It has often been said that civilization hangs by a thin thread. This rather loose observation needs to be made more specific as there are many "thin" strands upon which our civilization depends. My nomination of the moment is the thin copper wire bringing us our electric current. The gigantic loss of power in the northeastern part of our country some months ago is well remembered for the massive disruption of that area's economy. We can all visualize factories idle, communications silent, traffic at a crawl. But, we think the part of a power failure hardest to grasp is just what does the civilized individual do with the enormous amount of time this opens up to him. Here is modern man at nightfall with insufficient light to read his evening's paper, cut off from the electronic means of communication, recreational businesses closed, probably not a worthwhile book in the house even if he chose to read by the light of a guttering candle; nagged by the thought of his ice cubes turning back to water and worried because his frozen food is slowly spoiling. Even his computation of time becomes difficult without electricity. Modern man is indeed a sorry lot without light and power. Truly the turning point in man's struggle for a better world came with the invention of the incandescent bulb and the transmission of power safely and economically. This is the reason man's knowledge has doubled and redoubled in the past sixty odd years.

These thoughts were forced upon us the other evening when during the high wind and rain that lashed Farwell, our lights went out. We staved around awhile and could think of nothing better to do than to go to bed and get a goodnight's sleep. This we did, resting comfortable in the knowledge that our efficient suppliers of civilization's muscle would work through the hours of the night to restore our links with the world. This they did, and we arose again; modern man, master of his environment, but humbled by the realization of how tenuous his mastery really was.

There is always someone taking the joy out of life. Just the other day we read a short article by an unremembered researcher, on the amount of carcinogens found on a charcoal broiled steak. According to this researcher, a well done charcoal steak contained more cancer inducing substances than 150 packs of cigarettes. We wonder if this tidbit of medical research will set off a massive hue and cry for the elimination of summer cookouts and will the Big Daddies in Washington force the manufacturers of charcoal to label their product as possible injurious to human health? Well, since we again are back to smoking the foul cigar and are beset by worries of a cough ridden future, we thought we would pass this along so you charcoal steak fans could also have some qualms when you indulge in the evergrowing pastime of summer patio eating. Misery loves company and in this day and age it isn't hard to find.

Guest Speaker At St. John Lutheran Church Sunday

The Rev. Herbert F. Pelman, pastor of St. John Lutheran Church at Lariat, announces that Rev. Rufus L. Young, Okmulgee, Okla., will be guest speaker at the church this Sunday morning at the regular worship service. Time for the service is 10:30 a.m. Pastor Young is a son-in-law of the local pastor and brother-in-law of Mrs. A.H. Haseloff of Farwell. The Youngs are in Farwell for the Margaret Haseloff-Gene Beavers wedding which will be solemnized Saturday night, 7 p.m., at St. Johns Church.

HANG ON CINDY AND WE'LL MAKE IT YEA! -- Warlick Dollar played Sir Walter Raleigh on Tuesday morning as he helped Cindy Phillips cross the lake created by the recent rains of First Street. However, since the water is 12-14 inches deep, Warlick thought it would be rather foolish to place a coat on the ground to protect her feet--so he did the next best thing -- lifted "My Lady" high in his arms and tread the cold waters of the lake and deposited her safely on the other side.

Rainfall Measures 13.4 Inches For 1967

Total rainfall for the year is 13.4 inches according to the rain gauge at State Line Grain, official recorder for Texico-Farwell. Total for the month of June measured seven inches and rainfall in the month of July, to date, is 4.6 inches. First rain of the year fell on March 19 at which time .2 was received. Next measureable rainfall was on March 23. Rain in the area the past weekend was in varying amounts with heaviest of the rains falling in Texico-Farwell where 3.85 inches was recorded in the extreme east section of town, and 3.7 at the State Line Grain Company. The rains were accompanied by high winds which did much damage to trees and shrubs. Some crops in the area were also damaged by the high winds and driving rains, however, most farmers seem to think that permanent damage to crops will be minor since with the return of dry weather, feed which was blown over by the winds are expected to straighten up. A report from Lariat indicates that rainfall in that area on Sunday night was 2 1/2 inches and total for the period ending Tuesday evening was 3.3. In the Oklahoma Lane Community at the Harold Carpenter home a total of one inch was received on Sunday night and additional rain on Tuesday morning (no amount given). At the Leon Billingsley farm, eight miles east of town, a total of 2.4 inches was received on Sunday night. Only a minimum amount of rain was received at the John Hadley farm, 5 miles south of town, on Sunday night. Eight miles north of Texico at the Elmer Langford farm a total of slightly over one inch rain was received on Sunday night and Tuesday morning.

Most of the rain was not accompanied by hail; however, soft hail was reported at the Vernon Symcox farm in the Oklahoma Lane Community. A report from the Bovina area indicates that some 7 inches of rain have fallen there since June 1. In the Rhea community some 10 inches have been reported during the month. All in all it seems to be the opinion of most area farmers that the rains have been worth "at least $1 million to the area." County Agent Tells -- Grain Sorghum Water Needs

By Ronny F. McNutt Parmer Co. Agricultural Agent Sorghum has an extensive root system and will penetrate the soil profile to a depth of four to six feet when sufficient soil depth is available. Optimum yields require approximately 24 inches of useable water during the season. This moisture need may be met from moisture stored in the soil, rainfall and supplemental irrigation. For maximum efficiency the available water should be distributed through the growing season to meet the demands of the crop at the critical stages of growth-particularly at the time of boot, bloom and early grain formation. Grain sorghum usually uses less than one-tenth inch of water per day up to the seven leaf-stage. During the boot and head stages, daily use may be as high as three-tenths inches per day. Where irrigation water is limited, proper timing of irrigation is essential for most efficient use of water in grain production. Water stress at any stage of growth reduces yields. Yields may be reduced by one-fourth if stress occurs at anytime up to the soft-dough stage. Grain sorghum to be irrigated only one time during the growing season produces more efficiently when the application is timed at the boot stage of growth. Grain sorghum to be irrigated twice during the growing season produces most efficiently when the first applica-

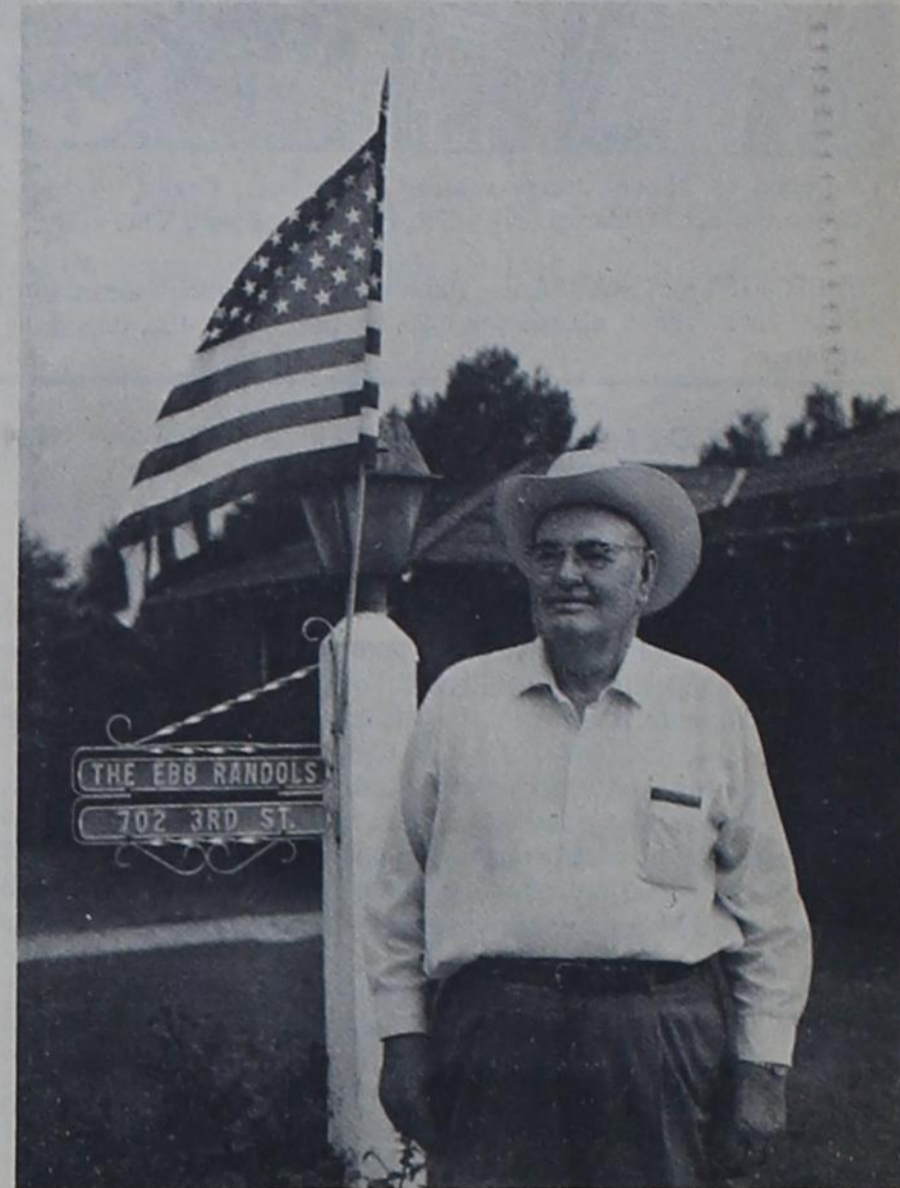

Note the clean appearance of the once weed infested lot which was cleared away by Douglas Landrum, city employee, on Wednesday morning. All city residents are urged to clear away weeds from their premises and help keep down the mosquito population and other health problems which might result from the rank growth of weeds which will surely follow the fine rains.

Services Held For Former Texico Resident

Funeral services were held in Clovis early this week for Mrs. Iva Riggins, a former Texico resident who died at her home in Los Angeles, Calif. last Friday. Burial was in the Pleasant Hill Cemetery directed by Sherwood Mortuary. Mrs. Riggins was preceded in death by her husband, Charles Riggins, a Texico nightwatchman for many years. They first came to the area in 1911.

Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. L.E. Singletary, Clovis, and Mrs. Wilson Prince, Los Angeles; two sisters, a brother, six grandchildren, and 23 great-grandchildren.

OLD GLORY FLIES --- The early morning rains on Tuesday (July 4) did not stop Ebb Randol from displaying his patriotism by flying "Old Glory" at his home. As soon as the rain ceased Randol hung the flag as a symbol that he is indeed grateful to live in the "land of the free and the home of the brave." He has spent most of his entire life in the Texico-Farwell area, coming here with his parents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Tom Randol, at an early age.

Equalization Board Meets

This is a reminder that all persons having tax problems to discuss what the school board of tax equalization should be at the office of Supt. W.M. Roberts at the Farwell school on one of the following days, July 10, 11 or 12, between the hours of 9 a.m. and 5 p.m.

Postmaster Reports Pilfering Of Rural Mailboxes

Postmaster J.R. Smart reports that recently there has been some pilfering of the mail in rural mail boxes by small boys, and asks that anyone who is bothered by someone going through the mail in rural boxes contact him at the local post office, and that he will make a report to the Postal Inspector at Amarillo, who in turn will make an investigation into any such incidents. This is a Federal offense and the postmaster requests that parents should caution their children to leave any mail in rural boxes alone. Parents are held responsible for the actions of their children, and it is hoped that similar experiences in the future can be avoided.

In Weed Control -- Health Officer Asks Residents Cooperation

Cade Lancaster, district health officer for the area including Curry County and the town of Texico has asked that all residents of the town cooperate with health authorities in clearing away weeds and other debris from their premises. In this way, the mosquito population can be controlled. In cooperation with the health officer, Morgan Billington, Texico water superintendent, has asked that all residents in the town begin immediately to rid their premises of weeds and other debris, including old tires, tin cans, car frames, etc. which might add to the health hazard, by providing breeding places for mosquitoes. Billington stated that he does appreciate the attitude and cooperation of town residents in "doing just this"; however, he said, "We still have a long way to go before the town is completely cleaned of weeds." The recent rains have made the weeds grow rapidly; therefore any resident who has neither the time or equipment for ridding his premises of weeds should contact the water superintendent and the town will send its mower out to clear away the weeds. A nominal fee will be charged for the service. The town has an ordinance (#154) which makes it mandatory to clear away debris of all kinds from one premises, however if the residents cooperate it will not become necessary to ask the help of the law to enforce the ordinance. Billington again expressed his thanks to all residents who have eliminated weeds and other types of debris from their premises. Town fathers are cooperating in trying to keep the mosquito population to a minimum by spraying the town. The town has been sprayed one time thus far this season and a second spraying is set for this week. If the weeds are eliminated it will make the task of mosquito control much easier states Billington.

Okla. Lane -- July 4 Celebration Well Attended

Approximately 115 persons were in attendance at the annual July 4th celebration at Oklahoma Lane Community Center on Tuesday. Festivities got underway at mid-afternoon with volleyball games, basketball (for the younger boys), dominoes, and other table games. No baseball game was played due to the wet ground. Late in the afternoon, a basket-picnic meal was served following which a short patriotic program was held. James Ensor opened the program with prayer and Pledge of Allegiance was led by 4-H Club members from Farwell, Oklahoma Lane and Bovina. Group singing was led by Mrs. Vernon Symcox, accompanied by Debra Garner at the piano. Two business meetings were held with officers elected for the Christmas program and the July 4th celebration. New officers are president, Dorris White; treasurer, James Ensor (Re-elected); and secretary, Gloria Hutchins. Retiring officers were Katherine White and Lillis Garner. In the other meeting, three board members for the Community Association were elected to replace Mrs. Ros Blankenship, Lillis Garner and Leon Billingsley, who are retiring. New board members are Jeter Garner, Ros Blankenship and Dorothy Donaldson. Harold Carpenter was elected to serve as president of the Association. Jeter Garner will serve as treasurer and Dorothy Donaldson will serve as secretary. The evening concluded with a fireworks display. Mrs. Katherine White was in charge of arrangements for the celebration this year.

ONLY A LITTLE EXTRA EFFORT -- This man puts forth that little bit of extra effort required to keep a yard looking neat and clean. One may be sure that this yard will harbor few, if any, mosquitoes as it is kept clipped close to the ground allowing no rubbish to collect for breeding places for the summer pests. (Note: This place, also vacant, is in direct contrast to the other picture where weeds grow in profusion.)

WEEDS SUCH AS THESE which have been allowed to grow in profusion on this untended lot create not only a fire hazard, but also provide adequate breeding places for the summer pests, mosquitoes, flies, etc., adding to the possibility of many illnesses which are carried by the pests. In addition, tourists who might drive along the streets past such a lot will immediately form a poor opinion of a town where such neglect is in evidence. Let us begin a clean-up campaign immediately!

Training Set

All 4-H Club girls enrolled and completing food projects in 1967 are eligible to participate in the County 4-H Bake Show. The training for the Bake Show will be July 12 at 2:30 p.m. in the Bovina Bank Community room. The training will be given by Cricket B. Taylor, Parmer County extension agent,

This Year's American --

Now that the Fourth is over and all is again quiet on the western front, perhaps it would be a good time to sit back and reflect on just what it means to be an American living in the year 1967.

In many respects, this year's American is no different than the American of 50 or 100 years ago, but as time brings change to all things, so has it brought change to the life of the average citizen of this great nation.

An American is still free to raise and love his family, without fear that it may be torn asunder by a knock on the door in the dead of night. He may raise his children as he sees fit, never having to experience the pain of seeing them regimented along with a hundred or so other neighborhood children and marched off to a party youth rally where they will be indoctrinated with concepts alien to free thought.

An American knows that when he goes to cast his ballot for the leaders of his nation, there will be more than a single name on the ballot. He knows that he will be free to vote in the manner as he sees fit, free from intimidation and coercion.

An American in the year 1967 is free to criticize those public officials whom he feels are doing a poor job. He is free to write to his representative and to send letters to the editor when he wishes to have his views read by others. He may attend town meetings and petition for change if he feels change is in order. This year's American may even rip his country's flag from where he finds it flying and put it to the torch if he so desires.

The American citizen of 1967 may travel where he pleases, when he pleases, without having to obtain numerous official permits. He may take his family to see the sights of this great country without having to explain to anyone where he is going or why. He may, as some do, even travel to the country of our enemy and bring back the lies and propaganda that do so much harm to the cause of freedom.

This year's American may give to help others. He may contribute to the local United Fund drive, or the Cancer fund. He may help send milk to a Korean orphan or grain to a youngster starving in India. He may give clothes and supplies to help a neighboring town recover from some natural disaster.

The American of 1967 is free to do what he wishes with his money. He may buy that new car he wants or that new boat for the lake. He may build a house or a garage. He may purchase a new outdoor grill for the patio or buy his son a bicycle.

Yes, the American of 1967 is in some ways similar and in some ways different from the American of several years ago. He has gained new freedoms and lost some of the old ones. Not all of the things that have happened to him are pretty, some are ugly indeed, but he goes on living as an American, and is usually proud of it.

Report From The Sheriff's Office

Judge Pat Boone heard two cases in district court in Farwell on Monday. In the first case, Loyd Claude Hester received a three-year probated sentence on a second offense of DWI. In the other case, Vicki Yuregas was allowed to continue a probated sentence after paying off bad checks. In other news from the sheriff's office, a report was heard of an armed robbery in Bovina Saturday morning. In the robbery, Dee Edgar Shepherd of Clovis is alleged to have taken a total of $50 in large bills from Mrs. Jessie Williams (Sands Motel) at gunpoint.

According to reports, the man entered the motel office and asked for a room, he then asked for the name and address of the motel. When Mrs. Williams turned around after complying with his request for the motel name he pointed a gun at her and demanded money. Some half hour later he was arrested near Clovis by Clovis City police, who had been alerted by Deputy Henry Minter. The man is now in custody in Curry County and will be extradited to Parmer County to face the robbery charge.

Headstart Readiness Program Underway

Twenty children in Farwell school district are taking advantage of the headstart "readiness" program, according to Mrs. L.S. Pool, instructor for the group. The program began on June 5 and will continue through July 28, Mrs. Pool is assisted by Rose Aguilera, teacher aide, and a corps of volunteer workers from the homemaking department.

Girls in the department are assisting with the program as a part of their summer homemaking work. The schedule for the girls' work was arranged by homemaking instructor, Mrs. Guy Austin. Two girls, Sharon Williams and Rene Walser, are working each day in the music program of the project.

Other girls assisting in the project are Cheryl Kaltwasser, Cheryl Boling, Rhonda Robertson, Donna Black, Altha Lowry, Jackie Megill, Tina Rundell, Cathy Atkins, Vicki Blain, Beverly Jones, and Marsha Lovelace.

All of the children have been given dental checkups, with cavities filled and teeth extracted where necessary, and teeth cleaned. Mrs. Pool states that dental checkups for the entire group took only one hour since ten Clovis dentists, members of the Clovis Dental Association, gave time for the project.

In addition, all of the children have had physical checkups, by Dr. T.J. Glenn, who also has given immunizations and booster shots, readying the children for admittance to school in the fall. Mrs. Katherine Lockhart is assisting with the physical health program.

Each day, the children are given breakfast and lunch at the school, with Mrs. Velma McDorman in charge of planning a well-balanced menu. Assisting Mrs. McDorman in the lunchroom is Diana Bryant.

Children have regular outdoor play periods, supervised play-teaching coordination and getting along with a group. In addition, the children are broken into small groups for reading, flannel-graph games, and play with various types of painting, and other types of art work.

Mrs. C.C. Christian has made each of the "little housekeepers" an apron for use in the family playhouse, where they learn how to live as a family group. She also dressed and gave the group a doll. In addition, members of the Methodist WSCS have volunteered their services, if needed, for work at the school or on field trips.

Children have been taken on two field trips, to the zoo and park in Clovis and to the fire station, also in Clovis. This week the group plans a trip to Oasis State Park. Other field trips planned are to a farm, Clardy-Campbell Dairy, and for a ride on an elevator. In addition, several other field trips are in the planning stages. Mothers of the group have assisted by going on the field trips.

This is the second year the headstart program has been available for Farwell School District. Last year the program was available for 25 preschool children; however, funds for the program were cut this year, as they were over most of the nation.

Local teachers find the program most helpful in readying children for the first grade, since many of the group speak little or no English prior to attendance of the headstart program. With the group receiving much individual attention in the headstart program, teachers have found that they follow instructions much easier when they are finally in school, as most of this group will be come September. Only four of the group are five-year-olds.

PICTURE LOTTO -- Rose Aguilera, teacher aide, instructs this group of children attending the headstart program in a game of "picture lotto". In this game, children are taught to match pictures which are alike. In other games they learn to match words with pictures, are taught coordination, do easel painting, and participate in many other creative activities.

And she came to the party dressed as a bride -- Olga Derain (bride) waits patiently for the cup of tea being poured by Belinda Lee Johnson (hostess) while Lupe Lorera and Debra Kay Williams, who have already been served, take their seats at the table. This is a part of learning to work and play with others in the "readiness" headstart program.

CRUISING DOWN THE RIVER -- Mark Ancira (in front) seems to be enjoying a ride down the river in a block boat just completed by the four little boys attending the "readiness" headstart program. Joining him for the ride were Benny Yuregas, Dewell Foster and Randy Sierra, and volunteer workers, Marsha Lovelace and Vickie Blain.

Wins County 4-H Dress Revue

Jan Jameson, Friona 4-H Club member and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Jameson, was high scorer in the County 4-H dress revue which was held at the Oklahoma Lane Community Center Thursday night, June 29.

Junior winner was Karene Hart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Hart, and also a member of the Friona club.

Ann Blackstone, Lazbuddie, was alternate in the senior division and Holly Hart was junior alternate.

A total of 33 girls won ribbon awards and completion certificates. Approximately 65 persons were in attendance at the revue.

By winning the county contest, Miss Jameson will now be eligible to compete for state honor at the district revue to be held July 11 at the Holiday Inn in Amarillo.

Miss Hart will also model her garment in the district revue; however, the juniors do not compete in the district level. Narrator for the revue was Mrs. Hurshel Harding of Farwell. Oklahoma Lane club was in charge of decorations and music.

In addition to the top winners, others receiving ribbons were:

FIRST YEAR: Dorothy Johnson - First, blue; Connie Lindeman, Second, blue; Linda Balderas, third, blue ribbon.

Patricia Lang, Ronald Watts Married In Home Ceremony

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Don Sudderth, near Bovina, was scene for the June 23, 1 p.m. wedding of Patricia Joy Lang, Clovis, and Ronald Watts, Bovina.

Reverend Euell Watts, Dalhart, brother of the groom, read the double ring service before an arch of greenery.

Parents of the couple are Rev. and Mrs. Bill Lang, Shamrock, and Mr. and Mrs. E.J. (Jack) Watts of California, formerly of Texico.

Proceeding the ceremony, Mrs. J.B. Sudderth played traditional wedding music at the organ and also accompanied Mrs. Don Sudderth as she sang "Whither Thou Goest."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a formal wedding gown of lace over taffeta. The dress was designed with a fitted bodice, long fitted sleeves which tapered to petal points at the wrists, a round neckline and a straight skirt. The skirt extended into a short chapel train.

Her veil of white silk illusion was held by a band of taffeta and lace. The bridal bouquet was a cascade of stephanotis and pink rosebuds accented by net and ribbon streamers.

Mrs. Anna Adams of Bovina, was matron of honor. She was attired in a street length dress of pink with accents of lace. Her headpiece was a minute veil of white illusion held by a white fabric rose. White accessories completed her attire. She carried a nosegay of pink carnations.

Garland Wellman served as bestman.

Immediately following the wedding, a reception was held in the dining room at the Sudderth home with Mrs. Jack Tedford and Mrs. Bobby Height both of Clovis presiding at the serving table.

The table was laid with white lace over pink and centered by an arrangement of white gladioli and pink roses. The three-tiered wedding cake, topped by a bride and groom figurine and decorated with pink and white love birds and roses, was served with punch after it had been cut by the bride and groom. Silver and crystal table appointments were used.

When the couple left for a short wedding trip, the bride was attired in a pink lace dress, complemented by white accessories. Her corsage was the roses lifted from her bridal bouquet.

The bride, who attended Shamrock High School, is presently employed as a nurse's aide at Retirement Ranch in Clovis. The groom a 1962 graduate of Texico High School, is also employed at Retirement Ranch.

The young couple are making their home at Texico.

floral arrangement of white daisies and yellow snaps, flanked by a gold candelabra holding yellow tapers. The tablecloth was caught up at the corners with nosegays of yellow flowers.

Friends and relatives are reminded of the wedding of Sherry Wall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Wall, and Gary Blain, son of Mrs. Billie Blain. Vows will be exchanged by the couple Saturday, July 8, 2 p.m. All friends and relatives are invited to the wedding and reception.

Corn Irrigation --

County Agent Discusses Critical Period

Soil moisture should be adequate at the tasseling to silking stage to insure maximum corn yields, says Ronny McNutt, Farmer County agriculture agent. Actually, sufficient moisture should be available seven to 10 days prior to tasseling and should be kept at or above 50 per cent field ca-capacity through the period of ear formation, he advises. Furthermore, soil moisture is necessary throughout the growing season to prevent wilting. Corn requires approximately 24 inches of total moisture during this time and uses less than one-tenth of an inch of water per day until the plant is eight to 12 inches high. From there, the water use rate increases to a peak of about three-tenths of an inch per day during the tasseling and silking state. Thereafter, water requirements decrease rapidly. Under optimum moisture conditions, silk emerges at the proper time for pollination. However, water stress during this period delays silking and, in severe stress, a large portion of the pollen may be shed before the silks emerge. This results in poorly filled or partially barren ears. Thus, moisture is critical at this period. Research has shown that near maximum yields and maximum water use efficiency can usually be obtained with three well-timed irrigations. The first summer irrigation should be applied during the rapid growth stage about a week or 10 days prior to tasseling. The second irrigation should follow near peak tasseling with the third being applied during silking. If only two irrigations are planned, they should come prior to or in early tasseling and during silking. Severe depletion of soil moisture after silking and before maturity may reduce grain yields. However, after the hard dough stage, lack of moisture has little or no effect on yields. Similar irrigation practices should be conducted with corn used for silage production. However, some tests indicate that slightly earlier irrigation may be desirable for silage since this will insure more early, rapid growth, the agent says.

Drying Peaches, Apricots, And Nectarines

By Cricket B. Taylor
Farmer Co. Ext. Agent

After you've canned, frozen, eaten and given away all of the peaches, nectarines and apricots you can from your backyard tree -- and there's still some left -- try drying these fruits.

According to food specialists in the U. S. Department of Agriculture, dried fruits will keep a year or so when stored in a cool, dry, dark place.

Here's how to dry these fruits -- in your own oven:

Select about 6 pounds fresh, ripe, firm fruit, wash and drain. Peel if you wish, then cut in halves and remove pits.

To prevent discoloration, soak fruit 15 minutes in a solution of 3 1/2 tablespoons sodium sulfite to 1 gallon of water. A druggist can supply sodium sulfite. Two other, but less effective, treatments are: (1) To dip fruit in a salt-water bath of 4 to 6 tablespoons salt to 1 gallon of water for about 10 minutes, or (2) precook fruit in steam or boiling water until tender but firm.

Arrange fruit on trays and place in 150 degree F. oven with the bottom tray 3 inches from the oven floor. Do not use top unit in electric oven. Prop open the door of an electric oven 1/2 inches; a gas oven door, 8 inches. (This helps control heat and lets out moist air.) Alternate trays every 1 or 2 hours.

Fruit is dry when pliable and leathery, usually about 6 hours or longer. Pieces around the edges of the tray will dry first. Remove these as soon as they are dry. Cool and package at once. Pack dried fruit in glass jars, plastic, metal or heavily waxed cardboard frozen food containers. Use a tight fitting lid. Plastic bags that can be heat sealed may also be used. They should then be placed in a rigid container to prevent tearing.

MEET MR. WUNSTOP DUZZIT

A country doctor had visited an ailing mountaineer regularly for a month. When the old man showed no improvement another physician was asked to make an examination. The second doctor came and bent over the skeletal form. "Did Doctor Bradley take your pulse yesterday?" he asked. "I don't think so," gasped the old man. "Only thing I've missed this week is my watch."
