England.

Kesner says time usually passed fast enough while they were at sea. Movies were provided for entertainment in the evenings, but Kesner says that unless they exchanged films with another ship they had the same movie for about three weeks.

Interesting moments kept life at sea from being dull. Particular things Kesner remembers include the day a call was issued for "all hands on deck" to see the Queen Mary pass by. Naturally, the crew thought the aforementioned ship would be quite near, but were somewhat disappointed when they rushed onto the deck, peered out to sea searching for the big ship and were told that the tiny black speck on the far horizon was the Queen Mary.

Besides the "chief" there were usually nine cooks on each ship, according to Kesner. Most of the cooks worked for 24 hours and then were off duty for 24 hours. But Kesner worked eight hours each day, four hours with each shift.

Mishaps and funny experiences in the "galley" were many, relates Kesner, but one of the most memorable to him is the day a crate holding 60 dozen eggs fell from a table and not one single egg was saved!

On October 25 last year when they were nearing the end of the long cruise, the Fechteler ran into the path of hurricane Diane. The ship was about three days out of Rhode Island when they struck the terrific blow.

Kesner says he wasn't frightened during the heavy storm, but that he did wonder when it was going to let up. Damage to the ship itself was heavy. The ship's boat was smashed by the strong waves and two vents were ripped apart. Bulkheads were bowed in and three compartments were flooded.

The Damage Control crewmen worked hard and long, slaving over stability diagrams etc., and according to an annual which relates information about the cruise, "a misplaced decimal point indicated the ship had overturned—a point which did not appear totally inaccurate at certain stages of the storm."

After Kesner returned to the states, he was assigned to a cruise to Newfoundland. On this journey the ship ran into another hurricane, which, Kesner thought, was just as bad as Diane, only Diane just received more publicity than the other. This storm lasted for about the same length of time as did Diane, says Kesner.

On the Newfoundland cruise, the crew had a week's liberty in New York City. They also spent two days in Nova Scotia during this trip. This was the last cruise Kesner made before being discharged.

Summing up his life in the Navy, Kesner says "I enjoyed it all, especially the opportunity to visit so many foreign countries."

FB Prexy Reports Letters Necessary To Switch SS Program

Action from the "grassroots" of agriculture in the form of letters to Senators Price Daniel and Lyndon Johnson will be necessary if any changes are to be made in the recently extended social security coverage for farmers, believes Walter Kaltwasser, president of the Farmer County Farm Bureau.

Kaltwasser this week pointed out that this county, along with the national organization, has opposed extension of coverage for farmers and farm workers, but that agriculture has been brought under the provisions anyway. "This is probably the last year in which there is any hope of accomplishing action to make coverage of farmers an optional factor," said Kaltwasser. "After these programs have been in effect for some time they tend to become crystalized and accepted."

He added that the hope for exempting farmers from coverage is "poor." But he added that hope for modifying coverage of workers is good at the present time.

"Letter writers should indicate the desirability of exempting workers who work less than a certain number of days, such as 60," he said. "A less desirable alternative, but one that would be better than no action, would be to increase the present exemption."

The Burglars Missed Our Most Prized Possession

Being robbed like we were Saturday night isn't funny, but the laugh was on the burglars, because they missed the most valuable thing we have in our store. And that's the GOOD WILL of our customers, which since we have opened, has grown from week to week.

We are proud of the friends we have made in business since Fern's first opened, and glad that this good will we are fortunate to have is something that can't be taken away by anyone.

Thanks for coming around and sympathizing for our misfortune, and we're staying open and in business in spite of these difficulties.

pity on us and aided us once again in our search for recipes to pass on to our readers.

She has two candy recipes which she likes because there is no cooking involved. She thinks some of you might like them too.

NO COOK FONDANT

1/3 cup soft shortening
1/3 cup Karo, red label
1/2 tsp. salt
1 tsp. vanilla
3 1/2 cups or 1 lb. of sifted confectioners sugar

Blend shortening, Karo, salt and vanilla in large mixing bowl. Add sifted confectioners sugar, mix first with spoon, then with hands. Turn the candy on a board and knead until well blended and smooth. Keep in cool place. Nuts may be added if desired.

PEANUT BUTTER FUDGE

1 cup peanut butter
1 cup Karo (red or blue label)
1 1/4 cups non-fat dry milk
1 1/4 cups sifted confectioners sugar

Blend peanut butter, and Karo in large mixing bowl, measure non-fat dry milk and confectioners sugar and add all at once, blend with spoon, then with hands, then knead on board until well blended. Press out with hands or rolling pin and cut into squares.

These horoscope readings are really something. We do not ordinarily take time to read them, but when glancing through a daily paper last week, "Today Under Your Sign" caught our eye. So we glanced down at the date of our birth and read "there is something inspiring in the air according to your chart. It is probably connected with personal life."

Ummm! Sounded wonderful and mysterious! As we went about our work, we had visions of great big boxes of chocolates that our husband might "inspire" us with, since it was Valentine day. But we knew better all the time, he never gives us chocolates. He watches our waist line.

But we had lots of ideas that were just as inspiring.

But imagine our surprise when the prediction came true, but not quite as we had pictured. That "in the air" was misleading, because it was actually a whole line of white things that were literally waving in the breeze when the clothes line snapped. Then they flopped to the ground and began to zig-zag back and forth with the wind.

Never let it be said that the Grahams can't grow things because our sticker patch is something to behold. And they cling wonderfully to soft diapers and fuzzy pajamas. We counted 22 in the first diaper that we picked up. They weren't tattle-tale grey, it must have been adobe brown.

And as we were extricating the little prongs from our child's seat covers—we had our inspiration—just like the horoscope said.

This time—that clothes line is to be fixed. We've been suggesting that we do something about it for a long while now. But this time we know it will work—because the suggestion is inspired.

This is merely a warning to all motorists in our fender range. We are now driving the only automobile in existence with a Grahama-matic gearshift (which our husband has failed to gain a patent on). It must be a marvelous invention, because we get there—but in the process of shifting gears, we could run over someone.

It really isn't that serious, but the way our husband tells the story, he rammed into a snowdrift during the big storm and the gearshift just came off in his hand. Transmission was cold, he says. We predicted that he just didn't know his own strength, but our society editor who was in the car at the time, verified the statement.

So, after driving in second gear for a couple of days (the position the shaft was in at the time of the mishap), he has an inspiration. Believe it or not, those vice-grip pliers really work, but it is an art to go from one gear to the other.

Boner of the week: ESA members were so proud of the new son of their former member, Mrs. Bob Brooks, that they sent flowers. But Jeanell was former treasurer of the group—and sure enough, SHE received the bill.

She was a good sport though, she just forwarded the bill on to the new treasurer (no, she didn't pay it!).

Now we read that housewives are about to be freed from drudgery, that the experts say we are on the eve of a breakthrough. Drudgery in housework is a state of mind anyway. Sure, there are a jillion things that we would just as soon not do, but all in all, we wouldn't trade places with anyone. On the days life becomes a "drudge," those are the days, we should have stayed in bed. Then we remember our grandmothers who used a rub board for the washing, cut the wood for the stove and other tasks. There are still people who do all their work without the aid of running water in the house, and other work savers.

But back to our subject, the things that are about to emancipate us, are wonderful dreams. We won't object to any of them.

In the offing is the 100-percent climate controlled house, with the right temperature and moisture content in the house at all times, (can you imagine), dirt and undesirable odors.

Senior high girls beat the House team 34-32 Friday to make them eligible for the semi-finals in this bracket. Texico, who trailed most of the game, came from behind in the fourth quarter to win.

Monday night the Whirlwinds were matched against Melrose who fought to a 53-50 win in a tight game. With 30 seconds left to play, Melrose led 51-50, but Texico forwards were unable to sink a shot for the needed two points. A foul committed as the final buzzer sounded gave Melrose two free throws to give them the three point win.

Sue Reid was again Texico's high scorer with 28 points racked up. Rosedale girls beat Melrose 61-37 Tuesday night in the finals to be tournament champions in this bracket.

In the junior high division, the Texico girls won their first game by edging House 27-26. Texico led throughout the game, but during a slow scoring streak in the final period, House almost went ahead.

Anita Moss scored 13 points to be high scorer in this game. Christine Bowers was second with 10 points.

In the second game for the Texico junior Whirlwinds, Forrest edged them out 28-27 in a very close game. Texico led by two points at the close of the first quarter, and Forrest led by one point at half time. Christine Bowers was high scorer for Texico with 17 points.

Rosedale won over Forrest 37-35 to win the tournament.

Texico junior high boys won over Grady 42-23 in the first game of this division. Melrose junior high team beat Texico by a nine point margin to give them first place honors.

Suggests Growers Check Germination

Now is a good time to have germination tests run on cottonseed that will be going into the ground before too many weeks, suggests County Agent Joe Jones.

"It's usually a good idea to have seed tested," says the agent, "and that's especially true in a year such as this, which will be following a growing season that had an early freeze."

He pointed out that even though the cotton in 1955 was open early and it may have been hand picked for seed, he still hears reports of farmers who get low germination tests from such carefully treated fields.

Agent Jones recommends that growers send their seed to a reliable testing laboratory, and offered the suggestion that one is available at Texas Tech in Lubbock.

It is necessary to submit a one-pound sample for testing, and a charge of $1 is made by the laboratory, which I did.

I saw the tracks of a large heavy truck went over my meter and broke the water pipe line.

I went back over to Mrs. Sanders' and had her to get Russell Johnson up here as soon as possible. He came at once, of course he was not very happy about it. He did everything he could do, to turn my water off without turning it off from the entire Town of Texico, but he could not. When he went to turn the water off from the Town, I did not look for him to come back that night.

As I was getting ready to go to bed, I looked out west and saw a flashlight and heard somebody talking. I went out there and wanted to help but he did not seem to think my help would be any good, so I stood out in the cold with him and his son, Jerry.

He did not stop until he saw I had water.

The people of the Town of Texico should thank Russell Johnson and his son, Jerry, because we had water as soon as we did. It was midnight before they could turn the water on.

I saw for myself, it was not very easy work out in a cold mud hole after night, taking a chance on making himself sick. My suggestion would be, after the weather warms up, move my water meter so it will not happen again.

Letters To The EDITOR

Dear Sonny and Jeanie,

We've moved to the above address and would like very much to have the change made on our State Line Tribune from our old address of 1404 Kingsbury, Apt. 3.

Hope all that snow has helped everyone and not hindered.

We enjoy our paper so much, and will look forward to coming home soon and help enjoy the snow, although we've had a little here, too.

I see in the paper a certain headline: "They'll Remember the Storm of 1956," by Jeanne Graham.

I am sure there are some people over in Texico, who will also remember last Wednesday night, February 8th.

When I came from work about eight o'clock, the first thing my mother told me was, "the water is frozen and we have no water."

I did not feel like it should be frozen. I looked at the temperature and it read about 22 degrees, if I remember correctly. But that did not solve the problem, because we did not have any water, so my mother had me to get some snow and melt it, so we could have some water to wash with the next morning.

I went over to Mrs. Sanders' to see if she had water, which she did and she gave me a pitcher of water to drink. Several reasons came to my mind why we did not have water, at the same time I could hear a voice saying, go out to the meter and see if anybody has been doing some work around the meter, which I did.

I saw the tracks of a large heavy truck went over my meter and broke the water pipe line.

I went back over to Mrs. Sanders' and had her to get Russell Johnson up here as soon as possible. He came at once, of course he was not very happy about it. He did everything he could do, to turn my water off without turning it off from the entire Town of Texico, but he could not. (Continued From Page 1)

Home the realization to us that Mother Nature has an amazing "sixth sense" about equalizing her resources for the use of man.

That part of southeastern New Mexico and West Texas area attached to it is about as bleak and forlorn a sight as we have ever seen. One would think that the only use for which Heaven intended the land was "to hold the world together."

However, such isn't the case, as we all well know. Lovington, Hobbs, Eunice, and Jal are sitting atop a gigantic pool of oil and natural gas and their prosperity thus has been assured.

What once was land hardly fit for grazing is now covered with thousands of "Christmas trees," "walking beams," or derricks. Drilling rigs appear here and there, and residents tell us that exploratory work is still going on.

For a boy from the country, such sights are wondrous to behold, and it is hard to not be envious of the evidence of money that one sees on every hand in that area.

Riches from oil bring drawbacks to those towns down there, though. Shacks and sheet-iron lean-tos comprise a sizeable part of every town, and the large transient-type population no doubt is a liability.

The people who build towns and make them decent places in which to live usually are the people who are permanent residents, and want to provide a good environment for their own children in future years.

People who constantly move on seldom feel the initiative to contribute much to their community in the way of civic or religious service. There certainly are advantages to living either here or there, but for the average family man, we'd say that our part of the country is still pretty hard to beat.

We crossed the state line over into Andrews, a booming little city where our father started in the newspaper business many years ago, and ran into a little lesson in business principles which we filed away in our mind, and would like to pass on to other businessmen who might be reading this.

At a service station there we purchased some soft drinks to go with the sandwiches we had brought to eat in the city park. (Note to our bankers: this explains how we are able to do so much running around. We live on sandwiches and buy our gas with credit cards.)

The drinks were taken from a vending machine, and we approached the station attendant to make a deposit on the bottles. He replied jovially, "Oh, that's all right. You'll be back through here some day."

And although we hadn't purchased any gasoline or oil, he rushed to our car to clean the windshield as we were getting the drinks. Such an attitude impressed us enough that we did remember to return his bottles, and also noticed that we could use some gas, and bought it from him.

He cleaned the windshield again, checked the oil and water, brushed out the floor of our car, and waited on us with such good humor and apparent desire to please that we felt flattered.

The gasoline this man sold was no cheaper than any other. And it was, in fact, an "off-brand" product not produced by a major company or well-known independent.

We hadn't intended to buy anything other than the soft drinks there, but because of his attitude, it was a pleasure to buy from him. Most likely, if we are ever again in Andrews, we'll try that station again.

Now, we admit that business is business, and requiring deposits on bottles probably is a necessary thing in order to preserve what little profit there is in such business anyhow.

But that was only a part of the courtesy which won us over, and we think that there's a lesson here for all of us who deal with the public.

Incidentally, it ought to be added that our service station attendants are already among the most courteous and helpful business people that we have. But in other fields of business, common courtesy and politeness are appallingly absent. We see our own shortcomings in the newspaper business whenever we have a disgusting experience while trying to buy some product or service. It is easy to say, "Now, could we be doing the same thing in our own business?"

Sometimes the answer is yes, and it's something that hadn't occurred to us before.

USO DRIVE SATURDAY

At the request of Gene Harmon of Bovina, USO drive chairman for Parmer County, ESA has consented to provide workers for the drive in Farwell.

A table will be set up in Farwell Post Office Saturday morning, and contributions may be made at that time, it has been announced.

Farwell Burglaries Solved in Quick Time

He commented that "clothes turned up everywhere" and that he and Clovis officers found the merchandise hidden in walls, in garages, and basements of homes of the four youths.

One boy, Madrid, was wearing a shirt stolen from the store when he was picked up, and officers suspect that quite a bit more of the stolen clothes have been passed around to "friends" in the area where the boys lived.

Also cleared up with the arrest of the youths were five other burglaries occurring in Clovis and Portales. The boys had stolen guns in Clovis, but Sheriff Lovelace does not think they were armed when they entered Fern's.

Montoyo and Tenorio have agreed to sign papers to allow their extradition to Texas to allow them to face charges in Farwell. The other two refuse to waive.

All four are still jailed in Clovis where grilling continues with possible other incidents in New Mexico.

In Texas, boys 16 years and younger can be tried in county court and sent to the state reform school. At 17 years of age, a youth can be committed to the state penitentiary.

Sunday night the Gulf service station of O. C. Pullam was broken into, with burglars gaining entrance through a rear window. Cigarettes, candy, oil, a small amount of cash, and miscellaneous merchandise was removed.

Charged with this burglary are three Muleshoe men, W. D. Wolfe, 20; Junior Park, 24; and Troy Bridgeman, 22. They admit having been responsible for the crime.

The trio was spotted sleeping in a parked car in Shallowater by a watchman there, after they had made off with their loot, and he noticed the stolen merchandise in the vehicle.

An arrest was made by the Lubbock sheriff's office, and the three brought to Farwell. Wednesday County Judge A. D. Smith set their bonds at $1000 each.

Nearly all of the merchandise was recovered.

The Muleshoe men also are suspected of attempting to enter the Piggly Wiggly Store and Farwell Hardware. In the former, someone broke out rear windows, but was stopped by bars on the inside.

Seniors Play Last Games This Week

Glenna Davis and Linda Kube made the all-district team last year as Juniors. They were both members of the all-tournament team at Farwell last year, and Glenna was chosen on the all-tourney team at Friona last year.

High point member of the squad for the past two years is Glenna Davis with a 24 1/2 point per game average for the two year period. Betty Hubbell, forward, was chosen most outstanding girl basketball player at Farwell last year, and this year was selected as most athletic girl.

Most of the same girls were members of last year's squad which was tied for second place in the district standing before tournament play.

Finishing their third year as managers of the team are Marilyn Austin and Betty Routon. Tucker says that these two senior girls have been "fine managers" in the three years he has been coaching here.

Coach Calvin Murray says that, offensively, the present Farwell High boys squad is the best he's coached.

The present A team, composed entirely of seniors who will play their final games for Farwell during the tournament this weekend, boasts a 20-win and 5-loss record for the current season.

Bert Williams, George Washington, Truitt Hardage, Troy Christian, Eddie Smith, James Norton and Gerald Hardage are the senior squad members.

The Steers will meet the winners of the Lazbuddie-Bovina game on Friday afternoon at 2:30 for their first tournament match.

Lettering four years for the Steers is Eddie Smith who is the only team member to letter as a freshman.

Three year lettermen are Troy Christian, Truitt Hardage, Bert Williams and James Norton. Gerald Hardage has lettered two years and George Washington is a one year letterman.

Last year the Steers were runners-up for the district championship, and three boys on this year's squad were regulars on the team last year.

Boys seeing quite a lot of play last year were Hardage, Williams and Smith. Christian also played several quarters last season.

The Steers scored their smallest amount at the Friona tournament when they were defeated 59-50 by the Bovina Mustangs. Steers' largest number of points racked up in one game this season is 83. They reached this total to win their own tournament by downing Bovina 83-70.

Bovina has beaten the Steers three times this season by nine points in the first game (Friona tourney), and by two points in each of the district games played.

Bert Williams was a member of the all-district team last year, and Eddie Smith has all-district honors for the past two years. Smith has been on two all-tournament teams during his four years on the A squad.

Main Street Has New Look Now

Avenue A or the main street of Farwell has the "new look" this week, with all the snow banks cleared away and traffic once again, back to normal.

But the look of spaciousness is not because the snow is gone—it is the new method of parking, that has been introduced by the city commission. No longer is the easy small town diagonal parking allowed—local motorists will have to "bone up" on their parallel parking to cope with new regulations.

Results are a wider, safer traffic lane through Farwell.

CARD OF THANKS

I wish to thank everyone for the lovely cards, flowers, letters and every kind deed during my recent illness and stay in the hospital. May God bless all of you.

strata between the water table and the redbeds in 1938 before an appreciable amount of water had been pumped from the reservoir. The map in plate 2 shows the decline of the water table from the spring of 1938 to January 1955.

The volume of water remaining in the underground reservoir was determined by subtracting the volume of material unwatered since 1938 from the total volume of saturated material in 1938 and multiplying the remainder by the coefficient of storage of 15 percent.

These data show that 12,800,000 acre-feet of water was in storage available for pumping in 1938, and that the net decrease in storage from 1938 to 1955 was 1,100,000 acre-feet. In other words, the net decrease in storage is about 9 percent of the quantity available in 1938.

The approximate quantity of underground water in storage, available for pumping, beneath an individual farm may be determined by multiplying the number of acres in the farm by the thickness of the water-bearing strata underlying the farm and then multiplying by the storage coefficient of 15 percent.

These maps and studies of this type are parts of the regular hydrological work in progress by the staff of the Water District. Similar maps and information will be prepared as rapidly as practicable, for all the counties within the Water District. Maps of Deaf Smith, Parmer, Castro, Potter, Randall, Armstrong, Floyd, Bailey, and Lamb Counties are now available.

TO DIRECT STUDY

The Texas Congress of Parents and Teachers selected a University of Texas elementary-education professor to direct a study on the best methods of reporting children's school progress to parents.

Dr. Henry J. Otto has the assistance of four graduate students, all of whom are experienced school administrators. Six city school systems are participating in the study.

The project will be completed by November 1, 1956, and a published report should be available by June, 1957, state P-TA officials said.

Parmer County Water Storage Greater Than Lamb County's

The portion of Lamb county within the boundary of the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District covers about 560,000 acres of land. (The total area of the county is about 654,000 acres.) The underground reservoir in the Ogallala formation beneath the area within the district contained approximately 11,700,000 acre-feet of ground water in storage available for pumping in January 1955.

Parmer County's storage is 13,600,000 acre feet.

The maps were prepared from data compiled from a study of about 900 logs of water wells and about 300 measurements of water levels in wells.

The map in plate 1 shows the thickness of the water-bearing

Development Program Being Sponsored

A five-week executive development program, sponsored by the University of Texas, is in progress (Feb. 20-March 23) at Bar-K Guest Ranch, 32 miles northwest of Austin at Lake Travis. Members of the University faculty and visiting lecturers from industry are providing "a new, dynamic approach" to some old problems in organization, human relations, labor relations, business and management, and cost and budgetary control, program directors report.

MEAT DEMAND TO RISE

There is good news for Southern beef producers. Ten experiment stations over the South recently finished a study that shows that there will be a demand for 156 pounds of meat per Southerner in 1975. This is up from 122 pounds in 1950. There's no reason why the South shouldn't supply this meat from its own pastures and feedlots.

Extension Range Specialists estimate that Texas ranchmen added almost $3 million to their income last year from changes made in management plans as a result of range improvement demonstrations.

Hickman's Portrait Given Law School

The chief justice of the Texas Supreme Court was honored when the University of Texas Law School Class of 1911 presented his portrait to the Law School.

Chief Justice John E. Hickman was originally a member of the 1911 Class, but was graduated a year ahead of his group and became a quizzmaster of the 1911 Class.

The portrait, painted by Alexander Clayton of Dallas, will hang in the Alumni Lounge of Towles Hall Law Building.

"Judge Hickman is a distinguished jurist and above all a man of integrity," Law School Dean Page Keeton said in accepting the portrait.

"He has brought to the Supreme Court of Texas the kind of qualities that give assurance of great public esteem of the judiciary, both by lawyers and laymen, and both locally and nationally," Keeton declared.

Hickman is a native of Liberty Hill. After being admitted to the Texas State Bar in 1910, he became an outstanding lawyer. He practiced in Erath and Stephens Counties until 1926, when he was elected associate justice of the Court of Civil Appeals at Eastland.

In 1935 Hickman became a judge on the Commission of Appeals. When a Constitutional amendment in 1945 changed this Commission to a nine-member Supreme Court, Hickman and the other commissioners were named associate justices. He was appointed to his present position as chief justice of the state's highest court in 1948.

FEB. 22 IS U. S. ARMY RESERVE DAY IN TEXAS!

UNCLE SAM needs young men for his peacetime Army of Reservists. YOUNG MEN need what Uncle Sam has to offer.

Strong nations seldom are attacked. It is only when a nation becomes weak, when its military strength is at a low ebb . . . when its men are untrained for battle . . . that an enemy strikes. To keep peace — keep strong. For a nation to maintain military might it must have a large, well-trained Ready Reserve — well versed in the latest in military know how and equipment.

It is up to the young men of America to provide this manpower. Under the Reserve Forces Act of 1955 American youth may continue in school with a minimum of interruption, while serving in the U.S. Army Reserve.

Prayer Service Day To Be Observed Here

World Day of Prayer was observed in 134 countries in 1955 and in approximately 20,000 communities in the United States.

Each year the national World Day of Prayer Committee offers a service prepared by authors from one of the cooperating countries. This year the service comes from Cook Training School for Indian Christian leaders in Phoenix, Ariz.,—a school which receives a part of the offering each year.

The Union Congregational Church will be the hostess for the churches of Friona, Friday at 2:30 p. m. The program is divided into eight topics and an interesting afternoon is planned.

Maurer New President Tri-State H & I Group

Carl Maurer was elected president of the Tri-State Hardware and Implement Association at the Maurer served as vice-president of the organization last year. He is replacing last year's president, Fred Sherwood, of Childress.

About 1,000 delegates and their wives from Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico attended the three day session. Other Association members from Friona who attended the convention were Mr. and Mrs. Loyde Brewer.

Regular prayer service was held Wednesday at 7 p. m., and choir rehearsal followed at 7:30 p. m.

The week of dedication began February 12. This period is to be observed in all Methodist churches throughout the United States. It is a time when people are urged to read their Bibles each day, and dedicate themselves to God and the church. Next Sunday, there will be a special service for dedication.

in & around FRIONA With June

Does anyone know the "low-down" on the ground hog's weather predicting? It had always been our idea that each locality had its own weather predictor, so we were telling the neighbors that we would have an early spring. Then Louisa Wilson advised us that she had seen a telecast or heard a broadcast that THE ground hog did see his shadow and there would be six more weeks of winter. Surely one ground hog up in some of the mid-western States, or wherever he was that day couldn't predict weather for West Texas. That just doesn't seem fair. There must be a West Texas ground hog that can take care of the job for us.

Our first daughter was born on February 2. In the excitement of having a new baby, we forgot all about the ground hog. One of our very special friends at the time, a pre-school age boy, was very much aware of the day the baby came. He remarked to his mother, "Glenn and June don't have a baby at all. All they have is a little ground hog."

Hope Jack Patterson had fun at the Farm Bureau Convention. We wonder if he will get to take in another one. If we know anything about conventions, getting his picture on the front page of a widely circulated paper, with an attractive young lady, is one of the things a fellow should not do. That is, if he wants to attend another one. Congratulations, Jack, we are proud that you let people down state know that Farmer County farmers could speak well, too.

One week ago Friday night, as Mr. and Mrs. Newman Jarrell Jr. were returning from Lawton, Okla., they ran into a snow drift and were unable to get the car out of it. They had to leave the car and proceed on foot. They reached the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Hochstein which is located about 1/4 mile east of Nazareth and were invited in for the duration of the blizzard. The Hochsteins were wonderful hosts and the Jarrells were treated as hospitably as if they had been invited guests.

The Jarrells were unable to get any further until Sunday afternoon when a milk truck came out to the Clarence Berkenfeld farm. Berkenfeld, who is a neighbor of the Hochsteins, drove across the field in a truck and transported the Jarrells to his farm.

Meanwhile, the milk truck had gone back to Plainview and they were unable to overtake it in the snow. Sunday night the stranded couple were guests in the Berkenfeld home.

Monday, Berkenfeld pulled the Jarrell automobile about two miles, then they were able to proceed along from the Berkenfeld home to Hart, Dimmitt, Springlake, Muleshoe and finally to the Newman Jarrell Sr. home south of Hub.

When Juanda was telling us about it, she was so appreciative of all the nice things the Hochsteins and Berkenfelds did for them, we wondered why she didn't just relax and enjoy it.

When we asked, she replied, "We didn't have the children with us." She said it was a wonderful adventure, the food was delicious and the people couldn't have been nicer, but she doesn't desire to repeat it right away.

The best quip we have heard recently was uttered by Don

Clements at school Wednesday. Everyone in Miss Richardson's eighth grade class was discussing the snow, wind, weather, etc. Don said, "What I would like to know is what the forecaster means when he says 'for Potter and Roundall Counties.' Are we included in the counties around Potter County?"

One windy day in March a few years ago, we were reading a newspaper account of an elaborate announcement tea for a young lady at Childress. We thought surely they must have had everything and it made a very pretty story down to the last sentence. It read "over 100 guests attended." Never had read before or since of a party where even the "guests" were counted, but who could have a party of any kind in West Texas in March without having them?

Visiting Sunday in the home of Mrs. Pat Fallwell were her brother, R. H. Pipkin and family of Amarillo, and her daughter, Mrs. La Nora Simmons of Plainview.

NEWS FROM THE FARM BUREAU

By RAYMOND EULER

If you haven't already, be sure to look at the pictures of two Parmer County Farm Bureau personalities in your last issue of Texas Agriculture. These two men have gained state recognition for their outstanding abilities. One is your president, Gilbert Kaltwasser, who was elected by other county presidents to serve as chairman of the Service to Members Activities committee at the President's Conference held in Waco January 9-11. It is a distinct honor to have our local president recognized by other county presidents as a likeable man of leadership.

The other man is Jack Patterson, director from Rhea, and a member of the commodities committee, who was a winner in the finals of a public speaking contest held at the Winter TFB Institute in San Antonio January 22-25.

Those who know Jack are not surprised at his accomplishment, but are pleased to see him gain state recognition of his enthusiastic ability. He had plenty of competition, too. Kaltwasser also rated high in this group. From what we have heard, we believe it would be safer for us to recognize here that the wives of these two men deserve honorable mention in the accomplishments of their husbands. They have served patiently as coaches and listeners at home, as well as providing nourishing hot biscuits and other things necessary to their ultimate success.

Besides a number of dairy and livestock associations and feed manufacturers, all Texas farm organizations have been asked to send representatives to a conference at College Station on February 17 where a proposed feed control law for Texas will be developed. The three farm organizations are The Texas Grange, Texas Farmer's Union and Texas Farm Bureau.

Neighborhood Contest met Monday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Prewitt. Those present for the meeting were Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Tatum and Mr. and Mrs. John Benger.

TFB representatives will be A. R. Grauer, executive director, and Gene Leach, legislative director. Farm Bureau tried unsuccessfully to obtain passage of such a bill last year. Another attempt will be made next year.

Farm Bureau directors met in regular session Monday night, giving most of their time to preparation for the spring membership drive, which is headed by vice-president E. T. Ford. The state slogan this year is "75,000 or Bust."

If all counties will do as well as those in this immediate area, that will be well exceeded.

Consider this: Moreover, the profit of the earth is for all; the king himself is served by the field. Ecclesiastes 5:9.

New Drug Store Planned for Bovina

Another new business is coming to Bovina. Mr. and Mrs. Allen Cumpton plan to open a drug store in a new building that is being built next door to Gaines Hardware Company. The new business should be open in 30 to 45 days," Cumpton says.

The drug store will be named ABC Drug. The owner of the building is Lee H. Sudderth and the contractor is Hubert Ellison. The building is 30 feet and 70 feet in size and is constructed of tile with a brick and glass front.

Upon its completion, the drug store will be equipped with all new and modern equipment, Cumpton says, including 10 stools at the fountain, two tables and four booths. The store will offer short orders with its fountain service.

"Aside from a pharmacy, we will stock a complete line of drug store items," Cumpton says, "and we are reserving space in the building for a pharmacy." He said that a pharmacy will become a part of the business as soon as a doctor comes to Bovina.

The Cumpions have lived in Bovina for three years. They moved here from Ranchvale, N. M. They have four children, Nancy, 14; Don, 11; Patsy, seven; and Rex, five.

They are members of the Bovina Baptist Church. Cumpton is a member of the Bovina Lions Club.

Prior to making plans to go into the business, Cumpton farmed in the Bovina area.

When asked about the exact opening date of the business, Cumpton, who is an avid sports fan, said jokingly, "it may have to be after the State Basketball Tournament at Austin this spring." A formal opening of the building will be held sometime after the business is actually opened.

The letters in the name of the store—ABC—stand for Allen and Bobbie Cumpton.

The ABC Drug will be the second drug store in Bovina. The other is Bovina Drug, owned by Frank Truitt.

Founders Night Set By Lions Club

The Bovina Lions Club will observe Founder's night and Ladies' night Thursday, February 23. Plans are being made to have the combination meeting in the local school cafeteria.

W. T. "Dub" Nelson, district governor, will be the main speaker for the evening.

Nelson will also advise President E. B. Caldwell and Secretary Oral Kunselman and the officers, directors, and members of the club on matters pertaining to Lions administration.

He is governor of district 2-T1, Lions International, which includes 84 clubs in this section of the state.

As a member of the Childress Lions Club, Lion Nelson has over 10 years of perfect attendance. He has held every office in his club except secretary-treasurer and has been awarded the key of state for obtaining 75 new members.

Lion Nelson is the organizer of the present District Queen's contest which is a highlight at the Lions Annual District Convention, and is a consecrated civic worker who takes part in all civic work in Childress. He is a member of the Board of Elders of the Central Christian Church.

Governor Nelson is one of the 283 District Governors who supervise the activities of the 11,670 Lions Clubs. Lions International was formally founded in 1917 in Dallas, Texas, and during the past 38 years has become the largest, most active, and fastest growing service organization in the world. There were on June 30, 1955 Lions Clubs in 69 countries or geographical locations of the world with a membership of over 522,577. During the fiscal year of 1954-1955, 887 new Lions Clubs were organized.

The Lions Clubs' special mission is the promotion of good government and good citizenship, the development of civic, educational, social and moral welfare of the community and nation, and to help create and foster "a spirit of generous consideration among the peoples of the world." The slogan of the International Association of Lions Clubs is "Liberty, Intelligence, our Nation's Safety."

The Bovina Lions Club is an active unit of the International Association of Lions Clubs, which is dedicated to community betterment in all its aspects; to national understanding and amity. In all these fields, Lions International has won strong influence and prestige, because of its countless constructive services.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Woltman and son spent the weekend in Odessa with Mrs. Jessie McSpadden. They returned to Bovina Sunday evening.

Bovina Falls Short In MOD Campaign

Bovina failed to meet its $1000 goal that was set for the March of Dimes campaign. Aubra Ellison, community chairman for the drive, says that contributions at the end of January totaled $296.50. However, Ellison says that this figure does not include contributions from the school.

The final figure will be given an additional boost sometime in the near future when the Bovina Women's Study Club will put on some sort of fund raising campaign. This group had a pan cake supper planned for last week but it was postponed because of bad weather.

Ellison says "since we are short on these contributions, we should do everything we can to help these ladies with their project."

The containers that were placed in various businesses around town collected $98 of the total. This figure covers the contributions that were made from coffee sales by the four Bovina businesses that served coffee one day for the drive. The businesses that gave their coffee money for one day were Bovina Cafe, City Cafe, Hiway Cafe, and Bovina Drug.

Contributions taken at two high school basketball games totaled $37.50. The Wesleyan Guild, a Methodist ladies organization, donated $6.50. Local service stations gave one cent from each gallon of gas sold Saturday, January 28 to the drive. This figure totaled $26.50. Service stations participating were Southside Service Station, Bovina Service Station, Charles Oil Company, Bonds Service Station, Paul Jones Service Station, Hammonds Service Station, and Rhodes Service Station.

The promotion that made the most money—$128—for the drive was the coffee and cake sale that was sponsored by Lady Gaines (Mrs. Troy Armstrong). She baked the cakes, made the coffee, and served it at Gaines Hardware Company Saturday, January 28. To be an eligible "customer," an individual had to contribute to the March of Dimes.

Ellison figures that the contributions from the school and the Study Club's project will push the final figure near the $500 mark. He expressed disappointment that the goal wasn't reached but said that he wanted to express his appreciation to the businesses, clubs, and individuals who had contributed to the March of Dimes. Ellison said that he was especially grateful to Lady Gaines for almost single-handedly putting on the biggest promotion.

The goal for Parmer County was $4000.

Church in Bovina Sunday, February 19, Mrs. A. R. McCutchan, a member of the church has announced.

The meeting will last eight days, ending on February 26. The speaker will be Evangelist Lyman Hoover. He is a father-in-law of the church's pastor, Rev. Curtis Rochelle.

The revival will begin with all-day services Sunday and dinner at the church. Special singing will be heard at each service, Mrs. McCutchan said.

The time of the evening services will be 7:30 p. m. Sunday morning preaching will begin at 11:00 a. m. Mrs. McCutchan emphasized that everyone is invited to attend the series of meetings.

The Longhorns led in the first quarter with a score of 12-10, and again in the second with a 27-17 count. The Fillies made 16 points in the third with a score of 37-34. During the fourth, the visitors made 15 points against the Mustang second team.

Larry Ezell and Neil Smith followed Hawkins with 14 points each. Billy Richards totaled six, Darrel Read made four, Billy Johnson, Marvin Young, and Tom Ware made two each, while Jerry Loflin had one. Leon Richards, Lynn Isham, and Dick Horn did not score.

Guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Charles Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Charles, Marion Sue Nixon, of Clovis, and Jerry Ellison.

were never more than three points ahead. With one minute to go, the Fillies were fouled and Janice Richards made the shots. With a two-point lead, the visitors took the ball and kept it until the buzzer sounded.

The local girls now have a 5-2 conference standing. The Lazbuddie girls lead the district with a 7-0 standing.

Mustangs Rack Up Two More Victories

Erith Hawkins led the district-leading Bovina Mustangs past Vega, 71-44, in the last regular season game for both teams Saturday night at Vega. Hawkins tallied 26 points.

The locals jumped off to an early lead and led at the end of the first period 24-12. The host team had its best quarter in the fourth when it made 15 points against the Mustang second team.

Larry Ezell and Neil Smith followed Hawkins with 14 points each. Billy Richards totaled six, Darrel Read made four, Billy Johnson, Marvin Young, and Tom Ware made two each, while Jerry Loflin had one. Leon Richards, Lynn Isham, and Dick Horn did not score.

Guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Charles Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Charles, Marion Sue Nixon, of Clovis, and Jerry Ellison.
