

Hail Damages Some Crops Past Saturday

The first hail damage of any consequences to crops to be reported here this year came last Saturday afternoon, with a number of farmers living directly south and southwest of this city reporting the damages.

Only two farmers in the area had any wheat, but those fields were badly beaten down by the fine pelting hailstones. Farmers who suffered this loss were Garrett Blair and W. J. Matthews, with Matthews reporting a 50 per cent loss and Blair reporting a 30 per cent damage.

Small fruit suffered from the hail also, with most farmers in the wake of the hail strip estimating at least 50 per cent of the fruit knocked from the trees. Perry Owens said that hailstones as large as quail eggs fell thick at his place, and W. R. Minter likewise reports lots of hail, adding, however, that the stones were small.

The hail strip seems to have been at least a mile and a half wide and some six miles in length. A heavy deluge of rain accompanied the hailstorm, and farmers throughout the affected area will be required to repeat on most of their early plantings.

John Armstrong reports slight hail damage at his place south of town, while E. E. Booth, living just south of the Armstrong place, escaped damage. A dashing shower, amounting to a quarter of an inch of moisture, fell in Farwell, with only a few small pellets of hail.

Two More Selectees Leave For Training

Two more Farmer county boys left here Wednesday for Fort Bliss, Texas, where they will spend the next twelve months in training in the armed forces of the United States.

The two leaving here Wednesday were Edgar Charles Zwick and William Monroe Herod.

Tulon G. White, clerk of the local board, said today that no further calls were expected of Farmer county during the present month. Local board officials have previously estimated that not more than eight more men would be called from this county between now and July 1st, when the first year's quota for the entire nation is scheduled to be filled.

Due to the fact that two members of the local board are farmers and are busy with planting operations at this time, no scheduled meeting of the board has been announced for the immediate future. Mailing out of the remaining 500 questionnaires is expected to be taken up when the board meets again, White said.

BUILDING NEW HOME

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Massongill are building a new small home on First Street in Farwell, which they will occupy when completed. Their sons, Tom and Clyde, are doing the work. The structure will consist of three rooms and a bath, with a stucco exterior.

BOLTON ACCEPTED

Joe Wayne Bolton has been accepted at the U. S. army induction station at Fort Bliss, Texas, as a volunteer from this county, to replace Cortez Billington, rejected, it was announced here today by officials of the Farmer County Selective Service Board.

Lazbuddy Man Given Chance To Survive

"Has" McCurdy, of the Lazbuddy community, is given a chance to survive injuries sustained Saturday night, when he became entangled in a tractor-drawn planter on his father's place in the Lazbuddy community.

His physician stated the first of the week that the patient was doing nicely and had a good chance to recover.

McCurdy was taken to the Clovis Memorial hospital following the accident, where he is receiving treatment. He became entangled in the machine while alone in the field and suffered severe injuries. It is said that it was some time before assistance reached him.

ANOTHER GENERAL RAIN

Farmer county and adjoining territory was being drenched with another general rain at the time The Tribune was preparing to go to press Wednesday morning. The rain began falling early in the morning, following a rather severe electrical storm, and a gentle downpour had continued for several hours at the time this was written.

The moisture will be of great benefit to recently planted crops. However, many farmers were not up with their planting operations as yet, and would have preferred the rain a few days later.

Former Resident Dies When Car Hits Mule

Funeral services for Charles A. Malone, Jr., former Farwell boy, were held in Plainview last Sunday afternoon, and burial took place in that city.

Malone was instantly killed early Saturday morning, one mile north of the Lubbock Municipal Airport, when his heavy coupe collided with a mule.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. A. Malone, formerly of this city, and moved to Plainview with his parents from Farwell about 15 years ago. His father was engaged in the electric light business when they lived here.

According to newspaper reports, Malone's body was found hanging lifeless across a barbed wire fence, following the accident. He was traveling alone. The mule was killed by the impact, and Malone's car was burned after overturning several times.

Ring Down Curtain On School Terms

Dismal Future Painted For Texico Graduates

Warning the class against the misconceived policy of "going blithely ahead, saying 'we have nothing to fear'", Dr. Alfred Crofts, of the Eastern New Mexico College, painted a rather dismal future for the young people of this age in his address to the Texico graduating class, Thursday evening.

"From now on we are going to have a greater task," the speaker declared in warning the members of the class that the future to them does not look any too promising. He contrasted the situation that exists today with existing conditions at the time he graduated from Stamford University, when ex-President Hoover gave assurance to class members that "everything was to be lovely" for them.

"Education makes us feel too secure," he warned, but then insisted that "we need education today more than ever before," illustrating his point by saying that the air force of the nation is short of efficient pilots today, due to the lack of a better knowledge of mathematics.

Drawing a contrast of existing civilization in New Mexico, Dr. Crofts said that 94 years ago there were no luxuries in this state. Citing the fact that all the early settlers expected to have in store for the future was a bag of corn that might be ground into food, he went on to observe that the average American boy and girl has twenty times as much of this world's goods as the young people across the seas.

Turning his thoughts to the subject, "The Shape of Things to Come," the speaker said that "we most certainly face perilous times in the near future. But," he went on, "it is a risk worth any sacrifices we may be called upon to endure."

The invocation was offered by Rev. E. J. Sloan, and Miss Freida Martin gave the salutatorian address. Miss Dorothy Mae Dixon was valedictorian of her class, and gave a splendid account of her part of the program.

The girls' chorus, under the direction of Mrs. Hershel Arnold, gave two numbers, and Sam T. Randol, president of the board of education, presented the diplomas to the graduating class. The evening's program was concluded with the presentation of awards by Supt. L. A. Hartley, and the benediction by Rev. W. T. North. Mrs. Evelyn Hadley, at the piano, gave the processional and recessional.

Administrative awards of achievement were given the following students:

Salutatorian, Freida Martin; All-Around Boy, Jack Flye; All-Around Girl, Doris Doolittle.

Perfect attendance records went to the following students:

Third grade: Roy Wayne Thompson, Raymond Lewis, Clifford Wall, Fourth grade: Billy Jo Smart, Grace McDaniel, Aileen Thompson, Delphine Johnson.

Fifth grade: Melvin Smart, Margery Baker, Talma Randol, Ethelyne McCasland.

Seventh grade: Harry Baker, Carl Miller, Harriet Baker, Peggy Ruth Flye, Tommie Randol.

STRUCK BY TRUCK

Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Thompson and three of their daughters were more or less "bumped up" last Saturday afternoon, when a large truck, loaded with gravel, struck the rear of the Thompson automobile.

Mrs. Thompson sustained a large gash on the back of her head and injuries about the right eye; Alice Ruth received a gash over the left eye, and Mr. Thompson suffered a badly sprained neck. Other occupants of the Thompson machine, Billie Nell and Alene, escaped with only slight abrasions.

The driver of the truck, whose name is unknown here, explained that he "could not stop" after seeing the Thompson car in front of him. The accident happened on the Texico-Clovis highway near where the Thompsons live, two miles west of Texico.

Bovina Exercises Are Completed Monday

The finale of the graduation services for the Bovina high school was held in that auditorium on Monday evening, when the twenty-three seniors gathered for commencement.

Dr. H. G. Moore, director of the speech department at Eastern New Mexico College, Potales, was the principal speaker of the evening.

His talk was developed on "People", bringing in the relationship of man throughout all activities in life, and in this connection, he discussed the chaotic condition of world affairs.

Preceding the talk, Billy Starr gave the welcome address, while Pauline Norton offered the farewell from the class. A vocal quartet, composed of Jamie Lou and Helen Watson, Eris Norton and June Hart, rendered a number.

The diplomas were presented by W. O. Cherry, superintendent of the school.

Mrs. W. O. Cherry officiated at the piano for the processional, in which the students filed in carrying lighted candles. The invocation was given by Rev. J. N. Hester, with the benediction pronounced by B. E. Gregory.

Prior to commencement, the baccalaureate was observed in the school auditorium on Sunday morning, at which time Minister Joe Banks, Bovina Church of Christ minister, gave the sermon.

Minister Banks developed his theme on the contrast of "dissatisfied" and "unsatisfied" man in the walk of life, bringing out the fact that the man who was dissatisfied usually spent his time bemoaning his fate and had little ambition to improve his status, while the man who was unsatisfied had the incentive to go onward and upward to attain the things he desired in life.

The class marched in to the processional by Mrs. W. O. Cherry with the invocation by Bro. C. R. Howard. George Robert Caldwell sang just before the sermon, and after the benediction by Rev. A. S. Holmes, Mrs. Cherry played the recessional.

Resignation of Rev. North Is Accepted

Following the evening services at the Baptist church last Sunday, the pastor called a conference of the church membership, at which time Rev. W. Taylor North presented his resignation to the church as pastor of the local congregation.

After considering a motion to the effect that the resignation be declined, Rev. North explained to his congregation his intention to move from the local work "regardless of any action" that might be taken, saying he "felt called by the Holy Ghost" to a new work at Peacock, Texas. Following his statement and a session of prayer, a motion was unanimously adopted to grant leave to the pastor.

Rev. North has been pastor of the local church for almost seven years, and in leaving Texico-Farwell he returns to Peacock, Texas, a congregation he pastored for eight years before coming here.

J. O. Ford, prominent deacon of the local church, stated after the conference that up to this time, no consideration had been given any man to succeed the retiring pastor.

The resignation of Rev. North was presented after he had preached on the subject of "The Changeless Christ," during which time he made no reference to his intentions to resign. But at the conference, it was disclosed that he had submitted the matter to members of his congregation personally during the past week.

He stated this week that it was his plan to be at Peacock next Sunday to take over his new work.

53 GRADS AT MULESHOE

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Powers of this city, attended the commencement exercises of the Muleshoe high school last Friday, where 53 received diplomas. Miss Myrleen Wimberly, a sister of Mrs. Powers, was among the number. Dr. Doyle Jackson of Lubbock Tech, delivered the commencement address.

Student Program Is Given For Farwell

For the first time in a number of years, a student program culminated senior activities at the Farwell school, when on Tuesday night the twenty-eight graduates were in charge of their own commencement activities.

In connection with world affairs, the students developed their program around the theme of "Building America," using two phases, "Looking Backward," and "Looking Forward."

Preceding the actual student program, Mrs. W. W. Vinyard played the processional, Rev. E. J. Sloan gave the invocation, and the audience sang "America."

In "Looking Backward," the class dramatized the development of America, beginning with the Pilgrims, carrying on through the Revolution, the founding of the nation, the Civil War, and the suffragette movement.

Taking up "Looking Forward," the recovery from the World War was discussed, while the nation's growth in phases of transportation and industrial lines was developed by representatives of various lines of endeavor.

The class sang "America The Beautiful," and the audience joined in "God Bless America." Interspersed between the two phases of the program, "The Star Spangled Banner" was sung by all present.

Miss Jaquetta Lea Strickland gave the salutatory address, with Dwight Sheriff as the valedictorian. Diplomats were presented by E. M. Deaton, president of the local board of education, with Minister Ebb Randol giving the benediction. Mrs. Vinyard played the recessional.

Receiving diplomas were: Jaquetta Lea Strickland, E. J. Sloan Jr., Christine Hawk, Joe White, Leroy Hughes, Roy Cranmer, Milbert White, Jess H. Pipkin, Sam Royal, Alice Mae McCoy, Madeline Randol Adams, Reva Martin, Lynette Ramm, Lavedna Young, Lois Dycus, Bobbie Anderson, Thomas Parker, Carl Deaton, Verl Cranmer, Bill Dotson, Emma Lue Herington, Nadine Smith, Inez Billington, A. F. Phillips Jr., Harold Dixon, Garland Hurst, Dwight Sheriff.

Haney Wins Suit On Commission Debt

A jury awarded T. H. Haney a judgment of $630.00 against W. A. Scott of Dimmitt in county court here Tuesday, on a suit growing out of division of a commission on a land sale.

Haney had asked for damages in the amount of $647.50. Mead Griffith of Plainview and J. D. Thomas of this city represented the defendant, with Sam Aldridge representing the plaintiff in the action.

Judge Lee Thompson said that this was the third time the case had been called for hearing, and three jury panels will be charged in the case.

In 1875, Charlie White, first baseball player ever to wear a glove in playing, was severely razed for doing so.

"Fear" Sermon Theme To Farwell Seniors

Using the words of Jesus, "Fear not," as a two-word text, Rev. E. J. Sloan, pastor of the Methodist church, delivered a masterful sermon to the Farwell graduating class in the baccalaureate services last Sunday morning.

Opening the discussion, the speaker said that "the force of fear is one of the greatest forces we have to contend with, yet fear is invaluable and indispensable," citing the importance of fearing danger, epidemics, and the like. "But the most important thing is to fear ignorance."

Declaring that "fear is also the mother of narrowness," the minister said that "fear will be your best friend or your greatest handicap, depending upon your application." And at this point he stressed the proper and improper use of the term. Admonishing the class "let fear be your companion, rather than your master," the speaker observed that "Jesus answers all our fears," and directed the thought to the class members that fear can be surmounted with a clean, upright life.

He used the first man, Adam, to drive home his thought, and quoted Adam as saying, "I was afraid," pointing out that his reason for being afraid was because he had broken God's law.

In conclusion, he exhorted the class to have faith in a living God, "have confidence in yourself, overcome fear with a living faith in a big God, who is able to guide your life aright."

Rev. W. Taylor North gave the invocation, Miss Jaquetta Strickland sang a solo, the girls' vocal club rendered a number, and E. J. Sloan Jr., gave a French horn solo to complete the program.

The benediction was pronounced by Minister Ebb Randol, and Mrs. W. W. Vinyard played the processional and recessional.

CAR BURNS

A Ford car belonging to John Martinez, a Mexican employed on the Lee Sudderth farm, caught fire and burned two miles this side of Bovina, on Highway 60, Monday afternoon. Defective wiring was blamed for the fire. With the exception of the engine, the car was a complete loss. The machine was facing a strong wind at the time of the fire, which blew the flames away from the front of the machine.

Martinez said that he lost two suit cases filled with clothing in the flames that had already developed beyond control when he discovered the fire.

LOCKER NEARS COMPLETION

The 100-locker plant system being installed by Paul Roberts in connection with his grocery and market in Texico, was nearing completion this week. Roberts said that delay in receiving the insulation material had held up the job. This material arrived Monday, and he said that the plant would be put in operation as rapidly as possible.

TRANSFERRED TO HEREFORD

H. F. Curtis, who has been stationed here as Santa Fe track supervisor, has been transferred to Hereford, where he will assume similar duties. He moved his family to Hereford the first of the week.

Wheat Loan Is Big Issue in Referendum

COLLEGE STATION—The big issue in the wheat marketing quota referendum, aside from the question of whether wheat growers will use quotas, is that no government loan will be offered unless quotas are approved.

That's what Jess H. Watson, himself a wheat grower, is telling AAA county committeemen and workers in a series of meetings over the state. Watson, formerly a member of the state AAA committee, now is connected with the Southern Division of the AAA in Washington. He still operates his wheat farm in Young County.

"I don't hesitate to predict that without quotas and without a loan, we may sell our wheat for the lowest price in history," Watson said. "In some sections of the country farmers would, no doubt, experience difficulty of selling their wheat at any price."

The speaker pointed out that good business on the part of the government prevented the offer of a loan on a crop with uncontrolled surpluses, such as would be the case with wheat if quotas are rejected. The loan will be made available if quotas are approved, he said.

This is the first time wheat growers have been given the opportunity to vote upon themselves further protection of their incomes through marketing quotas, Watson pointed out. In doing so they will join cotton and tobacco farmers who have been using quotas for several years.

Secretary of Agriculture Claude R. Wickard has proclaimed that marketing quotas are necessary on this year's wheat crop. A two-thirds majority of all wheat growers in the nation voting in the referendum on May 31 must favor quotas if they are to be in effect.

Of Interest to Farmers

By Garlon A. Harper, Sec'y Farmer County AAA

At this time, we believe that it is well to call the attention of all farmers to the Wheat Marketing Quota Referendum, which will be held May 31, to determine whether wheat farmers want to have in effect Wheat Marketing quotas for the 1941 marketing year.

From our personal contact with wheat farmers, it is very evident that many of these farmers do not understand the issues which are at stake in this matter, and for this reason we are reviewing the main points and requesting wheat farmers not to accept this article as a complete digest of the material, but rather to investigate the matter thoroughly for himself before voting. In order that every wheat farmer may understand the matter thoroughly, we are suggesting that every farmer review the material which has been submitted from this office to the farmers of the county, attend educational meetings which will be held in the county, and talk with bankers and leading businessmen of the county in regard to this matter. Only a thorough understanding of the matter by every wheat farmer in the county will secure a fair and representative vote on wheat marketing quotas, May 31.

As most wheat farmers already know, Congress has recently passed a bill which has established the wheat value in Farmer county above 90c per bushel. If these marketing quotas do not pass, the government cannot make any loan on wheat and therefore we may reasonably expect the wheat market to immediately fall to the world price of wheat, or below. The world price of wheat is around 40c per bushel.

Wheat Marketing Quotas will not reduce the 1941 acreage allotment, or any future acreage allotment, to individual farmers. Because of the present high surplus of wheat, there will undoubtedly be a reduction in wheat acreage allotments for 1942, however, this reduction will have to be made regardless of whether wheat marketing quotas are passed or rejected. If Marketing Quotas are rejected, it is reasonable to expect that there will be a still greater reduction in the future allotments since there will be no control of production on non-cooperating farms without marketing quotas.

Every wheat farmer who planted wheat for 1941 and whose estimated production of wheat is in excess of 200 bushels has a vote in the coming referendum. It is highly important that every farmer who does have a vote go to the polls and vote.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Battle for Control of Ocean Shipping Overshadows Other Phases of War; Flight of Rudolf Hess to Great Britain Brings Flood of Rumor, Propaganda

(EDITOR'S NOTE—When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of the news analyst and not necessarily of this newspaper.)
(Released by Western Newspaper Union.)

Well named is this Lockheed "Lightning" otherwise and officially known as the P-38 Interceptor-Pursuit, shown here in flight over the mountains near Burbank, California. This sleek, bi-motored craft is said to be the fastest plane in existence. The first batch of P-38s is now rolling off the production lines for the U. S. and British air forces.

FLIGHT:

From Germany

Following the dramatic flight from Germany to Scotland by Rudolf Hess, No. 3 Nazi and deputy fuhrer of Germany, world capitals buzzed with rumor and gossip regarding the reasons behind his fantastic exit. An official British government announcement did not at first specifically state that Hess had deserted the Nazi regime but the inference was plain that he was believed to be sane when he was dropped by parachute near Glasgow, Scotland. The first statement from the home of Winston Churchill at 10 Downing street told that Hess was under treatment in a Glasgow hospital for a broken ankle suffered in floating down from his German Messerschmitt fighter plane.

Before it was reported by England that the high ranking Nazi official had landed by parachute in Scotland, Berlin had announced that Hess was missing and was believed to be lost in an airplane crash following an unscheduled and unauthorized flight. He was said to have left behind a letter which indicated that he was suffering from some traces of mental disorder and was a victim of "hallucinations."

It was also stated that Hess carried with him photographs taken at various stages in his life to aid in establishing identity upon questioning. Pointed out too was the fact that the plane in which he was flying could not hold enough gasoline for a return flight to Germany. Also the guns of the plane were unloaded. Stories of every description were forthcoming in the first hours following the announcement that Hess was in Glasgow. Many persons believed he came bearing a peace message from elements within the Nazi government that disagreed with Hitler on the war policy. Still others held that he brought a message direct from Hitler. Another story was that he disagreed with Hitler over vital policies and feared for his life at the hands of the secret police.

WAR TEMPO:

Steps Up

There was a general stepping up of the tempo of the war with arrival in England and in North Africa of considerable and growing amounts of American aid.

Apparently Hitler's Nazi legions, fearing that American entry into the war was imminent, and that this entry might possibly turn the tide against him, was anxious to bring every effort to bear to knock Britain out as swiftly as possible.

Indeed, this seemed the only hope of a German victory, because all other enemies of the Reich had crumbled before the blitz technique, leaving only England, and though the United States was strongly aligned with the British effort, it had not yet reached the point of actual full participation in the war. There was little doubt but that Germany was well-informed of the set-ups of American war production, and that the Germans realized just what the sum of American aid would eventually mean.

If it should mean British supremacy in the air, it might be that Germany's hope of victory would be doomed, for Nazi air supremacy was still evident, not only in the Grecian campaign, but in the battle of the British Isles as well.

Thus most observers believed that the world was seeing the maximum effort against the British in England, and that the world would soon see the maximum effort to end the North African campaign, and to push the Asia-Minor campaign so that Suez and Alexandria and Malta might fall.

The facts bore out the premise that the war was highly stepped up, however. British sources claimed dropping as many as 40 planes in a single night, yet still did not claim anywhere near 10 per cent of those over Britain.

CONVOYS:

Important Phase

While convoys continued to occupy much of the time congress was allotting to debate, President Roosevelt had postponed what was believed to be a forthcoming public statement on the issue. It was announced that he was too ill to make a scheduled radio address and so for the time being his opponents as well as his supporters were forced to speculate as to what his words might be.

It was a blow to Republican opponents of conveying when Wendell L. Willkie said he favored it. Senator Nye and other non-interventionists leaped on the former Republican standard-bearer and belabored him as a "turncoat." It was evident that Lindbergh, bell-wether of the anti-administration flock, realized that he was treading close to the point where the issue would be so sharply drawn that the "aid-to-Britain" forces would have to take some action that would silence their opponents.

Indeed, Lindbergh said: "As long as free speech is permitted I feel obligated to continue to speak in behalf of a negotiated peace." He said he did not want a German victory, but that he honestly believed a British victory impossible, and that in the interest of peace, the war should be ended on the best terms possible "for our children and our children's children will be obligated to fight Europe's wars."

This was, of course, merely the anti-administration line of attack, but it was backed up by Landon, 1936 G.O.P. nominee, who also showed the peril in which free speech was standing.

The issue was back to World war days, when speech freedom went by the board for the duration of the war—but only after the U. S. was in it. The issue being so sharply defined now made many believe that U. S. entry into the war was only a short way off.

DIPLOMATIC:

Outlook Dark

Back, around and on top of the actual warfare were waging the diplomatic battles, rightly characterized by Anthony Eden as of equal import and difficulty as the battles on the field, and meeting much the same result.

The loss of the Balkan campaign weakened Britain's diplomatic position, and made it just that much harder to hold Turkey and Syria in line.

Reports from Turkey that she was anxious to mediate in the Iraq war was far from a pleasant outcome for the British, who wanted the Mosul oil and not mediation which might weaken her position.

In fact, Ankara advised the British that the demand on the part of Iraq, before peace would be made, was that Britain withdraw all but 2,000 of her troops, not leaving even enough halfway to police the Kirkuk-Haifa pipeline.

Reports from Iraq were conflicting, the Germans naturally being glad to circulate reports that her troops were on Iraq soil, and reporting British reverses. The British, however, most of whose reports had so far been basically accurate, even though colored somewhat with propaganda, said the Iraq campaign had degenerated into largely a pursuit of the Iraq troops in the desert north of Habbaniyah airdrome.

But Suez was not free from menace, and Axis raiders were dropping bombs on the canal, and harassing shipping there. Meantime all Britain was wondering what the Russian situation was, and whether the Russian bear was going to sit idly by and watch Nazi infiltration into Asia Minor.

The general opinion was that Stalin would be guided entirely by expediency, and that even a German-Italian-Russian-Japanese alliance was not impossible if America should openly enter the war.

BREAD TRICKS APLENTY!
(See Recipes Below)

'BREAD 'N' BUTTER'

Those new loaves of white bread featured on grocery store counters and in bakeries everywhere these days look just like the loaves of white bread you have been buying for years. But they're different—they've been "vita-mineralized."

"How?" you ask. Through the use of enriched flour—a wheat flour which contains added vitamins and minerals.

It was the Bureau of Home Economics of the United States department of agriculture which suggested, when flour standards here were under discussion, that fortified flour should contain a specified amount of vitamin B1 and of iron, and that nicotinic acid, riboflavin and calcium should be added.

Because American dietaries lack chiefly B-vitamins and iron, the accent was placed here. The law is that each pound of Enriched Flour must contain at least 1.66 milligrams of thiamin (B1); 6.15 milligrams of nicotinic acid (pellagra-preventing vitamin); and 6.15 milligrams of iron.

So, now in addition to being the most versatile and economical energy-yielding food, bread also provides, in economical form, additional nutrients essential to health.

And, since bread is the one food that probably appears more often than any other on the family menu, I'm going to give you a variety of new and interesting uses for this "health food."

A good sharp knife, a loaf of good baker's bread and your imagination will do wonders in developing, in your own kitchen, delicious creations that make your menus full of new life and interest.

Bread Buttercups.

Remove the crusts from a loaf of uncut bread. Cut lengthwise slices from the loaf. Trim the slices so that they are about 1½ inches wide and the ends pointed. Brush with an egg and milk mixture and arrange in baking cups. It is best to brush the tips with a little melted butter so that they will brown more readily. Bake the bread buttercups in a moderate oven until they are delicately browned.

Pinwheel Sandwiches.

Trim the crusts from a whole loaf of uncut bread; cut in lengthwise slices. Spread the slices with any desired spread of a creamy consistency. Roll the bread firmly the narrow way. Small stuffed olives, nut meats or hard cooked eggs make an attractive center for the roll. The rolls should be tightly wrapped in waxed paper and chilled in the refrigerator before slicing.

Croustades.

Trim crusts from two or three slices of bread, making even-sized squares. Remove the centers from all but one slice. Dip in melted

It's Picnic Time

Has winter made you forget the wonderful, carefree afternoons spent along sparkling streams or in sunny meadows, munching hot dogs, dipping into baked beans and ice cream? It's time to plan Sunday excursions and be lazy by eating off paper plates, with paper forks. And next week Lynn Chambers will delve into picnic atmosphere. Watch for her recipes of good things to eat out-of-doors!

butter, and put together to form square cases for creamed food.

Bread Patty Cases.

Cut three rounds of sliced bread. Cut holes in two of them and place on the first slice. Brush with a mixture of egg and milk (1 egg slightly beaten plus ½ cup of milk) and bake in a moderate oven until brown.

Checkerboard Sandwiches.

Remove the crusts and spread the slices with soft butter, and any sandwich spread of paste consistency. Then, alternating the slices, make two stacks of three slices each—one with a whole wheat slice between two white slices and the other with a white slice between two whole wheat slices. Next, cut the two stacks into half-inch slices. Spread with soft butter and another flavor spread, and alternate them again, making stacks of three-layer slices each. Press the stacks together, wrap each in wax paper and place in icebox to harden the butter. When ready to serve, cut crosswise into thin slices to give the checkerboard effect.

Ribbon Sandwiches.

Remove the crusts from four slices of bread, two white and two whole wheat. Put them together with different fillings, wrap in waxed paper and chill. Cut down through the four layers in thin slices to form a ribbon sandwich.

Try these tricks very soon, won't you?

You'll receive no end of compliments on your ability to prepare these tasty and attractive "bread delights." They are all pictured at the top of the column.

If you're weary of serving the usual type of sandwiches when you entertain, here are "fillers" that will bring such phrases as "May I have your recipe?" from fascinated guests.

Egg Filling.

4 hard cooked eggs
½ cup chopped cooked bacon or ½ cup stuffed olives
Few drops Worcestershire sauce
Cream or salad dressing
Chop eggs, add bacon and Worcestershire sauce. Add enough cream or dressing to give a spreading consistency.

Ripe Olive Filling.

Use one cup ripe olives, minced; one cup finely diced celery; ½ cup minced nut meats, and salad dressing to taste. Combine olives, celery and nutmeats and moisten with dressing, then spread on bread.

Sandwich Loaf.

Trim crusts from a sandwich loaf of bread and cut in four lengthwise slices. Spread each slice with softened butter. For the three different fillings necessary, use any good combinations of flavor and color, such as minced ham and pickle, a yellow cheese mixed with finely-chopped green pepper, chives, parsley or watercress, and chopped tomatoes and cucumbers, or a tuna or salmon mixture. Each of these fillings should be mixed with mayonnaise or softened butter so that it spreads easily. The loaf may be made several hours ahead of time if wrapped in waxed paper and kept in a cool place. Prior to serving, it is iced on top, sides and ends with cream cheese softened to spreading consistency with water, milk or mayonnaise. Garnish with slices of stuffed olive, sprigs of parsley or endive. For serving, cut in thick slices. This loaf will serve 10 to 12 persons.

AROUND THE HOUSE

Painting the top and bottom cellar steps white may save many falls.

Heat spots on table tops and other furniture will disappear if rubbed with linseed oil and later polished.

Don't keep honey in the refrigerator. It keeps better in the cupboard.

Always use bread crumbs to cover articles to be fried. Cracker crumbs absorb the grease.

Out-of-door pillows, used for the canoe or porch swing, should have an inner covering of oilcloth and an outer one of some attractive cretonne. These will remain uninjured through a rain.

Make an oilcloth cover for your ironing board. Put over cover on ironing board when brushing and sponging garments.

To remove chocolate stains from table linen, sprinkle the spot with borax and then pour boiling water through the cloth.

SHIP PREMIUMS TO JAPAN

It is hard to believe, but the government of the United States actually is paying war risk insurance to the Japanese for helping to insure the S.S. America, pride of the U. S. merchant marine.

This is just part of the revelations over re-insurance which are breaking this week at the justice department. These probes also show that when a vessel is injured, Axis insurance companies get all the data regarding its cargo, time of departure, destination, and the interior plan of the ship.

Thus, despite all the censorship of Secretary of the Navy Knox, Germany has had an easy means of knowing all about every ship that leaves the United States.

This is accomplished when American insurance companies, because of the heavy risk involved in insuring a cargo in wartime, reinsure with various foreign companies. In other words, they sell part of the policy abroad, thus distribute the risk. That is how Japan makes a lush profit on insuring American vessels, even vessels owned by the U. S. A.

Last year congress passed a law providing war risk insurance for U. S. shipping, but the maritime commission, for reasons best known to itself, has declined to take advantage of the law. Commission members state quite frankly that they wanted to throw the business to private insurance concerns—as long as private insurance was available.

DEBATE FREEZING AXIS FUNDS

One of the most vigorous inner cabinet debates in a long time concerned the question of freezing German-Italian funds on deposit in the United States. In a heated discussion, Secretary of State Hull and Secretary of Commerce Jesse Jones were the only cabinet members who stood out for letting the two Axis powers continue to spend money as they wished in this country.

Many people may not realize it, but whereas the government has frozen the funds of all the conquered nations—France, Norway, Denmark, Belgium, Holland, Greece, etc.—it continues to permit the conquering nations to use their money in the U. S. A. in any manner they wish.

For instance, Germany gets more than a million dollars monthly from the lease of patents to American companies. This is paid in American dollars and can be spent for anti-American propaganda or anything else, or shipped back to Germany. Italian diplomatic attaches, for instance, were found carrying $2,000,000 in U. S. currency in a suitcase from New Orleans to Mexico for propaganda purposes. Another $2,000,000 of U. S. currency was shipped to Buenos Aires by the Italian embassy.

Meanwhile, France, for example, no longer sells perfume, etc., to the United States, but sells to Germany, which in turn ships the perfume through Vladivostok to the United States. Reason is that French funds are frozen, so the French can get no money from the U. S. A. But German funds are not frozen, so French trade to the United States now increases Nazi profits and helps build up trade channels for the future.

STREAMLINED FOODS

Because of the acute shipping shortage, food items for shipment to Britain are being selected for high vitamin and calorie content, also for minimum bulk and weight.

In general, preference will be given to concentrated and dried foods, rather than bulky canned goods such as fruits, which contain a considerable amount of water. Tomatoes are an exception because the juice they are packed in is high in vitamins.

One item urgently desired by the British is dehydrated vegetable soup, 12 tons of which will make 700,000 bowls.

A plan is under consideration to transport some of this concentrated food in the big bombers being ferried across the Atlantic, which can easily carry a 12-ton load.

The $400,000,000 that has been allocated for the food-aid program will be used to buy 15,000,000 cases of canned tomatoes, 20,000,000 cases of evaporated milk, 50,000,000 pounds of lard, 250,000,000 pounds of cheese, several million pounds of Welsh rarebit, millions of powdered eggs, and thousands of tons of dehydrated vegetable soup, dried raisins and prunes.

While gigantic in itself, the program is only about 3 per cent of the U. S. food bill, which in 1940 was $12,000,000,000.

Kathleen Norris Says:

Lift Up Your Hearts

(Bell Syndicate—WNU Service.)

Meals ought to be hot and prompt and appetizing, these days. Talk at the table ought to be hopeful and amusing; there ought to be plenty of games, plenty of plans. As spring deepens into summer arrange for as many garden and porch meals as you can.

By KATHLEEN NORRIS

LIFE ought to be especially cheerful in your house these days to counteract the gloom and the fears that the newspapers bring us every morning and the radio confirms every afternoon. Every woman in the land ought to feel that her first line of defense is right in her own home, and work out from there to wider spheres of influence if she has the capacity.

Meals ought to be hot and prompt and appetizing, these days. Talk at the table ought to be hopeful and amusing; there ought to be plenty of games, plenty of plans. As spring deepens into summer arrange for as many garden and porch meals as you can; start a language class in the evenings and ask a few neighbors in; and if the burden of today's shadow grows too heavy turn back to histories and discover how many parallels to today's tragedy there are; how many wars there have been, how little actual trace they have left upon the various nations or upon the map of Europe.

A Saner, Better World.

We will outlive this war. Nations will come back to their senses; dictators will disappear. Saner men will take their places. This is inevitable. And meanwhile we have to learn the lessons of this war, and apply them. The world has changed in the past 40 years; changed more fundamentally perhaps than in any preceding 40 years since history began, and when the battle clouds blow away who knows but what we will find it a better world?

Certainly we will find it a world suddenly made conscious of its own wealth, power and potentialities. In my grandmother's day nobody thought that unemployment and slums and poverty were curable conditions. Oppressors coined smug phrases about being "contented with your lot," and "remaining in that state to which God had called you." We know better now. We know that God never called small boys to shiver barefoot as they swept muddy street crossings; nor women to cough themselves to death in sweat shops, nor the fathers of hungry families to be hanged for snaring rabbits on the square's preserves.

A Task for Every Individual.

What cruel and pagan dictatorships overseas have taught us by their merciless regimentation for war, we may turn to an equally effective use in peace. Their dreams of guns and hate, of blood and death and destruction, might well have been dreams instead of friendship and co-operation, of homes and gardens and fields brimming with harvest.

And the beginning of that new world of serving and sharing is in your house and mine. It is in our souls, where we have to establish peace, and from which we have to banish fear. Make your own microscopic slice of life perfect, live it without hate and fear, and see how soon your vision of world problems simplifies and changes. Until we all realize that no guns, no bombs, no "victories" and treaties are going to do anything permanent for world peace until that peace, with complete forgiveness and sympathy for enemy nations as well as friends, comes into our own hearts, we are only repeating the old mistakes and sowing fresh wars.

Here is a letter from an Ohio woman who ought to be given the congressional medal of honor. She is the wife of a mechanic; she has four children; the family income is $1,500 a year.

COMMUNITY SPIRIT

If the war news sends your spirits to a "new low" and you can't seem to visualize a better future, try the tonic suggested in today's Kathleen Norris discussion. "While there are women like Marie Miller in the world," she says, "the future need hold no fear for American women, and civilization and sanity are safe."

Put Own House in Order

"Pa and I had a talk with the children about America a year ago," writes Marie Miller. "We told them that the first thing for the Miller family to do was to get its own house into order, in case hard times and sacrifices were ahead for us all. That meant a clean house, no debt, children doing well in school and the home atmosphere always pleasant. I discussed with my neighbors my plan to make one American home perfect and they decided to do the same. We then extended our interest to the entire block of mill-workers' houses, both sides. We visited some who were foreign-born and did what we could to make American ways easy for them.

"We then began a series of weekly supper meetings, very small at first and in one of the houses, but now in the school-house. Our husbands come to these meetings, to which every woman brings five sandwiches except the women who supply cookies, coffee, sugar and cream. We give out a general subject and ask five persons to make three-minute talks on it, and we always break up after discussion at half-past eight sharp.

"Last week our subject was 'After the War, What?' and to our surprise a German-born couple, quiet neighbors who are comparatively unknown, came uninvited to the meeting and asked if they might speak. The gentle, unobtrusive picture they gave us of the millions of good German fathers and mothers, young sisters and brothers, young husbands and wives, who are silenced and intimidated now, but only waiting their hour to reopen churches and schools and renew their friendship with all the world gave us all new hope of a better day ahead and did much to quiet the hysterical fears that many of us seem to have had that the world has gone permanently crazy.

Neighborhood Co-operation.

"We find it very simple, in this new spirit of neighborhood co-operation, to take in a sick woman's children for a meal, to sit with an invalid, to share some unexpected surplus in the kitchen, and we feel that in a very obscure and humble way we are proving that community spirit, developed to such hateful military extremes in Europe, might be managed here with great safety and profit to all concerned, and close to the eternal law of Christ. We think our particular block, in grim and ugly 'Factory Town' is one of the happiest and safest spots in the world."

This woman, incidentally, was a school-teacher before she was a mill-town wife and mother; and to make her story even more striking, one of her little girls is physically handicapped and has to have extra help in hygiene and gym work. And all this managed on $1,500 a year!

The future need hold no fear for American women, and civilization and sanity are safe while there are women like this in the world.

Even Court Ruling Couldn't Make Absent Plaintiff Talk

"I understand that you called on the complainant. Is that so?" demanded a browbeating barrister of a man he was cross-examining. "Yes," replied the witness.

"What did he say?"

"Counsel for the other side objected that evidence as to a conversation was not admissible, and half an hour's argument ensued. Then the court retired to consider the point, announcing some time later that they deemed the question a proper one.

"Well, what did the plaintiff say?" repeated the cross-examining attorney.

"He wasn't at home, sir!" was the answer.

Wheat Marketing Referendum May 31

The Secretary of Agriculture has proclaimed that the wheat marketing quota referendum will be held on Saturday, May 31. If, at this time, two-thirds of the voters vote in the affirmative, wheat loans will be in effect.

And that last statement, in the opinion of County Agent Jason O. Gordon, brings up the question "If we have wheat loans, where will we store the wheat?"

The Commodity Credit Corporation will make an advance of several cents a bushel of wheat stored, for constructing new storage bins, or repairing old structures, if wheat loans are voted in, the agent states. "This offers an opportunity to Farmer county farmers to plan the construction of storage barns on the farm. Now is the time to work out the details of location, size, and cost. If wheat loans are available, you are ready to complete your request, and finish storage bins before harvest time.

"New storage barns are needed on nearly every farm in our county. Be sure you check the details of insurance rates before you determine the location, as their is a wide variation of rates depending on location," the agent concluded, in urging Farmer farmers to consider this matter.

STUDENTS CONTINUE TO POUR INTO N. M.

Three hundred and twenty-seven additional high school students from points in Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas and New Mexico checked through the local Port of Entry into the "Sunshine State," in a 7-day period, from Tuesday of last week through May 20th.

The largest group in the lot was from Cordell, Oklahoma, numbering 45; while Apache, Oklahoma, came in second with 40. Other bunches included McLean, Texas, 37; Brewster, Kans., 19; Woodward, Okla., 27; Mullinville, Kans., 26; Ringland, Okla., 33; Friona, 26; Perfection Kans., 27 Coats, Kans., 27; and Texico, around 30.

All groups signified their intention of visiting in Carlsbad Caverns, while the trippers from Coats, Kansas, are planning an extended tour. From Carlsbad they will go to El Paso, visit in Juarez, Old Mexico; then back to Albuquerque and Santa Fe before heading toward home.

Port Supervisor Paul Wurster remarked that "We're missing a large bunch in the check-up this year, as passenger cars are not stopping at the port, and we have no idea how many there are in the several fleets of cars from Kansas and Oklahoma that have gone into New Mexico—nor what points they intend to visit."

SENIORS LEAVE FOR SOUTH TEXAS POINTS

With R. W. Standefer, school principal, and his wife as the sponsors, the Bovina seniors, twenty-three in all, departed this (Wednesday) morning for South Texas, on their annual student excursion.

The group will go from Bovina to Buchanan Dam, near Austin, on the first day, then going on into Austin, and winding up their trip with a visit to historical spots in and around San Antonio, including the Alamo, Randolph Field, etc.

The group plans to return to Bovina on Monday evening of next week, it was learned.

AIR SERVICE JOBS OPEN TO 8TH GRADE GRADUATES

Since the lowering of the requirements for enlistment in the Regular Army Air Corps, states Major Jesse, U. S. Army Recruiting Officer for this District, there have been many young men with only an 8th grade education who have succeeded in passing the War Department Test and thus were acceptable for this branch of the Service.

Most of these young men chose for their assignment, the 14th Pursuit Group, March Field, California, although there are also vacancies at the Air Base Detachment, Fort Sill, Oklahoma, and for the Photo Group, Lowry Field, Denver, Colorado. Applicants for enlistment in the Photo Group must desire Photographic training.

The majority of the young men who enlisted this month have decided to take the Airplane Mechanics Course through the Air Corps Technical Schools, open to any enlisted man of the Air Corps, for these young men quickly realized the value that such training will be to them in later years in Air Transportation.

Applications for enlistment in the Regular Army Air Corps can be made at the nearest Army Recruiting Station where young men without a High School diploma will be given an opportunity to take the War Department test.

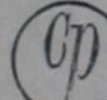

Vast plantations of the vanilla plant are cultivated in Madagascar.

If artificial lighting of poultry houses has been started, it must be continued until early April. Sudden stoppage of lights before that time would seriously lessen egg production.

ROSE TROUBLES

The good rain we have had, followed by these warm days, encourages the average Mrs. Housewife to get out in the home garden and see what needs to be done first. Those of you who made the mistake of planting roses around the house will notice several buds about ready to open. You may also observe trouble starting... unless you have been the exceptional gardener the previous year.

There is nothing more enjoyable than cutting a few long-stemmed roses from your own garden for a good friend. There is nothing more discouraging than to expect a large number of cuttings from the bushes, and then have something happen to the plants so you get only a few shattered roses.

Here are some trouble signs to look for:

BLACKSPOT—One of the most important of all rose diseases and occurs wherever the plant is grown. The disease causes a weakened condition of the plants through loss of leaves. Another effect of the disease is seen in the inferior quality and quantity of blooms. Blackspot is recognized on the leaves by the black-colored lesions of nearly circular shape, and is recognized from other leaf spots by the generally fringed margins and also by the darker and more uniform color. The size of the spot varies from less than a sixteenth of an inch to half an inch or more.

Preventive measures should be begun at the time of pruning. All diseased leaves should be stripped and burned. Those leaves on the ground should also be burned. Beginning with the first development of new shoots, frequent applications of dusting sulphur (325-mest) will protect the new growth.

POWDERY MILDEW—White or grayish colored mold on the young leaves, flower buds, and tender canes. The leaves begin to curl, and flower buds are drawn and misshapen, which results in retarding the growth of the plant. Use sulphur dust for control.

DIEBACK—Causes the canes to die from the tip downward, frequently beginning in the flower stem. The diseased wood and bark turn brown or black in color. Dieback is usually caused by drouth, and may be prevented by irrigating the plant. Controlling the number of buds on the plant will increase the vigor, and thereby reduce the susceptibility to this disease.

APHIS—or plant lice. Small, soft bodied, green, pink, or dark brown insects, are common on the young tips of rose bushes in the spring. Their presence is indicated by a shiny, sticky material on the leaves. Use nicotine sulphate—one and one-half teaspoon to a gallon of water. If you prefer dust, use pyrethrum, rotenone, or nicotine.

THRIPS—A tiny pest that feeds on the blooms. This is a very tiny, narrow, yellow to brown insects that punctures the petals and sucks out the sap of the plants. The edges of the petals appear to be burned and the blooms open imperfectly. Use 6 teaspoonfuls of tartar emetic, 2 cups granulated sugar, and 4 gallons water.

Another method of at least partial control is to remove all open blooms and burn them before they shatter.

You may have other troubles before the season is over. This department is ordering a number of bulletins from the State Extension Service, which will be available to you FREE if you desire a copy. The one "ROSE GROWING FOR THE HOME GARDNER" is an excellent bulletin I think you will want.

INFORM EMPLOYERS OF STATUS, ADVISES PAGE

"Help protect your civilian jobs by keeping your employers informed of your Selective Service status," General J. Watt Page, State Selective Service Director, today advised all registrants and inductees.

"Complete cooperation between employees and employers at all times is imperative to insure civilian job protection for the registrants," General Page said. "Each registrant should advise his employer promptly as to how he has been classified for Selective Service, when he expects to be called for training, and then as to what are his plans after he has had experience in military life.

The Selective Service Act, he pointed out, gives civilian job protection to every man inducted into the military service under its authority, whether he be a selectee or a volunteer. It provides that each shall receive a certificate of merit if he completes his military training to the satisfaction of his superior officers. Then, if he makes application within forty days after he has completed his one year of training and is still qualified to perform the duties of his civilian job, the law says he shall be restored "to such position, or to a position of like seniority, status, and pay unless the employer's circumstances have so changed as to make it unreasonable or impossible to do so."

Protecting seniority in their civilian jobs, the Act also provides that men inducted for Selective Service training shall be considered by their employers as having been on leave or furlough. It further stipulates that selectees restored to civilian jobs shall not lose them without cause for at least one year.

It is the policy of the Selective Service System," General Page said, "to help the registrant in every way possible, and through the press and otherwise to keep him informed of his rights. In view of the requirements the law imposes upon the employers for the protection of Selective Service registrants, it would seem to be only fair that the registrants, themselves, should cooperate by keeping their employers advised at all times as to their status."

Addressing all registrants in the State, including those who have already been inducted, he said:

"Keep in touch with your civilian job. Keep your employers advised of your Selective Service status before you are inducted, and let them know also how you progress in military training and your plans for after your year is ended. You owe that protection to them so that they can protect your job for you.

"If you are learning something that will make you more valuable to them when you return to your civilian job, it is to your interest as well as theirs to tell them about it.

"Likewise, if you should decide to continue your military career after your one year of training is up, you owe them that information also and should give it to them as early as possible so that they may plan permanent replacement in their organizations."

THE POPPY AND NATIONAL DEFENSE

(Editor's note: This is the final in a series of articles on Poppy Day, prepared by the American Legion Auxiliary, of Friona.)

Wearing of a memorial poppy on the coat on Poppy Day, Saturday, May 24, might seem to have no connection with national defense, but the spirit of the poppy is important to the security of America.

More important even than airplanes, tanks and guns, is the patriotic spirit of the nation. What is inside the heart of a soldier counts more than the type of gun in his hands. The human element is of decisive importance, even in mechanized warfare.

The poppy, which we will wear on Saturday in tribute to the men who gave their lives for America twenty-three years ago carries an inspiring message for America. It tells of highest patriotic sacrifice. It brings memories of the days when life itself was not considered too much to give to America, and when the nation was united in a spirit of patriotism which brought quick victory over the enemy.

That is the spirit we need in America today, as we strive to build up our national defenses. If we all will wear our poppies with understanding of their meaning, I am sure they will help us reawaken the spirit of patriotism which made America invincible in the war of 1917 and 1918. United again in determination to serve for America, we need have no fear of foreign aggression.

REA LINES SPREAD

COLLEGE STATION—Allotment of $500,000 for construction of two transmission lines in Texas has been granted recently by the Rural Electrification Administration. The Brazos River Transmission Electric Cooperative of Itasca and the Farmers Electric Generating Cooperative of Gilmer each received $250,000. This brings allotments made by the REA since it was established in 1935 to $362,656,621.22, of which $93,274,500 represents operations of the current fiscal year.

NEARING NEW MARK

COLLEGE STATION—Nearly 300,000 mattresses—292,958 to be exact—have been delivered to Texas farm families under the Department of Agriculture's cotton mattress demonstration program. Of this number, 47,977 mattresses were delivered in March, according to reports compiled by Mildred Horton, vice director and state home demonstration agent of the Extension Service, and R. T. Price, state administrative assistant for the Triple-A. With the cotton comfort program just getting under way, 2,784 comforts were made in Texas during March.

Geraldine Thomas Is Honored At Tech

Information here this week was to the effect that Miss Geraldine Thomas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Thomas of Texico, was one of the freshmen women honored at Texas Tech's tenth annual woman's recognition service, Tuesday afternoon, May 13th.

At this time, recognition was given 208 women students of the college for outstanding achievement. Miss Thomas was honored for an A-average during the school year.

The girls were all dressed in white, and escorted by a chosen page. They formed a lovely picture as they walked to the south lawn of the Administration building, while the college choir sang the Tech song. Each girl received a red rose at the service.

Miss Jo Ann Daugherty, of Roscoe, Texas, was chosen by Miss Thomas as her page for the event.

Board-Faculty Dinner Held At School

Members of the Farwell faculty, assisted by Mrs. Alvenia Sharpe and Mrs. Bess Mansfield, entertained the school board and their wives, at the school building, last Friday evening.

A fried chicken supper was served at 7 o'clock in the home making department, with the guests waiting on themselves in buffet style. Typical picnic refreshments, ice cream cones and soda pop, were also served.

Afterward, games of 42 were enjoyed.

Present were: Mrs. Ray Ford, Mrs. A. F. Phillips, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Bobst, Mr. and Mrs. Olan Schleuter, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Graham, Mrs. Bess Mansfield, Mrs. Alvenia Sharpe, Miss Jennie Lee London, Mrs. Jewel Stevens, Mr. and Mrs. Pete Murphy, Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Conger, Mr. and Mrs. Lenton Pool, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Carter, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Hillhouse, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Deaton, Miss Irie Thornton, William Thornton, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. McCuiston, Mrs. Leo Clark, Miss Geraldine Walker, and Ermon Miller.

Misses Irene Sachs, Lorene Hodges, and Fern Hammonds and Joe Blair spent Sunday in Lubbock.

"Bedside Nursing" Is Theme for Classes

In a special series of meetings designed for women of this city and surrounding community, Miss Geraldine Walker, of the Farwell home-making department, has announced adult classes on "Bedside Nursing."

The first meeting of the class will be held in the office of Dr. V. Scott Johnson, on Thursday evening of this week, May 22, at 8:30. Mrs. Johnson, who is a graduate nurse, will teach the class sessions, specializing on "Home Nursing" and "Care of the Sick."

After Thursday evening, regular meetings will be held in the home economics department of the school, Tuesday afternoons at 3:30, and Thursday evenings at 8:30, Miss Walker stated.

"Considering our national defense program today," she stated, "Mrs. Johnson and I are planning the classes in order that every homemaker may have first-hand knowledge of all types of home nursing, and we are anxious to have a large attendance at the initial and succeeding meetings."

The classes will be conducted as long as their is sufficient interest to merit the project, Miss Walker concluded.

Picnic Supper Held at Aldridge Home

Mesdames John Aldridge Jr. and Sam Alaridge entertained Saturday evening at 7 o'clock, with a picnic supper at the home of the former. Because of the weather, the two-course supper was served from a beautifully appointed table in buffet style.

The supper was followed by bridge. Favors were given Mrs. Baylor Triplett Jr., Mrs. Anne Overstreet, and Mrs. Geraldine Clark for high scores.

The guests were members of the Tuesday night Bridge Club: Mrs. W. L. Mansfield, Mrs. Baylor Triplett Sr., Mrs. Baylor Triplett Jr., Mrs. Claude Rose, Mrs. E. F. Lokey, Mrs. Geraldine Clark, Mrs. R. E. Maddux, Mrs. Bessie Lee Henneman, Mrs. Bess Maddux Dow, Mrs. J. V. Rogers, Mrs. M. D. Conger, Mrs. J. P. Macon, Mrs. D. K. Roberts, and Mrs. Minnie O. Alaridge.

Mrs. Joe Bates Jennings Honoree at Shower

A miscellaneous shower was given by Mrs. R. D. Precure, Wednesday afternoon at her lovely new home in the Lazbuddy community, honoring Mrs. Joe Bates Jennings, a recent bride.

Pink and white was the color scheme used in the decorations. Vases of pink rosebuds and white spirea were used throughout the rooms. Several interesting and comical games were enjoyed by those present, with Mrs. Jennings always the loser as well as center of attraction.

Her luck changed, Cinderella fashion, when heaps of lovely gifts were piled at her feet.

Pink and white angel cake, ice cream and punch was served to: Mesdames Clarence Briscoe, Chess Carroll, B. Hayhurst, Helen Carhell, Ralph Hicks, Eva Ashford, R. Precure, Freddy Wagon, Gordon Duncan, Bill Knight, Rhiney Steinbock, Dugan Nowell, O. M. Jennings, Riley Goodnough, C. D. Julian, O. N. Jennings, Jack Julian, G. E. Jennings, Otto Treider, Alton Page, C. D. Guston, Forest Newton, Carl Jough, Ernest Nowell, Frank Hinkon, Willie Steinbock, Walter Steinbock, Martin Oliver, Manuel Jennings, Olen Jennings, Finis Jennings; Misses Willa Marrs, Lillian Treider, Evelyn Jennings, Dora Lou Hayhurst, D. Riley Jennings, Margie Marrs, Beatrice Tarte, Ruby Duncan, Bobby Briscoe, and hostess.

Friends to send gifts were: Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Page, Doris Johnson, Nona Faze Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Truman Call, Mrs. Glenn Dunn, Mrs. B. H. Wagon, Mrs. Q. Marrs, and employees of the Fox Drug at Clovis.

Mrs. Jennings was the former Miss Cora Belle Page, of Clovis.

Bridge Club Meets At La Vista

The Tuesday Bridge Club met last week at La Vista, in Clovis, with Mrs. Jimmie Rogers as hostess.

After a dessert of strawberry short-cake and coffee, the members and guests played bridge, with high score going to Mrs. Anne Overstreet, as guest; and Mrs. Bess Mansfield, as member.

Those present were: Mesdames Anne Overstreet, Baylor Triplett, Ruby Roberts of Clovis, guests; Mesdames Bess Mansfield, Bess Dow, Myrtle Rose; Miss Jennie Lee London, and the hostess, Mrs. Rogers.

The club will meet with Mrs. Myrtle Rose tonight (Wednesday), due to commencement activities on Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Bessie Lee Henneman spent Sunday in Amarillo with relatives.

MINISTER ROY FOUTS, of Idalou, Texas, will conduct a revival meeting at the Bovina Church of Christ, beginning on Sunday, June 1st, and closing on Sunday, June 15th, it has been announced.

Last Club Meeting Will Feature Installation

The final meeting of the current year for the Texico-Farwell Woman's Club will be held on Tuesday evening, May 27th, at 8:15, in the home of Mrs. John R. Armstrong, near Farwell.

At this time, candlelight installation of new officers will feature the program, and Mrs. E. G. Williams, in charge, is asking that all members have the club collect committed to memory.

Officers to receive the vows will be: Mrs. Loyd Cain, president; Mrs. Mose Glascock, vice president; Mrs. V. Scott Johnson, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Clyde Magness, assistant; Mrs. Johnnie Williams, parliamentarian, and Mrs. J. D. Thomas, reporter.

Surprise Anniversary Social, Saturday

A number of friends surprised Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Phillips with a social on their twenty-second wedding anniversary, Saturday night, at their home near Farwell.

A twin set of electric lamps and a pair of candlesticks were presented to the Phillips by the callers, after which games of "42" were enjoyed.

Refreshments of cake and punch were served to: Mr. and Mrs. John Tate, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Tate, Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Massongill, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Massongill, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Massongill, Miss Maggie Tate, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Hillhouse, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Carter, Mrs. Alvenia Sharpe, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Deaton, Mr. and Mrs. Brent Deaton, and Mr. and Mrs. Phillips.

Dinner Party Given On Wednesday

Mr. and Mrs. D. K. Roberts entertained with a seven o'clock dinner in their home in Farwell, Wednesday evening of last week, when several friends gathered for a chicken dinner and an hour of social visiting.

Enjoying the evening were: Mr. and Mrs. Francis Wilson of Clovis, Mrs. Eess Henneman, Mrs. Geraldine Clark, Carl Hill, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Graham, and the host and hostess.

Former Classmates Gather for Reunion

A reunion of former college classmates was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Dial, in Bovina, Sunday, when the group enjoyed dinner.

Present were Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Swim, of Roaring Springs, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Hromas, of Boyina, Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Votaw of Farwell, and Mr. and Mrs. Dial. All the ladies formerly attended school together, it was stated here.

Husbands of Clubbers Are Entertained

Husbands of members of the local Woman's Club were honor guests the past Wednesday evening, when a good-sized crowd gathered at the E. E. Booth home, near Farwell, for a picnic supper.

Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Roy Bobst, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Booth, Mr. and Mrs. Loyd A. Cain, Dr. and Mrs. V. Scott Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. John Aldridge, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Magness, Mr. and Mrs. Pearl Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Thomas, Mrs. Blanche McDaniel, and Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Booth.

Visitors Here

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Farquhar and daughter, of Liberty, Texas; Mrs. J. H. Farquhar Sr., Mrs. E. E. Stewart, Mrs. Helen Rogers, Mrs. Thelma Dean and Miss Pauline Lawrence, all of Erger, Texas, visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Humble, the first of the week. The visitors came particularly to witness the Farwell graduating exercises, as Miss Jaqueta Strickland, daughter of the Humbles, is a member of the class.

Eugene Thomas returned Saturday from Dania, Florida, where he had spent the winter.

Lt. A. C. Potts Jr., Parris Solond, South Carolina, is visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Potts.

To Give Baccalaureate

Rev. E. J. Sloan, minister of the local Methodist church, will deliver the baccalaureate sermon to the Oklahoma Lane seniors on Sunday morning, May 25th, at that auditorium, it has been announced. In his absence, Dr. Alfred Crofts, of ENMC, Portales, will occupy the local pulpit.

Return Home

Mr. and Mrs. H. Y. Overstreet and Jane Claire returned Sunday evening from Mineral Wells and Mansfield, where they went last weekend. Mr. Overstreet attended the annual convention of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, in Mineral Wells, and Mrs. Overstreet and daughter visited her parents in Mansfield.

Leave for Oklahoma

Mrs. P. W. Stewart and daughter, Katherine Ann, left Friday afternoon for Waynoka, Seminole, and Oklahoma City, to visit relatives and friends and attend the graduating exercises of Mrs. Stewart's brother. They plan to be away about two weeks.

Visit in Abilene

Mrs. J. H. Martin of Farwell, accompanied by Mrs. Jack Wilkins of Ruidoso and Mrs. John L. Wilson of Alamogordo, spent last weekend in Abilene, with relatives and friends. Morris Ed Martin, who has been in Simmons there, returned home with them, and continued on Monday to Ruidoso with Mrs. Wilkins, where he will be employed for the summer.

TWO-PIANO RECITAL HERE ON MONDAY

Pupils of Mrs. Florence Millwee Vinyard from both Clovis and Texico-Farwell will present a two-piano concert in the auditorium of the Methodist church, Monday, May 26th, at 8:30 p. m.

All numbers on the program will be given by double piano teams. Mrs. Vinyard has announced, and urges that the public attend.

In addition to the local recital, the pupils will present the program in the Clovis high school library, on Tuesday evening, May 27th, at the same time.

BIRTHDAY PARTY HELD AT WATER TOWER

Willie Mae Bigham celebrated her 12th birthday, Tuesday afternoon, when a number of her friends gathered at the water tower lawn in Farwell for an afternoon party.

After games were played and gifts presented the honoree, refreshments of cookies, punch and mints were served, with patriotic colors featured in the plates and cups.

THE METHODIST CHURCH

Church School, 10:00. Morning Worship, 11:00. Dr. Alfred Crofts, of Portales, will speak.

Summer Program To Start For Home Ec

The annual summer project program of the Farwell homemaking department will go into operation on Monday, May 26th, when Miss Geraldine Walker, supervisor, is slated to begin her regular home visits.

Some thirty girls have enrolled in the summer program, Miss Walker remarked today, adding that she was more than pleased with the interest shown. Completion of a unit of work under the program yields the girl one-half credit toward graduation.

Since the summer program also stresses supervised recreation, a number of parties and other social activities will be held in conjunction with the work. Regular weekly meetings will be held on Wednesday afternoons, at the home ec building, at 2:30.

In listing their summer projects, the girls have principally shown an interest in sewing, Miss Walker said, with gradening, housekeeping and cookies also on the project list.

The summer program will conclude on June 26th.

Miss Eunice Graham and Miss Johnnie Short, both of Olton, Texas, visited over the weekend in the home of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. N. Graham, in Farwell.

Mr. and Mrs. Baylor Triplett Jr., of Albuquerque, spent the past weekend with Mr. and Mrs. B. S. Triplett of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. D. K. Roberts spent Sunday visiting their son, DeVere, who is working at Bushland, east of Amarillo.

Wills had drawn a dozen maps of this region, he had plotted it from aerial photographs, and every line of these was engraved on his mind...

been thinking. It doesn't change. Nothing will change me—ever. And I'm not giving up...

She stood up, slowly, let her eyes come up slowly. There was an odd little beating at the base of her throat, and for an instant her eyelids trembled mistily...

While Lucy was gone across the yard, Virgie thumbed the mail over swiftly, scarcely seeing the type that her eye ran over...

"Now where?" "Can we get down under—down there where the big trees are?"

Virgie regarded her chemist, her mouth drawn severely straight. "For a working man," she said, "you're very elegant, this morning!"

"We'll have to go far around. Some of it will be rough. But I know the way. I used to come in here with Tom."

"My—decision has not been influenced by anyone," he said, stiffly. "I have felt—for some time—that I did not have your confidence, Mrs. Morgan. Chemistry is a responsibility—a serious responsibility."

"Look here, you must be starved," Wills exclaimed suddenly. "Is there any place near where we can get some sandwiches, or something?"

"Who distrusts you?" Virgie countered, her eyes as frigid as his. He was manifestly uncomfortable. Lucy drew a little strangling breath, her hands at her throat.

"Lussie made sandwiches. They're back here and there's some coffee." "Saved. I was a chump not to think of it myself."

"You were very plainly suspicious of me, Mrs. Morgan—when we lost that pulp. And your attitude yesterday—and before that—"

"The coffee was not hot." "Would the lady who owns the steppan mind if we blacken the bottom of it?" Wills asked.

"How much," Virgie cut in, "did Wallace Withers pay you to make that speech?"

"Truce!" he announced. "The war is temporarily suspended while the combatants are fed."

Daniels glared, affrontedly. "I have not been paid—certainly not by Mr. Withers!"

"Only one cup," said Marian. "So what do we do?" "Pour your half back into the bottle. Then you drink from the cup and I imbibe from the steppan."

Daniels reached for the telephone. "Call Julia Gill for me, Mildred," she said into it evenly.

"In camps where I've dined we used empty bean cans. Gives a rich pork-and-catsup flavor to the brew."

"No," Virgie was patient, "probably I wouldn't. I'm just a stupid old woman. I believe what I see—and what I hear."

"The West Virginia people have canceled," she said. "What?" "The West Virginia order—they canceled by wire this morning."

Virgie scanned the column. The paragraph Lucy pointed out, was headed, "MORGAN PEOPLE IN TROUBLE."

"None at all. It was a very short message. They canceled," Lucy was un-faced. Her fingers were uncertain as she opened a trapdoor and indicated a paragraph.

"You didn't overlook anything, did you?" drawled Virgie. "It is the function of an efficient attorney to overlook nothing. Very wisely, we think; Mr. Pruitt accepted our advice—which was to settle out of court."

"You'd better check carefully," Daniels flared. "Probably I've been stealing from you, too!"

Virgie sprang up. (TO BE CONTINUED)

"You needn't speak," he said, hoarsely. "I know how you feel—how you despise me. But I'm going to tell you this—if I never say another word to you as long as we live. I fell in love with you—the first time I ever saw you. I—haven't changed. I realize who you are—and who I am—just a tramp that your mother rescued from a mountain thicket! I know what you've been thinking."

pose—and argue with them," Virgie said patiently. "Payne and Hooper and Withers, et al., are getting in some fancy underground work."

"How can you go—with Tom's trial starting Monday?" "Young Daniels will have to go."

Virgie sat erect again. At least here was something that could be done. Something definite and on the offensive. "Go get him, Lucy."

What troubled her most was her own ineffectiveness. She had been fiercely boastful, she had defied the world, as the Irish are so prone to do; she had talked widely and magnificently about saving Tom—of saving the mill and being undismayed by Wallace Withers, and now every recurring blow left her more helpless, more inarticulate, futile, pathetic.

It was a sickening spectacle for a proud woman to contemplate. It was worse for an honest woman who could not bring herself to stoop to alibis. Up to now, she had been able to do nothing to stem this tide of disaster.

Lucy came back, followed by Stanley Daniels. Virgie regarded her chemist, her mouth drawn severely straight.

Virgie let the old octagonal tick off a measured minute, while she looked him up and down. Lucy stood like a statue, white as death, motionless, hardly breathing.

Daniels flushed, then the blood drained out of his face. "My—decision has not been influenced by anyone," he said, stiffly.

Virgie reached for the telephone. "Call Julia Gill for me, Mildred," she said into it evenly. "Julia? This is Virgie Morgan. Was Wallace Withers in town last night? Oh, he came there to see Mr. Daniels, did he? Much obliged. No—that's all."

"I haven't cheated! I didn't touch that pulp—oh, what's the use? You wouldn't believe me anyway!" "No," Virgie was patient, "probably I wouldn't. I'm just a stupid old woman. I believe what I see—and what I hear."

"The West Virginia people have canceled," she said. "What?" "The West Virginia order—they canceled by wire this morning."

At the laboratory door, Lucy turned on Daniels a livid face. "How can you do a thing like this—to her?"

He flushed angrily. "What chance did I have? I could have explained—but she wouldn't have listened. You heard her give me the third degree—telephoning Mrs. Gill."

"You could have explained what? What was there to explain?" "I could have explained why Withers was there. He—framed me. He would have ruined me. He led me to talk—he got information out of me—formulas—"

"You told him what to put in a digester to ruin a batch of pulp?" Lucy was all white scorn. "You were just talking—to be interesting—because he made you think you were important. And then when he took the information he got from you—and hired those low-down Spain boys to do the work, probably—"

"How do you know?" "I don't know. But—it adds up, doesn't it? And then he threatened you—I think you're cheap!" she blazed at him. "I think you're—yellow! And—I was in love with you! I—suffered because you didn't care! It—makes me sick now when I think about it."

He flung the door back. The flat, acrid chemical smell rushed at them. This had been his world—the place where he had ruled men and processes, by the power of his moving thumbs over a test-tube, by the might of figures written on ruled sheets, by his word. For years he had been supreme, a person of importance, knowing things other men did not know.

Virgie let the old octagonal tick off a measured minute, while she looked him up and down. Lucy stood like a statue, white as death, motionless, hardly breathing.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson BY HAROLD L. LUNDQUIST, D. D. Dean of The Moody Bible Institute of Chicago.

Lesson for May 25 BROADENING CHRISTIAN HORIZONS: PETER'S VISION

LESSON TEXT—Acts 11:5-18. GOLDEN TEXT—Then Peter opened his mouth, and said, Of a truth I perceive that God is no respecter of persons.—Acts 10:34.

"The best argument for Christianity is a Christian" (Henry Drummond). Peter presented just such an argument when, early in the history of Christianity, there arose a difference of opinion regarding his ministry to a Gentile and his family.

We may learn from this lesson that the way to broadened horizons and greater usefulness for the church is by

I. A Vision of God's Plan (vv. 5-10).

All men are equally precious in God's sight. God taught Peter very effectively that, whether Gentile or Jew, the Lord is "not willing that any should perish, but that all should come to repentance" (II Pet. 3:9).

When God speaks we do well to give heed to His message, even though it cuts across our ideas and prejudices, as it often does. It is not our plan that is important; it is God's plan and purpose. As we walk in that way we shall have

II. An Experience of God's Power (vv. 11-15).

The Holy Spirit had fallen on the Gentiles and they actually had been saved. Is it not singular that in the early church they could hardly believe that a Gentile could be saved? Now we are astonished if a Jew is saved! Why will we in our unbelief limit the Holy One of Israel?

The all-powerful gospel of the grace of God is still saving men and women, Jews and Gentiles, from their sins. Have you seen it happen? It is a great inspiration to faith and service. God is ready so to encourage us—He is the same today as He was when He sent Peter to Cornelius. Are we willing to run His errands, proclaim His message? To do so we need

III. An Appreciation of God's Word (v. 16).

The best way to learn the meaning of God's Word is to use it, live it, obey it. "If any man will do his will, he shall know of the doctrine, whether it be of God" (John 7:17). Peter had learned anew that God's Word meant just what it said.

Observe that Cornelius had gathered a group in his household to hear the Word of God (Acts 10:27, 33). Could we not do the same? "Cannot each calculate with exactness some time and place where the gospel is to be preached, and is it not possible to bring thither one's relatives and friends? Secondly, when present in a place of worship, cannot each be prepared to say, 'We are all here present'—all, family and friends, mind as well as body; 'in the sight of God'—not to be seen by others, not conscious so much of others as of the presence of God; 'to hear all things'—not to be amused or to sleep; 'that have been commanded thee of the Lord'—not to listen to human conjecture or the exploiting of doubts, but to receive a positive message which is delivered in a reverent spirit and with the prophetic formula: 'Thus saith the Lord.' What would happen were all Christian churches filled with such audiences?" (Charles R. Erdman).

This brings us to what is most important of all in broadening our spiritual horizons. IV. An Understanding of God's Love (vv. 17, 18). God's love is for all people. Since He has not raised any barriers of race, creed, color, class, or social position, it is not for His followers, and assuredly not for His servants, to set up hindering restrictions which He does not countenance. If God intended to save Gentiles, Peter wanted to be an instrument in His hand, not a hindrance in His way. One of the needs of our day is that those doing God's work should not withstand Him and His love. He who is the same yesterday, today, and forever, is ready to work as powerfully today as He did in the days of Peter and Paul, or of Finney and Moody. Let us give Him liberty to work in and through us, not as we may wish, but as He desires. Who are we that we should withstand God?

Goal of Life

Oh, yet we trust that, somehow, Good will be the final goal of ill, That nothing walks with aimless feet, That not one life shall be destroyed, Or cast as rubbish to the void, When God has made the pile complete.—Tennyson.

Easy to Reduce Weight When You Limit Calories

Diagram showing a woman's weight reduction process with a scale and a menu of low-calorie foods like Creamed Chipped Beef and Lemon Meringue Pie.

You Lose Two Pounds a Week. A TRUE slimming story! And a really happy ending, too, when a stout woman diets the calory way.

By limiting food calories to around 1,200 a day, she not only loses—as much as 24 pounds in three months—but feels radiantly younger. And the lovely part is that while reducing you eat as much as ever!

Have a graceful, girlish new figure—soon! Our 32-page booklet gives 42 tasty low-calory menus, a newly enlarged calory chart. Also tells how to gain. For a copy, send your order to:

U. S. Plans Broadcasts In German for Aliens

Prepare Campaign of 'Counter-Propaganda'; Russo-Japanese Neutrality Pact Cools U. S. 'Friendship.'

By BAUKHAGE

National Farm and Home Hour Commentator.

WNU Service, 1343 H Street N. W., Washington, D. C.

WASHINGTON.—You hear more and more talk in Washington these days about total defense with the accent on the total.

Another way to say it would be "all-out" since that is the popular phrase of the day borrowed from the English who usually borrow their slang from us. A better way to say what officials are now calling for is "everybody out." If there is to be a final test between this democracy and totalitarianism it will be "everybody out" with a vengeance.

Already the ramifications of the defense effort are reaching into all corners of national activity. While our factories are filling the air with bombers and fighters for England, the government is planning a little peaceful air-offensive of our own against Germany.

When you feel around on the dial of your radio set some day you may suddenly pick up a voice in German broadcasting from Washington.

Do not worry. That will not mean that the fifth columnists have arrived on the Potomac. The voice will be coming forth not in spite of, but because of, the department of justice. The words may be as persuasive as those of Propagandist Goebbels or as pleasing as those of the Poet Goethe but they will be boosting democracy.

If you can understand what the broadcaster is saying, you can learn some good things about your country and its customs that you may have forgotten even if the message is not meant for you. It is meant, as a matter of fact, for the German-speaking foreign-born of this country and the broadcast has been planned for two purposes.

The first is to remind these more recent arrivals on our shores who may have been listening to the short wave broadcasts from Berlin that there are a lot of good points about the country of their adoption which they may have overlooked. The second is to try to unite the newcomers and their offspring in an effort to use their influence, if they have any, to pass on some of these points to the people in the old country with whom they may still be in touch, directly or indirectly.

The idea has the support of Attorney General Jackson but he would carry it still further. He believes in fighting fire with fire and shooting counter-propaganda right at the Germans in Germany.

Of course, news reports from the United States are being beamed at Germany and France and other European countries, as well as South America right now. We know how difficult it is for the Germans and people in the occupied countries to listen to foreign broadcasts. It may mean a life sentence. But we have ample evidence that the American stations have listeners—a great many more than would be expected under the circumstances. The people in those countries are starved for the news. They know that the newspapers they get are simply rubber stamps from the censor's office. They know our news is authentic, unbiased, accurate.

But some people think that we ought to go much further in this battle of the ether than merely broadcasting news. They think that, in addition to the newscasts, there should be interesting feature broadcasts which would contain material planned to counteract the propaganda which the Germans are sending out to their own people and to others abroad.

There are those, of course, outside the government who are openly demanding that we go even further than this. They say that we should not limit our efforts to defeating German propaganda by a counter attack on the air waves, but that we must take over some of the Goebbels methods in foreign countries where his fifth-columnists are busy now—that we should match dollars against marks where they will do the most good, organize secret agents of our own, especially in South America.

Right now American business men in South America on their own initiative have bought time on the air for programs of news and other material concerning the United States.

What further steps the department of justice, or whatever government agency might undertake the work, may do or may be doing now for that matter, is not officially revealed. But this we do know: the stations of the National Broadcasting company, Columbia, Westinghouse, General Electric and the privately owned station WRUL in Boston expect greatly to increase the number of newscasts they are sending out to foreign countries in foreign languages.

Soviet Diplomats Hold an "At Home"

Many a Washington official who speaks of Russia's dictator with a curl of the lip has a secret admiration for the wily Comrade Stalin. Some call him the "Volga Goatman"—because he gets so many diplomatic goats.

Recently it was the policy of the state department (following the British lead) to make up to the czar of the Soviets. Russia wanted machines and tools. We wanted Russia to growl at the Japanese. And so the anything-but-proletarian Sumner Welles, our undersecretary of state, was forced to let his chin down at least one hitch and converse pleasantly with the anything-but-aristocratic Tovarisch Oumanski, charge d'affaires of the Soviets.

Then came the sudden announcement of the Russo-Japanese neutrality pact. It broke upon the dignified diplomatic world with all the indignity of an over-age egg exploding on an immaculate shirt front.

About that time of the month there occurred an "at-home" at one of the Sixteenth street's most prominent residences (to quote the official guide book). This mansion, built originally by the widow of the Pullman palace car millions and later palace of the perfumed and bemocked emissaries of the Romanoffs, is now the Soviet embassy.

The "at home" was a great success. The great and the near-great from belligerent and peaceful nations were there. In fact, it was quite a job keeping the Canadian diplomats out of one salon while swastika and hammer and sickle tete-a-tete over the tall tea-glasses.

Earlier that day the state department had minimized to inquiring reporters the importance of the Russo-Japanese pact. But diplomats, as you know, use words to conceal their thoughts. Their actions speak much louder than their official statements. At the Soviet "at home" state department officials were exceedingly conspicuous by their absence.

Germans Prepare To Invade England

Will the Nazis try to invade the British Isles?

Most experts say, yes.

The question is when? Recently some information has come to my ears which touches on this point. It comes from two sources which are sound and reliable. One is a story which was told to me by a French newspaper woman who is Hitler's Private Enemy Number One. She is Madame Genevieve Tabouis, and she escaped France ahead of the hungry Gestapo and is here in the United States.

She told me that the Germans had held a practice maneuver in France which consisted of pouring oil on a certain river. They then ignited the oil and hundreds of German soldiers, dressed in specially prepared fireproof clothing jumped in. The next day the river was full of corpses and the hospitals full of frightfully burned soldiers.

The experiment did not work. Spreading burning oil at invasion points is said to be one of the methods of defense the British are planning against invasion.

Now the second story comes from a man whom I cannot name but who has recently been in Germany. He says that the Germans have been working a long time on perfecting amphibian tanks—tanks which will actually float. He believes that there will be no invasion until these tanks are ready.

He also says that a psychological moment will be chosen. One when British morale is at a low point. For instance, if both the Suez and Gibraltar were captured the Germans might feel that this was the moment.

BRIEFS . . . by Baukhage

If you want to be an army officer,, you pretty nearly have to be literary as well as literate. At least, a 16-page circular advising as to the type of books officers should read include books on philosophy, political science, military science, history, international relations, Stalin's Secret Service and Hitler's Mein Kampf. Others are representative works of all the leading countries.

"Too dumb to fight!" That's a new one, but it is what the army says about draft registrants who cannot read and write. After trying to teach illiterate selectees the complications of modern military machines, the Selective Service administration has ordered that a fourth grade education or its equivalent is now necessary before you can get into this new army.

Four Places

CORNELIUS VANDERBILT, JR.

Tennessee Valley

DROVE to the Norris dam, the eastern end of the vast TVA system. Though not nearly as spectacular as Boulder or Bonneville, it forms the basis of one of the biggest developments of its kind in the world. The annual rainfall in the Tennessee valley averages 52 inches. This means about 6,000 tons of water fall upon every acre of land each year! The first six inches of topsoil upon an acre of land weighs approximately 1,000 tons. If this topsoil is without vegetation, the effect of 6,000 tons of water upon 1,000 tons of top soil is displacement. This means abandoned farms, disintegrated homesteads, stark poverty for a potential land of plenty. It means clogged streams, flooded cities and countryside, death and destruction. It is the opposite of the dust bowl, but the effect in the end is the same. It was in recognition of this that congress, under pressure by the President, created the TVA. Today it serves 330,000 customers in seven states, saving them over $8,000,000 a year, and brings in an annual income of about $15,000,000 to TVA.

Of the 26,000,000 acres comprising the Tennessee valley watershed, about 18,000,000 are in farms, the rest is wooded, privately and publicly owned. Some 27,000 individual farmers cultivate 4,000,000 of these acres. In addition, more than 50,000 tons of concentrated phosphatic fertilizer have been produced for distribution here. The Wilson dam and Muscle Shoals operate nitrate plants which have been taken over as part of our national defense act to produce new forms of plant food with which to fertilize the soil. Nearly 250,000,000 trees have been planted in a program designed to overcome serious soil erosion, as well as to provide a new source of forest income.

Today, however, TVA is about three-quarters built. Four river dams have been completed; four more are in the process of construction. About 6,600 miles of rural power lines, 84 per cent of which go to areas not previously served, have been built. Included are 1,500 miles of high voltage lines. Valley people now use 58 per cent more current than in 1932, compared to a 22 per cent increase for the nation.

The valley authorities manage about 1,000 single houses, 22 dormitories, dozens of schools, fire stations, water systems, sewage disposal systems, miles of roads, streets, walks. Half a dozen towns are being rebuilt and replanned. Last year over 2,000,000 persons visited the area. On the Norris reservoir alone there are more than 1,800 motor boats, sail boats, pleasure craft. It is odd to see 50 and 75-foot cruisers on parking lots in nearby towns for sale—500 miles from the sea, away up high in the Cumberland mountains.

Stopped at the Hermitage before driving through Nashville. I never miss a pilgrimage whenever I am in the locality. This was the home of Andrew Jackson, seventh President of the United States. He was of Scotch-Irish lineage. Was born on March 15, 1767, near the line between North and South Carolina. In 1828 he was first elected President, and in 1832 re-elected. His administrations were the first to be classed as "democratic"; they were marked by the force and power of his personality. Indirectly he established the sub-treasury system by which the government became custodian of its own money. But the financial men of his day fought him unmercifully. Jackson was the first President to marry a divorcee. Church people and the bigotted lashed him fiercely for this. These attacks caused deep distress to his wife, who died while they were at their zenith. Jackson never forgot her and mourned her to his death. In the museum at the Hermitage is his silver study thermometer, which is still working—the only thing "living" since his day!

HEARING THINGS: New York buzzes with refugees of all sorts and hues. For many of them one cannot help but feel sorry; for others one has not strong enough language. Few Chicago racketeers at their height were ever responsible for such wholesale crimes. One poor gent arrived in New York recently by plane with only the clothes on his back and $8,000,000 worth of securities on his person. His wife, poor thing, traveled with $5,000,000 worth of jewels in her handbag. But she "guaranteed" U. S. customs officials she would not sell a gem in this country.

SEEING THINGS: Back in New York in a hurry. Notice milady is wearing "python and purple" this season. Her hats seem to be made mostly of bicycle clips to which flowers, vegetables, fruit, etc., have been affixed. She carries a cape about her shoulders instead of a coat, and sometimes also carries a cane! Down at the Transatlantic Clipper port on Long Island to see Baron Wrede, the Finnish nobleman off. He has been in this country for nine months, but returned home to see his mother and family.

which are screwed to all four sides of the top fit down over the stool. Flowered chintz is used for the top of the cover and a plain 3-inch glazed chintz frill is added repeating one of the tones in the flower pattern. The seam allowance around the cover may be tacked to the removable top of the table and the whole thing may then be folded away in a small space when not in use.

Texico Team To State Meet At Hot Springs

Headed by Chief Ira Selman, the Texico fire department will be represented at the State Fireman's Convention, when it opens a three-day session in Hot Springs, N. M., on Monday of next week.

Chief Selman announced the first of the week that he would be accompanied by Firemen Jack Crain, Olen Shephard, Clark Selman and Ira Selman Jr., and plans are already under way to enter the local team in a number of contests that are held in connection with the annual meet. A big fish fry and boat races will be a part of the program planned for this year, to be staged at Elephant Butte lake.

Simond Addresses 8th Grade Class, Texico

Isaac Simond, vocational agriculture instructor from Clovis, spoke to the graduating eighth grade students of the Texico school, the past Wednesday evening, when the annual exercises were held in the auditorium of the school before a large crowd.

In a clever and unusual talk, the speaker developed his theme of "building a May basket," placing in supposition the various flowers designating facts and events of life.

In beginning, Simond placed the laurel leaves of victory in the "basket," followed by a small yucca, "as the symbol of your state of New Mexico." Next he added the oak leaf for patriotism, and, warning against egotism, gave the graduates violets for modesty.

Stressing the importance of love—for parents, teachers, school, state and nation—the speaker recommended that the daffodil be added to the "boquet," after which he placed two roses, one signifying the beauty and majesty of Christ, the other representing the church. "Rosemary is for remembrance," he said, in placing this flower in the graduate's basket, and then added the daisy as the flower that looks to the future, in urging the class to build for permanence.

"Good thoughts are always essential," he opined, as he noticed the pansy, and, looking forward to later years, he took note of the orange blossoms of marriage, and forget-me-not, for faithfulness. "The wild rose is representative of the United States," he added, afterward suggesting a white lily for purity, and a white violet for innocence—"for there are some things of which I hope you will always be innocent."

Closing his talk Simond recommended that the students decorate their "baskets" with the flag of the United States, and then, urging them to the higher way of life, gave the quotation, "To every man there openeth a high way and a low; and every man decideth the way his soul shall go."

Other numbers on the program included the salutatorian address by Leonard Lewis, the valedictory talk by Billy White, and numbers by the girls chorus, directed by Mrs. H. Arnold and accompanied by Mrs. Evelyn Hadley. Rev. W. Taylor North gave the invocation and benediction.

Rupert Paul, school board representative, presented diplomas to the following: Clarence Summers, Bill Knox, Leonard Lewis, Betty Sue North, Billy White, Lola Rowe, Betty Lou Flye, Lorene Gibson, Helen McDaniel, Albert Lane Martin, Hershel Doolittle, Halcut Stone, Harvey Shepherd, Jack Houston, Loyl Dean Brooks, and Mary Lee Moss.

Demonstration Club Notes

By Special Staff Reporters

Parmerton Club

The Parmerton home demonstration club met at the home of Mrs. C. A. Turner, May 14. The agent, Miss Elsie Cunningham, gave an interesting demonstration on alteration of patterns, particularly the foundation pattern. She emphasized the newer styles in waists, sleeves and skirts. The waist line is being lowered, skirts are slimmer, but the main change is in sleeves. She demonstrated how to cut several sleeves, including the kimona, bishop, and raglan. Some ideas in styles we are getting from other countries are: yarn necklaces from South America; the bolero from Mexico, broom stick skirts and crocheted beanies from the Navajo Indians. Military designs are also popular this season.

Refreshments were served to Mrs. W. A. Stephens, Mrs. Giles Cobb, Mrs. G. H. Brock, Mrs. LaVerne White, Mrs. Claude Blackburn, Mrs. T. E. Blackburn and the hostess, Mrs. Turner, and agent, Miss Cunningham.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. W. A. Stephens, and husbands will be invited. A recreation program will be planned.

Council To Meet

The regular monthly meeting of the council will be held at Blackwell's in Friona, Saturday, at 2:30.

At this time, delegates to the annual Short Course will be named, and reports will be heard from the various committees.

Miss Elsie Cunningham, agent, is requesting that each committee meet and decide at least one definite project to be completed during the current year. Committees are: finance, recreation, yearbook, exhibit, expansion and education.

WINNER ANNOUNCED

Lee J. Holt, box 83, Farwell, was declared the winner of the prize offered by the R. H. Kemp Lumber company of this city, in a campaign conducted by the Lowe Brothers Paint Co. Holt was awarded a Mellogloss kit of paint, enough to redecorate an average size room for his entry in the contest, conducted here two weeks ago.

Rev. Sloan Addresses Farwell Grade Class

"The ladder to success" was the theme of the commencement address for the grade school graduates of the Farwell school, when Rev. E. J. Sloan, Methodist pastor, spoke to them on Monday evening.

Rev. Sloan actually demonstrated a ladder on the stage, with the various colors of the steps exemplifying the "steps to success" in life. With the ladder painted white, the speaker stressed the importance of "white faith" as the foundation of life. "You must have faith to succeed," he said, "not only in yourself, but in others. Those who lose faith in themselves have lost the first battle of life."

Going then to the second step of the ladder, which was painted in gold, the class was admonished that "this is an age of golden opportunities," and the upward climb on the ladder is attained by the development of such opportunities as they arise.

The red warning signal is the third step in life, Rev. Sloan then remarked, showing the danger of wrong associates, acts, thoughts and deeds, while the fourth step was in orange, signifying the "caution" stage. Next in line was the green "go ahead" step, when, the speaker stated, the students must go ahead to greater things, after having properly observed the warning and caution lights on the highway of life.

And last came the step of "success", which embodied all the colors used on the ladder, "for," Rev. Sloan stated, "the top of the ladder is reached only through a combination of all the steps in life being navigated successfully." The speaker then closed his talk by reading a short poem, "The Tree of Wisdom," stressing the fact that no matter how much "fruit" is taken from this "tree", there still remains some for those who aspire to it.

The students entered the graduating hall to "The Eyes of Texas," played by the school band and directed by Mrs. Gladys M. Murphy. Lester Rogers gave the invocation; salutatory by Norma Jean Thomas; "Commencement Time," Duane Sprawls; "A Parting Charge," Glen Phillips; "A Parting Tribute," Max Ford; "In Appreciation," Opal Williams; valedictory, Peggy Schleuter; presentation of diplomas, E. M. Deaton; class song; and the benediction by B. N. Graham was the finale of the program.

Members of the class are: Glenn Darwin Phillips, George D. Magness, Margie Marie Brand, Reuben Meissner, Mildred Faye Herod, Norma Jean Thomas, Aubrey Duane Sprawls, Frankie Marie Tipton, Gilbert Harvey Blake, Lynn J. Smith, Peggy Ann Schleuter, Ronald London, Emma Lucille Knowles, Lenora Dott McGahen, Wayne R.
