

One Dead As New Tornado Hits E. Texas

By The Associated Press
Violent, twisting winds smashed two little communities late Saturday in a deadly continuation of a disastrous week of monster storms that killed at least 128 persons in Texas.

A tornado ripped into Wesley Chapel and twisting winds battered Porter Springs, both in East Texas near Crockett in Houston County.

The threat of more tornadoes—and serious floods—hung over parts of Texas.

Killed when the tornado slammed into Wesley Chapel in mid-afternoon was J. R. Rawls, 80. His home was demolished. His body was found 400 yards away.

Tornadoes Monday killed at least 113 persons at Waco and 10 at San Angelo.

One woman was killed in an automobile accident during a rainstorm Friday. Saturday a Negro boy drowned having a white boy from a rain-swollen Trinity River diversion channel at Dallas.

Five persons were injured, none seriously, at Wesley Chapel. Three persons were hospitalized by the violent winds that hit Porter Springs. Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Cook suffered cuts and bruises. Their daughter, Margaret Faye, 14, was more seriously hurt.

The tornado smashed a school for white children and several homes. It hit after the violent winds had ripped apart a Negro high school and several homes at Porter Springs.

Power and communication lines were snapped. Giant trees were crumpled and the highway between Crockett and Palestine was flooded from more than an inch and a half of rain in a little over two hours.

An Army engineer spokesman warned minor floods could become

Ackerly Gets Heavy Rainfall And Hail

Ackerly reported 1.5 inches of rain yesterday accompanied by a heavy hail. The hail stones were described as small and no damage was reported.

Apparently this rain lessened in all directions within a few miles of Ackerly. Lamesa reported .25, Goli 25, Stanton only a slight sprinkle, and Coahoma a light shower.

Saturday's rain in Big Spring, as measured at the Weather Bureau Station, was .16.

COLORADO CITY — This area received showers totaling .57-inch Saturday, bringing the total for the week to .97.

Reviewing The Big Spring Week With Joe Pickle

This area did not fare as well as others last week, in the matter of moisture—but neither did it suffer tragedy as did San Angelo and Waco. The spirit of the good neighbor has been asserting itself in fine fashion, as local folk gave generously of money, clothing and other items to help those in distress. The Disaster Relief Fund very probably will go well over $2,000.

"Unusual" weather was getting rather usual. There was a low of 40 degrees Wednesday, and by Saturday afternoon it was beginning to feel like real summer again.

One of the major events was Armed Forces Day. The people at Webb Air Force Base put forth a mighty effort to help demonstrate that they are a part of the community, and that their mission is bound up tightly with the welfare of the nation. The program continues with the laying of a bronze tablet this afternoon at the base of the WAFB flagpole.

The Friday paper about the Webb anniversary had an item of significance that might have escaped your attention. It was the one reporting that some $6,000,000 is due to be spent at the Base during the government fiscal year ending June 30, 1954. This is important news.

Another item on the commercial front was the setting of a date—May 26—for public hearing on the new paving project. This is a major affair, with 183 blocks to be surfaced. Many gaps will be closed, to the everlasting pleasure of everyone concerned.

And there may be an oil well in the making right in our own backyard. The Cosden Crawford prospector, out by the refinery, had some encouraging shows.

More welcome news was the announcement that dial telephones actually come into operation—serious if any great amount of rain falls in the already soaked sections.

Violent rainstorms whipped East Texas late Saturday. At Marshall, 1.26 inches of rain fell in half an hour to flood streets and bring the total rainfall since last Sunday morning to 7.03 inches.

An estimated two inches was dumped on Nacogdoches in 20 minutes, washing out repair work on streets damaged by Monday's cloudburst. Highway 21 was reported flooded at a point 18 miles west of Nacogdoches Saturday night.

At Alto in Cherokee County, an estimated four inches fell in two hours. A high wind that accompanied the rainstorm knocked down trees, television aerials and flattened chicken houses.

A wide section of Texas—even the hazy Panhandle cities of Dalhart, Amarillo and Lubbock—received rain Saturday. But by Saturday night, the western half of the state was generally clear.

Movie Benefit Slated To Help Twister Victims

A special motion picture benefit for tornado victims of San Angelo (will be presented at the Ritz Theatre) next Saturday night at 11:30.

Ike Robb of the Big Spring Theatre said his group is joining other Texas theatres in special benefits for the storm sufferers, and that entire proceeds from the midnight show will be turned into the local Disaster Relief Fund for transmittal to proper authorities in San Angelo. Tickets for the show will be 75 cents.

Meanwhile generous contributions continued to come in to the local Relief Fund, so that Saturday it was approaching $2,000. The actual total was $1,825.76, with $123.30 tabulated Saturday. A gift from J. D. Barron was reported erroneously in the paper as $5, when it should have read $10.

The Herald will continue to accept gifts for a few days, but prompt action is requested. Checks should be made to DISASTER RELIEF FUND, and may be sent to The Herald, to the Red Cross or to Ira Thurman at the First National Bank. Persons may designate whether gifts should go to Waco or San Angelo, and such instructions will be followed.

COOLING OFF IGNITES RAGE

LEEDS, England, May 16 (AP)—Edna Hillingworth, 32, was granted a divorce today after she told the court her husband, Richard, 37, had once tied her up in the cellar with her hands hooked to a nail above her head, and had poured water over her head "to cool her off."

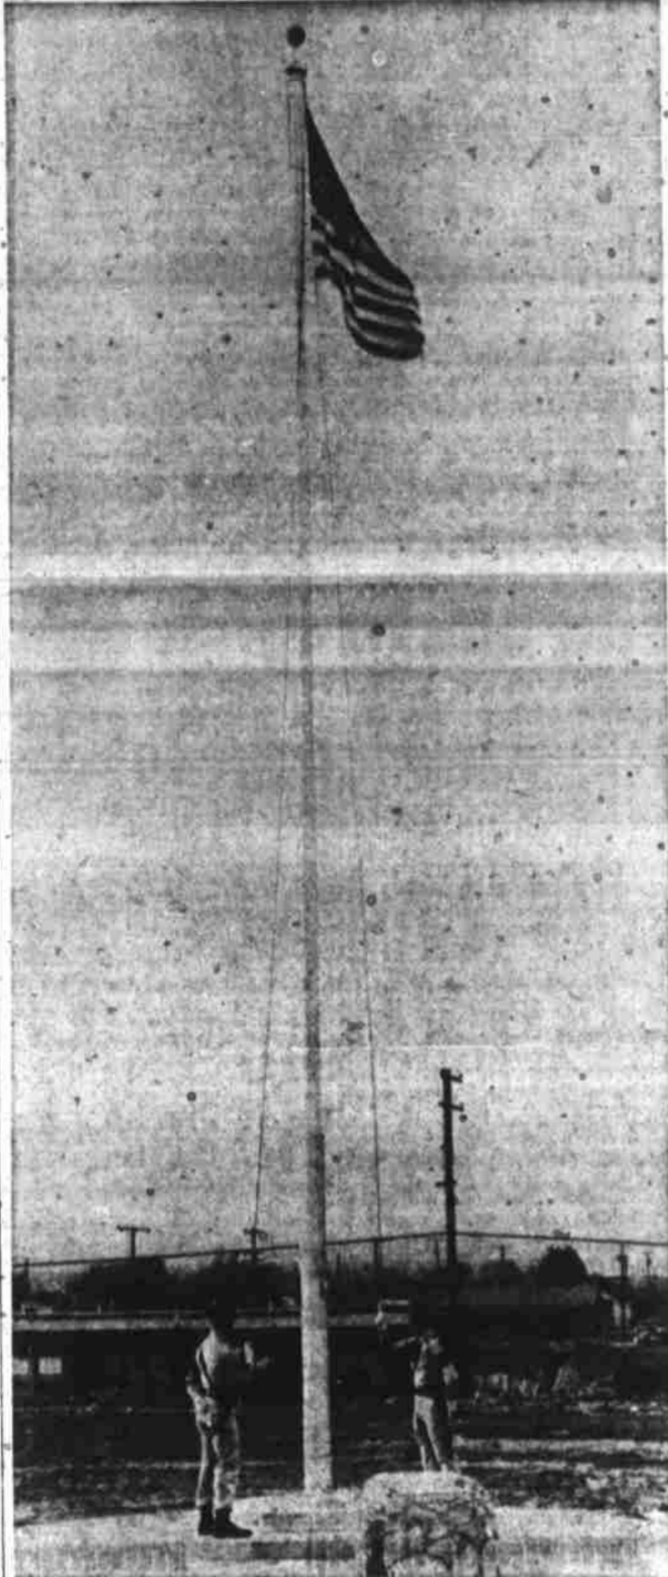

Waco Readies Plans To Rebuild District Devastated By Twister

WACO, May 16 (AP)—Plans were laid today for raising an ultra-modern business center from the rubble of Monday's death-dealing tornado.

Leaders approved as work continued in clearing away debris from the storm that took 113 lives, injured more than 500 and blasted into bits 50 million dollars worth of property.

For the first time since the tornado struck, a bright sun shone today on the weary city. More than nine inches of rain fell during the week.

A steady stream of funeral processions kept the atmosphere somber.

Old Glory Over Memorial

S-Sgt. Thomas W. Taylor and A-1c Eusebio Manzano raise the Stars and Stripes in front of Wing Headquarters at Webb Air Force Base. In the foreground is the Lt. James Louis Webb Memorial Marker on which a bronze plaque, presented by the citizens of Big Spring, will be placed this afternoon. A brief program observing first anniversary of the dedication of Webb AFB will be held near the site, starting at 2 p.m.

PLAQUE TO BE PRESENTED

Webb Base To Note First Anniversary

Webb Air Force Base and Big Spring shift from Armed Forces Day to observance of the first anniversary of the dedication of the field today.

Formal ceremonies in note of the anniversary start at 2 p. m. in front of Wing Headquarters, near the main gate to WAFB.

Highlight of the program will be introduction of Mrs. Rilla Webb, mother of Lt. James Louis Webb Jr., for whom the field was named, and presentation of a memorial plaque from the citizens of Big Spring.

However, gates of the air base will swing open to the public again at noon today and for two hours area residents will have another opportunity to inspect the flight line exhibits set up for Armed Forces Day Saturday.

Mayor G. W. Dabney is to make a brief talk at 2 p. m. and present the bronze tablet for the memorial marker near the base flagpole.

Presented by Big Spring citizens, the plaque reads: "Wing Headquarters, Webb Air Force Base, Dedicated 18 May, 1952, in Honor of First Lieutenant James Louis Webb Jr., Killed in the Service of His Country 16 June 1949. Presented by the Citizens of Big Spring."

Lettering is raised on the flat bronze tablet which bears the shield of the Air Training Command and Webb Air Force Base.

Col. Ernest F. Wackwitz Jr., WAFB commanding officer, will accept the plaque for the base. The Webb AF Band will play the Air Force Song and the Star Spangled Banner, and then Mrs. Webb will be introduced to the audience.

Following the dedication program, the Webb 509th Band will be presented in concert in the amphitheatre at City Park.

Concert, to feature the band, the Skyliners and the WAFB Glee Club, will start at 3:30 and continue to 5 p. m.

Program will include "Hall of Fame March"; a selection from the stage musical, "South Pacific"; "Aguero," a Spanish march; "TV Suite," a parody on modern television shows; "Serenata," "Band of America," and other numbers by the band.

The Glee Club will present "Inte-grer Vrae." "Stars of the Summer 1952." See WEBB, Pg. 6, Col. 5

U. S. May Lift Bans On Czechs As Oatis Freed

Harrison Flies To Tokyo; Truce Talks Bog Down

By GEORGE A. MCARTHUR MUNSAN, Sunday, May 17 (AP)—

The top United Nations truce negotiator flies to Tokyo today for high-level conferences with Gen. Mark W. Clark, Allied Far East commander, at the start of a three-day recess in the bogged Korean armistice talks.

Lt. Gen. William K. Harrison Jr., senior Allied delegate at Panmunjom asked for the recess Saturday for "administrative reasons."

He declined to elaborate nor would the U. N. Command say whether the recess was dictated by higher authority.

However, the recess and sudden conference with Clark indicated top-level governmental conferences probably were under way on "fundamental" differences with the Communists on handling the exchange of war prisoners.

Differing statements in recent days from leaders in Britain and India—and from the U. S. State Department may have caused the United States to ask for a truce breathing spell to decide firmly the United Nations path.

The negotiations will resume Wednesday and any new Allied tack revealed then doubtless would still leave the one major U. N. position—that no Korean War prisoner be forced to return home against his will.

Clark personally flew from Tokyo with the latest Allied counter-proposal on prisoner exchange earlier in the week. After consultations with President-Syngman Rhee, president of the Republic of Korea and the U. N. negotiators staff, the Allied counter plan was unfolded.

It met in part strenuous South Korean objections to an armistice which failed to unify the country.

The Allied counter-proposal called for an on-the-spot release of 34,000 North Korean prisoners who have said they would resist return to Communist rule. Only 14,500 Chinese prisoners would be turned over to the custody of a five-nation neutral commission for 60 days.

Then it still refusing repatriation the Chinese also would be eligible for release.

Angrily North Korean Gen. Nam Il, head of the Communist truce team, turned down the proposal Thursday as "absurd" and declared it destroyed the basis of negotiations.

Hvasta Release Is Now Being Sought

NEWARK, N. J., May 16 (AP)—An appeal by cable and telephone for the release of John Hvasta of Hillside, N. J., was made by his family to the President of Czechoslovakia today.

The appeal was made after it was learned that Associated Press Correspondent William Oatis had been released from a Czech prison.

Hvasta's brother Steve, a 23-year-old student, made the phone call from the office of the Newark Star-Ledger. The call got all the way through to the office of Antonin Zapotocky, the Czech President, but a secretary said he was not in.

He asked if Hvasta would care to call again. Young Steve said he would try again at 8 a. m. Monday.

At the same time a cable was sent to Zapotocky appealing for the release of 26-year-old John, who was arrested almost five years ago and sentenced to 10 years in prison on espionage charges. He was working in the U. S. consulate in Prague at the time.

7,000 Attend Rites At Laughlin Air Base

DEL RIO, May 16 (AP)—Approximately 7,000 persons attended re-dedication services for Laughlin AFB here today, Rep. O. C. Fisher, San Angelo, was the principal speaker.

The base, used during World War II to train bomber crews, was recently re-activated to train jet pilots.

THE WEATHER

Big Spring and vicinity cloudy to cloudy with scattered thunder-showers late this evening. Monday is a fairly cloudy day with a little cooler. High today 78, low tonight 60, high tomorrow 74. Highest temperature this date 103 in 1917, lowest this date 46 in 1918, maximum rainfall this date 1.31 in 1926.

WILLIAM OATIS

Oatis Treated Well By Reds

By DON DOANE NUERNBERG, Germany, May 16 (AP)—Thin and pale, Reporter William Nathan Oatis returned to the free world today from Czechoslovakia's Pankrac Prison, where for two years he was so cut off from outside news that "I did not even know Stalin had died."

Stalin's picture "was still on the wall," the AP correspondent told about 100 reporters and photographers after driving through the Iron Curtain frontier under escort of officials from the U. S. Embassy in Prague.

JAILED because Czechoslovak leaders considered as spying his insistence on reporting accurately about their Communist regime, he was pardoned by President Antonin Zapotocky last night and was released this morning.

Bolstered by a fresh shave, a haircut and a hearty meal, the 39-year-old Hoosier led the news conference in the ballroom of the Hotel Grand, a structure requisitioned by the U. S. Army.

He said he was not "subjected to terrorism or mistreatment" by the Czech Communists and his treatment in general was good. He was in the prison hospital for a month for treatment of tuberculosis and said the disease disappeared. He reported he is "feeling great now."

"I am glad to be out of prison," Oatis said with a smile. "And I am thankful to all who helped me get out."

By President Zapotocky's announcement, the pardon was the result of a poignant letter from Oatis's wife, Laurabelle, who lives in St. Paul, Minn. Oatis is expected to return within a day or two to the United States for a reunion with hers.

But Oatis declined to discuss his trial on charges of espionage, or his 10-year sentence; denounced by the U. S. State Department as a traitor of justice.

Asked by a reporter for the Voice of America radio network to "say a few words regarding your innocence and the methods by which your confession was obtained," Oatis said:

"I would rather let the record of the trial speak for itself as to the case. As to the methods used in investigating my case, I can say they were efficient and adequate."

"Were you subjected to open terror?"

"No, I was not."

"Lifting Of Rent Lids Here Sought"

The lifting of all rent controls in the Howard County Defense Rental Area effective June 1, has been asked in a resolution approved last night by the area's rent advisory board.

Tom Adams, local rent administrator, said he approved the board's action.

Members of the board attending the meeting were H. L. Shirley, chairman; J. D. Elliott, W. D. Berry and William R. Dawes.

The resolution will be forwarded to the Office of Rent Stabilization in Washington, Adams said, and cannot become effective unless and until it is approved there. He said he did not know what action might be taken there.

But, he emphasized, controls will remain effective here until lifted by the Washington authority.

Oilman Is Given Fine DALLAS, May 16 (AP)—Dallas oilman James Burt Stoddard was fined $30,000 by Federal Judge T. Whitfield Davidson today after he pleaded no contest to government charges of almost $100,000 in income tax evasion.

Washington Hails Writer's Release

WASHINGTON, May 16 (AP)—The State Department indicated today that trade and travel restrictions imposed on Communist Czechoslovakia as a result of the imprisonment of AP Correspondent William Oatis will be lifted, now that Oatis has been freed.

Official Washington hailed the American reporter's release as welcome news, but there was disagreement in congressional quarters as to whether it marked any significant turn in the cold war.

President Eisenhower, cruising off Virginia aboard the yacht Williamsburg, was quoted by his press secretary, James C. Hagerty, as being "highly pleased" about the news of Oatis' release.

A State Department statement said: "The department of course, is greatly pleased by the release of Mr. Oatis from the incarceration which this government felt from the outset was a gross injustice."

"We have imposed certain sanctions as a result of Oatis' imprisonment. With his release we are now in position to give consideration to the removal of those restrictions."

The restrictions were these: 1. A barrier to Czech exports to the United States, which had been running as high as 20 million dollars a year.

2. A ban on all exports from the United States to Czechoslovakia.

3. A policy against travel to Czechoslovakia by any American not on essential official business.

4. A ban against flights of Czech commercial planes over the U. S. zone of Germany. With British and French co-operation, this cut off Czech flights over all of West Germany.

White said, however, that "there wasn't any deal" on the part of this government for Oatis' release. He noted that Czech President Zapotocky's action in pardoning the American reporter was attributed to a letter written by Mrs. Oatis.

At Bonn, German officials said Czechoslovakia can now expect the return of an airliner commandeered by a group of anti-Communist Czechs and flown to West Germany March 23. Six of the 29 people aboard the plane chose to remain in the West, while the others were sent back. The plane itself was held for negotiations on what American diplomats called "unsettled questions."

While Congress members welcomed the Oatis release, few saw in it any real indication of a change in Communist tactics. Senators generally appeared inclined to go along with the State Department in considering the removal of the economic sanctions.

Sen. Wiley (R-Wis.), chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, declaring Oatis' release "by no means should be considered a so-called 'break' in the cold war," opposed the lifting of trade restrictions. He said:

"The Communists, no doubt, hope that we will foolishly use Mr. Oatis' release to relax trade restrictions on the Czechoslovak Communist government. I do not believe we should do any such thing."

"I do not believe that we should reward in effect a government for having corrected its outrageous crime two years after committing the crime and without it even having the decency to acknowledge that it was strictly a trumped-up crime."

Bloodmobile Due To Return May 25, 26; Donors Sought

Turn to page 7 of today's Herald and read "Your Son—And My Blood."

You can do your part to help save a military man's life. You can donate a pint of blood. A Red Cross Bloodmobile returns to Big Spring May 25 and 26, to collect blood at the First Presbyterian Church from noon to 6 p. m. on each of the two days. A quota of 300 pints is sought.

A considerable number of donor cards have been received at the Red Cross, principally through contacts with various civic and service organizations.

But many more are needed, and Doug Orme, Red Cross chapter chairman, Saturday urged the public to make use of the coupon which appears in The Herald.

"Simply clip and mail these to the Red Cross, and you will receive in return a card designating the hour you are to appear," said Orme. Or, volunteers simply may call the Red Cross, Phone 256.

"The need is urgent, and wide response is essential. We have not failed in our goals on two prior visits of the Bloodmobile, and surely we will not fail this time."

"Doctors and nurses will be in attendance, and a brief medical history will be taken from each donor. If there is the slightest question of physical condition, no blood will be taken."

Blood Donor Pledge

(Donations received at the First Presbyterian Church in Big Spring from 12-noon to 6 p. m. on Monday and Tuesday, May 25 and 26. Please send this card to the Red Cross, P.O. Box 628, Big Spring, Texas.)

I am happy to offer a pint of blood for our Armed Forces.

Only the "presence, leadership and assistance of the United States," it added, prevents NATO "from becoming hopelessly bogged down."

The five-member group, after a two weeks' tour of France and Italy, recommended that "all foreign aid programs should be reviewed and evaluated" to determine if "they contribute materially to the defense of the United States."

Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, European commander, and his air chief, Gen. Lauris Norstad, were quoted as saying their "most immediate and pressing problem" is building up "stocks on the ground, particularly of (petroleum, oil and lubricants) and ammunition large enough to sustain operations of the minimum stocks should be sufficient for 90 days' combat, the report said, adding:

"Canadian Air Vice Marshal Plant of Gen. Norstad's staff said that here are no stocks on the ground, and nothing is being done to build them up."

BIRD'S NEST RINGS A BELL

TROY, N. Y., May 16 (AP)—The big bell on St. Joseph's Roman Catholic Church started tolling early today and kept it up for an hour.

Continued tolling at an odd hour, generally is the signal of a priest's death.

But the pastor, the Rev. James Nolan, was alive and well. He called an electrician, who climbed to the bell-tower, opened the relay control box and found a bird's nest built across the relay points.

The weight of the nest had closed the circuit and started the bell ringing. No bird was around.

Supplies Sought For San Angelo Twister Victims

The San Angelo Salvation Army headquarters has issued a call for beds, springs, mattresses, chest drawers, tables, chairs, and stoves. This was the report made Saturday by Lt. and Mrs. Robert Hall, who head up the Big Spring Salvation Army post.

The appeal for contributions came to Big Spring in the form of a telegram Saturday. Lt. Hall stated that he will accept all donations at his office here.

Officials from the Big Spring post will return to San Angelo Monday at 4 p.m. and intend to take all contributions possible with them. Lt. and Mrs. Hall will be accompanied by members of the Girl Guard.

The girls were to have had a banquet Monday night commemorating their anniversary. They decided to go to San Angelo and help sort clothing for the needy instead.

Lt. and Mrs. Hall returned from San Angelo Wednesday after helping during the first hours of the disaster. Mrs. Hall stated that meals were provided for the National Guardsmen and airmen from Goodfellow Field who were on duty in the destroyed area.

Through Saturday the San Angelo post of the Salvation Army had served more than 10,000 meals to the needy, Hall said. A roving canteen moves about the area to feed people working there.

Webb's Pilot Training Group Puts On Show

Things were set for a big show Saturday. And Webb's 3500th Pilot Training Group were the star performers.

If the taxpayers were looking for their money's worth of trained pilots and aerial equipment during Armed Forces Day at Webb AFB, they found a full measure, because the Pilot Training Group came through despite a blanket of angry thunderstorms over most of West Texas.

The spectacular show of aerial might and precision began Friday afternoon and again at 8 a.m. Saturday when the air was filled with the staccato exhausts of T-33 trainers and the snarl and whine of the T-33 jets as more than 50 Webb aircraft departed for as many cities to remain on display at airports throughout the day.

Of the 50 airplanes, which headed for airports all over Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma, only two planes were forced to return to Webb because of bad weather.

And, although most flights were cancelled Saturday afternoon due to thunderstorm which drenched Big Spring, the first silvery flight of eight T-33 jets, led by Maj. William Kerr, got off on schedule at 10:45 a.m. The flight covered a 430-mile route and returned in exactly one hour and two minutes.

The smoothness, exactness and skill exhibited by the pilots Saturday was the result of long, hard work and of demands upon mental and physical abilities far above those required in most professions.

Key man in Webb's Pilot Training Group, which has graduated more than 600 fighter pilots during the past year, is Lt. Col. James A. Wilson, group commanding officer.

Col. Wilson is an old-timer by Air Force standards. He has served continuously with the Air Force since 1940. And, although a youngster in years, the colonel is a senior pilot who has logged a total of nearly 3,000 hours in the air.

Coming to Webb from Williams Air Force Base, Arizona, where he has held the post of Pilot Training Group executive officer, Col. Wilson has skippered Webb's PT Group since his arrival at Webb.

During World War II, the colonel, flew in the Alaskan theater before flying a tour as a fighter pilot in the Mediterranean area. In 1950-51 he served as a military adviser to the Belgian Air Force.

Assisting Col. Wilson with the complex flight and ground training of aviation cadets of 10 nations are a group of old-time fighter pilots, all veterans of overseas service.

Maj. Walter C. Turner holds the executive officer's post in the Pilot Training Group.

The group's operations and training officer is Maj. Nolan L. Jones, who has been overseas three times. Under the group, in line of organization, are two squadrons, one

We're All Set, Says The Skipper

A thundershower prevented Lt. Col. James A. Wilson's flight of eight T-33 jets from making its scheduled cross-country formation flight Saturday. The colonel, who is commanding officer of Webb's Pilot Training Group, is in the cockpit. The officer on the detachable step is Maj. Richard K. Graham, flight section commanding officer, who scheduled all the flights out of Webb for Armed Forces Day. and the other for flight training. Maj. William Kerr commands the flight training squadron, and Maj. Jack Terzian commands the military training squadron.

At the rate of last year's program, Col. Wilson's Pilot Training Group will probably graduate more than 700 fighter pilots during the coming year. And each of these men will be assured the best and the most efficient training that money can buy.

Plane Jettisons Bombs Over Seoul

TOKYO, May 16 (AP)—Pacific Stars and Stripes said tonight an Air Force F84 Thunderjet jettisoned two 1,000-pound bombs over Seoul early yesterday, "barely" missing a tentful of Allied troops. The jet was returning low on fuel from a mission over North Korea.

Anti-U. S. Slogans Greet Dulles On Lebanon Arrival

BEIRUT, Lebanon, May 16 (AP)—Lebanese students and leftist demonstrators swarmed through Beirut today yelling anti-American slogans as John Foster Dulles searched here on his 20-day swing through India and the Middle East. The U. S. secretary of state was met by a Lebanese guard of honor as he crossed the border from Syria with his party. He was greeted by U. S. Ambassador Harold B. Minor and officials of the Lebanese Foreign Ministry.

As Dulles motored to the Presidential Palace to sign the visitors' book, he saw little evidence of the protest strikes and bitter anti-American feeling arising from Arab dissatisfaction with past United States support for Israel.

But elsewhere in the city more than 1,000 students shouting "Down with Dulles" marched from American University to Government House, where they were addressed by Prime Minister Saeb Salam. They carried the green and white flag of Arab national movement.

Later 50 demonstrators, identified by police as leftists, swarmed through the streets carrying banners denouncing Dulles. Twelve were arrested and eight injured slightly as police broke up the demonstration.

In a statement to reporters on his arrival, Dulles declared: "We are convinced that the friendly relations existing between our countries will be strengthened by this opportunity for a direct exchange of views."

He declared that "since it obtained independence, Lebanon has taken great steps forward both in the development of representative government and economic development."

Dulles met Premier Salam at the latter's home during the evening and later attended a dinner given by President Camille Chamoun.

Godfrey Condition Said Satisfactory

BOSTON, May 16 (AP)—The condition of radio-television star Arthur Godfrey—recovering from surgery to correct hip injuries suffered in an automobile crash 22 years ago—was described tonight by hospital officials as "satisfactory in every way."

The 49-year-old red-haired Godfrey suffered 27 fractures in 1931 when his car collided with a truck in Washington, D. C. The first of a series of operations was performed yesterday at Massachusetts General Hospital by Dr. Marius N. Smith-Petersen, international famous orthopedic surgeon.

Ghost Town To Live Again In Pilgrimage

VICTORIA, May 16 (AP)—Memories of Indiana, a ghost town once a thriving Texas seaport, will be re-lived tomorrow in a pilgrimage to the old townsite.

The program at 10:30 will be followed by a barbecue and tours to historic spots and cemeteries. Signs mark the route to Indianola, 15 miles south of Port Lavaca. Fire and storms destroyed the town late last century.

Cadillac
The next time you find yourself alongside a new Cadillac at the traffic light—take a good look at the gentleman behind the wheel.
The odds are overwhelming that you'll see a man relaxed and at ease.
For serenity is part and parcel of the great experience of driving a 1953 Cadillac. In fact, owners frequently take to the highway just for the relaxation the car provides.
And well they might. For here, beyond all question, is one of the surest therapeutics for the tension of work-a-day life!
Just sitting there in the driver's seat is enough to put a man at ease. The cushions are deep and luxurious and restful... the wheel is perfectly positioned for the driver's hands... and beauty and comfort and spaciousness are in every direction.
And driving a Cadillac is as restful as sitting in a Cadillac.
That great, powerful engine responds as if by magic... carrying the car in and out of traffic almost as quickly and as easily as the driver makes his decision to do so. Steering is feather-light and effortless... and braking calls only for the slightest pressure from the daintiest foot.
Of course, if the driver has chosen a Cadillac Air Conditioner* for his car, he refreshes as he relaxes. With a simple adjustment of a single lever, he can lower the car's interior to any normal temperature he desires—even in the warmest weather.
Yes, it's little wonder that the man in the Cadillac always looks so comfortable and happy and relaxed. In plain fact—he is!
Wouldn't it be wonderful to find such satisfaction in your own motoring? Of course it would—and that's why we suggest that you come in for a personal demonstration.
We'll gladly put you behind the wheel—for the most relaxing hour you ever spent on the highway.
*Optional at extra cost.

Nehru Statement Is Played Up By Soviets

MOSCOW, Sunday, May 17 (AP)—Pravda gave about a quarter of its front page today to a report on Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru's declaration on foreign affairs in Parliament. In his statement Nehru gave support to the latest Communist proposals at Panmunjom on Korean War prisoners.

Import Duties Up

LIMA, Peru, May 16 (AP)—The government today decreed a 50 per cent increase in import duties on about 300 imported items in order to cut down heavy imports.

Morrison Gets Promotion With USAF Reserve

Walton S. Morrison, city attorney, has been promoted to Major with the United States Air Force Reserve. He was formerly a captain.

A member of the Volunteer Air Reserve Training Squadron which meets in Big Spring, Morrison was promoted as a result of his activities in the reserve program.

Major Morrison served with the 20th Air Force as an intelligence officer in World War II. He is now a member of Flight C, 861st VART Squadron, USAF.

His squadron meets every Tuesday night at 7:30 p.m. at the City Hall. The unit, first organized four years ago with Major Al W. Dillon as commanding officer, has had more than 75 officers and airmen affiliated with it.

A number of the members have volunteered for active duty.

Many men have earned promotions from their activities in the local unit, including Major Jack Smith, present commander. Officers are Capt. R. C. Hendry, Lt. Charles L. Kee, Major W. S. Morrison, Capt. Howard Swain, Capt. Claire Nauman, and A-1C Sparky Beckham.

The Volunteer Air Reserve program provides an opportunity for interested reserve personnel to maintain value to the service and accrue promotion and retirement credit. All reserve airmen and officers are invited to attend meetings.

Korea Issues Are Problem On Formosa

By SPENCER MOOSA
TAIPEI, Sunday, May 17 (AP)—There are many signs here that Chiang Kai-shek's Chinese Nationalists are concerned over the possible effect on Formosa of international developments, particularly in Korea.

After T. F. Tatsang, chief Nationalist delegate to the United Nations, conferred twice Friday with Chiang, one newspaper said:

"It is learned that the main topic of discussion centered on the various urgent problems facing China which would face should an armistice be reached in Korea through appeasement by the United Nations. This typified the general sentiment here that only through appeasement is an armistice in Korea possible.

The Nationalists are acutely aware of two things:
1. Their position in the world hinges to a large degree on Washington's backing.
2. Great Britain and a number of other countries would have little or no compunction about sacrificing Formosa as part of an Asiatic settlement with the Communists. There has been no sign of any weakening in U. S. policy to give economic and military aid to the Nationalists. Military aid volume has increased since the beginning of the year.

MEN IN SERVICE

RAYMOND BLANKINSHIP

Raymond Blankinship, who is stationed at San Diego, California, is now back at his base after spending 28 days on leave visiting his parents in Forsan.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Blankinship and has been in the service since March, 1952. He left for San Diego on May 12.

Seaman Hugh W. Wilson and Bobby E. Wilson have been spending 30-day leaves here visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Morris Wilson, 1207 West Third. Next week they will report back to the USS Albatross. For their past eight months they have been serving aboard the ship in Korean waters.

Verner E. Cannon, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Cannon of Big Spring, is now serving aboard the attack transport USS Montrose in "Operation Seajump" off the coast of Southern California.

The operation is a large scale amphibious training exercise designed to improve the readiness of Naval and Marine forces of the Pacific Fleet.

Climax of the exercise will be a full scale land assault by amphibious forces against an "enemy" entrenched at Camp Pendleton.

ton, Oceanside, Calif. The assault will be supported by air units and helicopter landing attack forces. Cannon is an engineman third class.

Mack W. Gamble, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Gamble and husband of Mrs. Helen Ruth Gamble, 210 Mobile Street, recently graduated from the Ordnance Storage Specialist School at Aberdeen Proving Ground, Maryland.

He is now qualified to command units detailed to storing, issuing and transporting military supplies handled by the Army's Ordnance Corps. This includes almost everything used by an Army except food and clothing.

Before entering the service, Private Gamble was employed by Joseph T. Gamble as a painter.

Reds Ask Asylum

BERLIN, May 16 (AP)—More than 17,000 Soviet Zone refugees asked for asylum in West Berlin during the first half of May, West Berlin city officials said today.

Labor Unions Up Ranks In Four Years

WASHINGTON, May 16 (AP)—The Labor Department estimated today that labor unions have picked up anywhere from a half million to three million new members since 1949 to swell their enrollment to between 16 1/2 and 17 million.

The figures were given in the department's new Labor Union Directory, which placed AFL membership at a record 9 1/2 million and CIO membership at five million.

The directory estimated total union membership in the spring of 1952 at between 16 1/2 and 17 million. This compares with a 1949 estimate of between 14 and 16 million.

The figures indicate an estimated increase of one half million at the least, and three million at the most, during the three-year period.

Estimating union membership is a tricky business. The department based its figures on data submitted by the unions over a year's period. Some unions refused to submit any figures, and in these cases the department said it used the best estimates it could find.

A Flip Of The Switch

Mitchell Celebrates Opening Of Its New County Jail Friday

COLORADO CITY — More than 400 Mitchell Countians were in jail at one time or another Friday, according to Sheriff Dick Gregory.

This was in addition to the sheriff's regular customers and was not due to a surge of lawlessness, or a sweeping clean-up by the forces of law and order. In fact, many of those who spent part of Friday in stir were upstanding and influential citizens.

This mass invasion of the jail-house was due to the invitation of Mitchell County officials, who—after a long and dreary two years—were celebrating the completion of the new Mitchell County jail.

Bonds for the structure were voted in July of 1951, after the old jail was roundly condemned by county and law enforcement officials and grand juries. For one thing, it was too small—built to hold 13 people comfortably, it was often forced to accommodate upward of 20. Too, women and children were left out of the picture, when the jail was built in 1915. Then, it was presumed, women sat at home painting with water colors while the male of the species painted the town red. Now, with the ever increasing role of women in daily affairs, it became necessary to add a woman's department (or chicken coop) to the local calabozo.

In 1915, evidently builders had thought that—for kids—the home of correction was the woodshed. No more. The new-jail will have a place for youngsters who are convinced that they are tougher than society or their parents.

In addition to these features, the $103,000 jail can take care of 32 prisoners, will have an elevator to the second floor where cells are located and will have ample living quarters on the lower floor for the jailer.

Cell doors on the top floor are electrically operated and an officer can open or close any cell door from the corridor outside the cells.

This is Mitchell County's third jail—the first having been built in 1881, and replaced by the 1915 model—which, by the way, was constructed from native sandstone blocks taken from the earlier jail.

Enough blocks were left over to build two downtown office buildings near the present Colorado City Postoffice.

County officials were so proud of the brand new brig that they declared open house for Friday and Saturday and County Judge Sam Bullock, County Commissioners and the Sheriff's Department gave visitors a conducted tour Friday and planned a like chore for Saturday. Commissioners are Jim Bodipe, Moody Richardson, Jake Northcutt and George Bacon. Gregory's deputies are Bob McGuire, Lewis Claxton and J. W. Plummer.

Next week, the sheriff plans to hold open house for civic groups who wish to visit the jail in a body; meanwhile the inmates of Number Two wait impatiently for their new quarters.

Measles Still Tops Week's Disease List

Measles remained at the top of the communicable disease list compiled by the Big Spring-Howard County Health Unit from physicians' reports of diagnosis for the past week.

There were 58 cases of measles reported. Throat irritations of various kinds accounted for another 23 cases of the illnesses and there were 20 cases of mumps, the health unit reported.

Also reported were 12 cases of pneumonia, nine of bronchitis, five of gonorrhea, nine of chicken pox, three of diarrhea and five cases of whooping cough.

Panel Takes Up Oil, Gas Issue Past Boundary

By TEX EASLEY
WASHINGTON, May 16 (AP)—The Senate Interior Committee tackled today the problem of handling oil and gas development in the continental shelf beyond the states seaward boundaries.

The issue was whether maritime law administered by the Coast Guard or the laws of abutting states should prevail in the offshore areas.

The House-passed bill dealing with the continental shelf would authorize the secretary of the interior to co-operate with the states in drafting laws for the area. The measure was set on the Senate calendar without being referred to a committee.

Chairman Cordon (R-Ore) indicated the House measure would not be permitted to reach a final vote in the Senate before his committee has explored all problems relating to the continental shelf.

The opening witness was the committee's counsel, Peter le Roux, who explained a bill introduced last week by Cordon.

Like the House bill, it would authorize the secretary to develop oil and gas resources in the continental shelf. It specifically provides that admiralty laws shall be applicable in the area, with drilling platforms, derricks and other structures being considered as vessels from a legal standpoint.

The Cordon measure would not authorize the development of other natural resources, such as sulphur, as does the House-passed measure. He proposed that these resources be handled in still more legislation.

The bill recognizing the states' ownership of the tidelands within their historic boundaries, is to be signed into law by President Eisenhower Monday.

Only 3 Of 10 Vital Issues In Legislature Are Settled Now

By BO BYERS
AUSTIN, May 16 (AP)—Time is running out on the bulk of laws Gov. Shivers and the lawmakers declared of prime importance when the Legislature began four months ago.

Final adjournment has been ordered for noon May 28, only 11 days away.

For all practical purposes, that means any bill not yet passed must be rushed through in six potential working days — Monday through Saturday.

The rules say any bill which has not been passed on second reading by noon Sunday, May 24, cannot be considered by the Senate. The same holds true for the House except on appropriations bills.

Of the 16 issues listed as most important by senators and representatives before the session began Jan. 13, only three could be considered finally settled.

These were whether to pass new or higher state taxes; whether to repeal the drivers responsibility law; and improvement of the Gilmer-Aikin school laws.

The House, where tax bills must originate, has indicated majority opposition to increasing taxes.

A House committee killed a bill to repeal the drivers financial responsibility law which requires proof of ability to pay up to $15,000 damages in an accident. The law was left unchanged.

The main effort to improve the Gilmer-Aikin school laws was the passage of a new economic index law, which determines how much each county has to raise toward the 45 million dollars in local support of the state's public school program.

The bill is supposed to give a more equitable distribution of local education costs. It is supposed to be more sensitive to economic changes than the old law.

The terrific log-jam of bills contending for attention precludes passage of very many.

A pay raise for teachers remains the major problem. The shortness of time and the sharp conflict in views makes the chance of compromise dubious.

The House quit in the midst of debate on the subject yesterday, and some members said that killed all hope of final legislative approval of any kind of raise.

Of 13 recommendations on problems discussed by Shivers in his opening message, only four have been put into effect.

His suggestion that the general appropriation bill for state services include cost-of-living salary increases but no costly expansion of departments or services was followed, although Shivers said the general increase of $180 per year for state employees was not as much as he had hoped for.

The governor's appeal for an emergency tuberculosis hospital building program was answered promptly, with provision of $3,225,000 for hospitals at Harlingen and San Antonio.

To his call for co-ordination of the higher education program, the Legislature ordered a long-range study.

As suggested by Shivers, the Legislature has submitted to a vote a proposed amendment to allow use of the surplus in the Confederate pension fund to build state office buildings.

On the negative side, no final action has been taken on these issues which were rated highly by the governor and lawmakers:

1. Additional highway financing.
2. Water conservation. Six of eight measures recommended by the governor's state-wide committee have been passed by the House and may yet be approved by the Senate. A major proposal, an amendment to allow the state to charge water-use fees to support financing of dams and reservoirs, is bogged down in the Senate.
3. Higher teacher pay. Chances of approval have grown steadily dimmer since the comptroller reported no money in sight to pay a $600 increase.
4. Election code revision. A bill

Incorporating many changes suggested by a State Bar Committee has passed the House, might possibly reach the Senate next week. It calls for repeal of the cross-filing provision which allows two or more parties to nominate the same person for office.

Other legislation lawmakers said deserved urgent consideration but on which nothing final has been done: Modification of the auto inspection law; a presidential preference primary; removal of the $5-million dollar yearly ceiling on public welfare spending.

Legislation suggested by the governor which still awaits action in one or both houses: A job classification system in all departments; legislation to decrease death on the highways; an amendment to allow voting by Texans in the armed services; restricting for district courts and Congress.

The largest diamond in the crown of King George II of England fell out during his coronation.

Ike Ready To Insist On Cut In AF Funds

By JACK BELLE
WASHINGTON, May 16 (AP)—President Eisenhower was reported today to be in a mood to crack down on officials who may resist a proposed five billion dollar cut in Air Force funds.

Congressional leaders who have talked to him say they expect the President to devote part of his radio report to the nation Tuesday night to discussion of his administration's program for the Air Force. This program is described by its backers as designed to put more combat planes in the air while reducing former President

Truman's request for long-range appropriations.

In informal talks, the President is said to have expressed the opinion that the Truman program for a maximum strength eventually of 143 wings represented only a "paper" goal.

Eisenhower is reported to have told lawmakers that his own look at the Air Force has convinced him it is just beginning to get in quantity the planes it needs. He is said to feel that the pressing job now is to fill up existing wings as fast as possible and let future goals take care of themselves.

There were clear indications the President has little patience with those who argue about these ultimate goals and who would resist, even covertly, the slicing of appropriations which would authorize future contracts. He apparently will brook no battle within his administration similar to the Air Force-Navy fight over B36 bombers during the Truman regime.

Eisenhower's reported intent to uphold strongly Secretary of Defense Wilson's Air Force cut apparently would be designed to meet Democratic criticism of such a move.

The President apparently has satisfied Sen. Taft of Ohio, the Republican leader, and other big Air Force advocates among the Republicans that his program is safe from a security standpoint.

At the same time, he seems to have blocked off their hopes for deeper cuts elsewhere in the arms program.

Eisenhower's Tuesday night report apparently is being designed to meet just such charges.

Those who have talked with the President say they have found him confident, as a military man, that proposed budget cuts will not diminish this nation's ability to defend itself.

Despite outcries by critics, most of the administration leaders feel that in the end Congress will accept the President's arms program without major changes.

This will not be done, however, without some rather pointed statements on the part of some lawmakers that the responsibility is all Eisenhower's.

Stalin and his successors have predicted an inevitable trade conflict between the nations of the free world which will bring in its wake the certain disintegration of free world unity and the ultimate world triumph of communism. More than that, the Soviet Union is working constantly to encourage such a split in the free world.

The free world must prove these predictions wrong. But we cannot do so if we are blind to the fact that the Communist thesis includes some valid elements. We could by our own mistakes make the Soviet predictions come true.

Dulles did not say specifically what mistakes might produce such results. He did not advocate a course of action other than public discussion, although he recalled that President Eisenhower has proposed that a special commission work up recommendations for a foreign economic policy.

In another statement on World Trade Week, Secretary of Commerce Sinclair Weeks said there are "many opportunities for increasing American prosperity and strengthening the free world through global trade."

Compensation Suit Is Filed In Court
Elsie D. Warren filed a $10,025 compensation suit in 118th District Court Saturday against the Traders and General Insurance Company.

Warren alleges disability as a result of an accident while working for the B&T Drilling Company last October. The accident occurred on a drilling rig near Forsan.

OATIS FREED

rorism or misbehavior," a reporter asked. "No, I was not," Oatis answered firmly.

But he said he was "interrogated under methods usual in some countries and unusual in others." He added "psychology was used."

Asked about his treatment in prison and whether it was the same throughout his confinement, Oatis replied: "The treatment varied from time to time, but in general it was good."

During most of his confinement, Oatis had a cellmate. But he received no newspapers and could hear no radio broadcasts.

His comment about Stalin came when he was asked if he noticed any change in the attitude of the Czech Communists that might be connected with the death of the Russian leader last March.

"Do you agree with the official attitude of the United States government that you were convicted for working in Czechoslovakia just like any other news reporter would have done?" one newsman asked.

Oatis looked at the questioner and said emphatically: "I am not going to express an opinion of that, please."

Another reporter asked Oatis to "say a few words about the thousands of Czechs and Slovaks still in prison for nothing more than loyalty to their old traditions, and about the recent general amnesty for Czech prisoners."

"I'm sorry for anybody in prison anywhere," Oatis said. "But I can't say anything about it unless because I never heard of it."

Calm during a barrage of questions, he told the group he was notified by a Czech security official last night that he was going to be released.

This drew the question: "Why do you think you were released?" "Frankly, I don't know," Oatis answered with a puzzled expression.

"I was told that a letter my wife wrote to the President of Czechoslovakia had a great deal to do with it—more than anything else."

He said he met no Americans but one West European in prison, then added cautiously: "I'd better not talk about him because he is still in prison."

"How did you feel when you crossed the border out of Czechoslovakia?"

"I was surprised to see so many people there," he replied with a grin.

One reporter asked if he ever suspected the Czech police had planted spies as cellmates. Oatis answered: "I was always careful."

Had he been ill during his imprisonment?

"Yes, last February, I was examined by a doctor and they found I had a mild case of tuberculosis. I was put into the prison hospital and given medicine and they let me lie around in bed all day. I got into the sunshine too. In a month, the infection had disappeared."

He was permitted three visits by representatives of the U. S. Embassy in Prague during his imprisonment.

Then a reporter asked him to comment on Communist press accounts that he had confessed to his trial, which ended July 4, 1951.

"I have nothing to say," the correspondent replied.

"Will you withdraw your confession when you get home?" "I'd better wait until I get home."

One reporter asked him if he intended to enter the fight against communism upon his return home.

"I am not going into politics," he said.

Relating the story of how he was arrested, Oatis said: "I had been worried because some of my employees (Czech nationals) were getting arrested. I had noticed my car was being followed by what was obviously a car of the Czech police on April 23, 1951. I drove to the U. S. Embassy and made an appointment to talk to them. I decided I was in no danger."

"I talked with people in the embassy and made an appointment to see them Monday. Just as I left the Associated Press office, six policemen walked up and said I was arrested."

He said he had not heard about the execution of Rudolf Slansky, former chief of the Czechoslovak Communist regime and hand riding high as Moscow's planning boss in Prague when Oatis was jailed.

Slansky and 10 others were hanged last December on conviction of spying, Titism, Zionism, and plotting to overthrow the Communist regime and hand Czechoslovakia back to the West.

Among the others hanged was the Czechoslovak Foreign Minister, Vlado Clementis. At the time of his arrest Oatis had been working on stories about Clementis' mysterious disappearance from public life.

The Indiana-born reporter, 39, was expected to return to the United States within a few days for a reunion with his wife, Laurbelle, whom he married only three months before his arrest.

A poignant letter Mrs. Oatis penned six months ago to Czechoslovakia's then president, the late President Gottwald, was responsible—Prague and Moscow said—for moving the authorities to pardon Oatis, Gottwald's successor, President Antonin Zapotocky, said in a statement broadcast from Prague that the pardon was his response to Mrs. Oatis' petition.

At her home in St. Paul, Minn., Mrs. Oatis was "grateful, delighted, and exhausted" when she heard her husband actually had crossed into the free world. She had been up most of Friday night waiting for the news after the first bare announcement came that Oatis was going to be let out.

Mrs. Oatis' letter to the Czechoslovaks, written as a desperate appeal, said:

"Surely you must need a simple plea for mercy and put an end to this bitterly unhappy situation in which my husband, William and I are entrapped. We married because we wanted to spend our lives together. Yet the days go by, one after another, and so does the time we would be spending together. We can never regain what has already been lost but I continue to hope and pray . . ."

Oatis met his wife when he was assigned to the AP foreign desk in New York and she was employed in the Press Association's reference department there. Assigned first to London and then sent on to Prague as chief of the AP Bureau, he was planning, when arrested, to have his wife join him in Czechoslovakia.

He was picked up in April 1951 by Communist secret agents, held 69 days incommunicado, and then brought before a five-man court to "confess" in a feeble voice that he had spied out Czechoslovakia's state secrets. Three Czech Nationals who worked in the AP's Prague bureau were sentenced to 16-20 years in prison.

The Red public prosecutor said Oatis was "particularly dangerous, because of his discretion and insistence on obtaining only accurate, correct, verified information."

Oatis' imprisonment caused the U. S. to impose tight economic squeeze on Czechoslovakia. The lanky, bespectacled reporter with the Hoosier accent and a passion for playing hot jazz on the piano, became one of the most famous prisoners the Reds held. He was the only American newswoman ever imprisoned behind Europe's Iron Curtain. Two other AP correspondents—Nate Potowetzky and Richard Kasichke—were expelled from Prague before Oatis went in to take over the now closed-down bureau.

G. M. Goodbrake Mrs. Tollett's Father, Dies

Death claimed George Michael Goodbrake, 81, in a local hospital about 6 p.m. Saturday. Mr. Goodbrake suffered a heart attack two weeks ago, had made some recovery, but experienced another attack Saturday.

Mr. Goodbrake was the father of Mrs. R. L. Tollett, and had been making his home at the Tollett residence, 553 Hillside Drive since coming to Big Spring in 1950 from Effingham, Ill. He had resided in Effingham most of his life, and was born there Feb. 5, 1872.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Ina Goodbrake of Big Spring; two daughters, Mrs. Tollett and Mrs. Gerald R. Reese, North Augusta, S. C.; a brother, Joseph Goodbrake of Vandallia, Ill. and four grandchildren, Raymond, Blake and Iris Ann Tollett and Judith Reese.

Funeral arrangements will remain indefinite until plans can be completed for the return to Big Spring of R. L. Tollett. He is in New York for the monthly meeting of the Corden Petroleum Corporation board of directors. Pallbearers will be Jack V. Smith, A. V. Karcher, Douglas Armer, R. M. Johnson, George Zachariah and R. W. Thompson, all associated with Corden.

Mr. Goodbrake was a one-time employee of the Pennsylvania Railroad. He was a member of the Hillcrest Baptist Church and of the Modern Woodmen and IOOF Lodges.

Crazed Gunman Kills Policeman

EL PASO, Tex., May 16 (AP)—An El Paso policeman was killed today by a gunman who appeared crazed and finally was captured after a gun battle.

The dead policeman was Warren M. Mitchell. A man identified by Police Chief Roy Vinson as Henry Fisher, 55, El Paso, was held for investigation in the shooting.

Vinson said a man fired a shot through the window of an ice cream parlor on the outskirts of El Paso. No one was hit and the man drove away slowly in a small truck. Police trailed him to a small house. The gunman came out as if to surrender, but then fired at the car, killing Mitchell.

The gunman barricaded himself in the house. All available El Paso police were called. After a short gun battle, tear gas finally brought the man from the house.

During intermission the Skyliners will perform several popular selections.

The Concert Band will conclude the program with a Gershwin selection excerpts from "Show Boat," and the "U. S. Air Force March."

A-2C Anthony E. Green will sing "Ole Man River" during the final portion of the program.

There will be no flyers or other aerial activity at the base today. Hundreds flocked to the field Saturday to inspect ground exhibits and watch aerial gymnastics performed by a F-86 Sabrejet, B-26 bomber, B-25, and the T-33 jet trainers used at Webb.

BET HE'S HOT TODAY

HOUSTON, May 16 (AP)—The burglar who broke into the Bricklayers' Union No. 7 last night probably wasn't smoking today.

He was no teetotaler. He took a healthy swig from a whisky bottle he found in a desk drawer. He stole $10 but left the whisky and its "fire water" behind. No wonder, it was gogoline.

M. C. Grigsby Jr. Promoted in ROTC

M. C. Grigsby Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Grigsby, 741 W. 16th, Big Spring, has been promoted to Cadet Airman 2nd Class in the Air Force Reserve Officers' Training Corps at Baylor University.

Announcement of his promotion was made this week by Colonel Ernest B. Maxwell, commanding officer of the Baylor unit, which is one of 188 Air Force ROTC units on university campuses in the United States, Puerto Rico and Hawaii.

Cadet Grigsby, upon successful completion of the AFROTC Advanced Course at Baylor, will be commissioned a second lieutenant in the United States Air Force Reserve.

STATES RIGHTS REAFFIRMED President To Sign Tides Bill Monday

By TEX EASLEY WASHINGTON, May 16 (AP)—President Eisenhower today set Monday as the day he will carry out a campaign promise and sign into law a bill establishing the states' title to oil-rich submerged lands off their coasts.

The announcement came from the yacht Williamsburg, aboard which the President is cruising.

WEATHER

warned there could be more tornadoes spawned in the turbulent thunderstorms predicted for the northwest portion of South-Central Texas. Thunderstorms and locally high winds also were predicted Saturday for the north and central portions of East and Central Texas.

Mrs. Mozell Moon, 35, was killed and her husband, T. Sgt. George Moon, 33, injured when their car smashed into a stalled truck during heavy rain at Crow, Tex., Friday.

Ocie Blair, 16, drowned Saturday saving a white boy in the Trinity River diversion channel.

Lapping water for a time blocked at least three highways, U. S. 271 was reported closed between Gilmer and Pittsburg at Little Cypress Creek bridge. High water also forced the closing of Farm 85 in Kaufman County and Highway 78 between Garland and Wylie.

Army engineers said many sections were in a "precarious position." Rains have saturated the soil in many sections and produced bank flows in other places, reported Col. Herbert D. Vogel, Dallas, district Army engineer chief.

"Sufficient rain to cause major floods has not been reported at this time," Vogel said. "However, a continuation of present rains or rain of high intensity could change the picture quickly."

Thunderstorms cracked Saturday at Dallas, Waco, College Station, Mineral Wells and Big Spring. A cool front was expected to stir up continued scattered showers, Sunday.

Danger points in the flood situation were the Sabine River; the lower reaches of the Trinity River of the Trinity and its Chambers, Waxahachie and Richmond Creeks tributaries near Corsicana in Central Texas and the Leon and Lampasas Rivers in West Central Texas.

The Sabine was reported, virtually an inland sea over its 578-mile length. Out of banks from its headwaters at Mineola to near the mouth at Orange, the river was on its biggest tear since 1944.

Strong south winds and high tides, which slowed runoff at the river's mouth, aggravated the situation. Meteorologist Paul Cook at the Lake Charles Weather Bureau, which keeps tab on the Sabine, warned the worst is to come.

Embattled Beweyville, which 10 days ago made a valiant winning fight against the Sabine, will get a crest of 17 feet by Wednesday, Cook predicted. That's a half foot higher than the flood which the community whipped earlier. But the Deweyville levee—hurriedly built up to about 18 feet with sandbags—was expected to keep the water out of most residences. Homes in lowlands were expected to be flooded.

The Weather Bureau at Dallas warned of "light to moderate" flood conditions on the Trinity River and its tributaries. New flood crests were expected on the Trinity's East Fork at Rockwall and the main river at Dallas and Trinidad. But a forecaster said that as of Saturday afternoon, only lowlands were threatened. Dallas was expected to get a crest of 34 feet by 8 p.m. Saturday—six feet above flood stage.

Army engineers had men posted at critical spots patrolling levees. Many oil wells in the Kilgore area were surrounded by water. Kilgore has had 8.25 inches of rain in six days.

Sabres Bag 11 Enemy MIGs

By MILO FARNETT SEUL, Sunday, May 17 (AP)—Two Sabre sharpshooters, competing in a hot race to win the world's first triple jet ace rating, paced U. S. pilots Saturday in a blazing all-day shoot over Northwest Korea which the Fifth Air Force said cost the Communists 11 MIGs shot down and six damaged.

Captain Manuel Fernandez of Miami, Fla., bagged his record-smashing 14th MIG Saturday afternoon after Capt. Joseph McConnell of Apple Valley, Calif., tied Fernandez' old mark of 13 in a storming sweep.

Back in the U. S., Fernandez was McConnell's gummy instructor. They came to Korea together. When their sweep-wing Sabres swooshed in to landings from Saturday's flashing dogfights, Fernandez was one MIG away and McConnell two from the 15 kills that will give the world's first triple jet ace rating.

On the ground Saturday, Allied troops and artillery killed and wounded more than 1,500 of 4,000 Chinese attackers on the Central Front, the Eighth Army said. South Korean Capitol Division troops defeating the vital Kumhwa-Kumsonng supply road were credited with inflicting 1,143 of the Red casualties.

South Koreans drove out early Sunday in a two-pronged assault southeast of the Pukhan River and trapped 200 Chinese in a horseshoe-shaped area.

Allied headquarters said the South Koreans recaptured two outposts southeast of Capitol Hill which they had lost in recent weeks. The ROKs swept within 10 yards of the crest of a third outpost hill.

A freed-up company of Chinese defenders was trapped in the horse shoe between the three hills.

B29 Superforts roared into Northwest Korea last night and slammed a heavy bombing attack at a big Communist supply center northwest of Sinanju.

In the big Saturday jet battles Maj. James Jabara of Wichita, Kan., first U. S. jet ace of the Korean War, bagged his first MIG since returning for a second tour of duty. The kill ran Jabara's string to seven MIGs shot down.

"It was burning like hell — a beautiful sight," he said.

U. N. commanders said the powerful Chinese Red ground stabs against South Koreans and Americans on the Central Front did not appear to be positional thrusts but rather efforts to strike swiftly and kill as many U. N. troops as possible.

The move worked in reverse. Allied artillery and mortars, pouring out tens of thousands of rounds, played a major role in chewing up the attacking Reds.

A regiment of Chinese (3,500 men) overran main line positions of the Republic of Korea Capitol Division east of Sniper Ridge early Saturday. This touched off the biggest and most intense single day of fighting since the battle for the Kumhwa Ridges in the same sector last October.

The Eighth Army said hand-to-hand fighting raged in and near the Allied trenches for 4½ hours before the Communists managed to withdraw under cover of a smoke screen. After the Red cleared from the lines they tried three times to ram back.

The Chinese fired more than 20,000 rounds of artillery and mortars in support of the attack. They occupied two positions with reinforced battalions up to 750 men each but fled later in the morning before South Korean bayonets and hand grenades.

Americans of the 3rd Division's 15th Regiment bloodily repulsed a Chinese battalion attacking outpost Harry, about 20 miles west of Sniper Ridge. Another battalion of Chinese attacked the South Koreans on Sniper Ridge while a Red company hit Jane Russell Hill on Triangle Hill a mile away. Both were knocked back.

Front-line reports said most of the 1,300 Red casualties were inflicted by the South Koreans in trench-fighting east of Sniper Ridge.

Newspaperman Boynton Is Dead

PARIS, May 16 (AP)—Lon Boynton, 60, publisher of the Lamar County Echo here who'd been a newspaperman since he learned to set type when he was nine, died in a hospital last night.

Boynton was named 1952 Texas Newspaperman of the Year by the Dallas professional chapter, Sigma Delta Chi journalism fraternity.

Sen. Price Daniel, introducing Boynton to receive the award, called the publisher a man who "puts principles before parties and personalities."

A third-generation newspaperman, Boynton was born Dec. 30, 1892, at Hamilton, Tex., where his father, the late George H. Boynton, published the Hamilton Herald.

Boynton later managed the Comanche Chief and published the Walters, Okla. Herald.

He was past president of the Texas Editorial Assn. and North and East Texas Press Assn., and Paris Rotary Club. He was a director of the Paris Chamber of Commerce and a member of the First Christian Church board.

Funeral services are scheduled here at 2 p.m. tomorrow.

Survivors include his wife, one daughter, Mrs. J. W. Bill Harris Jr., Dallas and a brother, Harry B. Boynton, Hamilton.

BIG ENOUGH TO KILL THEM ALL

Famed Engineer James Baird Dies

TUCSON, Ariz., May 16 (AP)—James Baird, civil engineer who supervised construction of the Lincoln Memorial and Tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Washington, died today. He was 79 and had been in poor health for several months.

His wife, Cornelia, and two sons, John C. Baird, Scarsdale, N. Y., and Charles Baird, Ann Arbor, Mich., were at the bedside.

Baird, who was born May 18, 1873 in Vanceburg, Ky., directed the erection of many famous buildings. They included the Folger Shakespeare Library, Freer Gallery of Art Building and the Arlington Memorial Amphitheater, all in Washington, D. C.

I Love A Parade

Large Crowds Join In Armed Forces Day Observance Here

The surging crowd of Big Springers advanced and retreated with the blustery weather during the big Armed Forces Day celebration at Webb Air Force Base Saturday.

An estimated 10 to 12,000 people were on hand up and down Webb's broad flight ramp at 10 a.m. when the aerial shows began with a squadron, loose-jointed flight exhibition by a helicopter from the San Marcos Army flying center.

Earlier, hundreds of Big Springers lined the street uptown to watch 1,200 smart-stepping Webb airmen, cadets, and officers parade behind the Webb 50th Air Force Band. Following the air force was a rolling display of Air Force equipment.

THE WEEK

June 27. The service will be welcomed, but confusion is bound to prevail until new numbers are mastered. Those people who pride themselves on knowing "everybody's number" will have to stay up nights to memorize a new list.

The City Commission received two applications for ordinances which would provide for the operation of a "community antenna" system for television. Under this plan, a tower would pick up a TV signal from another city, and this would be piped by direct wire into homes, for a subscription fee. The City Fathers say this requires study. No sure test has been made to determine if a decent "picture" could be picked up, under present circumstances.

H. W. Wright joins a group of civic-minded people on the board of the Colorado River Municipal Water District, as a Big Spring representative, and R. T. Piner, the CRMWD president, was re-elected. Wright may be planning on giving up his place on the Selective Service Board.

Philanthropist Dies

NEW YORK, May 16 (AP)—Mrs. Mary Fels, 90, a philanthropist, died today. She was the widow of the late soap manufacturer Joseph Fels.

Mrs. Fels' letter to the Czechoslovaks, written as a desperate appeal, said:

"Surely you must need a simple plea for mercy and put an end to this bitterly unhappy situation in which my husband, William and I are entrapped. We married because we wanted to spend our lives together. Yet the days go by, one after another, and so does the time we would be spending together. We can never regain what has already been lost but I continue to hope and pray . . ."

Oatis met his wife when he was assigned to the AP foreign desk in New York and she was employed in the Press Association's reference department there. Assigned first to London and then sent on to Prague as chief of the AP Bureau, he was planning, when arrested, to have his wife join him in Czechoslovakia.

He was picked up in April 1951 by Communist secret agents, held 69 days incommunicado, and then brought before a five-man court to "confess" in a feeble voice that he had spied out Czechoslovakia's state secrets. Three Czech Nationals who worked in the AP's Prague bureau were sentenced to 16-20 years in prison.

The Red public prosecutor said Oatis was "particularly dangerous, because of his discretion and insistence on obtaining only accurate, correct, verified information."

Oatis' imprisonment caused the U. S. to impose tight economic squeeze on Czechoslovakia. The lanky, bespectacled reporter with the Hoosier accent and a passion for playing hot jazz on the piano, became one of the most famous prisoners the Reds held. He was the only American newswoman ever imprisoned behind Europe's Iron Curtain. Two other AP correspondents—Nate Potowetzky and Richard Kasichke—were expelled from Prague before Oatis went in to take over the now closed-down bureau.

AP Photographer Frank Noel is a prisoner of the Communists in Korea.

Death claimed George Michael Goodbrake, 81, in a local hospital about 6 p.m. Saturday. Mr. Goodbrake suffered a heart attack two weeks ago, had made some recovery, but experienced another attack Saturday.

Mr. Goodbrake was the father of Mrs. R. L. Tollett, and had been making his home at the Tollett residence, 553 Hillside Drive since coming to Big Spring in 1950 from Effingham, Ill. He had resided in Effingham most of his life, and was born there Feb. 5, 1872.

YOUR SON---And My Blood

You may or may not favor a draft of blood, as is advocated by Commander-in-Chief James W. Cottrhan of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, but you will agree with him that the need for blood in the Armed Forces is a most acute one. The Herald herewith presents an article written by Commander Cottrhan, reprinted by permission of the editors of the V.F.W. Magazine, in the May issue of which this article originally appeared.

BY JAMES W. COTTRHAN
Commander-in-Chief, V.F.W.

IF UNCLE SAM has the right to draft your son he should have an equal right to draft my blood. If it is fair to ask your boy to risk his life in defense of this country, in time of war, it is equally fair to ask the able-bodied male citizen to part with a pint or two of his precious blood. The blood he gives will not endanger his life nor in any way injure his health. The blood your son may lose on the battlefield can be the cause of his death.

It is service to our country in time of war is the common responsibility of all patriotic citizens, then we should be honest enough to apply this basic principle without discrimination. Loyalty is just as much an obligation for those on the home front as well as those who are ordered to do the fighting.

I challenge you to find a phrase or clause in the Constitution that says one group of citizens should make all the sacrifices that are necessary, when our country is in danger, while other groups of citizens enjoy the right to make none.

When the draft board mails a notice to the man who must enter the Armed Forces, the language is bluntly clear. The text comes straight to the point. There is no pretense of an appeal to loyalty or patriotism. No one takes the trouble to ask him if it is "convenient" for him to report to the nearest training camp. No one says, "Please, Mr. Drafted, will you be patriotic enough to risk your life on the battle front to help save the lives of your neighbors back home?" The addressee knows without question that his number is up—and that's that.

But what about the civilian whose name does not appear on Uncle Sam's current military mailing list? How is he approached when Uncle Sam needs his help?

Why should Uncle Sam be forced to beg and plead with this man for a pint of blood that will save the life of a wounded man on the fighting front—or perhaps the son of his next-door neighbor or his own brother?

Why should the Department of Defense, in cooperation with the American Red Cross, the Veterans of Foreign Wars and other groups, be required to beg for blood donors via press, radio and TV—when blood is needed so desperately to save the lives of men in the Armed Forces? It is common knowledge that the blood supply in Korea has been so short at critical moments that the men who were lucky enough to stay alive had to furnish the blood that saved the lives of their wounded comrades. Why should we permit this tragic need for blood to continue—and why should we continue to impose this burden of sacrifice upon the man in uniform?

In addition to the continuing shortage of blood for our Armed Forces—what about the danger of a sudden atomic attack upon the U.S.A. It is positively suicidal to ignore the fact that tremendous quantities of blood plasma will be needed if atom bombs should fall upon any of our industrial centers. Are we going to wait until such a disaster strikes—and then try to obtain the needed blood from volunteers when it will probably be too late to save thousands of lives?

By empowering the Department of Defense, through an act of Congress, to draft the required quantities of blood from all able-bodied males in America—we would never again be haunted by the danger of a blood shortage in time of war or in any other emergency. This blood drafting proposal has not been officially endorsed by the V.F.W. But the Veterans of Foreign Wars has always embraced the principle of "equal sacrifice for all and profits for none." We have always condemned the idea that some citizens should be required to serve in the Armed Forces—while other are left free to decide for themselves just how much they will contribute to the national security.

In relation to our current and potential need for whole blood—and blood plasma—the present haphazard, hat-in-hand begging method of obtaining this life-giving element is fundamentally unsound, unfair and un-American.

It is unsound because our Armed Forces, after nearly three years of fighting in Korea, still lack the blood plasma supply required to meet our heavy casualty needs.

It is unfair because every man who is wounded is entitled to the few pints of blood it takes to save his life.

It is un-American because the man in uniform is being asked to make great sacrifices while other Americans are allowed to enjoy the security of civilian freedom with no serious disruption of their personal comfort.

Donations Are Made To Local Service Center

People continue to make welcome donations of various articles to the Servicemen's Center—but some things still are needed.

The boys would enjoy chess games, if anyone has a chess set that could be given. The Center also would be much more enjoyable if it had a radio.

Mrs. Les Kornfeld has sent in some pocket novels, and comic books. The young men at the club enjoy these.

Hostess schedule for this week: Monday, Garden Club; Tuesday, North Side American Legion; Wednesday, 1948 Hyperion Club; Thursday, Ever-Ready Civic & Art Club; Friday, Music Study Club; Saturday, Epsilon Sigma Alpha Sorority and members of the BPO Doves; Sunday, Ladies Auxiliary of St. Mary's Episcopal Church.

Hostesses serving during the past week were Mrs. W. C. Foster and Mrs. C. W. Deats Jr. of the Child Study Club; Luan Lovelace, Betty Penn and Ann Blankenship of the American Legion Auxiliary; Mrs. Morris Patterson and Mrs. Constance Pitman of the 1930 Hyperion Club; Mrs. W. F. Taylor, Mrs. Sam Baker and Mrs. Clyde E. Thomas Sr. of the Modern Woman's Forum; Minnie Ola Woods, Flora Dean Elliott and Cynthea Woods of the Fashionette Club.

Ladies of the Wesley Methodist Church will serve today. Mary Cantrell and Jean Broadhagen assisted last Sunday afternoon.

Over 150 Attend FFA Barbecue

More than 150 members of the Big Spring Chapter of the Future Farmers of America, their fathers and guests, assembled at the City Park Friday evening for the annual FFA Father-Son Barbecue, with the beef and goat cooked over mesquite fires by Nath Allen.

The barbecue was served following a regular chapter meeting at which the members voted to go to Lake Buchanan for their annual fishing trip. They plan to leave Big Spring the morning of June 1 returning the evening of June 4. This decision followed a debate in the course of which some members sought to prevail upon their fellow members to vote for a trip to Lake Brownwood instead.

In other action the chapter voted to send Travis Fryar and Melvin Danahy to the annual FFA leadership school which is scheduled to be held at Alpine for three days later this month.

Chapter members occupying the various stations during the meeting were Elbert Long, president; Roger Brown, vice president; John Damron, secretary; Travis Fryar, treasurer; Red Sanders, sentinel; Wiley Wise, reporter; and Truett Vines, vocational agriculture teacher in the Big Spring High School, adjutor.

Glasscock Bond Issue Rejected

GARDEN CITY — Glasscock County voters turned down a $50,000 road bond issue here Friday. The vote was 114 against to 38 for the issue.

As a result of the election, Glasscock County still has no bonded indebtedness. The election had been called to vote on new equipment and additional maintenance for present roads.

Two boxes were for the bond issue, one was tied, and the other four were against it. St. Lawrence had 12 for and 6 against, while Lane had 4 for and 1 against. Lee's Store was tied up 11-11.

When You Think Of It, Ride In Jet Is Fast

By WAYLAND YATES
Maj. William M. (Willie) Kerr flicked the reins and "a thousand wild horses" started the jet rolling down the runway.

It lumbered along for an instant, and then you could feel the plane trying to slip out from under you. Before you knew it the runway slipped away, and you could already feel the change in altitude peck at your ear drums.

Maj. Kerr, who could fly the crates they come in, pulled the T-33 up gently, but she rose fast above Webb Air Force Base.

You looked out to the left, expecting to see the last hangar in the field. Instead, there were the derricks of the Howard-Glasscock oil field.

The major, leading a flight of 12 planes in three elements, waved to his wing man and the entire formation stood on its wings and headed back toward Big Spring. The group made a pass over Webb, turned to the right north of town, looped around the Couden refinery and carbon black plant, then headed down Third Street—1,000 feet up.

Three minutes later we were over Stanton. Three more and Midland slid by, followed by Odessa.

Up in the jet it didn't seem like we were going fast—not until I remembered how long it takes to go that distance in a car. By the time I'd finished the comparison we had passed Monahans, Pyote Air Force Base, and were approaching Pecos.

That's where Maj. Kerr dismissed the four "spares" that had started the flight, just in case someone dropped out.

"Drop over to Lamesa and Seminole for a look at the weather," he told the four extra pilots as they left the formation.

By then we were enroute to Carlsbad.

"Looks like a good place for fishing," Maj. Kerr said over the intercom as we crossed Red Bluff Lake.

"Pretty bumpy today," he added as some clouds swept by. He kept working up and down, from 4,000 to about 8,000 feet, trying to find a smooth place.

Until he mentioned it, I figured you took the bumps for granted. Besides, I'd been watching the airspeed indicator as it wandered from 350 up to about 400 miles per hour.

Before the trip was over, I was plenty thankful for that refrigeration. It got awfully hot, sweat poured from under my crash helmet, and the oxygen mask was sticky. Or it may have been me. I did "sweat out" the thunderstorms, and could feel it getting hotter on those tight turns when the ground stood up on edge.

Fuel consumption was amazing, too. The "fuel remaining" gauge clicked off a gallon every time I counted off 11 seconds.

My respect for jet pilots, already great, increased. I learned the checks, about 240 instruments, gauges, switches, etc. before even taking off, and in addition to keeping control of the stick he has to keep an eye on all those things while in flight.

It was a good Armed Forces Day ride—400 miles around West Texas and New Mexico in approximately an hour. We skipped Lamesa on the way back, because of the storm, but every other town on the route we reached right on schedule.

And Big Spring never seemed more like home than at the end of the flight.

More of the "smoke" boiled from outlets on either side of Maj. Kerr's seat, and occasionally little chunks of ice jumped out to melt on the edge of the cockpit.

Perjury Action Is Possible In Probe Of Docks

WASHINGTON, May 16 (AP)—Sen. Tobey (R-NH) raised anew today the possibility of perjury action being taken as a result of a Senate probe of racketeering on the New York-New Jersey docks.

"Numerous conflicts," Tobey said in a statement, have been found in testimony given by Mayor John V. Kenny of Jersey City and Anthony (Tony Cheese) Marchitto, former business agent of an international Longshoremen's Association local in Jersey City.

This conflict "presents the possibility of perjury," Tobey said, adding that he was referring to the record to the U. S. attorney here for his consideration.

This was the third time in as many days that Tobey has ordered conflicting testimony before his subcommittee sent to the district attorney here because of the possibility of perjury. Included was testimony given on April 30 by Joseph P. Ryan, longtime president of the IILA who is under indictment on charges of misuse of $11,300 in union funds.

Kenny, a Democrat who has just been re-elected to the Jersey City Council, was a witness April 1 before a Senate commerce subcommittee headed by Tobey.

U. S. Feels Soft Approach Can Gain Nothing In Korean Talks

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
WASHINGTON, May 17 (AP)—This week's display of Allied disunity over the Korean truce negotiations is viewed by officials here as such a show of weakness that counter-measures must be taken to retain an effective bargaining position.

The action by U. N. truce negotiators at Panmunjom in forcing a recess in the talks over the weekend was explained as fitting into this purpose.

"So was a statement issued here yesterday asserting that the United States will never compromise away the right of Communist prisoners of war to choose freedom instead of communism if they wish. This stands as the key obstacle to an armistice agreement that would end the fighting in Korea.

So far as can be learned from careful inquiry here, this government has no intention of yielding to the pressures and importunities of friendly or Allied nations to modify its stand on this point. Privately, officials say that their position is based on the fact that the burden of the war has been borne by the United States either directly through its own forces or indirectly through training and materiel provided to the South Korean troops who now form the bulk of the battle line.

The U. S. argument is that under the latest Communist proposal, Chinese and North Korean prisoners who balked at going back to their Red homelands could be held in captivity indefinitely while political conferences wrangled about their fate. This, the U. S. says, gives them the poor choice of imprisonment or unwilling return to Red rule.

The troubles among the Allies in the U. N. Command have been building up slowly for a long time. They may be expected to continue until the truce talks are concluded. In general they appear to reflect a feeling of the British and Canadian governments, primarily, that the United States was sometimes too tough in its dealings with the Reds. Then again, there are the more general fears of nations with a primary stake in Europe that this country might become progressively more involved in Far Eastern conflicts to the hurt of European defenses.

The United States, with a long-standing concern over its military position in the Far East, as well as in Western Europe, has generally followed the theory in the truce talks that nothing could be gained by a soft approach. According to this theory, a "reasonable" armistice could be obtained only at the end of hard and realistic bargaining.

Furthermore there has been considerable skepticism here as to whether the Chinese Communists and North-Koreans really wanted peace in Korea—unless they could get new advantages out of it. All their recent proposals have been read here with this mind rather than in the belief, expressed by some critics abroad, that they were anxiously trying to get peace.

Prime Minister Churchill told Commons this week that he thought an eight-point plan the Reds put forth last week showed questions of "principle" had been resolved and if the Reds were sincere the negotiations could shortly end successfully.

Another evidence of Allied disunity appeared immediately afterward when former Prime Minister and present Labor Leader Clement Attlee assailed U. S. Far Eastern policies as well as foreign policies generally. Incidentally Attlee became involved in a feud with Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) which has prolonged the display of differences throughout the week.

Into this situation India's Prime Minister Nehru, never regarded as an ally of the United States but usually considered friendly, moved with a comment that the Communist plan for handling POWs closely accorded with United Nations recommendations last December.

Equipment Sales Start At Show

TULSA (AP)—Sales of oil field equipment at the International Petroleum Exposition have started. It was reported today, with the largest revealed thus far a 133-foot-tall portable drilling unit that sold for about $245,000.

The derrick was sold to the Gordon Drilling Co. of Mount Pleasant, Mich., by U. S. Steel.

More than 100 million dollars worth of equipment is displayed on the 28-acre show grounds. IPE officials have predicted sales stimulated by the exposition's exhibits in one year, $11 billion.

A Texas delegation, representing Beaumont's Chamber of Commerce, presented IPE officials a model replica of a monument erected at the Lucas Well that in 1901 opened the fabulous Spindletop Oil Field near Beaumont.

Over 150 Attend FFA Barbecue

More than 150 members of the Big Spring Chapter of the Future Farmers of America, their fathers and guests, assembled at the City Park Friday evening for the annual FFA Father-Son Barbecue, with the beef and goat cooked over mesquite fires by Nath Allen.

The barbecue was served following a regular chapter meeting at which the members voted to go to Lake Buchanan for their annual fishing trip. They plan to leave Big Spring the morning of June 1 returning the evening of June 4. This decision followed a debate in the course of which some members sought to prevail upon their fellow members to vote for a trip to Lake Brownwood instead.

In other action the chapter voted to send Travis Fryar and Melvin Danahy to the annual FFA leadership school which is scheduled to be held at Alpine for three days later this month.

Chapter members occupying the various stations during the meeting were Elbert Long, president; Roger Brown, vice president; John Damron, secretary; Travis Fryar, treasurer; Red Sanders, sentinel; Wiley Wise, reporter; and Truett Vines, vocational agriculture teacher in the Big Spring High School, adjutor.

Glasscock Bond Issue Rejected

GARDEN CITY — Glasscock County voters turned down a $50,000 road bond issue here Friday. The vote was 114 against to 38 for the issue.

As a result of the election, Glasscock County still has no bonded indebtedness. The election had been called to vote on new equipment and additional maintenance for present roads.

Forsan Service Club Aids Tornado Victims

FORSAN — The Forsan Service Club has voted to contribute $100 toward financing lights for local tennis courts. Another $50 has been pledged for the local fund to aid tornado victims in San Angelo.

William Rowan, club president, will present citizenship awards sponsored by the club at both High School and Grade school commencement programs.

The club also has agreed to furnish uniforms for the two junior baseball teams, which are managed by Carlton King and R. L. Shelton.

Meetings of the club will be suspended during the summer months, with the next session set for Sept. 10.

Which Way?

A man goes the way he looks. Ever look one way while trying to go another? How far did you get? Ever try to get to a place so fast you missed it? Stop! Direction is worth more than speed. A man's eye follows the call of his appetites. If he wants power he looks for high office. If he wants wealth he looks for oil wells or gold mines. If he looks for sin he finds it. If he wants peace of mind he looks to God. Souls of men move high or low. There is a turning point. Broad is the way that leads down. Narrow is the way that leads up. You are a pilgrim... "give in." He knows the way. He will lead you through.

Steel Supply For Petroleum To Get Better

By TEX EASLEY
WASHINGTON, May 16 (AP)—Virtually all federal controls over steel end June 30 and officials are confident the supply situation for the oil industry will work out smoothly.

The Petroleum Administration for Defense (PAD) and the American Iron and Steel Institute support this belief.

Nickel-bearing steel remains under control beyond June 30 but only until Sept. 30. Other remaining controls will affect only materials needed by the Atomic Energy Commission and the military.

The PAD, which has been concerned primarily with the allocations of scarce strategic materials, goes on a skeleton staff basis July 1.

A PAD spokesman said the oil and gas industry should adjust itself easily to the changed conditions.

The Iron and Steel Institute reports a new high for shipments of finished steel products in March. The month's total was 7,436,919 tons, 281,000 tons above the previous record set last October.

Shipments of steel products in three months this year set a quarterly record of 21,057,464 tons, an increase of 6 per cent, or 1,200,000 tons, over 1952.

The first-quarter shipments included substantial increases in such products as oil country goods, cold finished bars, sheets and semi-finished forms of steel.

The PAD has just estimated that 10,000 miles of new oil pipelines will be built in 1953. This would be a record. There were 6,800 miles laid in 1952.

These were 163,000 miles of pipelines in operation Jan. 1.

A Justice Department order is expected soon granting major American companies operating overseas immunity from anti-trust law if they revive the Foreign Petroleum Supply Committee.

The committee is to assemble and transmit to the PAD data on foreign oil. The information is of value to the Defense Department in evaluating the strength of countries.

Organized when the Iranian oil fields were shut down, so there could be a co-operative scheduling of shipments to meet requirements of the Western Allies, the committee then had difficulty from anti-trust statutes.

Crawford Well Drilling Ahead

Cosden's No. 1 Crawford, two miles east of Big Spring, was drilling below 7,534 feet in lime and shale Saturday night.

Drilling has been underway since the third drillstem test in which 50 feet of free oil and 50 feet of gas cut mud was recovered.

The three-hour test was from 6:15 to 7:20 and the tool was open three hours. There was no gas or water, and flowing pressure was zero.

A previous test taken Wednesday from 7,160 to 7,185 feet had 40 feet of free oil and 110 feet of heavily oil and gas-cut mud, with 90 feet of gas in the drilling pipe.

Interested observers say that they believe drilling activity will continue for some time. The well is supposed to go to 9,700 feet.

It is between Lovens' Lane and Cosden Refinery, located 657 from south and 760 from west of lines, section 47, block 32, tap, 1-north, T&P survey.

Spraberry Area Of Reagan Gets Test

Sohio Petroleum Company has staked location for its No. 1 A. E. G. Cauble in the Spraberry Trend Area of Northwest Reagan County.

Drill site is 663 feet from south and 665 feet from east lines of section 34, block 36, T-5-8, T&P survey and 16 miles northwest of Stiles.

Rotary tools will be used to drill to projected depth of 7,500 feet. Operations will begin at once.

Cosden Abandons Well In Tom Green

Cosden Petroleum Company has abandoned its No. 2 J. R. Mims, wildcat in the west panhandle of Tom Green County, at total depth of 5,283 feet. No tops were reported.

It was 15 miles southwest of Water Valley and 990 feet from south and east lines of section 79, block 6, H&T survey.

Abundance Of Crude Sparks Competition

By MAX B. SKELTON
HOUSTON, May 16 (AP)—An abundance of crude oil and products has given increased emphasis to competition among oil companies.

This is a normal trend during periods of over-supply. Many companies, in recent reports, have cautiously reminded stockholders and employees a highly competitive era is ahead.

Although happy to accept the competition challenge, industry spokesmen fear over-supply may contain two hidden dangers. They are:

Oil explorations for new petroleum sources continue at a healthy rate in face of glow markets and increased drilling costs.

Can the industry maintain the reserve producing and refining capacities built for national defense after the start of Korean fighting in 1950?

Everyone seems agreed increased crude prices would remove both problems, but most price hike attempts since the lifting of controls in early February have backfired. Domestic production has slumped and storage stocks have soared since decontrol.

In mid-February, storage of gasoline, kerosene and fuel oils exceeded year-earlier figures by 25-848,000 barrels. Last week stocks were 195,000 barrels less.

TEST DELAYED DUE TO THEFT

PHILADELPHIA, May 16 (AP)—They had to call off the police service examinations today for sergeant and lieutenant of civil service.

Somebody stole the test questions.

A clerk in the county commissioners office was arrested and charged with selling answers to the examination questions.

About 600 patrolmen and sergeants were to have taken the tests.

New Producer In Terry Completes

Stanford Oil & Gas Company has completed its No. 1-B Rebecca Sawyer as a new producer in the State field of South-Central Terry County.

The well was completed for a 24-hour flowing potential of 249 barrels of oil through a 13-64-inch choke. No water was present. Gas-oil ratio was 616:1. Gravity of the petroleum was 43 degrees.

Top of pay is 10,032 feet, total depth is 10,122 feet and plugged back total depth is 10,070 feet. Production is coming from perforations between 10,032 and 10,070 feet. Elevation is 3,288 feet, derrick floor.

Location of the new oiler is 660 feet from north and west lines of the northeast quarter of section 121, block T, B&W survey and seven miles southwest of the town of Brownfield.

Small Rubber Balls Bounce Oil Up From Depths Of The Earth

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
TULSA (AP)—Little rubber balls bounce oil from the earth's depth in an ingenious new pump designed by a Tulsa firm.

The balls are shot down a tube inside the well propelled by natural gas under pressure. They make a U-turn at the bottom of the well, and come shooting up another tube, pushing a column of oil ahead of them.

The rubber ball pump was shown to the International Petroleum Exposition by Stanfield Oil and Gas Company. Two such pumps are in use in Oklahoma.

The only maintenance cost is to replace the worn rubber balls occasionally. That costs 1-40th of one-tenth of a cent for every barrel of oil produced, said a company representative.

The balls keep the pumping tubes as clean as a whistle, clearing out any paraffin or anything which might clog the tubes.

A working model shows how the balls, shaped like the heads of mushrooms, go chasing in a merry-go-round to bring up oil. A hand-fury are used at a time.

Gas pressure is built up to shoot a ball through an injection valve and down the tube. Deep down, the ball is stopped temporarily by a narrowed part of the tube, until pressure created by another starting ball forces it through the bottleneck.

The pressure it builds up forces a preceding ball, waiting at the bottom of the tube, to come barrel-

New Oil Recovered In Mitchell Venture

Recovery of 27 barrels of new oil was made this week end on a swabbing test of Humble No. 1 James Trujock, wildcat in Mitchell County about four miles west and one south of Westbrook.

Operator swabbed for 18 hours from open hole in Clear Fork line between 3,304 and 3,107 feet. The seven-inch casing was bottomed at 3,104 feet. Further tests will be made as soon as the section is fractured.

Location of the Humble venture is C NW NW 6-28-1 south, T&P survey.

Sun Oil Company has staked another location in the North Jameson Strawn Sand area—No. 5 V. T. McCabe. To drill by rotary to 6,300 feet, the well is located 660 from south and 1,980 from west of lines, section 225, block 1-A, H&T survey (23 miles southeast of Colorado City). It will try for production in the Strawn pay.

Sun's No. 4 McCabe, located in the same section, was announced Friday. It will go down to 6,200 feet by rotary.

A drillstem test was taken on another Mitchell County venture—Humble No. 1 Cooper—with no shows of oil or water. With the tool open an hour, recovery was 50 feet of slightly gas-cut drilling mud. The test was in the Straws from 7,796 to 7,840 feet. Drilling is now underway below 7,881 feet.

Gulf Oil's No. 4-B Glass in Martin County is waiting answer of Railroad Commission on an amended application to drill to 11,600 feet. The well was originally slated for 10,500-foot depth, but drilling has already passed the figure and is down to 10,743 feet in lime and shale. There are some possibilities of production in both the Wolfcamp and Pennsylvanian.

Basin Oil's No. 1-B Jones, 330 from north and east of lines, southwest quarter, section 51, block 25, H&T survey, Howard County, is now drilling below 905 feet, where 10-inch casing was cemented.

Also in Howard, Stanfield No. 1 Smith, C NE SW, 4-31-2n-T&P survey, is drilling below 3,200 feet. It is slated to go to 7,700 feet by rotary.

In Sterling County, Cosden's No. 3-B Durham is waiting on potential after setting pumping unit. Location is 330 from north and west of lines, 19-T&P survey. Casing has been perforated from 1,479 to 1,482 feet. Also Cosden is moving in Rotary on No. 1 Lee Hunt in Sterling, location being 990 from north and west of lines, 19-T&P.

A southeast Borden County wildcat—Charles C. Green No. 1 Sue Alice Slaughter—has been plugged and abandoned. It was quit at total depth of 8,370 feet in Pennsylvanian lime reef. The project flowed oil on drillstem test of reef; but operators were unable to complete for a commercial producer. Location is C NW NW, 24-3-3n, T&P survey.

Two Projects In Runnels Ask For Allowables

Applications for two new pay allowables have been filed for two projects in Runnels County, both discoveries from the Morris sand. Henson Drilling Company of Abilene completed No. 1 Enoch Johnson, a dry hole re-entered, as a Morris sand discovery for a calculated daily flowing potential of 191.40 barrels of 40.4-gravity oil through a one-half-inch choke and perforations at 3,596-3,602 feet.

Gas-oil ratio was 782-1 and tubing pressure 150 pounds. Pay was acidized with 250 gallons.

Operator has asked that the discovery be called the opener of the Enoch Johnson (Morris sand) field. The project is two and one-half miles southeast of Morris sand production in the Sykes field and 3/4 mile west of production in the Cree-Sykes, east field. Operator reported a daily flowing potential of 288.17 barrels of 41.5-gravity oil through a 20-inch choke and perforations at 3,468-79 feet. Gas-oil ratio was 426-1 and tubing pressure 300 pounds.

Location is in section 18, J. Parremore survey and three miles north of Crews.

Sooners Open New Turnpike

STROUD, Okla., May 16 (AP)—The Turner Turnpike, Oklahoma's modern highway between Oklahoma City and Tulsa, was dedicated today and opened for traffic.

Gov. Johnston Murray and former Gov. Roy Turner, cut the ribbons across the two 24-foot separated driving lanes.

Turner, for whom the toll road is named, pushed the first toll road bill through the Legislature six years ago last month. Murray, now advocating a turnpike network in the state, has been governor for 2 1/2 years.

The 88-mile super-highway cost 38 million dollars.

Gates at the six towns along the route, Oklahoma City, Stroud, Chandler, Bristol, Sapulpa, and Tulsa, opened at 3 p. m. They will not close until the toll road becomes a free highway. Tolls for the full route are $1.40 for passenger automobiles, $2.10 for autos with a trailer, $2 for light trucks, $3 for heavy trucks and busses and $4 for tractor-trailers.

The road cuts 14 miles off the distance between Oklahoma City and Tulsa and will save an estimated hour in driving time. Speed limit has been set at 70 miles per hour and a minimum of 40 miles.

No grades will be more than three per cent and only two curves, both between Sapulpa and Tulsa, have a curvature of more than 30 minutes. Driving lanes are separated by a 15-foot grassed median.

NE Crockett Test To Start At Once

Haynes and V-T Drilling Company of Odessa will drill No. 1 University (Ohio-B) five-eighths of a mile south and slightly west of production in the newly designated two-well Farmer (San Andres) field of Northeast Crockett County.

Combination tools will be used to drill to 2,500 feet, beginning at once. Elevation is 2,715 feet.

Location is 2,310 feet from south and west lines of section 9, block 50, University survey. It is 15 miles southeast of Big Lake in Reagan County.

Wildcat Planned In Tom Green County

W. M. and A. P. Fuller of Midland will drill a 6,500-foot Ellenburger wildcat in South-Central Tom Green County as their No. 1 J. Willis Johnson, Jr.

Location is 660 feet from north and west lines of section 1, H&T survey, Abstract 1224 and five and one-half miles northeast of Christoval.

Rotary tools will be used to drill the wildcat, beginning at once.

Defense Coordinator Flies To San Angelo

AUSTIN, May 16 (AP)—William McGill, state co-ordinator of defense and disaster relief, flew to San Angelo today to talk to officials on the need for federal aid in Monday's tornado.

He was accompanied by Joe Fletcher, assistant public safety director.

McGill will determine the type of recommendation to make to assistance to be requested for the San Angelo area.

Woman Of Year

Ernestine Adams, Dallas oil writer and editor of the trade publication, Petroleum Engineer, will be honored at Tulsa, Okla., as the "Oil Woman of the Year" at the International Petroleum Exposition. The contest was sponsored by the women's oil organization, Desk & Derrick Clubs of North America. Miss Adams was the first woman editor of an oil journal. (AP Photo).

Coke, Kent Areas Get New Ventures

New wildcat operations were reported Saturday in Coke and Kent counties.

The Coke venture is F. Kirk Johnson and Brooks-Seaton Oil Company No. 1-B W. C. Blanks, set to test through the Pennsylvanian and go into the Ellenburger.

Ned C. Butler No. 1 Wallace is the Kent venture, scheduled to test the Permian lime at 2,500 feet. Drilling will be by cable tools and operation will start in 30 days.

The No. 1-B Blanks is 467 from north and east lines, section 2, block 2, H&T survey, about seven miles southwest of Silver. Operations will start immediately. Total depth is expected to be around 7,000 feet.

The No. 1 Wallace is 15 miles southwest of Clairmont, 330 feet from north and west of lines, section 61, block 4, H&G survey.

Correction Listed For Wildcat Sites

Locations for two wildcat operations in West Texas have been reported incorrectly. One of the projects is in Borden and the other in King County.

Correct location for The Texas Company No. 1 J. R. Canning, 6,500-foot Wolfcamp wildcat in East-Central Borden County, will be drilled 1,980 feet from north and east lines of section 221, block 97, H&T survey and 2 miles southeast of the town of Gail.

Sid Katz and others No. 1 G. C. Carothers, wildcat in Southwest King County to 6,300 feet, is to be drilled 660 feet from north and west lines of section 185, block F, H&T survey and 15 miles southwest of Guthrie.

Well Is Completed In Lynn County

Magnolia No. 1 Timmons, venture in the Lakeview Pennsylvanian Reef area of Northwest Lynn County, has been completed for a 24-hour potential of 218 barrels of oil.

Flow was through a 4-64 inch choke in perforations in pipe in the Pennsylvanian lime reef between 9,835 and 9,820 and between 9,835 and 9,855 feet. Perforations were acidized with 500 and 3,000 gallons, respectively.

Gravity of oil is 44, and gas-oil ratio is 639-1. Flowing tubing pressure is 400 pounds.

Area Rotary Rig Activity Drops In Month Of April

The latest semi-monthly survey of the Reed Roller Bit Company shows eight less rotary rigs drilling in the area than during April.

The survey, made May 10, shows 43 rigs in operation in Borden, Dawson, Glascock, Howard, Martin, Midland, Mitchell and Sterling Counties. In April there were 51.

There are 502 rotary rigs drilling in the entire Permian Basin, according to the report. On the last tally, April 25, there were 504.

Howard, Glascock, Martin and Borden Counties each have one more rig in operation now than at the time of the previous report.

Losses were made in Dawson, Midland and Mitchell Counties. Sterling remained the same.

Boom proportions were reported in drilling activity in Andrews County, which has 43 active units. However, Lea County, New Mexico, still remains the Permian Basin leader with 135 rotaries going.

In a year's time, the number of drilling rigs have decreased, considerably. Where there are 502 now, there were 17 units at this time last year.

Area counties included in the survey are listed below with the number of rigs on the last survey in parentheses: Borden, 8 (7); Dawson, 3 (6); Glascock, 2 (1); Howard, 6 (5); Martin, 4 (3); Midland, 16 (23); Mitchell, 3 (5); and Sterling 1 (1).

Week's Completions Register A Decline

AUSTIN, May 16 (AP)—Oil well completions dropped to 191 this week, 60 less than the previous week, the Railroad Commission said today.

The year's total of 3,920 compares with 4,274 a year ago.

Gas well completions soared to 53 this week for a total of 342 compared with 262.

Drillers reported 126 dry holes. Wildcating brought in six oil wells, three gasers and 78 dry holes.

The total average calendar day allowable as of today was 2,960,750 barrels of crude, up 8,148 from last week.

There's a law against this...

DON'T take chances! Out-of-line or unbalanced wheels cause hard steering and "road wander"—dangerous in emergencies. Unbalanced or misaligned wheels are expensive, too, because they grind rubber off your tires, cutting down mileage. They can ruin steering and wheel assemblies. Come in today and let our service department check your wheels with our precision John Bean Wheel Alignment and Balancing System. Savings in tire and chassis wear will more than pay for the job.

Mother Appeals For Aid To Get Her Son's Body

CORAL GABLES, Fla., May 16 (AP)—A heart-broken mother today appealed to President Eisenhower to help find the body of her son, one of 46 persons killed when an airliner plunged into the Gulf of Mexico Feb. 14. Mrs. Richard H. Shaddick Sr. said searchers had located an object believed to be the plane's bulk, but the Navy refused to provide a diver to investigate. "As a father and a great humanitarian, could you please help us in this effort," Mrs. Shaddick said in a telegram to the President. "We want to recover the bodies of our loved ones. The sanity of the mothers and wives of victims depends on our recovering the bodies." The National Airlines DC8 disappeared during a severe storm over the Gulf while en route from Miami to New Orleans after a stop at Tampa, Fla. Only 17 bodies were recovered despite an intensive search of the area. Mrs. Shaddick's son, Lt. Richard H. Shaddick Jr., 22, was aboard the plane on his way back to his Air Force post after an emergency visit home because his brother, Lt. John Phillip Shaddick, 25, had been shot down in Korea Jan. 29 and was listed as missing.

Swimming Pool To Open Up On May 31

Municipal swimming pool, at City Park, probably will be opened for the summer on Sunday, May 31, Mayor G. W. Dabney said Saturday. The pool traditionally is opened on the first Sunday after schools dismiss for the summer months. Last day of school this year will be Tuesday, May 28. Schedule of hours the pool will be open will be announced later, the mayor said.

A Job Well Done

Nearly 300 old sheets were turned in by Big Springers during this past week, for use by the American Cancer Society which had announced a serious need to help cancer patients. Standing back of this impressive stack are Mrs. C. O. Nalley and Mrs. Clyde Angel, two of a group of women who worked during the week to collect the used sheets. Collection point was the C. R. Anthony Company, where credit toward contour sheets was given for the old ones. Mrs. Angel as chairman of the project Saturday night, voiced her grateful appreciation "to all those who helped make this a job well done."

Crackdown Begins On U. S. Job Selling

WASHINGTON, May 16 (AP)—Atty. Gen. Brownell today announced a crackdown on alleged federal job selling in Georgia and said the practice will "not be tolerated anywhere by anyone." The attorney general said a federal grand jury in Savannah had indicted six persons on charges of either soliciting money or offering money in connection with the post office jobs. Brownell said he ordered the investigation April 2 immediately after Republican leaders in Georgia informed him of alleged job selling recommendations for postal appointments. Dispatches from Waycross, Ga., said two Negro Republican party officials were arrested and arraigned there on charges of government job peddling. The report said the two were put under $1,000 bond each along with a white man accused of offering money for job consideration. Brownell said the following were indicted individually: Tom C. Williams of Waycross, chairman of the Republican committee for the 8th congressional district of Georgia. Henry Grady Smith, rural mail carrier at Jessup, Ga. Wilson Truitt Tuten, postmaster at Bristol, Ga. Chestnut A. Thompson of Jessup, Ga. James M. Kent of St. Simons, Ga. Fuller identification was not available here, but GOP sources in Georgia said Tuten was a white man, Williams was a wealthy Negro mortician and White was Negro Republican chairman of Pierce County. Brownell recalled his April 2 statement that he hoped the grand jury investigation "would serve to give notice in all parts of the country that job selling would not be tolerated anywhere by anyone." Brownell said he intends to ask the maximum penalty for all persons guilty of job selling. The maximum penalty for each count of soliciting or offering such jobs is one year and $1,000 fine or both.

Rayburn 'Not' Here For Dem State Meet

BONHAM, May 16 (AP)—Rep. Sam Rayburn came home this week end. He plans to return to Washington Monday. Rayburn denied he came to Texas for a meeting of state Democratic leaders in Austin tomorrow, he said. It was called without his knowledge. Rayburn said he felt Stephen Mitchell, a national Democratic chairman, would be in Texas in the early summer to meet Texas Democrats. Rayburn said the bill to create Eisenhower State Park was moving along nicely. "I think it will get along all right," he said. He said a bill to get water from Lake Texoma by Denton is "making progress." Denton is now getting water from Texoma on strictly an emergency basis. The bill would make it permanent. Asked about the "continuing fund" to provide emergency construction for the Southwestern Power Administration Rayburn said: "It was knocked down in the House and I don't know whether anything can be done in the Senate."

Man's Condition Remains Serious Following Mishap

George Coots, 103 Donley, remained in a serious condition at Cowper Hospital Saturday with a severe head injury received when a pickup truck in which he was riding struck a utility pole on Marcy Drive, near Donald's Drive in. Doctors said Coots still was unconscious late Saturday afternoon. Extent of his injuries had not been determined, but his condition was described as serious. Injured in the same accident was Anna Mae Berry, of 1906 Owens. Doctors at Big Spring Hospital reported she suffered a fracture of the left arm and a broken finger on her right hand. Police who investigated the accident said the two were passengers in a 1950 Ford pickup driven by Wayne Laswell, 111 E. 16th Street. Officers quoted Laswell as saying that he lost control of the pickup after he was blinded by automobile lights. He was driving toward town on the new Highway 87-60 cutoff road and was crossing the dip in front of the VA Hospital at the time of the mishap, officers said. After going out of control the pickup struck the power pole at the rear of Donald's Drive in, according to police.

National Unity Is Urged By Leaders On Armed Forces Day

By The Associated Press
Pentagon leaders, in a series of Armed Forces Day speeches yesterday, called for national unity in the face of aggressive communism. Speakers throughout the country hit hard at this theme as the nation took time out to honor all those who donned uniform in the nation's defense.

"Out in Korea ... every day is Armed Forces Day," said Secretary of the Air Force Harold E. Talbot in St. Louis. "Here, at home, we can celebrate this day best by keeping before us constantly the example of our fighting men in Korea, by resolving to strive for more effective unification among our armed forces everywhere and for greater unity among ourselves as a people."

Talbot said the Air Force's new goal of 120 wings will be maintained until a more definite program is adopted following a review of U. S. military requirements.

"I have confidence," the air secretary said, "that the definitive program will properly reflect our requirements for air power."

In Columbus, Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio) said in a speech that America can not live in peace with Communist Russia, whose goal he said is to conquer the world.

Too many officers and enlisted men are leaving the services, he said, because of dissatisfaction with the military as a career. He said this must be remedied by better administration, more liberal pay and allowances and a more hospitable citizen attitude toward uniformed personnel.

At Norfolk, Va., John F. Floberg, assistant secretary of the Navy for Air, cautioned that the U.S. "can not and must not stand idly by with our hands in our pockets and allow any aggressor the choice of time and place to cause us harm."

"The Communist mind is capable of accepting only the logic of power," Floberg said. "Anything less is construed as a sign of weakness, and any negotiations with them are so much wasted effort unless we are prepared to back up our words with a well conditioned fist."

Above is a dramatic moment in the Life of Christ, technical movie to be shown by the Veterans of Foreign Wars Tuesday, May 26 at the City Auditorium. This will be the first showing in West Texas, according to B. Q. Evans local VFW Commander.

First Aid Course Seeking Students

More students are needed for the Red Cross first aid course slated to start June 2 in the Howard County Junior College gymnasium.

"We want about 60 people in the class, but registration now is very low," Mrs. Moree Sawtelle, secretary of the Howard-Glasscock chapter said.

She pointed out that all preparations have been made for the class to get underway. Otto Peters Sr., instructor of long experience, will head the list of teachers.

The course is free, the only cost being 70 cents for a text and whatever it costs to buy two triangular bandages. Texts can be obtained at the first meeting. It was announced by F. G. L. Snow, Red Cross first aid and accident prevention chairman.

The course deals with atomic explosions, regular first aid, and treatment in times of disaster. Class periods are June 2-4-11-15-18-22-25-29 and July 2. After the first meeting, sessions will be on Monday and Thursday evenings at 7 p.m.

Snowfalls Hampering Climbing Expedition

NEW DELHI, May 16 (AP)—A British expedition attempting to scale unconquered Mt. Everest is being hampered by fresh snowfalls and winds of 45 miles an hour, say advices received here. The team, headed by Col John Hunt, has established a base camp on a 27,000-foot saddle of the 29,000-foot peak, the world's highest. It sent back word Tuesday the climbers would make their final assault within 10 days.

Navy Fighter Crashes

DALLAS, May 16 (AP)—A single-engine Navy fighter plane crashed three miles north of Dallas Naval Air Station today. The pilot escaped injury.

Marine-Capt. R. I. Irwin walked away from the plane without a scratch. It wasn't known why the plane went down.

Three Assault Charges Filed In County Court

Three charges of aggravated assault were filed in Howard County Court Saturday. Two of the charges involved stabbings, and the third concerned a beating.

Charges were lodged against David Garcia, David V. Parras and Vernon M. Webb. Garcia and Parras are accused of stabbing two men. Webb allegedly beat his wife.

Garcia was arrested by Deputy Sheriff Dale Lane early Saturday morning after George Billalba Jr. was stabbed in the stomach. Billalba was taken to Big Spring Hospital. He is not reported in serious condition, although the wound penetrated his stomach.

Lane stated that Billalba was sitting in cafe booth in Northwest Big Spring when his assailant walked up and stabbed him.

In the absence of County Judge R. E. Weaver Saturday Sheriff Jess Slaughter set his bond at $1,500.

Parras was arrested Thursday evening on charges of stabbing Felipe Arispe, who was taken to the Veterans Hospital. Arispe was stabbed in the back of the chest and his condition is described as serious but not critical.

Parras was arrested by police after the incident, which also occurred in a cafe. Sheriff Slaughter set Parras' bond at $500, and the accused was released after posting bond.

Webb, 1011 East 12th, is being held on complaint of his wife, Vina Webb.

Motor Scooter Theft Reported To Police

Theft of a motor scooter was reported Friday by Tommy Horton, 1300 Tucson.

He told police the machine was taken from his yard sometime Friday morning. Officers still were on the lookout for the scooter Saturday.

R. E. Haskell, 404 Bell, also reported a case of theft Friday, but he called back Saturday to inform officers that a quantity of clothing believed stolen had been located.

Man Is Injured When Hit By Automobile

William Sheppard, transient who gave his address as Salvation Army, was in Big Spring Hospital today as a result of injuries received Friday night when hit by an automobile.

The small bone in his lower right leg was broken, but he is not in serious condition, it was reported.

He was hit by the car while walking across East 3rd Street near Suggs Construction Company.

Senators To Survey Military Aid Needs

WASHINGTON, May 16 (AP)—Sen. Bridges (R-NH) signalled a sharp, new attack on foreign-aid spending today with a decision to dispatch a two-man subcommittee to the Far East for a country-by-country survey of military aid needs.

Bridges, who heads the Senate Appropriations Committee, said in a statement that two members, Senators Dirksen (R-Ill.) and Mag-

Ector, Howard Commissioners Tour Lake Area

Howard and Ector County Commissioners toured the Lake J. B. Thomas area Saturday, leaving in a body from the Howard County Courthouse. They met Borden County commissioners there.

Commissioners were to investigate the area to determine extent of participation in a road project around the west side of the lake. Spokesmen from both counties stated that decisions would probably be deferred until next week.

Howard commissioners have already voted to pave a road from the Snyder highway through Vincent and to the Borden County line to join the lake road. The Howard portion of the road will cost $43,000.

Recently, representatives of the Chamber of Commerce here requested the commissioners to appropriate two additional miles of future farm-to-market road allotment to the project. Commissioners have not yet reached a decision as to whether the appropriation will be made.

Ector commissioners were making a trip to decide whether they will participate at all. The road is some distance from Ector County, but it is designed for area use as a recreational center. Ector officials wish to see if the project warrants their participation and will inform Borden commissioners next week.

Most of the road is in Borden County, and the State Highway Department has given it a green light. Scurry County is involved in the project as is the Colorado River Municipal Water District.

tailored by Handmacher®

Best way we know to keep crisply tailored all Summer is in a Weathervane. It has the famous Handmacher fashion and fit. It's cool, calm and collects compliments. Pearly buttons are strung around the collar and down the front of this smoothly molded Weathervane...certainly a lot of suit for a little $25. Celanese acetate in wonderful colors for country and town. Misses, junior and Proportioned Plus sizes to 22+.

JOYCE CROFT (above) secretary of Col. Ernest F. Wackwitz Jr. and Col. Henry S. Tyler Jr., and as such is "girl Friday" to the top officers at the Base. She was the first girl employed when Webb was activated. Joyce lives here with her parents, at 1510 Douglas Street.

MRS. DOROTHY WHALIN (right) court reporter, who takes down testimony in courts martial, and also at boards of inquiry. She and her husband, Major William C. Whalin (Base Adjutant) live at 1020 Bluebonnet. She has been employed at Webb for more than a year.

MRS. BEVERLY MERRITT (right) lab technician. Is shown here as she prepares to run some tests. She has been employed in the Webb Base laboratory since the first of April. She and her husband, A3-C Lynn Merritt, live at 2104 South Monticello.

MRS. CHARLES C. FERRIS (right) is a German war bride who has been working in the Base Exchange for two months, and is shown here waiting on S-Sgt. Leonard R. Forth. Her husband is a master sergeant and they reside at 205 Utah Road. She's been in the U.S. only 10 months.

BOBBIE JUNE BOBB (above) is Base historian. She writes a narrative report of major Base activities and submits it to the higher commands semi-annually. Doing research on these reports keeps her busy. She lives at 1104 Birdwell Lane with her father, George Bobb.

MRS. RILLA WEBB (right) is cashier at the Webb AFB finance office, and is here receiving money from T-Sgt. James R. Smith. Mrs. Webb has been at the Base a little more than a year, is the mother of James Webb for whom the installation was named. She has just completed a new home on the old San Angelo Highway.

Women At Webb

Running a military installation is not just a man's work. A great many women and girls occupy key positions and handle important matters in the operation of Big Spring's Webb Air Force Base. And so, they, too, share in the public attention this week end, as Webb observes National Armed Forces Day as well as the first anniversary of the Base dedication. On this page are representatives of the fairer sex who contribute to the day-to-day functions at Webb.

MRS. JOANN SCHOLL (right) senior stenographer. She is recorder for all accident investigation boards and flying safety boards. Works under Capt. Jesse C. Haynes, flight safety officer, is the wife of A1-C Frank Scholl, and they reside at 1604 11th Place. She has been at Webb for a year.

Good Carriage And Posture Call For Body Discipline, Says Star

By LYDIA LANE
 HOLLYWOOD—Tony Martin and Cyd Charisse are one of the happiest couples in Hollywood, and lunching with them in the commissary at-MGM last week I noticed that they projected an affection for each other without words.

As Tony had to get back to the "Easy to Love" set and Esther Williams, I began the interview with him and asked: "What first attracts you to a woman?"

"Carriage and teeth, and then it's an interest in what she has to say," Tony said, looking at his night and two in the morning." "Is that all?" I asked.

"I use cream around the cuticle and under the nail to keep them from getting brittle, and I have a manicure once a week," she explained. "If I can't get into a salon, I give myself a manicure."

"Is that all?" I asked.

"How has Hollywood helped you improve your appearance?" I asked.

"By suggesting that I cut my hair," Cyd answered. "Being a dancer, I wanted to wear it long—and did—because I could do more things with it. But everyone loves it so much short that I want to keep it this way!"

"Have you ever changed the color?"

"I played with the idea of lightening it as I'm sure every brunette does, but after I saw myself in a blond wig I knew it was not for me," she explained. "I think anyone tempted to change the color of her hair should try to get a wig or a hair piece and see what the shade does to her eyes and skin tone."

"What do you feel has been the most important factor to your success?" I asked.

Cyd sipped a glass of iced tea and thought seriously. "I think discipline," she finally said. "For a dancer success is married to discipline and divorced from procrastination. I make myself have a lesson every day and often there are so many other things I would rather do. But it is deadly to allow yourself to accept excuses."

I told Cyd that Tony felt she had the most beautiful carriage of any girl he had ever looked at. "Do you think this can be acquired?" I wanted to know.

"Everyone can improve posture," Cyd commented. "Again the key word is 'discipline.' It takes a lot of effort, but the result makes it worth the work."

Mrs. Martin is a great believer in exercise, so I asked her: "If a girl has time for only one exercise each day, what would you suggest?"

"It's the 'office spread' which spoils most figures," Cyd commented. "And to correct this a girl should sit on a hard floor and bring her knees up as if she were going to hug them. Then put the palms on the floor for a balance and start to rock. Keep both legs together, and slap them to the floor as hard as you can, first in one direction and then the other."

"Do this exercise slowly and gradually at first, working up both speed and length of time," Cyd added. "If you do this to music eight and morning you'll find your back and waist will slim down."

Mr. And Mrs. Talk About Appearance

In an exclusive interview with Lydia Lane, Cyd Charisse and her husband Tony Martin stress the importance of appearance and its relation to success.

FOR PERFECT POSTURE

As Cyd has said, posture can be improved. To help you in this line, try Piper Laurie's special exercises to correct posture, "Hollywood Beauty" leaflet M-28. Added in this important leaflet is a section called "Breathing For Beauty," and it will help you to improve both your appearance and health. Your copy will be on the way to you when you send 5 cents AND a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Lydia Lane, in care of The Herald, Big Spring, Tex.

PRINCESS STYLE
1144 by Simonetta

Designer Gives Middy Line Much Importance

Little Princess — styles, going strong now (perhaps, the influence of the coming Coronation), are classics for now and the future. Simonetta, one of Italy's leading designers, punctuates this beautifully molded torso at the hip, giving the middy line much importance. Actually, Simonetta first designed the middy long before it was done in Paris. The line cutting from under arm to tie at the back of the neck flatters and lifts the bosom. A belt is provided (not illustrated) button-holes on either end—enabling it to slip right onto the waist button of the middy...

'Goldilocks' Or 'Three Little Pigs' Should Head Convention Delegation

If nominations were in "order," "Goldilocks," or "The Three Bears" fable, might be a strong contender for chairman of the local delegation to the 5th annual convention of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers. And as the Big Spring delegates drove off early this morning for Oklahoma City, Okla., where the convention will be held, they very likely mentally waved good-bye to the "Three Little Pigs." For this illustrious combination of fairytale favorites helped make it possible for Big Spring local P-TA units and the city council to be represented at the national convention for the first time in history. Proceeds from dramatizations of the two fairy stories are helping pay for the trip. About $200 was netted when the Penthouse Players of New York City presented "The Three Little Pigs" in January and "Goldilocks and the Three Bears" in March. Local delegates are Mrs. W. N. Nosred, District 16 P-TA president; Mrs. A. E. Underwood, Council president; Mrs. A. C. Kloven, East Ward unit president; Mrs. Clyde Thomas Jr., Junior High School unit president, and Mrs. Lewis McCrary, corresponding secretary of the district. Mrs. H. G. Summit of Plainview, state P-TA president, will head the Texas delegation of about 300 members. About 3,000 delegates and visitors are expected to attend the convention. Attention will focus on increasing problems of juvenile protection and the public's responsibilities to its schools. Speakers will include G. F. Bruce, president, Canadian Home and School and Parent-Teacher Federation; Sara Caldwell, president, National Education Association, and Dr. William Menninger, M.D., of the Menninger Foundation. Abram L. Sachar, president of Brandeis University, Waltham, Mass.; William G. Carr, executive secretary, National Education Association, and Ernest William Muehl, professor of public speaking, School of Divinity, Yale University, will also address delegates. Greetings will be given by Johnston Murray, governor of Oklahoma; Dr. Oliver Hodge, superintendent of public instruction of Oklahoma, and Mrs. Joel Burkitt, president, Oklahoma Congress of Parents and Teachers. Senior Day Is Held At College Saturday

High School seniors from Big Spring, Stanton, Garden City, Comanche, Forgan, Knott and Colorado City gathered on the Howard County Junior College campus Saturday.

It was Senior Day, honoring all graduating high school seniors in the surrounding area.

Activities got underway at 9 a.m. with a general assembly and welcome by the college president, Dr. W. A. Hunt.

From 9:30 until 12 noon, the guests were conducted on a tour of Webb Air Force Base and saw an air show featuring formation flights of bombers, trainers, fighters, helicopter and jets.

The guests were served a barbecue luncheon in the HCJC cafeteria upon their return from the base. The preliminary event of a beauty contest was held at 1:30 p. m. at the school with high school senior girls as entrants.

Tenth, eleventh and twelfth grade students presented a talent show at the school at 2:30 p. m. The final judging of beauties was held at 3:30 and awards were made at 4.

Winner of the beauty contest was given a full scholarship to HCJC and a runner-up was named in the event that the winner fails to use the scholarship. Local merchants donated other gifts to the beauty winner.

Students placing first, second and third in the talent show were given 20, 16 and 11 inch loving cups respectively.

Scout Leaders To Have Training Meet

A training session for Girl Scout leaders and counselors who are going to work in Day Camp will be held Tuesday at 9 a.m. at the Little House.

Another day of training will be given Friday at the camp site, south of town.

Day Camp will be held May 27-30 with Mrs. Clyde Thomas Jr. as director. Mrs. Wilburn Elliott will serve as business manager.

Mrs. Thomas and Rex Browning, area field director, will instruct the leaders and counselors in the training sessions. All women who can assist with the camp either full or part time are asked to come to the session Tuesday.

The women are being reminded to wear comfortable shoes as the group will probably make a tour of the camp site.

MR. AND MRS. CAPE AND SUSAN

Mrs. Cape Pays City Highest Compliment

Mrs. James Cape, 1516-B Wood, has paid Big Spring one of the highest compliments.

A newcomer from Lubbock, Mrs. Cape said that the weather here was much nicer than it was there when she left.

That's really something, Mr. and Mrs. Cape and Susan.

Auxiliary Sets Meet For Monday

Plans to send help to tornado victims in Waco and San Angelo will be made at the meeting of VFW Auxiliary 2013 Monday at the VFW Hall. All members are urged to attend.

Members unable to attend are asked to contact Mrs. Maxine Wilson, Mrs. Margaret Barnett and Mrs. Gertrude McCann for a report on the meeting.

14 months moved here about three weeks ago. He is the assistant branch manager for Southwestern Investment Co.

Mrs. Cape, who majored in sociology at Tech, met her husband on a picnic in Lubbock. He graduated from the college in August, 1950.

Married three years, the couple lived in Odessa before moving back to Lubbock and then to Big Spring. While in Lubbock, the attractive Mrs. Cape was active in the alumnae group of her sorority at Tech. She also plays bridge.

Her husband is building a model train.

"But it will be much too complicated for a little child to play with," the dark-haired mother said. Cape also likes to read when he has spare moments.

Mrs. Benson Speaks At Forum Meet

Mrs. Carl Benson spoke on "Orphanages and Adoption in Texas" when the Junior Woman's Forum held their last meeting of the year Friday in the home of Mrs. Gullford Jones, 1610 Scurry.

Mrs. Roy Tidwell was the co-hostess.

Mrs. Benson explained adoption procedure and discussed the conditions, locations and organizations of the orphanages in Texas.

Mrs. W. E. Gibson Jr. discussed "Teen-Age Centers—Prerequisites and Examples." She told members that teen-agers should be offered worthwhile entertainment.

"What the children need is a place to entertain as well as entertainment," she said.

During the business session, plans for the 1953-54 club year were discussed. The group voted to continue the book review next year. The first meeting in September will be a snack party. It was announced.

Mrs. J. D. Elliott, retiring president, was presented a gift from the members. Attending were 16.

National Piano Guild Auditions To End Monday

National Piano Guild Auditions will be concluded Monday when Frederic Libke of Oklahoma City hears the final group of local piano students in the small auditorium of the Howard County Junior College.

Students of Mrs. Fred Beckham who played were Dorothy Robinson, Ann Willis, Gloria Ann Elrod, Nell Robinson, Beth Mead, Kay Thornton, Kathleen Soldan, Freddie Coleman, Joan Jordan, Bonnie Ann Rowland, Jenine Hodnett, Billy Gage, Jane Blissard, Ann Ulmer, Alice Lay, Patsy Davidson, Amelia

Duke, Lynn McMahan and Mrs. Elizabeth Murdock. Mrs. R. L. Morris' students who will play are June and Jane McElrath, Lyda Lu Fivash, Charlie McCarty and Harlan Thornton. Students of Elsie Willis, who will participate, are Jo Nell Hudspeth, Gena McCarty, Judy Foster, Jo Ann Horton, Lynn Clawson, Mary Claire Kinney, Sally Adair, Nora Lea Horton, Nita Jo Hedleston, La Juan Horton, Freda Donica, Joyce Horne, Marie Hall and Howard Sheats.

Hawaiian Mission Work Described At GA Banquet

Mission work of the Baptist Church in Hawaii was described by a student from Hawaii, at the GA Association Dinner Friday night at the First Baptist Church.

Sally Gimma, the speaker, is a student at Hardin-Simmons University. The dinner climaxed GA focus week.

Decorations were red banquet programs, printed with the GA emblem, and dolls representing various countries of the world.

Rubies, representing the 40th anniversary of the organization, and missions set the theme.

Arrangements were made by Mrs. J. M. Stagner, Big Spring Young People's secretary; Mrs. J. W. Arnett, Association GA Counselor, and Mrs. Warren Stowe, Association WMU president.

About 205 members attended from 14 churches. Both intermediate girls and juniors participated.

Use Wax Applier For Cleaning Jobs

That long-handled wax applier in your cleaning closet can be a mighty handy housecleaning assistant when the weather turns hot.

Dusting high places and removing cobwebs are two favorite uses to which this long-handled device can be put. Damp mopping and dust-mopping are two other duties which it handles with ease.

It also can be used in cleaning Venetian blinds, wallpaper, and large picture frames, washing windows and woodwork.

Junior Hi-Y To Give To Disaster Relief

Members of the Junior Hi-Y voted to give $10 to the disaster relief fund when the group met Thursday evening at the YMCA.

George Oldham, sponsor, announced that the group would meet at 10:50 a.m. Sunday in front of the Y and will then go in a group to morning services at the First Methodist Church.

Hyperion Council Gives Tea Saturday Afternoon

Members of the local Hyperion Clubs were honored Saturday afternoon with a tea in St. Mary's Episcopal parish house by members of the Hyperion Council. The presidents of the four clubs, Mrs. K. H. McGibbon, 1905; Mrs. Morris Patterson, 1930; Mrs. J. M. Jarratt, 1946; and Mrs. G. H. Wood, 1948, gave reports. Nominated as new officers of the Council were Mrs. Clyde Angel, president; Mrs. H. C. Stipp, secretary; Mrs. John Hodges, treasurer. The officers were installed by Mrs. Hayes Stripling, city federation president. Mrs. Larson Lloyd, chairman of the social committee for the council, was in charge of arrangements for the tea. The refreshment table was laid with a lace cloth and centered with an arrangement of yellow tulip poppies, garden pink, bells of Ireland, pomegranate blooms and iris spikes. Silver appointments were used and Mrs. Angel poured. About 40 attended.

Local Girl's Marriage Is Announced

Announcement is being made here of the marriage of Dolores Alene Womack to Winston Douglas Sewell of Plainview. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Claud J. Russell, Rt. 2. The ceremony was performed by the bridegroom's father, Dr. C. G. Sewell, in his home in Plainview. The couple repeated their vows before an improvised altar banked with baskets of spring flowers and outlined with white candles. The bride chose a moss green suit with yellow accessories and she carried a white Bible topped with yellow tulle and roses. Elizabeth Osborn and Vic Hooper attended the couple. The bride attended the Big Spring Schools and Lippert's School of Court Reporting. She is employed as a clerk with the Selective Service System. Her husband attended the Phoenix (Ariz.) Schools and the University of Oklahoma. He is employed at Radio Station KVOP in Plainview, where the couple will live.

Captain Carroll To Take Part In Girl Guard Week

Captain Beulah Carroll, divisional Girl Guard Director from Dallas, will join Big Spring Girl Guards in their anniversary celebration next week. She will be here Saturday and Sunday, May 23 and 24. The Guards are the Salvation Army organization for young girls. They will celebrate the 37th anniversary of the Guards with a week of activities, beginning Monday.

Captain Carroll will accompany the girls Saturday for a hike to Scenic Mountain. The group will return to the Salvation Army for breakfast and go to San Angelo for a wienie roast with the Guard troop there.

She will participate in the Divine Service Parade Sunday when the Guards will take part in all the worship services at the Salvation Army. She will also conduct private enrollment of new members.

The girls will serve dinner at the Salvation Army Monday. Captain W. R. Goodier of Dallas and Captain Basil Wyatt of San Angelo will speak.

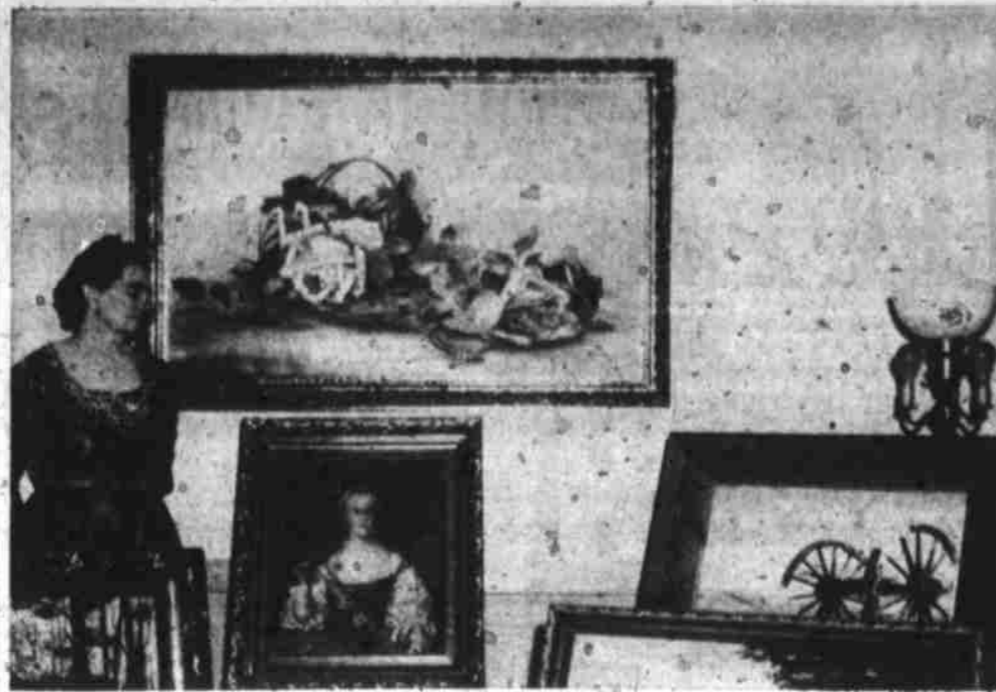

Tuesday the group will pack hard candy to be sent to Korea for distribution through the Salvation Army Children's Home.

They will visit aged shut-ins Wednesday and wear their uniforms to school Thursday.

A visit to the city fire department Friday will be followed by a discussion at the Youth Center on "What the United States Means to Me."

Recital Planned

Elsie Willis will present her piano-students in a recital Monday night at 8 p. m. in the Settles Hotel Ballroom. The public is invited.

Her Work Was Exhibited, Too

At the art show given Friday at the First Presbyterian Church, students of Mrs. Myrtle Lee displayed work in oils, pastels and water colors. Mrs. Lee is shown looking over some of her own work just before the show got underway.

HELEN'S HINTS

WHEN A GIRL GRADUATES... It's an occasion to be remembered. Just to make sure you wish her well in a fashionable way, MI-LADY'S ACCESSORIES has carefully collected the dreamiest group of gifts... at the smart, young prices you like. MI-LADY'S has been schooled in the whims of today's smart girl graduates and knows she will love delicate and dainty lingerie... eye-catching costume jewelry... cool and crisp crocheted gloves... elegant, pure silk summer stoles... smart sportswear separates, and many, many other giftable wearables. Make your selection early to beautifully mark this memorable milestone in your own graduate's life... let her gift be a remembrance of your love and your high hopes for her happiness.

THE MERRY MONTH OF MAY... and graduation means formal dances... so what gal in the graduating category could afford to be without a full and fancy crinoline petticoat to show off her gaily formal to its best advantage. Stiff, starched, and the stand-out of season, they're available at ZACK'S of Margo's, styled in crisp, white crinoline, with a charming eyelet ruffle, rippling at the hemline... making a coquettish appearance with every flirt of her skirt. If there's a trace of femininity in you—you can't resist one of these gay little petticoats... the perfect accomplishment to the swish and sway of your full skirts. In small, medium and large, they're priced at $5.95.

THE GUYS AND GALS... that you'll want to congratulate at graduation time will remember you with fond thoughts if you remember them with unusual individual graduation gifts and cards from HESTER'S. It'll soon be time for the bestowing of summertime and the time is now for you to start thinking about an appropriate gift and a clever card. Whether you choose from the smart selection of billfolds, travel clocks, portable radios and typewriters, or the wide variety of graduation greetings, your gift will single you out for your thoughtfulness and good taste on this all important occasion.

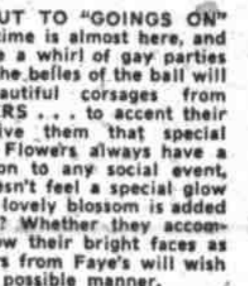

IT'S PLAYTIME, ANYTIME... with the new Motorola portable radios at THE RECORD SHOP. For graduation or vacation, here's a gift that will mean continuous radio entertainment wherever you go. Long famous for the finest in sensitive reception and long life performance, Motorola is now featuring the biggest speakers of any portable radios... "King Size" speakers for exceptional tone quality reproduction. All this... plus Motorola's advanced design... is yours to choose from six modern and attractive styles. You'll enjoy many extra hours of carefree listening with these compact Motorola portables... their smart and sophisticated styling and unbelievably fine performance make them easy to take—fine company anywhere.

NEWS TRAVELS FAST... when it's something as exciting as all the beautiful new furniture the GOOD HOUSEKEEPING SHOP is receiving every day. You've never seen the likes... you should just feast your eyes upon it... and the best part of all is YOU can afford it. For your home of course you want the comfort and beauty of good furniture, yet you want to keep within the scope of your income. It's a problem, but Good Housekeeping will solve it for you. They'll show you how you can buy good quality furniture—furniture that's styled right, built right, covered with substantial, long-wearing fabrics in the latest decorator colors—all at prices definitely within the limits of your budget. No matter whether you prefer the traditional or modern decor, you'll find plenty to choose from to outfit your home from front door to back.

FOR THE SKIN YOU LOVE TO TOUCH... you can receive the best in professional beauty advice from the YOUTH BEAUTY SHOP on just what you need to pamper your own particular complexion. By following a balanced beauty program, you'll discover round-the-clock care for your skin and the secret of summertime feminine charm... everything you need to make the most of YOU. Every woman wants to look her best on every occasion, and with the help of Youth beauticians, it's no problem at all. On your vacation... whether you're a traveling lass or a stay-at-home... the proper cosmetics make it possible for you to be perfectly cast, perfectly groomed—to play your part no matter what your role may be.

FOR GOING OUT TO "GOINGS ON"... Graduation time is almost here, and with it will come a whirl of gay parties and proms, and the belles of the ball will be wearing beautiful corsages from FAYE'S FLOWERS... to accent their costume and give them that special air of elegance. Flowers always have a standing invitation to any social event, and what gal doesn't feel a special glow of pride when a lovely blossom is added to her ensemble? Whether they accompany the girl graduate to a dance, or show their bright faces as a welcome gift on graduation morn, flowers from Faye's will wish her success and happiness in the prettiest possible manner.

FOR WORK OR PLAY... the most ingenious, comfortable, practical slacks a man ever owned, are the "Loungie Jeans", styled by Airman, just arrived at ELMO WASSON'S. For his leisure-time activities, they'll give him tops in smooth easy comfort—what with their elasticized band across the back that requires no belt and the four large roomy pockets that allow plenty of space for tools or sports and hobby equipment. They're the perfect jeans for fishing, gardening, golf, shop work, puttering around the house, or just relaxing comfortably. Priced at just $4.95 a pair, they come in faded blue, tan, gold, grey and green.

REWARD FOR A SMART STUDENT... when a fellow graduate he naturally likes to have his family and friends remember the importance of the occasion... and what could be a better remembrance than a useful, practical gift from the CUNNINGHAM & PHILLIPS DRUGS... one that he can use and enjoy long after graduation day is past. You'll find electric razors by Sunbeam and Remington... all types of shaving lotions and men's cologne... zipkis... billfolds, Ronson lighter, stationery and Sheaffer pens. Gifts make it great to graduate, and C&P's gifts graduate with top honors, for they are of lasting quality... to be used with enduring pride and undiminished pleasure.

PLASTICS ARE PRETTIER... and certainly in the present "Plastic Age", we know they're more practical than anything modern science has come up with in a long time... so you're bound to welcome the good news about BIG SPRING HARDWARE'S plastic ice box dishes styled after the ever-lovin' Jazy Susan. Here's a set of five, large, clear plastic dishes, with gaily colored lids, that revolve on a ball bearing base, to make it so easy to turn to what you want, rather than digging diligently through the depths of your refrigerator. At $4.95 a set, they can't rust, are easy to keep clean, shatterproof and feather light... decorative for table use, compact for storage, these plastic handy-ands are a real housekeeping hit.

King, Queen Reign At High School Prom

Bobby Hayworth and Myrna Talley reigned as king and queen of the High School Junior-Senior prom Saturday in the Settles Hotel ballroom.

Robert Angel, junior class president, crowned them and presented Miss Talley with a bouquet. The prom began at 9 p.m. when the king and queen led the grand march. They reigned from a red satin-covered throne.

Members of their court were Shirley West, Joyce Gaud, Dan Anderson, Rosemary Lawson, John Lawrence, Steve Kornfeld, Bill Dorsey and Jody Miller.

John Harvey Austin and his Merry-makers from Lubbock provided the music. Both the prom and the banquet which preceded it used a Mardi Gras theme.

Angel welcomed the senior class. Hayworth, senior class president, gave the response.

Jimmy Porter, incoming student body president, gave the invocation at the dinner. Angel presided as master of ceremonies.

Janice Anderson, Martha Winans and La Juan Horton provided dinner music by playing piano selections. The tables were decorated with red streamers. Menus, printed in French, and programs were decorated with pictures of a couple dancing at a Mardi Gras celebration.

Patsy Clements sang "Basin Street Blues," and James Underwood sang "Old Man River". Nina Fryar accompanied both.

Arlene Mitchell played "Mardi Gras Serenade" on the piano.

Prom decorations included a purple and gold ceiling. A red backdrop behind the orchestra was covered with crowns, half-moons and stars.

About 280 junior and senior class members, guests and sponsors attended. Special guests were W. C. Blankenship, superintendent of schools, and Mrs. Blankenship; Roy Worley, High School principal, and Mrs. Worley; Mayron Shields, assistant High School principal, and Mrs. Shields; Roy Baird and Mrs. Betty Ratliff, student council sponsors; Dell McComb, director of the senior play.

Other junior class officers besides Angel are Louis Stipp, vice president and Claudette Harper, secretary.

Junior class sponsors are Mrs. L. H. Steward, Oscar West, Ione McAllister, Mrs. Ben Winder, Ruth Beasley, Edna Stokes, Mrs. John Annen, Louis Manely, Mary Herring and Arah Phillips.

Girl Scouting's Highest Award

They were presented this afternoon to three Girl Scouts from this area. Receiving curved bar awards, the highest, will be left to right Betty Cain, Ruth Ann Abat and, far right, Mary Lou McElreath of Forsan. Agatha Cagle, center, will receive the second-highest award, a first class badge. Ceremonies will start at 3 p.m. at the City Auditorium and Larson Lloyd, president of the Big Spring Girl Scout Association, will speak.

To Be June Bride

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Lawdermilk, 305 Galveston, have announced the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Billie, to Gerald Schultz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Don Schultz of Enid, Okla.

The Rev. Maple Avery, pastor of the E. 4th Baptist Church, will officiate at the ceremony June 5 in the home of the bride-elect's parents.

Miss Lawdermilk has attended the schools here and the prospective bridegroom attended the Hillsdale, Okla. schools. They will make their home in Enid.

Bride-To-Be

Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Trantham, 1217 W. 5th, are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Joyce, to Wiley V. Styers, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Styers of Union Bridge, Md.

The Rev. Cecil Rhodes, pastor of the West-side Baptist Church, will perform the ceremony sometime in June. The couple will live here while the prospective bridegroom is stationed at Webb Air Force Base.

The Bingham Dance Classes presented the program for assembly Tuesday during activity period. Children of all ages were in group dances and several individual numbers. Several tumbling tricks were also part of the program.

The sophomore class gave a box supper Thursday night in the cafeteria. Bruce Frazier acted as auctioneer. Those there were Sue Lawdermilk, Vancel Rhoton, Lou Ann Nail, Lynn Mitchell, Sue Love, Frances King and Jack Lee, Cecil Hoggard, Ed Hartman, Dick Gilmore, Dallas Williams, Weidon McEreath, Casey Jones, Don Stevens, Lonnie Muse, Don Edwards, Milburn Hoover, Jafelle Davis, Lynelle and Lynn Thomas. Advance followed the supper.

Senior Day was Saturday at H.C.J.C. Student council members of the college entertained seniors from the various high schools in the area.

Walker Bailey, county school superintendent and R. H. Weaver, county judge, were guest lecturers in government classes this past week. Each told how his department was run.

The Bienenotes—Mary Sue White, Lou Ann Nail, Jonell West, and Frances Rice—sang at the pancake supper at the high school cafeteria Friday night. Elizabeth Cooper, director, accompanied them at the piano.

Students of the drama class have been reading the plays, "Arsenic and Old Lace," and "Dial M for Murder."

The student council met Thursday during activity period to discuss Senior Day.

The sophomore class met after the student council meeting to further plans for their banquet and make plans for Activity Night. Activity Night is to be next Friday night.

The night's activities will begin at 7 with a volley ball game between the men faculty members and male students. Women faculty members will act as cheerleaders.

7:45 will be the time for a style show put on by the Sophomore boys. A kiddie dance will follow the style show. Students and faculty are to dress as small children. Prizes will be given the best dressed boy and girl. Everyone is invited.

Some of the recent visitors at the college have been Jesse F. Blair, principal of the Elbow School, R. G. Murray, principal of the Gay Hill School, M. B. McFall, principal of the Midway School, Mr. and Mrs. Conny D. Wade and Marilyn, Mrs. Frances Dall, Mrs. Tracy Smith, Mrs. Raymond An-draws, Mrs. Bernice Slater, Mrs. Charlotte-Merchant, Mrs. Ruby N. Kessecker, Nina Fryar, Eva Ann White, W. C. Arthur, superintendent of Post Schools, and eighth grade students from Elbow, Midway, Gay Hill, and Center Point.

Jackie Fryar, a student at H.C.J.C., has been absent several weeks because of illness.

Lou Ann Nail was a guest of Billy Wayne King for the Junior-Senior prom Friday night at Texas Tech in Lubbock.

Bobbie Adams spent last week in Andrews with her parents.

Marie Petty spent last week at Goldthwaite and Brownwood.

Last Monday several students went to surrounding schools advertising senior day. Schools visited were Forsan, Coahoma, Sterling City, Knott, Garden City, Stanton. Those who went were Marie Petty, Lonnie Muse, James Pierce, Lynn Mitchell, Barbara Blair, and Bill Holbert, sponsor.

Darlene Sneed spent the week end in Seminole with her parents.

Coahoma School Graduating 18

COAHOMA — Eighteen seniors are scheduled to receive their diplomas at commencement exercises for the Coahoma High School here Thursday evening.

Baccalaureate service is set for today, and eighth grade commencement is scheduled for Wednesday evening.

Dr. P. W. Malone, president of the board of trustees for Howard County Junior College, will be the commencement speaker.

The Rev. Royce Womack, pastor of the First Methodist Church in Coahoma, will deliver the baccalaureate sermon.

Speaker for the eighth grade commencement has not yet been selected, according to Supt. H. L. Miller. Also, honor students from the senior class are yet to be announced.

Courthouse Should Be Completed On Outside Shortly

The new Howard County Courthouse should be finished on the outside within two weeks, according to an estimate made today by Bill French, engineer.

Workers are fast nearing completion now, he said. They lack only the finishing up process, a few bricks, and granite siding on the doorways.

Plaster work in the basement and on the first floor is just about complete. Tile work is now going up on the first floor, and plastering has begun on the second level.

Partitions are now being installed on the third floor, and some of the metal doorways are already in on the fourth landing. Bars have been installed on the north and south windows of the jail section of the fourth floor.

Windows are in place all around the Courthouse on all floors. Vaults for the offices of the treasurer and auditor have also been installed.

French still thinks county officials will move into the new building by Sept. 1. Inventories are now being made on furniture and material on hand in the old buildings to see just what will be sold and what will be kept, he said.

91 Seniors Here To Get Their Diplomas

Diplomas will be issued to 91 seniors of Big Spring High School at commencement exercises May 26 in the Senior High auditorium.

The commencement program is set for 8:15 p. m.

Baccalaureate service is set for 8:15 p. m. next Sunday in the auditorium.

The Rev. Ed Welsh, High School Bible instructor and pastor of the Phillips Memorial Baptist Church, will deliver the baccalaureate sermon.

Commencement speaker will be Dr. W. A. Hunt, president of Howard County Junior College. W. C. Blankenship, superintendent of schools, will preside over both baccalaureate and commencement programs.

The High School Master Singers, under direction of Harry Lee Plumley, will sing two religious numbers at the baccalaureate service. Janice Boardman will play the processional and Myrna Talley the recessional.

"Self Reliance in a World of Decision" will be the theme of the commencement. Student speakers will be Steve Kornfeld and Jody Miller, who were selected by the class. Class President Bobby Hayworth will give the farewell address.

Principal Roy D. Worley will certify all graduates, while Assistant Principal Mayron Shields will introduce members of the class. Awards will be presented by Wil-er Roe, director of guidance at Senior High.

Special music will be presented by Shirley Wheat, vocalist.

There are 45 girls and 46 boys in the senior class this year, which is the smallest group to graduate here in 18 years.

This year's seniors compose the class that "didn't exist" prior to a change from 11 grades to the 12 grade system, school officials said.

The senior class for next year is expected to number approximately 180.

Elizabeth Retains II In Royal Title

EDINBURGH, May 16 (AP)—The highest court in Scotland threw out as "incompetent and irrelevant" today a petition by Scottish nationalists to strip Queen Elizabeth of the "II" in her royal title. The Scots insisted the queen is only Elizabeth I, saying the first Elizabeth reigned only over England in those days.

Forsan Slates Baccalaureate For Tonight

FORSAN (Sp) — Dr. P. D. O'Brien, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Big Spring, will speak at the baccalaureate services for the Forsan senior class tonight at 8 in the school auditorium.

Elizabeth Cope, music instructor at Howard County Junior College, Big Spring will play the pre-professional and recessional.

The Rev. J. M. Stagner, pastor of the Forsan Baptist Church, will give the invocation. The High School Chorus will sing "Open Our Eyes" and "The Lord's Prayer."

J. T. Holladay, superintendent of the Forsan schools, will make the announcements and the Rev. R. L. Bowman, pastor of the Forsan Methodist Church, will give the benediction.

Commencement ceremonies will be held Tuesday at 8 p.m. in the school auditorium.

Dr. W. A. Hunt, president of Howard County Junior College, Big Spring, will give the principal address.

Talks will be given by Peggy Knight, valedictorian, with a grade point average of 96.16, and Sara Pike, salutatorian, with an average of 93.75. Arlen White's average of 84.37 makes him the highest ranking boy in the class.

The High School Chorus will sing "You'll Never Walk Alone" and "By the Bend of the River." "The Halls of Ivy" will be sung by the High School Sextette.

W. M. Romans will present the service club awards and the president of the school board will present the diplomas. Holladay will give the other awards and scholarships.

The invocation will be given by W. J. White and J. T. Eubanks, minister of the Forsan Church of Christ, will offer the benediction. Miss Cope will play the pre-professional and recessional.

17 Graduating At Knott School

KNOTT — Baccalaureate service for Knott High School seniors will be held at 8 p.m. today at the First Baptist Church. The Rev. Leslie Kelly, pastor of the Fairview Baptist Church, will deliver the baccalaureate sermon.

Commencement exercises have been scheduled for 8 p.m. Wednesday in the school gymnasium, with the Rev. Cecil Tune, pastor of the Ackerly Methodist Church to be the speaker.

The eighth grade commencement will be held Tuesday evening. Jess Miles, member of the Knott school faculty, will be speaker.

Seventeen seniors are scheduled to receive diplomas Wednesday night, while 10 eighth graders will be promoted into high school.

Highway Group To Discuss Changing Of U.S. 87 Name

Proposal for changing the name of International Highway 87 to Henry Ford International Memorial Highway will be up for consideration when the International 87 Association meets in Colorado Springs, Colo., next month.

J. H. Greene, Big Spring Chamber of Commerce manager and one of the city's leading highway boosters, Saturday reported Big Spring will have a delegation at the highway convention. Number of Big Springers to attend has not been determined.

One of the group, however, is expected to be H. M. Rainbolt, chairman of the Chamber's tourist development committee. Rainbolt recently conducted a campaign enlarging Big Spring membership in the association and raising some $500 for publicizing the international highway.

The International 87 Highway Association will hold its convention June 7-9 in the Broadmoor Hotel at Colorado Springs.

Governor Dan Thornton of Colorado tentatively has accepted an invitation to attend. Jesse E. Williams, U. S. Bureau of Public Roads, will be one of the speakers. Reports on progress of highway improvements in Canada and Mexico will be heard.

Hearings On Bills Close Next Week

AUSTIN, May 16 (AP)—The tedious task of hearing bills will close next week with only five measures before four legislative committees. One is a suggested amendment which would extend state aid to persons over 18 who are unable to make a living because of mental or physical disability.

THE WORLD IN HIS HAND

Got the world in your hand young man? You have the best part of it. Your hand is on the church door—it will open a world of love and hope and fulfillment for you, a world of goodness that you can hold on to.

There will be other doors that open on other things, plenty of them, things that won't seem fair, that will hurt, that will let you down. Hold on to the world you have. Enter it often.

Some of us have tried other doors. When we did we lost the look that is in your eyes.

Some of us have found your door and your look again after years of searching.

Hold on to the world you have young fellow. Someone who loves you put that door within your reach, someone with wisdom enough to know that you can never find a world worth clinging to outside the Church.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

It is now clear from all the evidence that Japan was a defeated nation before the atom bomb was exploded on Hiroshima on August 6, 1945, and had actually made efforts to reach the United States for an armistice through Russia, which was then still a neutral Japan capitulated on August 14 (V-J Day). It was the achievement of the American Navy and the Air Force which defeated Japan by destroying her supply lines so that neither food nor raw materials could reach that country.

Bible Words to Live by

It is not easy to select any one Bible verse as being of more help than others; but I think I would choose the fifth verse of the second chapter of Philippians.

"Let this mind be in you which was also in Christ Jesus."

Here in one brief sentence, the master preacher of the Christian Church states the aim of the Christian life. We cannot, of course, attain to the mind of Christ in so far as quantity is concerned, because He is divine and we are human; but through His marvelous grace, it is possible for us to have in us the same characteristics of holy and sacrificial living which came to such expression in His earthly life. It is a high standard and calls for divine help, but if there were enough people in the world with the mind of Christ; it would sweeten and elevate human society and result in a sane and orderly world.

Sunday Talk: Tree Swallows

Have you ever made friends with wild birds? Here is an account which Mary Whitman sent me about a success of that kind:

"Two tree swallows have nested in one of my bird houses for several years. Last year, during the nesting season, I tried to have them take feathers from my hand. At first they would stay about three feet away from me, but they kept coming closer and closer. After about a week, the male swooped down and took the feathers from my fingers."

Riding THE GRUB LINE

With Franklin Reynolds

Five men sat on their horses. Their hands were tied behind them. Around their necks were caught rope loops with the other ends of the five ropes tied around the limbs of a tree above them. They had been charged with stealing cattle.

The five were surrounded by other horsemen—grim-faced men. One of these others spoke in his usual voice, a voice he admitted was too loud to be used indoors.

"Men," the speaker said, "let's let little Eddie go. He just got in bad company."

And then fearfully little Eddie answered the big black-whiskered one who had interceded for him.

"Hang my brothers if you dare. Shanghai Pierce, you were the first man to teach me to steal a cow. And if I live I swear before my dying brothers that I'll kill you if it takes my last breath."

Shanghai Pierce, six feet four inches tall, one of Texas' richest, most flamboyant and colorful cattlemen made another decision quickly. He nodded to his companions. Five horses were slipped on their rumps and jumped leaving their former riders dangling in the air. Poor little Eddie—he had gone to meet his maker.

Why, reasoned Pierce, should he save the life of a man who had vowed to kill him? That just simply wouldn't be good business sense, and Shanghai Pierce was a business man as well as a cowboy.

Besides there were other ways for a man to defend himself than by facing a skill-crazy gunman.

Pictureque Pierce, a New Englander who had arrived in Texas, via Virginia, with his great height, booming voice and less than a dollar when 18-years-old, had learned much in the years he had spent bulking up one of the Lone Star State's "big pasture" cattle empires. He was, too, a very practical man. This big graphic character, with a couple of big pistols swung from a Bascador belt might have been too good a target for some fame-seeking gunfighter. So Pierce made the code of the Old West an investment in a very practical form of life insurance.

No history of the cattle industry in Texas can ever be complete without frequent mention of the spectacular Shanghai Pierce, and yet up until now no record of history has ever performed the task of putting the story of this man's life between the two covers of a most readable, most fascinating and exciting book.

But now the job has been done, in fine form, by Chris Emmett, a Texan, now resident in San Antonio and a graduate of the University of Texas. The volume has just been published by the University of Oklahoma Press; is available at all the book stores, and no library of cow country history will be complete without this story of this man.

And there was the statue of himself he had erected under which he was to be buried that he ordered with the specific instruction that it was to be higher than any ever put up to the memory of any Confederate general, "a fair likeness of myself" and one that would cause people to stop and stare and say "There stands Old Pierce."

When the statue had been put in place and he looked at it and was asked if it was the "fair likeness" he ordered, he replied that since he couldn't see himself what did his companion think about it?

He cursed the people of a Kansas trail town with the promise he would never return there because while he could get a nice clean, comfortable room in the hotel for two-bits for himself, they were charging him ten fees of twenty cents a head for his cattle there were standing out in the weather.

On another occasion, when a hotel was full up, he bought a half interest for $15,000, and disposed of it for $100,000. He was not letting the world forget that he owned "nearly all the cattle in Christendom."

In San Antonio a pickpocket stole an enormous diamond stud from the front of his shirt, and other cattlemen in the hotel lobby laughed heartily at his misfortune.

Then Pierce laughed, too, louder and longer than any of the others. One of his friends wanted to know what he found so funny about his obviously heavy loss.

Pierce shouted: "Because I'm the only one entitled to laugh, the only one in the crowd who can afford to buy another one like it!"

But one of the best of the Pierce stories was when he took Mrs. Pierce and two daughters of a friend on a tour of Europe. Old Shanghai made it a point to call on the kings and queens but when he returned home he was obliged to report to his South Texas friends: "Every potentate in Europe except the Pope was gone from home when I called."

"Did you see any of the Papal Bulls at the Vatican?" a friend inquired.

"Nary a damn critter. Nary a critter," he answered, "but I did see some fine old cows there, just out of town."

Doing business in hundreds of thousands of dollars, he never overlooked seeing to it that a cowboy would reimburse him two-bits for a pair of socks.

Once when he reached an Illinois town with a large trail herd of Longhorn steers he noticed a sign designating a speed limit of 10 miles an hour for the fast stepping buggy horses. He smiled and stopped his herd and called his riders around him. "Boys," he told them, "I don't know whether we can make it or not but we'll try!"

They stampeded the people in the town by stampeding the cattle through it at a dead run. Old Shanghai liked to have his fun, too.

These are just a few of the many many Shanghai Pierce stories that Emmett recalls in his good biography of this fabulous cowboy who died the day after Christmas in 1900. Intertwined with the story of Pierce, who believed in putting his "Trust in Providence" if the breaching breaks, is a background of the banking, mercantile and cattle business practices of that period during which the "big pastures" were claimed and then broken up as the settlers moved in to establish homesteads.

Best of all this volume, in addition to being a most valuable contribution to the authenticated history of the cow country, is one that everybody will enjoy. The world has heard of the Fabulous Texas. Old Shanghai Pierce came near being the original of these, and with all his eccentricities he was a real cowman.

Sanitarian Has Advice To Keep Away Insects

For the homeowner who wishes to keep flies and other insects from congregating around his garbage can, and from flights into the kitchen and dining room, Lige Fox has some advice.

Fox, city-county sanitarian, recommends treatment of garbage storage areas with a "wet spray," insecticide, preferably those containing lindane or chlordane.

The toxic material may be applied with an ordinary spray gun, and cost won't be too great, Fox says.

There are a few other places around a house where a spray job probably would cut down on insect infestations.

The sanitarian suggests spraying under dense and low-growing shrubbery, around evaporative-type air conditioners, and in all other damp or dark, cool places.

The insecticide may be pumped directly onto the air conditioner pads with beneficial results.

The same insecticide may be applied around door and window frames and on screens with a small brush, leaving a residue which will kill any insect with which it comes in contact.

There aren't supposed to be any sink drains or other conditions open where waste might accumulate, but if there is these also should be given a heavy spraying, Fox advises.

The lindane or chlordane should be mixed in five to 10 per cent strength. The sanitarian recommends that the strength be doubled in cases where manufacturer's directions recommend concentrations of less than five per cent.

Lawmakers' Tactics May Be Puzzling To Laymen

By JOE PICKLE
Herald Austin Bureau

AUSTIN — It is entirely within the realm of possibility for a country boy at least, to become slightly confused by the parliamentary intricacies of the Legislature.

You easily get the feeling that this is where we came in, when it really isn't at all. Moreover, an eye vote can mean no, and a vote in the preliminaries may be the little vote that wasn't there in the final showdown.

While not so rich in all the elements and uncertainties as a similar skirmish a week ago, the battle which fixed final adjournment date for the House is somewhat a case in point.

It all started innocently enough. Rep. John Crosswhite of Dallas simply moved that the House, with the Senate concurring, adjourn sine die at noon on May 27. You would think that members could quickly dispose of such a matter yes or no. But not so, for certainly we've got to have speeches.

Before forenals unfolded, however, Rep. Barefoot (honest, that's his name) Sanders of Dallas moved to postpone consideration of the resolution until Monday at 11 a.m.

Under the rules, the question to postpone would have to be put first. Before this could happen, there was a motion to table the motion to postpone. Naturally, the motion to table takes precedence.

The motion to table prevailed 70-67, and this was something of a tip-off on the line-up.

This was so close that the loser called for a verification. Meantime, someone moved a call of the House, which meant that the doors would be locked technically and the sergeant-at-arms would be sent out to corral truant members.

This motion prevailed 82-47, which made it appear that possibly opponents of adjournment might have gained some strength.

When the motion to dispense with verification of the vote to table failed 81-47, lacking the necessary two-thirds majority, adjournment opponents brightened.

Members clamored for strict enforcement of the rules, and the sergeant-at-arms was instructed to pick up the keys (to voting mechanism on members' desks) of absent members. On a tight vote, buttons on desks of absent members have a mysterious way of getting pushed. To ascertain who truly was absent, the speaker instructed members to punch their buttons to register present. This showed 141 on hand, nine absent.

Someone called for a verification of the registration, but the speaker ruled against it. When the motion to table was adjusted, however, there was an adjustment of totals and the speaker ordered a roll call to verify the registration. So the clerk called the roll, noting that the person answering was actually present.

The previous question was moved by an adjournment proponent. This meant shutting off debate, except for a couple of summations, and an immediate vote on the sine-die resolution. Speaker Reuben Senterfitt declined to put the previous question because he said he felt so important a matter required fairly full discussion. This opened the avenue for a series of impassioned speeches.

Then Rep. Will Lee Smith of Port Arthur moved postponement of a vote on the sine die resolution for one week. Quickly there was a motion to table his motion. Bingo, there was a motion to put the previous question (on the motion to postpone) and it carried 73-66. Request for verification was overruled because of the wide margin.

At this juncture, Rep. Lamar Ziveley of Temple moved to allow as many as wanted to speak on the Smith motion. This lost 71-78.

"Mr. Speaker," asked Rep. Anita Blair of El Paso, "how much are 71 and 78?"

"Why 146, Miss Blair," answered the speaker.

"Then how come 146 are voting when only 141 are present?"

"If any members voted who weren't here, will they please advise the chair," replied the speaker. That was a puzzle, but it got a laugh.

Rep. Sam Wohlford of Stratford moved for reconsideration of the vote by which the previous question was ordered on the Smith motion. Point of order was raised that the gentleman did not vote on the prevailing side, but he had so voted. (In tight votes, frequently one member will vote with the opposition so as to be able to ask for reconsideration.) Rep. Joe Kilgore of McAllen moved to table the motion to reconsider, and he won 77-63. The pattern was taking shape.

Rep. Sam Wohlford of Stratford moved for reconsideration of the vote by which the previous question was ordered on the Smith motion. Point of order was raised that the gentleman did not vote on the prevailing side, but he had so voted. (In tight votes, frequently one member will vote with the opposition so as to be able to ask for reconsideration.) Rep. Joe Kilgore of McAllen moved to table the motion to reconsider, and he won 77-63. The pattern was taking shape.

question—the motion to table the Smith motion, and it prevailed 82-65 (those 146 votes again). Re-signing that the moment of reckoning was at hand, adjournment opponents piled questions at speakers for adjournment and urged that members not cast a vote they couldn't take back. It was all to no avail. The Crosswhite resolution to adjourn stood up 77-67. Once more the chair declined a request to verify the vote.

Just to nail it down, proponents moved to reconsider and to table, a device which prevents the matter from again coming up, and this sailed through 82-66 (we've got 148 total now). This was 17 motions! A dozen parliamentary inquiries, nine ballots and 2 1/2 hours later.

Just where we came in, but not quite.

Weather Predicting Costs More Than All Government In 1834

By FRANCIS J. KELLY
WASHINGTON, May 16 (AP)—The United States spends more money forecasting the weather now than it cost to run the whole government during Andy Jackson's administration.

Whether either the climate or the government has improved since then is a matter of personal opinion. But it is a fact that the Weather Bureau's appropriation for the last fiscal year was $26,970,000 in contrast to total government expenditures of $24,601,982 in 1834. And the dollar would buy more than three times as much wholesale then too. The tax collectors are taking in 68.5 billion dollars a year now, compared with $21,791,935 then—about 3,000 times as much.

Federal taxes on cigarettes—unknown in Old Hickory's time—were more than 1½ billion dollars last year. Congress appropriated 33 million dollars to run the Selective Service System, 69 million for the Forest Service and 90 million for the FBI.

Former President Truman, in his last budget before leaving office in January, estimated that a total of $78,600,000,000 would be needed to operate the government in the next fiscal year, which starts July 1. However, some top Republicans have been talking of cutting this by six to 10 billion. President Eisenhower says he hopes to save 8½ billion dollars in new appropriations in the next fiscal year. It does not follow, however, that actual spending would drop that much, even if Congress goes along. Much of the money Congress appropriates one year is carried over to future years. There have been estimates that an 8½ billion cut in next year's appropriations might mean a reduction of only 5½ billion in actual spending.

Although individual income taxes, corporate levies and excise (sales) taxes now bring in the bulk of the revenue, in Jackson's day the government relied chiefly on customs duties and cash from the sale of public lands.

It cost only $469,074 to operate Congress, but at that time there were only about half as many members. They received $6 for each day's attendance. Congress set up $61,731,725 for its salaries and running expenses last year, when it had 331 members.

Some of the main obligations of the government more than a century ago were $2,435,403 for the Army and $3,901,356 for the Naval establishment; Revolutionary War pensions $3,507,484, Indian affairs $1,912,981, breakwaters and piers $435,761 and improving rivers $240,000. A total of $658,608 was appropriated for general expenses of the executive departments and $338,758 for the Judiciary in 1833.

Other items included $313,930 for light houses, $753,688 for roads, $18,313 for coastal surveys and $117,166 for the Military Academy.

The Army stood at a low level of manpower—less than half a modern division. Hugh Murray, an early-day student of government, attributed this in a book to a combination of "economy and political jealousy."

Murray jotted down the regulars' strength as two regiments of dragoons, four regiments of artillery and seven of infantry, plus the Corps of Engineers, the topographical engineers and the ordnance department.

This made about 7,600 men. Including one major general, three brigadier generals, 19 colonels, 15 lieutenant colonels, 28 majors, and 140 captains.

Murray added: "The defense of the country is, however, mainly confined to the militia, which in point of numbers is sufficiently formidable, amounting nominally to upwards of 1,200,000 men. But this vast body is extremely deficient in discipline and subordination, and even imperfectly armed and organized."

THAR'S NO STOPPIN' HER!!- SHE'S GONE WILD!!- BUT, MEBBE, BY TH' TIME SHE GETS THAR, HER REAL GOODNESS WILL COME THROUGH-- AN' SHE WON'T USE 'IT'!!

HOWDY, MAMMY--??- YO' IS HIDING SOMETHING BEHIND YOR BACK, WHUT IS IT? AH CAIN'T NOT LIE, SON, IT IS-- GULP!! 'IT'!!

BUT, MAMMY!! WHEN YO' BRANG 'US' 'IT' HOME, Y'ARS AGO, YO' SAID YO' WAS GONNA KEEP 'IT' LOCKED UP FOREVER-- SO HOOMANITY WOULDN'T SUFFER FUM 'IT'!!

THASS RIGHT, AH DID SAY THAT-- BUT THIS IS A CRISIS!! TH' ONLY WAY AH KIN WIN BACK MAH TITLE, IS BY USIN' 'IT'!!

BUT, MAMMY--YO'LL NEVER INJOY ANYTHING YO' WINS, BY USIN' 'IT'!!-YORE CONSCIENCE WILL BOTHER YO' FO' THE REST OF YORE NATCHERAL LIFE- NOTHIN' MATTERS, EXCEPT WINNING BACK TH' CHAMPEENSHIP!!

SOB!!-FO' THE FIRST TIME-- IN MAH LIFE, AH IS ALMOST ASHAMED OF MAH SWEET, WRINKLED OLD MAMMY!!

BLACK RUFF, YO' INHOOMIN FEEND!!- AH TOLD YO' T STOP SHOOTIN' THE NEIGHBORS IN THE BACK!!- IT'S CROOL!!

ALL RIGHT!! ALL RIGHT!! DON'T NAG ME!! ER--??- WHUT IS YO' GOT THAR? AH-- BLUSH!-HATES TO ADMIT 'IT'-- BUT, IT IS--'IT'!!

'IT'--SHUDER! W-WHAT IS YO' GONNA DO WIF 'IT'?? BLUSH!-AH IS GONNA USE 'IT' IN A FIGHT TO WIN BACK MAH CHAMPEENSHIP!!

WAH!!-LOOK WHO'S CALLIN' ME INHOOMIN!!-LOOK WHO'S CALLIN' ME CROOL!!

Prince Valiant IN THE DAYS OF KING ARTHUR by Harold R. Foster

Synopsis: NEVER HAS KING ARTHUR BEEN SO HARD PRESSED AS HERE AT TINTAGEL, HIS BIRTHPLACE! HE AND HIS KNIGHTS FIGHT MIGHTILY AGAINST THE FIERCE Hordes THAT ASSAIL THEM. BUT EACH DAY A SHIP ARRIVES FROM BRISTOL, BRINGING FRESH WARRIORS AND SUPPLIES, WHILE IN THE RAIN-SODDEN CAMP OF THE SAXONS FAMINE STALKS.

FORAGING PARTIES ARE SENT OUT TO BRING IN FOOD-- BUT PRINCE VALIANT ORGANIZES THE CELTIC TRIBES AND THE SMALLER PARTIES ARE AMBUSHED, WHILE FROM THE PATH OF THE LARGER BANDS, EVERYTHING IS REMOVED SO THAT THEY WANDER IN A DESERT.

THE GREAT ARMY OF DANES AND SAXONS THAT STARTED OUT TO CONQUER ALL BRITAIN IS FACED WITH DISASTER. KING ARTHUR AND A HANDFUL OF KNIGHTS HAVE HELD THEM UNTIL FAMINE HAS BECOME A REAL THREAT.

NEXT MORNING ARTHUR IS AWAKENED BY A STRANGE QUIET. HE HURRIES TO THE BATTLEMENTS AND HIS GRINNING WARRIORS POINT TO THE EMPTY ENCAMPMENT THAT ONLY YESTERDAY SWARMED WITH SAXONS!

THE KING SITS DOWN TO A LEISURELY BREAKFAST. "I GUESS WE WILL SOON HEAR FROM PRINCE VALIANT," HE SAYS. "SPEAK OF ANGELS AND YOU HEAR THEIR WINGS," ANSWERS A CHEERY VOICE.

A BATTLE-SCARRED AND TRAVEL-STAINED WARRIOR STANDS IN THE DOORWAY, RECOGNIZED AS PRINCE VALIANT ONLY BY LAUGHING EYES AND WIDE GRIN. NEXT WEEK--The Exodus.

RUSTY RILEY by FRANK GODWIN

GET BEHIND THE WHEEL OF THAT CAR, KID, AN' DRIVE TO THE PLACE I TELL YOU... I'LL BE IN THE BACK SEAT WITH A GUN, SO DON'T GET ANY IDEAS!

GOLLY, YOU'VE GOT ROOR MISS DOOLEY IN THERE... YOU SHOULDN'T DO THIS, SHE'S SICK!

WHAT'RE WE GOING TO DO HERE? THIS IS JUST AN OLD SPRINGS HOUSE!

EXACTLY... AND IT'S GOING TO BE THE PERMANENT ADDRESS OF YOU AN' THE OLD WOMAN FROM NOW ON!

JEEPERS, MISTER, YOU CAN'T LEAVE US LOCKED UP IN THIS PLACE. MISS DOOLEY... SHE'S AWFUL SICK... SHE'LL... SHE'LL DIE!

VERY SAD, BUT YOU SHOULDN'T HAVE BEEN SO NOSY!

YOU SAY YOU THINK SOMETHING'S WRONG OUT AT THE DOOLEY FARM?... BETTER GIVE ME THE FACTS, SAM...

IT'S REALLY JUST A HUNCH... BUT I AGREE WITH JIM WOODS THAT IT WOULDN'T HURT TO RUN OUT THERE... COME ON, SHERIFF, I'VE GOT MY CAR OUTSIDE.

IT'S QUEER THAT NOBODY ANSWERS THE BELL... WAIT HERE! I'M GOING TO TAKE A LOOK IN THE BARN!

THERE SURELY OUGHT TO BE SOMEBODY AROUND!

NOTHING IN THE BARN BUT TWO HALF-STARVED HORSES... COME ON, WE'RE GOING IN THE HOUSE!

THE DOOR ISN'T LOCKED!

GOOD NIGHT! LOOK AT THIS ROOM!

LOOKS LIKE THEY'VE MADE A QUICK GETAWAY... BUT BURNED IF I KNOW WHY!

WAIT A MINUTE, SHERIFF... THAT PUP WAS WITH THE BOY WHO CASHED THE CHECK IN MY FEEP STORE! HE'S SURE ACTIN' FUNNY!

WOOF!... WOOF-WOOF WOOF!

WELL, NOT POSITIVE!

IT'S NOT IN THE MAIL-BOX!

OR UNDER THE MAT!

WHY DON'T Y' BUST A WINDOW? AND SPEND TEN BUCKS?

BOOST... C'MON, PUSH!

LOUIE HAD IT IN HIS HAT!

NAW, THERE'S NO DOUBT WHO THE RAIPERS WAS! THE WHOLE TOWN HEARD 'EM CALLIN' HIS NAME!

WHAT A MASSACRE THAT MUSTA BEEN! SIX PEOPLE KILLED AND MORE'N TEN-THOUSAND DOLLARS STOLE!

YEH, IT'S GOT FOLKS PRETTY KILED! IT'S BEEN MORE'N A YEAR SINCE JOAQUIN PULLED ANYTHING! MOST FOLKS FIGGERED HE WAS DEAD!

THAT FILTHY, ROTTEN MURietta GANG! I SURE HOPE THEY GET 'EM!

I AM NOT HUNGRY!

HAVE YOU DECIPED?

WHO DOES THEES TO ME? WHO USES MY NAME TO KILL AND STEAL? IS IT IMPOSSIBLE FOR ME TO LIVE IN PEACE?!

TARZAN

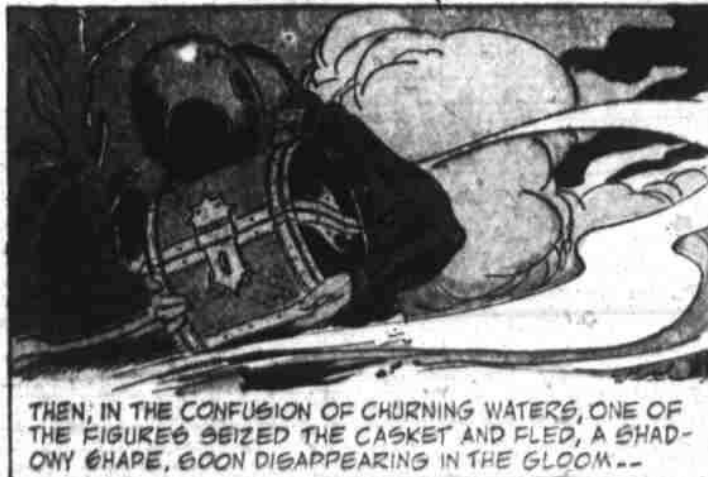

By Edgar Rice Burroughs

TARZAN PLACED THE CASKET ON A ROCK AS THE HUNGRY MONSTER SWAM DIRECTLY IN THEIR MIDST. AND NOW, WITH DARING AND COURAGE, THE COMBATANTS JABBED THEIR WEAPONS INTO THE FISH'S THICK SKIN!

BLEEDING HURT, A CREATURE OF DEMONICAL FURY, THE SHARK SINGLED TARZAN FOR ATTACK.

THEN, IN THE CONFUSION OF CHURNING WATERS, ONE OF THE FIGURES SEIZED THE CASKET AND FLED, A SHAD-OWY SHAPE, SOON DISAPPEARING IN THE GLOOM--

FINALLY, AFTER BEING PIERCED MANY TIMES IN ITS VULNERABLE BELLY, THE SHARK CONVULSED AND DRIFTED TOWARD THE SURFACE-- DEAD.

BUT NOW THE VICTORS DISCOVERED THEIR BETRAYAL-- AND WERE FILLED WITH DEBPAIR-- FOR THE THIEF, IF NOT YET ON SHORE, COULD EASILY HIDE IN THIS MAKING FOREST!

Panel 1: HAW! THOSE KIDS OF FOOZY'S ARE MIGHTY QUICK ON TH' PICK-UP!
BUT I BETTER BLOW FAST! IF FOOZY KNEW I'D GIVEN MOE, JOE AN' BEAU TH' IDEA OF BUILDIN' THAT BIG BOW AN' ARROW, HE'D SKIN ME!

Panel 2: HI, FOOZY... WHERE Y'GOIN'?
BEEN HEARIN' STRANGE NOISES DOWN IN TH' DRAWS. THOUGHT I'D GO DOWN AN' CHECK TH' CAUSE!

Panel 3: WHAT KIND OF NOISES YOU LOOKIN' FOR?
A THUMPIN' OR BANGIN', IT'S HARD JUST TO SAY! AH! THERE IT IS NOW, A-COMIN' THIS WAY!

Panel 4: WELL, I'LL BE A RING-TAILED GOBBLYGOOK! HERE'S WHAT HITCHA! HEY, OOP, LOOK!
EA?
PFFT! OH! IT WAS TH' KIDS...
Ooo... MY BIG MOUTH!

Panel 5: KIDS? Y'MEAN MY JOE, MOE AN' BEAU? WITH A THING LIKE THIS? OH, MY NO!
THEY'RE TOO WELL BROUGHT UP, OF THAT I'LL SWEAR, LESS'N INFLUENCE BAD'S BEEN BROUGHT TO BEAR!

Panel 6: OF COURSE THAT'S POSSIBLE; BUT TELL ME WHO COULD INFLUENCE MY KIDS, 'CEPTIN' MAYBE YOU?
BH? WHUZZAT? OH...

Panel 7: GOSH, PAL, Y'GOT ME, THERE! I WOULDN'T KNOW!

Captain EASY

by Leslie Kupper

Panel 1: LOOK, MR. MCKEE! EASY DID GET TH' JOB AS OLE WAT CLINKER'S CHAUFFEUR!
GOOD. I'M CONVINCED THE OLD MAGER HAS PLENTY OF ASSETS TO PAY WHAT HE OWES ME.

Panel 2: NOW EASY CAN KEEP HIS EYES OPEN FOR THEM SO MY LAWYER CAN COLLECT THRU THE COURTS!
YES, SUH!

Panel 3: I MAY BE HERE AN HOUR, BUT I WON'T TOLERATE YOU SITTING IDLE! BE CHECKING OVER THE CAR, TIGHTENING BOLTS ETC...
HMM, HE'S TAKING THAT BOX BEHIND ONE O' THE BUILDINGS. HE'S SUSPECTED OF OWNING THO ITS IN THE NAME OF A REBECCA DOKNS.

Panel 4: HOLY SMOKE, HE'S BURYING IT! I DUNNO BUT ONE THING A MAGER ISAPT TO BURY!

Panel 5: REBECCA! WHAT ARE YOU DOING IN THAT OUTFIT?
LOOK, GRANDFATHER... THE LAST REHEARSAL BEFORE THE DANCE RECITAL IS TONIGHT! I WORKED HARD TO GET FOR MY LESSONS AND I'M NOT GOING TO MISS IT!

Panel 6: LET HER GO, SUH, I'LL STAY WITH HER IF YOU WISH.
IF YOU REFUSE, I WON'T SIGN ANY MORE OF YOUR OLD PAPERS, EVER! I'M TIRED OF—QUIET, REBECCA! ALL RIGHT, COMPOUND YOU... GO AHEAD!

Panel 7: SORRY ABOUT THAT SCENE, EASY, BUT HE'S BEEN WORSE RECENTLY... WORKING LATE EACH NIGHT IN THE CELLAR WITH THE DOOR BARRED! I THINK HE'S FRIGHTENED OF SOMEONE!
VERY INTERESTING! SO YOU'RE REBECCA DORN, LEGALLY THE OWNER OF HIS PROPERTY, INCLUDING THIS HOUSE! THOSE PAPER YOU SIGNED DID THAT!

Panel 8: WHAT! BUT WHY WOULD HE DO—
NO ESCAPE, BEING SUED FOR HIS DEBTS! YOU DON'T HAVE TO BE TREATED AS A PRISONER, NOTICE IN A POSITION TO BE A BIT INDEPENDENT—
SO! I THOUGHT YOU MIGHT BE PEVING INTO MY AFFAIRS! YOU'RE FIRED!

New FAB WASHES WHITER

NOTHING WHITENS LIKE FAB! You'll actually find that Fab washes most of your clothes whiter without a bleach—whiter than any soap, whiter than any washing product known with a bleach in the wash water.

IF YOU ADD A BLEACH TO FAB for your few stained, extra-soiled clothes, they'll come whiter, too—far whiter than with any other product and a bleach. For new Fab's exclusive whitening action is not affected by bleach.

WHAT'S MORE—FAB OUTCLEANS any soap! Washes out dirt, leaves no dulling soap scum.

SAVE WORK! SAVE HANDS! Fab immediately loosens dirt and keeps it floating in the wash water. No soaking is needed! No dulling soap scum to rinse out—even in hardest water. And Fab is wonderfully mild to hands!

CUT DISHWASHING TIME IN HALF!

Fab soaks dishes, glasses, pots and pans shiny clean! If a bit of food clings, the dishcloth whisks it off. Just a quick rinse and dishes drain sparkling clean. No hard scrubbing, no wiping—with Fab!

COLGATE HAS PROVED CONCLUSIVELY THAT BRUSHING TEETH RIGHT AFTER EATING STOPS TOOTH DECAY BEST! IN FACT, BRUSHING TEETH RIGHT AFTER EATING WITH COLGATE DENTAL CREAM STOPS MORE DECAY FOR MORE PEOPLE THAN EVER BEFORE RECORDED IN DENTIFRICE HISTORY!

LATER— THANKS TO COLGATE DENTAL CREAM NOW DON IS MARY'S LAMBIE-PIE FOR HE'S BECOME A COLGATE GUY!

Brushing Teeth Right After Eating with COLGATE DENTAL CREAM STOPS BAD BREATH and STOPS TOOTH DECAY!

Colgate Dental Cream instantly stops bad breath in 7 out of 10 cases that originate in the mouth! And the Colgate way of brushing teeth right after eating is the best home method known to help stop tooth decay!

PURE, WHITE, SAFE COLGATE'S WILL NOT STAIN OR DISCOLOR!

TOOTS & CASPER

THERE WAS $42.88 IN MY PIGGY BANK WHEN I COUNTED IT LAST NIGHT! I TOLD CASPER TO DEPOSIT IT FOR ME.

HELLO! DID YOU DEPOSIT MY $42.88 FOR ME?

I CHANGED IT INTO BILLS AND INVESTED IT FOR YOU, TOOTS!

COL. HOOVER WENT TO THE RACES TODAY SO I TOLD HIM TO BET YOUR $42.88 ON "SCRAMMY" IN THE 4TH.

YOU BET MY MONEY ON A HORSE--THE MONEY I WAS SO LONG SAVING! OH HOW COULD YOU?

DON'T CRY, MONEY! I WON'T DO IT AGAIN! IF THE HORSE LOSES, I'LL PAY YOU BACK.

YOU PROMISED NEVER TO GAMBLE AGAIN--YOU'VE BROKEN YOUR WORD--AND MY HEART!

CASPER, THIS IS THE LAST STRAW--I'M LEAVING YOU! IF I CAN'T TRUST YOU, THERE'S NO SENSE OF US BEING TOGETHER.

SOMEONE'S AT THE DOOR, TOOTS.

TOOTS, YOUR HORSE WON, SO YOU WIN $210.88! HERE'S YOUR MONEY!

WHADDAYA KNOW! THE HORSE WON!

WELL, NOW, THAT'S DIFFERENT! IN FACT, QUITE DIFFERENT!

HERE COMES THE TAXI YOU ORDERED, TOOTS.

TELL HIM I WON'T NEED HIM NOW! I'M STAYING HERE--AFTER ALL, GOOD HUSBANDS DON'T GROW ON TREES.

I'LL FORGIVE YOU THIS TIME, DARLING, BUT DON'T LET IT HAPPEN AGAIN!

DON'T WORRY, I'LL NOT STICK MY NECK OUT AGAIN! IF THAT HORSE HAD LOST, MY NAME WOULD BE MUD INSTEAD OF DARLINGS.
