Local Boys Place at Clovis Stock Show

Two boys representing the Texico and Farwell FFA departments took high places at the Clovis Fat Stock Show held last Thursday and Friday, while several other entries also made a creditable showing, it was learned from Stewart Richards and T. A. McCuiston, local directors.

Glenn Hightower, Jr., of the Farwell school, took second place on his calf entered in the senior division of the show, while Melvin Doolittle, Texico boy, won first in showmanship in the heavy class hog division and was also awarded the grand champion honor in the swine class.

Other Texico placements were: J. C. Boone, 2nd in heavy hog class; Melvin Doolittle, 3rd in heavy hog class; Preston Martin, 3rd in pen of three. The Farwell placements included: Glenn Williams, 8th in junior calf; Leroy Hughes, 7th in junior calf; J. C. Hughes, 10th in junior calf division.

Hightower's calf, weighing 880 lbs., was sold Friday for 13c per lb., bringing him a total of $114.40. Boone sold his heavy hog, weight 340, at 5½¢ per lb.; Doolittle sold a 305 lb. hog at 5½¢ per lb., and other Texico boys sold their hogs at $5.40 per cwt.

Elton Vaughn and Walter Baldock, of the Texico department, were officials at the show, acting as superintendents of the swine division.

Local instructors reported this week that they were proud of the showing made by the Texico and Farwell groups, and the boys expressed themselves as being well satisfied with the show and the proceeds brought to the various winners.

Matthews Will Head Texico City Ballot

W. J. Matthews, present incumbent, is the only member of the city council whose name will go before the voters in the Texico city election, on April 2, when a mayor, four councilmen and one clerk-treasurer will be elected.

Mayor Matthews' name has been filed with W. L. Freeman, town clerk, for reelection. All other candidates appearing on the ballot are new blood, from an official standpoint.

The deadline for filing for places on the city ballot was reached Tuesday night and Clerk Freeman announced the following filings early Wednesday morning:

For mayor—W. J. Matthews.
For clerk-treasurer—F. G. Avery, Mrs. Claude Selman.

For councilmen—Martin Cranfill, Frank Jones, W. C. Selman, LeRoy Faville, P. W. Stewart, S. A. Shepherd, G. L. Nicewarner.

REPAIRING BUILDING

Ed Muckelroy, who recently purchased the brick building on Main street in Farwell known as the Chevrolet garage, began a series of repairs on the property this week. A new street awning has already been added, and Mr. Muckelroy said that the building would be thoroughly reconditioned throughout, including a new roof, repainting and other repairs.

State Line Grocery & Market Plans Formal Opening Saturday

John Porter, proprietor and operator of the State Line Grocery & Market, this week announced the formal opening of his business in his new location on Friday and Saturday of this week.

After weeks of delay, occasioned by bad weather conditions early in the year, the new building was completed early last week and removal to the new location has been in progress since that time. On Saturday the business was open to the public, but complete arrangement of stock was not completed until early this week.

The new building represents the newest and most attractive addition to the Farwell business section. It is of frame stucco construction with hardwood floors. Underneath the building a small basement has been built for the accommodation of the motors and compressors used on the refrigeration units in the meat market.

A new display case has been installed in the market, adding much to the attractiveness and convenience of the entire store. Billy Banks will continue to operate the meat counter as well as act as general clerk over the store.

The interior of the store has been painted white with a black trim and all visitors acclaim the new store as one of the most attractive in this section.

Mr. Porter is this week announcing a number of special prices for Friday and Saturday, which will be found in this issue of The Tribune. "I believe in showing my appreciation with bargains," he said as he made ready for the formal opening and invited all people of this territory to participate in the savings available these two days. On Saturday, free coffee and cake will be served the visitors, and each hour a basket of groceries will be given away.

Floydada Lawyer for State Representative

L. G. Mathews of Floydada, this week authorized his announcement as a candidate for the Democratic nomination to the office of State Representative of the 120th Legislative district of Texas.

Mr. Mathews has been a practicing lawyer in Floydada for a number of years, and is one of the leading civic leaders of Floydada. He was in Farwell the first of the week making his rounds among the voters.

His platform and further announcement of his candidacy will be found elsewhere in this issue of The Tribune.

Hill Not To Occupy Building in Farwell

Mrs. W. B. Hill, owner of the brick building on Main street in Farwell which was left vacant by the removal of the State Line Grocery & Market, stated this week that, according to present plans, the stock of merchandise of the firm of C. W. Hill & Son, now located in Texico, would not be moved to the Farwell location.

She added that she had a number of applicants to rent the building, but she had no announcement to make as to whom the building might go, adding that the rent was paid up till the first of April by John Porter, and she planned no definite decision until after that time.

BUYS LAUNDRY

J. C. Wheeler, who recently moved here from Quail, Texas, has closed a deal for the purchase of the Evans self-serving laundry in Texico, and stated this week he would take charge of the business on April 1st.

Plan to Occupy New Location Next Week

At least two Farwell business institutions are making plans to move to their newly completed quarters in the Florence Wallace building, it was revealed today.

Mrs. Wallace said that some of her machinery for her cleaning and pressing plant was being placed this week and that she hoped to have her business in operation early next week.

Gus Johnson, of Gus & Mabel's Cafe, stated that he planned to move to his new quarters over the weekend and hoped to be located therein by Monday or Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Sterlyn Billington, who will occupy part of the new building with their barber and beauty shops, are not planning to move for another week yet. Mr. Billington said they would probably move on April 8th.

FREEZE HITS FRUIT

While it is the opinion that most of the peach and cherry crop is yet safe over this area, it is generally conceded that the early freeze of Easter morning did some damage to a number of early-blooming fruit trees, and possibly destroyed the prospects for any fruit.

A number of plum and apricot trees were caught in a full attire of blooms. Peach trees most of which had developed enlarged buds are not believed to be damaged while the cherry fruit prospects are considered definitely safe thus far.

County Agent Jason O. Gordon is in Lubbock this week, attending the annual Junior Fat Stock Show, where he is serving in an official capacity. Information was to the effect that he would be back in the local office on Thursday or Friday.

Mercury Drops On Easter Sunday

In common with most of the rest of the nation, the Plains region experienced a rather bleak Easter last Sunday, when a biting, raw wind from the north sent the mercury to 22 degrees here early that morning.

Small particles of snow swirled through the early morning air, giving much displeasure to those who had planned to don their new Easter togs for the day.

In the afternoon, however, the skies cleared somewhat, and the mercury climbed back to a very respectable reading.

Dewey Green Enters Commissioners Race

Dewey Green, who lives five miles west of Bovina, this week casts his sombrero into the political arena with the announcement that he is in the race for the Democratic nomination to the office of county commissioner, precinct No. 2, Farmer county.

Mr. Green has been a resident of Farmer county for the past five years, and in authorizing his announcement this week he stated he was responding to many solicitations he has had during the past weeks. He has never sought public favor before, and will appreciate any consideration the voters of precinct 2 may show his candidacy in the forthcoming primary election.

In making public announcement, he issued the following statement over his signature:

Since having worked with and for the people of Farmer county, and looking forward to being of more service to the people of Precinct 2, I am offering myself as a candidate for commissioner, subject to the July primary, and if the voters should see fit to elect me, I shall discharge the duties of the office very conscientiously.

I am 41 years old, never have sought public office before, believe in economy in government, like to pay as you go. Have lived in Texas 30 years, the past 5 in Farmer county. Balance of time in Milam Co., where I discharged the duties as road overseer for a number of years.

If elected, I shall give every problem very thoughtful consideration, and will be very thankful if able to please and cooperate with the citizens of the county.

Any consideration the voters of Precinct 2 should see fit to give me will be greatly appreciated.

DEWEY A. GREEN.

TO OPEN ELECTRICAL SHOP

O. B. Pipkin stated this week that he was making arrangements to open an electrical shop in the building now occupied by Gus & Mabel's Cafe as soon as the building is vacated. In addition to doing a general line of electrical work, Mr. Pipkin plans to carry a complete line of electrical fixtures, he said.

Visitor Horrified at Appearance of Two Freshly Made Graves on Main Street; Decides Life Is Too Cheap Here

By WOOD U. BELIEVEIT
And IMA STRANGER

The writer of this article, one unfamiliar with ways of either the new or the old west, was shocked beyond words Monday afternoon, when he viewed a revolting scene on the main street of Farwell—a scene which exceeded anything he expected to see, even after reading all nature of hair-raising western novels, and seeing the wildest of western scenes in the movies.

Walking down the street, I came upon two newly-made mounds of earth, about six feet in length and two feet in width, resembling the mounds left in a cemetery immediately after a burial. This in itself was quite insignificant, until I noticed also two crudely erected and lettered crosses bearing the names of the deceased, one B. N. Graham and one R. V. Hamm.

Loitering about the place, I was much amazed to observe that there was apparently no one who mourned the passing of these two men. Although the dastardly deed had evidently occurred only a matter of minutes before I arrived, local citizens passed the spot or actually walked across the graves, without any apparent regard for the deceased.

Since there was no one present from whom inquiry could be made, I wandered down the street. No one could be found who seemed to be much concerned or in the least shocked by the affair. I did not even hear the usual "They were a couple of swell fellows".

Returning to the scene, I was literally horrified to discover that during my absence, ruffians had carried away the markers, which some decent citizen had taken the trouble to make and erect, in order to have kindling wood for the morning fire. And only a few hours later, workmen appeared and leveled the tragic mounds of earth, using the extra caliche to fill in the low spots in the street.

The Tribune's big subscription campaign which opened officially on Friday, February 9th, will come to a close promptly at 12:00 noon Saturday of this week.

Candidates in the drive have only a few remaining hours to secure the subscriptions that may win one of the grand prizes. Several of the candidates are enough alike in votes earned to date that the final outcome of the campaign will remain a mystery until after he closing gun is fired.

The only thing that can determine the eventual winner of the campaign is the amount of business secured from now until the close of the drive.

At present, it appears very probable that there will be more than a few subscriptions difference between the various candidates at the close of the campaign.

Regarding Promised Subscriptions

Each of the candidates have reported that they have secured many "promises" of subscriptions before the close of the campaign. Others have promised, "I'll help you with a subscription if you need it." Candidates take these promises in good faith and are depending on them to help win a fine prize.

In a race as closely run as this one, each candidate needs every bit of support that they can get. They are depending on these promises to give them the credits they need to win. Failure of even one of these promises to materialize may cause the eventual outcome of the campaign to be greatly altered.

If you have indicated that you would help some candidate before the close, DONT LET YOUR FRIEND DOWN.

Candidates often receive so many of these last minute promises that it is impossible for them to make all the necessary calls during the last few days of the campaign. If you promised some candidate a subscription, you can do them a great service by leaving your subscription at The Tribune office.

The candidate will receive the same credit as though your subscription was turned to them and reported to the office via the candidate. Mailed subscriptions will receive the same consideration if they are received before the closing hour of the campaign.

The State Line Tribune has chosen the following prominent local business and professional men to act as judges on behalf of The Tribune: John Aldridge, David Harrison, and Claude Thomas. They will take over the counting of the votes at approximately 3:30 p. m. Saturday. The final returns for the campaign will probably be available by 6:00 p. m. Saturday.

Returns will not likely be available before that time, so interested parties are asked to refrain from calling The Tribune before that hour for details. All details will be published in next week's issue of The Tribune. Candidates who would like to do so may appoint a representative who may be present at the final counting of the votes.

THE NEWEST ADDITION to Farwell's business section is the new home of the State Line Grocery & Market, owned and operated by John Porter, the formal opening of which is being held this week-end.

COUNTY GINNINGS DOUBLE

The number of bales of cotton ginned in Farmer county from the 1939 crop have more than doubled the ginnings from the 1938 crop, according to figures released on March 23 by the Department of Commerce. Ginnings up to March 23, show that 5719 bales from the 1939 crop were ginned in this county, as compared with 2711 on the same date from the 1938 crop.

The same authority reveals that the ginnings in Bailey county were slightly lighter for the same period, being 14,610 for 1939 and 15,191 for 1938.

ENROLLED WORKERS

—IN THE—
STATE LINE TRIBUNE'S
SUBSCRIPTION CAMPAIGN

WHO

Will win the first prize of $400.00, the second prize of $150.00, the third prize of $100.00, and the fourth prize of $50.00?

It will probably be the candidate securing the most subscriptions from now until the close of the campaign on Saturday. This week instead of publishing a standing we list the enrolled candidates alphabetically.

Freida Acker, Farwell
Mrs. W. D. Eberling Bovina,
Verna Miller, Texico
Bonnie Jean Paine, Oklahoma Lane
Mrs B. Whitt, Muleshoe

Candidates need every bit of support that they can obtain. Just a few extra subscriptions may mean a fine prize that the worker otherwise would fail to win.

Just your subscription. Mail in your subscription with the coupon below and the candidate will receive full and proper credit for your subscription.

'Sweet Smelling' Sam Houston Jones Faces Task in Debt-Ridden Louisiana

By ORRIN HARTMAN
(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)
BATON ROUGE, LA.—Next May 14 a mild-mannered young lawyer from near the Texas border will take charge of Louisiana's monumental state capitol. From its cavernous halls will scatter the ghosts of 12 Long years.

Out front, in the hero's tomb they built after an assassin's bullet cut short his riotous career, cocky Huey Long will probably turn over in his grave.

Good or bad, Louisiana's new administration will at least be different. The young lawyer is named Sam Houston Jones, because Sam Houston is quite a hero out near the Texas line. The night Sam Jones beat Huey's young brother Earl in a bitter runoff primary, he kept a New Orleans victory celebration waiting. They found him praying in a Methodist church, the sort of thing you'd have expected from a medieval crusader.

Not a Bad Idea.

There are those who vow Louisiana needs a crusader. Some people also call Sam Jones the David who slew a modern Goliath, but 283,384 Louisianians who voted for him were probably just as much against the Long machine as they were for Sam Jones.

Nevertheless he is the flesh-and-blood symbol of a protest against the most amazing political machine America has ever seen. It dates back to 1915 when Huey Long was handling compensation cases for Louisiana lumber mill workers. The idea was something like this: Give everything to the poor at a cost of nothing to them, that is, share the wealth. But to accomplish this you need a kingdom, and to h—l with the expense.

Huey 'Upheld' the People.

In retrospect, now that only the memory remains, Louisianians are recalling Huey's career. They remember how he "upheld the rights of the people" as state railroad commissioner; how he was licked for the governorship in 1924 but came back to win in 1928; how through shrewd political maneuvering he became Louisiana's lord and master. Huey provided free school books. He packed the courts, attacked the corporations and built roads like the state had never seen before. And becoming cock-sure, he could boast: "There are not many people in the United States who are smarter than

GOVERNOR-DESIGNATE—Sam Jones, rated one of Louisiana's best orators, strikes a campaign pose. When Earl Long accused him of being "sweet smelling," Jones' men bought out the dime store perfume counters and thus created a campaign symbol.

I am, and none in Louisiana."

Still rising, he got elected United States senator but still controlled a puppet governor and legislature back home. In the national spotlight he became America's No. 1 buffoon and demagogue, filibustering in the senate, threatening to stop federal money from entering Louisiana, calling the President of the United States a liar.

Predicted Machine's Downfall.

And then they "got" the Kingfish—shot him to death—in the 33-story Baton Rouge statehouse which symbolized his stranglehold over Louisiana. He knew it was coming, and he also knew the Long machine couldn't last after his death. Of his lieutenants he said: "Half of them will be in jail after I die. They don't know how to handle this power which I've given them."

Huey was prophetic, but not until last summer did a crusading newspaper editor catch up with the Long crowd. The editor was old Jim Crown of the New Orleans States, whose photographer hid behind a bush to get libel-proof evidence of graft. The picture showed a state university truck being used to haul supplies for the new house of a Long henchman.

To Jim Crown's exploit can be traced the 200 odd indictments that followed; the resignation of Gov. Richard Leche and the ascendancy of Earl Long; the fight of graft-guilty Dr. James Monroe Smith, president of the state university who has since been convicted; the suicides of three henchmen; the frightened countenances of countless small fry politicians whose comeuppance now rests in Sam Jones' hands.

Faces Difficult Task.

After Mr. Jones left his prayer meeting in New Orleans on victory night, he told the crowd: "I promised to restore honesty and decency in Louisiana government, and anybody who knows Sam Jones knows that he keeps his word."

Governor Jones was speaking boldly, for tax reformers have pointed out the precarious condition of state finances. Twelve years of the Long machine have boosted the bonded debt from $12,000,000 to $200,000,000. Louisianians pay the highest auto license fee in the country and one of the highest gasoline taxes. They are burdened with sales tax tokens and some 25 other new taxes which Huey and his followers used to "soak the rich and share the wealth."

But the ledger is not entirely red, for Huey Long had done something else for Louisiana besides providing folk lore for generations to come. The magnificent state university, the statehouse, good roads and free bridges are assets which partly offset the huge debt.

Voys to 'Cleanse' State.

Sam Jones knows all this but it makes him no less critical of the Long machine. He insists that dictatorial laws must be abolished, that courts must be placed above reproach, and that schools must be revitalized. Says he: "A new day has dawned after a long night with foul things happening in the dark."

Census Grows Complex As Nation Gets Older

WASHINGTON.—Census taking was a simple job in the days of Washington, Adams and Madison.

The first census, taken during Washington's administration in 1790, required only the "names of heads of families; free white males of 16 years and up; free white males under 16; free white females; all other persons; slaves."

It wasn't until 1850 that persons more than 15 years old were first required to give their "profession, occupation or trade." At the same time a question was included on the value of real estate owned.

In 1860 was added a question on the value of personal estates. The question regarding the number of months a person has been employed during the year was first asked in 1880. In 1890 the census bureau became concerned about people "suffering from acute or chronic disease."

HOW TO SEW

by Ruth Wyeth Spears

THAT lace curtains are in fashion again is news! This easy-to-make and easy-to-hang valance is something that many of you have been wanting. All the dimensions for cutting it are given here. The glass curtains are hung on the lower rod; the side drapes on the upper rod; and the valance is draped over knob holders screwed into the extreme upper corners of the window frames.

The color plan for this window began with the glazed chintz drapery material in tones of green, beige and golden yellow. The darkest green—a soft olive tone, was used in sateen to line the valance and make the tie-backs. The brass holders for the valance repeated the golden yellow. The cream glass curtains toned into the drapery background, and a plain olive green window shade was used.

So You Want to Be a Model? New York Tells What It Takes

NEW YORK.—Young ladies: If you're between 19 and 23 with a just-so figure and the knack of posing before a camera without appearing to do so, you may have the makings of a model.

The glamour profession which has attracted hundreds of small town girls to New York isn't what it's cracked up to be, say advertising men and photographers, but if a girl is good she may get a break.

Models fall roughly in two classes. First, the free-lancer who sells her wares at an average rate of $5 per hour and prefers to depend on one-time calls. She is the girl seen on billboards, in magazine ads and newspapers. If she is successful her income will usually range from $50 to $150 a week, but not for many years.

Some Are Manikins.

The other classification is the fashion manikin who prefers a small but steady income modeling dresses in retail stores. Her figure is apt to be better than the free-lance model, but her face will be less "photogenic."

Even the free-lance photographic models are commonly divided into several classes. The fashion model is the "glamour girl" who seldom smiles, is a little too thin and can wear clothes with indifference. Another type is the "all-American girl" who is deliciously pretty and vivacious, who smiles over her cooling drink from the billboard or frowns over a headache.

They Need All Types.

Another type is the older, more mature models who pin diapers on babies, pose as happy newlyweds and greet their husbands at night. Still a fourth is the character model, ranging from small youngsters to spinsters.

The average model in New York is 23 years old. Her measurements will be: height, 5 feet, 7 inches; bust, 34; waist, 25; hips, 35, and shoe size, 5A. Another type, the "cute" model, has a bust measurement of 32; waist, 23; hips, 34, and size 3 1/2 A shoe.

U. S. Drafts Mars Men To Fight Forest Fires

WASHINGTON.—If you see a strange figure parachuting into one of our national forests this summer, it won't necessarily be a man from Mars. More likely it's a "smoke jumper," one of Uncle Sam's new forest fire fighters being placed into service this year.

The "fire jumpers" wear a special two-piece suit of strong duck, with trousers reaching high above the natural waistline.

Frame Gardens Mean Early Fresh Vegetables for Tables

COLLEGE STATION—In order to have fresh vegetables four to six weeks earlier than would be produced in open gardens on the South Plains, 1,650 frame gardens were made and planted in 1939 by home demonstration club women in District 2 of the Texas A. & M. College Extension Service.

Frame gardens provide a means of having fresh vegetables at a time of year when they would otherwise have to be purchased or left off the menu entirely, says Lida Cooper, district agent who supervises home demonstration activities in this area.

"In December, Mrs. Floyd Barnett in Dickens County had a garden richly producing turnip greens, lettuce, and radishes. Mrs. Guy Smith in Hockley County had spinach, lettuce, radishes and onions in ample supply for her family all during December. A Lubbock County home demonstration club woman, Mrs. J. O. Day, reports she was serving vegetables from her frame garden three weeks after it was planted in October," Miss Cooper recollected in looking over reports for the last year's work.

Representatives from 4,269 farm and ranch families were actively engaged in home demonstration and 4-H club work in 1939 and these were able to pass on agricultural and home economics information they had acquired to 3,652 families not affiliated with club work.

Early in 1939, Miss Cooper says, the expansion committee of the County Home Demonstration Council in Lubbock County recommended that each club member entertain a non-club family during the year and serve them some of the breads they had learned to make at club meetings. Reports show that club members had 532 such visitors during the year and that 411 families were served breads. The council expansion committee in Lamb County reported 560 non-club members reached.

Typical of the home food production work carried on by home demonstration club women and 4-H club girls in the South Plains in cooperation with county home demonstration agents and the Texas A. and M. Extension Service is this fine garden in Lubbock County. Shown are Elizabeth Brooks, assistant home demonstration agent of Lubbock County, and Mrs. Fred Kveton. To statements that vegetable production is impracticable in that section the agents point out an acre of field garden, the fine home garden shown, a frame garden for out-of-season production, and a pantry stocked with hundreds of some of home-grown products.

Castro County women asked non-club members to a county-wide cake show and other special affairs, while the Dickens County exhibit committee of the council arranged window displays such as "Posture While Doing Housework." Other events included a Dairy Day in this county at which 40 percent of the people present were non-club members and at a cooking school conducted by the county home demonstration agent and club members to present information on meat cookery, table service, and refrigeration. Of the 225 attending, 75 percent were non-club members. Hockley County reports pressure cookers were checked for 50 non-club members. In addition, approximately 300 non-club families were reached at special meetings such as dairy days, bread shows, and special community meetings.

Miss Cooper says 858 club women in Bailey, Yoakum, Castro, Dickens, Lamb, and Hale counties spent $17,437 in making their kitchens more convenient, attractive, comfortable, and easier to clean by adding refrigerators and stoves, sinks, running water and other improvements. The improvements made in the kitchens by the demonstrators led to other improvements in the home. Mrs. Vernon Simmons in Castro County not only renovated her kitchen, but she was able to get the house painted and add a much-needed new front door and yard fence.

Improvements in bedrooms were made by 1,489 women and girls. They added 656 pieces of furniture, made or bought 451 mattresses, secured 5,598 bed linens in addition to adding bedspreads, wool covers and dresser scarfs.

Nineteen counties in Miss Cooper's district are served by home demonstration agents in 15 counties. These include Lillie Gentry of Bailey County, Mary Catherine Couch of Castro county, Lois Fouts of Cochran county, Carolyn Dixon of Crosby county, Jean Day of Dickens county, Edith Lois Wilson of Floyd county, Lucille Shultz of Hale county, Hazel Phipps of Hockley county, Fannie Brown Eaton of Kent county, Mrs. Ruth Perry of Lamp county, Clara Pratt of Lubbock county, Elizabeth Brooks, assistant, Lubbock county, Marine McNatt of Lynn county, Ruth Boyd of Parmer county, Ruby Wood of Swisher county, and Flossie Williams of Yoakum county.

Until 1923 cashew nuts were considered among the most risky foods to ship because so often they were attacked by vermin. In that year shippers adopted the process of replacing part of the air in packing cans with carbon dioxide or some other inert gas. This makes such a difference in keeping the kernels that the import increased from some 100,000 pounds in 1923 to 4,000,000 pounds in 1930 and 15,000,000 pounds in 1934.

INTERNATIONAL:

Holy Week

Europe was filled with shenanigans on St. Patrick's day. As Holy Week got underway the dictators sheathed their swords and tried to look righteous. The imaginary axis running from Berlin southward through the Brenner pass to Rome became a well-trodden highway as bigwigs of Nazism and Fascism hastened hither and yon. There was mystery in the air, and it made the allies shiver.

The last Finnish bullet had hardly thudded into a Russian breast when Moscow, Berlin and Rome began concentrating their diplomacy in the Balkans, lately an allied stronghold. To Germany fell the task of mediating between two friends who are themselves enemies, for both Italy and Russia have interests in the Balkans. Probable outcome would be a three-cornered deal with Hungary and Rumania in the middle. Both Russia and Hungary would agree to conclude non-aggression pacts with Rumania, then the Soviet would come to terms with Italy. Their peace (if not their independence) guaranteed, the Balkans would thus keep producing oil and foodstuffs for Germany. The allies would be frozen out.

This conclusion made sense in the light of at least three important developments:

Iron Guards

At Bucharest, Rumania's King Carol suddenly received a pledge of loyalty from 250 leaders of the suppressed Nazi Iron Guard, many of whose members had either been imprisoned or had fled to Germany. Only possible explanation for such an about-face was that Carol had begun co-operating with the Reich.

At Brennero

Without warning Adolf Hitler and Benito Mussolini sped to a rendezvous at Brennero, a tiny town on the Italo-German frontier. While the world waited expectantly, high Nazis in Berlin nodded knowingly and dropped strong hints that Italy was about to reaffirm emphatically her allegiance to the Rome-Berlin axis. Observers expected some announcement of German-Italo-Russian collaboration in the Balkans and elsewhere.

For Mr. Welles

Better informed on this skull-bugger than any allied or neutral chancellor was Sumner Welles, U. S. undersecretary of state whom President Roosevelt sent to Europe in search of a meeting ground for peace. Far from gullible, Mr. Welles was nevertheless being played by the dictators for all he was worth. Observers recalled that he had no sooner ended his first visits to Rome and Berlin than Nazi Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop scurried down to Italy, scurried back to Berlin, then scurried to Brennero with Adolf Hitler just as Mr. Welles was ending his visits in Paris and London. This indicated that the dictators were hastening to patch up a peace plan which Mr. Welles could file in his brief case. Since the allies had refused to talk peace, a gesture from the dictators might woo the U. S.

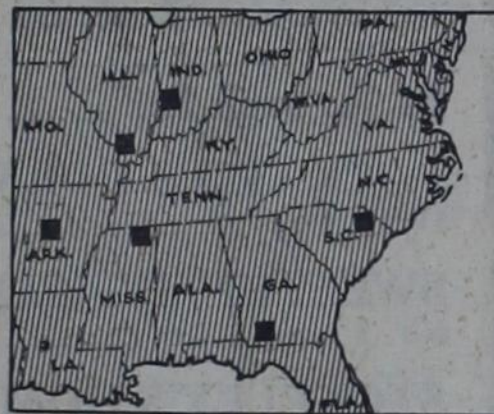

But if Mr. Welles got any such plan after Brennero, observers were pretty sure it featured a definitely victorious peace for the dictators. Probable alternative: A Moscow-Rome-Berlin triangle.

HOUSING:

Farm Project

United States Housing authority now has a loan power of $800,000,000, of which $626,636 has been advanced for USHA's major activities, slum clearance and urban low rent housing projects. Now before congress is the Wagner-Steagall bill (passed by the senate) which would double USHA's loan power and include $200,000,000 for one phase of housing thus far ignored by the U. S., namely, the farm.

Whether or not the Wagner-Steagall bill passes, Franklin Roosevelt decided recently to get his rural housing program started. USHA was authorized to lend $2,522,000 for financing 1,300 new farm houses in six states. (Location of projects shown on map). The plan:

Owner-operators, tenants, sharecroppers and farm hands will be eligible, leasing new homes through a county housing authority. (The Wagner-Steagall act would let them buy the homes, paying like rent.) Average cost: $1,682, including wiring, kitchen sink, outside sealed well and sanitary privy. BUSINESS:

Tax Time Begins

In mid-March John Q. Public could procrastinate no longer. To meet the first quarter U. S. income tax deadline he filed some 8,000,000 individual and corporation returns, mostly at the last minute.

Though treasury officials could only guess, they figured March collections from this source would be $605,000,000 compared with $505,000,000 last year. Watched even closer, however, were results from three changes in the law:

(1) State and local government employees are paying this year for the first time. Early estimates placed this "take" at $16,000,000 from 2,600,000 persons; the treasury expects much more.

(2) For the first time since 1936 corporations are free of the controversial undistributed profits tax, but—

(3) Large corporations, formerly assessed 16 1/2 to 19 per cent, depending on amount of profits distributed to stockholders, are paying a flat 18 per cent this year.

Though bigger income taxes looked like business was improving, Cleveland's Col. Leonard P. Ayres picked this time to wonder if the opposite weren't true. Said he, in his monthly business review: There are two reasons for thinking another depression may be on the way. First: We have never had a decline like the present, following peak production, that did not continue downward to depression. Second: "Perhaps the soundest reason for arguing that this decline will go a good deal further is the fact that it has already gone so far."

FINLAND'S SURRENDER

WASHINGTON.—Now that artillery fire has departed from the battlefields of Finland, the allies are getting an almost panic-stricken picture of what that defeat means to them.

For when the history of this world war is written, probably the letdown of Finland can be placed beside the British sabotage of the Spanish republic as the war's two major catastrophes.

The surrender of Finland means not so much a triumph for Soviet Russia as for Germany. It means that the remainder of Finland now will be welded together for self-protection in an economic alliance with Sweden and Norway. And most important of all it means that all Scandinavia will come under the direct domination, if not the control, of Germany.

In fact, Nazi Germany is working overtime to create a sort of United States of North Europe—Norway, Sweden, Finland and Denmark, all co-operating in the closest manner economically, and perhaps politically, with the Reich. That is why Dr. Schacht, Germany's economic genius, arrived in Stockholm exactly one day after Finnish peace was signed.

This means that another vital area of Europe becomes alienated from the British, just as the downfall of the Spanish republic meant that British influence vanished from one vital area of the Mediterranean.

WELLESIAN CODE

WASHINGTON.—There is a very good reason why newspaper cables regarding the peace mission of Undersecretary of State Welles are so meager. He isn't saying anything about his conversations to a soul except the President of the United States.

Not even Secretary of State Hull is in on all of the Welles reports, though he gets them second-hand from Roosevelt. Virtually no other member of the state department knows anything about the progress Welles is making.

Confidential fact is that before Welles departed, he worked out a private code with the President. This code consists of numbers, so that Welles wires back a number and only the President knows what that number means. Thus it is impossible for the Nazis, British or anyone else to break down the code.

Welles' code cables are sent to Secretary Hull, who, in turn, takes them to the President, who personally decodes them. After Welles' conversation with Hitler, he cabled back a single number, and Mr. Hull took the number over to the White House, gave it to the President.

The President did a little figuring, then said: "Doesn't look so good, does it?"

Note—The Welles reports are so brief that obviously he and the President are counting chiefly on personal conversations after his return.

W. G. M., Chatfield, Minn.—The senate pays the funeral expenses of deceased members, the average being about $4,000. The Borah funeral was one of the most expensive, costing $9,600. Reason for the high cost was that a large party of senators were designated to make the trip to Boise, Idaho. The funeral of Sen. Tom Walsh of Montana, at approximately the same distance, cost $6,000. The funeral of Senator Overman of North Carolina cost $3,000.

HOUSEHOLD QUESTIONS

Orange and tomato juices lose much of their nutritive value after they have been exposed to the air for several hours. Consequently it is a good plan to prepare them just before serving. Buy tomato juice in cans which hold an amount that will be quickly consumed after they are opened.

Keep brass articles from tarnishing by covering them with a thin coat of clear varnish. The varnish will form a lacquer which will not wear off unless the brass is handled frequently.

In potting cacti, be sure that you provide plenty of drainage. Fill the pot about one-fourth full of stones or other coarse material, and put in preferably a few pieces of charcoal. The desert cacti seem to prefer good sandy loam, while the epiphyllums and similar ones usually like a rather rich loam. They also say that it is a good thing to put in some slacked lime—about a teaspoonful to a medium-sized pot for desert cacti.

Wash gloves first right side out and on the hands, then wrong side out. Roll them in a turkish towel to squeeze out excess moisture. Blow into gloves to puff them out. Shape carefully, pulling each finger along the seam line. Soften by finger-pressing before they have a chance to become stiff.

Before washing a dark dress, baste around the edges of the stains with white cotton. In this way one is sure of removing all the soiled parts which otherwise are difficult to detect when the garment is wet.

To clean gas stove burners boil them in a strong solution of washing soda and water for about half an hour. This will remove all the grease. Rinse thoroughly, dry and put back into the stove.

YOUTH
"THE best thing we can do for youth is to undertake to get back to real American thrift and economy in living—to get away from the idea that 'the Government owes us' one. We must get rid of the idea that youth and its elders too prevalently have today, that this is a good government to live in because it is a good one to live on and off from."

Many Shinto festivals in Japan include a religious orchestra whose members only go through the motions of playing on their instruments and, consequently, do not make a sound. This "music," which is directed toward the gods, is played silently because it is too sacred to be heard by human ears.

County 4-H Clubbers On Inspection Tour

A number of Parmer county 4-H club boys, accompanied by County Agent Jason O. Gordon and Thos. G. Moore, of Farwell, M. L. McFarland of Friona, and Mr. Ross, of Bovina, were in Plainview, Saturday, attending a district feeding demonstration.

During the day the local group visited eleven different feeding demonstrations carried on by the boys in Hale county, under the direction of C. B. Morton, agent, and Harry Igo, assistant agent.

Proper feeding for best results on calves, lambs, and swine was demonstrated. District Agent K. J. Edwards was in charge of the inspection.

The local group returned by way of Muleshoe, where they visited the livestock show being held there, Saturday. They report a very interesting and informative trip.

Census Takers Named For Parmer County

Information the first of this week was to the effect that four men and one woman had been named to take the population, farm and housing census of Parmer county, beginning on April 2nd and continuing throughout the month.

Cecil W. Robertson will take charge in the northeastern part of the county; Mrs. A. B. Wilkison has been selected to serve in Friona; Nelson O. Welch will work in the northeastern part of the county; Roy Price will officiate in the southeast part; and Warren Powers will serve the southwestern part of the county.

Mr. Powers stressed the fact that all information given by Parmer residents in the taking of this census was strictly confidential, and urged the cooperation of Parmer people in making the census complete and accurate.

Of Interest to Farmers

By Garlon A. Harper, Sec'y Parmer County AAA

All farm operators who will operate farms in 1940 which are different in the land covered for 1940 from that covered in 1939 should report this to the County office immediately. At this time, most farmers who have such changes have already reported the change in cropland to the office. It will not be necessary to report such change if one has already been made. The deadline for making such changes is March 30, 1940. THERE WILL NOT BE ANY CHANGES MADE AFTER APRIL 1, 1940.

All farmers who have not filed a work sheet for 1940 should do so immediately. At this time we are ready to execute applications for 1940 Wheat Parity Payments and it is absolutely necessary that a work sheet be filed before the application is prepared.

New Superintendent To Be Chosen Monday

Nelson C. Smith, secretary of the Farwell school board, stated today that board members had agreed that the selection of a new superintendent of the Farwell school for the ensuing school term, would probably be disposed of when the board meets again on Monday night, April 1st.

The board held a special meeting Monday night at which time some twenty applicants were discussed and the list of applicants was cut down to four men, who are to receive further consideration in the forthcoming meeting.

Mr. Smith said these four men had been notified to appear personally before the board next Monday evening. Those to appear are: J. T. Carter of Tahoka; L. H. Bond, of Booker; E. R. Cleavinger, Texline; and George Syms, Adrian.

The selection of a new superintendent of the local school became necessary this year when Supt. Leo Forrest announced that he would not be an applicant for the superintendency again this year.

Mr. Smith said that the selection of the remainder of the faculty would not likely be taken up until after the matter of superintendent had been disposed of.

Gas Co. Occupies New Office in Clovis

The offices of the New Mexico-Eastern Gas Company have been removed to their new location at 116 East Grand street in Clovis. The formal opening was held last Sunday afternoon.

The new quarters have been so arranged and decorated that it presents a most pleasant appearance. Manager E. M. Kelly is justly proud of the new location, which he has taken a great pride in arranging. Besides spacious accommodations for office work, ample storage room has been provided in the rear of the building.

Drop in the first time you are in Clovis for a squint at one of the neatest offices you have seen in many a day.

Liberty has never come from government. Liberty has always come from the subjects of it. The history of liberty is a history of resistance. The history of liberty is a history of limitations of governmental power, not the increase of it.—Woodrow Wilson.

Slight Changes in New Mexico Fishing Laws

LeRoy Faville, local license collector for the New Mexico Game & Fish Department, this week called attention to some slight changes in the 1940 fishing laws.

Under the new law, not more than 25 hooks may be used on trot lines in the taking of catfish, regardless of the number of fishermen in the party. Each fisherman may have "not more than five lines . . . and not more than 25 hooks in all." The law further says, "The tying or joining together of trot lines belonging to two or more persons resulting in more than 25 hooks in the aggregate on the combined lines shall be illegal."

There will be a 15-day open season on bass, crappie and other small fish (not including trout), beginning on April 1st and closing on April 15th, at which time the season will be closed till June 1st.

The season on trout and salmon will open as usual on May 15th.

Local bloods may get their licenses at the Red Cross Pharmacy, and the same fees prevail that have been in force for the past several years. Resident fishermen will be required to pay $2.00, while the non-resident will have to fork over $3.00.

Jerry Sadler to Open Campaign Over Radio

AUSTIN—First big blast in the 1940 gubernatorial sweepstakes will be fired April 4 by Jerry Sadler, rugged young member of the Texas Railroad Commission.

The colorful and dynamic Sadler will reveal his platform and proposals over a statewide hookup Thursday night, April 4, from 8 to 9 p. m. The broadcast will be carried by radio stations WFAA, WBAP, KPCC and WOAI.

Since his opening announcement, Sadler has been deluged with mail and telegraphic response and declares he is now ready to reveal his program to the voters.

"For the first time in my memory we are going to have a campaign in Texas based on issues and not personalities. There is no hocus-pocus about my program," Sadler said. "It is clear-cut, plain, and fitted to the pattern of the Great Lone Star State."

Lubbock Man Speaks To Texico Boosters

J. A. Newman, sales manager of the Economy Milling company at Lubbock, addressed the newly-organized Booster Club at its regular meeting in the town hall in Texico, Monday night.

Using as his subject "Unity in the Small Town," Mr. Newman, who is a very capable speaker, declared that the rural population is the life blood of the small town. He cited figures to show that the poultry industry stands second in the production of income over the entire nation, and stressed the importance of encouraging the production of poultry in this section.

In response to questions, Mr. Newman recommended the adoption of the refrigerator locker system that has been receiving considerable attention over the nation during the past few months.

Mr. Newman was introduced by Mayor W. J. Matthews to a rather small crowd that had gathered to hear him.

Boys' Club Work to Forefront in 1939

COLLEGE STATION—Boys' 4-H club work highlighted the 1939 efforts of county agricultural agents in the 19 South Plains counties designated as district 2 of the Texas A. & M. Extension Service.

Rapid progress was also recorded in soil and water conservation, feed storage through trench silos, and whole farm and ranch demonstrations, according to K. J. Edwards, district agent, who supervises the work of county agents in the district.

Farmers terraced 248,000 acres and farmed nearly a million acres on the contour for the first time. Two new conservation practices, furrow-damming and pit-cultivation, were used on 250,000 acres. Altogether 1,250,000 acres, scattered over 13,000 farms went under the conservation banner in 1939.

The 4,340 trench silos—representing an 81 percent increase over the 1938 total of 3,380—were filled with 818,000 tons of silage.

Seventy farms and ranches, scattered throughout the district, undertook the whole farm demonstration and combined many recommended farm and home practices on the same place.

County agents enrolled 2,203 boys in 4-H Club work—an increase of 45 percent over 1938 figures. Enrollment in Bailey County jumped from 40 in 1938 to 338 in 1939. Lubbock County led the district with 429 boys. Each of the 91 club members in Floyd county finished the year with a creditable demonstration.

Among the honors that came to South Plains 4-H boys were: Joe Doyle, Lubbock county, one of two Texas boys sent to National 4-H Encampment at Washington, D. C.; five boys; one each from Parmer, Swisher, Floyd, Hale and Lubbock counties, sent to International Livestock Show at Chicago; Lubbock county furnished the state meat identification team; 15 of the state's 100 Gold Star awards went to the South Plains; Lubbock county won one of the six state cotton production scholarships; boys from Garza and Parmer counties pulled in first, second and third places in the state farm record bookkeeping contest.

Hale county boys led the way in commercial feeding of beef calves, lambs and hogs and ended up with the shipment of a solid trainload of calves and lambs to Kansas City. On feed for sale in 1940 are 112 beef calves in Hale county, 105 in Bailey, 70 in Cochran, and 45 in Hockley.

On the educational and recreational side, 45 4-H boys and adult leaders from Bailey county attended the Short Course at A. & M., while 282 boys, county agents and club leaders gathered for a district encampment at Crosbyton.

Counties in District 2 with their county agricultural agents are Bailey, S. T. Logan; Briscoe, Lem Weaver; Castro, John T. Stovall; Cochran, Roy Hickman, Jr.; Crosby, R. W. Howe; Dickens, Mack Woodrum; Floyd, D. F. Bredthauer; Garza, Homer E. Thompson; Hale, C. B. Martin with Harry Igo, assistant; Hockley, D. W. Sherrill; Kent, W. R. Kinbrough; Lamb, V. F. Jones, with L. H. McElroy, assistant; Lubbock, C. C. Jobson with M. U. May as assistant; Lynn, Don Turner; Motley, J. Rufus Emmons; Parmer, Jason O. Gordon; Swisher, J. W. Palmore; Terry, R. N. McLain; and Yoakum, H. B. Horn.

COMMISSIONERS MEET

Payment of current bills, acceptance of a road petition and awarding of damages on a right-of-way tract made up the proceedings of the Parmer county commissioners court, when it met in Farwell, Monday.

The road petition of F. C. Wagoner et al, was accepted and the jury of view appointed is composed of: F. C. Wagoner, Don V. McClain, Ed Steinbock and A. M. Seaton.

R. F. Jones of the Hub community was allowed $155.00 damages to his property for Highway 86 right-of-way privileges.

If you want to see poor people wearing jewelry you must go to Holland, particularly to Friesland, where even the servant girls normally wear at least a hundred dollars worth of the goldsmith art.

AAA DEADLINES

COLLEGE STATION—No more applications for agricultural conservation payments or for range conservation payments under the 1939 AAA program can be accepted after May 31.

This deadline is final, according to a ruling of the State Agricultural Conservation Association committee, which declared that "no exceptions will be made."

At the same time, the committee called attention to the following closing dates:

March 31st, final date for filing requests for reconstitution of farms and for designating non-general allotment farms.

May 1, deadline for filing application to participate in the 1940 range and agricultural conservation programs.

KISTLER-MOELLER NUPTIALS PERFORMED ON EASTER
A lovely home wedding which united in marriage Miss Beulah Kistler and Walter Moeller, both of Muleshoe, was held at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Kistler, near Muleshoe, at 8:30, Easter morning, March 24th.

The ring ceremony was read by Rev. R. N. Huckabee, pastor of the Muleshoe Methodist church, before an improvised altar of potted ferns and greenery. White tapers, placed on the piano, served as illumination.

Prior to the entrance of the wedding party, Miss Able Graham of Farwell, sang "I Love You Truly," accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Hertha Walker, and Mendelssohn's "Wedding March" served as the entrance for the principals.

The bride entered the room on the arm of her father, W. H. Kistler, who gave her in marriage. Misses Juno Glasscock and Betty Ruth Moeller, both of Muleshoe, acted as bridesmaids, while Oniel Rockey, of Muleshoe, served as the best man.

The bride was attractively dressed in a street dress of aqua blue, and wore a shoulder corsage of pink sweetheart rosebuds, mounted on a large lily. Small rosebuds were also worn in her hair. The bridesmaids' bouquets were identical with that of the bride, and Miss Graham wore a corsage of pink sweetpeas.

Following the ceremony, Mrs. Hertha Walker and Mrs. J. D. Thomas officiated at the breakfast table, which was decorated with pink and white sprays of fruit blossoms, and lighted tapers. The bride cut the three-tiered wedding cake, which was topped with bride and groom figurines.

Coffee was poured from a distinctive porcelain teapot, an heirloom of the Moeller family, which was brought to this country from Germany many years ago.

The bride is well known in this city, having lived here for a number of years, and being a graduate of the Farwell high school. She was at one time secretary to J. D. Thomas, local lawyer. Recently, she has been living at Muleshoe, where she is employed in the county agent's office.

Mr. Moeller is the son of Mrs. Anna Moeller, of Muleshoe, and has been a resident of that city for a number of years, where he has business interests.

After a trip to Monterrey, Mexico, the couple will be at home to friends in Muleshoe.

Attending the ceremony were: Mrs. Anna Moeller, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Kistler, Mrs. C. C. Mardis, Mrs. I. W. Harden, Mrs. Beulah Carles, Mrs. Holly Bucy, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Gaede, Mrs. Hertha Walker and children, Harry Loyd, Luana, and Charlene; Miss Juno Glasscock, Miss Betty Ruth Moeller, Oniel Rockey and Mrs. R. N. Huckabee, all of Muleshoe; Mrs. Jimmie Singer, of Littlefield; Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Thomas and children, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Kistler and children, Miss Able Graham and Vance Crume, all of Farwell.

"Deacon Dubbs" Given By Texico Jr. Class

"Deacon Dubbs" a comedy in three acts, was presented by the Texico Junior class, under the direction of Miss Edith Berry, on Friday evening of last week, at the local auditorium, with a good crowd in attendance.

Walter Baldock, as "Deacon Dubbs" literally stole the show from under the noses of the other players, with his witty impersonation of a frisky 50-year-old deacon from "Sorghum Center, state of West Virginia."

Portraying the typical old maid, Miss Philipina Popover, was Evelyn North, whose characterization also did credit to the play. Loleat Vaughn, as the pesky 15-year-old "Trixie", was unusually good in her part, as was Lewie Vaughn as Rawdon Crowley, the villain of the play.

Other members of the cast included Gene Curtis as the hero, Amos Coleman; Mary Margaret Martin as the school-teacher with a past; Johnnie Hughes as Major McNutt, the auctioneer; Frieda Martin as the rich and spoiled Emily Dale, while the comedy was provided by Elton Vaughn, as Deuteronomy Jones, the noncommittal hired hand, and Doris Doolittle as Yennie Yenson, the romantically inclined hired girl.

SISTER DIES AT WACO

Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Billington and M. E. Billington returned to Farwell the first of the week from Waco, Texas, where they were called by the death of their sister, Mrs. R. E. McKinley, on Friday afternoon of last week. Burial was made at Waco Saturday afternoon.

They left here early Friday morning in response to a message that Mrs. McKinley was very low, and she passed away just a few minutes before the Farwell party arrived. Deceased was 45 years old, and is survived by her husband, a son and a married daughter.

MILO MAIZE BLIGHT IS "THIEF IN THE DARK"

COLLEGE STATION—Pythium root rot, or milo maize blight, is a "thief in the dark". This designation for the disease was coined by E. A. Miller, agronomist of the Texas A. & M. Extension Service, who said that the blight cut the Texas milo yield 5 to 10 million bushels a year.

The only manifestation of the disease is a stunting of the plants, and farmers usually attribute this to drought.

The Texas Agricultural Experiment Station recently developed a blight resistant milo known as the Texas Milo Maize. Seed was distributed to certified seed growers and to farmers through county agents and to farmers through county agents and vocational teachers. Miller said the increase of this new variety was now sufficient to meet the 1940 demand for blight resistant milo seed.

Supplies of the seed can be obtained from certified seed growers and from the farmers who planted the seed for demonstrational purposes. Sources of seed can be found through county agents and vocational teachers in the counties affected by the blight.

Chemical treatment of all sorghum seed for control of smut and to increase chances of a good stand is also recommended. Standard treatment is with copper carbonate of 2 percent ceresan at the rate of 2 ounces per bushel. If the new improved ceresan is available, a half ounce per bushel is used.

L. G. MATHEWS, of Floydada, who this week announces his candidacy for State Representative of the 12th Legislative District of Texas.

To The Citizens of the 120th Representative District of Texas:
I take this opportunity to announce as a candidate for the Legislature for the 120th Representative District of Texas.

To those of you who do not know me, I was born in Coleman County, Texas, and was educated in the rural schools and Howard Payne College. I came to Floyd County in January, 1923. I was reared on the farm, but have been practicing law in West Texas for the past twenty-five (25) years, with the exception of the time that I served in the Army during the World War. I have enjoyed the usual and average practice of a West Texas country lawyer.

I believe that the people are entitled to know the ideas and position of any man who offers himself for any public office, because a public official is only a public servant, and should be guided by the wishes and the desires of those who elect him, and with this idea in view, I wish to state my position on a few of the many vital questions that are issues at this time.

The pension voted by the people of Texas for the old should be paid to all of those eligible under the law and likewise the blind and crippled children, the insane and tubercular should be adequately cared for. I believe the enormous amount of money necessary to make these payments should be gotten by levying a tax upon crude oil, sulphur and other natural resources. It is my position that the oil and other minerals of this State belong to the people of Texas, and that they should receive the benefits derived therefrom instead of some oil corporation who hoards its money in the vault of Wall Street. I prefer the natural resource tax over the sales tax, as the sales tax is a direct tax on the meat and bread and other necessities of life for the laboring man, the farmer and the common folk and leaves untaxed the large corporations, the money changers and others who are really able to pay.

I believe that the permanent school fund that is apportioned by the State to the scholastics of this State should be based upon the number of scholastics enrolled in school, rather than upon the number of scholastics as enumerated by the census taker. Millions of dollars in taxes paid for school purposes by the citizens of West Texas are used to educate the negroes and Mexicans of East and South Texas, which is unfair and unjust to the fine boys and girls of West Texas.

I believe the truck road limit should be raised to fourteen thousand pounds, with such regulations and limitations as to the width of tires, road tread, etc., as may be recommended by the State Highway Engineer.

I would favor any legislation that would improve the conditions and standings of our public schools and institutions of higher learning for better training the boys and girls for the average professions of life.

I would favor a law permitting the election of County Officials and others for a term of four years, as it would be economical to the taxpayer and would not require an expensive election every two years and would permit the public servants of the people to give their time and energy in the efficient service of their respective positions.

I believe that the State should be re-districted as provided by our Constitution for the members of the Legislature, since the population in West Texas has increased, and we are not properly represented according to population.

I believe that the Public Warehouse law should be amended, so that it will have teeth in it and protect the farmer, wool grower and others who store their commodities. Millions of dollars have been taken from the pockets of the thorny-handed farmers and ranchmen by corporations and other individuals as unscrupulous warehousemen, who do not comply with the law.

I believe that every working man, whether a ditch digger, farmer or banker, is a business man and I would favor any law that would give every industry, both large and small, together with labor, a just and fair deal looking forward to the progress and development of all industries of our great State, using every means to economize and reduce the heavy tax burden and institute a plan, pay as you go, for the State Government in keeping with the progressive ideas of our State.

In making this request to be elected your Public Servant, I am not trying to out-promise the promiser, because I realize that there are one hundred and twenty-six (126) other members of the House of Representatives that will have to be consulted, but I do have the interest of the people of West Texas and our great State at heart and will do anything that I believe will be for the best interest of the majority.

I am making the race for the Legislature upon my own initiative without the advise or assistance of any class or interest. I have not asked for campaign donations from any firm, corporation or individual and will not accept the same because a public servant should not be obligated to anyone.

I believe that a plain and simple democracy still lives and breathes the essence of a free Government in Texas. In appreciation of your sufferage, I shall give you my time, thought and energy for a fair and economical deal in Texas democracy in keeping with what I believe to be the best interest of the majority of the people.

Yours sincerely,
L. G. MATHEWS.

All 'Labor-Displacing' Machinery Would Be Taxed Under New Bill

Wyoming's Senator O'Mahoney Presents Congress With The Latest 'Cure-All' for Aiding America's Unemployed.

By WILLIAM BRUCKART
WNU Service, National Press Bldg., Washington, D. C.

WASHINGTON. — I am writing this dispatch, as usual, on my typewriter. If I wrote it with pen or pencil, many hours of time would be required. Moreover, with my penmanship, there certainly would be difficulties ahead for the linotype operator in the print shop. So, the typewriter—from my viewpoint—is a great labor saver as well as a great time saver. It is both of those things despite my method of typing. I hunt 'em and hit 'em.

I am grateful to whomever invented the typewriter. It has contributed much to our economic life. It never complains or goes on strike, especially a sit-down strike, unless some part is broken. As far as I know, there has never been a union of typewriters, headed by a paid agitator whose tenure of office depended largely upon how much trouble he could cause.

Yet, it is conceivable that I may have to pay a tax because I own this weather-beaten, creaky old machine that has served me well. There was a bill introduced in the senate some days ago that places a tax on the use of machinery that "displaces labor." I am displacing labor by using my own typewriter. I do it even though the stenographer is a trained worker, a professional.

Of course, the use of the typewriter illustration was thoroughly exaggerated. I entertain no fears that such a tax ever will be laid.

SEN. JOSEPH C. O'MAHONEY

Yet, I insist that such an end is conceivable under the bill sponsored by Senator O'Mahoney, Wyoming Democrat. I say it is conceivable because for a quarter of a century I have observed how sometimes the most innocent use of government power spawns and grows and becomes an octopus with tentacles that reach far beyond any one's wildest fancy of the day the original law was passed.

The O'Mahoney bill contemplates no such extension of the tax to me in my capacity as a correspondent. It is designed to deal with and lay a tax on machines that, for instance, may do the work of a thousand men and require only one attendant.

Object of O'Mahoney's Bill Is to Reduce Unemployment

The objective of Senator O'Mahoney's bill is to reduce unemployment. It proposes to levy a tax where machines of the type just mentioned are used. It would be "fair" with business, according to the senator's explanation in debate, by allowing a "tax credit"—a tax reduction—where an employer used the maximum of hand labor, although I do not know how such industries as the automobile manufacturers, for example, could build the cars we have today with hand labor. The cost would be out of sight and I, among thousands of others, would be unable to own a motor car.

Senator O'Mahoney made one statement while discussing his bill that seems to have full merit. He said "it seems clear to me that the only way to reduce unemployment is to stimulate private industry for our experience has demonstrated that government cannot provide the jobs that are needed to restore prosperity." But he argued that his proposal would provide that stimulation because of the system of "rewards" that gave tax reduction to employers who used the largest possible number of workers.

Aiding Unemployment.
William Bruckart today discusses a bill introduced into the senate by Sen. Joseph C. O'Mahoney of Wyoming, in which the senator proposes a tax on all machinery that "displaces labor." According to Bruckart, there is very little likelihood of the bill passing but he writes about it because he feels it is typical of a trend in present-day law-making. The famous census "income" question is also reviewed.

On the other hand, Senator Norris, of Nebraska, had an idea that the O'Mahoney bill would act as a stop sign on general progress. He thought that there would be little reason for any one to invent new things. The Nebraskan thought the nation ought "to hesitate long—perhaps forever unless there is real compulsion under conditions that we cannot resist—before we erect a 'stop' sign of that kind."

There can be no doubt that the general human reaction to the O'Mahoney bill would be even more severe than pictured by Senator Norris. People are likely to feel that there is no further need for any one to seek progress and attempt projects that would mean better things at lower prices. That lower price thing long has represented a great clamor in this country. My own opinion is that the O'Mahoney bill is about as silly as any that have come into the legislative mill in my experience.

Classification of Machinery Would Be Superhuman Task

As I said at the outset, in referring to the use of a typewriter, that was a bald exaggeration. But let me ask who is there that can say it is outside of the realm of possibility when a law is enacted that permits a group of individuals in Washington to determine what is and what is not labor-saving machinery? That, in itself, is a superhuman task. Labor-saving machinery may be an absolute necessity in one place and a luxury in another. But in either case, the general public gets the benefit.

The theory advanced in the O'Mahoney bill is part and parcel of the category of alleged "new and progressive ideas" about which we have so often heard recently—the things that are gurgled over and made the subject of great propaganda and that has flopped. As I see it, and according to the judgment of many persons with whom I have talked, here is an example of government run wild.

The only answer I have been able to find is that somebody with a screwy brain "sold" Senator O'Mahoney a bill of goods. Those fellows—and Washington is overflowing with that type of crackpot these days—have a capacity for making things appear beautiful.

Even though the proposal is ridiculous and there is no chance whatsoever of congress ever enacting it into law, I have devoted space to the subject because of the implications that are given by introduction of such legislation. It indicates a deterioration of national thinking and it shows unmistakably a tendency on the part of a great many people to throw overboard the very essentials of the system that has made the United States the greatest nation in the world and the best place in which to live.

Income Question in Census Is Example of New Trend

There was another evidence of this tendency disclosed in the forms to be used by the census takers. Much stink has been raised around here by such as Senator Tobey, of New Hampshire, who fought vigorously against allowing the census bureau to ask every one what his income is and where it comes from. Of course, those questions were forced onto the census bureau by Harry Hopkins, former professional "reliever" turned secretary of commerce. Mr. Hopkins would glory in such details as the situation of every individual in the United States; but why he thought people would tell the truth about their income is quite beyond my understanding. It would make more liars than prohibition did.

I believe there has been a compromise reached on the income questions for the census so that individuals can write their incomes on a plain piece of paper and mail it to Washington, without any signature. That is better. It still represents too much government in my opinion. Also, it illustrates how government can expand and creep and soon become boss.

The real danger then, as I see it, is that politicians will go out in the forthcoming campaign and employ their best brand of demagoguery to sell more of this trash—if they think that such campaigning will get votes. The difficulty, it must be admitted, is that voters will hear the glowing description of proposed political panaceas, curealls and quack remedies without having the real possibilities told to them. Using the O'Mahoney bill again as an example, the senator's explanation of it made a picture of a prosperous and happy America.

Kathleen Norris Says:

Was the Old Idea of Permanent Marriage Better?

(Bell Syndicate—WNU Service.)

A woman friend of mine, living in lonely exile from her own land, had to endure the presence of a beautiful dancer in her own home.

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

THE great disadvantage of a civilization that permits quick and easy divorces is that no woman can be sure of her husband any more, no man sure of his wife, and no home feel itself safe.

That is the fact, from a purely practical point of view. The moral considerations, affecting the vow men and women take, "for better or for worse," I leave to the theologians. I am merely thinking here that divorce does unsettle the mind of husband and wife. If there were no divorce things would go differently in the family circle. But as it is today no matter how determined the woman is to make her marriage a success; no matter how anxious the man is to have his home one of the happy homes of the world, there is always this in the back of the thoughts of each: "And if it simply won't work, there's divorce."

In the old days there was much abuse of a situation that offered no doorway of escape. No question of that. Some men were bullies at home, bad fathers, bad providers, unfaithful. Wives had no redress. They bore the children and they bore with the children's father in uncomplaining martyrdom, year after year. A friend of mine who married a foreigner, 30 years ago, lived in far and lonely exile from her own land, and had to endure the presence of a beautiful dancer, a chorus girl, in her own home, as her husband's mistress. When he went on a pleasant trip, on his yacht or behind his span of dashing horses, the dancer went, too. When the mistress objected to the noise the children made, the two smallest ones were sent away to a country nurse.

Injustices like this made the life of many a faithful wife and devoted mother insufferable. Only two generations ago a father could order grown daughters supperless to their rooms, could forbid their marrying this man or that, could keep them—idle at home, penniless, dependent, all their days. It came to the 11 Barrett children by slow degrees, some 60 years ago, that their father didn't intend any one of them to have any love affairs whatsoever. Girl after girl and boy after boy meekly surrendered all hope of love and marriage because papa so ordained it.

The Natural Reaction.

Modern marriage, with its quick divorces, its resulting independence and alimony, is the natural reaction to this unnatural situation. Girls painfully have fought their way to independence and freedom, and if that freedom is being abused in its turn perhaps that is only the swing of a pendulum that will presently right itself. Certainly a husband today is infinitely more reasonable, considerate and faithful than a husband had to be a few generations ago, when anything he did was performed by that helpless companion, who was always and forever, to the end of the chapter, until death actually did him part from her—his wife.

But today's way means that any attractive woman, perhaps with two or three unsuccessful marital experiences behind her, can pick upon any desirable mate, and even though he be at the time happily married and with two or three small children, can do her best to win him away from his wife and family and home. And society, not to be too flagrantly inconsistent, must stand by and approve. Unless high moral conviction, the influence of religion, or character save him, he may be drawn away by slow degrees, knowing all the time, as his wife knows, and the woman knows, that a brief six weeks stay in Reno will suffice to free him from the intoxications of the new experiment.

MIAMI BEACH. — Base hits, pieced together, make a ball player's meal ticket. As a result, when the average player isn't hitting, his head goes down and he frets and worries so much he can't field, either.

Frank Crosetti is an exception. The Yankee shortstop, in the company of a bombing crew, doesn't hit much more than his weight, yet every day he is out there hustling and playing a great game of ball. No player in either major league gives a smoother performance from one end of a season to the other.

FRANKIE CROSETTI

Every day is just like every other they're all good.

Crosetti, of course, has spurts in which he will average .300 or over and when he hits a ball solidly, he can drive it a long way, having a fine wrist action that makes up for the size and weight that most power hitters have.

It was a home run by Crosetti with Myril Hoag on base in the eighth inning that broke the resistance offered by Dizzy Dean to the Yankees in the second game of the 1938 world series—a smash that wrecked a classic stand by Diz when the odds loomed high against him.

The Best Combination

Frankie's main value to the Yankees lies, naturally, in his superb defensive play. He and Joe Gordon provide the Yanks with the best second-base combination in the game today and one of the best ever.

Of these latter day hook-ups preceding that of Crosetti and Gordon, a balance was lacking. Lazzeri, one of the great second basemen through his first seven years with the Yankees didn't have, in Koenig, a shortstop to match him. Koenig was a good ball player but an erratic one, a much better hitter than Crosetti but nowhere near Crosetti in the matter of fielding skill, so that Lazzeri had to carry him much of the time.

Lazzeri also had to carry Crosetti when Frankie joined the Yankees, schooling him to the majors and working out, between them, some semblance of smoothness. And then, just as Crosetti had learned his way around and learned how to work with Lazzeri, Tony slowed up.

At last Joe McCarthy, striving desperately for a combination that could make double plays, put Crosetti and Gordon together. They are perfectly matched and play together with confidence, speed and rhythm. The plays they made in the World Series last fall—the plays they made during the championship season—satisfied even McCarthy, a hard man to satisfy—a man whose fetish is the double play.

The Threat by Werber

Winning a berth with the Yankees wasn't an easy one for Crosetti—or, rather, holding it after he had won it wasn't easy. Because of his light hitting, his job was in danger in the spring of 1933, after he had been the regular shortstop through 1932, his first year.

Also at the Yankee camp in the spring of 1933 at St. Petersburg was Bill Werber, now third baseman of the Reds. Werber was faster—Crosetti never has been exactly a speed merchant, for all the agility with which he bounces around the short field, spearing line drives, scooping up grounders, starting or pivoting on double plays—and another of McCarthy's demands is for speed—and more speed. Werber was fiery, colorful and aggressive—and Crosetti then, as now, was so quiet as to be almost backward, even on the field.

The Threat Answered

Werber, just up from Buffalo, started with a rush that spring. Before the stay at St. Petersburg ended, it looked as though the job was his, and other managers, believing McCarthy had made his choice, made offers for Crosetti. Then McCarthy gave Crosetti a fling at the job again and the fine play he turned in as the team swung North decided the tussle. He held on—and Werber went to the Red Sox.
