By Mike Pomper

A lady for all seasons

I like Gladys Hardage. I really like that lady. Every time I see her, she has a smile on her face and she's working on some community project. I sure hope I will be fortunate enough to have her kind of positive attitude when I reach her age (she's over 39). It always cheers me up when she stops by the newspaper. Just like so many other fine folks in the Twin Cities, she works daily at helping others. If you want to know good recipes for making bread, just check with her. There are folks who benefit from her cooking skills every day, I'm told. Helping others in need seems to be Gladys' motto.

What a lovely, active lady.

I had been meaning to write something about the Texico City Council for quite some time now. But an election was scheduled and if you write something about folks holding office just before an election, people have a tendency to interpret in a way as if you were trying to influence their voting. So I waited til now.

What I wanted to write is to compliment the council - Mayor John R. Hadley, Steve Chancy, Bryan Kube, Lewis Cooper, Doyal LaRue and ex-councilman Vane Doshier - on the excellent ground-work that they laid to induce businesses to set up shop there.

I recall the discussions back in 1984 during the City Council sessions about the need to get rid of those ugly eyesores that were hazards to the community. Only then, could businesses possibly be induced to come there.

So the council worked at it. And their attorney, Duane Hamar, worked at it. And their city clerk, Marie Christian, worked at it. And Realtor Charlotte Pierce worked at it. And the owners of the properties along the highway worked at it. And the results are successful.

Soon, Town & Country and Allsup's convenience stores will be built there, providing an important boost in sales tax monies for the city. (Unfortunately, it appears the Farwell Allsup's will be closed in the process.) And other businesses either started or planned are a fabric store, an antique shop and an electrical firm.

And why are these positive advances coming about? Because the Texico City Council agreed on the need to improve their community - and then did something about it.

So often we hear politicians talk of "meeting the needs." It sure is nice when you see government officials not only talk, but roll up their shirt-sleeves and get to work.

You've got to start somewhere and the Texico officials undertook the proper spadework to get the ball rolling. That's the job of good government.

What has happened here can be summed up as government in action - not government inaction.

I enjoyed seeing the excellent turnout for last week's Twin City Neighborhood Watch meeting. It again shows when people are interested, they are willing to take time to come to a meeting.

I hope that concern is a sign to Twin City government officials. I hope the City Councils work with the Watch chairmen - Frances Kube and Peggy Sudderth in Farwell and Ann Cooper in Texico - on setting up a good program.

The way I see it, block captains are the necessary tools for operating this type of program. Since Farwell has had a Watch program in the past, it appears that Mrs. Kube and Mrs. Sudderth will be able to reinstate it within a short time. Texico's starting from scratch will probably take more time.

And how did all this come about? It all began when one solitary person, Colleen Stover, went to a Farwell City Council meeting to complain about increasing crime here.

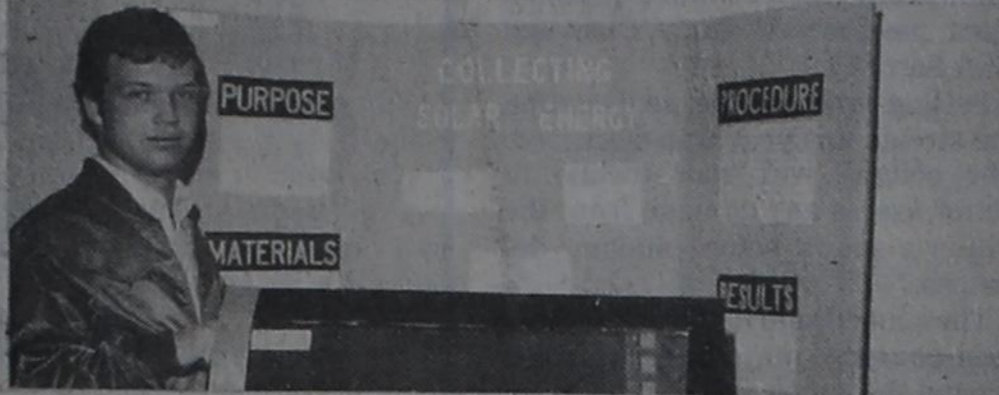

Once again, this shows the importance of every individual in a democracy. The next time you think "aw, there's nothing I can do; I'm just one person," then remember Mrs. Stover.

Sunday was a red-letter game in my life. I watched my first full Southwest Conference basketball

Mayor's race placed on Farwell ballot

The Farwell City Council voted Monday to place a mayoral contest on the April 5 ballot.

Current Mayor Walter Kaltwasser announced last month that he would be resigning his post April 5. There is one more year left on his term.

The council had a choice to make. It could either pick one of its own members to serve as mayor until next year's election, or it could put the post on this year's ballot.

During the February registration period, two persons filed for the mayoral post, should the council vote in that direction. They were Chris Gikas and Cecil Rundell.

Thus, Monday's Council decision means that Gikas and Rundell will be listed on the spring ballot as mayoral candidates. Rundell operates Cecil's Texaco Station in Farwell. Gikas retired as chairman of the Department of Art and Art Education at Eastern University in 1984 and now is co-owner of Twin Oaks Psi Design in Farwell.

Three council posts are open and the three incumbents are the only candidates - Martin Kube, Elizabeth Phillips and Fred Chandler.

In other business, John Getz, a member of the Texico-Farwell Lions Club, presented the council with the flag contest entries. The club, as a Sesquicentennial project, had a contest to recommend a city flag for Farwell. The contest winner was Sonny Kelm.

Getz said more than three hours were spent viewing the more than 100 entries and a dozen people participated in helping select the top entries. It was done on a point system, with Kelm's entry the winner. Kelm's entry was in red, white and blue, and featured the Farwell city seal and the words "In God We Trust."

The council voted to adopt Kelm's entry as the official Farwell city flag. Mrs. Phillips abstained since many of her Farwell Junior High students had entered the contest.

Farwell Fire Chief Joel White asked the city to pay for the insurance policy for the fire department's meeting hall, due to the department's limited budget. The council agreed.

Farwell Chamber of Commerce Executive Secretary Dutch Quickel asked the council why Farwell had not paid its dues to Triad, the area governmental unit supporting industry and business. The dues are

Texico residents to get Watch questionnaire

The Texico City Council approved a request by the Chamber of Commerce Tuesday to include a questionnaire for residents about a proposed Neighborhood Watch program in with their water bills this month.

The questionnaire will be similar to that put out in Farwell last month. It will include information about the Watch, ask residents if they feel such a program should be instituted here and ask if they would like to serve as block captains.

A Watch meeting was held last week for the Twin Cities with 80 people attending. Ann Cooper volunteered to head a Texico program and several Texico residents present signed up to be block captains.

In other business, Jim Burrows who is developing a subdivision on the south side of Texico told the council about a problem due to a gas pipeline placement. The matter was tabled but sentiment was leaning toward narrowing the width of the street on the south side of the subdivision so it wouldn't interfere with the gas line.

Also, the council: -Approved a variance for Doug Scioli to place a manufactured home on Anderson Street. He plans to move from Clovis here.

-Approved a variance for a mobile home to be placed on Garwood by Eldon and Loretta Burk.

-Heard City Attorney Duane Hamar recommend that a special committee be set up by the council to check on planning and zoning questions before they are brought to the full council. The council viewed the idea favorably and may go ahead with it. First, an ordinance must be approved and persons suggested for the committee.

-Appointed Bryan Kube mayor pro tem. He replaces Lewis Cooper, who was defeated for re-election.

-Welcomed Butch Tharp to his first meeting as a councilman.

-Decided to order 20 tons of patching materials for the streets, same amount as last year.

-Noted that if Allsup's plans to go ahead and build a convenience store in their property they first must deal with water and sewer lines in areas they might want vacated.

Allsup's hasn't requested anything from the council yet.

-Noted that the city needs to push for COG help for curbs and gutters, and wells. Councilman Steve Chancy planned to attend this week's COG meeting. Texico rejoined COG last month.

-Heard Chancy report a complaint about dogs running loose.

-Discussed problems with one of the city's wells. The cost to repair was $2,500. The well will be monitored for now, but the city may need to sink a new well.

-Expressed its appreciation to Bob Spears, who voluntarily used his tractor after the big snow to clear ice off city streets, then when the ice was melting, spread it out to protect the streets' coatings.

$50. Quickel noted that the schools will need more tax money and that it's important to increase the city's tax base to deal with that. Mrs. Phillips said the school enrollment is continuing to drop. Quickel responded that more housing is needed here to maintain the school enrollment.

The council voted to pay its dues to Triad and also appointed Chris Gikas as the city's representative to Triad, replacing Tom Nichols.

Four representatives of the "Friends of the Bluegrass" attended the council meeting to point that their scheduled time to use the Farwell Community Center in February had been pre-empted by the Farwell Chamber of Commerce's annual banquet.

The group was told it was due to an error that they hadn't been notified of the Chamber usage and that steps will be taken to ensure that it doesn't happen again.

City Clerk Janie Bowery reported that $195 had been donated toward the cost of the Sesquicentennial mural to be painted on the side of City Hall. The cost will be about $3,600 and the city will pay the amount above any donations. Mrs. Phillips said donations are expected from the Farwell Study Club and ESA Sorority.

Parmer County water level down

According to the annual depth-to-water survey by the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District, the water volume in the Ogallala Aquifer measured the same in January 1986 as it did 12 months earlier.

However, the report said that although the volume was the same, changes had occurred in where the water was.

Parmer County's water level declined by 8.2 feet between 1981-86, whereas it had declined 15.3 feet from 1976-81.

In the past year, Parmer County's 97 wells tested averaged a 1.4-foot drop in water depth, the Conservation District said.

The Farwell Boys Golf Tournament will be March 18.

Anti-crime program topic

McGruff, the crime-fighting dog, was the chief topic of discussion at Monday's Texico-Farwell Lions Club meeting.

Representatives of the Clovis Noonday and Evening Lions clubs attended the meeting and told of how successful the McGruff program has been in that city.

The McGruff program involves puppets in the elementary schools with messages about crime.

The Texico-Farwell club plans to further discuss the possibility of spearheading such a program in the Texico and Farwell schools.

Seminar attended

Attending the annual V.G. Young Institute of County Government at Texas A&M, College Station, last week were Parmer County Judge Porter Roberts and commissioners Ernest Anthony, Ray McGehee and Robert White.

County judges must collect 16 continuing education units a year, mandated by the state. Attending this institute helps meet that criteria, said Roberts.

Here are the boys' results:

Alex Alcalá placed 5th in the 3200 meter run with a time of 12.16.

Steve Lara placed second in the 200 meter dash. His time was 23.6 seconds. He also placed third in the long jump with 19'8 1/4".

Jesse Anzaldua placed sixth in the shot with a throw of 38'2".

Donald Rubio placed sixth in the discus with a throw of 108 feet.

King and 15 of his command executed

1836: WEDNESDAY, MARCH 16. An ad interim government for the Republic of Texas was organized today in a series of executive ordinances approved by the Convention now in session at Washington-on-the-Brazos, preliminary to the final consideration of a Constitution. It sets up a President, Vice President, Secretaries of State, War, Navy, and Treasury, and an Attorney General, with "full, ample and plenary powers to do all and every thing which is contemplated to be done by the general Congress of the people," except for legislative and judicial acts.

After the convention adjourned its afternoon session, it met again spontaneously this evening after supper, to hear news of the Mexican invasion from San Felipe, and is still in session. They also worked late last night in another spontaneous session after news arrived yesterday of the fall of the Alamo.

News of the Alamo came in two express messages from General Sam Houston, sent from Gonzales last Friday and Sunday. It was confirmed this morning without a doubt. Yesterday, only a half hour before General Houston's messages, word had arrived from Columbia that the Mexicans had been repulsed. Until recently, many at the Convention thought that the Alamo would be reinforced by Colonel J.W. Fannin and his 350 men now at Goliad. "It is believed the Alamo is safe," said one a short time ago.

There has been much excitement since the news arrived, and during the night there were frequent false alarms of approaching enemy troops.

1836: WEDNESDAY, MARCH 16: Captain Amon B. King and some 15 of his command were executed today near Refugio by direct order of General Jose Urrea, commander of a large Mexican army moving north from Matamoros. They were captured yesterday morning after their powder had become wet and useless when they forded the Mission River the previous day.

Captain King was dispatched from Goliad by Colonel J.W. Fannin on March 10 to rescue some stranded families and bring back supplies. He succeeded in getting the families into the mission of Nuestra Senora del Refugio, but was surrounded and held there by a group of local Mexican rancheros. He got word out to Fannin, who sent Colonel William Ward with the Georgia Battalion to his rescue. The siege was raised on Sunday afternoon, March 13.

Although King was ordered back to Goliad, he insisted first on punishing the rancheros, and this led to his capture by Urrea's troops yesterday. They were marched eight miles back to Refugio, and were then being led out to be shot when a Mexican officer from Germany heard the German language being spoken by some of the prisoners. He marched them back and liberated those who spoke German, as well as some others.

The remaining prisoners were

Chandler speaks on farm programs

Martin Chandler, executive director of the ASCS office in Farwell, spoke on the new farm program March 3 and 4 at county meetings.

The farmers and ranchers are now approved for a hay and grazing program for a seven month period, he said.

The government has changed the computation formula for figuring the crop basis used in the ASCS program, which did delay sign up that was due to start March 3 said Chandler.

Concerning the farm program's 10 year CRP program, farmers may put certain erodable land in this program on a 10 year basis, but the land has to be highly erodable.

Signup for this program is March 3-14. The ASCS is working closely with the Soil Conservation Service to see what land qualifies.

Overall, the 1986 farm program is not all that much different as small farmers are concerned. However a big difference is the $50,000 limitation (per person) included in the new program, which will affect all farmers in the mid-size to large farms.

Trotters win tourney opener

In the opening round of the Play, Inc., basketball tournament, the Trotters defeated the Cubs, 23-11. Scoring for the Trotters were Tyron Gooden, 10; Corey Horner, 7; Clyde Jenkins, 4, and Nash Armstrong, 2.

Before the tourney began, two practice games were played. Here are the results:

Wolves 30, Bullets, 29. Scoring for the Wolves were Pepe Gonzalez, 13; Matthew Williams, 6; Kelvin Gooden and Jon Crouch, 3; Louie Delgado and Stephen Horner, 2, and Chad Dunsworth, 1.

Wolverines 32, Cowboys 29. Scoring for the Wolverines were William Edwards 12; Ricky Hernandez 11; Fabian Garcia 6, and Greg Akers 3.

again led out today, and this time they were shot. A traveller who reached Goliad reports that he saw the bodies "stripped of their garments, denied the privilege of burial, and left as food for the loathsome vulture and the ravenous wolf."

General Urrea left Matamoros on February 17 with about 1,000 men, including 320 infantry, 330 cavalry, and one 4-pound cannon. He apparently had full intelligence of the Texian troops assembled for the proposed invasion of Matamoros, consisting of some 480 men under Colonel Fannin at Goliad, and 97 under Dr. James Grant at San Patricio. Grant started with 200, but lost many of his men for various reasons, mostly dissatisfaction with his command.

The two officers were having difficulties determining how to move their forces some 200 miles southward to Matamoros, over the barren land known to the Mexicans as El Desierto Muerto, the dead desert, and to the Americans as the Wild Horse Desert, because of the wild mustangs there. Colonel Fannin originally hoped to obtain ships to move his army, but was unable to do so. He then requested Grant's contingent to round up as many of the wild horses as possible.

Grant and Major Robert Morris of the New Orleans Greys led some 50 men into the desert for this purpose, and to confiscate any horses they could find on the few Mexican ranchos in the area. Some 40 or more remained at San Patricio under Colonel Frank Johnson. On the night of February 27, the San Patricio contingent was surprised by Urrea's troops and all were killed, except for Johnson and one other man, who managed to escape toward Goliad.

The Mexicans were fully aware of Grant and Morris' contingent, and set out to find them. They were located on March 2 at a creek called Agua Dulce, surrounded, and all were killed except three who escaped.

General Urrea is now said to be approaching Goliad, where Fannin has been strengthening the La Bahia fort, which he has renamed Fort Defiance. However, he is under orders from General Sam Houston to blow up the fort and fall back to Victoria, taking with him such artillery as he can move, and sinking the rest in the river. The order says: "The immediate advance of the enemy may be confidently expected, as well as a rise of high water. Prompt movements are therefore highly important." Colonel Fannin is delaying execution of the order until the return of Colonel Ward and Captain King; word of the disasters which have befallen them has not yet reached Goliad.

General Houston has been headquartered at Gonzales, but fell back to the Colorado River yesterday after receiving word that the enemy was approaching. He burned Gonzales to the ground. His force at present consists only of about 374 untrained men, many without guns or without ammunition, and with only about two days' provisions. However, new recruits are joining daily, coming in from all over the United States. He is convinced that "by falling back, Texas can rally and defeat any force that can come against her." He believes that Santa Anna himself has probably returned to Mexico, and laments the fact that the Alamo was not blown up as he directed in his order of January 17. "It was prevented by the expedition upon Matamoros," he says, "the author of all our misfortunes."

Meet the Wolverines

Three Texico basketball players were chosen. From left, Tracey Askew is a 5'9" freshman. She plays post position. "She transferred from Dallas. She has improved more than anyone on the team. She is an excellent shot blocker on defense. She really works on the turn-around jumpers," said Coach Roy King. Stan Cross is a senior and plays guard. "He handles the ball most of the time for the basketball team. He is looked upon for leadership on the court while directing the offense," said Borde Williams. Leslie Steward is a 5'3" freshman. She plays point guard and wing. "She is probably the quickest player on the team. She is an excellent ball handler and passer. She is an excellent defensive player," said King. She is the daughter of Mrs. Alma Maxwell.

Texico boys fall in playoffs

The Texico varsity boys basketball team gave it a good shot but fell in the district 6A basketball playoffs.

After winning their first-round game against Dora, 51-49, the Wolverines were stopped by Tatum, 68-49 March 7.

Texico finished with an 11-14 record.

Against Tatum, Coach Borde Williams said Texico wasn't able to handle the press well enough throughout the game.

"When we did get opportunities, we didn't take advantage of them," said Williams. "If we could have been more consistent throughout the year it would have helped."

Scoring for Texico were Marlin Carpenter, 21; Mark Meeks, 11; John Thomas, 12; David Loera, 3, and Stan Cross, 2.

On March 5, Texico had nipped

Being safe

If there is a stranger at your door:
 -Never indicate that you are home alone. As you go to the door, yell out "I'll get it..." Use a name of your choice, if you wish.
 -Use your peephole or wide-view screen.

-Don't open the door to anyone you do not know without first verifying that person's identity. This includes police, repair or delivery persons, salespersons, and political or charity volunteers. Ask to see their identification. If you have any doubts about the person, call the company or agency the person claims to represent and check the person's identity and purpose.

-Don't open the door to a stranger requesting help or use of your telephone (even for emergency automobile assistance). Offer to make the calls yourself while the person waits outside.

May 22 to be make-up day

The Texico School Board had the high school and grade school principals report to the board about the school year.

Bids were opened on property insurance. They received bids on boiler insurance, but not on liability and extended coverage on buildings. The board will have to work with Risk Management for liability insurance.

Both principals were offered contracts for 1986-87.

The make-up day for snow will be May 22.

Cemetery records researched

The Farwell High sociology class is involved in a project concerning the Olivet Cemetery.

It is located 2 1/2 miles south of Farwell.

There are two main goals in the project. The first goal is to clean it up. The other is to finish mapping the cemetery. The mapping was started a few years ago. It has become overgrown and the tombstones are not readable.

Chris Aycock, a member of the Scout Troop 200, has taken on the task of cleaning up this relic of Farwell. He is doing this job to earn his Eagle Award. The troop is lending support and help.

The sociology class is helping clean up, too. The class is searching for information of names, birthdates and records.

Any information would be appreciated. Please call the school, the sociology class or Mrs. Franse.

$127,500 awarded to Bovina residents

A federal jury Tuesday awarded $127,500 damages to two plaintiffs in a civil rights trial charging Bovina and Parmer County officials with misconduct, according to the Amarillo Daily News.

The News said the damages were awarded to Carrie Melear, and Willie Stewart, both of Bovina.

Defendants are Parmer County Pct. 3 Justice of the Peace Wayne Spears, then Parmer County Sheriff's Deputy Ron Avirett, then Bovina Police Chief Rodney Bachman and then Bovina Police Officer Mel Clark.

Bovina and Parmer County, originally defendants, were removed from the suit Monday when the judge approved dismissal motions by their attorneys.

At first, the jury had awarded damages to two other plaintiffs, Eusebio Salazar and Craig Pearson but these awards were nullified for legal reasons.

The jury's decision still must be approved by the judge. Also, the jury was asked to decide percent of blame for constitutional violations with regard to each of the defendants. This was:

For violations of Mrs. Melear's rights: Spears, 60 percent; Bachman, 30 percent; Avirett, 9 percent, and Clark, 1 percent.

For Stewart: Bachman, 50 percent; Clark and Avirett, 24.5 percent, and Spears, 1 percent.

For Pearson: Bachman, 75 percent; Clark, 15 percent; Spears, 9 percent, and Avirett, 1 percent.

For Salazar: all defendants, 25 percent.

Bovina apartments were searched May 10, 1984, when the defendants were looking for a suspect. The plaintiffs said their constitutional rights were violated due to illegal searches and detentions.

The Farwell sociology class is working on Sesquicentennial themes. They are involved in preserving past composites of Farwell grad-

Donations asked for multiplex

The Farwell High sociology class is working on a project to preserve the pictures of past school seniors from deterioration.

Many of the old photos are either falling apart or are being lost. So the class has been working on a project to have a "graduate multiplex," which would safeguard these photos.

The cost of a multiplex is $800 and $100 has been collected so far. Persons wishing to donate may contact Farwell High or any sociology class member.

Businessman Director to be elected

Parmer County cotton producers and agribusinessmen will elect a businessman director to Plains Cotton Growers, Inc. at a 9 a.m. breakfast meeting March 25 in Luce's Restaurant, Texico.

Announcement of the election comes from Bert Williams of Farwell, Parmer County producer director to the 25-county cotton organization, and Donald Christian, also of Farwell, current businessman director.

Each county in PCG territory has two directors, one a businessman and the other a cotton producer. They are elected on alternate years for two-year terms. Each is eligible for re-election every second year.

All producers and businessmen are invited to the meeting. However, under PCG By-Laws, only current dues-paying members of PCG will be eligible to be elected a director or to vote in the election.

Farwell Convalescent Center Chit Chat

By Lynne Gann
Activity Director

Grandma was such a beautiful lady. Long beautiful soft gray hair, she rolled into a bun every morning. Braided each night.

A quick smile, a twinkle in her eyes when we grandchildren came to visit. Always a cookie with milk for treats made with love for us, her special Angels. We spent hours listening to Grandma tell about the good ole days when she and grandpa moved to this part of the country. She made our childhood a time of beautiful memories.

We grew up and married - some moving away. Childhood memories put aside because our lives were filled with our own children, jobs, groceries, laundry, PTA, so full, so busy.

It was 2 a.m. when the phone rang. Grandma had had a stroke and was in the hospital. How tiny she looked, so pale. Please God let her live!

Our prayers were answered. Grandma is better, but we can't take care of her at home. What's the answer? A nursing home, sitters? How can we do this to our Granny? She gave so much to us. How can we put her some where? Why can't I stop these tears?

At our Doctor's request we looked at several nursing homes. Everyone so foreign to our idea of home. Finally we decided on one and the day arrived to take Grandma.

Lord, help me I can't stand it! We can't. A gentle elderly lady walked up to us and smiled. "Dear, I know how you feel. My children felt the same. Please! Don't feel guilt. When you love someone enough to overcome your wants and do what is best for them - that's love.

New 915
WAC 915 matures in 115 days. It has an extremely impressive record in state and county agent trials, from south Texas to Colorado and Kansas. 915 will perform well where 115 to 120 day corn is used under both irrigated and dryland conditions. It has semi-upright leaves, resistance to head smut and downy mildew. It is a single-cross hybrid that has a strong stalk, fast dry down and excellent test weight grain.

Chamber backs questionnaire

The Texico Chamber of Commerce decided Monday to ask the City Council to send out a questionnaire to city residents asking their views on a proposed Neighborhood Watch program for the community.

Chamber Secretary Ann Cooper had volunteered at last week's Twin City Neighborhood Watch meeting to chair a Texico program. At that meeting, several Texico residents told Mrs. Cooper they were willing to be block captains.

Before the Farwell program was reactivated, questionnaires were sent Farwell residents soliciting their views and asking if residents would serve as block captains. According to City Clerk Janie Bowery, the response was excellent.

Farwell Watch chairman Frances Kube planned to begin working on setting up block captains this week.

Mrs. Cooper also will participate.

Mrs. Cooper noted that more donations were made to pay for the Christmas lighting project. They arrived from Sharp Dragline, Helton Oil and the Texico-Farwell Senior Citizens.

All told, $2,175 was donated for the new lights that were placed along the highway last December. The lights cost $2,387.

The Chamber voted to donate $50 for the Boys' and Girls' State Delegates at Texico High.

Absentee voting

Absentee voting for the Lazbuddie School Board election will run from March 17 to April 1. Polls will be open from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. weekdays at the Lazbuddie superintendent's office.

Anthony reimbursed

The Parmer County Commissioners reimbursed Commission President Ernest Anthony almost $2,000 for personal money he had spent in an emergency situation.

Here's how it was explained by County Judge Porter Roberts:

On his way to the Houston Livestock Show last week, an engine blew in the Parmer County Agent's pickup truck. It was towed to a shop in Brenham, Texas, where a new engine was installed.

The shop's policy was for customers to pay in cash. Fortunately, Anthony was participating in a seminar at College Station, Texas, at the time, along with Roberts and commissioners Robert White and Ray McGehee. So Roberts took Anthony's personal check to Brenham so the pickup could be released.

And this week, Anthony was reimbursed for his assistance.

In other business, the commissioners:

--Agreed to carpet the district clerk's office and to repair the district judge's restroom.

--Agreed to advertise for a pickup truck for Pct. 4.

--Agreed to pay for one office call and one shot, if needed, for an indigent Parmer County resident seeing a Muleshoe physician, with the stipulation that this was the last time the commissioners would be asked for financial help by that person for medical care.

CAPITOL FOODS

Locally speaking, we have it pretty good. Most of our people are healthy and make a comfortable living. Our families are involved in community activities and we have many friends and few enemies. The time we spend in leisure is long and filled with entertainment. It seems that all of our needs are met and few of our wants go unfulfilled.

Yet we all still have a common problem. Sheltered as we are from death, it seldom enters our minds. But the statistics on death are quite alarming; one out of every one people dies.

The Good News to the world is Jesus for he has overcome death. Make plans now to come and hear the Good News.
